Proposed Surtax Criticized

By GAYLORD SHAW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON AP—President Ford is reported ready to recommend an income tax surcharge on corporations and upper income individuals as part of his anti-inflation program.

Such a move, however, already has been criticized in some congressional quarters. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy D-Mass., urged Ford today to discard any plans for a surcharge.

"The basic defect of the surcharge is that it compounds the gross inequity that already exists in our income tax laws," said Kennedy in a statement.

Kennedy said a surcharge is "fundamentally unfair to millions of ordinary taxpayers because it hits hardest at those who already pay more than their fair share of taxes."

The president spent much of Sunday working on the package of proposals he will outline to Congress and the nation in a nationally televised and broadcast address from Capitol Hill at 4 p.m. EDT Tuesday.

White House spokesmen said Ford has settled on more than a dozen specific proposals, centering on problems with food and energy prices, the depressed housing industry and record high interest rates.

Administration sources said they expect the income tax surcharge to be among the President's recommendations. According to Time magazine, Ford is ready to seek a 5 per cent surtax on corporations as well as individuals in the higher income tax brackets.

Time said the surcharge "probably" would be on individual incomes of $7,500 and above and on family incomes of $15,000 and above.

The President, asked about the magazine report as he left Bethesda Naval Hospital after visiting his wife Sunday night, said "I make no comments on what we're going to talk about on Tuesday."

Administration sources acknowledged the 5 per cent surtax had been discussed at high level economic meetings.

It probably would be coupled with tax reductions for those in lower income brackets who are hit hard by inflation, the sources said.

The surtax presumably would apply against taxes. paid – not the full income of an individual or a corporation – but details were scanty as Ford put the final touches on his major economic address.

The President's proposals on housing are expected to include a recommendation for tax exemptions to encourage the flow of savings into financial institutions for use as mortgage loans. The housing industry is in its deepest slump ever because of tight money and high interest rates.

After the Sunday meeting, White House press secretary Ron Nessen turned aside questions on the President's tax plans. But he said the President's program "calls for sacrifices" by the public, industry and government.

"Sacrifices will be asked but there also will be proposals to make the sacrifices equitable so everyone bears his just share," Nessen said.

Feds To Meet On Grain Plan

By MARGARET SCHERF
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Henry M. Jackson said today he wants to know why the White House was not advised in advance of the sale of $500 million worth of U.S. wheat to the Soviet Union.

Government officials were to meet this afternoon with representatives of the grain exporters in an effort to formulate a voluntary plan for reporting foreign sales of U.S. grain.

The White House announced over the weekend that the sale of U.S. grain to the Soviet Union had been canceled and that President Ford had not known that such a deal was in the works until the contracts were signed.

Jackson said the Senate subcommittee on investigations, which he heads, will focus during a hearing scheduled for Tuesday on why the White House was not advised in advance of the sale.

"It was as if the Agriculture Department wished to hand the President a fait accompli," Jackson said.

Meanwhile, farm commodity futures were down the limit on the opening of the Chicago Board of Trade today, the first session after the government announced cancellation of the grain sale.

It appeared that traders were concerned that the government might expand its efforts over other farm commodities sold in export at a time when stocks and productions are thinning out.

President Ford, anxious to find out how farmers are taking the cancellation, made a call to the Kansas wheatlands Sunday night.

"Pretty nearly all the people out here are displeased," Clarence Ochs, a farm equipment dealer in Otis, Kan., said after talking to the President.

Ochs, 69, said about 1,500 farmers were attending the grand opening of his farm equipment business when the President called Sen. Bob Dole, R-Kan., a guest of honor.

Top Court In Brief Session

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court held a brief ceremonial session today to mark its return from summer recess to a docket whose more than 2,000 cases raise issues ranging from the death penalty to presidential impoundment of funds.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger presided at the five-minute ceremony, which was followed by the admission of 14 lawyers to practice before the court, the only business of the day.

Burger's right ring finger was in a cast, the only visible sign of injuries he received in a bicycle accident last month.

The court plans to spend the rest of the week in closed conferences considering a record 992 requests for action. Last year the total was 976.

The court will announce decisions on some of these matters on its first decision day, Oct. 15.

Most of them are appeals, which the court must decide whether to hear. They are among about 1,000 petitions for hearing that were filed during the summer recess. The court already had more than 1,000 such requests pending at the end of its last term.

The court already has agreed to hear 89 cases beginning next week.

Energy Saving Efforts Slowed

By JEFFREY D. ALDERMAN
Associated Press Writer

American fuel conservation efforts have lost some of their steam, and experts in and out of government are calling for new ways to save energy and slow the inflationary flow of dollars to oil countries.

An Associated Press survey completed on the eve of President Ford's economic policy speech shows that Americans are still traveling less, driving their cars more slowly and turning out lights.

The survey showed these efforts have slackened since the end of the embargo. They continue to provide considerable energy savings — more than a million barrels of oil a day. That's good, but not enough, many experts are saying.

With American crude production slowly declining and imports of expensive foreign crude slowly climbing, more conservation is needed to halt the dollar flow. The dollar drain is one of the biggest reasons for the inflation that plagues this country and much of the industrialized world, economists say.

France has already moved to cut oil imports by 10 per cent, and Italy is also taking mandatory steps to reduce energy use.

Secretary of the Treasury William E. Simon said last week that conservation is the only tool this country has right now to bring down foreign oil prices.

President Ford is expected to announce some new measures for conserving energy Tuesday, but advance word is that no radical steps will be taken.

Simon's successor as head of the Federal Energy Administration, John Sawhill, is known to favor a federal tax on gasoline to cut demand. President Ford has said he does not favor such a tax.

The AP conservation survey, like several others taken during the past year, showed that people cited inflation and the high price of gasoline and electricity as the prime reasons for cutting back. Industry spokesman also said they were cutting back because it saved them money.

"Since the oil embargo, only the price is making people conserve," said Dr. James Murray of the National Opinion Research Center in Chicago which has been polling citizen views on energy for the FEA. "It's strictly economic."

Market Rallies

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market, supported by an easing in the Federal Reserve's credit reins and a cut in the prime rate by another major bank, staged a broad rally today.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was ahead 12.12 to 596.68, and gainers topped lowers by 4 to 1 on the New York Stock Exchange.

Indications that the Federal Reserve was prepared to let interest rates fall another notch encouraged traders, analysts said. Hopes for easier credit gained further support when the First National Bank of Chicago lowered the prime lending rate to 11¾ per cent, following similar cuts last week by four other top banks.

National Semiconductor, the most-active Big Board stock, dropped ¼ to 7½.

Summit Set On Martinique

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford and French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing will hold their first meeting in mid-December on the Caribbean island of Martinique, White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen announced today.

Nessen, whose announcement trailed by several hours one from Giscard d'Estaing's office, said the meeting "will provide the two leaders with the opportunity to review issues of mutual interest."

The dates for the conference on Martinique, which is French territory, are Dec. 14-16.

Ford plans to meet the president of Mexico on the Texas-Mexican border later this month and will travel to Japan and South Korea in November. He has indicated he expects to have early meetings with heads of other west European governments.

The session between Ford and Giscard d'Estaing will be the first meeting of French and American chiefs of state since the late President Georges Pompidou and former President Richard M. Nixon went to Iceland in May 1973.

No important differences mar relations between France and the United States, although the two countries have been taking a different approach to the energy crisis.

France has held back from joining the 18-nation group of energy consumers sponsored by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

Kissinger Is Optimistic On Test Talks

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said today that negotiations are starting up in Moscow to try to broaden an underground weapons test agreement to include peaceful nuclear tests.

The talks grow out of former President Richard M. Nixon's summit meeting last summer with Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev and involve a "good-faith effort to develop criteria" for banning weapons tests above 150 kilotons, Kissinger told a news conference.

Kissinger's remarks came one day after Brezhnev declared during a speech in East Berlin that it is time to "move further ahead" in disarmament talks.

On another issue, he said the Soviets have never assured him that 60,000 Jews would be allowed to emigrate annually as part of a compromise to gain congressional approval of trade and credit benefits.

However, he said he shares the "same goal" of senators leading the drive to ease Soviet restraints on emigration.

Kissinger said he believes it still will be possible to reach a reasonable compromise accord despite difficulties which have developed recently in talks with Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., and others strongly concerned over the Soviet Jewry issue.

Turning to the Ford administration's decision to hold up a $500 million shipment of corn and wheat to the Soviet Union, the secretary said "a strong possibility exists we may have misled" the Soviets on how quickly shipments would be processed.

Kissinger said fulfillment of the Soviet order now would have a "disproportionate impact" on the American economy, the fight against inflation and U.S. ability to meet other world commitments. He added that Treasury Secretary William E. Simon would discuss the subject in Moscow later this week.

"It was a misunderstanding between bureaucracies," Kissinger said.

On the Middle East, Kissinger said "there will be no concrete agreements or dramatic announcements" during his visit to the area beginning Wednesday.

He announced, meanwhile, that three countries—Saudi Arabia, Algeria and Morocco—have been added to his itinerary, but said he still intends to return to Washington on Oct. 15.

Despite the addition of three oil-producing countries, Kissinger said he and the administration want to keep the Arab-Israeli negotiations separate from U.S. efforts to deal with the four-fold increase in petroleum prices.

Kissinger said the two are not "inevitably linked" and that "we believe these negotiations should be conducted in separate forums."

A UNITED WAY AGENCY

Drug, Alcohol Abusers Are Concern Of Council

(People helping people. That is what the United Way is all about. During this time when many people have become disenchanted with the complex and sometimes impersonal ways of wociety, the united Way stands out as a direct and effective means for supporting whorthwhile close-to-home activities. Young and old alike benefit through the Scurry County United Way. This series of articles is planned to help explain the services given by the organizations and agencies which share in the United Way fund.)

Suppose that your husband or wife had a problem with alcohol or drugs. Where could you go for help?

Last year, 147 people contacted the Snyder Council on Drugs and Alcoholism for help, L.D. Womble, Executive Director, said. Of this number, about 55 had to be admitted to treatment centers. About 27 per cent of these have made sufficient progress to return to their homes and families.

The Council on Drugs and Alcoholism is a non-profit organization which depends on the United Way for support on the local level. It works with the West Central Texas Council of Governments and the Texas Commission on Alcoholism, and these agencies contribute some funds for the salaries of an office secretary and a technician. Office expenses and other miscellaneous expenses must be covered by local funds.

Womble receives no salary for his work as director of the Council. Mrs. Lucille Bohanna is secretary and keeps the office at 1911 25th Street open Monday through Friday from 8-12 noon and 1-5 p.m. Bob Lemons is the counselor.

The Snyder Council is known statewide as a strong and successful unit, Womble said. He and Lemons attend training sessions regularly to keep in touch with similar agencies in other areas and with new developments in counseling practices.

"Our primary purpose is to help the drug and alcohol abuser and the families involved," Womble said. "We offer education and guidance programs in the hope that people who need help can get it when they need it most, maybe before the require institutional treatment. If the situation requires that a person enter an institution for treatment, we try to refer the person or family to the proper authorities and continue to work with them as we are needed."

People in need of help are often referred to the Council by law enforcement agencies or by friends who have heard of its work.

Future projects of the Council include the development of a Traffic Safety Program, supported by the state office of Traffic Safety, and a Business and Industrial Program.

The Council is listed in the Snyder telephone directory as Alcoholism & Drug Information & Treatment Center, and persons who need help from the Council may call the number given there at any time.

Spend three minutes to insure your life

DEAR READERS: If statistics bore you, please read this anyway. The information may come in handy if you're ever on a quiz show. It could even save your life:

Q. When was the Chicago fire?

A. October 9, 1871! Exactly 103 years ago this week. But let's get a little more current, shall we? Did you know that last year in the U.S.A. 11,900 people died in 2,815,000 fires? And that in Canada, there were 830 deaths in 78,900 fires? Even more tragically, a large percentage of deaths were children, elderly persons and invalids who had been left alone for just a few minutes.

The chief causes of fires, in order of the toll taken, were: 1.) smoking, 2.) electrical wiring, 3.) heating and cooking equipment, 4.) children playing with matches, 5.) open flames and sparks, 6.) flammable liquids, 7.) suspected arson, 8.) chimneys and flues, 9.) lightning, 10.) spontaneous ignition.

The total fire loss in 1973 was an estimated 3 billion, one million dollars in the U.S.A. and 254 million dollars in Canada.

Now for some tips that could save your life:

• Be sure your cigarette is out. Matches, too. And never leave matches and lighters within the reach of children.

• Don't run cords under rugs or over radiators where they may get damaged. And replace a cord if it is frayed.

• Never leave small children alone in the house. Not even for a few minutes.

• Have your wiring and electrical installations done by a professional.

• Store oily rags and paints in a cool place in tightly sealed metal containers.

• Never use flammable liquids for dry cleaning indoors.

• Never smoke in bed.

• Have a fire drill in your home to be sure everyone knows what to do in case of fire.

Remember, fire extinguishers put out 97% of all the fires on which they are used. Most large fires started as small fires. So invest in a compact, easy-to-use fire extinguisher and keep it handy in your kitchen, or be a sport and buy one for your cottage, car, boat, and the back bedroom, too.

NOW, in case of fire:

Most fires occur between midnight and 6 a.m., so always sleep with your bedroom door closed. If you suspect fire, feel the top of the door. If it's hot, don't open it. Escape through the window. But first alert the rest of the household.

If you can't open the window, break it with a chair. Cover the rough edges with a blanket and sit on the window ledge with one leg hanging outside and one inside, and wait for help.

The phone number of your fire department should be taped on every telephone. If it isn't, don't fumble around trying to call them. Get out—and call from a neighbor's house.

If you live in an apartment building, use the stairway. Don't take a chance on the elevator. If it fails, you're trapped.

Once out, stay out. No treasure—not even the family pet—is worth risking a human life.

It took less than three minutes to read this column. Was it worth it? I hope so. God bless. Have a good day! ABBY

Road Work Approved

Highway improvements in Scurry County are included in a $50.2 million safety and improvement program for 1975 approved by the Texas Highway Commission.

Roger G. Welsch, District Engineer of District 8, said the program includes a seal coat (asphalt and aggregate overlay) on the travel lanes and shoulders for Texas Highway 350 from 5.6 miles southwest of Snyder to Snyder; FM 1606 from U.S. 180, through Ira to Texas Highway 208 at Dunn, and FM 1614 from U.S. 180 to the Fisher County line.

Estimated cost of the work projected in Scurry County is $180,300.

The 1975 State Highway Safety and Betterment and Farm to Market Road Improvement Program state-wide includes 709 projects in 201 counties of the state, involving 4,328.2 miles of roads.

Fifty-two per cent of the work is on U.S. and state numbered routes, 47 per cent is on Farm to Market Roads and one per cent is reserved for later assignments.

The longest voyage recorded for a message in a bottle was one of 25,000 miles from the Pacific to the shore of the island of Sylt in the North Sea in 1968. The bottle was dropped in 1947.

WASECA, Minn. (AP) — More than four years and 17,000 miles after he began, David Kunst has completed his walk around the world.

"Mostly I'm resting my feet today," Kunst said Sunday. "I'm also reading over my fan mail. Some of it's anti and some of it's good."

On Saturday, he was given a rousing welcome by a crowd of 2,500 persons as he strolled into town holding hands with sons Bradley, 10, and Daniel, 9, who met their father on the outskirts of town and walked the final steps with him.

Kunst, 35, and his wife, Jan, also have a daughter Debra, 13.

He also plans some lecturing, using his 3,000 colored slides snapped along the 17,000-mile route that began in June 1970.

Back in the town of 7,000 in southern Minnesota where he once worked on a county survey crew, Kunst told a news conference: "There are great and small people in Waseca. But it looks to me like there are a lot of big people in Waseca."

Kunst and his brother John, 24, started out on June 20, 1970, to walk around the world, breaking stride only to take three flights across oceans.

In October 1972, John was shot to death and David wounded by bandits in Afghanistan who thought they were carrying contributions for UNICEF. The Kunst brothers had promoted UNICEF along their walk.

Another brother, Peter, then 28, from Santa Ana, Calif., joined David when he recovered from his wounds and the walk resumed in March 1973 through Pakistan and India.

But foot problems forced Peter to drop out part way across Australia in March. David continued and flew to California to begin his final United States jaunt on July 21.

Police Probe Four Mishaps

City Police investigated four minor vehicle mishaps over the weekend.

The first one Sunday occurred on the north side of the Post Office at 1:47 p.m. Involved were a 1965 Model Pontiac driven by Minnie McMennam Clark, 221 Thirty-sixth Street, and a parked 1971 Model Pontiac owned by Vicky Lee Chambers, Box 1102 Snyder.

The second one Sunday occurred in the 3700 block of Noble at 2:34 p.m. Involved were a 1973 Model Buick operated by Mary Guadalupe Gonzales, 3712 Noble, and the parked 1973 Model Mercury of W.L. Stevens, 316 Thirty-fourth Street.

The first mishap Saturday occurred at Thirty-first Street and Avenue Y at 9:36 p.m. Officers said a motorcycle operated by a teenager was in collision with a Police Patrol car operated by Steve Warren. Highway Patrolman Gary Brewer was pursuring the motorcycle and two others operated by youngsters when the mishap occurred. Officers said charges would be filed today.

The other mishap Saturday occurred on the parking lot at Furrs' Grocery at 9:52 p.m. Police said an unknown motorist fled the scene after his vehicle was in collision with a parked Chevrolet owned by Kathie Lavone Menges, 3001 Crockett.

AFTER BRISCOE ORDERS AID

Iowa Grower Denies 400 Migrants Are Stranded

MUSCATINE, Iowa (AP) — "The governor of Texas is way out of touch with this thing in Muscatine," tomato grower Jim Van Camp said of 400 Mexican-American migrants from Texas reported stranded in this southeastern Iowa farming community.

"I'm on the Muscatine Migrant Board and I know what we do for migrants," Van Camp, 51, continued Sunday night. "There might be 35 or 40 stranded at the most."

Juan Cadena, director of the migrant board here, said Sunday night, however, he believed "there are probably 200 to 250 still staying in the migrant camps."

Texas Gov. Dolph Briscoe ordered immediate assistance Sunday for the migrants, who were hired by Iowa farmers to pick tomatoes.

His office said reports from Iowa indicated the families were suffering hardships after a severe frost Tuesday night killed thousands of bushels of ripe tomatoes and left many migrants without work. Many were reported from the Donna, Tex., area.

Briscoe's office said they reportedly lacked adequate food, shelter, clothing, medical assistance and the means to return home, and some children were reported ill.

"I think they've got this thing blowed way out of proportion," said Van Camp, who raises tomatoes along with corn, soybeans, peppers, beef cattle and hogs on his 580-acre farm. He also maintains living quarters for 32 migrants workers.

"The families have got all kinds of clothing," he said. "Go through my migrant camp after they're gone home each season. You'd see the clothing given to them that they left behind.

"They don't lack food either. They get free clothing, free housing, food stamps. We hire special bilingual teachers to teach their children.

Pleas Entered In County Court

Several pleas were entered in county court Friday.

McArthur was arrested April 23 by City Police. Coy was arrested Oct. 3 by City Police. Rios received a $100 fine plus court costs and a 30-day jail term, probated for six months. He was arrested Sept. 29 by City Police.

William Barry Runnels pleaded "no contest" to a charge of illegal possession of marijuana. He received a $100 fine plus court costs and a 10-day jail term. He was arrested Oct. 1 by City Police.

Earnest James pleaded guilty to driving while his license was suspended. He received a $25 fine plus court costs and a 72-hour jail term. He was arrested Sept. 17 by City Police.

General Election Bores British

LONDON (AP) — Joe Coral, the bookie, is using newspaper ads to drum up betting action on Thursday's general elections. That's how bored the British are over the elections deemed by the three major parties as Britain's most important since the dark days of World War II.

The columnists, editorial writers and commentators on the telly are calling it the dullest election since the yawn of the modern parliamentary system, and a Gallup poll just out reports the lowest voter interest in a quarter of a century.

The issues are compelling enough: rising prices, militant trade unions, the Common Market, high mortgage rates, unemployment, nationalization of industries. The fault seems to lie with the timing — only seven months since the last elections — and with the candidates, who have met too often in the past decade on the field of ennui.

TV interviewer David Frost, who used to commute across the Atlantic in search of meaningful chit-chat, recently was host to the three major candidates on successive talk shows.

Labor Prime Minister Harold Wilson; his predecessor at No. 10 Downing St., Conservative Edward Heath, and Liberal Jeremy Thorpe were gossipy, lively and urbane, each according to his public mold.

In sum it made exciting, informative political talk. Did it interest the electorate? Frost garnered better audience ratings and more headlines a week earlier when Martha Mitchell held forth on Watergate and politics in America.

But the tedium at the top of the political tree has not precluded more lively laborers elsewhere in the parliamentary vineyard.

During the weekend Una Kroll, family doctor, drop-out Anglican nun and mother of four, led a march through the London suburbs of Sutton and Cheam as the only women's rights candidate in the field.

Bids Accepted For Precinct Cars

The bid of T.C. Goss of $312.50 for a 1968 Model Ford and the bid of Harry Kingston of $280 for a 1966 Model Ford were accepted this morning by the commissioner's court. Both vehicles had been used in Precinct 2.

Paul Turner submitted a bid of $192.88 for the 1966 Ford, and T.C. Goss also submitted a bid of $212.50 for the same car.

Japanese Coal Deal Is Off

HELENA, Mont. (AP) — A Japanese company has broken off negotiations to purchase strip-mined coal from Montana, saying it would not be a profitable venture and citing opposition from Western ranchers.

The proposed deal was for the Mitsui Mining Co. of Tokyo to make large purchases of Western coal for shipment through Oregon ports.

Farmers and ranchers, whose land sits atop federal coal reserves, oppose strip mining and said they had been told any exploitation would be to meet the domestic energy crisis, not for export purposes.

Mitsui officials in Tokyo said today the main reason talks were stopped was that such a purchase would not have been profitable.

"Our company imported 12,000 tons of Montana coal in August, but the freight charges were much higher than we had expected and it did not pay," said one company executive.

The officials said opposition to strip mining from a ranchers' group "was another factor" but not the principal one. They said talks might be resumed in the future if the cost of importing petroleum goes up and that of bringing in coal goes down.

In an interview Sunday, Pemberton Hutchinson, president of the Westmoreland Resources coal company, said it appeared the Japanese were afraid any "brawling controversy" might result in legislation to limit the export of other coal reserves from Eastern states.

The Japanese are the United States' biggest customer of metallurgical coal, most of which comes from the Eastern states, Hutchinson said.

Industry and government officials contend strip-mining of massive coal reserves in Montana and surrounding states is necessary to ease the nation's energy crisis.

The battle lines began forming when it was learned Westmoreland had shipped 12,000 tons of coal, valued at about $60,000, to Japan by way of Portland, Ore., for a test burn by Mitsui.

The Northern Plains Resource Council, an agriculture group opposed to strip-mining, reacted angrily to the idea that Montana coal might be shipped to Japan.

Many ranchers have staunchly resisted development of the coal reserves, contending developers are interested in the vast reserves simply because the coal can be strip-mined at relatively low cost.

The New York Times said Sunday that Mitsui had taken a three-year option on a five-acre coal-dock site at Astoria, Ore. It quoted Astoria port officials saying Japanese companies had paid $35,000 for the option and were preparing to guarantee $20 million in revenue bonds for building a modern coal-storage and loading facility.

Colson Asks Reduced Sentence

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charles W. Colson, once a defendant in the Watergate cover-up trial, today asked that his one to three-year jail sentence in the Ellsberg case be reduced, in part because of the pardon granted to former President Richard M. Nixon.

Colson, 42, pleaded guilty on June 3 to one count of obstructing justice. He admitted then attempting to influence the outcome of the trial of Pentagon Papers figure Daniel Ellsberg by attempting to leak defamatory information about Ellsberg to the press.

In exchange for his guilty plea, U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica agreed that charges against Colson in the cover-up case would be dropped.

In addition to her husband, Dr. Jim Nevins, and her sister, she is survived by two sons, Jim R. Nevins of San Angelo and Jarry F. Nevins of Lubbock.

Tides Threaten Homes

By The Associated Press

Rising tides tumbled a Cape Canaveral, Fla., beach home into the Atlantic and threatened other homes as heavy rains drenched a large coastal section of Florida.

But forecasters say rainfall amounts across Northeast Florida and the Georgia coast are expected to lessen today as a low pressure system's squalls with winds up to 40 miles per hour move seaward.

Cape Canaveral had more than two inches of rain within 24 hours Sunday and was the hardest hit city along the rain-drenched coastal section of Florida north of Miami. At Boca Raton, 13 inches of rain fell in 24 hours. Flooding was also reported in the region along Hollywood, Fla., and West Palm Beach.

Wicker Can Have Attractive Finish

Delightful wicker furniture adds airy cheerfulness to almost any environment – bedroom, living room, fun-room or even out-of-doors.

The National Paint and Coatings Association feels that, decoratively speaking, one of the best features of this natural fiber furniture is that it can be attracitively finished with many different types of coatings. It looks just as good sporting an antique finish, as it does being burnished with a stain, or shining under bright enamels.

Before applying any of these coatings, be sure to clean the surface of all traces of dirt, oil, or dusty residue. If you are going to be doing a re-paint job, first dull the surface by using a liquid de-glossing preparation. If the old paint is in poor condition (peeling and flaking) remove it with a liquid paint remover. Cover the floor and surrounding areas with protective cloths and you're ready to begin.

ANTIQUING. This is a special toning system for developing the soft, mellow surface tone normally acquired with age and hours of hand rubbing. Wicker pieces which are made with tightly woven strips of wood are best suited for antiquing. Basically, antiquing is acquired in two simple steps. Application of an undercoat which covers the surface is the first step. This coat provides a base color for the second step–application of the color glaze. Special effects can be achieved by wiping or texturing the color glaze before it dries. Continue to wipe the glaze until you have achieved the antique effect desired. (If you are not satisfied with the effect, you may wipe off and start all over again!) For added protection, finish with a durable clear coating after the glaze has thoroughly dried.

STAINING. Staining is the addition of a decorative stain color to unfinished wood, which enhances the natural grain pattern without hiding it. The natural color and the grain structure of the wood combine with the stain to achieve the final decorative effect. For best results, only stain wicker furniture which has never been painted as thorough removal of all previous finishes is necessary before a stain may be applied. Due to the light-weight construction of most wicker furniture pieces thorough removal of old coatings could be damaging to the fibers. Clean away any dust, grease or oil with a rag moistened with mineral spirits. Now, apply the stain with a soft, natural bristle brush or soft lint-free cloth pad. A thin application will produce a lighter tone, while added applications will darken the finish. Then, just as the stain begins to lose its gloss as it is drying, wipe it off with a soft, lin-free cloth. This will bring out the full beauty of the wood grain highlights. Finish with a protective clear coating.

ENAMELING. Enameling wicker furniture is fun and easy because so many bright colors of enamel paint are available in aerosol spray form. First, thoroughly "shake-up" the container of aerosol enamel. For best results, hold the container at least 10-12 inches away from the surface you are painting, keeping the nozzle parallel with the surface. Press the button all the way down and move the can evenly over the surface. Always shake the container frequently throughout your job to insure consistency of the paint.

Increase In Older Married Couples

COLLEGE STATION—The trend toward older married couples will continue to increase throughout this century, one family life education specialist predicted this week.

"For the happily married older couple, marriage is a source of great comfort and support--as well as the focal point of everyday life," Dorthy Taylor with the Texas A&M University System, said.

Happily married older couples experience increasing closeness, a high degree of interdependence caring--especially during periods of illness.

For these couples, widowhood is a dismal prospect since each views his spouse as a pillar of strength, she continued.

"But like all other marrieds, some older couples do not fall into the 'happy' category. For the less-than-happy older marriage, couples are often filled with hostility, blame their spouses for their troubles, and often wish they could terminate the relationship.

"The stigma of divorce, religious beliefs and socieI pressure have kept many older couples together under a sort of unarmed truce. Unhappy older people have a difficult time coping with the demands of illness.

The specialist mentioned another category of older marrieds–those who remarry in their later years.

"Many select mates who remind them of a previous spouse, have similar backgrounds and are approved by adult children and friends."

The specialist warned that pressures from inheritance and division of property before remarriage, and alienation from families–especially children and grandchildren–are pitfalls to be aware of in remarriage.

"Studies indicate that most successful retirement marriages occur when oldsters have known each other well for many years, share similar interests, are approved by family and peers, and are financially similar or equal–especially if both own a home."

Chile Is Buying US Jets

By WILLIAM F. NICHOLSON
Associated Press Writer

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Chile is buying supersonic jet fighters and close air support attack planes from the United States for possible defense against Peru, sources say.

The purchases are part of a multimillion dollar arms deal between Washington and Chile's ruling junta, according to diplomatic and other sources.

The deal was confirmed by a high source in the Chilean air force, who also said they were for defense against attack from Peru. But officials of both Chile and Peru said they want to maintain peaceful relations.

Marxists in the Peruvian military are not friendly toward the junta in Santiago, which overthrew Marxist President Salvador Allende and took power 13 months ago.

The sources said Chile is buying 18 F5E Freedom Fighters, the latest model of a fighter designed for the air forces of developing countries by Northrup Aviation Co. of Hawthorne, Calif. The total cost is about $60 million.

Sources also say the junta is purchasing 36 A37B close air support attack planes. These are built by Cessna and were flown by American pilots in Vietnam. Each plane costs about $300,000.

In Washington, a Defense Department spokesman said only that any such deal is announced by "the country making the purchase," not by Washington.

Democrats Favored In Poll

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Most voters would like to see Democrats elected in their congressional districts, partly because Democrats are considered to be better than Republicans at controlling inflation, according to the Gallup Poll.

The poll said Sunday that personal interviews in August and September showed 54 per cent of those surveyed favored Democratic congressional candidates, 35 per cent preferred Republicans, 3 per cent wanted candidates from other parties to win and 8 per cent were undecided.

In a similar survey four years ago, Democratic candidates held a 49 to 44 per cent lead over the GOP in national popularity, with 1 per cent of those surveyed choosing other parties and 6 per cent undecided. In that year's election, the Democrats won 255 House seats to the Republians' 180 seats.

Gallup said a key factor in the Democrats' commanding lead at present is widespread public concern over the high cost of living. Two thirds of those interviewed predicted that the economic situation will worsen in the next six months, and nearly half predicted a depression such as the nation suffered in the 1930s.

When those interviewed were asked which party they thought could do a better job of dealing with inflation, 39 per cent favored Democrats, 18 per cent said the Republicans, 30 per cent said they saw "no difference" and 13 per cent said they were undecided.

Thousands Of Swallows Migrate

NICE, France (AP) — Thousands of swallows from Switzerland migrated south this year aboard commercial planes.

The birds were hit by an early cold wave in the Swiss mountains and many might have frozen to death.

Animal lovers caught them, put them inside big wooden cages and flew them to the French Riviera aboard regular Swissair flights.

When the swallows arrived, they were set free.

Menominee Indians once controlled some 9,500,000 acres of Wisconsin, National Geographic says. Their holdings were reduced to 275,000 acres in a treaty between the tribe and the United States in 1854. Today, the Menominees' reservation covers about 230,000 acres.

BY HEW ASSISTANT SECRETARY

National Health Insurance Seen

DALLAS (AP) — A government official predicts some form of national health insurance for this country within a year or two.

Dr. Charles C. Edwards, assistant secretary for health in the Department of Health, Eduation and Welfare, made the forecast Sunday.

Addressing the American Academy of Ophthalmology and Otolaryngology, he said a health plan proposed by the government "provides an excellent basis for a workable and equitable insurance scheme."

Edwards said the proposal incorporates "the best elements of the existing health care system" and at the same time "moves widely and constructively toward correcting the defects in the present insurance program."

The government plan, he said, strikes a sensible balance between coverage for in-patient and out-patient services—a feature of the system which, he added, is lacking in current private health insurance programs.

Edwards said the plan makes certain that no person is unable to obtain health insurance because of income or health status.

National health insurance will be accepted, he said, because attitudes toward a national plan have changed remarkably.

"A decade ago," he said, "the suggestion that the federal government might attempt to help pay for health care for the elderly and the poor was viewed by many as the dawning of socialized medicine."

He added that today probably a majority of the physicians approves the general concept.

Doctors' attitudes have changed in part because Medicare and Medicaid, government programs, have not changed fundamentally the way physicians practice nor have they ushered in a government takeover of the health care system, Edwards said.

Awards were presented two women for their contributions to health care.

Mildred Weisenfeld of New York received the academy's ophtalmology award for founding the Fight for Sight program in 1946.

Mrs. Spencer Tracy of Los Angeles was given the otolaryngology award for the help she has provided deaf children and their parents. The widow of the famous actor is founder, director in charge and president of the board of directors of the John Tracy Clinic in Los Angeles.

ON 1975 CAR SALES

Auto Analysts Pessimistic

DETROIT (AP) — Independent analysts forecast little improvement in car sales in 1975, but their predictions conflict with those offered by the automakers themselves.

Top executives at General Motors, Ford and Chrysler recently estimated that 1975-model sales, including imports, would be between 10 and 10.5 million cars, up from 1974-model sales of 9.6 million.

However, Wall Street analysts forecast far fewer sales in the coming 12-month period. Their predictions range as low as 9.3 million for the 1975 calendar year, compared to 9.4 million for calendar 1974.

"The product this year is not smashing. The cars look the same," one independent analyst says. "Gas mileage is a little better, but 11 or 13 miles per gallon is nothing to write home about."

These pessimistic sales predictions are based partly on expectations there will be little real growth in the Gross National Product in 1975 — perhaps a percentage point or two.

Stagnation of the GNP, a measure of the goods and services produced in the United States in a given year, means little change in the amount of money consumers have available to spend on a new car.

Consumers also face sticker prices that have mushroomed about 20 per cent in the past 14 months and higher gasoline prices.

EXTRA CLEAN USED CARS

American Playoff Tied

By RON ROACH
AP Sports Writer

OAKLAND (AP) — It was a familiar script: Oakland trailing Baltimore in the American League playoffs until Sal Bando started swinging at Dave McNally's pitches.

There were a few new wrinkles thrown in, such as two errors by the usually sure-handed Baltimore Orioles. They enabled Bando and Ray Fosse to drive in four unearned runs with home runs as the A's rebounded from Saturday's 6-3 defeat to whip the Orioles 5-0 Sunday behind Ken Holtzman's five-hit pitching.

The A's, two-time defending World Series champions, victimized McNally for the second straight year to square the best-of-five-game series at 1-1. A year ago in Baltimore, Bando homered twice against McNally, and had a third homer taken away by a leaping catch.

Bando led off the fourth inning by watching two pitches miss the strike zone. Then, he said, "I tried to hold up on my swing and popped it up. I was just depressed."

But Bobby Grich, Baltimore's Golden Glove-caliber second baseman, dropped the high pop in foul territory.

"I had it right in my glove," Grich said. "It wasn't like the ball was right in the sun — just a little bit."

The repreived Bando lined a three-ball, one-strike fast ball over the left-field fence, just eluding the glove of Baltimore's Don Baylor.

"I thought he caught it," Bando said of a play that would have been a re-run of Al Bumbry's leaping grab in Game Two of the 1973 playoffs in which Holtzman outpitched McNally, 6-3.

Fosse, sidelined much of the season from surgery on a disc in his back, credited teammate Jesus Alou's "magic wand" after belting a double in the seventh inning and the three-run homer in the eighth off of Grant Jackson. An error by substitute shortstop Frank Baker kept the inning going for Fosse.

"It's heavier, 35 ounces, and has more wood," said Fosse, who wasn't sure he'd be a starter behind the plate until Friday night. "I dreamed I'd hit a three-run homer. It came two days later," he said.

The playoffs move to Baltimore Tuesday for the third and fourth games, plus a fifth if necessary on Thursday.

"It doesn't bother me at all," Dark said of the task of winning twice at Baltimore. "With these two teams, it doesn't matter where we play."

"It looks like it'll go the distance," Orioles third baseman Brooks Robinson said. "I'm glad we're going back home."

Manager Earl Weaver of Baltimore said that Sunday "just wasn't our day. Our line drives were just within reach and those homers just made it."

The name of the game in the playoffs is good pitching," said Dark, who sends left-hander Vida Blue, 17-15, against Baltimore's Jim Palmer, 7-12, Tuesday.

Blue is winless in four decisions as a post-season pitcher, and Palmer, last year's AL Cy Young Award winner, started 1974 with a sore arm.

JV Whips Cooper

Sophomore Ricky Beard kicked a 37-yard field goal in the last seven seconds of the football game here Saturday afternoon as the Snyder junior varsity shaded a strong Abilene Cooper team, 15-12.

The score was deadlocked at 12-12 late in the fourth quarter. Snyder got off a good punt and held Cooper deep inside its own territory. Operating from about their own 40, the Snyder team tried a couple of passes, but both were incomplete. Then a trap play got the ball into field goal position, and Ricky's boot provided the margin of victory. On the field goal try, center David Kruger made a perfect snap to Mac Wellborn, who held the ball for Beard.

There was no scoring in the first quarter, but David Rice fired a perfect 16-yard touchdown strike to Kelly Burton to cap a 45 yard Snyder drive late in the second quarter. The score was 6-0 at halftime.

On its first possession of the second half, the Snyder JV drove 66 yards with Beard getting the touchdown on a two yard plunge. A pass for bonus points missed as the count went to 12-0.

Cooper's Randy Jones scored on a two yard run to cap a 70 yard drive late in the third quarter as the count narrowed to 12-6.

Late in the fourth quarter, Jones tied it up at 12-12 on a 12 yard run to climax a 40 yard drive after a short Snyder punt. Cooper tried to run for two bonus points but was stopped short.

The Snyder team had a great team effort, both offensively and defensively.

The JV will host Estacado at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in Tiger Stadium.

Geiberger Wins At Las Vegas

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Al Geiberger kept munching on peanut butter crackers and talking to himself.

"If I don't keep talking to myself, all the time, I tend to back off. I kept telling myself that second place doesn't do me any good at this stage of my career," the 37-year-old veteran said Sunday after his three-stroke victory in the Sahara Invitational Golf Tournament.

He talked himself into it, shooting a final round 69 — two under par on the sun-splashed, 6,800-yard Sahara-Nevada Country Club course — for a 273 total.

"When you go so long without winning, you begin to think you can't," said Geiberger, whose last previous triumph came in the 1966 PGA National Championship.

He paused for a moment, smiled broadly and said: "Johnny Miller wins eight in one year, I win one in eight years."

DODGERS WIN TWO OVER PITTSBURGH

By GARY MIHOCES
AP Sports Writer

PITTSBURGH (AP) — There's nothing like two victories on the road before going home to make a team feel like the National League champions.

"I'm not saying we're going to sweep, but we're the National League champs," said Jim Wynn, the power behind the Dodgers' season-long drive that has left them one victory short of the NL title and a World Series berth after Sunday's 5-2 triumph over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

"We're in the driver's seat," said Ron Cey, who rapped a homer, two doubles and a single to tie the playoff record of four hits in one game set by Pittsburgh's Bob Robertson in 1971.

"Now the Pirates got to pull all the stops," echoed Willie Crawford, whose pinch-hit single brought Cey home with the winning run against Pittsburgh's relief ace Dave Giusti.

No team has overcome a 2-0 deficit since the best-of-five intra-league playoffs began in 1969 and the Pirates task is made more difficult by the series shifting to Los Angeles.

"I'd say we have our backs to the wall," Pittsburgh Manager Danny Murtaugh said after the Dodgers scored three runs off Giusti to snap a 2-2 tie.

"But we've been counted out of it nine or 10 times this year, and here we are playing in the big series," added Murtaugh, whose club was 14 games under .500 early in the season.

The Dodgers, who won 3-0 Saturday behind the pitching of Don Sutton, led 2-0 into the Pirates' seventh Sunday, and Pittsburgh's 15 scoreless innings matched the playoff record they set in two games against Cincinnati in 1970.

The Pirate famine ended in the seventh inning when singles by Paul Popovich, Richie Zisk and Al Oliver helped Pittsburgh pull to a 2-2 tie against Dodger starter Andy Messersmith.

However, Murtaugh had to sacrifice starting pitcher Jim Rooker for a pinch-hitter in that inning, and the Dodgers broke the game open in the eighth against Giusti.

Cey, who made two errors in the Dodgers' first-game victory, opened the inning with a double into the left field corner. He then beat catcher Manny Sanguillen's throw to third on a ball tapped weakly in front of the plate by Bill Russell and scored on Crawford's bloop single to left.

A single to right by freeswinging Manny Mota then chased Giusti and scored Russell, before Dave Lopes stroked another single off rookie Larry Demery to score Crawford with the final run.

Ramon Hernandez, the third Pirate reliever, got Steve Garvey to hit into a bases-loaded double play to end the inning, but Dodger relief ace Mike Marshall shut out the Pirates over the final two innings.

The Pirates will pin their hopes on Bruce Kison, 9-8, when the series resumes Tuesday, while the Dodgers will counter with Doug Rau, 13-11.

John Tyler Beats Texarkana, 14-3

By The Associated Press

Two defending state high school football champions continued to hang on to their No. 1 rankings over the weekend, and this week they could be joined by a third 1973 state titlist.

Tyler John Tyler, No. 1 at the 4A level in The Associated Press poll, took a big step toward the throneroom of tough Dist. 14 by beating No. 4 Texarkana 14-3 Saturday night.

Big Sandy, another East Texas power and the Class B defending champ, continued its blitzkreig of all comers with a 74-0 slaughter of Como-Pickton.

Meanwhile, seventh-ranked Wharton topped the top-ranked Class 3A team, Brazosport, 16-7 Friday night, possibly leaving the way claar for No. 3 Cuero, which beat Refugio 54-0. Wharton, as well as No. 2 Beaumont South Park, should offer the biggest challenge to that No. 1 claim.

Possibly the biggest surprise of the weekend came Saturday night, when the 10th-ranked Port Arthur Lincoln of Class 4A lost 40-0 to Beaumont Hebert, a hotbed of talent in the past but just 2-2 this season.

Class 2A kingpin Hull-Daisetta nudged Barber's Hill 12-6, but its closest rivals were defeated. No. 2 Hooks fell 27-21 to Magnolia, Ark., and No. 3 Premont was dropped 27-3 by Freer.

Aledo, the Class A pacesetter, shut out Sanger, but fourth-rated Hale Center and No. 6 Mason lost.

Chris Evert Takes Title

HOUSTON (AP) — Top-seeded Chris Evert overcame tiring Virginia Wade 6-3, 5-7, 6-1 Sunday to win the $10,000 first prize in the $50,000 Women's Pro Tennis Circuit tournament and she says her second set lag had her worried.

"Yes, I was worried," Miss Evert said. "Usually whoever wins the second set has the momentnum so I really was watching it. Last week I won the second set and then lost the match."

Miss Evert broke Miss Wade's serve in the third, fifth and ninth games of the opening set but had to go three sets when Miss Wade fought back in the second set.

Miss Wade, who played 218 games in the tournament including singles and doubles competition, broke Miss Evert in the first, seventh and 11th games in winning the second set.

Vikings Slip By Snakebit Pokes

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer

The Minnesota Vikings, the St. Louis Cardinals and the New England Patriots all lived to spend another week as National Football League unbeatens, but each club discovered victories in their bags at different times.

The Vikings saw their victory with one second on the clock, the Cardinals realized the enemy was theirs at halftime and the Patriots felt they were 4-0 when they showed up for the game.

Minnesota was losing its football game at the second-worst possible time — with one second remaining. But after Fred Cox booted a 27-yard field goal, the Dallas Cowboys were losing 23-21 to the Vikings at the worst possible time — the final gun.

The Cardinals felt their 34-0 victory over the San Francisco 49ers was on ice while they were cooling their heels during intermission.

"They were tired and dragging," said St. Louis quarterback Jim Hart of the team he victimized for three third-period touchdown passes. "We were in better shape and we knew if we sustained a drive we could tire them out."

Down 9-7 at the half, the Cards took the lead for good on Hart's 57-yard scoring pitch to Mel Gray, who gathered in a 59-yard touchdown strike 10 minutes later. In between Gray's work, Hart hit Donny Anderson on a four-yard touchdown pass.

The surprising Pats took the lead on the third play of the game, a 69-yarder from Jim Plunkett to Reggie Rucker, and laughed all the way to the final gun for a 42-3 rout of the Baltimore Colts.

Elsewhere, Atlanta defeated the New York Giants 14-7; Cincinnati tripped Washington 28-17; Buffalo bounced Green Bay 27-7; Oakland pounded Cleveland 40-24; Chicago beat New Orleans 24-10; Pittsburgh clipped Houston 13-7; Denver defeated Kansas City 17-14; Los Angeles dropped Detroit 16-13 and Philadelphia downed San Diego 13-7.

The New York Jets are at Miami to meet the Dolphins tonight, rounding out the NFL's fourth week of play.

Quarterback Fran Tarkenton guided the Vikings 68 yards in the final two minutes to set up Cox' third field goal of the game. Calvin Hill's eight-yard touchdown run had given the Cowboys, 1-3 and off to their worst start since 1965, a 21-20 advantage.

Bills 27, Packers 7

The Buffalo Bills can't be billed a one-man show anymore.

"O.J. (Simpson) has some leg problems, but teams can't just worry about O.J. anymore," said quarterback Joe Ferguson, who completed 13 of 16 passes, seven of them to Ahmad Rashad.

Jim Braxton cracked into the end zone for three short-yardage touchdowns and Ferguson accounted for 175 yards and one TD to Rashad.

Broncos 17, Chiefs 14

Little Calvin Jones was a big pain to Knsas City.

The 5-foot-7, 169-pound cornerback swiped a Mike Livingston pass and ran it back to the Kansas City 11, setting up rookie Jim Keyworth's winning touchdown run that gave the Broncos thir first victory of the season.

Steelers 13, Oilers 7

Joe Gilliam completed four straight passes to set up Preston Pearson's game-deciding, nine-yard touchdown run in the third quarter.

Bears 24, Saints 10

Practice paid off for the Chicago Bears when Gary Huff passed 39 yards to Bo Rather for the clinching score.

"I really wasn't surprised, though, because we ran the play all week," said Huff, who also scored on a quarterback sneak.

Rams 16, Lions 13

The Rams' Lawrence McCutcheon, who says he's "not faster, but I think I have better quickness," proved quicker than the Detroit defense by gaining 124 yards on 21 carries and catching five passes for 43 more.

Eagles 13, Chargers 7

Philadelphia intercepted four San Diego passes, with Randy Logan taking one 46 yards for a touchdown, to beat the Chargers.

Bengals 28, Redskins 17

Cincinnati defensive back Lamar Parrish returned the Redskins' first punt 90 yards for the game's first touchdown and later scooped up a Jerry Smith fumble and darted 47 yards for another score.

Falcons 14, Giants 7

Ray Brown raced 59 yards down the sidelines with an interception of a Norm Snead pass for Atlanta's winning touchdown.

"I didn't believe he'd throw it," Brown said. "I was about five feet away from (Ray) Rhodes in great position. He threw it. I caught it."

Booster Club Meets Tuesday

The Tiger Booster Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the West Elementary Cafeteria to see films of last week's triumph over Lamesa and to hear a scouting report on this week's opponent, Lubbock Estacado.

Anyone interested in joining the club is invited to attend.

Florida State, which lost all 11 football games last season, plays eight night games this season.

Tigers Host Matadors

Six Snyder football teams will see action this week.

The big game is slated Friday night when the Lubbock Estacado Matadors invade Tiger Stadium for a 7:30 p.m. clash in a crucial District 3-AAA contest.

Thursday, Lamar 8th grade hosts Big Spring Runnels at 6 p.m. while the junior varsity entertains Estacado at 7:30 p.m.

Travis 8th meets Big Spring Goliad there at 5:30 p.m. while Travis 9th meets Lamesa there at 6 p.m.

The only Saturday game scheduled is Lamar 9th grade at Sweetwater at 10 a.m.

Elsewhere in District 3-AAA, Sweetwater and Dunbar tangle in Lubbock Thursday night while Lamesa visits Lake View on Friday night.

On the area scene, Ira hosts Hermleigh, Gail entertains Dawson, and Hobbs is at home against Highland Friday night.

Firms See Bright Future For Hawaiian Pineapple

By BOB MURPHY
Associated Press Writer

HONOLULU (AP) — Representatives of Hawaii's two major pineapple producing companies, Dole and Del Monte, contend that mainland buyers are going to continue to have fresh Hawaiian pineapple at their markets.

This is their view despite reports that the two companies are phasing out their operations in Hawaii for cheaper labor markets in foreign countries.

The future for the Hawaiian pineapple is in airshipping it fresh to the mainland," says Emil Schneider of Castle and Cooke, parent company of Dole. "Now that we have new low-cost agreements with the airlines on shipping the fruit, people on the East Coast are now getting good quality pineapple ... something they never experienced before."

Many of the reports concerning the two companies pulling out of Hawaii were sparked by company announcements several months ago that they were closing down their pineapple operations on the island of Molokai at the end of 1975. Dole has 12,000 acres of land in pineapples there and Del Monte about 10,000, the spokesmen said.

The Del Monte Corp., citing an "increase in the world's demand for pineapple," now says it will continue the Molokai operation until Jan. 31, 1978. Dole, however, will close down on Molokai as earlier announced.

While the companies are expanding their fresh-fruit shipping operation, they are, however, cutting back on their canning operations here.

The labor market in Hawaii for canning is too expensive to compete with labor in Southeast Asia and Africa, the companies say. A union laborer in Hawaii is paid $2.98 an hour, while pineapple workers in the Philippines and Taiwan draw as little as 15 cents an hour.

Junior Editors Quiz on SHALE OIL

QUESTION: What is shale oil?

ANSWER: Shales or mud stones are mainly clays which have hardened into rock, composed of fine-grained sediments. Some shales contain solid hydrocarbons from which oil can be made. The United States has a large reserve of oil that can be taken from oil shales. Extensive deposits of gray, brown, or black oil shales are found in the Green River formation of Colorado, and in Utah, Wyoming and western Canada. There are well over 100 billion barrels of oil locked up in oil shales. The rock gives up a liquid oil when it is heated. During World War II, an experimental plant made oil from oil shale. A ton of average oil shale when heated yields about 25 gallons of petroleum, nearly 10,000 cubic feet of natural gas and ammonium compounds.

The methods of extracting oil from shale have been expensive. It was cheaper to pump oil from underground pools or wells. Since the oil shortage and the rise in the price of oil, processors are displaying an interest in shale oil.

Television Is Flip's Cookie

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Yes, if I wanted to take all the opportunities that are open to me, I could make another $10 million a year. But why?

"What do you do with money after you have enough? I would only be prostituting my talent, and I wouldn't be giving my best effort to the audience I care most about—the television audience."

A remarkably serious Flip Wilson was talking about his life and career in a Sunset Strip office which is headquarters for his record company.

He also has another office for his television production company, but he says he does most of his work in his den at home.

Despite his superstar status, Wilson has eschewed the usual trappings of such a position, preferring to do things his way.

He maintains a low profile off the television screen, keeping interviews to a bare minimum, avoiding industry events except for an occasional benefit, declining the fortune he could earn in Las Vegas and concerts.

"Television is my cookie," he remarked. "I think it is the greatest thing there is. Sure, I could go out on a weekend and play a concert before 15,000 people. But I might come back tired and if I was doing a television show, I wouldn't be giving my best shot to 30 million people.

"I'm not interested in films at the moment, either. You work a year and a half, two years on a movie, and if you're lucky, it will be seen by 12 million people.

"In television I can reach 30 million in a week. I would rather have my talent enjoyed by as many people as I can reach."

His talent is being seen less often this television season. Wilson will appear in four NBC specials, the first appearing Oct. 18 with guests stars Peter Sellers, Lily Tomlin, Richard Pryor and Martha Reeves. But not Geraldine.

"I didn't want to have Geraldine on the first show," Wilson explained of his hilarious female impersonation.

"I would like the audience to know that I can continue to grow as an entertainer. I want to try new ideas and make the special really special.

"Actually, I did Geraldine only in about one out of every four of the weekly shows. She is a very powerful character, and I don't want Geraldine to become stronger than Flip Wilson."

Wilson's weekly show made its debut in September 1970, and soared to the top of the audience ratings. It remained one of the hottest shows until zapped by the bucolic "The Waltons."

Wilson said his departure from the weekly format was entirely voluntary.

Wilson, who has shielded his private life in the past, admitted that he now has custody of his four children—David, 14, Kevin, 12, Tammy, 8, and Stephanie, 4.

He is divorced from his second wife, Blondell.

Smith Pushing Amendment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Senator Margaret Chase Smith, R—Maine, is urging a constitutional amendment to provide for a special presidential election whenever a President is impeached and removed from office or resigns under threat of impeachment.

Mrs. Smith said the advantages of a special election would be that the new President would be chosen by the people and, in the course of his campaign, would have had to take a position on whether he would pardon his predecessor.

Day Of Rest

GUILDFORD, England (AP) — The latest issue of the Guildford Diocesan Directory and Yearbook indicates the clergyman's day off, printed immediately after his telephone number. An editorial says this is to discourage less important calls on that day.

Ford Invited To Visit Australia

WASHINGTON (AP) — Australian Prime Minister Gough Whitlam has invited President Ford to visit his country and got a favorable response but Ford said he would not be able to make it on his trip to Japan and Korea next month.

No date was set for the trip, although Ford said he would like to go to Australia.

Bentsen Urges More Equitable School Spending

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex. has told Texas school officials that a more equitable way has to be found to spend state funds on education.

The Texas senator said that what is needed is a betterment of the poor districts without affecting the more prosperous, affluent districts.

In remarks before the 3,000 delegates to the joint annual convention of the Texas Association of School Boards and the Texas Association of School Administrators, the senator said:

"Education should reflect the wealth of the state."

Bentsen said that while money is not the total answer, "it sure does help in paying the teachers a decent wage and providing them with the tools to teach."

Bentsen said that property owners now are showing an increasing reluctance to foot the cost of education and added that this is one of the factors causing an economic crisis in education.

He said that property owners in individual school districts are shying away from a greater outlay of money for education. He pointed out that 89 per cent of the school bond issues passed in 1966, but in 1970 the percentage dropped to 48.

Property taxes, he said, pay 55 per cent of the costs of education, but have reached their limits in many school districts as a source of funds.

He told school officials that school costs since the 1960s have escalated 140 per cent and that in the last five years taxes for school spending have increased 63 per cent.

The senator told his audience that education is the primary responsibility of the state and local governments and that federal spending should be "carefully controlled to get the economy on an even keel."

But when it comes to setting federal priorities, Bentsen said, education will have to be at the top of the list.

"If we fail to meet the commitment to education, all sectors of the economy will suffer," he warned.

Another speaker at the convention, former State Democratic Chairman Will Davis said the state legislature needs to add $600 million to public education if Texas wants quality education for its children.

Davis, who was elected president of the Association of School Boards, said that the state will have a $900 million surplus and urged that the money be spent on education.

Instead of raising the sales tax one per cent, as some have suggested, the tax should be used to help finance education. We need to keep the tax," he said.

Davis said the local school districts in Texas have reached their maximum funding through the property tax and that the state and federal governments will have to supply the additional financing.

"I think we are at the crossroads. The next session of the legislation will be remembered for what it does or does not do in education.

Either we send education forward, or public education will fall further behind. We have to deal with where we ought to be and not where we were," said Davis who serves on the Austin School Board.

Davis said the state is still "operating under a 1949 model of school financing, and the state has changed drastically since then. We need to be more flexable. The needs of different districts are all different.

"All we are doing now is trying to fit round pegs into square holes. Many of our children have been denied quality education—the Spanish-speaking and the emotionally handicapped. They have been overlooked," said Davis.

"Schools need to change, too. They need to be more flexable in the teaching concepts and the learning process. We have a lot of new problems and the schools have to challenge the children's minds, if we are going to prepare them for the world of tomorrow."

On busing, Davis noted that there has been "a lot of discussion, but the courts are not backing off. The busing concept has been established as one tool in desegregation. It may be slowing down in some of the new areas, but it will not be abandoned," he said.

Davis said that if a school system has to go to busing, then the systems must make sure that the schools at the end of the bus line are as good as those in the child's neighborhood.

Weekend Violence Toll Up In Texas

By The Associated Press

Deaths from violence turned upward in Texas during the weekend.

After comparatively light tolls the preceding couple od weeks, the state counted 30 fatalities from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday, including 15 in traffic and 10 homicides.

These were among the victims:

Jake C. Hill, 22, a Ft. Hood soldier, was shot and killed outside a Temple apartment house Sunday night. Officers held a 61-year-old resident of the apartments.

Moses M. Gonzales, 31, was found hanged with a rope in a bedroom doorway at his home in San Antonio. There was no immediate ruling from a medical examiner.

A young married couple died Sunday when their car collided with a train near Van Vleck. The victims were Jimmy Walker, 23, and his wife Peggy, 22, of Van Vleck.

Oran Hastings, 18, of Sulphur, La., died in a Beaumont hospital Sunday of a gunshot wound in the head. Justice of the Peace J. Paul McNeill said he was investigating a report that Hastings was playing Russian roulette when his gun went off.

Dallas police said 4-year-old Laronda Kay Runnels died when she was hit by a car.

Five-year-old David Bryan Andress died when he fell off a tractor at his parents' farm in Liberty County.

Three men died in an explosion on a farm near Plainview Saturday. They were Randy Harold Goree, 20; Danny Marvin Graham, 21, and Bradley Scott Copper, 19, all of the Plainview area. Hale County Sheriff Charles Tue said investigation indicated the men were building a homemade bomb by packing sodium chlorate into a container.

A sheriff's deputy at Houston shot and killed a man who investigators said was running from a burglary next door to the off-duty deputy's home. The dead man was identified as Wright A. Fields, 19.

Gunfire also killed Leroy Bagineaux, 32, at Houston early Sunday during a gambling argument, police said.

Kermit Martin III, 20, was shot to death at a Houston park early Sunday.

Beaumont police said Kathleen Falgout, 35, was killed Friday by a bullet discharged from a gun her husband was cleaning.

Houston cab driver Hymes Lee Armstead, 23, was shot to death Saturday at a cafe. Police said the shooting followed a minor traffic collision which resulted in an argument between Armstead and another man.

Darrell Ray Vandyke, 17, of Houston was killed late Friday night when the car he was driving struck three concrete columns beside a road.

Midland police said Jose A. Mata Jr., 11, died Saturday when he shot himself with a pistol he found at a residence he was visiting. A justice of the peace has ruled death was accidental.

Anton M. Markoski, 80, and his wife Janie, 84, of Bremond were killed Saturday when their pickup and a tactor-trailer rig collided three miles south of Reagan on Texas 6.

Jesus Barron, 43, of Waco died Saturday when his car left Interstate 35 at a Waco exit. Police said he was thrown from the vehicle.

Gordon Chaney, 22, was killed at Vidor Saturday when his car struck a tree during a high speed chase with police. Beaumont police said they started following Chaney and a second car for alleged drag racing.

An unidentified man believed to be in his late 20s was struck and killed by a car as he walked on Interstate 20 just east of Abilene Saturday. Police said he carried no identification.

Christine Price, 45, of Dallas was found beaten to death Saturday under a bridge at Texas 175 and the east fork of the Trinity River. Kaufman County Sheriff Roy Brockway said she apparently was beaten with a tire jack and run over by a car. A man was arrested.

Tips For Future Manager

Career Corner

by Joyce Lain Kennedy

what job would you like to see explored in this column?

Dear Joyce: My ambition is to be a manager in business. Should I get a bachelor's degree in business administration? An MBA (master's degree in business)? Or both? -- C.S., San Jose, Calif.

Although many, such as Sterling Livingston of the Harvard Business School, maintain that there's little or no positive hook-up between formal management education and an individual manager's rise to the top, the MBA is still king for starting jobs and salaries. Of new MBA holders, those with an undergrad degree in engineering or business are pulling the highest starting salaries.

MANY STUDENTS, uncertain about graduate work, are going for a bachelor's degree in business, correctly judging that it'll be worth more than a liberal arts degree in the jobmarket. As still another option, some schools offer 5-year programs culminating in a bachelor's degree plus an MBA.

ROBERT F. PEARSE (Boston University's School of Management) has authored one of the largest studies ever conducted by the American Management Associations. Some 2,000 executives were surveyed in the just published report "Manager to Manager. What Managers Think of Management Development." Dr. Pearse offers these suggestions for future managers.

(1) Choose a school which offers a cooperative education program so that you'll get work experience too, some of which, hopefully, will be as a supervisor. Survey findings indicate that management skills either can't be taught - or that the formal management education offered today is not adequate. The main complaints are that schools offer too much theory and technical problem solving in marketing, finance, production, accounting, and the like and not enough management skills training, such as planning, organizing, controlling and motivating. The managers studied said that formal management education is much less important than actual on-job training and self development. (Although, paradoxically, these same managers say that today's young person will not be able to go all the way to the top without receiving management training through formal education.)

(2) Some graduate business schools are traditional in nature, while others are innovative. Choose an innovative school where you may have a better chance of gaining some specific managerial skills training along with theory and technique. How? Look at the schools' catalogs. Are any courses listed that pertain to interpersonal relationships, planning and other management skills?

(3) Choose your courses carefully. Which are the most useful? Top managers studied said that people skills (behavioral sciences) and overall organizational planning and direction skills (business policy) were their most valuable graduate business school training for the real world of management. Although middle managers see people skills as important, they also feel that production and operations management skills are significant to their job success. Respondents rated insurance and real estate as the least useful courses. (Except, of course, those whose careers are in the latter 2 fields.)

ANYONE CONSIDERING a career in business administration will find this new report (about 50 pages) extremely interesting. A copy costs $7.50 for nonmembers, and may be ordered from American Management Associations, 135 W. 50th St., New York, N.Y. 10020.

Betty Ford Is Bright And Chipper

WASHINGTON (AP) — First Lady Betty Ford is continuing an excellent recovery from breast cancer surgery and probably will leave the hospital late this week, her doctors say.

Mrs. Ford was described as "bright and chipper" in a medical bulletin released Sunday by the White House.

"She has an excellent appetite and is eating anything she desires," said Dr. William Fouty, chief surgeon at Bethesda Naval Medical Center.

Group May Be Linked In Blast

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police say they are investigating the possibility that a group calling itself the "New World Liberation Front" may have been responsible for the bomb blast which tore apart a restroom in a Sheraton hotel near Los Angeles International Airport.

An explosion rocked the Sheraton Motor Inn near the Los Angeles International Airport late Saturday, just five minutes after an unidentified male caller warned that a bomb had been placed in the hotel. A similar call was received at the Sheraton Palace Hotel in San Francisco before a bomb exploded there last Wednesday.

Both bombs were placed in women's restrooms.

"There's a possibility the two are linked," said a Los Angeles police spokesman, "but we have received no communication after the bombing similar to the San Francisco call."

No one was injured in either blast and the callers did not give any reasons for the bombings.

After the San Francisco explosion, however, a radio station received an anonymous call directing it to a message from the New World Liberation Front.

In the message, the group claimed credit for the bombing, and castigated Sheraton's parent company, International Telephone & Telegraph Corp., for its alleged role in toppling the Marxist government of Salvadore Allende in Chile. It demanded that the firm publicly admit guilt in the coup and obtain the release of all political prisoners in Chile.

Damp Chill Hits Texas

By The Associated Press

Damp and rather chilly weather spread from the Texas Panhandle-Plains sector toward the southeast today.

Light rain or drizzle fell in most areas along and behind a Canadian cold front which by early morning had eased as far south as a line linking points near Texarkana, Tyler, Waco, Junction and Marfa.

It was at least partly cloudy in other sections except for occasional patches of clear sky in East and South Texas, where the weather was noticeably warmer.

Temperatures near dawn dipped to 45 degrees at Perryton and 46 at Amarillo in the Panhandle, an area where fog occasionally was mixed with drizzle. Readings elsewhere ranged from the higher 40s through the 60s, staying as high as 70 at Cotulla, Galveston, Longview and San Antonio.

Top marks Sunday went as high as 90 at Alice in South Texas. Dalhart was the coolest spot with a maximum of 51.

With the frontal system expected to keep on moving slowly toward the southeast, little change was forecast.

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN—Many consumers in the market for a new car are wondering just what it is that the new emission control devices do, why they are needed, and most of all, how they will affect a car's performance and cost.

First of all, the controls are needed to make the new car emissions come within the standards set by the Environmental Protection Agency under the Clean Air Amendments passed by Congress in 1970.

These amendments set strict limits for the hydrocarbons, carbon monoxide, and nitrogen oxides emitted by cars. Although the EPA hasn't required any particular devices in order to meet these strict standards, most of the new cars will be using single catalytic converters to neutralize polluted emissions by trapping and treating them after they leave the car's combustion chamber.

How will these emission controls affect the performance of this year's car models? The EPA says that some new cars may be a bit harder to start in cold weather and somewhat slower to warm up. They may also be a little more hesitant in operation.

The new cars will require the use of a different type of gas, one that is unleaded and phosphorus-free. Unleaded gas is expected to reduce the health hazard of lead emitted in auto exhaust, especially in many urban areas, where cars are the major source of lead in the air. This new gas will cost more, but its extra cost may be offset by the fact that its relative cleanliness compared to standard gasoline means spark-plugs and mufflers should last longer.

Some '75 models may get better gas mileage with emission controls and unleaded gas, others may not. The main factor in determining gas mileage is the car's weight. A car weighing one-half as much as another will get about twice the gas mileage as the heavier car. Air conditioning and automatic transmission may also lower gas mileage. On heavier cars, the new controls may lower gas mileage slightly, but the fuel economy of smaller, lighter cars won't really be affected.

The Attorney General's Environmental Protection Division lawyers say that consumers who are serious about getting better gas mileage should plan fewer short trips, avoid fast "jackrabbit" starts, keep cars tuned up, consider purchasing radial tires, and drive at a steady speed of between 30 and 50 m.p.h., depending on driving conditions. All of these can result in a more efficient use of gas.

As for price of the '75 cars with emission controls, a National Academy of Sciences report estimates that the new equipment will raise the sticker price about $140. Inflation and any optional equipment would be additional.

The EPA cautions that tampering with the emission control system of a new car can hamper performance and fuel economy and could cause engine damage. Also, under the Clean Air Amendments, auto manufacturers must provide a five-year or 50,000 mile warranty on emission control systems in new cars, and tampering with the system might void this warranty.

In addition, the Clean Air Amendments make it illegal for anyone to remove or render inoperative the emission control system of a car before its sale, or for the manufacturer or dealer to do so after the sale. A fine of up to $10,000 can be assessed for each violation.

Texas Air Control Board regulations also prohibit tampering with emission control devices. The Attorney General's Environmental Protection Division, which represents the Board, warns that violation of these rules are punishable by civil penalties of up to $1,000 a day.

Both the Environmental Protection and Consumer Protection Divisions of the Attorney General's Office recently notified garagemen, service station owners, and publishers of a book on emission control bypass methods of such penalties. They also pointed out that additional civil penalties could be assessed for violations of the Texas Deceptive Trade Practices-Consumer Protection Act if misleading claims are made regarding fuel economy for bypassed systems.

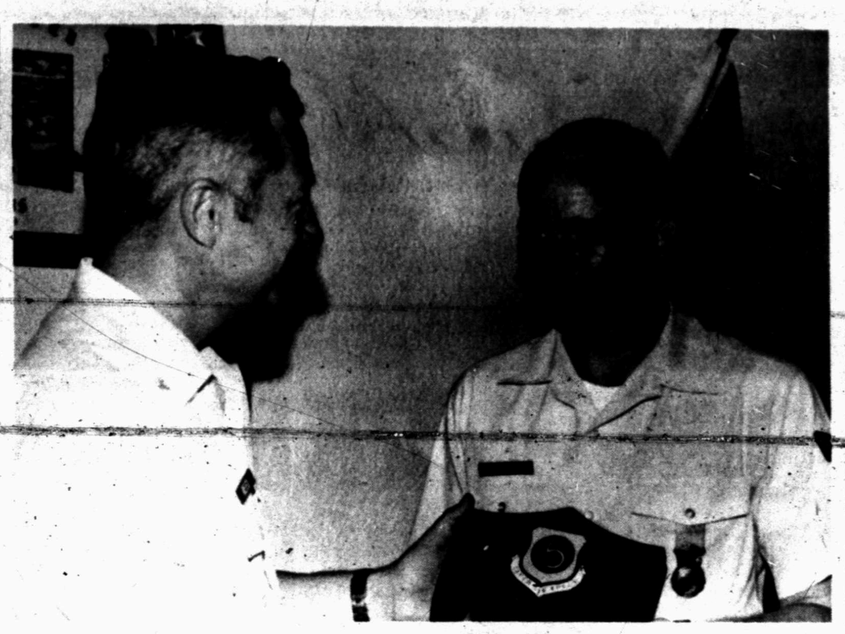
Consumers who believe their car's emission control system has been tampered with should contact the Attorney General's Environmental Protection and Consumer Protection Divisions.

Traffic Deaths Down

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas traffic deaths are down 21 per cent in 1974 compared with the same period in 1973, the Department of Public Safety reports.

The death total this year is 2,142. Last year it was 2,699.

Total fatal accidents this year is 1,852.



SNYDERITE RECOGNIZED—U. S. Air Force Staff Sergeant John M. Harty, right, receives plaque from Col. John C. Reed, 475th Air Base Wing Commander, after Sgt. Harty was named Outstanding First Term Security Policeman of the year at Fuchu Air Station, Japan. The son of Mr. and Mrs. H.T. Harty, 210 Thirty-eight Street, Sgt. Harty is a 1966 graduate of Snyder High School. His wife, Janice, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Fargason of Dunn.

Veep's Office Still Answers

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — They still answer the phones "office of the vice president," even though the nation doesn't now have a vice president.

That's because "we still have a constitutional responsibility," explained Walter Mote, who heads the six-person staff that continues to occupy two vice presidential offices on Capitol Hill.

Mote, formerly administrative assistant to vice presidents Spiro T. Agnew and Gerald R. Ford, said the responsibility is to receive and log for the Federal Archives all official communications directed to the Senate.

As Ford did before him, Vice President-designate Nelson A. Rockefeller is carefully avoiding any contact with the vice presidential office before he is confirmed.

When the former New York governor visited the Dirksen Office Building two days after his Aug. 20 nomination by President Ford, Mote invited him inside the office.

"I'm superstitious or I'd come in," Rockefeller said, declining the offer.

Meanwhile, Senate President Pro Tempore James O. Eastland, D-Miss., temporarily is receiving the vice presidential pay rate, instead of his senatorial rate, plus the vice president's limousine and expense allowances. The vice president's salary is $62,500 a year, $13,000 higher than a senator's annual salary.

He also has the use of the vice president's ceremonial office just off the Senate floor.

Eastland had received similar benefits during the two months after Agnew resigned and before Ford became vice president.

The six staff members, whose annual pay totals a bit more than $100,000, occupy offices in the Capitol and the Dirksen Building.

The communications that they receive include messages from the Executive Branch, reports from federal agencies, petitions from citizens groups, messages from foreign governments and formal notices of changes in the law.
