OMAHA WINS KENTUCKY DERBY IN DRIZZLE BY LENGTH AND HALF

WINNER GOES TO POST WITH GOOD BACKING

ROMAN SOLDIER TAKES SECOND, WHISKOLO THIRD

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor
CHURCHILL DOWNS, Louisville, Ky., May 4 (AP)—Gallant Fox, a gallant dandy, William Woodward's Omaha stretched his legs comfortably today on the cold, rain drenched surface of the historic oval and galloped to a smashing victory in the sixty-first Kentucky derby.

While a throng soaked but highly excited crowd of nearly 50,000 spectators roared their acclaim, the big, gangling chestnut colt administered a sound beating to 17 rival 3-year-olds, including the crack filly favorite, Nellie Flag, and duplicated the triumph of his famous sire, Gallant Fox, winner of the 1930 derby for the New York banker, whose colors Omaha also carried this afternoon.

Running with much the same confidence his daddy showed five years ago, Omaha steered clear of the early lead, took the pace for the back stretch and never was seriously menaced in the long stretch drive despite a game finish of the powerful black colt Roman Soldier, the Texas derby winner.

Field Well Seated
A length and a half separated Omaha and Roman Soldier at the finish with an outsider, Whiskolo, hanging on to take third money. Whiskolo was four lengths behind Roman Soldier, but a length and a half in front of Nellie Flag, the cautious filly who offered the early interference and barely took fourth money, by a head, from Blackbird.

The rest of the big field was well scattered, with most of the heavily played choices nowhere. Pit Eye, after setting the pace for a half mile, finished eighth. Commonwealth, supposed to be at home in the somewhat slippery going, was tenth and today, C. V. Whitney's erstwhile favorite, finished twelfth after weakening badly in the stretch. Col. E. B. Bruley, fourth, the hope of the "hard-boiled" and rated a strong contender, never was in the contention and finished 16th, beating only St. Bernard and Weston.

It was a dismal, cheerless day, with a crowd of disappointed spectators shivering in the coldest weather the derby has experienced in a blue moon, but it was a grand victory for Omaha and the colors of William Woodward's belair stud. On the track where the great Earle Sande rode Gallant Fox to triumph five years ago, "Wee Willie" Saunders of Bozeman, Montana, piloted the Fox's son to victory with all the finesse and resourcefulness of a veteran, instead of a youngster getting the thrill of his first derby conquest.

The outcome wrote new derby history. Omaha is the third son of a derby winner to capture the blue ribbon prize of old Kentucky, but the span of five years in which the latest father and son victory has been achieved is a new record. Six years separated the first pair, Haines in 1895 and Alan-a-Dale of 1902. The triumph of two of the Bradley stars, bubbling over and Burgo King, where six years apart, 1926 and 1932.

Odd 4 to 1
Second choice in the betting at 4 to 1, Omaha paid $10 to win for each $2 ticket in the mutuels, as well as $5 to place and $3.80 to show. The sturdy son of Gallant Fox and Flamingo, winner of only $3,850 as a two year old, collected $39,525 net for his first 3-year-old conquest. The race carried a gross value of $49,950, of which $6,000 went to Roman Soldier, $3,000 to Whiskolo and $1,000 to Nellie Flag. Roman Soldier, backed so heavily that the black colt went to the barrier third choice, returned $640 to place and $420 to show in the mutuels. Whiskolo's show price was $3.40.

Interference at two early stages of the race proved costly to the chances of Nellie Flag, the temperamental filly which displaced today as the derby favorite over night after it developed the popular C. V. Whitney colt had pulled up a trifle lame, with a heel bruise. Nellie would have returned only $3.80 on the dollar if she had shown the way to her gentlemanly rivals, but she was never able to gain a commanding position after being bumped around impotently at the start.

Omaha, son of Gallant Fox, a Kentucky derby winner, thundered down a greasy but fast track at Churchill Downs yesterday to win the Kentucky Derby. He went to the post a 4 to 1 favorite.

GROOM PIONEER RELATES STORY OF CELEBRATION

Interest Growing In Drama Program Of Roundup

Prospective attendees at the Pre-Centennial and Pioneer Roundup June 6 and 7 have shown more interest to date in the Panhandle drama program than in any other attraction of the two-day celebration.

In invitations mailed to old timers recently, the Pre-Centennial committee mentioned titles of "Panhandle drama program" to be given at the stage of the gym. These include Arrival of John Adair at the JA Ranch, the triumphant return of Judge Willis from an unsuccessful impeachment trial at Austin, the Indian scare of 1890, the law West in the Pecos. Many letters have been received expressing interest in re-enactment of the scenes.

Probably the greatest celebration the Panhandle staged before the turn of the last century was Judge Willis' return from Austin to Klondike, the judge was the father of Newton P. Willis of this city. The trial at Austin was in reality the Panhandle of Texas vs. the Austin land-grabbers who have always had a pecuniary interest in the Panhandle. The Panhandle made a great victory. The impeachment was based on charges that Panhandle ranchers had violated the Land Fraud acts passed by the legislature, which made it a misdemeanor and a fineable offense for cattlemen to graze their cattle on state land that had been purchased or leased. The cattlemen refused to buy or lease the land because of the exorbitant prices being asked, and they could not prevent from cattle from grazing the land because there was not a fence in the Panhandle.

Defendant Indicted Selves
Judge Frank Willis, Sr., presided over the courts at Clarendon, Motte and Tascosa where the ranchers were tried for violation of the act. All were acquitted, mainly because the ranchers indicted themselves, the one indicted being excused from the jury room when the indictment was drawn up, and because their cowboy employees comprised the petit jury. Judge Willis was criticized for allowing the cases to be tried in the Panhandle. His chief defense, in a two-hour speech before the Texas senate, was that the law provided that misdemeanors must be tried in the counties in which they originate. His speech before that body has been described as one of the most thrilling ever.

Boomerang Testimony Of A State Witness Bears Out Contention Of Father.

GREENVILLE, May 4 (AP)—The trial of S. P. Darden for the slaying of his wife was halted tonight when a juror fainting for the second time during the day.

Judge Charles Berry recessed court until Monday as members of the jury carried the ill juror, J. B. Lanthrip, to the jury dormitory. Darden, world war veteran, who accused his 8-year-old son, Jackie Glenn, of shooting his mother while the child walked in his sleep, was on the stand when the juror fainted.

He had completed direct testimony and was undergoing grueling cross-examination when the trial came to the abrupt halt.

District Attorney Henry E. Pharr attempted to show that Darden's two bank accounts had been depleted since he moved to Caddo Mills and was not employed, while he was figuring on a partnership in a filling station.

The defense opened its case in a night session by calling 26 character witnesses, including five members of the company in which Darden served during the war.

Several other witnesses were called before Darden took the stand. The veteran, who accused his 8-year-old son, Jackie Glenn, of slaying his mother while the lad walked in his sleep, detailed his early life but had not been questioned concerning the shooting.

Boomerang testimony of prosecution witnesses named frightened, eight-year-old Jackie Glenn in connection with the shotgun slaying of his mother, as state attorneys sought the death penalty for her husband, S. P. Darden.

A 12-year-old son of the slain woman, Gerald, told of being awakened on the morning of the shooting by the light of a flashlight. Jackie, his young brother, standing dazed with a shotgun in his hands.

The boy stood near his mother's bed, Gerald said. "Daddy asked Jackie what he was shooting at after I turned on the light and we got up," Gerald testified. "Jackie didn't answer and daddy shook him and finally slapped him and he awoke. Daddy asked him again and he said 'nothing'."

Coogan Sr., And Actor Are Killed

SAN DIEGO, Calif., May 4 (AP)—Four persons were killed and Jackie Coogan, famous film juvenile, was injured late today in the sudden plunge of the Coogan car down a roadside embankment in the mountains 55 miles east of here.

The dead: John Coogan Sr., father of Jackie, Junior Durkin, child actor, Robert Horner, Los Angeles.

Charles Jones, foreman of the Coogan ranch at Pine Valley.

The injuries of Jackie Coogan, who skyrocketed to film fame as "The Kid" in Charlie Chaplin's picture of that name, were reported not to be serious, although a Catholic priest was called to his side.

He was taken by a passing motorist to the grocery store at Pine Valley and treated there by a local physician. Another physician was believed en route by plane from

HUNDREDS OF YOUTHS GIVEN EDUCATION BY DOCTOR

ENID, Okla., May 4 (AP)—A second murder charge, accusing him in the death through an illegal operation of Hermoine Fowler, 20 year old Oklahoma A. and M. college co-ed, was filed today against Dr. Guy E. Brewer, already held on a similar charge in the death of another young woman.

The information was filed by County Attorney Roy Holbird and signed by Lieut. Robert Huston, special investigator for Gov. E. W. Marland, whose secret investigation preceded filing of the original charges.

Miss Fowler died at her home in Red Oak, Okla., June 27, 1934.

The first charge filed against the physician was based on the death of Mrs. Boris Jones, 20, the mother of two children.

Holbird said his investigation had disclosed two additional deaths of young women from illegal operations. He said more charges would be filed.

Is Bachelor
The prosecutor portrayed the 55-year-old bachelor physician as a "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" in a formal statement criticizing Dr. H. G. Bennett, president of Oklahoma A. & M. college, for rallying to the doctor's aid.

A "sweet grouch" to his scores of students, the country doctor's plight brought hundreds of his fellow townfolk of Garber to his aid with petitions of praise and funds for his defense.

County Attorney Holbird, however, declared the doctor's defendants did not know "all the angles to this case."

"There are many angles to this case (Dr. Bennett) does not understand," Holbird said referring to the statement of the college president, whom he considered "a great educator and a fine gentleman."

"I know Dr. Brewer does not approve of illegal medical practice and certainly he cannot condone it when there are deadly results, regardless of the use to which the money is put," he continued.

President Defends Him
"If I should be called as a character witness," said Dr. Bennett, "I would say Dr. Brewer was the most kind and as gentle a man as I ever met. I believe you will see a student uprising on the campus such as you never saw before when Dr. Brewer's plight becomes known. I cannot conceive of Dr. Brewer violating any law. I knew him as a kindly, generous country doctor who gave all he ever earned to worthy students."

The secret investigation which preceded the filing of the charge against Dr. Brewer bore the stamp of gubernatorial approval. Lieut. Robert Huston, special investigator for Governor E. W. Marland, co-operated closely with Holbird in the investigation.

While at the outset the governor termed the case "one of the most serious,"

9 Charges Are Filed Against J. E. McDonald

Resolution To Hear Testimony In Joint Session Filed By Four Solons.

AUSTIN, May 4 (AP)—A resolution providing for a joint session of the legislature to hear evidence on allegations by the state auditor of irregularities in the administration of the agriculture department was filed by four representatives today with Speaker of the House C. Stevenson.

J. E. McDonald, commissioner of agriculture, said immediately that he welcomed any investigation, that he had nothing to conceal and that every dollar handled by his department had been satisfactorily accounted for. In a statement to newsmen, he made a detailed reply to nine charges contained in the resolution.

The resolution was signed by Representatives E. E. Hunter of Cleburne, Ross Hardin of Prairie Hill, J. J. Olson of Yorkum and Leonard Westfall of Aspermont. It was an outgrowth of an investigation by a house committee into administration of funds derived from state funds and licenses on horse racing and assigned to the purchase of stallions and jacks for improvement of Texas stock. Of the signers, only Hunter was a member of the committee.

The resolution called for appointment of five house members and five senators to act as a steering committee and hear evidence "as to the propriety of the action of the commissioner of agriculture."

It said the commissioner should be called on to answer charges that he violated the nepotism act, that an agent accepted commissions in purchasing stallions and jacks, that two fine mares were given his sons by persons with whom McDonald was dealing in an official capacity, that he had diverted special jockey funds from which they "were dedicated by law," that procreation fees also had been diverted.

Lions Musical Show Tickets To Go On Sale Monday

Pampa Lions through their crippled children's committee, composed mainly of physicians who are members of the club, have appealed to parents to support the clubmen's musical show which on next Friday and Saturday nights will be given at the city hall to make possible the rebuilding of broken bodies of underprivileged children.

The cast of the show will practice at the city auditorium this afternoon at 2 o'clock under the direction of John Sturgeon.

Members of the crippled children's committee pointed out that building little bodies to normal or near-normal status was the major activity of the club. The annual minstrel chiefly finances this work. Physicians make no charge for their services.

Tickets will go on sale tomorrow in the Rose building lobby, along with reserved seats. Citizens are being urged to buy at least one ticket at 50 cents.

The cause justifies buying of tickets, it is being pointed out that the show will be the worth the price of admission. The city auditorium is being elaborately decorated. The archway of the stage is being made into a vine-covered pergola, with arched trellises, covered with vines and flowers, at each side. Slat fences, similarly decorated, are being placed at the sides. Tulips will cover the footlights. At the back will be a vine-covered "stone wall," with a background of trees and foliage. Thus will the club herald the arrival of the spring season. Costumes and songs will continue the theme.

The show will be in two parts. The first part will include the musical overture of choruses and solos, the end-men stunts and gags, while the second part will combine vaudeville with a scene illustrating the purposes of the show.

Members of the club are making a list of names of children who are in need of medical attention. The list will be given to the city auditorium this afternoon at 2 o'clock under the direction of John Sturgeon.

DIME RACKET NUTTY? MANY ASKING THAT

Mathematicians Declare It Is Dizzy, Daffy, Dopey, But Still Mail Dimes.

NEW YORK, May 4 (AP)—Brother, if you can spare a dime, you can out in on the dizziest, daffiest, dopest racket since they first put whiskers on papa and called him Santa Claus.

Many persons, particularly those who got as far as the kindergarten, call the chain letter saw-a-dime-and-run-a-gold-nine business an insult to their (if any) intelligence.

Hoary mathematicians, pouring over the chain letter plan which pretends to show that a time investment will net a possible $1,536.50, announced that it is utter and absurd nonsense.

The postoffice department calls it downright sin.

As a consequence of all these expert warnings, nobody pays any attention.

The people who say the plan insults their intelligence are tramping over each other in the rush to mail their dime. Even the mathematicians, though a bit sheepishly, are sending out dimes and hoping for the best; and the postoffice department, raising one hand and saying "no-dime-no-bus," is using the other to open more "stamp windows."

The mails from prado, Texas, Oklahoma and into New York are growing in bulk.

Unfortunately, the part of the country, there are no dimes in the letters but merely requests for dimes. This is because the "prosperity club" idea (as the chain letters are called started in Denver, and most of the cashing in (if any) is now being done in that section.

Eventually, if all goes well, the East may expect to hit pay dirt; but the situation as of today is sort of a "go West, little dime."

The plan is cornerstoned on "faith-hope-charity."

One letter read: "Have the faith your friend had, and this charm will not be broken."

"This charm was started in the hope of bringing prosperity to you."

"Send a one dollar bill wrapped in paper as a charity donation."

Road Projects Called 'In Line'

Favorable comment has been made by Harry Hines, new chairman of the Texas Highway commission, for the construction of gaps in State highway 209, known as Oilfield highway 41, between the end of the present paving west of Pampa and Berger, and also on the gap on State highway 152 between the end of the paving east of Pampa and the Wheeler county line, and also between Wheeler and the Oklahoma line.

Mr. Hines was interviewed Friday morning in Amarillo by Mack Graham, president, and George W. Briggs, manager, of the Pampa Board of City Development. Also in the session were G. B. Gilchrist, state engineer, and W. J. Van London, division engineer, and members of the Carson county commissioners court.

The commissioner and engineers appeared optimistic about the highway situation. They stated that both projects were high in the list for early approval.

SUSPECTS ARRESTED

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 4 (AP)—Little Rock detectives tonight announced the arrest of three men for investigation in connection with the $22,000 City National bank robbery yesterday at Fort Smith.

Contrary to the general belief that no Hamm ransom money has turned up heretofore, it has been established that $20,000 of dollars have rolled into the Federal Reserve bank from various cities in the Chicago district, especially from Chicago, Cleveland, and Toledo.

A considerable portion of the Bremer ransom, it was brought out at the trial of ten persons for the Bremer abduction now in progress here, also has been "peddled" in Chicago, Toledo and Cleveland.

TORRENTS FALL OVER NORTH AND EAST TEXAS

Dust-storm veterans of the pampas, accustomed to digging dust out of their ears the first thing of a morning, walked out of their houses yesterday morning into a phenomenon, a full-fledged snowstorm in May. The snow began falling shortly before daylight and by dawn had covered the ground. It was past noon before the wet flakes melted.

The snow came as a surprise, although many residents had felt that Nature, in her gigantic labor to break the drought, would have to resort to strange methods. For the first time in days citizens breathed air that was entirely free of dust.

Wheat lands of the plains, long-seared by hot, dusty breezes from many directions, greened very perceptibly Saturday as the light snow brought moisture ranging from one-fifth to two-fifths of an inch.

Roads were slippery for the first time in months. The temperature dropped to 40 degrees. While the moisture was not enough to break the drought, the psychological effect was heartening and many believed that prospects for more moisture were very good.

Third In 50 Years

AMARILLO, May 4 (AP)—A May snow storm—the third in 50 years in these parts—came tumbling out of nature's sack of weather stunts today, blanketing the Texas Panhandle and bringing temporary relief from eroding dust storms.

Freezing weather set in but the natives liked it. Moisture, either from snow, sleet or rain, chased dust from the parched plains and wheat farmers were glad for the first time in months.

Moisture was one fourth of an inch here but was reported higher in other spots. It soaked into drought-parched soil and there were prospects of saving some of the wheat crop.

At Dalhart a two-inch snow swirled down in the middle of the southwest dust bowl, where farmers, desperate for moisture, had been trying for days to blast rain from the heavens with high explosives. Three inches of snow coated the Texline territory.

From Fort Worth to Clarendon a slow rain worked its way into seared soil.

Storm At Santa Rosa

Heavier to west, lighter to the east the snow fell. Almost a storm was reported at Santa Rosa, N. M., where 12 inches fell. Albuquerque, N. M., was telling of a six inch snow fall.

Rain men said most of the wheat had been destroyed, but added that the moisture would be of vast benefit to the remainder.

Rain, hail, snow and sleet fell on the South Plains. Showers extended from Lubbock south to Lamesa, east to Spur and west to Levelland. A half inch of moisture was reported at Tahoka, Brownfield, Crosbyton and Plainview. Estelline, Hedley, Clarendon and Wellington reported good rains.

Heavy rains were reported by Wichita Falls, Olney, Vernon, Archer City, Paducah, Denison, Sherman, Fort Worth, Dallas, Abilene, Salt Angelo, Austin, San Antonio, Uvalde, Tyler, Longview, Llano, Brownfield, Haskell, Corsicana, Sweetwater, Denton, Laredo and Eagle Pass.

The precipitation extended from the northern border of the Panhandle on the north to Corpus Christi on the south, and from Longview and Tyler in East Texas to

$65,000 Of Hamm Ransom Turns Up

ST. PAUL, Minn., May 4 (AP)—Approximately $65,000 of William Hamm ransom money has come into the Chicago Federal Reserve bank and department of justice officials in Washington are convinced the Barker-Karpis mob—not the Roger Touhy gang—kidnaped the millionaire St. Paul brewer June 15, 1933. PANHANDLE EDITORS URGING ALLRED TO SIGN CENTENNIAL BILL—MEMORIALS REQUESTED

AMARILLO, May 4.—Panhandle editors in convention here today went on record urging Governor James V. Allred to sign the Centennial bill. They also agreed to work for allocation of funds to mark historic spots in the Panhandle, such as Fort Elliott, Tascosa, Col. Charles Goodnight's grave, and others with appropriate structures.

The editors adjourned after moving John L. McCarty of Dalhart from vice-president to president. Harry Koch of Quanah was elected vice-president and C. W. Warwick of Canyon was made secretary.

Wes Izard of Amarillo and Gilmore N. Nunn of Pampa were placed on the board of directors.

At the concluding luncheon tendered by the Amarillo Globe-News, Wade Bryner of the Amarillo chamber of commerce urged the newsmen to work for the elimination of local highway routing fights which have delayed closing of gaps in the Panhandle.

James O. Guleke, attorney, who pleaded for a conversation of ideals of the Panhandle and for a sustaining faith in the soil and its inhabitants.

The Saturday morning session included talks by J. C. Estlack of Clarendon, Olin E. Hinkle of Pampa, and Norris Ewing of Pampa on newspaper subjects.

Women Are Present

Newspaper women of the Panhandle, friendly, straight-forward, and mentally alert, took active part in the meeting of the Panhandle Press association Friday and Saturday. There was a striking contrast between their role at this meeting and the "chilly ornamental" place women occupy at most conventions attended by men. Their personality possessed something definitely in common: their ease and self-assurance which bespoke their experience in dealing with the public.

Perhaps the Panhandle's most prominent newspaper woman is Mrs. Seth B. Holman, publisher of the Hereford Brand, who served on the convention's nominating committee. About six years' experience in the business department fitted her for the duties of publisher, which she assumed after the death of her husband, a well-known newspaperman of this section. Mrs. Holman no longer attaches much importance to society, nor has she much time for it. "I play bridge now and then in the evenings," she explained, "but I haven't time for many parties."

Mrs. Holman assumes responsibility for the advertising department, leaving editorial duties to De Witt Landis.

Another very active young woman is Miss Irene O'Keefe, assistant editor of the Panhandle Herald. Editor D. M. Warren is away from Pampa a great deal of the time, leaving the responsibility of getting out the Herald to Miss O'Keefe. Irene can do anything there is to be done on a newspaper from writing society to operating a linotype.

One of the youngest "ladies of the press" is Miss Allie Blanche Graham, burned daughter of Editor W. H. Graham of the State Line Tribune. Parwell, Miss Graham worked over half time as a linotype operator during her high school career and has continued this work since her graduation in 1933. Her duties now include the writing of a sparkling column, "Cracker Crumbs."

"The more we edit 'Crumbs' the more we wonder what in the world we possess to start such thing," she declared—but she continues to write the column. She has a dog and a cat, and one of her hobbies is the collecting of china and glass dogs and elephants. She also helps her father with his hobby—raising flowers.

Mrs. T. A. Landers of McLean can claim the distinction for the most unusual position among the women. She operates the press for the McLean News.

Mrs. Fred Story, wife of the Childrens News editor, is society editor for that paper. She is not confined by her title, however, and often assists in the advertising department.

Mrs. Sam Braswell is not connected with the Clarendon News, of which her husband is editor, but she is one of the outstanding poets of the Panhandle. Miss Jo Ella Stewart of the Clarendon News also attended the convention.

Mrs. E. P. Englemann is in charge of the society and circulation departments of the Tulsa Herald, her husband being editor of the paper.

Miss Valda Cyper, who is becoming more and more valued as society editor of the Borger Herald, was reared in Borger, and received her first newspaper experience there. Mrs. Sadler, Borger Herald bookkeeper, also attended the press meeting.

Mrs. Olin E. Hinkle, former women's editor at Abilene, Lubbock, and Pampa, is not in active newspaper work now, but continues to write as a hobby.

Newspaper work is seldom dropped completely by a person who enters the work. When Miss Juanita Skaggs of the Follett Times married

Editors' wives who are not connected in any way with the papers also were found very interesting.

For example, Mrs. Clyde Warwick of Canyon brought to the convention an armful of yellow tulips. She specializes in the raising of tulips, and her blossoms were declared by Editor Harry Koch of Quanah to be the most beautiful he had ever seen, even in Holland. Mr. Koch is a native of Holland.

recently, Mrs. Mollie Shaw of the Higgins News commented as follows: "She will naturally gravitate to the print shop and do her bit as of yore, or we are much mistaken. Shop work will beckon and Juanita will not miss a single local she can chase down. 'Tis so natural, you know, after having been on the job for so long a time. A printer won't be happy even in heaven without a pencil and note book."

FOUR BASEBALL TILTS SCHEDULED TO BE PLAYED TODAY IN THIS SECTION

COLTEXO AND ROAD RUNNERS HEAD PROGRAM

INITIAL BATTLE WILL BE FOUGHT AT LEFORS

Baseball today: Pampa Road Runners vs. LeFors Coltexo at Shaw park, LeFors, 3:30 o'clock. Hopkins vs. Hoover at Hoover park, 3 o'clock. Pampa Pwees vs. Hoover Juniors at Hoover park, 1 o'clock. Skellytown vs. Phillips Big Gray plant, located three miles west of LeFors, at 2:30 o'clock.

The weather will, have to be mighty bad to cause postponement of the game between the Pampa Road Runners and LeFors Coltexo at Shaw park, LeFors, at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon, Coltexo officials declared yesterday.

This afternoon will mark the third time during the past week that the two teams have tried to open the 1935 baseball season. Last Sunday dusk prevented the game in LeFors. On Wednesday night dust prevented a game scheduled here.

Regardless of conditions today, the two teams are matched for a game tomorrow night at Road Runner park. Game time will be 8 o'clock, with admission 25 and 40 cents.

Neither manager would name his starting pitcher up to last night. Fans had it doped out that Bulla would be on the mound for the Road Runners with Stegman, former Pampa, dishing up the curves for Coltexo. Stegman's choice was Berry for Pampa and LeFors for LeFors.

Seals to accommodate an expected capacity crowd have been installed at Shaw park. Seating capacity for nearly 2,500 fans will be available at Road Runner park.

The two Hoovers teams will be in action at home this afternoon. The juniors will meet the Pwees Harveters at 1 o'clock. That game will be followed by a clash between Hopkins and Hoover. Rawlins will probably be on the mound for Hoover, opposed by Pinnell, former Pampa high school football star.

Phillips plants in the south field have formed a team and will open the season this afternoon, playing Skellytown at 2:30 o'clock. The Phillips diamond is located south of the Big Gray plant, west of LeFors. Skellytown will have Carroll, veteran lefthander, on the mound. The Phillips hurler had not been named yesterday.

The Phillips team will boast such stars as Newsome, Flynn, Kirkpatrick, Page, Ballou, and several others from the Phillips team of a few years ago.

Couple Hurt As Auto Overtakes

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Meek were rushed to Worley hospital yesterday afternoon after their car had turned over on Highway 33 west of the city limits. Mr. Meek received severe cuts and bruises which will necessitate his remaining in the hospital for several days. Mrs. Meek was cut and bruised but was able to leave the hospital last night. The car was being driven toward Pampa when mud on the pavement caused it to slide to the shallow ditch. When Mr. Meek attempted to turn the car back to the paving, it overturned.

Mr. Meek is employed at the Cabot Co. He is a well known baseball player.

GEORGE BULLA
A veteran of veterans is George Bulla, only lefthanded hurler on the Road Runner ball club. George is a crafty moundsman with plenty of curve balls and deadly at the plate. Known as the "Waurika Kid," Bulla broke into baseball with Duncan in the Oklahoma State league in 1923. He went from there to Sioux City the same year and the following season was with Lincoln, Neb. He was out of the game in 1925 but returned with Fort Worth in the Texas league in 1927. He played unorganized ball until 1930 when he again wore a uniform for the Fort Worth Cats. Bulla played and managed clubs in Oklahoma until 1933 when he reported to the Road Runners. Bulla played in 24 games last season and batted .326.

subject to sleep walking killed his mother while walking in his sleep. Gerald said he ran a block and a half to the home of D. F. Meek, his mother's cousin, and asked him to call a physician. Gerald said Meek asked him how his mother had been hurt and he replied: "Jackie shot her."

Questioned as to how he knew Jackie Glenn had shot his mother, Gerald said: "I just thought so because Jackie was so near the bed with the gun in his hands."

Meek testified and said "everything was just as nice as could be between them (Mr. and Mrs. Darden). If ever they had any trouble I didn't know about it. They appeared to love each other."

He told of arriving at the Darden home after the killing and remarked that "in my opinion the boy had never moved after the shooting."

"Gerald came to my house and told me to get Dr. W. C. Welch quick, he said 'Jackie has shot mother.' I reached the Darden house in about five minutes and Darden met me at the door with his baby in his arms."

"'Bud, she's gone,' he told me. He was weeping and threw himself on his wife's bed when we entered the room."

Prosecutors drew from Gerald Darden an admission that he had been in the office of Harry L. Carpenter, defense attorney, every day but one since the day of the tragedy. Carpenter, on cross examination of Gerald, cautioned him to "tell nothing but the truth."

Gerald said Jackie Glenn often walked in his sleep and was a "restless" boy. He added he had never seen Jackie Glenn shoot a gun.

Brickell Will Play With Road Runners Today

The Pampa Road Runners will enter the game with LeFors Coltexos this afternoon with Freddy Brickell in charge of the team. Brickell took over the managerial duties upon his return from Albany, N. Y., where he played several games with the Albany Senators in the International league.

During Brickell's absence, the Road Runners were organized for 1935 under the capable direction of Grover Seitz, White Deer boy, who went to the "big time" after playing with the old Pampa Grays. Seitz was named to manage the Road Runners during Brickell's absence.

Many new players were brought in by Seitz and team officials to bolster the team. They secured Joe Berry, pitcher, who has already proved his worth; Sam Sealing, outfielder, who replaced Brickell in the outfield; Dallas Patton, outfielder of real ability; Tank Horton, former Pampa catcher, last year with Oklahoma City; Floyd Lisle, catcher, formerly with Amarillo in the Western league; Al Summers, infielder from California; Don Bailey, infielder from Tulsa, Okla.

The Road Runners will meet the House of David's original team here on Wednesday and Friday nights at 8 o'clock. The bearded one will play in LeFors Tuesday afternoon, in Borger Thursday night, and in Amarillo Thursday night. The pepper game trio of Tucker, Talley and Anderson will perform.

McDonald said he had rented a truck from a brother, A. E. McDonald of Waxahachie, at $15 a day, to transport animals from other states and deliver them directly to caretakers in Texas. He had found it cheaper and more satisfactory in all ways, he said, than to ship by freight and then distribute by truck.

After the board of control had told him it was irregular to hire his brother's truck, which he wanted to use because of its special equipment for handling jacks and stallions, the truck was sold to Jim Tate, a man experienced in livestock who had been assisting in transporting the animals to Texas. McDonald said he understood it was a bona fide sale and no evasion. Several loads of animals were transported to Texas in the truck for about $45 a head, which McDonald said was in line with regular freight rates.

"About 170 head of stallions and jacks were delivered from five other states into 130 Texas counties," McDonald said, "at all hours and under all weather conditions, and not a single animal was crippled or even had the hide broken."

BUCS BEAT SHIPPERS
GALVESTON, May 4 (AP)—Galveston climbed into a tie for the Texas league lead tonight by beating the Beaumont Exporters 7-0, behind the five-hit pitching of Joe Gibbs. The lanky Buccaneer right-hander showed his 1934 form for the first time since coming up with a sore arm early this year and fanned nine of the Shippers. Rudy York, slugging Beaumont catcher, was a strikeout victim three times.

The Bucs clubbed Red Phillips with a vigor, getting 12 of their 13 hits off him in the first seven innings.

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, May 4 (AP)—Gains of 1 to 7 points by preferred stocks of sugar companies set a bright example for other issues as stocks coasted along for moderate gains on the New York Stock Exchange today.

A factor in Wall street calculations was the senate's support of the amendment to the Vinson bill designed to effect immediate cash payment of bonuses to world war veterans. While none ventured to guess the net effect on the market, it was reported that some withheld commitments pending final solution of the issue.

Measured by the Associated Press average of sixty stocks the market moved up from 40.1 to 40.3. The trading page on an hourly basis for the short session was somewhat faster than on Friday. Volume totaled 474,400 shares against 953,050 for the preceding session.

KANSAS CITY LIVESTOCK
KANSAS CITY, May 4 (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Eleven midwestern markets received 147,000 cattle this week compared with 168,505 last week and 209,368 the corresponding period a year ago. Stock cashed steady to 25 lower for the five days under review. A fairly broad clearance was made on stockers and feeders at firm rates. Some prime steers reached 16.25 at Chicago, a new season's high.

The hog run totaled 204,000 against 391,683 for the same week last year. The week's best figure was 9.25 registered at Chicago on choice 252-lb averages.

With increased receipts, daily losses occurred in fed lamb prices with late sales generally 25 to extremes 75 below a week ago. Spring lambs and sheep shared the decline. Fed woolled skins made 8.50 and top clips 7.60 at Chicago. Arizona springers at Kansas City reached 8.65 on early rounds.

12 COMPLETIONS ADD 10,176 BARRELS TO PLAINS POTENTIAL

6 LOCATIONS ARE MADE IN WHEELER AREA

SITTER GUSHER FLOWS 4,000 BARRELS DAILY

BY GEORGE L. GUTHRIE, Consulting Geologist, Combs-Worley Bldg.

Twelve completions in the Texas Panhandle district added 10,176 barrels of oil to the daily potential of the field and 30,000,000 cubic feet of gas.

Wheeler county continues to hold its own in the Texas Panhandle. The largest producers which are causing some concern to other operators in the field. The outcome may be a change in the proration method which is being talked by some people, the idea being to set a top allowable for wells in the large producer group that are especially numerous in Wheeler county.

The Skelly Oil company No. 3 Johnson in section 47, block 24, averaged 2,488 barrels daily on a 5-day commission test. Flowing from the granite wash.

The Skelly Oil company No. 3 Johnson in section 47, block 24, averaged 2,488 barrels daily on a 5-day commission test. Flowing from the granite wash.

The passing of the Clint Small bill in the Texas legislature is of more or less concern here to the operators, and I believe is generally favored. Many plans will be forced to run less gas than heretofore and unless there is a change for the better in the price of casinghead gas there is the possibility of some of them discontinuing operations.

New locations number 11 with Wheeler county taking more than half, Gray and Hutchinson had three each, Moore none and Collinsworth had another stake set which is the second in the past two weeks. The new one is north of Quail and will be drilled by the Smith Bros., who are producers in the prolific area in western Wheeler county.

There is to be a new location made on the south side of the granite ridge north of the old Silk well. Activity in drilling on the south slope seems to be increasing at a slow pace but a steady one. This makes two wells drilling on the south slope proper and two other promised. This should certainly test the area thoroughly as these wells are located in areas which have never been drilled in southern Gray county, and which also are proven productive in Carson county west of White Deer.

The Smith Brothers No. 1 Sitter in section 33, block 24, completed testing on Friday with an average of almost 4,000 barrels daily. The potential is 3,945 1/2 barrels daily. The Skelly Oil company No. 2 Johnson in section 47, block 24, an offset to the Smith Bros. No. 1 Johnson which averaged 1,566 barrels has been brought in and is making around 2,500 barrels for 6 hours. Several wells on the Helena Oil & Gas company lease are due to come in soon. There are two wells in with nine locations made or drilling.

International Sunday School Lesson

By DR. J. E. NUNN

General Topic: Sin, Repentance, and Faith.

Scripture Lesson: Luke 15:11-24.

11. And he said, A certain man had two sons:

12. And the younger of them said to his father, Give me the portion of thy substance that falleth to me. And he divided unto them his living.

13. And not many days after, the younger son gathered all together and took his journey into a far country; and there he wasted his substance with riotous living.

14. And when he had spent all, there arose a mighty famine in that country; and he began to be in want.

15. And he went and joined himself to one of the citizens of that country; and he sent him into his fields to feed swine.

16. And he would fain have filled his belly with the husks that the swine did eat; and no man gave unto him.

17. But when he came to himself, he said, How many hired servants of my father's have bread enough and to spare, and I perish here with hunger!

18. I will arise and go to my father, and will say unto him, Father, I have sinned against heaven, and in thy sight:

19. I am no more worthy to be called thy son: make me as one of thy hired servants.

20. And he arose, and came to his father. But while he was yet afar off, his father saw him, and was moved with compassion, and ran, and fell on his neck, and kissed him.

21. And the son said unto him, Father, I have sinned against heaven, and in thy sight: I am no more worthy to be called thy son.

22. But the father said to his servants, Bring forth quickly the best robe, and put it on him; and put a ring on his hand, and shoes on his feet:

23. And bring the fatted calf, and kill it, and let us eat and make merry:

24. For this my son was dead, and is alive again; he was lost, and is found. And they began to be merry.

Golden Text: If we confess our sins, he is faithful and righteous to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness.—1 John 1:9.

Subject: The Awfulness of Sin, the Necessity for Repentance, and the Meaning of Faith in the Life of Man.

"Sin is a clenched fist and a blow in the face of God."—Joseph Parker.

"The characteristic of New Testament teaching is its intense conception of sin as the one great evil in the world—as the central fact of life—around which all the powers of heaven, earth, and hell range themselves."—George A. Barton.

"True repentance, like that of Zacharias, affects eye, ear, hand, foot; he saw he was a sinner; heard the message of salvation; took hold of Christ by faith; and ran joyfully in the way of obedience."

"Faith to the Catholic, is assent to the teachings of the church; to the Protestant, to realize that God is speaking directly to us and to respond in trust and obedience to what he says."—William Adams Brown.

God and Sin Are Primary Facts. The Bible's first word is God ("In the beginning God..."); its second sin. That is, as soon as we are through with the story of God's creation of His world, the very next chapter of Genesis, the third, tells us of man's first disobedience. In like manner the New Testament's twofold keynote is, Christ and salvation.

"In the Old Testament sin is viewed more from the nationalistic point of view; in the New Testament it is rather an offense of the individual. Yet some of the psalms voice an intensely personal note; and the Gospels and Epistles repeatedly remind us that our transgressions always harm others, society."

Sin Ancient, But Also Modern. The Bible story of sin in Genesis may be old, but it is not old-fashioned; it is very up-to-date. How clearly the sinfulness of today is reflected here in this primeval record: "Sin's personification is best that a repulsive, crawling thing! And its approach and appeal are subtle. The devil is cunning, whatever form he takes. All the more need that we should watch out. But is not practically all our wrong-doing intelligent, deliberate? God had said, 'Ye shall not eat.' They knew. The most stupid of us know where the line of his righteousness runs when we trespass."

A denial of God's word enters in. The tempter hints, "Ye shall not surely die." Gen. 3:4, as God had said, "Ye shall not eat." The sin-said, "Don't believe it." The sinner deludes himself, "I'll get by with it—this time"; or, "The Ten Commandments, and what the preacher says are all rot." Let "personal liberty" be my shibboleth! One of the saddest stems of the story is that we are forever helping one another to sin, and trying to shift the blame to the others' shoulders—as Eve Adam, and Adam Eve. The vision of the nakedness of sin, how we stand all guilty in God's holy sight, is never long deferred; nor the sound of his accusing voice.

The Parable Man-Healed. Mark 2:1-12.

Most of the miracles of Christ, though not all, illustrate for us how Christ, in dealing with the ailments of the human body, is capable of dealing and eager to deal with the deeper ailments of the human soul. The particular disease afflicting the chief character in this parable was paralysis, a remarkable type of sin's terrible toll in the life of man. "A bad conscience" of the sense of sin induces moral paralysis. It disables the moral nature on every hand. It dulls natural intelligence. Our Lord, looking upon this helpless man, saw far beyond his physical ailment, and looking deep into his soul, discovered a spiritual paralysis and at once emancipated the man from deeper disease by his declaration, "Son, thy sins are forgiven." To forgive sins means to send them out of sight, to erase them from an account, to treat them as having no existence, to blot them out from a court record, to declare the sinner absolutely free from the guilt and bondage of his sin.

Jesus' Story of Sin, Repentance and Forgiveness, Luke 15:11-24.

This parable of the Prodigal Son is undoubtedly one of the most important "documents" in all Scripture for a study of sin, repentance and forgiveness. "Steps in the Way to Forgiveness," it might be entitled. "He came to himself" (to his senses). "You cannot be sorry for the wrong in you to which you are blind. The trouble with most great and little sinners—especially the latter—is that they do not see themselves as God and others can, as they are. The importance of confession is recognized (ver. 18). It is not the same as repentance, but must accompany it. The boy had faith in his father's love, was confident of the welcome he would receive. Without such faith we will not dare go to God, petition Him for forgiveness, no matter how repentant we may be.

"He Began To Be In Want," v. 14.

"And when he had spent all," v. 14.

"That is the inevitable issue of waste. The hour of utter extremity arrives. The godless life at last burns itself out, and that which we have given as a definition of waste—expenditure without return—becomes the agonizing experience of living."—G. Campbell Morgan.

"And he began to be in want." Sin and Satan are man's greatest robbers (John 10:8, 10), yet this phrase which speaks of suffering is the first real hopeful indication we have of this wretched man's possible recovery. Had he never felt in want, he would never have turned homeward. "But when he came to himself," He went out to find himself, so he thought; indulgence and sin go hand in hand, and he lost himself. Now the suffering of hunger, a consciousness of failure and shame bring him back to himself, as a drunken man coming back to sobriety, beginning to speak and act rationally again. "This is the truth, that life without God is madness, however it be spent."—W. Robertson Nicoll.

The Prodigal's Return, vs. 20-24.

"And he arose, and came to his father." This is true repentance. "But while he was yet afar off, his father saw him." This shows that the father had been looking for him to come back and was even looking at this very moment as he came in sight.—"A. T. Robertson. "And ran, and fell on his neck, and kissed him." He did not win his father's love—that love had always been there. God loves us long before we love and obey him (1 John 4:19). The father "did not know but that the young man would change his mind and go back. He did not know but that he would drop down from exhaustion. He did not know but that something fatal might overtake him before he got up to the door; and so the father ran."

—T. DeWitt Talmage. "This father was not hindered by the foul and sour rags of his son who came to him from among the swine, but fell on his neck, overcome by joy, so will you find in God no revulsion, but an immediate and hearty welcome that will cause you to rejoice in His love."—Marcus Doris.

Awful Mess Brewing

Says a far-western congressman: "It is clear that an awful mess is brewing. Roosevelt is losing ground rapidly."

Let me add:

When the lion eats grass like an ox and the fisherman swallows the whale; when terrapins knit woolen socks and the hare is outrun by the snail; when serpents walk upright like men and doodlebugs travel like frogs; when the grasshopper feeds on the hen, and feathers are found on hogs; when Thomas cats swim in the air, and elephants roost upon trees; when insects in summer are rare, and snuff never makes people sneeze; when fish creep over dry land, and mules on bicycles ride; when foxes lay eggs in the sand, and women in dress take no pride; when dutchmen no longer drink beer, and girls get to preaching on time; when the billy goat butts from the rear, and treason no longer is crime; when the humming bird brays like an ass, and hearts of Illinoisians are stone; when sense grows in republicans' heads and wool on the hydraulic ram; then the democratic party will be dead, and this country not worth a...

"I don't know yet just where I'll strike him this time but I'll have plenty to say."

A critical analysis of 948 cases receiving various anti-rachitic agents during a five-year period resulted in the following conclusions:

- 1—Cod Liver Oil in liquid form in dosage of 2 to 3 teaspoonfuls a day prevented rickets in 97% of 100 cases studied.
- 2—Cod Liver Oil Concentrate Tablets given in dosage of three tablets daily prevented rickets in 92% of 142 cases studied.
- 3—Viosterol 100x, 10 drops daily, prevented rickets in only 77% of 123 cases studied.
- 4—Viosterol 250x, 10 drops daily, prevented rickets in 81.5% of 123 cases studied.
- 5—Viosterol 500x, 10 drops daily, prevented rickets in 76.8% of 156 cases studied.

The report further states that Cod Liver Oil gives a most complete protection against rickets, whereas Viosterol, in all strengths, gives only slight protection.

Last Service of Revival Series Will Be Tonight

The drama, "The Closed Door," will be presented this evening in the last service of the special evangelistic meetings being held in the First Christian church. There are 17 people who take part in the drama. "The following are the speaking parts: Mr. and Mrs. Roy West and Patricia, Mrs. C. E. Hutchins, Misses Nellie Meers, Hazel Bath, Mattie Brown, Willie Isbell, Virginia Roberts, Charles Madela, and Owen Walker.

The subject of the sermon that will be preached in this last series will be "On Trial."

Sunday morning Evangelist Holmes will preach on "The Divine Family," and Owen Walker will sing "I'm a Child of the King."

The choir will sing "Lord, Abide With Me" by Mainfold.

"Satan is bidding against God for every man's soul," declared Evangelist Holmes in his sermon Friday night.

"Satan offers all of the allurements of sin but a man should look carefully at his offer for some things are covered up. His Satanism does not tell you that broken health, dead ideals, ruined homes, spiritual poverty, and finally spiritual death are the results here and now of accepting his offer."

"God is not offering anything cheap for your soul. He is offering a conscience clear of offense, a memory of helpful living, a joy that comes only from real service, the friendship of His Son, the Christ, and above all that, eternal life. Each man decides who will get his soul. If a man goes out into eternal night to serve forever the most cruel taskmaster the mind can conceive he has no man to blame but himself."

Workers Ready for Poppy Day Sale on Saturday, May 25

Complete plans for the observance of Poppy Day here on Saturday, May 25, have been announced by Mrs. L. D. Blasingame, poppy committee chairman of the Pampa unit of the American Legion Auxiliary.

Organization of a corps of volunteer workers to carry out the distribution of the memorial poppies throughout the city was completed and leaders appointed to direct the work in the various sections.

"The American Legion Auxiliary poppies will be distributed entirely by volunteer workers," said Mrs. Blasingame. "The response to our call for volunteers has been very gratifying from both our senior and junior members, and we will be able to give everyone in the city an opportunity to wear a poppy on Poppy day. As the workers will serve entirely without pay or commission, every penny contributed in exchange for the flowers will go for the welfare activities of the Legion and Auxiliary."

"The enthusiasm of our women for the Poppy day project is due to the two great purposes which the little memorial flower achieves. First, it pays tribute to those gallant young men who sacrificed their lives in defense of American ideals on the poppy-studded battle fields of France and Belgium. Second, it raises funds for the relief and rehabilitation of the living victims of the war, the disabled veterans, their families and the families of the dead. We are hoping that the people of Pampa will understand the significance of the poppy and give us their support on Poppy day."

Leaders appointed to direct the poppy distribution in the various parts of the city are members of the Auxiliary and the Camp Fire Girls.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wooley are spending the week-end in Oklahoma City. Mrs. Max Mahaffey left yesterday for Wyoming where she will visit friends and relatives.

Leader

Mrs. May Foreman Carr, director of both the Philharmonic Chorus and the Pampa Piano ensemble, will be in charge of the music week program to be presented tomorrow evening at First Baptist church. Her piano class will be presented in recital Tuesday evening, and she will take part in a music week program in Wellington Thursday.

Violinist

Mrs. John M. Hooper will be solo violinist for the Philharmonic chorus music week program tomorrow evening at First Baptist church, and will also play the violin accompaniment for choral numbers, for which Miss Eloise Lane is pianist. Spring Revival Will Start on Next Wednesday

Francis Avenue Church of Christ, East Francis Avenue at North Warren street, will begin its annual spring revival on Wednesday evening of this week. This revival campaign will continue for 12 days with two services daily, at 10 a. m. and 8 p. m.

Evangelist W. D. Bills, minister of the Columbus Avenue Church of Christ in Waco, will preach, and song services will be in charge of local directors. Congregational singing will be featured at each service.

Mr. Bills comes to Pampa with a national reputation as a successful evangelist, author, and lecturer. He is editor-in-chief of the "Spotlight," one of the people's monthly periodicals, and is one of the associate editors of the Firm Foundation, Church of Christ weekly publication with an international circulation. Due to his extensive writing, he is known and loved throughout the world.

E. C. McKenzie, minister of the local church, has this to say of the coming revival: "The Francis Avenue congregation, with its officers, feels highly gratified in being able to procure the services of Brother Bills for this series of evangelistic efforts. He is one of the strongest characters in the Church of Christ today, and as a public teacher of the word of God he has but few, if any, superiors."

"He is a pleasing, earnest, convincing speaker and does not deal in sensationalism and showmanship such as is so prevalent in many of our modern pulpits today. In the presentation of his lessons, he is kind, sincere, humble, and scholarly. Our home people are cordially invited to hear him as often as possible. You will learn to appreciate him as a man and a preacher of the gospel of Christ. The meeting is being held for the spiritual betterment of all classes of people who live among us, and not merely for the good of our congregation only."

COMMUNITY MUSICAL ASSETS STRESSED BY P-TA FOR WEEK

By MRS. J. M. CHAIN, Claude State Publicity Director, Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers

President Roosevelt, in voicing his approval of national music week, May 5-11, says in part: "I have a deep conviction that people who love music strive also for the best in other things. I am glad that this celebration is to continue year by year because music justly occupies a very great place in the cultural life of the people of our country. I believe that the celebration of music week stimulates interest in music and that such a national endeavor should be generally supported."

"Conserve Our Musical Assets," is the slogan of music week according to Mrs. Laura M. Jaccard, P-TA, Worth, state music chairman of Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers.

The keynote suggests: "Let your music week activities bring about a greater use of your community's musical assets so that their value will be more apparent to your citizens, and thus the cause of music will be safeguarded amid the present trying conditions."

Some suggestions for carrying out the programs for music week as given by Mrs. Jaccard are: Observe Monday evening as family music night, having the parents to find out a little about what the children are studying along musical lines; have neighborhood sing-songs Tuesday night; let Wednesday eve be designated as church night, having the membership study the history of such favorite hymns as "Lead Kindly Light," "Rock of Ages," "Nearer My God to Thee," "I Love to Tell the Story"; choir night is assigned for Thursday at nightfall; school music program is to be celebrated Friday evening; visit shut-ins Saturday and give them the best music, whether instrumental or vocal; close the week Sunday with a vesper service by the Mothersingers, using mother songs and choice selections.

Humperdinck's "Hansel and Gretel" was presented by the national music league, Thursday evening, May 2, to the delegation in attendance at the national convention of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers. Rudolph Thomas, Columbia university, had the entire musical direction of this opera. Mr. Thomas believes that this opera should interest the delegates in the possibilities for the development of musical appreciation in children. Not only was the colorful production a pleasant form of recreation but it and its kind have wide possibilities for the cultural growth of the child.

The 250th anniversaries of Bach and Handel will be a part of the music week program. David Barnoff is the new leader of the movement for national music week, representing 30 national organizations, and heading an intensive effort toward the preservation and greater use of music as a vital community force. He succeeds the late Otto H. Kahn, who had been chairman since music week's inception twelve years ago.

It is further mentioned that some of the music week programs should demonstrate practically the essential part which music plays in our life activities. They may illustrate music in its relation to the other arts as literature, pictorial arts, drama, and radio; music in world history and religion; music as an aid to work or in leisure time.

ALUMNI FORM TRINITY CLUB AFTER BANQUET

Yearly Gathering Is Planned for Area

A social event of unusual interest last week was the banquet given by alumni and former students of Trinity university, with prospective students and visitors from Miami, Borger, and White Deer as guests.

A Trinity University club was organized at the meeting, with the Rev. L. Burney Shell of Pampa as president and Miss Mary McNeil of Borger secretary. The club is to sponsor a yearly banquet, and represent the Panhandle in the interest of the university.

Tables were arranged in the form of a T, decorated with red roses given by the Clayton floral shop, and lighted with white candles. E. N. Dennard, high school teacher, was toastmaster.

He introduced the guests, who included the students graduating from Pampa and Borger high schools this year who are members of the Presbyterian church and Sunday school or are interested in attending Trinity.

Alma mater and pep songs were led by Miss McNeil. Mrs. Holt Barber of Miami gave two readings. The invocation was offered by the Rev. V. K. Aubrey of Borger.

Short talks were made by all ex-students, each emphasizing some phase of college life. Mrs. Frances Alexander reminded the group that Trinity ranks second to none in scholastic rating, that it was one of the first five American colleges to receive recognition abroad.

Women of the church served the three-course dinner. The menu included tomato cocktail, pressed chicken, creamed new potatoes and peas, buttered beets, radishes, hot rolls, pineapple salad, coffee, minis, white cake, and cherry sherbet.

Local ex-students of Trinity who sponsored the banquet were Mr. and Mrs. Shell, Mr. and Mrs. Tom S. Aldridge, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Clayton Jr., Miss Frances McCue, Mrs. Alexander, E. N. Dennard, Mrs. Harvey Todd, and Mrs. Francis Hukil.

Several out-of-town delegations expected for the dinner sent last-minute regrets because of the unpleasant weather.

GOWN SHOP IS FILM SETTING FOR 'ROBERTA'

ASTAIRE-ROGERS DANCE ACTS FEATURED HERE

Telling a story said to be as sparkling as its music and dancing, RKO-Radio's picture of the Jerome Kern hit, "Roberta," comes to the screen with Irene Dunne, Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers in the starring roles.

The picture opens at La Nora theater today.

The theme is romance in a Paris gown shop. Two young Americans, portrayed by Astaire and Randolph Scott, are stranded in Paris. One becomes the proprietor of a fashionable gown shop by an accident of inheritance. The other sets the Parisians agog with his twinkling feet and mad humor.

Of course there are mademoiselles. One is an exiled Russian princess turned gown designer. Another is an American girl masquerading behind an accent and a title. Miss Dunne plays the princess. Miss Rogers is the fiery American who has become the love of Paris.

Miss Dunne sings several of Kern's finest compositions. Astaire and Miss Rogers do what is said to be the most spectacular dancing of their careers. They also sing, and Astaire demonstrates that his fingers are as nimble as his feet by playing a "hot" piano.

Another colorful feature is a brilliant fashion show, in which many of America's most beautiful girls model the latest in feminine finery, designed by Bernard Newman, internationally known stylist.

Supporting roles in the production are carried by Helen Westley.

GREAT RICHES

by Mabel Howe Farnham

Chapter 33 DEATH

Jane was too weak to more than smile wanly when James pushed a hoop of brilliant on her finger and laid a mass of pink roses on her pillow. She looked so white, so exhausted and so ethereal that, after Mrs. Northrup had left the room, James suddenly knelt by the bed and buried his head in his arms and sobbed.

Gone was all his gaiety; gone his sense of reckless happiness and triumphant pride. Memories of Jane's agonies of last night and early morning overwhelmed him. It seemed horrible to him that he could have gone strutting up and down the street half shouting, laughing, being slapped on the back, the center of a noisy throng, while Jane lay there so close, so very close to the shadow.

What coarse rough things men were at best, how undeserving of the women God gave them!

Jane lifted a weak hand and laid it on her husband's bowed head. James took it in both his and kissed it over and over. They were closer to one another, more in accord than they had been since their honeymoon.

Perhaps they both said a little prayer and made a solemn petition that they should be permitted to continue in the beauty of this perfect understanding the rest of their lives—at least James made this prayer and he rather thought Jane did too.

A tiny fretful wail startled James and he lifted his head. No wonder the babies were crying. He'd forgotten to give them their presents. A nice father he was. Why, he'd barely looked at them, never even waited until they were dressed before he rushed off down town.

Drying his eyes somewhat shamefacedly, James tiptoed around to the other side of the bed to a flopped, lace-hung much-beribboned cradle. One small red-faced bundle was lifting its voice in a feeble complaining little wail.

The other lay so still, so wan white, that James, his heart pounding queerly bent over quickly to investigate. He raised up sharply and Jane watching him, smiling tenderly, saw that all the life had gone out of his face.

"What's the matter?" she cried, jerking herself to a sitting position. "I don't know—nothing," answered her husband and ran from the room calling Mrs. Northrup. She came. The name came followed by Anna. Doctor White was hurriedly sent for.

It was too late. The second twin, the little daughter, had taken one look at her new home and quietly slipped away. What hurt her father most was that she had not stayed long enough to enjoy the beautiful new set he had brought her. She was a little and helpless—and so dreadfully alone.

He wondered, lying awake at night, whether she had found her way back to where she had come from. There were some things James found that did not bear thinking about. He got out of bed, switched on the light and tried to read.

From the front of the house came clearly to his ears an impatient fretful little cry. Later in the night he heard the sound of Jane sobbing. But when he went in to her he found Mrs. Northrup there before him and she motioned him away.

The loss of her baby was a great shock to Jane in her weakened condition and she was a long time in getting back her strength. The elder twin, the boy, suffered too from hands and crum them and his big black cigar down his huge throat, but instead he murmured something about paying the money back as soon as he could.

"I'll expect it back the day roosters lay eggs for my breakfast," said Mr. Northrup and shook all over with relish of his witicism.

James suddenly realized that he not only disliked his father-in-law but came perilously near to hating him. And yet he took his money—even asked for his money. James loathed himself the next few days a thousand times more intensely than he disliked Mr. Northrup.

He began during this period to realize clearly for the first time some of his own weaknesses and disabilities. And with this realization came creeping in, inevitably, the first doubt of the certainty of his grand future, the question of his capabilities.

If Jane would only be more patient, not expect miracles of him. If she could understand better the practical difficulties... or his own limitations! But perhaps Jane did understand him. Perhaps she understood him too well. Perhaps that was the real reason she refused to have another James Stimson in the family and insisted upon naming her son Norris Northrup Stimson after her father.

Aunt Sarah had been so hurt at Jane's refusal to name the baby after her own father that she could not talk of it to anyone—not even to Aunt Lou.

James was bitterly disappointed. He had taken it as a matter of course, as predestined as the movement of the stars, that there should some day be a fourth James Brewster Stimson to carry on the name. Jane, prompted by her mother, had announced her firm intention never to have another child and James, remembering all she had gone thru, was quick to agree to that.

And then, to have his one son named after someone else, named after a man he disliked! It was small wonder James felt somewhat embittered and began to lose, even more surely than had Jane, the belief in himself the Judge had worked so hard to build up.

Mrs. Northrup fairly lived at the house during Jane's illness and slow convalescence. James had never felt so much in the way, so unwanted and uncared for in his life as he did during the unhappy months that followed.

Anna made it plain that she worked for him only because she was paid to do it and that she resented bitterly every added footstep he caused her. Jane was so taken up with her illness, her doctor, her baby, she had not time for her husband. He was "shooed" so regularly out of the sick room and the nursery that after a time he almost lost interest in his son.

"I reckon it's a Northrup baby and not a Stimson," he once said angrily to his wife and she agreed instantly that the boy was her father over again.

Perhaps because she remained nervous and high-strung it became almost an obsession with her to find only Northrup traits in her child. When Miss Julia said the baby did "favor" James about the eyes, Jane was positively rude in denying the resemblance.

She was so very tactless about the matter that it came to be a favorite joke among her young friends to come in to see little Norris and claim that he was the image of his father. This they did partly to tease Jane and partly because they resented the way she treated James.

Already, among his intimates, James Stimson was referred to generally as "poor James."

An Occasional Check-up Is Good..

But—Once A Year Isn't Enough

Your Car Should Be Specially Prepared For Each Season of Each Year of Driving

You wouldn't expect to change your suit just once a year... you'd change it as often as the weather changed—and oftener. Your car is subjected to the same weather, and why not the same consideration?

Among Pampa Automobile Dealers are mechanics trained in the care and repair of YOUR car. Take it to one of them periodically and let them check it. A few cents spent now may save a big repair bill later.

Every service which your car requires can be furnished by or through your local dealer. You know his reputation is back of every job which comes from his shop and that he will be here tomorrow and the next day to make good anything which might not be exactly right.
