US Might See Quitting Islands

By WILLIAM GALBRAITH
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. officials said today American-Red Chinese negotiations might lead eventually to a U.S. recommendation that Nationalist China give up Quemoy and Matsu.

But they said any such recommendation would be a long way off despite hints from Secretary of State John Foster Dulles that concessions might be in the making if the Communists would renounce use of force in Formosa Strait.

Two senators immediately took stands on what the United States should do next in the Formosa crisis:

—Sen. John Sherman Cooper (R-Ky.), former ambassador to India, said President Eisenhower should try to persuade Nationalist Chinese President Chiang Kai-shek to abandon the offshore islands. However, he conceded that both Chiang and the United States might "lose face" by a withdrawal.

—Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) said "The problem is one of negotiations for the purpose of peace—or of making military threats for the purpose of forcing a particular result." But he said the issue is "much bigger than saving face for John Foster Dulles."

U.S. military men in the past have regarded the islands as of little military value.

However, officials stress that they have taken on political and psychological value in that the Nationalist Chinese have stationed strong garrisons on them.

Dulles was asked at a news conference Tuesday whether the United States would be ready to recommend that Nationalist China evacuate the two offshore islands if Red China renounce use of force in the Formosa Strait. Dulles said such a renunciation "would alter the situation in a great many respects and probably have consequences."

"But I don't want to attempt to say precisely what those consequences would be because they involve the right and interest of an ally (Nationalist China)," he said.

Good Behavior Pledge

He also apparently did not want to tip his hand in advance of expected negotiations in Warsaw with Red China. The United States told Communist China Tuesday it was ready at any time to resume the ambassadorial talks about the Formosa Strait and other issues.

Officials said the United States had no intention of making any concession to Red China as long as the Peiping regime was, in effect, "pointing a gun in the back of the U.S."

They said Red China would first have to take a good behavior pledge and carry it out long enough to convince the United States it was sincerely acting like a good world citizen. They said this might take some time.

Sources said possible succeeding U.S. moves might be:

—To urge Nationalist China to reduce her heavy forces on Quemoy and Matsu.

—To urge Nationalist China to give the islands up on grounds they would no longer be needed for defense of Formosa.

—Approve Communist Chinese membership in the United Nations and eventually even recognize the Red regime.

Williams Is Speaker For Jaycees

Quentin Williams, local realtor, spoke to the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce, meeting at noon yesterday in the Palm Room of City Hall.

Williams explained amendment no. seven, which is to be voted on in the general election Nov. 4.

The amendment would provide finances for an organization of the state government to use to advertise and promote Texas outside the state.

Williams told of the advantages it could be in attracting new industry and residents to the state.

The Jaycee board of directors recently elected R. F. MacDonald to fill Johnny Campbell's position as state director. Campbell has withdrawn in order to attend college this fall.

Also, George Whitten was elected recently to serve on the board of directors of the club, filling a vacancy.

A public speaking course was started last night by the club, meeting in the City Commission room of City Hall.

Barbecue Set For Air Tour

A barbecue will await the All Texas Air Tour when it sets down at Perry LeFors Field Oct. 9, according to C. R. "Bits" Hoover, chairing the Aviation Committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce.

The Committee met yesterday in the Chamber of Commerce to organize for the welcome.

Scheduled for 12:45 p.m., the lunchstop will consist of a barbecue served by the Pampa Shrine Club and an informal program.

The committees are set up as derson, General Arrangements—Demaris Holt, Program — Hoover and Ed Myatt, Reception — Leon Fain, C. P. Bucker and E. L. Henderson, General Arrangements Wayland Merriman, C. V. Timmens and E. O. Wedgeworth.

The committee also considered the need for signs on downtown highways, pointing the way to Perry LeFors Field. Decisions to be made are the number of signs needed and the means of providing them.

Fire Prevention Meeting Slated

A committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce will meet Thursday to plan for the observance of Fire Prevention Week, according to Homer Craig, Fire Prevention Committee chairman. The committee meeting will take place at 10 a.m. Thursday in the Chamber of Commerce office.

Observance of Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 5-11, is one of the ways in which the committee seeks to hold the key rate to a minimum.

Through the years, the committee has stressed the importance of good fire prevention practices in relation to fire insurance rates.

Catholics Are Persecuted

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — The Vatican City newspaper Osservator Romano said Tuesday night the Catholic Church in China is undergoing a persecution unparalleled in the darkest ages of history.

The newspaper carried a long review of events in China in commenting on an encyclian letter made public Monday in which Pope Pius XII condemned the unauthorized election of Chinese bishops by Communist-sponsored assemblies as "rebellion" against the church.

Reception To Honor New Teachers

A reception honoring faculty members of the Pampa Public School System, with emphasis on the new teachers, is planned for Sept. 22 in Robert E. Lee Junior High School.

It will be a joint production of the Public Relations Committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, headed by Kay Fancher, and the Pampa Classroom Teachers Association, of which Robert Hamilton is president.

At a recent meeting, the PR Committee and a PCTA sub committee organized committees for the large scale reception. Typical committees are Program, Refreshments, Decorations and Door Prizes.

The evening's activities will begin at 7:30 with punch and cookies in the cafeteria, followed by mixer games and contests. The group will then adjourn to the auditorium for a short novelty program. A drawing for 25 door prizes, contributed by local merchants, will climax the evening.

According to Hamilton, a total of 254 teachers are employed this year in the school system. Local business people and their wives will also receive invitations, Fancher plans.

The program committee will consist of Kay Fancher, Wendell Altmiller, and Coy Palmer. Refreshments will be the committee of Joe Page and Frances Walls. Hamilton will head registration for teachers. A committe of three, Harry Gordon, Joe Tooley and Eloise Braly, will handle registration for business people.

Gene Imel and Rheta Durham will be in charge of greeting. The door prizes committee is made up of O. K. Gaylor and Mrs. Braly. Miss Durham will be responsible for decorations. Bob Parks and Hamilton will handle Arrangements.

In Headon Collision

Dr. Carver, 2 Former Pampans Are Injured

WICHITA FALLS — Four Baptist ministers, including Dr. E. Douglas Carver of Pampa and two former Pampans, were among six persons injured in a headon collision between two automobiles on U.S. Highway 287, one mile outside Wichita Falls, Tuesday evening.

The ministers, all from cities in the Panhandle, were returning from a regional conference in Dallas at the time of the accident.

Highway Patrolmen Ralph Boyd and F. E. Webster reconstructed the crash as follows:

It occurred at 7:25 p.m. as a 1951 Cadillac driven by Bobby Pittman, 21, of Wichita Falls, apparently went out of control and ran off the right side of the road striking a road construction marker and then swerved to the left and jumped over a center highway divider and crashed headon into the 1958 Pontiac driven by R. H. Hollan, 59, vice - president of the First National Bank of Perryton, in which the ministers were passengers.

Both drivers of the vehicles involved were injured in the crash.

Among the injured ministers were Rev. E. Douglas Carver, 55, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Pampa, cuts of the left arm, right hand and forehead; Rev. Carrol B. Ray, 50, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Perryton and formerly of Pampa, head and leg cuts; Rev. James Bryant, 43, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Higgins, cuts of the right leg and under the left eye, Rev. O. C. Curtis, 56, secretary of the Baptist District 10 Mission, also formerly of Pampa, fracture of the right wrist and cuts on the forehead; Hollan, facial cuts and Pittman, numerous facial cuts and head cuts.

Pittman, Rev.'s Carver and Curtis were admited to Wichita General Hospital and their condition was described as good.

Negro Is In Prison For Old Killing

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (UPI)—An elderly Tennessee Negro was in prison today for an 18-year-old killing he said happened in the midst of a Ku Klux Klan raid on his cabin.

Burton Dodson, 76, will appear in U.S. District Court Sept. 22 to fight extradition to Lafayette County, Tenn., where he is wanted for the March 23, 1940 slaying of Deputy Sheriff Orion Burr.

The former minister has lived here under the name of Charles Taylor since he fled the bullet-scarred cabin and escaped pursuing bloodhounds, his attorney, James McRoberts, said.

Dodson, who had worked as a night watchman for an East St. Louis physician, was arrested by the FBI last Wednesday after a routine check of fingerprints. He was held in default of $25,000 bond.

The elderly Negro has maintained since his arrest that the killing occurred when he returned the gunfire of 75 to 100 hooded men men who had built a scaffold in the yard of his cabin and ordered him to come out and "get hung."

Dodson said his wife and six children were in the cabin but when the mob promised they would not be harmed, he allowed them to come out. Then, he said, his son was struck in the neck and wounded by buckshot and his pregnant daughter was beaten and later died.

When the family was out of the cabin, the mob opened fire and Dodson returned the shots, he said. Burr apparently was killed then.

Dodson said he escaped and came to East St. Louis and his family later moved to Detroit and never learned of his whereabouts.

Engine Failure Crash Cause

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI)—Engine failure apparently caused the crash of a C-47 plane at Elmendorf Air Force Base which killed 12 of 19 persons aboard, an Air Force spokesman said today.

The plane, en route to Eielson Air Force Base at Fairbanks, was using a 10,000-foot runway and had just got into the air Tuesday when it suddenly veered to the right, crashed to earth and burned.

Air Force officials were preparing a list of the victims.

Bandwagon Grows For De Gaulle

PARIS (UPI)—Supporters from left and right climbed today aboard the bandwagon that is expected to roll up a two-thirds majority for Premier Charles de Gaulle's "strong man" constitution Sept. 28.

At the same time, De Gaulle's office announced that the premier will wind up the constitutional campaign with a whistle-stop tour of the provinces beginning a week from Saturday. His itinerary was not announced.

New supporters for the constitution included about a dozen local branches of the Socialist Party. The Socialist national convention, meeting Thursday in the Paris suburbs, is expected to support the constitution by a two-thirds vote.

Some 30 extreme rightist supporters of tax-hater Pierre, Poujade and a union federation also indorsed the constitution.

The Communists, of course, are bitterly opposed to the charter, which may give France a political stability it has not enjoyed for nearly 90 years. Ex-Premier Pierre Mendes-France also is mobilizing opposition on the left.

Leftist opposition, however, had been anticipated by the political dopesters who are predicting a 67 to 70 per cent majority for the De Gaulle charter.

2 Civic Clubs Host District Governors

The district governors of two local civic organizations were in town last night and today.

They were Charles B. "Chuck" McFarland of Bethany, Okla., district governor of Kiwanis International; and Burnett Roberts of Levelland, Rotary district governor.

McFarland was here for the charter night banquet of the Top O' Texas Kiwanis Club, this city's newest civic organization.

McFarland said, "There was wonderful representation at the banquet with clubs coming from all over the district. There were 162 Kiwanians and their wives in attendance."

McFarland took time out to praise Warren Hasse of Pampa, who is a Lieutenant Governor, for his work in the organization. Hasse has been chosen to emcee the annual governor's banquet which will be held in Brownsville in October.

McFarland said, "The Top O' Texas Kiwanis Club is coming along fine in its development. Of course, any new club has problems to overcome. The parent club, the Pampa Kiwanis Club, is the leading club in its division at the present time. In fact, it led all clubs in the district in July. There are 285 clubs in the district."

Roberts was here making his annual official visit to the Pampa

Theatre Workshop To Form Here

The formation of a Pampa theatre workshop is set for 7:30 p.m. Friday in Lovett Memorial Library.

The workshop organization will be open to all those interested, in one way or another, in theatre production. Plans for this first meeting are to elect officers and set up a weekly program.

For its' organization meeting Friday, the group will gather in the Library club room.

Red China Artillery Pounds Isle Again

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI)—Communist China pounded the Quemoy Islands with thousands of artillery shells again today, cutting supply lines so effectively the Nationalists were being forced to drop supplies by parachute.

Peiping Radio was fanning war hysteria at home and abroad with wild accusations against the Nationalists and the United States. One broadcast said the 600 million Chinese were being mobilized and "equipped with arms" to counter possible U. S. aggression.

(NBC correspondent Cecil Brown reported in a broadcast to New York from Taipei that the U.S. Navy was preparing an amphibious landing to place Nationalist troops and supplies on the beaches of Quemoy within 24 hours.

(Brown said the Navy would ignore any limits imposed by the Communists and sail directly to the beaches, within range of communist guns. He said "peace hangs in the balance" but that the Americans were hoping the communists would not open fire..

(Brown quoted "unimpeachable sources" in Taipei. He also reported U.S. jet planes were patrolling the Quemoy area and that the Nationalists did not have enough planes themselves to silence the Communist shore batteries.)

Communist China charged that U.S. military planes intruded over Red Chinese air space on two occasions today and issued a new "severe warning" on the matter.

Peiping Accuses U.S.

U PI correspondent Charles Smith reported from Big Quemoy Island that Red artillery shells hit Quemoy City again at dusk today, sending its 12,000 civilian inhabitants scurrying for cover and bringing new fear of more death and destruction.

A UPI dispatch from Agana, Guam, said Adm. Harry D. Felt, commander of U.S. forces in the Pacific who is on an inspection trip, indicated anew today that the United States 7th Fleet would strike back if fired on by Chinese Reds in the Formosa Strait.

At the same time Peiping indicated talks on the Formosa situation between the United States and Red China might start in Warsaw this week. It said Wang Ping-nan, Peiping's ambassador to Warsaw, had been called home for instructions and returned today to the Polish capital.

To Give Concessions

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles hinted Tuesday the United States was ready to give the Communists concessions to halt a shooting war and there was speculation in Washington he might eventually recommend the Nationalists give up Quemoy and Matsu to the Reds.

There was certain to be bitter opposition to this from the Na-

Rebekahs To Keep Warehouse

The Rebekahs, a Pampa organization, will take charge of the Gray County Welfare Index storehouse for a month, Mrs. John Killian told the welfare group yesterday.

At the Welfare Index meeting in the City Commission room, the question of the storehouse at 1125 Ripley arose. President Sam Begert stated that in its' present condition the storehouse was a difficult place in which to find furniture and articles of clothing for the underprivileged.

The Rebekahs is one of the local groups that will help arrange the articles in the storehouse so that they can be quickly found when needed.

Begert said that Bob Hamilton of the Pampa Evening Lions Club would arrange for transportation of donated items to the warehouse.

If it comes from a hardware store we have it. Lewis Hardware.

Gov. Daniel Wins, But . . .

Demo Convention Has Wild Windup

By LLOYD LARRABEE
United Press International

SAN ANTONIO (UPI) — Gov. Price Daniel today could count his objectives achieved in the 1958 state Democratic convention, but at the cost of new bloodletting and opening of new political wounds in the state party.

The one-day session came to a wild ending late Tuesday but the aftermath echoed for almost two hours as liberals staged one of the wildest demonstrations in recent Texas political history, protesting Daniel's purging of two liberal party officers.

Earlier, Daniel had won an overwhelming victory over Sen. Ralph Yarborough's liberal challenge to his control of the state party when the Governor's candidate for temporary convention chairman, U.S. Rep. Frank Ikard, won by a margin of 2,956 to 1,788.

Victory Fashioned

The victory was fashioned by Daniel's uniting of conservative and moderate forces, coupled with aid from Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson and Speaker Sam Rayburn.

But Johnson's name drew a mixture of yes and no votes when a resolution was adopted proposing him as the Democratic party's nominee for president in 1960, and Daniel broke with Rayburn's preconvention endorsement of a principle of accepting Senatorial district caucus nominees for membership on the State Democratic Executive Committee.

Pandemonium broke over the convention scene in San Antonio's Municipal Auditorium when shouting liberals staged a floor demonstration over Daniel's rejection of Bernard Lifschultz of San Antonio for membership on the SDEC. Lifschultz had been unanimously endorsed by the liberal Bexar county host delegation.

Angry Liberals

The angry liberals, stomping their placards on the convention floor, staged a 35-minute protest at the auditorium. The convention ended in such confusion about 7 p.m. that few knew it was over until several minutes later.

Mrs. R. D. (Frankie) Randolph of Houston, national Democratic committeewoman for Texas, and chairman of the "Democrats of Texas" (DOT), spoke briefly to the group and urged the delegates to move out of the auditorium.

Some 800 members of the liberal group then marched on the Gunter Hotel, seeking Yarborough or Corsicana District Judge Jim Sewell, the liberal standard-bearer for temporary chairman who absorbed defeat earlier in the day.

There they were told by Waco Dist. Atty. Tom Moore, a liberal leader, that "Perhaps a couple of hours ago the DOT was dead, but she's rising fast now."

The demonstration was preceded by permanent convention chairman Maurice Bullock's ruling denying a liberal challenge to Daniel's ouster of Lifschultz and Dr. Chloe Armstrong of Waco, a Baylor faculty member.

Replaced

Lifschultz was replaced by John Peace of San Antonio, a close political friend of Daniel and present member of the SDEC, while Daniel purged Mrs. Armstrong in favor of Mrs. Sam Wood of Killeen, also a present member of the executive committee.

Bullock's announcement that the convention was adjourned was drowned out in the confusion and was inaudible directly below the convention platform.

Resolutions Are Approved

SAN ANTONIO (UPI)— In a shouting mood Tuesday, Texas Democrats at their state convention here yelled their approval of a state convention platform expressing opposition to "general federal aid" to public schools and to "entry of the federal government in the general field of education."

"We pledge, by every legal means, to protect the rights and decisions of the people of local school districts in the operation and control of their public schools, and we further pledge to oppose unceasingly the use of force, military or otherwise, to overrule such local decisions," the platform said.

The delegates also shouted approval of a resolution proposing Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson as the party's nominee for President in 1960.

The resolution was greeted by a thundering chorus of "yes" and "no" but with a bang of his gavel convention permanent chairman Maurice Bullock held that the resolution was adopted.

A second resolution, lauding both Johnson and House Speaker Sam Rayburn, also was adopted on voice vote, with a similar mixture of ayes and nays.

Other planks in the platform adopted at the convention Tuesday included:

"...Stricter regulation of the small loans industry to assure fair and lawful interest charges to the borrowing public."

"...Urge that the lobby control measures adopted by the 55th Legislature be vigorously and impartially enforced.

"We recognize that crime, especially juvenile crimes, poses our No. 1 social problem." The platform called for support of the Texas Law Enforcement Commission, enactment of stronger criminal laws, revision of the code of criminal procedure, improvement in crime prevention, and stronger laws against juvenile crime and narcotics traffic.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

(Mrs. Muriel Lawrence is on vacation. This is the last of six excerpts that will appear during her absence from "Don't Be Afraid of Your Child" by Hilde Bruch, M.D., copyright 1948 by Hilde Bruch. Used by persmission of the publisher, Farrar, Straus & Cudahy, Inc.)

It is the whole attitude of "mastering" the task of parenthood that has seduced people into an inordinate reverence for science.

The quasi-religious belief in science per se has produced submission to the "expert."

The very people who claim as progress the denial of the traditional concepts will accept as unchallengeable truths the pronouncements of an expert, even though on closer appraisal, perception and reason may disclose them to be illusions. It is the "scientific methods" or "scientific evidence" that are credited with producing the magic key to all problems.

People expect from the expert or have been taught to expect the same type of cut-and-dried prescription for child care which they receive with their new washing machine or TV set.

A modern mother may feel just as guilty if she does not follow the norm as if she had been told that she had committeed a "sin" in the good old-fashioned style. Words like "average" or "expected" have just as much of a punitive, intimidating meaning for the modern mother who is overawed by "scientific facts" as "sin" had for her unenlightened orthodox ancestor.

It is because of this assumption that there is such a thing as a "scientific" normal way of raising a child that modern young mothers consult the expert. Even love is administered on prescription as a necessary ingredient toward building up the child's mental health.

It is only when parents stop being afraid of their own past that they can truly integrate the vast and meaningful insights of modern psychiatry and child psychology into useful knowledge for their own roles as parents.

In order to give proper early training, parents must have an inner sense of their own value and worthwhileness. It is at this point that "parent education" has committed the most grevious faults, namely that of not respecting the fundamental needs of parents.

Magic solutions can only be offered by fake authorities. My intent in writing my book is to set in motion independent, genuine thoughts and feelings that will permit parents to recognize their own inner resources and capacity for judgment.

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: How can I explain to my 11-year-old daughter who is old enough to read your column that an unmarried girl is going to have a baby by a married man? She sometimes gets the paper before I can hide it from her and starts asking me these questions, and I don't know how to answer her.

PUZZLED MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: You can't hide the facts of life from your daughter, so there is no sense in hiding the paper. The sooner a girl learns that it IS possible to have a baby under these circumstances, the better it is for the girl.

DEAR ABBY: I took up sewing as a hobby and became very good at it. I make all my own clothes, coats and even my husband's shirts, and they look better than store-bought. My problem is as soon as my friends find out I can sew they bring me all their alteration work. I put up twelve hems yesterday and a friend of mine had the nerve to bring me her husband's trousers to shorten. I have no children, but I do have housework which never gets done because of the sewing my friends bring me. My husband threatens to break my sewing machine up if I don't quit it. But how can I refuse and keep their friendship?

UNPAID SEAMSTRESS

DEAR UNPAID: Clear out your workroom and tell your friends (these are friends?) you are ALL SEWED UP! If you lose their friendship because you don't take in their sewing — don't let them give you the needle.

DEAR ABBY: I am in love with a man but my mother thinks I can do better because I am considered very pretty. He is a nice person, is well-liked and a steady worker. My mother says he looks like an eagle because he has a large nose and is losing his hair. She says he should either get a hair piece or get his nose fixed because in a few years when all his hair is gone he will really look terrible. I can't mention this to him, can I? He is 24 and I am 21 and he wants me to marry him. Please tell me what to do.

IN LOVE

DEAR IN: If you love this man and are satisfied with his looks, go ahead and marry him. Hair pieces and nose-jobs are for those who want them.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of boys who drive over to your house and sit out in front of the house in the car and honk? How can I get them to stop this?

HONKED AT

DEAR HONKED: Honking is for the birds . . . (geese, that is!) . . . Tell them to come to the door and ring the bell like gentlemen — or fly in the other direction.

DEAR ABBY, I have a friend who is in her foolish fifties. She weighs 170 pounds, wears her hair in shoulder-length curls, slim jeans, and open-toed sandals. She is a grandmother and ought to know better. When we go marketing together she flirts with all the young boys in the supermarket and they laugh AT her but she thinks they are laughing WITH her. How can I make her grow up and act her age?

EMBARRASSED

DEAR EMBARRASSED: If this woman is a friend of yours, do her a favor and have a heart-to-heart talk with her about her behavior and get-ups.

CONFIDENTIAL TO THE TELEPHONE OPERATOR AT THE ADVERTISING AGENCY: Your "ex" wants to try again. Aren't you getting the message?

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Music Association To Have Prominent Amarillo Speaker

Pampa Music Teacher's Association will open its fall activities tomorrow at noon with a luncheon in the Colonial Inn.

Mrs. Elizabeth Morris, Amarillo music teacher, will be the guest speaker. Mrs. Morris, who lives at 3504 S. Polk, Amarillo, is teacher of piano and theory; accredited by the State Board of Education and president of the Texas Music Teachers' Ass'n; member of the board of directors of the Southwestern Division of the National Music Teacher's Ass'n of which she is also a member.

She has served in the capacity of secretary - treasurer for the state ass'n, as well as on the board of directors; served four consecutive years as president of the Amarillo Music Teachers Association and is public relations officer at the present time. This marks the twenty - ninth year of teaching in Amarillo for Mrs. Morris.

Officers serving the local club this year are Mrs. Bob Perkins, president, who will preside over the luncheon meeting, Mrs. W. H. Fuller, vice president, and Mrs. Jim Scott, secretary and treasurer.

Lodge Officers To Be Honored At IOOF Banquet

Pampa Rebekah Lodge No. 355 met recently in the IOOF Hall, 210 W. Brown, with Mrs. Lucille Kessinger, noble grand, presiding.

Members reported ill in the Worley Hospital were Mrs. Lola Nicholson and Mrs. Ellen Kretzmeier's mother Mrs. H. W. Lawley. Mrs. Eula Killian's sister, Mrs. T. C. Dodson, was reported to be in the Northwest Texas Hospital, Amarillo. Mrs. Pauline Ragsdale, president of the Rebekah Assembly of Texas, was reported in the hospital in Coleman. It was also reported that Mrs. James L. King's grandson had passed away.

It was announced that the Officers' Banquet, honoring Rebekah and IOOF officers, is to be held this Thursday at 7 p.m. Each member is asked to bring a fried chicken, plus another dish. Mrs. Bertha Chambers, chairman, is to be contacted about food. Odd Fellows and their wives are invited. The recreation committee has planned an interesting evening with door prizes and lucky prizes to be given during the evening. The decoration committee was to have met on Monday in the home of Mrs. Bernice Ladd.

Mrs. Beulah Pyeatt, formerly of Canadian, was welcomed as a new member by transfer.

Mrs. Bernice Ladd reported on her recent trip to the Pilgrimage with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kretzmeier. They visited the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs Old Folks Home in Ennis and the IOOF Children's home in Corsicana.

After closing of lodge, a "Back To School Party" was held with each member seated at a table centered with a "Little Red School House" and children's swings, created by Mrs. Bonnie Warton. Each member had brought a sack lunch.

After the party, the degree staff practiced.

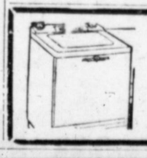

It was announced that the Esther Club was to meet in the home of Mrs. Cordelia Mayes, 1333 N. Starkweather, on Monday evening to work on cup towels to send to one of the homes.

OUTWARD TO THE STARS (15)—Return to Earth

By Don Oakley and Ralph Lane

(1) The first manned space satellite is now ready to return to Earth, after a few hours or days in orbit, as the case may be. In order to slow down, the wing tip rockets are swiveled to fire forward, counteracting the ship's orbital velocity. It is no longer a satellite, but a falling projectile. Or, if it falls too fast—a flaming meteorite.

(2) As the ship enters the atmosphere it is still moving at tremendous speed. The wing tip rockets are pointed downward to aid the ship in climbing back into space to cool off.

The procedure is repeated numerous times until speed of the craft is cut enough so that it can penetrate the denser regions of the atmosphere. Then normal control surfaces take over and the craft becomes a glider; or if its rockets are used, a normal rocket plane.

(3) Landing is accomplished in a conventional manner, probably on a western dry lake bed such as those from which its predecessors (the X-2, Skyrocket, X-15) took off years before. Still traveling at high speed as it touches the runway, the plane releases parachutes from its tail to brake it. The ground crew races after the plane to greet the world's first spacemen. The pilots will then face what they may consider the most difficult phase of their assignment—the interviews with scientists, medical examinations, the detailed study of the instrument and camera records of the flight.

(4) Later, after subsequent flights, films taken by pilots in space will be viewed by earthbound citizens on their wall television screens. Still later, "live" television pictures from a ship in orbit may be beamed to home viewers. While the older generation marvels, their children will accept such things as a normal part of their lives.

Boy Scout Cabinet Has Meeting Here

All committee chairmen of the Sante Fe District Boy Scout organization gave their reports this morning at the District Cabinet meeting, with Bob Curry District chairman, presiding. The progress reports covered expansion, surveys, camping, health and safety, advancement, finance.

Norman Henry, Organization and Extension chairman, reported that two new units were organized last week in the Pampa Church of the Brethren. Surveys are nearing completion and expansion meetings being held, he related.

W. A. Mortan, Camping and Activities chairman, said that the Round Up Camporee will be held Sept. 26-27 at the Billy Davis Ranch near Lefors. Each Scout is invited to bring a new boy. At the eve-

Health and Safety Chairman Jay Meador announced that the safety handbook will be distributed to every home in the District Saturday morning, Oct. 11. Wilson Puryear will be in charge of this project.

Eagle reviews are bing held this week for Billy Martin and Dick Batson, Bob Sypert, Advancement chairman, reported.

According to Finance Chairman Jerald Sims, financial organization is complete in the outlying towns and the training meeting held last week for District Finance leaders, was a success.

District men will participate in a Council Operating Committee meeting Sept. 18 in the Palm Room, which will be a dinner meeting starting at 7:15 p.m., Curry stated.

Mrs. Olga Smith, who has been assistant property appraiser for about a year in the office, will take over Mrs. Bruce's duties.

Man Hospitalized After Accident

Arthur Lee Williams, 43, of Plainview, was hospitalized yesterday after his car overturned near Canadian, according to a report from the Pampa Sub District of the Texas Highway Patrol.

The accident occurred four and a half miles south of Canadian on US 60 when Williams lost control of his car and turned over one and a half times.

Williams was taken to the Canadian Hospital with head injuries. X-rays were to be made this morning.

The time of the mishap was 5:30 p.m.

He met last night with committee chairmen of the local club and came away from the meeting with the feeling that, "the Pampa organization is fortunate to have the fine leadership it has."

His is Rotary District 373 and includes 59 counties in West Texas and all the Panhandle.

His comment was that the 100 members of the local club are, "doing a fine job."

Fire Department Has Two Calls

The glimmer of a gas - burning torch on an oil tank brought the Pampa Fire Department out early this morning when a fire was reported in an oilfield south of town. Later, the Department answered a call to a house owned by J. E. Culberson where lightning had struck.

The oil fire turned out to be a false alarm, caused by the reflection of a torch burning waste gas, three miles south on Highway 70. It was reported at 2:16 a.m. At 3:31, a truck rushed to a house one mile out on the Borger Highway. Lightning caused damage to the end of the house and the roof.

Three Suits Filed In Court Here

Three compensation and damage suits were filed yesterday with the 31st District Clerk.

Robert E. Hollis is seeking compensation of $72 per week for 401 weeks from the National Automobile and Casualty Insurance Company for injuries allegedly sustained while in the employ of the E. W. Hogan Lumber Company.

Hollis states that he was pushing down on a rod cutter that snapped causing damage to his lower back.

In a personal injury suit, Earnest Taylor is opposing Arthur Afergut, dba for the Texas Pipe and Metal Company. Taylor alleges that a falling gin pole which severely inured the upper part of his body was released by a faulty winch. He is asking $75,000.

Ruth Gilliland, 215 N. Somerville, is seeking damages from Velma and Joe Daniels in the death of her husband, H. A. Gilliland. She alleges that his death resulted from injuried received when Mrs. Daniels drove into his car, hurling him against the steering wheel.

She is asking $42,086.50 in her individual capacity and $10,000 as independent executrix of his estate.

It's Colors Unlimited At Pampa Lumber Co.

Starting today, it will be colors unlimited at Pampa Lumber Company when the A. C. Horn Company of Texas' Sun-Hues System goes into effect. The Sun-Hues program is built around the new automatic color system that, at the twist of a dial and the touch of a button, makes available a whole world of exciting new colors. Almost 1,200 different Sun-Hues colors will be available in any one of the six most popular paint types.

Custom made colors will be created before the customers' eyes — and in a matter of seconds. Unique in the Sun-Hues system will be the unerring accuracy of the color matching. When more paint is needed to finish a job, the color can be duplicated without any difference in color or tone.

Another part of the new service will be the Color Research Survey. Figures will be available each month as to the most popular color groups in all sections of the country and also the most popular individual colors. This service will allow home decorators to chose, without reservation, a new color scheme.

Pampa Lumber's new program began officially with the opening of the doors today. On hand for the opening are Jake Osborne, Bill Wagoner, Walden Haynes, Paul Gutherie, O. B. Horton, Wilbur Wagoner and Lois Meyers of Pampa Lumber Company.

The A. C. Horn Company is well represented. Coming from Houston will be H. F. Niemeyer Jr., vice president and general manager, and R. S. Ochiltree, sales promotion manager. Coming from Mineral Wells is Joe Kearby, West Texas and Panhandle sales representative.

A souvenir will be given to every visitor attending the opening.

First Aid Program To Start

First aid instructors of the Pampa Chapter of the American Red Cross will meet at 7 p.m. today to get the fall program underway, states E. V. Pemberton, First Aid chairman. The 18 instructors will meet in the Red Cross office.

One first aid class has already been held, by Ray Hutchison of of Northern Natural Pipeline Company, Skellytown. The class of 25 took a refresher course in first aid.

Authorized first aid instructors are John Gikas, D. L. Day, Dan W. Lewis, Paul Skidmore, Vernon Pirkle, Roy K. Russell, W. C. Puryear, Alvin Lewis, Eugene V. Dunigan, Gordon S. Tarylo, Frank Stallings, Foy Barrett, Bob Baldwin, Mrs. Wayne Jones, Mrs. Walter Noel, Mrs. Marian Osborne, Mrs. H. R. Jeter and Hutchison.

35-Man Harvester Road Squad Leaves Tomorrow

Babe Curfman, a big man with big worries, put off trying to catch up on his paper-work this afternoon, long enough to send his Pampa High Harvesters through their final stiff workout leading up to Friday night's season opener at Wichita Falls.

"It seems if it isn't one thing, it's another," Curfman moaned as he shuffled through a stack of papers standing someplace in the unfriendly neighborhood of a foot high.

"We'll leave here about 2:15 Thursday afternoon, and hope to arrive in Wichita Falls about 7 o'clock that evening," Curfman exclaimed while peering over his stack of important looking papers which had notes scrawled therein concerning everything from hotel reservations to whom his right guard rubbed out on the "outside belly" series.

Curfman and his varsity commanders, Duain Lyon and Eural Ramsey, sent the Big Green through their longest workout of the fall Tuesday, drilling for just under three hours. Most of the time was spent on polishing up offensive play patterns.

"I couldn't call it one of our better workouts," Curfman commented about Tuesday's session. "There was no old snap out there, the kids didn't hustle all the way like they have before. Maybe we worked 'em too hard at first. We had the backs banging into two defensive linemen with the ball, and it seemed to wear 'em down. Gosh, Wichita Falls will be tackling just as hard as our linemen did today, and if they get to us like that, it'll be murder."

The Harvester head mentor explained that most of Wednesday's session would be devoted to defensive work.

"They seem to be in pretty fair shape, physically, the Babe said. "They are not panting so hard anymore, and appear to be sweating good. Have a little more power now too, than they did a week ago. If they can just keep coming, just keep improving day to day, not go stale. Then, maybe we'll throw some surprises around," Curfman allowed.

On the way to Wichita Falls Thursday, the Harvesters will take a rest stop at Childress. Upon arrival, they'll eat a light supper, and then suit up and tramp out to Coyote Stadium to get the feel of the turf under lights.

"We'll try to keep 'em occupied and rest 'em all day Friday," Curfman said in the voice of any good mother hen worrying about the flock.

"You know, we may be playing down there half naked, if the new game pants I ordered last May don't come in. And our snazzy dark green travel jackets aren't in yet either. Shoot, I wish they'd hurry up and get 'em here to us," Curfman yelped. The man hopes to have his game pants' shipment catch up with him while he's in Wichita Falls.

He doesn't see much chance of the new sports jackets, the Harvesters will wear on their road trips, coming in on time.

A 35-man traveling squad will make the trip to Wichita Falls. Also riding along on a chartered bus will be four student managers and, of course, the three varsity coaches.

The 35-man traveling squad will be made up of:

Guards, Bailey Clements, Gary Matlock (capt.), Richard Newberry, Don North, Rowland Stone, Harold Stokes; tackles, Dale Veale, Larry Stokes, Delbert Simmons (capt.), Jim Scott, Tim Huffaker, Larry Heiskell; ends, Paul Brown, DeWayne Glover, Larry Ingrum, Kent Mitchell, Johnnie Spotts, Benny Stout, Charles Warren; centers, Dickie Watkins (capt.), Duke Garren, Dickie Elkins.

SHOCKERS OPEN IN PERRYTON

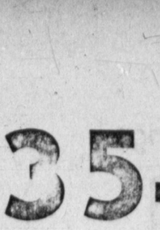

Coach Weldon Trice and Deck Woldt's Pampa High Shockers get the first taste of outside opposition by a local grid team at Perryton tomorrow night.

Kickoff comes at 7:30 p.m., with several of the Pampa players in the starting lineup expected to be varsity reserves, who'll play with the Harvesters at home but won't make the trip to Wichita Falls Friday night.

Head coach Babe Curfman plans to suit up 44 boys for the home games and carry a 35-man traveling squad to the road games.

Sports Spurts

With RICK PEZDIRTZ

Attempts to breath life back into a quarterback club for Pampa brought little huffing last night.

Only a dozen men turned up for a meeting, first of its kind this autumn. However Elmer Wilson, prexy of last year's group, said he thought the football enthusiasm was here, that it just needed rooting out.

Another meeting of the Pampa Quarterback Club has been set for 7:30 p.m. next Tuesday night with some 40 men anticipated to catch football fever by that time and make it out to Sam Houston Elementary School gymnasium to hear Babe Curfman review the Wichita Falls game and preview the Arlington Heights struggle next week.

Darby Returns

It's good to hear that Pampa's John Darby, injured last month in an auto accident between Fort Worth and Denton, has been given the green light to return to the North Texas State squad.

Letter comes from Bill Holmes, the Texas Tech sports publicity chief, asking us to tell him why Ed Strickland hung up his cleats? He dunno!

Two Pampa players at the University of Houston are Harold Lewis, who is a tri-captain of the Cougars this fall after two years as an all-Missouri Valley Conference selection and honorable mention all-American and Dickie Mauldin. Lewis is a senior right half, Mauldin a sophomore left half.

Press notices on Pampa's Ed Dudley at Texas A&M are favorable. We'll have a clipped, borrowed and begged column on Ed within the next few days.

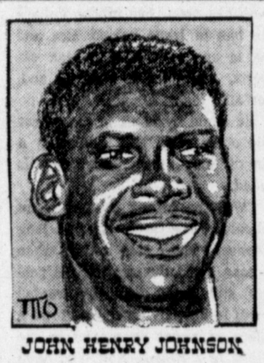

Coyote Cuff-Notes

Wichita Falls has 17 seniors and 21 juniors on its club this fall. Which means they might be even tougher next year . . . Beef in the Coyote line comes from three junior tackles, Bennie Shields at 216, Jimmy Webster at 211 and Vann Francis at 202.

Both the United Press International and Associated Press rated the Coyotes the No. 4 team in the state's 4A division . . . Testing his multiple offense for the first time, Coach Joe Golding, saw his first team score 46 points on the second unit in a recent scrimmage.

Newly Rich Colts Picked To Displace Old Pro Lions

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (NEA) — It's the intangible that makes the Detroit Lions. Like when John Henry Johnson joined them a year ago to fill an urgent fullback need.

John Henry won't win any loving cup around the pro league, and the Lions had felt the brunt of his forearm shiver as much as anyone else. Besides, he was the only Negro on the club and had a tendency to gloom off in a corner.

That is, until he shucked his grid togs one Sunday after a tough game, got all spiffed up and started to go through the exit door like he was out for a night on the town.

"Hold on there, John Henry," drawled Bobby Layne, the man from Texas. "You're not going out into that strange world without us?"

From that moment on, Johnson became one of the boys and the club went on to win the NFL title last year with him carrying the major portion of the ball-carrying and blocking load.

The Lions have that feel for each other, and with their formidable talent, particularly in the most sparkling defensive secondary in the game and the Layne-Tobin Rote quarterback axis to spark the attack, it's tough to pick against them to repeat.

Yet the Baltimore Colts are this corner's choice to displace the Detroiters on top. The Colts, the nouveau riche of the pro game, also have a certain something which goes beyond mere physical talent.

Jim Mutscheller and Ray Berry show what we mean. Berry is frail and skinny, one leg longer than the other, and Mutscheller is as slow an offensive end as you'll find. Yet by hanging around the field an extra hour after each practice session, working with thrower John Unitas, getting all their moves synchronized, they became the best pass-receiving pair.

And on their defensive array, they've been getting rid of an old-timer like Don Joyce for years because he lacks mobility. Yet he keeps returning to plug an end spot because he's been willing to starve himself into faints to shed cumbersome weight.

The Los Angeles Rams, on paper, look like no one should ever beat them, with as swift and elusive a raft of ball carriers as any team could want in Ron Waller, Jon Arnett and Tom Wilson. The popular conception, around pro circles is that everything rides on the ability of Billy Wade to produce at quarterback, since Sid Gillman got rid of Norm Van Brocklin in a personality clash.

Lookit Them Pirates! They're Assured Of Best Finish In 14

By United Press International

The Pittsburgh Pirates can't hope to catch the front-running Milwaukee Braves but they're virtually assured today of their best finsh in 14 years.

Danny Murtaugh's surprising crew just about clinched second place in the National League Tuesday night when they beat the San Francisco Giants, 4-3 and 2-1, on late-inning hits by Frank Thomas and Ted Kluszewski. That gave the Pirates a 4½-game lead over the third-place Giants and put them in a position where a .500 pace in their last 14 games will clinch second place.

The Pirates have finished as high as second only twice in the last 20 years—in 1938 when they blew the pennant in the last week of the season and in 1944 when they trailed the St. Louis Cardinals by 14½ games.

Mazeroski Homers

The Pirates won the first game, a contest suspended since July 27, when Thomas singled home Roberto Clemente in the eighth inning.

Kluszewski, pinch-hitting for catcher Bill Hall, singled off Gordon Jones in the ninth inning of the regulation game to snap a 1-1 tie. Bill Mazeroski, who homered for the Pirates' first run, doubled to start the rally. George Witt limited the Giants to six hits for 8 2-3 innings but Elroy Face, making his 54th relief appearance, picked up his fifth win.

The Giants, long the Milwaukee Braves' No. 1 challenger this season, now find themselves in danger of dropping into the second division. They're only two games ahead of fourth-place Cincinnati and three ahead of St. Louis.

Braves' Rally Wins

The Braves came up with two runs in the last of the ninth to edge out the Redlegs, 3-2, and now lead by 6½ games with 15 to play; the Philadelphia Phillies beat the Los Angeles Dodgers, 6-2 and 4-3, and the Cardinals downed the Chicago Cubs, 8-7, in other N.L. games.

The New York Yankees American League lead was cut to 11 games when they bowed to the Cleveland Indians, 9-2, and the Chicago White Sox beat the Boston Red Sox, 4-1. The Detroit Tigers whipped the Washington Senators, 7-1, and Preston Ward's three homers paced the Kanses City Athletics to an 8-6 decision over the Baltimore Orioles in other A.L. activity.

Pampa Women Goifers In Monthly Tourney

BORGER — Pampa Country Club fem golfers try to escape the cellar at the Huber Golf Course here today in Panhandle Women's Golf Association monthly tournament play.

Pampa with 1,775 strokes for four previous tournaments trails pace - setting Tascosa Country Club of Amarillo by 188 shots. Tascosa at 1,587 owns a solid 65-stroke lead over the second place Huber Course swingers. In third at 1,662 is Phillips Country Club, while Amarillo CC at 1,684 is fourth and Ross Rogers Course of Amarillo is fifth at 1,688.

LINEBACKING COYOTES — Here are the four Wichita Falls High linebackers the Pampa Harvester backs will have to elude Friday night if they are to spring a giant upset on the Coyotes in the opening grid game of the year for both clubs. From left-to-right are, 166-pound David Fowler, 177-pound Charlie Edgmon, 166-pound Mickey Hamilton and 170-pound Bill Allen. (Photo courtesy Wichita Falls Record-News)

Lefors Is Boomed For State Playoffs

United Press International

Lefors, Sugar Land, Vanderbilt and Groesbeck, all rated highly in pre-season forecasts, make their belated debuts into the 1958 Class A schoolboy football picture this week end.

The first three named may get into the state playoffs with a minimum of difficulty if they show this week that they are as good as pictured. But, Groesbeck faces a rugged row.

The Goats just happen to be contemporaries in District 20 of the Mart Panthers, state Class A co-champs last year along with the White Oak Roughnecks and again rated a state favorite.

If Groesbeck does get outside its district, its chances are rated exceptional.

Groesbeck doesn't have an easy opening assignment, either, since they take on Marlin, a Central Texas AA power that crushed Rosebud 50-0 last week.

Lefors opens against AA Shamrock and Sugar Land tackles Needville of AA. Vanderbilt, whose game with Needville was washed out by Hurricane Ella last week end, faces a toughie in AA Schulenburg.

Mart and White Oak seem destined to march right along this week. The Panthers play weak Waco Midway, while White Oak invades Hemphill on Saturday night. Both of their foes took beatings last week.

Some of the other top-grade games on tap this week include White Deer at Stinnett, Canadian at Perryton, Merkel at Rotan, Henrietta at Bowie, Paducah at Matador, Springtown at Lake Worth, Grapevine at Keller, Hawkins at East Mountain, Fairfield at Malakoff, Hallsville at Gaston, Round Rock at Elgin, Bremond at Granger, Dayton at Hull-Daisetta and Freer at George West.

Mickey Does It In Dallas

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) — Young Mickey Wright held her second with an 18 - hole playoff victory straight tournament title today with an 18 - hole playoff victory over veteran Beverly Hanson in the Dallas Women's Open, but Miss Hanson salvaged some solace from the loss.

Miss Hanson shot a 74 to Miss Wright's one-under-par 71 in the showdown for the $1,247 first prize money.

But the $961 she picked up boosted her ahead of all the other women pros in money earnings.

In addition, the 69-71-71-73—284 she scored in tieing Miss Wright for first place over the regulation 72-hole route, trimmed her scoring average to 74.91 strokes per round—best among all the pros this season.

Miss Hanson has won $12,354 this year.

Miss Wright now has won the Burneyville, Okla., Open and Dallas Open to go with the Ladies' PGA and Women's Open crowns she had captured before taking off for two months for an exhibition tour.

Irish Sophs Must Carry Big Burden

(Eighth in a series outlining Top O' Texas schoolboy football teams. Today's installment deals with the Shamrock Irish of District 5-AA.)

SHAMROCK — If the four-leaf clover brings luck, like they say, ship a car - load to Coach Bill Lalicker at Shamrock High first thing in the morning will you, please?

Still in the rebuilding stages, the fighting Irish of Shamrock High will bring delightful shivers of surprise to Lalicker and their rooters if they finish any higher than the basement in District 5-AA this fall.

The Sophomorish Irish, with little depth and less experience, have only seven lettermen in camp who return from last year's team that could do no better than tie one game, Canadian 7-7, and lose nine others.

You take away 19 lettermen from an 0-9-1 team, and in athletic arithmetic, you've got next to nothing. That's the ship Lalicker is sailing right now. He lost 15 by graduation, with injuries and scholastic difficulties claiming the rest.

The Irish, who showed peppy offensive signs in a 32-20 opening loss to McLean last Friday night, draw an even tougher foe this week, in Lefors.

Of the seven monogram winners back from last year, three are backs and four are linemen. The three backs include L. H. Tucker, fullback; Joe Jernigan, quarterback; and Charles Tyler, halfback. The veteran linemen are, Dennis Pasley, guard; Jerry Smith, tackle; Leon McBryde, center; and Kenneth Foster, tackle.

Of a 21 - man varsity, Lalicker and his aides, Truman Smith, Louis Powers and Harold Gouge, have only five seniors and four juniors. There are 11 sophs on the squad and one freshman.

Other boys on the Irish squad and Shamrock High B-team include, Dale Whitten, James Brothers, Bud Cadenhead, Jim Emmett, Jack Downer, Phillip Vinyard, Kenneth Gipson, Alva Henderson, Charles Ferguson, Leon Robinson and Danny Grogan.

Also, Phillip Brookshier, Glenn Newhaus, David Smith, Grant Emmert, Tommy Hoffman, James Crow, Jerry Jernigan, Billy Spraggins, James Clay, Robert Lummus, Jerry Campbell, Phillip Grimes, Mack Bentley, Billy Shelton and Gary Harvey.

Voting Information

The sorely beleaguered right wing has come up with an idea which may prove of unprecedented value for those who plan to keep on voting in a last-ditch fight to prevent a final engulfment under socialism. The Liberty Lobby has come up with a research proposal and the American Council of Christian Laymen has acted upon it.

In the city of Washington right now, an office has been opened which is in the midst of doing a tremendous job. It is compiling the voting records of the 438 men and women whose names will appear on the ballots this fall seeking election to either house of Congress.

This is an impressive, important job, and it is one long needed by voters who so frequently cast their ballots blindly without knowing exactly what the records of particular candidates are.

As almost any voter can tell you, his annual or biannual trip to the voting booth is one in which he well knows his own inadequacies. He is called upon by the nature of our government, to cast his preference for or against certain persons, most of whom he has never met and probably never will meet. Yet his vote can be a decisive factor. And he shudders when he realizes that many a man running for public office is entirely capable of making pleasant sounding political speeches, but when the chips are down and such a man is in a place where the destiny of the entire nation hangs in the balance, he may cast his vote in Congress in such a way that further socialism may be endorsed.

Today's struggling politician may seek to beguile the voter with honied words and glib promises. Most of the men seeking office place the achieving of that office at the top of the list of desirable good things. Thus, after they are elected, they may turn upon many of their own backers and throw their weight behind many an unholy scheme. These facts should always be known.

Unfortunately, these facts are rarely if ever known to the public, even about a single candidate. And as for knowing just how the whole stableful of contenders will perform in action, well, such information has never been available.

It will be the function of the research division of the American Council of Christian Laymen to dig up and compile that information. And quite frankly, we can imagine just how useful it would be, provided, of course, the research department remains objective and thorough.

Svend Petersen, who is well known as a conservative, is at the moment in charge of this research operation in the city of Washington, D.C. And, according to information we have received, this first research project will be completed soon and the information made available to all news outlets.

While the A.C.C.L. is busy with this idea, it occurs to us that a little wider area of inquiry into this same field might be in order. About the only information on voting records which has been tabulated prior to this time has been the listings put out by the various labor bosses. This information is inadequate and concerns issues vital only to mass unionism. The broader and more comprehensive survey now underway should be of far greater value.

Then, too, there is another area in which the research division could distinguish itself. There are several opinion-discovering agencies including the Gallup and Topper polls. A great deal of the information these outfits have put out in recent years tends to show that great numbers of American people favor socialism and socialist ideas. We are not seeking to impugn the reputation or the honesty of these pollsters. But it would be important to have an independent agency, not at all under the control of politicians or their lackeys, making similar opinion surveys. It is entirely possible that an entirely different set of findings could be forthcoming, and as such, would have inestimable usefulness.

We are very happy to see this new departure of the A.C.C.L. and we wish it luck in its efforts. Research is always necessary to dredge up the facts. If the American people are going to respond in the correct manner, the response can only be based on facts that are widely known.

We congratulate the Liberty Lobby for the idea and the American Council of Christian Laymen for bringing it into fruition.

If Free Trade Halts

What happens when a nation blocks the free movement of goods and people at its borders by a tariff or immigration law?

Take, for instance, the tariff law. Momentarily, men in other countries of the world lose their jobs; American workers gain jobs and the American consumers pay more for the protected product.

But as soon as the American consumer starts paying more for the product he has less money to spend for other purchases. This sets in motion machinery that costs American workers their jobs for as purchases fall off jobs become fewer.

Furthermore, when the tariff law blocks the sale of foreign goods in this land, the American workers who have been employed making things for sale abroad are forced out of a job because the foreigners no longer can buy our products. The foreign workers who have lost their jobs lose the purchasing power that enabled them to buy both foreign and domestic products and the net result is there is less employment and less goods for consumers to select from.

Britain's free-trade policy reached its zenith in 1850. This allowed the British people to buy goods at the lowest prices available anywhere in the world. Britain was also a free-enterprise Country, with everyone free to produce and sell whatever goods and in whatever quantity he could.

Earlier in the century the majority of the people were hungry, dressed in rags, and lived in hovels. Free trade and free enterprise kept the cost of living down, multiplied the production of wealth and ushered in the great and prosperous days of Brtiain.

When a country imposes a tariff it raises the cost of living for its own and other peoples, reduces the satisfaction value of goods and services the public may enjoy and, correspondingly, reduces the amount of employment, or forces workers to take jobs at lower wages. Consumption is less, both for domestic and imported goods. This means less employment at home and abroad, less goods for all, and a lower standard of living for our own people and for our friends overseas. Free trade is a form of co-operation which results in more goods and services for all concerned.

Congress Is Reckless

Dean Clarence E. Manion told a nationwide Manion Forum radio audience Sunday that Congress shows a deeper interest it ne h shows a deeper interest in the misappropriation of dues paid by members of the Teamsters Union than in the billions extorted in taxes from the American people and squandered in foreign aid and Federal Social Security Trust funds by Washington bureaucrats.

Manion pointed out that a Congressional committee last year found that 100 million dollars, one-third of the foreing aid allotted to Iran, had disappeared without a trace. Yet, he said, no bureaucrat went to jail; but, the man in charge of the Iranian aid was promoted. He said the Federal Social Security Trust Fund consists almost entirely of the Trustee's own I.O.U.'s while the cash paid in is being used to pay the ordinary expenses of the Federal Government. Why is there no Congressional investigation of this, he asked.

The former Notre Dame University dean characterized the 85th Congress as the most reckless "feeder of inflation" in the history of the United States.

Competition

VII.

In the former installments Bastiat had discussed how the gifts of God were distributed and made common by competition. He proceeds in the following to show how competition in capital helps distribute these gifts. He writes:

"3. I have shown how Competition brings into the domain of the common and gratuitious both natural agents and the processes by which they are made operative. It remains to show that Competition executes the same function with reference to the instruments by means of which we set these agents to work. It is not enough that there should exist in nature a force, such as heat, light, gravitation, electricity; it is not enough that intelligence conceives the means of making that force available, — there must be instruments to realize this conception of the mind, and provisions to maintain those who devote themselves to it during the operation.

"As regards remuneration, there is a third circumstance which favours a man, or a class of men, namely, the possession of Capital. The man who has in his hands the tools necessary for labour, the materials to work upon, and the provisions for his subsistence during the operation, is in a situation to determine his own remuneration. The principle of this is equitable, for capital is only anterior labour which has not yet been remunerated. The capitalist is in a good position to impose terms; but observe that, even when free from Competition, there is a limit which his demands never can exceed — this limit is the point at which his remuneration would absorb all the advantages of the service which he renders. In these circumstances, it is unreasonable to talk, as is so often done, of the tyranny of capital, seeing that even in the most extreme cases neither its presence nor its absence can injure the condition of the labourer. Like the inhabitant of the tropics, who has an intensity of heat at his disposal which nature has denied to colder regions — or like the inventor, who possesses the secret of a process unknown to other men — all that the capitalist can say is: 'Would you profit by my labour — I set such a price upon it; if you find it too high, do as you have done hitherto— do without it.' "

"But Competition takes place among capitalists. Tools, materials, and provisions, contribute to This return, it is said, is 30 or 40 lowering the return for capital. Accordingly we perceive civilization other way, and on all sides acnatural tendency of interest is to rise. The fact is decidedly the whence it would follow that the number of borrowers increases more rapidly than it is possible to create capital to lend to them. then, among capitalists to find employment for their capital. All that this emulation forces them to share with the extreme demand, of which I have just assigned the creation of utilities only when there is an emulation, then, among capitalists, and still less in Holland. Now all that part of the return for capital which is annihilated by progress, although lost to the capitalits, is not lost to mankind. If interest, originally at 40 per cent is reduced to 2 per cent, all commodities will be freed from 38 parts in 40 of this element of cost. They will reach the consumer freed from this charge to the extent of nineteen-twentieths. This is a force which, like natural agents, like expeditive processes, resolves itself into abundance, equalization, and, finally, into an elevation of the general level of the human race."

Loose Stones?

Robert Allen Reports:

Our Enemy Is Not Age; It Is Damage

Robert S. Allen is on vacation. During his absence, his column today is by a noted physician on the widely absorbing subject, STAY YOUNG GRACEFULLY. Dr. Crampton, now Consultant, Institute of Gerontology, University of Miami School of Medicine, and Jackson Memorial Hospital, was former chairman, Medical Society, New York County, N. Y., and member New York State Committee on Medical Services in Aging. He is also author of the nationally popular "LIVE LONG AND LIKE IT."

By DR. C. WARD CRAMPTON
Consultant, Institute of Gerontology, University of Miami

MIAMI — Today a man of sixty, or even seventy, may be as young, vigorous and vital as the average man of forty.

On the other hand, he may present the common picture of the man of eighty — old, weak and miserable. Whether a man is old or young at sixty or eighty depends much upon the service which he gets from the medical profession in the decades before sixty.

This is a large matter of vital importance. Here are a few quick essentials:

Organs age unevenly. A sixty-year-old man may have a forty-year-old heart, fifty-year-old kidneys and eighty-year-old liver — and he may try to live a thirty-year-old life. Yet each organ is dependent upon every other and returns service to all. There is no isolationist organs in the body.

Geriatrics, the medical science with respect to aging, is making significant and notable advances. A disease at present may seem incurable, or a deterioration irreversible. Nevertheless, a geriatrician can do much.

If a heart condition appears incurable, he can bring all the other organs and nutritional resources of the patient up to their highest efficiency. This procedure gives the heart better service and less trouble — and may remove one or more of the original and continuing causes of the cardiac condition.

The heart returns to the organs longer and better service than before. The heart is better, the man is better.

There may be several conditions and symptoms of old age which, if once clearly defined, may be removed. And when these handicaps are taken away, the sum total of the body age is diminished.

Where there is discovered an unnecessary impoverishment of tissues and organs with impairment of function, suitable replenishment may revitalize the tissue, the organ, and the man himself. Handicaps are removed, benefits conferred.

Our enemy is not age, it is damage; in large part avoidable, in large part correctable.

This is good news for any man, more and more so as the years fly by. If he wants to do the best thing he can to make his life long, full, rich, and rewarding, he will search for a physician who will take the time and trouble to give him a complete examination — the whole man, the whole life — and then act as his health coach for the race of the years, decade by decade, for the rest of his life.

The examination is the beginning of the whole life-time program of medical service and guidance for the wise and fortunate. Here are the four essential procedures:

1. EXAMINATION: Three or more visits — any illness, past, present or future; anatomical measurements. Physiological tests of all organs and functions; life conditions and life management — social, psychological, economical, relations with self, wife and God.

2. TREATMENT: Of any condition requiring remedy, repair, rehabilitation, complete restoration of vigorous health.

3. INSTRUCTION: Written program of medical and nutritional aids — diet, rest, recreation, work, worship for the day, for the year.

4. SERVICE, life long: Counseling on call if needed. Re-examination on stated dates yearly, half yearly, ½ for revision of written program. Utilization of new medical advance and discoveries.

In this program the following are of leading importance:

1 INFECTIONS: Prevent, discover, treat, remove.

2. NUTRITION: Test, correct, support, give aid in addition to (but including) diet.

3. VITAMINS: Select, utilize to aid safety, vigor, physiological efficiency, avoiding stimulation and interference.

4. REMOVE dangers of stagnation, muscular, mental, circulatory, by getting out of bed, out of chairs, using exercise, walking, play, recreation, dancing, laughter.

5. ENDOCRINE, sex hormones: Use minimal support, avoid stimulation.

6. CORRECT any structural slump (bad posture), skeletal, organic; "head up, waist in, back straight."

7. DIRECT mental action forward, outward, upward; do useful work, aid and give service to others, learn to be happy with self and God.

There is your program. It works. Study it. Try it out — start today and —

Live long and like it.

The Doctor Says:

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Many correspondents have written about the unpleasant symptom mentioned in today's first letter.

Q— I am extremely annoyed by a buzzing sound in my ears which seems to be getting worse. I am 62 years old. — J.C.

A—A number of possible causes must be considered, incuding disorders involving the ear, the nervous system, or the circulatory system. Tests should be made for a condition of the inner ear known as Meniere's disease, and other ear examinations are in order. Tests of the nervious system are indicated.

General examination, including measurement of the blood pressure, should be made. Not infrequently a physical cause cannot be discovered and in such cases buzzing, ringing or humming in the ear or head is perhaps related to emotional tension. In such tense persons the sounds are likely to disappear during sleep or when attention is distracted.

Q— Would you please say something about bee or wasp stings? I was stung by one of them on the arm and right after it happened my throat got dry and my face swelled up for about an hour. —J. T. B.

A — A good many people are extremely sensitive to insect stings or bites. B.'s description indicates that he is among these who are hypersensitive, or allergic. Particular care in avoidance of stings is desirable. If the writer knows whether it was a bee or a particular kind of wasp which stung him, it might be possible to have extracts made and to take them in tiny quantities by injection so that he would be desensitized and in less danger in the future.

Q—I am a ruminant, or in other words I chew my cud like a cow. I am past 70 years old and have done this all my life. Would you kindly discuss it? — W. R.

A — A person who is a true ruminant is a medical curiosity. This is a condition in which there is unconscious regurgitation of food from the stomach. Minor regurgitations are virtually normal in infants, but the origin in grown-ups is obscure. Possibly this may be a carryover of infantile patterns into adult life.

NOTE ON QUESTIONS

Dr. Jordan is unable to answer directly individual questions from readers. However, once a week, in this "Q & A" column he will answer the most interesting and the most frequently asked questions received during the week.

Fair Enough

How UAW'S Walter Reuther Escaped Call By The Draft

by WESTBROOK PEGLER

General Lewis B. Hershey, director of the draft, has concocted a slippery denial that all certified unioneers, including even criminals and Communist enemies of this nation, are automatically exempt. This bloviation was addressed to Senator Barry Goldwater in reply to an inquiry about Walter Reuther's deliverance from peril when better men were dying in defense of Reuther and his insurrectionary goons who had operated the Terror in Michigan that created Reuther's present empire.

Hershey is not a typical Army bureaucrat. He is typical of nothing. He is special, a gaseous old chair-warmer. There was a pang of irony in the scene at Lakeland, Fla., in the fall of 1957, when this hulk was the best speaker available to address the convention of the Medal of Honor Society composed of heroes who had won in battle by conduct above and beyond the call of duty the greatest honor within the gift of the people of this nation. Reuther, himself, would have been no less appropriate.

Senator Goldwater had asked Hershey whether the draft law provided automatic exemption for unioneers. Without lying, Hershey told less than the truth, a rising Army custom in sad derogation of the beautiful but vanishing West Point ideal that forbids quibbling and evasion as a matter of honor. Hershey wrote that the law never has provided "exemption or group deferment of union leaders," adding that each case must be considered on its merits. So by truth Hershey achieves deception and a fair expression of the standard of the bureaucracy in which his late patron, Roosevelt implanted him when most of today's American conscripts were in swaddlings.

To dispose of one sly incidental trick first and get it out of the way, the boss of a union racket seldom is a "leader" and this gratuitous title conferred by Hershey is an unearned compliment to a class of parasites which includes many of the worst crooks out of jail. And Reuther's "leadership," if Hershey insists on that, was expressed in anarchy, bloodshed and civil commotion in many affrays in Michigan which brought the government of that state to heel.

However, when Hershey writes that "group deferement" is not specified he stops short of the but endless exemption was provided by the snide practice of permitting union bosses to obtain "deferments" without limit by collusion with their combrades in their own organizations. Thus, in Reuther's case, it was not on Reuther's own request but by request of the late Phil Murray and R. J. Thomas, that Reuther could legally avoid the draft. Thus the homing renegade who had found much to admire in the slave-labor society of Soviet Russia but had found better pickings back home, was put beyond peril on the revolting pretest that he "played a major role in establishing" a mythical statistical contribution to the "war effort" by the UAW. Reuther's press agent refers to the fraudulent "no strike pledge," neglecting, however, to add that this fake was violated 5,000 times during each of the war years at a total cost of countless man-years of "war effort," usually in petty protest against scarcities of strawberry pop and candy bars on the hokey-pokey carts in plants where bums were whiling the way away at outrageous pay for punching little red buttons when bells rang on the lathes and cranes.

The further fact comes out that Reuther was in fact further exempted from the perils of war on the supposition that if he were called up his wife, who was his secretary, would lose her job and become a "dependent." He got this classification by Hershey's own admission written to Congressman Hoffman in August, 1941, and it makes no difference whether Reuther asked for that classification or got it without asking by a contrived freak of the status of "indispensability" which remained in force, however, in case his wife got a better job or a divorce.

Hershey's vapors should not be accepted without skeptical analysis. The truth is that Jimmy Hoffa and a jail-bird goon known by the fake name of De Lorenzo all got the same boon the same way on the mere word of their henchmen that they were indispensable. De Lorenzo was excused even when production at Brewster Aircraft was sabotaged by his private principality of Reuther's UAW. In fine, the draft law did exempt thousands of union bosses who get other such bosses to do them this favor.

It did and it still does. And none of these parasites has any more claim to privilege and public toleration than anyone else who demands deliverance from danger with an implied threat that otherwise he will delay or prevent or run up the cost of victory in war.

Looking Sideways

By Whitney Bolton

NEW YORK — There is a pretty wonderful old man out my way who has about five million dollars he has to leave behind him and he is angry at lawyers, tax experts, accountants, bankers and, for all I know, his kin.

He came by to sit in the sunset the other night and talk about a lot of things that were on his mind.

"We are getting all-fired complicated," he said, after a long silence. "There was a time when a man could die and tell the people still living what he wanted them to have by scratching it on a piece of paper or maybe in the ashes in a hearth. Now, you have to have this expert and that expert, each one contradicting the other and the tax man has to come in and go through his rigmarole. Some days, I feel I'd like to burn it all, folding money and bonds, but still another horrified expert tells me that that is against the law, too. What isn't against the law?

"The way I'd like to do it is to take apiece of 10-cent store note paper and write: 'My name is— —. I own about five million dollars. I want Joe to have one million, Martha one million and the twin grandsons half a million each. The other two million I want to remain in the business to keep it healthy. This is all my money, I made it, I own it and that's what I want done with it. So far as I can tell: all the taxes are paid, give or take four dollars. I don't want anyone to do otherwise with what was mine before I died.' And then sign it. Now, wouldn't you think that would do it? I own it, I made it, I ought to have the right to dispose of it that simply.

"But things don't work that way any more. The lawyers say I have to set it all out in detail in a lot of fancy, burdensome language I haven't the will to read through. Whereases and heirs and assigns forever and Heaven knows what kind of silly talk. Then the accountants say I have to detail the funds, the stocks and the bonds and plant ownerships, the bank wants more detail so it won't go off half-cocked and finally come the tax men. Brother, did you ever meet a shark close up? They are.

"I have to do this and I have to do that and there is a penalty for this and for that. I said: 'Are my taxes all paid and you are satisfied with the returns as far back as you want to search?' They said, yes. So I said, 'get out of here. I'm square with you.' What I meant was that if 'you are still hungry after the chunks I gave you, go fight my heirs. It will be theirs. I won't be here.' But I did not say that. I just said: 'Get out.' Now, about the taxes and the heirs. You wrote sometime ago that you could not get inheritance taxes through your noocle. Neither can I. Let's make it a simple figure. If I make $5,000 a year for 10 years and pay tax each year on it, that $50,000 is tax-paid according to all the laws. Right? But they go to her and say: 'Sorry, widow, you owe inheritance tax on what Sam left you. Heck, I paid it beforehand. That would be double taxation. I seem to remember somewhere there is a law against double taxation. I may be wrong. Actually, I don't think they take inheritance tax at all until it reaches a big figure, or fairly big, but I used that $20,000 as an example only.

"Anyway, I'm fighting mad. I'm mad at the lot of them. They are all so eager to get their feet in the puddle that they make the simple job of leaving a will disposing of an estate into a complex, bewildering lot of nonsense. I have a good mind to write the kind of four-line will I outlined to you and fool them all. If they want to haggle and squabble and make it difficult after I go, let them. I would if it weren't for Martha. I don't want Martha to have any troubles. She isn't the kind of woman to spend weeks with lawyers, bankers and tax sharks. She'd fold up. She's gentle and sweet and I never gave her an hour's worry in our lives. I don't want to do it now. But, by golly, I'm fit to be tied and while I've still got breath to yell I've a mind to yell! Loud and long!"

Can you hear him out there?

Einstein, Megan McLemore: True 20th Century Geniuses

Albert Einstein and Megan McLemore.

That's one man's guess as to the only true geniuses of the Twentieth Century.

Einstein in mathematics, and Megan for feats heretofore considered impossible for an infant daughter only seven weeks old.

The order in which they are named has nothing to do with their ranking. Indeed, there are quite a few people who feel Megan should be named first, if only because she is showing her genius at a much earlier age than did Einstein.

Einstein was in his late twenties before he was recognized as a man apart. Megan is less than 50 days old, and genius is written all over her.

Take the way she talks. Yes, talks. Most babies make no pretense of talking until they are a year old, but Megan has been chattering away since she was little more than a week old.

At first, we paid no attention to her talk, believing it impossible. And, looking back, I am sure she got real mad at us for not taking her talk seriously.

The first word I remember Megan saying was, "haaf." It meant nothing to me, so I looked it up in the dictionary. Sure enough, there it was. A perfectly good word. Of Scandinavian origin, it means "The deep sea fishing ground for cod, ling, and tusk, off the Shetland Islands." At two weeks, Megan knew a word that few adults know. A true sign of extraordinary brightness, if I ever saw one.

The moment I realized my daughter was a lot smarter than I was, I took down all her words, and they are all in the dictionary.

She uses the word "gowk" quite a bit, especially when she is twisting and turning. I looked "gowk" up and it means, "the European cuckoo." Megan was calling me a gowk, or cuckoo, for most understanding her. And I don't blame her

Another of her favorite words is "lum," or what sounds like lum. Her use of this really gives an insight into her astounding knowledge, for "lum" means "a ventilating chimney over the shaft of a mine."

A seven-week-old baby girl who is hep to fishing around the Shetland Islands, European bird lore, and ventilation for coal mines, is a true wonder.

There's one other word, too. One day when she was a bit cold — she had kicked the covers off — I heard her say "haar." I ran to the dictionary and there is was— "a fog or mist with a chill wind." Unwilling to use such a prosaic phase as "Please cover me up, Daddy," she had simply said, "Haar."

For one of such tender age, Megan has marvelous sight. That stuff about everything being a blur doesn't apply to her. She can see a bottle of formula at twenty paces, and follows it with her eyes until she begins to get action from it.

She recognizes people, too. She doesn't take every adult as the same gray, shadowy mass. I discovered this by her reactions when I picked her up and when her mother picked her up.

She spots me right away, and lets out a howl. There is something about my face that upsets her, or so she acts. But when her mother picks her up she either coos or says one of her big words, and is happy as can be. I am going to hold a book in front of her in a week or two, and she what she does.

I won't be a bit surprised if she asks me to turn the pages for her. Or if I have to I'll start shopping around for a nice, small book mark, suitable for a nine-week-old baby girl.

Going back to whether Megan or Einstein should be ranked first, I'd say Megan should. For one thing, she's a whole lot prettier than the Doctor was.

Bid For A Smile

Judge (barking) — Nothing to do with it. You're not charged with murder. You're not guilty. Why you know your-self I can't even write my own name. I hold you for the grand jury.

Prisoner — Why, judge, course not guilty? Why you know your-self for yourself. Are you guilty or not guilty, what have you got to say Judge (snarling) — Well, Jim Brown, you have been retained, charged with forgery. One time a prisoner was arraigned before him. A western community elected the local undertaker trial justice, chiefly because he had more client than any other citizen; but new judge took his position very seriously and soon made a record of never disharging any accused person who was unfortunate enough to be brought before him.

Sometimes it looks like a modern marriage is one where the wife keeps everything but her husband.

HAS LAST WORD—While Communist Chinese on the nearby mainland rain shells on Quemoy island, a girl member of the Nationalist defenders shelters in high weeds to broadcast anti-Communist propaganda to the Red troops. Their positions are in sight of her post.

SHIP SHAPE—A sight to make a Venetian blind is Hollywood's Mamie Van Doren as she waves hello to the canal city from a motorboat. She was in Venice for the 19th International Film Festival after finishing her first European movie, "The Beautiful Legs of Sabrina," shot in Rome.

Plagued Day And Night with Bladder Discomfort?

Unwise eating or drinking may be a source of mild, but annoying bladder irritations — making you feel restless, tense, and uncomfortable. And if restless nights, with nagging backache, headache or muscular aches and pains due to over-exertion, strain or emotional upset, are adding to your misery—don't wait—try Doan's Pills.

Doan's Pills act 3 ways for speedy relief. 1 — They have a soothing effect on bladder irritations. 2 — A fast pain-relieving action on nagging backache, headaches, muscular aches and pains. 3 — A wonderfully mild diuretic action thru the kidneys, tending to increase the output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes. So, get the same happy relief millions have enjoyed for over 60 years. New, large economy size saves money. Get Doan's Pills today!

BOB AND PAT DUNNING'S DREAM CAR COMES TRUE IN PLYMOUTH'S END-OF-MODEL CLEARANCE SALE

Canny young local couple takes advantage of year's lowest prices

Bob and Pat Dunning had put off buying a car. Budget. Wanted to see what would happen.

Last week as Bob, a commercial artist, was driving to work he noted a sign in a Plymouth dealership reading, "End-of-Model Clearance Sale. Lowest Prices of the Year." . . . "Just," as he says, "for the fun of it," he stopped his car and went in. Chatted with a Plymouth salesman. Couldn't believe his ears.

Bob and Pat own their new Plymouth now — made the best deal of their lives.

You can, too, if you hurry. This End-of-Model Clearance Sale will be on at your Plymouth dealer's until the last 1958 is sold. All models included, and all at the year's lowest prices. All come equipped with Plymouth's luxurious Torsion-Aire Ride at no extra cost. All feature sleek Silver Dart Styling, Total-Contact Brakes, thrilling sports-car "feel," other Plymouth exclusives. Engine options even include the breath-taking Golden Commando V-8.

Better stop in at your Plymouth dealer's today. If you've been waiting to "see what happens" . . . it's happening right now!

Don't miss LAWRENCE WELK in TV's newest and brightest musical hour THE PLYMOUTH SHOW every week on ABC-TV. See TV section for time and channel.

Wheeler Will Stage Second Annual Free Fair Saturday

(Special to The News)

WHEELER — The Second Annual Free Fair in Wheeler to be staged Saturday will give the farmers and ranchers of this area a chance to display their products. In addition to the regular booths and exhibits there will be a horse show, flower show and baking contest.

The 1958 Fair directors include Watson Burgess, Lewis Lancaster, George Gandy, Bill Cantrell, Ariza Corcoran, George Hefley, Bryan Swaim, Lee Kicker, Frank Walker, P. A. Martin, Archie Hibler and Dennis Wilks.

General officers for the Fair are P. A. Martin, president; Frank Walker, general chairman of the livestock division; Lyndon Sims, chairman of beef cattle; Tom Puryear, chairman of the swine division; Bus Dorman, chairman of the horse show; John Manning, chairman of the dairy cattle division; Mrs. P. A. Martin, chairman of the women's division; Mrs. Gordon Whitener, chairman of girl's division; Carroll Killingsworth, chairman of the educational exhibits; and Harry Wofford in charge of public address system.

The same rules and regulations as last year will govern the Fair, with a few exceptions as listed in the current Fair Catalogue. Copies are available at the County Agricultural Agent's office in the Courthouse.

Judges will be Ray Siegmund, livestock; Mrs. C. G. Cantrell, commercial booths; James Verden, junior livestock; George Taylor, agricultural products; and Mrs. George Taylor, flower show.

Earl Brown, Percy Farmer and J. C. Holcomb are in charge of consessions. Sandwiches, pop and candy will be available at the fair grounds.

All livestock must be in place at 9 a.m. Saturday in order to be eligible for the judging.

The Annual Wheeler County Bake Show will be held in the Wheeler Homemaking Cottage under the direction of Mrs. Elizabeth Litsch, Home Demonstration agent. Any 4-H girl is eligible to enter the show. Entries include one eight or 10 inch two crust fruit pie and eight sweet milk biscuits.

The Wheeler Chamber of Commerce extends a cordial invitation for the public to enter and visit the Second Annual Free Fair in Wheeler Saturday.

News In Brief

TRANSFER ATOMIC CENTER

LONDON (UPI)—The whole of Britain's thermonuclear project will be transferred from Harwell to a new center at Winfrith Heath 100 miles away, the Atomic Energy Authority said today. The changeover will be completed during 1961-63.

TO HOLD MANEUVERS

BONN, Germany (UPI)—The new West German army, at about the half-way point in its formation, will begin its first real maneuvers Thursday with 80,000 men and 15,000 vehicles participating. Attention will be focused on the experimental brigade of 3,000 to 4,000 men designed to fight any kind of action, conventional or atomic.
