DOHENY AND FALL TO FACE OIL FRAUD TRIAL

So This Is Texas

Land Tenancy—
Bankers are Strong—
Europe Coming Back—
A Lesson for Texas.

By H. N. Fitzgerald

LAND tenancy is appalling in some section of Texas. There are thousands in East Texas; there are thousands in the cosat country and Magic Valley. And the great open spaces of the west contains a vast army of these drifters who are called croppers in some sections and tenant farmers in others.

* * *

INDEED, the writer was told by a prominent citizen of Wichita Falls that less than two percent of the cultivated lands in Wichita county was tilled by the men who owned the land. That is, they rented it on shares for the most prat, although many received cash rentals for their holdings.

* * *

THIS is one of the reasons why the one crop fallacy has its grip on those who till the soil under the skies of Texas.

* * *

ALL the indications are there will be a sweeping reduction the coming year whether legislation is enacted or not by the lawmakers of the commonwealth.

* * *

FIRST the bankers have been stung.

They will be a bit chary when they loan money to tenant farmers next year unless the aforesaid tenants agree to diversify and raise their own foodstuffs and feedstuffs. It is useless to blame the tenant.

* * *

IF the landowners and the bankers get together, they are masters of the situation.

They can compel the croppers or renters to grow less cotton on fewer acres and more foodstuffs and feedstuffs.

* * *

INDEED it would be an easy matter to bring about drastic reduction.

As for the tenant, he is carried by the banker, the local merchant and the landowner.

He is a pawn in their hands.

They issue orders and he obeys their command.

* * *

TEXAS and Oklahoma piled up an additional two million bales of cotton in 1926 more than they produced in 1925 and this is where the bumper crop comes in.

There are no birds in last year's nest.

* * *

THERE shouldn't be "no bumper crop" of cotton in 1926.

Every bale of the yield of 1926 should be picked.

It should be stored by those who are able to store it. There is going to be money in cotton next year, money for those who hold it this year.

* * *

NOW the European world is coming back.

Its statesmen are not bringing it back.

Its hard-headed business men are bringing it back, but over and above the business men of Europe are the peasants of Europe who till the soil and make it respond to the touch of man.

* * *

THEY are the real wealth producers.

They dig the wealth out of the ground.

They feed the mouths of the dense hordes who people the continent of Europe as well as the British Isles.

They do not people the cities of Europe.

They live in the open.

They are the men and the women who have brought back after every bloody and costly war in history for 400 years.

* * *

IT will be well for the empire builders of West Texas to study this burning issue of land tenancy in their section of the state.

* * *

IT will be well for empire builders in every section of Texas to study it.

It is not necessary to say that the old order of things are passing away.

This is visible to the naked eye.

* * *

THERE is a new civilization in every land under the shining sun.

In every land including our own where scientific farming is the order of the day, a share of prosperity abounds.

It is so in the Magic Valley where farmers who diversify and feed themselves are money makers.

* * *

WHY even the growers of citrus fruit will ship fifteen hundred cars to the markets of America this season.

They send thousands of car loads

Hi-Jacker Kills Knox City Man

Trial Of Love Ends In Death For Betsy King

Widow of Naval Officer Shot by Lover At Hotel Table

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21 (AP) Mrs. Betty King, widow of Lieut. Robert King, U. S. N., came to the end of a turbulent love affair in a downtown restaurant here last night when she was shot to death by George W. Barnett, an automobile salesman, who trailed her from Minneapolis, leaving a wife and daughter, today.

Today Barnett's life was hanging by a slender thread as a result of a bullet wound which he inflicted in his head after he killed Mrs. King, while seated across from her at dinner.

Formerly Married.

Reports from police headquarters said that Mrs. King was formerly married to Barnett and the fatal quarrel resulted from a disagreement over re-marriage. Police detectives' overnight version of the affair was that Mrs. King, whose husband was killed in an automobile accident in Dorchester, Mass., in 1922, had not been married to Barnett, but that she had met him in Minneapolis about a year ago.

"They fell in love," Police Detective Everett Hanson said in a report today. "Wishing to free herself from any entanglement, Mrs. King came to San Francisco. Barnett followed and obtained employment with an automobile firm here. I understand he desired the companionship of Mrs. King until such time as his wife in Minneapolis obtained a divorce.

Letter Identifies.

"Mrs. King's identity was established through letters in her reticule. One of these letters was stamped and addressed to Barnett in Minneapolis. It contained messages of love but spoke of his former letters as having been incoherent."

After Barnett located Mrs. King in San Francisco he took quarters in the same hotel where Mrs. King resided. When she refused to receive him he forced the lock on her door and was expelled from the hotel. Later he apologized to the management and occupied quarters in an adjoining downtown hotel.

POSSE SEEKS BANDIT

Roy Day, Slain Man's Escort, Returns Fire; Sheriff Heads Hunt

Special to The Record News.

KNOX CITY, Texas, Nov. 21.—Headed by Sheriff Melton of Knox county, a posse Sunday was seeking to locate a Mexican cotton picker who Saturday about midnight shot and killed John Carver, 34, fired three wild shots at Roy Day, Carver's companion, and made his escape. That the shooting took place when the fugitive Mexican attempted to hold up the two men near the Shaver farm house, five miles west of Knox City, was the report made by Day to authorities after the shooting.

The shooting, according to Day's report, took place at 11:00 p. m. Saturday as he and Carver were returning from ginning business in Knox City to Carver's home on the Bush and Burnett estate. Two shots struck Carver, killing him almost instantly. Three more shots were fired at him, Day said, but all went wild. Day returned the fire he reported, but the Mexican escaped after emptying his gun.

Carver is survived by his wife and four children. Funeral arrangements have not been announced.

Texas Boy Dies When Boat Tips

Joe Parver, 20, Drowns When Boat Capsizes At Deep Lake

Special to The Record News.

MEMPHIS, Nov. 21.—Efforts were being continued here Sunday night to recover the body of Joe Parven, 20, of McKinney, who was drowned about 10 o'clock this morning when a boat in which he and a chum, Marion Cornell, were duck hunting on Deep Lake capsized. A search that started shortly after Parven went down had been futile at 6 o'clock. Cornell is now recovering from the effects of exposure in the cold waters of the lake. He narrowly escaped a fate similar to that of Parven and was dragged out in a semi-conclous condition.

Boat Capsizes.

Parven and Cornell left Memphis early Sunday morning for a hunting expedition. They had been on the lake several hours and, it is presumed, were attempting to retrieve game they had killed when their boat capsized.

The men screamed for help and attracted the attention of several negro men on the shore. No other boats were immediately available and by th time a youth had run to the other end of the lake, nearly a mile away, and brought back a heavy row boat, Parven had disappeared. It was over an hour from the time the boat capsized until another boat with the rescuers could reach the victims.

Cling to Craft.

Cornell, clinging desperately to his capsized craft, was pulled in in a half-frozen condition. His condition is not thought to be serious.

Both men have been working on paving projects in the city since last July.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21. (AP)—Queen Marie's desire for rest and relaxation before sailing for home on Wednesday was set aside today while she was whisked about the city keeping four engagements that kept her on the move from 9 o'clock this morning until past sundown.

After little more than five hours sleep at the Tuxedo home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Mitchell, Marie motored to New York to spend an hour in the Metropolitan Museum to attend luncheon at the apartment of Mrs. Robert Weeks Kelly, tea at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Nelson Morris and then back to Tuxedo for dinner at the Mitchells. He was dismissed from the royal train several days ago in Seattle when Colonel John H. Carroll, in charge of the special, objected to newspaper articles quoting Ayres.

ELK HILLS OIL LEASE "TRADE" BASIS IN SUIT

TRIAL AT U. S. CAPITAL

District of Columbia Court To Hear Fraud Case Evidence

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21. (AP)—Two old time prospectors in the great west, now a former cabinet officer and a multi-millionaire oil man, will come to trial here tomorrow charged with conspiracy to defraud the government in naval il reserve leases.

They are Albert B. Fall, secretary of the interior, under President Harding and Edward L. Doheny, chairman of the board of the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport company. They will appear in the District of Columbia supreme court to answer indictments charging them with fraud in connection with the leases made by Fall to Doheny on the naval oil reserves in the Elk Hills, California, field.

U. S. Jury Indicts

This indictment is one of a number returned by a grand jury as a result of the senate investigation into the leases of naval oil lands in California and Wyoming made by Fall to Doheny and Harry F. Sinclair during the first two years of the Harding administration after the control of the reserves had been transferred from the navy to interior department by executive order.

Sinclair and Fall also are charged with conspiracy to defraud the government in connection with the famous Teapot Dome lease, but this case is before the United States supreme court on a request for a review of the action of the district court of appeals in dismissing an appeal from a lower court decision refusing to quash the indictment.

Contempt Charge

Sinclair also is under indictment for contempt of the senate in refusing to answer certain questions before the public lands committee during the oil investigation and there is still another indictment against Fall and Doheny and Edward L. Doheny, Jr., son of the California oil magnate, charging bribery in connection with the $100,000 loan which Doheny made to Fall during the course of the negotiations for the Elk Hills leases.

More Weather Antics Forecast As Barometer Climbs To Highest Mark In Many Years At Local Observatory

North Texas, shaking and shivering through a Sunday of freezing weather, may expect some more boistrous antics from the weather man within the next 24 hours if barometric readings mean anything.

Early Sunday night the barometer at the observation station conducted by the Wichita Falls Electric company recorded a mark of 30.5, which was described as "abnormally high and indicative of high winds."

The weather observer went even further by saying that this reading was probably the highest recorded in Wichita Falls in years.' He was not prepared to guarantee that any radical climatic changes were headed this way, but said a high barometer ordinarily pointed to a stormy period with strong gales. The normal barometer reading is 29.90.

26 Degree Weather

Wichita Falls and all northwest Texas was in the grip of real winter yesterday. A minimum temperature of 26 degrees was recorded, with the 5 p.m. reading being 34, just two degrees above freezing. The maximum for the day was 41.

The day, for the most part was clear with a fairly moderate northeast breeze prevailing.

A heavy blanket of wintry-looking clouds covered the sky to the north and apparently blanketed most of southern Oklahoma.

The edge of this, however, did not extend sufficiently far south to cover the sky on the Texas side of Red river.

Six Men Raid Oklahoma Jail And Kidnap Man Held There For Transfer To Prison On Murder Life Sentence

SALLISAW, Okla., Nov. 21. (AP)—Matthew Kimes, convicted slayer of Perry Chuculate, Sequoah county deputy sheriff, was removed from the county jail here early Sunday morning by six men who outwitted two jailers and made their getaway after a gun battle with J. C. Woll, Sallisaw chief of police.

Posses of Oklahoma and Arkansas officers are searching the eastern section of the state but late today no clues had been found. The six men left Sallisaw in a large touring car.

Neither of the jailers was hurt seriously. Kimes was sentenced to life imprisonment in the state penitentiary three weeks ago for the slaying of Chuculate, who was killed in a gun fight between officers and Kimse and his brother, George.

At that time Woll and a farmer boy were taken prisoner by the bandits and thrown from their car in the Ozark hills near Van Buren, Ark., where both the Kimes boys were captured by a posse of officers and citizens.

YOUTH RULES IN DUBLIN; THREE UNDER 30 GOVERN

DUBLIN.—If any American city hesitates about selecting young men to direct its affairs, the citizens would do well to consider what is happening here. In three men all under 30 years of age this city has found its municipal salvation. The citizens point with pride to the cleanliness o fthe city, once notorious for dirt and disease, the well-paved streets, new housing developments, etc., all effected while taxes were being reduced. The three commissioners are James Murphy, Dr. William O'Dwyer and W. Hernon, who had absolutely no experience with municipal government until they were appointed by President Cosgrave.

The Venezuelan Petroleum company was incorporated in 1922 to acquire and develop petroleum properties held, up to that time, by Runhardt and company of New York and Venezuela. These properties include four concessions covering land in the Lake Maracaibo basin. Three of these concessions cover 37,500 acres each while the fourth has 10,160 acres in exploitation.

The company has a contract with the Venezuela Gulf Oil company whereby the later acquired 24,374 acres for $100,000 cash and agreed to pay a royalty on all oil produced on this acreage and pay all expenses of surveys and field work necessary to put the concession, not in exploration into exploitation.

According to the terms of the concessions the Venezuelan government gets a 10 per cent royalty on oil from three concessions and 11.55 per cent on oil from the fourth. The company also has a contract with Standard Oil of California whereby the latter will develop other lands owned by Venezuela Petroleum and share the net proceeds. The latter company announced to stockholders in August 1926 that it had acquired seven concessions in the state of Managua.

There is no funded debt. Capital stock consists of $3,197,750 outstanding in common shares of $5 par value. No dividends have as yet been paid. As of June 30, 1926, current assets were $511,642, and net working capital the same amount.

FORGET IT

NOW that Governor Ferguson has pardoned Mrs. Collier the curtain has been rung down, presumably, on another chapter of the unsavory drama that will probably stand out for a long time as Wichita Falls' premier homicide action.

Frank Collier himself has a little more time to serve in prison unless he, too, is favored by executive clemency which is not without the range of possibility. When his time is served, the whole thing will be finished, and, it is hoped, finished completely.

The "Collier-Robertson case" has been a stern one in which partisan feelings have developed and been freely expressed. It is not the place here to discuss any merits or demerits of any angle of the thing. But, if comment of any sort, be in order, the best that can be offered to all concerned is to "forget it."

Friends and supporters of the Colliers—and they are many—know that Frank Collier and his wife have suffered; and, too, that they have been punished for the enactment of the bloody escapade at Seventeenth and Bluff streets that toppled a man from his executive chair and rocked the city as it has never been rocked before.

Friends and supporters of the Robertsons—and they, also, are many—may feel that justice has not been served; that Collier's punishment was not ample and that his wife's escape from any penal servitude is not warranted.

However, that may be, the die has been cast, whether rightly or not. Nothing is to be gained by further consideration of it. To forget once and for all what has been a bad job will serve best the ends of everyone.

COTTON ACREAGE MUST BE CUT

JDABNEY DAY is one of the leading bankers of Los Angeles. He is a Texan and was prominent in banking circles before he moved to California. Californians grow staple cotton in the Imperial Valley and other sections, and Banker Day knows all about cotton and cotton conditions. His people were farmers, Texas farmers.

He is in Texas visiting his old haunts. He insists that 25 cent cotton is the parent of 12 cent cotton. His contention is that high prices one year cause increased acreage the next, with a resultant drop in price, and so it does in alternate years, up and down and up and down.

Banker Day has a viewpoint. He says the present low price for cotton is really a blessing in disguise, as its effect will be to cause a smaller crop and to give a boost to diversification.

He has taken kindly to the Kemp program. He believes the time will come to put a stop to this fluctuation in price and guarantee a stable price by the control of acreage and by the raising of food and grain crops, cattle, sheep, hogs and poultry all over the cotton belt.

This is his conclusion, "in this direction only lies the salvation of the southern farmer." Small farms and stock farms are coming in Texas and the land will be owned by those who work it instead of the workers being croppers or tenants ever at the mercy of old and worn out systems.

MILLIONS OF WORKERS

FORT WORTH & DENVER and Frisco lines extensions in Texas will turn loose about $8,000,000. This will go for labor and materials. Conditions are not so bad in Texas. It will require a small army of laborers and skilled workers to carry on construction and the building of the extention will place the great west in close touch with the markets of Fort Worth and Dallas and other Texas cities. They are building all the time in Texas.

TOWN TALK—By H. F. J.

BIG ENOUGH!

Regardless of the outcome of negotiations now pending relative to a renovation of the union station, Wichita Falls cannot expect to see any radical changes in this big gate to the city's front yard until the city itself grows a little. This is true because, from all practical standpoints, the gate is big enough even if it has no particular feature to recommend it from an esthetic point of view.

That the architectural arrangement of the station leaves much to be desired is admitted; that in appearance it leaves room for improvement, is also conceded. But so far as actual size is concerned, it is big enough. And so far as advantageous location is concerned, it is ideal.

The trend of growth of Wichita Falls is such that the railway yards and the station will always border practically on the eastern edge of the town. True, there is a considerable settlement east of the tracks, but the main business and residential sections lie to the westward. They will always lie there. True, also, that the station as now situated is within, at the most, not more than four blocks from the heart of the retail business section; it is easily accessible from any hotel in town, yet the clamor and racket of trains is no disturbing factor whatsoever in the every day walks of life.

Wichita Falls is peculiarly fortunate in this. Few cities have a railroad centralization point that combines all the desirable factors. Either it is too far from the center of activity—or too close. One is inconvenient because of the time required to reach it; the other inconvenient because the noise and dirt of trains is never an advantage for any community.

Railroad officials, therefore, have a good argument against proposals to move the present structure here. If they improve its looks and utility they will be doing about all that, for the time being, is needed.

Advice to the Lovelorn—Read What She Says

Every Last One of Us Loves Flattery, So the Art Is Worth Cultivating—But Don't Be a Bungling Jollier and Lay It On Too Thick or Too Often. The Subtlest Is the Implied Compliment

When the cheerful workers of society start out to do their fellow creatures their chief weapon is flattery. They hold that the compliment is the skeleton key that unlocks every heart and opens every pocketbook.

But, while this theory is good, the execution of it is often so bungling that it falls of its object. For the art of the jollier is one of the most difficult arts in the world and requires a master hand.

A touch too little—and it damns its object with faint praise. A touch too heavy—and it nauseates with its fulsomeness. The merest carelessness of technique—and it awakens suspicion. The slightest error in judgment—and it offends where it was meant to please.

In a word, successful flattery must be that perfection of art that hides all art, and a compliment must be so cleverly disguised that the recipient does not recognize it as a jolly but accepts it as a simple and deserved tribute to its merits.

Not appreciating this, is where flatters make their great mistake. Knowing that all of us love praise and that every mother's son and daughter of us is amenable to the soothing influence of having our fur stroked the right way, they think that our appetite for soft talk is insatiable and that we can be stuffed with fulsome compliments ad lib.

This is a tactical error. Few of us are sufficiently egotistical to care for flattery that is open, unblushing and inexhaustible. To be agreeable, it must be applied sparingly and judicially, as if it were ointment, not thrown at us with a trowel as if it were some adhesive sweet stuff that could be trusted to stick where it hit.

As between the sexes, women are more adept flatterers than men, because they have had more experienc From time immemorial woman's well-being has depended upon the skill with which she could jolly some man along. Thus she has become ambidextrous in handing out flattery with both hands. Any Dumb Dora can hit the mark with a compliment every time and tell in two minutes after she meets a man just where the vulnerable spot in his vanity is.

A good illustration of the insidious and subtle flattery with which women treat men may be observed in the general attitude of the feminine sex, which adopts the position of incense burner toward men in general.

Also, if you will notice in any company, every woman wears an alert, interested, I-am-having-the-time-of-my-life expression no matter how dull and stupid is the man to whom she is talking.

Likewise, women pretend to receive every word a man utters with the reverence befitting an oracle no matter how much more they know about the subject than he does. Having thus practiced throwing bouquets at mankind in general, woman seldom misses her aim when she singles out some particular man as the target at which to hurl flattery.

Now generally speaking, there are four mistakes that the jollier makes.

The first is fumbling his approach. Out of a clear sky he hurls the obvious compliment at you, and the individual who pays an obvious compliment is either a fool or takes you to be one.

For anyone to break into a sudden rhapsody about your beauty or your cleverness does not rouse a thrill of gratified vanity in your breast. Suggests to you that you are about to be worked and that you will have to pay for this burst of admiration with cold cash or pull a string somewhere for the behoof and benefit of the flatterer.

The next mistake that the unskilled flatterer makes is in not using sufficient discretion in paying his compliment.

Occasionally you meet a person whose vanity is so colossal that it is impossible to go astray in mixed compliments and every one of them will hit the bull's-eye every time.

But most of us are only vain in spots. We have a dim suspicion that we are a little shy on some good qualities, and so when we are praised for virtues we do not possess the compliment fails because our intelligence gives the lie to it.

Therein is where the indiscreet flatter errs. He complimented us for the wrong thing.

The third place where the individual who starts out to soft-soap his way through life fails is in being too universally flatting. Women are particularly prone to this mistake.

We all know women who think to make themselves agreeable by heaping compliments upon every one they meet. Every man is so handsome, so brave, so intelligent, so strong. Every new gown a sister woman wears is the most exquisite creation they ever saw. Every baby a wonder. This pean of praise that would be music to your ears if it were sounded for you alone becomes a jarring note when you discover that they say the same thing to everybody else.

It is only the inexperienced flatterer who compliments self-evident merit. He has his reward, to be sure, but it is nothing compared to that of the discriminating jollier who seeks out the hidden quality that we feel a cold and unappreciative world has overlooked and compliments us on that.

Tomboy Taylor Invents A Bully Game

KELLYGRAMS . . . . . By Fred C. Kelly

EVERY MAN HAS A STORY

After crawling into bed last night, I read a book that proves once again the old theory that every man's own story it a fascinating romance.

The book deals with the days, "When James Gordon Bennett was Caliph of Bagdad," which is its title, by Albert Stevens Crockett. It is a recital of the author's efforts to become a member of the staff of the old New York Herald, and his adventures afterward. In telling his story he gives vivid glimpses of the strange personality, vanities and caprices of the late James Gordon Bennett. But to me the most interesting thing about the book is the account of the ambitions and struggles of the author of himself.

Many authors could doubtless write a more exciting autobiography, but Crockett's is interesting because of the very fact of being partly commonplace. What happened to him might have happened to any of us.

Which brings me to what I started to talk about—the fact that every man has in his system a corking tale—the account of his own life. I doubt if any life is too commonplace to be entertaining provided that the story is told truthfully. The only requirement of the author is that he have enough intelligence to recall and write down in detail just what happened to him.

Even if his life has been devoted mainly to conducting a corner grocery, it would be interesting to know just what has gone on in his mind, of ambitions, of romances unfilled.

It so happens that I have known Crockett, author of this book, for several years, and have sat about with him discussing one thing and another, but never suspecting what an interesting narrative he might have unfolded, about himself, if I had only asked the right questions.

Hence, this book has taught me an important lesson:

When talking with anybody, try to pull his own life story out of him as soon as possible. The chances are that it will be interesting.

An old friend of mine once confided to me that he hoped to write his autobiography and call it "The Story of an Unimportant Man."

He died before he ever got around to writing such a story, but somebody else will do it, only with slightly different material. Indeed, anybody could do it.

The more unimportant you are, the more interesting your own story would be, because it would be just that much more nearly like the life stories of the rest of us average folk.

Just one thing is fatal to autobiography — to attempt to make one's self a hero. For the moment you become heroic you have probably ceased to be truthful.

BO BROADWAY . . . . . By Josef Van Raalte

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—(EFS)—Before prohibition turned Broadway int ostreet of ginger ale, and cigaret ads, "orange drink" stalls and frankfurter studios, it enjoyed a reputation for wildness.

It was the stamping ground for men and women of Bohemian tendencies who pulled as they went, or talking their fun on tick, settled when pay day rolled around, if any.

At the time of which I speak the bark of the automatic had not yet been heard on Longacre square. Lizzie Ford's debut was still in the offing and clergymen were warning the faithful that they "couldn't serve God and skylark around on bicycles."

Where the tawdry red-and-green electric bulbs of Chinese restaurants flash on and off in dismal persistence, "gilded" lobster palaces reared imposing facades.

Broadway was Broadway, back in the days when the crayon portrait of Richard Mansfield adorned the theater lobby where now, on a gold leaf easel, flashes the melancholy mug of Mr. Charles Chaplin.

Broadway never claimed distinction as a rendezvous of saints. Its reputation rested solely on its ability to minister satisfactorily to bizarre appetites. It was never any trouble to show goods. You could encounter adventure in manifold guises, from a fight to a frolic. They aimed to please. A satisfied customer was their best advertisement and the "buts" was invariably worth the headache.

But all that's shoved behind us, long ago and far away. Broadway today is a cheap edition of what Coney Island was before it got religion and joined the church.

Mazda Lane is a street given over to taxi drivers, deformed beggers, pants pressers out for a "lark," policemen and loose-lipped lads with limp cigarettes.

Cheapness is its curse. The entertainment it purveys is cheap. The merchandise it displays is cheap. The coffee it sells is as rotten as its hooch and the smell of its greasy little bean shops would sicken a mongrel pup.

The gangster now holds sway where once the Pittsburgh millionaire dispensed largesse. "Diamond Jim" Brady has given place to Mike the Bite. Rector has abdicated to Nick the Greek.

A bank occupies a certain Broadway corner, where, in the old days, a beer and booze bazaar dispensed refreshment to the jaded traveler along Mazda Lane. In the entire course of its existence nothing of more than passing interest ever focused attention on that long forgotten irrigation bureau.

The other day 3 armored trucks drew up before the bronze doors of the bank. The truck was equipped with a machine gun and half a dozen armed guards patrolled the sidewalk in front of the money house while a transfer of steel boxes containing gold, was effected.

In the old days a scene like that on Broadway would have earned a "ribbon head" on every newspaper in town. Today it isn't worth even casual rehearsal.

Don't let anybody kid you about the "great white way." There ain't no such animal.

Mazda Lane is a stretch of territory less than a mile in length, dotted with little collar shops, cake and coffee plants, movie houses and soft drink stands, lighted by scores of blinding electric signs that blazen the virtues of soda pop and underwear.

"Broadway might interest for a few minutes a man who had never learned to read," was Chesterson's comment after a brief stroll along The Alley.

When you hear a man under 40 gurgling about the glories of Broadway you can be sure he is peddling a tradition.

Broadway flopped the day the lobster palace gave way to the chop suey joint—the day the "orange drink" stall succeeded the gin mill—the day Mary Pickford supplanted Ada Rehan.

"I'M THE GINK"

I'm the gink with the great scorn for anything that smacks of what I call "Babbitry" or "money-grubbing." I look on the aesthetic and the arts. Of course I must have money to live on, but I despise it. I talk of the great work I am going to do some day. I stand before pictures with a far-away look in my eyes. I am convinced that I am an artistic person. I adopt little idosyncrasies to prove it. Of course I never have and never will do anything, but I think I will. That is my excuse for existence. I just loaf along pitying the money-grubbers.

HASKELL SOCIETY

Special to The Record News.

HASKELL, Nov. 21.—Miss Cleo King who for many years made her home with Mr. and Mrs. R. R. English, in Haskell and endeared herself to a large circle of friends, but who for the last two years has been in Wichita Falls and Fort Worth, came back to Haskell last week at the urgent request of her friends to have her pre-nuptial affairs. Miss King has announced her engagement to R. B. Cannon of San Antonio. The first of these courtesies was on Tuesday evening when Mesdames R. R. English, Courtney Hunt, H. S. Post and Mamie Barron were joint hostesses at the Magazine club library. The guests were met at the door by Mrs. W. H. Murchison, Bailey Post and J. H. Bernard and introduced to members of the house party, the honoree. Miss Cleo King, the hostesses and Mesdames John Draper, C. V. Payne and Misses Ermie English, Helen Barron, Agnes Fields, Maurine Shook and Judith English. About 100 guests were present and they were asked to register in the bride's book where Mrs. Will Kirkpatrick presided. Then 80 of them enduiged in the afternoon's diversion, "42." The score cards were pendant from butterfly rings and the announcement cards, bearing the names, Mr. R. B. Cannon and Miss Cleo King, November 22, 1926, were attached to miniature traveling bags filled with almonds. At the close of the games Mrs. C. V. Payne was told that she had won high score and was given a large horn of plenty which she at once presented to the bride-to-be, saying that it was the emblem of prosperity, and it proved to be so for the bride as it contained the miscellaneous shower. The hostesses served brick cream and cake.

Methodist Missionary Women.

In observing the week of prayer the women of the Missionary society of the Methodist church met on Monday and Tuesday afternoons and carried out the council program. Mrs. P. D. Sanders was general director and opened the first day's meeting by leading the chorus. "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name," Mrs. W. B. Vaughn then discussed prayer and Jesus' teachings on prayer and told a personal experience when a direct answer to her prayer occurred. The president, Mrs. S. R. Rike, then read a letter from a missionary, Miss Esther Case. Next the difficulties of opening and maintaining Brevard Institute at Brevard, N. C., was told in story form by Mrs. P. D. Sanders. Next was a beautiful song, "What Will You Give to Jesus," sung in duet form by Mesdames C. L. Lewis and C. M. Kaigler. The closing number was a very impressive pageant when each woman present was given a small candle and this she lighted at a cathedral candle that represented Scarrett's Bible and training school, and each told what mission field she was going to carry her light to. On Tuesday the meeting was special needs from every foreign and home base and prayers for these. Those telling of these needs were the director, Mrs. P. D. Sanders, Mrs. S. R. Rike, Mrs. W. A. Kimbrough, Mrs. Robert Harrison, Mrs. T. J. Simms, Mrs. T. A. Williams, Mrs. Chas. Parsons and Mrs. Guy Mays.

The Harmony club met last Wednesday afternoon in chorus practice, and due to there being so many pre-nuptial affairs for Haskell's numerous brides just at present and "The Flapper Grandmother" high school play that required quite a bit of rehearsing, the director, Mrs. H. D. Neff was not present and neither were quite a number of the members. But a good practice was had with those present and Mrs. T. A. Pinkerton directed the chorus practice. The president, Mrs. D. L. Cummins served refreshments at the close of the business meeting.

Child Culture Club.

The Child Culture club met last Wednesday in their first official meeting of the year. THE SILVER LINING.

Studying the situation as thoroughly as possible, considering it was done at long range, the outlook for a re-hearing and subsequent reversal of decision in the case, Vernon versus Wichita Falls in the District One football committee room, appeared fairly bright.

* * *

It seems quite probable a re-hearing will be allowed Tuesday in Quanah. Further indications were Wichita Falls will be re-instated in the Texas championship football drive from which it was disqualified the past week-end by the district committee on a charge entered by Vernon that Wichita Falls has violated an interscholastic league rule by accepting the services of Brown McCallum, brother of the Wichita Falls head coach, as line instructor.

* * *

LUBBOCK FAVORS?

School Superintendent Duncan of Lubbock, who refused to vote either way on the matter when approached over long distance telephone by the district committee during its session, is said to have spoken very favorably for Wichita Falls. Duncan said, however, that before Lubbock voted he must go further into details of the controversy.

* * *

PLAINVIEW RECONSIDER?

It was intimated that Plainview, who voted expulsion of the Wichita Falls team in telephone communication to the district office, more than likely will reconsider. It was said Plainview officials either misunderstood or were not fully acquainted with the evidence advanced by the defendant, and that it is quite probably they will reverse their decision upon being given full testimony at a re-hearing.

* * *

Amarillo, who sided with Wichita Falls in the controversy, is expected to vote for re-instatement. At least there is no apparent reason to believe the Golden Sandstorm officials will reverse their decision.

* * *

Should Lubbock, Plainview and Amarillo vote for re-instatement with Wichita Falls' vote the Coyote cause will present a majority.

* * *

It was not known here yesterday just which way Quanah and District Chairman Davis would turn in case of a deadlock. Quanah's vote will not be cast unless there is a tie.

* * *

Vernon was not approached, but it is understood Lion officials do not want a re-hearing of the case.

* * *

Electra is problematical. Principal Rogers, who carries Electra's vote, was not located Sunday. Superintendent Dinsmore declined to make any statement. Electra voted for expulsion in the last ballot.

* * *

ELECTRA FANS SURPRISED.

It was learned yesterday that apparently a large majority of Electra sportsmen and football fans desired to see Wichita Falls re-instated. One prominent Electra citizen remarked, "If we can't win on the football field we don't want to win on a technicality. I think Vernon should feel the same way about the situation."

* * *

"GIVE US BEST TEAM."

A number of Electra fans were approached for opinions. To the last man, they declared they considered the charges against Wichita Falls very weak and desired to see the football team "that is best on the gridiron and not the football team that is best in the court room" represent the section against the rest of Texas.

* * *

The Coyotes, outwardly unconcerned but inwardly quite perturbed, were taken on a long walk Sunday afternoon by the McCallum brothers as a limbering up process.

DIRECTOR BELIEVES WILL BE "STRAIGHTENED OUT"

AUSTIN, Nov. 21. — Wichita Falls' side of the controversy in which the high school was ruled out of the district interscholastic league championship race was submitted to the state league headquarters Saturday morning. Director Roy P. Henderson said he told the Wichita Falls football officials that the new rules leave disputes within districts to the district committees and the league would take no part. Wichita Falls is asking a rehearing and the controversy will apparently be straightened out, he said.

LUDGATE'S INDIANS RALLY TO REPULSE DECATUR INVASION AT SPUDDER PARK THURSDAY

Wichita Falls Plans Boisterous Reception For Fast and Powerful Baptist Grid Machine

BY R. O. JONAS

Decatur Baptist College will be the objective of all the bustling preparations that will feature the activities of the Indian camp this week. But three days of practice will remain before the hard conference clash with the Baptists, scheduled to take place on Spudders gridiron Turkey day.

The Indians are counting on getting opposition of the first water, games thus far rating the Baptist near the top-rung Tarleton Plowboys in caliber. Tarleton has generally been rated about equal to the Randolph Badgers, on comparative scores. According to one set of scores the Baptists are even more powerful than the Junior Farmers from Stephenville, for the Baptists defeated Weatherford two weeks ago by the overwhelming score of 34-2. Weatherford College's Coyotes have been playing first-class ball all season, early in the race holding Randolph to a 9-0 figure, while Randolph defeated Wichita Falls, 54-0.

Early season figures don't always give reliable indexes of later performance as teams develop at different speeds.

The Baptists early in October beat the Wichita Falls High school eleven by but two touchdowns and even found their own goal seriously threatened several times. A comparison of first downs and scores made by the local college and high school elevens against teams played by both would put the college boys at a slightly higher figure than the high school lads, thought most close observers see little difference in strength.

Sweet Entertainment.

On the basis of all comparative items available, the Maroon and Gold battlers of Coach H. T. Ludgate will have sweet entertainment here Thanksgiving day.

Practice for weeks has been conducted with the one idea of getting ready for Decatur. The Tarleton game was played with the knowledge that there was the merest outside chance of winning or even of holding the Plowboys to a close score and no chances were taken on injuries from too strenuous play. Ludgate instructed his charges to try out new plays and formations against the Farmers to see how they worked rather than to win the game.

Thursday's clash will be a hard-fought one and should give the spectators a thrilling holiday entertainment, with Decatur's fleet end-running and line-plunging attack. While the Baptists again considerably out-match the local team in both weight and football experience, the fighting quality of the college line is counted on to hold the Decatur plunges.

Tribe Seeks Revenge.

Revenge for the terrific mauling handed the Wichitans of '25, when the Baptists won an unexpectedly easy 46-0 victory, will be on the minds of team and rooters this year. Last year the Wichita Falls team went to Decatur with the expectation of giving the Wise county college the fight of its life, the boys of Bubs Mosley, then coaching Wichita Falls, having won brilliant victories over the North Texas Aggies and over Weatherford.

But things happened from the first. The Wichita Falls team drew the low end of the very much uphill and rocky Decatur gridiron, with a sharp sun in their eyes and a high wind against them. Decatur kicked off to the Wichitans down hill and with the wind. A Wichita Falls back fumbled the ball on the first play, Decatur recovering in range of the goal. A sweeping end run behind perfect interference brought a score immediately after. An intercepted pass in a clear fiend immediately brought another score. Another sweeping end run behind perfect interference brought another. These events seemed to take the spirit out of the Maroons and when they had the advantage of the downhill drag, the wind with them, and the sun behind them in the second quarter, the old sureness of play and driving power shown in earlier games of the season was lacking. The Baptists kept up their incessant end-running until the Mosley Tribesmen were completely run down and subdued.

Pep organizations are getting their plans completed at this morning's meeting of the Junior college student body and are expecting to leave nothing undone for a real showing at the game Thursday. Yell Leader Jimmie Ford, with the help of a few students and Professor Mangum, faculty manager for pre-game publicity, has sold advertisements for and secured the publication of a book of yells and songs to be given students for the game and to be kept as souvenirs of the season.

WILSON LEADS SCORES

NEW WORK, Nov. 21.(AP)—"Mike" Wilson, Lafayette's sensational sophomore halfback, widened the breach that separates him from his high scoring opponents among eastern colleges by carving three touchdowns from the LeHigh line and boosting his total to 120 points Saturday. Williams, of Connecticut Aggies, hitherto a "dark horse" gathered three scores to run his mark to 90, four points ahead of "Light Horse" Harry Wilson of the Army.

The high point scorers:

	TP	TD	PG	FG
Wilson, Lafayette	129	20	9	0
Williams, Conn. Aggies	90	15	0	0
Wilson, Army	86	11	20	0
Lane, Dartmouth	81	13	3	0
Weston, Boston College	72	12	0	0

Once more baseball flares up, the kindled spark of renovation is constantly with us. Baseball will not see its housecleaning complete until the start of the first game of 1927.

Now goes William Wambsganss, former Cleveland Indian and utility player for Connie Mack's youngsters. The wiry Philadelphia manager has presented Bill with an unconditional release, sent him to the four winds without reparation.

* * *

Is he to become a star as others have in passing?

Wamby is not through with baseball. A chance is all that is needed to send him over. Bill played hard and well while serving all his clubs. With Cleveland he was a sensation and is credited with making the only unassisted triple play in a world series, against Brooklyn in 1920.

* * *

Back in 1912, while a star at Concordia college, scouts of the Cedar Rapids team in the Central association marked him as an extraordinary infielder.

* * *

From Cedar Rapids, Wamby went to Cleveland in 1914. He played third, short and second until 1917, when he became a fixture at second base.

He was the Tribe's regular second sacker until he was traded to Boston, for Burns and Walters during the winter of 1923.

In 1920, Wamby played every game of the season with Cleveland. He duplicated that record with the Boston club in 1924.

* * *

In 1926 he went to the Athletics where he was used mostly as an utility infielder.

Wamby throws and bats right-handed. He is 5 feet 11 inches tall and weighs 160 pounds. He is reported to have broken into the major leagues with Cleveland at a sale price of $1,200.

TWO LEADERS FALL IN EAST

Brown, Navy, LaFayette On Top in Scramble For Championship

NEW YORK, Nov. 21. (AP)—Developments in the latest skirmishing of the East's gridiron arrays have dropped two of the previously unbeaten clans, New York university and Holy Cross from the top, witnessed the rise of the battered Bulldog of Yale over the equally bruised Crimson of Harvard and emphasized for the third straight Saturday the potency of the field goal as a decisive weapon.

With the final week of campaigning just ahead, chief claims to the mythical gridiron championship of the East apparently rests in the hands of Brown, the Naval Academy and LaFayette, the only elevens which have been neither defeated nor tied. Only one team, Boston College, has failed to taste defeat but a tie mars the otherwise clean state of the Hub aggregation which beat Gettysburg yesterday, 39-0.

Face Stiff Opposition

Of the title contending "Big Three," two face stiff closing tests, Brown's Iron Men meeting the rugged Colgate Thanksgiving day after which the Navy brings the campaign to a climax in the service battle with the Army of Chicago. The Cadets, incidentally, have been defeated only by an intersection foe, Notre Dame, and would be in position to dispute the claims of any other Eastern title contender if victorious over the Sailors.

Lafayette, with two of the east's greatest ball carriers in Krank Kirkieskie and Mike Wilson, the latter leading the scorers of the section, closed a brilliant season with a smashing victory over Lehigh, 35 to 0, and cannot be dislodged from its high position. Herb McCracken's stalwarts haven't had such a conspicuously exacting schedule as the Navy and they barely snatched one triumph from Washington and Jefferson but these elements hardly dim the lustre of Lafayette's string of nine straight triumphs. The team has rolled up 330 points in this march to top the major elevens of the entire country in scoring.

Brown Too Strong

Brown's rugged squad, although given a tussle, was far too powerful for New Hampshire, winning by 40 to 12 for the Burin's ninth straight triumph. The Army and Navy, in their last competitive tests before going west to settle their own feud, also had trouble downing minor opponents but put the main burden on substitutes in beating Ursinus and Loyola, respectively, by scores 21-15 and 35-13.

Going west with eight straight victories to its credit, New York university's speedy eleven was tumbled from its unbeaten heights by Nebraska, 15 to 7, on a snow swept field.

The unerring toe of Jerry Wadsworth, Yale's kicking specialist, booted the points that clinched the Eli victory over Harvard before 75,000 in the Yale bowl. The final score was 12 to 7, with Captain Bunnell adding three more points on a 43 yard drop kick to supply a snappy finish to the last "Big Three" series, already clinched by Princeton's previous victories over bot hthe Blue and Crimson.

Maryland, the conquerer of Yale also suffered from this recurrent field goal complex, losing by 3-0, to Washington and Lee.

Tech Menaces Irish

Carnegie Tech, by whipping West Virginia to the decisive tune of 20-0, served notice that Notre Dame's national championship claimants may expect a battle next Saturday when Knute Rockne's Hoosiers invade Pittsburgh.

Georgetown, trouncing Fordham, 39 to 0, established a strong claim to the Catholic college title. Western Maryland, coached by Dick Harlow, former Colgate mentor, lifted itself to prominence in trimming Bucknell, 40 to 0. Syracuse, preparing for Columbia on Thanksgiving day, depended on its substitutes to pull out a 12-7 victory over Niagara.

STANFORD CHAMPION

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.(AP) A new monarch sat on the throne of Pacific Coast conference football today.

It was Stanford university and 80,000 spectators saw the new crowned Saturday amidst the colorful settings of memorial stadium, Berkeley, home of the golden bears of California.

In a stunning finale to a brilliant gridiron season, the Cardinals beat down a fighting California eleven; crushed it under an avalanche of trick plays, and forward passes and rolled up a score of 41 to 6, to capture not only the conference championship for 1926, but "big game" honors from their traditional rivals for a second consecutive year. It was the first time in history that a Stanford team has won a conference title although two years they tied with California.

Grip Tackles Yaqui Tonight

Indian Says He's in Better Shape and Expects Victory

THE CARD.

Yaqui Joe, Sonora, versus Charley Grip, Baltimore. Welterweights, two falls to a finish.

Chief Wow Wow, Chickasha, versus Jack Woods, Shreveport. Junior middleweights, two falls to a finish.

Time: 8:15 tonight.

Place: Majestic theater.

Matchmaker A. Ross Sunday night declared all in readiness for this evening's melees. He said Charley Grip had promised him for sure that he will weigh in at 145 pounds, ringside, and that he (Grip) wanted it understood that the Indian must weigh, also, else forfeit his money.

There was quite a controversy two weeks ago when Grip forfeited $100 for not making the weight. He came in two pounds over the limit. The Indian did not weigh. Grip won the match at catchweights in a more or less freakish manner.

The battle proved a thriller all the way with the favorite, Yaqui Joe, scrapping the powerful Charley on even terms throughout and seemingly on the verge of scoring a victory when the tables were turned. The match went three falls.

The Indian, following more than a week's training at San Angelo, says he is in far better condition than when he met Grip before.

Wow Wow, attempting to return to favor in Wichita Falls, expects to show Woods quite a few. The Oklahoman lost a gruelling match to Gorman last week when the latter, following application of a body scissors, socked him in the chin and knocked him out.

POLISH UP DEFENSE

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 21. (AP)—The two days' intervening before the Army football squad's departure on Wednesday for the Navy game in Chicago, next Saturday, will be devoted to a polishing up for the Cadets offensive. A few hours of drill against the Navy formations is planned. The team came out of the Ursinus game unscratched. It is in high spirits and in perfect physical condition.

Both Trapnell and Elias, mid-October casualties returned yesterday for extended periods of play. Both showed the effect of the long lay-off. Coach "Biff" Jones was somewhat disturbed by the frequent fumbling of the varsity backs yesterday as well as the lack of power and drive in the Army running attack.

CURTAINS FOR BIG TEN RACE

Wolverines and Purple Go Into Title Tie by Skin Of Teeth

CHICAGO, Nov. 21. (AP)—The moleskins go back into the moth bags for another year in so far as the Western conference gridiron campaign is concerned, with Michigan and Northwestern sharing the championship honors of 1926.

The season ended in yesterday's games, with both Northwestern and Michigan undefeated in the conference, and with each the winner of five games within the "Big Ten." Michigan, no doubt, played the harder conference schedule but Northwestern, in games with formidable opponents, demonstrated its class beyond question. It held Notre Dame to the closest score of any foe reckoned with, losing 6 to 0.

Purple Sloughs Chicago.

Northwestern in the championship race, conquered Chicago, giving the Maroons one of the worst beatings they have received in years, walloped Purdue and Iowa, and also took a couple of falls out of Indiana in their double header.

Michigan came through with a pair of victories over Minnesota, snatched a close victory from Ohio State, trimmed Illinois, and beat Wisconsin. Michigan's only defeat this season was at the hands or feet, of the Navy.

Northwestern, with its backfield hard to match, had to battle furiously to win from Iowa in the closing game of the season.

Michigan duplicated its achievement of a week ago against Ohio State in adding another one-point victory over Minnesota.

Wolverines Outgained.

The Gophers, making 19 first downs to three for Michigan, but lacking the scoring punch that would have made their gains useful.

Ohio State was able to keep from cracking after the Michigan defeat and in trimming Illinois revealed a very flashy player in Byron Eby, a Chillicothe, Ohio, youth who can do almost everything with a football.

Illinois, with its sophomore backfield lacked great offensive strength, but it presents promise for next season.

Chicago failed to play smart football in the first 10 minutes of the Wisconsin game, allowing the Badgers to crash over with a pair of touchdowns that decided the contest.

COYOTE OFFICIALS SURPRISED BY LION COACHING PROTEST

Careful Steps Taken to Avoid All Possible Discrepancies In Status of Grid Tutors and Players

Efforts are being taken by Wichita Falls school officials to obtain a re-hearing before the District One football committee Tuesday at Quanah relative to recent decision by the committee that Wichita Falls forfeit all games won in interscholastic league play this season because of infraction of the league coaching rules, charged by Vernon officials and affirmed by the committee

Wichita Falls High school, among both students and officials, is experiencing a feeling of suppressed intensity that has not been matched in a long time. The announcement of the action of the district executive committee at Quanah the past week-end in mustering enough votes to disqualify the Coyotes for further participation in the league race on the score of getting unorthodox assistance in coaching came as a sudden grenade from the unwarning skies.

A suppressed anviety is awaiting the result of official efforts to re-open the matter to get an adjustment which is considered equitable to the team and the school.

Tried To Avoid Trouble

This year more than ever in the memory of any teachers or pupils who have been heard to express themselves in school conversations, everything has seemed to go off in a manner to approach the desirable. Less trouble with just hangers-on and flunks than ever before has been experienced this year. In order to make sure and above board in every way the school's standing, thorough investigations were made of the status of both players and coaches until every member of the organization was thought fully eligible. An excellent player who would have helped margedly in experience and especially in the departments of punting and pass receiving was not to play anymore when a possible cloud to his eligibility was discovered, although no certain proof was found that he was not fully entitled to play.

Protest Surprises

The matter of the coaching assistance donated free of charge by Brown McCallum, brother of Coach Bud McCallum, was gone into at the opening of the season, as filed letters show, and league heads at Austin fully approved. This notice of approval was promptly filed with the executive office of the district, so as to leave nothing in doubt. School circles feel that no school could have done more to make everything correct to the letter. Consequently the protest, especially since filed by Vernon this late, was an intense surprise.

It is felt that the situation has been handled in a manner so open and unquestioned by local officials that the action of the district committee, if sustained, forcing the Coyotes to drop out, will constitute a gross injustice to the team and the school.

It is the feeling among most local fans that the manner of disqualifying the Coyotes is so manifestly unjust to the team and the coaches that it is unthinkable that no solution can be found out of the tangle.

CROWN AT STAKE

Sooners Attempt to Rob Aggies of Valley Championship.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 21.(AP)—Only two games remained today before the 1926 Missouri Valley conference football season becomes historic. Yesterday's games cleared the slate for the contest Thanksgiving day that will determine the mythical championship, when the Oklahoma Sooners clash with Oklahoma A. and M. in a last effort to rob the Aggie team of their first title.

Drake meets Grinnell at Des Moines Thursday in a game that will have no bearing on the title but which will mark the renewal of an ancient rivalry. Two non-conference games on the Pacific coast, Ames at the University of California, Southern Branch, and Nebraska at the University of Washington, at Seattle, are listed for Saturday.

ANOTHER GRANGE

Joesting of Minnesota Battles Way To 14 Touchdowns.

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.(AP)—As a touchdown maker, Herb Joesting, the Minnesota battering ram, has equalled this year the Big Ten conference record of Red Grange, with 13 touchdowns, for the season.

Grange's record was made in 1924. Neither Grange nor Joesting came close to the conference leadership in points scored last year.

Their record also is identical in that neither made any other kind of score than by touchdowns.

Gustafson, of Northwestern, registered the "hole in one," of football by scoring a touchdown from the initial kick-off.

BEARS CLINCH TITLE

CHICAGO, Nov. 21. (AP)—The Chicago Bears clinced the National Professional Football league title by defeating the Green Bay Packers, 19 to 13. Driscoll led the scoring for the Bears with two field goals, a touchdown and a kick for point after touchdown. Haney made the other Chicago touchdown.

Lewellen and Nutberg scored for the Packers and Purdy kicked the extra point.

Tribe Moleskinners Gave Bulky John Tarleton Eleven Startling Surprise

Light But Speedy Domestics Played Powerful Opponents Off Feet During Early Stages

Advance guards of the Junior College Indian team who had returned in time to attend classes at the college Saturday gathered in the halls between recitations to recount the events of the Tarleton fray, lost by a 34-0 score.

Going down to Stephenville with the intention of giving the Junior Farmers a hard battle but with no hope of winning, the fighting Maroon and Gold eleven, though far outclassed in every particular of age, weight and experience, surprised itself and the hosts by giving the Plowboys a tight battle in the early stages of the contest. In the first quarter the Indians not only held the Tarleton crew scoreless but even threatened to carry the battle dangerously near the sacred Plowboy last line. For a time the Wichita Falls line plunging game worked very well and a number of first downs were annexed through the heavy Plowboy defenses.

Steve Shows 'Em How.

Once Captain Stephenson, who was run into part of the game, although injured and not counted on, got to going well and smashed through the Tarleton line and through their secondary defense, finally being hauled down by a desperate sleeve tackle as he looked into an open field ahead. If Steve ever had gotten an open field, his shifting run would have been exceptionally hard to stop. A number of passes also added to Indian gains and kept the contest interesting.

Weight Too Much Handicap.

In the second quarter the wear and tear of coping with the big Plowboy eleven began telling on the light Wichitans and the Stephenville lads scored twice, once on an intercepted Wichita Falls pass and once on a sweeping end run behind unbeatable interference, according to statements of returned Indian players.

A new and fresh team went into the game the second half for Tarleton and found the tired Tribe easier, scoring three touchdowns. In the fourth period the Tribe again braced strongly to ward off a further mounting score, holding the Plowboys scoreless the entire period.

Every man who made the trip saw service in the game. Captain Stephenson and Boyd, both still much the worse for injuries, also were called upon to help stem the tide of Farmer intentions. The entire team put up a furious type of battle, according to players interviewed.

No injuries of any consequence were suffered by members of the Indian team and the Tribesmen are expecting to go into the Thanksgiving battle with Decatur in full strength. Coach Ludgate could not be reached Sunday for any statement as to his opinion of the struggle or as to his plans for the week.

Plainview Trip

more than 200 miles of railway extension, resulting from Friday's order, the building of these roads will do more for Wichita Falls than most anything that has happened in more recent years. It opens a vast territory that rightfully belongs to the jobbers of this city and is theirs for the asking, due to the fact that this city will be the closest large distributing center to the entire section, due also to the lower freight rates, quicker service and many other advantages. For these reasons the chamber of commerce officers and directors are anxious that as many as possible make this trip.

Special Train Possible.

There is some possibility of a special train. The rate for a special train would be the same as above set out.

Plainview is making elaborate plans for entertaining and the greatest crowd ever gathered in that city is expected. The details of the plans for the celebration have not been made known here but will today when a report will be made by the special representative of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce who is now in the field. These railway extensions mean the opening of some of the finest territory in the state and will add materially to the rich trade territory of this city.

Other Cities Active.

Dallas and Fort Worth are sending delegations to Plainview and it is the desire of the local chamber of commerce that Wichita Falls send enough representatives to make the most vivid impression, to show the people of the entire section that this city is most interested.

Under the plans for the trip business men will be absent from their places of business only one day. The mission of the trip, it is argued by many, is worth far more than the time and expense.

Ticket Sale Monday.

The representative of the industrial department of the chamber of commerce returned Sunday from Dallas and Fort Worth where he completed all the preliminary arrangements for the trip. The tickets, he announced, will be placed on sale early Monday morning. Due to the lack of time, it will be necessary for the chamber of commerce to know Wednesday how many to expect so that final traffic arrangements may be made. To get the rate of $24 it will be necessary to have at least 25 on the trip but that number is practically assured. Drawing for berths will be held at the chamber of commerce at 4:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon, November 25.

Here's the Schedule.

The special cars will be operated on the following schedule:

Leave Wichita Falls 12:05 a. m., Friday, November 26, Fort Worth and Denver City railway.

Cars may be occupied after 9:30 p. m., Thursday, November 25.

Arrive Amarillo, 7 a. m., Friday, November 26, F. W. & D. C.

Breakfast at Fred Harvey's, Santa Fe station, Amarillo.

Leave Amarillo, 7:30 a. m., Friday, November 26, P. & S. F.

Arrive Plainview, 9:45 a. m., Friday, November 26, P. & S. F.

"Honey Lou"

BY BEATRICE BURTON

READ THIS FIRST:

HONEY LOU HUNTLEY is private secretary to old "GRUMPY" WALLACK, head of the Wallack Fabric Mills. Honey Lou likes everyone at the mills except JOE MEADOWS, the shipping clerk, who makes love to her against her will.

JACK WALLACK, who comes to his father's mills to learn the business, falls in love with Honey Lou the minute he sees her. Brought up by an old-fashioned mother, Honey Lou is a mixture of flapper and clinging vine.

ANGELA ALLEN pretends to be a friend of Honey Lou and tells her not to take Jack seriously. Jack is very jealous of DR. STEVE MAYHEW, a friend of MARGRET, Honey Lou's sister.

Honey Lou goes to work with Margret in the office of Holy Cross hospital. One day she goes to tea with the wily Angelia and meets Jack's mother, whom Jack calls The Head, because she manages everything at home. She tells Honey Lou that "Grumpy" is not satisfied with his new secretary, ANN LUDLOW, the office vamp. Jack asks Honey Lou to work for his father, who is at home sick with lumbago, and Honey Lou promises that she will.

Honey Lou meets Angela, who tells her that Jack Wallack is taking her out to dance that evening. Honey Lou calls up TIM DONEGAL, determined to have him take her to the same place.

Honey Lou goes with Tim to the restaurant and he has been drinking. The place is raided by dry agents and Honey Lou escapes with Jack Wallack. Jack tells Honey Lou that he thought she was tricking him and ends by telling her that he loves her and wants her to marry him.

Honey Lou tells her mother that she is to marry Jack Wallack the next day but her mother asks her to wait and have a wedding. Honey Lou's engagement is announced and plans are made for the wedding.

She meets Angela downtown and she persuades her to open a charge account under the name of Mrs. Jack Wallack, Jr., and to put the shoes she is buying, along with some lingerie, on the account. But at home with Margret, who sees through Angela, she decides to take back the lingerie and Margret pays for the shoes for a wedding gift.

Jack and Honey Lou have a quiet home wedding and spend their honeymoon camping at Lake Tamay. In the meantime Steve visits the flat and breaks under the realization that Honey Lou is lost to him now.

Jack and Honey Lou return from their honeymoon and stay with the Wallacks while looking for a flat for themselves. Honey Lou tells Angela that they are anxious to start housekeeping. They find a sweet flat on the next street to the Wallacks and The Head says Angela told her Honey Lou could not wait to get away from them. This angers Honey Lou and she cannot understand why Jack's mother is so cool toward her. Honey Lou starts shopping for furniture. She stops at the Wallack Mills office to see Ann Ludlow.

Ann tells Honey Lou why she sent for her. Honey Lou sees Joe Meadows and tells him he must marry Ann Ludlow at once and he agrees to do so.

Honey Lou and Jack settle down in their own flat with Mary Delaney, the cook. Margret comes home with Honey Lou for dinner and Steve Mayhew calls to take her home.

Angela comes over to help Honey Lou prepare dinner on Mary's night out. Jack phones he will not be home and Angela says she will call Tim Donegal and ask him to play cards with them, much against Honey Lou's wishes.

Angela has her way and Tim comes over. Later they meet at Sabine's, but Honey Lou refuses his invitation to tea. On the way over to spend the evening with The Head, Honey Lou stops to see Angela. Angela asks her if she told Jack about their seeing Donegal. The Head sends Jack upstairs to see his father and tells Honey Lou she wants to talk to her.

The Head shows Honey Lou the bill for the shoes and lingerie she charged to Mrs. Jack Wallack Jr., before her marriage. She scolds Honey Lou for the money she has spent furnishing her house. Honey Lou makes up her mind she must not spend so much, but the next day Honey Lou goes to the beauty parlor to have her hair done and then goes shopping with Suzanne Clemens. On the way home Honey Lou stops to see Angela.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXIX

"I came to ask you a question," Honey Lou said. "Jack's mother gave me a terrible raking over the coals last night about those things I bought in the French shop the day before I was married—You remember? Those slippers and things?"

Angela nodded. All the anger had faded out of her face now, and she was gentle-looking once more.

"Yes, I remember," she answered, "but how did she find out about them? I'm sure I never mentioned them to her."

"The bill came to her instead of to me," explained Honey Lou, "and she threw a fit over it. But the worst of it was that she's found out how much I spent on my furniture! Did you tell her anything about it?"

Angela started to shake her head. Then suddenly she nodded slowly, and a flush spread slowly over her pearly whiteness.

"I'm afraid I did," she confessed, "but I didn't mean to stir up any trouble for you, Honey. I just told her about some of the lovely things you'd bought—that bed spread of Chinese embroidery, and your set of Minton china—"

"Jiminy! I wish you hadn't!" Honey Lou interrupted her with a shake of her head. "I suppose I'll hear about it now, all the rest of my natural life."

Angela gazed at her unhappily. "Darling, I'm sorry," she sighed, running a silver-topped comb through her yellow hair. "I'll try to fix it up with her in some way. I'll tell her it was my fault—that I made you buy good things that would last a long time."

"You may as well save your breath to cool your soup," the other girl answered. "It's all over, anyway. She and I hardly speak now, but brides and mothers-in-law never did get along very well, did they? So let's forget it!"

"Let's," Angela agreed. "Let's talk about something pleasant. I want to have a party for you and Jack next week. How's Saturday night for you?"

"Best night in the week," cried Honey Lou, her deep brown eyes dancing like sunlit water. She was like a child at the mere thought of a party. There had been so few of them in her life so far.

* * *

Jack was at home when she climbed to the top of the three flights of stairs. He was in his smoking jacket, and he sprawled lazily in a long chair with a book in his hands.

"What are you reading?" Honey Lou asked, and gave him a hug that was all silky fur and a fresh violets and perfumed warmth. The kiss she laid on his cheek was like a rose-petal brushing it.

But for once Jack did not respond to the magic of her sweet human contact.

He kept his eyes on the tattered brown book that he held in his hands, and answered her question with a single word: "Poetry."

"It's just some old stuff I've cut out of magazines from time to time," he went on in a shame-faced way. Most men are ashamed of reading and liking anything but newspapers.

"I was just looking at this one," he said with his finger on a bit of verse. "It used to be my idea of the kind of home I'd have when I was married—"

Honey Lou perched on the arm of his chair ,and began to read it:

"Come to our house any week-end in June ,
When the dandelions are in the grass . . . .
Open the easy-swinging gate and pass
Beneath the birch—"

She stopped and blinked. Not a word about fourth floor flats, or Chinese bedspreads, or floor pillows at twenty dollars apiece!

Another verse caught her eye, and she read on:

"—As you spread paint upon the kitchen screens,
Or fix fresh-cut nasturtiums in a bowl,
Or hold communion with the lima beans—"

She stopped reading, and knelt down on a big hear-shaped floor pillow at his feet.

"But I'd like to live like that, too!" she said. "I'd like nothing better than doing all my own work in a little house, somewhere near town! Just three or four rooms with plain furniture and little white curtains in the windows—I'd adore it!"

He laughed. "You, Honey Lou?—You live in a little house out in the country? Why, you'd die! Where have you spent your day, today, just for fun?"

She tried to remember. She had been at the beauty shop part of the afternoon, and shopping with Suzanne and Daisy afterward. But where had she spent the morning? Oh yes, in bed with a new novel. A good story, too, about a shop girl who had been left a million dollars by an old great-uncle in India.

* * *

Jack laughed again when she told him about it. "There, you see!" he said, "that's the kind of life you like."

"But it's you who makes me lead that kind of life!" Honey Lou rapped out. "I wanted a house when we were first married and I wanted to do my own cooking and cleaning, and you wouldn't let me. You made me hire Mary! And now you hate the way you live!" She was on the brink of tears.

"No I don't. I like it fine, only it costs so much," Jack said. "And anyway, we've got to stay here where we can be near my Dad. Angela says he had a dizzy spell when she was driving him down to the mills this morning. He hasn't been well for months."

It was on the top of Honey Lou's tongue to ask him where he had seen Angela, when he spoke once more:

"The little house in the country is just a dream, Honey Lou. Forget it. I'd probably be just as homesick away from town as you'd be. I'm a grouch. Don't pay any attention to me, tonight."

But Honey Lou could not forget what he had said. She thought about it when she lay beside him that night, in the midnight darkness.

"Perhaps I'm losing him the way Suzanne lost her husband," she thought miserably. "I'll let Mary go first thing in the morning, and do my own work like an old-fashioned wife."

What was it the poem had said? "Spread paint upon the kitchen screens, and fix fresh-cut flowers in a bowl?"

"I'll do more than that—I'll learn to cook!" Honey Lou promised herself fiercely. "I'll go right down to my mother, and take a course in cooking from her, by biggety-dog!"

But the next morning at nine o'clock Angela was on the telephone. Mary told Honey Lou so, when she shook her to waken her and set the breakfast tray on the bedside table.

"I want you to go downtown with me, to help me pick out a new dress for this party I'm going to give for you and Jack," she said. "And I have something to tell you—something about Jack that I forgot to tell you last night. I'll call for you in my car in half an hour."

"Oh, well," thought Honey Lou, hanging up the receiver, "I can let Mary go tomorrow instead of today. Plenty of time to begin the good work!"

An hour later she and Angela were in a little French shop.

"I thought I'd get a black velvet dress for a change," Angela told the red-headed saleswoman who had sold Honey Lou her wedding slippers. "Wouldn't you, Honey Lou."

But Honey Lou had darted across the shop to a rack where a pale pink dress, all a-glitter with pink spangles, hung.

Her eyes were bright and her cheeks scarlet with sudden excitement as she beckoned Angela to her.

"Isn't that the loveliest dress you ever saw?" she asked breathlessly. "It's my size too! Gosh, but I'd love to have it for your party! Would you buy it? It's only seventy-five dollars. Oh, I don't dare!"

"Of course, I'd buy it. That's an awfully pretty new stenographer down at Jack's place, you know," Angela drawled. "That's what I wanted to talk to you about this morning."

(TO BE CONTINUED)

WIDOW'S GRAVE ROBBED 43 YEARS AFTER BURIAL

DESPLAINES, Ill.—The caretaker of a small disused cemetery in the country near here found on his weekly visit that one of the graves had been opened and robbed. The grave was that of Mrs. Sarah Soelshen, who was buried there in 1883. The story is that considerable personal jewelry was buried with Mrs. Soelshen. The grave-robber was probably looking for this. If so, he apparently was successful, for the coffin was broken open. To get at the coffin the robber had to lift a heavy stone slab, dig out 18 inches of dirt and then remove a heavy stone resting on the coffin.

General Rules of the Contest

This competition is open to all residents of the states of Texas and Oklahoma, except employes of The Record News and members of their families.

Contestants may submit as many different solutions as they desire provided a payment of one of the amounts designated in the prize list shall accompany each solution. NO SOLUTION UN-ACCOMPANIED BY A SUBSCRIPTION PAYMENT WILL BE REGISTERED.

The Record News offers these prizes for individual effort. While it is proper for members of one household to work together or several friends, it is not permissible for more than one of those working in unison to send a solution of the puzzle. When in the judgment of the contest manager more than one member of the same family, or more than one of any number of persons he believes have worked together send in a solution of the puzzle, he reserves the right to refund subscriptions and return the solutions he believes have been submitted contrary to the foregoing rule. The Record News reserves the right to reject any solutions it believes have not been submitted under proper conditions. The Record News also reserves the right to finally decide any other questions or points which may arise and those entering the contest agree to abide by such decisions.

In the event of ties on this puzzle, as many prizes will be reserved as there are contestants tied, before any prizes are awarded for a less correct solution. For instance, if five people were tied on the best solution, the first five prizes will be reserved for them, and they would be awarded the prizes in accordance with the standing of their solutions of the second puzzle. That is, the one submitting the best solution of the second puzzle would receive the first prize; the one submitting the next best, the second, and so on.

Subscriptions may be NEW or RENEWALS. Both count the same.

Closing Date

The Great Elephant Puzzle Contest Will Close at Nine P. M. Wednesday, December 1, 1926.

The earlier you send in your solution the longer time you will have to go over your figures, AND SEND IN ANOTHER SOLUTION, if you find you can do better. Additional charts may be secured at any time by calling at the address below or sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope for mailing them. NO SOLUTION CAN BE CHANGED AFTER IT HAS BEEN ONCE REGISTERED.

Important Facts to Remember

While the amount you pay with a solution of the puzzle does not have any effect on your winning a prize, it does affect the amount you will receive, should you win one of the first nine prizes, as the value of these prizes is determined by what the winners pay. This is explained in the prize list, which you should study carefully before sending in your solution.

The time a solution is received has no bearing upon its winning a prize. Accuracy is what counts. . . . . Not more than one prize will be awarded to any one person

LARGE CROWD ON HAND FOR BIG CEREMONY

Rev. C. M. Byer in Charge Of Service for Structure At 11th, Holliday

Another epoch in the history of St. Paul's Lutheran church was marked Sunday afternoon with the laying of the cornerstone of the new church which is being erected at the corner of Eleventh and Holliday. Impressive ceremonies were conducted under direction of the pastor, Rev. C. M. Beyer.

"This congregation has Christ Jesus as the true cornerstone," Rev. Beyer said in a brief address. "The congregation has the word of God as a true foundation, and as St. Paul's Lutheran church has a cornerstone, so has the congregation a cornerstone of the word of God," and the speaker explained the symbolism expressed in placing a holy Bible in the cornerstone.

Building Fine Type.

"The cornerstone assures us that we are building the finest type of a church and with Christ and the word of God, it cannot be otherwise. The new church is to aid us in our spiritual work."

The program included the singing of a hymn by the assembly; a prayer by the pastor; the scripture reading taken from Ephesians 2, 19-22; responsive reading of Psalms; the reading of the list of contents placed in the cornerstone as follows:

Holy Bible, names of president, governor, mayor, catechism, Lutheran witness, "Lutheraner," Walther league messenger, junior messenger, young Lutheran's magazine, American Lutheran, list of communicants of church, building committee, officers of the congregation, ladies' aid and Bible class and choir, Wichita Falls Record News, Wichita Daily Times, synodical budget for 1926, book of Wheatridge Sanitarium Christmas seals, constitution of congregation and Bible class.

The program closed with the Confession of Creed, a prayer by Rev. Beyer, the repeating of the Lord's prayer in unison and the benediction.

Every member canvass: Rev. W. D. Cook, temporary chairman; W. B. Hamilton, C. E. McCutchen; Mesdames C. W. Watson, T. R. Boone, E. H. Taubert, F. R. Johnson, B. B. Woodall, T. T. T. Reese, J. W. Shiller, L. H. Gilbreath.

These committees are to meet next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Floral Heights Methodist church where they will be organized permanently, it was announced. The executive committee will also appoint a building committee to arrange for a tabernacle in which to hold the revival. Devotional exercises will be held with Dr. Bash leading, after which the committees will go into separate meetings.

Miller Preaches.

Yesterday's meeting was opened with a prayer by Dr. Grafton and was followed by a devotional led by Rev. Leslie Miller, who took his text from the fourth chapter of Zachariah, 1-3 verses, "Not by might nor by power, but by the spirit, sayeth the Lord." He showed how modern day churches tend to become mechanical in their efficiency and organization and are prone to "forget the might of the spirit." In looking forward to the union revival he urged that all organization being made for it be made in the spirit of prayer. He closed the devotion with an altar prayer service.

Churches of the city participating in the union revival include the First Methodist, Floral Heights Methodist, Grace Methodist, First Presbyterian, Floral Heights Presbyterian, First Christian, Highland Heights Christian, First Southern Presbyterian, Scotland Evangelical, Yale Avenue Evangelical, Salvation Army and the Nazarene church.

3,500-Ton Ship Named For West Texas Floating Advertisement For Section

STAMFORD, Nov. 21.—West Texas and the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, regional organization serving the empire agricultural section, are receiving wide-spread attention through the trim-lined craft of the Southern Steamship company named in their honor, which is now plying between Philadelphia and Houston. The "S. S. West Texas" operates on a regular schedule, leaving Philadelphia on Wednesdays and Saturdays, arriving in Houston seven days later, and proudly bears on its graceful bow the gleaming letters of "West Texas," telling the world of the big territory for which it is named.

The S. S. "West Texas" is a distinctive vessel. It is the only ship christened by Texas mineral water at a unique ceremony under auspices of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. It is the only craft named for a particular section of the country and for the chamber of commerce organization serving the region. Miss "West Texas" is worthy of these distinctions. She is a sturdy craft 275 feet long with a carrying capacity of 3,500 tons, and is manned with a crew of 32 members. The cargo of Miss "West Texas" consists of assorted merchandise much of which is booked for the greatest section of the greatest state in the union in whose honor she was named.

THEY FEEL AT HOME

Pastor Calls Congregation To Order With Referee's Whistle

KINGSTON ON THAMES, England, Nov. 21. (AP)—One sharp blast of a referee's whistle from the pulpit startled the congregation in St. Paul's church, Kingston Hill, when the Rev. A. Wellesley Orr arose to deliver his sermon. Instead of prefacing his remarks with a text of scripture the vicar explained that the whistle would serve as such as many of his listeners were members of football clubs of the Kingston district.

"This whistle strikes terror into many of you, as I noticed by the way in which you jumped," the minister began. Pointing out that he himself as a young man had been an association referee, the vicar proceeded:

"My refereeing appeared to annoy some of the players because they began to swear; so I gave it up, as it is no use making a man swear on Saturday afternoon and trying to do a bit of good on Sunday."

HIGH GRAVITY GAS IN DEMAND

Orders are Few But High Grades Hold Steady Demand

While Mid-Continent refiners are not crowded with orders for gasoline from jobbers, they do report that the call for higher gravities is increasing. The advent of no-knock gasolines on the market, all possessing a higher gravity than the customary U. S. motor grade, has cut the demand for U. S. motor and increased that of the 60-62, 64-66 and 68-70.

Natural gasoline manufacturers report business brisk, with all active refiners buying to improve the quality of their stored motor fuels. The demand for higher gravity of motor fuel is responsible for an increased run of crude to the stills in the Mid-Continent.

Word from New York says that the export demand for gasoline has shown a marked improvement, and gulf refiners have put their quotations up three-eighths to one-half cent a gallon. British and French buyers were responsible for this strengthening.

Domestic gasoline business on the Atlantic coast is dull, due to a continued receipt of California gasoline.

Fuel oil prices were advanced one and one-eighth of a cent a gallon Saturday by Pennsylvania refiners.
