Half A Million Phone Workers Set To Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Bell Telephone System today announced it would sweeten its contract offer in a last-minute attempt to keep half million employes from walking off the job Wednesday morning.

The company said terms of the improved offer would be made public after they were formally presented to union bargaining teams sometime later in the day.

PRETTY CLOSE

Earlier President Joseph A. Beirne, of the AFL-CIO Communications Workers of America, said that on raw money issues "I'd say we are apart by maybe one per cent . . ."

A company spokesman said later he saw this as a heartening indication that some last-minute settlement might be reached.

The telephone situation comes atop a six-week-old nationwide telegraph shutdown and coincides with threatened localized rail and mail tie-ups.

If the worst happens, the combination of labor troubles could cause a monumental snarl of America's communications.

'PAY PROGRESS'

Meanwhile the United Telegraph Workers, AFL-CIO, reported some progress on wage issues but said serious differences remain on job rules. The UTW represents 17,000 telegraph workers who have kept Western Union offices shut since June 1.

Strikes also are threatened for Friday against three railroads and sometime soon by militant postal workers in New York, where the nation's first postal strike began last year, then spread to other cities.

The communications workers have announced 400,000 members will strike the Bell System Wednesday morning, setting up picket lines they say will be honored by 100,000 members of other unions.

25 PER CENT

The union seeks a first-year wage increase of 25 per cent. It rejected on May 23 the company's last offer of a three-year contract containing a 17-per-cent wage increase and added fringe and cost-of-living benefits the company said brought the total to 30 per cent.

Current pay for telephone workers ranges from tops of $118 for operators to $193 for craftsmen.

Eventually a strike could tie up nearly all voice communications, except for leased-wire circuits such as that operated by the Pentagon.

In the telegraph strike, UTW President Elmer L. Hageman said the two parties had narrowed their differences on money matters.

OTHER PROFITS

Last Friday the company offered wage and benefit increases totaling 12 and 9 per cent in a two-year contract. The union seeks wage increases of 12 per cent both years, plus other benefits. Current hourly pay averages average $3.37, ranging from $1.85 for walking messengers to $5.20 for computer technicians.

Hageman said serious differences remain in the areas of work-force reduction and subcontracting of work.

Besides the UTW's members, 3,100 New York area clerks represented by local 1177 of the CWA also have been on strike against Western Union.

A MONSTER FROM THE MURKY MANATAWNEY — The Manatawney Creek which flows through Pottstown, Pa., once was a sparkling clean stream in which kids swam and fished and boaters had fun. But today it's an ecologist's nightmare as this scuba diver emerges from the muck-filled stream. Polluted with chemicals and filled with all kinds of algae and stagnant growth, the creek is dotted with "No Swimming" signs.

Like Getting Hit On Head With Hammer

BALTIMORE (AP) — Mayor Thomas J. D'Alesandro III, considered by most political experts a certainty for re-election, says he decided to step down Dec. 5 because being mayor of a big city is like getting hit on the head with a hammer.

D'Alesandro suggested in a candid discussion that his decision, announced earlier, was made after he found himself "less committed" to the demands of city government as his four-year term was winding down.

"Most city leaders assured me I could win," the Democratic mayor said. "It was just something in me found myself staying closer to City Hall and going out on fewer neighborhood romps, less speaking engagements."

D'Alesandro, who will be 42 on July 24, said he will return to his law practice and some possible business ventures.

He held out the possibility of returning to public life in two or three years when "I may have my batteries recharged. You never say never in politics."

D'Alesandro said he began thinking about stepping down in October, 1968. "I sensed the problems facing me," he said, mentioning labor negotiations and implementation of federal poverty programs.

Despite growing problems and personal demands, the mayor said his wife and five children hardly complained. "It had a direct effect, but my wife was of the opinion I should do whatever I wanted."

D'Alesandro, whose father was Baltimore mayor from 1947 to 1959, believes the nation's cities are headed for political futures where elected heads will serve only one term.

"Believe me, it's like getting hit on the head with a hammer. How long can they go after getting hit on the head for four years?" he asked.

10 Executed In Morocco

RABAT, Morocco (AP) — Ten surviving ringleaders in the attempt to overthrow King Hassan II were executed today by firing squads in a Rabat army barracks.

Moroccan sources had said some of the doomed military officers were shot at dawn on Monday. This information was incorrect.

The informants which had told The Associated Press of executions on Monday now say they were in error.

The government communique said all 10 went to their deaths at 11:15 a.m. today.

25 Murder Indictments

YUBA CITY, Calif. (AP) — A grand jury has indicted Juan V. Corona on 25 counts of murder in the peace orchard slayings of transient field workers.

The Sutter County grand jury returned the indictment Monday night, cutting out a lower court preliminary hearing that had been set for today.

The 37-year-old farm labor contractor, who gathered work crews for area ranchers, remained in Sutter County Hospital, suffering from an apparent heart condition.

The 19-member jury led by foreman Robert Hunt began hearing evidence July 1. The indictment was handed to Superior Court Judge John Hauck.

No date has been set for arraignment on the new charges.

Corona was arrested May 26. He had previously entered an innocent plea to murder charges stemming from the discovery of the first 10 bodies of field workers in crude graves. Now he must enter a plea to the new charges.

FLEAS, LICE BUG OFFICIALS

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP) — Fleas and lice are bugging Montgomery County officials these days and lousing up the wheels of justice. Fumigators can't seem to squash the problem.

"They have been here three or four times in the past couple of weeks," said Howard Smith, Circuit Court clerk. "I guess they're just not using the right spray."

During one recent trial in the county courthouse, a jury foreman asked to speak to the judge during a trial. The judge said such communications should be by note.

The judge read the note, smiled and said: "The jury informs me that we are a little lousy around here."

Midland Firm Wants Channel 4

A plan to file for the television license of Channel 4, KWAB, was announced Monday by Chet Darwin, Pictronics Corporation of Midland, to the board of directors meeting of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce.

Pictronics sent an application for the Channel 4 license to the Federal Communications Commission in Washington, D.C., June 6, according to Darwin. The FCC will decide whether the application meets FCC regulations and whether to accept it for filing. If accepted, the application will be placed on the docket for a hearing to determine if Pictronics or Grayson Enterprises will receive the license.

Grayson Enterprises is the present holder of the license and operates KWAB Channel 4 as a satellite of KMOM in Monahans. Pictronics claims that the channel has been deserted and is asking that the FCC award the license held by Grayson Enterprises to Pictronics.

Pictronics, said Darwin, would operate locally in full color with 35 hours of locally originated broadcasting weekly. The station would begin as an independent station, but would ask to join the American Broadcasting Company network as soon as they started broadcasting, he said.

Couple Campers Slain, Three Hurt

AUBURN, Calif. (AP) — A man and a woman have been slain and three other persons injured at a campground about nine miles north of here, the sheriff's office said today.

One of the wounded told deputies the male assailant "smiled constantly and uttered animal sounds," a sheriff's dispatcher said.

Additional details were not immediately available.

Segregation Testimony Will Resume

DALLAS (AP) — School attendance zones in Dallas are drawn more or less in such a way as to separate white from black pupils, City Planner Mark Wassenich testified Monday in the first day of a desegregation suit against the Dallas School District.

Testimony was to resume today in the civil suit which was brought against the district by the Dallas Legal Services, a government-subsidized office representing 21 Mexican-American and black pupils.

Wassenich produced maps at the federal court hearing which show that some black pupils, and in some cases white pupils attend schools farther away than schools in their neighborhoods.

School board attorney Warren Whitham earlier had told U.S. Dist. Judge William M. Taylor Jr. that students here are assigned to schools in their neighborhoods and have been since a federal court desegregation ruling in 1965.

Attorneys To Form Election Guidelines

Two attorneys, representing opposite sides of the city commission recall controversy, have been named to formulate guidelines for a recall referendum which is due to be ordered soon.

This action, at the suggestion of Mayor Arnold Marshall, came at a special session of the council Monday, when petitions for the recall against Councilmen Eddie Acri, Jack Watkins and Wade Choate were presented.

The three said they will not resign. (Under terms of the city charter, those named in a recall petition have to resign, before an election is called).

The attorneys to arrange details of the referendum are Lanny Hamby and John Burgess. They were expected to meet this afternoon to discuss the election.

Marshall suggested that these "meet as soon as possible and report to the commission in another special meeting. In that neeting we will then call the election," said Marshall.

When the petitions were presented to the commission Charles Smith, city secretary, read the certification statement:

"This is to declare that, acting on behalf of the city of Big Spring, a municipal corporation, I have issued on June 22 and 23, 1971, and received on July 9, 1971, in accordance with the provisions of the city charter, a recall petition directed to certain members of the city commission."

After the petitions were presented, Choate said:

"Petitions are filed and have been accepted by the commission, and without waiting for the five days within which I have a right to resign, I want to announce now that I am not resigning, and I am ready to work toward setting a date for the election as soon as possible." Acri and Watkins said they would not resign either.

"I see no reason the commission should wait the full five days, as stated in the charter, to call the election. I think the commission has the right to act as soon as possible, since none of the three wishes to resign," said Roy Anderson, acting city manager.

The actual check for validity of the names on the petitions was not done by the city staff. Roy Anderson, acting city manager, noted earlier Monday that attorneys John Burgess and Guilford Jones had made a thorough check of the names; and that the three commissioners had engaged Bill Sheppard, realtor and chairman of the city planning and zoning board to screen the petitions.

Local Telephone Strike Outlook

In the event that negotiations fail between the Communications Workers of America (CWA), and Southwestern Bell Telphone Company and a strike is called, local switchboards will be manned and vital equipment serviced, said Harry Sawyer, general manager of the Southwestern Bell office here.

"We naturally hope that there will be no work stoppage," Sawyer said. "If there is one, we'll try to keep our service as efficient as possible."

Direct distance dialing will be provided, said Sawyer.

MARINE TRAINING INJURIES

'This Is No Rose Garden'

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — "This is no rose garden."

That's how Maj. Gen. Carl W. Hoffman describes the Marine Corps Recruit Training Depot on this palmetto-fringed island on the South Carolina coast.

Few of the more than 4,000 recruits in boot training here would quarrel with the assessment offered by Hoffman, who took over in May as commanding general.

Thirty-nine young Leathernecks were hospitalized July 3 with kidney problems blamed on excessive exercise ordered by a drill instructor.

The recruits told a Marine investigating officer the drill instructor exercised them up to 15 minutes at a time on several occasions over a 36-hour period. The exercise broke down muscle tissues and affected the kidneys.

Regulations prohibit the exercising of a recruit during the first two weeks of training for longer than five minutes at a time, with a 30-second rest required halfway through. The recruits had been training two days when they were hospitalized.

UNHAPPY MEMORIES

The drill instructor has been assigned other duties, away from recruit training, and Col. Theodore Metzger, head of the recruit training regiment here, says the DI probably will face punitive action.

Metzger expects most of the recruits to return to duty but some may be discharged.

The incident stirred unhappy memories of a 1956 tragedy in which six recruits drowned in one of the island's tidal creeks. A drill instructor, deciding his platoon needed extra discipline, had taken the recruits on an unauthorized night march.

Largely because of the drownings, the Marine Corps today is highly sensitive to charges that drill instructors are allowed to mistreat recruits under the guise of training.

DEATH MARCH

The Marine Corps says the death march resulted in more controls and restrictions being placed on DIs. Those controls and restriction are in effect today, Hoffman said, but boot training remains otherwise almost the same.

Recruits at Parris Island, one of two such depots run by the Marines, put in 16-hour days filed with the sound of shouting drill instructors wearing Smokey-the-bear felt hats and with constant marching on asphalt parade grounds.

A recruit at Parris Island goes almost nowhere by himself. During his nine weeks on the island, he is allowed no weekend passes, goes to no movies on base, may visit the base exchange only with the platoon, and talks with fellow recruits only during an hour of free time before taps each night.

Rebels Under Close Watch In Houston

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Mayor Louie Welch says that "revolutionaires" in Houston are under close police watch and "if that's harassment then God bless it."

Speaking at a Monday press conference, Welch said city police are watching groups with revolutionary ideas, whether they be on the right or left, black or white.

The only group he singled out by name was People's Party II, a black militant organization which engaged in a shootout last July 26 with undercover police officers.

However, investigations by the same undercover group, the police intelligence division, led to recent indictments against four self-described members of the Ku Klux Klan in connection with acts against leftists and liberals.

"We are not going to tolerate revolution in Houston, at least not a violent revolution," the mayor said Monday. "They (such groups) can have all the non-violent revolution they want."

Welch said members of People's Party II will be under police watch until they disband "or we get them in jail or until they cease being revolutionaires."

In the shootout last July 26, Carl Hampton, 21, chairman of the People's Party II, was killed and four other persons wounded. No police were hurt.

The shooting occurred just before uniformed officers started to move into the area after receiving reports that members of People's Party II were patrolling the street outside their headquarters, armed with rifles and shotguns.

The undercover officers were stationed on top of a church half block away from the store-front headquarters of the party, police said later.

Both sides accused the other of firing first.

Roy Bartee Haile Jr., 25, a white member of a local radical organization, the John Brown Revolutionary League, was one of those wounded. He went on trial here Monday and a jury is expected to start hearing testimony today. Haile is charged with assault with intent to kill one of the officers atop the building.

Okay Limited Busing Plan In Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — After being severely criticized by U.S. Dist. Court Judge Lee Brewster, the Fort Worth school board Monday approved a limited busing plan to help achieve integration.

The board rejected a busing plan by a 4-3 vote last week and Judge Brewster said the board had not "lived up to its responsibility" in providing him with a plan he could accept.

On another 4-3 vote, Monday, the board approved an even more extensive busing plan that they had rdejected.

The new plan will be submitted to Judge Brewster, who said he would bring in an outside educational authority to devise an integration plan if the new one submitted by the school board was not comprehensive enough. The integration plan approved by the board would group 27 elementary schools into six "clusters." Each cluster would require some busing.

In addition, Como High School in an all-black district would be closed and displaced students bused to other schools of their choice.

Sheriff Named At San Angelo

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP) — San Angelo Police Capt. Odell Wagner, 42, has been appointed sheriff of Tom Green County to fill the unexpired term of the late Sheriff Cecil Turner.

Turner died June 20 after being sheriff for nearly 20 years.

Wagner, one of nine applicants for the post, has headed the detective division of the police department since 1959. He takes office today.

This Texas Drouth Too Will End

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

DALHART, Tex. (AP) — There is a grim humor about drouth and hardship among the men who farm this old Dust Bowl area where 35 years ago great black clouds ripped billions of tons of topsoil from the plains.

Cowards, they say, never settled here; the weak never survived.

But talking today to these men, now struggling against the worst drouth in the Southwest since the mid-1950s, you sense an uneasiness, an undertone of fear.

The farmers, those who cannot irrigate, talk more of past drouth than this one, recalling how, eventually, the good rains finally came and made the wheat and milo fields productive again.

IT WILL END

The point is made. This drouth too will end. But the question is will it end in time to prevent massive crop failures this year.

So far, that's strictly the farmer's problem. But if the drouth continues, and expands outside those areas of Oklahoma, New Mexico and Texas already stricken, the city consumer soon will share his burden.

In addition to the wheat and milo farmers, the giant cattle industry of the area is in dire need of relief. Sustained rains could bring it, but if the rains don't come, lack of grass for breeding herds could force wholesale slaughter.

That would mean, at first, surplus meat and lower prices for consumers. Later, because ranchers had fewer cows, it would bring beef shortages, and soaring prices.

CATASTROPHE

Nothing like this has happened yet but, cattlemen insist the Southwest is on the verge of such a catastrophe, and marketing experts back them up.

Drouth is only part of the story. Another fact is lack of credit in a tight money market to meet the financial demands of modern agriculture; demands complicated by inflation that has the farmer caught in a crunch between rising operating costs and stagnant prices.

Nixon administration experts say inflation is the biggest enemy, and there is evidence that this is so. But its impact is multiplied a hundred-fold by drouth. Bills for feed, seed, fertilizer, water land payments and equipment continue whether it rains or not.

To some, like Harold H. Hogue, neither the drouth nor tight credit are critical problems. He farms 12,000 acres in the Panhandle, Hogue has erected defenses against both.

Hogue said his multi-million-dollar investment returns only 2.5 per cent in a year's time, less than half of what he could get by investing in savings and loan securities.

"If I had to pay for it all with borrowed money, I wouldn't make it today," Hogue said. "Even in a good year I can expect to make only three to four per cent on what I have."

(AP WIREPHOTO)

HARD TIMES — Harold H. Hogue of Dalhart, Tex., surveys low water level in a water trough on his 12,000 acre farm outside Dalhart. As a back-up measure against drouth, Hogue has several irrigation well pumps, one of which is in background.

CRUX OF PROBLEM

And there is the crux of the problem for thousands of farmers, including many large commercial operators. As a whole, farmers operate on borrowed captial, betting a lot in the spring on a bumper crop in the fall. These are the men on the brink of failure.

The drouth in the Southwest was six months old before the plight of the area's farmers and ranchers gained national publicity.

President Nixon focused public attention on the problem when he ordered emergency government relief last April.

Since then, the federal government has extended aid through a variety of programs, including loans by the Farmers Home Administration and sales of government-owned feed to cattlemen at reduced prices.

Whether the government had done enough is a subject of debate. Here in Texas, Agricultural Commissioner John C. White voices the prevailing sentiment that much more is needed and that the administration should begin the massive "presidential disaster" programs used to help rehabilitate areas devastated by natural disasters.

In Washington, spokesman for the administration say the problem at this time isn't sufficiently severe to warrant such vast, expensive aid.

GOOD TIMES

The universal question among farmers, in good times and bad, is why can't the government provide larger pools of credit in local or regional areas so they can borrow what they need to survive when local conditions force the banks to get tight?

Various proposals for making more farm credit available are under consideration in Congress. Bankers and cooperative lending agencies give the same reply to the farmer's question: Money is tight, but we generally take care of our good customers, the people who are good managers.

So far, the Southwest drouth has not spread into the vast areas held by sun and dust in the 1950s or the '30s.

But the fear that it might happen is very real. Dry weather stresses ready have shown up in small areas of Colorado and Kansas. No region in Texas since last fall has received much more than half its normal rainfall. In areas where 20 inches of rain usually fall in a year, the rate is as low as two or three.

Irrigation has been a big factor in the Texas economy surviving the drouth as well as it has. More than 4.2 million acres are being watered, virtually all of it developed in the past 30 years.

BIG INVESTMENT

It's an expensive business. "I decided in 1954 that we had good, wet years in the 40s and then the dry ones, and that our country isn't worth a darn out here without stability," said Harold Hogue.

Now, with irrigation he can count on a wheat and milo crop every year. But the investment is huge, $120 to $140 per acre to develop land for irrigation, and to break even he must harvest 30 to 40 bushels of wheat and 80 bushels of milo per acre.

White contends that is a "ludicrous position" in view of cattle her liquidations and near-bankruptcy for many producers.

Relief programs operated through Farmers Home Administration and the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service "cannot be termed anything other than a failure to meet the needs of our agricultural community," White said. But without direct presidential action, he admitted, there is little more than Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin can do. "He's working under a severe handicap," White said.

Interviews with farmers and ranchers throughout the drouth area indicate credit is becoming harder to find.

EASIER CREDIT

In Washington, Secretary Hardin and others are talking about new legislation to provide easier credit from the Famers Home Administation and give a freer hand to the Farm Credit Associations.

The FCS is owned by farmers themselves. There is no government money involved, but cooperative credit agencies such as the "federal land banks" are subject to regulation by Congress. Proposals in both the Senate and House are aimed at letting the system loan more money to agriculture, particularly to younger farmers and to those hit by disasters.

The cooperative banks nationwide have $15 billion in loans outstanding to farmers and ranchers, nearly a fourth of the loan money currently in circulation to them.

Much of it is short-term money to help farmers buy machinery, pay fertilizer and seed bills, and to keep operating from year to year. The rest is in long-term loans on property.

PRAY FOR RAIN

Federal land bank associations account for half the total FCS loans, and land bank officials say there are signs that the Southwest drouth will put heavy pressure on farmers and ranchers to refinance long-term loans.

"Every year they pray for rain and another calf, but for many out here it's getting to a point of survival," said William S. May, vice president of the Federal Land Bank of Witchita, which serves Oklahoma, Colorado, Kansas and New Mexico.

"At this particular point," May said in an interview, "we have not felt an increase in delinquencies. But our loan payments are just beginning to come due, after crops are harvested. We'll know more in the fall."

NO GIVE-AWAY

Land borrowers already are refinancing loans, many of them sacrificing old contracts bearing 5 per cent interest rates for new money at 7½ per cent. "We're not a give-away outfit, we can't make grants, forgive loans or use government money," May said. "We have to be competitive."

A new proposal in Congress for removing restraints on land bank lending, pegged now at 65 per cent of land value, will help farmers, particularly young operators, he said.

By removing the lid, a young man with a good management record could qualify for 40-year loans of 80 or 90 per cent, possibly 100 per cent, for land purchase, leaving him free to concentrate on other expenses.

"Unless we solve the credit problems for agriculture," he said, "eventually the man who owns the land will not be the man who sits on the tractor."

That tractor is problem in itself. A new one can cost $15,000. A wheat farmer must pay for it with grain selling for $1.40 a bushel, a dollar less than it did 25 years ago when tractors sold for a third as much.

Even with the much-publicized federal payments costing taxpayers more than $3 billion a year for wheat, cotton and feed grains, the cost of farmers have far outrun incomes.

HAMBURGER COST

When drouth strikes, as it has, wheat land that made 25 or 30 bushels in a good year drops to 10 bushels or less. The farmer's revenue goes down, but his costs don't.

Higher prices in the supermarket won't help the farmer very much. Food, for example, has become a sophisticated, quasi-industrial product requiring expensive transportation, processing and packaging. On the average, middleman costs chew up 60 cents of each dollar housewives spend on groceries, in the city or back home on the range.

In Hereford, Tex., a rich, irrigated area where huge cattle feedlots hold and fatten 20,000 head for market, top grade hamburger sells in the supermarket for 90 cents a pound, and round steak for $1.19 compared with 97 cents and $1.09 in Washington, D.C.

MOONLIGHTING HELP

Unemployment also has had its effect, shrinking the off-farm income many families depend on to close the gap between expenses and earnings.

Moonlighting in town has helped many a farmer make mortgage payments, said Bill May at the Wichita bank. As a city's economy shrinks, so do the jobs available for nearby rural people.

Opening lead: Jack of ♠

Mrs. Margaret Wales, famous Dallas lecturer and bridge instructor who has been associated with my organization for many years, recently returned from a round the world bridge cruise on the SS Rotterdam. Sponsored by Travel with Goren, Mrs. Wales conducted a full program of bridge activities spanning the 90 day trip.

Today, we present a hand where Mrs. Wales as South, brought home a six diamond contract, despite an adverse division in both of her suits.

West opened the jack of spades and dummy's queen won the trick. At first glance it appeared that declarer was a strong favorite on the deal. If either minor suit split evenly, or if the queen of diamonds dropped on the first lead—then 12 tricks were there for the taking.

Mrs. Wales decided that tho the outlook was indeed favorable, she would try a simple preliminary maneuver before broaching the trump suit. It appeared safe to cash the high spades since there were nine cards outstanding in the suit. She proceeded to play the king, on which she discarded a club, as both opponents followed suit.

The ace of spades came next and East found himself in an unpleasant predicament. South's failure to discard a heart suggested that declarer was void in that suit. This tended to be confirmed by the fact that declarer had shown a strong two suiter in bidding. If East ruffed in he was subject to an overruff and the likely loss of his potential trump trick. Inasmuch as two club sluffs were not apt to benefit South greatly since the latter was marked with great length in that suit, East chose to discard a heart.

East's play proved to be very revealing to the declarer. His reluctance to ruff suggested that he had something to protect in trumps. So reasoning, Mrs. Wales led a diamond to the ace as both opponents followed. She reentered dummy with the king of clubs and played another diamond. When East followed with the ten, South covered with the jack. West showed out and the king of diamonds dropped the queen next.

The ace of clubs was cashed and West showed out again. A club trick was conceded to East but declarer claimed the balance and her slam.

Voting Boxes Are Reinstated

Voting boxes in the Vincent and R-Bar communities were reinstated Monday by the county commissioners. James Barr will be presiding judge at box 5, Vincent; and H. C. Reid will preside at box 7, R-Bar.

No other changes were made in voting box designations, but O. O. Craig will replace John Currie as presiding judge of box 16. Judges remain to be named for boxes one and 17, and assistant judges are needed for boxes three, four, five, 17 and 19. The appointments are to be made in each precinct by that precinct's commissioner by Thursday.

A representative of Bell Telephone Co. presented the findings of a survey of the courthouse telephone needs, recommending a PBS system rather than having the approximately 26 separate lines that are maintained now. Commissioners decided that the county did not need such a system as it would cost an additional $2,000 per year above the current telephone fee plus salaries for PBX operators.

County Judge A. G. Mitchell called a special session of commissioners court for Wednesday at 3:30 p.m. Commissioners will meet with Pritchard and Abbott, valuators on oil and utilities properties, and Earl Dean, personal and real property evaluator, to discuss inequities in the taxing rates.

Second Term Draws 186

Registration for the first day of the second period of summer school at Howard County Junior College showed 186 through the business office, Dr. W. A. Hunt, president, said Tuesday.

He anticipated that the final figure would be somewhere between 200 and 250.

Classes started Tuesday and will continue through Aug. 19.

Although registration continues through Friday, Dr. Hunt urged those who plan to take these courses to sign up as soon as possible in order not to miss vital classroom instruction. He said that the enrollment was about as expected because normally about a third of the students in the first six-weeks period do not sign for the second part.

Stanton's 1931 Grads Return For Reunion

STANTON (SC) — Fourteen of the 21-member 1931 graduating class at Stanton High School, along with their husbands and wives, were present Friday for a reunion dinner in the Texas Electric Reddy Room. Three of the original group are deceased, and four others could not attend.

The 1931 class president, Clark Hamilton, now of Big Spring, was emcee.

"Stanton Public High School began in 1912," said the class valedictorian, G. B. Shelburne Jr., now a Church of Christ minister in Amarillo. "The 1931 class was the largest up until that time." Also present was the class salutatorian, Mrs. Agnes Louder Whitson of Midland.

Several 1931 editions of the school newspaper, "The Maverick," were displayed. Mrs. Mary Sloan Nutter, now of Salem, W. Va., recalled cheerleader's yells, noting that she still has her Pep Squad skirt and sweater.

The reunion theme was "Life Begins at 40," and decorations included a large picture of "The Maverick," sketched by Larry Kelso, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Angel. Mrs. Angel was one of the 1931 graduates.

Attending were Melbourne and Louise Fincher, Fort Stockton; Mrs. Mary Sloan Nutter, Salem, W. Va.; Henry and Neva Donelson and Donna K. Donelson, all of Houston; Ed and Bea Pollock, Caleb and Willa Glazner, Sinton; G. B. Shelburne Jr., Amarillo; Floyd and Pauline Smith, Irving; Mrs. Sara Adams, Crane; Clark and Kathryn Hamilton, Robert and Audie Mae Smith and Cecil and Allene Hamilton, all of Big Spring; Mr. and Mrs. Casey B. Jones, Miss Otelia Fortune and Mrs. Agnes Louder Whitson, all of Midland; and Billy and Lillian Houston and Jess and Obera Angel, all of Stanton.

Mrs. Glazner was the class sponsor.

Miss Martha Talbot Is Honored At Breakfast

Miss Martha Talbot, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. M. W. Talbot, was honored this morning with a surprise farewell party in the home of Miss Sandy Williams, 2500 E. 24th, with Miss Betty Anne Looney as cohostess.

Miss Talbot is leaving Wednesday for a week in Austin, prior to summer camp, after which she will be residing in Austin. Dr. Talbot is already in Austin, where he has opened a clinic, and the family will soon join him there.

Decorations for the "come-as-you-are" breakfast carried out a Mexican theme with festive placemats and pottery. The centerpiece was a pinata.

Schoolmates attending, other than the hostesses, were Miss Martha Perry, Miss Paula Meek, Miss Donna McDaniel, Miss Patti Womack, Miss Dana Mancill, Miss Lori Fort, Miss Debbie Hughes, Miss Susie Williams and Miss Sherry Williams.

Club Has Picnic At Webb Pavilion

Native foods of several countries were on the menu at a picnic for members of the International Women's Club and their families Sunday at the Webb AFB pavillion. In addition, the picnickers had typically American hamburgers and hot dogs, but the cosmopolitan mood was evident in the variety of languages spoken by the group. The next regular meeting is at 8 p.m., Aug. 11 in the home of Mrs. Terry Mitchell, 1808 Mittel.

Will Seek Title Of 'Ideal Miss'

LAMESA (SC) — Kelli Warren, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Warren, will represent Lamesa in the 1971 International "Ideal Miss" Pageant July 18-21 in Baton Rouge, La.

Due to there being no such pageant in the Lamesa area, Miss Warren was chosen as a candidate because of honors received in previous contests. She was Little Miss Lamesa in 1967 and Little Miss Lubbock in 1968.

She will compete in talent, sportswear and evening gown competition and will be judged on poise, charm and personality.

Miss Warren, an eighth-grade student at Lamesa Middle School, will be a cheerleader this fall.

Take Top Honors In St. Lawrence Revue

Barbara Hoelscher was named senior winner of the 4-H Dress Revue held Friday in the Youth Building at St. Lawrence. Alternate senior winner was Kathy Schwartz.

There were 15 entries in the junior division, with Jan Hirt taking first place and Deborah Hoelscher being chosen alternate.

Other junior participants were Mary Kay Hoelscher, Rose Marie Hoelscher, Trudy Hoelscher, Theresa Schrader, Pam Schwartz, Linda Schwartz, Jeanie Schwartz, Sheila Halfmann, Emma Lou Halfmann, Sandra Schwartz, Belinda Jost, Karla Halfmann and Connie Schwartz.

A total of nine girls entered the senior division, and others in this group were Dinell Hirt, Antoinette Schraeder, Kay Donna Halfmann, Becky Schwartz, Shirley Schwartz, Phyllis Johnson and Karen Schwartz.

The district dress revue will be held July 22 at Fort Stockton.

Speaker Tells How Oil Industry Relates To Economy, Environment

"Three basics in America's Energy Policy" were discussed for the Big Spring Desk and Derrick Club by Mrs. Joe Blassingame, Miss Marguerite Cooper and Mrs. Leon Kinney Monday evening in the conference room at the Petroleum Building.

Miss Cooper traced the price of crude oil and gasoline from 50 years ago to the present and said that prices have been held well below the rise in the nation's over-all cost of living.

In discussing oil and the economy, Mrs. Kinney said billions of dollars are poured annually into the domestic economy by the oil industry through taxes, payrolls and monies expended for machinery and supplies. She said the chemical and natural gas processing branch of the industry spends more than $2.8 million per year on equipment, chemicals and other materials.

The relation of the oil industry to the environment was discussed by Mrs. Blassingame, who said the industry spends an average of one million dollars a day for air and water conservation and that this is more than any other industry.

The women noted that 75 per cent of America's energy supply comes from oil and natural gas, and 99 per cent of the nation's transportation runs on petroleum energy.

Mrs. Kinney, recording secretary, presided. Members agreed to send a delegate to the 20th annual convention of Desk and Derrick Clubs of North America, scheduled Aug. 26-28 in San Diego, Calif.

Mrs. Maurisce Allen won the attendance prize. The next meeting will be an anniversary meeting Aug. 2, the time and place to be announced.

Eagles Auxiliary Wins District Meet Trophy

Big Spring Eagles Auxiliary won the first place traveling trophy for attendance at the District 4 convention Sunday in Crane. The men's arie won second place. The announcement was made at an auxiliary meeting Monday evening in the Settles Hotel.

Attending the convention from here were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Gill, Mr. and Mrs. James Hanson, Mr. and Mrs. James Dalton, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sayers, Mrs. Nell Tippie, Mrs. Francyse Gatliff, Mrs. Florence Casey, Mrs. Bert Brice, Mrs. Mae Steele, Mr. and Mrs. William Cochron, Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Nuckolls and Harvey Clay.

Thomas Cook was initiated into the local aries at the convention. The next district meet is Sept. 25-26 in Fort Stockton.

Mrs. Mae Steele presided at the Monday meeting, and Mrs. Howard White was accepted for membership. Members were reminded that an anniversary ball is scheduled July 31 in the Settles ball room.

"Men's Night" for the local arie will be Wednesday at the Settles. The next regular auxiliary meeting is at 8 p.m., July 26 at the hotel.

A LOVELIER YOU

Personality Hints For Job-Seeking Grads

By MARY SUE MILLER

A June grad, just setting out on a career, shows insufficient promise if she takes what seems to be an unbending, standoffish attitude toward her colleagues. In reality she may not feel superior, only shy. Even so, shyness is never an asset in the workaday world.

Poise — self confidence — rates as a trait. But courtesy, consideration and cooperation toward others on the job are indispensable. They cannot be turned on and off like a faucet, either. Everybody hears the drip when a girl butters up executives and splatters her ill-nature on the office boys.

Only think of leaders in any field and you discover they have one quality in common — a kind of magnetism that stems from a genuine concern for people. The great star appears at benefits for a people's cause. The great doctor gives time to unfortunate people. The great civic leader works for you and me — people.

We cannot help responding to persons who care. Yet the point is missed by so many dreamers of success.

A girl's value grows in direct ratio to the combination of accrued skills and good will of others. Thus half the battle is won by making a good business of your personality.

A GAS outdoor grill gives food a tangy outdoor flavor without the time and bother of charcoal fire. Char-broiled flavor comes from the smoke of meat juices dripping on hot briquets. Charcoal itself provides no flavor.
Permanent ceramic briquets in the gas grill reach cooking heat in a few minutes, and there is no long wait to start cooking. The heat is regulated manually so there is no need to move a grill up or down.

U.S. Gives Cold Shoulder To Hanoi's 'Peace' Pitch

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has given the public cold shoulder to a new campaign apparently mounted by Hanoi to convince the world the seven-point Viet Cong peace plan contains elements for serious negotiations.

Since they made their proposal in Paris July 1 the Communist negotiators and their leaders in Hanoi have kept in the limelight with interviews and speeches claiming there is more to their plan than a promise to release American prisoners if the United States sets a withdrawal date by the end of the year.

DIRECT ANSWER

The newest development came in reports the North Vietnamese would accept an independent, neutral government in Saigon.

When asked about this Monday the State Department did not give a direct answer. One official said "the portion of the seven points dealing with neutrality and unification is quite similar" to previous demands put forth since 1969.

However, the new Viet Cong offer did not mention the word "coalition" and said the only current South Vietnamese official it would not negotiate with is current President Nguyen Van Thieu. Always before Hanoi had specifically ruled out other Saigon leaders, including Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky and Premier Tran Thien Kheim.

POSITIVE PARTS

Previous U.S. rejections of proposed political settlements have been centered around expressed fears a coalition government would mean a Communist takeover, and a neutralist government would be impose dagainst the will of the people. It is also up to the people to decide their leaders, according to the U.S. position.

President Nixon, has said, however, he would not oppose a neutral, independent Saigon government if that's what the people of South Vietnam want.

Administration reaction to the Viet Cong plan also was reflected in the Senate Monday with GOP Leader Hugh Scott attacking any support for accepting the entire proposal.

While the Viet Cong plan has some positive parts, Scott said, "some people have rushed to say we should embrace the entire seven-point proposal . . ."

This "rush to the public" with a call for accepting all seven points "is the sheerest idiocy," Scott charged.

SKEPTICISM

But U.S. skepticism appears as concerned about the public nature of North Vietnam's arguments as with their substance.

American officials have said they would respond through the negotiating process. And last week, the U.S. ambassador to the peace talks, David K. E. Bruce, asked the sessions be held behind closed doors so the United States could seriously seek clarifications.

This was turned down last Thursday and the world has had a continued view of the North Vietnamese public position since.

This has included a speech by North Vietnamese Premier Pham Van Dong urging the United States to consider the seven-point plan as a serious offer. He also was reported to have downplayed the personal invective that marked previous North Vietnamese comment regarding American leaders.

MEET IN PARIS

In past days the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong have told newsmen and others they are willing to separate the military and political aspects in negotiating a settlement.

They also have indicated publicly a willingness to meet in Paris with Henry Kissinger, President Nixon's foreign affairs adviser. Kissinger left Paris Monday for the California White House without any report of having met the Communist negotiators.

Further, there have been reports foreign leaders have been enlisted to carry the view of Hanoi's stated seriousness.

Farmers' Prexy To Visit Lamesa

LAMESA (SC) — Jay Naman, president of the Texas Farmer's Union will visit Lamesa July 20, accompanied by Joe Rankin, Ralls, vice president; Vernon Chandler, Midland, district director; and Kenneth Moss, state director of organization.

All farmers and ranchers in Dawson County are invited to attend a get-acquainted reception from 8 a.m. to 9:30 a.m. at Allen's Galley in Lamesa for Naman and his staff.

Two Industries Nearly Ready

Good progress toward activation of two new industries for Big Spring is being made, Ken Perry, president of the Industrial Foundation, told the Chamber of Commerce directors at their Monday meeting.

Remodeling of a building on U.S. 80 West has been completed for the IBJ Corporation garment manufacturing plant, he said, and a top managerial post filled.

Perry estimated that within a week or 10 days hiring for the factory might begin.

Steel work is up on the Eagle Homes building for manufacture of mobile homes, and within three weeks siding should be in place on the spacious structure.

The Foundation, said Perry, would appreciate greatly those who can make a prepayment on their pledges.

Special Election In 'Dry' County

NACOGDOCHES, Tex. (AP)— The Nacogdoches County Commissioners Court called Monday a special election for Aug. 3 on the sale of beer, wine, and liquor for off-premises consumption in Precinct No. 1, which includes the city.

The city is now dry, and County Judge Carl S. Burrows and the four county commissioners went on record Monday as opposing the sale of intoxicants.

Use Of Sewage Effluent Sought For Irrigation

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Attorney Tom Rees and Morris Hammond appeared before the city council Monday night asking for the free use of effluent from the sewage plant for irrigation.

Following the advice of city attorney Dell Barber, the council decided to advertise for proposals or bids for the effluent from the plant. These will be studied at the next council meeting.

The council also received a list of five requests from the Colorado City Volunteer Fire Department with Pat McKinney as spokesman. The requests are in relation to rural fires and are to be passed on to the Mitchell County Commissioners Court. They were requesting the county to provide $200 for personal equipment for firemen; to provide $500 for the maintenance of the rural truck; to replace the present truck with a new one; purchase a radio for the water truck; and to pay firemen at the rate of $2 for each two hours or part for fighting rural fires.

The council also voted to remove property belonging to the Veterans of Foreign Wars from the tax rolls.

—Passed an ordinance prohibiting those 17 and over from fishing in Ruddick Park, and prohibited all fishing in the low water crossing.

—Approved the 1970-71 city audit and a three-year contract for Joe Morren, local auditor, for $875 plus postage and supplies for each year.

Judge Had Such A Nice Yard

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Luther Eubanks, a federal judge whose hobby is gardening, took great pride in his yard. Then a helper turned the wrong valve and sprayed the yard and flower garden with weed killer instead of insecticide.

"It looks just like fall," the judge said.

"All my flowers are gone. I may have to replace all the trees. I had such a nice yard."

'Turn In A Pusher' Plan Winning Praise In Tampa

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — A "Turn in a Pusher" program has attracted 2,930 calls from tipsters since it began operating less than six months ago.

Informers remain anonymous and are paid for tips that lead to conviction of drug pushers.

The Greater Tampa Chamber of Commerce and businesses which contributed funds began the TIP bounty system for this city of 318,000 in February.

James Cusack, a former FBI agent who developed the idea and is director of the program, says 37 persons have been arrested and three convicted as a result of TIP information. In addition, police says they are watching 262 suspects named by informants.

Informants call their tips into a secret office manned by civilians and get from $100 to $500 in cash for information that leads to a conviction.

Strict anonymity is enforced. The callers are warned not to give their names and are assigned a code name instead.

A total of $1,000 has been paid to four persons. The amounts are set by a TIP committee, which considers the extent of a pusher's activities and the age group he was dealing with.

Once a pusher is convicted, the reward money awaits another call from the code-named informant.

Cash is placed in an envelope, Cusack said in an interview, and "we make arrangements for the delivery. We don't want to know who the informant is. We'll make a drop or leave it at a general delivery or something like that. People are interested in that type of thing — code names, secret drops. There's a little 'I Spy' in all of us."

Sponsoring businesses have contributed $7,900 for rewards.

Information received from a tipster goes directly to Tampa police or the Hillsborough County sheriff's department.

"People are great," Cusack said. "It's amazing what people will do for a small count of money. Some cops even believe mothers will turn in their kids for the right price."

CRMWD Board To Meet Here

Directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District will convene here July 22 to take a mid-summer look at water reserves and production demands.

They also may consider contracts with Midland and Andrews, cities which have applied to the CRMWD to become a signatory for new sewage disposal facilities. By having the district as a signatory, these municipalities are able to gain about 20 per cent more grants for the projects. The cities retire the bonds for which the district is a signatory.

LOVE WEDDING BARRED — Doc Love, left, and June Butler had planned to marry in an Atlanta, Ga., bar Saturday night but a fight broke out before the wedding; the police were called and Doc and June were hauled off to jail still single. After settling their problems with the law, Doc and June were married in the bar where they met Monday night.

News Briefs

Skid Kills Three, One Cut In Half

AUSTIN (AP) — Three Austin men died early Monday when their car skidded on its side through the downtown area and crashed into a utility pole.

Police said the victims were Gerald Robinson, John J. Williams and Landry D. Fisher, all in their late teens or early 20s. Robinson, the driver, remained strapped in his seat, police said, while the two others were pitched out. One man was cut in half.

Investigators said the car was travelling 85 to 90 miles an hour in a 30-mile zone when it failed to negotiate a curve and flipped over.

Salem Will Urge Release Of POWs

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — State Rep. Joe Salem of Corpus Christi flies to Paris today in a bid to make contact with North Vietnamese and Viet Cong peace negotiators and urge the release of American prisoners.

The legislator, who says he is making the trip at his own expense, is carrying a resolution signed by Gov. Preston Smith that condemns "inhumane and barbarous treatment" of prisoners in the Vietnam war.

"I will attempt to bring back five or six sick prisoners, which I would hope the Communists would release as a token of good will in the peace negotiations," said Salem, who is seeking the House Speaker's post. He sponsored the resolution that the Governor signed.

Three Men Face 15 Years In Pen

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Three young men pleaded guilty before U.S. Dist. Judge Adrian A. Spears Monday to charges of importing two pounds of cocaine from Lima, Peru, to San Antonio.

They face possible sentences of 15 years in prison.

Convicted were Gary Gene Duven, 24, Fort Lauderdale, Fla.; Allen Eugene Russel, 24, and John Byron Mealy, 23, both of Oklahoma City.

Duven and Laurie Ann Cohen, 18, of Mexico City were arrested at San Antonio International Airport May 23 by U.S. Customs agents who said they found 882 grams of cocaine concealed in the girl's clothing.

Miss Cohen, who has not been arraigned, was released in the custody of her parents May 26 after posting $25,000 bond.

Texas Gasoline Use Increases

DALLAS — Texas consumption of gasoline last year increased 100 million gallons over the year before, according to recent statistics from Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association.

Total gasoline consumption in the state was 6,393,505,000 gallons during 1970 compared with 6,288,940,000 gallons in 1969. This made Texas the second largest gasoline consuming state in the nation behind California which used 9,277,084,000 gallons.

Texas' 1.7 per cent increase in consumption compared with a nationwide increase of 3.9 per cent.

Two Cops Face Murder Counts

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Two white police officers have been charged with murder in the shooting death of a Negro who they said had shot at them.

James R. Harris, 26, and Johnny M. Gauthier, 32, were taken into custody late Monday after detectives investigated the shooting of Robert Stanfield, 49, of Shreveport, on a city bridge Saturday.

The officers had said they stopped Stanfield to check for a defective automobile muffler and he pulled a gun and fired at them.

He was shot three times and killed. A .22-caliber derringer pistol was recovered at the scene.

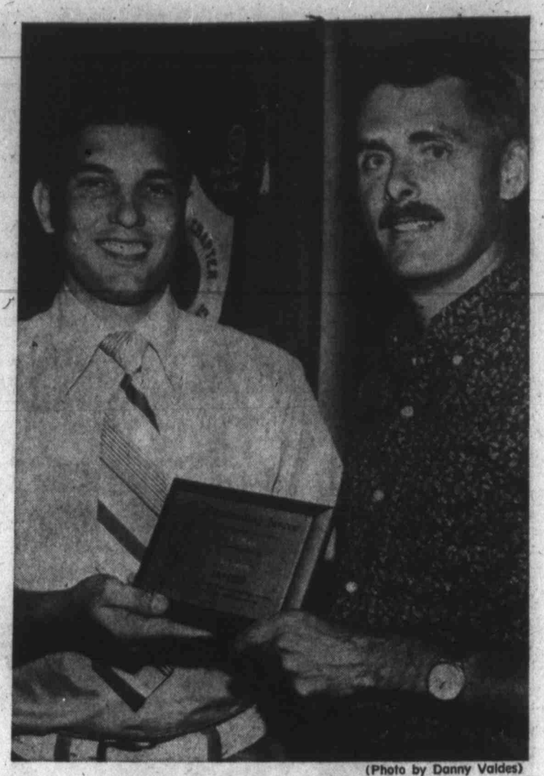

Pulitzer Prize Winner Weds

NEW YORK (AP) — Arthur Schlesinger Jr., Pulitzer prize-winning historian and former special assistant to President John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson, has married Alexandra Emmet Allan.

An announcemet Monday said they exchanged vows Friday in Schleinger's apartment, with Judge Harold Felix of Family Court presiding.

The bride is the daughter of the late Mrs. Alston Boyd, better known as the painter Lily Cushing, and stockbroker William T. Emmet of North Tarrytown, N.Y.

The bride's marriage to Donald Allan and Schlsinger's to Marian Cannon both ended in divorce.

JAYCEE OF THE YEAR
A. J. Pirkle, left, R. K. Taylor

Past Treasurer Chosen As Jaycee Of The Year

A. J. Pirkle was presented with the Jaycee of the Year Award Monday noon at the regular meeting of the Jaycee organization at the Downtown Tea Room.

"Pirkle was presented with the honor for his loyal service and hard work in the Jaycee organization during the past year," said Capt. R. K. Taylor, president.

Pirkle was the treasurer of the organization last year.

Dal Herring, KBLE Channel 3 TV, brought a talk on the operations of the new KBLE TV station originating here in Big Spring.

Herring told the group that due to a new FCC ruling all CABLE TV services had to have an originating television program in the city from which they operate.

Also in the meeting was a report of the past Jaycee Safety Weekend. The Jaycees sold advertising spots for KBYG radio and also took part in the broadcast operations of the station during the July 4 weekend.

"We sold approximately $1,260 worth of radio spots and we appreciate the cooperation received from the area merchants," said Taylor.

Comedian Slowed By Torn Tendon

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Doctors say Don Rickles will be kept off the stage for six to eight weeks while recovering from surgery to repair a right achilles tendon torn while playing tennis.

The 45-year-old comedian was reported in good condition at Mt. Sinai Hospital after surgery Monday, four days after the accident. Doctors said they didn't know how long Rickles would be in the hospital.

Studio Theater Damaged By Fire

ALBUQUERUQE, N. M. (AP) — Albuquerque's Old Town Studio Theater was damaged by fire early Monday. The theater has been a showplace of many experimental plays and original works. The blaze, fire investigators believe, might have been caused by a short in the electrical wiring.

Two Arrested For Burglary

Two men were arrested by Big Spring Police early Tuesday inside Bennett's Pharmacy.

They were apprehended by Officer Fred Parsons, who said he accosted two men exiting through a back door of the pharmacy. The officer had driven up on the north side of the store.

Charges of burglary were to be filed against the two men in Slaughter's court and bond will be set later today, according to Slaughter.

"We found a large amount of drugs and syringes in sacks in the pharmacy, however, a check indicates nothing was missing from the building," said Detective Jim McCain.

Capt. Culver Plans To Appeal Verdict

LAKENHEATH, England (AP) — An Air Force court-martial found Capt. Thomas Culver guilty today of demonstrating against the Vietnam war while stationed abroad and soliciting other servicemen to join him.

Culver, 32, Westfield, N.J., faces a maximum sentence of four years in prison and a dishonorable discharge.

Culver remained calm after the verdict and asked the court to proceed with preparations for immediate sentencing.

This is expected later in the day or Wednesday.

The court-martial stemmed from an incident May 31 when 168 U.S. servicemen submitted an antiwar petition to the U.S. Embassy in London.

Culver, a lawyer, has already finished his term of active duty. He was awaiting shipment home when the charges against him were made.

Culver denied he was demonstrating, a violation of Air Force rules overseas. His defense was that he was off duty, in civilian clothes and acted only for himself in submitting the petition.

Before the eight-man court's verdict, Culver told newsmen he would appeal. He has the right to appeal to U.S. 3rd Air Force headquarters in England, the court of Military Appeals in Washington, and, finally, to the U.S. Supreme Court.

They Are Jealous, Says Rudy Vallee

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "They are complaining because they are jealous," Rudy Vallee said of witnesses who argued against the 70-year-old singer's proposal to change the name of the street he lives on.

Several of Vallee's neighbors appeared before the City Council's Public Works Committee Monday and said that changing the street signs on that section of Pyramid Place would cost money, and that Vallee was taking advantage of his position as a member of the city Traffic Commission.

And besides, they didn't think much of Rue de Vallee as a name for their street.

Vallee wasn't present when his petition was introduced, then rejected. The full council has the final decision and Vallee said he was confident it would be in his favor.

'New Deal' In Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — New men have been hired to run all of Howard Hughes' Nevada casinos and hotels, and a spokesman says the purge that followed their takeover by the Hughes Tool Co. has ended.

After four years in a penthouse overlooking the Las Vegas Strip, Hughes left the state last November, reportedly to live in the Bahamas.

Robert Maheu, a former FBI agent, had run Hughes' Nevada operations. In the wake of Hughes' departure, the directors of the Hughes Tool Co. fired Maheu and took control of Hughes properties.

The firings and resignations began soon thereafter.

The culmination came over the weekend with the resignation of Alvin Benedict, who had directed all hotel operations under Maheu.

The tool company Monday announced the manager of the Sands Hotel, Bernard Rothkopf, had resigned. The last of the Maheu crowd was gone.

C-City Lass On Science Tour

COLORADO CITY — Barbara Bell, 305 E. 16th, Colorado City, is participating in a Navy Science Cruise and Tour in San Diego, Calif., this week.

She was chosen by the judges of the Region XIV Science Fair to participate in the event which allows students to observe science in the Navy. She is one of 214 high school students selected.

Organized Labor Is Taking Rap For Economic Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP) — Organized labor says it is taking the rap for a national economic crisis created by Nixon administration policies.

"The failure of this administration to hold down inflation has created the need for a political scapegoat," S. Frank Raftery, president of the Brotherhood of Painters, told the opening session of the AFL-CIO Conference on jobs Monday.

"They are trying to pin the blame for their mistakes on workers and their unions," said AFL-CIO President George Meany.

"President Nixon has openly and viciously attacked the incomes of construction workers," Raftery added. "He has found a scapegoat convenient for his banker and contractor friends. He has ignored the true culprits of inflation in the economy and in construction . . ."

Under Nixon, Raftery said, construction unemployment is at its highest rate since 1961 while construction wages have been declining in relation to building costs.

"On-site labor costs as a per cent of total housing costs have been declining by about 2.3 per cent a year over the past 20 years," Raftery said, "while financing costs and land costs have actually doubled over the same time span."

Raftery said the price of money, based on the prime interest rate, jumped 33 per cent during Nixon's first year in office, boosting the cost of every product and service bought and sold in the economy.

"The fact is," Raftery concluded, "mortgage charges to new home owners increased 27 per cent during the first two years of the Nixon game plan."

House Speaker Carl Albert, D-Okla., told the conference interest rates are "starting to move up again toward 1970's disastrous highs."

"We know that the astronomical interest rates that fueled the 1970 recession brought record profits for bankers," Albert added.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., said the unemployed "are the victims of a man-made disaster directed by the White House—worse than any natural disaster we have endured."

Noting many banks have raised the prime interest rate to 6 per cent, Jackson accused the White House of trying to mislead the public by declaring inflation under control.

"I think the record is plain: High interest rates, vetoes, failure to institute wage and price guidelines, frozen funds, no new starts on public works projects," he said.

"What we need, and America needs," Jackson said, "are new economic managers in Washington. We need a set of new economic policies."

DEATHS

Jim Ty Maddox Dies Of Accident Injuries

COLORADO CITY — Funeral was to be at 5:30 p.m. today for Jim Ty Maddox, 21, Colorado City, who died Monday afternoon in an Abilene hospital from injuries received in a one-car accident 11 miles southwest of Roscoe about midnight Sunday.

Services were to be in the First Presbyterian Church in Sweetwater with the Rev. Jack Parse, Colorado City, and the Rev. Caddo Mathews, Plainview Baptist Church in Colorado City, officiating. Burial was to be in the Sweetwater Cemetery under direction of Cate-Spencer Funeral Home.

Mr. Maddox was born Jan. 23, 1950, in Sweetwater. He attended school in Colorado City and played on the Colorado High School football team. He had recently graduated from Kemper Military School in Bonneville, Mo.

Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Maddox, Colorado City; one brother, Joe Maddox, Sweetwater; and his grandmother, Mrs. J. P. Maddox.

The family requests any memorials be sent to the West Texas Rehabilitation Center in Abilene or to the West Texas Boys Ranch in San Angelo.

Investigating Highway Patrolman Don Rannefeld, Sweetwater, said Maddox apparently fell asleep while traveling west on FM 2319. His pickup apparently ran off the road and overturned twice, Rannefe said. Maddox was thrown from the pickup. Rannefeld said the accident occurred several hours before the wreckage was found.

Maddox was first taken to Simmons Hospital in Sweetwater and later was transferred to Abilene.

Mrs. Grigsby left today to attend services which will be held at 1 p.m., Wednesday in a Lancaster funeral home, with burial to be in Lancaster.

Mrs. Morgan, Coahoma Burial

Funeral was to be at 2:30 p.m. today in Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel for Mrs. Rachel Stella Morgan, who died Monday morning in a local hospital.

Officiating was to be the Elder B. R. Howze, and burial was to be in Coahoma Cemetery.

Mrs. Morgan was born in Bell County and moved to Howard County at the age of 5. She was a member of the Primitive Baptist Church. She owned and operated Rachel's Beauty Salon in Coahoma.

Survivors include two sons, Bob Bell and W. L. (Bill) Bell, Big Spring; two brothers, Joe Ed Adams, Big Spring, and Leslie Adams, Manson, Wash.; four sisters, Mrs. Viola O'Daniel and Mrs. Velma Hood, Big Spring, Mrs. Tom Brown, Midland, and Mrs. Alfred Collins, Lake Buchanan; three grandchildren, and four great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers were to be Ray Echols, Durward McCright, Dr. Reed Collins, O. F. Priest, Ray Flemming and Bob Robertson.

Mrs. Simpson, Funeral Today

STANTON (SC) — Funeral was to be at 2:30 p.m. today for Mrs. Annie Mae Simpson, 79, of Stanton who died Monday as a result of injuries received Friday in Big Spring in a one-car turnover.

Officiating at rites in the Stanton Church of Christ was to be B. G. Shelburne Jr., Amarillo, assisted by Claude Woods, minister. Burial was to be in Evergreen Cemetery here under direction of Gilbreath Funeral Home.

Mrs. Simpson was born Aug. 14, 1891, in Lampasas. She came to Stanton in 1958 from Kerrville. She was married to Azey Simpson Dec. 13, 1911, in Coryell County. He died Feb. 17, 1965. She was a member of the Church of Christ.

Survivors include four daughters, Mrs. Addie Mae Burgess, Stanton, Mrs. Leroy C. Nelson and Mrs. E. M. Fore, both of Fort Worth, and Mrs. Ellmoe Johnson, Robstown; one sister, Mrs. C. C. Grantham, Graham; 10 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

'Patton Of The Pacific' Retired Adm. Clark Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — Retired Adm. Joseph James "Jocko" Clark, known as "Patton of the Pacific" for his aggressiveness against the Japanese in World War II, died at a hospital today at the age of 77.

Family spokesmen said Clark, who saw duty in three wars and received dozens of decorations, had been ill with cancer at St. Albans Naval Hospital in Queens.

With him at the time of his death were his wife, Olga, and two daughters. Funeral arrangements were incomplete.

Clark served twice as assistant chief of naval operations but it was his daring in battle that distinguished his 40-year career.

In the last two years before his retirement in 1953, he served as commander of the U.S. 7th Fleet in the Korean War and received nine medals.

Clark was cited for "extraordinary heroism" in World War II when he commanded the flagship USS Hornet in a task force assault against a Japanese convoy near the Bonin Islands in the Pacific.

On a single day, the citation said, Clark's forces sank five cargo vessels, four destroyer escorts and one destroyer in enemy waters, and downed four enemy aircraft in a twin air assault under Clark's command.

Clark played a key role in developing U.S. naval aviation.

In one engagement in World War II, he took a calculated risk as planes in his command were returning at night from an attack on the Japanese fleet in the Philippine Sea.

Because most of the pilots were inexperienced at night landing, Clark ordered the ships' lights turned on, despite warnings from subordinates that there were enemy submarines in the area.

"Damn the submarines," he said. "Turn on the lights."

Clark was born in Pryor, Okla., and won appointment to the U.S. Naval Academy in 1914.

Directors Laud Museum Leaders

The board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce Monday presented Jerry Worthy, Daryle Hohertz and Joe Pickle with awards for their outstanding contribution to the Heritage Museum.

The three men were instrumental in starting the Heritage Museum, which opened its doors April 18 of this year. Since then more than 3,000 visitors have seen a multitude of exhibits.

Worthy is the president of the Heritage Museum committee formed in December, 1970, after years of efforts by Big Springers to open a new museum. Hohertz is the chairman of the properties committee, which is responsible for obtaining displays such as the Cowboy art shown during the rodeo. He is also in charge of arranging the displays. Pickle is the chairman of the acquisitions committee and is responsible for finding new material for the museum.

The museum opened with the help of the city and county governments, which donated the building and some of the operating funds.

Each man was presented a plaque by Janell Davis.

"They made a dream come true," she said. "We couldn't have built the museum without their help."

An appreciation certificate was presented to Lt. Raymond Kellogg, Webb AFB, for his work in putting on the annual fireworks show July 4. The award was accepted by Col. Anderson W. Atkinson in the absence of Lt. Kellogg.

The chamber directors also approved the selection of the old Montgomery Ward store at Third and Gregg as the new site for the chamber offices.

"The hole on the west side will be filled in to make a parking lot," said Don Womack, head of the committee searching for a new site for the chamber offices, "and a 23x83 foot section of the buuilding made into offices."

The new office will be remodeled to chamber specifications and air conditioned within about 60 days after the present title is clarified by R. H. Weaver, the new owner of the property. The chamber will contract to rent the office for five years at $250 per month, said Womack.

LAMESA (SC) — Three Dawson County youths will represent the county 4-H Horse Club in the state 4-H Horse Show Finals July 29-31 in Fort Worth.

They are Mike Buckner, Marien Sharp and Clinton Stafford.

There were 157 Dawson County entrants in the district contest. Dianne Woodul, Martin County, was named second alternate for the district.

Stafford showed the grand champion mare in the district; Buckner's horse placed second in registered gelding class; and Miss Sharp's horse placed second in grade geldings.

K'Lynn Bayer's horse placed fifth in the grade gelding class, and Miss Woodul's horse placed seventh.

Rene Robinett's horse placed seventh in the grade mare class, and Robin Robinett's horse placed eighth in registered mares.

In the performance events K'Lynn Bayer placed eighth in showmanship, Mike Buckner sixth in reining, Marien Sharp fourth in barrel racing, Dianne Woodul ninth in barrel racing and eighth in pole bending, Sharla Howard ninth in pole bending, and Pepper Echols was 11th in western pleasure.

Plans Finalized For Starlight Specials

The final schedule for the annual Starlight Specials was announced Monday by Mrs. Roy (Vonna Lee) Cederberg, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Cultural Affairs Committeee.

"The events will follow the pattern of earlier Starlight Specials," said Mrs. Cederberg. "We will begin Sunday, Aug. 8, with the first of two Gospel Singing nights. Monday will be Black and White night; Tuesday Cosmopolitan night; Wednesday a mid-week break; Thursday will be Western night; Friday will be Teen night; Saturday will be Band night; and Sunday, Aug. 15, will be the final Gospel Singing night.

"Fiesta foods will be served in the back of the ampitheatre on Cosmopolitan night," she said. "The youth group of the Immaculate Heart of Mary Church will receive the money from this concession.

"The only other special concession set is an ice cream social on Band night, sponsored by the band boosters."

The events will begin at 8:15 p.m. and the admission price will be 25 cents per person. Fiesta foods and the ice cream social will begin at 6:30 p.m.

MOUNTAINSIDE, N.J. (AP) — John W. Campbell Jr., 61, science fiction writer and editor of science fiction magazines for 34 years, died Sunday at his home. Campbell edited "Analogy, Science Fact and Fiction."

Automotive Equipment On Display

LAMESA (SC) — Over $25,000 worth of the latest automotive shop equipment will be displayed here Tuesday 6-9 p.m. at Bob Brown Olds-Cadillac. Auto dealers, garage owners, service station operators and tire dealers from throughout a wide area are expected to view the equipment.

The display will include drum lathes, hoists, tire changers, air impact tools, lifts, jacks and front end and wheel balance machinery. The show is sponsored by Lamesa Auto Supply and Boyd Smith Equipment Company, Lubbock.

Invitations have been extended to dealers, garagemen, station operators and tire dealers throughout the West Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico area.

The public is invited to attend.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A rebellious frame of mind can keep you from getting the results you want. You can greatly benefit by putting in motion a new course of action that means much to you. Make a special point to study various changes that can increase your success. Put them in effect quickly.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) You can do just about whatever you please today, provided you do not permit kin or friends to change your original plans. You are brilliant now and can accomplish a good deal.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Don't be so stubborn and discontented that you upset everyone around you and then regret it later. Doing something constructive is the best way to solve the problem.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Plan some time with friends you like. This could be helpful to you, so call early and make appointments to see them. Sociability can be most enjoyable and good for your interest. Don't argue.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) If you listen to suggestions from higher-ups and follow them, you can accomplish much today and add to present prestige. Find right methods to improve your job.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Try a new approach if you want to gain the aims that mean so much to you. Study new methods that are very effective. Making new contacts is fine today. Relax in the evening.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Show that you are conscientious in carrying through with promises you have made. Consider ideas of mate that are quite different. They could have merit.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Don't permit a disturbing condition to keep you from carrying on with important work you have ahead. If you get on the good side of one older than you, problems soon vanish.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You have to get an early start if you are to complete those jobs left undone. Plan to fix your wardrobe so that the active days ahead can be successful ones. Keep out of arguments. Be wise.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You may have to make different arrangements early if you are to have a fine day and a happy evening with others. Romance is on your mind and that is all right. Show that you have poise and charm.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Make your home a more charming and comfortable place and please kin. Add pieces of art that are delightful and a joy to own. Stop thinking about unimportant matters and get more out of life.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You are thinking very fast and could make changes to a plan that is really ideal. Much care in travel is necessary at this time. Avoid accidents that are costly.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Start thinking seriously about monetary matters in the morning. Don't permit impractical partner to sidetrack you. Show that you have good common sense. Show gratitude for favors of a bigwig in business.

'I STILL REMEMBER HOW TO GET ALONG'

Aborigine Gains Film Stardom

By JOY STILLEY
(AP Newsfeatures Writer)

NEW YORK (AP) — David Gumpilil has learned to hold a cigarette in his hand instead of a spear. He has learned to sleep in a soft bed instead of on the ground. And he has learned to dodge city traffic instead of snakes.

But the Australian aborigine, transplanted temporarily to New York to publicize a movie in which he appears, has no doubt he could still survive indefinitely alone in his native bush by hunting and fishing.

"I still remember how to get along," said the 17-year-old youth who uses these real-life skills in "Walkabout," which was a British entry in the Cannes Film Festival. In it he plays an aborigine on a "walkabout," a tribal ritual in which a boy is initiated into manhood by journeying alone for months in the outback. In his role, he guides two lost English youngsters through the harsh Australian desert.

"I know from my father how to catch the food, fish and live there. The first time I went with my father and I was watching him show how to hunt," explained Gumpilil, his face tense with the effort of expressing himself in halting English.

When he was about 12 he went into the bush by himself, first for one day, later for increasingly longer periods. His only equipment was a spear, a woomera for projecting the spear and a fire stick to make a fire for cooking.

"I hunted for emu, kangaroo and water buffalo, for snake, and crocodiles. The King brown snake is very dangerous but good to eat," he added, looking little like a fierce hunter in his brown corduroy shirt.

Originally from a small tribe in northern Australia, Gumpilil came with his family to a settlement in the vast reserve of Arnhem Land, where he was recruited for the film by director Nicholas Roeg.

Skilled in ceremonial dancing, he has won numerous competitions and performed traditional dances of his people in the Australian Pavilion at the World's Fair in Japan.

The tall, thin youth also paints and plays the didgeridoo, an aborigine musical instrument made of hard wood. Demonstrating in his Manhattan hotel room, he blew on the some-six-foot-long brightly painted instrument.

"I think it's good in New York," he said of his visit. "We sleep on ground at home, but now we are learning. It is better to sleep in bed, I think."

But though he admits to enjoying the amenities of the city, Gumphilil plans to go back to the land and to hunting. "But I'd like to act in another movie," he added.

Meanwhile he has bought a fiberglass boat, which his parents are using until his return to Australia.

And how did he react to seeing himself on the screen?

"I look like myself, I guess," he said with a broad grin.

Native Returns To Head Center In San Angelo

Dr. Carl S. Menzies, head of the animal science department at South Dakota State University, has been named resident director for research at the new Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center at San Angelo effective Sept. 1.

A&M President Jack Williams describes Menzies as a "nationally recognized leader in the livestock industry."

Menzies was born and reared near Menard, and is familiar with the Edwards Plateau and its problems and potentials, said Dr. H. O. Kunkel, dean of the college of agriculture at Texas A&M.

As resident director, he will coordinate and develop the research programs of the center, Kunkel said. Groundbreaking ceremonies for the center were held May 26, and construction is expected to be completed by Jan. 1, 1972.

The facility will deal primarily with sheep and goat research, range and wildlife management, and developing the economic potential of West Texas agriculture. Kunkel said the center will focus on the region's widely diversified livestock and range needs.

President Gallups To New Low

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Two Gallup polls say President Nixon's popularity has reached a new low, with fewer than 50 per cent of the American people in support of his handling of the presidency.

With the polls indicating only 48 per cent of those surveyed in support of his performance in office, Nixon's current rating lags behing the figures of previous administrations at a comparable point in time.

After 29 months in office, Lyndon B. Johnson's approval rating was 57 per cent; John F. Kennedy's was 61 per cent, Dwight D. Eisenhower's was 69 per cent and Harry S. Truman's was 55 per cent, Gallup said.

The poll also showed that figures for the new enfranchised 18 to 21-year-olds reflected the same opinions as older interviewees.

The controversy over the Pentagon papers, which broke in the period between the two surveys, apparently had no effect on the ratings.

The surveys showed a 73 per cent approval rating among Republicans, a one-third approval rating among Northern Democrats and an even split among Southern Democrats.

PLAIN OR JARS REPORTED SEIZED — Map shows the Plain of Jars in eastern Laos which, American sources in Vientiane reported today, has been virtually taken over by an army of Mao tribesmen. The sources said the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency trained and equipped the tribesmen, and that the operation is being supplied by American planes landing at Viengkhoang airfield, in the center of the plain.

Texas Remap Lawsuit Transferred To Austin

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — A lawsuit against the Texas House Redistricting Act was transferred to Austin Monday by Dist. Judge Perry Pickett.

The case will be heard there by Dist. Judge Herman Jones, who said he will give the suit priority and would like to have the case brought up before the end of July.

The transfer came after the defendants in the suit, who include Gov. Preston Smith and Secretary of State Martin Dies Jr., filed a plea of privilege asking the change.

The suit was filed by Rep. Tom Craddick of Midland and others against the redistricting act which eliminates Midland's 70th District and splits the county between two other districts.

Craddick filed the suit under the state law that requires counties with less than the ideal representative population of 76,000 not to be divided, but must be joined with contiguous counties to form a representative district.

The state contends that the law is secondary to the U.S. Supreme Court's one-man, one-vote rule.

Midland County Republican Chairman Robert Monaghan, one of the plaintiffs, called Judge Pickett's ruling "a great disappointment."

McCarty Exes Hold Reunion

LAMESA (SC) — Homecoming for all former residents and ex-students of the old McCarty Community will be July 17 in the Women's Building at the Dawson County fair grounds here.

Activities are scheduled to begin at 10 a.m., and about 140 persons are expected to attend.

Persons attending should bring a lunch for the noon meal. Presentations will be made to the oldest and youngest attending and to the one traveling the farthest to attend.

A short business meeting will be held to determine the date, place and time of the next homecoming. The McCarty Home Demonstration Club sponsors the all-day gathering.

174 Persons Stricken By Houston Port Fumes

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Ship Channel, the narrow strip frequently branded as having the most polluted water in the nation, also is having its troubles with noxious fumes.

In four incidents since April 22, an estimated 174 to 194 persons have been stricken by fumes while on Port Houston docks.

All were longshoremen except for a Brooklyn grandmother, three grandchildren and a grandniece who were overcome during a brief Houston stop while on a vacation cruise to Africa.

HORRIBLE

"It is kind of horrible," said one longshoreman official who did not want to be quoted by name until after investigations are completed.

"They may have to move that plant somewhere else if this keeps up," he said.

He was referring to the Stauffer Chemical Co. plant, one of many oil and chemical installations that line the channel that links Houston with the Gulf of Mexico 55 miles away.

Late Monday, the Texas Air Control Board executive secretary issued the first emergency anti-pollution order since they were authorized in 1967 and told Stauffer executives to shut down the plant if necessary to insure no more such emissions.

Charles R. Barden, executive secretary of the air board, accused the plant of causing "imminent danger to human health or safety" and directed the plant to "discontinue immediately all emissions of air contaminants."

WHAT IT MEANS

"How they do this is up to them," Barden said. "If they have to close down, that's what it means. If they can shut down just a portion of the plant and halt all emissions, that's what it means."

The unprecedented action came only a few hours after the City of Houston filed a pollution suit against Stauffer and sought an immediate restraining order against the plant.

But Dist. Judge William Blanton Jr. refused to issue an immediate order and instead set an injunction hearing for Aug. 3.

Stauffer plant Manager E. G. Lang would not comment on the city suit or state action.

The Air Control Board will meet in Houston Thursday to review the order to Stauffer and will either affirm, modify or set it aside, Barden said.

About 30 longshoremen stopped work and went home Sunday after fumes swept over the channel while they were working on city docks 28 through 31.

The other incidents:

June 29—fumes caused similar complaints by 59 workers on docks 28 through 30.

Lone Star Labor Woes

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The Lone Star Gas Co. ordered special security precautions and police began surveillance Monday of the company's facilities in the Dallas area to prevent possible interference during a labor dispute.

"Some of our valves have been tampered with," said a gas company spokesman in North Dallas. But he added that the trouble was discovered in time to avert any shutdown of service.

Lone Star officials went on the alert over the weekend after a contract expired between the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Local union and Nipak Inc., a Lone Star subsidiary at Kerens. Nearly 200 workers were thrown out when the contract expired.

OCAW North Texas representative E. R. McAdams said OCAW members are not involved in a strike at the Nipak plant.

Lamesa United Fund Sets Goal For $37,500

LAMESA — After a final stamp of approval by the United Fund board of directors and recommendations from the United Way budget committee, the 1971 goal of $37,500 was released last week.

Allocation to the various supported agencies were released at the same time.

A late surge in campaign donations put the effort over the 100 per cent mark in 1969 and 1970. In 1968 Lamesa had a $2.04 per capita giving, among the highest in the state for campaign drives of comparable size.

Nine agencies will be served by the local United Fund campaign in 1971.

Art Roberts, chamber of commerce manager, has been hired by the committee as campaign coordinator.

Heading the list of member agencies in this year's fund drive will be the Lamesa Boys' Club. It will receive $13,494. The Boy Scouts get $4,908; Girl Scouts, $4,525.80; Red Cross, $3,919.40; Day Care Center, $2,894.80; Salvation Army, $2,776; Family Planning, $924.40; Goodfellows, $746.80; and the USO, $510.80.

The totals are actually net grants given to each agency minus campaign expenses. Total campaign expenses for this year have been set at $2,800.

The nine agencies made requests for more than $50,000 from the committee.

Announcements are expected from the United Fund executive committee within the next few weeks concerning various other committee assignments and official starting date of the 1971 campaign.

Drive chairman for this year's Lamesa-Dawson County United Fund is Wendell Strahan. Other campaign executives include Tom Branon, board president; Peggy Baldwin, vice-president; and John Hegi, secretary-treasurer. John Palmore headed the budget committee.

An Appeal To Reason

President Nixon gave steel management and union leaders some good advice when he personally told them to avoid both a strike and an inflationary wage settlement this summer.

To some extend the president put his power and prestige on the line by inviting labor and management to the White House. Previously, the administration had scorned "jawboning" as a lever in contract negotiations. There is some devision of opinion wheather he actually did much more than "jawboning" in this instance, for he exerted no great pressure.

Steel is a key industry and a large wage increase or a strike would have widespread impact throughout the still-wobbly economy. The administration is concerned that economic recovery could be set back by either a strike or an inflationary agreement.

Also vital to steel — both labor and management — is the industry's weak position in the world market. Four major world competitors — Japan, Britain, West Germany and France — have made strong inroads with cheaper prices based on lower labor costs. Steel imports into the United States have risen substantially while domestic production has shown little growth since 1965.

Mr. Nixon is more than aware of the political implications of a long strike or big wage settlement. Both could leave the economy in poor shape next year when the President is up for reelection.

Nevertheless, the President also stated the public's interest in the contract bargaining. Inflation or recession affect everyone's pocketbook and buying power. The negotiators should take the appeal to "economic patriotism" seriously in their efforts to reach an agreement.

Mr. Garand's Case

John C. Garand, the man who invented and directed production of the M1 rifle, is seeking part of the fortune he might have made had he sold the weapon privately.

Now 83, Garand has a pension from his years as chief ordnance engineer of the Springfield, Mass., armory. He claims the government never paid him for inventing the M1, the standard infantry weapon during World War II and the Korean War. Millions of rifles were produced.

A bill has been filed in Congress to award Garand $100,000 for his invention. Congress should investigate Garand's claim. If he received only salary for his vital invention then the long overdue award should be made.

LONDON — According to The Times of London, the Greek Orthodox Church has just issued a new prayer asking the Lord to protect the Greek people from tourists. The prayer, which is to be said by monks and nuns every morning and every evening, goes like this:

"Lord Jesus Christ, Son of God, have mercy on the cities, the islands and the villages of our Orthodox fatherland, as well as the holy monasteries, which are scourged by the wordly touristic wave.

"GRACE US with a solution to this dramatic problem and protect our brethren who are sorely tried by the modermistic spirit of these contemporary Western invaders."

Now it's only fair if the monks and nuns are beseeching the Lord with antitourist prayers that the tourists get equal time. So I have written a prayer for tourists which they must recite when they get up in the morning and go to bed at night.

It goes like this:

"Heavenly Father, look down on us Your humble obedient tourists servants who are doomed to travel this earth, taking photographs, mailing post cards, buying souvenirs and walking about in drip-dry underwear.

"WE BESEECH You, or Lord, to see that our plane is not hijacked, our luggage is not lost and our overweight baggage goes unnoticed.

"Protect us from surly and unscrupulous taxi drivers, avaricious porters and unlicensed English-speaking guides.

"Give us this day divine guidance in the selection of our hotels that we may find our reservations honored, our rooms made up and hot water running from the faucets (if it is at all possible).

"WE PRAY that the telephones work and that the operators speak our tongue and that there is no mail waiting from our children which would force us to cancel the rest of our trip.

"Lead us, Dear Lord, to good inexpensive restaurants where the food is superb, the waiters friendly and the wine included in the price of the meal.

"Give us the wisdom to tip correctly in currencies we do not understand. Forgive us for undertipping out of ignorance and overtipping out of fear. Make the natives love us for what we are and not for what we can contribute to their worldly goods.

"GRANT US the strength to visit the museums, the cathedrals, the palaces and the castles listed as 'musts' in the guidebooks.

"And if perchance we skip an historic monument to take a nap after lunch, have mercy on us, for our flesh is weak."

(This part of the prayer is for husband:)

"Dear God, keep our wives from shopping sprees and protect them from 'bargains' they don't need or can't afford. Lead them not into temptation for they know not what they do."

(This part of the prayer is for wives:)

"ALMIGHTY FATHER, keep our husband from looking at foreign women and comparing them to us.

"Save them from making fools of themselves in cafes and nightclubs. Above all, please do not forgive them their trespasses for they know exactly what they do."

(Together) "And when our voyage is over, and we return to our loved ones, grant us the favor of finding someone who will look at our home movies and listen to our stories so our lives as tourists will not have been in vain.

"This we ask You in the Name of Conrad Hilton, Thomas Cook and the American Express. Amen."

(Copyright, 1971, Los Angeles Times)

Tourists' Prayer

WASHINGTON — Just one year away is the bang of the gavel and the end of the search of a leaderless party for the MAN to guide them out of the wilderness. The Democrats meeting in Miami Beach — no other city with sufficient hotel accommodations was in the least interested — will have to conclude a confused and muddled horse race that has gone on far too long.

NONE OF THE half-dozen candidates currently in view can afford to go into all the primaries. By careful selectivity the prospect is that each will come out with a clutch of delegates. Yet before the last gavel sounds at the convention — short of a fratricidal conflict that would make the nomination worthless — the delegates must agree on a candidate.

Prophecy at this distance is folly. Nevertheless, here is a negative prediction: The nominee will not be Hubert Horatio Humphrey.

HE HAS A GREAT deal of backing, particulary from labor and the blacks. As to the damage done by the disclosures in the Pentagon papers, Humphrey's own feeling is that this has added little to what he suffered in 1968 when he was a captive of the Johnson Administration.

He will not formally campaign, although he is speaking widely around the country. He will not enter primaries.

Yet he has no intention of taking himself out of the contest, for that would make him nothing more than a museum piece — the titular leader in a defeat so agonizingly close to being a victory.

BUT IF HE is not to be the nominee he means to have a great deal to say about the final choice and even more about the platform. Humphrey today takes a realistic view of his party's plight. Unless the Democrats come up with a workable alternative, the voters will see no reason to turn Richard Nixon out of office.

It will not be enough to talk about Vietnam. That is being talked into the ground by a raft of candidates, sparks from a pinwheel, bent on economy and the vital needs neglected in a dozen different directions. The alternative of an expanded, far-ranging economy is what the Democrats must arrive at.

IT IS THE familiar Humphrey of the past, spinning off ideas like the sparks from a pinwheel, yent on giving his party a new mission. He joined with Sen. Herman Talmadge, chairman of the Agriculture Committee in introducing a bill calling for a farm and rural credit development system. It would set up a new banking system, fueled initially by $2 billion in Federal funds over two years to create jobs and community facilities in what Humphrey calls "the great hinterland of America."

HE IS THINKING of a national commission made up of men and women of the greatest capability and stature to examine the whole structure of Congress. Ancient practices dating from the founding of the Republic and increasingly built into a patronage system make the institution not only unwieldy but often unworkable. The delays, the blind resistance to change, the downright failures — all this contributes to disillusionment with representative government.

Too Painful To Think About

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Some of those unofficial but widely publicized statistical goals for the 1970s are already being cast aside as sober reflection suggests that they were spurious to begin with or unattainable now.

Most revered of these was the goal of reducing unemployment to four per cent without market inflation. It was upheld by both Republicans and Democrats, by researchers and decision makers until this month.

In his first public statement since being named chief economic spokesman for the administration, Treasury Secretary John B. Connally scored the goal as a "myth" never achieved "except in wartime."

At the time Connally dismissed the 4 per cent goal, the jobless rate was somewhere between 5.6 per cent and 6.2 per cent, figures conceded by the administration to be disappointingly high.

The 4 per cent goal, had, in fact, already been ignored by the administration some months earlier. The 1971 Economic report specified a goal of 4.5 per cent by the middle of next year.

The most controversial goal to go was the one calling for a Gross National Product of $1.065 trillion for 1971. Private economists contended for months that this was impossible. Now the administration agrees.

Late last week Paul W. McCracken, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, declared it "would be irresponsible" to try to push the economy hard enough to achieve that figure. It would have meant more inflation.

And, with prices maintaining a hot pace the wholesale price index rose at a rate of 4-10ths of one per cent last month compared with 3-10ths of one per cent in May—there is less talk now of "controlling" inflation.

Another widely accepted goal was that of 2.6 million new housing units a year for the 1970s. As the rate of housing starts remains just under 2 million, there is a tendency for that goal to fade.

Where did the 2.6-million goal come from? Before leaving office, President Lyndon B. Johnson said a program was needed to provide 20 million new units in the 1970s, in addition to rehabilitating six million.

The two figures eventually were combined by others into 26 million new units, and the resulting average of 2.6 million a year was used even by government spokesmen.

Analysis shows that the aims might have been set too high, a tendency understandable enough when you consider that goals wouldn't be goals if they were easily achievable.

But there is enough evidence around also to suggest that a host of goals are being forgotten today not because they were set too high but because the slow economic recovery makes them too painfal to think about.

'Oooh, You're So Strong!'

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — There is a saying that flattery will get you nowhere.

That may be true in hell, where promotion is slow, but it is certainly untrue on earth. This is a place where bread may keep you alive but it is the butter on it that makes the taste memorable.

Flattery is as necessary to the common run of men as medals are to generals. Generals like to pin medals on each other whether they really reserve them or not. The rest of us like to pin kind words on each other whether they are true or not.

Flattery may strain your sense of fantasy, but it isn't much of a strain on your vocabulary. Here, for example, are a few admiring phrases which, if learned well and used often enough, should take you from the warrens of the poor to the precincts of the powerful:

"I dont't know how you do it."

"If anyone else told that story, it wouldn't be half as funny."

"I simply won't believe it until you show me the scar."

"Anyone but you would have given up long ago."

"You must be kidding. I'd guess you to be half that old. Where do you get your drinking water—from the fountain of youth?"

"What do you mean bald? You're a long, long way from being bald."

"Your biggest trouble is that you're too kind for your own good."

"Well, I'll say this: you've certainly set them a good example, and if they don't follow it, they'll have only themselves to blame in the end."

"What I like about you is that you never let petty trifles get you down. If I had to think up another name for you. I'd call your Mr. Big."

"Oooh, you're so strong!"

"Is it really you? How nice it is to hear your voice. I was just thinking of you.'

"On you it looks good."

"So what's so terrible about it? Everybody makes mistakes now and then. If you can't learn to forgive yourself, how can you forgive others?"

"Why worry about it? I'll bet your doctor is more overweight than you've ever been. If he isn't, I'll bet his wife probably is. Anyway, if there's one thing I can't stand, it's people going around half-starved and bragging about how skinny they are."

"I'd never have made it without your help."

"Everybody is supposed to have a little hunk of God in them. The thing about you is that you just have a bigger hunk than most people."

Simply memorize these phrases and say them to everyone you meet, and you'll never have any trouble borrowing money.

The Scars Erased

Around The Rim

Jo Bright

It took 50 years — but time erased the scars — and not even a bitter memory remains.

LOUISIANA, like the gracious lady she is, has finally forgiven Long-Bell Lumber Company for the early rape of her virgin forests.

Helping with the healing was the Louisiana Forestry Commission, along with considerate and sympathetic suitors such as Boise Southern Company. It wooed and won her heart with such trinkets as a $105-million kraft and newsprint mill which recently went into full production at DeRidder, La.

I HAD THE opportunity, in June, for a mini-tour or the giant kraft paper, liner and newsprint complex and was fascinated by the functioning of Louisiana's first newsprint mill. Driving to the plant, noting the sight and scent of the growing pines, I remembered a time when much of this area was devoid of anything but decaying stumps.

The plant is a joint venture of Boise Cascade Corp. and Southern Natural Gas Co., also involving a subpartnership with Price Co. Ltd. of Canada.

Aside from providing nearly 400 new jobs, more than ordinary local interest in Boise Southern was generated through issuance of $105 million in industrial revenue bond financing for the mill by Beauregard Parish, of which DeRidder is a seat.

THE SHOT in the arm for the genteel little town began in the 1960's when Boise Cascade's exploration teams found the site, which offered adequate timberland, good transportation and plentiful water.

After acquiring 428,000 acres by 1967, Boise Cascade's management found that increases in labor and capital costs, plus extra costs for environmental control equipment, would make the small-scale operation originally envisioned not economically feasible.

FACED WITH A budget-straining prospect of a $200 million investment for both land and plant, Boise Cascade began to look for a partner. It found one in Southern Natural Gas, which had just arrived at a decision to diversify its operations by entering the forest products field.

Boise Southern's chemical pulp and groundwood mills will use approximately 500,000 cords of pine and 50,000 cords of mixed hardwoods annually. Procurement is from company land and surrounding private land in west central Louisiana and east Texas.

I WAS told that 40 acres of timber is required for each day's production at the mill.

Environmental factors have been taken into consideration, and the plant's rated efficiency in solids recovery is 99 per cent. An elaborate effluent control system channels waste to the Sabine River.

Yes, 50 years have made a difference. Boise Southern is a good neighbor. It's roadside is neatly mowed, and its landscaping includes a manicured lawn, palms, magnolia trees, border plantings and a rose garden. It's manager thinks mills should be attractive.

It's 'Hell City'

Andrew Tully

WASHINGTON — One does indeed meet such interesting people in this curious dodge. Luckily, one also frequently meets really good people like Mrs. J. W. Thomason of Ozark, Ala.

Mrs. Thomason has written me in gentle protest over my indignant habit of referring to Washington as Hell City. It is a letter brimful of Christian charity — of charity and of pride in her country's capital city.

"I THINK YOU are a good man," the lady writes. "But there is one thing you say that I can't understand, and that is why you have given Washington a new name. Granted that there are many crimes committed there and many people have moved across the Potomac, we still have our government run there, the White House and Capitol are still there, and there must be some good people left there."

Bless you, Mrs. Thomason. Bless you for your simple eloquence and, if I may be forgiven for employing an old fashioned term, your breeding. Reading your words, I am grateful for the Mrs. Thomasons everywhere who have kept this Republic from toppling over the brink into utter barbarism.

AND YET, Mrs. Thomason, I cannot comply when you "respectfully request" that I "not call it Hell City again." I admit it is an ugly term, one which I am sure offends your sensibilities. But my use of the name is a calculated effort to shock good people everywhere into demanding that something be done about the jungle that is Washington, D.C.

LET ME submit just two of thousands of cases of vicious crimes that have become Hell City's way of life.

Joseph M. Johnston, 26, and his wife, Diane, 28, had dinner at Hogate's, a well-known restaurant on the Washington Channel one recent evening. As they went to a parking lot to get their car shortly after 10:30 p.m., they were approached by two men armed with pistols, who forced them into the car and then made Johnston drive to a dark alleyway.

THERE, THE COUPLE was forced out of the car. Mrs. Johnston's arms were tied behind her and a rope placed around her neck. While Johnston was "physically restrained," Mrs. Johnston was assaulted and strangled to death.

So much for dining out after dark in our capital city.

THE AWFUL THING to remember, Mrs. Thomason, is that such tragedies are everyday occurrences in Hell City. There are so many crimes of violence that the Washington Post has been reduced to listing them in its smallest readable type. Newspapers just don't have enough space to print full accounts of these crimes. Anyway, crime is now taken for granted here.

And so, Mrs. Thomason, although I respect and honor you, I must reluctantly refuse your request that I stop calling the capital of our Republic Hell City. I regret to say that I want to stir up people like you. I want to upset you, even make you mad, because this is your town they're destroying.

My Answer

Billy Graham

A friend of mine says her husband has no faults and that their marriage is perfect. Do people have to be perfect to have a happy marriage? C.T.

The happy marriage, I believe, is based not so much on the perfection of the partners, but in the acceptance of each others weaknesses and faults, and an abiding affection despite all handicaps. In a study by a sociologist, unhappily married women tended to exaggerate and dwell upon their husbands faults, while happily married women, though they recognized their husbands faults, tend to overlook them and excuse them. The New Testament says, "Love suffereth long and is kind." When two people are married they actually know very little about each other. What they do know about each other is usually good, for in courtship one naturally shows the best side. Then, when the irritating traits of each is revealed, the real test of love comes. If it is not superficial it will abide and deepend, but if it is based upon fantasy and not reality, it will dwindle and die.

As the Bible says, "Love beareth all things, and endureth all things." The happy marriage is not a union of perfect partners, but the triumph of love over imperfections.

A Devotion For Today . . .

"The man who wants to save his own life will lose it; but the man who loses his life for my sake will find it." (Matthew 16:25, TEV)

PRAYER: Dear Savior, teach us that faith with reservations is not faith at all, only futility. Give us the faith which leads us to lose ourselves in the concerns of others and helps us to pray as You taught us, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

Carter Furniture Carries Large Variety Of Styles

Carter Furniture features a large variety of furniture styles and carries accessories from decorator pillows to lamps and pictures,

Carter's also is departmentalized for your convenience.

Shown here is the Boga Cierto Dining Room Group 7000 by Drew.

The table and chairs, buffet and china deck are made out of oak veneers and hardwood solids and come in an eye-appealing brown with just a whisper of shadowy antiquing.

Carved solid oak panels which are used tastefully, the paneling on drawer fronts that provide the attractive moorish influence and the larger case pieces having a piano-concave shaped front are the design features of which you will enthusiastically approve.

The china deck has a removable antiqued brass plated grill that is illuminated with inside light. This dining room group would make a perfect addition to any home.

Terry and Dorothy Carter and a well-trained staff are ready to help you find just the right piece of suite for your living room, dining area or bedroom.

Carter's Furniture, 100-110 Runnels, is the home decoration center for every style of furniture.

His Pipe Dream

FORT LEE, N.J. (AP) — Frank DeVito, 47, of Sayerville has been a plumber for 24 years and you might say his pipe dream has been realized.

The father of five children was New Jersey's sixth winner in the state's $1 million lottery. He received $50,000 and will get that much annually for the next 19 years.

Wes-Tex Cooperative Serves Area Counties

Following last year's modernization program that expanded and beefed up the system, Wes-Tex Telephone Cooperative now serves parts of Martin, Midland, Howard, Borden Glasscock, Dawson and Reagan counties and has more than 1,400 members.

The system is valued at more than $2¼ million, with the latest upgrading and improvements by the cooperative during 1970 boosting the system's value up $408,551 over the previous year.

The improvements included additional circuits, 300 miles of buried cable and the installation of new equipment in eight automatic dial exchanges.

Most aerial cable subject to damage from high winds, ice storms and hunters' bullets, has been replaced by underground cable. The new underground cable greatly improves the reliability of the telephone service.

The old eight-party lines are definitely a thing of the past with the new equipment. Four telephones are the maximum on any line, and most customers in the system have only one or two other persons on a line.

Private lines are available to everyone served by Wes-Tex, but party lines are still preferred in some areas because of the economy resulting from putting more than one telephone on a circuit.

Although unavailable at the present time, direct long distance dialing is in the future plans of the cooperative.

Toll-free service to Big Spring or Stanton is provided for subscribers on the Luther, Ackerly, Lenorah, West Stanton and Lomax exchanges, while members on the Vincent, St. Lawrence and Garden City exchanges pay a slight toll charge to call other area towns.

The cooperative offers many services and special equipment. Extension telephones are always available, and come in a wide range of attractive colors and all styles.

Just a few of the list of available options include long cords, outside bells, special ringing equipment and devices to amplify sound to aid the hard of hearing.

Special telemetering circuits are available for use by oil or pippeline companies and others requiring this type of equipment.

The Wes-Tex cooperative is owned and operated by the people in its service area. It was organized 20 years ago and has shown a healthy growth. It now has more than 1,300 miles of cable in its seven-county service area.

TIRES FOR EVERY TYPE OF NEED
. . . at Creighton Tire Co., local Seiberling dealer

Seiberling Radial Equal To Any Tire

Equal to any tire sold in America today, Creighton's Tire Co. has the Seiberling Radial tire.

The Seiberling Radial features two dynacor rayon body plies and four dynacor rayon belts. Wide open grooves in the tread make for better traction, handling and cornering.

The Radial offers up to 100 per cent more mileage and more than 6 per cent in gasoline savings than conventional tires.

Charlie Creighton, owner, sells tires for everything from a tractor to a boat trailer. Especially suited for ranch use are the sealed-air tubes that give puncture proofing to any tire.

During its 40-year history, Creighton's has provided complete tire service: flats, wheel balancing, repairs and alignment.

After checking the tires on your family car, if you decide it is time to replace them, check with Creighton's first.

The Seiberling Supreme Dynaguard 600 comes with a life-time guarantee and has a reputation for replacement for the first 30 per cent of the tread wear and pro rata replacement adjustment thereafter.

The cord body construction has four piles of polyester, two rayon belts, and a layer of puncture sealant for blowout protection.

The deep safety-chain tread has a wrap-around design that maximizes road contact and tread life to make the 600 the best tire at any price.

Another quality tire available at Creighton's is the Seiberling Supreme 150, a maximum performance tire with 4-ply polyester cord construction and thermovents to prevent blow-out-causing internal heat buildup.

The Supreme 150 has up to 57 per cent greater cord body strength, 29 per cent wider tread and 16 per cent greater tread depth than the tires put on new cars at the factory.

Your choice may be the Superwide Sports tire with nylon cord construction, wide oval design and fiberglass belts to prevent stretch.

The Seiberling 200 has a chain tread design for safer starts and stops. The Safety 120 is a plus performance tire with strong 4-ply polyester cord construction.

Class Reunions

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: May I use your column to offer some advice:

Girls, never accompany your husband to his class reunion unless you went to the same school and know some of the same people. I just returned from attending my husband's 25th high school reunion and I've never had a lousier time. Ralph was (and still is) a handsome fellow, and he was popular in high school, so when we walked in everyone fell on his neck. He introduced me around and I never saw him again until it was time to go home.

So girls, stay home and let your husbands go to their class reunions alone, unless you enjoy sitting in a corner, talking to yourselves. BEEN THERE

DEAR BEEN: Your letter makes a lot of sense. But some wives would rather go and sit like bumps on a log than send their husbands to such affairs alone.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am 82 years young and I live in a rest home for ladies. I was in "show biz" most of my life and I love a good laugh and have gotten many from your column which I read faithfully every day. I would like to share something with you (and your readers) if you want to use this:

Last evening at dinner, a lady who is 86 said to me, "I had a priest visit me today and he told me that the Catholic faith did not require confession any more."

I replied, "I know why. They're all writing to Dear Abby."

God bless you and keep you well.

LILIAN IN WILLIMANTIC, CONN.

DEAR LILLIAN: And God bless you, to. Your letter made my day!

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I read the letter from "Mule's Wife" who said her husband refused to wear a tuxedo to their son's wedding, but if you, Dear Abby, would say the word, he'd rent one and wear it. (You said the word, so I assume he wore one.)

Well, last week my granddaughter was married at a formal wedding. Everyone in the wedding party wore tuxedos — except the groom's father. He wore a dark business suit. Nobody cared, and few even noticed it. All eyes were on the bride and groom.

Isn't it better for the father of the groom to feel comfortable in a business suit than to put on a tux and feel like a monkey?

GRANDMA NOVAK

DEAR GRANDMA: I agree with you, but if I hadn't said "the word," the other "mule" wouldn't have worn a tuxedo to his son's wedding, which probably would have spoiled the occasion for his wife. I try to prevent trouble when possible.

Those Hangovers

Your Good Health

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Drinking alcohol invariably results in a hangover manifested by a burning diarrhea. Is there any way I can reduce this distress or avoid it completely without completely abandoning my friends and social obligations?—J.A.R.

If you mean exactly what you say in your letter, yes, there's a way to avoid these hangovers entirely without abandoning your friends and social obligations. Abandon the alcohol but not your friends.

But if you mean you want me to offer you a handy-dandy way to get a snootful without a hangover, go rattle somebody else's cage. A hangover means you've had more booze than you can handle. So learn how much you can safely imbibe, and stop. Even if it means none.

If you are entertaining at home, drink ginger ale or cola or something, with — if you feel it necessary for your friends' peace of mind — a slug of cold tea in it instead of whisky.

If in somebody else's home, have one drink, and then ask for plain ginger ale. Or learn to nurse a drink, and be sociable with a glass in your hand.

Or ask for a martini on the rocks, and every time you go to the biffy, fill it up with water. Who's going to know?

Or tell your friends your doctor has forbidden alcohol because of your pruritus. If you mumble it, nobody will be sure whether you said pruritus or neuritis.

I note that you are from San Francisco. That's a very cosmopolitan city, so ask a bartender if there aren't a few euphemisms you can use when asking for a drink with no alcohol in it, such as a Bloody Mary without vodka.

Finally, if you can't abide your friends without getting plastered, get some new friends. As I said, San Francisco is a cosmopolitan city with all kinds of people in it.

* * *

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My daughter-in-law has me alarmed. She told me she has been passing mucus from the rectum, sometimes in long strings. It is clear and no blood. I have never heard of such a thing before. She is a very nervous person.—M.I.

It is called mucos colitis, and I could almost have guessed before you told me that she is a nervous person. It's an annoying condition, and not usually corrected in a hurry, but she should get after it.

* * *

Dear Dr. Thosteson: A man 76 years old, in perfect health. Could he be operated for a gall bladder?—M.N.

Perfect health — except a diseased gall bladder, eh? Age alone would not prohibit such surgery. It's been done before. So a physician or surgeon would be the best judge of whether your condition, and the condition of the ball bladder warrants an operation.

* * *

Are you having a gall bladder problem? To find out how the gall bladder works and what types of trouble to look for, send for Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "You And Your Gall Bladder." Write him in care of The Herald for a copy, enclosing a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover the cost of printing and handling.

George Plimpton, author of "Paper Lion," has found out that the Baltimore Colts are no paper tigers.

The actor-author became one of the first major casualties of the pro football training season Monday when he suffered a dislocated thumb and a bloody nose during contact work at the camp of Baltimore's Super Bowl champions.

Plimpton, scheduled to work out with the Colts for two weeks, also limped off the field after his legs took a severe beating. If he recovers within the next few weeks, he will run a series of four plays at quarterback in a preseason game against the Detroit Lions on Aug. 28.

PROMPTED BOOK

It was his experiences with the Lions in training camp that prompted his "Paper Lion" book.

Meanwhile, Johnny Unitas, the Colts' veteran quarterback attempting a comeback after undergoing surgery April 7 for a ruptured right Achilles tendon, went through a full day's work as Baltimore began two-a-day practice sessions.

Unitas, under orders not to run until next month, participated with the rest of the team in calisthenics—skipping only the run-in-place exercises—and threw passes on the sidelines.

Another quarterback recuperating from an injury, Joe Namath of the New York Jets, completed three months of workouts at the practice field of the University of Alabama, his alma mater, and prepared for a trip to his hometown, Beaver Falls, Pa.

Namath, who missed the final nine games of the 1970 season after suffering a broken right wrist during a game against Baltimore, will report to the Jets' camp Sunday with the team's other veterans.

If Namath reports as scheduled Sunday, it will be the first time he will not be late for the opening of a Jet camp.

At Cleveland's training camp in Hiram, Ohio, rookie running back Larry Zelina pulled a hamstring muscle in his right leg as the Browns held their first workout. The same type of injury had sidelined Zelina during much of his college career at Ohio State.

Four players suffered heat exhaustion as the temperature reached 100 degrees at the New Orleans Saints' camp in Hattiesburg, Miss. Forced to miss the workout after suffering from the heat were wide receivers Dave Szymakowski and Val Golmant, linebacker Jess Lewis and tight end Jim Cox.

The New England Patriots, who begin training today at the University of Massachusetts, signed six veterans—defensive tackles Jim Hunt and Houston Antwine, safeties Don Webb and Art McMahon, center Jon Morris and offensive lineman Tom Funchess.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Sports dialogue:

SYDNEY J. HARRIS, noted columnist:

"Americans, in the main, have a defective sense of public sportsmanship: They fail to see that it consists of cheering the home team, but stops short of booing the opponents (especially at tense moments, when all spectators who truly love a sport should show a decent respect for the skill of the game by refraining from 'riding' a player)."

* * * *

JOHN J. CARMICHAEL, Chicago writer:

"Hack Wilson's 190 RBI is an all-time major league mark (Lou Gehrig is runnerup with 184 in 1931). When you consider that Hack played a schedule of no more than 154 games, it means he had to average 1.2 RBI per game and there were times when Wilson wasn't in the frame of body to keep up the good work. He was taking batting practice one day and obviously was slightly the worse for previous-evening's wear. Manager Joe McCarthy was about to bench Hack for the day when suddenly he asked: 'How hot is it?' Someone thought it was about 94. 'Let him play,' growled Joe, 'and sweat it out of him.' Hack hit a pair and won the game."

HUGH McELHENNY, former pro football running great:

"If the NFL expands from 26 to 32 franchises, I'm going to quit smoking, start working out and see if I can make a comeback. There aren't enough good athletes around to stock that many rosters."

* * * *

SPARKY ANDERSON, manager of his coughing Big Red baseball machine at Cincinnati:

"Last year, people were asking, 'Sparky Who?' Now it's 'Sparky Why?'"

* * * *

CHI CHI RODRIQUEZ, the Puerto Rican court jester of the pro golf tour:

"I'm playing like Tarzan, but scoring like Jane."

* * * *

BOBBY BOYD, former ace cornerback for the Baltimore Colts:

"I disliked playing against Fran Tarkenton probably more than any other quarterback. His ability to escape from the pass rush put us under all kinds of pressure, giving the receivers a few extra seconds to get loose. The line had to keep him in the pocket to give us an even break."

* * * *

TOM LANDRY, coach of the Dallas Cowboys, shortly before going to training camp:

"This is the best potential offensively we've ever had. And, based on the last eight games last year, it's by far the best defense we've had. However, you can't live in the past or on potential. You have to live out there this season. Our new players (Lance Alworth, Gloster Richardson and Wendall Tucker), coupled with what we had, has got to bring a great deal of emphasis to the passing game. The potential has to be great. The chance for the easy touchdown is there again. Our whole offense has to rejell. It's completely different with the new personnel. We've got to adjust to the strengths of our people. There's a lot of individual talent there, but it doesn't necessarily make a team. It takes time to make a team."

* * * *

MERV JOHNSON, coaching aide at Arkansas, commenting on San Diego-bound Chuck Dicus:

"He came to us with more natural awareness of adjustments and receiver coverages and alternating patterns than any receiver we've had. He had instincts. We've never had any receiver before or since that had his awareness."

Bass Fishermen Await Tourney

The bass are likely to be schooling deep in August, and hundreds of anglers from the Southwest, the United States and abroad will be searching deep and shallow waters for the biggest and best of the black, large mouth, spotted, red eye or small mouth lunkers in what is the richest bass tournament ever to be held.

Project: Sports, Inc., a sportsman's club dedicated to the preservation of hunting and fishing through public participation in sports and public enrollment in the fight for a natural environment, is sponsoring the $50,000 1971 World Invitational Bass Tournament on August 12, 13 and 14 at Lake Sam Rayburn, Tex.

Located in deep southeast Texas, Sam Rayburn is a 5 year old, man-made lake that is reputed to be one of the hottest bass fishing lakes in the Southwest. 4½ and 5 pounders are not unusual on any fisherman's line.

Calvin Murphy Is Still Fine Baton Twirler

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The average pro basketball player isn't likely to admit that twirling a baton helped him play better basketball—but nobody ever called Calvin Murphy average.

To begin with, Murphy is at 5-feet-9, one of the smallest men in the National Basketball Association. But that doesn't keep him from being able to dunk the ball or to lead the San Diego Rockets in shooting percentage last season in his rookie year.

Murphy is almost as adept at twirling a baton as he is dribbling a basketball. While he was winning All-American honors at Niagara University, Murphy also performed at Buffalo Bills halftime shows.

The only time he has ever lost in twirling competition was at the world championships.

"Twirling has helped to strengthen my wrists and it's also helped my quickness," said Murphy, who still enjoys twirling as a hobby. "I'd say it helps my reflexes too. Sometimes that baton can get away from you if you're not quick."

To make it in the NBA, Calvin has to be quick. When you're 5-9 playing a tall man's game, you have to compensate.

"Naturally, the larger guards in the league tried to test me," Murphy said. "They tried to get me to go under the basket with them. So I had to press hard at mid-court to keep them out. I've had to work extra hard on defense to stay in the league."

Murphy has an interesting way of looking at the shift of the San Diego franchise to Houston last month.

Reagan Triumphs In Midland Meet

MIDLAND — H. B. Reagan, Big Spring, won a first place in competition at the Permian Basin Rifle and Pistol Club range here Sunday when he achieved a score of 2.76 for the smallest grouping of shots.

Larry Barrett, Big Spring, finished second to Ronnie Havard, Midland, in the Heavy Varmint shoot. Havard had a score of .4922, Barrett .5342.

Bucs, Tiger Cubs Collide Tonight

The Big Spring Bucs take a respite from Senior Teen-Age Baseball League play when they play the Big Spring Tiger Cubs in the Hi-Junior Park. Game time is 8 o'clock.

The Bucs, now 6-2 in the league race, need a win in Colorado City Friday night to clinch a tie for first place in the standings.

Hargrove Quits Job At Ralls

RALLS — J. D. Hargrove, who guided Ralls High School to three straight district basketball championships, has resigned to go into the construction business in Abilene with his brother.

Over-all, Hargrove's teams compiled a 151-47 record at Ralls. Hargrove's 1968-69 team advanced to Regional finals in Class A.

Hargrove, who is 39, formerly coached at Avoca and Byers.

Golfer Is Signed

ODESSA — Tony Harper of Spearman has signed a golf letter-of-intent with Odessa Junior College. Harper twice won medalist honors in his district.

Vida Blue To Face Nationals Tonight

DETROIT (AP) — It's the Vida Blue smoke against the Dock Ellis spark tonight in baseball's 42nd All-Star Game.

The hard-throwing Blue, talk of the majors with 17 victories halfway through the season, hopes to help pitch the crestfallen American League out of an embarrassing eight-game losing streak against the Nationals, who will be dealing the controversial, hot-tempered Ellis.

Blue and Ellis match up at 7:15 p.m. CDS, before a rafter-jammed house of 53,634 at ancient Tiger Stadium while 50 million more watch on national television.

"I'm really glad to be here, I only hope I can help the American League break this streak," said Blue, Oakland's baby-faced, 21-year-old southpaw who never saw an AllStar Game in person.

UNPARALLELED

While Blue was an obvious choice to start because of his unparalleled 173 record, Ellis wasn't so sure he'd draw the prestigious starting assignment despite his 14-3 mark. In fact, he criticized National League Manager Sparky Anderson last week, saying he wouldn't start because "Anderson doesn't like me."

The Pittsburgh right-hander also said Anderson would never allow two black men to start the game—and since Blue is a Negro—"they wouldn't pitch two brothers against each other."

"Ellis is just a young boy, having some fun," Anderson volleyed back at a news conference Monday. "He doesn't mean to hurt anybody. And I certainly wouldn't stop anyone pitching for me just because of what he says about me."

Ellis, the Pirates' power pitcher who helped them establish a 10-game spread in the National League East prior to the All-Star break, will be backed by a lineup of fence-busters as the favored senior circuit tries to boost its 23-17-1 edge in the mid-summer showdown.

The first hitters in the NL cast have totaled 111 home runs and 336 runs batted in—centerfielder Willie Mays of San Francisco; right-fielder Hank Aaron of Atlanta; St. Louis third baseman Joe Torre; Pittsburgh left-fielder Willie Stargell; first baseman Willie McCovey of San Francisco and catcher Johnny Bench of Cincinnati.

BECKERT

Chicago Cubs' second baseman Glenn Beckert, New York Mets' shortstop Bud Harrelson and Ellis round out the starting lineup.

"I know we've got some pretty good personnel, and none of our reserves will hurt us, either," said Anderson, who pointed out he was here "for a victory—this isn't a vacation, you know."

With the headline-making Blue on the mound, and some hard-throwing pitchers in reserve—like Jim Palmer and Mike Cuellar of Baltimore and Mickey Lolich of Detroit—American League Manager Earl Weaver has a host of strong arms to try to silence the power-stacked Nationals.

REYNOLDS IS HOT

Tigers Assured Of Tie For Top

Earl Reynolds limited the ABC Pirates to two hits in hurling the Big Spring Hardware Tigers to a 4-1 Hi-Junior league here Monday evening.

The success clinched a tie for first place for the Bengals. The game proved costly for the winners, however, because Troy Kerby, one of the league's most successful pitchers, was spiked in the throwing arm and may be idled for a while.

The Tigers are now 10-4 in the standings while the Pirates dropped to 7-7.

Craig Brown hit his second home run in two games for the winners and was deprived of another hit when an umpire ruled he had not touched first base.

Reynolds fanned 11 and issued only two walks. He lost his shutout in the first inning when Bruce Felts reached base on an error and scored on Barry Truett's single.

After the 'hello' round, Reynolds permitted only four men to reach base. Only three balls hit by the Bucs got past the infield.

Nate Poss, the losing flinger, pitched well enough to win most games.

Kerby was a tower of strength at bat for the Tigers, driving out four hits in as many tries. One of his blows went for two bases. Brown clubbed his round tripper in the fourth.

Bob Shaffer gave Reynolds the working margin he needed when he singled to drive in Pat Ray and Bruce Abbe in the second. Abbe also had two hits while Alan Davis as the other Tiger to connect safely.

EARL REYNOLDS

Bob Priebe singled in the seventh in the Corsairs but the Tigers executed a double play to end the game.

The Tigers can sew up the race by defeating the Kiwanis in their next start.

Texan Tom Kite Leading Despite Double Bogie

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif.(AP) — University of Texas golfer Tom Kite Jr. blew a chance to equal the Spyglass Hill course record with a double bogey on the next to last hole Monday, but his par 72 round was the best on the opening day of qualifying for the Trans-Mississippi amateur golf tournament.

Kite, the runnerup in last year's National Amateur, was two under par when his shot to the eighth green landed in a trap. On his first attempt to come out of the sand, the ball popped out of the trap but rolled back in and he wound up with the double bogey six.

He played the back nine of the 6,795-yard course first. The course record is 70.

Five golfers were one stroke behind the 21-ear-old leader from Austin, Tex. after the opening round.

George Haines of Far Hills, N.J. and four Californians, Artie McNickle of Sacramento, John Adam of Hilmar, A.W. "Skid" Pirtle of Menlo Park, and Greg Trompas of San Diego, all had one over par 73s.

Arizona State golfer Don Powers and Dan Edwards, 19, of Oklahoma City were at 74 and nine players shot 75s.

The final qualifying round is Tuesday, and 64 players will begin match play Wednesday in the championship round of the 68th Trans-Miss.

Defending champion Allen Miller of Pensacola, Fla. automatically makes the match play field. He played a practice round on the neighboring Pebble Beach course Monday.

Kite had a 34, two under par, on his first nine with the help of an eagle three on the 520-yard 11th hole. He reached the green with a fairway wood and made a 12-foot putt.

John Farquhar of Amarillo, Tex., Kite's Walker Cup teammate this year, was in danger of not making the match play group after shooting an 85 Monday.

Tommy Mueller, 17, of San Antonio, Tex. scored a hole-in-one with a three iron on the 180-yard fifth hole but only managed a 92 on the course rated California's toughest.

Long Blasts Have Turned Games Around

By The Asscciated Press

There have been some historic home runs over the years in baseball's All-Star games and tonight's classic in Detroit marks the 30th anniversary of one of the most dramatic.

It was in July 1941 that Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox came up in the ninth inning with two on, two out and the Americans trailing the Nationals 5-4.

He walloped a 2-1 pitch from Claude Passeau of the Chicago Cubs into the upper right field stands at Briggs Stadium for a three-run homer. That one swing of his mighty bat turned defeat into a 7-5 victory for the Americans.

Williams, now manager of the Washington Senators, went on that year to become the last .400 hitter in the major leagues. He finished the 1941 season with a .406 average.

The legendary Babe Ruth of the New York Yankees hit a two-run homer to give the Americans a 4-2 victory in the very first All-Star game or the Midseason Interleague game, as it was then called. That was in 1933 at Comiskey Park in Chicago.

Seventeen years later in the same park in 1950, home runs by Ralph Kiner of Pittsburgh and Red Schoendienst of St. Louis pulled out a 4-3 victory for the Nationals in 14 innings, the first extra inning All-Star game.

Stan Musial, famed St. Louis Cardinal slugger, socked a home run in the 12th inning to give the National a 6-5 victory in the 1955 game at Milwaukee.

Johnny Callison of Philadelphia made the headlines with a three-run homer in the ninth inning that gave the Nationals a 7-4 victory in the 1964 game at Shea Stadium in New York.

Rebels Decision Orioles, 5 To 4

The Rebels edged the Orioles, 5-4, in Sophomore League competition Monday night.

In tonight's action, the Lions oppose the Red Sox while the undefeated Yanks tangle with the Giants Wednesday.

The Red Sox, who have lost only once in second half competition, meet the Yanks Saturday night in a crucial test.

NAMATH IN TRAINING — New York Jets quarterback Joe Namath has another duty this time in preparation for the upcoming football season. Namath is shown treating his wounded right wrist to a whirlpool bath during workout at University of Alabama where he has been training.

Ali: Age Of Toys Now Behind Me

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Muhammad Ali, who as Cassius Clay used to shout "I am the greatest" to all who would listen, lay on his training table and stared at the Astrohall ceiling.

The gregarious, youthful exuberance of another time was gone. Ali is older now, quieter, more reflective.

"Life is a series of states, like the seasons," Ali said almost dreamily. "In the summer the trees are green and full of leaves. I'm going through another stage.

"When I first came along and got some money, a new Cadillac was the first thing I wanted. That was the most important thing to me.

"In every state of development different things are the most important. At one time, a certain toy is the most valuable thing in a child's life. In another stage, the child will throw the toy away.

"After the Cadillac, I wanted a mansion and I have that too. Now all my desires have been satisfied. So what used to give me pleasure doesn't give pleasure anymore."

What Ali was saying was he's getting tired of fighting. It's not a game anymore and it's no longer fun. He's marching to a different drummer.

"I'm looking to defeat poverty, slavery and injustice," he said. "These are greater things than winning a fight.

"I'm looking for security. I don't want a Cadillac now, I want a housing project.

Fighting is just a job now, Ali says. "I got a bill from my lawyers for $27,000," he said, "That ain't no fun."

Ali, who opened training here Monday for his 12-round fight July 26 against former sparring partner Jimmy Ellis, also said he was past his prime and didn't enjoy training anymore.

Garland Kayoes Pace Setters

By The Asscciated Press

Dallas-Fort Worth pitcher Wayne Garland is looking more and more like the league's top hurler.

He gave credence to that billing Monday night as he pitched his 10th straight complete game and beat Dixie Association Central Division leader Arkansas 6-2 on a four-hitter.

In other games, Shreveport beat San Antonio 6-2, West leader Amarillo maintained its seven-game lead over Dallas-Fort Worth by defeating Memphis 4-2, Birmingham edged Albuquerque 3-2, Charlotte, the East leader, nipped Columbus 4-3 and Asheville at Savannah, Montgomery at Jacksonville were both cancelled because of rain.

LETTER

He's Grateful For A Favor

TO THE EDITOR:

I wish to publicly express my appreciation to Jack Barber, Peter Neill, Robert Robertson, Ruben Torres, Joe Valdez, Roy Hughes, Jerry Robinson and Frosty Robison who consented to allow my son to appear in the Little League City playoffs.

The compassion and understanding they have shown toward my son during the past week mark them as gentlemen. Their conduct was in marked contrast to those adults who wished to deal so harshly with a child in what is supposed to be a children's game.

I neither tolerate nor condone wilful or flagrant disobedience to any rule or law on the part of any of my children.

It was my lack of knowledge of Little League rules that put my son on a softball field with adults. As far as I knew, a men's softball team and Little League baseball were worlds apart. I would never have encouraged behavior on his part in any way that was in direct violation of the terms under which he was to play.

As an adult, I can accept the fact that ignorance of the law or certain rules does not constitute an excuse, but it is exceedingly difficult to make a child understand that he is responsible for rules he didn't even know existed.

This unfortunate incident caused all these men extra hours of worry and inconvenience, to say the least, in their private lives.

I simply wish to say 'thank you' for the consideration you've shown for the feelings of one small boy out of the 3,200 you deal with.

Aerialists All Throwing Well

KERRVILLE, Tex. (AP) — The Houston Oilers head for more scrimmages today as the first week of their National Football League training camp gets well underway.

The Oilers, under rookie head coach Ed Hughes, engaged in their first scrimmage of the camp Monday and Hughes said, "I thought the day went pretty good. You could sort of feel the team starting to work together. The players have been in groups so much, the controlled scrimmage today gave them an idea of what part their group has to do with the over-all picture."

Although it was supposed to be a no-tackle workout, second-strong quarterback Jerry Rhome found himself on his back after a strong pass rush.

He suffered an injured elbow but was back at work after quick treatment on the field.

Hughes said Rhome, first-string quarterback Charley Johnson and rookie Lynn Dicky were all throwing well.

The Oilers now have 62 men in camp after gaining three and losing one Monday.

Checking into camp were tight end Alvin Reed, running back Strum.

Rookie Baylor tackle Jess Leroy Sledge and lienman Jerry Young left camp, the Oilers said, after deciding that pro football was not for him.

The rest of the Oiler veterans are scheduled to arrive in camp later this week.

Alworth Dons Cowboy Gear

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys finished three points short of the National Football League championship last year. Today, the man who's supposed to make sure it doesn't happen again this season puts on a Dallas uniform for the first time.

Lance Alwroth, probably the greatest receiver in American Football League history, came to the Cowboys in a three-team swap during the off-season. Alworth, 31, a nine-year pro football veteran from Arkansas, caught for 1,000 yards in seven of his nine seasons with San Diego.

He's being counted on to give Dallas another deep threat and make it impossible for other clubs to double-team Bob Hayes who also is due to arrive today.

Assuming that Alworth is over the troubles which caused him to announce his retirement and sue the Chargers for $5.6 million last year—he changed his mind in both cases—the Cowboys would appear to have a balanced passing attack to go along with their crunching ground game and defense.

Multiple Listing Service

(1). BUYERS AND SELLERS receive the benefit of cooperation between Realtors rather than being restricted to the offerings of a single agent or a series of agents. (2). Buyers, by contacting only one Realtor, may have access to the listings of all Realtors who participate. (3). Current market information, which is readily available through Multiple Listing, means that Realtors, their clients and the public are better served and informed. (4). Negotiations are carried on under rules of procedure designed to assure ethical practice, thus furthering the interest of clients and the public while extending adherence to high standards of practice.

Lamesans Get New Phone Cable

LAMESA (SC) — Work is progressing on schedule in the installation of new telephone cable for Lamesa, according to G. T. Hamilton, division manager for General Telephone Co.

The new cable will provide service for new customers, upgrade service for existing customers and replace more than 16,000 feet of deteriorated cable.

STAGE SET FOR HISTORIC VOTE

CBS Showdown In House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Certain to make history however it decides, the House of Representatives was offered the choice today of either holding CBS in contempt or rejecting the recommendation of a committee chairman.

The issue is a contempt citation against the Columbia Broadcasting System and its president, Frank Stanton, for refusing to surrender to the House Commerce Committee material used in making the CBS documentary, "The Selling of the Pentagon."

RAW MATERIAL

The film was critical of military public relations activities, but the information demanded was raw material not telecast in the finished program.

While committee Chairman Harley O. Staggers, D-W.Va., insisted the panel's contempt vote of 25 to 13 was not a challenge to the 1st Amendment's free-speech and free-press guarantees, CBS took a different view.

"The people," Staggers said, "must be assured that what they are viewing on their television screens is true and accurate. If you deny Congress the right to inquire into this, the public's last recourse is gone."

It is the first citation ever sought by a congressional committee against a segment of the broadcast media.

FREEDOM OF PRESS

CBS contended the requested, but unused, film takes are in the same category as a news reporter's notes and thereby are protected by the 1st Amendment.

Professional associations and groups representing all segments of journalism have expressed concern over the committee's recommendation and its possible impact on freedom of the press.

Opponents already have cited the historic practice within the Congress itself of allowing members to revise, edit or alter their own remarks before publication in the Congressional Record.

House rules provide for one hour of debate on the question of turning the citation over to the Justice Department for consideration.

Conviction on the contempt charge carries a maximum penalty of a year in prison and a $1,000 fine.

A&M Scholarship Changes His Plans

"I thought I knew what I was going to be doing, but now this has come along and changed everything. I haven't made any definite plans except that I plan not to flunk out," said Tommy Fletcher, 18, the recipient of this year's scholarship to Texas A&M University from the local association of former A&M students.

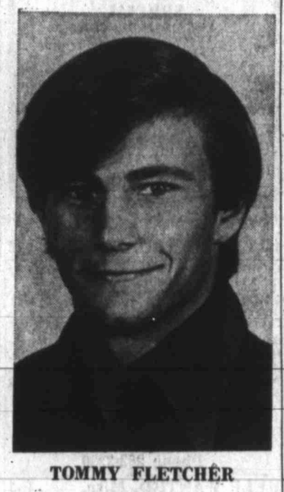

Fletcher is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Fletcher Jr., 1402 Runnels. He graduated this spring from Big Spring High School where he had earned athletic honors. He was the captain of the Steers football team, playing offensive flanker and defensive safety for four years, and he received all-district honorable mention for his efforts as third baseman on the baseball team.

Presently, Fletcher said that his hopes center around a professional baseball career. He plans to try for the A&M diving team and the baseball team. This summer, he is keeping in shape by playing baseball with the Big Spring Bucs, sponsored by the Teen-Age Baseball Association.

"I had planned to go to the court reporter's school in Abilene and get a job with a firm as a court stenographer. I also planned to attend Howard County Junior College," said Fletcher.

"I've always liked Spanish and took all I could in high school. If I can get everything squared away in athletics, I might major in physical education and minor in Spanish," he said.

Fletcher's immediate plans include a trip to A&M to tour the campus and get some idea of what is in store for him this fall. He will be accompanied on the tour by Paul Shaffer of the local Aggie association. Former A&M students Paschal Odom and Don Newsom will also assist Fletcher in getting "squared away" as a new Aggie.

TOMMY FLETCHER

'HAIRY' RULE IN JERSEY'S SECOND HIGHEST COURT

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — New Jersey's second highest court ruled Monday that a State Police trooper did not have the right to spot and search a car simply because the driver and occupants had long hair.

The Appellate Division of Superior Court ordered the Suppression of evidence seized by the trooper, an aspirin bottle that allegedly contained a narcotic drug and a prescription drug.

The appeals court said, "it is apparent that the officer stopped the defendants and ultimately searched their vehicle because he did not like their appearance-particularly long hair and beards."

The court ruled on an appeal by Patrick J. Waltz, Steven R. Dord and Gary M. Hayward, who were stopped by a trooper on July 15, 1969, on the New Jersey Turnpike near Mount Laurel Township in Burlington County.

Lamesa Gets New Phone Installer

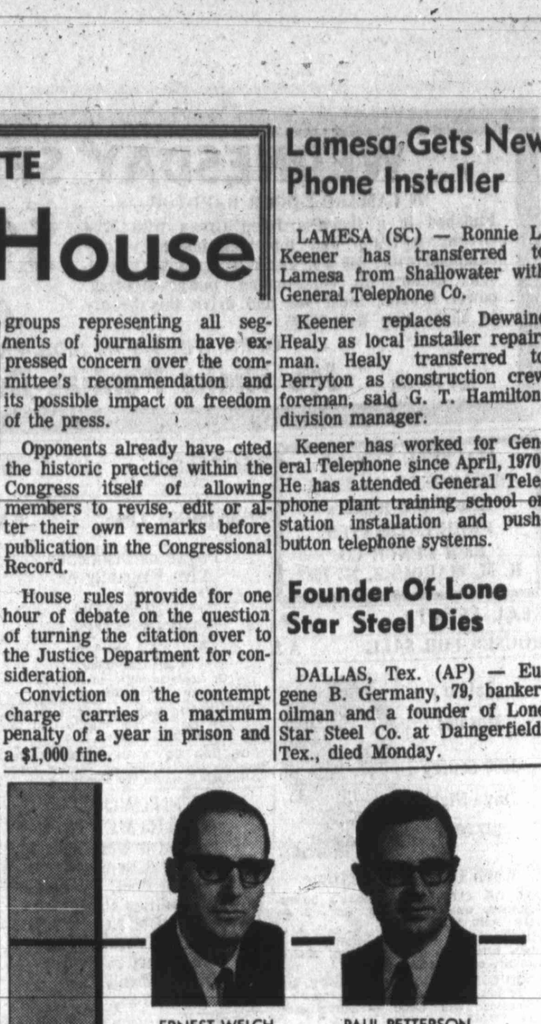

LAMESA (SC) — Ronnie L. Keener has transferred to Lamesa from Shallowater with General Telephone Co.

Keener replaces Dewaine Healy as local installer repairman. Healy transferred to Perryton as construction crew foreman, said G. T. Hamilton, division manager.

Keener has worked for General Telephone since April, 1970. He has attended General Telephone plant training school on station installation and push-button telephone systems.

VINTAGE YEAR FOR CHRYSLER-PLYMOUTH

ONE OF OUR BEST YEARS.
It takes something special to come up with a Vintage Year. But that's what '71 has been for Chrysler-Plymouth. Our slogan "Coming Through" had a lot to do with it, because it's our pledge: To come through with the style, size, price and quality you can live with for years to come. Two good examples are Plymouth Fury and Chrysler Royal.

OUR FINEST OF THE BIG.
Plymouth Fury and Chrysler Royal are big ways to go for people who want the comfort and space befitting their style of living. Both have Torsion-Quiet Ride (which not only quiets road noise but gives you firm, sure handling). Both have a large interior and trunk space. And both turned out to be the finest cars of their kind in this vintage year.

NOW, A GREAT SELECTION COMING THROUGH FINAL CLEARANCE PRICED.
'71 has been a vintage year for Chrysler-Plymouth. Quality shines and shows in every line. A drive in one of our '71 Chryslers or Plymouths will prove how well we've come through. Check our great selection. We think you'll agree, quality cars at final clearance prices is what "Coming Through" is all about. For us. For you.
