Jetliner Toll Pegged At 40 Dead, 43 Hurt

Nose Wheel Gets Blame For Crash

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — A Boeing 727 jet airliner with 90 persons aboard burst into flames on landing at the city airport Thursday night, burning 40 passengers to death in the fire-swept fuselage.

Another 50, including the entire crew of six, dived through windows and emergency hatches seconds before the fire raged forward from the three jet engines in the tail all the way to the flight deck.

Of the survivors, 43 were hospitalized. The dead were in the blackened fuselage.

A spokesman for United Air Lines, owner of the plane, blamed the disaster on the collapse of a nose wheel as the aircraft touched down.

The three rear-mounted engines of the 727 are fed by fuel lines leading back from tanks in the wings.

The flight originated in New York and reached Salt Lake City after stops in Cleveland, Chicago and Denver. Its scheduled destination was San Francisco.

"TERRIBLE"

The pilot, Capt. Gail C. Keimierer, 48, of Denver, was among the hospitalized survivors. Hospital officials said he kept repeating, "Terrible, terrible."

It was the third 727 involved in fatal accidents since August and the second this week. The first plunged into Lake Michigan off Lake Forest, Ill., on Aug. 16, killing all 30 aboard. The second hit a hill while approaching Cincinnati Monday night, and 58 of the 62 persons aboard died.

The Civil Aeronautics Board in Washington dispatched 12 investigators to seek the cause of the crash.

A spokesman for the Federal Aviation Agency said in response to question, "At this point we can see no relationship between the three accidents and we have no plans for grounding 727 jets."

A similar view was expressed by Pader Hogue, chief flight safety engineer for Boeing. "I think it's a fine airplane and recent unfortunate experiences are in my opinion unrelated," he declared.

The survival of the pilot and other crew members provided an opportunity for investigators to obtain first-hand expert opinion on the cause.

Mrs. Lyndon R. Day of Arlington, Va., a passenger who escaped, said:

"I heard a loud thud. I knew we had made a crash landing. There were flames on the outside of the plane on both sides. I scrambled through a door on to a wing and dived to the ground."

Another passenger, Ralph S. Nesbitt of Santa Monica, Calif., told interviewers:

FLAMES BROKE OUT

"We had a hard bump, started swerving from side to side and flames broke out from the rear. People were thrown all over the place. It was horrible. The heat was terrible."

Nesbitt said he dived through an open window on to a wing and then dropped to safety through a sheet of flame.

The interior of the 72-ton jetliner was burned charcoal black.

Dr. Hilmon Castle, a medical examiner for the Federal Aviation Agency, said he found bodies "strewn along the aisle, some of them piled on top of each other."

One of the passengers listed by the airline as among the dead was Bill Linderman, who had earned more than $439,000 in rodeo competitions when he retired six years ago.

SCIENTIST

Among the survivors was a passenger listed as S. Shimura, an atomic scientist from Japan.

The victims included 2-year-old Maria Christina Bennett, who died with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Bennett of Beaverton, Ore. The number aboard originally was given by the airlines as 89 because babies in arms are not separately listed as passengers.

When the burned-out fuselage had cooled, a large hole was chopped in the right side and the work of removing the human remains began.

A representative of the airline said the remains were taken off in 40 sacks, each believed to contain what was left of the body of one of the dead.

Still Needs Help

The United Fund campaign was still needing help today, even though another firm, Southwestern Bell Co., reported in with 100 per cent. G. H. Sawyer, manager; Helen Hendricks (center), secretary of the CWA; and Pansy Odeneal, chief operator, made the report for the telephone workers. Also, students in the school system reported a total gift of $500, boosting the school gifts to $4,622.50, considerably more than the goal of $4,100. The campaign total this morning was near $84,000. U.S. Planes Modified For Bigger Loads

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force is modifying some of its long-range B52 jets so they will be able to drop up to 21,750 more pounds of bombs on the Communist forces in South Viet Nam.

The Air Force said today changes it is making in the bomb bays of a portion of its B52 force will increase the total load of each plane from the present 38,250 pounds to as much as 60,000 pounds.

B52s, originally built for nuclear warfare, have been used since last June to dump loads of explosives on areas in South Viet Nam which have been Communist Viet Cong strongholds.

So far there have been more than 60 such B52 bombing missions, mostly from Guam where the United States has stationed some 30 of the eight-jet giants.

White Rhodesians Facing Treason

LONDON (AP) — The British government warned Prime Minister Ian Smith and his Rhodesian regime today their defiance of British authority is treason The penalty is death.

Atty. Gen. Sir Elwyn Jones issued the warning in the House of Commons as the government sought emergency powers to restore Britain's authority over the breakaway, white-run colony in central Africa.

TREASONABLE

Jones warned Britons inside and outside Rhodesia that actions furthering the aims of Smith's regime would be treasonable.

The bill giving the British government massive powers of retaliation against Rhodesia sped toward adoption in the House.

Quick passage was urged by Prime Minister Harold Wilson who Thursday night accused Smith's regime of taking police state measures and assuming "the sickeningly familiar attitudes of authoritarian rule."

Jones introduced the bill asking for these special powers:

INVALIDATION

—An order invalidating any laws passed or business transacted by Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith's regime after its unilateral declaration of independence Thursday;

—Authority for the British government to exercise executive control and to make laws in Rhodesia;

—An amendment to British legislation to make it easier for "loyal Rhodesian citizens" to obtain citizenship of the United Kingdom and the colonies;

—An order enabling the British immigration authorities to confiscate passport documents issued or renewed by the Rhodesian regime.

Jones pointed out that other actions by Britain—such as the ban on import of Rhodesian tobacco and sugar—had already been carried out under existing statutory powers.

ALL ILLEGAL

The bill proclaimed that the Rhodesian government's declaration of independence and all acts that flowed from it were illegal.

Wilson dismissed Smith and his government of white settlers immediately after the Rhodesian leader, 46, declared the central African colony independent from Britain. But the dismissal was a formality designed to allow Britain to intervene in case of internal strife and to forestall African nationalists from forming a Rhodesian government in exile.

Wilson called the breakaway a "rebellion against the crown."

"The world has taken a step backward today," he said in a 10-minute radio-television address to his people. "It is our task to take measures to bring the people of Rhodesia back from the dangerous path they have taken, back to mutual trust and racial cooperation."

CUT OFF AID

Britain cut off all aid to Rhodesia, expelled it from the sterling area and banned it from selling its tobacco in Britain. In the past, Britain has bought more than half of Rhodesia's $112-million annual crop.

Wilson apparently hopes the sanctions will cut enough into the prosperity of Rhodesia's 225,000 whites to cause the majority of them to disown Smith's government.

Smith declared independence after several years of negotiations foundered over Britain's insistence that Rhodesia's four million Africans be assured ultimate control of the government.

Wilson kept further reprisals in reserve. One of these is an oil embargo which British observers believe Wilson may use to counter demands in the United Nations that Britain use force to put down Smith's government.

Wilson has ruled out the use of British troops at this time.

U.N. CONDEMNS

The 117-nation U.N. General Assembly voted 107-2 in New York to condemn Smith's independence declaration. South Africa and Portugal supported Rhodesia and France abstained

The assembly also called on Britain to quell "the rebellion" but made no direct reference to the use of military force.

The U.N. Security Council was expected to act today on demands for economic reprisals Secretary of State Dean Rusk said U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg would tell the council what steps the United States intends to take to support Britain

ISOLATION

Rhodesia faced diplomatic isolation from many countries Most of the African governments said they would not recognize the rebel regime. The Soviet Union condemned it and Norway and Sweden said they would not recognize it.

Inside the Commonwealth, New Zealand, India, Canada British Guiana and Ceylon were among those who said they would not recognize the Smith government.

One of Rhodesia's neighbors, white-ruled South Africa, applauded Smith's move and Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd said his government would not take part in any boycott against Rhodesia. This had been expected, as had the support of Portugal, which rules neighboring Mozambique, Rhodesia's gateway to the sea.

EMERGENCY

Another neighbor, black-ruled Zambia, declared a state of emergency, charging the Rhodesians were building up troops along the frontier between them.

Widow Attacks Demonstrators

FT. DEVENS, Mass. (AP) — An Army career man's widow broke from a crowd of about 200 who heckled 50 antiwar pickets and smashed several of their signs during a Veterans Day demonstration at New England's largest Army base.

"I watched for about an hour and finally couldn't take it any longer," the woman said as she and her three children were escorted to their car by Military Police.

She identified herself as Eva Romaskiewicz of nearby Ayer. Her husband served a 14-year career in the Army before he was killed in an automobile accident in Germany this spring, she said.

Heavy Cong Assault Fought Off, Receives Big Losses

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—A detachment of the U.S. Army's 1st Infantry Division fought off a sharp Viet Cong assault today in a day-long battle 40 miles north of Saigon. A spokesman said 100 of the enemy were killed and the toll probably would go higher.

LIGHT CASUALTIES

American casualties were described as light at dusk as fighting that raged for 12 hours tapered off into a sporadic exchange of small arms fire.

Striking with recoilless rifles and mortars, a Viet Cong battalion of 500 troops, launched the attack against about 700 men of the division's 3rd Brigade. Reports from the scene said the Americans came under fire without warning. Planes and artillery helped turn back the guerrillas.

The troops were on an operation to secure Highway 13 on the edge of Zone D, which has been under Communist control since the end of World War II. In recent months, B52 bombers from Guam have pounded the jungled zone and U.S. troops have pressed major offensives in the area in an effort to deny the Viet Cong a sanctuary from which to operate.

NO LETUP

U.S. fighter-bombers hit at the Viet Cong without letup during today's engagement. Pilots flew more than 40 missions against the enemy during the height of the clash.

The Viet Cong assult was the second Communist attack in five days against a major U.S. combat unit.

A combined force of U.S. Marines and Vietnamese troops continued their sweep 350 miles north of Saigon near the Chu Lai beachhead but still no significant contact was reported. Two Viet Cong have been reported killed and 30 suspects detained in the operation, now in its third day.

A delayed report said the Viet Cong ambushed 150 government troops Thursday on their way to relieve an outpost under heavy attack 20 miles northwest of Saigon. A spokesman said the Communists inflicted moderate casualties. There was no report of Viet Cong casualties.

U.S. and Vietnamese planes continued to hammer Viet Cong troop concentrations, camps, supply and storage facilities in South Viet Nam.

DEATH TOLL REACHES 1,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. S. battle deaths in the Viet Nam conflict climbed over the 1,000 mark this week.

The Pentagon announced Thursday that the casualty reports received last Tuesday boosted the total deaths to 1,000 in the Viet Nam war since the first casualty Dec. 22, 1961.

Brief Filed In Poll Tax Suit

AUSTIN (AP) — The federal government had on file today three big volumes of court records seeking to support its assertion that Texas' poll tax discriminates against Negroes.

A 118-page brief and two fat volumes of evidence were submitted to the three-judge federal court which will hear the government's voting rights suits here Dec. 1.

The state attorney general's office said the state is working on its answer, which will be filed about Nov. 20.

The U.S. attorney general's brief went to great lengths to argue that the $1.75 tax is a financial hardship to many Negroes and is often administered in such a way that Negroes are discriminated against in paying it.

The brief said in 67 counties with a "significant Negro population" there were 64 in which a lower percentage of eligible Negroes paid the poll tax than whites.

The brief said FBI agents went into 28 selected counties to count poll tax receipts by race.

"What can be learned from this pattern of disparity is that Negroes are not overtly prevented from paying the poll tax by dramatic forms of discrimination, but by a combination of forces in society over which they have no control and which operate against them on account of their race, Negroes find it more burdensome to pay," the brief asserted.

The U.S. attorney general filed the suit Aug. 10, under instructions by Congress in the 1965 voting rights bill that poll tax requirements in the four Southern states which still require it be tested in court.

The federal brief complains there are instances in which county tax collectors refused to appoint Negro deputies to collect the poll tax and in other ways made it inconvenient for Negroes to meet the voting requirement.

Fire Destroys Odessa Church

ODESSA (AP) — Fire destroyed the sanctuary and main building of Odessa's First Methodist church early today. The Rev. Robert Whitis, assistant pastor, said damage was over $250,000.

The church has 2,700 resident members and is the largest in the Carlsbad District.

The pastor, the Rev. Orbin Turner, was en route to Dallas on a business trip.

Smoke billowed over adjoining areas of the downtown district as the leaping flames raged out of control for a time.

The blaze was discovered first about 5:15 a.m. in the education building, which was being reroofed. Much of the smoke came from composition shingles.

Several firemen were ordered down shortly before the roof collasped and the fire spread into the sanctuary.

The brick structures were two stories tall, and stretched for

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — Another new baby around the house will be nothing new to Elenora Gavin, 44. The newcomer is No. 20.

Mrs. Gavin gave birth to the 7-pound, 14-ounce boy Thursday at Lee Memorial Hospital. Seventeen of her children are living in addition to the newborn. Ten of them reside with her and her husband, Edmund, a groundskeeper, at their modest cottage on Sanibel Island.

160,000 ARE STATIONED THERE NOW

Viet Nam Commanders Authorized More Troops

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson has given American field commanders in Viet Nam broad authority to call for — and get — additional fighting men to step up the war against the Communist Viet Cong.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara told newsmen, after a day-long policy conference Thursday at the LBJ Ranch, that Johnson had "instructed me to meet the requests from our military commanders for additional personnel as they are received."

REQUESTS RECEIVED

Some requests for more men already have been received, McNamara said, and troops will move "as they become available for that purpose.

The defense chief said 160,000 uniformed Americans already are stationed in South Viet Nam. He wouldn't speculate on how many more would be sent because "we don't wish to give our opponents advance information on the forces that they will confront in the future."

Secretary of State Dean Rusk, who joined McNamara and other top policy advisers for the marathon session with Johnson, said Viet Nam actually took second place in the discussions to "the unilateral action of the white minority government in Rhodesia in illegally seizing power, an action which the United States government deplores."

PROMISES STATEMENT

Promising a further Rhodesia policy statement today from United Nations Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, Rusk said Johnson had ordered the recall of American diplomats in the African country — headed by Consul General Roswell B. McClelland — and the shutdown of activities there by the United States Information Agency.

"The United States government," said Rusk, "in no way recognizes the rebel regime, and continues strongly to support a solution in Rhodesia that will be just and acceptable to the population as a whole" — black as well as white.

REPORTED

McNamara and Rusk reported to newsmen at Bergstrom Air Force Base near Austin, 65 miles east of the Johnson ranch, while waiting for a plane to take them back to Washington. Other participants in the ranch session included Undersecretary of State George W. Ball, Assistant Secretary of State Walt W. Rostow and McGeorge Bundy, the President's special assistant for national security affairs.

Secretary of Welfare John W. Gardner and Chairman John W. Macy of the Civil Service Commission also flew to the ranch for the day. The Texas White House said Johnson talked to them about plans already approved for reorganizing the management of Gardner's department, which now is second only to the Pentagon in total annual spending.

To meet more troop needs, McNamara said there is no plan "at this time" to mobilize any National Guard or Reserve units or to extend duty tours. He said the draft and voluntary enlistments should cover the situation.

DRAFT CALL

The December draft call, he said, would total about 40,000 men. And he added, "I don't anticipate that it will be necessary at any time in the near future for draft calls to rise above that figure."

Both McNamara and Rusk took a rather optimistic view of the current situation in South Viet Nam.

McNamara said the Viet Cong clearly attempted during the summer monsoon season to split the country "in two at its narrow waist, and to dismember and maul the military forces of that nation." But he said the South Vietnamese, with American help, "have blunted and defeated that Viet Cong offensive, and the Viet Cong have paid a very heavy price indeed for their monsoon activities."

Ike's Heart Attack Verified

FT. GORDON, Ga. (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's illness was diagnosed today as a true heart attack.

Revising their first estimate that the 75-year-old five-star general had suffered only a heart insufficiency, the medical team issued a new report on the basis of late tests.

The finding was that he suffered from a shortage of blood supply to heart muscles, producing angina pectoris or heart pain.

Today Capt. Wallace Hitchcock, the fort's information officer, reported that further electrocardiogram tests had revealed Eisenhower suffered a genuine heart attack.

Presbyterian Missionary To Speak Twice Sunday

A friend and neighbor to Congolese since 1945, the Rev. William Franklin Pruitt, will preach at the Sunday 11 a.m. worship of the First Presbyterian Church. He will deliver the evening message at St. Paul Presbyterian at 6:45 p.m.

This Presbyterian U.S. missionary has travelled throughout the Congo to more than 500 villages with his objective: the building and strengthening of churches.

"Upon arriving in a village, while I set up my camp, I put my little transistor tape recorder outside on a folding table," he said of his work. "In villages previously visited I have taped hymns, sermonettes and folk songs. These immediately catch the attention of the young people who gather around.

"Congolese have a great gift for song, and every village has its specialities. I am building up an interesting tape library of Congo village music and of an indigenous hymnology that is springing up spontaneously from the Christian communities.

REV. WILLIAM F. PRUITT

"The tape recorder also serves as a line of communication between Christians from village to village.

"In the evening while the crowd is gathering, I first show them films of American football and the Harlem Globe Trotters. Soon, the young people are giving rapt attention and I show the movie, 'King of Kings' (life of Christ by C. B. DeMille)."

A former pastor in Texas, New Mexico, and Oklahoma, Rev. Pruitt is a graduate of the University of Texas and Austin Theological Seminary. He and Mrs. Pruitt are on a one-year furlough.

Year's First Freeze May Be On Way

By The Associated Press

Cooler air started surging into the Texas Panhandle before daylight and most of that section was promised a freeze by Saturday.

About the same hour, scattered showers which began the day before were still tapering off along the lower Texas coast and in the southeast part of the state.

The fresh norther proved mild at the outset but Weather Bureau observers said the main body of refrigerated air was still to come. Before sunrise the front's forward edge stretched along a line angling from Childress to Lubbock.

Dalhart had an early morning temperature of 40 degrees and it was 44 at Amarillo.

Showers dotted broad areas from North Central into South Texas during the night but there was no report of heavy rain. One of the largest amounts Thursday was 1.47 inches at Palacios on the coast.

Brisk winds kicked up some dust Thursday afternoon around El Paso in far West Texas.

Forecasts for colder weather across the northern half of Texas were issued as a blustery snow spread from Northern Montana into the Northern Plains.

A freeze was predicted tonight for most of the Texas Panhandle, with readings down to 29 degrees. No big temperature changes were in prospect for the south half of the state.

Co-Op Reports Slight Increase

Operational figures for the Cap Rock Electric Cooperative system showed a slight increase of power sales over October of a year ago.

During the month, Cap Rock metered 4,402,783 KWH to members as compared to 4,348,185 in the same month of 1964. This brought to 75,071,053 KWH the sale for the year, still behind last year's record pace.

At the end of October, Cap Rock had 2,503 miles of line energized, a gain of 43 for the year. There were 5,804 members, a decline of five for the month, but 170 more than at the end of October, 1964.

Draft Calling For Doctors

WASHINGTON (AP) — Doctors under 35, some of them fathers, are being ordered into the armed forces in January.

The Selective Service orders are going out to fill a Defense Department call for 1,529 physicians, 350 dentists and 100 veterinarians to go on duty early next year.

Play It Cool; Cut Calories; May Keep You Young Longer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—If you knew you could prolong the youth of your children by keeping them cold and hungry, would you?

Playing it cool and cutting calories may be just the thing for staying young longer.

Two Baltimore scientists say it has worked in their experiments with rodents and rotifers. (Yeah, rotifers. You know, tiny water animals).

Why not people?

Well, for one thing, said the scientists, Drs. Charles H. Barrows and Nathan W. Shock, if you can read this you're too late to start the treatment.

"These experiments indicate that what happens to a person very early in life influences greatly what happens to him later in life," explained Dr. Shock.

The answer then, no doubt, is to run to the cradle and snatch away that bottle and blanket. Right?

Well, Dr. Barrows isn't too optimistic that it would work.

"It would be very difficult to get enough children whose parents would allow them to be fed only half of what all the other children are getting," he said. "They probably would be smaller, and the practical problems would be great."

Drs. Shock and Barrow told newsmen Thursday that their rats and rotifers, who had no choice but to cooperate, had lived up to twice as long as well-fed rats and warm rotifers. And they reported, they lengthened certain stages of the creatures' lives, including the reproductive period and old age.

"We regard this as an important finding because it means we may be able to do something biologically that will influence the period of old age," said Dr Shock.

Dr. Barrows said that feeding rats one-third less than normal amounts extended their life span by 50 per cent.

The life of a rotifer was lengthened 100 per cent by either cutting down on the food or by reducing the temperature of the water in which they live.

Dr. Shock is chief of the gerontology branch of the National Heart Institute, Baltimore City Hospitals. Dr. Barrows heads the institute's section on nutritional biochemistry. They're in Los Angeles for a meeting of the gerontological society.

FOR VIRGINIA

Another Byrd May Take Nest

WASHINGTON (AP) — There is strong speculation around the Senate that the Harry Byrd name may not be missing from the 1966 roll-call lists despite Sen. Harry F. Byrd's resignation.

The 78-year-old Virginia Democrat quit the Senate Thursday with a formal resignation submitted to and accepted by Gov. Albertis S. Harrison Jr.

STEPS DOWN

Byrd said he was stepping down because of his health. He has been suffering from arthritis.

Harrison is expected to act speedily to name a successor to fill Byrd's seat until next November's election. Virginia will elect two senators at that time, with Sen. A. Willis Robertson 78, seeking a new six-year term.

At the top—or near it—of Harrison's list of prospective appointees is the name of Harry F. Byrd Jr., 51, son of the retiring senator and a Virginia state senator since 1947. The younger Byrd is publisher of the Winchester Evening Star and the Harrisonburg Daily News-Record in his state.

Harrison has had close association with the Byrds since he managed the retiring senator's 1952 campaign. He benefitted when the younger Byrd decided not to seek the Democratic nomination for governor in 1961.

INTERIM APPOINTEE

There was some speculation that Harrison might name an interim appointee and seek the office himself. The name of Rep. William M. Tuck, former governor, had been mentioned as a possible appointee. But he said he had called the governor, told him he did not want the appointment, and recommended the younger Byrd for the post.

Byrd's departure from the Senate will deliver the chairmanship of the powerful Senate Finance Committee into the hands of Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La. Long, now 47, carried much of the committee load this year when Byrd was physically handicapped by painful arthritis in a knee.

In Phoenix, Ariz., Sen. Carl Hayden, D-Ariz., Senate president pro tempore, said Long is likely to become Finance Committee chairman with Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., probably becoming assistant Democratic leader.

SOME DOUBT

Byrd's retirement casts some doubt on the future of the Senate-House committee on Reduction of Nonessential Federal Expenditures, which keeps tabs on the rise and fall of federal payrolls and is supposed to point out where government economies can be made.

Byrd has served as chairman of the group since it was created, including periods when the Republicans have controlled the Senate.

Pilot Given Incentive Award

An instructor pilot in the 3560th Pilot Training Wing at Webb received an incentive awards certificate and a check this week for a voluntary "self-help" base improvement project, recently completed.

First Lt. Joseph B. Mandel planned and constructed concrete sidewalks and steps in front of buildings T-26 and T-66. He borrowed tools and materials from Base Civil Engineers and had manual labor assistance from squadron personnel. His squadron commander, Lt. Col. T. J. Preston Jr., made the presentation.

Center Schedules Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Howard County Rehabilitation Center has been set for 5:15 p.m. Nov. 22. Everyone who has given to the center is a member.

New members will be named to replace those retiring, and a new officer slate will be elected. The meeting will be held at the center.

Army Of Civilians Aid South Viets

NEW YORK (AP) — Far from the sound of gunfire, an army of American civilians is working to ease the pain of war among the South Vietnamese.

These homefront forces labor under the banners of a score or more of private relief agencies sending food, clothing and other supplies to that battle-torn land.

The value of materials shipped last year reached $4.6 million, more than a half million above the 1963 figure. This year's total is expected to increase considerably.

All of the help goes to South Vietnamese civilians: The dependents of military personnel, widows, orphans and the poor and uprooted in battle areas.

"It's wonderful the way everyone is working together there to assist the people," a spokesman for Catholic Relief Service said. "It's created a feeling of one big family."

The agency is one of the largest providing help. Other major ones are CARE, Mennonite Central Committee, Foster Parents Plan and Project Concern.

Catholic Service began its South Vietnamese program in 1954 and now is feeding more than a half million persons daily. It expects to double the number shortly.

CARE is distributing food, clothing, blankets, tools for development, first aid equipment and school supplies. It also plans to help farmers rebuild their war-ravaged lands.

Mennonites constructed a 35-bed hospital and clinic and treat 150 patients daily. They also hand out food and U.S. surplus commodities.

Foster Parents Plan is providing social work and counseling assistance to about 5,000 families.

Project Concern operates a 20-bed hospital, five clinics and is planning a 53-bed hospital. Most of its work is with a wandering mountain people called Montagnards, who speak a language of their own and are among the victims of the fighting.

Most of the relief agencies belong to the American Council of Voluntary Agencies for Foreign Service, Inc., A coordinating council in Saigon also helps them put their efforts to the best advantage.

Red Rocket Venus-Bound

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union launched an unmanned space station toward Venus today and said it should reach the planet around the end of February.

It was the second announced Venus probe by the Russians and about 50 per cent heavier than Venus 1, which missed the planet by more than 100,000 miles in February 1961.

Tass, the official Soviet new agency which announced the launch, said Venus 2 is moving on a course "close to the prescribed one."

Tass said that by noon, the space probe was nearly 34,800 miles from the earth and equipment was functioning normally.

U.S. scientists said the Soviet spacecraft Zond 1, launched April 2, apparently was intended to be a Venus probe although the Russians never announced it as such. The Americans said Zond 1 apparently missed its mark in July 1964.

Eisenhower Gets Report Today On His Condition

FT. GORDON, Ga. (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower may get an indication today of how long it will take him to get over his second attack of heart pains.

The six doctors attending the 75-year-old general said Thursday night that they might have some information today on the recuperation period.

Eisenhower had one attack in the early hours Tuesday, was reported on the road to recovery within a couple of weeks, then had another heavier, longer "episode" of angina pectoris or heart pains Wednesday.

The doctors reported Thursday they were treating him as if he had had an actual heart attack — he suffered one in 1955.

The doctors said the two attacks in less than 48 hours of angina pectoris were threatening and that it was not uncommon for patients with heart disease to experience chest pains repeatedly which might or might not develop into "a full-blown heart attack."

On Wednesday, before the second attack, doctors had reported that Eisenhower had been making a good recovery, had not suffered a heart attack in the ordinary sense, and would be transferring today from Ft. Gordon Army Hospital to Walter Reed Army Hospital in Washington.

Eisenhower was returned to the oxygen tent Wednesday, and a special cardiac bed was wheeled into his room Thursday to make him more comfortable.

Doctors kept up a constant vigil. They reported Eisenhower's general condition was satisfactory and he had spent a comfortable day Thursday.

His brother, Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, president of the Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, Md., arrived Thursday. The general spent quite a bit of time visiting with him, Mrs. Eisenhower, son John, and members of the staff.

Asked how the general looked to him, Milton Eisenhower said:

"Wonderful. I hope I look that good when I'm 75.

"His voice is strong. We talked about everything from education to Black Angus cattle."

The physicians reported Thursday night through the press officer, Capt. Wallace Hitchcock, that Eisenhower wound up the day with a good meal in the evening and visited a bit more with the family.

Church Urged To Do More For Youngsters

WACO (AP) — The church faces a challenge to do more for the increasing number of children victimized by a widespread breakdown of family life, the genera! secretary of the Methodist Church Board of Hospitals and Homes said Thursday night.

Dr. Olin Oschger of Evanston, Ill., advanced this view at the annual meeting of the Methodist home's board of commissioners.

Whatever the trends of society, he said, "our concern for children must be based primarily on spiritual values, democratic practice and worth of every individual.

"We do not need to ask the question whether the church is or should be interested in child welfare. Followers of Christ can have no other choice."

Dr. Paul Bumpers of Lubbock said earlier it is time for the church to become more involved in the problems of man and to participate in finding solutions to them.

Dr. Bumpers cited the Methodist home's role in helping homeless and neglected children as an excellent example of the church's involvement in the problems of man.

Since its founding in 1890, the home has aided more than 8,000 children.

Coed Shows Up Robber

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) — A coed jumped on an armed robber Thursday, knocked him through a plate glass window and grabbed back the purse he had taken.

The incident began when a man entered a Fort Wayne bridal shop and handed Diane Scheiber, 19, a note saying, "This is a holdup. Give me all your money."

Police said the man, identified as Mike Johnson, 38, Saginaw, Mich., then pulled a knife and tried to attack the pretty clerk.

The store manager, Bea Scott, stepped from an alteration room and startled the man. He grabbed Mrs. Scott's purse and ran down a flight of nine steps leading to the store's foyer.

Diane, a sophomore at St. Francis College in Fort Wayne, leaped from the top step and caught the robber at the bottom, knocking him through the window. She dashed out the door, beat him and wrestled the purse from his grasp as money flew into the street.

The man fled but was seized a few blocks away by a policeman.

"Let's just say it got her Irish up," Diane's mother, Mrs. Richard Scheiber, said later. "She's just an average girl, about 5 feet 7, and weighing 125 pounds."

Pleads Guilty To Taking Postal Funds

VICTORIA, Tex. (AP) — Former Port Lavaca postmaster Jerry Runk, 37, received a six-month suspended sentence and five years' probation after he pleaded guilty Thursday to misapplying $851 in postal funds.

He told U.S. Dist. Judge Ben Connally, who sentenced him, that restitution had been made.

Driver Killed In Crash With Bus

GROESBECK, Tex. (AP)—A pickup truck and a school bus collided Thursday night, killing the pickup driver, Perry Sharp, 39, of Groesbeck.

All the 30 to 35 boys in the bus from Marlin escaped harm.

Mrs. Janie Pritchard of Groesbeck, riding with Sharp, suffered serious injury.

The collision occurred 3½ miles south of Groesbeck on Texas 14 about 11:30 p.m.

Mrs. Pritchard was taken to a hospital with both legs broken, head injuries and multiple lacerations.

Occupants of the bus were en route home after playing a football game at Mexia.

Failure to unblock in a side suit proved very costly to West in defending against South's four spade contract.

South opened the bidding with one spade and West overcalled with two hearts. It may be contended that he had sufficient values to warrant making a take-out double; however, a vulnerable overcall at the level of two should be treated with considerable respect, and West felt that, unless partner was in position to act voluntarily, there was very little chance that a game would be missed.

North had a comfortable free raise of two spades and, when South took further action, North proceeded to game in spades.

West led his singleton club in the hope of obtaining an eventual ruff. The queen was played from dummy, East covered with the king and South won the trick with the ace.

A small diamond was led, West followed with the deuce and the queen was played from dummy. When the finesse succeeded, declarer switched to the trump suit, driving out West's ace. The latter exited with the king of diamonds. North put up the ace and cashed a high spade to draw the last trump.

A third round of diamonds was played and West was in once more. Not wishing to present South with a ruff and discard by leading another diamond, West shifted to the jack of hearts. Declarer won the trick with the queen, cashed the ace and ruffed a heart in dummy. He conceded a club trick to the opponents and claimed his contract.

West could have averted the end play and assured South's eventual defeat by unblocking in the diamond suit. When the first diamond is led, West must play the ten, preserving his small card for subsequent use. After the king drives out dummy's ace and declarer leads a third round of the suit, West can underplay with the deuce, permitting East to hold the trick with the nine. A heart return thru South establishes the setting trick for the defense.

A Devotional For The Day

Spare no effort to make fast with bonds of peace the unity which the Spirit gives. (Ephesians 4:3, NEB)

PRAYER: O Christ, Thou who art the word made flesh, help us to share the life we find in Thee with those who know Thee not. Implant Thy love in the hearts of all men that the world may soon know true peace. For our Savior's sake. Amen.

Doesn't Have To Be Tolerated

Although he was addressing himself to the problems of sonic booms, Henning Von Gierhke of the biodynamics division of the Air Force Aerospace Medical Research Laboratory, went a little far afield when he noted:

"Sonic booms are an environmental annoyance like pollution of air or water," he said. "Americans will have to learn to live with them."

Air and water pollution in contemporary America is much more than an annoyance; it is a spreading and intensifying hazard to health and life itself. Pollution of our increasingly scarce fresh water supplies and of the atmosphere of major metropolitan areas that now contain the bulk of the nation's population is not something we "will have to learn to live with." It is something that public policy at all levels of government must not only check but correct, if the cities of America are to remain inhabitable.

Water pollution is coming under attack by the federal government, the Texas state government, and local governments here, but belatedly and still too weakly. It is urgent that a full-scale anti-pollution program be pushed in this water-short state.

Because of climatic conditions and the nature of its industries and their fuel and power, air pollution is much less pressing problem in Texas than it is in many other parts of the nation. With rapid industrialization and city growth, however, it is not a problem to be complacent about, and we must remember that air pollution is much easier and cheaper to prevent than it is to correct once the problem gets out of hand.

So, contrary to Von Gierhke's unfortunate comment, air and water pollution is not an "annoyance" Texans can or should "learn to live with." It is a positive menace to health, to a satisfying environment, and to state progress generally, and it can be overcome through intelligent public policy popularly supported.

She Added Brightness

The many friends of Hila Weathers are saddened by the news of her death in Van Nuys, Calif., on Wednesday.

She had been faced with the likelihood of death unless a faulty heart valve was replaced, and with heavy odds that one of her age could survive open heart surgery to effect this repair. Characteristically, she chose to do something about it.

This was in keeping with her life, for she was not one to sit idly by and accept things which she felt could and should be changed. She was as full of hope and faith as she was of energy and initiative.

She was a person of imagination, and of venture. In whatever she did, she injected a note of gaiety, even into the prosaic task of Chamber of Commerce activities.

Stormy Weathers' infectious enthusiasm drew others along with her, and nowhere was this more vividly illustrated as in her service as coordinator of volunteer activities at the Big Spring State Hospital. The work flourished under her spell, and the brightness she added to the lives of others will linger long as a memorial to her.

Objective (?) Tea Sipper Gigs Ags

Anyone who has ever heard of Texas A&M University has heard Aggie jokes. For that matter, anyone who has not heard of Texas A&M University has heard Aggie jokes. Anyone but Aggies, who never seem to know about them.

AGGIE JOKES place the Aggie in the guise of the typical plowboy, inclined to ignorance if not stupidity. They are not generally very good, or classic jokes, but because they refer to Aggies, people laugh at them. This phenomenon needs explaining only to people not acquainted with Aggies.

Reason I'm talking about Aggies is because Nov. 25 is my birthday, Thanksgiving Day, and the day of the annual University of Texas versus A&M football fight, which UT always wins.

AS THESE "Rim" columns are supposed to be informative, it would be less than duty not to inform the public general of the source and general style of the typical Aggie joke.

The reason for the jokes is twofold —one, that Texas always (if you're a UT graduate) wins the game, thereby making it and all A&M participants jocular; two, that somebody has to be the goat, and why not the prideful Aggies (it being a well-known fact that all UT graduates, like the Irish, are close-mouthed, not boastful, are high-minded and modest to the point of bashfulness, and therefore not easily joked about).

A TYPICAL Aggie joke: What is a dope ring? Answer: An Aggie huddle. Wow! Funny, huh? Ring of dopes, get it?

Another: How do you break an Aggie's finger? Answer: Hit him in the nose. Zowie!

ONE MORE time: Aggie astronaut, copilot in an orbiting spaceship, calls NASA headquarters after four days in orbit. "NASA? Look, I've been up here for four days, and nothing has happened yet. Yeah, I know you told me my orders were to watch the little red light, and when it turned on, I'd see a number, then turn to that page in my manual and do what it says, but nothing's happened yet. Keep waiting? Okay."

Next day, the little light flashes on, revealing the number 35. Aggie turns to page 35 of his manual, reads instructions, which indicate he is to open a little box to his right. He opens box, finds banana. Back to instructions. They continue: "Peel banana, feed pilot." Great!

I HAVE HEARD that Aggies make up jokes about UT people, whom they refer to insultingly as Tea-Sippers. No UT persons sip, or drink tea. They'd be thrown out of school. Besides, I have never heard a joke about The University, or about its student population. Impossible. Still, if you hear one, save it for me, in its original spelling. Aggies spell great. One once said: "Six munths ago, Ah cutnet evum spel injuneer. An' now Ah are one." That must be a true story. Ask any UT man and he'll swear he heard an Aggie say it, or write it. Now I remember this jack - booted Aggie, back around 1956, and he told me . . .

Our Policy In Viet Nam

WASHINGTON—The anti-war demonstrations over Viet Nam in different parts of the United States are beginning to boomerang. They are producing counter - manifestations which emphasize the firmness of American purpose. This could do more than any series of appeals by friendly governments through diplomatic channels to persuade the North Viet Nam government that it would be wise to arrange a settlement promptly.

MANY OBSERVERS have been wondering just why the North Vietnamese continue the war inasmuch as, in the long run, they are doomed to defeat anyway. The fact is that the story of what is happening inside America has been so completely misunderstood by the North Vietnamese that they have been expecting American surrender or at least a negotiated settlement which would amount to the same thing.

In order to understand the Viet Nam war, it is necessary to examine the true position of the North Vietnamese leaders and people. They really have no love for the Red Chinese, but at present the Peiping regime is helping them. The ambitious men who make up the government in North Viet Nam think that ultimately the people of South Viet Nam will join them in a crusade for independence.

IT MAY BE surprising — but is nevertheless a fact—that the people of North Viet Nam are not aware of what the United States is doing. They have a controlled press and hear only propaganda stories to the effect that the United States is wringing its hands and cringing as it sends out appeal after appeal for peace. The people throughout Southeast Asia are being told that the United States isn't going to keep up the fight very long, and that all that is necessary now is to be patient and maintain harassment of South Viet Nam through guerrilla warfare.

BUT, SOONER OR LATER, the truth must percolate into North Viet Nam, and its leaders must inevitably realize that a United Viet Nam is not the objective of Red China and can only come into being and survive if the United States is ready to protect all of Viet Nam against aggression from Red China.

Conversely, the Red Chinese are convinced that if the North Vietnamese emerge victorious, the whole of the country will become a sort of semi-colonial possession of the Peiping regime.

Just which concept will ultimately be accepted in Hanoi is an open question. There need be no doubt, however, that the liberation of all of Viet Nam and the establishment of a united government as an independent state will materialize only if the American forces are successful in the next two or three years in beating down the aggression that is sponsored by the Red Chinese.

THIS BASIC FACTOR is at last being recognized in Washington. It is not easy to explain the changes in policies that have occurred, but apparently the White House and the State Department have concluded that there are two kinds of problems in Viet Nam—political and military:

1. It is important to build a stable government in South Viet Nam, and this means careful attention to political elements inside that country.

2. IT IS EVEN MORE important to use enough military force to squelch guerrilla warfare and to convince the North Vietnamese that the United States has no intention of leaving Viet Nam, even if it takes years to achieve its objectives.

Only recently has the American military effort been intensively organized, and more has been accomplished toward an ultimate settlement in Viet Nam through the resoluteness of American policy in the last few months than in several years of diplomatic dabbling.

SO THE AMERICAN campaign in Viet Nam is not being directed merely against Red Chinese pretensions and ambitions. It is clearly the most gallant effort that has been made on the Asian continent in a long time to establish a free government strong enough to resist attack and to win the cooperation of the free world.

A Similarity Of Documents

WASHINGTON (AP) — The two documents were separated by the Atlantic Ocean, 189 years of history, and broad changes in the attitudes of mankind but there was an ironic similarity between them.

IN AFRICA'S RHODESIA, a British colony, the white inhabitants Thursday declared their independence of the mother country, the first time that had happened since the American colonies broke away in 1776.

And the Rhodesian prime minister, Ian Smith, read from a declaration that borrowed unashamedly from the American Declaration of Independence of July 4, 1776.

The American declaration had started off: "When in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bonds which have connected them with another. . ."

The Rhodesian declaration began: "Whereas in the course of human affairs history has shown that it may become necessary for a people to resolve the political affiliations which have connected them with another people. . ."

SMITH IS A WHITE racist. In the 150,000 square miles of Rhodesia, which has been a self-governing British colony 43 years, there are 225,000 white people and four million Africans.

The whites are boss, and keeping the Negroes down economically and politically, they want to remain boss. That was why, despite all British efforts to the contrary, they declared their independence Thursday.

When Thomas Jefferson wrote the American Declaration of Independence, which Congress adopted, the overwhelming number of Negroes in this country were slaves.

And, although Jefferson went on in the declaration to say all men are created equal, he was a slaveholder when he wrote it and when he died 50 years to the day after his declaration, his will freed only three of his slaves.

AND ALTHOUGH Americans every July 4 celebrate Independence Day, white supremacists to this day still oppose equal treatment for Negroes.

Successive British governments had offered Rhodesia independence if the white rulers would give guarantees that political responsibility would then be shifted fairly swiftly to that black majority of 4 million.

BUT THE WHITE supremacists in Rhodesia refused. Smith argued it would take 15 to 100 years for Rhodesian Negroes to attain the educational and economic levels necessary for equality at the polls.

Now Rhodesia is one of a few islands of white supremacy in a sea of new Negro-run nations on the African continent.

Platitudes Heaped On Patients

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that hospital patients get tired of hearing:

"Now remember, when we get into Joe's room, no matter how he looks, tell him he looks great."

"Hi, Joe, gee, you're looking great."

"Don't worry about your work. The guy who took it over is doing a great job — handles it between his regular duties and says it's no trouble at all."

"Talk about your operation! Did I ever tell you about mine?"

"I HEAR while you were under ether the doctors were playing marbles with your gallstones."

"It's time to take your temperature again."

"Wake up. It is almost dawn."

"Of course, a few pains are to be expected. After all, as the French say, we can't make an omelette without breaking a few eggs, can we?"

"Well, I guess I won't get to be one of your pallbearers this week."

"Joe, I hate to bring this up while you're lying here flat on your back. But remember that $5 I loaned you just before they carted you off to the hospital? Naturally, I am not one to crowd anybody in your position, but—"

"JUST SIGN here, Honey. The lawyer said it was only a formality and a kind of precaution. But, according to him, it is only common sense that every man should make out a last will and testament."

"Joe, you have no idea how much your missus misses you. I saw her at a night club the other night, and she cried all through the floor show. The guy with her had to lend her his handkerchief."

"You know I'm your buddy, kid. We passed the hat at the office in hour honor. The collection came to a total of $3.97. What kind of a present would you really like most?"

"Do you mind showing me the scar? Is it okay if I count the stitches?"

"MY COUSIN had exactly the same kind of operation. That was 12 years ago. He has never been the same since. But of course in your case—"

"Is that all they give you to eat?"

"I'm sorry, sir, but doctor says we mustn't snack between meals."

"You mean you're paying $35 bucks a day to stay in this dump?"

"You're coming along nicely. I think you should be able to leave anytime after another few days — or a week or so."

"Hi, there, fellow. I'm a patient from down the hall. While I'm here I thought I ought to have a hobby, so I decided to take up life insurance salesmanship. Now, the policy I have in mind for you offers—"

"Hey, Joe, some dame in a white dress just drove up on a broomstick outside your door. Don't tell me she's your nurse. What does she do between Halloweens?"

A Sad Tale Of Sad Days

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy's administration commenced in a state of "euphoria" — Arthur Schlesinger's word—and led on to the disasters of the Bay of Pigs, the Berlin Wall and No Win involvement in Southeast Asia.

It takes an accomplished historian, as Schlesinger surely is, to give the shape of meaning to the chronicle of familiar events. His book "A Thousand Days" (1031 pages) has the professional touch which makes it far superior to Ted Sorensen's "Kennedy" (758 pages) and Evelyn Lincoln's "My Twelve Years With John F. Kennedy" (371 pages).

OF THE THREE biographers, Ted loved JFK the most, Mrs. Lincoln worshipped him the most uncritically, Arthur admired him with the most understanding yet judged him not always favorably from a leftist bias.

Schlesinger's admiration grew and grew as he watched Kennedy grow into the White House job, the tragedy of Dallas to the historian is that a thousand days were not enough for JFK to reach full stature. Inferentially, there is the bitter reflection that Lyndon Johnson (Schlesinger doesn't like him) reaped the triumphs in domestic legislation that Kennedy had sowed and cultivated.

BUT IN THE BOOK'S section entitled "Days of Euphoria," I think Schlesinger gives us the truest clue to a knowledge of what the Kennedy years will mean to those who study it in times to come. The happy dream of false security had fallen upon the White House, as if the unbroken string of political victories meant that troubles and challenges would never come again.

"THE FUTURE everywhere, indeed, seemed bright with hope . . . The capital city, somnolent in the Eisenhower years, had come suddenly alive . . . The glow of the White House was lighting up the whole city . . . Kennedy . . . all the while preserving his easy domination and seeming almost to pull the threads of history together in his hands. Perhaps the sense of possibility had its gayest image in a party the Kennedys gave for the Radziwells in the middle of March . . . Never had girls seemed so pretty, tunes so melodious, an evening so blithe and unconstrained . . . The glitter of that night remained in slightly ironic memory for a long time."

NO OTHER WRITER, I think, has quite touched the pathos of these beautiful people as they feasted, danced and savored their time of glory while the clock ticked on, and nobody noticed that the midnight hour had struck upon their fantasy.

The explanation for the Bay of Pigs, which followed soon, is more inherent in the "euphoria" than in the White Paper by Schlesinger which later tried to put the blame nowhere—by spreading it everywhere. The terrifying over-match of Khrushchev vs. Kennedy at Vienna is better comprehended when we consider the overconfidence of the brilliant young men who surrounded the debonair young President in those days. The confusing of a sense of destiny with a faith in luck foretold, that realities would catch up, and that glamor would not suffice for long.

NOT MANY TALES are sadder than those of the Thousand Days — now told by men who are older and wiser than when they lived those days.

What do you mean by "average Christian?" Is the average Christian saved? —H.P.

Too many of us are so involved in the numerous activities of the church —that membership drives, financial drives, building programs, and church promotion, that we have often lost sight of the real meaning of being a Christian. Oddly, none of the above (though all are important) have anything to do with being a Christian. A Christian, in the New Testament sense, is a person who has committed himself to Christ so completely, that everything else becomes secondary. Christ is a living Lord; the Bible is a living Book; and the Church is a living institution.

When I say "average Christian," I mean the average "professed Christian." Let's face it: the average professed Christian isn't often found feeding on the word of God; isn't often found on his knees; isn't often found trying to win his neighbors and friends to Christ; isn't often found doing good in Christ's name, without expectation of pay.

You ask, "Is the average professed Christian saved?" To be a Christian in name is not enough. Our Lord said: "Many will come to me in that day, and say, Lord, have we not done many wonderful works in your name?" And He will say, "Depart from me, I never knew you."

Dislocation Of Jaw Can Be Painful

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Several months ago I yawned and there was a tiny noise in the jaw area. Then the side of my face, near the ear, began to pain like a toothache.

My doctor checked and advised me to see my dentist, who took X-rays but could find nothing wrong. He did say that the jaw might be dislocated but it would probably return to normal eventually.

The jaw still seems to be out of place. Even though the pain has subsided, I have to be careful how I chew. What do you suggest?—MRS. R. C.

This annoying business of having your jaw crack is by no means unusual. The question is how much pain results and for how long. A hard yawn can cause a temporary dislocation of the jaw, stretching the joint capsules and leaving a lot of tenderness after the dislocation has been corrected—or has corrected itself. (A continued dislocation is unbearably painful.)

This sort of temporary dislocation and subsequent pain occurs often enough so that some elaborate studies have been made. In one such study, it was found that about 40 per cent of cases of jaw pain (and cracking) were due to problems of the teeth and abnormalities of chewing. Thus your doctor's advice to see your dentist was very sound.

About 20 per cent more of the cases were caused by joint disease (rheumatism, gout, etc.).

In the rest, no specific cause could be ascertained. It may have been just too big a yawn, or the jaw might have been out of position at the moment of strain, or some such thing. Whatever the cause, when the joint capsules are stretched, they can stay sensitive for quite a while.

It may be, Mrs. R. C., that your jaw will gradually return to normal. The lack of pain is an excellent sign. However, if you have further trouble, then have another look to see whether either of the two main causes is at work: dental examination to make sure that a faulty "bite" isn't pushing your jaw slightly out of correct alignment; or X-rays of the jaw joint proper, to see if there are any signs of arthritic or similar disease.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: Enclosed are 20 cents in coin and a stamped, self - addressed envelope for a copy of your booklet, "The Way to Stop Constipation." Can I get back to normal after having taken too many laxatives?—R.C.B.

The booklet will explain—and yes, you certainly can return to normal. Depending on how long you have been using laxatives instead of letting nature take charge, you may have to be patient for a time before your rhythm returns, but return it will.

* * *

For a comprehensive discussion on how to cope with the change of life, including scores of pertinent questions and their answers, send in care of the Big Spring Herald for my booklet, "Make Menopause Easier," enclosing 25 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to cover cost of printing and handling.

* * *

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Another Statistic In Viet Nam

WASHINGTON—The last time I saw Dicky Chapelle was on an unbelievably hot afternoon at an air base in the Mekong Delta, 100 miles or so south of Saigon, when she clambered jauntily into a jeep and careened off down a dusty red road on some grossly dangerous errand or the other.

A scraggly old Marine major and I had seen her off, not so much out of sentiment (we were not a notably sentimental lot) but because we were all a little bit relieved to see her go.

HELICOPTER Company X was very good, very professional and very proud of it. Its pilots were prone to celebrate all night for the good fortune they'd had in staying alive the previous day. They were favorites of the correspondents, because they did a lot of flying and were, considering the limitations of field duty in Viet Nam, pretty good hosts.

Dickey was part of it all, but everybody was glad to see her go. It was not only that a woman was troublesome in a place like that, but in the back of his mind everybody knew exactly what was going to happen to Dickey someday, and it was just something else you had to worry about.

YOU COULDN'T really know, and I guess Dickey herself didn't know, whether she was a very brave person or whether she was just a woman hag-ridden with some dark compulsion to prove that she was as good as any man on earth. Whatever the reason, it was a strain being around her, even though she was as generous and goodhearted as any person alive.

DICKEY WAS about 45 at the time I speak of, and (being honest out of respect for her own considerable integrity) she looked every day of it. She met me planeside when I joined helicopter Company X and I remember thinking when I first saw her that they were certainly making Marines smaller than they used to. I'd known her for a long time, but in her Marine fatigues and sunglasses I didn't recognize her at first. I truly thought she was a Marine, if a powerful scrawny one.

"Come on," she said, "I'll take you up in the control tower so you can see what the place looks like."

"HAVE MERCY, woman," I whined. "I'm going to have a gin and tonic and a clean tee shirt before I perish of this infernal heat."

So she went helling off some place on her own, reappeared for the evening meal, and discreetly withdrew to her own quarters when the night's celebration started. She flew as often as possible, asked no favors, complained because there was no combat parachute jumping to do (she loved to jump out of aircraft), and drove everybody a little nuttier because even in that heat she was full of energy and bounce, always nagging the squadron commander with questions, always full of an unbelievable zest for living, and always rushing headlong toward her own private appointment in Samarra.

AND SO, for those of us who had known her, there was no surprise in it when we read the other day that Dickey had bled to death on the floor of a helicopter with a Viet Cong bomb fragment in her throat. We could feel regret at seeing a good, earthy old colleague die badly far from home, but no surprise. For Dickey that's what it had always been all about, and I guess she knew it as well as the rest of us did.

Society Sponsors Italian Supper

The Altar Society of the Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church planned an Italian supper and Christmas Bazaar when it met Tuesday at the church. The events are scheduled Dec. 4.

Also, a family night will begin Sunday at 7:30 p.m. when hostesses will be Mrs. Kathleen Williams and Mrs. L. D. Jenkins. The public is invited.

Rebekahs Planning Roofing Project

STANTON (SC) — Re-roofing the IOOF hall was the project discussed at the Monday evening meeting of Rebekah Lodge 287. Mrs. Granville Graves presided and Mrs. Fannie Graves gave the opening prayer.

RAINBOW GIRLS WANT HOSE

Old nylon hose will be collected during the Saturday evening costume party for members of the Order of the Rainbow for Girls. The group will meet in the Community Room of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association building at 7:30 p.m. with prizes to be awarded for the best costumes. The hose will be donated for use in therapy at the Big Spring State Hospital.

Garden Clubs Set Pilgrimage

Participation in the forthcoming Christmas Pilgrimage was announced at the Wednesday afternoon meeting of the Four O'Clock Garden Club in the home of Mrs. R. O. Linn, 2605 Larry.

The pilgrimage and tea will be sponsored by the Big Spring Council of Garden Clubs from 2 to 6 p.m., Dec. 12. Homes to be shown are those of Mrs. T. H. McCann, 702 Highland; Mrs. F. M. Lathem, 4100 Dixon; Mrs. Dale Smith, 2705 Crestline; Mrs. Jesse Crane, 433 Hillside; and Mrs. D. S. Riley, 505 Hillside. Tea will be served in the Riley home.

Gardeners feel that those attending will obtain novel, yet practical, ideas for decorating their home during the festive holiday season. Tickets are $1 and may be obtained from any member of the garden clubs.

Mrs. Edward Kohanek was appointed vice president to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Mrs. B. W. Tubb, and a Thanksgiving basket was filled and will be delivered to a needy family.

It was suggested that "block petitions," asking for lowered water rates to promote a prettier city, be presented to the city commission next spring.

Following a report on the flower show, "The Money Tree," members were served informally from a polished table centered with an arrangement of fall flowers.

A workshop will be held Dec. 8 in the home of Mrs. Crane.

Legal Questions Raised In Basin Gas Decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — Does the Federal Power Commission have legal authority under the Natural Gas Act to void provisions of contracts made by natural gas producers for selling their gas?

If so, has the FPC used a method of price determination "that is fair and equitable and square with the legal requirements of the act and are the resultant prices based upon evidence of record, fair and equitable?"

The Independent Petroleum Association of America says these are the basic legal questions raised by the commission's landmark decision in the Permian Basin gas rate case.

The IPAA asked the questions in appealing the decision to the 10th Circuit Court of Appeals in Denver. The association asked the court to review the decision and to hold up, meanwhile, the effectiveness of all orders embraced in the decision.

William Powell, IPAA assistant general counsel and Dan Jones, general counsel, prepared the appeal. Powell said a general stay is being requested in behalf of all affected gas companies and producers.

Some producers, he explained, might not be in a position to petition for stays on their own.

The Permian Basin decision was issued Aug. 5. Under it, Powell said, producers would be required to reduce their rates on sales to interstate pipelines by Nov. 15 unless they obtained a court order blocking the rates set in the decision.

Several oil companies previously have obtained temporary stays and the 10th Court of Appeals has set hearings in January to determine whether the stays should be made permanent.

Generally, the commission's voluminous decision in the case established a two-price system for gas in the Permian Basin of Texas and New Mexico—one price for "old" gas and another for "new" gas.

"Old" gas is the trade term for gas discovered and produced along with oil. "New" gas is that from wells drilled exclusively for gas.

The decision also established certain criteria and methods which would require producers to make refunds to purchasers.

The IPAA appeal called the decision a "noble experiment" in an attempt to regulate field prices of natural gas.

The IPAA said the commission erred in assuming the role of "price fixer or initiator of rates" whereas its only proper and legal role under the Natural Gas Act is that of "reviewer of contractually negotiated prices."

Early in the Permian Basin proceedings, the IPAA argued that the proper standard for setting area prices of natural gas is "market value" as determined by sales contracts "negotiated at arm's length under open and effective competition."

Goldwater Quips Over Buckley's Election Loss

NEW YORK (AP) — Barry Goldwater says that although William F. Buckley Jr. lost in the New York mayoralty election Nov. 2, "I think he's won the campaign."

Goldwater, who lost the presidential election in the Johnson landslide last year, said in a dinner speech Thursday night that he was present "to honor a fellow cliff-hanger" — Buckley.

Buckley, the Conservative party candidate, got 340,000 votes out of a total of more than 2.5 million votes cast in an election in which there were three candidates.

Goldwater's joking advice to Buckley at the dinner was: "If you're gonna lose 'em, lose 'em big. What can you say when you lose an election for mayor by over a million votes?"

Then, as the diners roared with laughter, Goldwater quipped:

"Running as a Conservative in New York City, you're not a political candidate, you're a political kamikazi. You're a Goldwater who did it on purpose."

Noting that Buckley entered the race in an attempt to defeat Republican - Liberal John V. Lindsay — who was the winner, Goldwater said: "As a political kingmaker, you're a Wrong-Way Corrigan!"

The dinner was in celebration of the 11th anniversary of the National Review, a biweekly conservative publication of which Buckley is the editor.

Goldwater, aiming at the President's highway - beautification program, joked:

"There is no truth to the rumor I'm planning to open a chain of automobile junkyards."

WWI Vets Due Saturday

Veterans of World War I and Auxiliaries will gather here in the Settles Hotel Saturday and Sunday for Area and District 19 meetings, according to Mrs. Lavada L. Morrison, department president of the Auxiliary.

Rufus Arp, state commander, will attend all meetings, she said.

Area auxiliary meeting will be in the IOOF Hall, Ninth and Magnolia. First session will be at 1:30 p.m. Saturday; second session at 9 a.m. Sunday. A noon luncheon will be served Sunday. The meeting will include representatives from Districts 13, 16, 17, 18 and 19.

Special workshops have been planned, as well as a report from the National Convention, set in Tampa, Fla.

District auxiliary meeting will begin at 9:30 a.m. in the IOOF Hall Saturday, with registration beginning at 8 a.m. A salad supper will be served by the Big Spring No. 1474 women.

Barracks and Auxiliaries will meet jointly to open the session, business meetings to follow. Members of all districts attending the area meeting have been invited to attend the District 19 convention. It will end at 11:30 a.m. to allow time for lunch before the area meeting begins.

Civil Defense Meet Scheduled

An all-day school for Civil Defense directors will be held in Midland Nov. 15 with Dr. W. R. Bodine of the Texas A&M University College of Engineering conducting the course, according to W. D. Berry, Howard County Civil Defense director who will attend. The school will feature Civil Defense management, Berry said, and is projected, through A&M's College of Engineering, by the Offices of Civil Defense, Department of the Army.

Berry also said the West Texas - New Mexico Defense Council meeting would be held in Big Spring Dec. 4. He is president of the council.

Joe Wheeler Gets Promotion

Joe M. Wheeler of 1800 Grafa, has been named chairman of the operating board of Crain Industrial Products Corporation, it was announced by Lacy E. Crain, president, Saturday.

Wheeler is a graduate of Eastern New Mexico University and service before joining Crain. Crain is a Dallas based firm specializing in degreasers and maintenance chemicals for the oil and gas industry.

Pampa Man Dies In Train Accident

KINGS MILL, Tex. (AP) — Walter Voyles, 74, of Pampa was killed today when his truck was struck by a Santa Fe passenger train traveling an estimated 70 miles an hour.

A witness, Roger Shields of Cedar Edge, Colo., said he saw the truck pause just before reaching the rail crossing and then move into the train's path.

Kings Mill is about 6 miles southwest of Pampa in the Panhandle.

Little Theatre Rolls Up

Directors of the Little Theatre of Big Spring were told Thursday night that the organization has twice as many patron memberships this year as in any year of the past. The membership report included the fact that there are 150 holders of season memberships this year.

Mrs. Harold Davis, president, named Mrs. Jim Bill Little to head the poster contest for the upcoming children's play, "The Steadfast Tin Soldier." Each year, school-age children are encouraged to prepare posters advertising the play. Prizes are given the winners.

The board approved a production budget of $300 for the next production, "The Mousetrap." It is now in rehearsal and will be offered in December.

Judy Spencer, who represented the organization at the community theatre conference in Midland, gave a report. Several other routine business items were discussed.

British Couple Visits Grand Canyon, New Lake

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — After a day of resting in the Arizona sunshine, Britain's Princess Margaret and her husband, Lord Snowdon, fly over the Grand Canyon at sunset today. They spend Saturday boating on Lake Powell in northern Arizona.

The Snowdons sunned themselves Thursday around the pool at the home of their host, former ambassador to Great Britain and Mrs. Lewis Douglas.

They dropped plans to visit a nearby mission and astronomy observatory to rest up from nearly a week's hectic tour of San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Relaxing with them were actor Roddy McDowall, Mrs. Danny Kaye and actress Hope Lange and her husband, director Alan Pakula.

McDowall shares an interest in photography with Lord Snowdon, a professional photographer. The Pakulas are good friends of the Douglases' daughter, Sharman, who is the royal pair's guide for their U.S. tour.

The princess had hoped, aides said, that a restful day in the clear air and sunshine would help cure the remnants of laryngitis from which she has been suffering since Monday, when she had to attend a charity fund ball in Hollywood while suffering from chills and a slight fever.

Officers Disarmed By Man's Arms

A local patrolman spotted a vehicle last night, called other units and reported "an armed Mexican aboard."

Up the street, a prowl car saw the vehicle in question and pulled it over to the curb.

The Latin was armed all right —he had a pistol on him. A toy cap pistol he had purchased for his son Thursday afternoon.

Me And My X-Ray

Three-year-old Connie Culver of Boulder, Colo., poses alongside her X-ray. All the trouble started when Connie exclaimed to her mother, Mrs. Gene Culver, "My nickel's gone." Connie was taken to Boulder's Community Hospital where physicians removed the coin. The coin is visible in the X-ray just at the top part of the windpipe. Connie plans to have the nickel turned into ice cream which she figures will go down easier than the troublesome nickel. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Parks Board Approves Plan For Park-School Program

The Parks and Recreation board gave its blessings Thursday to a detailed plan for Lakeview School-Park developments.

The map resulted from a discussion earlier between Jack Watkins, chairman of the P&R board, and the Big Spring school board.

Calling for an expenditure of $14,861.50 by the city and $5,850 by the schools, the plan includes chain link fencing; a multiple game area, asphalted; grade ditch on Lakeview School property; an irrigation system; the planting of trees; construction of picnic tables and benches; a barbecue pit; planting of grass; fencing of a softball field; playground equipment; restrooms and maintenance.

The area planned for the park-playground-campus is on and to the south of Lakeview School campus on the town's north side.

Plan, as presented by Johnny Johansen, parks manager, will go to city commissioners at their next meeting for final approval, according to Larry Crow, city manager.

No agreement has yet been entered into by the city council and the school board on the proposal, but if it is accepted by the city commission, an agreement is expected to result.

Development of the Lakeview School area has been growing in recent months. The city commission and the school board agreed a short time ago on opening a new access road to the school, from Northwest Sixth up to Northwest Seventh off Channing. The land was purchased early this week, and construction will begin shortly, according to city officials.

Development of the school and the area around it came sharply into focus several months ago when the school board ordered the other Northside school, Kate Morrison Elementary, closed. Northside United, a group of northern Big Spring residents, began pressing for improvement of the remaining school, and access to it, after a suit to keep Kate Morrison open failed in district court. The group cited bad access and slum areas near the school as their chief complaints. The school board had ordered former Kate Morrison pupils to attend Lakeview School.

Keese Elected To State Post

B. M. Keese, registrar at Howard County Junior College, has been elected treasurer of the Texas Association of Registrars and Admissions Officers. This puts him in line to ascend to the presidency.

In previous years Keese has served as chairman of the honorary membership, the nominations and resolutions committees. Currently he is chairman for Texas State Teachers Association District 4 committee on coordination for high school relations. At the Houston meeting just concluded, registrars and their wives were guests at the Space Center.

HE LIKED IT FINE

The man came to Western Motor Co., 700 W. 4th, about 3 p.m. Thursday and examined used cars. He found one he liked, a 1964 white over red Cadillac Coupe DeVille, and asked owner Bill Guinn if he could try it out.

Sure, indicated Guinn. Off drove the gentleman. At 7:15 p.m. Thursday, Guinn notified police the gentleman evidently liked the car so well, he forgot to return it.

License number of the car, Guinn said, is BXL 522. He said the man was heading for San Angelo, Midland or Dallas — or someplace.

OIL REPORT

Discovery Offset Is Scheduled

A new offset, one location south of the discovery well in the Brooking, Northeast (Cisco) field in Howard County has been staked, and operator will drill to 9,200 feet.

Apache Oil Corp. has spotted No. 3 P. B. Adams 1,880 feet from the north and 1,980 feet from the east lines of section 42-33-3n, T&P survey, seven miles southeast of Ackerly.

The same operator has drilled his No. 2 P. B. Adams in the same field to 9,076 feet. He ran logs, perforated two intervals at 9,046-50 feet and 9,050-61 feet, set packer unit, installed Christmas tree, released the rotary rig.

Location of No. 2 Adams is 660 feet from the north and 780 feet from the east lines of section 42-33-3n, T&P survey as a south outpost to the 3-well Cisco pool.

Failed To Vote, Tied For Seat

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Ray Ward failed to vote for himself in the race for Jeffersontown City Council.

He said that inadvertently he had pushed the wrong lever and ended up in a tie vote for a council seat.

Robert J. Pfalzer, an incumbent, managed his party's campaign but was the only one on the ticket who failed to win election.

A recount Thursday showed Pfalzer and Ward were tied with 650 votes in last week's election. The winner will be decided by lot next Monday.

Weather Forecast

Rain will fall Friday night in the Pacific Northwest, Northern California, Western Nevada, Lower Great Lakes, Ohio and Tennessee valleys and along the Gulf Coast. Snow showers will extend from the Northern and Central Rockies eastward to the Northern Plains and Upper Mississippi and Upper Great Lakes regions. (AP WIREPHOTO MAP)

Pretty Flower Causes Headaches

ROME (AP) — Man's love for a pretty flower has given three continents a multimillion-dollar headache. It is rapidly getting worse with no real cure in sight.

The problem is the water hyacinth, which a garden lover transplanted from its native South America to his pool in Lousiana. Then it was taken just as innocently to South Africa, expanded into the Congo and somehow, between 1956 and 1958, reached the Sudanese portion of the Nile.

It has become such a ruinous, river-clogging menace that Louisiana and Florida have to finance costly eradiction campaigns.

More than $1.7 million a year is being spent along the Nile alone to keep the fast-spreading plant from breaking through control points in the Sudan and infesting Egypt's lower Nile. It has also started choking fish ponds in East Pakistan.

Representatives of 18 African nations have appealed to the U.N. Food and Agriculture Organization to help fight the flower.

The water hyacinth looks like a gardener's joy with 10-inch spikes of blue-mauve or pale lilac delicately held above swaying rosettes of big, green, rounded leaves.

But it spreads so fast from drifting seed and spreading tendrils that no pool can hold it.

First it chokes off the landings. Then it breaks into floating islands, growing ever larger until navigation even by canoe is impossible. It sneaks up irrigation canals and clogs pumps.

The Food and Agriculture Organization reported that along 1,000 miles of the Nile, the clogging plant extends down 30 feet, consuming oxygen from the water so that fish cannot live.

Many systems have been tried to cope with the water hyacinth, from mechanical to natural controls. Louisiana uses costly cutting machines and many-bladed saw-boats. The Sudan is trying sprays.

Scouting Is Showing Gain

Membership gains were reported at the monthly meeting of the Lone Star District of the Buffalo Trail Council Thursday evening. Total boys in the Scouting program stands at 1,465 in the district, said Bill Crooker, chairman of organization and extension. This is only 90 off the goal set for the year.

Gene Vaughn of the council office was at the meeting and complimented the district on being the first in the council to show gains over a year ago. Crooker noted that there is a healthy gain in Cubbing (for boys 8-9-10), but that Scouting (11-14) and Explorers (14 and up) are showing smaller gains.

Frosty Robison, district chairman of camping and activities, announced an advancement camporee for Dec. 3-4 at the Roundup grounds south of the City Park. Emphasis will be put on boys passing skills in second and first class rank. There also will be some contests in scoutcraft.

Officers were named for 1966. R. L. Tollett, was returned as district chairman; Dr. Clyde Thomas, Jack Gulley, Col. Robert H. Tyldesley and Rev. James A. Puckett were named vice chairmen. R. L. Cranford was elected district commissioner and George D. Weeks as council board member at large.

Rites Pend For Mrs. Hereford

Mrs. Patricia Lee Hereford, 60, of 1706 S. McKenzie Street in Midland, died Friday morning in a Big Spring hospital. She had been in failing health for seven years, and critically ill for a year. Mrs. Hereford was born July 28, 1905, in Nacogdoches.

She was married to William W. Hereford, July 4, 1925, in Louisiana. The family moved to Midland in 1950 from Orange. She was a retired saleslady.

Services are pending at the Arlington (Texas) First Methodist Church, where the pastor, Dr. Alfred Brown, will officiate. Burial will be in Restland Cemetery in Dallas with arrangements under the direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Survivors are the husband, William W. Hereford, Midland; a daughter, Mrs. Billie Jean Andros, Arlington; a son, Don Hereford, Arlington; two sisters, Mrs. Luann Berry, Dallas, Mrs W. W. DeMoney, Coolidge, and three grandchildren. She was preceded in death by her parents and two brothers.

Howard's Deer Season Opens On Saturday

Saturday should be a red letterday for local hunters.

Deer season opens in Howard County Saturday. So does quail season and turkey season.

The deer season has been closed in the county for five years. There are some deer in the county, according to Royce Tucker, game warden. He warned that the southeast portion of the county is still off limits to deer hunters. The area is an official game refuge and no hunting is permitted. Deer season ends Dec. 31 and two bucks may be killed in the season.

Quail hunters have from Saturday through Jan. 31 to pursue their sport. The bag limit is 12 per day or 36 in possession. Turkey season ends Dec. 31. The bag limit is one gobbler or a bearded hen.

No Trace Found Of Mrs. Chrane

No trace had been uncovered today of missing Bethel Laverne Chrane, 35, wife of Dr. William Chrane, chiropractor, and her husband feared foul play or a nervous breakdown.

Mrs. Chrane was last seen at midnight Saturday with friends. She was driving a white Cadillac with Texas license plates 263 when last seen. Despite a general alarm over the police network, no reports have been received of either the car or Mrs. Chrane.

Friday he said he feared something may have happened to her, or that she may have suffered a blackout. He has secured a housekeeper and baby sitter to look after their seven children, but he was frantic to get some word concerning his wife.

Juvenile Board Holds Meeting

County Judge Lee Porter said that only routine business occupied the members of the County Juvenile Board at their meeting Wednesday afternoon.

Bob G. Wakefield, newly appointed juvenile officer, who begins his duties on Monday was not at the meeting. He has informed the judge he has found a house and will have his residence established here Monday.

Wakefield comes to Big Spring from Corpus Christi and replaces Bob Darland, who resigned some weeks ago.

Turkey Day

This little chap is celebrating his first Thanksgiving Day with the traditional turkey — as Americans have celebrated the "harvest" since the year 1621 when the Pilgrims gathered in New England's forests of Massachusetts and offered thanks at a feast to which Gov. William Bradford invited the neighboring Indians. It was not until 1863 that President Abraham Lincoln proclaimed the last Thursday in November as the official day of "Thanksgiving."

Most Believe, But Fewer Attend Church Services

How many adult Americans believe in God?

This question was presented to a cross section of the nation in a Louis Harris poll and reported by Religious News Service, produced some surprising answers.

Ninety-seven per cent of adults believe in God, but only 18 per cent attend church more than once a week, while 36 per cent go once a week.

Harris said 63 per cent of persons, in the survey, described themselves as "somewhat" religious. The 27 per cent who said they were "deeply" religious included a majority of women, Roman Catholics, Negroes, and people in the southern states. The least involvement in religion came from persons in the East.

Twenty-one per cent of adults answering the question, comparing attitudes of this generation with those of their parents, said they are more religious; 42 per cent said they were as religious, and 31 per cent were less devout. Negroes and Jews made up a large proportion of the last category.

On the question of children's attitudes, eight per cent feel their children will be less religious; 36 per cent anticipate no appreciable difference, and 30 per cent think their children will be more religious than they are. The remainder either have no children or were undecided.

On the question of prayer, 42 per cent said they prayed more outside of church than at services; nine per cent said more in church; 33 per cent about equal; 12 per cent "hardly any in either"; and four per cent were "not sure."

Roman Catholics took the lead in church attendance, with 74 per cent attending once a week or more.

In all groups, 62 per cent of the women answered "yes" to regular church attendance in contrast to 46 per cent of the men. Church attendance was highest in the South, Midwest, and in small towns; lowest in the East and in cities and suburbs.

A breakdown in areas of the nation, shows the percentage believing in a life after death, with doubters in parentheses:

Nationwide 72 (28), South 84 (16), rural areas 79 (21), small towns 78 (22), Midwest 78 (22), West 73 (27), suburbs 68 (32), cities 66 (34), East 58 (42).

When asked "How often do you attend church?" the percentage read: more than once a week, 18 per cent; once a week, 36; twice a month, 11; once a month, eight; less often, 24; and never, three.

Story On Coahoma Mission Is Prepared For Magazine

By M. A. WEBB

The story of St. Thomas Catholic Mission at Coahoma will appear in Mary Immaculate Magazine, monthly publication of the Missionary Oblates, of Mary Immaculate, Southern Province, in San Antonio, in the March, 1966 issue.

The Rev. Thomas Francis Quinlivan, who was given his first assignment in Stanton 34 years ago following his ordination as an Oblate Father, has spent a week in Big Spring and Coahoma, interviewing members of the Coahoma church.

The Oblate Fathers, according to Rev. Quinlivan, do nothing but work in the economically less fortunate mission areas. The churches they serve operate on offerings of less than $50 per Sunday.

"But let us take a look at small churches," he said. "Is a church made up of $18,000 worth of brick, or 25 years of people working in it? That is what I try to tell in my stories over Texas, New Mexico and Louisiana.

REV. THOMAS QUINLIVAN

"I have been writing for newspapers and publications since I was a boy," Rev. Quinlivan said, "but I find great interest, among people, in the information about isolated missions kept alive by a few members, and get a thrill out of knowing and telling about their faith in keeping up the work. Many small churches, relatively unknown outside their own areas, have been helped by generous people who read these stories in MI."

The writer goes into the homes of church members and talks with them about their missions, about their family lives, and customs. At times he uses only notes to take his information, and at other times, when several members of the family are gathered around him, he uses a tape recorder to get all their voices and their interests, stories of hardships, and the problems faced by large families. He learns of their social activities and standings, along with many sidelights on their lives.

Rev. Quinlivan was born in Toledo, Ohio, which he still calls home. He studied for the priesthood in San Antonio and was ordained in 1931, and he "gave himself" to the work at Stanton.

He was in the educational field again from 1933 to 1938, was out in the field for 25 years, and then back to the seminary for three years.

"The magazine is not to make money," he said. "We are just trying to tell the stories of the smaller missions. The magazine, though not self-supporting, has a circulation of around 10,000 copies world-wide. Seven thousand subscribe to it. The stories of struggling missions is the primary purpose of MI, and the work of the Oblate Fathers is in these missions."

Rev. Quinlivan spent some time with the Rev. Robert McDermott, who is rector of St. Thomas Catholic Church in Big Spring, and who has been in the Coahoma field for some time.

Some 60 rolls of film were used by the writer as he went about the interviewing of those connected with or interested in, the Coahoma mission.

LOYALTY ILLUSTRATED

The story of how a son can be loyal to his father, as king, as long as he continues in the right direction, and loyal to a friend, who has done no wrong when the father lets his jealousy get the better of his judgment, is illustrated in the Sunday school lesson for Nov. 14.

"Jonathan: Selfless Loyalty," tells how the young man, a close friend of David, died beside his father in battle after warning David that King Saul was intent upon destroying him.

David was of the tribe of Benjamin and Jonathan of the tribe of Judah, but the two young men had a loyalty between them, which overcame the hatred Saul had for young David.

Friendship between the two was a covenant. Jonathan would not join his father in an attempt to wipe out an individual who was his friend.

The story is an example in miniature of what goes on between the human soul and the provider and kindness of God. We must all put our trust in the covenant God has made with us since it brings us assurance of His eternal love.

Annual Union Service Set

The annual union Thanksgiving Service will be held Nov. 25th at 10 a.m. in the Wesley Methodist Church, East Twelfth at Owens.

Rev. V. Ward Jackson, minister of the First Church of God, will be the guest preacher.

Other local ministers participating in the worship service are Rev. Byron Orand, Capt. Bill Thomas, Rev. D. M. Duke, Rev. James Puckett, Rev. Harold Rucker, Rev. R. Gage Lloyd.

The Big Spring Kiwanis Club will usher for the service, and special music will be under the direction of Ted James, director of music at the First Methodist Church.

All are encouraged to attend.

REV. F. C. PINYOUN

Church Of God Slates Revival

A series of revival services will be held at the First Church of God, 2009 Main, Monday at 7 p.m., with the Rev. Frederic C. Pinyoun, San Gabriel, Calif., as guest speaker. Rev. Pinyoun is the executive secretary of the Churches of God of southern California.

The pastor, Rev. V. Ward Jackson, and the congregation, extend an invitation to the public to attend these services.

Emphasis On Missions Set

Mission Improvement Month is being observed at the Anderson Street Church of Christ, David Tarbet, minister, has announced. A series of speakers will appear throughout the month to challenge members to "lift their horizons" at home and outside the Big Spring area.

Don Durham, the first speaker, told of the mission work in Australia Wednesday night. Lafel Carey will speak on the Church of Christ work in Japan, at 6 p.m. Sunday.

Bruce Davis of Fidelity Book and Supply, Abilene, will challenge Bible School teachers to lift their horizons locally, in a talk Monday night. Floy Stumbo, Lubbock Christian Children's Home, will challenge the Church of Christ for more active part in benevolent work Nov. 17, and the series will be climaxed Nov. 21 with Otis Gatewood, former future missionary to Russia talking at the 11 a.m. service.

Welfare Agency

CHICAGO (AP) — A new church-related welfare agency to be known as Lutheran Welfare Services in Illinois may become the largest Lutheran welfare agency in the United States. The welfare agencies of two major Lutheran bodies are expected to consolidate through merger.

CHURCH CALENDAR

Youth Planning Family Festival

The elementary youth and junior high youth fellowships of the Kentwood Methodist Church will sponsor a Family Festival of Fun for the friends and members of Kentwood Methodist Church Saturday from 5:30 to 8 p.m. at the church.

Refreshments of candied apples, donuts, coffee, soft drinks, popcorn, and other items will be served. Games and fellowship will be the order of the day, the Rev. Henry Salley, pastor, said.

Mrs. Rickie Stuller, Mrs. Floyd Pringle, Mrs. Glenda White and Mrs. Nona Bayer are sponsors of the youth groups who are sharing in youth participation of the Appreciation of Youth. They are making the family night of fellowship and fun available to all families interested in joining them Saturday night.

"It will be good old fashioned family fun," Rev. Salley said, "and the proceeds will go the projects of the youth groups."

The Red Mass

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's capital is among the latest of a number of communities in which "The Red Mass" has become an annual tradition. More formally known as a Solemn Votive Mass of the Holy Spirit, it is an invocation of divine assistance for those who make, pleau, interpret or apply the law. A custom for centuries in Europe, it gets its traditional name from the red vestments worn.

Thanksgiving Proclamation Issued By LBJ

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, proclaiming Thursday, Nov. 25, Thanksgiving Day, called upon all persons to give thanks for "the blessings that have been bestowed upon our nation during the past 12 months."

Enumerating accomplishments of the last year, he said: "We have guaranteed the right to vote to all our citizens. We have pledged dignity to our elderly—even in sickness. We have added new dimensions to the education of our youth. We have broadened the horizons of opportunity for our poor. . . We have enjoyed the greatest prosperity in history."

And he called in the proclamation issued Thursday for prayers that "the forces of violence, indifference and intolerance may soon vanish from the face of the earth."

Three Held In Robbery

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Three men are in custody at Dallas and another is sought for a holdup which netted a big box of jewelry and $3,000 cash from a downtown store in Kansas City.

The amount of the loot was not disclosed here but Dallas police Capt. Will Fritz said he understood the stolen jewelry was valued at $45,000 to $50,000.

Arrested Thursday and charged with robbery were Maurice Harper, 19; Howard Carney, 22, and Lovie Linzie, 28, all of Kansas City.

Dallas police hunted for some trace of the loot and for a fourth man charged with robbery, Joseph Garner, 18, also of Kansas City.

Two arrests were made here in connection with the robbery Wednesday night. Densel Mitchell, 27, was charged with harboring a felon. Linda Claymore, 19, was held as a material witness.

Two of the men arrested in Dallas were stopped by a patrolman on a routine check. The third was found at a motel. Officers said the motel room yielded a paper sack with the markings of the Goldman Jewelry Store in Kansas City.

Three masked men were waiting in the basement Wednesday when employes arrived at the store. They took a large box from the vault in which valuables from the show windows were stored overnight.

Still No Answer To Big Blackout

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government and industry power experts study today the pattern of Tuesday night's massive blackout in which a power failure surged through city after city in the Northeast.

Chairman Joseph C. Swidler of the Federal Power Commission, who heads the investigation directed by President Johnson, said the panel was to seek today to find out "how the cascading process worked" and also what "reverse action" was taken to restore service.

EIGHT STATES

Coming suddenly during the evening rush hour, the blackout at its peak enveloped 80,000 square miles in an eight-state area and affected up to 30 million persons. Power in New York City was off for more than 10 hours, with hundreds of thousands of persons stranded in subways and elevators.

During a break in the long session Thursday night, Swidler said: "There is no easy answer to this. We are just plowing ahead."

After the session, he added: "We have exchanged a great deal of information on what took place, but there are still some gaps."

DOUBTS REPORT

Swidler indicated he had some doubts as to whether he would have a preliminary report to President Johnson ready by this weekend as he first had hoped.

"I did not intend to fix a deadline for myself," he said.

After meeting for 14 hours Thursday, Swidler said the problem still was one of finding where the failure occurred.

"The breakdown is not traceable to any unit," he said. "The systems went back into service with the same equipment. The problem of tracing is a complex one."

The Power Commission, a panel of government power experts and oficials of the private power companies affected, and several others are taking part in the discussions aimed at preventing any similar power blackout in the future.

FIRMS INVOLVED

The companies and groups involved included the Pennsylvania-Jersey-Maryland Interchange Pool, Rochester Gas & Electric, Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission, the Power Authority of the State of New York, Niagara-Mohawk, and the New York State Electric & Gas.

In a news conference Thursday, Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall said he agreed with those government and private experts who believe that stronger interties between electrical power systems would have made Tuesday's power blackout less severe and might have averted it.

Udall said there had been reports that some private power officials had said the massive power loss was due in part to the present intertie system, connecting various power companies across the Northeast.

DEAR ABBY

Smoking Dangers

DEAR ABBY: My father makes his home with us. He is 82 and getting senile. He can remember what happened 75 years ago, but he forgets what you told him five minutes ago. He has always been a habitual cigarette smoker, and since that is his only pleasure in life we are not going to ask him to give it up. But here's the problem:

He has burnt about a dozen holes in the carpet beside his bed. He has also burnt about 40 holes in the night stand table. He has set the mattress on fire twice and there are cigarette holes in all his pajamas and his bathrobe, too. He will be the death of me yet. What can I do? I can't stand and watch him all day. WORRIED SICK

DEAR WORRIED: He could not only be the DEATH OF YOU—he could be the death of himself and everyone in the house. Someone must keep control of the cigarettes and matches and stay with him while he smokes. Otherwise, the ashes he leaves could be his own.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am the friend of a girl who baby-sits for a family that is quite large. When she gets there she puts the kids to bed and then she does the dishes and straightens up the house. I say she's getting paid to baby-sit, not to do housework, and if she cleans the house she should get paid extra. She says she cleans the house because she LIKES to, nobody ASKS her to. She says she is trying to take a load off the mother's back. Now, she's a sweet kid for wanting to help, but don't you think that mother should feel like a big slob for leaving a messy house for a sitter to clean?

HATES TO CLEAN

DEAR HATES: I don't know the condition of the mother's house, her health or her conscience. But if your friend cleans the house because she wants to take a load off the mother's back, she IS a sweet kid. Now, what's your problem?

* * *

DEAR ABBY: For 12 years we have had a fine, loyal girl working for us. There are six in our family. All the children are in school. I work six days a week and this girl is indispensable to our household. She started working here as a teen, is an excellent worker, has a sunny disposition and never complains. But she steals!

At first we couldn't believe it, but now it is obvious. What she takes is usually not of much value. (Half the time if she'd ask me for it, I'd give it to her.) The older children have repeatedly discovered the pilfered items before she gets them out of the house, and they have recovered them. I thought of going to our pastor, but this girl is a sincere and valuable church worker and I don't want the pastor to think less of her. Another thing—domestic help is almost impossible to get here. If you have any ideas or suggestions, please let me know.

DISTRESSED

DEAR DISTRESSED: Tell her privately, but candidly, that you are aware of her pilfering. Offer to forgive the girl if she promises to shape up. If she keeps her word, keep her. If not, let her go.

Name The Bird Contest Planned For Youngsters

There is a strange new bird at the Pet-A-Zoo this week, donated to A. D. Blount, owner, by the Fort Worth Zoo.

The bird is the subject of a contest for school-age youngsters. Blount plans to give a $25 bond to the youngster that can name the species of the bird, and describe its habitat. The contest begins Sunday and continues one week.

Also, Blount has a bunch of new animals, just returned from Six Flags. He will board them for the amusement center during the winter months. He said he will have even more on hand after Thanksgiving.

This week, he brought back two sea lions, two donkeys, a Russian Boar, two goats, and 300 pounds of frozen fish. He urged those who have already visited the Pet-A-Zoo to plan another trip and see the animals from Six Flags.

Sentenced For Draft Dodging

FORT WORTH (AP) — U.S. Dist. Judge Leo Brewster sentenced David Myers, 26, a Jehovah's Witnesses minister from Irving, to two years in prison Thursday for draft dodging.

Brewster chided Myers for refusing military service. Others, he said, "are putting their lives on the line so there can be a court like this."

Myers registered as a conscientious objector in 1962. The government offered not to prosecute him if he worked in a military hospital for two years.

Myers refused the offer then and again Thursday when it was repeated by Brewster. He told the judge:

"I don't mean to be rebellious but I don't believe in this. I can't compromise with my religious beliefs."

Sunken Barge Coming Up

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — A giant, floating derrick equipped with twin booms begins lifting the sunken chlorine barge from the Mississippi River today amidst extensive emergency precautions.

The barge, carrying four tanks with a total of 600 tons of liquid chlorine, sank in 60 feet of water near the Louisiana State University campus during Hurricane Betsy on Sept. 9.

Officials expected the lift, scheduled to start at 9 a.m., EST, to be quick and safe.

LSU and public schools within a five-mile critical area were closed for the day. Two Army hospital trains, buses and ambulances evacuated about 600 aged and invalid persons from the area to state facilities at Pineville, 100 miles away.

Two of the evacuees died Thursday of what doctors called heart arrest after their evacuation. They were Idella Davis, 70, and Bena Grigsby, 78.

The engineers awarded a $400,000 contract to J. Ray McDermott Co. of New Orleans to raise the barge, which was en route from the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. plant at Lake Charles to Calvert City, Ky., when the hurricane tore it loose from its moorings at Baton Rouge.

Really like to Score?

First you have to know the score . . . how to hit pay-dirt when a tough line has you in a hole. Like a lineup of bills. They can keep your budget so off-balance you're forever playing patsy in your own end zone. Best way to score in this pickle is to call in a specialist from S.I.C. He may break the game wide open with a Bill Consolidation Loan. It's a play that may pay off all of your bills and leave you with just one much smaller payment each month. Might even let you have a reserve amount riding the bench. Pretty hard not to score with S.I.C. cheering you on.

Ed R. Allen, Long-Time Resident, Rites Saturday

E. R. (Ed) Allen, 81, of 111 N. Nolan, resident of Big Spring for 75 years, died at 12 noon Thursday in a local hospital. He had been in failing health for about a year.

Mr. Allen was born in Texas March 21, 1884 and came to Big Spring with his parents when he was six years old. He was a retired boiler-maker and later operated the A & F Lunch Room at 207 Main. He also had the Fort Worth Star Telegram agency here for many years. He was a member of the First Methodist Church and was a prominent figure at Old Settlers reunions.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday at the River-Welch chapel. The Rev. Leo Gee, pastor of the First Methodist Church, will officiate, assisted by the Rev. Jarrell H. Sharp, pastor of Wesley Memorial Methodist Church. Burial will be in Big Spring City Cemetery under the direction of River-Welch Funeral Home. Nephews will be pallbearers.

Survivors are two sisters, Mrs. J. P. Meador, Big Spring, and Mrs. Walter King, Colorado City; seven nephews, A. D. Meador, Willie Lovelace and Tommy Lovelace, all of Big Spring, Alvis Lovelace of Corpus Christi, Glen Lovelace of Del Rio, Melvin King of Big Spring, Guy King of Fort Stockton; four nieces, Mrs. N. R. Smith of Bend, Mrs. Joe Grimland of Grand Prairie, Mrs. Warren Faust of Rancho Cardova, Calif., and Mrs. Thelma Reese of Abilene.

Settlers Jubilant, Tightening Belts

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Rhodesia's jubilant white settlers prepared today to tighten their belts to meet Britain's economic reprisals against their government's independence declaration.

The country remained calm, and there were no signs of unrest in the African townships surrounding Salisbury.

Prime Minister Ian Smith's white government was in control of the situation as Rhodesia entered its second day of full independence. But Commerce and Industry Minister George Rudland warned that rationing would be ordered if economic sanctions threatened by Britain and other countries were effective.

Finance Minister John Wrathall announced that foreign exchange dealings had been suspended temporarily.

The first priority was to secure the balance of payments and so maintain international solvency, Wrathall said. The second was to tackle internal problems which resulted, to sustain internal demand and to deal with "urgent budgetary matters."

Control over imports and exports would be intensified and allocations of foreign currency for imports would be cut, he said.

Holiday allowances are to be reduced two thirds — from $840 to $280 per person per year. The automatic allocation of up to $56 a day for 21 days for businessmen will end.

The post office will discontinue sales of money orders for payment outside Rhodesia.

In determining the allocation of currency for payment of imports, Rudland said first priority would be given to essential foodstuffs like wheat, medical and veterinary supplies, gasoline, oil and lubricants, and education and religious requisites.

Then would come supplies essential for agricultural, mining and manufacturing industries, he said.

He added that export control will take effect Saturday.

Sheriff Checks Burglary Report

Sheriff's deputies are investigating a reported burglary at 1111 Grant.

A. N. Standard, sheriff, said that Balton D. Grant reported his house had been broken into sometime in the last five days. He said that a 19-inch television receiver, a steam iron, wall clock and a radio, as well as an undetermined number of blankets, were missing.

Rites Today

Last rites were to be said Friday afternoon for Joe S. Carpenter, who died Wednesday after a long illness. Pallbearers were to be K. H. McGibbon, Roy Lee, O. C. Moore, Horace Reagan, Clyde Johnston, George Gardner, J. H. Eastham and George Oldham. Dr. P. D. O'Brien, Houston, a former pastor, was to officiate.

Marcos May Be Winner In Philippines

MANILA (AP)—Senate President Ferdinand E. Marcos appeared today to have almost won the Philippine presidency but President Diosdado Macapagal, seeking a second term, refused to concede.

Unofficial returns compiled by the Philippine News Service gave Marcos a 614,095-vote lead in Tuesday's election, still an almost unbeatable margin although smaller than it was earlier.

The unofficial tally from about 70 per cent of the estimated 8.5 million votes gave Marcos 3,015,271 votes to Macapagal's 2,401,176.

Fernando Lopez, running for vice president with Marcos, led Gerardo Roxas, son of a former president, by 114,376 votes — 2,770,099 to 2,655,723.

In official returns from less than half of the country's 45,234 precincts, Marcos was leading by 340,277 votes. The official tally from 28,110 precincts was Marcos 2,299,306, Macapagal 1,959,029.

Marcos, 48, a war hero from the Nacionalista party, was confident of victory. He said he could lose only through "massive and unthinkable fraud."

But Macapagal, 55, considers the election still undecided and won't concede until official returns are completed, a source close to the Liberal party president said.

The president's press office said returns from pro-Macapagal, precincts on the islands of Luzon and Mindanao will put him ahead in the official tally. Early returns from Mindanao showed Marcos running strongly in urban areas. Macapagal claims strength in the countryside.

Marcos told newsmen that as the Philippines' sixth president he would send troops to Viet Nam if he considered it necessary.

If elected, the Nacionalista leader would begin his term Jan. 1 facing a Liberal-dominated 104-member House of Representatives and at best a precariously balanced 24-member Senate.

Ku Kluxer Loses Bus Job

BALTIMORE (AP) — Vernon Naimaster, who had identified himself as acting grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan in Maryland, has been dismissed from his job as a Baltimore bus driver.

Naimaster, 36, said a superior of the Baltimore Transit Co. took him off the bus he was operating Thursday and replaced him with a substitute driver.

A Baltimore transit official said he understood that Naimaster's activities had caused unrest among both Negro and white drivers and resulted in complaints from patrons.

"One of the responsibilities of any employe with the company is that he shall foster friendly relations between the company and the general public," the spokesman said.

"We don't think Naimaster has done that. Now, of course, he has the rights of appeal and arbitration that any union member has."

Naimaster conducted a Klan rally attended by some 2,000 persons last Saturday at Rising Sun, Md., and identified himself as Maryland's acting grand dragon. He said today, however, he turned over his duties two days ago to another Klansman who "will disclose he is the head" next Friday.

Red China Trade Back

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Foreign Minister Subandrio disclosed today Red China and Indonesia had suspended trade relations as an outgrowth of the Oct. 1 attempted coup but said they now have been restored.

This was the first disclosure that trading had been interrupted, although Indonesian officials complained recently that Red China had not sent any ships to Indonesia.

In talking with reporters, Subandrio did not say when or why trading was broken off but indicated it was due to anti-Chinese feeling in Indonesia after the attempt to overthrow the government. Some army officials have charged Peking was back of the pro-Communist coup attempt.

Despite President Sukarno's lifting of martial law in Jakarta and vicinity Wednesday, the official news agency Antara said regulations and measures imposed by the military will remain in effect. These measures include orders to arrest Communists believed involved in the attempted coup and the crackdown against the Communists will continue despite Sukarno's order.

Four Mishaps Are Reported

Four traffic accidents Thursday injured no one, according to police.

A truck loaded with hay evidently went out of control at 8:40 p.m. at Third and Gregg and bumped into the stopped car of Rudolf DeLeon, 410 NW 6th, officers said. The load of hay in the truck driven by Joe Powell Rhodes, Whiteface, shifted, police stated, causing the truck to lurch. Traffic was stalled for a while by the large truck sitting in the middle of the intersection.

Others involved in mishaps were a car driven by Arah Brooks Humphries, 2005 Johnson, and the parked car of David N. Sisson, Big Spring, at 2002 Johnson; the cars of Wilmer Clint Cole, 708 Tulsa, and Roy Carl Witkowski, 607 E. 12th, at First and Goliad; and the car of Jack Rodger Rhoton, 706 Johnson, and the parked car of Harold H. Raney, 1806 Wallace, at 709 Johnson, officers said.

CHRISTIAN
THE NEW NAME

The name "Christian" (for individuals, not the church) is authorized of God, and is scriptural designation for God's people in this age. The term "Christian" shows our relations to Christ, and in wearing this name we honor Christ, and glorify God.

VARIOUS DESIGNATIONS

The Holy Spirit chose and appropriated various appellations to designate God's people in this Dispensation, which are suggestive of different relationships. In the New Testament, the Holy Spirit used the term:

1. BELIEVER to suggest their faith in Christ (Acts 4:32);
2. SAINT to suggest the followers of Christ are separated from the world and dedicated to holy service (Acts 9:13);
3. DISCIPLE to suggest they were followers, learners or students (Acts 9:25, 28);
4. BRETHREN to show their mutual relationship one to another (Acts 9:30);
5. CHILDREN to show that God is our Father (Galatians 3:26; Romans 8:17); and
6. SERVANTS suggesting that Christ is their Master (Ephesians 6:6).

These and many other terms and phrases are found in Holy Scripture that show the relationship which we sustain to God and Christ, the Church and the world, and to one another. But what is the

PRE-EMINENT NAME?

In every age God's people have borne His name. The name "Israel" was given to God's people during the Mosaic age. In the name Israel "El" is the Hebrew word meaning God. When the name "Israel" was pronounced the name of God was spoken. In this present dispensation God has selected the name "Christian" for His people. This name glorifies His Son, because you cannot say Christian without pronouncing the name of Christ, the anointed of God. That this name was divinely given may be seen from the following considerations:

1. It is the new name of prophecy which was given by the Lord, Isaiah said, " . . . and thou shall be called by a new name, which the mouth of the Lord shall name." (Isaiah 62:2). Again he said, ". . . and call his servants by another name" (Isaiah 65:15). In the time of Isaiah, the Lord's people were called "Israel," but they were to receive another name. This new name was to be given when "the Gentiles shall see thy righteousness, and all kings thy glory." Paul stated that the "righteousness of God" is revealed in the gospel of Christ (Roman 1:17). When the gospel of Christ was made known to Cornelius, the first Gentile convert, then, the Gentiles saw the "righteousness" of God (Acts 10:1-47). After the Gentiles had received the gospel of Christ, we read in Acts 11:26, ". . . and the disciples were called Christians first at Antioch."
2. This new name Christian was given by divine appointment. ". . . and the disciples WERE CALLED Christians first at Antioch." The expression "were called" is translated from an original word which means to appoint, warn, or nominate by Divine direction. Of the man in Jerusalem who was named Simeon, we read, "And it was REVEALED unto him by the Holy Spirit that he should not see death, before he had seen the Lord's Christ" (Luke 2:26). This was revealed by Divine direction unto Simeon. The same original word is found in Acts 11:26. Here the disciples of Antioch, by Divine direction, "were called" Christians. Hence, the fulfillment of the prophecy of Isaiah, ". . . and thou shall be called by a new name, which the mouth of the Lord shall name." (Isaiah 62:2)
3. The people who have the Divine right to wear this name belong to Christ. The suffix "ians" means "pertaining to, or belonging to Christ." By wearing this appellation we show to the world that we belong to Jesus who is the Christ. For this reason Paul was glad to be a Christian in the presence of King Agrippa (Acts 26:28-29).
4. We are to glorify God in the name Christian. If one is persecuted because of the Christian faith, he is not to be ashamed, but rather glorify God. Peter said, "Yet if any man suffer as a "Christian, let him not be ashamed; but let him glorify God in this name I Peter 4:16, RV).
5. We learn by implication from Paul that we are to wear the name of Christ. The Corinthians were designating themselves by the names of men, and for this Paul severely rebuked them. He said, "Now this I say, that every one of you saith, I am of Paul; I of Apollos; and I of Cephas; and I of Christ. Is Christ divided? was Paul crucified for you? or were you baptized in the name of Paul?" Not only do we learn from this passage that it is sinful to wear human names, but we learn from both negative and positive implication that we are to wear the name of Christ. Negatively speaking, Paul had NOT been crucified for them; therefore, they were NOT to wear his name. Positively speaking, Christ HAD been crucified for them; therefore they were to wear His name. They had NOT been baptized in the name of Paul; therefore, they were NOT to wear his name. They HAD been baptized in the name of Christ; and for this cause, they were to wear the name of Christ!

CONCLUSION

Whatever made it wrong for the Corinthians to wear the name of Paul, or Apollos, of Cephas in the infant Church will also make it wrong today to wear the name of Luther, Menno, or any other human designation. Human names are devisive and should not be forced upon the conscience of those who attempt to be Christian. The name Christian is the highest any man can wear on earth, and to receive it from God, how glorious the title!

Eddie Crittenden (above), star tackle of the Big Spring Steers, ordinarily spends a lot of time waging war in enemy backfields. He'll be in the lineup when the locals take the field against Odessa in the final home game of the 1965 season. (A Good-Valdes photo)

Bears Given Slight Edge

NEW YORK (AP) — Now the power company knows how a pro picker feels Monday morning. Everybody wants to know wot happened? You can't get by in this league with that bit about a major disturbance upstate.

Form took another beating last week but the Hand-picker managed to sneak through 6-5. That makes it 37-19 in the NFL and 17-11-3 in the AFL and a season total of 54-30-7.

Let's guess again, all games on Sunday.

NFL

Baltimore 30, Minnesota 27—the doubtful condition of Johnny Unitas and Tommy Mason make this a real toughie. The Colts beat the Vikings opening day 35-16 but trailed early. Unitas picking on the Vikings' secondary is one thing and Gary Cuozzo trying to do it is something else. However, possible loss of Mason and stout Colt defense against rush should be enough for seventh straight.

Cleveland 30, New York 21—Browns' pass defense leaky but rookie Giants are vulnerable in air and on ground with Jim Brown banging away for another 100-yard day.

Green Bay 27, Los Angeles 14—Packers have lost two in a row but still trail Colts by only one game. Bill Munson doing good job for Rams but the Packers' strong point is pass defense. Vince Lombardi must fire up that offense. Who can do it better? If the line doesn't shape up they'll be calling Bart Starr Canvass Back.

Chicago 35, St. Louis 28—This could be a wild one with Gale Sayers and friends trying to match Charley Johnson's passing. Cardinals have looked shaky lately and Johnson may still be sub par. They just did nip Steelers.

Dallas 17, Pittsburgh 14—Cowboy defense is rough, but Bill Nelsen has picked up Steelers' attack. Give Dallas the edge as home team despite 22-13 victory by Steelers two weeks ago.

Washington 21, Philadelphia 17—Redskins seem to know the secret on how to handle Eagles. Philadelphia offense strong but Pete Retzlaff has bruised ribs and sore heel.

Detroit 17, San Francisco 24—This could be an upset. The 49ers have the most explosive attack in league but the Lions are tops in defense. That Detroit front four took Bart Starr apart last week and will be zooming in on George Mira or John Brodie.

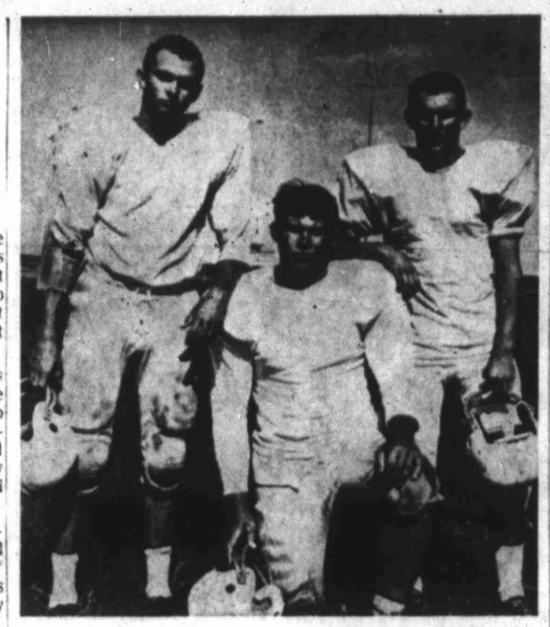

AFL

Oakland 17, Buffalo 14—Raiders are clicking since Fred Biletnikoff started to get hot. Larry Todd a real sleeper last week against Oilers.

New York 21, Boston 17—Joe Namath gets the call as quarterback on his showing against Chiefs. Jets confident after winning two straight and breaking road jinx.

Houston 24, Denver 21—The Oilers live or die by the pass. After George Blanda threw 60 in a losing effort last week Don Trull may be in there. Both teams weak on defense. Denver won first game 28-17.

San Diego 21, Kansas City 14—Chargers boast top passer in John Hadl and best runner in Paul Lowe and Chiefs are inconsistent despite fine defense.

Still In Running

The Sands Mustangs, still very much in the running for the District 3-B (eight-man) football championship despite a loss last week to Flower Grove, play Wellman at 7:30 o'clock this evening in Ackerly. Pictured above are three boys who lend authority to the Sands attack. They are Oren Lancaster, Mervin Beal and Ricky Kemp (left to right). (Photo by Kenneth Good)

By TOMMY HART

Two teams which were ushered out of championship contention about a month ago but which have continued to play highly intriguing football—Big Spring and Odessa High—come to grips at 8 o'clock here tonight.

This will be the final home game of 1965 for the Longhorns and the locals hope to give their loyal followers something to remember them by.

Each team is 2-3 in conference play and they've fared similarly against common opponents. For instance, Abilene High used a field goal to beat each team.

Neither of the contingents is in the best of physical condition. For that reason, it's quite hard to draw a line on them.

Quarterback - halfback Larry Gatlin is hale and hearty for Odessa, however, as is Gregg Pate, the Big Spring navigator, so the expected fireworks should result.

Gatlin plays every game as if the championship of 11 states rested on the outcome. When he moves out to the halfback spot, he does it primarily to go down on passes, in which case Eddie Harris takes over at the quarterback spot.

The Bronchos boast a big line built around Winston Beam, a 215-pounder used principally on defense and the 225-pound Dean Wilkerson, said to be the best blocker in District 2-AAAA.

Both teams are still bidding for first division berths and better than .500 conference seasons. In order for Big Spring to do that well, it would have to beat Odessa and San Angelo in that order.

The Steers have problems in the backfield, where some of the help is limping.

Joe Jaure, Gary Earhart, Bobby Griffin, Berry King and Bobby Baker will be available for duty at the halfback spots here. Jaure is the Steers' leading ground gainer and a threat every time he gets the ball. If he can get any sort of blocking in the line, he's hard to contain.

The Steers' leading pass catcher is Wayne Nail, who has an uncanny knack for getting open. Pate will also throw to Jaure, Griffin and others, just to keep the defense from concentrating on Nail.

The Steers got beat, five touchdowns to one, by Permian last week but played hard-nosed football in that one. Their own mistakes cost them dearly.

Gatlin is by no means the only running threat Odessa has. Speedster Ray Goddard, a halfback, needs only a little running room and he's gone. And John Zugg has come on to fit in nicely for Mark Clapham, the big fullback who is ill and reportedly out for the season.

The Bronchos also have two fine ends in Brusse Bevers, tough on defense, and Ronnie Peoples, a sophomore who is a threat as a pass receiver.

Probable starters:

BIG SPRING

E—Wayne Nail 180 and Robert Jackson 182; T—Wesley Ballou 212 and Eddie Crittenden 204; G—Gary Phillips 175 and Yogi Anderson 202; C—Kenneth Hamby 170; QB—Gregg Pate 147; HB—Joe Jaure 163 and Bobby Griffin 164; FB—Rey Navarette 170.

ODESSA HIGH

E—Brusse Beavers 180 and Ronnie Peoples 170; T—Dean Wilkerson 200 and Mike Moore 190; G—Gene Zeigler 185 and David Murray 170; C—Dickie Carter 165; QB—Larry Gatlin 150; HB—Ronnie Green 150 and Ray Goddard 140; FB—John Zugg 165.

Sugar Ray Calls It A Day In Ring

NEW YORK (AP) — Sugar Ray Robinson finally has decided to hang up the gloves at the age of 45 after 199 fights in a brilliant career that is sure to lead to boxing's Hall of Fame.

The fierce pride of a man who has been acclaimed the best fighter pound-for-pound in recent ring history kept him going long after his contemporaries had quit. It took a decisive beating by young Joey Archer Wednesday night in Pittsburgh to end Ray's dreams of another championship fight.

"I hoped to fight for the championship again," Robinson said Thursday afternoon in his Pittsburgh hotel room before leaving for his New York home. Robinson was stretched out lazily in bed, his head propped on a pillow, his face bearing marks from Archer's stinging left jab.

"If I had beaten Archer, I'd have had a chance," Robinson said. Then he added wistfully, "But I didn't win. It's too late to go on another long campaign for another chance."

Was there a chance that Ray might change his mind, as he had done in 1954 after retiring in 1952?

"I don't think there is any chance," said the former welter and five-time middleweight champion of the world.

"With all due respect to Archer, he's not a puncher," said Ray. "He punched me when I was off balance and I got knocked down. Somebody was talking about a return match but I didn't say anything."

The record books say Robinson is 45 but he claims he is only 44. No matter now. He has had 199 fights since he turned pro in 1940, back in the days when men like Lew Jenkins, Fritzie Zivic, Joe Louis and Billy Conn ruled the roost. He won 173, lost 19, and had 6 draws and one no-decision contest.

Joey Maxim was the only man to stop him and that was due to a case of exhaustion in the 106-degree heat at Yankee Stadium June 25, 1952. Sugar Ray had stopped 109 opponents. In two more years he will be eligible for the Hall of Fame.

"I'm going to build houses," Robinson said. "The Sugar Ray Construction Co. is being organized. We'll do slum clearance and build houses for the people who need them.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

I look for Tennessee and Arkansas to wind up in the Cotton Bowl and Nebraska to head for Miami and the Orange Bowl.

* * * *

Big Spring's varsity football troops played its first four games as if they intended to blow down all opposition, then found it couldn't firm up its gains.

Big Spring's B team yielded 121 points in losing its first four games and since has become unbeatable. It is a club possessed with a lot of spirit, one that should revive local hopes for a return to power in 1966.

When the Shorthorns went to Abilene last weekend to play Cooper, the Cougar coaches recruited an army of juniors from the varsity squad in hopes of throwing a road block in front of the locals. The plan didn't work. The Dogies played one of their best games in winning, 36-7. The defeat left Cooper with a 3-3-2 record.

Richard Cauley, who weighs only 145 pounds, has done an outstanding job of quarterbacking the Shorthorns this season. The little junior makes the most of what he has.

* * * *

That 35-6 defeat suffered by the Steers at the hands of Odessa Permian wasn't the worst under coach Don Robbins. San Angelo pummelled the locals, 48-6, in 1962, the same year that Wichita Falls manhandled Big Spring, 47-6.

There was never much doubt about the outcome of last week's contest but the Longhorns' own uneven play rather than Permian's brilliance did much to dictate the final score.

But for a couple of fumbles and a pass interception, Permian would have wound up winning by only one touchdown rather than four.

That's water under the bridge, however. The Steers can still have a fine season by taking care of the Odessa menace tonight and compelling San Angelo to take heed next week.

* * * *

Those statewide polls not withstanding, the state's No. One Class A team right now could be Goldthwaite of District 9-A.

No one watches the progress of the Goldthwaite season closer than the Oscar Boeker household in Forsan. Boeker, coach of the Forsan Buffaloes, and coach Jack Williams of Goldthwaite once roomed together in college and are now married to sisters.

Burnet figured to give Goldthwaite the most trouble within the conference but the Eagles beat the Bulldogs last week, 70-0.

In the state playoffs last year, Goldthwaite lost to the eventual champion, Archer City, by a score of 13-6 and Williams had 18 lettermen back from that team.

Boeker, of course, will be involved in some high-tension activity at Garden City tonight, where his Buffaloes meet Jack Woodley's Bearkats. The championship of District 5-B (eight-man) could be riding on the outcome of the brannigan and they'll probably come from the forks of the road for that one, especially since this is Homecoming for the Garden City exes.

* * * *

You can bet that the Nov. 22 championship fight between Cassius Clay and Floyd Patterson will end in a knockout.

No heavyweight title bout has gone the distance since Jimmy Braddock copped the duke over Max Baer. That was over 30 years ago.

Dogies Play Permian B's

Big Spring's fast improving B team winds up its 1965 season Saturday afternoon in Odessa, at which time it opposes Permian's reserves at 2 p.m.

After losing their first four starts, the Shorthorns have won their last three games. Despite the fact that they yielded 52 points to Abilene's JV's and 36 points to Coahoma's A squad, the Shorthorns have been outscored only by a 168 to 134 point margin this year.

Permian has won eight of nine starts this season. The latest was a 13-0 success at the expense of Midland Lee's JV's, a team which lost to Big Spring, 26-8.

Wildcats Nudge Old Glory Five

WESTBROOK — Westbrook's boys returned to the basketball victory column here Thursday night, defeating Old Glory by a score of 54-46.

The Wildcats led from post to post. The score at the end of each period was 18-8, 33-20 and 40-34.

Elmer McMahan again paced Westbrook in scoring with 27 points while Old Glory's surge was led by Marvin Vahlenkamp, who had 25.

Westbrook also won the girls' game, 58-37, in a game which saw Darlene Lankford count 25 points for the Cats and Stephanie Letz 17 for Old Glory.

In that one, Westbrook led at the end of the opening period, 20-11, at half time, 32-18, and after three rounds, 47-26.

Westbrook will be at home to Norton Tuesday night. Norton defeated the Cats earlier this week, 93-85.

Alvie Thompson Misses Chance To Grab Lead

MEXICO CIY (AP) — Five players, including veteran Billy Maxwell of Dallas, Tex., share the first-round lead in the Mexican Open Golf Tournament, but if it hadn't been for two shots, Canada's Alvie Thompson very well could be on top.

But what shots they were.

Thompson, of Westvale, Ont., got through the first 18 holes with a four-over-par 76, six strokes off the pace. Eleven of those 76 strokes came on the par 4 15th hole. Two of the 11 strokes hit him.

The runner-up in the Canadian PGA was coasting along in the lead when he met the 15th. Lying 40 feet from the hole, he hit a chip shot that struck a mound and bounced up against his arm.

Forced to play the next shot left-handed, he again hit the mound, and this time the ball struck him in the eye. He didn't hit himself any more, but he also didn't hold the lead any more.

"It must be the altitude or something," commented Thompson. "I do the weirdest things down here."

Three years ago he went into the final day tied for the lead in the Mexican Open. He teed off from the first hole and drove his first three shots into the lake. He took a 10 on the hole and a backseat in the final standings.

Maxwell finished the opening round at the 6,800-yard Bellavista course with a 70, tied with Dudley Wysong of McKinney, Tex.; Larry Ziedler of St. Louis, and Mexicans Antonio Cerda and Guadalupe Perez.

Tied at 71 were Gene Littler, Ernie Vossler, Spain's Angel Miguel and Mexicans Oswaldo de Vicenzo, Juan Neri and Roman Cruz.

Defending champion Art Wall Jr., of Pocono Manor, Pa., was worse off than Thompson, taking a 77 after shooting six over on the back nine.

Venture To Garden City Tonight

Members of Forsan High School's offensive unit, pictured above, hope to mount enough firepower tonight to topple Garden City from the ranks of the unbeaten. A win would give the Buffaloes a good shot at the District 5-B flag. Kickoff in the traditional battle is timed for 7:30 p.m. and it's Homecoming for Garden City Exes. The boys pictured above, front row, from the left, are Doug Franklin, Tommy Girdner, Jackie Shoults, Gary Irwin and Ray McKinnon. Back row, Larry Callihan, Clayton McKinnon (who is injured and won't suit out). Jack Ellis and Freddie Willis.

Porkers, Longhorns Are Conceded Edge

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

Arkansas goes for half the marbles Saturday in a crucial schedule of Southwest Conference football.

That's what the mighty Razorbacks, aiming at their 21st straight victory and a return to the Cotton Bowl, will get if they swat upstart Southern Methodist. They will gain a tie for the conference crown and can then take it all by whipping Texas Tech next week.

But a Southern Methodist team that has exceeded its own followers' dreams could make it a clouded picture. If the Methodists should overthrow the Razorbacks, a tie for the title would loom.

If Texas Tech should tie for the crown, it would get the Cotton Bowl host spot even if the tie was with Southern Methodist.

Texas Tech will be fighting to stay in the race, with Baylor, which already has been eliminated, making an effort to see that the Red Raiders fall, Baylor's Bears are angry, disillusioned and bitter.

The Red Raiders are eight-point favorites but mindful, too, that things get pretty sticky in November.

Two other games mean little in the conference race but they mean a lot for the combatants.

Texas plays Texas Christian, an outfit that dearly loves to wreck the Longhorns' dreams and have done considerable wrecking over the years. Texas still is considered in the bowl picture although the Longhorns have lost three games.

But if they finish up with 7-3 they still would be acceptable to quite a few bowls.

Rice and winless Texas A&M clash at Houston and the odds are close as to indicate a tossup. Rice is given a two-point bulge.

They are the losingest teams in the league, each having won only two games. Rice, however, has one conference victory, A&M none.

At least there won't be any straining and the boys can just play for fun.

Perfect four-for-four last week. These predictions should make it the same this week:

Arkansas-Southern Methodists—SMU should score but Arkansas will win by three touchdowns.

Texas-Texas Christian—a wild one but Texas will edge through.

Rice-Texas A&M — A weak vote for Rice.

Texas Tech-Baylor—The Bears are too crippled and besides Texas Tech has the momentum—Tech by two touchdowns.

Banquet Slated For Gridders

COLORADO CITY — The annual Wolverines' football banquet honoring Colorado City High School players will be held at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the Civic House here.

The Wolves wound up their 1965 season last Friday.

Indians And Pitt Challenge Elite

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The college football season has been almost devoid of any major upset but have-nots such as Indiana and Pittsburgh hope anticipation and a little bit of luck can change the pattern this weekend.

The Hoosiers go up against top-ranked Michigan State at East Lansing and their 2-6 record hardly qualifies them for the spoiler role. Pitt, also 2-6, has allowed 120 points in its last two routs — an average of an opposition point every minute — and takes on sixth-ranked Southern California at Los Angeles.

LOOKING AHEAD?

But Indiana and Pitt have one thing going for them that most other underdogs don't this weekend. Both Michigan State and USC can be forgiven for looking past Saturday's games to Nov. 20 when the Spartans play Notre Dame in a game that could decide the national championship and the Trojans battle UCLA, hoping to gain the host role in the Rose bowl.

Looking ahead has helped more than one underdog pull off an upset and it would seem to be one of the few hopes the Hoosiers and Panthers can muster for Saturday's games.

North Carolina, 4-5, is in much the same position against fourth-ranked Notre Dame which walloped Pitt 69-13 last week. The Irish have won five straight since losing their second game of the season against Purdue and seem to be picking up momentum for their big clash with the Spartans next Saturday.

Michigan State, of course, has the incentive to wrap up its first Big Ten crown and insure itself of a trip to the Rose Bowl and with the firepower provided by Clint Jones' explosive running, the Spartans are not expected to trip over the Hoosiers.

USC's power-running Mike Garrett is expected to have a field day against a Pitt line on which Notre Dame's Bill Wolski scored five touchdowns a week ago.

NEARING TIE

In other games involving Top Ten teams, second-ranked Arkansas can clinch a tie for the Southwest Conference Crown against SMU and No. 3 Nebraska can wrap up a Big Eight tie by taking Oklahoma State.

TRACK SHOCKER

France Supplies Laurel Champion

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — You had better believe in French cooking when it comes to international competition. And horse racing.

The 1-2 finish of Diatome and Carvin in Thursday's Washington, D.C., International race was a shocker of a sort. The runner-up lost by only a nose and beat a hopeful for best horse of the year in the United States, Roman Brother, by a length.

Yet the French pair isn't acknowledged as the best in Europe.

Geoffrey Watson, the English trainer of Diatome, was matter of fact about the $90,000 triumph.

"He won the international, but he's still only the third best in Europe," said Watson. "That Sea Bird and Reliance, they would still beat Diatome."

Diatome finished behind Sea Bird and Reliance in France's Arc de Triomphe and other races. The front two were among several who declined or dropped out of the International.

Diatome had won only two races this year. Jean Boutillier's Carvin had only one minor victory and went off the longest shot 51-1, in the field of seven in the International.

"Let them eat their words," crowed Jean Sens, the trainer of Carvin, a 3-year-old.

He, too, took a bow to the superiority of Diatome, the 3-year-old pride of Baron Guy de Rothschild.

"We're used to running behind him," said Sens.

Jockey Jean Deforge, winning his first International in three appearances, said he had only one scary moment with Diatome. "Coming into the home stretch, we were boxed in for awhile," he said. "If it hadn't been for that, we would have won by four lengths."

The French score was not truly an upset. Entered in 12 of the 14 Internationals, its representatives have won four times and been second twice. The United States, which should enjoy the advantage like any other home team, has copped seven and none of the other 16 nations to appear has more than one.

For those among the 30,089 fans who went for the French flavor, Diatome paid $11.60, $6.60, and $4 across the board while Carvin was $29.20 and $7.80. The favored 4-year-old Roman Brother was $3.20 for third.

Canada's George Royal took down fourth money. Hail to All of the United States was fifth. Argentina's Berejenal was sixth and England's Super Sam last after fighting Roman Brother for the lead in the first mile.

THREE GAMES SCHEDULED SATURDAY NIGHT

Runnels, Goliad Clubs Clash In Barn-Burners

LEWIS

TAYRIEN

Runnels and Goliad Junior High square off in their annual donneybrook at Memorial Stadium Saturday night, with a large crowd anticipated.

Seventh grade units of the two schools tangle at 5 p.m., the eighth graders at 6:30 p.m. and the ninth graders at 8 o'clock or thereabouts.

The seventh graders have met seven times previously but the other teams will be meeting for first time this year.

Runnels is favored in all three clashes, in the ninth grade engagement mainly because so many Goliad players will be out with injuries or physical miseries.

The Runnels eighth graders are the city's only undefeated and untied unit against outside competition but could have their hands full. The Goliad eighth graders have won five of eight starts and have looked outstanding on occasions.

The boys who will be manning positions on Steer teams in a few years will be seen in action.

Top quarterbacks will be in action in the ninth grade battle, with Johnny Patton at the helm for Runnels and Ford Farris for Goliad. Those two could wage merry battles for high school varsity berths next season.

Johnny Rutherford, a 110-pounder, has guided the Runnels eighth grade team to its 7-0 record. Goliad's eighth graders have a rugged line and an attack built around quarterback Tommy Tanner, fullback Leonard Basco and halfbacks Ronnie McCarty and Tommy Ryan.

Such boys as fullback Steve Russell, center Kyle McAlister and defensive star Bill Henry will be missing from action on Goliad's ninth grade club. All are ailing in some way.

Goliad's ninth graders hit the heights in a game against San Angelo Edison, winning, 28-14. Runnels beat the same club 22-14.

The Runnels ninth and eighth graders are the highest scoring teams in the junior high system, each with a total of 142 points. Goliad's ninth graders have given up the most points, 140.

Dan Lewis heads up the Runnels coaching staff while Jack Tayrien is the head coach at Goliad.

Sweetwater Bowl Scene Of Pic-Fish Encounter

SWEETWATER — Texas Tech's Picadors and the Texas A&M Fish square off in the rubber game of their neutral site contests in the Sweetwater Bowl at 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

A&M captured the 1963 encounter 6-0 at San Angelo, and Texas Tech took a 23-17 decision last year at Midland.

Coach Berl Huffman's Picadors are in probably their best physical shape of the season. Certain to miss the game, however, is a first team tackle, 215-pound Bobby Parkhill of Abilene, injured in an auto accident. A starting halfback, Gary Brown of Houston Jones, is limping and will probably not be at top speed.

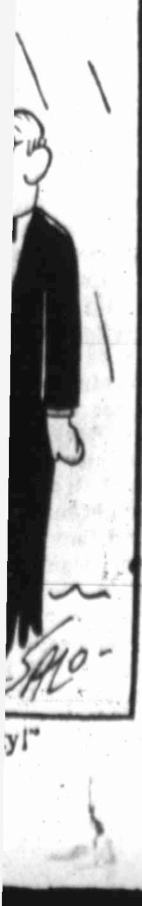

The game is being sponsored by the Sweetwater Chamber of Commerce. Tickets are $1.50 for adults, 75 cents for all students.

Attend Rites

Mr. and Mrs. Leon West and family, 1404 Park, Big Spring, left today for Hermleigh to attend the funeral of his brother, R. M. West, 54, who died unexpectedly Thursday. Services will be held at 3 p.m. Saturday at Dunn, and burial will be in the Dunn Cemetery. R. M. West had lived in Hermleigh for 15 years.

Hangs 'Em Up To Prove It

"What is the purpose of hanging coyotes and Bobcats on ranch fences after they have been trapped?" was a question asked of Earl Brownrigg, at the Thursday luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis Club.

Brownrigg, who has been Howard County trapper for more than 20 years, answered:

"Well, if I just tell you I caught 100 coyotes in a year or perhaps 50 Bobcats, it isn't nearly so convincing as if I can point to 20 or 30 cats and coyotes hanging on a barbed wire fence."

Brownrigg told the Kiwanians he had trapped 1,092 Bobcats and 1,490 coyotes in this county since he has served as trapper. He also told the club that farm wives with a "few chickens" are entitled to the same service from his work as a "rancher with a big herd of cattle or sheep."

"That's why I have to capture and kill packrats and lesser predators as much as I do the coyotes and Bobcats," he said.

Brownrigg was presented by Sherman Smith. Travis Waller, chairman of the club conservation and agriculture committee, was in charge of the program.

Brownrigg related a number of unusual misadventures he has experienced as trapper. He told of killing two rattlesnakes over six feet in length and described watching a Mexican eagle capture a coyote.

Glenn Faison, club member, sang two solos as a special feature of the meeting. He was accompanied at the piano by the Rev. Robert Polk.

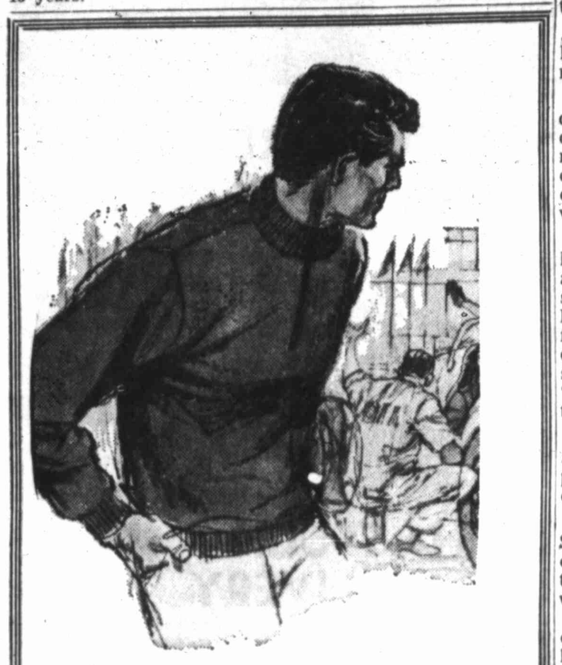

Announcement was made that the Kiwanis Club will not meet next Thursday noon, but will dine at 6 p.m. in the Hotel Settles dining room. At 7 p.m. the Second Annual Kiwanis Club Radio Auction Sale will be started in the dining room. This auction will be carried over KBYG and KBST until 11 p.m.

On the following Wednesday, Nov. 24, the Kiwanians will meet at the Holiday Inn for luncheon. This will substitute for the meeting which would normally be held at noon Thursday. Due to Thursday, Nov. 25 being Thanksgiving Day, the special Wednesday meeting is scheduled.

It was also announced that Kiwanis members, as usual, will serve as ushers at the Community Thanksgiving Service at 10 a.m. Thursday morning at Wesley Methodist Church.

Texans Soon To Be Feeding Beef Cattle

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Bankers attending a farm and ranch credit school were told Thursday there is a chance that within a decade Texas will be feeding all the young beef cattle it raises instead of shipping to other feeding centers.

The trend will bring heavier demand for livestock loan money, predicted Jay Taylor, Amarillo cattleman, oilman and banker.

"In less than 10 years we will be feeding all the calves and yearlings raised in Texas right here in Texas," he said. "So demand for credit will be tremendous. Get ready."

Taylor said per capita consumption of beef in the United States has risen from a 67-pound level several years ago to its present 100 pounds and the rate should climb to 125 pounds in a few years.

The school, conducted by the Texas A&M University's agricultural economics and sociology department, ended today. Its purpose is to provide bankers information on capital needed in the state's expanding agricultural industry.

Taylor is a former board chairman of the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas and past president of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association and the American National Cattlemen's Association. He is now chairman of the Agriculture Department's cattle advisory committee.

He said the beef cattle industry continues to be disenchanted with government subsidies and supports, with some reservations.

FRED ALLEN

Good Old Days To Be Reviewed

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV - Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The wit of Fred Allen, since his death nine years ago, has assumed somewhat legendary proportions. The famed "Fred Allen Show" with its Allen's Alley succumbed — to competition from a radio quiz show — almost 17 years ago.

But next Sunday mature television fans who now look back upon the golden years of radio with nostalgia and affection will have a chance to sample and assess the sharp-tongued brand of Allen humor.

The coffee company — Chase and Sanborn — that for so many years sponsored Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy on radio had such success a year ago replaying bits from some of those old shows, that it will try another 55-minute radio special, this one recalling some of the brighter moments from Allen's programs. Bergen will act as host on the NBC radio network show—7:05-8 p.m. EST.

The ventriloquist whose high-voiced dummy Charlie had a radio identity as real as a person's looks back on the old days with great affection.

"You could do so many things on radio that are impossible on television," he mourned. "There could never have been a Charlie McCarthy on television. But Charlie on radio could do anything — go to town by himself, drive a car, visit the dentist. It all had a dream quality and the audience was there supplying the background in its imagination."

The forthcoming distillation of Allen's long and glorious radio career presented an enormous job of listening and selecting. Producer Carroll Carroll spent two weeks including weekends playing transcriptions made over an 18-year period.

Bergen and the producer were discussing details of the show the other day. Bergen looked almost sad.

"It's all so very different today," he said. "The whole business of comedy has changed — from 15 minutes of quality to quantity. We had a lot of very funny people around, from Charlie Chase to Charlie Chaplin and Laurel and Hardy. The last one of that breed is Red Skelton."

Recommended weekend viewing:

Saturday — "Hollywood Palace," ABC, 9:30-10:30 p.m. EST, with Judy Garland as hostess.

Sunday — "Defeat of the Armada," NBC, 6:30-7:30 p.m. EST, third in the "Of Men and Freedom" series, dealing with the 16th century English sea victory over the Spanish.

Grandmother Drives Truck

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — New Jersey State Police were nonplussed recently when they stopped a huge, steel-laden tractor-trailer truck and down stepped a 41-year-old grandmother.

Leona Murphy, who stands barely over five feet in her cowboy boots, said she was stopped the first three times she drove the truck on the New Jersey Turnpike. Each time she produced the necessary license and was waved on.

Mrs. Murphy, whose husband, Charles, 41, owns the rig, has been driving for two years. She and her husband drive four-hour shifts.

"I wouldn't be driving except we own the rig," said Mrs. Murphy. "If we didn't then I would be taking a man's job and I don't think that's right."

How do the other truck drivers accept her?

"They mostly gawk," she said, "but they figure if I'm tough enough to drive, they'll go along with me."

Homicide Ruled

ALAMO, Tex. (AP) — A verdict of homicide was returned in the death of Teofilo Villanueva, 41, of Alamo. The body was found beside a road west of town Thursday with gunshot wounds in the head and chest.
