Incentives placed on hold by DCOS

While showing considerable interest in the operation, Development Corporation of Snyder board members on Thursday decided to table, for now, a request to consider incentives for a small industrial prospect to relocate at the Hermleigh Gin site.

The decision to table the agenda item was only one of several the DCOS put aside Thursday, primarily because the board wanted to further study the proposals and confer with Doug Hutchinson, the corporation's executive director. Hutchinson was unable to attend the meeting because of a family illness.

Thursday's agenda represented the first joint meeting of the DCOS and Board of County Development. The boards combined some agenda items because both entities work hand-in-hand on a number of projects, including the Hermleigh Gin site.

The decision to table incentives at the gin site followed a presentation by Big Country Incineration & Services (BCI) representatives John Williamson of Hermleigh and Randy Prude of Midland.

BCI is a copper wire reclamation company presently located in Hermleigh. The company employs 11 full-time workers with an estimated annual payroll of $279,000.

The representatives said BCI is in the process of expanding its facilities and would like to move its operation to the Hermleigh Gin site. It will be seeking a property and buildings grant, tax abatement, payroll assistance and scholarships.

Williamson said that "conservatively" the company expects the expansion will allow for five

SNS workday arrives

Hundreds of volunteers are ready to begin work on nine homes in Snyder. Still other volunteers will assist in delivering building materials and meals to the workers.

The non-profit organization has repaired more than 100 homes since it began in 1988. The homes are owned by elderly or disabled county residents.

SNS can still use volunteers to help with the repairs or delivery. Anyone interested in volunteering should report to the workday headquarters, Scurry County Senior Citizens Center, Saturday morning.

A number of restaurants will be providing meals for volunteers on that day, but drinks are also needed. Anyone wishing to donate drink items is encouraged to bring them to the Senior Center.

Among the groups scheduled to participate in the annual SNS workday Saturday are First Baptist Church, Trinity United Methodist Church, First Presbyterian Church, Colonial Hill Baptist Church, the Lions Club, Girl Scouts, Lucky 13 Club, First United Methodist Church, 37th Street Church of Christ, East Side Church of Christ, Snyder National Bank, Rotary Club, TU Electric and the G-20 Club.

Don't Bag It-seminar

The City of Snyder and Scurry County Extension Service are sponsoring a "Don't Bag It" seminar Saturday at Western Texas College.

Some 800 composting bins will be given away free at the seminar, which will be held in the Fine Arts Theatre. Hours are from 8:30 a.m. until noon and from 1:30-2:30 p.m. Door prizes will be awarded.

In conjunction with the seminar, Scurry County Museum will be selling low-maintenance plants from area nurseries and will be giving away wildflower seeds. The museum will be open from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. Saturday

Designed by the Texas A&M Extension Service, the goal of "Don't Bag It" is to reduce solid waste in the city's landfill by having citizens leave their grass clippings on the lawn or used in a composting bin.

Residents and the business community are invited to the seminar, which will include a backyard composting workshop in the afternoon.

Sampling kits for determining fertilizer needs can be obtained from Terry Millican with the County Extension Service. If the results indicate that a lawn needs fertilizer, up to two bags of fertilizer will be provided at no charge.

In Crosbyton...

Local officer named chief

Darrel Canada, an officer with the Snyder Police Department for almost two years, has been chosen as police chief at Crosbyton.

He will assume duties on May 1.

Canada said he will be leaving with mixed feelings.

"It's a pretty good step for me, and one I didn't feel I could turn down. At the same time, I hate to leave Snyder. It's a good department to work for. Chief (Lannie) Lee has done a great deal for this department and he's been kind of like a father to me. My fellow officers here are all professionals who care about the department and the community. I can't say enough about my time spent here," he said.

While he and his fiancee, Lindsay Daniell, were packing up items for Canada's move, the officer talked about his past.

"I've always cared about other people, ever since I was a little kid. When we'd play cops and robbers, I'd always be the cop and my nephews would be the robbers."

Canada dropped out of high school at Clyde as a sophomore and got married. He finished his degree four years later.

"I always tell kids out there, don't quit. I know what it's like. I know what you have to go through. Don't drop out."

WalkAmerica event slated for Saturday

Scurry County residents are invited to participate in the March of Dimes WalkAmerica, event, scheduled Saturday at Towle Park.

Registration will begin at 8 p.m. and the walk will start at 9 o'clock.

Walkers solicit contributions from individuals sponsors and pledge to walk. Sponsor forms may be picked up at the post office or Scurry County Library. The contributions enable the March of Dimes to continue funding research, education and medical services for the prevention of birth defects. This year marks the 25th anniversary of WalkAmerica.

The goal for Snyder this year is $5,000.

Local businesses are doing their part, said Mary Applegate Cearley, division director. Paula Fox, manager of Golden Corral, said waitresses at the restaurant are donating the tips they receive through Saturday. Donations may also be made to the March of Dimes at Golden Corral.

Ex-legislator's son indicted in KFC slayings

HENDERSON (AP) — The 42-year-old son of a former legislator was indicted Thursday in one of Texas' most notorious unsolved cases, the 1983 slayings of five people abducted from a Kentucky Fried Chicken restaurant.

A Rusk County grand jury issued five capital murder indictments against James Earl Mankins Jr. of Kilgore, Texas Attorney General Dan Morales said.

"It is our belief that Mr. Mankins is not the only person involved in the perpetration of these crimes," Morales told a news conference in front of the Rusk County Courthouse. "The fact that the grand jury's term was extended today will allow it to hear any additional evidence, facts, or documentation in this case."

State prosecutors took over the case from local authorities in November 1993. Morales, expressing satisfaction that indictments were handed up in the 12-year-old investigation, would not elaborate on how many others might be suspects or whether Mankins was the triggerman.

The charges stem from the shootings of five people abducted from the Kilgore fast-food restaurant.

Assistant Attorney General Shane Phelps said it would be about a month before prosecutors decide whether to seek the death penalty against Mankins.

Mankins, the son of former state Rep. James "Jimmy" Mankins Sr. of Kilgore, appeared Thursday before state District Judge Donald R. Ross, who set bond at $500,000 on each of the five counts.

Handcuffed and wearing blue jeans, his eyes shaded by dark, round sunglasses, Mankins told the court he was indigent and needed counsel appointed.

"Judge Ross, I have no attorney. I am indigent and need an attorney immediately," he said in a handwritten statement to the judge. "I have turned myself in to Rusk County and seek your consideration. Thank you."

Mankins offered no comment to reporters as he was led into the Rusk County Jail.

The attorney general's office identified him as a suspect earlier this year in an affidavit filed to support issuing a warrant compelling him to give blood for DNA testing.

Investigators hoped to link him to a torn fingernail found on one victim's body during an autopsy.

The laboratory used in the testing, GeneScreen, has since found that the genetic material in the fingernail was the same type as that found in Mankins' nail, The Dallas Morning News has reported.

But attorney J. Paul Nelson, who was representing Mankins in March, said Mankins contended the fingernail in question was not his.

Officials with the attorney general's office refused to discuss the evidence Thursday.

"I know the fingernail has been mentioned in our affidavit. Outside of that, I'm real hesitant to discuss anything about the physical evidence. It's sort of sacred territory," spokesman Ward Tisdale said.

Family members were pleased but saddened by Thursday's developments.

"We have mixed emotions about this," said Lena Maxwell Chiles of Kilgore, whose husband, David Maxwell, was a victim. "We were so thrilled, so happy to see this man come forward to go to trial. We are encouraged but there is no honor among thieves."

Maxwell's sister, Kathy Hamilton of Henderson, agreed.

"It's a bittersweet moment," she said. "I'd rather not be here at all."

Victim Joseph Johnson's relatives said they felt a sense of closure with the indictments, but hatred for the defendant.

"I felt bad when I saw him walk in," said Jimmy Johnson, the victim's brother. "He didn't say nothing. And I just looked at him."

The victims were kidnapped Sept. 23, 1983, during a $2,000 robbery near closing time. The next day, their bodies were found on an oil lease in Rusk County, about 14 miles south of the now-defunct restaurant. Each had been shot in the head.

Grand jurors hearing evidence in the case reconvened Tuesday after recessing March 21 without taking action. It was the third round of hearings for the panel, which first met March 7-9.

Kilgore, an oil center of some 10,500, is also home of Kilgore College and an internationally known precision dance-drill team, the Rangerettes.

Two of the men abducted and slain that night, Johnson and Maxwell, were 20-year-old Kilgore College fraternity brothers. The third, Monte Landers, 19, also attended school there.

Maxwell and Landers had gone to the restaurant to visit Johnson.

The other victims were Mary Tyler, 37, the assistant manager, and Opie Hughes, 39, an employee.

The elder Mankins, owner of a Kilgore transportation company, served several terms as a Democrat in the Texas House of Representatives until 1980. He was re-elected in 1982, but lost at the end of that term. His home telephone was not being answered Thursday afternoon.

Dad charged in son's gruesome slaying

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Only 3, John-John Torres cried a lot after his mother went to jail. His father admittedly "couldn't take it" and today he's charged with brutally killing the child.

Anthony John Torres, 37, is being held without bond at the Bexar County jail after confessing to sedating the boy, slashing his throat and leaving him soaking in his blood for six days before returning and dumping the body in a trash bin.

The gruesome details come from a statement by Torres and a police affidavit used to search his apartment Thursday. He was then taken into custody and he appeared before a magistrate Thursday afternoon.

Killing a child under age 6 is a capital offense, meaning a conviction could result in the death penalty.

Police had been warned the father may be up to something by the child's aunt, who first was told of the possibility of danger in a letter from the boy's jailed mother.

They were suspicious but couldn't confirm anything until Torres broke down Wednesday while being interviewed by a child protective services specialist.

When asked to produce the child, Torres stammered "I can't! I can't!" and he refused to answer when asked if the child was safe, the affidavit states.

A search warrant was executed at Torres' apartment early Thursday and police found what appeared to be blood spatters on a wall adjacent to a bed, apparent blood stains on a blanket and a section of the bedspring cut out.

Confronted with the evidence, Torres then gave his statement to police. He also admitted to having bought a hunting knife and to giving the boy a prescription medication so he would go to sleep on or about March 28.

Torres claimed he slit the child's throat and left him in bed. Torres left the apartment and spent three nights at a motel and another three nights under a bridge.

Upon returning to his apartment, a manager told Torres there was a "smell" coming from his home and that there were flies.

Torres said he sprinkled a disinfectant around the room to hide the smell, left then returned the next day to dispose of his son.

He did so by wrapping the child in a blanket, stuffing him into a picnic basket and carrying him to the trash bin.

Police say they have enough evidence to support the suspect's claim the youth was killed even if they don't find the body.

Late Thursday, police were searching for the boy's body in an east Bexar County landfill. The apartment complex trash bin where Torres is believed to have dumped the body was emptied into that landfill.

A detective said it would be a "miracle" if the body was recovered.

House debate on education set next week

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas House is expected to debate an education overhaul late next week that would ease state regulations, including the no-pass, no-play rule, a key part of 1984 education reforms.

The bill, which was passed late Wednesday by the House Public Education Committee, touches the same areas but contains key differences from a measure approved last month by the Senate.

A conference committee is expected to negotiate differences between the measure ultimately passed by the House and the Senate bill.

For example, both the Senate measure and the one in the House committee would ease the no-pass, no-play rule, which currently suspends failing students from extracurricular activities for six weeks. But the plans have different conditions that will have to be negotiated.

Both bills also contain provisions for "home-rule" school districts, created with voter approval to escape many state rules.

The Senate bill would require such school districts to abide by federal requirements; compulsory attendance; state curriculum, graduation and accountability requirements; the no-pass, no-play rule; teacher certification; and school funding requirements.

The House plan would have fewer requirements for home-rule districts.

Overlooking the possible

To my taste, American beer is too gassy. I much prefer real English ale, which is pumped out of the barrel using compressed air, not carbon dioxide. And, yes, it is served at close to room temperature. This brings out the flavor, much as one doesn't drink red wine chilled.

However, Shakespeare overstated my views in "King Henry V" when he wrote, "I would give all my fame for a pot of ale, and safety."

In today's deal, South didn't think about safety, and afterwards North went to the bar to drown his sorrows, as it cost them first place in a team event.

Against four hearts, the defense began with three rounds of clubs. After ruffing, South played a trump to dummy's ace. East's discard was a bad jolt. Now South's only chance was to find West with 3-4-3-3 distribution. Then, after cashing his three spade and three diamond winners, a trump exit at trick 11 would endplay West to lead away from his heart queen into South's king-jack tenace. However, West ruffed the third round of diamonds and got off play safely with his last club: one down.

The trump suit is ideally set up for a safety-play. At trick four, South should cash his heart king. (It is also fine to lead a low heart from hand, planning to cover West's card. But that play may unnecessarily sacrifice an overtrick.)

If East has all four hearts, South leads a heart to dummy's ace and a heart back toward his jack. When East discards, South continues with a low heart, using the power of dummy's nine to hold the defense to one trump trick.

Tigers in key matchup tonight

By Todd Stanley
SDN Sports Editor

Two straight losses by the Snyder Tigers has derailed what originally looked to be a runaway trip toward the district championship and the playoffs.

At 7:30 tonight, Snyder (15-7-1 overall, 6-2 in 5-4A) hosts the Frenship Tigers (15-10, 6-2) for a chance at a playoff berth and at least a share of the league title.

The loser of tonight's game will have to win Tuesday in the season finale to guarantee itself a postseason spot.

Snyder, which once held a two-game lead on the rest of the district, fell into a first place tie with Frenship when it lost back-to-back games to Estacado and Sweetwater.

Estacado (14-13, 4-4) positioned itself into a tie for third place, along with Lamesa (15-8, 4-4), after winning its last two ballgames.

Should either Snyder or Frenship lose its remaining two games, the Matadors and Tornadoes could move into a tie for second with wins in its final two contests.

Estacado, which blasted Snyder 9-3 last week, and clobbered Levelland 11-0 Tuesday, travels to Sweetwater tomorrow in a matchup of the district's two hottest teams.

Sweetwater (6-16, 3-5) eliminated itself from the postseason with a 12-game losing streak during the middle of the season. However, the Mustangs have won three straight, including a 4-3 upset of Snyder Tuesday.

If Estacado wins out, a district playoff would be necessary to determine the league's second place representative.

If Lamesa and Frenship tie for second, the Tigers, who have a 2-0 edge over the Tornadoes, would advance.

So, what it boils down to is that Snyder controls its own destiny. If the Tigers win out, they become district champions; a split would mean a share of the title; two losses and would set up a possible playoff to advance to the postseason.

Snyder head coach Roland Herrera said at the beginning of the season that tonight's matchup would most likely be for the championship. Now, with all the pieces in place, he reaffirmed the game's importance.

"It's going to be a tough one," Herrera said. "If we hope to be successful, we have to jump on Reynolds. It's been our goal all year to win the district.

"The kids realize that if they want to reach that goal they're going to have to make some mental changes. Instead of trying too hard at the plate, they'll have to be more relaxed and confident. The more confident you are at the plate, the more selective you'll be as a hitter."

In its previous game Tuesday, Frenship escaped a possibly devastating situation by coming back from a 3-1 deficit to capture a 6-3 win over Lamesa.

According to Coach Herrera, Snyder will most likely face Frenship's ace right-hander Chad Reynolds (7-3). On Thursday, Reynolds signed a national letter of intent with Texas Tech. Reynolds, however, hasn't pitched since April 15 — a 6-3, two-hit victory against Estacado.

Snyder's Reagan Key (6-2) will be called on to take the mound against Frenship. Key boasts a 3-0 record in district with a 1.38 ERA in 25⅓ innings. He has struck out 28 and walked eight in those innings.

"One advantage that Reagan has is that he's playing in front of the home crowd," Herrera said. "He always pitches better at home than on the road.

"He needs to make sure that he keeps their big hitters off the bases. If he can do that, we'll do pretty good."

Frenship's offense has been powered all season with the likes of Donnie Hart (.390 and 20 RBIs), Reynolds (.364 and 22 RBIs) and Chad Fox (.367 and 12 RBIs).

"They (Frenship) have a few kids that hit the ball real well," Herrera said referring to the Tigers' trio. "If you let those guys get on the bases, they're going to run."

The Snyder offense, which obliterated opposing pitching in the districts' first six games with a .304 batting average, has cooled considerably in the last two contests.

Against Estacado and Sweetwater, the Tigers mustered a total of just six hits.

"I think the kids are trying too hard," Herrera said. "They're trying to go a little bit beyond the capacity of their ability. If they concentrate and focus, then they can start getting the hits we were getting earlier in the season.

"We definitely have the people that can hit the ball off a guy like Reynolds. The players have been putting too much pressure on themselves."

Coach Herrera said the team has returned to mid-season form after loosening up this week's practices.

"We had a good team meeting Wednesday," Herrera said. "As a result, our last two days of practice have been the best hitting days of the season."

Snyder's offensive production has come from senior left fielder Chris Mitchell (.416 and 21 RBIs), junior shortstop Jeremy House (.375 and 17 RBIs) and sophomore first baseman Patrick Cumbie, who has slumped as of late.

For the season, though, Cumbie has a .333 batting average with four home runs, 17 RBIs and a .719 slugging percentage.

Snyder finishes its regular season Tuesday at 5:30 p.m., when it travels to Lamesa to take on the Tornadoes.

Snyder girls hope to ride the Broncos

By Todd Stanley
SDN Sports Editor

After two grand slams and 16 runs in five innings, the Snyder Lady Tigers will be hard pressed to improve on their previous outing.

However, they have an opportunity to do just that tonight at 7.

Snyder takes on the Denton Ryan Lady Broncos (20-10) in the Region II semifinals at Allan Saxe Field on the campus of the UT-Arlington.

"We don't know that much about them (Ryan)," Snyder head coach Billy Hicks said. "But, as far as I'm concerned, it doesn't matter. As long as we play our game, we'll win. We're as good as anyone in the state and we've proved that in games this season."

If the Lady Tigers wish to move on in the state playoffs, they will have to do it against mostly 5A competition the rest way. Snyder is the only 4A school from El Paso to Dallas still playing. Fellow District 9-5A team, Brownwood, lost to Keller Thursday 5-0.

The Lady Broncos were predicted to win their district this season, but fell into second place after losing their final two outings. Ryan's downfall was the wake up call the Lady Broncos needed, according to assistant head coach Beki Garcia.

"After our last two district games, we've been really focused," Coach Garcia said. "The girls have dug their heels in for the long haul."

Coach Garcia, whose team is making its second straight playoff appearance, went on to say that there is an air of confidence surrounding the team's practices.

"The girls are real confident in what they're doing," Garcia said. "They are relaxed. They know if they play well, they'll win."

The Lady Broncos will start hard-throwing right-hander Crystal Morgan. Morgan has been a part of each Ryan game, going 20-10 on the season.

During that time, she has recorded 125 strikeouts and an ERA of 1.95 in 175 innings of work. She has walked only 25 batters in those innings.

"Crystal is a smart pitcher," Coach Garcia said. "She simply takes control of a game. She knows when to mix up her pitches. The scary thing is that she has continued to improve all season long."

Coach Hicks said that his team is looking forward to facing Morgan.

"I don't know if they (Ryan) lived up to expectations this year," Hicks said. "I think they have had a bit of a letdown. However, in the playoffs it's hard to tell, anything can happen. When a team gets this far into the playoffs, they aren't a fluke."

Snyder's Amanda Huff (6-4) is slated to take the mound against the Lady Broncos. Huff, who is just a freshman, will be counted on to help the Lady Tigers advance to the next round.

"Amanda is mature beyond her years," Coach Hicks said. "She is a pretty level-headed kid, not too many things get her down. I think she has improved in a lot of different aspects throughout the season."

One thing that Huff will have to improve on is her strikeouts to walks ratio. She has walked 65 batters, compared to 38 strikeouts on the year.

The one thing that Huff has been able to do is get batters out. In 80-plus innings of work, she has thrown 56 percent strikes.

Huff will be facing a strong Ryan offense, led by junior outfielder Amy Hutchins, senior first baseman Leslie Vermillion and senior third baseman Tina Minke.

"The thing about this team is that most of them have played together for the last three years," Coach Garcia said. "They all know their roles and what it takes to win."

Also adding to the Lady Tigers' youth movement are junior second baseman Jodi White (.417 and 24 RBIs) and junior first baseman Connie Payne (.371 and 14 RBIs).

Coach Hicks knows what this game means to his team.

Tracksters compete in regionals

SAN ANGELO — The time has come for the top track and field athletes in Region I-4A to get together at the Angelo State Multipurpose Stadium.

Tonight at 6 o'clock, five Snyder runners will compete in the preliminary heats at this year's regional meet.

In the boys events, Jason Miller is scheduled to run in the 110 hurdles and Melchor Parra will run in the 1,600 meters.

Miller qualified for regionals with a second place time of 14.98 in the district meet.

Parra advanced after finishing second in district with a time of 4:55.95 in the 1,600.

The Snyder girls are led by speedster Devon Reed. Reed qualified for regionals by taking second place in both the 100 and 200 meters two weeks ago. She also qualified for the long jump with a leap of 16-feet, 8¼-inches. She ran a 12.44 in the 100 meters at district and a 25.35 in the 200.

In addition, The Lady Tigers will be well represented in the distance events.

Melissa Castro is slated to compete in the 1,600 after running a 5:49.80 in district, good enough for second. In the 800 meters, Jamie Prather is scheduled to run. She was second in the district meet with a time of 2:27.26.

On Saturday, Snyder high jumpers Melissa Horn and Raechele Wemken are slated to compete. The girls high jump is scheduled to begin at 2 p.m.

The girls long jump competition is slated for today at 2 p.m.

Tigers cruise to wins in Lubbock Tourney

LUBBOCK — The Snyder junior varsity baseball team blasted the competition Thursday in the opening two rounds of the Lubbock JV Tournament.

The Tigers (18-5) scored 12 runs in each of their games to advance into the tournament's semifinal game slated for 12:15 p.m. today against Lubbock Coronado.

Snyder knocked off Frenship 12-8 in the first game and polished off Plainview, 12-2, in the second.

The first game saw the Tigers capitalize on seven Frenship errors, and Snyder's Clay Berryman (7-3) picked up the win in relief of starter Chris Hernandez.

Coach Bollinger said that, between games, the Tigers were able to take some batting practice. In his eyes, the extra swings helped Snyder in the second contest.

The result of the extra work was a 14 hit barage by the Tigers.

Matt Melton was perfect in the second game, going 3 for 3, Richard Canas was 3 for 4, and Jeffery Loper went 2 for 2.

Dribblers defeated at Silsbee

SILSBEE — A change in the tournament schedule did not prove to be beneficial to Snyder's major Little Dribblers team Thursday as they ended up playing the top-seeded team in the tournament and were eliminated by a score of 52-45.

Snyder was originally scheduled to play Hollandale at 1 p.m. Thursday but they failed to show up for the tournament and they were paired against Bryan in a late game.

Snyder played them closer than expected but a slow first quarter put the locals in the hole.

Bryan took a 12-4 lead in first period and only extended it to one point more at the half as the team from Central Texas led 24-15.

Snyder outscored Bryan in the final period 21-15 but Bryan held on for the victory.

Brandon McGuire tossed in 19 points for Snyder while Ryan Braziel and Jared Thornhill scored 8 each as the Snyder team was eliminated from the tournament.

At Stephenville...

WTC off to good start

STEPHENVILLE — Western Texas College coach Todd Danley knows that if the rest of the Tarleton State University NIRA Rodeo is as productive for his students as Thursday was, the Westerners will be headed back to Bozeman.

Western Texas men's team, second in the region, got off to a solid start here as Shawn Minor scored a 75 to lead the saddlebronc and Davey Shields marked a 73 to hold on to second in the bareback.

In women's action, Emily Shaffer clocked an 11.8 to sit fifth in the goat tying.

The three were the only WTC team members to compete Thursday.

"Only two men on the team have gone (competed) and they are first and second in their respective events, so that's a good start," said coach Danley. "We've got a whole bunch of kids up tonight and tomorrow morning, and we just want to keep it going."

Western Texas went into the rodeo — the final Southwest Region event of the season — in second place in both the men's and women's divisions. First and second place teams advance to the College National Finals Rodeo in Bozeman, Mont. in June.

Solid performances are needed here to keep a hold on second place for the men, who lead third-place West Texas A&M by 22½ points, and the women, who are in front of Howard College by 105 points.

In other action here Thursday involving WTC, Paul Little timed a 6.6 in the steer wrestling and is in fourth place. Little is not a member of the designated six-man team for WTC, but can compete for individual points and money.

WTC men's team members set to compete in tonight's 8 o'clock show or Saturday's 9 a.m. performance are Minor and Cleve Schmidt in the bareback, Pete Ellis in the saddle bronc, Blake Thomas in calf roping and team roping, and Todd Loesch in calf roping, team roping and steer wrestling. Women's team members are Shaffer in breakaway roping, Mandy Harsh in breakaway and goat tying and Chasity Rickman in breakaway, goat tying and barrels.

The top 10 individuals in each event following the Saturday morning performance will advance to the finals at 8 o'clock that evening.

Search for Unabomber continues

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — FBI investigators visited machine shops and sifted through more than 750 new phone tips in a redoubled effort to find the elusive Unabomber.

The goal of Thursday's search was to find if the bomber used commercial metalworking machines to build parts of his devices, a Unabomb task force member said on condition of anonymity.

The Unabomber has killed three people and injured 23 others in 16 attacks since 1978.

FBI labs are painstakingly examining every piece recovered from the bomb that killed a Sacramento timber lobbyist Monday. And four letters the Unabomber wrote before his latest attack are being analyzed by FBI psychologists in Quantico, Va.

"Prior to these letters, what we had for the Unabomber suspect was behavior and forensics — now we have an idea of his motivation, and that helps," said FBI spokesman Rick Smith.

Two letters, and their recipients, are being kept secret. Another went to The New York Times, and a fourth went to Yale University computer science Professor David Gelernter, who was badly injured by a mail bomb in June 1993. The letter called him a "techno-nerd" and ridiculed him for opening a suspicious package.

Also Thursday, the FBI denied TV reports that agents were searching for former Symbionese Liberation Army member James William Kilgore as a possible suspect in the case.

Appeals court throws out gasohol rules

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal appeals court today overturned the Environmental Protection Agency's requirement that cleaner burning reformulated gasoline contain corn-based ethanol as an additive.

The three-judge panel concluded that while the EPA had "the authority to set a standard" under the 1990 Clean Air Act for cleaner gasoline, it could not "mandate the manner of compliance or the precise formula" for the fuel.

Last year, the EPA directed that cleaner burning gasoline, which was required beginning this year in urban areas with the worst smog problem, contain ethanol as a oxygenate to make the fuel burn with less pollution.

Under the EPA regulation, at least 30 percent of the oxygenate used in the gasoline had to be ethanol, a product that is processed from corn. The rest could be a petroleum-based methanol derivative called MTBE.

The petroleum industry filed suit, challenging the ethanol mandate. Last September, the U.S. Court of Appeals directed that the ethanol program be put on hold, awaiting a final ruling.

The decision by the court today represented a blow to the farming industry, which has been lobbying extensively in Congress and within the Clinton administration for the ethanol mandate.

The farmers have argued that without a federal mandate, ethanol would be prevented from having a significant share of the reformulated gasoline market, meaning the loss of tens of millions of dollars.

The reformulated gasoline requirement went into affect last Jan. 1, but with no mandate for ethanol. Although the ethanol additive is being used in some parts of the country, most of the oxygenate used by refiners is the methanol-based MTBE.

In the decision today, the court ruled in favor of the petroleum industry petition. The EPA "lacked the authority" to impose the ethanol requirement, the three-judge panel concluded.

EPA officials were not available immediately for comment. It was not certain whether the EPA would appeal the decision to the U.S. Supreme Court, but some legal experts have said such an appeal is unlikely.

With a market share of 30 percent, farmers and ethanol processors stood to sell an estimated 650 million gallons of ethanol, according to farming industry estimates. Such sales could produce as much as $1.5 billion in revenue for farmers and related industries.

Since January, reformulated gasoline has accounted for about a third of all the gasoline sold in the United States, according to the EPA. While a limited amount of ethanol is used as an oxygenate, mostly in Midwest states, refiners predominantly use the petroleum-based MTBE.

Both additives increase the gasoline's oxygen content, allowing the fuel to burn cleaner. The EPA estimates reformulated gasoline reduced smog-causing pollution by 20 percent reduction.

Under the 1990 Clean Air Act, the cleaner burning gasoline must be sold in nine cities with the worst smog problems: New York, Los Angeles, Chicago, San Diego, Baltimore, Milwaukee, Houston, Philadelphia and Hartford, Conn. Other parts of the country in 14 states voluntarily have joined the program.

The lawsuit challenging the ethanol mandate was filed by the American Petroleum Institute, which represents the major oil companies, and the National Petroleum Refiners Association.

Petroleum industry lawyers argued that the EPA's requirement was a "massive promotion of the ethanol industry" without additional benefit to the environment.

Officer Canada named chief at Crosbyton

But to those who have dropped out of school, Canada is proof that someone can go back, and succeed.

A successful business ended with his divorce a few years ago. After taking a year off to help care for his father, who suffered a massive stroke, Canada found himself taking a civil service exam for entry into the police academy.

"I didn't think I had a chance. There were 436 who took the exam, and they were only going to accept 18 of us."

Canada was accepted, and entered the academy in September of 1991. All 18 of the young recruits graduated in January of 1992.

It didn't take Canada long to fit in. In 1992, he was named Abilene Police Department Rookie of the Year by a local civic club.

He came to Snyder in June of 1993. He got involved with the department's Explorer Post organization, and, along with other officers, has remained active in that.

"Our kids are our future," said Canada, who has three of his own who he sees as often as possible. "One thing I try to do is help create a positive peer group with the post. Hopefully, this post will continue to grow."

The Explorer's Post has already produced one Snyder police officer — Terry Snyder — Canada noted, and has helped a number of others to become better citizens.

Despite working in law enforcement for five years, Canada was always on the night shift until recently. "I finally get on the day shift after all this time, and now I won't be here anymore."

As chief in Crosbyton, population 2,300, Canada can have any shift he wants.

4 arrested by officers

Four people were arrested at 10:55 Thursday night while they were allegedly attempting to steal spare tires from vehicles parked at Wilson Motors.

Arrested were three males, ages 19, 20 and 22 and a 20-year-old female.

Officers also arrested a 21-year-old man at 10:15 p.m. Thursday for driving while intoxicated. He was arrested at Avenue F and Coliseum Drive.

DPS troopers investigated a one-vehicle accident at 6:13 a.m. Thursday that occurred west of Snyder on U.S. 180 near the Paymaster Gin. The driver of the 1980 Chevrolet was Francisco Macias, 52, of Fluvanna who apparently fell asleep as he was approaching the Snyder city limits.

Officers investigated a hit and run accident at 2:44 p.m. in the parking lot of Snyder High School.

Involved were a parked and unoccupied 1987 Honda owned by Gary Coffee of 3008 Denison and a vehicle which left the scene.

Officers also investigated an accident at 14th Street and College Avenue which occurred at 4:58 p.m.

Involved were a 1992 Chevrolet van driven by Denise Carter of 2215 40th St. and a 1988 Pontiac driven by Belia Romero of 2103 43rd St. EMS was called but all parties refused treatment at the scene. However, Romero was later transported to Cogdell Hospital by private vehicle where she was treated and released.

Officers were called to the 3200 block of Avenue D at 1:32 a.m. today in reference to possible prowlers.

to seven additional full-time employees, and a projected payroll of just under $500,000.

Prude said the company is growing. "We need to expand as rapidly as we can. Right now we're operating 24 hours a day, six days a week and we can't catch up."

Prude said BCI has considered property in Midland, but noted "We would like to stay in this area."

DCOS chairman John Fagin said the proposal "sounds exciting and like a worthwhile project" but suggested the request be tabled for seven to 10 days to allow the board to investigate an incentive package.

His recommendation was approved unanimously by the DCOS board. BCD members did not vote, but sat in on the meeting because it was the BCD which originally put up the money for the gin site.

The DCOS also tabled consideration of information from two companies which may be interested in relocating to Snyder until more information can be obtained. In turn, the BCD tabled consideration of an individual seeking a finder's fee for bringing the companies to Snyder.

The DCOS tabled consideration of proposed committee assignments and a road survey contract, also due to a lack of sufficient information.

In other business, both the DCOS and BCD approved payment of bills and previous minutes.

Present on the DCOS board were Fagin, Roy Baze, Roy McQueen and Jack Gorman. Bill Seale was absent. Tim Riggan presided over the BCD in the absence of chairman Max von Roeder. Other BCD members present were Terry Hefner, Mark McCormick and Pete Hester. County commissioners Roy Idom, C.D. Gray, Jerry Gannaway and Ralph Trevey attended a portion of Thursday's meeting.

Wives of U.S. prisoners prepare to go to Iraq

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Linda Barloon, seeking to free her husband from an Iraqi prison, arrived here today en route to Baghdad, where she hopes to visit him.

"I'm excited about going to see my husband," Mrs. Barloon said. "It's been six weeks since I last saw him, the longest six weeks of my life."

William Barloon, 39, of New Hampton, Iowa, and David Daliberti, 41, of Jacksonville, Fla., were sentenced to eight years in prison last month for illegally entering Iraq.

Daliberti's wife, Kathy, arrived in Amman from the United States on Thursday. The women plan to drive across the desert to Baghdad but must first receive visas in Amman, which they have been promised.

Officials said the Iraqi mission, which was celebrating Saddam Hussein's 58th birthday today, refused to open to provide the visas today.

The Clinton administration has repeatedly demanded the release of the two men, who it says inadvertently strayed across the border March 13 from Kuwait. The two worked there for U.S. defense contractors.

After flying in from Kuwait, Mrs. Barloon said she was hopeful Iraqi authorities will let her see her husband. Since late March, he and Daliberti have been confined to an 8-foot by 6-foot cell in Baghdad's Abu Ghreib prison.

Vitamins: How much is too much?

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Is there such a thing as abuse of vitamins? I am concerned for a relative who may be using vitamins in excess. Perhaps you could recommend a book that covers what vitamins are needed, what is retained, what is excreted and those vitamins that would be harmful in excess.

DEAR READER: Some vitamins can, indeed, be poisonous in large doses. The most notorious are the following:

• Vitamin A is found in animal and fish products, as well as in many fruits and vegetables. It is necessary for normal vision and healthy skin and bones. The Recommended Dietary Allowance is 5,000 international units a day. Supplements above 25,000 units a day will lead to serious consequences, such as loss of appetite, anemia, poor vision, bone pain, mouth ulcers, and many other symptoms.

• Vitamin D is found in fish and eggs; milk is often fortified with D. The vitamin is vital for proper bone metabolism. (A deficiency causes rickets, a disease marked by bone softening.) The RDA is about 200 international units. Excess vitamin D (above 1,200 IU) is associated with weight loss, nausea, headache, fatigue, anemia, kidney damage, and other complications.

• Pyridoxine (vitamin B6) is found in nuts, grains, meats and fish. It is needed for nerves to function normally. The RDA is 2 milligrams. Modest doses (5 mg) may block the beneficial effects of L-dopa, a drug used to treat Parkinson's disease. Higher doses (2,000 mg) can lead to unsteady gait and numbness of the feet.

• Vitamin C is found in fruits and vegetables. It is a necessary component of many metabolic reactions, including wound healing, blood formation and healthy teeth and gums. The RDA is 60 mg. Levels above 2,000 mg may lead to diarrhea, kidney stones, joint pain, rash, iron overload, and other complications. Vitamin C has not been shown to protect against the common cold.

To give you additional information about vitamins (and their misuse), I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Fads I: Vitamins and Minerals." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2433, New York, NY 10163. Be sure to mention the title.

Also, I've found the following two paperback books to be valuable resources.

"Vitamins and Minerals: Help or Harm," by Charles W. Marshall, Ph.D., published by George F. Stickley Co., 1985.

"Popular Nutritional Practices," by Jack Yetiv, M.D., Ph.D. published by Dell, 1986.

Chapman wins six 'Doves'

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Steven Curtis Chapman won six times Thursday night at the Gospel Music Association's 26th annual Dove Awards, including as best artist, songwriter and male vocalist.

Chapman also won for best contemporary song and contemporary album for "Heaven in the Real World." He shared a sixth award with several other artists for best praise and worship album, "Coram Deo II."

Chapman said he was overwhelmed at the "opportunity to do music that gives people hope."

"It's communicating the message that the world desperately needs, that Jesus is heaven in the real world," Chapman said.

Other winners were 4Him for best group, Clay Crosse as best new artist and Twila Paris for female vocalist. Paris also won best song honors, for her "God is in Control."

Chapman has won the songwriter award seven years in a row. He has twice before won male vocalist and three times artist of the year. His stiffest competition in those categories was absent this year.

Michael English, last year's artist and male vocalist winner, has left Christian music. English returned six Dove awards won last year after his extramarital affair was revealed.

Although he is trying to launch a pop career, English was still nominated in one category this year, best long-form music video for "The New Young Messiah."

He did not win, losing to "Mouth in Motion" by comedian Mark Lowry.

Only seven of 33 awards were handed out during the two-hour broadcast on The Family Channel from the Grand Ole Opry House. That allowed for performances that ranged from alternative rock to old-time Southern gospel.

DC Talk won for best rap song, "Luv Is A Verb," and country singer Charlie Daniels' album, "The Door," won for best country album.

Ax-murderer said executed

ATMORE, Ala. (AP) — A man who broke into the home of a crippled acquaintance and killed him with an ax during a robbery was executed in the electric chair early today.

As Willie Clisby's 12:01 execution time approached, inmates in the cells above the execution chamber at Holman Prison started banging on the walls and floor. Clisby, 47, sat impassively in the bright-yellow wooden chair.

After indicating he had no last words, his face was covered with a black cloth. As the first jolt of the two-minute electrical surge hit his body, his fists clenched and his body went rigid.

Clisby was convicted of killing 58-year-old Fletcher Handley, with two chops to the head during a 1979 break-in at his Birmingham home. He stole six old silver-certificate bills, collectors' items with a face value of $80.

Handley had to use crutches because of a foot injury suffered in a car accident. He had worked with Clisby at a cemetery.

"I just want justice," Handley's son, Fletcher Jr., told The Birmingham News. "My father was hacked to death while he slept in his bed. He was executed for no reason at all."

Lesson in Government Is Milked for All It's Worth

DEAR ABBY: About five years ago, you had a letter in your column from a teacher who taught economics in a high school. The letter explained in a humorous way the various types of governments throughout the world. Will you please try to find it and run it again? I need it for a speech.

NO NAME, PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME: Here it is:

DEAR ABBY: I teach government and economics at Grant High School in Van Nuys, Calif. This is a belated thank-you for one of your columns. I have been using it for years to explain the difference between communism, socialism, capitalism and a few other "isms." My students love it.

BARBARA HALPERN, VAN NUYS

DEAR BARBARA: Thanks for your thank-you. I'll run it again for others to enjoy. Here it is:

DEAR ABBY: A friend gave me these definitions of the various forms of government, and I thought you might want to share them with your readers:

COMMUNISM: You have two cows. The government takes both of them and gives you part of the milk.

SOCIALISM: You have two cows. The government takes one and gives it to your neighbor.

FASCISM: You have two cows. The government takes both cows and sells you the milk.

NAZISM: You have two cows. The government takes both your cows, then shoots you.

BUREAUCRACY: You have two cows. The government takes both of them, shoots one, milks the other, then pours the milk down the drain.

CAPITALISM: You have two cows. You sell one of them and buy a bull.

Abby, what happens in a democracy?

MRS. J. MC C.

DEAR MRS. MC C.: In a democracy, everyone has two cows, then a vote is taken, and whatever the majority decides to do, you do, and that's no bull!

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am a 12-year-old girl. My birthday is next month, and I can't wait. I'm looking forward to being a teen-ager, but more than that, when I'm 13, adults won't think of me as a "little kid." Most adults think when you are 13 you are more responsible than you are when you are only 12, but actually, you aren't.

It makes me angry when adults assume that I'm irresponsible because I'm a "little girl." (Some of the teen-agers I know act like 2-year-olds.)

Please publish my letter, Abby, so adults will know how people my age feel when we are treated like "little kids" when we are not.

NICOLE QUINTERO, GAINESVILLE, FLA.

DEAR NICOLE: You appear to be very mature for your age, but please don't be in a rush to grow up. People have only a short time to be children, but a very long time to be adults.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: While I was watching television recently, I saw a black-and-white picture of Babe Ruth flashed on the screen accompanied by the following comment: "Babe Ruth — one of the all-time greats of baseball. To this day you hear his name, as he had a candy bar named after him."

Wrong! The Baby Ruth candy bar was named after President Grover Cleveland's infant daughter — not the baseball star.

CINDY ADAMS, SAN DIEGO

DEAR CINDY: Very interesting. The advertising agency which came up with the promotion struck out on that one.

Rare baboon triplets born

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Researchers are hailing the recent birth of baboon triplets as the first on record by any of the so-called Old World primates, which include gorillas, chimpanzees and macaque monkeys.

Albert, Butch and Charlie were born Sunday morning at Southwest Foundation for Biomedical Research.

"This is a unique event in primatology," said Dr. Michelle Leland, an assistant veterinarian who delivered the baboons by Caesarean section.

The baboons weighed between 275 grams and 441 grams at birth, far less than the typical birth weight of 850 grams and 950 grams. The birth actually produced quadruplets, but a fourth died immediately from multiple defects.

The remaining three survived because of high-tech care normally used on premature human infants. The treatment was possible because the foundation has a fully equipped neonatal intensive care unit.

"There aren't very many places that have facilities like ours, so if someone had multiple births at a zoo or something like this, there's not a lot they can do," Leland said. "They can't take them to a human hospital."

THE CAVE OF ADULLAM---DAVID'S HIDEAWAY IN THE WILDERNESS!...

THE TOWN OF ADULLAM, IN THE TERRITORY OF JUDAH, WAS IN EXISTENCE A LONG TIME. IT WAS INHABITED BY CANAANITES AS EARLY AS THE TIME OF JACOB (GEN. 38:1,2) A PETTY KING RULED AT THE TIME OF JOSHUA'S CONQUEST. IT WAS ALSO FORTIFIED BY KING REHOBOAM (I CHRON. 11:7) AND CONTINUED TO FLOURISH IN THE TIME OF MICAH THE PROPHET. ITS CLAIM TO FAME WAS ITS SECLUDED HIDEOUT FOR DAVID WHEN HE NEEDED A HEADQUARTERS THAT WOULD BE SAFE FROM KING SAUL. IN FACT, IT WAS HERE THAT DAVID WAS JOINED BY MOST OF HIS FOLLOWERS, INCLUDING HIS FATHER AND HIS BROTHERS.
