125 Attended Republican 'Fun For Cox'

Approximately 125 Pampans attended the "Fun For Cox by Texans" rally Saturday night in the American Legion Hall. During the rally, a telegram from Jack Cox was read during the 45-minute radio broadcast over station KPDN.

Flags and red, white, and blue bunting decorated the hall. Kay Fancher, master of ceremonies, introduced the "night club" acts. Jim Dailey's specialties were "Getting To Know You," and "Lazy River." Miss Martha Price did a tap dance number and Mrs. Forrest Hills sang "Tired." Just In Time, "Till There Was You" and "Bill Bailey."

Mrs. John Hatcher and Bill Haley provided accompaniment for the performers. Tommy Adkins and his Mello Aires played dance music.

Speakers for the evening were Bill Dixon, Gris Rogers, and Warren Fathree. Mrs. Clayton Husted and Mrs. Kenneth Dunn were the telephone committee chairmen and Mrs. Bob Curry was decorations chairman. Pampa cooks took their specialties for the gourmet's dinner.

Demo Candidates Are Saluted In Rally Here

The Starlight Room of Coronado Inn was filled to overflowing and the "politics" thick as Texas top Democrats were "rallied" round their flag here yesterday.

Pampa's Congressman Walter Rogers readily accepted the challenge of his Republican opponent, Amarillo Mayor Jack Seale; gubernatorial candidate John Connally spurred his opponent, former Democrat - now - Republican Jack Cox, and the other big state Democrats "got in their licks," too, before the day was over.

The event drew over 300 people who gave rousing approval at each mention of Republican defeat.

The list of candidates present will be seen again in the left-hand column of the ballot on Nov. 6 in the General Election.

They included Connally, Lt. Governor aspirant Preston Smith of Lubbock, Attorney General candidate Waggoner Carr of Lubbock, Rogers, State Representative Grainger McIlhenny of Wheeler who is seeking re-election to become the number two man in seniority in the state legislature, new state representative candidate from a neighboring district Fritz Thompson of Borger, and County Democratic Chairman J. E. Thompson of Pampa. Also present was former Congressman from this district Eugene Worley of Shamrock, who is now Chief Justice of the US Customs and Patent Appeals Court, and State Senator Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo.

Adding charm and beauty to the speakers' table was Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Rogers, Mrs. McIlhenny and Mrs. R. G. (Dick) Hughes, who's husband served as master of ceremonies. Lynn Boyd headed up preparations for this biggest of Democrat rallies in Pampa in many years.

Congressman Roger's humorous comment on the political scene nudged the audience's funny-bone but Pampa's favorite Washington son also made some serious comments. He said the Democrats were responsible for the good condition the country is currently enjoying and will lead the nation to higher progress yet.

Candidate Connally told the group to be proud to be Democrats and to wage a "clean campaign" for the party in November. He did, however, facetiously suggest that if anyone heard anything bad about the Republicans to be sure the rumor didn't stop with them.

Connally said at one meeting in Fort Worth a lady asked him if Vice President Lyndon Johnson had anything to do with his candidacy for Governor. Connally told her, "As God is my witness, Lyndon Johnson had no more to do with my decision to run for Governor than you did." Connally (See CANDIDATES, Page 3)

East Germany Appoints Military Head In Berlin

By JOSEPH B. FLEMING
BERLIN (UPI) — Communist East Germany today appointed its own East Berlin military commandant to fill the spot vacated when the Soviet Union abolished its Berlin military headquarters. The official East German news agency ADN reported that Maj. Gen. Helmut Poppe was named East Berlin commandant. Poppe will make his headquarters in the Karlshorst area where the Soviet military commandant for East Berlin had his headquarters until the Soviets abolished the post in a surprise move Wednesday.

The action was seen by Western observers as another move in a gigantic power play to get Britain, France and the United States out of Berlin and force the West to deal with the East German regime.

Red Troops Held

It came as American troops halted three Soviet armored personnel carriers at the Checkpoint Charlie crossing point in the Berlin wall when the Russians refused to accept a U.S. military escort through West Berlin.

The incident at the wall came shortly after two U.S. Army patrol cars had cruised unhampered through East Berlin in a test of Russia's virtual renunciation of Berlin's four - power status.

The Soviet vehicles apparently carried the relief guard for the Soviet war memorial in West Berlin. They were halted at the checkpoint by American MPs who moved a radio escort vehicle into their path.

Military sedans of both sides crossed and recrossed the border, bypassing the stalled Soviet carriers while the wrangle went on. More than two hours after the convoy was stopped the Soviet vehicles were still at the checkpoint.

Western Statements

The Big Three Western powers were reported drafting strong statements reiterating their rights in Berlin following Russia's abrupt abolition of its Berlin military command.

The U.S. Army held up Soviet armored cars for 43 minutes Wednesday until they accepted an escort for the 1½ mile run through West Berlin to the Soviet memorial.

Western fears that the Communists might try at midnight to enforce a ban on Western entry into East Berlin did not materialize.

The fears were caused by the Soviet Union's abolishment Wednesday of its Berlin military headquarters in an abrupt cold war move. It was considered the most drastic attempt to undercut Western authority in the city since erection of the Berlin wall a year ago.

The unexpected Russian move destroyed the channel used by the Western Allies in the divided city to settle local East-West disputes. Some Western officials feared it set the stage for possible new Communist restrictions.

Cars Entered East Berlin
To demonstrate that it intended to hold its rights in Berlin, the U.S. Army early this morning sent two sedans into East Berlin through the Friedrichstrasse (See BERLIN, Page 3)

15 Communist Bloc Ships Head For Cuban Ports

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Fifteen Communist bloc cargo ships were reported steaming toward Cuba today in what appeared to be an increase in the movement of Red supplies and technicians to that Communist island.

President Kennedy called attention at his news conference Wednesday to what he termed a "rather intensive quantity" of supplies and technicians moving into Cuba recently.

Kennedy said the significance of the movement was being analyzed by administration officials. The arrival of 15 ships would bring to 31 the number of bloc vessels, mainly Russian, which have unloaded at Havana within a month, a rate described by experts here as "above average."

Five Soviet passenger ships and 11 cargo ships put into Havana in the last few days of July.

The passenger ships were estimated to have a combined capacity of 3,000 to 5,000 persons. But except for one ship carrying 40 agricultural technicians, the vessels were unloaded under security conditions and little is known about the actual number or nature of the personnel.

They are believed to be mainly technicians ranging from military to agricultural, many perhaps replacing technicians who had completed their work terms and are being rotated home. But officials said there is evidence more technicians are arriving than leaving.

The "supplies" unloaded, which Kennedy did not identify, are believed to include military equipment and some food.

Clothing Needed By Salvation Army

Envoy H. C. Seago of Pampa's Salvation Army issued an appeal today for school clothes.

Seago said the Salvation Army is getting requests for clothes, particularly from boys aged six to 12, and is in need of more clothing to fill these requests.

He added that he could use some more girls' clothes, too, but the boys' clothing need was the more critical.

K-9 Corps Demonstration Scheduled For Tuesday

First step in the direction of adding one or two police dogs to Pampa's police department may be taken following a demonstration of the use of dogs in crime prevention and detection scheduled for 2 p.m. next Tuesday.

Police Chief Jim Conner announced this forenoon that he had completed arrangements with Police Chief Wiley Alexander of Amarillo to bring two or three of the dogs and their police officer trainers here for the demonstration.

Chief Conner said the site of the demonstration had not been definitely decided upon but that it would probably be staged at the rodeo grounds in Recreation Park. The possibility of using police dogs in Pampa came to the fore at Tuesday night's city commission meeting when a discussion arose on the recent increase in crime in Pampa.

Mayor E. C. Sidwell and other city commissioners seemed to think the idea of at least one police dog and an officer trainee would be a good addition to the Pampa police department.

City Manager Harold Schmitzer in conferring with Chief Conner yesterday on the recent wave of criminal acts in Pampa asked Chief Conner to arrange the demonstration.

Chief Conner announced today that he approved of the idea and had arranged for the demonstration next Tuesday.

Chief Conner also stated that the City of Borger now has a police officer in training with a police dog which soon will be added to the Borger police department.

Quarter Horse Show Held This Afternoon

The second performance of Pampa's first professional rodeo will get underway at 8 p.m. today in Recreation Park. Another capacity crowd is expected.

Another phase of the annual Western Week activities in the Top O' Texas was kicked off at 1 p.m. today when judging of the Halter Classes in the American Quarter Horse Show got underway in the rodeo arena.

Tomorrow at 1 p.m., the judging of the performance classes in the show will be held.

The rodeo got off to a "rip-snoring" start Wednesday night with some of the top rodeo hands in the country showing their mettle before a capacity crowd at the rodeo grounds.

Jim Brock, who has been named the top all-around cowboy for the past three years at the Top O' Texas Rodeo, won top honors in the saddle bronc riding event with a total of 162 points. Brock also was third in the bareback bronc riding with 148 points.

Tater Decker, who twice has reached the National Rodeo Finals, won the steer wrestling event with a time of 10:7 seconds.

Dean Oliver, another top cowboy from Boise, Idaho, turned in an 11.9 time in the calf roping for second place among the entries. Oliver is reigning world champion calf roper.

The grand entry kicked off the first night of the rodeo with some 212 horses parading around the arena area. Prior to the grand entry, the Hardin-Simmons University Cowboy Band and Leon McAuliffe and his Cimarron boys performed for the musical entertainment of the spectators.

"Beeswax" Moore and his clown contingent amused the enthusiastic crowd with their comical antics during the rodeo performance. Thrown into the comical acts were a mule jumping over a car and performing dogs jumping off a platform in rapid-fire order.

Another highlight of the rodeo was the pin-point accuracy of Chief White Cloud, who started bursting balloons at a short distance with his bow and arrow and then ended up with a bulls-eye shot from 80 yards out in the rodeo arena.

The only injury of the first night's rodeo performance was to Dick McCall, who suffered knee and ankle injuries in the bareback bronc riding competition. McCall was still being treated in Highland General Hospital at press time.

The results:
Barback Bronc Riding — Duane Hennigh, first; Charlie Mettrose, second and Jim Brock, third.

Girls' Barrel Race — Boots Tucker, first; Joy Rose, second and Mary Ann Stockstill, third.

Calf Roping — Bob Ragsdale, first; Dean Oliver, second and John McMordie, third.

Saddle Bronc Riding — Jim Brock, first; Duane Rodewald, second and Everett Williams, third.

Judge Orders Strikers Back On The Job

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (UPI) — A federal judge ordered striking electricians holding up work on the nation's man-on-the-moon program Wednesday to "pick up your tools and get back on the job." There was no indication the workers would obey.

Judge C. W. Albright, in signing a back-to-work injunction at Birmingham, said the foot-dragging on around 40 space projects at the Redstone Arsenal "was approaching national suicide." In the space and weapons race with Russia, he said, time is precious.

Officials of Local 558 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (AFL-CIO) said after the hearing only that they would tell union members they were free to return to their jobs. The electricians stopped work Aug. 14 in protest against the use of two non-union men by a subcontractor.

Officials at Marshall Space Flight Center and the Army Ordnance Missile Command said about 70 per cent of the 1,500 workers who observed the local's picket lines were at work Wednesday, but work on 18 projects connected with the Saturn rocket, which will hurl the first American toward the moon, remained critical without electricians.

Vice President Assures Lebanon Of US Interest In Its Independence

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson launched a Middle East good will tour here today by assuring Lebanon that the United States has "abiding and unchanging interest in the independence and integrity" of this small country.

Johnson's remarks in a prepared arrival statement at the airport were considered significant in view of the continuing uneasiness in this half Moslem-half Christian nation regarding its Arab neighbors, Syria and the United Arab Republic.

"The people of my country would have me express to you their feelings of affection, admiration and friendship for the people of Lebanon," the vice president said.

Johnson's arrival for a one-day courtesy call on President Fuad Chehab and Premier Rashid Karame was the first stop-off on a 18-day tour which also includes Iran, Turkey, Greece, Cyprus and Italy. With the vice president were his wife, Lady Bird, and 18-year-old daughter, Linda Bird.

The American leader told the Lebanese it was "our good fortune in the United States to have many of your people come to live and work among us."

"They have enriched our national life and helped to make America stronger," he said. "Our devotion to the Lebanese people who are part of America adds to our affection for the land which sent them to us."

Johnson prepared arrival statement made no reference to the shipment of U.S. Marines to Lebanon in 1958 in response to the Lebanese government's appeal to help safeguard the country's independence

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The tremendous topical range of a presidential news conference, from Negro diplomats to U.S. nuclear submarines at the North Pole, was demonstrated vividly Wednesday in President Kennedy's meeting with reporters.

It was the Chief Executive's 40th such conference in Washington since taking office with 365 persons in attendance, plus a few privileged tourists who brought along their kids for a look at history in the raw.

If it comes from a hardware store we have it, Lewis Hdw. Adv.

Meeting with correspondents for the first time in three weeks, the President in 30 minutes handled 33 questions on 21 different subjects. He was on live television and radio and his comments flooded across the nation instantaneously.

As such conferences go, there was little earth-shaking about Wednesday's presidential treatment of the questions. But there were points of unusual interest or importance:

—His disclosure that two U.S. nuclear submarines, the Skate and the Sea Dragon, had completed a rendezvous under the polar ice cap and surfaced together through a small opening in the ice at the North Pole.

—A five-point legislative priority list for Congress next week. Kennedy has expressed similar preferences before, but Congress has not always followed his wishes. His comments on the legislative situation demonstrated one of his principal reasons in holding frequent news conferences — to push his legislative program.

—His "go get 'em" attitude toward the Senate stockpile investigation and his broad rejection of the complaints of former Treasury Secretary George M.

Humphrey. The President thought Humphrey's firm during the Eisenhower administration made "extremely large profits with very little risk to the company." Furthermore, Kennedy foresaw similar disclosures about other companies and thought "the Congress ought to do its job."

—His statement that anybody claiming that the United States is not behind Russia in space exploration is misleading the American people. Kennedy pointed out that this country's space program started late and still runs behind the Soviet effort, particularly in long-range boosters. The President thought, however, America would be ahead before this decade is over.

—Discounted Moral Issues — He thought there was no moral issue involved when a country accepts aid from the United States and still does business with Communist bloc countries. Giving American aid to other nations must, he said, depend on "what serves our interest, whether the country is attempting to maintain its freedom, whether the country is pursuing policies which are not inimical to the long-range interests of the United States."

—Kennedy said the United States had no information on Russian troops entering Cuba, as reported by exile groups, but it is known that Soviet ships are

Thieves Visit Rodeo Grounds

The Top O' Texas rodeo grounds and half a dozen filling station soft drink vending machines were the targets of thieves in Pampa last night.

The rodeo grounds at Recreation Park were hit last night during the first performance of the four - night show.

City police and the sheriff's department were on the lookout today for four saddles, valued at $310, believed to have been stolen between 9 and 10 p.m.

One of the saddles was stolen from a horse tied to a pickup truck on the parking lot. It belonged to John Archer of Shamrock.

Troy Miller of Tulsa reported that two saddles were taken from a pickup truck parked near the rodeo arena chutes. They were valued at $100 each.

The fourth saddle, also stolen from a parked pickup truck, belonged to Travis Hardin of Canadian.

The soft drink vending machines were broken open at four service stations on N. Hobart St., and one on Alcock St.

The stations hit included the Jeff Truly Conoco Station, 2101 N. Hobart; C. W. Kenner's Gulf Station, 1901 N. Hobart; M. C. Bennett's Echo Station, 1524 N. Hobart; the Chevron Station, 901 N. Hobart, and the Bettis Texaco Station, 1019 Alcock.

In all cases, police said, the vending boxes broken into were outside in front of the stations.

Police Chief Conner said there was no estimate of the total amount of money taken in the five thefts.

Report of a prowler was listed with police by Mrs. A. L. Childers, 401 Purviance. Mrs. Childers said a man tried to open the locked back door at her home.

She said he apparently was frightened away when he saw her walk into the room.

She gave police a description of the man, saying he was of average height, thin, and wore a short - sleeved tan shirt.

Accidents In Pampa Show A Decrease

Traffic accidents in Pampa in July and the first seven months of 1962 were down slightly over the same month and period last year, according to a report filed today with the National Safety Council by Police Chief Jim Conner.

Pampa had 36 traffic accidents in July and ten persons were injured, compared with 46 accidents and nine injuries in July of last year.

So far this year there have been 267 traffic accidents in Pampa and 82 persons have been injured. During the first seven months of 1961 there were 281 accidents and 59 persons injured.

Total damage in the 267 accidents this year was estimated at $6,780.

Involved in 1962's accidents up until Aug. 1 were 41 male drivers and 16 females.

The greatest number of accidents - 20 of them - involved drivers 19 years of age and under.

One patrol car with a soldier driver and an officer passed through the checkpoint shortly after midnight and cruised around the Eastern sector for 52 minutes. A second car followed 22 minutes later.

A State Department spokesman told newsmen at Checkpoint Charlie that the patrols were "routine," but the very fact that the spokesman was at the border at such an hour indicated the patrols had special significance.

The dispatch of the patrol cars conformed with President Kennedy's statement in Washington on Wednesday that the Soviet abolition of its Berlin military headquarters would not affect Western rights in the city. He said these rights could not be abrogated unilaterally by the Russians.

Announced In Moscow

The Soviet move was announced in Moscow by the Soviet Defense Ministry. It said functions exercised by the East Berlin headquarters were being transferred to the Soviet army in Germany. It said the step was in line with the Soviet policy to give Germany a peace treaty that would end Western rights in Berlin.

The Soviet action was considered more than a simple transfer of functions from one headquarters to another.

The measure, in effect, removed contact on a Berlin level between the Russians and the Funeral services are pending for Mrs. Ora Davis, 229 N. Dwight, longtime Pampa resident, who died at 3 a.m. today in the St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo, where she had been for the past two months.

Mrs. Davis was born Oct. 21, 1876 in Atlanta, Ga. and came to the Panhandle of Texas Aug. 10, 1897. She moved to Pampa in 1913 from Miami.

Survivors are two sons, Lester of Pampa, Frank of Spearman; one sister, Mrs. Myrtle Smith of Pampa; a half-brother, Russell Tate, and a half sister, Mrs. May Vaughn, both of Eliasville; four grandchildren, nine great - grandchildren and one great - great-grandchild.

Arrangements will be announced later by Duengel - Carmichael Funeral Home.

Music and Hughes employees took tickets, made arrangements and pinned name tags.

The event ended at 7:30 p.m. so the visiting candidates could attend the Top O' Texas Rodeo.

FINISHED SYMPHONY

MOSCOW (UPI) - Composer Dmitri Shostakovich has finished the draft of the piano score for his 13th Symphony, according to the Soviet news agency Tass.

It said the first hearing of the symphony will take place in a two-piano transcription when he returns from Edinburgh, Scotland. The symphony is dedicated "to the great fatherland war of the Soviet people, against fascism," Tass said.

U.N. BUDGET UP

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) - A 1963 United Nations budget estimate of $66,649,500, $4,504,760 above the current year's amount, was submitted Wednesday by Acting Secretary General U Thant.

Thant estimated that member nations would be assessed for a total of $71,825,000. Another $14,823,000 would be raised through staff assessments, U.N. postage stamp sales, guided tours, gift shops and related activities, Thant estimated.

Parade

(Continued From Page 1) point and risk life and limb dashing out to retrieve candy and leaflets. A few dedicated adults risked getting toes mashed by horses to get a piece of candy for the ones too little to run out under the flashing hoofs.

Dedicated parade goers come for several reasons. Often because Bill Jr., or Susan will be on a horse or a float or because the kids wouldn't give them any peace until they "got to see the clown."

Some little cowboys and cowgirls come, but don't see anything because they fall asleep on Daddy's or Momma's shoulder before the first group of horses goes by.

Others come to meet a friend, to see who else is there or to see what the well-dressed rodeo parade outfit is. The most appropriate costume yesterday would have been sunglasses, a long-sleeved sweat dress and a wide-brimmed bonnet to prevent sunstroke and combat boots to protect toes from being mashed in the rush to get away when the parade was over.

one. And that's where television comes in — and in a big way. More and more, moviemakers are spending greater amounts of money advertising their product on television. And more and more stars whom you haven't seen as players in television dramas are showing up as themselves on the medium to talk about their films. (Ironically, perhaps, that movies' greatest competitor should be used as a prime sales stimulant.)

With this in mind, I intend to do a number of television shows around the release of our film early next year. Shows that will permit me, for the most part, to "play" myself and talk about the film.

As an entertainer, I realize, of course, this can be pretty boring for a television audience accus-tomed to seeing the best enter-tainment — and entertainers — in the world. Who wants to watch Tony Curtis talk when you can see, for example, Fred Astaire dance?

So, I've been working on a few things I hope will pass for enter-tainment, and at the same time, help call attention to our movie. For example, I've been prac-ticing my flute for a year now, hoping to make my musical de-but on the tube. (Remember, for better or worse, if you one day see a fellow who resembles me playing a flute on television, it will be me — not Mitch Miller playing off-camera.)

Knowing the value of television, Norm Jewison, who directed our film (and himself a product of video), kept the cameras rolling long after many scenes were finished. With such talented ad-justers and kidders as Phil Sil-vers, Howard Morris and Larry Storch in the cast, we captured some marvelous, spontaneous mo-ments on film. These will be put together for a television featur-ette.

So, for the near term, that's how it will be for me and televi-sion. But things could change. Pay-TV, for example, could change them in a big hurry. Then too our company has plans to enter television as a producing unit. But let me be completely hon-est. Although I have no plans for any dramatic or "guest star" work on television, I'm no differ-ent than any actor who ever lived. I can say no to money, but I can never say no to a good script. One day I'll find one I have to do.

Ocean waters contain by far the greatest proportion of fishes, both in number of species and individuals.

San Juan To Get New Movie House

NEW YORK (UPI) — Not too

many new 1,400-seat motion pic-ture houses are planned for cities in the United States these days, but one is being con-templated for San Juan.

Few proprietors have spent up to $300,000 refurbishing a down-town theater recently in these parts, but that also has taken place in San Juan.

The man who heads the orga-nization doing this sort of thing is Rafael Ramos Cobian, San Juan, P.R., who started operating a single theater in the small town of Coamo 37 years ago. He took it over to help boost sales of a drug store which he operated on the strength of his early training as a pharmacist.

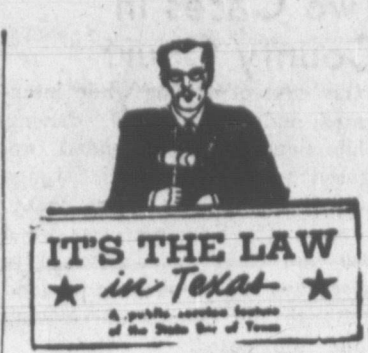

Since that time he and his for-mer competitor and present chair-man of the board of directors, Victor Carrady, 42-year-old finan-cier, have welded a chain of 42 theaters into a corporation, the Commonwealth Theatres of Puer-to Rico.

"People in Puerto Rico like movies," Cobian said on a recent trip here.

"They like our theaters, too," he said with a smile. Later he commented proudly that despite the name "Commonwealth" most of the movie houses which he operates still are known to the public as Cobian theaters.

Although Puerto Ricans and visitors — the ever — growing stream of tourists — patronize heavily the traditional indoor theaters of the island common-wealth, Cobian has not overlooked the attractions of the outdoor theater. The nation's largest one, a 1,200 car spread, is slated to open this year in the outskirts of San Juan.

Reasonable Time

Before a contract arises some-one must make an offer and an-other must accept it.

Without an offer, no acceptance; with no acceptance, no agree-ment.

But there is often a time within which you can accept the offer. And if not, the offer ends anyhow within a "reasonable time" which is determined by circumstances and the parties' intentions.

Smith had a set of books which Brown wanted. Brown wrote and offered him $200 for the set.

Smith didn't answer for six months, and meantime Brown bought a similar set. One day Brown got a letter from Smith saying "I accept your offer of $200 for the set of books."

Brown told Smith he'd bought the books elsewhere, but Smith still claimed that his belated "ac-ceptance" had nevertheless seal-ed the contract with Brown.

Was there a contract? No, the offer had lapsed because it had not been accepted in the circum-stances within a reasonable time.

There are many ways to end an offer. You may withdraw it, you may say that the offer ex-pires at a given time, or you may die, or the other party may turn it down directly or by making a counter offer.

Here Smith had failed to accept Brown's offer within a reasonable time, which ended it just as though it had been withdrawn.

What is a reasonable time? It varies. The offer could expire in a few minutes in the stock market or last for quite a while, depend-ing upon what a court would think is a reasonable time.

But in Smith's case six months was unreasonable.

Reds Want 'Em Back On The Farm Now

By CHARLES R. SMITH

TOKYO (UPI) — Red China's

leaders, who not so long ago pressured agricultural workers to migrate to cities for China's in-dustrial "great leap forward," apparently are running into snags trying to get them back on the farm.

It's a tough problem. The Chi-nese Communist party says it is.

During a session of the Nation-al People's Congress last spring, the Chinese leadership laid down a 10-point aid-to-agriculture pro-gram designed to bolster sagging food production.

One of the key points, present-ed to the congress by Premier Chou En-Lai, was a back-to-the-farm movement. This particular-ly referred to youths who had left the farms for a more promising life in the cities.

Return To Farms

According to articles in an au-thoritative Communist Chinese publication, a translation of which has been received here, thousands of youths have returned to the farms for work in the people's communes.

But many are balking at re-turning, according to the articles in the Chung-Kuo Ch'ing-Nien (China Youth) magazine.

"Many young people do not want to take part in agricultural production because they are wor-ried that once they take part in it and become peasants, they may not have any great opportu-nities for the rest of their lives," one article said.

"Some youths have yet another worry," the article added. "They are afraid that if they become peasants they may be considered dishonorable and may not be able to enjoy a high social status or lead a good material and cultural life."

Quotes Second Article

Another article on the same subject said:

"Because some of these youths have been away from the rural areas for a long time and do not have the habit of performing agri-cultural labor, they are unskilled. The male among them does not know how to drive cattle, nor do the females know how to keep houses."

The Chinese Communist party has decreed, the articles indicat-ed, that these attitudes are "in-correct" and must be changed.

"Youths of today must under-stand," one article said, that when the state calls upon them to take part in agricultural pro-duction they "will not waver or hesitate but (must) feel that they have a grave responsibility to discharge."

Because many of them "have not yet firmly adopted the idea of staying in the rural areas to work," the articles said, "it is necessary to do and keep on doing for a long time the tedious work of educating them so that they will accept the idea that farming is glorious, and will take a better part in rural construc-tion."

PRISONERS INCREASED

number of prisoners in federal, state and local prisons reached a record high of 220,329 at the end of 1961, according to the Federal Bureau of Prisons. This was a 3.5 per cent increase over 1960.

The Lighter Side On A Week End At The Beach

By DICK WEST
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—A weekend, at the beach is, under the best of conditions, rather perilous recreation.

If you are lucky enough to avoid sunburn, shark bites and drowning, the chances are good that one of those musclebound nuts who insist on exercising will flatten you with a beach ball.

To this formidable array of natural hazards has just been added an artificial menace: Politicians.
Almost everywhere that you looked last weekend, what was left of serenity at the shore was being shattered by office-seekers who have suddenly discovered that a sand spit usually contains a ready-made, pre-cooked audience.

Dip Was Typical
President Kennedy's trip to the West Coast was billed as non-political and he is not up for re-election this year. But his dip in the Pacific was typical of what this type of campaigning can lead to.

Bathers who were peacefully enjoying the sea air at Santa Monica found themselves being swarmed over by a tidal wave of President watchers, some of whom followed Kennedy into the surf fully clothed.

They must have thought they were at one of Atty. Gen. Robert
F. Kennedy's poolside parties.
One reporter described the scene at Santa Monica as "reminiscent of Coney Island," perhaps not knowing how right he was.

Coney Island happened to be one of the four New York beaches that Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller chose to stump last Sunday.

Descended By Helicopter
Descending on the half-baked hordes by helicopter, Rockefeller went around eating hot dogs, shaking hands and kissing babies.
There is no telling how many votes he lost by slapping backs that already had absorbed too much sun.

In Maryland, three Republican candidates made a helicopter tour of six beaches on the bay shore while a Democratic congressional candidate worked the ocean front.
The Republicans set up loud-speakers, which a beach needs like a hurricane. The Democrat walked about introducing himself to sunbathers, who previously had only sand fleas to disturb them.

The way things are going,
America's beaches will soon have more candidates than sand crabs.
I personally view the situation with alarm, but there is one small consolation.
At least the candidates won't be handing out campaign buttons.
Swim suits being what they are today, there is no place to pin
them.

Revival Set By Kelton Methodists

The Kelton Methodist Church will hold a revival beginning Friday, Aug. 24 and continuing through Sept. 2.

The Rev. L. V. Grace, pastor, will conduct the services assisted by Mrs. Grace. Teed Pond will direct the music.
Prayer meetings are scheduled at 8 p.m. and preaching services at 8:30 p.m. and at 10 a.m. Monday through Friday.

All residents of the community and surrounding communities are invited to attend.
Dr. Tilden B. Armstrong will preach the Sunday morning service on Aug. 26.

Rev. Grace extends an invitation "to come out and help us make this one of the greatest spiritual revivals for the advancement of God's Kingdom here on earth."

Towers Mark New Industry

By JESSE BOGUE
UPI Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — By the growing number of towers which sprout where clusters of wires once would have drawn their lines across the sky can be marked the growth of another modern industry, a New Jersey manufacturer said today.

The structures are for the relay of microwave communications, and the function they perform need not be earthbound; the new Telstar satellite is a space-age form of microwave relay station.

In simple definition, microwaves are tiny radio waves that vibrate more than a million times a second. They are the basis for radar and other military direction and surveillance systems.

Major communications networks, notably American Telephone and Telegraph and Western Union, are expanding microwave networks to add to their present systems; the military is extending its use not only for warning systems but for jam-proof communications to faraway bases.

"Microwaves are probably the greatest communications medium ever discovered," said Harry A. Augenblick, president of Micro-lab, Livingston, N. J. He believes the largest growth in microwave communications will come under expanded public and private systems; a Federal Communications Commission decision last year opened up new microwave frequencies for private users.

Augenblick's firm manufactures and supplies components for microwave systems, primarily to major private concerns; it keeps more than 10,000 items in stock for immediate delivery. Augenblick said that in a little over two decades, "microwaves have grown from the subject of uncertain laboratory experiments to the firm and proven basis of a $2 billion industry."

Washington Window

By RAYMOND LAHR

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Democratic liberals in the Senate are making threatening noises hinting that their filibuster against the communication satellite bill was just a beginning.

They are not happy about what they see in Congress or about the Kennedy administration's attitude on some issues.

Their next big effort may come on the administration's tax reform bill which was put on a chopping block in the Senate Finance Committee. Here they will be with the administration in fighting to restore House provisions dealing with expense accounts and withholding taxes on dividends and interest.

But already they are worrying that the administration's promised 1963 tax bill will offer too much tax relief to business and upper-bracket individuals and too little to the low bracket taxpayers.

Bound to Democrats
It is not clear what the liberals would accomplish by taking a more belligerent stance except to air their protests in noisier fashion. They have no place to hang their hats outside the Democratic party. They cannot hope to build a working coalition with like-minded Republicans that would represent a majority of the Senate.

About half of those who opposed the satellite bill are regarded by fellow Democrats as mavericks, too independent and uncompromising to play on the team.

"Our senatorial party is loaded against us," Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., complained last week. "We are in a sense pariahs. However, when election time comes around, they want our help because they know that the Democratic party cannot elect a president without the great industrial states."

"The national party comes around and asks for our help and they put clauses in the platform pledging themselves to progressive steps, such as civil rights, the bipartisan oligarchy will, however, sit back and say, 'Oh, yes, that is only a party pledge. Wait until we get them in the Senate. Then we will cut their throats.'"

Four Party System
In the same speech, Douglas said the Senate is really composed of four parties—liberal Democrats from the North and West, largely conservative Southern Democrats, a conservative bloc including most of the Republicans and a small band of GOP liberals.

His argument was shaky when applied to the lineup in the Senate on the satellite bill. Of the Democrats supporting the bill, 32 came from Northern and Western states which Douglas regards as the natural habitat of Democratic liberals.

Only a fraction of the opposition came from the big industrial states. Of the 15 Democrats on record against the bill, 10 came from small or relatively small states which did not give their electoral votes to President Kennedy in 1960.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The race for space had a new entry today, a beer can launcher that "fires those empties as high as 100 feet" as targets for shooting practice.

Proving it knows a thing or two about yachting, a sporting-goods store advertised the device for yachtsmen to add "more enjoyment to those hours you spend becalmed or just riding at anchor."

MOSCOW (UPI) — Radio Moscow announced its 40th anniversary Tuesday, and saluted "radio communication, discovered by the outstanding scientist, our countryman, A. S. Popov."

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Electric Storage Battery Co. said Tuesday it will concentrate headquarters activities of its overseas operations in an international division in Philadelphia Aug. 31.

like rats leaving a sinking ship. Many who had acquiesced in, if not fully accepted, the Communist dogma could now see concrete proof of the prison in which they had been confined since the end of World War II. They ran for freedom. Some died in the canals; some died in the streets from gunshot wounds; some died from injuries received in falls from the Wall and adjacent buildings as they were seeking escape. Others are now languishing in Red prisons for trying to escape or for trying to help their fellow prisoners.

At first, the reaction was to "knock down the Wall" by physical violence. Some advocated the open declaration of war. The people behind the Wall responded can compete effectively in meeting the needs of mankind, either spiritual or material. The erection of the Wall in the first instance was an open admission of a dismal failure of the Communist - Socialist philosophy. It was at this direct point — to wit, Berlin — that the sharp comparison between freedom and slavery could be viewed in all its aspects. West Berlin was a showcase of what freedom under our system has to offer to mankind. East Berlin was a drab, depressing, sorrowful-looking shambles in comparison. In West Berlin, the people were smiling, congenial, friendly and prosperous. In East Berlin, sadness was etched in the deep lines of the faces of all the people. They would speak only when spoken to; their response was no more than a grunt. They were people without hope, who appeared to be going about their daily chores and continuing to live only because they had to, not because they wanted to.

The officials of East Berlin knew all of this, and they knew something had to be done. The flow of refugees, varying from month to month over the past 16 years, averaged about 25,000 a month in the last year, including a high percentage of skilled men and women in all fields. The majority of the refugees were workers and wage earners — about half were under 25 years of age. This last point is most important because this group had never known anything but Communism. They had nothing to compare with Communism except what they could see in West Berlin. The Communists knew that if there was a West Berlin in every section of the Soviet republics and the satellite countries, their troubles would be multiplied a thousand fold. These young people, although raised and fully indoctrinated in Communist dogma, did not know what the free world had to offer, but they did know that they DID NOT want Communism.

The Communists, under the circumstances, HAD to build the Wall. They knew that only by physical restraint could they prevent their regime from collapsing like a house of cards. It was their last resort. It stands today as a monument to the utter and complete inadequacy of any philosophy of government that does not recognize the freedom and dignity of the individual.

The Wall can also be viewed as a monument to the basic proposition that the founders of this country, with Divine guidance, prepared the greatest document in the history of mankind when they wrote the Constitution preserving and protecting the rights of the individual human being as created by God. It would be well for all people in all countries, INCLUDING OUR OWN, to read and re-read this document so that this freedom and dignity of the individual may be preserved in all of its glory as intended.

If this is done, the Berlin Wall of the future will crumble, because Communism will be completely destroyed.

Grilled Leg Of Lamb Makes Outdoor Meal

When you move the kitchen to the outdoor grill everyone can take part in the dinner preparation by waiting and watching. Whether the menu is formal or informal there's no doubt that meat makes the outdoor meal. The sight of a leg of lamb turning on the rotisserie spit is certain to coax any appetite. And, the results are certain to please any appetite.

The leg of lamb takes to the spit as easily as any roast. Even balancing of the roast is the one important factor to remember so that the spit will turn smoothly. Run the rotisserie spit lengthwise through the leg of lamb along the bone. Check the balance by rotating the spit rod with the palms of the hands on either side of the roast. Then fit the prongs into the meat and tighten so that the roast is held securely. A roast meat thermometer inserted into the center of the thickest part of the meat lets you know when the roast is done. The thermometer should register 175 degrees to 180 degrees F. after 3 to 4 hours over a bed of hot coals. The mild flavor of the lamb lets you experiment with a combination of herbs to compliment the meat. A softened butter and herb mixture with a suspicion of garlic may be spread on the leg of lamb before cooking. After you set the spit to turning there is no need to baste. As it revolves, the leg of lamb is basted with its natural juices and fat to produce a juicy, tender roast.

Another way to be sure of juicy, tender lamb is to select a brand that has stood for highest meat quality over the years. It's the two most trusted words that make the difference. One - half pound per serving is the guide when purchasing the size leg of lamb for your needs.

1 teaspoon thyme leaves
½ teaspoon rubbed sage
½ teaspoon powdered marjoram
1 clove garlic, crushed

Run the rotisserie spit lengthwise through the leg of lamb along the bone so that it is well balanced. Combine the remaining ingredients to make herb mixture. With a spatula, spread the mixture over the entire roast. Cook on turning spit over hot coals until roast meat thermometer registers 175 degrees to 180 degrees F. Time required to cook a 5 to 6 pound leg of lamb is 3 to 4 hours.

Teen Chefs Flip For Recipes, Turn KP Chore Into Outdoor Fun

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Give teen-agers good equipment and they'll look on cooking for the crowd as fun rather than as a K.P. chore. We talked with 14-year-old Tom Manning of Jackson, Heights, N.Y., now a "master chef" with frankfurters and spoonburgers. Once his mother allowed him to use her pyroceram cookware that can stand both heat and cold and is easy to clean, he went all out for big-time cooking for the crowd. So now everyone seems happy in the Manning back yard.

SKILLET - BARBECUED FRANKFURTERS

(6 servings)
2 tablespoon fat
¾ cup chopped onion
1 cup tomato catsup
½ cup water
2 tablespoons brown sugar
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon black pepper
¼ teaspoon cayenne
2 tablespoons vinegar
¼ cup lemon juice
3 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
½ teaspoon prepared mustard
12 frankfurters
Heat fat in modern 10 - inch skillet over low direct heat. Cook onion in fat until tender. Add all remaining ingredients except frankfurters. Place cover on skillet and simmer for 20 minutes over low heat. Slash frankfurters at one-inch intervals, but not cutting all the way through. Add to sauce in skillet. Simmer 15 minutes more, covered.

SPOONBURGERS

(8 servings)
2 pounds ground beef
2 tablespoons fat
2-3 cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons tomato catsup
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
2 can condensed chicken gumbo soup (10½-ounce size)
8 hamburger buns
Brown meat in hot fat in modern 10-inch skillet over low direct heat. Add onion and continue cooking until onion is nicely browned, about 5 minutes. Stir in remaining ingredients, except buns. Place cover on skillet and simmer over low direct heat for 30 minutes. Spoon onto buns.

Leftover Meats Balance Budget

The typical plague to many American homemakers is the use of leftover meats. Leftovers can actually be a blessing in disguise.

They can help you keep the food budget balanced as well as open many avenues of creativity in the culinary field.

ZESTY MEAT REPEAT

2 to 3 cups cubed or 6 slices cooked meat
1 can (11 ounces) condensed onion soup
½ teaspoon celery seed
¼ cup prepared chili sauce
Mix onion soup, celery seed and chili sauce in frying - pan. Add meat. Cover tightly and cook slowly until thoroughly heated, about 10 minutes. 4 to 6 servings.

Florida Orange Sherbet Cups

This is the season when Florida's luscious Valencia oranges come into market. Valencias are medium to large in size, oval in shape, with a smooth thin skin and deep orange color. They have few or no seeds at all, and are heavy with fine sweet juice. Enjoy eating them plain, squeezing them for juice, or in a dessert such as Florida Orange Sherbet Cups.

Orange Sherbet Cups
8 Florida oranges
Florida orange juice
1 envelope unflavored gelatine
¼ cup Florida lime juice
1 cup sugar
1 egg white

To prepare orange cups cut off slice from top of orange; scoop out pulp. Make pilot edge with paring knife. Strain pulp; measure juice. Add enough Florida orange juice to make 4 cups. Sprinkle gelatine on ¼ cup of the Florida orange juice to soften. Place over boiling water; stir until dissolved. Add sugar and remaining orange juice; stir until sugar is dissolved. Pour into an 8-cup loaf pan or several refrigerator trays. Place in freezing compartment of refrigerator; freeze, stirring occasionally. Break up frozen mixture in tray; turn into chilled bowl; add egg white and beat with electric mixer or rotary beater until smooth. Return to freezing compartment; freeze until firm. Scoop approximately ½ cup into each orange cup; garnish with mint and serve immediately. Serve remaining 1 quart sherbet as desired. Yield: 2 quarts orange sherbet.

There's a safe, inexpensive aid to beauty in every household in the form of table salt. This woman is aware of its many uses. When inadequate sleep leaves her with puffy eyes, she moistens cotton pads with a solution of one tablespoon of salt to a pint of hot water and applies the pads gently to her eyes (left). For a stimulating facial (center) she mixes equal parts of salt and olive oil and massages face and throat with very gentle upward strokes. She emerges from her bath with new vigor (right). After relaxing for five minutes in warm water, she massaged her body with generous applications of dry salt to stimulate circulation, then rinsed under a cool shower.

Dear Abby
By Abigail
Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My sister has been in the State Mental Hospital for many years. Her brain was damaged at birth and there is no hope for recovery. My husband is ashamed of it and has asked me not to mention it to anyone. Our children are 6 and 8 and he says if they should hear of it we should deny it, as he doesn't want them to know there is insanity in our family. I know he is wrong, but he won't listen to me. Maybe he'll listen to you.

GETTING NOWHERE
DEAR GETTING: There are a few families who have not had (or will not have) a relative with a mental illness. Our minds can suffer a breakdown just like our kidneys, livers or our hearts. A mental patient is as blameless for his condition as a cancer patient. Contact your local Mental Health Society and ask for free pamphlets. Your husband's ignorance need not be permanent.

DEAR ABBY: When my husband was born he had brothers and sisters who were married and consequently, my husband is younger than many of his nieces and nephews. One of his nieces is married to a man who is ten years older than I am, and he insists on calling me "AUNT MARY." He is related to me only through marriage and I resent this "Aunt Mary" business because he emphasizes the "AUNT" when there is a crowd around. I'd rather he call me "Mary." How can I get my point across?

AUNT MARY
DEAR AUNT MARY: Tell him, good-naturedly (when there is a crowd around), "Out of respect for my elders, I really shouldn't correct you in public, but won't you please call me 'Mary'?"

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a father who is so ignorant that all he can talk about is his job? When we sit down for a meal all he talks about is the different people he works with and what happened at the shop that day. I get so bored I could haul off and smack my old man in the mouth. I am 17.

FED-UP BOY
DEAR FED: Who is feeding you, Sonny? If it's your "old man," you had better keep quiet or else leave the table—hungry.

DEAR ABBY: I don't see why a 2-year-old child rates space in your column just because she does the Twist. My baby is ten months old and he can whistle and snap his fingers with both hands.

Table Salt Beauty Aid Stimulates, Relaxes

By ALICIA HART
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Common table salt, within arm's reach of every homemaker, has many uses far beyond seasoning food. It stands ready to beautify, stimulate, relax and revive, and should be numbered among your most effective beauty preparations.

You can start the day with new vigor if you add a brisk salt rub to your morning bath routine. Draw a warm bath, relax in it for five minutes until the pores are open. Then massage with generous applications of dry salt until your body tingles. Rinse in cool water, and see how wonderful you feel.

This same household salt serves as the base for a stimulating facial massage. Mix salt and olive oil in equal portions and gently massage the face and throat with long upward strokes. The olive oil soothes and the salt removes impurities in the skin. Follow by gentle face washing.

Eyes that are puffy due to tension or loss of sleep can be soothed by applying cotton pads, moistened in a solution of a pint of hot water and one tablespoon of salt.

After a hard day of shopping, tired, aching feet will respond to a warm foot bath to which a generous handful of salt has been added. And dried skin on the feet can be removed by gently massaging with moistened salt. After the massage, rinse in cool water and dry thoroughly.

Even red, wrinkled hands can benefit from table salt. Soak for five minutes in a basin of warm water with three tablespoons of salt added. The solution whitens the hands and smooths out the wrinkles. After drying, apply your favorite hand lotion.

Learn about the many beauty uses to which you can put this inexpensive household staple. It's literally a gold mine for the budget-minded, beauty-conscious woman.

Discovery of the therapeutic uses of salt water dates back to the early Georgian era in England when sea bathing was found to be beneficial to health and good looks, and salt water has been used for this purpose ever since in the great spas of Europe and this country. Even some of the well-known salons use the salt bath as a means to beauty.

Bucks Are Favored In District I-AA

WHITE DEER (Spl) — Though White Deer has moved up a notch to AA this fall, the district coaches still feel like the Bucks will be the team to beat out for the I-AA title during the coming grid season.

The Bucks held their first grid session this week, wearing shorts for their morning workouts and pads in the afternoon. Only light workouts were held during each session.

"We probably won't do too much hitting or scrimmaging until next week," Head Coach Colie Huffman stated. "The kids kept their weight down pretty much so during the summer and reported in as good a condition as could be expected," Huffman concluded.

The White Deer head mentor welcomed 32 players to opening drills. Huffman said he would continue having his players wear shorts in the morning and pads in the afternoon for at least the first week.

Huffman lost one of his key backs in Carl McAdams, who graduated in May and will attend the University of Oklahoma this fall. Also during the summer, Huffman lost two regular half-backs through scholastic difficulties. Donnie Spence and Ricky Lowe.

On top of this, Herman Hall, who Huffman was counting on to be a starting back, was seriously injured in a car accident early this summer and spent two months in the hospital.

"We have experience, but have absolutely no speed or size," said Huffman.

Returning regulars include guards Mike Hefner (152) and Kenny Jackson (145) and center Wesley Schulz (175) and quarterback James Thurmond (137.). The additional starters will be picked from nine other returning lettermen.

Dalhart has been picked to finish up a close second to the Bucks with Shamrock third, Stinnett fourth, and Spearman, fifth.

The Bucks schedule: Sept. 7 — Perryton; Sept. 14 — at Tulia; Sept. 21 — Lefors; Sept. 28 — at McLean; Oct. 5 — at Stratford; Oct. 12 — Panhandle; Oct. 19 — Dalhart; Oct. 26 — Stinnett; Nov. 2 — at Spearman; Nov. 9 — at Shamrock.

Adams Offered To Sell Oilers

HOUSTON (UPI) — Oilman K.S. (Bud) Adams, owner of the American Football League champion Houston Oilers, confirmed Wednesday that he offered to sell the Oilers to the Houston Sports Association (HSA) for $2.5 million.

The HSA countered, saying Adams priced the Oilers "about $2 million too high."

Adams, who owns 10 per cent of the HSA stock, angered the baseball-minded group when he announced the Oilers would continue to play home games at Jepsen Stadium. The HSA wanted Adams to rent Colt Stadium, home of the National League baseball club.

Lefors Splits Two 'Star' Contests

LEFORS (Spl) — Two All-Star Games between the Shamrock and Lefors baseball teams this week finished the baseball season completely last week for the 1962 games.

In a game Monday night at Lefors, the Shamrock All-Stars defeated Lefors, 21-20, with Johnny Guadagnolo as winning pitcher and Butch Jernigan losing pitcher.

Both teams committed a number of errors, making for poor defensive playing for both teams as evidenced by the large scores. The game went until 11:15 p.m.

Stevie Adkins hit three for four for Lefors, and Rodney Hendricks hit one for three, a triple.

The game tied the teams up, one and one, so the tie was played off at Shamrock Friday night with Lefors coming out on top after eleven innings with a score of 10-8.

Shamrock took the lead in the first inning, but Lefors tied the score in the fifth, 8-8, and didn't break the tie until the 11th inning when relief pitcher Dennis Keith struck out three Shamrock hitters and Lefors got two runs.

Glen Hix pitched seven innings and was winning pitcher for Lefors. Ike Shipman was losing pitcher for Shamrock. Jerry Mac Sublett and Jim Glibbreath were Lefors relief pitchers, also.

Skippers Are Getting Brave

By United Press International
Phenomenally good weather along the Gulf coast this year has brought bravery to the hearts of unusually timid skippers of 16-foot boats and it is no longer unusual to see them several miles out.

There have been very few afternoon squalls this summer, thanks to the prevailing westerly and southwesterly winds. The southeast winds, which usually bring in moisture and hence thunderstorms from the Gulf, have been absent.

However, this past week there appeared a change as the southeasterlies started up once again and brought afternoon storms with them.

Now the question arises—With the threat of squalls, how big should a boat be to brave the threat?

Boating experts will hedge on this, saying it all depends on the skipper, the distance traveled, etc. But most agree on a minimum of 18-foot centerline measurement and an 8-foot beam.

When she's smaller than 18 feet, a boat has trouble maintaining sufficient buoyancy, with the load of persons normally carried on a fishing trip, gas load, etc.

As for necessary equipment for long hauls in the Gulf, make sure you have enough gas. This sounds relatively simple, (but so do the souls who get stuck 20 miles out without fuel—and there are lots of them).

Yanks' Home Run Punch Sinks LA Angels Again

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

They say this is Yogi Berra's farewell season to baseball and it looks like he's given the Yankees another pennant to remember him by.

Old Yogi has been reduced to part-time activity this season and his batting average is a mere .225 but Wednesday night he delivered a two-run eighth-inning homer that gave the Yankees a 4-3 victory over the Los Angeles Angels and just about wrapped up Ralph Houk's second straight flag.

The Yankees have now given the Angels both barrels in their so-called "crucial" series. Barrel No. 1 was Tuesday's 11-4 victory and barrel No. 2 was Wednesday night's triumph stretching the Yankee lead to six games. All that remains is for the Yankees to deliver the coup de grace today.

Late Inning Lightning
A crowd of 49,389 at Los Angeles saw Leon Wagner's three-run first-inning homer off Whitey Ford enable the Angels to carry a 3-2 lead into the eighth. Then came that famous late-inning Yankee lightning. Pitcher Dan Osinski issued Mickey Mantle his third walk of the game and clutch hitting Yogi followed with the blow that just about stretched out the Angels stone cold dead. Rolando and Sheldon, who pitched into the seventh inning, received credit for his seventh win although Marshall Bridges finished.

The Chicago White Sox beat the Baltimore Orioles, 7-6, the Kansas City Athletics defeated the Boston Red Sox, 4-2, the Cleveland Indians topped the Detroit Tigers, 7-3, and the Minnesota Twins and Washington Senators played to a 10-inning 8-5 tie in other American League games.

The Philadelphia Phillies whipped the Los Angeles Dodgers, 5-3, the New York Mets shaded the San Francisco Giants, 5-4, the Cincinnati Reds bombed the Chicago Cubs, 9-5, the Milwaukee Braves beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 6-4, and the Pittsburgh Pirates scored a 3-0 victory over the Houston Colts in the National League.

Baumann Won Sixth
Mike Hershberger's ninth-inning homer off Hoyt Wilhelm provided White Sox reliever Frank Baumann with his sixth victory.

Jerry Adair had four hits, including a homer, for the Orioles while Camilo Carreon homered for the White Sox.

Moe Drabowsky won his first game in the AL with the aid of Johnny Wyatt's shutout relief pitching and a homer by Gino Cimoli. Eddie Bressoud and Gary Geiger homered for the Red Sox.

Al Luplow's two-run triple helped to pave the way for Dick Donovan's 16th win against seven losses. Donovan went seven innings, yielding eight hits and striking out four. Vic Wertz homered for the Tigers.

Rich Collins' 10th-inning single enabled the Twins to come from behind for the third time and tie the Senators whereupon the umpires called the marathon because of rain and decreed that the teams settle the argument tonight as part of a two-night doubleheader.

Harmon Killebrew hit his 34th homer for the Twins.

Chris Short pitched a three-hitter behind a seven-hit attack that included a homer and a single by Johnny Callison and a homer by Don Demeter. Frank Howard homered to produce the Dodgers' run.

Mets Won Second Straight
Charlie Neal's eighth-inning single drove in an unearned run that enabled the Mets to beat the Giants and win their second consecutive game. Relief pitcher Ken MacKenzie picked up his fifth win although Roger Craig pitched the ninth. Felix Mantilla homered for the Mets.

Eddie Kasko hit a grand slam homer in the 10th inning as relief pitcher Joey Jay gained his 19th victory of the season in a three-hour and 49-minute struggle in which 42 players took part. Hank Foiles also homered for the Reds and Andre Rodgers had three hits for the Cubs.

Del Crandall's eighth-inning single drove in two runs for the Braves, who tagged Lindy McDaniel with his eighth loss. Hank Aaron ran his hitting streak to 22 games while Stan Musial had a single and a triple.

Tom Sturdivant pitched a three-hitter and Bob Skinner hit a two-run triple for the Pirates, who dealt George Brunet his second loss against one win. Dick Groat had three hits and Don Hoak two for the Pirates.

Wild Scramble Is Foreseen In National Baseball Meet

WICHITA, Kan. (UPI) — Five games will be played today and tonight in the National Baseball Congress tournament and one of them will find the Milwaukee Fisks and Fairbanks, Alaska, Gold Panners seeking to catch the three leaders.

Milwaukee and Fairbanks, both surprise first-round winners, will be trying to overtake the Des Moines, Ia., Merchants, North Platte, Neb., Plainsmen and the Ocala, Fla., Merchants who are in the third round with 2-0 records.

Ocala grabbed a share of the tourney lead Wednesday night by knocking off the No. 1 seeded Cherokee, Okla., Chiefs 6-3 in 10 innings.

CARDS CALL UP OUTFIELDER
ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Outfielder Bob Burda has been called up by the St. Louis Cardinals from their Atlanta farm club of the International League to replace the injured Minnie Minoso.

San Jose Given Favorites Role

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (UPI) — The powerful manner in which Kankakee, Ill., and San Jose, Calif., flattened opening round opponents made them favorites today in the semi-finals of the Little League World Series.

Kankakee, which ripped Hamilton, Ontario, Canada, 13-1, on Tuesday meets Pitman, N.J., a 2-1 winner over Del Rio, Tex.

The second game pits slugging San Jose, Calif., which slaughtered Poitiers, France, 22-2, Wednesday against Monterrey, Mexico, which edged Kunitachi, Japan, 3-2.

San Jose's run total established a new high for the classic, now in its 16th year, and its four homer tied the output of Camp Hill, Pa., against Little Rock, Ark., in the 1953 series.

Outfielder George Schneider led the Californians' 19-hit assault against two pitchers. He slammed two two-run homers and drove in a total of six runs in a four-for-four day at the plate which included two singles. Mike Ucci was right behind him with five RBIs on a double and two singles.

Vaughn Takaha and pitcher Milt Murata also smashed homers for the West Coast nine. Theirs came in the opening inning, when Schneider hit his first. He added the other in the third as San Jose crossed the plate six times.

In the fourth, the Californians erupted for seven runs on six hits, a hit batsman and three wild pitches by Bob Bryant, who had a total of seven during his stint after relieving starter Tony Eaton in the third.

Monterrey trailed Kunitachi until the fifth inning when they pushed across two runs for victory.

The Japanese team jumped to a 2-0 lead on two hit batsmen, singles by Yukio Yabe and Yosio Nakano and an error by center-fielder Francisco Lopez in the first inning.

Pitcher Javier Davila slammed a homer in the third for Monterrey's first run. Davila got on base again when he opened the fifth inning by being hit by a pitched ball. Carlos Martinez then ran for him.

Antonio Martinez singled, sending Carlos to second. Carlos was cut down at the plate when he tried to score on an infield grounder. Antonio Martinez moved to third on the play and scored on a wild pitch by reliever Ryo Akiedam.

Miguel Blanco, who had hit the infield roller and also advanced on the wild pitch, scored on a single by Mario Torres.

US Netters Set For Opponents

CHESTNUT HILL, Mass. (UPI) — Optimistic young U.S. tennis teams today take on Iron Curtain visitors, Britain's best, and a brace of South African travelers in the National Doubles championships.

Only four major matches are on the Longwood Cricket Club program after most of the boys and girls have been separated from the tennis players in the 300 entry, eight-day tournament.

U.S. Lawn Tennis Association officials pushed the grass court championships through a day of drizzle Wednesday and then split the field, scheduling the top-ranked semi-finals in both men's and women's divisions for today. The remaining four semi-finals will be played Friday.

U.S. male forces, already the underdogs against strong foreign competition, were thinned out considerably Wednesday by a pair of unheralded South Africans.

Gordon Forbes and Cliff Drysdale surprisingly eliminated the second seeded U.S. team of Don Dell and Bill Bond in the 82nd tournament's biggest upset, to date.

Today's biggest test will be for the U.S. Davis Cup combine of Chuck McKinley and Dennis Ralston. The defending champions and top-seeded domestic entry clash with the fourth foreign seed, Britain's Mike Sangster and Billy Knight.

The Iron Curtain pair, Ugoslavs Nikolai Pilic and Boro Jovanovic, run up against the fourth domestic pairing, Bill Hoogs and Jim McManus.

Among the ladies, Darlene Hard, who is reaching the crucial stage in her quest for a fifth successive doubles crown, and her 1960 co-titlist, Maria Bueno of Brazil, tangle with the British team of Deirdre Calt and Elizabeth Starkie in the top women's match.

FRACTURED CONDITION

Clements Ranks High As Top Recruiter

United Press International AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—The family wash for most people is just the family wash.

But for the University of Texas, the family wash turned out to be an All-America end. And countless breakfasts of duck eggs totaled up to one of the Longhorns' top basketball stars.

Jubilo and Hazel Clements are the laundry experts, the duck egg fanciers, and perhaps the best non-coaching recruiters of athletic talent in the state of Texas.

Jubilo and Hazel are the parents of former Longhorn passing star Joe Clements, and they have brought Texas more athletes than many coaches.

They have slept in hotel lobbies waiting to kidnap young athletes. They spent a weekend in a small Galveston cottage with 14 football players while pursuing their hobby of supplying Texas with the goods.

Recruited Many Stars Guys they have recruited include ends Tom Stohlhandske, Bill Wilson and Paul Williams, full-back Ray Borneman, kickoff specialist Red Adams, lineman Gene Vyujal, quarterback Dan Page, track star Charlie Thomas and basketball standout Joe Ed Falk.

Jubilo said they got into the duck egg breakfast business when they were recruiting Falk.

"His mother and sister sold them. Hazel bought them. One morning grandpa asked Hazel how much longer we had to eat duck eggs. 'We eat 'em until Joe Ed goes to Texas,' Hazel said. That was that."

Their biggest catches were Stohlhandske, the All-America end, and Thomas, one of the Southwest Conference's finest track stars.

"Rice almost had Thomas sewed up until they sent him to

Oklahoma City Tourney Getting Underway Today

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI)—The $35,000 Oklahoma City Open golf tournament got underway on the new Quail Creek Country Club course today with 96 professionals gunning for the winner's purse of $5,300.

Ten amateurs, including two-time National Amateur champion Charles Coe, swelled the total field to 106.

Most of the top touring pros were in action, with defending champion Gene Littler and Doug Sanders, who won the St. Paul Open last Sunday, heading the list.

Quail Creek professional Ernie Vossler, the transplanted Texan who holds the course record of 66, was among those competing. Vossler tabbed Dave Ragan as his personal choice for the tournament. Ragan wound up tied for third at St. Paul.

Columbus Sets Real Hot Pace

By United Press International

The Columbus Jets have suddenly become the hottest club in the International League in their all-out effort to make sure no one beats them out of a playoff berth.

Southpaw Don Rowe hurled the Jets to their seventh straight triumph Wednesday night when he defeated Richmond, 5-3, with a six-hit effort.

The victory kept the fourth-place Jets within a half game of third place and was achieved with the help of homers by Bob Bailey and Larry Elliott. Joe Pepitone hit his sixth homer for the Virginians since being sent down by the Yankees.

Fifth-place Atlanta, under the guidance of manager Joe Schultz, scored its fifth victory in six starts with a 6-3 decision over league leading Jacksonville. Johnny Kucks was credited with the victory although he needed help in the eighth.

Tom Addington, making his first start for the Syracuse Chiefs, snapped their five game losing streak with a four-hit 2-0 win over the Toronto Maple Leafs. Bill LaJoie's two-run homer off Steve Riddick in the second inning produced the only runs of the game.

Rochester defeated Buffalo, 4-2, despite homers by Jacke Davis and Wally Shannon.

Kelso Wracks Up Impressive Win

By United Press International Kelso, pointing for another meeting with Carry Back and Beau Purple in the $100,000 added Aqueduct Stakes on Labor Day, scored impressively Wednesday in his first appearance at Saratoga.

The 5-year-old gelding, who won horse of the year honors in 1960 and 1961, covered the 1 1/16 turf course in 1:41 4/5, only three-fifths of a second off the track mark.

The triumph was the second in five starts this year for Kelso, although he has yet failed to score in a stakes event. Ridden by Ismael Valenzuela, Kelso defeated Call The Witness by 1 1/2 lengths in the allowance test. Kelso paid $2.50 for $2.

Following Kelso in the winner's circle Wednesday was Affectionately who won the $79,725 Spinaway Stakes for juvenile fillies. The triumph was the ninth in 10 starts for the bay daughter of Swaps.

Valenzuela also rode Affectionately and two other winners on the program—Don Lucho in the second and Fort Duke in the fourth.

Which Way, The Market

Conjecture is rife over the next move of the government and the condition of business. Prognosticators can be found aplenty each making some position in which the future is limited either in rosy or in dark brown colors.

Some have come forward to urge Mr. Kennedy to take the government off the gold standard entirely and let the printing presses roar. Others have emerged calling upon the President to "hold the line," to permit no further inflation and certainly not to "devalue" the dollar any more. One of the tragicomic results of government thinking can be found in the stunned silence which is now coming in great waves from the proponents of a managed economy.

When the market went into the sub-basement beginning with the May return of the bears, the government moved to cut back on the re-discount rates.

There was almost a smug expression on the faces of the men who ordered this action. It was as if they were saying: "We know how to control business and industry. If we loosen the credit string, particularly in the area of stock buying on credit, we'll see the market spring back with all its joyful bullish tendencies."

Now, after some weeks have gone by and the purchase of shares on the major exchanges remains desultory and unenthusiastic, these chagrined prognosticators are far less vocal than they were.

Why doesn't business respond? Unemployment is not high. Business is fairly good. Profits, in some areas, are higher than they have been for a year or so. And as for credit, there seems to be plenty of money available for all kinds of purposes.

Still the market lags. Perhaps some of the long-range effects of government intrusion in the market are now coming home to roost like the proverbial chickens.

When businessmen find that they are really at the mercy of what Washington does with their money, there is a strong reluctance to take any kind of chance which the government can undo with an awkward manipulation.

And what about the condition of gold? Factually, our gold condition is very sad. Our present gold reserve has been depleted by $1.9 billion below the absolute minimum required were we to be able to meet all our gold obligations. In short, if all foreign investors having a claim against our reserves were to respond all at once and perform a "run" on Fort Knox (foreigners have the only admission cards), we simply don't have enough gold on hand to meet the claims. We would have to default. While such a "run" isn't likely, it is always possible. And should it befall, the dollar would be devalued in spite of anything and everything Mr. Kennedy could do to prevent such devaluation.

In view of this situation there are two broad avenues of prediction. One is that the government will hold the line. If it does we can anticipate a gradual squeezing of the economy with the water being pressed out of inflated values.

Unfortunately, one area of the economy is not really susceptible to this squeeze and that is the area of wages. If prices AND wages could be reduced together, we would quickly get back to some semblance of honest values and a stable dollar.

But with the enormous political power of the unions, and with this being an election year which may be a most difficult one for the party in power, one can almost predict that the long looked-for squeeze will not be permitted to occur.

This could mean, and one local economist of usually sound judgment has opined that it DOES mean, a return to the bulls, a sudden upward spurt in the market quotations. If this occurs, it will only occur because there will be a devaluation of the dollar and a new inflationary spiral is about to set in. It is entirely possible that this might eventuate in a total repudiation of gold as a reserve and the mooring of our dollars entirely upon political whim.

In spite of the dangers inherent in such a course, politics being what it is, the chances are fairly good that this is the course which will be selected.

However, the long-range results of such a move would be disastrous. And it is always possible that enough market - savvy is now available even to the small non-professional investor so that he would shy away from market participation under such conditions.

We'll make no predictions ourselves. We have observed Mr. Kennedy under pressure before and about the only thing we are certain of is that the President won't like what happens.

Hard 'Easy' Way

The tragic story of thalidomide, which has been indicted for causing deformities in thousands of infants, concerns more than the issue of better regulation of new drugs.

It raises the fundamental question of why so many modern men—or more particularly, women—seem to have become so dependent upon pills to help them face the strains of living.

Undoubtedly, the new tranquilizers have been a major medical discovery. They are becoming an increasingly valuable adjunct in the treatment of mental illnesses.

But their eager acceptance by average, "normal" persons, who gobble them up by the billions each year, may constitute for some a flight from reality not dissimilar to that of the alcoholic.

A psychiatrist, Dr. Don D. Jackson of Stanford University's Palo Alto Medical Research Foundation, recently warned that the current emphasis on "happy pills" in the treatment of mental illnesses is misleading the public into thinking that a pill will cure any kind of type of mental or emotional trouble.

He fears it may "discourage the public from facing the unpleasant facts about the administration and treatment of mental disorders."

The "unpleasant" facts are that while body chemistry is involved in mental illnesses, these disorders arise from human relationships and are best treated by "simple human measures."

Dr. Jackson draws an analogy between headaches and aspirin. While no one denies that aspirin relieves headaches, the ailment is almost always the result of stressful social situations.

"All of us," he says, "are only too eager to deny an effect on our children and others around us. It is small wonder that parents are intrigued by hereditary and chemical explanations of their child's emotional problems."

The same thing can possibly be said of the sometimes vexing give-and-take of ordinary living, the clash of personalities, the burden of responsibilities each of us carries, or the psychological disturbances that come with pregnancy—and the sale of tranquilizers and barbiturates. We are looking for an easy way out of our problems.

Sometimes, the easy way is the worst way.

Now what were dresses like eight years ago?" The wife gave him a bitter glance. "Like mine," she retorted.

Purely psychological: One jewelry store found its sales of hollow ware silver substantially increased after it had removed the "DON'T TOUCH" sign and replaced it with one which reads "PLEASE TOUCH." The hollow ware is shown within easy reach of customers. . . . A skin disturbance of any kind in an elderly person bears watching, but young women in children and young adults never become cancerous. . . . Seven members of the Continental Congress, which drew up the Declaration of Independence, never signed it. . . . Thoughts while shaving: 1. The originator of the famous Truman exhortation, "Give 'em hell, Harry!", is unknown, but we do know he was a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. For it was late in September of 1948 when Mr. Truman's first campaign train was pulling out of Washington's Union station that an engineer of a locomotive on the adjacent track yelled "Give 'em hell, Harry!" as the President, waving from the rear platform of his train, slowly rolled by. The newspapers widely quoted the incident. . . . 2. You notice the first crescent of a parenthesis—this one: (---), more readily than the concluding parenthesis—)---(this one). So we're suggested before—and we suggest again—that the concluding parenthesis hereafter be doubled, this way: )---). . . . 3. On all occasions when we've observed our pet doggie preparing to lie down, he first circles three or four times, but always clockwise—never in the other direction. Wonder is it the same with all dogs? Don't some of them circle counterclockwise before settling down? . . . 4. Come to think of actions in Washington to the Russians' successful orbiting of twin cosmonauts.

One has been that the Russians are now so far ahead in the space race that the United States has no chance to catch up.

Another has been that the whole space race serves no useful purpose and is a waste of money, so why do it?

The third is that the United States isn't spending enough money in the space race and should go to the crash program.

On this last criticism, NASA's administrator Webb points out that the program is doubling in size every year.

This is about as fast as a big industry can grow. Its budget was $400 million in 1960, $750 million in fiscal 1961, $1.7 billion in 1962, is $3.9 billion this fiscal year—plus $1.5 billion for military applications. It won't quite double the year after that, but it will be close.

Another criticism is that the United States may be trying to develop too many programs, diffusing its manpower instead of concentrating on, say, the moon race.

Dr. Robert C. Seamans Jr., associate NASA administrator, answers by saying that cutting off the present Mercury manned flights and the scheduled Gemini orbits of two-man satellites would not advance the Apollo program for multi-manned flights later on.

Dr. Brainerd Holm, head of the manned flight programs, says that if national security were at stake—if there was some military advantage in landing a man on the moon first—and if funds were unlimited, the C-5 Saturn might be speeded up from six

Detailed Accounting of All Lobbyists' Contacts, Funds Demanded in Fulbright Questionnaire for Senate Probe

WASHINGTON — Senator J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, is asking a number of unusually searching questions in his forthcoming investigation of lobbyists for foreign governments and interests.

In preparation for this dynamic loaded probe, Fulbright has sent out a lengthy questionnaire that is exceptional in the range and nature of the information sought. In an accompanying letter, he directs that each question be comprehensively answered on a separate page or pages.

These detailed replies will be used for interlocking witnesses at public hearings in the fall. The covering letter pointedly implies the lobbyists will be held strictly accountable for the reliability of their written answers.

Committee insiders say the principal targets of Fulbright's investigation are lobbyists representing Katanga's intransigent President Moise Tshombe and the giant Belgian-British controlled Union Miniere reputedly backing him, and foreign sugar interests which played a highly controversial role in the recently-enacted sugar quota law.

It was this aggressive lobbying that led to Fulbright's demand for a probe and the Senate's voting $50,000 for that purpose.

The Foreign Relations Committee chairman's questionnaire requires the lobbyists to provide explicit data on how and why they were employed, how much they were paid, an itemized accounting of what they spent, and their activities in attempting to influence Congress and government officials.

The extraordinary scope and bluntness of the questionnaire has caused a furore in lobbyist circles. It is known there have been alarmed conferees among them, and agitated discussions on how to handle the jolting questionnaire—that "hit them like a bolt out of the blue."

SEEKING THE EVIDENCE — Titled "Information for Study of Nondiplomatic Activities of Representatives of Foreign Governments," the questionnaire indicates Senator Fulbright has certain suspicions and is bent on publicly airing them.

In that aim, it is an open secret he has the full backing of the White House and State Department. Both strongly favored this investigation, and are vigorously cooperating in providing information, particularly of a confidential months to a year, launching it in late 1964.

Project Gemini is now on a two-shift basis, says Webb. To go to a third shift might speed it a little. But the added overtime might mean less efficiency, more waste.

When one of the three Russian reporters admitted without question to a NASA officials' press conference asked if the Americans really feared, Seamans replied "I'm not a bit gloomy."

"We've got a good program and this country is moving fast into space," added Webb. "The progress we've made in the last year would not have been believed two years ago, when it was predicted we'd never be able to catch the Russians."

nature obtained from foreign sources.

This fact, known to lobbyists, is adding to the concern of some of them.

Highlights of Fulbright's extraordinary questionnaire are as follows:

"Describe in detail the circumstances and events that led to your being hired to represent your foreign principal. Such descriptions should include the dates and locations of all pertinent meetings, along with the names of the principal participants present during the meetings."

"Was your client referred to you by a third party? If so, give the name and office address of such third party."

"Did you solicit this account? If so, describe in detail how such solicitation was made."

"Describe in detail, chronologically, all activities your firm or representatives have undertaken on behalf of your client from the date your agreement was signed."

"List all funds received either directly or indirectly from your client itemized as follows: Date funds received; name of payee; purpose of payment; amount received."

"List all expenditures your client itemized as follows: Date payment was made; name of recipient of payment; purposes for which payment was made; amount of payment. Where expenditure was made for food, liquor or entertainment, the date and location of such expenditure should be included along with the names of all those whose charges were covered by such payments. Where expenditure was made for travel or hotel accommodations, the entry should include all pertinent details (dates, locations, etc.), including the name or names of those whose expenses were covered by the entry. Where expenditures were made for gifts of any nature, the circumstances should be clearly described along with the name or names of the recipients."

"Furnish the names of all individuals who rendered any services or assistance to you, with or without compensation, for, or in the interests of, your client. List all payments to such individuals clearly indicating what such payments were for. Describe in detail the services or assistance rendered by each named individual."

"What fee will you receive for the years 1962, 1963 and 1964 from your client? These figures should itemize both basic retainer and whatever contingent fee resulted from the passage of the (sugar) act."

"Attach to your reply all legislative language drawn up by you on behalf of your client with regard to sugar legislation, and indicate to whom such material was presented and under what circumstances."

All 17 members of the Foreign Relations Committee (11 Democrats and 6 Republicans) will participate in this investigation. They will meet this week to determine procedure and other plans.

CLOSING UP AGAIN — Increasingly close relations between Russia and Yugoslavia are again in the offing — according to Dr. Milorad Drachkovitch, senior staff member of the Hoover Institution of Stanford University. Born in Belgrade, he is a leading authority on Iron Curtain affairs, and on the basis of an extensive study is convinced a complete rapprochement between Khrushchev and Tito is imminent. . . . Last month the Soviet became Japan's second largest customer. In July Japan exported $32,589,000 in goods to Russia, the biggest amount after sales to the U.S. The exports to the Soviet included ships, machinery and other heavy equipment. . . . Burma's new Ambassador to the United Nations will be James Barrington, former envoy to the U.S.

Several of the Russian ships that brought hundreds of new "technicians" to Red-rubber Cuba, returned with large contingents of Cuban "peasant youths" who reportedly will "study problems of agriculture" in Iron Curtain countries. . . . Turkey is buying another 100,000 tons of wheat from the U.S., bringing the total of these imports in the past year to 1.5 million tons. . . . Saudi Arabia has banned the import of cattle from Jordan and Iran on the ground of the spread of hoof-and-mouth disease in those countries. . . . The Nile's annual flood so far has been milder than usual. If this condition continues it could have serious effect on Egypt's next cotton crop, the major export item.

Foreign Commentary

By K. C. THALER
United Press International
LONDON—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev is probably deciding this week whether or not to go to New York for the United Nations General Assembly, opening Sept. 18.
U. N. Secretary General U Thant, who is due in Moscow for talks with Khrushchev, will most likely get the decision personally soon.
The Kremlin has put out feelers for a Khrushchev trip to the United States in recent weeks, but has diplomatically left the door open so far.
The decision is imminent.
If Khrushchev decides to go to New York he can be expected to be concocting a major propaganda drive, as well as a meeting with President John F. Kennedy for a new cold war policy review.
Pitch For Neutrals
His prestige enhanced by the latest Soviet space success, he may find it desirable to make a new pitch for support from neutral and uncommitted nations at the world assembly.
Two years ago when he angrily banged his shoe against the table at a New York session he startled many of the leaders of newly-emerging nations.
Neutral and African diplomats have on closer acquaintance, in fact, cooled of towards Russian policies.
Especially in Africa Moscow has to all appearances not been doing too well. Russia suffered outright setbacks in the Congo and in Guinea.
The neutrals have also appeared disenchanted with Soviet policies in Geneva where they have been asked to participate in nuclear test ban negotiations. They have seen for themselves that failure to reach a test ban is not all due to Western foot-dragging.
New Campaign Design
Khrushchev may want to wipe out some of these impressions with a new propaganda campaign on peace and arms-cut designs.
Moreover, Khrushchev has not met with Kennedy since their tough conference in Vienna, two years ago. He has since been confronted with the new administration's determination to resist Soviet pressures in Berlin.
What a new summit meeting could produce is a matter for conjecture so far. But Khrushchev has made it clear he wants more talks before signing the peace treaty with his Communist East German allies.

On Problem With 'Junk Mail'

By DICK WEST
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — A colleague of mine who keeps an eye on economic trends has called my attention to a new manifestation of our affluent society.
He has received a piece of "junk mail" carrying 64 cents worth of postage.
In the absence of claims to the contrary, he thinks this may be an international record for wasted stamps.
Asked by me to pinpoint the circumstances, my friend reports that an evening or two ago he found in his mailbox a notice that the postman has called during the day with a registered letter.
Finding no one at home, the postman returned the missive to the post office where, the notice advised, it could be picked up by the addressee.
Early the next morning my friend drove five miles to the post office to retrieve what he assumed was an important communication, like maybe a government check.
It turned out to be a form letter from a magazine bearing the signature of the circulation manager, a man named Wilson. The letter pointed out that my friend had neglected to renew his subscription and recommended that he rectify this error at once.
It even gave instructions on how to do so. He was told to write "O. K. Wilson" — continue my subscription — I'm attaching my check" across the bottom of the letter and return it in the enclosed envelope, the message said.
As previously noted, it cost the magazine 64 cents to send the letter. In addition, the enclosed envelope bore a four-cent stamp. Figuring his travel expenses at 10 cents a mile, the trip to the post office cost my friend a dollar.
Costs Total $1.68
Thus the solicitation involved a joint expenditure of $1.68, which would pay for about five and a half copies of the magazine.
My friend had intended to let the subscription lapse quietly, but now he feels an incumbency to send a reply. He does not, however, plan to use the enclosed envelope.
Instead, he plans to send it by registered mail to Wilson's home address in the hope that it will be delivered at an hour when Wilson is away from home.
Wilson would then have to make a special trip to the post office to get the news that my friend doesn't want his subscription renewed.
There may be a moral floating around here somewhere, but at the moment I'm unable to put my finger on it. I'm just wondering if this is what Ben Franklin had in mind when he invented the postal service.

It Takes Cash To Be A Diplomat For US!

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
PARIS — The "log cabin to White House" tradition may apply in Washington. But it became clear again to Europeans this week that it does not always work when it comes to representing the United States abroad.
Gen. James M. Gavin flew home with his family after less than a year and a half in the critical job of United States ambassador to France.
Gavin reiterated to reporters that his main reason for giving up this front man job for the United States was "urgent personal considerations." Chief of these was that he simply could not afford it.
The same problem will face his successor Charles E. Bohlen, a career U. S. foreign service officer with a highly distinguished record — including ambassadorships in Moscow and Manila — but no sizeable personal fortune.
Financial Strain
Unlike Gavin, Bohlen does not have a family of young children to put through school. But he will feel the strain nonetheless.
The U. S. ambassador to France receives the highest foreign service salary of $27,500 — all of it taxable. He also receives an annual expense allowance of something more than $25,000.
But it is not difficult to see why he has trouble simply making ends meet.
It is not a question of the ambassador living high off the hog. It is not only the official dinners and July 4 open house receptions. Every senator, every congressman, every American big business executive who arrives in town expects to visit the ambassador and to be invited to a meal at his residence.
Even ambassadors like Gavin who cut out the Fourth of July open house and invite only a ruthlessly-pruned list of guests find the cost prohibitive.
When Gavin was appointed, President John F. Kennedy instructed the State Department to pay expenses over and above his blanket expense allowance.
Expense Account
But that meant that Gavin had to turn in an expense account for just about every taxi he took. There were many items he could not charge up at all — such as the wardrobe needed by his wife for official entertaining.
It has been estimated, without contradiction, that Gavin's predecessor Amory Houghton, a millionaire industrialist, spent $50,000 annually out of his own pocket over and above his salary and official allowances.
Gavin could not afford that, nor will Bohlen be able to.
Since Gavin's resignation was announced Europeans have been asking just how long the high cost of representing the United States abroad means that the best man for the job will not necessarily be able to afford it.

First Baby Death By Thalidomide May Be Found

By JERRY LANDAUER

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) reports it may have found the first baby death in this country caused by experimental use of thalidomide.
FDA Commissioner George P. Larrick said Monday he suspected the mother was one of 207 pregnant women known to have been given the American-produced drug for test purposes.
Larrick declined to identify the mother or even say where the baby was born. "It looks rather serious but we haven't nailed it down yet," he told United Press International.
His disclosure came as the House Commerce Committee continued hearings on a new drug control bill. The Senate Judiciary Committee Monday approved a measure giving President Kennedy virtually all the authority he asked to protect Americans from unsafe drugs.
At a session Monday night, the House group was told that the United States is ahead of the Soviet Union in producing needed drugs and Congress should be careful about tampering with the U. S. system.
Raymond A. Bauer, a Harvard professor, testified that Russia's socialistic system of producing drugs "is functioning worse for them than ours is for us." He urged the committee to consider the advantages of U. S. drug manufacturing before imposing additional regulations.
The new case disclosed by Larrick was the first linked to the use of U. S.-produced thalidomide. However, five deformed babies have been born to American mothers who said they obtained the drug abroad.
Larrick in reporting the baby death, said the doctor who may have administered thalidomide to the mother was out of the country and could not be reached. Larrick said the mother "doesn't know of her own knowledge what she took."
He said the baby probably was a girl. She was born with "congenital deformities" of the kind that have been widely associated with use of thalidomide in Europe, where babies were born with stunted, deformed arms or legs.

United States was "urgent personal considerations." Chief of these was that he simply could not afford it.
The same problem will face his successor Charles E. Bohlen, a career U. S. foreign service officer with a highly distinguished record — including ambassadorships in Moscow and Manila — but no sizeable personal fortune.
