Insurance Hearings Begin

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — Stock insurance companies that do business in Texas made total profits last year of 2.4 to 6 per cent, after federal taxes, the State Insurance Board was told today.

The report was made at the board's hearing on insurance companies' investment income by N. E. Masterson, a consulting actuary.

Masterson directed a special committee set up to advise the board on whether investment income should be counted in setting state auto insurance rates.

Stock companies- those owned by shareholders - answered a questionnaire on their nation-wide profits from all lines of property and casualty insurance. Total profits after federal taxes were 2.4 per cent of average total assets, 5.5 per cent of net earned premiums and 6 per cent of average net worth, the study showed.

Paul Benbrook, chairman of the investment income advisory committee, and vice president of American General Insurance Co., told the board that since 1921 the National Association of Insurance Commissioners has had a rate making standard that excludes investment income.

However, Benbrook added, any investment analyst would advise his client on a company's total income, not just that received from premiums.

The board now allows 5 per cent of premiums for profits and contingencies, befor taxes. Some argue this figure and rates as a whole would drop if the board would consider the income insurance companies earn from investing policyholders' premiums.

Companies have staunchly opposed this over the years.

A special insurance study committee appointed last year by Gov. Preston Smith recommended the board at least consider investment income.

While the board has amasssed data on the investment subject, it has put off its annual hearing on auto insurance rates. The rate hearing is expected to be held in about a month.

One study the board has used was made by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners.

That report said investment income should average between $4.22 and $5.43 per car, depending on how it is calculated.

Counting such income on setting auto rates would have "some efffect," the report said, but not a major effect.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, Oct. 19, the 292nd day of 1970. There are 73 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1781, the revolutionary war neared its end as British troops surrendered at Yorktown, Va.

On this date:

In 1735, the second U.S. President, John Adams, was born in Braintree, Mass.

In 1812, French forces which had invaded Russia began a retreat.

In 1912, Bulgarians began a siege of the Turkish city of Adrianople in the Balkan Wars.

In 1942, during the Pacific war, American planes bombed Japanese troop and supply concentrations on Guadalcanal.

In 1954, Britain and Egypt agreed to withdrawal of British troops from the Suez Canal Zone.

Ten year's ago— Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and 52 other Negroes were arrested during a sit-down demonstration in a department store restaurant in Atlanta, Ga.

Five years ago—In the Dominican Republic, rebel partisans and Dominican troops clashed in the capital, Santo Domingo.

One year ago—Two armed passengers from East Germany hijacked a Polish airliner and forced it to land in West Berlin.

Court Makes Rulings

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to consider the constitutionality of state laws that make it a crime to defile or cast contempt upon the American flag.

The court granted a hearing to a New York art dealer who was convicted in 1967 of violating that state's law against flag desecration. He contended the law conflicts with the First Amendment's free speech guarantee.

In other actions today, the court:

Refused to review the New York convictions of four men on truck hijacking charges after testimony by Joseph Valachia, notorious Cosa Nostra figure.

Agreed to rule on a 1968 law that requires manufacturers and transferers of certain kinds of firearms to register with the federal government.

Ruled that railroads discontinuing passenger trains have to give notice only in the states in which the trains operate.

Dissent from the Vietnam war has prompted several tests of flag laws across the country. Courts have been divided, some upholding the laws and other finding them unconstitutional.

In the case to be heard by the Supreme Court, Stephen Radich, owner of a Madison Avenue art gallery, was prosecuted for exhibiting seven constructions by Marc Morrell, an artist and war protester who used the flag in his sculpture. The one found most objectionable by state courts displayed the flag as a male sex organ.

Nixon Due In Longview

AUSTIN (AP) — President Nixon will stop in Longview next Wednesday for an airport rally en route to his previously announced visit to Dallas, George Bush, Republican candidate for Senate, said today.

The announcement, made through Bush's headquarters in Austin, said Air Force 1 would land at Longview airport for an East Texas rally about 4 p.m. He will remain there about one hour.

Bush plans to board the presidential plane in Longview and fly with the president to Dallas for an appearance Wednesday night.

Congress May Unhold Veto

ATLANTA (AP) — Congress may uphold President Nixon's veto of the bill limiting campaign spending on radio and television, the head of the national Association of Broadcasters said today, "if the industry acts with unanimity and strength."

"That would be not only an important achievement in making the Congress aware of the bitter feelings such discriminatory legislation arouses among broadcasters," said Vincent T. Wasilewski, "but it may also be something of a milestone in restoring our own confidence in our ability to have an effectice voice in Washington."

Wasilewski's plea that broadcasters make their views known to Senate and House members came in remarks prepared for a NBA-sponsored conference.

Nixon Seeking Votes

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — President Nixon, urging the election of Republicans in the region he calls the heartland, said today they know America cannot bring peace abroad "unless we also restore peace at home—in our streets, our schools, our cities."

Nixon urged in a campaign statement the election of Robert Taft Jr. to the Senate from Ohio to displace a Democrat, and of Roger Cloud, the state auditor, to be governor.

"I know that both of them—and all of the GOP candidates in Ohio—will work closely with the Nixon administration in meeting the challenges of the seventies," Nixon said as he began a two-day campaign swing through six states.

"To the voters of Ohio, who are accustomed to judging all Americans, I say that I look upon those men as all American candidates," he said. "I regard their election as a matter of especially high priority."

The President's itinerary today also included visits to Grand Forks, N.D. and Kansas City, Mo. All three are campaign states.

During the weekend the President wooed the silent majority and offered a lower-key version of the law-and-order campaign theme of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew. The President urged Americans to "speak up with your votes" against obscenity.

The President campaigns in Johnson City, Tenn., Asheville, N.C., and Ft. Wayne, Ind., Tuesday before returning to the White House.

It is the second installment of a Nixon campaign expected to cover 18 to 20 states before election day.

Agnew has been on the campaign circuit for five weeks, drumming at the assertion that Republican victories will help counter lawlessness and turmoil, on the campus and on the streets.

Nixon, speaking in generally softer tones than the explicit and hard-line approach of his vice president, keynoted his own campaign Saturday, speaking in four states electing senators this year, declaring in Teterboro, N.J.:

"One vote is worth 100 obscene slogans."

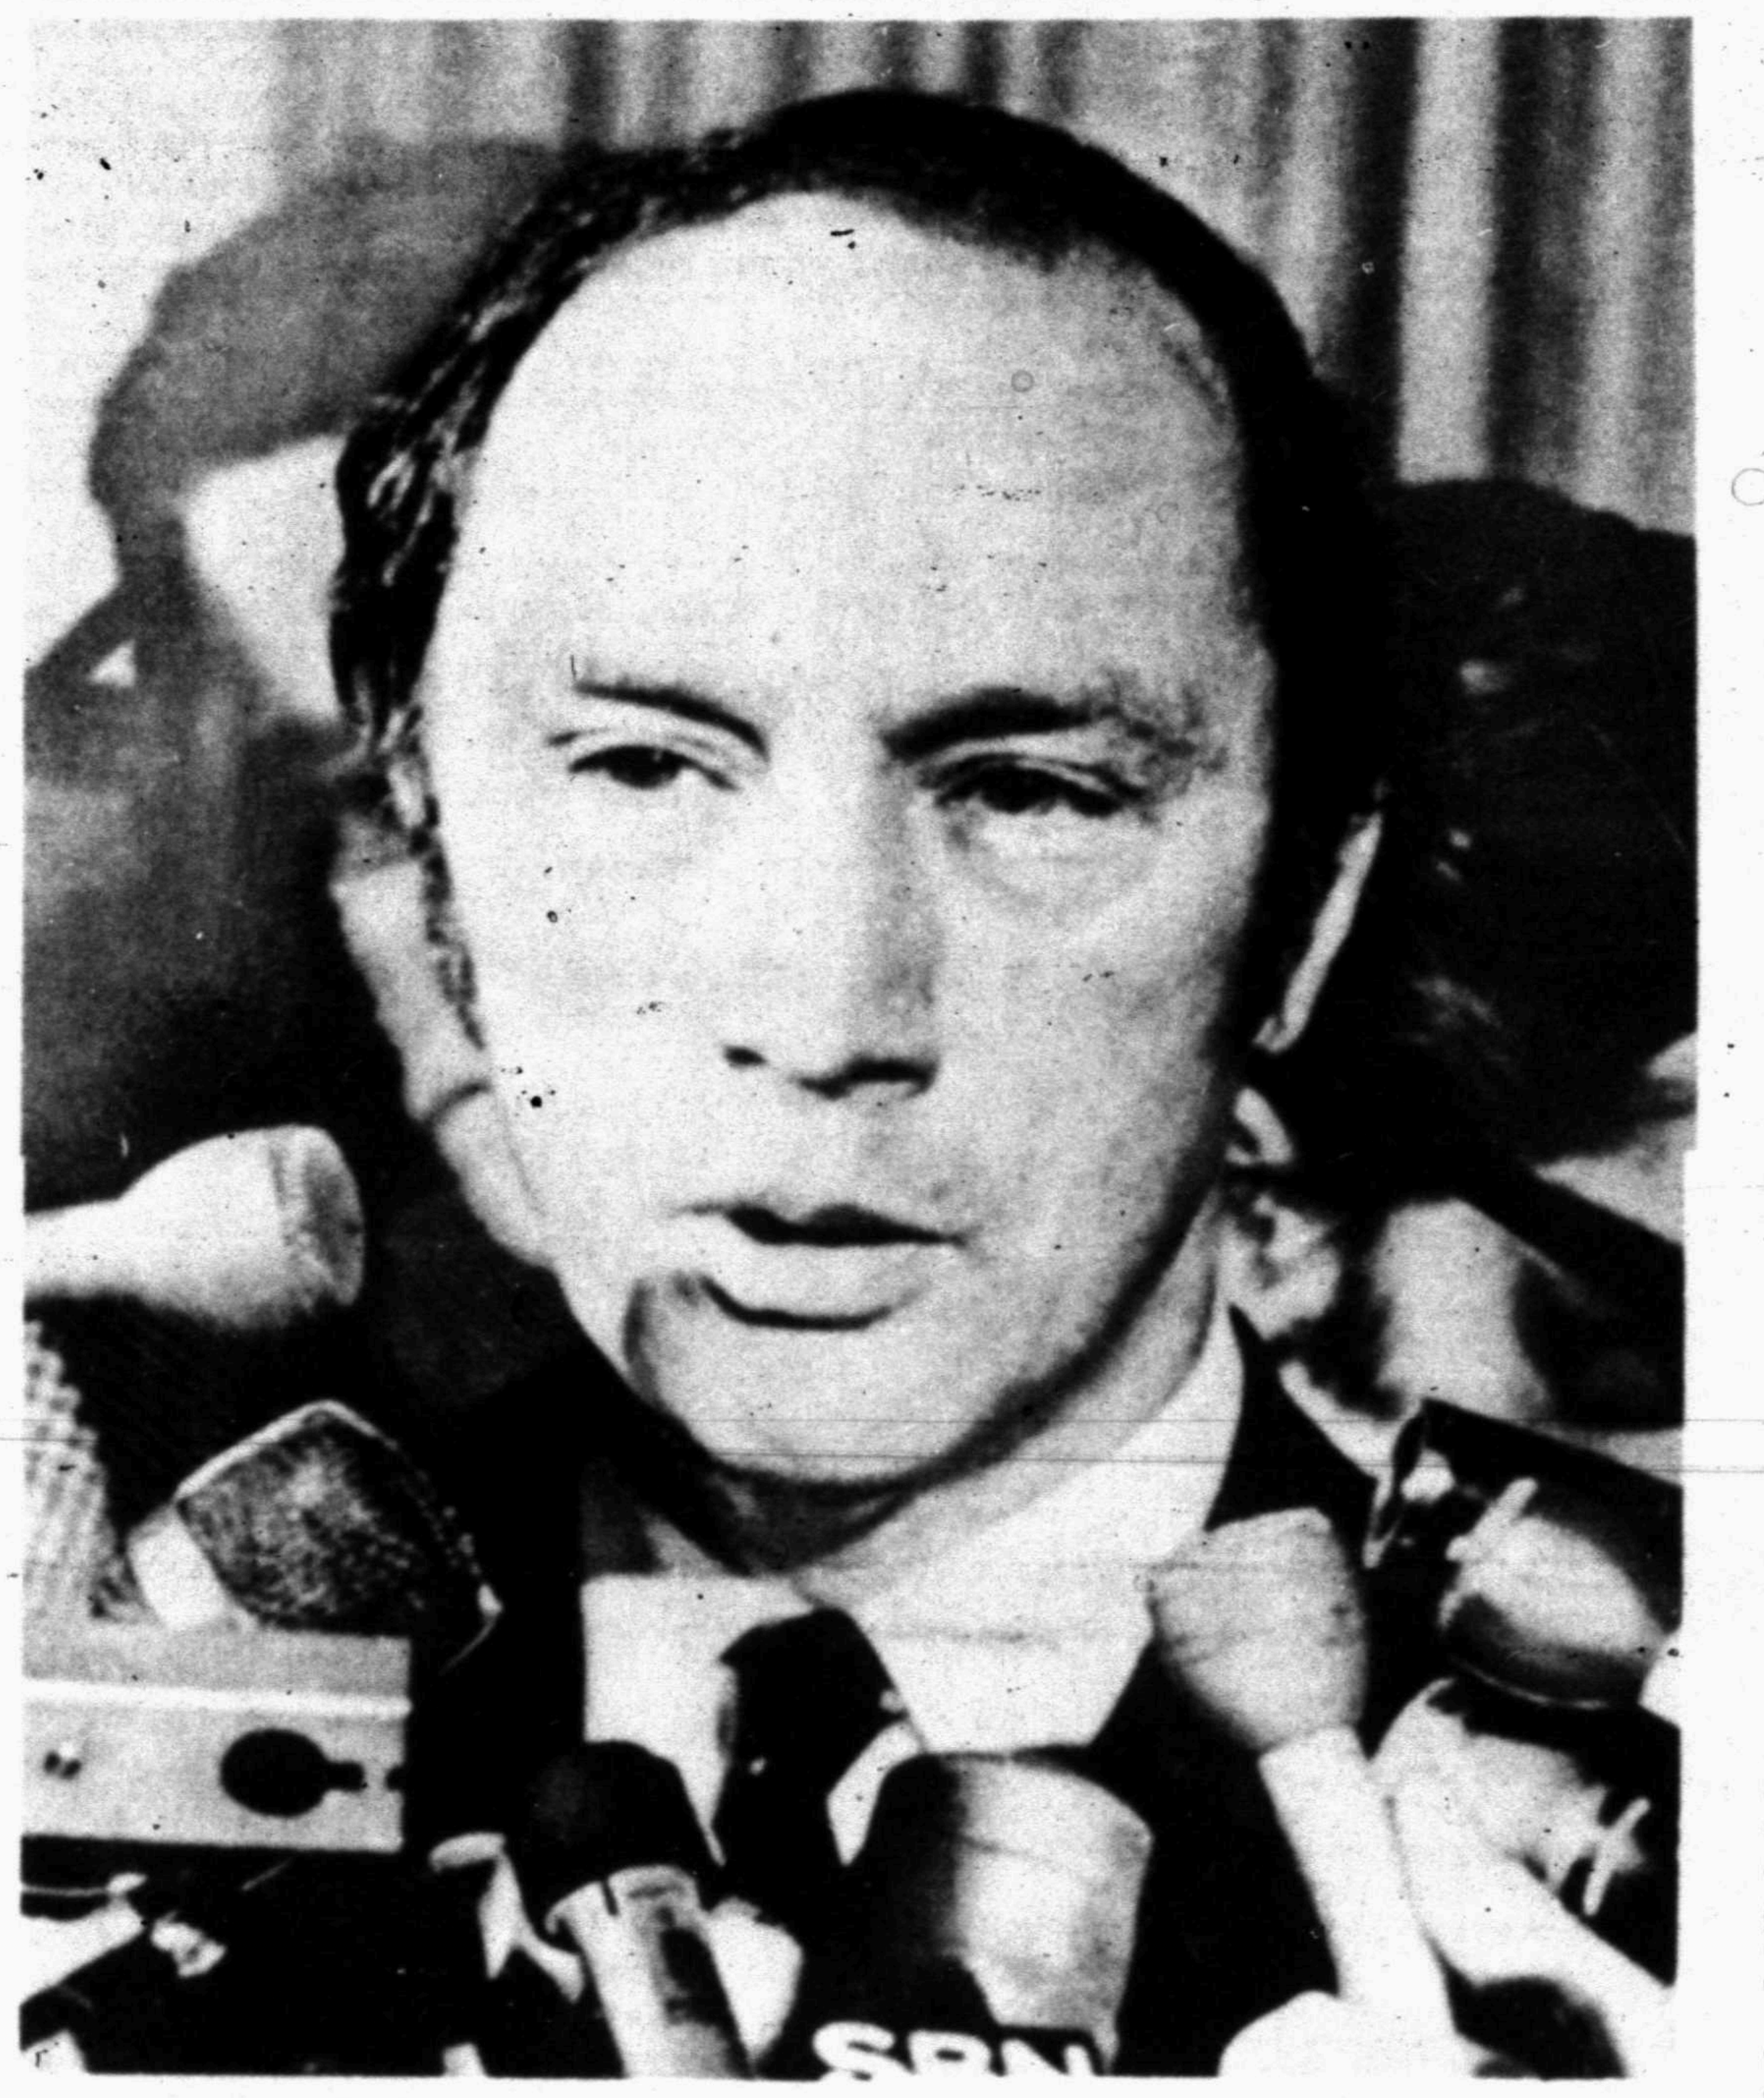
In Lancaster, Pa., he accused Democrats of "permissiveness in high places" during their eight years in the White House.

In Burlington, Vt., he spoke of those who shout obscenities about America, engage in violence, kill and injure policemen.

"Let the majority of Americans speak up, speak up on Nov. 3, speak up with your votes," Nixon said. "That is the way to answer."

Nixon's first Midwestern stop in Ohio is designed to boost Rep. Robert Taft Jr., who seeks a Senate seat now Democratic.

Taft wasn't interested in having Agnew appear in Ohio, saying while it would help in some areas it would hurt in others. Instead, he wanted the man he is getting, the President.



PRIME MINISTER'S REACTION TO KILLING — Prime Minister Trudeau delivers statement to reporters in subdued tones Sunday on Parliament Hill. HIDEOUT FOUND

Search Continues For Terrorists

MONTREAL (AP) — A massive hunt for the terrorists who killed Pierre Laporte gave Montreal today the appearance of a city at war. The search went on for the terrorists' other kidnap victim, James R. Cross.

Army and police helicopters flew constantly over the city. Local and Royal Canadian Mounted Police spot-checked cars on the busy streets. Roadblocks and checkpoints were set up on bridges and routes leading out of Montreal, which has 1.2 million people and is Canada's largest city.

Security checks were increased at the U.S. border, particularly in New York, Vermont and New Hampshire.

The Canadian army, the Mounted Police and Quebec's own provincial police expanded their operations under the War Measures Act imposed by Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau last Friday.

Trudeau himself pledged that the law forces will find "these vicious men" and bring them to justice "in the calm and dispassionate atmosphere of Canadian courts."

He predicted more terrorist violence but declared the government will not back down.

The prime minister, himself a Quebecker, flew to Montreal Sunday night to pay his respects to the family of Laporte, Quebec's labor minister, and to confer with officials. He then flew back to Ottawa, the federal capital.

Warrants were issued for the arrest of Marc Carbonneau, 37, a taxi driver, and Paul Rose, 27, a teacher, on charges of taking part in the kidnaping of Laporte Oct. 10 and Britain's trade commissioner, Cross two weeks ago today.

Laporte was shot in the head Saturday and his body found early Sunday. A letter in Cross' handwriting that reached authorities Sunday night said he was alive but in danger of execution at the hands of the Quebec Liberation Front—FLQ.

Police raided a frame bungalow in St. Hubert this morning a half mile from where Laporte's body was found and said it may have been used by Laporte's killers. There was blood on the floor.

Detective Sgt. Albert Lisacek said it was believed Rose may have used the bungalow but he did not say what led police to this belief.

Cambodians Try To Open Road

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Cambodian troops ran into stiff resistance Sunday in an operation to reopen 20 miles of important highway south of Phnom Penh.

A military spokesman said government troops ambushed a North Vietnamese unit Saturday night and killed seven of them. But on Sunday, he said, 15 government soldiers were wounded in a clash 25 miles south of the capital on Highway 2.

Three battalions are trying to drive south along the highway to link up with other government units that are supposed to push north from Takeo, which is 50 miles from Phnom Penh.

Both Highway 2 and Highway 3, a parallel route to the south, have been cut since May by enemy troops who have made the area a major infiltration route to the Kiri Rom plateau, in the Elephant mountains to the west.

The operation to reopen Highway 2 was launched some time ago but was not announced until today. Some sources said it illustrates a change in the Cambodian command's thinking. The emphasis now is going to be on small local operations to retake territory close to Phnom Penh, the sources said, instead of big-scale operations like the drive north of Phnom Penh that has been stalled for weeks at Taing Kauk, 47 miles north of the capital.

In Saigon, the U.S. Command reported there were no sigcant ground engagements involving American forces in the past 24 hours. A communique said field reports indicated no American troops were killed in ground fighting Sunday.

But the communique said a helicopter with three American crewmen was missing, presumably as the result of enemy fire. A spokesman would give no details, saying a search-and-rescue mission was under way and to disclose the location would jeopardize the search.

The U.S. Command also announced that American troop strength in Vietnam last week dropped to 378,900 men, the lowest in nearly four years. Another round of troop cutbacks already has begun, to reduce strength by another 40,000 to an authorized ceiling of 344,000 by the end of the year.

Texas, Oregon Question Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP) — The states of Oregon and Texas argued today in the Supreme Court that Congress acted unconstitutionally when it granted the vote to 18-year-olds.

Both states took the position at a hearing that their 21-year minimum was not a form of discrimination the 14th Amendment gives Congress the power to correct.

"The 21-year standard is a reasonable classification that falls far short of the prohibitions of the 14th Amendment," argued Lee Johnson, the attorney general of Oregon.

Charles Alan Wright, a law professor who spoke for Texas, agreed with Oregon's position and said that were it not for the court's "respect for the body across the street," i.e., Congress, the 1970 voting rights laws would have been thrown out as "frivolous."

The argument turns on interpretation of the 14th Amendment, ratified in 1868 and designed to protect the rights of newly freed Negroes by prohibiting the states from denying anyone "the equal protection of the laws." Section 5 of the amendment gives Congress the power to enforce these provisions "by appropriate legislation."

In the balance are perhaps 17 million votes, enough to swing a presidential election or change the composition of Congress.

On one side was the U.S. government arguing the constitutionality of the law's principal provisions, on the other the states of Oregon, Texas, Arizona and Idaho arguing Congress had exceeded its authority.

The law, signed June 22 by President Nixon, gives the vote to 18-year-olds, bans literacy tests in all states for five years, abolishes residence requirements of more than 30 days to vote for president and requires all states to provide absentee ballots.

Although Nixon and several Justice Department lawyers have expressed misgivings about the 18-year-old provision, the government decided to defend it against suits brought in the high court by Oregon and Texas.

The three other provisions were advocated by the administration before Congress.

The government is suing Arizona, which challenges the abolition of literacy tests, and Idaho, which requires 60 days of residence in the state to vote for president and which has no absentee ballot procedures for ex-residents.

The court is giving the law fast consideration, indicating a decision may be reached within a few months.

The law lowered the voting age from 21 to 18 in 46 states and the District of Columbus and from 20 to 18 in Hawaii. Georgia, Kentucky and Alaska already permitted 18-year-olds to vote.

The administration estimated about 10 million voters would be added to the electorate under the law. The provision applies to all elections and primaries held on or after next Jan. 1—unless the court declares it invalid.

The literacy test suspension covers 12 states and part of a 13th, North Carolina. The government estimates more than 1.9 million people in these states have been unable to qualify to vote because of their illiteracy.

Walt To Step Down

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Lewis W. Walt, the No. 2 man in the U.S. Marine Corps and a veteran of three wars, will step down Feb. 1, the Pentagon announced today.

The 57-year-old Walt will be replaced as assistant commandant of the Marine Corps by Lt. Gen. Keith B. McCutcheon, 55, a pioneer in Marine aviation. McCutcheon is now commander of Marine forces in Vietnam.

The changes were reported earlier in Saigon.

Typhoon Kate Kills 13

MANILA (AP) — Typhoon Kate, the second killer storm to hit the Philippines in a week, swept across southern Mindanao today, and 13 persons were reported dead, 29 missing and hundreds homeless. Later reports were expected to increase the toll.

Age requirements for plastic surgery?

By Abigail Van Buren

(c 1970 by Chicago Tribune N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I have two questions to ask you, both about plastic surgery.

How old must a girl be before she can have plastic surgery on her nose? My daughter is 17, and fully developed and mature for her age. She needs to have her nose made smaller and can hardly wait, but I was told that no reputable plastic surgeon would do that operation on a girl until she was 18. Is that true?

Also, my mother is interested in having a face-lift, but she was told by a friend that after a woman reaches 60, she is too old for a face-lift, as it takes too long to heal. My mother is 62, and recently widowed. She is a good looking woman but her skin is wrinkled. Would a reputable doctor perform a face-lift on a woman her age?

If you think my questions are of sufficient interest to use in your column, you may do so, but please keep me anonymous.

"A BEVERLY HILLSER"

DEAR BEV: Dr. Eugene Worton, [also a "Beverly Hills-er" and a top-notch plastic surgeon] says that no reputable plastic surgeon would operate on a girl's nose unless he saw the girl and felt that in his opinion she was fully developed and mature enough for such surgery. [Some 17-year-olds are—some are not.] And as for your mother: Sixty-two is not too old. It depends upon the general health and mental attitude of the woman. [Dr. Worton recently did a face lift on a 71-year-old woman, who bounced back like a teen-ager!]

DEAR ABBY: In response to the letter from "ERNIE'S GIRL"—the one whose fiance wanted her to wear a chastity belt. I sympathize deeply with her because I am 15 years old and my parents make me wear one. I feel like I live in a gas station because I have to ask for the key every time I want to go to the bathroom. And you should see the stares I get from the girls in the locker room in gym class!

Abby, I have tried my best to behave in a way that would show my parents that they can trust me, but they make me wear this thing anyway. I don't think it is fair to be punished for something I haven't even done. What should I do?

L. N.

DEAR L. N.: When you are of age you can leave home. In the meantime don't trust a YALE man [a locksmith, I mean]. And to earn a little money in preparation for leaving home, try your hand at some creative writing. You're doing fine!

DEAR ABBY: I read in your column that a couple were considering adopting a child to be a companion for their 7-year-old daughter, and I was shocked at your suggestion that they take a foster child for a while to see how it works out.

Abby, a foster child is not a guinea pig to be used as an experiment to see how it "works out."

I cannot for the life of me understand how you, a supposedly intelligent and compassionate person could ever give such advice.

PHILA. READER

DEAR READER: I suggested a "foster" child instead of an adopted child, because foster children are placed in homes on a temporary basis, while adopted children are another matter.

DEAR ABBY: A word to that silly girl who signed herself "LOVES HAIR IN HOOVERSVILLE," and can't think of anything more romantic than running her toes thru the hair on a man's chest:

Just wait until she has spent two or three months running her toes thru the hair in the bathtub!

Gov. Smith Due At Oil Show

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — Big wheels in state and national politics are due in Midland Wednesday to recruit election support.

Gov. Preston Smith, who will mix the visit with ceremonies at the opening of the Permian Basin oil show in Odessa, and House Speaker Gus Mutscher will make separate appearances during the day.

A $25-a-plate George Bush appreciation banquet is scheduled for Wednesday night. Rep. and Mrs. Bush, will be present as will national Republican chairman Rogers Morton, deputy national Republican chairman James N. Allison Jr., and Mrs. John Tower, wife of the senator.

Gov. Smith will arrive here Tuesday night, spend the night here and stage a 7:45 a.m. Wednesday news conference. The governor later will participate in ceremonies opening the oil show in Odessa.

Mutscher will be honored at an appreciation luncheon where he is expected to call for support of area Democratic office seekers.

Two Vehicles In Minor Mishap

Minor damage resulted from a two-car collision on the east side of Furr's parking lot at 1 p.m. Saturday.

Involved were the 1970 Model Chevrolet of Elizabeth Jane Barnett, 3105 Hill, and the parked 1964 Model Chevrolet of Ejiliano S. Chaidez, 1801 Nineteenth Street. Damage to the parked car was set at $40, and damage to the other one was negligible.

Driver Dies In Flames

SEAGRAVES, Tex. (AP) — A bottled gas truck plowed into a farm house one mile west of Seagrave city limits Monday exploding into flames that burned to death the driver and injured the two occupants of the home.

J. C. Tate died in the flames that engulfed the Big Three Butane Co. Inc. truck he was driving and the home owned by Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Taylor.

It is located just outside the Seagraves city limits on Denver City highway, about 60 miles southwest of Lubbock.

Listed in good condition at Seagrave Clinic-Hospital suffering from burns were Joe Taylor, 22, and his wife, 19.

Taylor is the son of the owners of the residence who live in another home within the Seagraves city limits.

Company officials said Tate left the office this morning with a load of butane, and they thought he was en route to the office when the accident occurred. Tate, who had driven for the company for seven years, was in his 50s, company officials said.

A fire department spokesman said the flames that destroyed the truck and the farm home were under control within two hours of the blaze but rescuers worked to extricate the driver's body from the truck.

Seagraves is near the New Mexico border in Gaines County.

No reason was determined for the crash which occurred on a dry, straight stretch of highway.

Clearing Expected In Texas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rain and light showers which pelted Texas for the past few days died out today as skies cleared in western areas of the state. Cloudiness lingered in East Texas but there were only minor temperature changes forecast throughout the day.

Showers and thunderstorms rose up across Central and South Texas Sunday night with varied amounts falling. Heavy fog developed this morning in portions of West Texas and the Panhandle.

Early morning readings ranged from the nippy 40s over West and Northwest Texas while the Gulf Coast and extreme South Texas had readings in the 60s.

Sunday was cloudy and cool throughout the big state. Temperatures ranged from 48 at Amarillo to 54 at Tyler and 71 at Beaumont at noon.

Drizzle fell in areas of North Texas and the day was generally cloudy and cool through much of the state.

Seminole Field Is Restricted

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Railroad Commission said Thursday 159 more oil fields may resume production in October under the regular 87 per cent statewide oil allowable.

The Seminole, west field in the Lubbock district, however, was ordered to produce at 30 per cent of potential to avoid the waste of casinghead gas, a byproduct of oil production.

Of the total of 159 oil fields, 131 are in the Corpus Christi district and 28 are in the Houston district.

Market Has Blue Monday

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market slipped lower early this afternoon in dull trading, giving all the signs of another blue Monday.

At noon the Jones average of 30 industrials was off 3.63 at 759.72.

Investors appeared to be standing on the sidelines in the absence of any significant news developments, analysts said. They pointed out that the relatively low volume was an encouraging sign in this falling market.

At noon, the Associated Press 60-stock index was down 1.3 to 260.3.

Rails, oils, airlines, chemcals, uilities, electronics, and steels were lower. Motors, rubber issues, mail order-retail, metals, and aircrafts were mixed.

On the Big Board, the so-far most-active stock, A. H. Robbins, was off ½ to 25¼. Most of the activity came from an early institutional block of 54,900 shares traded at 25, off ¾.

Other prices on the New York Stock Exchange included University Computing, off 1⅛ to 27½; Skyline, off 2 to 26¾; Standard Oil Of New Jersey, off 1⅛ to 68¾; Natomas, off 1¼ to 475-8; and Kentucky Fried Chicken, off 1¼ to 15⅝.

On the American Stock Exchange, prices included Asamera Oil, off ½ to 14; Milgo Electronic, off ⅛ to 33; Syntex, off ¼ to 32¾; Cinerama, off ⅜ to 4⅛; and Salem, up ½ to 16½.

Plea Entered

Mary Guerrero pleaded guilty in county court this morning to a charge of shoplifting. She received a $25 fine plus court costs and a 30-day jail term. The jail term portion of the sentence was probated for 30 days. The offense occurred last Friday.

Prosecution Rests Case

TYLER, Tex. (AP) — The prosecution rested its case at the Longview bombing trial today after hearing testimony from Charles L. Brown, special agent of the FBI in Tyler.

Brown told of his examination of footprints and pictures of footprints which he said were made by the same boots. These he compared with pictures of boot prints made by a pair of boots which state witness Glenn Parker earlier said Fred Loyd Hayes gave him to hide.

Hayes, 43, and Kenneth R. McMaster, 42, both of Longview, are on trial in the U.S. District Court of Judge William Wayne Justice.

They are charged under a two-count indictment with conspiracy to deny Negro pupils of the Longview Independent School District their civil rights and attempting to obstruct a federal court order under which Longview's schools were to be integrated.

Brown pointed out what he said were similarities between the pictures of footprints made near the scene of the bus bombing and pictures he made with the boots.

After the prosecution rested its case, defense attorney Joe Tunnell moved for acquittal of the two accused. The motion was denied.

He repeated the motion for a mis-trial, which he made on three earlier occasions, but again was overruled.

Glenn Parker and Robert Sparks Jr., whose testimony has been a major part of the government's case, were expected to also be called by the defense.

It was also learned that Hayes has indicated a desire to testify in his own defense, but may not.

Testimony to date has implicated Hayes and McMaster in other bombing incidents in East Texas.

Parker and Sparks, named as co-conspirators but not indicted yet, have testified about planting booby traps in a Negro residential area in Nacogdoches. Both witnesses said Hayes and Sparks made the bombs and drove them to Nacogdoches.

Crackdown Set On Guerrillas

By FAROUK NASSAR
Associated Press Writer

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Syria's new military ruler is cracking down on the Palestinian guerrillas the previous Marxist regime sponsored, Arab diplomatic sources reported today.

The diplomats said Gen. Hafez Al-Assad of the air force, Syria's defense minister, has closed down the Damascus headquarters of the Saika guerrillas and asked the Central Committee of the Palestine Resistance Movement to suspend its membership.

Saika guerrillas returning to Syria from Jordan are being disarmed at the border and shipped off to detention areas in northern Syria, the sources said. They reported Assad has put Syria under military control, paralyzing the Baath Socialist party government.

Assad forced Dr. Noureddin Atassi to resign as president and premier of Syria on Saturday, and today Maj. Gen. Salah Jadid, Marxist leader of the Baath party, was reported to have fled the country, possibly to northern Lebanon.

Assad's coup is believed to have resulted from the Syrian invasion of Jordan during the civil war there last month. Assad opposed the intervention and refused to give it air cover; as a result, strafing Jordanian planes did heavy damage to the Syrian invaders. Assad reportedly uncovered a plot by Jadid to oust him and moved first.

Assad is 40, a staunch Arab nationalist, and has worked for closer cooperation among the Arab countries in the fight against Israel. He has the backing of the Egyptians and has tried to bring about better relations with Iraq, which is ruled by a rival wing of the Baath party.

Although local Baathist leaders rushed to Damascus from throughout Syria, trying to work out a compromise between military and civilian wings of the party, the Syrian [illegible] reported calm. Army tanks and armored vehicles have remained on their bases.

Meanwhile, Jordanian tanks and Palestinian guerrillas in northern Jordan battled Sunday for control of villages on the guerrillas' supply route from Syria. The guerrillas said 60 tanks shelled four villages between Ramtha and Irbid, 50 miles from the Jordanian capital of Amman, and that they replied with mortars, machine guns and rockets.

Guerrillas at Amrawa said the troops cut the road from Ramtha to Irbid in violation of the peace agreement signed last Tuesday by King Hussein and guerrilla leader Yasir Arafat. The pact permits the guerrillas to move men and supplies along the country's roads as long as they obey traffic laws. But Jordanian army officers, unhappy with the pact, maintain the agreement gives them the right to re-assert government control in these villages.

Class of 1920 Has Reunion

The Class of 1920, Snyder High School, held its first Anniversary reunion on October 13th, 1970. Of the original twenty nine members, six are known to be deceased, two were never located, and of the remaining twenty one, eleven were present Tuesday morning. Also present were two husbands, one wife, and one daughter.

Everyone was invited to meet at the home of Inez Brown, 1712 Ave. S, at 11 a.m. for coffee and a renewing of friendships. Everyone talked at once, each louder than the other, to be heard. As of old, Marie (Mug) Palmer Greene, of Corpus Christi, Texas, kept the crowd rolling in laughter, with her tall tales of the escapades of some of the members during their High School days.

The fellowship and visiting ended about four o'clock, with everyone expressing pleasure and joy at being together again.

Among those present were: Loree Stokes Dodson, Mabel Wilson Kelley, Bess Johnston, Merle Johnston Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Williams, and Inez Baze Brown all of Snyder; Mr. and Mrs. John Greene, Corpus Christi, Mrs. Mabel Teters Owens and daughter, Verna Ferrell of Lovington, N. M. and Annabel Ainsworth Hale of Monahans, Texas.

Baptist Students End Meet

DALLAS (AP) — Closing services at the Texas Baptist Student Convention ended Sunday with over 3,000 students dedicating the services to two persons killed en route to the 51st annual convention.

Lynn Ann Pinson, 18, of Lubbock, was killed Friday night along with a bus driver taking some 60 Texas Tech Baptist students to the Dallas convention. The bus driver, T. R. McCurry, 51, died later of his injuries after the bus overturned near Jacksboro.

Thirteen students remain hospitalized.

"Tragedy in the midst of our Christian celebration here may seem ironic but strangely it adds a significant note of reality because of the painful suffering around us which we, as Christians, must minister to," he said.

Delegates were challenged to "retain those intangible factors of tough mindedness and tender heartedness" by the Rev. Bruce McIver.

Only then, he said, "will you have beef on your spiritual bones."

Newcomers Enjoy Candle Program

Guests attending were Mmes. Doyle Farmer, James Black, John Short, Bill Nixon, Thom Falls, F. E. Spink, Fay McCollum, Gladys Spikes and Joan Marble.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Mark Dunlap and Mrs. Hoyt Holt.

Mrs. Donald Olson, thinking of Christmas, presented a very interesting and informative program on the many beautiful and decorative type candles she has made. She had a lovely display of candles for the coming holidays and decorative everyday candles. She explained how they are actually made.

Mr. Rex Robinson, treasurer of the United Fund Drive, was guest speaker and explained its importance to our own community.

After the program a business meeting was held. New members into the club are Mmes. Al Wheeler and Frank Osborne.

The Club is raising money by holding a garage sale this Wednesday and Thursday at 3400 Fortieth Street. Anyone wishing to donate is asked to call Mrs. Bill Williams at 3-9952. A receipt will be given for income tax deduction.

Coming activities for the club are bridge lessons given by Mrs. Lowell Kimbro on Wednesday morning from 9:30 to 12 noon. Anyone, not necessarily club members, interested in bridge lessons, but who has not been contacted call Mrs. Hoyt Holt 3-2372 or Mrs. Mark Dunlap 3-5268.

There will be art classes in painting, instructed by Mrs. La Verta Lovell. Those interested call Doris Smith 3-6230.

Mrs. Bill Nixon, auxiliary volunteer for the hospital, said there is a shortage on volunteer workers and requested anyone interested in helping in the gift shop or other areas to call her at 3-2780.

The couples dinner and games night will be held at the Snyder Country Club on Saturday, Nov. 7 at 7 p.m.

The next club meeting will be Nov. 19. All new comers to Snyder are invited to attend. If you have not been contacted by the club and wish to attend please call Mrs. Jim Walls 573-3138.

CANDLE MAKING — Mrs. Donald Olson displays a very beautiful collection of candles she has made. She presented a program on candle making to the Newcomers Club members Oct. 15.

Since World War II, some 300,000 illicit housing units have prung up in Rome without city authorization or zoning.

A Tale Of Auctions And Collectors

THE ELEGANT AUCTIONEERS. By Wesley Towner. Hill & Wang. $10.

For everyone interested in art collecting in America during the past century, and everyone who has experienced even a touch of auction fever, this book has the fascination of an "inside story."

The tale's basic framework is the history of the three major art auction houses—American Art Association, Anderson Galleries and Parke-Bernet Galleries—from the 1880's to about 10 years ago.

On that framework Turner has constructed a richly detailed panorama of collectors and collecting, selling and buying—not only the hectic battles of the auction room but also the rivalry of the auction houses to obtain collections to put on the block. As byproducts of his tale he chronicles the shifting tastes of the times and their status implications.

These pages depict a lot of delightfully eccentric people. They include the now forgotten, hermit-like Eli (Grandpa) Springs; Thomas Kirby, long the guiding force of the AAA, and Cortland Field Bishop, an heir to millions who financed the AAA, bought the Anderson Galleries, and finally merged them, only to have Parke and Bernet rebel and set up their own auction house.

Anecdotes load the narrative. There are graphic accounts of bargains and losses, and countless examples of prices too low and too high. But always Towner has kept his focus on the personalties involved, and none of them are dull.

This 609-page extravaganza of the art world is not to be gulped at one sitting. It is something for eager aficionadoes to savor and relish.

Migrants Work Program Begun

AUBURNDALE, Fla. (AP) — A new program initiated by the Coca-Cola Co. has made 300 former migrant workers full time farm laborers with regular pay hikes, fringe benefits and a pension plan.

International Telephone and Telegraph Co. is hiring nimble-fingered vegetable pickers to work with fine instruments and electronic circuits.

These programs are a few of the migrant aid efforts that have grown out of increased national concern for the plight of poorly skilled and educated itinerant farm workers.

Minute Maid Corp., a Coca Cola subsidiary, initiated a full company retirement program for the workers last month.

The new program means year round work for the 300 laborers, and Minute Maid officials say they hope to hire 300 more migrants on the same basis.

Under the Minute Maid plan, a worker who earns $5,200 a year would draw approximately $200 a month upon retirement — a significant change from a few years ago when a migrant worker who could no longer work earned no slary.

Clark Black, a federal Health, Education and Welfare Department worker, sold IT&T on the program of hiring dexterous migrants to work on fine instruments.

Black says the program was so successful that he has negotiated similar contracts with Pratt & Whitney and RCA.

Coca-Cola employs about [illegible] of Florida's 78,000 migrant workers. The company has acquired two tracts of land on which it plans to build 165 single family homes and 120 rental apartments for the migrant laborers.

Another program being developed would eliminate from the highways the racket buses now used to carry many migrant workers to and from the fields.

They would be replaced by new vehicles equipped with lavatories that could be used as sanitary facilities in the field.

FIVE INJURED These two cars were demolished and five persons were injured in a mishap on U. S. 84 near Avenue E at 11:50 a.m. Sunday. Occupants of the 1968 Model Chevrolet (right) were Wilma Foreman, 18, 1501 Avenue R, and Stacey Dewayne Holland, 1, 1501 Avenue R, while three Sweetwater residents--Johnny Rose, Jimmy Rose and Joey Newman--were in the 1966 Ford (left). All were taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by Snyder Ambulance Service. Newman later was transferred to Hendrick Memorial Hospital in Abilene.

Five Persons Hurt In Two-Car Mishap

Five persons were injured in a two-car smashup on U. S. 84 just east of Avenue E at 11:50 a.m. Sunday.

Taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by Snyder Ambulance Service were Wilma Foreman, 18, 1501 Avenue R; Stacey Dewayne Holland, 1, 1501 Avenue R; Johnny Rose, 18, 1310 Tonkawa, Sweetwater; Jimmy Rose, about 16, 1310 Tonkawa, Sweetwater, and Joey Newman, 308 East Tenth Street, Sweetwater.

Jimmy Rose sustained a fractured arm, shoulder injuries and facial cuts. Newman sustained a fractured leg, cuts and bruises and possible head injuries. He was transferred to Hendrick Memorial Hospital in Abilene. Johnny Rose had a cut on his head. Mrs. Foreman and the Holland child received cuts and bruises and possible head injuries.

Investigating Highway Patrolmen said Johnny Rose was traveling northwest on U. S. 84 and Mrs. Foreman was attempting to cross U. S. 84 prior to the accident. Rose's car — a 1966 Model Ford — and the other vehicle, a 1968 Model Chevrolet, both were demolished in the crash. Officers said the Ford hit the other vehicle broadside.

The Holland child was a passenger in the Chevrolet. Jimmy Rose and Newman were passengers in the other car. Officers said all of the persons involved in the collision were outside the cars when they arrived at the scene. Both vehicles traveled several yards after the collision.

In the United States alone, termites annually cause more than $250 million worth of property damage. In Italy, termites have eaten the canvas and frames from valuable art. And though they more often are found in warmer climates, termites ate part of the Krenlin floor a few years ago, and devoured a clubhouse, most of a library and several houses in Soviet Central Asia.

Research Project Is Shared

HALIFAX, N.S. (AP) — Canada, the United States and the Soviet Union have cooperated in a scientific research project to study offshore herring spawning beds in the Atlantic from a submarine, the Fisheries Research Board of Canada said Friday.

Canada contributed the eight-ton submarine Pisces I. The United States provided a fisheries research vessel, Albatross IV, from Gloucester, Mass., and Russia provided the research trawler Alferas.

The Pisces was transported to a spawning area in the Atlantic 200 miles south of Nova Scotia. The area was mapped by the Russians.

Widow Charged In Murder

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — A Midland man was gunned down in the cafe he owned late Sunday and his widow, 35, has been charged with murder.

Killed was Curtis C. Tate, 44.

Police filed murder charges against his widow, Alberta Myrtle Tate. Bond was set at $5,000.

Army To The Rescue

DALLAS (AP) — The Army came to the rescue here Sunday night when the Dallas symphony Orchestra refused to play for 10,000 persons at a Cotton Bowl spectacular because it was too cold.

Just before the annual presentation—a ballet and a rendition of The 1812 Overture—was to begin, the symphony voted not to play, in accordance with a union clause against performances where the playing area is colder than 68 degrees. It was 58 in Dallas Sunday night.

"Kick 'em out," shouted one ruffled man in the audience. "Let the Army play—they're probably better anyway!"

"They knew it was below 68 degrees when they came out here," said an angered woman. "I've had enough of this."

The 4th U.S. Army Band from San Antonio, not members of the musician's union, received a standing ovation when it tuned up with a 30-minute concert followed by excerpts from the Nutcracker Suite. The band was present as a supplement to the symphony orchestra.

The evening was climaxed with the sounding of 12 howitzers during the rousing 1812 Overture.

The orchestra had prepared a statement which was read to the disgruntled crowd.

It said, in part: "... It is the professional prerogative of any professional artist or group of artists to decide when conditions prevent their presenting an artistically acceptable performance."

Orchestra members said cold weather stops instruments from responding properly and may damage certain instruments.

"This sort of thing won't aid subscription drives," said a youth in the crowd.

Clean Movies Paying Off

DELPHI, Ind. (AP) — Two teen-age brothers who wanted to do something on their own are prospering as theater operators, presenting family-type movies in a theater that showed "mature audiences only" films before they bought it.

Arthur Small, 17, and his brother, Jimmy, 16, are earning enough money at the Roxy Theater to send themselves through college in a couple of years.

"We get some real good Walt Disney and family movies and teen-age movies without all that other garbage, and it seems to be working out real well," Arthur said. "For this size of town, this is what the people want." Delphi has 5,000 residents.

Arthur handles most of the business responsibilities, while Jimmy runs the projectors and handles most of the technical side.

The clientele of the 275-seat theater has changed since the brothers took over.

"Now more families are coming together with their teenagers and younger kids," Jimmy said.

"We show strictly first-run movies, unless it's a real good classic," Arthur said. "This increases business. People would rather see new movies. We're starting to draw from other cities now, like Lafayette, Logansport and Monticello. Those places charge as high as $2.50. Our highest ticket is $1, and kids are 50 cents."

Quarterback John Unitas captains the Baltimore Colts when he's in the game. Fred Miller is the defensive captain.

Vikings Lash Cowboys

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

They all came to see Joe Kapp's highly-touted arm and went home talking about Fran Tarkenton's highly talented feet.

Kapp's debut as starting quarterback for Boston turned into a bust Sunday as the scrambling Tarkenton ruined the Patriots' T-Party by directing a 16-0 New York Giant victory.

"We had the opportunities but I didn't take advantage of them," said a disappointed Kapp, who last started with Minnesota in the 1970 Super Bowl.

Tarkenton's foot-loose antics scrambled the Boston defense, offsetting the hard-charging Patriots' line while he riddled them with short, screen passes. He passed only 14 times, completing eight, for 102 yards in wind-harassed Harvard Stadium at Cambridge, Mass.

Detroit and Denver, who lost for the first time this season last week, got back on the winning road with victories Sunday. Detroit blasted Cleveland 41-24 and Denver turned back Atlanta 24-10.

Pittsburgh beat Houston 7-3 in a defensive war; New Orleans tied San Francisco 20-20; Los Angeles whipped Green Bay 31-21; San Diego downed Chicago 20-7; Miami belted Buffalo 33-14; St. Louis cut down the Philadelphia Eagles 35-20; Baltimore avenged its Super Bowl defeat by beating the New York Jets 29-22 and Kansas City defeated Cincinnati 27-19.

Coach Clive Rush of Boston said the Patriots' game plan was to stop Tarkenton's screen passes.

"We just didn't do it," Rush said.

Kapp completed 10 of 22 passes. He also carried eight times for 41 yards, tops among Boston rushers. The Giants' defense held fullback Jim Nance to a mere 14 yards.

Coach Tom Landry of Dallas was philosophical about the Cowboys' biggest licking since their inception in 1960.

Ed Sharockman, a defensive back, set the tone of the game as he ran back two touchdowns on a deflected punt and an intercepted pass and set up another with an interception in Minnesota's first half.

Bobby Howfield kicked a 51-yard field goal and Pete Liske pitched a six-yard scoring pass in the final period to break open a close game and help the Broncos beat the Falcons.

Bill Munson fired two touchdown passes and Mike Weger [illegible] another on an interception in a 2½-minute period that shot Detroit into a runaway 38-14 halftime lead.

Terry Bradshaw unfurled a 67-yard TD pass on the first play of the second quarter for the only touchdown of the game and a victory for the Steelers.

Clarence Williams swiped a Bart Starr pass in the closing minutes and shot 65 yards for a touchdown that nailed down Los Angeles' victory over the Packers.

John Hadl's two touchdown passes to Gary Garrison within a minute of the third quarter pulled out the San Diego triumph over the reeling Bears, who lost their third straight.

Two pass interceptions led to a pair of Miami touchdowns and a fumble recovery set up one of Gary Yepremian's four field goals.

MacArthur Lane hit paydirt four times—three times rushing and the other on a reception—in the St. Louis victory.

Johnny Unitas whipped Baltimore into a 17-0 lead within 5½ minutes of the first period and the Colts hung on to beat the Jets, their conquerers in the 1968 Super Bowl.

Injured quarterback Len Dawson came off the bench to spark Kansas City to a comeback victory over the fired-up Bengals.

A&I Beats Sul Ross, 27-0

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The battle for second place in the Lone Star Conference resumes this week between Southwest Texas State and Sam Houston State.

That appears the highest position left to fight for with powerful Texas A&I aiming toward another LSC title. The Javelinas rolled over previously unbeaten Sul Ross 27-0 last Saturday for their fifth win of the season.

A&I ranked fourth in the nation by the AP, has the lead in conference games with a 4-0 slate followed by Sam Houston, Southwest Texas and Sul Ross all with 3-1 records.

In other games this weekend, Howard Payne is at Tarleton State; East Texas State is at S. F. Austin; McMurry is at Sul Ross and Texas A&I is at Angelo State.

S. F. Austin's 21-17 upset of Southwest Texas State last Saturday left Texas A&I the only unbeaten in the 10-team league.

Other games Saturday included McMurry 10, East Texas 3; Angelo State 10, Howard Payne 7; Sam Houston 48, Tarleton State 7.

Austin's upset was spearheaded by 9.2 sprinter Andy Hopkins, who rushed for 178 yards. He broke 32 yards for the decisive touchdown with six minutes left in the game.

Jacklin Wins Paris Tourney

PARIS (AP) — Tony Jacklin, after another demonstration that he ranks in the top flight of the world's best golfers, says that he's going to try to tap another mass market—as singer on a long playing record.

The British ace golfer, with the curly hair and winning smile fo a matinee idol, Sunday won the Paris Tournament of Champions, limited to eight of the best of the current golfing crop, with an eagle at the 17th and a birdie at the 18th.

He finished the 54-hole tournament with a closing 68 for a 206 total beating out Arnold Palmer of the United States and Ramon Sota of Spain by one stroke.

His next project is to spend Wednesday singing 14 songs for both sides of the long playing record. When asked what kinds of songs they would be, he said, "I'll send you a copy." Then, with a second thought, he said, "No. You'd better buy a copy."

Jacklin, the 1969 British Open winner and 1970 U.S. Open champion, took the top prize of $10,000 dollars, literally snatching it out of the hands of Palmer, who had finished previously, and Sota, who was playing with him.

The Paris Tournament, which was organized as a sweet smelling competition sponsored by a perfume maker to whet interest in golf in France, finished deep in the red.

"Never mind, dearie, we still love you."

That's that a woman called out to Nijinsky after the British triple crown winner suffered his second straight defeat of his career in the $82,000 Champion Stakes at Newmarket Saturday.

Fort Marcy, a 6-year-old who has been in 66 races to Nijinsky's 13, won the $116,100 Man O'War Stakes at Belmont Park in New York for his second in a row.

"I love him. He always gives his best," commented one lady waiting to cash a $10 winning ticket, worth $17.

While Nijinsky's reputation was tarnished, Fort Marcy's was enhanced with his easy victory in the Man O'War, a weight-for-age stake in which it was thought for a time that the American-owned Nijinsky might compete.

Fort Marcy's victory boosted the Paul Mellon-owned gelding into a commanding position to become the 1970 grass course champion. The son of Amerigo won the honor as a 3-year-old in 1967.

The victory by 1¾ lengths over Loud gave Fort Marcy his 20th triumph in 66 starts, boosted his 1970 bankroll to $228,537 and his career earnings to $943,280.

Mellon's Rokeby Stable scored a double stakes triumph over the weekend. In addition to Fort Marcy at Belmont, Persian Honour took the Governor's Sweepstakes Handicap at Rockingham Park.

Scott, Squires Rip NY Mets

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Charlie Scott scored 58 points in his first two games in the American Basketball Association—but the rookie pro from North Carolina thinks he can improve.

Scott led the Virginia Squires to a 103-88 victory over the New York Nets Sunday with 29 points and 12 rebounds. On Saturday night he also tallied 29 points in leading the Squires over Pittsburgh.

"I'm not satisfied with my start," confided the 6-foot-6 Scott after Sunday's game against the Nets. "I think I will have better judgment on shooting, passing off and getting position for rebounds after I learn the league."

Indiana made it three straight by defeating Texas 134-113, Kentucky whipped Carolina 121-115 and the Floridians beat Pittsburgh 125-115 in Sunday's other ABA games.

In Sunday's only National Basketball Association contest the Boston Celtics bowled over Portland's Trail Blazers 133-115.

In Saturday's ABA action Virginia blitzed Pittsburgh 133-116 and Kentucky downed Denver 109-103 and, in NBA play, Milwaukee overhauled Atlanta 107-98, Chicago nipped New York 99-96, Baltimore beat Los Angeles 118-116 in overtime, San Diego belted Buffalo 102-93, Philadelphia crushed Cincinnati 123-105, Seattle ripped Boston 126-114, Detroit slipped by Phoenix 110-107 and San Francisco clobbered Cleveland 128-108.

Kentucky rookie Dan Issel scored 30 points Sunday in leading the Colonels over the Cougars. Exactly half of the 30 came in the last quarter as the Colonels held off a rally by Carolina.

Bill Keller with 32 and Roger Brown with 30 combined to pace the unbeaten Pacers over the Chaparrals, Mack Calvin threw in 41 points to pace the Floridians over Pittsburgh. John Brisker scored 44 for the losing Condors.

Led by John Havlicek's 37 points, the Celtics had little trouble beating Portland for their first victory in the new NBA campaign. Rookie Dave Cowens led Boston in rebounds with 20.

Tech, TCU, Baylor, Rice Face Must Tilts

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
Associated Press Writer

The Texas Tech Red Raiders kept one jinx alive last weekend at Mississippi State and they'll get the same opportunity this week when they host Southern Methodist.

Trouble is, if the Raiders keep alive their string of losing to the Mustangs in Lubbock, they'll also eliminate themselves from the Southwest Conference race.

Not since 1964 have the Raiders beaten SMU in Jones Stadium. In turn, the Mustangs haven't beaten Tech in Dallas over the same period.

The Raiders ran into old nemesis Mississippi State last Saturday, losing 20-16, to give the Bulldogs a 4-2-1 series edge.

But this week's battle with SMU has more far-reaching overtones. Tech is 1-1 in SWC games and another loss would virtually eliminate them from SWC hopes. No SWC ever has won the crown with two losses.

Texas Christian, Baylor and Rice are in the same position, each with one loss. And Baylor and Rice are favored to be eliminated this week. Baylor hosts the Texas Aggies and Rice hosts second ranked Texas. TCU has an open date and Wichita State is at Arkansas in the other league action.

SMU won its conference opener by blanking Rice 1-0 and TCU startled the tail-spinning Aggies 31-15 in other games last Saturday. Texas, Arkansas and Baylor had open dates.

A transplanted Texan helped defeat the Red Raiders. He's quarterback Joe Reed, from Lorenzo near Lubbock. He threw two touchdown passes in the second half to Dave Smith to kill Tech.

Tech head coach Jim Carlen was so impressed he said Reed was "the best all-round quarterback I've seen this year. Texas' Eddie Phillips is a better runner but Reed does it all."

Larry Hargrave scored Tech's two touchdowns on a 3-yard run and a 16-yard pass from Charles Napper.

The SMU victory over Rice marked Pony quarterback Chuck Hixson's first touchdown pass ever over the Owls. "I broke my slump," mused Hixson. Hixson's 2-yard pass on fourth-and-two to Gordon Gilder provided the game's only touchdown.

SMU's prize running back Gary Hammond suffered a pinched nerve in his shoulder and a hip pointer but he said he would be ready this week.

The surprise of the week was TCU's big victory over the Aggies, who showed promise of being a contender this season with a young group of sophomores. Halfback James Hodges also did some surprising for the Frogs.

He rushed for 170 yards on 34 carries against the Aggies far outstripping his totals for the entire season of 89 yards in 30 carries. Frog quarterback Steve Judy hit one touchdown pass and ran over two others.

Prep Player Dies Of Injuries

THREE RIVERS, Tex. (AP) —Funeral services were scheduled here today for Steve W. Wolff, 18, a Three Rivers High School football player who died Sunday after he was injured in a game here Friday night.

Wolff, a senior, died at a Corpus Christi hospital.

Three Rivers coach Dale Johanson said Wolff, an end on the team, apparently was injured while blocking on a kickoff return in a game against Agua Dulce.

He said Wolff did not complain of being hurt until after the game, which Agua Dulce won 21-16. Wolff later attended a dance, Johanson said. The youth became ill during the night and was taken to Corpus Christi.

Wolff is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wolff Jr., a brother and two sisters.

Center Dave Manders captains the Dallas Cowboys.

Vikings Have 4 On Injury List

MINNEAPOLIS - ST. PAUL (AP) — Minnesota's casualty list made it seem like the Vikings got the worst of a 54-13 National Football League victory over the Dallas Cowboys Sunday.

Defensive end Jim Marshall reported a muscle spasm in his back. Defensive tackle Gary Larsen reinjured a toe. Offensive tackle Grady Alderman sprained a knee and flanker Bob Grim sprained a knee.

Coach Bud Grant said immediate effects of the injuries weren't known.

The Cowboys were forced to take out Craig Morton, with a sprained knee, in the second period. The Vikings intercepted three passes off successor Roger Staubach.

"We don't know how serious it is," said Coach Tom Landry. The only other Dallas injury was tight end Mike Ditka's sprained ankle.

Rookie running back Dunae Thomas was impressive for the Cowboys with 79 yards rushing in 13 carries, 45 yards rushing with five pass receptions, five kickoff returns for 116 yards.

The Vikings, embarrassing a Dallas team that had allowed only 37 points before the game, were led by Dave Osborn's 62 yards rushing in 12 attempts and Gene Washington's five receptions for 62 yards. Gary Cuozzo completed 11 of 20 passes for 133 yards and one touchdown.

"The Vikings played a tremendous football game," said Landry, "you can't take anything away from them. They're the best defense over-all—as a team."

The 50-point outburst isn't new to Coach Bud Grant and Vikings.

"We scored more than 50 points three times last year," said Grant. "You never anticipate this sort of thing. There is no turning point."

An avalanche would be a better word.

Kathy Seeks Perfection

WACO, Tex. (AP) — You'd think anyone who had just set a tournament record, won $2,250 as top prize and shot a five-under par final round 67 would be satisfied — but not Kathy Whitworth, the reigning LPGA Quality Checked Women's Golf Classic champion.

"I didn't hit the ball well," Kathy moaned after she broke away from a tie with JoAnne Carner for the three-stroke victory Sunday. "I feel like I stole the tournament. I had a lot of lucky breaks."

And that's partially true. Miss Whitworth hit a tree with her tee shot on No. 11 and it bounced back in the fairway. On No. 10 she hit a duck hook but pulled out a birdie and on Nos. 4 and 9 she hit behind trees but managed to come out with pars.

Kittens Win 6-0

SWEETWATER—The Snyder Kittens bested Sweetwater 6-0 here Saturday in a hard-fought B team football game.

The Kittens drove 65 yards for the game's only touchdown in the third quarter. David Tyrone went across from the two for the tally.

The Kittens will play San Angelo here at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

Businesses' Image Has Suffered In Few Years

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The past few years have been very hard on the images of many businesses.

The public lost faith in Wall Street, not only because of a bad market and bad advise, but because many brokers continued to demonstrate an inability to handle their affairs constructively.

An era has ended there. Front offices had created the illusion of prosperity and stability, but the back offices were realities of horrors. Some of the biggest names of the 1960s are financially dead and buried.

The utilities, meanwhile, have kept the electric power grid from collapse only by lowering and sometimes cutting off service to certain areas, moves that avert disaster but destroy confidence.

Americans learned by these experiences that their existence in an electrified society was not the easy life of gadgets and mechanical servants, but a precarious one over which they had little control.

In its advertisements, the automotive industry vainly attempted to revive its mirror like gloss, but under a barrage of criticism on safety, they now find the public more interested in mechanics, less in enamel.

Auto companies sold the world on the notion that cars lead to a better life. But buyers aren't so sure anymore since the image of cars has become associated with death, dirt and congestion.

The public also has become somewhat skeptical of what air travel might be doing to our environment. The airlines had promoted an image that suggested sleekness and trouble-free comfort. But that image is passe.

A more realistic appraisal shows it to be one beset by faltering profits, charges of environmental contamination, bizarre hijackings and an organized campaign to deprive it of its long-range future—the supersonic transport.

Cigarettes? The image of that industry was tarnished years ago, of course, but now it has been decided to deprive it of television advertising outlets, a major blow to an industry that depends so much on favorable exposure.

Look at what has happened to our impression of conglomerate corporations. A few years ago they were acclaimed as the business of the future, and dozens of them began acquiring dozens of smaller—sometimes larger—companies.

The concept was beautiful. If you have various companies under one umbrella nobody will get wet. If the market for animal crackers falls, the market for baseball gloves might rise and offset the loss.

A good many of the conglomerates found, however, that in very rainy weather, such as in a recession, the umbrella might collapse and spill water on everything underneath. A lot of conglomerators are soaking wet today.

Junior Editors Quiz About LIGHTHOUSES

QUESTION: When was the first lighthouse built in America?

* * *

ANSWER: People will always reverence the word lighthouse as long as there are ships groping their way past dangerous shores in the dark of the night. The importance of lighthouses was early recognized in Colonial America, especially in New England, center of fishing and shipping. Boston, Mass., was the hub of this development. In 1713, a merchant, John George, proposed erecting "A lighthouse and lanthorn on some headland at the entrance to Boston Harbour. . ." The Boston Lighthouse Bill was passed July 23, 1715. The beautiful Boston Lighthouse, the first American lighthouse and the first lighthouse built in the Western Hemisphere, was erected in 1716, the light shining out for the first time September 14, 1716. Strongly built, Boston Light is still standing, sending out its 100,000 candlepower flash from 102 feet above the sea. We show a picture of Minot's, most dangerously located lighthouse in America. Built on the sea-swept ledge of Minot's Rock, off Cohasset, Mass., it appears to rise directly out of the sea, except for the few hours of low tide each day. In storms, waves can send their spray to the very top of this wonderfully built granite tower.

Mail Enlightens Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

If life begins at 40 for people, it begins at 5 for a dog. That's when a dog is reckoned as middle-aged.

A survey of young drug addicts—15 to 30—found a link exists between a feeling of basic insecurity and drug addiction.

Men's wigs and beards in the past have rarely been fashionable simultaneously. Beards usually vanished when wigs were in style; whenever wigs went out and men wore their own locks, beards and mustaches became popular.

The bootlegging of cigarettes to avoid tax payments has become one of organized crime's greatest sources of profit. One tobacco official estimates that since 1965 illegal sales of smuggled cigarettes have cost individual states a total of $441 million in lost tax revenues.

What is the most versatile letter in the alphabet? Probably the letter "X." It is the Roman symbol for 10. It is used by illiterate men as their signature. It means a railroad crossing. It is employed in circles or squares on ballots to indicate a choice. It stands for an unknown quantity. It stands for a kiss. And on maps it shows where the money was buried, the accident happened, or the body found.

Quotable notables: "The average person puts only 25 per cent of his energy and ability in his work. The world takes off its hat to those who put in more than 50 per cent of their capacity, and stands on its head for those few and far between souls who devote 100 per cent." —Andrew Carnegie.

Dude: Florenz Ziegfeld, the colorful musical comedy producer, was one of the best-dressed men of his day. He often bought several dozen neckties at a time. At death in 1932 his wardrobe was found to contain more than a thousand ties that had never been worn.

Worth remembering: "Flattery is the art of telling another person exactly what he thinks of himself."

History lesson: Can you name the first U.S. president who was a West Point graduate? He was Ulysses Simpson Grant. Grant was graduated from the U.S. Military Academy in 1843. He resigned from the Army in 1854, but returned to it during the Civil War.

Folklore: Looking at marigolds in March too long will make you a drunkard. If a guest refolds his napkin after a meal, he won't be invited back by his host. If the bubbles in a cup of coffee float away from you, that's a sign you'll lose money; if they float toward you, money will come your way. Wearing a red string around your neck will ward off rheumatism.

It was Peter the Great who observed, "If you are afraid of bad luck you will never get good luck."

Soviets Organize Sympathy Rally

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union's largest automobile factory organized a sympathy rally Thursday to support striking workers at General Motors plants in the United States, the Soviet press said today.

More than 6,000 workers attended the rally at the Gorky Car Factory, endorsing a message they later cabled to Leonard Woodcock, president of the United Auto Workers. The message said, in part:

"The many-thousand-strong personnel of the Gorky Car Factory ardently supports the action of the American workers and wishes them complete success in their just struggle. Long live the international solidarity of the working class of the whole world."

Strikes are illegal in the Soviet Union.

The Gorky plant, 250 miles east of Moscow, produces trucks, the Volga sedan and the Chaika limousine.

Princeton Professor Named

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Former U.S. Commissioner of Education Dr. James E. Allen was confirmed Sunday as a Princeton University visiting lecturer, with the rank of professor.

Allen, who left the Nixon administration after disagreements about the Vietnam War and school desegregation policies, had been a consultant to the university's Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs.

Tiny Tim Cuts Tour Short

LONDON (AP) — Tiny Tim's falsetto version of "Land of Hope and Glory," a patriotic English song, so angered a former British soldier that he tried to halt the performance at a variety club in Batley.

Tiny Tim returned home Sunday, cutting short his British tour, apparently because of the incident.

The Sunday Mirror said 34-year-old Jim Smith, a veteran of the elite Coldstream Guards, jumped onto the stage while Tiny Tim was singing and tried to knock the megaphone from his hands. Smith was ejected from the club.

Senators Get Campaign Money From "D.Cs"

By JAMES R. POLK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hundreds of thousands of dollars in campaign money have been given U.S. senators through hidden fund-raising groups set up in Washington where a loophole lets the lawmakers keep the contributions secret.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana and his GOP counterpart, Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, head the list of candidates using the hidden committees to help bankroll their re-election races this year.

Labor groups are making large donations to another Washington committee set up for Sen. Harrison A. Williams, D-N.J., who is in line to become chairman of the Senate Labor Committee if he wins.

In political circles, the hidden campaign groups are known as "D.C. committees."

The District of Columbia—in contrast to the home states of most senators—has no laws requiring public disclosure of money raised and spent for candidates.

As a result, dozens of senators and congressmen have "D.C. committees" set up here to raise campaign funds, particularly from lobbies.

Names of the hidden committees came to light in a study of the detailed list of donations that other political groups, such as those for labor organizations or industry lobbies, must file with Congress.

The records show groups representing restaurants, coal, cable TV, steelworkers, Teamsters, shipping and savings associations are among the contributors to "D.C. committees."

Even the Republican and Democratic national campaign chests have funneled large chunks of money to their candidates through these groups.

Sen. Winston L. Prouty, R-Vt., locked in a tough battle this fall, has at least four "D.C. committees" set up to get money from the GOP. His Democratic foe, former Gov. Philip H. Hoff, has at least two committees here, also.

Among others using the device are:

Sens. Joseph M. Montoya, D-N.M.; Frank E. Moss, D-Utah; William Proxmire, D-Wis.; Ralph T. Smith, R-Ill.; Ted Stevens, R-Alaska, and former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, running for the Senate from Minnesota.

Many of the D.C. committees have raised as much as $50,000 or more. But few are willing to tell.

However, interviews and reports of various political groups traced at least $386,761 as being channeled into various Senate candidates' D.C. committees.

The true total may be many times that amount. Because of the lack of reporting requirements, some D.C. committees could stay hidden forever.

And, as one Senate aide said, "I gather that every senator here has a committee like these."

The loophole in reporting laws has been recognized for years, but chances of it ever being plugged are slim—mainly because the legislators who use it are the only ones who can close it.

However, the fund-raising groups have become more controversial because of recent bribery charges against former Sen. Daniel B. Brewster, D-Md.

The indictment, which was dismissed by a judge this month, charged that $24,500 had been routed to Brewster as a bribe from a mail order company lobbyist through a hidden group called the "D.C. Committee for Maryland Education."

Another group, the "D.C. Committee for Montana Progress," was reported to be involved in the Justice Department probe on postal rates. It was set up for Rep. Arnold Olsen, D-Mont., a House postal subcommittee chairman.

In a rare step this year, a re-election committee set up in Washington for Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, the presidential hopeful, filed a full public report with Congress voluntarily.

Muskie's local treasurer lists $163,000 raised by this group going into October. Many of the contributors are scattered throughout the nation, including such donors as the chairman of the board of IBM.

Labor is pouring some of its largest contributions this fall into a hidden fund-raising group known as the "Harrison A. Williams D.C. Committee."

If he wins, Williams is slated to become chairman of the Senate Labor Committee as a result of the defeat of Sen. Ralph W. Yarborough, D-Tex., in a spring primary.

One hidden group for a Senate candidate said it wanted to make everything public—but couldn't find a way under D.C. law.

Mrs. Fred Israel of the "D.C. Humphrey for Senator Committee," which raised more than $40,000 at a cocktail buffet for the 1968 Democratic presidential nominee, said:

"We looked for a way to report it in Washington and there is no way. We wanted to, but we couldn't."

Bunker Denies RetirementRumor

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker today denied reports that he is retiring from his post in Saigon.

"Every time I go to Washington, I hear these same rumors," Bunker said to newsmen. "You seem to know more about it than I do.

"I've been here 3½ years and I expect to be back. I'm coming back. That's as straight an answer as I can give you."

Bunker is going to the United States next week for consultations and a vacation with his wife, Carol Laise, the U.S. ambassador to Nepal. He expects to be gone "three or four weeks," a spokesman said.

The first word earlier this week of Bunker's leaving touched off speculation that he would be replaced by William H. Sullivan, former ambassador to Laos who is now deputy assistant secretary of state for Far East and Pacific affairs.

Completion Date Set

DALLAS (AP)—A member of the Highway Commission said Friday the dangerous section of Interstate 45 near Buffalo on the Houston-Dallas route will be completed next autumn.

The uncompleted section has been the scene of numerous fatal accidents. Motorists are required to leave Interstate 45 for about 30 miles and travel on narrow old U.S. 75—a two lane highway termed the "deadliest in Texas."

Garrett Morris said the commission has received numerous complaints. He said work is well underway although it may not be readily apparent to motorists.

Better TV For Kids Is Urged

BOSTON (AP) — Commercials should be ended on children's television programs, says Joan Ganz Cooney, president of the Children's Television Workshop which produces the TV series "Sesame Street."

Mrs. Cooney urged Friday that the time and quality of programming devoted to children be greatly improved. She spoke before the first national Symposium on Children and Television.

Conservative TV Season Looming

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The 1970-71 television season has been duly launched. Viewers are now reaching the end of the four-week sampling period in which they are presumed to be flipping madly around the dials before settling down to a measurable pattern.

What kind of a season looms? It appears to be a conservative, careful six months of programs, in which many of the new series will be extremely reminiscent of old series. Television, even more than most industries, is facing a bumpy time.

All of the new programs—more than a score on the three networks—are well-produced, professionally organized and, in general, well-acted. The dramatic series, a covey of do-gooders operating within formats showing signs of exposure fatigue, obviously are aimed at the young, big-buying family audiences.

The success of ABC's "Mod Squad" in nailing down the 18-to-35-year-old audience has stimulated an assortment of look-alikes.

There are CBS' "Storefront Lawyers" and ABC's "Young Lawyers," which three young Independence spinoff, ABC's "The Young Rebels," in which three young undercover patriots are taking up where "Daniel Boone" left off.

There are a few signs that the networks are interested in getting back, part of the time anyway, to the production of happy shows for happy people. In the situation comedy area, "The Mary Tyler Moore Show" on CBS and "Nancy" on NBC are played strictly for laughs. "The Partridge Family" tries to combine the charm of an assortment of cute children with pop music, and if one can believe both the innocence of the characters and the sophistication of the music, it will probably work.

Three other situation comedies depend almost entirely on the skills of the performers. CBS's "Arnie" has Herschel Bernardi playing convincingly a blue-collar worker imposing his solid standards on the griddy top management of his company when he suddenly becomes an executive. Two Neil Simon Broadway hits adapted to TV needs, "Barefoot in the Park" and "The Odd Couple," are blessed, in the first instance, with a talented cast of blacks in the leading roles and, in the second, with Jack Klugman and Tony Randall, who play the strangely mismatched pair trying to share an apartment.

With network TV awash with variety hours, a few more seemed unnecessary. But three comedians—Don Knotts, Flip Wilson and Tim Conway—have turned up as stars of comedy shows with music on NBC and CBS. Writers for the Knotts show apparently need more time to find the right mixture for the comedian. Wilson appears to be off and running well. Conway's success depends on the number of viewers who share his rowdy and, often, macabre sense of humor.

Danny Thomas, returning to weekly television via ABC, seems to be picking up his old situation comedy where it left off six seasons back. "Make Room for Grandaddy," for all its heart and sentiment, seems to be a little old-fashioned and obvious.

With a nation caught in economic problems and with the industry itself facing a 10 per cent loss of income when its cigarette sponsors disappear around New Year, the three networks seem determined to try to get through the season as safely as possible.

Probably its most daring experiment is ABC's decision to broadcast professional football games, live, on Monday nights for 13 weeks.

The paradox of the season is buried in the scripts of the dramatic shows. Narcotics; sex including perversion and veneral disease; racial tensions—all considered daring controversial themes a few seasons back—have become standard subjects for exploration in medical, legal and even police stories. Like everything else that television tackles with enthusiasm, there is presently a tendency to overdo a good thing.

NBC made the fewest changes in its schedule. "Nancy" and "The Flip Wilson Show" stand a good chance of surviving nicely. Its "Four in One"—four different series of six episodes each—started off well along with Dennis Weaver's "McCloud."

ABC has churned up its schedule and added 11 new series, and has the most to win—or lose.

CBS is desperately attempting to shake its old image as a network particularly attractive to rural audiences and older—over 45—people. It has an important stake in shows like "The Interns" and "Storefront Lawyers," two programs whose antecedents, unfortunately, are easy to detect.

The leavening of the schedule—special programs—has been reduced this season. CBS will broadcast only specials for which sponsors have been lined up. As a consequence, there will be few, if any, treats like "CBS Playhouse" or those cultural hours of other seasons. NBC, although it has ripped off its series of original dramatic shows, will still have a number of specials, including "Hall of Fame." ABC never did many specials, but will continue to emphasize sports events and have an occasional documentary or natural history program which will preempt regularly scheduled shows.

Bags World's Record Moose

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Bruce Hodson has to wait 60 days for it to be official, but he has bagged what probably will be the world's record moose.

The rack of the 2,000-pound bull downed by the Martin, S.D., businessman measured 79⅛ inches in width tip to tip and totaled 264 points on the Boone and Crockett scale.

Once the 60-day waiting period to allow for shrinkage has passed, the bull is expected to top the current record—a 251-point moose with a 77½-inch rack bagged by Bert Kleimberg of Seattle near Alaska's Mount Susitna in 1961.

Hodson downed his catch Tuesday near Lake Iliamna, about 200 miles southwest of Anchorage, with two shots from a .30-06 Remington.

Maharajas in India lost their power soon after the country gained independence in 1947. Nearly 600 princes were granted either cash settlements or privy purses in return for integrating their states into India. Payments currently are made to some 280 princes. The annual sums range from $267,000 for the Nizam of Hyderabad to $25.60 for the Talukdar of Katodia.

Project No. 7-00483

SCURRY COUNTY JUNIOR COLLEGE DISTRICT
Owner

Sealed bids for construction of the Western Texas College for the Scurry County Junior College District, Snyder, Texas, will be received by the Board of Trustees in the Community Room of the Snyder Savings and Loan Building, Snyder, Texas, until 7:00 P.M., CST, October 27, 1970, at which time they will be publicly opened and read aloud. Mailed or telegraphic proposals shall be addressed to Scurry County Junior College District, P. O. Drawer D, Snyder, Texas, and shall be received prior to bid opening. The project will be bid under one General Contract.

The information for Bidders, Form of Bid, Form of Contract, Plans, Specifications, and Forms of Bid Bond, Performance and Payment Bond, and other contract documents may be examined at the following:

Parker Croston, Associates, Architects-Engineers-Planners, 606 Bailey (P. O. Box 1927), Fort Worth, Texas 76107

General Contractors may secure three (3) sets of plans and specifications at the office of the Architect upon deposit of $500.00. Qualified Mechanical and or Electrical Contractors may secure two (2) sets of plans and specifications upon deposit of $250.00. Under the conditions of the Information to Bidders, any unsuccessful bidder will be refunded his deposit. Subcontractors and Material Suppliers may secure plans and specifications at cost information to Bidders.

The Owner reserves the right to waive any informalities or to reject any or all bids. Each bidder must deposit with his bid, security in the amount, form and subject to the conditions provided in the Information to Bidders.

Attention of bidders is particularly called to the requirements as to conditions of employment to be observed and minimum wage rates to be paid under the contract.

No bidder may withdraw his bid within 30 days after the actual date of the opening thereof.

M. L. Broman, Chairman
Board of Trustees
Scurry County Junior College District

Announcement Shocks Bentsen

HOUSTON (AP) — Lloyd Bentsen said Sunday he is shocked and deeply disappointed that a member of the President's Cabinet announced a government decision at a fund-raising political dinner.

Bentsen is the Democratic candidate for the senatorial seat being vacated by U.S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex.

Bentsen referred to a Friday night announcement by Sec. of the Interior Walter Hickel who said at Houston that 127 tracts of oil and gas leases will be sold Dec. 15. Hickel made the announcement at a $50-a-plate Republican fund-raising dinner for Bentsen's opponent, George Bush.

Bentsen called Hickel's announcement a "rather crass demonstration of the Republican establishment's political power play—its attempt to coerce and bribe Texas voters into giving the Republicans both of our votes in the Senate."

Bentsen conceded that it is "often difficult" for incumbents to separate politics from government duties but he added it does not require "much discretion to realize that an official government decision, such as the sale of oil leases, should not be announced at a political fund-raising dinner."

Bentsen said Hickel had tried earlier to trick the state government into having Texas taxpayers furnish part of the transportation for this political foray into the state.

"Fortunately," he said, "Governor [illegible] staff discovered that Mr. Hickel was here to beat the political bushes and denied him the use of state aircraft."

Meanwhile, at Dallas, Bush was telling a Zionist banquet that the "continuing crisis in the Middle East is one of the greatest threats to world peace."

Bush said he supported the principle of self determination for all peoples of the Middle East.

Bush spoke at a Zionist Man of the Year banquet.

ON WAR-PEACE ISSUES

UN Ministers' Meets Set

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
Associated Press Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Foreign ministers' meetings on war-and-peace issues are being arranged for Wednesday and Friday at the United Nations.

The U.N. Security Council is expected to meet Wednesday afternoon with perhaps 14 of the 15 members represented by foreign ministers.

The Big Four foreign ministers, after joining in the council session, will get together again Friday night at a working dinner given by Secretary-General U Thant in his 38th-floor office suite.

Both gatherings are taking place this week because the ministers are attending the General Assembly's 11-day 25th anniversary session, now moving toward a ceremonial close Saturday.

The U.N. charter, which took effect 25 years ago next Saturday, provides that the Security Council "shall hold periodic meetings," to which each country on the council may send a member of its government if it wants.

Diplomatic sources said the council, at Finland's urging, had agreed to hold the first such session in its history on Wednesday. Nepal is the only council member whose foreign minister may not be present.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers, British Foreign Secretary Sir Alec Douglas-Home, French Foreign Minister Maurice Schumann and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko will be following an annual custom when they have dinner with Thant Friday.

They are expected to discuss the questions of security for Europe, peace for Indochina and a settlement for the Middle East.

'Doctor' Given Year

BRISBANE, Australia (AP) — Frank Dalgleish, 27, the glib Australian who posed as a physician in Texas long enough to treat patients and prescribe medicines at a McCamey, Tex. hospital, was removed from the dangerously ill list here following a serious kidney operation.

Dalgleish had been flown to the Townsville Hospital here in such critical condition that he was not expected to live.

"I feel better now than during the past five years," he told a surgeon.

Dalgleish is allowed out of bed twice daily. He has been started on a dialysis treatment for his impaired kidneys. "It will hold him for at least 12 months," said a hospital spokesman.

He arrived here by air September 1 after townspeople of McCamey provided the necessary funds for air fare. The money was donated when it was learned he had but a few days to live and wished to return to his native Australia.

BUSINESS and INDUSTRIAL NEWS

Snyder Drapery Obtains Beauti Pleat Franchise

Snyder Drapery, 2610 Avenue R, has the exclusive franchise in Snyder for Beauti Pleat, the new idea in heavy duty drapery rods.

Drapes made on the Beauti Pleat are more durable and less expensive. They take less time and fabric to make and are easier to clean. The Beauti Pleat is on a coil spring, and the folds draw evenly.

Snyder Drapery also does pinch pleat work and custom hand made drapes.

Also in order to better serve their customers, Snyder Drapery has recently purchased three new commercial sewing machines. One is a blind stitcher. Another one is a surger that trims material at any width and sews it in one operation. The other machine is a heavy duty, power sewing machine. The three machines were purchased locally so that they can be serviced here.

There are no delays in getting drapes hung by the friendly, experienced personnel at Snyder drapery. Co-owners of the business are Nena Mitchell and Connie Smith. They've operated Snyder Drapery here for the past four years. One employe–Othel Warren–has over 20 years experience. She was employed in Midland before coming here.

Snyder Drapery also features laminated and custom window shades, bed spreads, and the firm will have a good line of quilted bed spreads soon. Also available are new Foam Craft picture frames and wall plaques.

Now is the time to order Christmas table cloths. Snyder Drapery makes all kinds of table cloths.

Snyder Drapery also has upholstery in stock and can order from the major companies. The firm can make any type of balance or cornice boards and can perform any kind of decorating work. Decorative rods, trims and a large stock of drapery material also is available at Snyder Drapery.

CIA Reports On Red Agents

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times said today the Central Intelligence Agency has told President Nixon that more than 30,000 Communist agents have infiltrated the government of South Vietnam.

The Times said the CIA predicted a resurgence of Communist strength as United States troops are withdrawn from South Vietnam.

The report, the newspaper said, called the Communist apparatus "virtually impossible to destroy" and listed as agents an aide to President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam, a former province chief and high officials of the police and military intelligence.

In a dispatch from Washington, the newspaper said:

"The CIA's analysis does not assert or imply that the South Vietnamese government is likely to fall in the next few months, the officials who have read it said. Nor does the study discount the likelihood that the South Vietnamese Army will perform well in battle for some time to come, as occurred in Cambodia.

"What the study does imply, the officials said, is that the South Vietnamese government has little chance of enduring over the long run because of the great extent of Communist penetration."

White House officials confirmed the existence of the report, the Times said, but they contended the report "exaggerated the extent of infiltration and rejected the analysis as inaccurate and 'overly pessimistic,'" a view said to be shared by President Nixon.

The newspaper said it had obtained details of the report from government officials who had read it.

C5A Blast Probed

DOBBINS AFB, Ga. (AP) — An investigation is underway to determine the cause of a flight line explosion and fire that destroyed the first C5A supercargo jet ever built.

The holocaust Saturday in which the $50 million craft was demolished and flight mechanic Phillip L. Smith, 31, was killed renewed the controversy surrounding the plane and its maker, Lockheed-Georgia Co.

A long-time critic of the C5A, Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., demanded that the Air Force, for whom the jets were constructed, ground all C5A planes until the cause of the explosion is determined.

Proxmire is chairman of the Senate subcommittee on economy in government.

R. D. Roche, vice president of Lockheed-Georgia and C5A program manger, said Sunday the blasts occurred while maintenance work was being performed, and that the engines were not running and no systems were in operation.

Pat On Campaign Journey

By FRANCES LEWINE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — While the President stumps for the GOP through six states today and Tuesday, Pat Nixon will be on a two-day political journey of her own.

First scheduled stop on her tour today was Detroit for a boost of Lenore Romney's lagging GOP campaign for a seat in the U.S. Senate.

She's trying to upset Democrat Philip A. Hart, an outspoken liberal in his two terms in the Senate. Election forecasters don't give the wealthy Mrs. Romney much of a chance.

The only woman running for the Senate this year, Mrs. Romney, whose husband, George, is Secretary of Housing and Urban Development, had hoped the President would make a personal appearance in her behalf. But Nixon sent his wife instead.

Besides Michigan, Mrs. Nixon's appearances were set for Republican Senate and gubernatorial candidates in Minnesota and in Nevada Tuesday.

The White House has announced the first lady also is making a one-day campaign trip later this week to St. Petersburg and Fort Myers, Fla.

Cabinet To Rule On Hijackers

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — The fate of the Lithuanian and his son who hijacked a Soviet airliner last week and killed the stewardess was in the hands of the Turkish cabinet today following a provincial court's refusal to indict them. It appeared likely that the government would send the case back to the courts.

All three judges of the court in Trabzon, where the airliner landed Thursday, agreed that the actions of Pranas Stasio Brazinskas and his son Algedas constituted a political crime. The Turkish criminal code says that a foreigner accused of foreign crimes with a political motive will not be brought to trial or extradited.

The court's action sent the case to the justice minister, who must decide whether to drop it as a political crime or instruct the public prosecutor to charge the pair with felonies. The latter course would return the case to the courts for the final decision.

The Soviet government has demanded the return of the pair, and a high-level official indicated the government would like to comply. But he said the government could not interfere with the workings of the court. Relations have been improving between the Turkish and Soviet governments in recent years, and Moscow recently agreed to a $300 million credit for industrial projects.

Careers In Botany World

Career Corner

by Joyce Lain

what job would you like to see explored in this column?

Dear Joyce: Are there as many different fields in botany as there are in, say, engineering? – T.J., Santa Ana, Calif.

You bet your Sweet William there are. A botanist studies plants professionally and is classified as a biological scientist. While botanists generally teach, conduct research or perform administrative duties, their scientific interests would fill a forest ranging as it does from the chemistry of the DNA molecule in the nucleus of a plant cell to the use of plant materials in modern medicine. Botany is important because

THE WHOLE OF LIFE DEPENDS ON PLANTS. The earth's great green carpet of plant life not only gives us oxygen to breathe, but directly or indirectly is the source of all food.

FROM MICRO-ORGANISMS TO FLOWERING PLANTS. Explaining professional divisions, the Botanical Society of America says:

"The limits of the field of botany are interpreted in different ways. For example, government agencies and many other institutions classify the applied plant sciences as separate from botany. Thus bacteriology (the study of bacteria and other micro-organisms), agronomy (the study of field and pasture crops), horticulture (the study of orchard and vegetable crops), forestry (the study of forests and their management), and plant pathology (the study of plant diseases) are not considered part of botany.

"This separation is, of course, artificial and it is often impossible to determine whether an individual who is studying the structure or activities of a plant is a botanist or a horticulturist or an agronomist.

"Some botanists specialize in the study of certain groups of plants. Thus, algologists or phycologists study algae, bryologists are concerned with mosses and liverworts, pteridologists investigate ferns and other seedless vascular plants, and mycologists study various aspects of the fungi.

"Other botanists specialize in a particular type of study. Morphologists and anatomists study the structure, development and reproduction of plants. cytologists investigate the structure and ultrastructure of plant cells, plant physiologists and biochemists are concerned with nutrition, metabolism, coordination and other activities of plants, geneticists study heredity in plants, taxonomists and systematic botanists are concerned with the naming, classification, evolution and relationships of plants, ecologists study the relations of plants to the environment, and paleobotanists study fossil plants."

HORTICULTURAL HAUNTS. About 75 percent of botanists work for educational institutions, 12 percent for government agencies, and 3 percent for industrial firms (such as those in the pharmaceutical, petroleum, chemical and aerospace industries). Other plant scientists work in museums and botanical gardens.

HAPPY CABBAGE. 1968 median salaries for botanists (latest available) with bachelor's, master's, and doctor's degrees were $9,600, $10,000 and $14,200, respectively. While plant scientists aren't paid in spades, they earn a comfortable living and enjoy individual freedom, varied work, pleasant surroundings and stimulating associates.

Thirty Die In Weekend Violence

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Car wrecks accounted for most of the violent deaths in Texas over the weekend followed by drownings, and a multiple death fire at Fairfield.

The Associated Press started its count of violent deaths at 6 p.m. Friday until midnight Sunday.

The tally at midnight showed at least 30 dead with 16 traffic fatalities.

Three residents of Leonard, in Fannin County, were killed in early morning darkness Sunday when their car ran off of U.S. 82 and smashed into a tree four miles west of Texarkana.

The trio was identified as Keys Louis, 52, Ida Keys Johnson, 52, and Gertrude Holman, all of the Fannin County town.

Arthur Howard, 35, and James Johnson, 38, drowned when their fishing boat capsized near the Galveston causeway Sunday. Two other occupants of the boat were rescued and hospitalized in what was termed fair condition.

Police said Shannon Kay Minor, 2, drowned Saturday when she fell into the swimming pool at her Houston home.

Police at San Antonio said Margaret Powe, 23, an elementary school teacher, was shot to death at her trailer home Saturday. A man was being questioned.

Two men were killed Saturday night when their car collided with a truck on the Dallas-Fort Worth Turnpike. Officers said the victims were Juan Garcia of Mathis and Robert Quintana of Fort Worth.

At Harlingen, Sean O. Kelley, 19, of Santa Rosa, was killed early Sunday when his car left the U.S. 77 and struck a culvert.

Arthur Johnson, 64, was shot to death when he argued over a parking space in Houston, police said. Richard M. Johnson, 55, was charged with murder.

A man tentatively identified as Willie Turner, 56, was found shot to death early Sunday on a Dallas street, police said.

REV. GEORGE WHITE

Revival To Begin Here

Revival begins tonight at Calvary Baptist Church, located at 2405 Thirty-fifth Street. Prayer service will begin each night at 7 and the preaching service will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Rev. George White, pastor of the Bowie Street Baptist Church in San Angelo is the evangelist. There will be morning services at 9:30 Tuesday through Friday. The revival will continue through Sunday night. Everyone is invited to attend all services and a nursery is provided for the babies.

Marvin Weds Old Sweetheart

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Lee Marvin's second wife is his high school sweetheart of more than 25 years ago, Pamela Seeley.

Friends who reported the private ceremony disclosed little except that the 46-year-old actor and his bride had been schoolmates in Woodstock, N.Y.

A justice of the peace married them Sunday in a hotel suite. A spokesman said they planned to live at Marvin's house in Malibu, Calif., and didn't go on a honeymoon.

Marvin won an Academy Award in 1966 for his role in "Cat Ballou." His most recent movie is "Monte Walsh."

Like Marvin, Miss Seeley is once-divorced, friends said.

Entertainers Aid Reagan

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan has listed singer Frank Sinatra, television personality Art Linkletter, oil magnate J. Paul Getty and comedians Bob Hope and Jack Benny as contributors to his reelection campaign.

A list filed with California's secretary of state indicates Reagan has received $881,705 in sizable donations—$500 or more.

Reagan had reported receiving more than $1 million in Republican primary donations although he ran unopposed.
