Keeping tab on our neighbors:

A name familar to a lot of Snyder residents will appear on the program of Lamesa's Chamber of Commerce banquet, which has been scheduled or Nov. 14.

From the Lamesa Press Reporter--"The banquet will be held Nov. 14 at the Lamesa High School Student Center and will feature George Nigh, Lieutenant Governor of Oklahoma and a renowned after-dinner speaker."

Nigh made quite a hit while speaking at a similar function in Snyder.

The site of the Lamesa banquet is another sign of the times. Note that it will be held in the high school student center. Snyder High is scheduled to get a student center out of the $2.9 bond issue approved by local voters recently.

Football claims a lot of attention around Sweetwater these days. The Mustangs have been tagged with a couple of defeats, but their backers haven't given up.

Says John Harvis in the Sweetwater Reporter--"With any kind of luck-something that has eluded them all year--the Ponies could end the district race with a respectable 4-2 mark which would give them an outside chance at winning a leg of the championship trophy."

This was the setting as Sweetwater prepared to take the field against Lubbock Estacado last night.

Up at Post, the Chamber of Commerce directors have agreed that establishing a youth center is that city's No. 1 project.

"The project was discussed at length, but no conclusions reached," reported the Post Dispatch.

These things have a way of defying rapid resolution, and one major factor usually is prominent among the problems, and so it was at Post where it way reported that...."funding up to now was the prime stumbling block."

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, Oct. 27, the 301st day of 1972. There are 65 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1942, during World War II, the U.S. government set a ceiling on salaries of $2,000 after taxes.

On this date:

In 1806, Napoleon Bonaparte's army occupied Berlin.

In 1858, the 28th U.S. President, Theodore Roosevelt, was born in New York City.

In 1912, the siege of the Turkish city of Adrianople began during the Balkan War.

In 1920, the League of Nations transferred its headquarters from London to Geneva.

In 1940, the New York World's Fair closed its doors.

In 1959, the United States demanded that other nations take steps to end trade barriers.

Ten Years ago: Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev offered to withdraw his nation's offensive weapons from Cuba if the United States removed similar weapons from Turkey.

Five years ago: The United States and Mexico reached agreement on a boundary dispute which had vexed diplomats of both countries for nearly a century.

One year ago: The White House expressed shock and dismay over the cheering, handclapping and dancing by some U.N. delegates after the vote to admit mainland China and expel the Nationalists.

CAUTIOUS OPTIMISM—Bonnie Singleton and son Rick, 6, are all smiles as they talk to the press in their home Thursday in Dallas, Tex., after they had listened to the speech of Dr. Henry Kissinger on television concerning possible closing down of the Vietnam war. Their husband and father, Captain Jerry Singleton, was captured by Viet Cong Nov. 6, 1965, and has never seen his son, Rick. Mrs. Singleton said, "Personally, I feel that our prayers are being answered." (AP Wirephoto)

President Vetoes 9 Money Bills

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon announced today he is vetoing nine bills—some of them major—because they would "break the budget" by about $2.75 billion during the next two years.

The fattest money bill Nixon vetoed would have appropriated $30.5 billion to finance activities of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

He complained that the measure would call for "overspending" of $535 million. Even that sum, he said, "would still amount to pressure for higher taxes."

In a memorandum, Nixon spoke of his determination to hold federal outlays to $250 billion in the fiscal year that began July 1—a ceiling he says must be met if higher taxes are to be avoided.

"If I were to sign these measures into law," said Nixon, "I would, in effect, be making promises that could not be kept—since the funds required to finance the promised services are not available, and would not be available without the higher taxes I have promised to resist."

The President said:

"I believe that political leaders must lay the facts on the line, to talk straight to the people and to deliver on the promises they make to the people."

Some of the other vetoed bills: amendments to the Public Works and Economic Development Act, changes in the Mining and Mineral Policy Act, an airport-developments measure, a flood-control act, pay raises for deputy U.S. marshals, a veterans' health care expansion act, a rehabilitation act and national cemeteries act.

"Each of these measures by itself might seem justifiable or even highly desirable," Nixon said. "But the hard fact is that they cannot be considered by themselves. Each has to be considered in the broader context of the total budget—in terms of of how that total weighs on the taxpayers, and how it affects the struggle to curb rising prices."

With the Labor-HEW veto, Labor-HEW programs can continue until Feb. 28 under a resolution enacted in the final week of the 92nd Congress.

Art Show Is Slated Here

A two-man art show has been scheduled for Saturday and Sunday at the Diamond M Museum here.

The two artists, Robert Summers of Glen Rose and Jim Dooley of Austin, will attend the show in person.

The hours on Saturday will be from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m. and on Sunday from 2 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Both of the artists are well-known throughout the Southwest, and both having works hanging in many collections in the Southwest as well as other areas of the state.

The public is invited to view the paintings and visit with the two artists during the show here, which has been arranged by the Diamond M Museum and Nelda Lee, Incr, of Odessa.

US Awaits Hanoi Signal On Talks

By KENNETH J. FREED
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials indicated today they have not yet received a signal one way or the other from Hanoi on reopening talks that Henry A. Kissinger promises will bring peace to Vietnam "in a matter of weeks, or less."

The presidential adviser, saying, "peace is at hand ... and agreement is within sight," told newsmen Thursday: "What remains to be done can be settled in one more negotiating session ... lasting, I would think, no more than three or four days."

He said Hanoi was told last Sunday the United States is ready to meet at any time and at any place, but that there was never an American commitment to sign a peace agreement by Oct. 31.

In Paris, a North Vietnamese spokesman today said his government is prepared to meet with Kissinger whenever the American negotiator is ready.

However, Nguyen Thanh Le disputed Kissinger's claim that there was a "misunderstanding" over the U.S. position on an Oct. 31 deadline.

Kissinger had said the deadline was requested by Hanoi and the United States agreed to try to finalize an agreement in that time. He said there may have been a misunderstanding on Hanoi's part over the American promise to try to achieve that date, which the North Vietnamese put to be a commitment.

But Le said "we don't believe there is a misunderstanding. It was written black on white in a message from the President on Oct. 20."

American officials did not take that statement as an answer to Kissinger's request that Hanoi decide if a new meeting is to be held. They pointed out the real answer probably would go through private channels and would not be presented by a lower-ranking official in a public forum.

But in Saigon, South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu raised questions today about just how near at hand peace might be in Indochina. And North Vietnam also cast doubts on a quick settlement.

In London, meantime, Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said that, in line with Kissinger's promise to North Vietnam, U.S. warplanes have halted all bombing operations on that nation north of the 20th Parallel.

Although American mines in Haiphong harbor are included in the U.S. military activities above the 20th Parallel, Laird declined, at a news conference to say when the mines might be deactivated or how long the process would take.

Kissinger said the North Vietnamese were asked last Sunday to set the time and place for settling the ambiguities that arose in the push to meet a Hanoi-requested rush timetable.

North Vietnam said today, however, it had rejected prolonging of the negotiations and Washington must bear "full responsibility for the fact that the the already complete peace agreement has not been signed and the war is dragging on in Vietnam."

In his first public reaction to the Kissinger announcement, Thieu told a crowd of supporters at the presidential palace in Saigon that peace will come to his war-torn country "when I sign the agreement."

"Any agreements between the United States and the North Vietnamese is their affair," Thieu stated

"We don't know exactly what agreements have been reached. But one thing is true. We do not agree on anything yet. In this case, the only cease-fire that will take place will comply with our stands.

Rains Due To Exit

Soaking rains were expected to end over most of Texas today, but not before pushing Snyder's moisture total to nearly 5 inches.

Rainfall measured in the 24-hour period ending at 7 a.m. today was 1.10 inches at the city water plant. That increased the month's total to 4.95 inches, the most recorded for an October since 1941, when the month's total was 9.81 inches.

Heavy overcast continued this morning, but the U.S. Weather Service forecasts called for a clearing trend today and Saturday.

In fact, most of the rainfall had moved out of the state the morning reports indicated, except for a few patches of fog and drizzle. The fog belt extended from the Panhandle to the Dallas-Fort Worth area, and zero visibility was reported early today at Abilene.

Rain was blamed for three traffic fatalities in the Dallas area and another near San Antonio. Three-inch rains caused some flash flooding around Dallas-Fort Worth and in the Tyler-Longview areas.

Nixon Sets Broadcast

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon today scheduled for Saturday a paid political broadcast on his defense policies and the White House disclosed he would carry his re-election campaign to Chicago Tuesday.

The President had announced earlier he would motorcade through a dozen Ohio communities between Cleveland and Warren Saturday.

Before leaving for Cleveland, he will tape the address on what press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said would be "his defense policy and the need to maintain a strong national defense."

The broadcast, to be paid for by his re-election finance committee will be aired on the CBS radio network at 10:30 a.m. EDT, on NBC at 11:10 a.m. EDT, and on the Mutual radio network at 12:06 p.m. EDT.

Museum Building Contract Awarded

Scurry County Junior College District Trustees awarded a contract Thursday afternoon to Hacor, Inc., for construction of historical and teaching museum building on the Western Texas College campus.

The construction firm, which has its headquarters in Odessa, submitted the lowest of four bids on the project, $369,400.

WTC officials expressed satisfaction with the low bid, which apparently will enable the college to complete the museum building as it was designed.

Uncertainty surrounding building costs had prompted college trustees to submit the proposal with three alternates, one which would have permitted a contract to be let with some work in the basement delayed, another which would have enabled the college to delete a freight elevator, and another which would have made it possible to delete a special projection screen in the building.

However, the bid by Hacor, Inc., approximated the amount which had been projected for the building's cost and it was accepted with all alternates included.

The museum building, last major project to be financed from a $2½-million bond issue voted Nov. 23, 1971, will be located south of the WTC administration building and east of the Christian Student Center. It will provide facilities for the Scurry County Museum and also teaching facilities to be used by the college.

Officials of the contracting firm said that work would begin as soon as contracts are signed and a work order is issued.

Plans and specifications for the museum building were prepared by Parker-Croston Associates, architects-engineers-planners, of Fort Worth, the firm that has designed all buildings contracted by the college district.

The bids on the museum project ranged from Hacor's low figure to a high of $443,960.

Two major buildings financed by the Nov. 23, 1971, bond issue--the student center and the physical education center--already are under construction.

The historical museum already has been started here, with initial displays housed in a special room in the WTC learning resource center building.

Corn Sale To China Revealed

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon announced today the first sale of livestock feed grains—300,000 tons of corn—to the People's Republic of China.

In mid-September there was an announcement of a 400,000-ton wheat sale to China but there had been no earlier dealings in corn.

Nixon, in a campaign radio broadcast on the farmer and his problems, said the new relationship with Peking "is another situation in which our farmers are both contributing to peace and profiting from peace."

Nixon "the grain sales which we have made to the People's Republic of China only scratch the surface of an immense trade potential between our two countries."

The President reported a contract for the sale of the corn had been signed "within the last few days."

The sale thus amounts to about 12 million bushels—a relatively small amount inasmuch as annual U.S. corn production exceeds five billion bushels.

Nixon, also defended a controversial grain sale to the Soviet Union. He said:

"We have opened new markets in Communist bloc countries by lifting the restrictive ocean-shipping regulations of the last administration. This action led to last winter's $150—million sale of feed grains to the Soviet Union, and then to the three-year grain sales agreement which we signed with the Soviets in July—the biggest peacetime transaction of its kind in history.

Reactions Mixed Over Possible Cease-Fire

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There was elation and hope, tempered in some cases by fear or skepticism, as Americans reacted to the news that a cease-fire in Indochina appears near.

From the homes of families whose men are missing or held prisoner in North Vietnam, from campuses that saw violent antiwar demonstrations and from the man on the street the mixed reaction was common.

"You want to feel absolutely wonderful — yet you feel a sense of fear that it won't happen," said Mrs. Harold C. Shively of Spokane, Wash., whose son is a prisoner of war.

"We'll all be happy to have peace," said former first lady Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, who was visiting New York when the news broke Thursday. "It seems very tenuous, but I, like everyone else, will welcome peace."

"I want to see it happen before I breathe a sigh of relief," said Noah Shaffer, 19, a sociology student at the University of California at Berkeley. "I've heard that so often."

At Columbia University, coeds passed out antiwar literature while students sunned themselves on the library steps.

"This is not the typical reaction to a war ending," said senior Tom Molony. "Even when the Mets won, people were in the streets. There's no emotion left."

"I guess part of the problem is whatever chances Mr. McGovern ever had are gone. And part of it is the war was so awful you had to stop thinking about it," he said.

Robert Gage, student body president at Ohio's Kent State University where four students were shot to death by National Guards during an antiwar demonstration in 1970, said the settlement terms "could have been accepted thousands of lives ago."

Among the relatives of prisoners of war, caution seemed the keynote after years on the emotional rollercoaster of hope and disappointment.

In Montpelier, Vt., Mrs. Laurette Cook, whose husband was captured in 1964, said she had "mixed feelings. "We've had things that looked hopeful before. You build up your hopes and then get them mashed down. I want it to happen so badly."

At the Great Lakes Naval Hospital near Chicago several Vietnam veterans expressed disappointment with the terms of the proposed settlement.

"A truce like this could have been made in 1968," said Army Spec. 4 Roger Burkhamer, 23, of Clarksburg, W.Va., who was wounded in the arm and leg. "We should send more troops to Vietnam. We should build up to full strength."

"I consider this a slap in the face to guys who fought in Vietnam and a sell-out," said Army Spec. 4 Larry Overocker, 20, of Streator, Ill., a Malaria victim.

Finance Panels Fail To File

By H. L. SCHWARTZ III
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two committees which have funneled large amounts of money into President Nixon's re-election campaign have failed to file registration statements in apparent violation of federal law.

Examination of hundreds of campaign financial reports pouring into the General Accounting Office also shows a $25,000 loan to Democratic Presidential candidate George McGovern from a secretary who refused to say how a secretary could afford such a loan or whether the money was hers.

The Republican Support Committee of Los Angeles loaned $161,500 to the California Finance Committee to Re-elect the President on Sept. 13, reports to the GAO show.

The Executive Club of the Republican Party of New Jersey is listed as contributing $57,000 in the Sept. 1 to Oct. 16 period to 20 Nixon committees on the state level.

Another $12,000 was contributed to four national Nixon committees during the same period by William B. Colsey III who lists the same Trenton, N. J., post office box as the Executive Club.

Neither registration statements nor reports of over-$100 contributors could be found for the Republican Support Committee or the Executive Club in GAO records going back to April 7 when a new election law requiring full campaign finance disclosure went into effect.

Under the new law any political committee which anticipates receiving or making contributions or loans exceeding $1,000 to a national candidate during the calender year must register with the GAO within 10 days of organizing.

It also must report quarterly and on the 15th and 5th days before a primary or general election all expenditures, loans or contributions over $100.

Colsey, a Mt. Holly, N. J., lawyer, could not be reached by telephone. A New Jersey newspaper quoted Colsey last June as saying the Executive Club received contributions from business and professional leaders.

The address for the Republican Support Committee was listed as in care of Asa Call at 523 W. 6th St., Los Angeles. Call, who personally gave Nixon $10,000 earlier this year, is chairman of Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Co., which is located at the same address.

Two telephone calls to his office, to ask about the absence of the club's registration or report, went unanswered.

On the McGovern side, a $25,000 loan was received by McGovern for President, Inc., of Washington from a San Francisco secretary who in two telephone interviews repeatedly refused to say whether the money was hers or how a secretary could afford such an outlay.

"I don't have to answer that," said Mrs. Dorcas Taylor. Later she said, "This isn't any of your business."

Indochina At A Glance

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Here are developments in the Indochina situation, following presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger's announcement on Thursday that "peace is at hand."

WASHINGTON — The United States waits for an official signal from Hanoi to open the final round of secret talks which Kissinger says could bring peace to Vietnam in a "matter of days, or less."

TOKYO — An editorial in North Vietnam's official newspaper says Hanoi rejects U.S. efforts to prolong the peace negotiations and that North Vietnam is ready to sign the "already complete peace agreement," but the editorial did not mention Kissinger and it was not clear whether it was an official response to his comments.

SAIGON — South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu said peace will only come to Vietnam "when I sign the agreement." He said the only agreement acceptable to Saigon "will comply with our stands," and he said he will not sign an agreement in secret.

PHNOM PENH — Cambodia's undersecretary of information said Phnom Penh welcomes Hanoi's cease-fire proposals, including a pledge by the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong to "respect strictly the national rights of the peoples of Laos and Cambodia ...."

MOSCOW — The Russian news agency Tass reported today that Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin told envoys from North Vietnam and the Viet Cong that he hopes for a quick end to the fighting in Vietnam.

SAIGON — The war raged on today with the highest number of Communist attacks since the 1968 Tet offensive and continued but limited U.S. bombing strikes against targets in North Vietnam.

Boggs Search In Tenth Day

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — A single HC130 aircraft plied the darkness early today in the 10th day of a hunt for a light plane missing with House Majority Leader Hale Boggs and three others.

Another electronically-equipped HC130 scanned a glacier area north of here, seeking the source of a faint radio signal which has been emitted briefly for the past few nights. No transmission was heard Thursday night.

The Coast Guard craft was called back to its base when the signal was not received, and the second craft was dispatched to make the routine search of the missing plane's flight path.

The signal was not emitted from an emergency locator beacon of the type believed to be aboard Boggs' plane when he and three others disappeared on a flight from Anchorage to Juneau on Oct. 16, an Air Force spokesman said.

Wool Contest Opened To Male

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — For the first time in its 25-year history, the annual Make It Yourself with Wool competition will be open to boys as well as girls, Mrs. Myra Timmons, director of the contest at Texas Tech University, announced Friday.

Mrs. Timmons, assistant professor of clothing and textiles in Tech's College of Home Economics, said entries will be judged on workmanship, creativity and suitability of design.

Knife Is Stolen

Someone stole a hunting knife from under the front of a car owned by Milton Fikes, 2806 Avenue Y, while the vehicle was at Thomas-Stanfield Plymouth Agency between Tuesday and Thursday, according to a City Police report. The knife was valued at $35.

Strikes Oil In Amazon Basin

LIMA (AP) — Occidental Petroleum Corp. disclosed Thursday night that it has struck oil in its first exploratory well drilled on a 2.9-million-acre jungle tract in the Amazon Basin of northeastern Peru.

The United States firm, the first private company to begin drilling in a rapidly expanding search for oil in the jungle area, said the find was made just south of the Peru-Ecuador border.

The well is on a large structure 7 miles long and 3 miles wide, the company said. It "flowed at the rate of 2,650 barrels of 36.4 degree API gravity low-sulphur crude oil from a zone located at approximately 12,750 feet," Occidental said.

The company said the production rate was limited by available testing facilities and additional testing of a "potentially productive shallower zone in the well will be conducted."

The Occidental discovery is the latest of several in the upper Amazon Basin beginning with a rich find made in Ecuador five years ago by a Texaco-Gulf consortium.

It is the fourth find in the Peruvian portion of the basin in the past year. Three earlier discoveries were made by Petroperu, the Peruvian state petroleum company.

A total of 14 foreign oil companies, 13 from the United States and one from Britain, have signed contracts with Petroperu to carry out exploration-development work on a series of tracts of more than 2.4 million acres each.

Petroperu recently awarded a contract to Bechtel Corp. of the United States for studies to determine the best route for a Trans-Andean pipeline which would link new jungle discovers with the Pacific Coast.

A 341-mile Trans-Andean pipeline was completed in Ecuador in June and oil exportation began in that country Aug. 17.

Agnew Coming To Dallas

DALLAS (AP) - Vice President Spiro Agnew will come to Dallas Nov. 3 for a $50 per person fund-raising cocktail reception on behalf of President Nixon and Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., R. L. "Bob" Thornton Jr., committee chairman, announced today.

The party will be held in Memorial Auditorium from 7 to 10 p.m. and is expected to draw more than 5,000 people.

The auditorium will be decorated with a Western motif and celebrities invited include movie stars, astronauts, sports figures and entertainers.

Retail Price Of Beef Declines

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumers paid less for beef last month because of a slide in cattle prices and the first dip in middleman markups since last June, the Agriculture Department said today.

The September retail price of beef, a key indicator in the cost of living, was slightly less than $1.13 per pound on an all-cut basis, including hamburger as well as steak.

That was almost three cents less than in August and 4.4 cents cheaper than the record high in July. In August, however, the price spread—the markup—from cattlemen to consumers was a record 44.8 cents per pound.

Last month, according to a "market basket" report on U.S. farm-produced food, the middleman share for beef was 43.3 cents per pound, a decline of 3.3 per cent in a month.

Statistically, however, the middleman beef margin was 20.3 per cent more than last June and 14.9 per cent more than a year ago.

All grocery store foods averaged 0.1 per cent less in September but 5.6 per cent more than a year earlier.

Last week the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported take-home food in September rose 0.1 per cent from August. But USDA officials said their report covered only food produced on American farms and did not include imported items and seafood products.

The BLS report also covers meat prices only for the first week in a month, while the USDA surveys beef and pork for the entire month.

Broken down further, the USDA report showed that of the average retail beef price of just under $1.13 per pound, the "farm value" was 69.6 cents in September, down from 71.0 in August and the summer peak of 77.5 last June and July when cattle prices were higher.

Farm value is not the price producers get for cattle, but it is their share of what consumers pay at retail stores. It requires nearly 2.3 pounds of live steer, for example, to make one pound of supermarket beef.

A total market basket of food items, theoretically enough to feed a typical family for a year, cost an annual rate of $1,320 in September, down $2 from the record highs reported for July and August.

Of the total, the farm share was $539 in September, up from $530 in August. The middleman share for transportation, processing and merchandising was $781 in September, down $11 from $792 reported the month earlier.

Noting the increase in the market basket's farm value, officials said the rise was due mainly to "substantially higher prices for frying chickens and wheat."

Smith Inks Superport Legislation

HOUSTON (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith has signed into law a bill creating the Texas Offshore Terminal Commission, which will develop Texas' first offshore terminal to handle huge supertankers too large to enter conventional ports.

"With the increased technology that has developed in the past few years, larger ships are being built to realize economics in transportation costs, a trend which is expected to accelerate in the future," Smith said Thursday.

"Already Texas ports are inaccessible to much of the world's water transportation fleet," he said. "Unless remedial action is taken, a substantially greater portion of this fleet will be unable to serve Texas ports in the future. Texas will then necessarily have to depend upon the relatively lessening number of smaller ships to deliver goods—goods that will come to us at a higher price, placing the state at a serious competitive disadvantage."

5 Traffic Mishaps Are Reported Here

City Police investigated four minor motor vehicle mishaps yesterday and one this morning.

A 1968 Model Plymouth operated by Joanne Eades Kirby Ritchie, 205 Thirty-fifth Street, was involved in a collision with a 1968 Model Chevrolet operated by Juanita Ward Pilgrim, 312 Thirty-fourth Street, in the 3400 block of Apple Street at 8:02 a.m. Thursday.

The next mishap occurred in the 2500 block of Huffman Street at 11:53 a.m. Thursday. Involved were the 1971 Model Ford of Bert Talmadge Fincher, 3612 Avenue V, and the 1972 Model Mack truck of Billy Gene Wilkinson, 207 Avenue T.

Another mishap occurred in the 2100 block of Thirty-fifth Street at 5:04 p.m. Thursday. Involved were a 1963 Model Chevrolet driven by Ester Melvin Inman, 2703 Avenue W, and a 1966 Model Ford operated by John Landis Dulaney, 3112 Avenue Y.

The last mishap Thursday occurred in the 2800 block of College Avenue at 6:45 p.m. Involved were the 1971 Model Ford of Edgar Delano Franklin, 2803 College Avenue, and the 1964 Oldsmobile of Travis Wayne Withers, 107 Chestnut.

The collision this morning occurred in the 2800 block of Thirty-eighth Street at 8:22 o'clock. Involved were a 1963 Model Ford driven by Lafayette Wolf, 3012 Avenue V, and a 1972 Model Ford operated by Timothy James Brown, 122 Peach.

Boy dislikes church filled with 'hypocrites'

By Abigail Van Buren

[© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.]

DEAR ABBY: I am a 13-year-old, and my parents force me to attend church every Sunday.

I hate going to church because I see people there who I know are drunkards, gossips, liars and cheats, and they are right there every Sunday saying their prayers and singing the hymns. I don't have any respect for hypocrites and our church is full of them, my own parents included.

I am only 13, so maybe my opinion doesn't count, but I don't see any sense in my going to church with a bunch of hypocrites.

ONLY A BOY

DEAR ONLY: Christ became a man at 13, and you are not too young to become a man either. One goes to church to learn about the Bible and the word of the Lord, altho God dwells in one's heart, and it's not necessary to "go" to church to communicate with Him.

A church is not a museum for Saints, its a hospital for sinners, so "judge not, lest ye be judged," young man.

DEAR ABBY: I do not care for dirty jokes, especially in mixed company, but I never know how to act when I hear one. [I'm a young married woman.]

Should I keep my face straight and pretend I don't understand it? [That would seem rather foolish.]

Or should I politely laugh along with everyone else?

I'm afraid if I make an issue of it and bluntly say I don't care for dirty jokes, people will think I'm a poor sport.

VIRGO

DEAR VIRGO: Don't permit ANYTHING which offends you to be said in your presence without challenging it. Silence implies tacit approval. Respectable people will respect you, and don't worry about what the others think.

DEAR ABBY: My son and daughter in law have a darling two-month-old baby, and they ride all over on a motorcycle with the baby strapped to the mother's back.

My son and his wife wear heavy helmets in case they fall off or get into an accident, but the baby doesn't have anything on his head. I don't like to meddle, but I mentioned this to them, and they didn't pay any attention to me.

Now what should I do?

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Mention it again! And this time explain to those foolish parents that they are exposing that child to possible injury or death! No one should ride a motorcycle unless he is protected.

And that goes for infants too!

DEAR ABBY: What are the requirements for adopting a Viet Nam orphan? I am a single male, age 45. I have a nice home paid for and have an adequate income to help at least one homeless child.

I am prepared to take a trip overseas if necessary. Thank you for any information you can give me in this matter.

ALABAMAN

DEAR ALABAMAN: Write to International Social Service: W. A. I. F., 345 E. 46th St., New York, N. Y.

And good luck. You're beautiful.

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69700, L. A., CALIF. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

RECEIVES AWARD—Doris Day, aided and abetted by her two dogs, accepts the National Fashion Wagon Week Award on behalf of the American Working Girl from Richard Polinsky, President of Fashion Wagon, a division of the Minnesota Woolen Company. Fittingly, the award was presented to the star in the middle of her own working day on a Hollywood soundstage where she is filming the weekly "Doris Day Show" for CBS-TV.

American Working Girl Is Among Best Dressed

HOLLYWOOD—"The American working girl is one of the best-dressed girls in the country today," motion picture and TV star Doris Day said recently, "and there's a reason for it. She has to work, both for it and at it. She knows how to shop and how to coordinate. She also knows how to budget."

Miss Day made the comment as she accepted the National Fashion Wagon Week Award to the American Working Girl "on behalf of all working women who bring a sense of style, taste and fashion to the business world."

The award was presented to the star on the set of her CBS television series by Richard Polinsky, President of Fashion Wagon, a division of the Minnesota Woolen Company.

"Very few women," Miss Day went on, "can afford the couturier, the one-of-a-kind custom designer. And quite often that woman really doesn't look as comfortably well dressed as the girl who works for and plans and puts together her own wardrobe.

"I've been a self-supporting working girl since I was 16. And while it was fun to prance around in some of those far-out glamorous clothes the big studios liked to wrap you in, I've honestly had more fun and much more satisfaction in selecting and coordinating the off-the-rack wardrobe I wear in my television show.

"I know what's avaiable. I know the realistic price ranges—and believe me, it's the American working girl whose practical minded budget, good taste and high standards have put these clothes on the market in such a marvelous variety of styles, materials and colors."

Mr. Polinsky said that Miss Day had been chosen to represent the American working girl "because, through her protrayal of a magazine associate editor on 'The Doris Day,' Miss Day symbolizes the modern woman in the world of business.

"Quite apart from that," the young executive added, "I have been a fan of hers for many years and this seemed like a good way to meet her."

Revolution Is Clarified

By ROBERT E. FORD
Associated Press Writer

THE CONSTITUTIONALIST YEARS, Mexican Revolution. By Charles C. Cumberland. University of Texas Press, Austin. $10.

The Mexican revolutionary troubles of 1913 to 1920 still are remembered by living men. It must have been confusing at the time. This new book by Charles C. Cumberland clarifies matters well.

The story begins with the overthrow of Victoriano Huerto by Francisco Madero and the challenge of Madero by Venustiano Carranza.

It is difficult to see how the resolution worked, since anyone could raise an army and join—and refuse to accept any central military or political control.

Then those who joined the war to support Carranza fell out among themselves and more war continued.

The difficulties centered around an old Southwestern figure, called Francisco Villa by the author but known to everyone around here as Pancho Villa.

The book details why the revolution started, the internal politics and the fighting.

The author is a professor who has written several books about Mexico and other parts of Latin America.—The AP (REF).

Mrs. Robinson Reviews Book

Members of the Anthenuem Study Club met Oct. 24 at the Martha Ann Woman's Club.

Ruth Sentell introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Miller Robinson. The book, The Christain Home, was reviewed. The book has much to say about God's plan for a happy marriage and family life. It was suggested that this book would be an invaluable aid in every home.

During the business meeting, Mrs. Sentell and Martha Webb were commended for their efforts in providing decorations for the Mesquite District Convention held in Abilene.

The Home Life Report was presented by Mrs. Mal Donelson. She gave an insight to the "chosen baby."

Pill Does Not Cause Cancer

LONDON (AP) — A British government committee says contraceptive pills, including the progestogen minipill, do not cause cancer.

After a six-year investigation, the Committee on the Safety of Medicines said in a report today:

"The evidence does not show that long-term use of oral contraceptives in their present formulation may give rise to cancer."

Drug manufacturers will be licensed to make 10 new brands of the pill, including five of the progestogen type withdrawn two years ago after American reports that it created tumors in beagle dogs.

British doctors said beagles were prone to breast cancer anyway. Britain will become the first country to reintroduce the minipills, which contain only the hormone progestogen, do not cause blood clots and have few side effects.

The committee based its report on experiments in which hundreds of rats and mice were injected with massive dosages of estrogen and progestogen to assess the cancer risk.

CAMERA Angles

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newsfeatures

For years and years, while working in the New York headquarters building of The Associated Press, whenever there has been a crisis with a camera—like a camera having a relapse, or requiring a transfusion, or having an appendage attached...or detached—there was a standard solution: "Take it to Marty Forscher!"

And whenever I visited my brother Sid, who was head of the NBC photo department across the street in Rockefeller Plaza, all camera crises were handled the same way: "Take it to Marty Forscher!"

And whenever pros gather and talk turned to camera problems or to having special adaptations made, whose name did they drop? Marty Forscher!

So perhaps it's appropriate symbolism that Marty's shop, Professional Camera Repair Service, is located in the heart of New York's diamond district at 37 W. 47 St. It must be because working on elite camera equipment is akin to handling gems. Certainly, to the photographers who depend on them, cameras—their working tools—are as precious as gems.

We're talking about problems above and beyond elementary repairs like a broken knob or a nonfunctioning spring. There are camera problems which are not covered in any repair manuals. Some have simple solutions; others require careful construction of what amounts to a new-type camera. Either Marty or his right-hand men, Willie, Bud and Win, tackle the problem, figure out the solution and they, or their skilled staff, follow through on the work.

Here's an example of a simple solution to one pro's problem:

The photographer shot an assignment with his 120 SLR camera using four interchangeable magazine backs. The processed films revealed one set of overlapping frames. One of the magazine backs was faulty and should be repaired..but which one of the four was it?

To pinpoint the guilty back, Marty filed small identifying notches on the film edge of each magazine back. Each back, therefore, leaves its "signature" on each frame of each roll of film thereafter. Any problem negatives can easily be traced back now to a specific magazine back.

It's such a simple procedure that Marty recommends that all photographers notch their own interchangeable backs. It's also a good idea to give new backs and those which haven't been used in some time, a "setting-up exercise," by running outdated film through them first.

As an example of a complex job, Willie recalls the photographer who had to have a superwide Nikon F but couldn't wait until their 15mm Nikkor lens became available. The photographer was told to bring in his F body and a Zeiss superwide Hologon camera.

Winnie amputated the f-8 15mm Zeiss lens and the viewfinder frm from the Hologon and grafted them onto the Nikon body; he added a focusing amount for the lens and presto...the Hologon F!

They've taken Nikon cameras and fitted them to Questar telescopes ...and installed double exposure releases in obsolete Nikons, one of the new features of the new F2s. Such operations are almost normal procedures now at Marty's shop.

While there seems little doubt that Marty Forscher has earned considerable respect—and a decent return—in his unique role as a super-camera-repairman, it is a far different situation generally with the rank and file of the nation's camera repairmen.

Camera repair as a profession, its problems and rewards, gets a thorough going over in the October issue of Popular Photography by technical director Norman Goldberg, a camera repairman himself for 25 years...and proud of it.

With the tremendous upsurge in photography in recent years, the demand for skilled repairmen has also risen. But, "...for some sorry reason, we in this country consider working with our hands demeaning," Goldberg says. So people—especially youngsters seeking a career—turn to other jobs which they think are better (in that they command more respect) and more rewarding.

After considerable first-hand investigation around the country looking into camera repair schools, manufacturer's and distributor's repair departments and any number of repair shops, Goldberg offers a suggestion. He visualizes an "Academy for Camera Repairmen," generously funded and supported by the entire photographic industry, with top technician-teachers and the very latest sophisticated equipment so that the training is current...and even anticipates new developments.

Perhaps then youngsters will compete to get in and some momma will say proudly of her pride and joy as he gets his diploma: "My son, the camera repairman!"

Collection Of Short Stories Is Released

WITHOUT A STITCH IN TIME. By Peter De Vries. Little, Brown. 328 Pages. $8.95.

There are 46 examples of De Vries' best short pieces, selected from the span of his whole career, in this collection. And a rich and varied collection it is.

He is an author who can be funny in a variety of ways, but especially in the light mockery of absurd situations. Yet in other selections there is an underlying sting that drives home the foibles of human nature.

Some of these items are about fall guys who are trapped into some misadventure; or a Good Samaritan whose deed proves disastrous to himself. Others are about people with a compulsion to make atrocious puns, or talk down their friends in a conversation. A few of them seem to be echoes from the author's boyhood.

Several are very oblique take-offs on authors, such as Faulkner, Wodehouse or James Jones. One is on James Thurber as "The Comic Prufrock."

Some are of the he-versus-she variety, in which infidelity and up-manship spark the battle of the sexes.

The volume concludes with a very illuminating piece that he delivered as a lecture in 1969, relating how he woos the comic muse.

Anyone who appreciates real, natural humor, deftly presented, will like the book. De Vries fans, especially, will be pleased to renew their acquaintance with his work.

SLOPPY JOE PANCAKE ROLLUPS

Wheat germ gives the pancakes good texture and flavor.

1 cup unsifted flour
½ cup wheat germ
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon chili powder
1½ cups milk
2 eggs
3 tablespoons cooking oil
Sloppy Joe Filling, see below.

In a medium mixing bowl thoroughly stir together all the dry ingredients; add milk, eggs and oil. Beat until smooth. Pour batter by ¼ cupfuls onto lightly greased griddle preheated to 375 degrees. Bake until tops are bubbly and edges dry—about 1½ minutes. Turn and bake other sides. Keep warm in oven between layers of paper toweling. Spoon Sloppy Joe Filling onto pancakes, spreading evenly; roll up. Makes 12—6 servings.

Sloppy Joe Filling—Cook 1 pound ground beef and ½ cup chopped onion in 1 tablespoon shortening; stir in 1 tablespoon flour, 1 teaspoon salt and 1 teaspoon chili powder; add ¾ cup catchup and 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce; simmer for 15 to 20 minutes, stirring occasionally.

Barbecue originally referred to the roasting of a whole hog, ox or other large animal on a crude gridiron of stakes. Whole animals were spitted from barbe to queue, or from whiskers to tail. The term barbecue comes from those French words.

Saigon Regime, V-Cong Junior Partners In End

An AP News Analysis
By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

The horse trading that hammered out Vietnam peace terms leaves little doubt that the original combatants, the Saigon government and the Viet Cong, were much the junior partners in the end.

In the course of the bargaining both sides evidently made important concessions. But the bargaining was done by representatives of the United States and North Vietnam. The pronouncements were made by them, while the Saigon regime and the Viet Cong's "Provisional Revolutionary Government" waited on the sidelines.

The Vietnam war began as a contest between a guerrilla movement dominated by Communists and a Saigon regime consolidating its hold after the 1954 ouster of France and the Geneva settlement. The guerrillas were aided by the North but for years there was no overt infiltration of northern troops. The South was assisted by the Americans, but for years only a handful of U.S. advisers was on the scene.

Now, after many years of bloodletting, the Americans and North Vietnamese emerge at peace negotiations as the main antagonists, while the others just look on.

The Americans' partner, represented by President Nguyen Van Thieu, seemed to be dragged kicking and screaming in the direction of compromise.

There is no public indication yet of how Hanoi's junior partner is taking it all. But the Viet Cong's subordinate role was indicated, for example, in the issuance of instructions from North Vietnam on when and how to expect the cease-fire.

President Nixon's chief negotiator, Henry A. Kissinger, noted that one point at issue has been whether the United States would sign the agreement for South Vietnam. He conceded that it was "understandable" that the South Vietnamese might want to sign their own peace treaty.

The Americans and North Vietnamese came a long way, even from where they were less than a year ago. Then the Americans said they would withdraw all remaining forces within six months of an agreement. Now period for total withdrawal is down to 60 days.

The North Vietnamese had insisted on unconditional U.S. withdrawal of all men and materiel and dismantlement of all bases. Nothing is said about material and bases in the terms broadcast by Hanoi. The Viet Cong is unlikely to welcome the idea of all that hardware remaining in the hands of South Vietnam's million-man army and police forces.

Since the beginning of peace talks in Paris, Hanoi had demanded that President Thieu be dumped. It repeated this demand as recently as Sept. 27 in an article in Hoc Tap, the official party magazine. That article called for an interim regime to arrange electpons, with the Saigon regime included "except for the notorious traitor Thieu." Now it is willing to let Thieu head one of the three segments.

Junior Editors' Quiz on DWARF TREES

QUESTION: How do the Japanese dwarf trees?

ANSWER: The Japanese have lead the horticultural world for many years. They have produced ornamentals such as flowering cherry, flowering quince, and peony tree, red maple and varieties of holly and yews. They have achieved perfection in plants such as iris, chrysanthemum, ivy and ground cover.

The Japanese garden is a thing of beauty. It contains everything in miniature and is really a toy garden. It consists of stones, a little stream, half-moon bridges, bamboo retreats and dwarfed trees, all created in a natural setting. Because of limited space, the Japanese have tailored their gardens to small areas and have excelled in dwarfing plants and trees.

Dwarfing by manipulation has been carried to great perfection by the Japanese. This is a studied system of stem and root pruning, training, watering and feeding. They have been able to keep specimens of natural large growing plants dwarfed to a ripe old age. They have been successful in dwarfing junipers, pines and other evergreens. The Japanese have excelled in the art of Bon-sai, which is the growing of dwarfed trees in pots. A tree in a small container may reach the age of 100 years.

Ex-Cop Finds Self In Movies

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — The best amateur actor in the history of the New York City Police Department is doing well as a professional television and movie performer.

"I had to go into the movies to get promoted," said former detective Eddie Egan, who plays a police lieutenant in Paramount's new crime thriller, "Badge 373."

Eddie, whose real-life exploits were the basis for the award-winning film, "The French Connection," is the legendary detective who made 8,741 arrests during a 19-year career as a crime-solver.

This amazing total is a record for the Police Department here.

Eddie, a maverick detective sometimes in trouble with his superiors because of his unorthodox methods, retired last year because he was "tired of paper work" and because he had always yearned for an acting career.

He feels he has smoothed out his quarrels with the Police Department. He has his badge, and is still permitted to wear strapped to his right ankle the gun he wore while in service. And, beginning in 1975, he will start receiving annual retirement pay of $11,000, which is 42 per cent of his final salary as a detective.

Defending the brusque tactics he employed while on duty — he wasn't noted for following departmental rules to the letter — Egan remarked:

"An old cop once told me, 'The only trouble you can get into on this job is by doing the job.' I found out myself that when you're arresting 8 to 10 people a day, you become maybe too experienced. You cut the corners too close sometimes to please everybody."

Anyway, Eddie feels his future is pretty bright. He has a contract with Paramount tying him to the production of 13 films for which he has submitted plot outlines. Also in prospect is a television series, tentatively entitled "My Partner and I."

"Hopefully, I'll play myself," said Egan, "but that's being negotiated."

There are sound reasons for Eddie's optimism. He has already played six professional roles, and behind him lie innumerable real life roles while he was a detective, in some of which his own safety was at stake.

Egan, now 42, stands 6 feet 1, weighs 225 pounds, has wavy brown hair and intense blue eyes, and looks like a retired pro football fullback. He said there was considerable difference between acting for the Police Department and for Hollywood.

"The pay is nicer now, but acting is literally a matter of survival when I was a detective. In some places, if they knew you were a cop, you'd end up with too many holes in your head.

"I think that I played everything but a midget. At different times I was disguised as a blind beggar, a bum, a priest, a doctor, a bank teller, a college coach, a movie producer and a hospital patient."

Inmate Gets Scholarship

STORMVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — When Jeffery Smith is released from Greenhaven State Prison he will have one college degree under his belt and a scholarship from Vassar College waiting for him — the first ever granted by the school to a prisoner.

Smith, 24, received a two-year Associate in Arts degree from Dutchess Community College while maintaining a straight-A average in classes at the prison.

He is currently serving the fourth year of a 7-to-15 year sentence for his conviction in 1969 of selling a half-ounce of marijuana.

In the meantime, he is appealing to Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller for clemency, hoping Rockefeller will grant him a Christmas pardon.

"This is a step in the right direction," prison Supt. Leon Vincent told Smith. "I hope when you get your next diploma it won't be in Greenhaven.

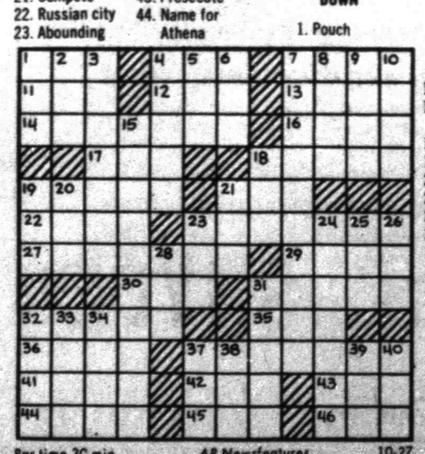

Peanut Stocks Are Down 9%

WASHINGTON (AP) — Peanuts held in commercial storage as of Sept. 30 were more than 1.61 billion pounds of unshelled or farmers' stock equivalent, down 9 per cent from a year ago, the Agriculture Department said Thursday.

Tigers, Mustangs Vie Here Tonight At 7:30

The moment of truth arrives here tonight for Snyder's Tigers and Lubbock Coronado's Mustangs. They tangle at 7:30 p.m. in Tiger Stadium with the loser facing elimination from the District 4-AAAA football race. The loser would have two losses in district play, and, for all practical purposes would be out of the title chase.

The game rates as a tossup. Both teams appear to be about equal in ability. At any rate, their records are similar. The Tigers have a slightly better record with two wins and four losses during the season. Coronado is 1-5. The two teams have met only one common opponent--Lubbock Dunbar. Snyder beat the Panthers 3-0, but Coronado lost to them 6-0.

The teams also have similar attacks. Snyder uses the Winged T and I formations. The Mustangs employ the Winged T and Houston veer. Defensively, both employ the Oklahoma 5.

Scouts who have seen Coronado play say they are tough defensively, but the Tigers have a better record. Coronado has yielded 117 points against six opponents while scoring 48. Snyder has given up only 85 points while scoring 51.

Both teams have had trouble getting their offenses to rolling this season, but the visitors apparently have a better passing attack. Bill Ledbetter, 185-pound senior, will be doing the chunking for Coach Jimmie Keeling's crew. This year, he has completed 21 of 81 tosses for 339 yards and three touchdowns. His favorite target is split end Keary Bailey, a 154-pound senior speedster. Rounding out the Mustang backfield are tailback, Mike Bewley, a 158-pound senior; fullback Chuck Oakley, a 164-pound senior; and, wingback David Sarten, a 143-pound senior. All saw action last season as lettermen, although Sarten saw most of his on defense.

Coach Maurice (Mo) Hodges says the Mustangs stunt and blitz a lot on defense, and for this reason he's hoping the Tigers can put over the big play. Guiding the Tiger attack for his third straight game will be Tim Jones, 143-pound junior. He has connected on 6 of 14 tosses for 141 yards and one touchdown. Starting his second game at fullback will be Richard Gorman, a 178-pound junior, who moved the ball well during the first half but only netted 11 paces on 7 carries in the second half. Welton Cobb, 193-pound sophomore, will be at halfback. He gained 30 yards on three carries last week and has the potential to go all the way. At tailback will be either Hubert Crayton, 173-pound junior, or V.T. Roberson, 154-pound junior.

Crayton is the team's leading ball carrier with 76 carries for 434 yards and 4 touchdowns. He's averaging 5.7 yards a carry. However, he has a bruised leg and may not start. If that's the case, then the tailback will be Roberson, who has good speed and agility.

Coach Hodges said the Tigers could hurt the Mustangs if they catch them stunting the wrong way.

Defensively, Tom Warden, a 235-pound senior tackle, is the leader of the Coronado defense.

Cobb has led the Tiger defense, but he has a bruised shoulder, and Rickey Berry, 170-pound senior, will take over his right linebacker post, at least for the start of the game.

The Tiger offensive line will include Charles Cain and Ralph Lewis at end, Chris Covey and Robert Braziel at tackle, Jerry Webb and Willie Smith at guard and Joe Dale Price at center.

Joining Berry on defense will be Wilbert Thompson and David Yearwood at end, Grant Knipe and Micky Gonzales at tackle, Willie Smith at middle guard, Eddie Bane at linebacker, John Boren at rover, Charles Cain at half back, Tim Holder at cornerback and Jackie Hartsfield at safety.

Several other lads will be available for service, including halfback Kerry Smith, fullback Tommy Welsh, center John Wilson, tackles Paul Hayes and Jal Dennis, guards Paul Davis, Nicky Neves and Thomas May and ends Charles Anderson Regis Harper, Layne Collins and Greg Godair.

This will be the first meeting between the Tigers and the Mustangs, and it rates as a tossup. Take your pick.

Texas Rangers Acquire Carty

DALLAS (AP) — The Texas Rangers of the American Baseball League announced today they have acquired Rico Carty from the Atlanta Braves.

He was obtained for pitcher Jim Panther, who had a 5-9 record last season with a 4.12 earned run average. He played in 58 games and started four.

Carty, an outfielder-first baseman, led the major leagues in batting in 1970 with a .366 percentage. He was out all of 1971 with a broken left leg.

Cornhuskers Have Momentum

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Oklahoma State has the motive and Nebraska has the momentum for their college football struggle Saturday that will decide the front-runner in the Big Eight Conference.

"We appreciate the chance to play a team like Nebraska," says Oklahoma State Coach Dave Smith, whose Cowboys are currently tied for first with the third-ranked Cornhuskers.

But although Smith is "sincerely looking forward to the game," Oklahoma State will face a Nebraska team that has won five straight games since its surprising opening-day loss to UCLA.

"Momentum is the name of the game and they have it," said Smith.

Both teams have 2-0 league marks but several other clubs in that skin-tight race have a chance to move into contention because of key games Saturday.

Seventh-ranked Colorado, 3-1 in the Big Eight, visits Missouri, 0-2, and No.8 Oklahoma,0-1, hosts Kansas State,1-2, in two other games involving nationally-ranked teams.

In other games involving the Top Ten, top-ranked Southern California visits Oregon; Southern Mississippi plays at No.2 Alabama in a night game; fourth-ranked Ohio State meets Wisconsin; fifth-rated Michigan hosts Minnesota; Washington State takes on No. 9 UCLA and Rice, entertains 10th-ranked Texas. Sixth-ranked Louisiana State is idle.

Elsewwhere,it's No. 11 Penn State at No.20 West Virginia; 12th-rated Auburn at home to No.17 Florida State; Texas Christian visiting 13th-ranked Notre Dame; No. 14 Tennessee entertaining Hawaii; Iowa State, No. 15, at Kansas; Air Force at No. 16 Arizona State; Arkansas, tied for 18th, against North Texas State at Little Rock and SMU the other No. 18 team, meetingTexas Tech.

Nebraska, the defending Big Eight champion, will be the heavy favorite before an expected hometown crowd of 76,000 at Lincoln. It's expected to be a battle dominated by the quarterbacks.

Dave Humm masterminds the Nebraska offense while Brent Blackman steers Oklahoma State. The Cornhuskers also have a pair of legs to go with their good arm—running back Johnny Rodgers.

Redskins Favored Over NY Giants

By HUBERT MIZELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — New York's a two-team football town again with Norm Snead and the revamped Giants in a dead heat with Joe Namath and the Jets for Gotham's heart.

The Giants, winners of four straight, now face the biggest hurdle in their climb back to glory Sunday in a matchup against Washington with a shot at tying the 'Skins for the National Football Conference's East Division lead.

The guess is nice try, but the Giants won't win.

Washington is a 24-21 choice to outgun the rejuvenated Giants.

Washington's graybeard defense and a productive Giant offense should be a near-standoff, but Sonny Jurgensen and the Redskin offenders have an edge on a young New York secondary that sometimes makes juvenile mistakes.

A Washington victory would put added pressure on Dallas in Monday night's television game against the Detroit Lions. Washington, 5-1, is a game ahead of both Dallas and the Giants at 4-2.

Monday's prediction is for Roger Staubach to make a comeback at quarterback and spur the Cowboys to a bruising 24-20 decision over the Lions, coleaders with Green Bay at 4-2 in the NFC Central.

An 18-7 season guessing record puts the percentage at .720 after incredible upsets last weekend by Philadelphia and Denver made the Sunday-Monday mark 8-4-1.

Here's a look at the other 11 NFL games scheduled this weekend:

Los Angeles, 4-1-1, at Oakland, 3-2-1: Maybe the A's left some luck at the Oakland stadium. The Raiders to run up a surprising 30-17 margin and protect a half-game lead in the fading American Conference West.

Kansas City, 3-3, at San Diego, 2-3-1: Chiefs, 0-3 in magnificent Arrowhead Stadium, are 27-20 picks on the road. Anybody who loses to Philadelphia has something to make up for.

Miami, 6-0, at Baltimore, 1-5: Colts are still grunting and fumbling over their coach's firing and John Unitas' demotion and the Dlophins seem strong execution. Miami to take it 27-14.

Minnesota, 2-4, at Green Bay, 4-2: The Purple Puffs have had it if Fred Cox' leg doesn't straighten out and Fran Tarkenton's luck doesn't change. The Pack is sorta back, but the Vikings to take this one 21-17 and further scramble the Central race.

San Francisco, 2-3-1, at Atlanta, 4-2: Falcons have always been defensively potent and now Bob Berry's occasional passing wizardry gives them a blue chip chance at whipping the Rams in the NFC West. Steve Spurrier is doing okay as John Brodie's stand-in at quarterback, but Atlanta to do it 20-17 this time.

New England, 2-4, at New York Jets, 4-2: Jets murdered Pats 44-13 three weeks ago at Foxboro and Joe Namath didn't even cut loose his arm. If Joe goes after that leaky New England pass defense, it'll be 31-14 Jets.

Cleveland, 3-3, at Denver, 2-4: Quarterback Charley Johnson has put life in the Bronco offense while the Browns continue to flutter. Denver 17-10.

Pittsburgh, 4-2, at Buffalo, 2-4: Steeler defense hasn't allowed a touchdown in nine quarters, but that should end against a creditable Bill attack. But, the Steelers to win 20-14.

Houston, 1-5, at Cincinnati, 4-2: The Bengal offense still isn't Grade A, so it's placekicker Horst Muhlmann to settle the game 13-10.

Chicago, 2-3-1, at St. Louis, 2-4: Bears won't be as ready as when they tangled with Minnesota Monday night, but Bobby Douglass—the unarmed quarterback—will pull off a victory in the 20-10 neighborhood.

Philadelphia, 1-5, at New Orleans, 0-5-1: Both teams went out last Sunday and ruined the Losers' Bowl; the Eagles upsetting Kansas City and the Saints deadlocking the 49ers. But, it's still some sort of classic matchup of the NFL's bottom teams and Phillie is a 27-21 choice.

Andrews Rips Travis Eighth

ANDREWS--The host 8th grade team used the forward pass and pass defense to good advantage here last night to turn back Travis 8th grade 50-6.

Snyder scored first, covering 36 yards in two plays. The touchdown resulted from a 21 yard pass, Robert Riggins to Johny Carrasco.

Andrews tallied twice in the first quarter on a 12 yard end sweep and a 25 yard run of an intercepted pass.

In the second period, the hosts tallied on a 26 yard end sweep and a pass interception. They kicked an extra point after the sweep.

In the third quarter, the hosts scored on a 14 yard pass and an 18 yard end sweep.

In the last quarter, Andrews completed a 25 yard touchdown pass and kicked extra point. Then they returned an intercepted pass 35 yards.

Danny Tovar, playing his first football game, gained 61 yards on 9 carries for Travis.

C. City Beats Lamar Eighth

COLORADO CITY--The host Colorado City 8th grade football team blanked Lamar 8th 8-0 here yesterday afternoon.

Colorado City scored its touchdown in the second period on a 55 yard drive. They drove to the one, were pushed back to the 12, then scored on a 12 yard pass. The run for bonus points was good.

Snyder drove from its 35 to the Colorado City 19 in the first period but was stopped by two penalties. In the third period, Lamar drove to the 15 but a 15-yard penalty halted the march. In the last period, Lamar marched to the 30 and fumbled.

Lamar 9th Wins 12-6

Lamar 9th grade spotted Lakeview 6 points, then rallied with two touchdowns of their own and fought off a late rally by the visitors to take a 12-6 triumph in a 9th grade football game held here last night.

Lakeview scored in the first quarter on a two yard run that capped a 60 yard drive.

Lamar's Phil Robinson fielded the ball on the kickoff following the touchdown and raced straight up the field to the five yard line, and the hosts scored on the third down with Larry Gee crashing over right tackle.

Lakeview's Montez and Mayberry teamed up on a 30 yard pass and run play in the final 25 seconds of the first half, but the touchdown was nullified by a penalty.

Lamar took the kickoff opening the second half and drove 63 yards in seven minutes for the go-ahead touchdown. Kelly Ragland, Tim Flynn and Larry Gee all did a good job of carrying the ball. Flynn crashed over from eight yards out, but a penalty pushed the ball back to the 23. On the next down, Flynn went wide left and went all the way for a touchdown with 3:03 remaining in the period.

Lamar stopped three drives by Lakeview in the fourth quarter.KellyRaglandrecovered a fumble to stop the first drive. Then the visitors drove from the Lamar 40 to the 10 but another fumble stopped them.

Lamar tried to run out the clock by trying for a first down on a fourth down play at the 12 but fumbled the ball. Lakeview dove down to the four, and fumbled, but Lamar was offsides. With 48 seconds remaining in the game on a fourth down play, Lamar held, forcing another fumble to win the game.

Hippo Recaptured

MEREDITH, N.H. (AP) — A 450-pound baby hippopotamus that John Smith found on his porch at 3 a.m. in the morning has been recaptured and returned to Animal Forest Park, a nearby tourist attraction.

Workmen from the animal park caught up with the escaped hippo in a swamp near Scenic Road at Weirs Beach on Thursday and returned him to captivity.

Texas Campaigners Push Toward Windup

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The two major party candidates for governor of Texas continued their late campaign sprints Thursday, buoyed by estimates that at least a half million more Texans will cast ballots Nov. 7 than four years ago.

Democrat Dolph Briscoe said in San Antonio that he is "shooting" for a 2-to-1 margin of victory in his gubernatorial race with Republican Henry Grover.

Briscoe said polls indicate he will win a "very large majority" across the state, especially in Dallas and East Texas.

Briscoe also nixed any claims that Raza Unida Party candidate Ramsey Muniz is hurting his campaign.

Briscoe told about 300 persons at a San Antonio reception that El Paso leaders told him recently that Muniz has made "very, very small inroads there."

The same is true in such South Texas areas as Hidalgo and Cameron counties, Briscoe told newsmen. Both have large Mexican-American populations.

Briscoe also denied claims by the Raza Unida that he is "hiding" from the public. Muniz has been seeking a debate with Briscoe, but the Democratic nominee said that his schedule is "pretty fixed until the end of the campaign..."

Meanwhile, Grover appeared in his hometown of Houston and wanted the same "head-strong Democratic machine to rule this state for another term."

Grover told the Rotary Club of Houston that problems of busing, education, crime, welfare and threats of state corporate income taxes are minimized by a much-needed no-fault insurance program.

"If we don't at least try to push through a statewide no-fault plan, the federal government will push it down our throats," Grove said. "This type of coverage will at least let each driver's insurance worry about the driver's needs, and let the non-insured driver take care of his own needs."

Grover also stressed the need to delay the widely-discussed state corporate income tax, explaining that a state personal income tax would be sure to follow.

"Our opponents—a continuation of the same old unenlightened, selfish interests which have long controlled the governor's office—are spending Texas straight into an income tax," Grover said.

He said the sales tax hasn't been able to "keep up with the rampant fiscal irresponsibility of the Democratic leadership."

In the race for a Texas seat on the U.S. Senate, the two candidates took opposing views on how former Gov. John Connally's stand will affect their race.

Connally, a Democrat who was secretary of the treasury under President Nixon, currently heads "Democrats for Nixon."

Incumbent Republican Sen. John Tower said in Midland that the same people who are working for Nixon in Texas are supporting Tower's race for re-election.

Tower's Democratic opponent, Barefoot Sanders, said that while Connally is working for Nixon's re-election, the former governor also has said he will support Democrats in state races.

Sanders spoke at a Sherman-Denison country club, accompanied by Pat Nugent, son-in-law of former President Lyndon Johnson.

Tower also praised the Washington announcement that Vietnam peace is near.

"I believe this development is a tribute to the tough and persevering stand of the President, who has refused to yield to pressure for surrender at home and abroad," Tower said.

He also called for "deregulation" of wellhead gas prices and a seven per cent incentive tax credited on oil and gas exploration. Later, in Lubbock, he said the cotton loan level should be raised.

Sanders campaigned in Texarkana, where he said the Justice Department should investigate what he called Tower's "use of his franked mail privileges in his re-election campaign."

"From reports coming in from all over the state to our office, Tower has sent out hundreds of thousands of pieces of mail at taxpayer's expense," Sanders said.

Lady Bird Gets Award

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson received the Industrial Designers Society of America's award for her "conspicuous contribution to the betterment of the environment" in ceremonies today.

Society vice president F. Eugene Smith presented the third annual Damon Woods Memorial Award to the former first lady, citing her "successful efforts in drawing national and international attention to manmade visual pollution ... and encouraging everyone to become involved in correcting the problem."

Mrs. Johnson congratulated the designers on their beautification efforts and told them to "Count me in with those on the front line of any war on ugliness."

Princess Grace Sees Screen Lover

LEEDS, England (AP) — Princess Grace of Monaco went to a ball and met her onetime screen lover, Cary Grant.

"I'm delighted to see you again," the princess, former actress Grace Kelly, told the 68-year-old Grant Thursday night when they met at a Variety Club of Great Britain ball.

During her Hollywood days, the princess and Grant starred in the film "To Catch a Thief."

Before the ball, the 43-year-old princess and her husband, Prince Rainier, had visited a nearby hospital for handicapped children and gave out presents.

Outfielder Joe Rudi of the Oakland Athletics lives in Newark, Calif. He recently turned 26.

In Snyder Area Churches

"But straightway Jesus spake unto them, saying Be of good cheer; it is I; be not afraid." St. Matthew 14:27

Love is immortal, rising above
the machinery of the mind,
And death is but an horizon
unlimiting human kind.
So why should we be troubled—
agonize or be dismayed?
For Christ himself advised us that we never be afraid.

WILL CURTIS

First Baptist

The 7th and 8th grade departments of the Sunday School will have a Halloween party Saturday night at the church. Mrs. Aubrey Wilson is the director. Girls In Action also will have a Halloween party Saturday night in the home of Mrs. Don Wilson.

All are reminded to set their clocks back an hour Sunday morning when Standard Time goes into effect.

Sunday School will begin at 9:45 a.m. and morning worship at 11. The Rev. Ken Andress, pastor, will speak on the topic, "From Here to Eternity," Rev. 21:13. For the 7 p.m. worship service, his topic will be "In The Chambers of Your Imagery."

The handbell choir will meet at 4:45 p.m. Sunday, under direction of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Neill. Church training opportunities will begin at 6 p.m., followed by the evening worship at 7.

The budget committee will meet Monday at 7 p.m. in the office. There will be no regular Wednesday evening activities, with exception of prayer meeting for those not attending the Baptist General Convention of Texas meeting in Abilene. Members are being urged to attend the state convention, Monday through Wednesday. A bus will leave the church parking lot at 6 p.m. Wednesday, and those planning to ride the bus have been asked to call the office and make reservations.

Church visitation is set for Thursday.

Colonial Hill

Sunday School will begin at 9:45 a.m. at Colonial Hill Baptist Church. All adult departments, I through V, will meet in the main auditorium for an Adult Sunday School Rally. All other departments will meet in their regular places.

The morning worship services will begin at 11 a.m., with Rev. Miller Robinson, pastor, bringing the message.

The youth choir will meet at 5 p.m., while Training Union and children's choirs are to meet at 6 p.m. The evening worship is set for 7 p.m.

A meeting of church ushers has been set for 6 p.m. and the budget committee will meet immediately following the evening worship service.

There will be no mid-week prayer service on Wednesday evening. All members are being urged to attend the Baptist General Convention of Texas annual meeting in Abilene, Monday through Wednesday.

On Thursday, church visitation is set for 9:30 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. The Naomi Sunday School Class will have a salad supper in the home of their teacher, Mrs. Wacil McNair.

First Christian

First Christian Church will meet for church school at 9:45 a.m. and morning worship will follow at 10:50. The choir will sing "Surely Goodness and Mercy" as a special number during the morning worship.

The congregation will begin Sunday using a new mimeographed song book in worship which will include many excellent contemporary Christian songs that are ideal for congregational singing. The CYF and CHI RHO youth groups will meet at 6 p.m. in the fellowship hall. The area assembly will meet Saturday, Oct. 28, at the Lake Brownwood Christian Retreat.

Those serving Sunday are: Presiding—John Noble; Elders—Malven Stevenson and Hugh Boren Jr.; Deacons—Roy Kidd, Coy Rhodes, Raymond Williams, Buddy Whittenburg; Receptionist—LaDean Rhodes.

Grace Lutheran

Sunday School begins at 9:30 a.m. Pastor Henry Hartman's message for the 10:30 a.m. worship service is "And That's The Truth," based on John 8:31 36. On this Reformation Sunday, the youth choir will sing "Lord Keep Us Steadfast In Thy Word" during the worship service.

Confirmation instruction is Wednesday from 4 to 5:15 p.m.

First U. Methodist

Church School for all age groups will be at 9:45 a.m. This is Youth Sunday and the Junior High and Senior High youth of the church will be in charge of the worship services. During the morning worship service, a youth choir will sing two special numbers accompanied by Mrs. Bob O'Day.

The Junior and Senior High UMY will meet at 5:30 p.m. Sunday evening. The Trinity United Methodist Church youth will join the youth in presenting the evening worship service at 7 p.m.

The Esther Circle will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. to continue the study on India which is being led by Mrs. Joyce Cooper.

Wednesday at 9:30 a.m., the Irene Preuitt Circle will meet in the home of Mrs. Warren Dodson, 3107 Ave. T. The Wesleyan Service Guild will meet at 7 p.m., and it also will meet with Mrs. Dodson.

Don't forget to turn your clocks back in order that you will arrive at church at the correct time.

Faith Baptist

Sunday School begins at 10 a.m. at Faith Baptist Church. Morning worship follows at 10:50. Training Union begins at 6:15 p.m. and evening worship at 7. The pastor, Rev. L. W. Hatfield will bring both messages of the day J. W. Love is in charge of the musci.

Mid-week prayer service is at 7:30 Wednesday.

If you need a ride to the services at Faith call 573-7434.

Visitors are always welcome at Faith and a nursery is provided for the babies. The church is located at Thirty-seventh St. and Ave. C.

37th Street C-C

Pat J. Abbananto, minister, will preach the gospel in all the worship services at Thirty-seventh Street Church of Christ on Sunday. The worship services are at 10:45 a.m. and 6 p.m.

Bible classes for all ages are held at 9:45 a.m. each Sunday.

The regular mid-week worship services are scheduled for 7:30 p.m. each Wednesday.

Morningside Bap.

Youth Sunday will be observed at Morningside Baptist Church. The young people will take over the duties of the adults.

Sunday School wil begin at 10 a.m. and worship service at 11. The Rev. Dan Humphreys, pastor, will bring the message at the worship service. Visitors are welcome.

Training service will begin at 6 p.m. and the evening worship at 7 p.m.

The mid-week prayer service is held each Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

East Side C of C

Sam Kitching will be the speaker on the 8:15 a.m. radio program on KSNY, "Give Me the Bible." His subject will be "Yes, There is a Tomorrow." His sermon topic for the 10:25 a.m. worship service will be "Deliver Us," Matt. 6:9-13. At the 6 p.m. worship service his sermon subject will be "Breaking Up the Roof," Mark 2:2-5.

Bible classes for all ages are held each Sunday morning at 9:30. Ladies' Bible class is held each Wednesday morning at 9:30. A nursery is provided and there are classes for all pre-school children.

The mid-week worship service is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. each Wednesday and visits are always welcome at all services.

For a free bus ride to services, please call 573-5666, 573-6519, or 573-7204.

Amin Improving

KAMPALA, Uganda (AP) — President Idi Amin is continuing to improve, but the government radio indicated Thursday night his release from the hospital is not imminent.

Proposal Would Double Term Of The Governor

(Editors: Texans will vote for the second time in seven years Nov. 7 on whether to double the term for governor from two to four years. It is an issue that once raised cries of "one-man rule." Others claim it is the mark of a modern, progressive state government. It is inspected here, in the fifth of a series of articles on proposed constitutional amendments on the November election ballot.)

By JACK KEEVER
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — John Connally wanted Texas governors to have four-year terms and used his powers of persuasion but failed to get it written in the constitution. It may become part of that document this year with hardly a word spoken.

Seven years ago, when Connally backed it with his popularity and political prestige, the proposal was rejected by 54,112 votes out of 503,686 cast.

It was a bold attempt and terrific struggle to try to crack nearly 90 years of tradition.

House members who called themselves a "kamikaze squad" fought an unsuceessful delaying battle for two months, one denounced it was a bid for "one-man rule." Two lawmakers had to be restrained by their colleagues on the day the final vote was taken in the House.

Ralph Yarborough, U.S. senator at that time, said after the proposal was defeated that voters "have slapped down hard a greedy grab for power..."

The proposal surfaced again in the 1967 and 1969 Legislatures, but it was not until 1971 that legislators decided to submit the issue to another statewide vote this year.

If it is approved, the governor and other major elective officials who now serve for two years will get four-year terms. This would apply to the lieutenant governor, attorney general, state land commissioner, agriculture commissioner, comptroller and treasurer and also to the secretary of state, who is appointed by the governor.

Officials elected in 1974 or afterwards would be affected.

Texas' chief office holders had four-year terms for a few years following the Civil War, but two-year terms were established in the Constitution of 1876 because of that unpopular Reconstruction period and the desire to weaken state government.

There was a constitutional breakthrough, however, in 1954 when an amendment established four-year terms for county and district officials.

Connally once told county judges the longer terms resulted in "increased efficiency, effectiveness and stability ..."

But a 1962 poll (Belden) indicated 56 per cent of Texans favored limiting the state chief executive to two terms, or four years, in office and only 35 per cent opposed such a limitation. In a 1967 poll (Louis) of Democratic party primary voters, 65 per cent favored two terms, or four years.

Thirty-nine states elect governors for four years, but this figure has not changed since Texas turned down the proposal in 1965.

Supporters claim four-year terms would enable governors to spend more time on state policy and less on campaigning, would free candidates from special interest groups because campaign expenses would be reduced and would generate interest in state politics by setting the election for governor in off-presidential election years.

Opponents argue that longer terms would give a governor too much power because after two terms, or eight years, he could dominate every appointive state board or commission by placing his own friends on them. Also, opponents say, the guarantee of a longer term would make a governor less responsive to public opinion.

But the central fear of four-year terms appears to be the hesitancy of the people to stake the leadership of the state for four years on a single election. What, they might ask, if we got a dud? they would be stuck with him for four years, not just two.

Larger Texas Vote Estimated

DALLAS (AP) — The head of the Texas Election Bureau estimated Thursday that the total general election vote in the state Nov. 7 will be between 500,000 and 700,000 more than the presidential vote in 1968.

Bob Johnson said from 3.5 million to 3.7 million persons will cast their ballots in the election, compared with the 3,078,917 who voted in Texas four years ago.

Earlier, Secretary of State Bob Bullock estimated that voter registration would total about 4.6 million.

In the 1968 election, Democrat Hubert Humphrey carried Texas by 38,960 votes over Richard Nixon, with American party candidate George Wallace obtaining 584,269 votes, or 18.1 per cent.

The Texas Election Bureau is a nonpartisan, nonprofit organization set up by newspapers and later joined by television and radio stations to collect and count votes.

Nazarene

The Church of the Nazrene will hold evangelistic meetings Nov. 1-5 under the direction of the new pastor, Rev. Richard Olsen. He graduated from Bethany Nazrene College last May with an A.B. degree in religion. He and his wife, Jeannette, have one son, Jeffery, a year old.

Rev. Olseno has extended an invitation for all to hear Jim Frantz speak during the evangelistic series. He is a lay evangelist in the Church of Nazrene. A former night club owner before his conversion, he will tell of his conversion experience.

A nursery will be provided for the small children. Services will be at 7:30 p.m. each weekday night, and at 10:45 a.m. and 7 p.m. on Sunday.

Santone Centers May Treat POWs

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Two military centers here are likely to be assigned the job of giving medical treatment to a number of prisoners of war when they are released by Hanoi.

Military officials stressed that the names of specific military hospitals designated to treat POWs will not be disclosed at this time.

But under a long established Defense Department contingency plan, it appears that San Antonio's Brooke Army Medical Center and Wilford Hall Air Force Medical Center will play a prominent role in treating repatriated POWs.

They are the largest medical centers for their respective branches of the service, and sources here say as many as 50 POWs and men missing in action have families living in South and Central Texas.

In San Antonio alone, at least 19 families have men listed as either prisoners or missing in Vietnam.

Air Force spokesmen here pointed out that under the contingency plan, selection of the hospitals treating POWs will depend on the men's physical condition, the number of men released, and the proximity of the hospitals to their families.

One source here said Brooke, Wilford Hall and about 30 other military medical facilities across the country are considered likely choices for treatment of returning POWs, because of the local of their relatives.

The installations were not identified.

Called "Operation Egress Recap," the contingency plan calls for released prisoners to be taken at once to processing centers for medical checkups, necessary treatment and debriefings.

When medically advisable, they will be flown to military hospitals near their relatives, except for cases requiring specialized facilities, spokesmen said. The length of a man's hospital stay would depend on his medical needs.

Officials said families would be allowed to see the men as soon as possible after they arrive at the hospitals and would be provided quarters nearby.
