MOVE DESIGNED TO AID COTTON FARMER OPENS

SOUTHWIDE COUNCIL IS ORGANIZED AT MEET IN NEW ORLEANS

(By Associated Press)
NEW ORLEANS, July 6.—To bring relief to the cotton producer in the form of a fair monetary return on his investment, delegates from the eleven cotton-producing states in the south and representing bankers, merchants and farm organizations today formed a permanent organization here to be known as the Southwide Cotton Council.

The council's purpose is to aid the cotton producer in dealing with crop and marketing conditions with a view to stabilizing the price of cotton.

Formation of the conference is the outgrowth of a southwide conference held at Jackson, Miss., last January at the call of Governor Dan Moody of Texas. The conference appointed a committee to draft a program of action at a subsequent meeting in Memphis. This committee's report will be received by the council for final action.

Alabama Banker Talks
Judge C. E. Thomas, of Montgomery, superintendent of banks in Alabama, temporary chairman of the council set today's meeting in motion with a resume of activities since the movement was initiated. Pointing out the disparity of returns to a family of five laboring in cotton fields as compared with gains from other lines of endeavor, Judge Thomas declared it was up to the bankers and merchants' associations and allied organizations to aid in the movement to bring the south back to stability.

Former Lieutenant Governor T. W. Davidson of Texas declared the south was "sold" on the purpose of the council but feared the present effort was merely a repetition of predecessors, all of which met failure. A part of the council's activities, Mr. Davidson said, is to convince the farmer that this movement is in earnest.

Reviewing the cotton producers' plight since 1920, Mr. Davidson declared:

SNYDER BANKS CONSOLIDATED

FIRST STATE ASSUMES CONTROL OF FIRST NATIONAL IN DEAL

(By Associated Press)
SNYDER, July 6.—One of the largest banking deals in West Texas in several years was completed here yesterday when the First National bank and the First State Bank and Trust company were consolidated.

The First National bank has been moved to the banking rooms of the First State Bank and Trust company and all business hereafter will be operated from the latter's banking rooms. The consolidation will give the First State Bank and Trust company resources of around a million dollars. The company will be known hereafter as the First State Bank and Trust company. Officers of the bank are Ernest Taylor, president; Henry P. Webb, vice president; and Sam Hallett, cashier.

The First State Bank and Trust company last Christmas paid its tenth dividend since the bank was established. With this dividend the entire capital stock of the bank had been paid back to the stockholders and in addition their stock was worth one-half as much again as the original stock.

Two other students were slightly hurt by the lightning which struck a tree under which the party had taken refuge during a storm.

MISS EARHART AND HER AIDES GIVEN JUBILEE

OFFICIAL WELCOME IS EXTENDED AVIATRIX OF ATLANTIC HOP

NEW YORK, July 6.—Miss Amelia Earhart, first woman to fly across the Atlantic, stepped back on American soil soon after 10 o'clock today, after a return journey from Europe by boat, to receive a noisy welcome from admiring crowds and the official congratulations of the city. With her were Wilmer Stultz and Louis Gordon, pilot and mechanic on her Atlantic hop.

The fliers arrived on the President Roosevelt last night but remained on the ship at quarantine until they were taken off by the city tug Macon this morning. As soon as the Macon docked at the Battery, Miss Earhart and her companions were driven to city hall for the official welcome.

Windows along Broadway were crowded with office workers anxious for a glimpse of the woman flier and her companions.

Acting Mayor McKee presented each of the three aviators with a scroll of welcome, but only Miss Earhart's was signed by Mayor Walker, who is in California on a visit. The other two were signed by McKee.

Praising Miss Earhart as the first of her sex to fly across the Atlantic, the scroll read "to the fame you have already won as a business woman, student of literature, philanthropic worker among

BALL CLUB CONTROL SHIFTED

BASEBALL FOR CITY ASSURED FOR THIS YEAR

THREE LOCAL FIRMS TO TAKE OVER CLUB FOR OPERATION

It took but a few minutes to guarantee the continuance of the Lubbock Hubbers in the West Texas League this morning at a called session of the shareholders and directors of the Lubbock Baseball Association at the chamber of commerce rooms of the city hall, as upon a majority vote of the stockholders the club, franchise liabilities and assets will be transferred to the Panhandle Construction company, H. H. Shell and Son, and D. N. Leaverton.

The proposition submitted by Mr. Dalrymple was:

That the Panhandle Construction Company, H. H. Shell and Son, and D. N. Leaverton, will transfer their holdings in the Lubbock Baseball Association to some individual or a group of individuals, provided the maintenance of the club in the West Texas League is made, or that we will assume all liabilities, assets, and guarantee the club's operation for the remainder of the season if the other stock not held by us is transferred to us; and furthermore, should any stockholder of the Lubbock Baseball Association desire to retain his stock in the association he may do so provided he will share his pro-rata of the deficiency.

Motion of the meeting was as follows:

Motion by Roger G. Pierce that the directors be instructed to sell club and assets for $10.00 and assume liabilities, and the guarantee that the club will be maintained in Lubbock for the balance of this season so long as the West

Posey Entertains County Candidates

The school house at the Posey community failed to hold the crowd which gathered to hear the candidates for offices in Lubbock county as they appeared in one of their co-operative speaking programs here last night.

Most interest centered around the talks of the various candidates with several exchanges of remarks between opposing candidates being noticeable. More than 20 candidates made speeches.

Tonight the group will go to the Canyon community where one of the largest crowds in the county is expected. The program starts at 8 o'clock. County Clerk Amos Howard is chairman of the meetings over the county.

West Texas Cotton Needing Good Rain

FORT WORTH, July 6.—West Texas cotton, especially around San Angelo, is in need of rain, according to B. M. Whiteaker, agricultural commissioner of the West Texas chamber of commerce. Cotton coming up after late planting cannot withstand the hot sun, and dry ground much longer, he said, explaining that the first stand in some places was destroyed by driving winds.

CONDEMNED YOUTH FAILS TO ADHERE TO PROMISE LEFT IN JAIL DELIVERY

UNION CITY, Tenn., July 6.—A youth under death sentence for murder who took French leave of the Union City jail last night, leaving behind a note to inform officers that "I have gone to see my girl; be back in the morning," failed to keep his promise early today.

Johnnie Vaughn, 20, convicted of the murder of a rival in love, sawed his way out of the jail early last night, five other prisoners escaping with him. An all night search by a party of forty men under Sheriff J. P. McCain resulted in the capture of only two of the fugitives.

Lexie Vaughn, 17-year-old brother of Johnnie, was held today on a charge of conspiracy in aiding the escape.

Mumified Bodies Found In Alaskan Exploration

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, July 6.—Discovery of what are believed to be mumified remains of stone age man is described in a dispatch to today's New York Times from Harold McCracken, head of an expedition of the American Museum of Natural History to the Aleutian Islands off the Alaskan coast.

Four mumified bodies, three adults and one infant were found on the summit of an almost inaccessible island, along with their clothing, domestic articles, hunting weapons and other paraphernalia that went with the burial of the early barbarian.

The burial tomb bore evidence of Mongolian influence, but there was nothing to indicate contact with ancient or modern civilizations. The valts was made of well shaped and mortised drift logs held together by bone nails and had been wedged in a rock crevice on an almost unscalable peak. The lining of the vault was of cured otter skins. The valts itself was divided into two parts, in one of which the body of a man evidently of high rank and in the other the bodies of the other two adults and the child.

The body of the ancient ice king was clothed in otter skins, some of which were elaborately decorated. Wraps around the body was a garment of skins of northern animals mounted by another layer of woven grass. The whole was enclosed in a parchment-like layer of sea-lion intestine. The other bodies were less elaborately dressed and were believed to be those of servants.

Mr. McCracken said one of the bodies was being preserved as they found it so that experts of the museum here might examine the find exactly as it was taken from the burial vault.

ITALIAN PAIR SET NEW MARK IN BRAZIL HOP

TOTAL OF 4,417 MILES COVERED IN FLIGHT FROM ROME FIELD

(By Associated Press)
RIO DE JANEIRO, July 6.—Two Italian aviators today held the record for the longest non-stop flight—4,417 miles.

Making the first continuous flight from the mainland of Europe to the mainland of South America, Captain Arturo Ferrarin and Major Carlo P. Delpeste brought their huge Savoia plane to rest on the beach at Point Genipabu, 10 miles north of Natal at 7:50 p. m. (5:50 p. m., eastern standard time) last night. They had been in the air within one minute of 32 hours having hopped off from Monticelli field, Rome at 7:51 p. m. Rome time. (1:51 p. m., eastern standard time) Tuesday.

Real Chamberlain Mark

They broke the distance flight record of 3,609 miles set by Clarence Chamberlain and Charles A. Levine a little more than a year ago from Roosevelt, N. Y., to Ellenbogen, Germany.

In their record-breaking flight they followed a route past Gibraltar and over the Cape Verde islands and southwest over the Atlantic before landing on the beach. This course is 4,542 miles, but an airline is used in determining the record. Stormy weather with heavy clouds put the fliers in peril in the last hour of their long flight. They had difficulty in getting their bearings after reaching the coast of Brazil. Sighted over Port Natal at 4:05 p. m., they were believed to be headed for Rio Janeiro. Preparations were immediately begun to welcome the aviators and special trains began to carry enthusiasts to the Alamo aviation field to greet the fliers.

Apparently the aviators became confused for three hours and 45 minutes after being sighted at Port Natal they landed on the beach ten miles to the north.

Failure of the two intrepid Italians to wind up their record breaking flight at Rio Janeiro, as they had hoped, brought disappointment to a huge crowd who waited for them in the capital. All day crowds hung about newspaper bulletins boards eager for any news of their progress.

The record breaking flight was made in a Savoia monoplane of (Turn to Page 4, Column 7, Please)

High School Band Turns Toward Home

Following a visit to the Grand Canyon, the western terminus of their 3,100 mile good will tour, the members of the Lubbock high school band are turning their eyes to the east and home, a wire from J. C. Brown, manager of the group stated today. The band leaves Williams, Arizona today after spending the past two and one-half days there.

They are due to arrive in Gallup, New Mexico, tomorrow where they will play a concert there tomorrow night.

The Las Vegas Arts Festival at Las Vegas, New Mexico, will be the next celebration at which the band will appear in concert. The youngsters are expected to arrive here during the latter part of next week.

Wheat Men Harvest Bumper Grain Crop

WICHITA, Kan., July 6.—Wheat farmers of Kansas and Oklahoma are ready to cash in on a bumper wheat crop, and Wichita, for the last four days the nation's leading primary wheat market, is beginning to ship solid train loads of the grain eastward.

Rail officials late last night estimated 1,247 cars of wheat were standing on the tracks here. Shortly after midnight today, two trains, one of 150 cars and one of 120 were started east on the Santa Fe.

Preparations made by the railroads have proved adequate to handle the big crop, and officials reiterated their belief that there is no possibility of a car shortage.

WRECK VICTIM IS SLOWLY LOSING

In the Lubbock Sanitarium, a World War veteran who survived a baptism of gas and machine gun bullets in France, is fighting his greatest battle. He is fighting for that intangible thing called life.

He is C. O. Hightower, of Albany, who was seriously injured when a car overturned on him near Tahoka last week.

Unconscious and unable to receive nourishment of any kind Hightower has been holding to life's tiny thread for the past several days while members of his family and attendants have stood by and hoped for the best, asking him in every possible way.

Today he was much weaker, reports said, and considered very low. His entire left side is paralyzed as a result of the accident in which he received a severe fracture of the skull.

BARR RENAMED HEAD OF FAIR FOR THIS YEAR

SUCCESS OF LAST YEAR BRINGS PRAISE OF DIRECTORS HERE

Dr. I. E. Barr, local veterinarian, who so successfully engineered the activities of the 1927 Panhandle-South Plains fair, was re-elected head of the association for the 1928 season in a meeting of the new board in the Chamber of Commerce offices last evening. Dr. Barr served as president of the association during the past year.

J. J. Clements, I. F. Holland, B. C. Dickenson and N. L. Peters were selected as the new directors. Mr. Peters was selected to fill out the unexpired term of W. T. Raybon who has moved away from the city.

In the election of officers which followed the business discussion of board, Dr. Barr was elected president. J. J. Clements and M. B. Hilburn, vice-presidents and S. C. Wilson, treasurer. Alex McDonald and A. W. May, are the other two hold-over directors.

Permanent Buildings
Plans for the construction of buildings of a permanent nature for the fair occupied most of the meeting's discussion. The livestock and poultry departments will be forced to have new quarters this year and a committee was appointed to draw plans for these new buildings, keeping in mind the desire to build permanent structures.

The addition of a future show in the wine department was discussed and will likely be made during the coming exposition. Discussion of various other plans for the exposition constituted the business of the board for the evening.

Further plans for expansion of the fair for the coming season will be discussed during the near future by the board, it was said today.

Wilcox Won't Call Meet Over Bolders

WIFE OF DEMO CHIEF ATTACKS PARTY LEADER

SAYS WOMEN WILL NOT TAKE JOKE PLATFORM MADE BY TAMMANY

WASHINGTON, July 6.—Charging that Governor Smith, democratic presidential nominee had "stamped himself as a charlatan and a faker" Mrs. Clem L. Shaver, wife of the democratic national chairman in a statement today declared "we dry democratic women will not support the dripping wet ticket and joke platform named by the Tammany delegates at the recent convention at Houston."

Mrs. Shaver, who is chairman of the West Virginia division of the National Woman's Democratic Law Enforcement League, added "these many times has Tammany supported the party nominee in the past sixteen years and answered it by saying 'not once.' She also took occasion in her statement to make a sarcastic fling at various democratic leaders who have announced they would support the ticket and platform adopted at Houston. Mrs. Shaver said in her statement:

Won't Support Ticket
"Regardless of what democratic leaders from top to bottom may do, we dry democratic women will not support the dripping wet ticket and the joke platform named by the Tammany delegates to the recent convention at Houston."

"And furthermore, we do not believe more than a few of the millions of the democratic women in this country can be fooled as the democratic leaders appear to have been fooled by it. The idea of men like Joseph Dan Moody, Joe Robinson, Carter Glass and Joe Adams saying 'I am a democrat—I shall support the party nominee.'"

LOVE CHARGES TEXAS LOBBY

PITILESS PUBLICITY IN PUBLIC OFFICE IS IN NEED, HE ASSERTS

(By Associated Press)
DUBLIN, Tex., July 6.—Thomas B. Love, state senator and candidate for the democratic nomination for lieutenant governor, asserted himself in a campaign speech here today as in the race "for the purpose of enabling me to make a campaign for pitiless publicity in Texas."

"I am not seeking to sound an alarm, or to make a demagogic appeal, but to tell the people of Texas as the simple truth about their own affairs when I say that the government and politics of Texas are today in the grip of corporate monopoly to a larger degree than at any previous time in the history of Texas, and it is doubtful if any state is more largely under corporate domination," he said.

He paid special attention to the state highway department, praising it as having "an unequalled record of stupendous and honest accomplishment," but at the same time warning it a department needing pitiless publicity for the protection of the public interests.

License Fee Reduction
He promised that whether elected or defeated he would work for a substantial reduction in automobile license fees.

Senator Love quoted at length from a report of proceedings before the investigating committee of the thirty-ninth legislature last year when John M. Chan, former state highway commissioner, testified:

"Senator Love held up the late President Wilson as the 'first in definitely prescient' pitiless publicity as a source of the problems of graft and corruption, and other abuses of democracy, and which he used as a demagogic and effective device to drive the lobby out of power and restore free government in New Jersey and then, two years later, to drive the lobby out of power and restore free government in Washington."

WILD THROW IN NINTH GIVES HUBBERS VICTORY OVER COLEMAN

STORTI DRIVES OUT HOMER IN EIGHTH INNING

FAST PLAY FEATURES CLOSING GAME OF BOBCAT SERIES

Storti's wild throw for Williams to third base here yesterday afternoon in the series final with the Coleman Bobcats gave the Hubbers the winning run, breaking a 3-3 tie game after two were out in the ninth inning. The final score of the game was 4 to 3.

Both the Hubbers and Bobcats flashed excellent field play throughout the game, handling and creating plays that are creditable of higher class baseball.

Storti's Home Run
Storti, Hubber third baseman, ripped out his 21st home run for the season in the eighth inning, knocking the count of 3-3 as he followed Jack Holloway's homer in the seventh that shoved the visitors into the lead.

Double Play Features
One of the most stirring field performances of the afternoon was a double play pulled via the Storti to Dean to Storti route—the agile was winnowed across the corner of the diamond twice before the double play was executed.

Double Play Features
This afternoon the Athletic Aves, first ball winners, will meet the Hubbers in the first of a three game bill at the Merritt col.

When Pain Comes

Two hours after eating

What many people call indigestion very often means excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food sour. The corrective is an alkali which neutralizes acids instantly. And the best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali in water will neutralize instantly many times as much acid, and the symptoms disappear.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 28¢ and 50¢ a bottle—any drugstore.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1878.

TUNNEY, RICKARD ET AL VEHEMENTLY DENY CANCELLATION OF SCRAP. WITH HEENEY, SAYING REPORT IS ABSURD

(Associated Press Sports Editor)

REED DEFENDS HIS STATEMENT ON LIQUOR LAW

WAS MISUNDERSTOOD
AT HOUSTON SESSION
HE SAYS TODAY

(By Associated Press)
ST. LOUIS, July 5.—U. S. Senator James A. Reed said last night his statement on the Volstead act at the democratic national convention was "misunderstood" and that the newspapers placed a "very peculiar construction on my statement."

Reed said Governor Alfred E. Smith's telegram to the Houston convention advocating repeal of the 18th amendment and the Volstead law, sharply injected the prohibition question into the campaign.

Reed said he thought the democratic party to drop out of this campaign all questions upon which there was interparty dispute, he said. "I specifically named prohibition, the League of Nations, and any instrument of any particular plan of farm relief, and urged all to concentrate their efforts toward making the old party fundamentals upon which there is substantial unity, the dominant note of the campaign."

"I have said that I thought prohibition should not be made an issue in the campaign, because I thought that the democratic party would win if it advocated the return of honest government and the punishment of official republican rascality."

Senator Reed reiterated a part of his Houston statement in which he said, "I opposed the 18th amendment and the Volstead act and voted to sustain President Wilson's veto."

Says Act To Remain
"But I said what I've often said, the 18th amendment and the Volstead law would remain until the moral forces of the nation are convinced there is a better way to handle this question."

"In that statement lurked all the cause for the misunderstanding of what I said at Houston."

"The term moral forces was striven upon and construed as descriptive of the Anti-Saloon League. Nothing could have been further from my thoughts. Everybody but an idiot knows two things. First that the Anti-Saloon League never would agree to change the law except to make it more drastic and offensive."

"Second, the Anti-Saloon League has no monopoly on morality and it does not embrace the moral forces of the United States."

"I do not mean to say it is immoral, but it is far from having a monopoly on morality."

Distinct Departure
"I regard the 18th amendment as a distinct departure from our scheme of government. I have said so at all times."

The senator said he had not changed his mind on the prohibition amendment and law, but that "so long as they are on the books it is the duty of the officers of the law to enforce them."

"This is a government of law," he said, "and we cannot advocate nullification of one law without weakening the entire legislative and judicial structure."

COTTON IS BLOOMING
LAMERSA, July 6.—The first cotton bloom was shown here today.

This bloom was grown on the grounds at the city hall and is from a volunteer stalk which came up the 20th day of May this year.

This bloom has been produced in 44 days from the time the stalk came up. According to those who are experienced in cotton raising on the South Plains this is as fast fruiting as is generally known here. Although last year after a big rain cotton was known to bloom at 39 days. This is, however, said to be unusual.

BLUEBEARD HAS NARROW ESCAPE FROM IRATE MOB

(By Associated Press)
MARSEILLES, France, July 6.—Police closely guarded France's latest alleged Bluebeard today after a Marseilles mob had been beaten back when they made a determined attempt to lynch him.

Jerome Prat, alias Pierre Rey, charged with strangling to death three women, and the disappearance of 18 others was indifferent as police clubs beat a tattoo on the heads of the mob. To all attempts to question him, he replied, "kill me right away, but leave me alone."

Police had expected trouble when they brought Prat from Algiers and took him to a secluded quarter of the port. His identity became known, however, and police had to battle against the mob before they landed their prisoner safely in a cell.

The desire of the mob to avenge the three dead women was attributed to published reports that Prat might escape the guillotine since the French law decrees that no one over the age of 90 can be executed. Since the law also prevents sending him to Devil's Island, Prat is convicted probably will spend the remaining years of his life in a jail cell in France.

The Yankee manager was willing it was understood, to place Shocker on the voluntarily retired list but he asked for his outright release, to which he was entitled as a ten year man in the major leagues.

INDIANS OFFER PROTEST OVER AGENT IN UTAH

OFFICIALS WOULD KEEP LIQUOR FROM GROUP
FEARING TROUBLE

(By Associated Press)
SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, July 6.

Reports that the Goshute Indians in eastern Utah were holding nightly councils about their camp fires to express opposition to B. E. Brigrance, Indian agent on the Deep Creek reservation, has caused federal prohibition officials to make every effort to keep liquor from reaching the Indians.

Belief in official circles is that unless they are aroused by alcohol the Indians will make no show of violence in their campaign to bring about the removal of Brigrance, together with Dr. E. A. Farrow, superintendent of seven Indian agencies in Utah. No other white residents on the reservation are involved in the controversy.

Unofficial investigation
Details of the discussion between the Goshutes and the Deep Creek agent were gleaned from reports brought back by four officers and a Salt Lake newspaperman who made an unofficial investigation of the situation.

Members of the party heard the Indians charge that Brigrance and Farrow had ignored their pleas for medical attention during an influenza epidemic which took the lives of forty tribe members last spring. From other sources it was stated that Brigrance himself was bedridden for five weeks while the epidemic was at its height.

Brigrance was also charged with molesting young Indian girls and with having bought an automobile with Indian bureau funds. These charges were denied by the agent, who declared that the Indians procured a false statement from one Indian girl and that the girl had told him of being forced to make the statement.

Chief of the Goshute's chief reason for their opposition to him, Brigrance said, was this demand that young couples of the tribe conform to the white man's marriage ceremony, instead of the tribal rites, which he declared as being similar to "companionate marriage."

Beginning of Fears
Ill feeling against the agent had its inception some time ago when a Pitue Indian named Askame, whose wife, Rosy, was a Goshute, was killed by gunshot wounds supposedly in a drunken brawl. Brigrance said the white authorities decided that Askame committed suicide, but the Pitue Indians charged Rosy and her sister Alice Baker, with causing Askame's death, and demanded that the Goshutes surrender the women so they could be dealt with according to tribal custom.

The Goshutes agreed and the women fled to the agency for protection. Brigrance said. Eleven Pitue braves came to the agency and demanded the women but the agent drove them off at the point of a gun, he added.

Beginning of Fears
Ill feeling against the agent had its inception some time ago when a Pitue Indian named Askame, whose wife, Rosy, was a Goshute, was killed by gunshot wounds supposedly in a drunken brawl. Brigrance said the white authorities decided that Askame committed suicide, but the Pitue Indians charged Rosy and her sister Alice Baker, with causing Askame's death, and demanded that the Goshutes surrender the women so they could be dealt with according to tribal custom.

The Goshutes agreed and the women fled to the agency for protection. Brigrance said. Eleven Pitue braves came to the agency and demanded the women but the agent drove them off at the point of a gun, he added.

Ward had ignored their pleas for medical attention during an influenza epidemic which took the lives of forty tribe members last spring. From other sources it was stated that Brigrance himself was bedridden for five weeks while the epidemic was at its height.

Brigrance was also charged with molesting young Indian girls and with having bought an automobile with Indian bureau funds. These charges were denied by the agent, who declared that the Indians procured a false statement from one Indian girl and that the girl had told him of being forced to make the statement.

Chief of the Goshute's chief reason for their opposition to him, Brigrance said, was this demand that young couples of the tribe conform to the white man's marriage ceremony, instead of the tribal rites, which he declared as being similar to "companionate marriage."

NORRIS DEFIES COURT IN ORDER TO HALT WORK ON BUILDING

(By Associated Press) DALLAS, July 6.—While a brother minister shouted defiance at the court in loud words, the Rev. Earl Anderson, pastor of the Dallas Fundamentalist church and object of the condemnation of his flock, rested in a cell at the Dallas county jail last night, sent there by Judge Towne Young for contempt of court.

He was found guilty of contempt for not obeying a temporary injunction directing him and others to cease work on a tabernacle at 1211 North Main street, the site of the partially-built structure had protested that building ordinances of the city were being violated and that they could not sleep for the hammering and sawing.

Ordinance Violated—The plaintiffs who sought the injunction charged that the tabernacle was being constructed over property lines which would allow for widening of the street as provided in the new city plan and that it violated ordinances which require fireproof construction in all buildings having a seating capacity of more than 600 persons.

Judge Young fined the minister $100 and costs and ordered that he be kept in jail until he purged himself of contempt by posting a bond of $1,000 and promising to obey the injunction on which a hearing has been set for next Wednesday.

The Rev. Dr. J. Frank Norris, pastor of the First Baptist church of Fort Worth, who has been conducting a revival here, packed up candles for the Rev. Anderson, so generously that from his cell the latter urged that statements of the two not be confused.

"Thirty women are working out there, and I double dog dare the judge to put them in jail," Dr. Norris shouted to newspapermen when he visited the imprisoned pastor. "I'll give him $10,000 to put them in jail. The judge can go where the fires don't stop burning."

Later he declared that "one hundred women and girls" would go to work on the tabernacle today, and "no one can stop them; no deputy sheriff need come out to the tabernacle."

Would Have Protest Heard—While the Rev. Anderson said he could make bond quickly when he chose, he declared he would not do so until his protest against action of the court in stopping the "building of a church" had been heard throughout the country.

"I'm staying here to protest against alien influences seeking to control our courts," he said. "I'll remain here until I think my protest has been heard over the nation. I'm the first Baptist preacher I ever heard of who was put in jail for trying to build a church."

Preparations have been made for the Rev. Anderson to preach all day Sunday over radio by remote control from his cell and Mrs. Alvin Seale, sheriff of Dallas county, said there would be no objection to this.

Judge Young stated he had no intention of persecuting anyone or preventing the building of a church, but intended to back up the injunction.

NEW YORK TRADING

The cotton market opened steady at an advance of 17 to 25 points on overnight buying orders brought in by the firmness yesterday and additional buying stimulated by relatively firm Liverpool cables, or complaints of dry hot weather in some parts of the southwest.

October sold up to 22-05 but there was heavy realizing at this figure, and the market eased off 10 or 13 points from the best before the end of the first hour.

The early reaction was followed by another bull wave in cotton report and unfavorable private crop advice. Brokers with southwestern and Wall Street connections were among the buyers on the advance, which carried the price of October up to 22-05, or 37 points net higher and within 7 points of the best price touched on the advance late last week.

Increased realizing was encountered at this figure, however, and the market slid midway and was active at reactions of 10 or 15 points from the best.

FAMOUS MINER FOUND DEAD IN CANADA CABIN

BODY LOCATED AFTER DOG'S BARK LEADS MEN TO PLACE

(By Associated Press) MONTREAL, Que., July 6.—Jack Munroe, prospector, miner and soldier but best known as the man who, unknown at that time, stood up to Jim Jeffries for four rounds when the latter was champion of the world, is dead.

His body was found in his cabin near Royon, Ont., by two men who were attracted to the place by the barking of his dog. He evidently had been dead several days.

"Princess Pat" Survivor
Munroe, one of the little band of survivors of the original "Princess Pat" regiment, had led a colorful life. He was a native of Canada. When the South African war broke out he enlisted and served throughout the conflict, being decorated several times for bravery.

Coming home from the wars he took up mining and when the great silver rush started in 1904 he was mayor of the city of Cobalt.

In 1903 Jeffries was touring the country challenging any man to stay in the ring with him for four rounds. Munroe, described in old press notices as a natural fighter, accepted and stayed the limit. He was credited with a knockdown of the "big fellow" during the course of the bout. Jeffries knocked him out in two rounds in a later engagement.

Encouraged by his success with Jeffries, Munroe came to the United States and won a newspaper decision over Tom Sharkey at Philadelphia in 1904.

Aids in World War
When the world war broke out Munroe joined the "Princess Pat." As he was so broad of shoulder, it was difficult to find a uniform to fit him in the standard army sizes.

Always a lover of dogs Munroe took a puppy with him into the service. Told that he could not take the dog to France with him, he smuggled it aboard the boat. Taken from him when he landed in France Munroe stole it out of quarantine and got it into the trenches. It was with him all through the war and the dog whose howling led to the finding of his body is believed to be the same one. He had been a prospector since the war and lived alone in his isolated little cabin.

The democratic nominee, has always said in his public utterances that the party should make the platform and a candidate should stand on it. He has always said that his one outstanding issue is whiskey and boose—the return of the legalized liquor traffic which means the return of the licensed saloon. Every politician knows it, and when the party adopted a "dry" platform, if the nominee had been either honest or sincere in his public utterances he could have done nothing but decline the nomination. He did not and therefore stamped himself as a charlatan and a faker who is attempting to prove that Lincoln was wrong and that you can fool all the people all the time.

The band is the official band of the 131st regiment of the field artillery in the camp.

SAN ANTONIO, July 6 (AP)—Threats to bomb the office of the San Antonio Light unless that newspaper drops a campaign which it has launched against gamblers and crime in general, were contained in an unsigned letter to the newspaper today.

Pictures of the alleged gambling houses have accompanied the stories.

SWEDISH FLIER RESCUED FROM POLAR REGION

LUNDBORG TAKEN OFF FROM ICE FLOES BY FLYING AIDE

(By Associated Press) STOCKHOLM, July 6.—The chief of the Swedish rescue mission telegraphed from Spitzbergen today that Lieutenant Rinar-Pal Lundberg, a Swedish airman, had been rescued from the ice near Foyn Island. Lieutenant Lundberg was marooned when his plane overturned in an attempt to take off survivors of the Italia disaster.

The Swedish war department received a message from the base ship Quest that the rescue was effected by the Swedish flier Shyberg.

No mention was made of the five members of the Italia crew who were stranded on the ice with Lundberg.

After taking off General Umberto Nobile from the ice floe on June 23 Lundberg returned to pick up the other five men who had been stranded since the Italia crashed on May 25. He intended to take off Natale Ceccione, motor chief of the dirigible, whose leg was broken. As he landed on the ice the plane overturned and the skills were smashed. Unable to take off, Lundberg joined those who were waiting rescue on the ice.

Details of Lieutenant Lundberg's rescue were lacking but confirmation came to Stockholm directly from the Lieutenant who wrote a message to his wife saying that he had been saved by his comrade, Lieut. Shyberg.

It is believed probable in Stockholm that operations to rescue the other men on the ice floe have been resumed.

The Stockholm Dagens Nyheter, describing the rescue of Lieut. Lundberg, says that one Moth and two Swedish naval hydro-airplanes started from the S. S. Quest at midnight. One of the hydro-airplanes soon after was forced to descend on the ice and smashed her propellers, but these will be renewed shortly.

The other machines continued on to the Nobile camp where the Moth landed successfully and took off again carrying Lieut. Lundberg. It is understood that the hydro-airplane will make an attempt as soon as possible to rescue the five men still marooned on the ice.

clared there is small wonder that the south is near bankruptcy.

Industry Can't Survive
"No industry," he declared, "can survive under the price fluctuations cotton has been subjected to since 1921 when in that year alone the market fell 30 cents between the time of planting and harvesting. We must revert to the old law of self preservation if we expect to accomplish anything for ourselves as well as the farmers."

C. S. Holland, a Houston Texas, banker declared in his state the diversification slogan had been dropped in favor of "live at home."

Clarence M. Ousley of Dallas, said failure of farm organizations to act in behalf of the farmer at the present crucial moment would be an avowed confession of mental inferiority. He is attending the meeting as a representative of the East Texas Bankers' association.

Moors Hold Airmail Flier For Ransom

TANGIER, Morocco, July 6 (AP)—Pilot Reine, employed in the Latecoere-Dakair air mail service, is being held for ransom by a group of Moors into whose hands he fell when he made a forced landing several days ago on the northeast shore of the mouth of the Rio de Oro. It is not felt that his life is in danger as the Moors in the region prefer to hold prisoners for ransom rather than to kill them.

FORMER EDITOR DIES

MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 6 (AP)—Captain William Thomas Sherman, 54, former editor of the Montgomery Advertiser, died last night from an illness that began three years ago.

the settlements of the poor, and as a poet, you have now added the crowning laurel as conqueror of the air.

"Your bravery, your indomitable spirit, the feminine modesty which has characterized your victory will, we are sure, prove a burning inspiration to the womanhood of America."

Stults was acclaimed for his "deed of aeronautical daring in piloting the monoplane Friendship across the Atlantic."

"Not alone to the leader of great enterprises belongs the glory of victory," read the scroll handed Gordon.

Many Theatrical Offers

The woman flier said that she had received many offers of theatrical engagements, but none of them had a spot been considered. She had also received, she acknowledged, many offers of marriage from persons who had read of her exploit. She said she had no plans for the immediate future.

"I still have my job as a settlement worker in Boston," she replied to persistent questions as to her plans. "You know I made the flight on my vacation."

She acknowledged the possibility, however, that her Atlantic flight might eventually result in her leaving settlement work for something connected with aviation. She said that her chief concern was to interest more women in flying.

ITALIAN FLIGHT

metal and wood construction with a 850 horsepower flat motor. Its tested maximum speed is in the neighborhood of 150 miles an hour with a full load and its average cruising speed is between 1 and 125 miles an hour.

The fliers were lost in a heavy fog for many hours in an effort to continue from their landing place at Point Genipabu on to Rio Janeiro.

Point Genipabu, ten miles north of Port Natal, and started southward but soon were caught in unfavorable weather and for many hours sought a safe landing place only to find themselves eventually north of Point Genipabu to which they had tried to return.

Landing Made at Touro
Finally they made a safe landing at the town of Touro which is about fifty miles north of Port Natal. Later the two fliers started for Port Natal in a motor car.

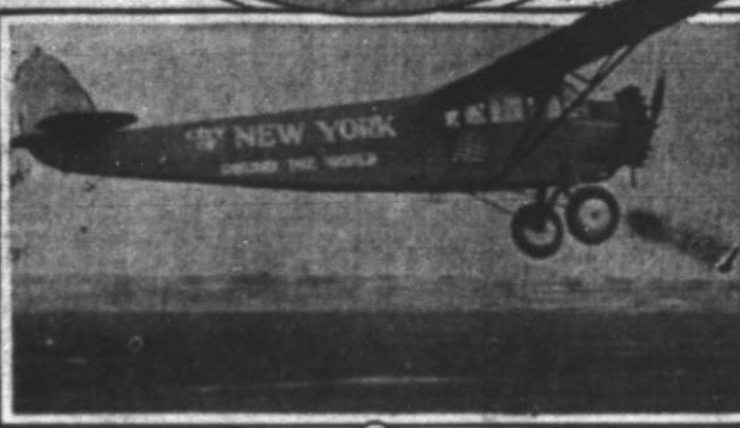

During the entire night the light houses on the Brazilian coast as well as the warships anchored in the harbors drew their searchlights into the fog and mist in an effort to guide the aviators to Rio Janeiro, but apparently the lights were not powerful enough to serve as a beacon for the lost fliers.

When the news finally was received that Captain Ferrarin and Major Del Prete had landed for a second time in northern Brazil, thousands waiting at the Alfonso landing field, outside of the Brazilian capital, went home in disappointment. The Italian airmen had been expected to arrive between 6 and 7 o'clock this morning and the welcome which was ready for them would have been one of the greatest enthusiasm.

Plan Big Reception
Touro is 70 miles from Port Natal by automobile and all the Brazilian authorities and members of the Italian colony were rushing from Port Natal today to welcome the aviators and to offer them the hospitality of Brazil.

All was well aboard the party reaching Rio Janeiro.

Seek Globe Record By Plane and Boat

All set for the start of their attempt at a globe-circling record. John Henry Mearns, left, and Captain C. B. D. Collier are shown above in the cabin of the plane which will carry them on part of their trip. Collier, the pilot, is holding Tail Wind, their mascot. Below is their monoplane, City of New York, which will be shipped by boat to Europe.
