Repeal Amendment Voids Liquor Laws

(By J. M. SIBLEY)
County Chairman Texas Anti-Whiskey League

What would be the status of the liquor laws in Texas in the event the proposed repeal amendment is adopted in the election to be held on August 24? In answer to this question I am glad to quote at length from a recent opinion of Judge Henry Pharr, district attorney, 8th judicial district of Texas.

"Prior to the adoption of the state-wide prohibition amendment and the enactment of the Dean law of 1919, this state sought to control the liquor traffic by what was known as local option by which precincts and counties determined by majority vote whether liquor traffic would be permitted. All prohibition laws, including the local option laws, were repealed by the adoption of the constitutional amendment on May 24, 1919, and were replaced in effect by the passage of the dean law.

"The amendment to be voted on August 24th proposes to repeal section a, b, c, d, and e, the adoption of which proposed repeal amendment by the voters would of course render unconstitutional the dean laws, under which we have operated for the past 16 years.

"The proposed repeal amendment to be voted on August 24 is very ably drawn and ingeniously worded conveying the impression on the mind of the average reader that all that part of Texas which was dry by local option be-

BINDWEED ERADICATION SERIOUS FARM PROBLEM

According to information received this week from Hon. Marvin Jones and P. R. Richey, chief of the bureau of plant industry, the Department of Agriculture has no funds nor authorization for the actual eradication of bindweed. This was the reply received by County Agent J. T. Stovall's request for assistance in controlling and eradicating this most troublesome weed pest.

An article on this subject will be found in this issue of the Herald and should be read by every farmer who is bothered by bindweed. If permitted to spread unhampered, it creates a serious problem and one that needs coordinated local action to control.

EXPORT PROVISIONS FARM AID

MARVIN JONES AND TOM CONNALLY SUCCEED IN GETTING AMENDMENTS TO AID AGRICULTURE

The inclusion in the AAA amendments of the export provision, having for its purpose the expansion of foreign and domestic markets for farm products, is a personal tribute to Congressman Marvin Jones and Senator Tom Connally, of Texas. Both of these gentlemen have been working for years to bring to the farmer this measure of equity in the operation of the tariff laws.

This particular part of the measure provides for allocating a sum equal to 30 percent of the collections under the general tariff laws. This sum is to be used for the purpose of expanding domestic and foreign markets of farm commodities and the products thereof, in the payment of additional benefits and for the removal of surpluses. It is estimated that 30 percent of the American people are engaged in farming. This is the reason for utilizing these funds for this purpose.

Senator Connally and Congressman Jones issued the following joint statement: "The adoption of this provision marks the longest step forward that has ever been taken in securing the rights of agriculture. For more than a half century, the farmer has been pleading for equal rights. He has borne the burdens of the tariff without the corresponding advantages. Selling his surplus commodities in a free market, he has bought his supplies in a protected market.

"The regular farm program is important and has accomplished much. It will be continued. However, in its administration, the processing fee is paid by the product itself.

"To make the circle complete it must be supplemented. This is done by allocating 30 percent of the customs receipts. For many years this has been advocated, but this is the first decided step which makes the accomplishments possible.

"The entire country will be benefited. While an adjustment program is necessary and will be carried on, the entire country is interested in the building of foreign markets. Looking down the long road to the future, our country cannot afford to surrender these markets. The prosperity, the happiness the success of all of the people of America depend upon the maintenance of these markets.

"The use of this fund will do much to iron out the sore spots, to remove temporary gluts and to enable the products of the farm to flow into the markets of the world. It is an ideal supplement to the farm program. It will do much to strengthen that program and make it effective. There is no doubt of its legality. It will be national in scope and effective in operation."

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Irvin came in Tuesday from Abilene, where he has been teaching this summer. Together with Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Sanford and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Sheets of Spearman, they plan on leaving Friday for a vacation trip to Colorado.

The annual revival meeting of the local Methodist church will open Sunday morning, August 25, according to announcements made this week by Rev. W. B. Vaughn, pastor. Vaughn will do the preaching and a special committee headed by Mrs. Vance Apple are planning to have a splendid choir and special musical numbers for every meeting.

"It is hoped that this meeting will be helpful, not only to the membership of the Methodist church but to all the community," Rev. Vaughn states. "We are inviting all church people of the community to join with us in these services as well as those who are not members."

Sunday services opening the revival will be held at 11:00 o'clock in the morning and at 8:00 in the evening, with Sunday school at 10:00 and young people's meeting at 7:15.

Services during the week will be held at 10:00 o'clock in the morning and 8:00 in the evening. The morning services will last just one hour. There will be special services for young people during the campaign.

CONTOURS TRIPLE GRASS YIELD

CONTOURING OF PASTURES INCREASES GRASS PRODUCTION AND PREVENTS EROSION OF LAND

As an instance of new contouring benefits range lands, County Agent Frank Stubbs, Jr., tells of an experiment at Spur, Texas, station. On pasture contoured to conserve moisture, preventing at the same time any soil depletion through sheet or gully erosion, the grass was three times as thick as on untreated pasture land—Dalhart Texas.

No Easy Method Known To Eradicate Bindweed

The following article for the control of Wild Morning-Glory, Bindweed or Creeping Jenny was prepared by L. W. Kephart, senior agronomist, division of forage crops and diseases, bureau of plant industry of the United States Department of Agriculture. A careful study should be made by all farmers bothered by this weed so that it can be checked from spreading.

Several wild plants of the morning-glory family are trouble-some weeds, but by far the most difficult to control is the small-leaved field bindweed, known also as wild morning-glory, and in Nebraska as creeping Jenny. Field bindweed occurs in favored places almost throughout the United States but is especially abundant in the north central and northern Rocky Mountain states and California. Wherever bindweed grows crop production is seriously handicapped, and since the weed spreads rapidly the area of infestation is constantly enlarging.

No easy method of eradicating bindweed is known. The plant is a perennial, growing from long, cord-like roots which may send up leafy shoots from any part of their length. Seeds are produced abundantly and germinated readily but can live in the soil for twenty years or more if necessary. Once established, bindweed can be exterminated only by the most vigorous measures, for ordinary good farm practice is not sufficient.

Many methods of eradicating bindweed have been tested but the

CORN-HOG CONTRACT SIGNERS ASSESSED

W. M. Deck, president of the Ochiltree County Corn-Hog Control Association has been advised by J. P. Shrader, Canadian, state chairman of the Corn-Hog advisory committee, that they find it necessary to raise funds for the incidental expenses of the association. The plan decided is to make an assessment of ten cents on each contract signer. As this is necessarily a strictly voluntary assessment, contract signers of Ochiltree county are requested to see that their assessment reaches Mr. Deck at once. Ochiltree county has 123 signers and the assigned quota of the county is $12.30 and Mr. Shrader advises that they would like to have this much or more.

International Sunday School Lesson

By A. C. Williams Minister Perryton Church of Christ.

Lesson VIII Barnabas Aug 25
(A Consecrated Man of Means)
Acts 4:36,37; 11:19-30

Memory Verse: "He was a good man, and full of the Holy Spirit and faith." Acts 11:24

I. Barnabas Introduced.

The Church had been planted at Jerusalem through the preaching of the apostles. Thousands had gladly received the word and been baptized for the remission of sins as instructed by the Holy Spirit (Acts 2:38). A wholesome growth had been enjoyed, transforming the very city of Jerusalem from a scoffing mob to a veritable arsenal of gospel truth and righteous living. No longer were the poor neglected. Men and women had become Christians, and therefore were disposed to look after those in destitute circumstances. The cry of widow and orphan gained entrance to the good hearts of God's people, and food and clothing were forthcoming.

Unusual circumstances bring to light unusual characters. A terrific flood may uncover a gold nugget. Crises call forth great men and women to meet them. The call of an epoch usually finds a response in some great commoner with a heart of gold.

Barnabas appears in a time of great need. Though his name was Jesus, the apostles had named him Barnabas signifying, "Son of Consolation." There was something about this man that consoled people. It was refreshing to know him. He made troubles easier to bear. Troubled waters became calm when Barnabas was present. Cold winds lost their chill, and jagged peaks lost their sharp outlines when this man was near. Barnabas was not an apostle. It is not necessary to have some official distinction, to be great. Greatness can be achieved only through service.

The home of Barnabas was Cyprus. Here he accumulated some land and made his home. But things were happening at Jerusalem, so he must leave the land and go help with the supreme task of spreading the gospel.

II. Barnabas and His Possessions.

With this good man Christ came first. He did not take out a policy in Christianity merely to help him in case of emergency. He did not do it to embellish his business nor bring gold into his coffers. It was not a social gesture nor a political game of logrolling with him. It was real and substantial. He gave himself to the Lord he loved and put his soul into the work.

Many hungry mouths needed to be fed. So the Barnabas land in Cyprus is freely sold that the destitute may be helped with its proceeds. The money is brought to the feet of the apostles and disposition is made as need requires.

Is this communism? Does it demand the sale of homes everywhere and that no one shall own property? Fanatics who so claim have not read their Bibles well. We must remember that Jerusalem was the religious capital of the Jews, and that thousands of pilgrims who had journeyed thither to pay respects to the God of Abraham had been converted while in the city, thousands of miles from home. Their anxiousness to continue with the church there detained them without means for livelihood. So it must rest with those who could do so, to see that these babes in Christ have the necessities of food, shelter and clothes. It was an emergency that the heroic church at Jerusalem rose to meet as it should have done. When those about us are suffering, we must heed their cries to the extent of great sacrifice. He who possesses abundant amidst the destitute of fellowmen, will have to reckon with his God in the last day, if he does not do all he can to relieve the suffering. This does not defend the lazy "spongers" of society. No comfort is given in the gospel for human leeches. Paul said that a man who would not work should not eat. But the thousands in Jerusalem were deserving because their detention in the city was for the purpose of spreading the gospel or receiving its blessings, sitting at the feet of the apostles, Christ's ambassadors, feeding hungry souls in the new-found faith.

III. Barnabas and A New Work.

Time rolls on. Some years have come and gone. Peter has preached to Cornelius and the Gentiles have responded to the gospel of Christ. Persecution has scattered the disciples at Jerusalem. But again the work was revived there. Also, the work which had been done in other communities by scattered men and women of God bore fruit. Over at Antioch, Syria, a vigorous growth of the gospel was in progress. But those beginners needed some help. They needed a sound and experienced hand to guide them in the ways of the Lord. And who could be found for the task. Naturally the Church at Jerusalem was looked to for help, and who could be found that would do a better work in Antioch than our trusted and tried Barnabas? So he went over and labored with the church there. As a result of his labors many more people were added to the Lord. As at Jerusalem, men and women obeyed the gospel, and were added to the church.

IV. Barnabas and A Great Discovery.

The work at Antioch soon reached proportions so large that Barnabas needed some one to help him. Saul had been converted, and was at present at his home town of Tarsus a little distant northwest of Antioch. The new convert, destined to become the greatest preacher among the Gentiles needed encouragement. A friendly hand is worth so much to one who is starting the life of a disciple of Christ. Many fail because they do not have the guiding assistance of more experienced men or women. But Saul would not want for that hand. Over hills and dales goes a "good man," full of the Holy Spirit and faith. He is headed for Tarsus to seek Saul. When he finally finds him, we hear him telling about the Antioch work and assuring Saul what help he can be to the new work there. Soon the return journey is made, and "Barnabas and Saul" launch one of the greatest enterprises at Antioch that the world has ever seen. This town was destined to become the new center of religious activity, and from it three missionary tours were made—tours which have remade the map of the world.

V. Barnabas and A New Name

For a year these two missionaries labored at Antioch. Ceaseless were their endeavors. Many men and women were won to Christ. Now comes a unique thing in the history of the church. The disciples were called Christians first at Antioch. What a wonderful term. It outshines denominational names as the sun outshines a candle. Under its holy caption every twelfth born creature may safely rest. It is so big and unselfish, we wonder why people leave it in the background to parade sectarian titles that divide good men and women into human factions and cults, condemned in unmistakable terms by the Bible. (John 17:21. I Cor. 12:4; 1:10; 12:25; 1:13).

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Mind" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, August 25.

The Golden Text is: "Who hath known the mind of the Lord, that he may instruct him? But we have the mind of Christ" (I Corinthians 2:16).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "To us there is but one God, the Father, of whom are all things, and we in him" (I Corinthians 8:6).

The Lesson-Sermon includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "God is Mind, and God is infinite; hence all in Mind. On this statement rests the Science of being, and the Principal of this Science is divine, demonstrating harmony and immortality" (page 492).

When the sun is blazing hot, your motor heat goes up, too!

To protect your motor, use Germ Processed Oil, which has 2 to 4 times greater film strength and is less affected by extreme motor heat!

YOUR MOTOR runs lots hotter in Summer. That's why you must have oil that maintains high film strength under extreme temperatures to get safe lubrication. Otherwise, the lubricating film ruptures and the bearings and cylinders suffer damaging wear.

Plain mineral oils have little film strength and oils over-refined by new cleansing methods have even less. As motor heat goes up, these oils rapidly lose film strength.

You'll get better motor protection with Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil. Timken machine tests prove that it has 2 to 4 times greater film strength than any plain mineral oil and that heat above 225° does not lessen this advantage.

More proof—supervised road tests were made in identical cars fitted with the new alloy metal bearings used in many 1935 cars. The bearings lubricated with a high-quality plain mineral oil showed 45% more wear than those lubricated with Conoco Germ Processed, the first alloyed oil.

You'll be certain your motor is safely lubricated even at high temperatures if you say "O. K.—Drain" and fill with Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil—the oil with the "Hidden Quart" that stays up in your motor and never drains away.

Cook in Cool Comfort on the Hottest Days

The NESCO cooks with built-in heat that cannot escape to raise room temperatures. The 6-quart model (above) will cook a whole meal for a family of four without causing any more discomfort than one would experience in preparing sandwiches and a pitcher of lemonade. The 12-quart NESCO is made for larger families and offers the same relief from kitchen heat. Either model may be purchased on convenient terms.

THE woman who owns a NESCO can take the afternoon off, even though she has an evening meal to cook. She simply puts the meat and vegetables in the cooker, sets the heat control dial for the proper temperature and leaves the kitchen. When she returns, hours later, the food is piping hot and ready to serve.

Thousands of Texas women have discovered the convenience of NESCO electric cooking. They like the better taste of foods that are cooked in their own nourishing juices. They like the cleanliness of electricity, the absence of kitchen heat and the economy of operation. They find that NESCO brings them all of the advantages of electric cookery at a cost of only two or three cents per day.

JOAN CRAWFORD PICKS FAVORITES BY SMILES

Robert Montgomery... Franchot Tone... Clark Gable... Ronald Coleman—these are the men selected by Joan Crawford as having the most "charming smiles on the screen."

"And if you want me to pick the best of these, I refuse," grinned Joan. "Except that Franchot's laugh is the most infectious in the world."

This discussion began on the "No More Ladies" set at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, when the star's new picture was being filmed, with Montgomery, Tone, Edna May Oliver, Charlie Ruggles and others. Conversation swung around to film aspirants and the importance of a smile.

"I can almost pick a winner by his smile," Joan was saying. "If it's empty or forced he hasn't a chance. You can't radiate charm if you don't feel it inside and you can't spread much warmth with a smile turned on like an electric light."

Directed by Edward H. Griffith, and produced by Irvin Thalberg, "No More Ladies" shows Sunday and Monday at the Ellis Theatre.

Live At Randall Hall

W. T. S. T. C. Conducts Cooperative Home For Girls Attending School

Canyon—Eight students from Ochiltree county have lived in Randall cooperative home for girls since its organization on the campus of the West Texas State Teachers college two years ago.

They are: Ada Belle Flathers, Notia, and Mrs. Max Boyer, Mrs. Vance Apple, Charline McLarty, Kathryn Orr, Anna Lee Riley, Ola Mae Roberts, and Florence Bransgrove, all of Perryton.
Begun in the fall of 1933, Randall Hall was designed to give the daughters of West Texas a chance to attend college in spite of drought and depression. It has done that in so far as its capacity allows. One hundred six girls have worked, studied and lived together in Randall Hall each term during the two long sessions and two summer sessions of its existence.

Miss Militia Hill, organizer of the cooperative home, allotted the thirty seven household tasks among the girls, giving each one an hour of work to do a day. This work, plus fourteen dollars in money per month from each girl solves the financial problem of carrying on the home.

Social life at Randall consists of regular affairs both formal and informal, conducted so as to give the young women a maximum of social contacts.

Trying Out Real Warfare at Fort McPherson

This photograph shows a bit of exciting action in the mimic war staged at Fort McPherson on the outskirts of Atlanta, Ga. Two pursuit and observation planes may be seen as they dived at full speed to strike troops on the ground. The latter, members of the regular Twenty-second Infantry, fought back with rifles and machine guns. The planes were flown by the reserve officers under the command of Major Wiley R. Wright, and the infantry was under command of Col. F. S. Chalmers.

Damming the White Nile to Irrigate Egypt

The second major link in Egypt's stupendous irrigation progress is now under construction on the White Nile, 30 miles south of Khartoum, where 8,000 men are at work on the Gebel Aulia dam. When completed, in the fall of 1937, the dam will form a lake 250 miles long and will provide water for 3,000,000 acres of land in Egypt.

Bill. However, under the existing Texas statute the payment of money to widowed mothers for the support of their dependent children is possible only from the funds of the Commissioners Court of the county. Under the Security Bill the United States Children's Bureau can not put money into a state for this purpose unless the state government (1) provides for central administration or supervision of the plan and (2) provides for financial participation by the state itself.

Maternal and Child Health
A fund of $3,800,000 is specified for the purpose of the extending and improving services for the promotion of the health of mothers and children, especially in rural areas. This is to be allotted by the United States Children's Bureau to states which meet the minimum requirements of the Federal Bill. $20,000 to each state and the remainder distributed in part according to the relation the number of live births in a state bears to the total number of live births in the United States and part according to the financial need of each state for assistance for carrying out its plan. This section also requires financial participation by the state.

Crippled Children
$2,850,000 is to be appropriated for services for locating crippled children and for providing medical, surgical and corrective services and after care to crippled children. The recent Texas Legislature made $150,000 available for similar purposes and authorized this money to be used for matching Federal funds. According to J. J. Brown of the Division of Rehabilitation of the Department of Education, Texas is eligible for a total of approximately $150,000 of Federal funds for services to crippled children.

Child Welfare Services
For the extension of services for the care of homeless or neglected children through public welfare agencies, especially in rural areas, the Social Security Bill appropriates $1,500,000 for the year ending June 30, 1936. This money is to be allotted, $10,000 to each state and the remainder on the basis of the part the rural population of the state bears to the total rural population of the United States. Texas, under this plan would be eligible through the Division of Child Welfare to approximately $60,000.

Vocational Aid
To aid states in strengthening their programs for the vocational rehabilitation of disabled persons approximately $2,000,000 is provided for the year ending June 30, 1936. This represents the extension of the Federal assistance which has formerly been available for like purposes, and according to the Texas Division of Vocational Rehabilitation will bring the Texas allocation to approximately $100,000. State money for the matching of this sum has already been provided by the Texas Legislature.

Public Health Works
For the purpose of assisting states, counties and cities in establishing and maintaining adequate public health services the Security Bill authorizes an annual appropriation of $8,000,000, and for the investigation of diseases and problems of sanitation $2,000,000 is allotted. The amounts to be paid to states are to be determined on the basis of (1) population, (2) the special health problems, and (3) the financial needs of the respective states.

Aid to the Blind
For the purpose of enabling each state to furnish financial assistance to needy individuals who are permanently blind the Security Bill appropriates annually a sum of $3,000,000. This money is to be used for payments to states which have submitted and had approved by the Security Board, state plans for aid to the blind. The bill requires that to be approved a state plan must, among other things, (1) provide for financial participation by the state, (2) be effective in all political subdivisions of the state, and (3) either provide for the establishment or the designation of a single state agency to administer the plan.

Under the sections of the Security Bill as would require state pensions—such as, pensions to widows and to the blind—constitutional authorization is thought necessary before the Texas Legislature could consider the matter of appropriating state money for such purposes. Since under the present Constitution, constitutional amendments can not be submitted except at regular sessions, the matter of possible legislative consideration of ways and means of meeting the requirements of such sections of the Social Security Bill will depend upon the outcome of the Constitutional amendment to be voted on August 24, 1935, which, if passed, would authorize the Texas Legislature to submit Constitutional amendments at any session, regular or called.

ORDER AND NOTICE OF ELECTION FOR CREATION AND INCORPORATION OF OCHILTREE COUNTY INTO A WIND EROSION CONSERVATION DISTRICT.

THE STATE OF TEXAS) COUNTY OF OCHILTREE)
On this the 12th day of August, 1935, the Commissioners' Court of Ochiltree County, Texas, was convened in regular session at the regular meeting place thereof in the Courthouse at Perryton, Texas, with all of the members of said court present, viz:

Dave Shanks, County Judge.
W. L. Anderson, Commissioner, Precinct No. 1.
W. G. Yeary, Commissioner, Precinct No. 2.
Fred Tarbox, Commissioner, Precinct No. 3.
J. H. Callihan, Commissioner, Precinct No. 4.
Irvin R. Buchanan, County Clerk.

When there came on to be considered and heard the petition of more than fifty (50) duly qualified property tax paying voters of Ochiltree County, for the purpose of calling an election to determine whether a majority of the legally qualified property tax paying voters of such county favor the creation and incorporation of the area of such county into a Wind Erosion Conservation District.

Said election shall be held and the returns thereof made in conformity with the provisions of the General Election Laws of the State of Texas regarding elections and in substantial compliance with the requirements for elections to vote bonds for public improvements and shall be held by reason of Article 165a-2, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas and all Sections thereunder. When the returns of the election have been canvassed by the Commissioners' Court, the result of such election shall be declared by order duly entered on the Minutes of said court and if the result is in favor of the creation and incorporation of the area of Ochiltree County as a Wind Erosion Conservation District, the County Judge shall issue an order declaring such District to be created and incorporated and such order shall also be entered in the Minutes of the Commissioners' Court and a certified copy thereof entered in the Deed Records of the County. Thereupon, the District shall be deemed to be legally created and incorporated with all rights, powers, authority and privileges herein conferred and authorized by Section 59, of Article XVI, of the Constitution of Texas, for the purpose of conserving and reclaiming the soil in such District.

And it further appearing to the Court that the Legislature of Texas has provided by Statute, viz. Section 13, Article 165a-2, Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, for the purpose of aiding and facilitating the work to be performed by the wind erosion conservation districts, that the ad valorem taxes in some counties and a fifty per cent portion of the ad valorem taxes in certain counties that will accrue and be due and payable to the State of Texas for the years of 1935 and 1936 from all property located in said counties shall be diverted to the conservation districts that may be formed in said counties. That said law provides that in Ochiltree County, fifty per cent of said ad valorem taxes to be due and payable to the State of Texas for the years 1935 and 1936 shall be diverted to the conservation district that may be formed in said county. And the Governing Body of such conservation district to be formed in Ochiltree Co., should a majority of tax paying voters of Ochiltree County vote for the creation and incorporation of such District, are authorized to use said sums to defray the necessary costs and expenses incident to the purpose for which such conservation district is formed. As and when taxes from said County are provided that in the event either of said counties named in said law aforesaid, all of which is specially referred to in this order, fails or refuses to form such conservation district on or before October 1, 1935, then in that event the State Treasurer shall retain the State ad valorem taxes collected from said county as is required by general law. It is specially provided in said act that provisions of same shall not in any case apply to the ad valorem taxes collected for school purposes or collected for payment of Confederate pensions.

It is therefore ordered: adjudged and decreed by the commissioners' court of Ochiltree County, Texas, that an election be held in and throughout said Ochiltree County, Texas on the 14th day of September, 1935, which is not less than 30 days from the date of this order, to determine whether or not a majority of the legally qualified property tax paying voters of such county favor the creation and incorporation of the area of such county into a Wind Erosion Conservation District. All persons who are legally qualified property tax paying voters shall be entitled to vote at such election. Each voter favoring the creation and incorporation of such District shall have written or printed on his ballot "FOR THE CREATION AND INCORPORATION OF THE OCHILTREE COUNTY WIND EROSION CONSERVATION DISTRICT."

"WHAT! 98^c for Tooth-paste?"

(That's What You'd Pay,
Madam, If It Weren't for Advertising!)

NEARLY a dollar for a little tube of tooth-paste. $3.25 for a pair of chiffon hose. 50c for a gallon of gasoline. And a flat two thousand for a "popular priced" car.

How far could the old family budget stagger under that kind of load? What's more to the point, how many nice things could you afford to buy? There's one big reason why you don't have to pay such outlandish prices for quality things these days. It's because you—and millions like you all over the country—do your buying through the advertising you read! And it's because you—and hundreds like you here in Perryton who read the Herald—can afford to be choosy and critical when you shop for values.

For Herald ads save you money! A merchant can mark his good merchandise at a lower price when his Herald ad will bring many, many dollar-wise shoppers to his store. Having all these buyers gives him a good return on just a tiny profit per item! And you pay no big "mark-up". But price isn't everything. You get better quality in advertised goods. They have "acceptance"—they've been tested by thousands of shoppers as careful as yourself. And found worthwhile. They must be good or the merchant wouldn't spend his hard earned money to advertise them in this newspaper where you can compare them with other offerings every day. It will pay you many times over to read the ads in the Herald regularly.

How Advertising LOWERS The Price of What You Buy!

Take tooth-paste, for instance. Good tooth-paste. It may cost Mr. Manufacturer, Mr. Jobber and Mr. Druggist 30 cents a tube to make and sell it—counting salaries and packing and transportation, rent and other "overhead" and the interest due on the note at the bank. A fair profit all along the line . . . and then this tooth-paste could be sold for 45c—if everybody knew about it!

Sure . . .

. . . but who does know about it? Just a mere handful of people who have heard of it by "word of mouth." A few hundred maybe. Not enough to pay the manufacturer's rent and his salaries. Not enough to let him stay in business.

And so . . .

. . . he can do one of two things. Raise the price to nearly a dollar (as in our picture above) while you brush your teeth with plain water. Or raise the price a bare nickel per tube and spend that nickel per tube on advertising—to tell his story to millions—do a volume of business at a small profit—and bring you good tooth-paste at 50c or even less.

BIND WEED

crop on the land between seasons.

2. Chemical Control Bindweed can be killed with chemicals, but the process is expensive—roughly, forty to fifty dollars an acre. The chemicals most commonly used are sodium arsenate and sodium chlorate, either alone or in combination with other substances. In California a mixture of sodium arsenate and sulphuric acid is employed. Elsewhere, sodium chlorate mixtures are more commonly used.

Sodium arsenate is used in solution as a spray driven against the foliage. Like all arsenicals, IT IS A DEADLY POISON AND MUST BE USED WITH GREAT CARE TO AVOID INJURY TO LIVESTOCK AND HUMAN BEINGS. It can be purchased in either dry or liquid form, or it may be prepared at home. Directions for the use of sodium of arsenite can be obtained upon application to the Division of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Sodium chlorate is a powerful plant poison, widely used for general weed killing. It is applied either as a spray to the foliage or in dry condition to the surface of the soil. In spraying, 1½ pounds of the chemical or its compounds are dissolved in each gallon of water and sufficient spray applied to wet the foliage thoroughly. One hundred to two hundred gallons per acre may be required. In dry form, the chlorate is scattered on the surface of the ground late in autumn and allowed to dissolve into the soil during the winter. Four hundred to five hundred pounds per acre the first time and half that quantity six months later is usually sufficient.

efficient to kill all but a few stray plants. These should be attended to individually. The Extension Department of Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio, recommends a mixture of sodium chlorate and lime as being safer and easier to use. Other mixtures are sold under proprietary names.

Sodium chlorate is not particularly poisonous but IT IS A SERIOUS FIRE HAZARD. MIXTURES OF SODIUM CHLORATE AND ORGANIC MATERIALS ARE EXPLOSIVE INFLAMMABLE. Clothing or wooden tanks that have been soaked with chlorate solution and then dried, barn floors, especially dusty ones, on which dry chlorate has been spilled and even sprayed vegetation after drying may take fire violently from a spark, from friction, or even from spontaneous combustion. Store chlorates in the original metal containers in an out-of-the-way place. Wear rubber boots when spraying. Thoroughly wash or destroy chlorate-wet clothing and wooden implements and NEVER ALLOW THE WET GARMENTS TO DRY UPON THE PERSON. Treat all chlorate as you would gunpowder or gasoline. THEY ARE TREACHEROUS.

In spraying bindweed with either arsenicals or chlorate it is best to operate in humid weather when the weed is growing vigorously. The killing effect is not satisfactory during dry periods on dormant growth. The best season to apply the spray is likely to be as the first flowers are opening. One or two sprayings the first year and one or two lighter sprayings the second year usually suffice.

ritory, it being an offense to sell beer not over 3.2 per cent and no penal law applicable provided alcohol content was over 3.2 per cent.

"I recognize that it is possible for the legislature to be concerned in special session and that it then could enact laws to protect dry territory, but we must recognize some of the difficulties that would be encountered in so doing. As now constituted the prevailing sentiment of the 44th legislature conceded wet, and if repeal carries would not the legislature be warranted in considering that as an expression of the will of the people and a mandate of them to throw the state wide open. Moreover, most every special session lasts for a period of 30 days and unless a bill in the legislature passes each house by a two-thirds majority record vote, the bill cannot become a law for a period of ninety days after the legislature adjourns. Therefore, it is apparent that if the repeal amendment should carry on August 24, it would be a period of at least 120 days from the opening of the session that there would be no law in the state of Texas with a penalty attached to it prohibiting the traffic in intoxicating liquors (provided it was over 3.2 per cent). During this period of time any person could pursue the liquor business at any place in the state of Texas without facing possible prosecution."

I do not feel that the above described situation is what the people of Texas want, and if this opinion is correct, then the promise that the moon shall not return means less and less. Surely we shall not destroy our state constitutional prohibition and invite chaos.

ONLY 19 FDIC BANKS FAIL

SPLENDID RECORD ESTABLISHED FOR FIRST EIGHTEEN MONTHS OPERATION

Washington—Prompt start of payment of depositors of closed insured banks; only nineteen closings out of a membership of four thousand banks; an excess of income over outgo of more than four million dollars; are some of the features of the report of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation for its first eighteen months of operation.

The FDIC also reports that all banks which it was insuring on June 30, 1935, are to be credited on the Corporation books with 100 per cent of the amount they have paid for insurance of an estimated $18,000,000,000 of their deposits. The total credit for all insured banks amounts to $41,461,326.

Complete protection of the funds of 99 per cent of 26,000 depositors in the nineteen insured banks is revealed by the FDIC. Total insured deposits were $2,760,000. In each of the closing payment was begun within an average of eight days.

Chairman Leo T. Crowley of the FDIC board of directors, in making the report public, said: "It is gratifying to be able to report so few closings of insured banks. It constitutes real evidence of the soundness of the reconstruction program begun two years ago which was made possible through the cooperation of insured banks with the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation and other Federal and state authorities in trying to get banks back on a firm operating basis."

Outside the insurance fund there were fifty-one failures of banks, involving total deposits of more than $35,000,000 during the eighteen months covered by the FDIC report.

The insurance corporation's income from September 11, 1933, the date of its inception, to June 30, 1935, after deducting deposit insurance losses and operating expenses, amounted to approximately four and a quarter million dollars. It estimates that its operating expenses for the current year will be less than 14-1000 of one per cent of its potential liability for insured deposits.
