OUTSTANDING IN 1955

Steakley Receives Young Man Award

More than 100 persons Friday night in Civic House paid tribute to Dr. H. Jene Steakley as Colorado City's outstanding young man.

The tribute came as the 30-year-old dentist received the annual Distinguished Service Award, sponsored by Junior Chamber of Commerce recognition for outstanding community service.

Also receiving special recognition at the banquet, which combined installation of new Jaycee officers with the outstanding young man award, were Max Caddell, Johnny Grubbs and Elmer Martin.

Robert Kirschbaum, incoming Jaycee president, presented Caddell, outgoing president, with a past president's plaque for "distinguished and unselfish service" during his term of office.

"Key Man" key was presented to Grubbs for his outstanding Jaycee service as Civic House treasurer and as the organization's outstanding individual worker during 1955.

Martin, over-age associate member of the Jaycees, received an "Exhausted Rooster" pin, a special award for associate members, for his outstanding work as chairman of Jaycee agriculture committee. Presenting the "Key Man" and "Roster" awards was Caddell.

The DSA plaque was presented to Steakley by Joe Bell, recipient of the award last year, as the final event of the banquet program. Identity of the outstanding young man, selected by a special community committee, remained a secret until the presentation.

Steakley, who moved here with his family in 1950 to begin practice of dentistry with Dr. Dave Bridgford, was cited for his professional, public and church service.

He was recognized for joining with Dr. Bridgford in providing free spot dental checks for 2,200 school students each year in Colorado City and Silver areas, for his work last year as a cubmaster, his membership and support for Quarterback Club, service with Chamber of Commerce and its membership committee.

His all-around work on Jaycee projects was cited as well as his support for Mitchell County United Fund as a charter trustee and section leader in the fund's general solicitations division.

Steakley, the banquet audience was told, is a director nominee in Lions Club and chairman of that organization's boys and girls committee. He also is the citizen who last year coordinated and headed the civic club project that raised the money and purchased the new Civic House piano.

The DSA winner is a trustee of Hendrick Memorial Hospital in Abilene, serving the second year of a three year-term by appointment of Texas Baptist Convention.

Bell emphasized Steakley's active membership at First Baptist Church, where he is chairman of the committee on committees as well as superintendent and teacher in the Young People's Department.

The department, with only seven girls in attendance when Steakley began his Sunday School work, now has an enrollment of 40 with two girls and one boys' classes.

Fourth Wildcat Test Spotted in Mitchell

Mitchell County Saturday counted its fourth wildcat oil location within a week

Latest prospector was R. M. Vandegrift of Oklahoma City, Okla., No. 1 J. C. Womack, about five miles south of Cuthbert.

The wildcat will drill to 3,000 feet with rotary tools at a site 330 feet from south and east lines, Section 21, Block 26, H&TC Survey

No. 1 Womack will be approximately 1.5 miles west of the Westbrook Field production.

Previously staked as wildcat drilling sites during the last few days were K. Kimbell et al of Fort Worth No. 1 C. C. Berry; Carter, Mandell and Simmons of Midland No. 1 J. H. Humprey; Hamilton, Jordan & Blackwell No. 1 Leslie Hamilton.

Another Mitchell County wildcate, Pearson No. 1 Foster, reported pumping 19.3 barrels of oil and 44.45 barrels of water in 20 hours. The No. 1 Foster is located eight miles west of Westbrook in Section 44, Block 29, T-1-S, T&P Survey.

Saxet No. 1 Lee pumped 2.76 barrels of oil in the Sharon Ridge-1700 Field. Pay was topped at 1,528 feet over total depth of 1,559 feet.

New locations in the Sharon Ridge are Long No. 1 and No. 2 Strain. Both will drill to 2,000 feet with cable tools.

The No. 1 Strain will be 10 miles northwest of Colorado City at site 330 feet from north and 2,310 feet from west lines, Section 64, Block 97, H&TC Survey. No. 2 Strain, nine miles northwest of the city, will be 330 feet from north and 990 feet from west lines, Section 64, Block 97, H&TC Survey.

Chamber Gain Climbs to $1,200 Mark

Latest figures compiled by J. Ralph Lee, membership committee chairman, revealed a total of 58 new members.

All of those have been recruited into the chamber's membership in less than two weeks.

The roundup now has provided a boost of $1,200 to the chamber's annual budget. Lee said the $1,200 mark was reached Saturday with the 58th new member of the drive.

Latest citizens to join the chamber membership are Ross Dixon Jr., W. B. Crockett Jr., W. K. Miles, Reed Oil, Inc., Root Enterprises and Mrs. J. Frank Jones.

Volunteer workers in the roundup have contacted 67 of 139 assigned prospects. Seventy-two prospects still are to be contacted, according to Lee.

Goal of the membership drive is at least 100 new members to help spiral the chamber budget from $10,000 to $15,000 annually.

A contest with Snyder Chamber of Commerce is also a factor of the roundup. Each city is seeking to secure more new chamber members in ratio to population.

Mrs. Dye Will Lead PTA at Westbrook

She and three other officers were elected Thursday night at at PTA meeting and talent program in Westbrook School's cafeteria.

Plane Leads Search For Second Suspect

Local police Saturday captured a suspect three miles southeast of Colorado City less than three hours after a bank burglary was thwarted at Wingate.

The captured suspect apprehended single-handed by Patrolman H L. Shackelford after a three-mile chase identified himself as C. F. Addington, 40, of Lubbock.

Charges were filed Saturday in Runnels County against Addington, but the suspect told a Record reporter here that police were "picking on the wrong an".

Joining in the search fanning out from Colorado City Saturday morning and afternoon were an FBI plane, Texas Rangers, State Highway patrolmen and peace officers from half a dozen counties

Burglary of the Wingate Security Bank in Runnels County took place between 4:30 and 5 a.m. Saturday, according to Runnels Sheriff Don Atkins.

The burglars entered through a window and pushed a large safe containing an unrevealed amount of money onto the bank building porch.

Burglars were attempting to load the safe onto a trailer when two employes of a next-door grocery store saw them.

Realizing they were discovered, the burglary pair fled in a pink and white 1955 or 1956 Mercury with the trailer attached. The safe was left behind in the haste.

Colorado City police were quickly alerted to be on the lookout for the Mercury.

Patrolman Shackelford around 6 a.m. stationed his police car at the intersection of Highway 208 (to Robert Lee) and Highway 80 while Chief Leon Yeager drove approximately 16 miles south on Highway 208.

At 7 a.m. Shackelford spotted two persons in a car approaching north on Highway 208 toward Colorado City. When the pair saw the police car, they turned their car around and fled south.

Shackelford gave chase to the car a Mercury traveling at high speed. About three miles south of Colorado City, the car slowed down and Addington leaped from the auto into a ditch, then ran into a field with Shackelford in pursuit.

The local policeman capture Addington, who was unarmed.

Fire Truck Subs for Police Car in 'Pinch'

Sadler was driving the city's new Seagraves fire truck on Highway 80 near the city Saturday morning when he spotted an auto with 1955 license tags.

He told the driver—a Louisiana youth—to lock his car and come to police headquarters.

IN MITCHELL COUNTY AREA

Stangel Advises Cattle Feeding For Steady Profit to Farmers

Emphasizing cattle feeding with milo as a program West Texas "must have" was Dean W. L. Stangel of Texas Tech's School of Agriculture.

Stangel, who has conducted numerous feeding projects and experiments with grain sorghums, spoke at the Chamber of Commerce membership luncheon in Civic House.

"We must plan a diversified program," said the agriculture dean, "and livestock feeding fits into a diversified program.

"If we have diversified agriculture, then we will have permanent agriculture."

Stangel, who recently was honored by West Texas Chamber of Commerce as "Top West Texan" for his cattle feeding projects with grain sorghums, explained cattle feeding as profitable cash crop that is dependable and with only half the man work hours as cotton

Twenty-seven cattle feeding experiments have been conducted at Texas Tech, according to the dean, and only two of those lost money. Those losing years, he explained where in 1952 feeders were bought on an exceptionally high market and sold "when the bottom dropped out" and last year when feeders cost $23 per 100 and sold for the same after having kept the cattle in feed lots longer than usual.

Stangel said Texas farmers have the best feeder cattle, the type of cattle that packers want. And West Texas can produce feed cheaply.

He admitted that, at the same price, he would take corn over milo as feed.

"But milo is cheaper and available to us," Stangel said.

"And we can't expect Uncle Sam to store all our milo and keep the price up. The best way is to use it . . . feed it."

Stangle said Tech Experiments had developed a full-proof ration. That ration utilizes milo along with two pounds of cottonseed meal and two pounds all the way, plus bundles or silage or cottonseed hulls according to appetite.

"You say there is no money," the dean said, "but we only lost money two times.

"In the cornbelt calves returned $20.37 per head in 1954-55 and $43 in 1953.

"Those are pretty, nice returns."

Stangel said there's not a farmer in the county who "couldn't well afford" a load of cattle — 20 head.

It takes half as many man hours to produce $100 in beef as $100 in cotton, he pointed out.

Another feature of cattle feeding, according to the dean, is that it provides an income in the spring of year when most farmers have no other income.

"You work during the slack

BIBLE COMMENT

Pentecost Marks Birth of Church

Hitherto, Christianity had its growth in the fellowship of the Teacher and His disciples moving about from place to place. But now, with their Master ascended, the disciples became organized into a more definite fellowship.

Originally, Pentecost was a festival held 50 days after the Passover. A Jewish festival, it became a symbol in the Christian church of the outpouring of spiritual power. We speak today of a "Pentecost of grace," a "Pentecost of blessing," a "Pentecost of power."

What did it mean to receive the Holy Spirit? What do we mean by the Holy Spirit? There have been various forms of definition and interpretation, even among those who have accepted the belief in three persons in the Godhead—Father, Son and Holy Spirit. Some have thought of them as three manifestations of the one God.

It is obvious that in considering the Trinity we are in a realm of mystery, where definitions and explanations are exceedingly difficult and where any one man's human conception may fall far short of reality.

Perhaps we may say that the Holy Spirit represented to the disciples the same Presence that Jesus had represented when He was among them.

The baptism of the Holy Spirit is the baptism of God—the power of God manifest in the hearts and lives of men.

Stangel reported that two men went to Lubbock last year bought 15,000 and 20,000 head of cattle, respectively, and bought all their feed.

"If those two can buy all their cattle," he declared, "put their cattle in feed lots, pay for all their feed and make money . . . then you can, too."

Cotton Research Expands Rapidly

By JOHN C. WHITE, Agriculture Commissioner.

Cotton production and processing is moving into the jet age.

Within a short time, nuclear energy radiations may be used to give cotton a new versatility and improve its textile properties.

This project is just one of many new developments now planned by state and federal cotton research agencies. Goal of this research is to find and create new uses and demands which will put a new sheen on "King Cotton's" slightly tarnished crown.

Future plans were laid for cotton during a research and marketing advisory meeting in Washington last month. The committee, composed of leading agriculturists from over the nation, set a course of action that includes all phases of cotton handling, including production, utilization and marketing.

Rated high on the list were experiments of irrigation of cotton grown in humid areas, improved weed control, better processing methods for cottonseed oil and meal and other work to reduce costs of cotton production. Any savings effected will give a needed shot in the arm to this white crop, notorious for its expensive growing and harvesting methods.

The Gulf Coast area of Texas will be the site of research to study irrigation in humid areas for more prolific production. At the same time, mechanical and chemical weed control studies will be conducted to determine best methods for various localities.

The pink bollworm, Texas most serious cotton pest, is on the list for advanced research, as well as cotton breeding to improve fiber quality and increase growing efficiency.

New uses for cotton must be developed also. Development is planned on cotton-filled plastic laminates for industrial uses, and stretchable cotton yarns for socks and other knit wear.

STATE 4-H ROUNDUP SET

Advisory Committee Urges Investigations To Improve Versatility of Cotton Textiles

Investigations of new chemical treatments, improved finishing materials and the possibility of modifying cotton fibers by means of nuclear-energy radiations to give cotton new versatility and improved textile properties have been urged by the USDA's Cotton Research Advisory Committee

The committee, established under the Research and Marketing Act of 1946, is composed of 15 members representing every phase of the cotton industry. Texans on the committee and attending the recently held annual meeting include Roy B. Davis of Lubbock; Burris C. Jackson, Hillboro and Aubrey L. Lockett of Vernon.

The group also asked for research on the irrigation of cotton grown in humid areas, improved weed control both mechanical and chemical, better processing methods for cotton seed oil and meal, and other work to aid utilization and marketing of cotton and cottonseed and to reduce the cost of production.

Further work on methods for controlling the pink bollworm and an expanded program of basic and applied research in cotton breeding to improve fiber quality and increase production efficiency were also suggested.

Fiber research urged included determination of the economic need for improved bale wrappings; development of more practical and economical methods and equipment for automatic sampling of cotton bales and revival of Goverment statistical services.

On seed, the committee asked for a consumer survey dealing with margarine; determination of effects of present chemical sources of feed nitrogen on markets for proteins from agricultural sources and a study of the impact of price-support programs on cottonseed and soybean industries.

Texas 4-H club members will gather on the campus of Texas A. & M. College on June 12-14 for their annual Roudup. They have been holding such meetings at this location for approximately a half century

The 1956 meetings, according to Floyd Lynch, state 4-H leader, will provide "opportunities for the delegates to get training in leadership and subjects of their choice and also further acquaint them with the facilities of the college.

State winners in the different judging and team demonstration contests will be determined on June 13. Delegates will select and participate in one of the 17 subject matter short courses being offered. The training in agriculture and home economics subjects is designed so those receiving the training may pass it on to others when they return home.

County delegations will be limited to two boys, two girls and adult leaders or county extension agents must accompany a county group. District winners from a county are not counted as delegates, according to Lynch.

The first session is scheduled for Guion Hall on the evening of June 12. The contests are to be held on the 13th and the short courses commence on the same afternoon and continue through the 14th. The popular Share the Fun Festival is scheduled for the night program on the 13th.

Presentation of awards to all state contest winners will be made the afternoon of the 14th. The "Chuckwagon Feed" and special entertainent at Kyle Field will wind up the third day of activities.

Livestock losses will occur if animals are permitted to graze ranges on which poisonous plants are growing.

Weather conditions, says A. H. Walker, extension range specialist, haven't helped the situation because the continuing drouth has limited the growth of desirable forage plants and grazing stock will get the new plants even if they're poison.

Buds, leaves and tender shoots of all trees in the oak family possess a toxic substance which may cause severe illness in cattle, sheep, goats and horses. The poisonous condition is greatest from the time buds begin to swell until the new leaves turn dark green in color.

Low growing oaks cause most of the trouble and cattle are most commonly affected, says Walker. Removing livestock from pastures where poisonous plants are growing until the danger period is passed is recommended.

Bitterweed, a plant especially toxic to sheep, is best controlled by deferred and rotation grazing.

Loco and peavine are other plants which can cause trouble. Walker says animals should not be allowed to graze pastures containing these plants until sufficient growth of other plants can satisfy the forage needs of the animals.

The cocklebur in the seedling stage is very poisonous to grazing animals, especially to hogs and cattle, says the specialist.

This is the fifth in a series of articles telling the story of the Christian Church—

DISCIPLES of CHRIST . . . and UNITY

● Disciples of Christ as a brotherhood was begun primarily in an attempt to obtain unity among all Christians. This was first attempted on the basis of persuading all Christ's followers to adhere, to the simple faith taught and practiced in the New Testament.

While it is recognized today that a doctrinal and organizational unity has never been reached and seems likely of never being attained, Disciples have entered enthusiastically into the ecumenical movement of present times. Disciples participate in state, national and world council of churches.

● Disciples have entered into this movement with many other protestant fellowships believing there can be spiritual unity even though organizational unity may never be realized. On this basis each protestant group may retain its own particular convictions while yet cooperating in purpose, fellowship and devotion to Christ.

It has always been and still is the hope among Disciples that the dream and prayer of Christ may be fulfilled. Namely: "That they all may be one; as thou, Father, art in me, am I in thee, . . . "

IN BUSINESS MEETING

Beta Sigma Phi Sorority Makes Founder's Day Luncheon Plans

Plans for the annual Founder's Day Luncheon were made Tuesday by members of the Mu Pi Chapter of the Beta Sigma Phi in the Magnolia building.

Miss Sallie Tharp, sorority president and hostess for the meeting, appointed Mrs. Charles Harrell and Mrs. Frank King to make arrangements for the affair.

The annual luncheon is to be April 28 in Civic House. New officers are to be installed following the luncheon.

Miss Tharp read a letter from Girlstown which explained the importance of Beta Sigma Phi to Girlstown. The letter also revealed the amount of money Beta Sigma Phi sororities in Texas have contributed during the past year.

The president announced that $49.50 was netted from a recent cake sale at Fullers Food. The proceeds will go to the muscular dystrophy fund.

Eight books were brought by chapter members to be contributed to the Wallace School library.

"The miracle of the sculptor's art is to take a block of marble and convert it wholly into thought," the speaker began.

Sculpture can either be classified as decorative or free sculpture, the group heard.

"At first it was stiff, awkward and conventional," Mrs. Burdine said, "but by the end of the seventh century, B. C., it began to become realistic."

Athletics and religion joined hands in the sculptural ideal of a perfect humanity, she explained.

"Most renowned of all Greek sculpture is that which decorates the Parthenon. These are attributed to Phidias," she continued, "but no one man could have them all."

In closing Mrs. Burdine described the sculptures and named other great sculptures in Greek, Italy and America.

Carolyn Geer Speaks to CHS Society

"It's Nice Work If You Can Edit" was the theme of a talk by Carolyn Geer Tuesday at a noon meeting of the Quill and Scroll of Colorado High School.

"Publishing your school newspaper is nice work if you can edit," the speaker began. "If you can't, you may get yourself and your paper into difficulties."

To do a good job of editing, she explained, one needs to do many tasks — one of the first is editing for accuracy.

"Editing always involves evaluation," Miss Geer said. "One shows this evaluation by the length he or she gives a story, and by page make-up."

In closing the speaker said, "You'll find a big difference in the attitude of readers toward papers which are carefully edited and toward those which aren't."

Yeager was notified to drive north on Highway 208 in attempt to trap the speeding auto.

The car was last reported as it sped past the C. C. Thompson farm at the intersection of the Seven Wells Road and Sterling City Highway 101, five miles southwest of the city.

The hunt all-day Saturday concentrated in that area and roadblocks were set up at Sterling City and Big Spring

But the road blocks were abandoned at 1 p.m. Saturday after a fruitless search in that area.

Sheriff Atkins and Texas Ranger Ralph Rohatch of San Angelo were here Saturday at 10 a.m. to return Addington to Runnels County jail.

Addington told a Record reporter that he and his friend who fled police, had been to San Angelo and were "drinking beer" when they saw the police car.

"My friend didn't want to be stopped because he thought he would lose his driver's license," Addington said.

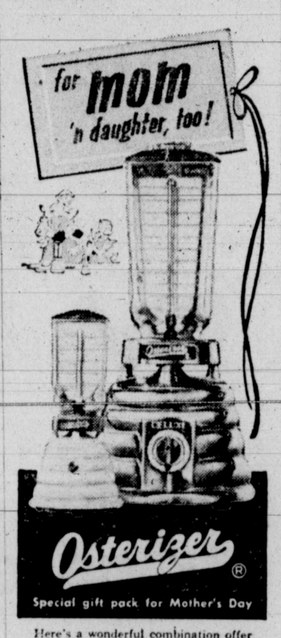

"And if he loses his license, he will lose his job," he added.

Addington refused to identify the other man in the car and told Yeager "that's your job to find out who he is."

Cage Schedule Made For District 3-AAA

Basketball schedule for District 3-AAA in 1957 was drawn up in an executive committee meeting held here this week.

Representatives from the five schools in the new district met here Tuesday. Included was Colorado High basketball coach Ronald Servies.

It was determined by mutual consent that in case of two teams tieing at the end of the regular play, both teams would be declared co-champions and a best two-out-of-three series be played to determine the team to represent the district.

In case more than two teams are tied for the district, all will be co-champions and a tournament will decide the team for the playoffs.

The committee voted that games be played on Tuesday and Friday with B games beginning at 6:30 p.m. and A games at 8 p.m.

Admission price will be 25c for students and 50c for adults.

The committee voted that the fall meeting be held in Colorado City, Wednesday, Sept 12. All schools will bring complete eligibility showing all players on the team roster for football.

Athletic play in the new district will begin with the fall football season.

Present for the meeting were: Lamesa Supt. C. W. Tarter, Principal Abe Holder and Coach O. W. Follis; Snyder Principal T. D. Wiman Jr., Coaches J. Conley and J. P. Ward; Sweetwater Supt. Billy Simmons Nominated for All-Star Tilt

Billy Simmons, Colorado High's all-district football end, has been nominated to play in the eighth annual National High School All-American football game.

Simms wrote Simmons that he had been nominated by the sports writers of this section for the game to be played in Memphis, Tenn, Aug. 15.

"If you are selected by the East-West coaches and our selecting committee as one of the 44 boys to play in the game, you will be furnished all your expenses," Simms said.

He was an outstanding end on the 1955 Colorado High football team and twice named to the all-district squad.

Hollis Gainey, high scoring halfback, was selected to play last year but didn't make the trip.

It's your assurance of Professional Protection
He should devote time to you for . . .
1. a careful case history on how you use your eyes in your job, hobby and leisure.
2. an examination of your eyes for disease.
3. a visual analysis to determine type and severity of your visual problems.
4. diagnosis and prescription (lenses alone, visual training alone or a combination of both).
He practices by his code . . .
1. He does not advertise prices or bargains because there is no bargain in eye care. All visual problems are not alike. The same prescription that would be good for one would not be good for another. The diagnosis of your visual problem determines the fee you pay for good visual care.
2. He does not show frames in a window display because it is service, not glasses, that he sells.
3. He does not display neon signs or other come-on gimmicks.
4. He does not practice under any other name than his own because it is personal service that he sells.
