Budget approved; tax rate drops by 5 cents

Scurry County citizens will see a substantial drop in the county tax rate next year, after the Scurry County commissioners court adopted a new budget Monday afternoon.

The court unanimously set the 1997 tax rate at 53.51 cents per $100 valuation — just more than five cents below the current year's rate and six cents lower than the effective tax rate of 59.71 cents.

The spending document for 1977 is below 1996's budget by some $200,000. The budget was approved $5,656,403 - down from $5,860,789.

Total expenditures for the county, including Hermleigh Water Works, Cogdell Memorial Hospital and the Doctor's Clinic Fund, totals $20.4 million. The biggest chunk of this figure relates to the hospital with an operating budget set at $14.6 million. The hospital's budget was approved last week by its board of managers and it, too, is lower than 1996. The hospital budget calls for $395,000 in county tax funds

The new budget also includes a three-percent increase in salaries for all county employees, including elected and appointed officials.

County Judge Ricky Fritz said this morning that while the court is proud that it was able to cut six cents off the effective tax rate, the county's job is really just beginning.

"We are going to have to work real hard to keep our expenditures under budget," said Fritz.

In Monday's court session, the pay increase was approved on a 3-1 vote with Precinct 2 Commissioner Roy Idom objecting to the increase.

Prior to approving the budget Monday afternoon, some $80,000 in expenditures were added to the budget with the largest being $45,000 to help fund a program for juvenile offenders. Known as the S.T.A.R. Program, it is expected to be funded through the county, city and school district and is based on a before and after school boot camp program.

Representatives of the county met last week with city and school officials to discuss starting such a program here. A group of citizens representing the same entities will tour a Lubbock boot camp early Friday morning.

Some $26,000 was added to the budget to subsidize county retiree's insurance premiums and $4,000 was budgeted to pay for office supplies and equipment for the state's Mental Health/Mental Retardation office. The county had been funding the office by some $22,000, but dissatisfaction with that agency's service caused the court to balk at paying rental on an office building. Fritz said Tuesday that the county would provide an office for the agency in a county-owned building.

Commissioners also approved one budget amendment and four line-item transfers Monday afternoon.

Hermleigh water works requested a $3,500 budget amendment for the purchase of land for a new water storage facility and for office equipment.

A line-item transfer in the amount of $500 was requested by Sy Tabor for the probation department. The amount was moved from the equipment line to other equipment.

H.V. Walker requested $1,400 be moved from the road material and construction line of his budget to swimming pool utilities. Roger Sullenger requested $1,500 be moved from the part-time salary line at the airport to utilities, and Noreen Taylor requested $880 be moved from the equipment line at the library to supplies.

Fritz presided at the meeting and all commissioners were in attendance including C.D. Gray Jr., Roy Idom, Ralph Trevey and Jerry Gannaway.

THE SDN COLUMN

By Roy McQueen

The feller on Deep Creek says, "A dairy farmer is one who owes all his success to udders."

Rain, Thanks!

Tiger Woods shot seven-under-par in his first professional tournament, still he finished in 60th place and earned just over $2,000.

While we expect the rookie to have a successful career, such a start proves there are tons of good players out there who shoot below par.

We suspect Tiger will do okay because he can just enjoy playing golf without the pressure. All he has to do is wear those tennis shoes and he's already worth 40 million.

We recently came across some statistics concerning the odds of making the professional golf tour. One thing's for certain — there is no lack of competition.

About 25 million Americans have played at least one round of golf this year, not counting professionals.

More than five million are considered avid golfers, those who have played 25 or more rounds in 1996. Of these, roughly one million are women and four million are men.

If one in 20 avid amateur golfers think they could play respectably on the tour, that calculates to 50,000 women and 200,000 men.

This year, the professional golf tour has only 417 players and the LPGA has 210. Only the top 125 money winners are assured a place on the tour the following season, plus a few assorted exemptions.

Therefore fewer than half of those 417 pros are really making it as a pro. Ratios are said to be similar for female players.

Odds at making it on the pro circuit are similar to winning the Texas lottery.

Rain, Thanks!

Such statistics remind us of a conversation that Jack Denman had with Jerald Garner, minister of music at Colonial Hill Baptist Church.

Denman sang a solo one Sunday evening. After the service, Denman asked Garner for an honest opinion.

Garner thought for a moment and said, "Jack it went pretty well. No one called 9-1-1." But then came the advice, "Jack, don't give up your day job."

Seven tie in week two of SDN contest

Seven people, with four misses each, tied for top honors in week two of the Snyder Daily News football contest.

After using the tie breaker, a tie still existed between Jacob Kemp of 2605 28th and Helen Boyce of 2006 37th, Apt. 34. Kemp guessed a combined score of 42 in the Snyder-Sweetwater contest and Boyce guessed 44. The actual combined score was 43.

After consulting the judges, it was decided to combine the first and second place prize money and split it between the two. Each will receive a check for $37.50.

David Cain of 4112 Jacksboro and Donna Browning of 4501 Crockett both picked 41 total points in the tie breaker. The two entries will split the $15 third place money.

The other three who missed four were Teri Presley, Mark McCormick and Joshua Kemp. A new contest begins today.

Testimony continues in possession case

A jury of six men and six women was selected about 4 p.m. Monday in the 132nd District Court trial of Christine Holiday Bailey.

Bailey, 34, of San Angelo was arrested by Snyder city police on May 21 and charged with possession of cocaine. Testimony was continuing at noon today.

District Judge Ernie Armstrong is presiding. District Attorney Dana Cooley is presenting the state's case, and the defendant is represented by Steven L. Woolard of San Angelo.

Wardens to meet here Wednesday

Thirty persons are expected here Wednesday when Snyder hosts the quarterly meeting Texas Department of Criminal Justice wardens in the western region.

T.J. Medart, senior warden at the Price Daniel unit, said meetings will start at 9 a.m. at Snyder Country Club. Later that afternoon, the visitors will be treated to a dove hunt in Fisher County.

Wardens are expected from units in Fort Stockton, Lamesa, Colorado City, Abilene, Lubbock, Plainview, Tulia, Dalhart, Amarillo, Pampa, Childress, Brownfield, Breckenridge and Brownwood.

Ross Perot excluded from 1996 presidential debates

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ross Perot should be excluded from this fall's debates between President Clinton and Bob Dole because he does not have a realistic chance of winning the election, the bipartisan Commission on Presidential Debates recommended today.

"Participation is not extended to candidates because they might prove interesting or entertaining," co-chairman Paul Kirk said.

The panel voted unanimously to recommend that Perot and Reform Party running mate Pat Choate should not be invited to the debates, the commission said in a statement.

Perot's national coordinator, Russell Verney, called the decision a "travesty" and threatened to challenge it in a federal lawsuit.

The Dole campaign welcomed the decision as the only fair outcome. But the Clinton camp said the ruling was regrettable and Perot's possible participation would still be a matter for discussion between the two campaigns.

Former Republican Party chief Frank Fahrenkopf Jr., another commission co-chairman, said the panel took an "unvarnished" view of Perot's chances — noting his current poll standings as well as his showing as an independent candidate in 1992, when he won 19 percent of the popular vote but not a single electoral vote.

Fahrenkopf added that the panel could re-open the question of Perot's participation "if circumstances change at any time after the first debate."

Perot's exclusion represents a victory for Dole, who has called for one-on-one debates with the Democratic incumbent. Clinton and Dole campaign negotiators were scheduled to meet later today to discuss dates and formats. The commission has recommended that the first debate be next Wednesday, Sept. 25, but the Clinton campaign will propose that the first showdown be held a week later — on or around Oct. 2, sources said today.

Clinton campaign manager Peter Knight said, "We regret the decision by the commission. We had assumed all along that Mr. Perot would be in the debates."

Chamber directors eye coming events

Snyder chamber directors Monday discussed the coliseum contract and upcoming events during its monthly meeting held at the chamber office.

Chamber manager Donna Fowler said the chamber has completed its first year of a contract to manage the Scurry County Coliseum, and that chamber representatives will meet with the commissioners court to discuss changes in the contract which she described as minor.

Fowler said the chamber is interested in an agreement for longer than one year and is interested in having responsibilities of the chamber and county more clearly defined.

The majority of the meeting focused on future activities, including this week's Scurry County Fair and the White Buffalo Festival Oct. 4-6. Other events at the coliseum include Keith Collier Appreciation Day Oct. 10, a community-wide shower for the Brent Taylor family in mid October and the Western Texas College Thanksgiving Basketball Classic in November.

Plans are also being made for Snyder's Christmas season. "We want to have so many neat things going on that people will not want to leave town," Fowler said.

Santa will arrive in Snyder and Christmas lights will be turned on the Saturday following Thanksgiving. On Dec. 7, the annual Lighted Christmas Parade will be held, followed by a Christmas Ball at the Scurry County Coliseum where Santa Land will be located.

On Dec. 14, the chamber will help sponsor a Children's Theatre in the Worsham Auditorium. The special children's troupe will present "Pinocchio."

The board also appointed a committee to nominate directors for 1997. Members of the nominating committee are Lannie Lee, Bill Dryden, Fran Farmer and Jack McGlaun.

The committee will nominate five persons to replace out-going directors Gary Luft, Art Feinsod, Howard Limmer and Daryl Thomas.

The committee will make its report in October, and ballots will then be mailed to chamber members.

New chamber members are The Finishing Touch, Tiger Health and Fitness Center and Hargrove Insurance Co.

Annual 'at the pole' events are Wednesday

"See You at the Pole" will be observed at Snyder schools Wednesday morning, and a similar event for adults will be held on the courthouse square.

The annual event features students across the state gathering at the flag pole for prayer. Two events are set for the Snyder high school and junior high — at 6:45 and 7:45 a.m. The prayer service will be held at West Elementary at 7:45.

In support of the students and as an opportunity to pray for our country, a similar event is planned for 7:45 a.m. at the flag pole on the Scurry County Courthouse square. Everyone is invited.

A related event, "See You at the Party, will be held at 6:30 p.m. in the Worsham Auditorium at SHS. Billy Riggs will perform an illusion show, and admission is $1.

Following the illusion show, a bonfire will be held at 8:30 p.m. at the Tim Riggan home on Round Top Road, just south of Western Texas College.

Trooper slayer going back to Oregon

SALEM, Ore. (AP) — Spurred by a Klamath County prosecutor, the state has decided that a county jail in Texas is the wrong place to keep a man convicted of murdering an Oregon state trooper.

Francisco Manzo-Hernandez and another Oregon murderer escaped Sunday from the Denton County jail north of Dallas. They were captured a short time later.

Oregon Corrections Department spokesman Jim Lockwood said Monday that Manzo-Hernandez will likely be brought back to the maximum-security Oregon State Penitentiary in the next few days.

Lockwood said objections raised by Klamath County District Attorney Ed Caleb and others "speeded up the concern" over Manzo-Hernandez, who is serving life in prison without parole for killing Trooper Bret Clodfelter.

However, there are no plans to bring back the other Oregon murderer who escaped with Manzo-Hernandez. There was less pressure to return Arturo Ruiz because his case didn't have such a high profile, Lockwood said.

Caleb said he had written several letters to the Corrections Department outlining his concerns that Manzo-Hernandez would be tempted to escape from a jail so much closer to his native Mexico than Oregon, but was assured the jail was escape-proof.

"His escape is an affront to every law enforcement official in the state of Oregon," Caleb said. "Manzo-Hernandez should be caged like the dangerous animal that he is."

Manzo-Hernandez was convicted of aggravated murder in 1994 for shooting Clodfelter four times in the back of the head as the trooper sat in his patrol car outside Klamath Falls. Clodfelter was giving Manzo-Hernandez and another man a ride after arresting their companion.

At the closing of his trial, Manzo-Hernandez told the jury he had undergone a jailhouse conversion to Christianity, promising to respect the jury's decision and "carry it wherever I go in my heart."

Clodfelter had been married just a month when he was murdered. His widow, Rene Crockatt Clodfelter, committed suicide about a year later.

Her mother, Anne Crockatt, said news of the escape sent chills through her and she was relieved Manzo-Hernandez had been caught.

Clodfelter's father said he was upset that Manzo-Hernandez had been sent out of state without notifying the victim's family.

"If anybody should be kept in this state, it should be Manzo-Hernandez," said Lloyd Clodfelter of Medford. "I want an explanation from the highest levels of state government as to how this ever happened."

Jackson County District Attorney Mark Huddleston said Oregon should bring back Ruiz as well.

Ruiz was convicted of aggravated murder and sentenced to life in prison with a 20-year minimum in 1985 for shooting a Medford autobody worker in order to steal his pickup truck.

Manzo-Hernandez and Ruiz climbed over a razor-wire fence Sunday evening and escaped into the woods. The jail is about 30 miles north of Dallas.

Guards tracked down Ruiz in about 45 minutes and Manzo-Hernandez was captured in about 90 minutes. Manzo-Hernandez was treated for severe cuts and Ruiz was treated for cuts and a broken ankle.

Lockwood said the jail in Texas was designed to hold serious offenders such as Manzo-Hernandez.

"The Oregon Department of Corrections has a lot of bad characters," Lockwood said. "If we were only to send low-risk ones out of state, we wouldn't have many to send."

On Monday, Oregon had 755 inmates in prisons in Idaho, Texas and Arizona and 88 more in rented beds around Oregon. The Denton County jail has 207 of them. The inmates have been shipped out of state to relieve overcrowding while Oregon expands its prison system.

Two military cadets transferred to Texas

FORT WORTH (AP) — An Air Force Academy cadet joined his fiancee today in the same jail where both await trial in the slaying of his alleged onetime fling.

David Graham was transferred to the Tarrant County jail Monday on a capital murder charge, continuing to vow his devotion to Diane Zamora.

"I love you," Graham, 18, said when asked by reporters if he had anything to say to Ms. Zamora, also 18, who is also being held in the county jail.

The two are accused of killing 16-year-old Adrianne Jones in December because of a sexual encounter she supposedly had with Graham.

Police say the betrayal enraged Ms. Zamora, former midshipman at the U.S. Naval Academy, who told Graham the only way for him to make it right was to kill Jones.

Although housed in the same building, Graham and Ms. Zamora won't be able to see one another but can write to each other, said Cmdr. James Skidmore of the Tarrant County Sheriff's Department.

Graham flew to Texas on a commercial airliner. He arrived at the jail escorted by law officers, his hands handcuffed in front of him, and wearing military camouflage pants, black boots and a brown windbreaker.

Skidmore said Graham was to be arraigned and placed in protective custody because of the amount of publicity the case has received.

"Diane Zamora has been filed on for capital murder," Assistant District Attorney Mike Parrish said Monday.

Ms. Zamora is charged with killing Jones in the course of a kidnapping, he said.

Parrish said he wouldn't be surprised if the charge against Graham was also upgraded to capital murder, a charge that carries a possible death sentence.

Prosecutors haven't decided whether to pursue the death penalty, he said.

The case broke after Ms. Zamora reportedly told fellow classmates at the Naval Academy about the pair's involvement in the crime.

Police say Graham failed a polygraph test and signed a written confession, explaining that he had a one-night affair with Jones, and then, overcome with guilt, told Ms. Zamora about it.

The two decided to kill Jones, according to the confession.

But Graham's lawyers say the confession won't be allowed in court.

Mistrial declared in trial of man on 10th DWI charge

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Jurors in the trial of a former Bexar County elections employee on his 10th DWI charge say that a general distrust of police led to a mistrial.

The mistrial was declared Monday in the case of Robert Hinojosa, 41, after jurors reported they were deadlocked 9-3 in favor of a conviction. Hinojosa will remain free on bond while authorities decide what to do.

Jurors had deliberated 6½ hours over two days before announcing the deadlocked.

Bette Berns, president of the San Antonio chapter of Mothers Against Drunk Drivers, who was in the courtroom when the mistrial was declared, said she was outraged.

"It's appalling the jury was unable to reach a decision," she said. "This means Bexar County has one more drunk driver to watch out for."

With or without saying

By Phillip Alder

Some signs are so unnecessary that they are funny. For example, one seen in London: "Ears Pierced While You Wait." Others aren't so obvious. In Ubud on the island of Bali, there was this sign: "Antiques — Made to Order."

At the bridge table, it is similar. Some plays are so obvious that everyone would make them. But others aren't so clear-cut. Into which category does today's deal fit? How should the play go in four spades? West leads the heart ace, playing ace from ace-king.

After South opened with one no-trump, showing 15-17 in the modern style, North transferred into spades at the four-level. (To transfer at the two-level and then jump to game is a mild slam-try. Here, North just wanted to play in game.)

Four spades seems to be an easy make, doesn't it? But sitting East was Julian Klukowski, who was part of the Polish teams that won the European Championship in 1981 and 1989. He could see that if West had the ace and king of hearts, South had to have both the ace and queen of clubs. So, there appeared to be only three defensive tricks: two hearts and one diamond. However, rather than throw in the towel immediately, Klukowski found a resourceful play. He encouraged in hearts, which both West and South took to show a doubleton. Therefore, when West continued with the king and another heart, South ruffed with dummy's spade king. However, now West had a trump trick and the contract finished one down.

Would you have thought of that legal lie in hearts?

Fortensky arrested

REDONDO BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Elizabeth Taylor's husband No. 8 was arrested for the second time in a month, this time on suspicion of carrying a loaded gun.

Police stopped Larry Fortensky's motorcycle Sunday because he wasn't wearing a helmet, Sgt. Phil Keenan said. Fortensky, 44, had an expired license and registration, so officers asked him to show identification.

"He kept saying, 'Don't you know who I am?' And the officers kept saying, 'No,'" Keenan said.

Officers found a semiautomatic 9mm gun in the bike's saddlebag, Keenan said. He was booked and released without bail.

Fortensky told police he was arrested in August for investigation of being under the influence of drugs, but prosecutors dropped the case.

Taylor cited irreconcilable differences when she filed for divorce from Fortensky on Feb. 5.

Pain may be eliminated for millions
(SPECIAL) A drug that is exciting researchers in the treatment of pain has been formulated into a new product known as "Arthur Itis™" and is being called a "Medical Miracle" by some, in the treatment of debilitating conditions such as arthritis, bursitis, rheumatism, painful muscle aches, joint aches, simple backache, bruises, and more. Although the mechanism of action is unclear, experiments indicate that Arthur Itis™ relieves pain by first selectively attracting and then destroying the messenger chemical which carries pain sensations to the brain, thus eliminating pain in the affected area. Arthur Itis™ is an odorless, greaseless, nonstaining cream, and is available immediately without a prescription and is guaranteed to work or your money back.

Texas holds 5 game lead...

Mariners shut out Rangers, 6-0

SEATTLE (AP) — A few more pitching efforts like this just might get the Seattle Mariners into the postseason.

The American League's best hitting team got a combined four-hit shutout from Jamie Moyer and Bobby Ayala as the Mariners defeated the Texas Rangers 6-0 Monday night in the first of a four-game series.

Seattle pitchers have thrown 24 consecutive shutout innings. It gave the Mariners back-to-back shutout victories for the first time since April 27-28, 1993 against the Cleveland Indians.

"Two shutouts in a row," Seattle manager Lou Piniella said. "That's something."

The Mariners have won five in a row and also gained ground in the wild-card race against both Baltimore and Chicago. Seattle trails the Orioles by 3½ games and the White Sox by a half-game.

Still, the Mariners face an uphill battle.

"We have gotten good pitching the last eight games," Piniella said. "We need our staff to stay hot."

Moyer (12-3) kept the Rangers off-balance with an assortment of off-speed pitches. He is 5-2 with a 3.41 ERA in nine starts with the Mariners since a July 30 trade with the Boston Red Sox for Darren Bragg.

Moyer said starting pitchers can build off a teammate's outstanding performance.

"When you see another starter fight and battle and have success, it inspires you to do the same thing," Moyer said.

He wasn't disappointed that he didn't have a chance to complete his first shutout since July 6, 1993.

"One game is not a season," Moyer said. "Those are Lou's decisions."

The Rangers have lost five of six overall, and 14 of their last 16 in the Kingdome. Their AL West lead was trimmed to five games over Seattle.

Texas manager Johnny Oates said he has no explanation for his team's troubles in Seattle.

"I don't why it happens, but I think it is overrated," Oates said. "We know we have a good ballclub. We have the same kind of success against Cleveland that Seattle has against us."

Moyer matched a career-high for wins. He allowed four hits, struck out five and walked two. Bobby Ayala pitched a perfect ninth.

Mariners catcher Dan Wilson said Moyer's control kept the Rangers off-balance most of the game.

"He took a lot off his changeup, stayed ahead of the hitters and put them on the defensive," Wilson said.

Edgar Martinez hit his 50th double, driving in a run in the seventh for a 6-0 lead. He became just the fifth player since 1900 to hit 50 or more doubles in consecutive seasons. The last to do it was Joe Medwick in 1936-37.

Leading 2-0 after five innings, the Mariners broke open the game with three runs in the sixth.

Steelers slow down Buffalo

PITTSBURGH (AP) — If the Buffalo Bills took anything positive away from yet another miserable Monday night in Pittsburgh, it's this: Jim Kelly finally found the open receiver.

The trouble was, they were the guys wearing the Steelers' black jerseys.

Kelly hit them four times — three in the second quarter alone — and the Steelers cruised to a 24-6 victory in a matchup of AFC Super Bowl hopefuls.

Perhaps playing the Steelers and Cowboys in a week's time has the Bills totally confused. Maybe they think they're already in the Super Bowl.

"This was embarrassing .... humiliating," Bills coach Marv Levy said. "I'm not about to point the finger at any one person. You could name just about anybody on this team and say they didn't play well and you'd be right."

Kelly finished 15-of-31 for 116 yards and four interceptions in one of his worst games outside of his four Super Bowl losses. He is 0-4 with two touchdowns and nine interceptions since 1992 in Three Rivers Stadium, which has turned into his personal house of horrors.

"When you make a great quarterback like Jim Kelly hesitate and throw the ball to you, you've done a great job," Steelers defensive coordinator Dick LeBeau said. "They tried everything, but when a defense is playing well like ours is, it looks like you're setting on everything they're doing."

At least Kelly managed to play from start to finish. In his last three trips back to his hometown, the Steelers' defense knocked him out with injuries, including Greg Lloyd's body-slam sack in the Steelers' 40-21 playoff victory in January.

Junior high volleyball sweeps Greenwood

It was a six of six night for the Snyder Junior High volleyball teams Monday as they won all matches over Midland Greenwood.

The seventh grade A team took a 17-15, 15-9 victory. Amber Alexander and Katie Voss led the way with nine each. Kasey Collier and Andra Lancaster added four, Chasity Perales two and Vanessa Freeman one.

The seventh B team took the match, 15-11, 15-11. Maritza Aguirre had the hot hand from the service line with 18. Anna Williams added eight, Crystal Rodriguez seven, Elvia Barrera five, Stormy Clark four and Keeli Shoemake one.

It took three sets, but the seventh C team was victorious, 15-10, 13-15, 15-1. Crystal Garcia was high point with 13. Whitney Rogers contributed six, Shiloh Fritz, Cheyenne Walker and Haley Holmes had three each and Amber Dodgen one.

For the eighth grade A, it was a 15-4, 15-9 victory. Callie Bane had six to lead the way. Five girls had four, T'Leah Eicke, Dixie Yandrich, Lisa Hall, Kameron Kallemeyn and Rina Geiger. Melissa French added three, Cary Brown and Cameron Mackey one each.

In the B game, Snyder took a 15-7, 15-11 decision. Kristen Murray paced the way with 15, followed by Leslie English with eight, Dana McCright four and Jennifer Newman three.

It was a 15-8, 15-8 win for the C team. Three girls, Lindsey Bunch, Casey Blackard and Crissida Tyler led the way with six. LaCrystal Brooks had five, Latisha Thamez four and Jessica Pierson three.

The eighth grade team will meet Jal, N.M at noon Saturday in the first-round of the Seminole tournament.

Tiger netters win district opener

The Snyder High School tennis team opened District 2-4A play Saturday in impressive fashion, taking 16 of 18 matches away from the Lamesa Golden Tors.

"This was a good start to district play," said SHS tennis coach Chad Redwine. "The kids were excited and ready to play.

"It's tough to sweep a school completely. Everyone must be at their best. The magic number to get to is 10. If you get 10, then you have won the match. Once we hit 10, we clinched the match, so it is a lot easier to relax."

Snyder went up 14-0 Saturday before losing a match.

"Cynthia Fennell showed great determination to come back and win her match." Fennell was down 5-2 in the first set and came back to win, 75-. 6-3.

The coach said, "Ty Jones had a battle at the number five spot. Ty was not at this best, but he hung in there and closed it out." It took three sets, but Jones came away with a victory, 6-3, 3-6, 7-5.

"I believe the kids are excited about district this year," Redwine said. "We made it to regionals last year, and the kids want to go back. The freshmen are talking about Regionals and they have never been. It is going to be a tough district for this young team, but if they keep working and stay focused and determined, we could do good."

Lady Tiger golfers win tri-match by 29 shots

Snyder High School girls' golf team fired a 344 Saturday at the Snyder Country Club to take first place in a tri-match with Big Spring and Andrews.

"We need to improve on playing all 18 holes instead of just a few throughout the round," said golf coach Matt Glenn.

Big Spring shot a 373, followed by Andrews with 375.

The boys' team played at the Western Texas College course and finished third with a 351. Andrews won the tri-match with a 310, followed by Big Spring's 321.

Troy Allen had the low-round for Snyder with an 85. Kraig Billingsley carded an 87, Nick Long 89, Jacob Smith 90 and Colby Stoker 119.

The next tri-match will be Saturday in Lamesa with Snyder, Big Spring and Lamesa playing.

Offer made

BALTIMORE (AP) — Michael Lasky, the founder of the Psychic Friends Network, is offering $500,000 for the baseball Eddie Murray hit for his 500th home run.

If the sale goes through, it would be the most ever paid for a piece of sports memorabilia.

Red Tide reappears along Texas coast

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — Red tide has returned to the Texas coast, prompting a shellfish ban and killing thousands of other fish along the Coastal Bend.

The Texas Department of Health said Monday all area coastal waters were closed to harvesting of clams, mussels and oysters because their consumption by humans could cause neurotoxic shellfish poisoning.

Still air offshore created favorable blooming conditions for red tide, an algae that produces a red tint in water, said Dean Stockwell, a research associate at the Marine Science Institute in Port Aransas.

While the algae normally remains 20 to 30 miles offshore, wind gusts have pushed it toward land, claiming thousands of fish and irritating sunbathers, Stockwell said.

Fish began washing ashore last week, leaving an estimated 40,000 thread-fin herring dead along Mustang Island. On Sunday, dead fish including worm eels, red snapper and hardhead catfish lined the beaches from Port Aransas to Mustang Island State Park.

The red tide also affected beachgoers, who complained of scratchy eyes and respiratory problems.

Lisa Sanders and Angelica Frausto, both respiratory therapists from Austin, spent a four-day weekend at Port Aransas sunning themselves and coughing.

"So that's what it is," Sanders was quoted as saying in Monday's Corpus Christi Caller-Times. "We've been coughing all morning."

David Bryant, a cleaning supply salesman from Austin, said he and his girlfriend had hacking coughs and itchy eyes, but initially didn't think it was anything unusual.

"I just figured it was sand and salt blowing in my face," he said.

Nothing can be done to stop red tide, scientists said. However, they said they would continue to test the water and work with other marine stations along the coast to determine the extent of the problem.

"We're looking at the first wave of this," Stockwell said. "It may be all we're going to see or there may be other waves. It's too early to assess."

In 1986, a red tide outbreak forced the closure of a number of beaches and resulted in a ban on swimming in those areas. Shellfishing also was banned in some bays.

The 1986 outbreak began in late August and dissipated about two months later. Scientists speculated at the time that cooler air and water temperatures helped break up the red tide.

Student's expulsion upheld

HOUSTON (AP) — The expulsion of a student who was accused of cheating on an important examination five years ago has been upheld by the president of the University of Texas Health Science Center at Houston.

Bruce Coane, a lawyer who represents former student Allan Than, said Monday he won't accept the ruling by President David Low as the final word on the matter.

Coane says he will take the case back to civil court, where judges have ruled several times that the school violated Than's right of due process.

In the spring of 1991, Than and 28 classmates took the National Board of Medical Examiners surgery exam. That's one of five exams that third-year students must pass.

Superman, Lois Lane fnally getting married

NEW YORK (AP) — Who says there's no such thing as a storybook romance? Only those who have forgotten about the rocky but persistent love affair between comic hero Superman and Lois Lane.

They're finally getting married — in print and on television — after a courtship of about 60 years, DC Comics executive editor, Mike Carlin said.

"They've decided it's the right thing to do," Carlin told the New York Post in today's editions.

The Man of Steel, a.k.a. mild-mannered reporter Clark Kent, will say "I do" to his Daily Planet colleague in a special comic called "Superman: The Wedding Album."

The comic book goes on sale Oct. 9, just three days after their TV counterparts get hitched on ABC's "Lois and Clark: The New Adventures of Superman."

The couple has dated since 1938, when the first Superman comic book debuted. They got engaged six years ago.

Lois dumped Superman just seven months ago, on Valentine's Day, accusing him of spending more time saving the world than on their relationship. She even left Metropolis to become a foreign correspondent.

But she has done some "serious soul searching," since then, Carlin said. "She came to the conclusion she couldn't live without him."

Carlin promises that the ceremony won't be marred by any villains, but the same cannot be said of the honeymoon in Hawaii, where an ancient menace will cross their paths.

Superman will have a bachelor party in the Ace of Clubs, a "sleazy bar in the longshoremen section of Metropolis," Carlin said.

There won't be any dancing girls, just a good old fashioned brawl, he added.

Not to be outdone, Lois plans her own bachelorette party and bridal shower, complete with a knockdown fight of its own.

Open Windows at Night Open the Way for Trouble

DEAR ABBY: I am a retired police detective. Recently I saw a letter in your column from a woman whose husband insisted on sleeping with their bedroom window open.

Your response to her was to recommend that she wear warmer night clothes and accommodate her spouse by allowing the window to remain open.

The overwhelming majority (and by that I mean in excess of 90 percent!) of home burglaries, robberies, assaults, rapes and murders are the result of insecure premises allowing the criminal(s) entry.

I don't know where that woman lives, but it doesn't matter. An open window is an invitation for a criminal to enter. Open windows, while occupants are sleeping and helpless, are an invitation to disaster.

This woman's husband is incredibly ignorant, selfish or uncaring. No responsible man would expose his loved ones to danger in this manner. If the woman can't depend upon her husband to protect her, and if he doesn't care enough about himself, she should dump him.

C.M. MARTIN,
POLICE LIEUTENANT
(RETIRED), BERKELEY, CALIF.

DEAR LT. MARTIN: Thank you for reminding my readers that an open window can be an open invitation to danger.

DEAR ABBY: Ms. Autumn R. Vogel of Dallas wrote you that she was "teed off" and "frightened" enough to return home because while she was jogging, she received some "uninvited, crude attention" from some men.

Ms. Vogel, I have observed many females jogging in my community, and have also noted what their jogging attire consists of. It leaves very little to the imagination, and in my opinion, 99 percent of these females are seeking the attention that these outfits bring. Therefore, as a man, I will look at them. I can only surmise that your jogging attire is skintight as well. If you do not want the attention that comes with these skintight outfits — don't jog in them.

Ms. Vogel went on to state, "... mothers, please teach your sons that sexual harassment of any kind is wrong." Ms. Vogel, if you truly believe this, why limit the plea to just sons? Are you saying it's acceptable for females to sexually harass men? Remember, many of you "ladies" have demanded total equality. This equality should go both ways!

ROGER FROM WALNUT CREEK, CALIF.

DEAR ROGER: I'm sure Ms. Vogel would agree that there is nothing wrong with a man's "looking" — what frightened her were the whistles, catcalls and comments she received from a group of strange men whom she perceived as threatening.

Although many women (and men) sometimes dress to attract attention, vulgar comments are inexcusable under any circumstances.

DEAR ABBY: I am very happily married to a wonderful man whom I trust completely. This is the second marriage for both of us, so we want it to last.

Our problem is not with exspouses, but with his ex-girlfriend. Since we have been married, she drops by while I am at work and cries all her troubles to him. He has tried everything from telling her he doesn't want her stopping by to not answering the door, but she still continues to come by.

My question: What can we do to stop this unwelcome company?
PUZZLED IN TERRE HAUTE, IND.

DEAR PUZZLED: Your husband should continue not answering the door when she drops by, and should be "too busy to talk" when she calls.

If the woman doesn't stop making a pest of herself, the logical next step would be to have your attorney write her a letter informing her that she is guilty of harassment — the legal term for persistently annoying another person.

GWU students say school doesn't party that much

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's after dark at the nation's "No. 2 party school" and students are jamming to loud music, chugging beer after beer and figuring out where they might sleep that night.

Actually, they're not. They're sitting in small groups, walking quietly along tree-lined streets and wondering how George Washington University got rated No. 2.

"That's a complete crock," said Colin Gold, a senior from New Orleans. "There is no way we can beat any Southern state school."

But George Washington beat all but one, according to the Princeton Review's "Advantage Guide to the Best 310 Colleges." Only Florida State University is a bigger partying school.

"I'm like, OK, if we're No. 2, where's all the parties?" asked junior Liz Foster. "Maybe I'm out of the loop."

If they don't like their ranking, students have only one another to blame. The ratings are based on surveys of students themselves.

Dr. Gott

By Peter Gott M.D.

What's prognosis for emphysema?

DEAR DR. GOTT: What is the average time for emphysema to proceed from mild and getting out-of-breath to needing an oxygen tank? There are several projects I want to complete and need a time frame to pace myself. My doctor, who is involved with an HMO, isn't answering my questions and seems to think that dying is a taboo subject. I'm 66, live alone, and have not spoken to my children about this. I'm not concerned about dying — it's the quality of living that is important.

DEAR READER: Emphysema is a chronic lung disease, often the consequence of smoking cigarettes, that is worsened by age. The affliction is progressive but the rate of progression varies widely.

For example, if you have mild emphysema and have stopped smoking, take pains to avoid air pollution, and use the medicine your doctor has prescribed, you should be able to arrest the disease and live out a normal life span.

On the other hand, if your emphysema is already advanced and you experience severe shortness-of-breath with even mild exertion (or, worse, at rest), there may be little you can do to retain your independence. The damage to your lungs may already be severe and you may relatively rapidly (within a few years) become handicapped and dependent on an oxygen tank.

Thus, you need to know where you stand on the spectrum of lung efficiency.

In my view, you should be examined by a pulmonologist, who will obtain special blood tests (arterial blood gases) and breathing tests (pulmonary function studies) to assess both the degree of damage and your reaction to medication, such as inhaled bronchodilators. Then, with the lab data in hand, the specialist can give you a firmer prognosis.

From the sound of your question, I believe that you probably have many years of independent living in which to complete your "projects."

Nonetheless, the pulmonologist can, after testing you, administer medicine (if necessary) and give you further advice.

To give you more information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Living With Chronic Lung Disease." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2017, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Be sure to mention the title.

Clinton authorizes troops to Kuwait

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Clinton said today that deployment orders have been signed to send U.S. troops to Kuwait to help enforce the no-fly zone near Iraq and carry out his plan to "keep Saddam Hussein in a box."

The president said he authorized the deployment last weekend and orders were signed Monday night. He did not say how many troops will be sent to the region.

But at the Pentagon, one official said they have been working on plans to send "about 3,000 troops, but that's a flexible number."

"The response we gave was designed to improve the strategic position of the United States and our allies to keep Saddam Hussein in a box and limit his ability to threaten his neighbors," Clinton said before departing on a three-day campaign swing in the Midwest and West.

Defense Secretary William Perry was expected to give more details at a Pentagon briefing later in the day.

Clinton confirmed the deployment after meeting with congressional leaders to explain the administration's actions in Iraq as "entirely appropriate under the circumstances." He did not offer a timetable for deployment, but said the Defense Department will carry it out "in a very timely fashion."

The actions are designed to communicate to Saddam that "the box you are in is now a tighter box," Clinton said. "It's obvious that he's always pushing the envelope. We didn't want to create a precedent that would lead him to believe he could take further action. We didn't want there to be any ambiguity at all."

Clinton sought to dispel criticism of his policy toward Iraq, saying other actions would have been too risky, such as sending ground troops in to force Saddam out of northern Iraq or staging an attack that would have cost civilian lives.

"I feel good today that we did the appropriate thing in the appropriate way and we got the results that we sought," Clinton said.

But after today's meeting, some GOP lawmakers scolded Clinton for not matching tough words with deeds.

UAW negotiates industry-first jobs guarantee with Ford

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — The United Auto Workers negotiated an industry-first jobs guarantee in its tentative contract with Ford Motor Co. — a deal the automaker's 105,025 union members are expected to ratify, sources said.

The plan includes a requirement that Ford maintain at least 95 percent of its current union jobs at U.S. plants during the three-year term, said sources close to the union, speaking on condition of anonymity.

While the provision is notable, it is not necessarily risky for the world's second-biggest automaker, which has been adding workers and will probably hire more if U.S. car and truck sales continue to grow moderately.

The deal came after three months of negotiations and a final weekend of nearly nonstop talks. It was announced Monday, 42 hours after the current three-year pact expired at midnight Saturday.

"Sometimes it takes a little longer," UAW President Stephen Yokich said.

Workers are expected to ratify the contract by Sept. 29.

A theft was reported by Chris Bane at 12:13 p.m. at 2212 41st Street in reference to items being stolen from her vehicle last week. A Class A theft report was submitted.

At 5:23 p.m., Dena Cooper requested to speak to a deputy in reference to a theft of property from her residence at 964 CR 253. An offense report for burglary of habitation was submitted.

McDougal's resolve does not weaken

NEW YORK (AP) — Susan McDougal lashed out today at what she called the Whitewater prosecutor's "evil agenda" against President Clinton and insisted in a jailhouse interview that she still won't testify.

Mrs. McDougal, 42, was jailed Sept. 9 on a contempt charge for refusing to testify about Clinton before the Whitewater grand jury.

She told NBC's "Today" that she was frustrated over her lack of recourse but determined not to help Whitewater special prosecutor Kenneth Starr, who she again called a liar.

"I want to know where I go to complain about these people's evil agenda to overrun me to get to the president," Mrs. McDougal said from Arkansas, wearing an orange jailhouse jumpsuit. "He has lied repeatedly. I won't deal with him."

Starr's office has denied Mrs. McDougal's allegations.
