

Syrian forces drive back 'enemy' planes

By FAROUK NASSAR
Associated Press Writer

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — U.S. and Israeli jets reportedly swooped over central Lebanon today, and Syria said its air forces drove back "enemy planes." Syria did not identify the jets.

Witnesses and Lebanese radio stations had reported that U.S. F-14 jets took off from the USS Eisenhower, off the coast, and flew low over Beirut and surrounding mountains. There also were radio reports that Israeli jets had flown in the area.

Lebanon's state radio quoted reports from Damascus as saying the targets of the Syrian forces were the U.S. F-14s. The radio said Syrian ground forces fired missiles at the jets, but there was no mention of any hits.

"We are flying reconnaissance on a daily basis as needed and don't comment on them," said Maj. Robert Jordan when asked about the Syrian report. He is the chief spokesman for the Marine peacekeeping contingent in Beirut.

The Syrian command in Damascus issued a terse communique which said: "Four enemy planes flew over our positions in Lebanon. Our air defense system confronted them and forced them to return toward the sea."

A spokesman at the Pentagon in Washington said he knew nothing about the report.

The radio stations of the rightist Christian Phalange party said the two Israeli jets buzzed Syrian and Palestinian positions in the mountains overlooking Beirut.

In northern Lebanon, fighting between Palestine Liberation Organization loyalists and Syrian-backed rebels tapered off today as each side pledged to keep a truce but blamed the other side for breaking it.

The cease-fire, promoted by several Arab nations, was "generally holding," Lebanon's state radio reported. It began after sunset Wednesday.

The truce will only apply for four days, to give the warring factions time to discuss their disputes, said one of the cease-fire's arrangers, Sheikh Ahmed Bin Saif al Thani, the foreign minister of Qatar.

Supporters of PLO chairman Yasser Arafat and mutineers accused each other of violating the cease-fire during the night.

But Arafat's force, from its besieged stronghold in the port city of Tripoli, and the rebels, in a statement from Damascus, promised to honor the truce.

The truce at Tripoli was mediated by the foreign ministers of Saudi Arabia, Kuwait and Qatar on behalf of the six major oil-producing nations of the Arabian peninsula.

"We pray this is serious but we are very skeptical" the truce will hold, said a spokesman for Arafat on Wednesday.

Arafat visited wounded supporters in hospitals in Tripoli. Police in the city had estimated that at least 1,000 people were killed and 3,000 wounded in the assault. The International Red Cross has said hundreds of the casualties were civilians.

In Israel on Wednesday, the military command conducted a drill to see how fast reservists could be assembled. The military command later called the practice "rapid and orderly." The command refused to say how many soldiers participated.

On Monday, Syria had announced a general mobilization, claiming Israel and the United States were preparing to attack. Israeli and U.S. officials denied such an intention.

Buffalo Lake Water District members

Tax failure does not disturb trio

By KIM THOGMARTIN
Staff Writer

The three board members who were approved along with the creation of a Buffalo Lake Water District on Tuesday said they are not worried that the one-half cent tax levy did not pass.

Garth Thomas, Carolyn Waters and Bill Devers ran unopposed for the positions.

They are joined by three directors each from Randall and Potter Counties. Waters is the only woman on the board.

"It's difficult to say if the failure will cause any problems," Thomas said. "But passing it would have been almost like signing a blank check. The first thing we need to do is try to gain positive physical control of the land. Then we can vote on the tax issue again."

A retired Marine who worked for the government until 1975, Thomas said he anticipates the "normal problems with getting land that is owned by all the people turned over to a small segment of the people."

Waters, a 26-year resident of the area, has an interest in conservation and water sports. "If money can be kept in Texas by having a recreation area at Buffalo Lake, it will be well worth the effort and worth whatever tax monies are needed. I was disappointed that the tax measure didn't pass, but most importantly the water district has been established and that's a beginning."

Devers decided to run for the position after serving as a member of the temporary board. "I'm excited that the proposal passed," he said. "Hopefully we'll get a voice that we haven't had in the past."

Devers doesn't think the district will have trouble getting operating funds when they're needed. "When we can go to the people with an intelligent view of what we need, we'll get the money."

The nine board members were sworn in last night during a meeting with the outgoing temporary board. Several of the temporary members were elected to the new board, and some of them also belong to the Buffalo Lake Heritage Association.

Waters and Devers will serve four-year terms while Thomas is a two-year member. The board will elect officers during an open meeting next Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Buffalo Lake Wildlife Refuge.

A former county precinct chairman in Fairfax County, Va., Thomas has been the Deaf Smith County Republican county chairman since 1979. "I see a need for the program, and since I'm retired I'll have the time to serve," he said.

October report shows

Prices increase modestly

By SALLY JACOBSEN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wholesale prices, despite the sharpest gain in food costs since April, rose a modest 0.3 percent in October, the government said today. Largely offsetting the 1.1 percent food price gain was the first drop in energy prices in six months.

Beef and veal prices rose 2.4 percent, the first increase after three months of falling prices and a renewed indication of the impact of the summer's prolonged heat and dry weather.

Fresh fruit and vegetable prices rose 18.5 percent, also a result in large part of the summer weather.

As for energy prices, the department said natural gas costs tumbled 2.8 percent. Over the last year, gas prices have fallen 0.7 percent, their first 12-month decline since 1965. Department analysts said a glut of gas on the wholesale market produced the October decline.

For the year, the Labor Department said its Producer Price Index for finished goods has risen at an annual rate of just 0.6 percent, virtually assuring that the pace for all of 1983 will be well under the 3.7 percent of 1982.

Indeed, economists say the final tally for the year will be about 1.5 percent, which would be the smallest increase since the 0.5 percent advance of 1964.

White House spokesman Larry Speakes, in Tokyo with President Reagan, called the October figure "a significantly low rate of inflation" and added that "in recent weeks we have seen a remarkable string of indicators of a flourishing economy. The October producer prices showed the foundation for the recovery is strong."

Indeed, over the last 12 months, wholesale prices have risen a small 1.3 percent, the lowest full-year gain since the 1 percent increase posted over the November 1966-November 1967 period.

Detailing last month's price activity, the Labor Department said:

—New car prices jumped 0.8 percent after falling a sharp 2.1 percent in September, when dealers offered customers special deals to close out the 1983 model year. Light truck prices shot up 10.8 percent after tumbling 5.6 percent in the previous month.

The department noted that "the October advances reflected price hikes for 1984 model-year vehicles by domestic producers."

—The 1.1 percent food price increase was well ahead of the 0.7 percent advance of September and matched the gain recorded in April. Vegetable prices rose 5.3 percent and poultry costs rose 0.3 percent. Bakery goods rose 1 percent.

Pork prices last month, however, were off 2.5 percent and dairy product costs fell 0.2 percent.

—Gasoline prices fell 0.2 percent, slightly better than the 0.1 percent decrease of a month earlier. Fuel oil prices jumped 4.2 percent as the winter heating season began in parts of the country. Fuel oil prices had risen 2.5 percent in the previous month, when natural gas prices were up 0.5 percent.

The energy price calculations reported today were for September. That component of the wholesale price measure lags a month.

Navyman to speak Sunday

Petty Officer First Class Ray E. Blanton Jr. of the U.S. Naval Reserve is scheduled to be the keynote speaker at a Veterans Remembrance Day conducted Sunday by the Hereford Elks Lodge.

The program is set for 3 p.m. at the lodge building north of Hereford on Highway 385.

Blanton said November is traditionally Veterans Remembrance Month for the Elks organization. With Friday being Veterans Day, a national observance, Elks members all over the United States will be holding similar presentations and visiting veterans in Veterans Administration hospitals.

Sunday's program - free and open to the public - should last fewer than 30 minutes.

Two local cases upheld

Judge David Guley of the 22nd District Court has received word that two local cases taken to the Court of Appeals have been upheld by the Seventh Supreme Judicial District in Amarillo.

The court affirmed a February, 1982 conviction of Jimmy Leon Weathers, charged with unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. Weathers was sentenced to 10 years in the Texas Department of Corrections and fined $10,000.

The court also upheld a district court decision in the case of Jose Garcia Benavidez, charged with aggravated robbery. Punishment was set at life confinement in the DOC.

Pancake supper slated Friday

The 3,000 or so veterans in Deaf Smith County are invited to a free pancake supper Friday evening, a Veterans Day observance planned by the American Legionnaires and Auxiliary.

The feed is slated for 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. at American Legion Post 192 in Veterans Park.

Grant Hanna, publicity chairman, said 50 American flags, one for each state, will fly that day in the park. The Hereford High School Key Club is supposed to assist in flying the flags at local businesses.

All veterans and their families are invited as guests of the 150-member Hereford post on Friday.

It has been 63 years since the armistice of World War I, and the date has since been observed every year by veterans of the two World, Korean and Vietnam Wars. The American Legion was founded in 1918 in St. Louis.

Send-off rally set Saturday

No pep rally will be held for the Hereford High School football team, which has qualified to play Odessa Permian at 7 p.m. Saturday in Lubbock.

A send-off rally, however, is set for 1:45 p.m. Saturday at the field house. Everyone is invited to attend the playoff-game send-off.

Fleming announces candidacy

By KIM THOGMARTIN
Staff Writer

Calling himself a "conservative Republican who believes in financial responsibility in our government," Ronald G. Fleming of Lubbock was in Hereford Wednesday to announce his candidacy for the U.S. House of Representatives from the 19th District.

With training as a certified public accountant and having substantially participated in the political arena of West Texas, the 39-year-old self-employed businessman said he has a deep interest in the direction of America's domestic and foreign policy.

Fleming was elected last year as the Texas 28th senatorial district committeeman and currently serves on the state Republican Executive Committee. He also served as Lubbock County co-chairman for lieutenant gubernatorial candidate George Strake. As chairman of the Republican Party of Texas, Strake appointed Fleming to serve on the budget and oversight committee for the GOP.

In making the announcement, Fleming said the job should be filled by someone who is qualified to deal with some very hard issues, someone who is willing to tackle head-on some difficult issues that present no simple solutions.

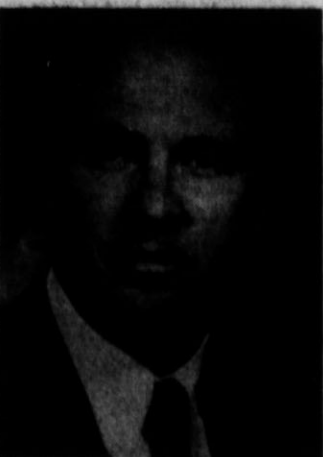

"A congressman from this area should work tirelessly to reduce federal spending,"

Fleming said. "That is the only legitimate way to reduce the budget deficits."

As a candidate who believes in a strong system of defense, Fleming said our nation's huge defense budget could probably be reduced through increased efficiency. "As an accountant, I know that the bigger the expenditures, the greater the possibility for waste."

Addressing issues that directly affect the district, Fleming said he'll go on record as being opposed to storage of nuclear waste in the Texas Panhandle. "Just the potential of the Ogallala Aquifer being contaminated is enough to take a stand about," he explained.

Fleming said our nation's agricultural problems are closely tied in with foreign policy. "We need to develop export markets for the protection of our farmers, and in some cases that can best be accomplished if the federal government will stay out of it."

Two charged in Big Spring deaths

BIG SPRING, Texas (AP) — Henry Lee Lucas and onetime traveling companion Otis Toole have been charged with capital murder in the 1982 bludgeoning death of an Odessa shoe salesman.

Toole, who is serving a 20-year prison sentence for arson, also was charged here with murder in the death of a 36-year-old male hitchhiker.

On Wednesday, Lucas was convicted in the second case in which he has been tried. He claims to have killed 165 people during cross-country ramblings that sometimes included Toole.

Lucas was convicted in Denton on Wednesday in the stabbing death of 15-year-old Freida Powell, a Florida runaway who lived with Lucas. In September, he was sentenced to 75 years in prison after pleading guilty in the slaying of 80-year-old Kate Rich of Ringgold.

Lucas has been charged in 10 Texas murder cases, four of them capital cases carrying a possible penalty of death by injection.

Four stabbed in nursing home

DALLAS (AP) — Four elderly nursing home residents were stabbed, one seriously, by a nurse's aide who earlier had tried to poison a younger man she was caring for at his home, police said.

Administrators at Doctors Nursing Center in northeast Dallas said the aide had been employed there for about two weeks, but declined to give out any other information after the Wednesday incidents.

Joe Oliva, 27, who suffers from muscular dystrophy, said he had employed the woman for about three days as a visiting nurse. He said about 10 minutes after she arrived at his house Wednesday morning, she served him tea laced with rubbing alcohol.

Oliva said he refused to drink the tea and that his stepfather arrived shortly afterward and told the woman to leave.

Nursing home administrators said the woman arrived about 45 minutes before she was due to go on duty at 3 p.m. and stabbed a woman in the parking lot of the home.

The aide then went inside the home and stabbed three more residents in their beds.

Parents refuse to disconnect baby

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Although her heart still beats, doctors say a 6-week-old infant has been "legally, morally" dead for a week and should be allowed to rest in peace. But her grieving parents, waiting for a "miracle," have vowed to keep her on life-support.

"We feel it's up to God to take her life, not the doctors," said Adrian Roberts, 31, father of Starla Roberts. "We don't feel it's the doctors' or the judge's decision."

"We're believing in God for a miracle," said Ginger Roberts, 20, the infant's mother. "My response to the doctors who believe in their tests is: Why can't they accept our faith as Christians? ... Why can't they accept someone who is stronger than all of us?"

Starla remained hooked up to life-support equipment Wednesday at Memorial Medical Center where doctors said no decision had been made as to when it should be shut off.

Tough anti-smoking law passes

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — One of the nation's toughest bills championing the rights of non-smokers narrowly won approval from city voters, officials said Wednesday night after a final count of absentee ballots.

However, a controversial plan to control urban growth was defeated, said Registrar of Voters Jay Patterson following a check of more than 12,000 absentee ballots.

The anti-smoking measure was passed 80,740 to 79,481, according to the final tally. The urban growth plan was defeated 78,529 to 76,610.

Those were the two most hotly contested issues among many propositions on Tuesday's ballot.

Polling was so close on the smoking and urban growth measures that mail-in votes tipped the balance.

Officials investigate security breach

WASHINGTON (AP) — Embarrassed State Department officials, investigating a bizarre security breach, are directing the search of a nearby prison for missing top-secret documents stored in a safe mistakenly delivered to the prison.

The documents, which included highly sensitive daily intelligence reports for Secretary of State George P. Shultz, were not missed until they were discovered late last month by prison officials. But some of the documents fell into the hands of prison inmates and investigators said they were still being recovered from the prison late Wednesday.

"It's possible, if not probable, that we do not" have all the documents, said a high-ranking State Department security official, who insisted on anonymity.

White House denies report

TOKYO (AP) — A White House spokesman today denied British broadcast reports that the U.S. death toll in the invasion of Grenada was more than twice that officially reported.

Spokesman Larry Speakes, with President Reagan on a trip to Japan, said the Pentagon has not changed its accounting of the U.S. casualties on Grenada: 18 dead and 91 wounded. Speakes said five U.S. helicopters were downed.

The British Broadcasting Corp. reported Wednesday from Grenada, based on unidentified "military sources," that at least 42 U.S. servicemen had died and that the final toll could "rise past 70 as more severely wounded die."

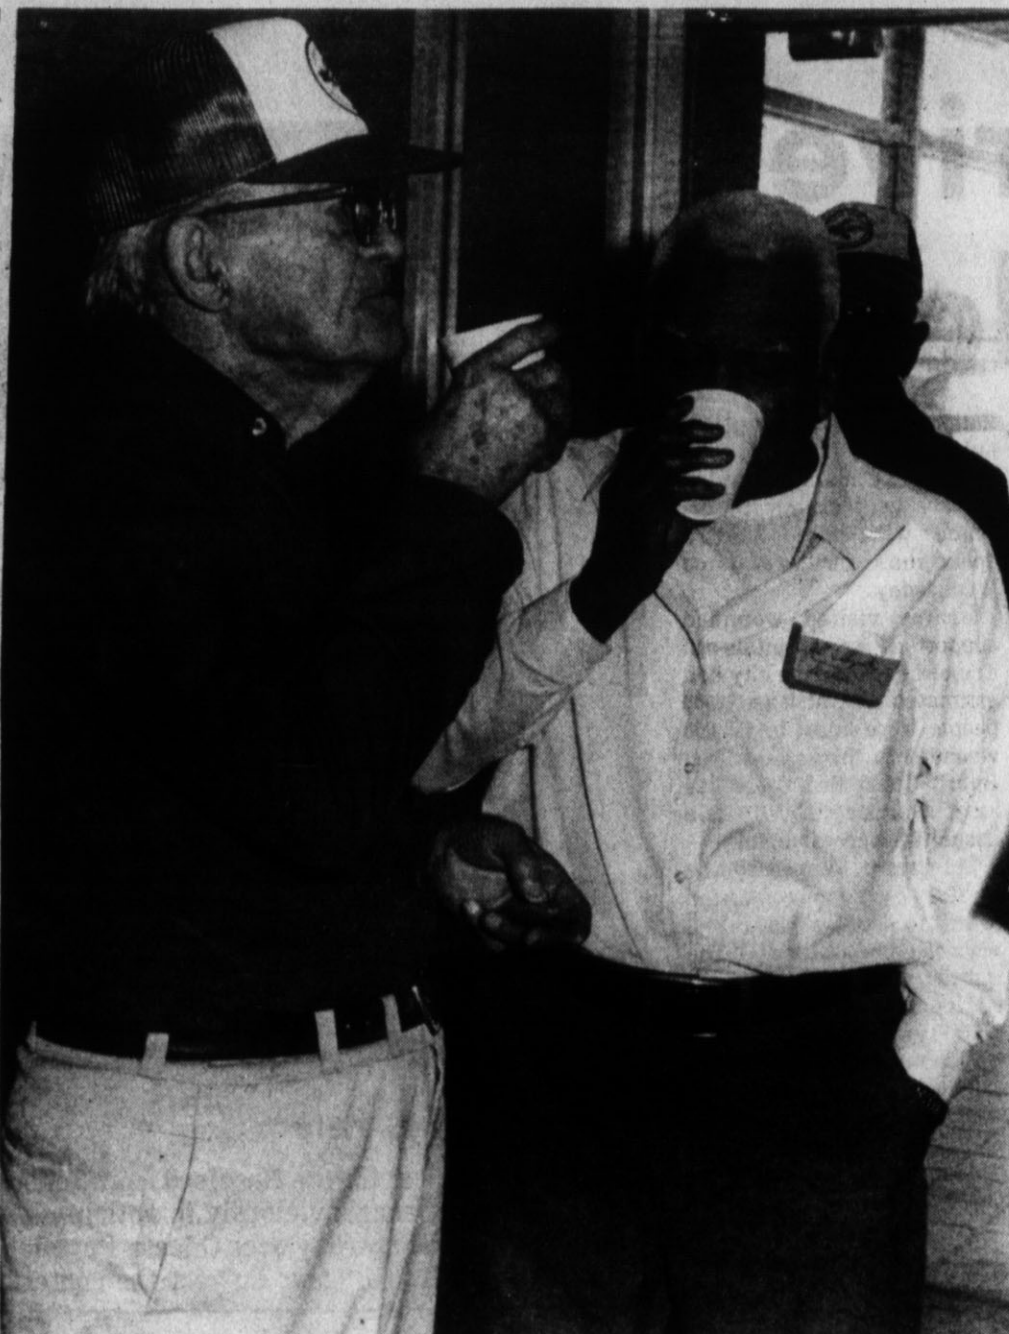

Rebels claim they downed jetliner

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Anti-Marxist rebels in Angola today claimed responsibility for shooting down an Angolan jetliner that crashed after takeoff, killing all 126 people aboard.

A statement from the National Union for the Total Independence of Angola, known as UNITA, said its "special commandos" destroyed the Angolan national airliner. UNITA said carried government troops.

The plane crashed Tuesday at Lubango, Angola.

UNITA has waged a bush war against the Marxist government of Angola since losing out in a civil war following the African country's independence from Portugal eight years ago.

Good health seen as crucial by group

By KIM THOGMARTIN

For the hundreds of older workers in the Green Thumb senior employment program, responsibility has been a way of life, an essential part of the traditional work ethic that most older persons accept.

But as 45 Green Thumb workers gathered Wednesday at the Hereford Community Center learned, responsibility goes beyond caring for jobs and families; it also means being responsible for one's own health.

"Working hard is the most important thing in many people's lives," said Green Thumb stated John Willingham, assistant director. "Yet what most of us don't think about is that we cannot work if we aren't healthy, and to be healthy we have to take care of ourselves."

Green Thumb provides part-time work in public service agencies for low-income persons 55 years old and over. Texas Farmers Union sponsors the program, which operates in 108 counties across the state.

Willingham emphasized that it is far better to prevent a disease than to deal with it after it has attacked the body. In a film produced by the American Occupational Medical Association, the Green Thumbs learned how diet, exercise and good habits can forestall the onset of disease.

Derrell Hale, area supervisor from Plainview who also addressed the gathering, said the success of the program depends in part on community support. "We need more agencies that are willing to employ the workers after we train them." He added there is also a communications problem with the program. "A lot of senior citizens don't understand that because the program only allows for 1,300 work hours a year, their social security benefits will not be affected."

Green Thumb workers from Hereford include Alice Gilleland, the receptionist at American Red Cross; Anna Wilson, an employee of the Senior Citizens Center; George Frerich who works for community action; Ruth Rodriguez, an employee of Deaf Smith General Hospital; Leon Martinez of the Hereford Independent School District; and Emmett Vaughn, who works at the Cowgirl Hall of Fame.

Reagan urges Japan to help with defense load

By JAMES GERSTENZANG

Associated Press Writer

TOKYO (AP) — President Reagan prodded Japan today to boost defense spending and lower trade barriers, while Prime Minister Yasuhiro Nakasone called on the United States to push down interest rates and curtail taxes that hamper international trade.

In a day mixing the culture of ancient Japan with an exercise in 20th century international politics, Reagan said Japan should "share more of the burden of our mutual defense effort."

The president and Nakasone touched on a gamut of controversial issues that separate their two nations.

After a senior administration official reviewed the talks on the second day of Reagan's six-and-a-half day Asian journey, the president's spokesman took the rare step of following Reagan to a podium to stress that progress was indeed being made and that it was demonstrated — if in no other way — by an agreement to continue U.S.-Japanese discussions.

"We came here to set an agenda, and we set that agenda," said White House spokesman Larry Speakes. "We're setting a benchmark...to indicate the problems we have can and will be resolved."

U.S. Ambassador Mike Mansfield, known for his brief, low-keyed answers to questions when he was the Senate Democratic leader, was asked how the talks were going and responded, "Can't complain."

The Reagan administration would like Japan to play a greater role in the joint U.S.-Japanese defense of this island nation, and it has complained about limits on U.S. access to the Japanese marketplace, where American producers would like to sell more fruit, beef and other items.

With Nakasone at his side, Reagan ended their formal talks by telling reporters reporters in an auditorium of the prime minister's official residence that he was satisfied "our mutual security relationship is proceeding smoothly."

But, the president added: "As for Japan's defense efforts, the United States remains convinced that the most important contribution Japan can make toward the peace and security in Asia is for Japan to provide for its own defense and share more of the burden of our mutual defense effort."

Nakasone has indicated an interest in increasing Japanese defense spending, but, with public opinion divided and an election campaign likely, he has moved cautiously in this area.

Japan now spends less than 1 percent of its gross national product on defense and contends any buildup is limited by constitutional restraints imposed after World War II that bar Japan from raising

The president saluted the strength of U.S.-Japanese ties saying, "I have come as a friend of Japan seeking to strengthen our partnership for peace, prosperity and progress. I will leave Japan confident that our partnership is stronger."

He noted, however, that "Japanese quotas on agricultural products are a cause of concern."

"In return," Reagan said,

"the United States must combat protectionism in our country, and I have given the prime minister my pledge to do so."

A senior administration official, speaking on the condition he not be named, acknowledged that "in the trade area, it's the United States that's doing most of the asking."

Reagan, looking tired although his aides said he is bearing up well under the strains of his trip nearly half way round the world, mispronounced the name of Treasury Secretary Donald T. Regan, calling him "Reagan," and then quipped, "I tried to get him to pronounce it the other way."

For his part, the prime minister indicated there are policy differences on both sides. Nakasone said he asked Reagan "for continued U.S. efforts to lower U.S. interest rates."

He added: "I expressed my concern that the unitary method of taxation is becoming a serious impediment to the Japanese investment in the United States."

This refers to the practice of states calculating an international company's taxes on the basis of worldwide earnings rather than income derived solely in that state. While the practice may increase state revenues, critics argue it limits overseas investments.

Reagan and Nakasone, who will meet Friday in the informal setting of the prime minister's weekend villa on the outskirts of this sprawling capital, conferred today after the president and his wife Nancy visited a shrine.

Scott, Terry top 3-5A in offensive categories

Odessa Permian leads 4-5A in offense, defense

Sports

Page 6A—The Hereford Brand, Thursday, November 10, 1983

Hereford's Mike Scott captured the passing crown and the total offense crown, and fullback Ronnie Terry took the individual rushing title in the just-completed District

3-5A statistics. Wide receiver and kicker Mickey Stengel finished high in the pass receiving and scoring in the district race. In team statistics, the Whitefaces were third in offense and third in defense. Scott, the Herd's junior quarterback passed for 1,065 yards and rushed for 328 to compile 1,393 yards in total offense. Scott connected on 53 percent of his passes, 67 of 127, for 1,065 yards. He had five touchdown throws and only three interceptions.

Terry rushed for 970 yards on 129 carries, averaging 7.5 yards per rush attempt. Bradic of Plainview was 100 yards back in second place with only a 5.6 average per carry. Terry, with his 240 yards rushing in the final district game, wound up third in total offense behind Scott and David Littlejohn of Palo Duro.

Stengel was second in the district in pass receiving yards and fourth in number of receptions. He caught 23 for 434 yards. He was also third in scoring with five touchdowns, five field goals and 19 point-after kicks for 64 points. Terry scored 10 touchdowns to tally 60 points. As a team, Hereford averaged 287.9 yards a game on offense. The Herd showed a balanced attack, recording 1,769 yards rushing and 1,110 passing. The defense yielded 212 yards a game and led the league in pass defense, giving up only 452 yards in 10 games. Hereford gave up 76 points in 10 games.

Statistics released from District 4-5A show Odessa Permian was the top-rated offensive and defensive team in that league. The Panthers rushed for 2,311 and passed for 1,452 to average 376.3 yards a game. The Permian defense yielded only 190.3 yards a game—an average of 116 rushing and 74.3 passing per game.

Odessa scored 329 points in 10 games and gave up 125 points while compiling a 9-1 won-lost record. The Panthers' only loss was a 20-7 decision to Midland Lee.

Blue-chip candidate Britt Hager, a 198-pound fullback and linebacker was sixth in rushing in the league with 802 yards. Permian quarterback Rex Lamberti, 184-pound senior, was second in total passing yards with 1,307, and he was first in percentage of completions. He hit 79 of 125 for a 63 percent mark.

The Panthers had three receivers in the top 10, with wingback Kirk Strahan leading the way on 18 catches for 253 yards. Wide receiver Keith Metcalf caught 16 for 327 yards. Strahan led the Panther scoring with 79 points and Hager had 66.

Herd challenges playoff odds

Odessa Permian will be a 14 to 21-point favorite when the Hereford Whitefaces tackle the potent Panthers in a Class 5A bi-district grid game Saturday night in Lubbock.

Permian was rated No. 1 in the state by the Harris Rating System this week, and the tradition-rich Panthers were ranked No. 5 in the final Associated Press schoolboy poll. Hereford was ranked 53rd in the Harris System, 21 points behind Permian, but Harris favored Permian by 14 points in the head-on competition.

Campbell declines further comment

HOUSTON (AP) — The latest attempt to resolve the unhappiness of Houston Oilers running back Earl Campbell has ended in failure.

Oiler General Manager Ladd Herzog, trying to get at the reasons for Campbell's request to be traded, sought a meeting with the former All-Pro on Wednesday. He was refused.

"I talked to Earl today with the intention of having a face-to-face discussion regarding his publicly expressed feelings of yesterday," Herzog said. "He informed me that he would prefer to delay the discussion until a later date."

Campbell made overtures about wanting to be traded after he was lifted from Sunday's 55-14 loss to Cincinnati. He clarified his desires during the taping of a television show on Tuesday.

Campbell declined further comment following Wednesday's practice about his trade request or why he declined to talk with Herzog.

There was speculation that Campbell is seeking an agent to represent him in contract negotiations although his contract with the Oilers extends through the 1985 season.

According to salaries released by the National Football League Management Council, Campbell is the second highest paid running back in the NFL behind Chicago's Walter Payton, who earns $500,000 annually.

Campbell and Dallas' Tony Dorsett earn $400,000 and Campbell reportedly could earn another $100,000 if he fulfills certain incentive clauses. "My personal reaction to all of this is one of perplexity," Herzog said. Herzog declined to say, however, if the Oilers would honor Campbell's request to be traded.

The trade deadline for this season has passed and any deal would have to be made after the Super Bowl in January.

Herzog said he had talked with Campbell prior to an Oct. 30 game with Cleveland and the player thought the Oilers were headed in the right direction. "His attitude at that time was extremely good and he was in very high spirits except for the fact that his groin injury was going to prevent him from playing that afternoon," Herzog said.

Paso Bel Air winner next. Irvin is favored by 8 points. Midland Lee is favored by 9.

In other playoff action of interest to local fans, the state-ranked Littlefield Wildcats meet the Dalhart Wolves here Friday night in a Class 3A bi-district clash. The Wildcats are ranked first in the state by AP and second by the Harris System. Dalhart will be a 35-point underdog, according to Harris.

Duran seeking 4th boxing title

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Driven by the desire to become boxing's first four-time champion, a reborn Roberto Duran reaches for Marvelous Marvin Hagler's middleweight championship tonight in the most widely anticipated fight of the year.

This dramatic showdown takes place in the 15,200-seat arena constructed outside of Caesars Palace and matches Hagler, who has not lost a fight in seven years, with Duran, reclaimed almost miraculously from boxing's scrap heap.

"I am a man with a mission," said Hagler. "Roberto Duran had his time, but that time is over. This time is for me."

The champion, whose shaven head adds to his ominous image, has established an aura of invincibility. "He is far and away the most complete boxer around," said Pat Petronelli, who, with his brother Goody, manages and trains Hagler. "He has no weakness. Great chin, never off his feet. He's got great staying power and he hits equally hard with either hand."

There also is a touch of bitterness in Hagler, who, until now has been unable to cash in on the era of boxing's big paydays.

The man who changed that and made this $20 million promotion possible was Duran, whose comeback from two years of drifting after his controversial "No Mas" loss against Sugar Ray Leonard has been nothing short of remarkable.

Ridiculed by his countrymen as a quitter and discarded by the boxing community as used-up, Duran refused to accept that sentence. Under the guidance of new manager Luis Spada, he battled his way back, destroying Pipino Cuevas to earn a shot at the junior middleweight title and then capturing that crown with a textbook attack that ended in an eighth round knockout of young Davey Moore.

"He wants this fight very badly," said Spada. "He wants the fourth title."

Q: Can you give me some ideas as to the wear limits on disc brakes?
A: We assume you're referring to thickness, which should be measured with a micrometer. Generally speaking, wear that reduces the thickness of a new one-inch disc by .035-inch, or a 1 1/2 disc by .010-inch indicates the need for disc replacement. It should be mentioned that once a pattern of normal wear has developed through usage, minor scores on the disc surfaces should have very little effect on braking efficiency. Run-out or wobble should also be checked using a dial indicator clamped to the caliper after removing the lining pads. A smooth spot about an inch from the outer edge of the disc should be used for measurement. The maximum run-out in most cases is .004-inch. Replacement is recommended when this tolerance is exceeded.

Auburn narrow pick over Georgia; Clemson, Southern Cal are favored

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
AP Sports Writer

November stretch drive? Important games? Tell it to the oddsmakers, who apparently think that seven of this weekend's college football games involving members of the Top Twenty are such mismatches that they have refused to quote a line.

In one contest the line is as thin as they come — No. 3 Auburn at No. 4 Georgia in a pick 'em Southeastern Conference showdown.

If Georgia wins, the Dawgs go to the Sugar Bowl for the fourth year in a row. But if Auburn wins, the Tigers must at least tie Alabama on Dec. 3 to clinch the SEC crown outright.

If Auburn beats Georgia but loses to Alabama, those three teams will tie for the SEC title, and Tennessee can make it a four-way deadlock. The choice would then be left to the Sugar Bowl committee, which has raised a few hackles in the past and would be faced with alienating no fewer than three teams.

How important is the Auburn-Georgia game? It even has Georgia Coach Vince Dooley excited. "The world championship," he calls it. This corner calls it Auburn 14-10.

Last week's score was 35-17-1 for a percentage of .673; for the season, 325-123-6—.725. Against the line, last week was 16-12-1—.571; on the year, 110-108-4—.505.

Kansas at No. 1 Nebraska (no line): Tom Osborne is tired of people accusing him of running up the score. He says the Huskers have more players than points. Nebraska 56-21.

Texas Christian at No. 2 Texas (no line). Texas 28-3.

Indiana at No. 5 Illinois (no line). Illinois 42-14.

No. 6 Miami, Fla. (favored by 1) at Florida State. Florida State 24-17.

Detroit defeats 76ers, 120-116; Lakers roll over Dallas by 16

By WILLIAM R. BARNARD
AP Sports Writer

Vinnie Johnson picked just the right time and place to snap out of a shooting slump.

The backup guard had hit only six of 30 field-goal attempts in Detroit's first five games, but he was 11 for 15 and scored 26 points Wednesday night in the Pistons' 120-116 National Basketball Association victory over the defending champion Philadelphia 76ers.

"The slump is over," said Johnson, who connected on eight of nine shots in the second quarter to help the Pistons pull ahead 61-52 at halftime.

In the third quarter, the Pistons increased their lead to 95-81, and in the fourth period they fought off a Philadelphia rally that cut the 76ers' deficit to four points.

O'Brien quits, NBA seeks new commissioner

NEW YORK (AP) — The search is on for a successor to Larry O'Brien as commissioner of the National Basketball Association with a basic question to be resolved first — does the league want another celebrity from the outside or for a lesser-known insider more familiar with the league?

O'Brien, who came to the NBA in 1975 after holding numerous jobs at the top level of American politics, announced Wednesday he would leave office when his contract expires Feb. 1. He said he had another job lined up and there was speculation that he would go to work for Sen. John Glenn of Ohio, a Democratic presidential candidate and an old political associate.

"I'm not going to retire," the 66-year-old O'Brien said.

"My wife would never let me."

The league's Board of Governors — its 23 owners — will meet next week with the first order of business selection of a new commissioner.

"It will not be one of those Bowie Kuhn deals where it drags out for two years," Atlanta Hawks general manager Stan Kasten said in a reference to baseball, which has been searching for six months for a successor to outgoing commissioner Kuhn.

The principal contenders for O'Brien's job would appear to be Jerry Colangelo, general manager of the Phoenix Suns and David Stern, the NBA's executive vice president for legal affairs and O'Brien's right-hand man.

Many couples go separate ways when it comes to involvement in community activities, but for Barbara and Bill Allen, getting involved often means working together.

Bill, owner of a local C.P.A. firm, is currently serving as chairman of the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame and Western Heritage Center board, while Barbara is a member of the Hall of Fame research and nomination committee.

Barbara commented that her family has made some interesting acquaintances and new friends during her three years on the committee, which researches and corresponds with prospective inductees. "We still correspond with some of the ones from out of town," she noted.

Having a mutual enjoyment of music and the arts, the Allens have been members of the Hereford Community Concert Association for about 13 years. Bill is currently serving as treasurer of the association and Barbara assists in sponsoring the Concert teens, daughters of concert association members who serve as ushers at the concerts.

"I think the concerts are a very good thing to have in Hereford," said Barbara. "We have really enjoyed them through the years and have seen several people come here through Community Concerts that then became better known and appeared with the Amarillo Symphony."

The couple also hold season tickets to the Amarillo Symphony, which they started attending several years ago when their oldest son, Blake, began playing cello with the symphony.

Blake, who is 24, recently received his master's degree in music from the University of Michigan. Brent, age 22, owns and manages the Soft Water Service in Hereford. He shares the family's enjoyment of music, writing original music and poetry. Brenda, 13 and a seventh grader at La Plata Junior High, is in Pep Squad and currently takes tennis, French horn, piano and voice lessons.

The Allens are members of Central Church of Christ. In other areas of the community, Barbara is a member of the fine arts committee of the Chamber of Commerce Women's Division and Bill is a member of Hereford Toastmasters Club. He is a past president of the organization and has held several other offices.

Bill was raised in Hereford and met Barbara while he was stationed in California with the U.S. Air Force. She is a native of Oakland, Calif.

The couple married in California, and after Bill spent a year in Japan, they moved to Lubbock, where he completed his military service at Reese Air Force Base and then finished his degree in accounting at Texas Tech University.

The Allens lived in Lubbock nine years and then in El Paso four years before coming to Hereford in 1970.

Barbara enjoys the open spaces and lower population density of West Texas, as well as the convenience of driving anywhere in town in just a few minutes. She said one of the things she really likes is the changing of the seasons here, noting that autumn is her favorite time of year.

She likes to refinish furniture and has done several pieces. "When we went to Washington, D.C., this summer I found an antique desk that I'm really anxious to refinish," she stated.

Barbara also enjoys needlework, such as candlewicking, crocheting, and counted cross-stitch. She gives many of her handmade items as gifts.

She and Bill enjoy birds and have several prints, porcelain birds and similar items. They recently started collecting bronzes by Andy Wilks. They also like miniatures and surprised Brenda with a 3-story San Francisco Victorian dollhouse as a Christmas present.

Barbara shares two recipes which are favorites of her family, lasagna and ice cream filled eclairs.

LASAGNA
1 large can tomato puree
2 cans tomato paste
2 c. water
1 tsp. oregano
1 tsp. sugar
1 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. freshly ground pepper

Mix together in large kettle and let mixture simmer. Meanwhile, heat 2 tablespoons olive oil in a skillet. When the oil is hot, saute in it 1 cup minced onion and 1 clove crushed garlic.

When the onion is golden, add 1 1/2 pounds ground beef, preferably chuck, and 1 teaspoon salt. Cook until the meat has lost its red color; then add to the kettle mixture. Simmer for about 2 hours or until the sauce is thick.

Cook 1 pound lasagna noodles as directed on package. Drain thoroughly; rinse and separate noodles, spreading them on a towel to dry.

Cut into thin slices 1 pound mozzarella cheese. Have ready 1 pound ricotta cheese and 1/4 pound fresh grated romano cheese.

Spoon some of the sauce into a large casserole. Put in a layer of noodles, then a layer of mozzarella and a layer of ricotta. Put in another layer of noodles, crosswise, then more sauce and layers of noodles, mozzarella and ricotta. Top with a last layer of noodles and the rest of the sauce. Sprinkle generously with romano cheese.

Bake at 375 degrees for 30 minutes. Let stand in a warm place for 15 minutes before serving. Serves 8 to 10.

ICE CREAM FILLED ECLAIRS

Add 1 stick butter (1/2 cup) to 1 cup boiling water. Stir to melt butter. Add 1 cup flour and 1/4 teaspoon salt all at once.

Cook, stirring vigorously, until mixture is smooth and forms soft ball that does not separate.

Cool mixture slightly; add 4 eggs, one at a time. Beat vigorously after each egg is added, beating until mixture is smooth.

Drop mixture onto greased cookie sheet by spoonfuls 1/2 to 1 inch wide and 3 inches long.

Bake in very hot oven (450 degrees) for 15 minutes, then in a slow oven (325 degrees) for 25 minutes. Fill with vanilla ice cream; frost with chocolate frosting. Can be wrapped individually and frozen. Makes about 1 1/2 dozen eclairs.

Calligraphy techniques demonstrated to club

The meeting was called to order by June Owens, president, and the executive committee presented a slate of new officers for the coming year. They included Ms. Owens, president; Loyce

Appeal to authorities

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am writing in response to the note from "Self-Reliant in Riverside" taking you and me to task for asking an "authority," i.e., Dean John Deutch of the MIT School of Sciences, about the commonly held notion that hot water freezes quicker than cold.

"Self-Reliant" said you and I should have done an experiment to find the answer for ourselves.

What he calls an appeal to an "authority" is actually a search for knowledge already accumulated. Scientific progress is made by building on information already acquired and theories already proven by earlier investigators.

For non-experts to repeat an experiment would not only be a waste of time, but could lead to wrong conclusions. This has actually happened to people trying to investigate the time it takes to freeze hot and cold water. Most water has some air dissolved in it. If the experimenter doesn't take care to eliminate it, he could draw misleading data.

"Self-Reliant" raised objections to your recourse to experts on a trivial and amusing question, but your greatest service to your readers is the advice you provide pertaining to their health and personal problems. I am glad you consult experts and don't experiment in your own kitchen.—Your friend, Jerome B. Wiesner, President Emeritus, MIT.

know that this letter is from a man? I work with figures at Prudential-Bache (no city, please) and this is the way it shakes down. She spent three nights a week with her boss. This figures to 3900 nights, and if you divide that into $35,000 it comes to $8.97 per fling. This does not even take into consideration the fact that she has been bestowing her favors on him for 25 years without reimbursement. What's more, she won't collect anything until he dies — and who knows when that will be? It may work out to about $4 a night, which is way below scale.

I am not passing judgment on anybody, but it seems mighty strange that a woman with half a working brain in her head would let a man treat her so shabbily.—Straight Arrow

DEAR JERRY: Thanks for responding to the broadside. It's an honor to share an attack with you. I should always be in such distinguished company.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The letter from the secretary who worked for (and slept with) the boss for 25 years and was told that he was leaving her $35,000 in his will was ridiculous. (The man had a net worth of $10 million.) No wife would sit still for such a paltry sum, and she is nuts if she does.

Now is the time for her to pull out those notes and snapshots and threaten a private auction. She should inform the cheapskate that the mementos go for cash now or a claim on his will later.

Pioneer members meet for luncheon

Members of Pioneer Study Club met Tuesday for a luncheon and meeting at the Caison House with Mrs. H.E. Miller and Mrs. Paul Rudd serving as hostesses.

Mrs. R.L. Wilson gave the invocation, Mrs. William Wimberley led the Pledge of Allegiance and Mrs. Ray Johnson led the salute to the Texas flag.

The program's theme focused on "Tackling a National Problem" with Mrs. Clayton Sanders giving a speech on "Alcohol and Drug Abuse"; Mrs. Herman Ford speaking on "When Children Bear Children"; and Mrs. Thomas Manning presenting information on "Teen Suicide: A Contagious Social Problem."

Mrs. Sanders said that the General Federation of Women's Clubs have commended the National Federation of Parents for Drug-Free Youth, a network of parent groups working to prevent drug and alcohol use among youngsters.

She also suggested that the United States government must adopt tougher diplomacy with drug dealing countries and stop pampering predators who amass millions of dollars poisoning this nation's youth.

Mrs. Manning spoke of the teen suicides which have occurred in Plano, a suburb of Dallas. She stated that most residents, who have lived there for less than five years, are searching for answers to the suicides. They have considered their success, the growth of the community, lifestyles, the competitive spirit, sheltered children and mobility.

During the program concerning pregnant teenagers, it was stated that every year 1,100,000 teenage girls become pregnant regardless of the social situation and several professionals suggest ways to correct this problem.

Parents should discuss sex with their children; young people must be taught responsibility; sex education must be taught in a very adequate way; and more family planning clinics in high schools should be offered.

During the business session, conducted by Mrs. A. Petersen, club president, a report of the district board meeting was given and plans were made for the club's Christmas party luncheon scheduled Dec. 13 at the Hereford Country Club.

Others present included Mmes. Frank Ball, E.E. Bishop, Jim Clark, O.G. Hill Sr., L.H. Lookingbill Sr., H.E. Miller, Ted Panciera, and Delmar Sigle.

The Newspaper BIBLE

WOULD IT MAKE A BELIEVER OF YOU?

One day as these men were worshipping and fasting the Holy Spirit said, "Dedicate Barnabas and Saul for a special job I have for them." So after more fasting and prayer, the men laid their hands on them -- and sent them on their way.

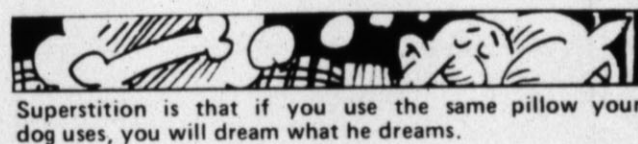

Directed by the Holy Spirit they went to Seleucia and then sailed for Cyprus. There, in the town of Salamis, they went to the Jewish synagogue and preached. (John Mark went with them as their assistant.)

Afterwards they preached from town to town across the entire island until finally they reached Paphos where they met a Jewish sorcerer, a fake prophet named Bar-Jesus. He had attached himself to the governor, Sergius Paulus, a man of considerable insight and understanding. The governor invited Barnabas and Saul to visit him, for he wanted to hear their message from God. But the sorcerer, Elymas (his name in Greek), interfered and urged the governor to pay no attention to what Saul and Barnabas said, trying to keep him from trusting the Lord.

Then Saul (who is also called Paul) filled with the Holy Spirit, glared angrily at the sorcerer and said, "You son of the Devil, full of every sort of trickery and villainy, enemy of all that is good, will you never end your opposition of the Lord? And now God has laid His hand of punishment upon you, and you will be stricken awhile with blindness." Instantly mist and darkness fell upon him, and he began wandering around begging for someone to take his hand and lead him.

When the governor saw what happened he believed and was astonished at the power of God's message.

Acts 13:2-12

Of November sweeps

'Dallas' top show but ABC wins opening

LOS ANGELES (AP) — ABC, aided by the popularity of the Richard Pryor-Gene Wilder film "Stir Crazy," won the Nielsen ratings for the week ended Nov. 6 to dominate the opening of the key November sweeps. CBS' "Dallas" was the top-rated show of the week. But "Stir Crazy," about a pair of irrepressible convicts, was just one-tenth of a point behind as it knocked out Sunday night's opening segment of NBC's much-touted "Princess Daisy," a two-part adaptation of Judith Krantz's lush best-seller.

It was ABC's second victory for the fall season and its most significant because it was accomplished with regular programming. ABC's first victory came during World Series week. CBS has won the other four weeks. ABC won the A.C. Nielsen Co. ratings for the week with a network average of 17.8. CBS was second with 16.9 and NBC was third with 14.2. The networks say this means that in an average prime-time minute 17.8 percent of the nation's television homes were tuned to ABC.

While the ratings week began on Monday, the sweeps — the month-long period when Arbitron and A.C. Nielsen Co. rate local stations to determine their advertising rates — began in the middle of the week. Arbitron began its count on Wednesday and Nielsen on Thursday. While the thrice-yearly sweeps do not affect network advertising rates, the networks endeavor to bolster their affiliates with strong national programming.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Bypass not a miracle

DEAR DR. LAMB — My father had a triple bypass two years ago for angina. I was talking to another man who also had a bypass. He had it 10 years ago, but he had a heart attack just this year. Now this man has diabetes and is overweight. Could these two things have contributed to the heart attack?

The reason I ask is that my father, age 57, thinks he is cured for good. He keeps himself in good shape, watches his diet (no salt) and takes his walks. But he has two beers every day before supper. Could he have a heart attack too? Should he go to the specialist and be checked over?

I don't want to worry my father if he doesn't need to worry. Is there a guarantee that he will never have problems for the rest of his life?

DEAR READER — Unfortunately, bypass surgery is not a miracle. The basic disease is the depositing of fatty-cholesterol particles in the arteries. Bypassing those that are already clogged does not stop the process. The vessels used for the bypass also may develop fatty-cholesterol. The arteries in the heart to which the bypass is connected may also become occluded, making the bypass vessels of little or no value.

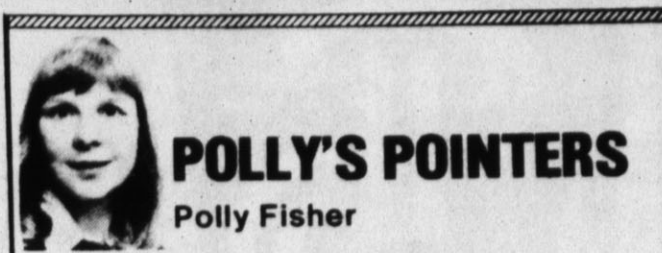

How well a person does after a bypass operation usually depends entirely on how well the factors related to fatty-cholesterol deposits are controlled. This includes diet, blood pressure, not smoking and keeping cholesterol levels under control. Diabetes and being overweight do indeed increase the risk of a heart attack after a bypass operation. So does cigarette smoking or high blood pressure. If your father is keeping in good shape by taking daily walks and controlling his risk factors, he is less likely to have a heart attack. But I must warn you that it is an unpredictable disease and no one can say for certain what will happen in any one case. He should have regular evaluations to be sure his risk factors are controlled.

You'll understand your father's situation better after reading The Health Letter 17-10, What You Need To Know About Heart Attacks, which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — A relative has cancer that has spread extensively throughout the body. Is there any chance of the cancer being contagious to a 4-month-old baby? Please answer as soon as possible, because my family might visit this relative within a few weeks.

DEAR READER — No, your baby will not catch cancer from your relative. There are studies that raise the possibility that cancer of the cervix may be caused by a virus. Other studies show that some forms of leukemia may also be caused by a virus. Other than that, there is no evidence that cancer is a contagious disease.

While we do not know what causes cancer in all cases, we do know that if a susceptible person is exposed to a cancer-causing agent he is more likely to develop some form of cancer. A good example is skin cancer from sun radiation. If you are susceptible to skin cancer and are exposed to lots of sun, you are likely to get skin cancer. But visit your relative and don't worry about it.

Shop for waterbed

DEAR POLLY — My regular mattress is wearing down and I was thinking of getting a waterbed mattress. Do you get them at any special place? Will the bed burst if there are no special boards around the sides? My bed now is just a few mattresses and sheets on top. Will that work with waterbed mattresses? — C.B.S.

DEAR C.B.S. — A conventional waterbed consists of a specially designed vinyl "bag" and a special frame to support and contain the water bag. These items are almost always sold as a complete set (except that you can buy replacement water bags if yours is damaged beyond repair). The waterbed also includes a heating system. This is essential because water is an excellent conductor of heat. If it were not heated, the water would eventually draw the heat out of your body and you'd be very cold. Therefore, with all these factors in mind, it would not be practical to buy just a waterbed mattress.

There is another kind of waterbed which looks similar to a conventional mattress and boxspring set. In this design, rather than being placed within an external frame, the water bag is surrounded by a firm foam frame, and the entire structure is covered with fabric so that it looks like a regular mattress. It sits on a special foundation (which looks like a box spring) and both pieces can be supported on a frame similar to an ordinary bed frame. These are also sold primarily as sets, rather than as separate pieces.

Waterbeds, like everything else, come in a wide range of prices. Special designs and accessories, headboards, etc., affect the cost. Check the Yellow Pages under "waterbeds" for the names of dealers near you and do a little comparison shopping before you buy. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — Like the recent writer to your column, we too had a problem with a mildewed bathroom ceiling over the shower stall. I had a carpenter install a white Formica ceiling with a white aluminum molding in that area. Twenty-eight years later, it's still in excellent condition. All it needs is a clean sponge mop and mild detergent twice a year. — HELEN

DEAR POLLY — Before boiling eggs, I put them in warm water for 30 minutes after taking them out of the refrigerator. After this treatment, they seldom crack during the boiling process. — REBA

DEAR POLLY — Years ago, in my active horsey days, I always used the following method to set vari-colored saddle blankets so that the dyes would not run when saturated with the animal's perspiration. This method can be used to set non-fast colors in almost any washable fabric.

Fill a container with enough cold water to completely submerge the article. Using a proportion of two cups rock salt to each gallon of water, dissolve the appropriate quantity of rock salt in the cold water. The salt must be fully dissolved before putting in the fabric. Submerge the article completely in the brine; weight it down if necessary. Soak overnight, stirring occasionally. During soaking, some running or bleeding of dyes may occur. However, after thorough rinsing and drying, future bleeding should be eliminated. — M.K.L.

Back to 1776

Tom Jennings Rather reports

NEW YORK (AP) — For today's instant replay of the past, network news takes you directly back to Christmas Day 1776 on a forbidding, ice-choked stretch of river where Tom Jennings Rather of our Philadelphia affiliate will fill you in on an important historical happening. Take it away, Tom.

TOM: Hi there, history buffs. I'm standing here in the snow on the banks of the Delaware River, waiting for General George Washington to launch a dramatic, covert military operation. I have here with me Lieutenant James Monroe, the general's aide de camp. Tell us, Lieutenant, why is Washington preparing to invade New Jersey?

MONROE: It is not an invasion. It is a rescue operation. New Jersey already has been invaded by the Hessians.

TOM: But weren't the Hessians invited in as peacekeepers by His Majesty George the Third's government?

MONROE: That government has been overthrown. There is no valid, viable government in Trenton.

TOM: You mean a state of anarchy prevails?

MONROE: Anarchy and tyranny with some looting.

TOM: Lieutenant, can you direct our crews to the press boats?

MONROE: There are no press boats. The invasion plans — pardon me, the rescue plans do not include any kind of media representation. Surprise and secrecy are the key factors here.

TOM: Whose decision was that?

MONROE: General Washington himself decided there would be no press coverage, but there will of course be briefings by authorized military press spokespersons.

TOM: Lieutenant, we'd like to appeal that decision. It goes against the whole grain of what Thomas Jefferson and John Adams and those other fellows who met down in Philadelphia stand for.

MONROE: Well, here's General Washington, himself, you can take it up with him. General, these media types would like a word with you.

WASHINGTON: Speak up, my fellow Americans, this is a free country now, you know.

TOM: General, we'd like to know why you have banned the press from crossing the Delaware with you?

WASHINGTON: There has been no press ban. We are just not in a position at this time to guarantee the safety of the press.

TOM: But general, the press was willing to take its chances at Bunker Hill and Lexington.

WASHINGTON: On this type of surprise, covert operation, we just have no facilities for baby-sitting the press.

TOM: Couldn't there be some kind of pool arrangement?

WASHINGTON: Out of the question, but we will try to brief you on our operations as soon as they are successful.

TOM: Thank you, General Washington. Before you shove off, could we have just one picture opportunity? Standing up in the boat there, with the flag kind of draped around you... Now, back to the studio.

CANCER ANSWER LINE

QUESTION: Does genital herpes develop into cancer?

ANSWERline: Some association has been shown between genital herpes virus Type II and the development of cervical cancer. The relationship of the two diseases, however, has not been clearly established. It is important that anyone, male or female, who contracts genital herpes seek medical help and remain under proper care.

QUESTION: What is precancerous lesion?

ANSWERline: Precancerous lesions are abnormal cellular changes that may become malignant if not properly treated. Examples are red or white patches in the mouth, scaly or dry itchy sections of skin, moles subject to chronic irritation, sores caused by broken teeth or nonfitting dental plates, or changes in the cervix detected by the Pap test.

QUESTION: What are some high-risk factors relating to cancer?

ANSWERline: Genetic and environmental factors have been associated with several of the most common forms of cancer. These include family history of cancer, environmental exposure to cancer-causing substances such as may be found in the workplace, and hazardous life-styles such as smoking.

Philippine President Ferdinand E. Marcos was re-elected to another six-year term in 1981.
