Texas Supreme Court Rules State Has Title To Minerals In School Land

WORDS
by O. E. H.
Words are things

Twinkles
We have no imagination in this section. We ought to ask the war department for gas masks and stage a drilling period every spring to prepare for the next conflict.
But as for just, we Panhandle editors did something about it when we got together recently.
The beauty about a small convention is that the talkative fellows can all be heard and the others can meet in the hall and talk about the talkers.
The annual Gridiron banquet at the press meeting drew 250 persons this year. Next year it will be twice that size. It's sure to become a sensation. . . . And we glad we got our toasting while the stove was just warming up a bit.
We'd hate to be a millionaire if it would destroy our pleasure of rummaging through a pawn shop.
Musing of the moment: Don't assume this section is "burned up" by drought. Drive out into the country; see the flowers; see the greenery along the creeks. Even the sage brush is beautiful. . . . Nature hasn't lost faith in our soil—don't you, either.

Brevitorials
APRIL DIDN'T do this section right, but May will right part of the wrong. April was good to many other sections. It watered some areas badly in need of moisture and dried those which had too much rain in March. We have a government map which shows the Panhandle with this notation: "Still no relief from drought. . . . We wouldn't say that the duststorms are over for the season, but that is pretty near our guess. A low pressure area passed over here a few days ago without dust. . . . It isn't simply the wind, but the type of wind, which is the cause of the trouble."
BUSINESS IS improving. But this country isn't out of danger. It is spending far too much money. Work is still as poorly distributed as ever. Relief alone prevents a clear picture of the situation. It is a fact that more than 17 per cent of our people are registered for and are receiving relief. This group is equal to the population of the entire state of the United States! . . . Before long there must be a new deal for the government. It cannot continue indefinitely to carry such a load.
DURING the last six months of 1934, there were 98 persons killed and 19 severely injured, according to figures we have just obtained from the U. S. department of air commerce. These figures apply only to fatalities in which air commerce regulations were violated. Pilots made 288 flights in violation of the rules. These offenses included illegal aerobatics, low flying, failure to display position lights, and license violations. Flying, like automobilism, is no safer than the man at the wheel.
WE AMATEUR weather prophets have been rather quiet in recent years. It was perhaps the right attitude. Students of weather records have come to the conclusion that weather moves in cycles. California, for instance, is entering a cycle of moisture after a long series of dry seasons. The question is: Is a cycle of drought which may or may not be terminated this year. . . . There is nothing that you can do to change a cycle, but you can take steps to conserve the moisture which does fall and you can prevent much soil erosion. Fortunately, cycles are self-limiting.
CORPORATE RE-FINANCING is showing a brisk upturn. Much as many people dislike to admit it, there is much truth in the statement that employment accompanies rather easy financing. Big business is not business at all unless it has capital. The amount of capital needed to reach normalcy can come only from millions of Americans. . . . Big business has abused its privileges in handling the public's money, but the people only hurt themselves by withholding the capital which must go into business and employment. . . . Fear retards employment drastically. And fear is just as harmful in a small community as in Wall Street. Human motives do not greatly differ between Main street and Business street.
SOMETHING TO think about: Public payrolls list more than 2,250,000 persons. More than 20,000 names were added to the federal payrolls last year. Officials receive more than five billions a year. The cost of government is over 13,000 million dollars a year, or nearly a third of the nation's income. What kind of a government will we have if this keeps growing?

TREASURY TO GET MILLIONS IN DECISION
HIGHEST COURT GIVES RULING IN FAVOR OF STATE

AUSTIN, May 15 (AP)—The Texas supreme court ruled today the state has title to all minerals in 3,901,000 acres of school land forfeited and repurchased under the repurchase act of 1925 and under the relinquishment act and is entitled to one-half the bonus and rentals and one-half the royalty.
The decision was entered in a mandamus action brought by the Magnolia Petroleum company to compel J. F. Walker, land commissioner, to reinstate a lease he had cancelled because of failure to pay the state one-half the bonus and rentals from a section of land in Reeves county.
The Magnolia Petroleum company contended that under the relinquishment act of 1925 title to all minerals, except one-sixteenth reserved to the state, was vested in the surface owner.
The oil company contended that under the forfeiture and repurchase act the portion of the contract obligation between the surface owner and the lessee was reserved to the state. The land commissioner pleaded that the surface purchaser did not obtain title to the minerals under the relinquishment act but merely was designated as the state's agent.
"When one reviews the history of the legislation . . . of considering the act of 1925 and giving it a liberal construction it cannot be considered that the legislature intended to adopt as a policy of state that the surface owner, without classification, would also acquire fifteen-sixteenths of the oil and gas," the opinion, written by Associate Justice John H. Sharp, stated. "If the legislature had intended to announce such a policy it could have done so in plain and unequivocal language."

Bruce Schulkey Named President Of School Heads
Supt. B. C. Schulkey of Borger was elected president of the Panhandle Plains Superintendents' association for the coming year at a meeting held in Amarillo last night. Supt. W. M. McIntosh of Amarillo is the retiring president.
Other officers elected were Supt. L. H. Rhodes of Dalhart, vice-president, and Supt. Frank Wilson of Gruver, secretary-treasurer.
A resolution was passed to send a message of condolence to the family of A. C. Johnson of Dalhart, who died last week. Mr. Johnson was business manager of the Dalhart school district. He was formerly state representative and while in office was active in securing federal aid for public schools.
Dean R. P. Jarrett of Canyon spoke to the superintendents on federal aid and on curriculum work.
Supt. Fisher and Principal Aaron Meek of Baker school, and Supt. F. L. Mize of LeFors, attended the meeting.
Mrs. John has as guests this week her sister, Mrs. Daisy Alexander, and children of Lela Lake.

I Heard . . .
L. J. Ward reporting that the game between the LeFors Coteaux and the Quanaah Indians, Red River Valley league, postponed today because of wet grounds, will be played at 3:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at Shaw park, LeFors, weather permitting.
Dr. W. Purviance, just back from Oklahoma City, arguing with W. M. Castleberry that he saw wheat near by waist high and starting to head.

Five Kid Bands And Many Citizens On Streets
Wichita's friendly boosters, her famed quartet, and her Legion band came to town this morning to receive a welcome which was little short of astonishing to her trippers.
There was a large turnout of citizens. School bands were on nearly every corner downtown. Civic leaders headed by M. A. Graham, president of the B. C. D., extended the formal welcome.
The visitors said it was the best welcome they had received on their long journey, with only that of Dodge City, Kans., rivaling the Pampa spirit. They thought the kid bands were marvelous. Next year, a number of them said, they will likely spend a night in Pampa.
As the trippers returned to their train seats, they found placards advertising the present centennial celebration.

More Members For Democrats To Be Sought
Pampa Young Democrats today were urged by John Ketter, their president, to secure new members in advance of the state convention in Amarillo June 7 and 8.
The local club now has 30 paid-up members, but several times that many are desired by the time the report is made to the big convention. Memberships are $1 per year, which includes local, state, and national dues.
Reports on new members are to be made here to Willard Webb, secretary of the club, at the local office of the Cabot company.

Mrs. Phebe K. Warner Is Dead
CLAUDE, May 15 (AP)—The "poet laureate of the Panhandle" is dead. Mrs. Phebe K. Warner, widely known as a writer and active in the affairs of the National Federation of Women's Clubs, died here last night. She had been ill several days of pneumonia.
Mrs. Warner once ran for congresswoman-at-large, finishing fourth in a field of ten.
She and her husband, Dr. W. A. Warner, were pioneer settlers of Armstrong county.

Plan Provides For Cut In Potential Of Well Below That Allowed By Body.
AMARILLO, May 15.—A majority of oil operators in the Panhandle field met here yesterday and recommended a new proration set-up to the railroad commission.
The plan which met their approval provides for a cut in the potential of a well below that allowed by the commission, after 90 days. Wells with a potential of 500 barrels or under would be cut 12 1/2 per cent on potential, and wells making from 500 to 3,000 barrels and over would

CRIPPLED SHIP LANDS SAFELY AFTER FLIGHT
KINGSFORD - SMITH IS IN DANGER FOR HOURS
SYDNEY, Australia, May 15. (AP)—"It's all right, they can't kill me." Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith shouted joyfully to his wife as he landed the famed Southern Cross here this afternoon after an epic battle with engine trouble over the stormy Tasman sea.
Sir Charles, Captain P. C. Taylor, his navigator, and J. Stannard, wireless operator whose terse reports of their struggle to keep from plunging into the sea kept Australia on edge for hours, all showed plainly the strain of the ordeal.
"Anyone but Kingsford-Smith would have crashed," Captain Taylor said.
Misfortune overtook the tri-motored Southern Cross in which Kingsford-Smith has flown both the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, when it was 850 miles out to sea en route to Wellington, N. Z., with a cargo of special jubilee mail.
The propeller and part of one of the three motors tore loose from their fastenings and hurtled into the water. The remaining two motors splattered and coughed under their added load.
The Southern Cross was almost midway on its 1,300-mile hop to Wellington when an S O S told of the mishap to the starboard motor.
Overboard went the freight as three fliers fought to keep their faltering craft aloft. Then the jubilee mail was tossed into the Tasman in a final effort to avert disaster.
Once the Southern Cross plunged toward the foam-flecked waves.
"Afraid I am in the sea," Sir Charles wired his wife as he prepared to send vessels to his rescue.
But the plane was maneuvered to a safer altitude and nursed back to the mainland with its crippled power plants. A large crowd, anxious for the safety of Australia's premier aviator, was gathered at the airport to cheer him when he landed.
The fliers related that one time after the loss of the starboard motor and while the port motor threatened to fail, it was necessary for Taylor to creep out along a wing to make emergency adjustments.

WASHINGTON, May 15 (AP)—Vice President Garner is willing to have his portrait painted, but he won't sit still while it's being done. Daily he sits for his portrait at the capitol but the artist, Mrs. Azadia Newman of Washington and New York, must paint him while he reads his morning's mail, dictates to a secretary or even receives callers.

STATE TO BE ASKED TO TEST MOTOR VEHICLES IN VICINITY
State inspection of automobiles and trucks in this vicinity will be sought by the Junior chamber of commerce, it was decided last night.
State inspectors will be asked to bring their equipment here for three days and to test car brakes, lights, horns, and other devices which affect safety in driving. Owners will be given reports showing what repairs are needed. When these repairs are completed, a sticker for placing on windshields or windows of vehicles will be given.
It is believed that 5,000 vehicles

PANHANDLE OIL OPERATORS RECOMMEND A NEW PRORATION SET-UP TO R. R. GROUP
In this district there are 2,305 wells which under the present program show a potential of 420,224 barrels. The commission found that 578 or 25 per cent of the total wells are now standing on a basis of proration or the basis of their flush potential. The other 75 per cent are being prorated on the basis of a test taken on settled production. This 25 per cent operating on flush potentials were found to have a potential of 285,752 barrels or 68 per cent of the total potential of the field and are allowed 27,710 barrels or 47 per cent of the total output for the field.
A few operators dissented.

Rodeo Added To Pre-Centennial Event June 6-7

Realistic Floats For Oil Parade Being Constructed

More attractions than a circus carries will be provided when the second annual Panhandle Pre-Centennial celebration is held here June 6 and 7.
Last night members of the Pre-Centennial committee added a rodeo to the program, with one performance to be given each afternoon. The contract was being drawn today with C. N. Brewer, well known rancher-promoter, as the other party.
Mr. Brewer will hold the rodeo just south of the city limits east of the oil field paving. His stock will be the best obtainable in this section. A prize list will be announced soon. It was stated that the rodeo had been much in demand as a Pre-Centennial attraction.
Similarly, the newly added oil men's celebration promises to be an outstanding part of the event. It will include parade features such as floats showing a drilling well, a smoking carbon black plant, a miniature oil field, the first oil well drilled, a miniature refinery, and similar ideas. Letters were sent out yesterday by the oil float committee, headed by A. G. Post, to nearly 200 companies, which were urged to join the celebration and enter floats.
Various committees of the celebration reported their needs last night. For the free barbecue for the pioneers, several beaves are needed. Relics for placing in show windows are in demand. Men of the city are requested to grow beads to advertise the event and make it seem more realistic.
The Business and Professional Women's club which has charge of the street dance, announced today that plans have been made to rope off Cuyler street for several blocks. It has been suggested that Cuyler be roped off in the main business section.

FRANCE, RUSSIA AGREE ON PACT LAVAL ASSERTS
Frenchman Is First Foreigner At Air Field
MOSCOW, May 15 (AP)—Foreign Minister Pierre Laval of France, in an interview here tonight, revealed that he and Russian leaders had agreed on a plan for a multilateral non-aggression anti-consultative pact to be bolstered by mutual assistance agreements among those nations wishing them.

VFW Commander 'Sold' On West Texas In Visit
Completely "sold" on the Panhandle and West Texas, Commander E. A. Heil of the state Veterans of Foreign Wars, told local members last night that he would recommend that West Texas receive the next state convention.
Commander Heil, who now lives in San Antonio, visited the local chapter last night when 18 new members were received. Initiatory work was in charge of the Amarillo degree team. Illness, absence from the city, and other causes, kept 16 other new members from taking the obligation.
The state commander was making his first trip to Pampa. He was taken through the oil field and shown places of interest in and around Pampa. He congratulated the local chapter on its activity, naming it one of the most active posts in the state.
Local members voted to make J. T. Crawford, Civil War veteran, an honorary member of the chapter. He will receive the obligation at the next meeting.
Following the receiving of new members and address by the state commander, a dutch lunch was served. The meeting was held in the Odd Fellows lodge building.

Negro Crazed By 'Longism' Killed After Mad Tirade
CARTHAGE, May 15 (AP)—Black Henry Winton, a negro officer, believed to have been crazed by "too much Huey Longism," was shot and killed today as he stood on a river bank and shouted defiance to officers.
Previously he had attacked a white merchant and administered a severe pistol whipping. Then he partially destroyed merchandise in the store 15 miles from here. He continued his mad tirade and threatened other citizens until officers arrived.
Standing on the bank of the Sabine river, he shouted across to officers:
"Stay on your side of the Sabine—me and Huey Long is running this side."
Constable Jack Todd stopped the reign of Black Henry with a shot that pierced his heart.
For many days the negroes on the east side of the Sabine river in Panola county have been absorbing the "share-the-wealth plan" based on the old 40 acres and mule idea. Literature on the plan has a vast circulation in the flatwoods section between the river and Louisiana line, officers said.

PLAYER LIST CUT
NEW YORK, May 15 (AP)—The New York Giants got down to the 25-player limit today by sending Joe Malay, first baseman, to Fort Worth of the Texas league on option and placing Adolfo Luque, veteran Cuban pitcher, on the coaching list.

EVEN DALHART GETS SHOWER--SKIES CLOUDY

MORE RAIN EXPECTED AS MIST CONTINUES IN THIS AREA

Rainfall in Pampa since last night amounted to 1.3 of an inch by noon today. The moisture was .08 during the night, to which the mist added .05 this morning. The sky was lighter but still overcast this afternoon.
By The Associated Press.
Heavy rains had fallen over most of West and North Texas today. Ranchmen and farmers were jubilant as they declared fine summer ranges were assured and prospects bright for a normal crop of cotton and in some areas, grain. The rain was too late to help the Panhandle and south plains wheat crop, however.
Steady rains last night and today gave central West Texas, from Fort Worth to Abilene and beyond, three inches of moisture, and the rain was still falling.
Water ran from hydrants at Pampa in Callahan county for the first time since last November, when the lake, which caught a good supply of water today, went dry.
Farther west, Midland had 1.43 inches. Cattle ranges and farms to the north had from two to five inches over an area of 500 square miles. To the south, where heavy rains fell yesterday, precipitation today ranged from a quarter to two inches. Planting was made possible over the entire territory, and young crops were substantially aided.
San Angelo reported 1.31 of an inch today after a heavy fall yesterday. Today's precipitation was the third in 11 days except around Ozama and Iran in Crockett county. The North Concho river was up, and another rise expected. All causeways in the city had been blocked off since yesterday.
W. I. Marshall, Tom Green county agent, said that cattle and sheep ranges were "set" for several months with the moisture already in the ground. Marshall said small grains and cotton were greatly benefited, but that it was too early to predict the size of the crops.
At Abilene, the Taylor county agent declared "at least a normal grain crop" was assured, and an excellent cotton planting season provided.
At Lubbock, which had only .38 inches, grain men declared the wheat crop beyond help, but that prospects had been improved for small grains, grain sorghums, cotton and ranges.
Other reports of rains on the south plains: Post, half inch; Tahoka, quarter inch; Crosbyton, .38 inch; Plainview, 1.04; Snyder, one inch; Levelland, half inch; Lehman, half inch; and Muleshoe, third inch.
Less rain had fallen in the Panhandle, Amarillo reporting only .18 of an inch, but more was expected. Reports at Amarillo were that the fall extended 100 miles to the east, west, and north, averaging from an eighth to half an inch.
Dalhart had a light shower; and Pampa, 1.0 of an inch.
Vernon had .82, Denton half an inch, Sherman, 2.06 in 24 hours and still falling. Paris, .98, Dallas, .62, and Fort Worth 2.02.
The fall in North Texas was largely unwelcome since it delayed planting, already overdue, and battered crops already soaked.
George Williams, 50, was critically injured at Fort Worth when, blinded by the rain, his motor car was struck by a freight train. Several other persons were injured, and extensive damage done, notably to the First Congregational church which was struck by lightning.

VFW Commander 'Sold' On West Texas In Visit
Completely "sold" on the Panhandle and West Texas, Commander E. A. Heil of the state Veterans of Foreign Wars, told local members last night that he would recommend that West Texas receive the next state convention.
Commander Heil, who now lives in San Antonio, visited the local chapter last night when 18 new members were received. Initiatory work was in charge of the Amarillo degree team. Illness, absence from the city, and other causes, kept 16 other new members from taking the obligation.
The state commander was making his first trip to Pampa. He was taken through the oil field and shown places of interest in and around Pampa. He congratulated the local chapter on its activity, naming it one of the most active posts in the state.
Local members voted to make J. T. Crawford, Civil War veteran, an honorary member of the chapter. He will receive the obligation at the next meeting.
Following the receiving of new members and address by the state commander, a dutch lunch was served. The meeting was held in the Odd Fellows lodge building.

Negro Crazed By 'Longism' Killed After Mad Tirade
CARTHAGE, May 15 (AP)—Black Henry Winton, a negro officer, believed to have been crazed by "too much Huey Longism," was shot and killed today as he stood on a river bank and shouted defiance to officers.
Previously he had attacked a white merchant and administered a severe pistol whipping. Then he partially destroyed merchandise in the store 15 miles from here. He continued his mad tirade and threatened other citizens until officers arrived.
Standing on the bank of the Sabine river, he shouted across to officers:
"Stay on your side of the Sabine—me and Huey Long is running this side."
Constable Jack Todd stopped the reign of Black Henry with a shot that pierced his heart.
For many days the negroes on the east side of the Sabine river in Panola county have been absorbing the "share-the-wealth plan" based on the old 40 acres and mule idea. Literature on the plan has a vast circulation in the flatwoods section between the river and Louisiana line, officers said.

EDITORIAL

SELF-HELP NEEDED

Victor H. Schoffelmayer, agricultural editor of the Dallas News, after doing a wonderful job in presenting the world cotton situation to Texas readers in a series of articles based on a seven months tour of investigation in Europe, has now turned his attention to another important subject. He is just completing a series of articles on the possibilities of utilizing Southern pine in the production of paper pulp and other products and of creating a new cash "crop" in this way for Texas farmers. He has been telling of the wonderful work of Dr. Charles H. Herty of the Savannah Pulp and Paper Laboratory at Savannah, Georgia, in developing processes for the production of paper and even rayon from young pine trees, and of the significance of Dr. Herty's discoveries to Texas. Mr. Schoffelmayer went to Savannah and spent two days at the laboratory and also investigated the start that has been made in growing young pine on the farms of Georgia. And the results of his investigation, together with the enthusiasm with which he tells of those results, make mighty interesting reading.

But they make more than interesting reading. The Schoffelmayer articles present so convincingly an opportunity which faces Texas that they might easily mark the beginning of an epoch in the economic history of the State.

"You people in Texas are right," he quotes Dr. Herty as saying, "in wanting to locate a paper mill in your fast-growing pine forest region. You have a home market for newsprint with your large daily papers. Why not supply that market with a product which you cannot stop from growing naturally in spite of neglect and abuse of the forests. You have the sulphur close, also the limestone, and you have the Gulf of Mexico—cheap water transportation."

Mr. Schoffelmayer's articles give enough of the particulars with respect to the possibilities of this proposed industry to prove conclusively that what Dr. Herty says is supported by the facts.

But here is something else which Dr. Herty said, which is quite as true and just as directly to the point: "The South will come into its own when its business leaders learn that the way out is through local initiative and enterprise devoted to making use of the raw materials which Nature so abundantly has stored in the South."

Precisely. The chemists who are discovering how this rich yield of raw materials might be utilized to advantage are opening up great opportunities for this region. But it will require local initiative and enterprise to take full advantage of those opportunities and turn them into realities. It is self-help of this kind that is needed.—Texas Weekly.

About New York

BY GEORGE TUCKER
NEW YORK—New York is no place for me around dusk. I've been drifting through town like a lost soul, and nothing I can think of seems to do any good. After the baseball game this afternoon I got on a bus and crept down town at a snail's pace. The sun had long since gone when we reached Times Square, but it was still light and remained so for a couple hours. As we passed the park you could hear laughter and the thud of hooves on the bridle paths, but at the moment that seemed a listless thing to do. We got further down in the skyscraper district and the place actually seemed deserted. The streets were jammed as usual, but the tiers of office windows, with no lights, seemed empty and abandoned. It is difficult to believe that such an ineffable sadness can sometimes mantle a whole city; for others maybe it doesn't—but for the past week or so I know I've been ready and willing to swap all this town has to offer for something new and unexpected.

I mean, without planning or thinking about it, I'd like to get on a train and go to New Orleans—like that—without even stopping to pack a bag. Or I'd like to disappear into that range of wild Jersey hills where there are little crystal-clear lakes every half mile, and fish, and lie on my back with a straw between my teeth, and just stare into space without even thinking. I'm tired of Broadway and the crackle that goes on around you every hour. There are three new plays I haven't seen—I haven't of it, too, I'm told. The first thing they tried was that bawdy "Sailor Beware."

Eloosey on Fifth avenue and its swank! A big for Park avenue! A dried shrimp for this whole cock-eyed, crazy business of New York! It's got everything and it's empty as a drum! Convict Killed, 2 Officers Shot, In a Gun Battle

PARSONS, Kan., May 15.—A gun battle in which an escaped convict was killed and two officers wounded was believed today by authorities to have ended the activities of a kidnaping and robbery gang operating along the Kansas-Oklahoma border.

Arthur Henderson, 33, who escaped more than a year ago from the Oklahoma state penitentiary where he was serving a life term for murder, was killed near here last night. He fell with 13 bullet wounds in his body after an exchange of fire with officers who sought to question him and two companions.

The other members of the trio were taken into custody. They were identified by W. C. Miller, chief of police at Ben Eitel, 24, Pryor, Okla., and Geneva Jones, 24, Portland, Ore. He said they had admitted two recent robberies at Thayer, Kan., and the kidnaping of Frank Osborne, his wife and child, last week at Tonic, Okla. The Osbornes were robbed of their motor car, money and jewelry before they were released.

OUT OUR WAY

BRIGHT AND DUMB GUYS. BY WILLIAMS

THE NEW DEAL IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—You might say that one of the manifest injustices of the New Deal was that the 2,000,000th patent issued by the Patent Office received so much more publicity than the 1,999,999th patent, which in fact attracted no attention at all.

Patent No. 1,999,999 came so very near being Patent No. 2,000,000 that the sheer pity of it is quite obvious even to those who are sometimes a bit hardboiled about such things.

The widely publicized Patent No. 2,000,000 was granted to Joseph Ledwinka of Philadelphia, who has been successfully inventing for many years, for a pneumatic rubber railroad tire chiefly distinguished for safety devices calculated to keep cars from bouncing off the rails.

Patent Office officials deny that No. 2,000,000 was fixed to land on that one just so it wouldn't light on something like Benzanthrone Selenoethers.

But every Tuesday they grant a batch of maybe a thousand patents and for weeks there'd been an atmosphere of suppressed excitement around the place as the boys drew nearer and nearer to No. 2,000,000.

You remember, of course, that Patent No. 1,500,000 in 1924 was for Simon Lake's submarine designed for navigation under the polar ice—which never proved very popular—and that No. 1,000,000 in 1911 was for a stronger automobile tire.

No. 1,999,999 was granted to Melvin A. Perkins of Milwaukee and turns out to be a vat dyestuff of greenish blue which is only one of a long series of such dyes patented by Mr. Perkins.

Neither Mr. Ledwinka nor Mr. Perkins will become wealthy through his latest invention. They work respectively for the du Pont and Budd Manufacturing companies, which now own Patent No. 2,000,000 and Patent No. 1,999,999.

Mr. Joe Schechter, the chicken magnate who is the chief defendant in the big NRA test case now being studied by the supreme court, is something of a card.

Long ago Poultry Code Administrator Leroy Peterson telephoned him in New York and said: "Joe, you're violating the code!"

"I know I am," said Joe, "and I'm going to keep right on violating it."

So the mills of justice began to grind and just the other day Schechter and Peterson met in the corridor outside the supreme court, where a throng of New Deal lawyers, NRA officials, correspondents and others were milling around more or less excitedly.

They agreed they never could have imagined what would come out of that telephone conversation and the poultry man philosophized rather proudly: "Eighteen years ago it was the United States of America versus Germany."

"Today it's the United States of America versus Joe Schechter!"

Previously unrecorded item of the celebrated Roosevelt charm: The president usually insists on lighting a visitor's cigaret or cigar, which ordinarily makes a hit. . . . Streck, to stay for a second year. He likes Streck's ability and humor. . . . Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas has a letter from a female constituent who wants a position. SONG LEADER TO END STAY HERE TONIGHT

Harrah Revival to Be Climaxed Sunday

Songs by Bob Watkins will be heard for the last time this evening in the revival in progress at Harrah Methodist chapel. Mr. Watkins will leave tomorrow, after directing music of the revival for the past 10 days.

"Waiting for Ships" will be the subject of the sermon this evening by the minister, Rev. Lance Webb. The revival series has been in his charge, and will be climaxed Sunday when Bishop H. A. Boaz of Fort Worth will be here to preach and dedicate the church building.

A large crowd was present last evening to hear the sermon on "The Secret of True Strength."

"Strength is not brute force," the speaker said. "The strong man is one who is free, pure, determined, and living the life intended for him by God."

Visitors are invited for the service this evening at 8 o'clock, when Mr. Watkins will lead songs and sing a solo.

Measure of the Church Is Topic For Evangelist

The largest week night audience of the present revival at the Francis Avenue Church of Christ heard Evangelist W. D. Bills last evening. He gave as his scripture reading Revelation 11:1, 2.

In introducing his message, Mr. Bills explained the scripture reading as being the language of the apostle John, revealed to him while banished on the Isle of Patmos. "The word of God mentioned in the scripture was the measuring reed by which all things scriptural are measured. The first thing the apostle John was told to do was to measure the house of God, which is also spoken of as God's husbandry, the temple of Jehovah. No organization on earth is to be measured by this measuring reed except the church of God."

"The word church is used 110 times in the New Testament and is strictly a New Testament word. The English word 'church' does not necessarily carry with it any spiritual significance. The word means a called out assembly irrespective of the purpose for which they are called. God's church simply means a group of people who have been called out of the world by the authority of Christ into the Kingdom of God for the purpose of worshiping and serving Jehovah. The power of God employed in this transaction is the gospel of His dear Son. The word church is used 18 times in the New Testament with reference to God's people everywhere or in the church universal. The same word is used 92 times in the New Testament with reference to God's people in a local sense, so we have the church universal and the church locally. Every local church on earth must be exactly alike. This is a fact condemned in the scriptures. When a person believes Christ and accepts Him on the simple terms of His Gospel, he is then added to this church.

"The apostle John was also commanded to measure the altar in the house of God. The altar was nothing more than the worship of the house of God on the Lord's day. Five things must be in evidence in scriptural worship. They are: edification, prayer, singing, Lord's supper and the contribution. Each of these elements must likewise be measured by the divine standard of measurement which is the word of God. Religious teachers should not teach anything that is not found in the Bible, neither should any of us name a member of any religious organization about which we cannot find in the word of the Lord."

Visitors were present last evening in LeFors and White Deer. The revival will close next Sunday evening.

New Program in Baptist Church Is Dinner Topic

"A Tithers' Test Program," a plan of evangelism to wipe out all Baptist debts, was outlined at a recent meeting of the laymen's committee of the Baptist general convention of Texas. Churches which have adopted this plan have found that weekly offerings increase more than 400 per cent. Dr. J. M. Cook, chairman of laymen's work of district 10, recently called a meeting of laymen of this district at First Baptist church, Amarillo, at which Palo Duro association was divided into three zones with Rev. Ross A. Smith, Amarillo, chairman of zone No. 1; R. E. Gatlin, Pampa, chairman of zone No. 2; and Charles W. Stewart, Claude, chairman of zone No. 3. Above divisions were made with the purpose of organizing a group of laymen to contact every church in the entire association with a program of information and inspiration.

Friday night this tithers' program will be inaugurated at the First Baptist church at a banquet for the Men's Brotherhood and the laymen of the church. Speakers will be Calvin Whitley, speaking on "The Baptist Brotherhood;" Fred Thompson, "The Challenge of the Laymen of the First Baptist Church;" and R. E. Gatlin, "The Tithers' Test." Special music will be featured by George Wilson, Sioux Indian singer, and a ladies' trio.

House Will Fight For New NRA Act

Ten-Month Extension Voted Tuesday By Senate

Rises by Pluck

BY CLARENCE M. WRIGHT, Associated Press Staff Writer. WASHINGTON, May 15 (AP)—House democrats were planning today to fight for new era legislation more pleasing to President Roosevelt than the ten-month extension which the senate voted for the blue eagle yesterday.

They sought to give the recovery administration two more years of life and to continue its jurisdiction over some businesses which the senate resolution would place outside the code structure. Thus there developed a possibility of a bitter set-to between the two houses.

The senate measure, exempting wholly intra-state business from the codes, was discussed at a conference of democratic members of the house ways and means committee and Charles H. West, former Ohio congressman who is now a "contact man" for the president.

Donald R. Richberg, chairman of the governing board of NRA, was reported to be drafting a definition of interstate business, for submission to the committee, which would permit application of codes to businesses competing across state lines.

There was no indication, however, that the house members would try to make the new NRA applicable to the thousands of small establishments which operate solely within a single state.

The senate, without a record vote, approved the ten-month extension overwhelmingly yesterday despite the fact that President Roosevelt only a few days ago reiterated his preference for legislation which would continue NRA two years.

Senate leaders warned that any change in their resolution might delay final action beyond June 16, when NRA will expire unless a new recovery act has been completed.

Pluck that overrode all obstacles has been rewarded and Resina Lawrence has arrived in the films. The 20-year-old blond, shown here as her contract was approved in Los Angeles court, was paralyzed for 18 months. Dancing to aid her cure, she became so adept she won a film part, then worked her way up by doubling for others to gain recognition in her own right.

Battle Fleet's Maneuvers Please High Commanders

ABOARD BATTLESHIP PENNSYLVANIA, PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii, May 15 (AP)—Remarkable precision and intricate navigation displayed by the main battle fleet of the United States navy in strategic deployment on its recent dash across the Pacific from California to Hawaii was reported today to be highly gratifying to the high command.

This first phase of the sixteenth annual fleet maneuvers proved to be a valuable test of the operation of a high seas battle force between far distant bases, high officers indicated. It also demonstrated the abilities of the world's most powerful submarine division.

Success was attained both by the battleships and the undersea craft, officers said, and the very fact that each division checked out operations of the other at some stage of the westward dash proved the effectiveness of both.

The world cruising submarines demonstrated their scouting and tracking ability, refusing day after day to be shaken off by the main fleet, though the latter used some of its most intricate stratagems in attempting to lose the diving craft.

On the other hand, navigators of the high seas battle fleet won their victories just as decisively, using complicated night deployments to thwart absolutely the submarine division's attempt at an attack.

WOMAN'S MIND IMPROVES AFTER SHE LOSES HER 'THINKING' BRAIN

Blames Nudism

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor
WASHINGTON, May 15. (AP)—A woman whose mind was improved by an operation that removed nearly the entire "thinking" portion of her brain was described to the American Psychiatric association today.

The report reads like a fairy tale of medicine—for her personality changed—was lifted to better levels. The operation removed the entire right prefrontal lobe and most of the left lobe. These lobes are the gray matter credited with being the seat of reason, logic and intelligence. That they also strongly affect personality was not so widely believed.

The report was made by Spafford Ackery, M. D., associate professor of psychiatry at the University of Louisville school of medicine. The operation was done two years ago, he said, by Glen Spurling, professor of neuro-surgery at the same school. Medically it has been described. Today's report was on what it did to the personality of the woman. She is an Austro-Hungarian, is married, aged 35 when a tumor necessitated the removal of so much of her brain.

For the first year afterward she was extraordinarily gay and happy, almost childishly so. With the second year came the mature changes now reported. Intelligence tests rate her as well as the average American adult.

But her power of concentration has improved over anything previously shown by her. Her memory of immediate events is good, and for events long past is "remarkable." She reads English much better than before the operation.

She says she can do more work without fatigue. Her medical observers bear out this fact. She goes to sleep at once and rests soundly. Her temper is better. She worries less than formerly.

Her religious advisers are delighted with her piety. Her church attendance and evident love of religion. But her husband says she has feelings of superiority.

Several explanations are suggested. One is the fact already observed in animals, that the brain has spare parts. When one portion goes wrong, the rest of the gray matter can take over to some extent.

Another explanation is that the very small portion of pre-frontal lobe left may be functioning better than did the whole thinking mechanism when intact.

The increased concentration may be really lack of ability to be distracted, such as a whole brain possesses.

The countess was perfectly at home in San Francisco. She stayed at the same hotel, the fashionable Mark Hopkins atop Nob hill, where her first honeymoon was temporarily broken en route to the Orient by Prince Alexis' detour around California to avoid service of a legal summons.

Old friends were here to greet her if she wished, and her father, Franklyn L. Hutton, and stepmother, Mrs. Hutton, apparently were on the way to join her and Count Kurt. "The Huttons' private car "Curly-hut" left Reno last night and was due this morning at Oakland pier, across San Francisco bay.

Nicol Smith, young San Francisco socialite who knew the $400,000-wealthy heiress as a school girl, planned to give a dinner tonight in honor of the count and countess.

Filipinos Ballet For Independence

MANILA, May 15. (AP)—Speedy inauguration of the 10-year commonwealth government was planned today by Filipino leaders on the heels of yesterday's plebiscite which overwhelmingly ratified a proposed constitution.

Under the new government a Filipino president will succeed the American governor-general probably before the end of the year, as the first actual governmental transition toward complete independence from the United States.

The count today showed 834,906 had voted for the constitution and only 33,776 against it.

Under the Tydings-McDuffie act the process of transition to the new government designed to be a 10-year period of preparation for complete independence, might require an indefinite number of years. But indications are that the new regime will be functioning within 18 months after the act was accepted unanimously by the legislature on May 1, 1934.

Picks More Cotton Than 60 Men

John D. Rust

A dream inspired by back-breaking toil in the inventors' youthful days in Texas is forged into this machine, hailed as the first practical cotton picker. Built by Mack D. and John D. Rust, it was exhibited the first time at the National Cotton Show in Memphis. In tests it has picked more than 8000 pounds in a 7 1/2-hour day, as much as an average hand picker will gather in 10 weeks. The principle is simple. Rotating moistened spindles enter the plant, the cotton adheres to them, and is stripped away by a suction fan which delivers the cotton to a container attached to the upright line shown in this picture.

ED HOWE ON WAY TO BALTIMORE FOR REMOVAL OF EYE CATARACTS

KANSAS CITY, May 15. (AP)—Ed Howe, the author who often has "put down" his place, was on his way to Baltimore for an operation today after offering his aid to a 97-year-old woman who wants to write a book.

The Atchison, Kas. writer, who is known as the "Stage of Potato Hill" soon will undergo an operation which he hopes will restore his eyesight, now obscured by cataracts.

As his train stopped here last night, Mrs. J. C. McConnell of Turner, Kas., sprang for her years, burst into the car and told Howe she was going to write a book.

"Well, now this is wonderful!" exclaimed Howe as she sat down beside him. "There's nothing wonderful about it," she parried. "I've just taken care of myself."

"Here we are," Howe continued speaking to the group about him. "Each of you thinks you will write the best American book. At 62 I think I'm going to write it. And here is Mrs. McConnell; she is going to write the great American book at 97."

"I want you to write a foreword or something," Mrs. McConnell explained. "I'll do anything you want," the Kansas editor and author told her. "And I believe you really will write it."

Then they compared notes on eating and sleeping. Howe said he didn't sleep well and he couldn't eat what he wanted.

"I know you have been over-eating or something," Mrs. McConnell said maternally. "Now you come down and see me, and I'll have a good dinner. Then you can write a good book."

FDR TELLS FARMERS CRITICS OF AAA PROGRAM ARE 'LYING'

NEW NATIONAL ORGANIZATION TO BE FORMED

PRESIDENT SAYS FEW CITIZENS HAVE GONE ASTRAY

BY JERRY GREENE, Associated Press Staff Writer. WASHINGTON, May 15 (AP)—After shouting their approval of a speech in which President Roosevelt said "high and mighty" critics of the new deal farm program are "lying," farmer supporters of the AAA gathered again today to plan a new, national agrarian organization.

Leaders in the move said they envisioned it as a "lying force" to wipe out sectional bias. They said "we have several national farm organizations but they are not in accord."

There were grips of satisfaction and much back-slapping among the farm "marchers" as they reviewed yesterday's program. They said their demonstration in favor of the agricultural program—and against the critics who are seeking to alter it—was a success.

The program drove to a climax in the later afternoon when the 4,000 men stood before the south portico of the White House, looked up at the president and whooped their enthusiasm as he told them the farm policies would continue.

The attire of the crowd below him was a study in contrasts. Some bearded, lean men hitched the suspenders of their overalls and chewed tobacco; some wore their Sunday best, looking as if it just came out of the mail order bundle; others wore well-cut business suits.

Introduced by Secretary Wallace as the "heart of America," the president lost no time in lashing at critics.

"The crocodile tears shed by the professional mourners of an old and obsolete order over the slaughter of little pigs and other measures to reduce surplus agricultural inventories deceive very few thinking people and lead of all the farmers themselves," he said.

"It is high time for us to repeat on every occasion," he said, "that we have not wastefully destroyed food in any form."

At one point a farmer injected into the proceedings a reference to one of the administration's bitterest foes—Gov. Talmadge of Georgia.

President Roosevelt was saying that among the AAA critics were a "few leading citizens" who have "gone astray."

A farmer broke in to shout: "We have one down our way, South Georgia."

"I was about to say from ignorance," the president resumed.

Later, in Atlantic City, Talmadge commented tersely after hearing that the president had struck at "the high and mighty with special axes to grind."

"He must have been talking about Tugwell and Wallace," Talmadge said.

While the farmers declared their "march on Washington," was spontaneous and AAA officials asserted they had nothing to do with the movement, Senator Dickinson (R., Iowa) said it was "inspired" from the capital.

"In my judgment," he said, "the march on the capital was inspired from Washington. They are trying to create the impression that the administration farm program is popular, when every iota of evidence I have is to the contrary."

The men here from Iowa, he said, were mostly holders of corn-hog contracts. He declared he had been informed that some of the middle westerners had been solicited by county agricultural agents working for the government.

Mr. Roosevelt said in his speech that "I think that you and I are agreed in seeking a continuance of a national policy which on the whole is proving successful."

"The memory of 'old conditions,' he said, under the product of a whole year's work often would not bring you the cost of transporting it to market is too fresh in your minds to let you be led astray by the solemn pronouncements and specious lies of those who in the past profited most when your distress was greatest."

The men meeting today to discuss the new organization were only part of the farm gathering. They were chosen from among the 4,000 to map a course of action.

The others were drifting out of the city in small groups. Special trains carrying some of them were to leave tonight.

Georgia Voting Today On Liquor

ATLANTA, May 15. (AP)—Georgia for the first time voted today on the prohibition issue.

Although the state has been "bone dry" for 27 years, previous action on liquor has been by legislative steps or proclamation and not by popular vote.

Even if prohibition of hard liquor, the major issue of today's wet-dry referendum, is repealed, the voting will not of itself bring state-wide change.

Before whisky can be legal in the counties, each county must decide. Defeat of repeal, however, would not affect the higher beverages, beer and wine, since they are separate issues. Beer and wine will be legal immediately if accepted by the voters.

Chapter 42
JAMES WALK

James had left the Mansion with a comment of walking as fast as his legs would carry him the two miles that separated him from his waiting dinner, at Oak and North Fifth Streets. He was late already. Jane would have a right to be sore as hell.

He came to the lane that dipped abruptly down the River Road. Almost involuntarily his feet turned into it. He was a coward, a cur, a contemptible ass. But he had not, he could not find the courage to go back and face Jane.

He knew, nevertheless, that sooner or later he must go back. It was impossible, being what he was, just to walk out of her life and never see her again, as he desperately longed to do.

Well, this was his last day in uniform, the last hours he had left to feel himself a man and not just a husband. Wasn't he entitled to spend these hours to suit himself? The Northrup's mere and piers were certain to put in an appearance that evening.

If he had to listen another half hour to more of Mr. Northrup's blubber there sure would be murder done. God! How he would enjoy squeezing that fat purple throat, grinding his hob-nailed heel on that blotched overfed face!

James ate his "welcome home" dinner-out of a can beside a camp fire. It consisted of stew, baked potatoes, coffee and raw corn whiskey.

His host was an extremely dirty but cunning member of the I. W. W. who had been thrown out of the Kansas City local a few miles north of Leavenworth. James saw the camp fire from the road, made for it and was invited to dinner.

He stayed until after ten, arguing the merits and demerits of the capitalistic system. He had a glorious time. So did his host. By the time James had drunk his full share of the quart bottle he had pledged himself solemnly to a war of extermination of the capitalistic class.

Shooting was too good for them. He'd begin in the morning. And he knew just who he'd begin with. But first he had a little matter to settle which could not be put off any longer. If his friend, his dear friend Bill, would look him up in the morning.

James beaved himself unsteadily to his legs, wrung the hand of his new-found comrade and started northward. The first mile or two he sang, he danced, he capered. Afraid of Jane? Afraid of the Northrup's? He laughed long and loud. He hadn't been afraid of the Germans, had he? He hadn't been afraid to tackle a nest of machine guns? Well, yes, he had. He had been damned afraid. He'd even been sick at his stomach.

But he'd kept on going hadn't he? Just as he'd keep on going now until he'd had it out with Mrs. James Stinson and told her entering. Those eyes said to him that he was a coward and a failure. They knew that he could talk big to a drunken tramp, could talk big to himself. But talk was cheap.

"Where have you been?" Jane spat at him.

"Nowhere. Just walking around." "I don't believe you. Why, you've been drinking. You're drunk. You leathome, disgusting beast! On your first night... after two years... you leave me here, frantic with anxiety, and go off and get drunk! You dare to come home drunk!"

She beat her hands together frantically. Mr. Northrup appeared behind her blinking sleepily. His hair was rumpled, his tie askew. When he caught sight of James he was suddenly fully awake.

"You," he said, "you contemptible good-for-nothing drunk! You ought to be horsewhipped, yes horsewhipped. If it were not for the scandal, I would go-it myself."

"You had better go home, Father dear," Jane said evenly. "I can deal with James drunk or sober. I have a few things to say to him that I'd rather say to him alone."

She smiled an ugly thin-lipped smile.

There was anticipation in this smile and... and pleasure. It would be a pleasure to Jane to goad and sting him. However of Jane, horror and loathing engulfed him. He stared at her a long moment. Why, he wasn't afraid of Jane. By God's marcy he wasn't the least afraid of her. James abruptly laughed loud and long.

"It may seem funny to you," Jane said, thrusting her face close to his across the table, "but I confess I fail to see anything funny in a drunken lout coming home to his wife, horrible, filthy... Go," if you could see yourself."

James stopped laughing as suddenly as he had begun to laugh. He said soberly, "I only laughed to keep from crying. We ought to be crying, both of us. It's a mercy that you ought to thank God for your knees that you can see your feet as I see you... as you are."

Mr. Northrup, who had been fairly dancing up and down in impatience, broke in. "You'll hear from me in the morning, young man. Yes, you'll hear from me. If you say a word more to my daughter in your present obscene condition I warn you that..."

"Shut-up. Another bleat from you and I'll throw you out of that door. Just you open your pig sty of a mouth again..."

Mr. Northrup had already opened even closer to James' face and putting her in closed it hastily. James turned to Jane.

May I ask you one question before I go? It's a question that's haunted me for a long time."

Jane, clinging to her father, nodded but did not speak. James asked, "Did you love me when you married me?"

Jane amazingly shook off her father's restraining arm and came forward, came around the table. "Of course I loved you, my dear. Of course I loved you," she said and put a timid hand on James' shoulder.

"But I never loved you, so I am the one most to blame. Forgive me. And forget me. Goodbye."

Monday, James goes home again.

Federal Control Opposed By API In Tulsa Meet

TULSA, Okla., May 15. (AP)—The directors of "we don't want government control of the oil business" was being preached here today as oil men of the nation met for the mid-year session of the American Petroleum Institute.

The institute's directors already have come out strongly against extension of government control of the business and are satisfied now that the institute members, if called on, would support the petition voted by the directors at Chicago recently.

The talk at the meeting is predominantly against the government's proposal to extend its control over the oil business through the NRA bill which the senate passed yesterday. It is probable, however, that no action will be taken here officially against the measure.

"We've had our say," one official declared. "We have told congress how we feel on the matter and we don't want to be drawn into any further controversy with Secretary Teague."

There was a large photograph of Jane on the mantel. It seemed to James that those pictured eyes were looking down at him and sneering... as Jane was now

ALFRED URGES SOIL EROSION AT CONVENTION

WTCC GOES ON RECORD IN FAVOR OF SOIL PROGRAM

By VESTEL LOFT, Associated Press Staff Writer. PLAINVIEW, May 15. (AP)—The West Texas Chamber of Commerce today stood squarely behind development of a permanent soil erosion program, with encouragement given and cooperation offered by Governor James V. Allred.

After the organization, meeting here in annual convention, had gone on record in favor of the erosion program, the governor said in an address that control of erosion was the greatest work immediately possible for the improvement of the state.

"Erosion both from wind and water has wasted away our soil because we failed to protect our natural resources," the governor said at a box supper honoring him and 11 past presidents of the chamber.

"Not only the national but the state government as well has taken a great and progressive step toward control. The state planning board is definitely dedicated toward that end."

Governor Allred, urging a return to "the principles which made our government great," told the delegates that "departure from the fundamental principles of government established by our forefathers is responsible for our trouble."

In addition to approving the soil erosion program, the chamber's three directors asked an investigation into the advisability of a state sales tax, a 30 per cent cut in ad valorem taxes, adjustment of local debts, and development of highway, irrigation, water conservation, park and other public works projects in the area.

Amareillo and Wichita Falls apparently were the leading contributors for the 1935 convention which also was sought by Brownwood and Fort Worth.

The gold medal band from Memphis was selected as the official band for next year, succeeding the new deal band.

The annual poster contest was won by an entry depicting Fort Worth as the "meat packing monarch of the southwest."

Lubbock high school girls quartet won first place in a contest.

Impeachment Is Asked for Judge

Impeachment action against Federal Judge Samuel Alschuler, above, has been taken in the House by Representative Everett Dirksen, Peoria, Ill., Republican, who charges the Seventh district judge with "favoritism and breach of duty" in a patent infringement case in Chicago. Alschuler replied that the charge was "ridiculous."

D. A. Bunden, manager of the chamber, was commended for changing last year's $27,000 deficit into a $15,000 cash balance.

H. H. Emmell of Dalhart, regional director for the federal soil erosion service, told a group conference that the loss of top soil was largely a result of organic matter being carried through mistakes in cultivation. He said wind velocity since 1933 had been no greater than in previous years. He recommended listing, terracing, contouring and cover cropping.

WASING RIVER, N. Y. (AP)—The Wading River postoffice was back at the general store today, and the town's citizens are happy.

Last March Elmer Bishop was appointed postmaster, and his first act was to move the postoffice to its gas-line station two and a half miles from the center of the community.

A host of protest arose. A citizens' committee was formed. Bishop was threatened with removal.

Today, however, all was peaceful—and the postoffice was back at its old location.

INTERFERENCE DISCOURAGED BY MUSSOLINI

TELLS FRANCE, BRITAIN TO MIND THEIR OWN BUSINESS

ROME, May 15. (AP)—Italy faces with confidence today a world which weighed Premier Mussolini's declaration that he would brook no interference in the Ethiopian situation.

The 900,000 modernly equipped men he has called to arms can assure Italy's security not only in the colonies, but in Europe as well. He Duce announced in a surprise speech before the senate yesterday.

Every war industry in Italy, he said, has been working full time for months.

There has been "a gathering of forces on land and sea and in the sky," he informed the senators.

Mussolini's address, always vigorous and at times ironic, was both a warning against interference in Italy's program in East Africa and a defiance of implied criticism of his policy.

"Let no one take upon himself the intolent judgment of cross-examining us as to the character and volume of our precautionary measures," he said. "No one except Italy can be the judge in such a most delicate matter."

Epigrammatic cries in Rome expressed the private view that Il Duce by his comments had "beaten France and Great Britain to the punch" in regard to any formal move affecting Italy's Ethiopian policy.

Mussolini indicated the foreign powers had taken no definite step in connection with the East African situation, but it was understood that British officials here and in London have carried on informal conversations with Italian representatives.

Any formal joint move now would be little short of an unfriendly act in the wake of yesterday's speech, it was pointed out.

SHOT TO DEATH
SAN ANTONIO, May 15. (AP)—Thomas Jefferson Davis, 55, was found shot to death today. His wife and daughter found the body lying in a clump of weeds about 75 yards from his home.

There was a bullet wound in the right side of his forehead. Near the body lay a .38 caliber pistol from which a bullet had been fired.

You gross more money with a FORD V-8 TRUCK and a bigger percentage is clear profit

The diagram shows a large circle representing 'GROSS PROFIT' with a smaller circle inside representing 'NET PROFIT'. The area between the two circles is shaded and labeled '50%', indicating that 50% of the gross profit is clear profit.

THE moment you buy the Ford V-8 truck begins to save you money, because it will do more work—haul more tons at less cost. Its notably low fixed costs and its marked economy of operation and maintenance combine to reduce ton-mile haulage costs. Its new forward load distribution permits carrying more pay-load ahead of the rear axle. This results in longer-tire and brake life—less body and chassis strain—more room in the cab.

We are ready to prove the ability as well as the economy of the 80 h. p. Ford V-8 truck. We will furnish the truck—even the gas and oil. You test it with your loads on your routes with your driver and check the results. There is no obligation. There are no strings in this offer—your sound business judgment will be our reward.

Reason For Rain In Mid-west This Spring Is Given

CHICAGO, May 15. (AP)—Why rain should fall by hundreds this spring in the central states, and in history by the worst drought in years, puzzles even the experts.

Last year rivers vanished, crops wilted, and water was almost a delicacy.

But this year, according to W. P. Day, government forecaster at Chicago, a lucky collision of air currents over Canada changed the picture. May, without much warning, suddenly repealed the drought.

The Mississippi today runs so high that in some river towns boats have been ordered to proceed cautiously so as not to spill water over the levees. The Chicago fire department has bailed out hundreds of city basements. Farm work has been rained out in many places.

"The immediate cause," said Day, "is that the polar air currents and the tropical air current met this year, farther south. Last year they were so far north that the precipitation which resulted never reached the middle west."

OIL MEN

From tests of wells taken by the commission, Col. Thompson showed that the average granite wash well will decline 36 per cent from the first day to the fifth day and the average dolomite well will decline 14.5 per cent from the first to the fifth day thus making the dolomite wells by far the most accurate in potential test.

The commission has also made some retests on wells in both granite wash and dolomite with the following results:

Nine granite wash wells with an average age of 9 months had shown a decline of 79.4 per cent. Nine dolomite wells of the same age had shown a decline of 21 per cent.

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, May 15 (AP)—The stock market was able to push a little higher today with the help of rail and selected specialties. There were isolated firm spots in other divisions, but the main body of shares were cautious and did not venture far from levels of the preceding day. The closing tone was steady. Sales approximated 1,075,000 shares.

"The challenge to us," he said, "was that we now champion the cause of private business, industry and ownership of property as the road to recovery, and that we now champion as never before the democratic form of government as the way to work out our difficulties."

Hamil urged a reduction in the valorem taxes which he said were confiscating the visible and tangible property of West Texas.

"In recent years the government has doubled and the income of property has been halved," he said. "In Texas, property produces 10 per cent of the annual wealth of the state, but pays 75 per cent of the annual taxes of the state and its subdivisions, and 30 per cent of our people pay these taxes."

He voiced opposition to acreage control, and praised the Texas Centennial program.

CHICAGO GRAIN
CHICAGO, May 15. (AP)—Inflation talk did a good deal to put firmness into grain prices today after an early downward trend.

General comment, however, was that prospects for the new 1935 wheat crop in North America were not favorable to allow price advances to go very far higher than market. A good deal of speculative buying power developed, need of rain for the new Argentine wheat crop was reported.

Wheat closed firm, at the same as yesterday's finish to 1/2 higher, July 92 1/2-93, corn unchanged to 3/4 up, July 89 1/2-90, cash finances to 3/4 off, and provisions varying from 2 cents decline to a rise of 20 cents.

The P. & W. announced that at least two orchestras would furnish music which would open with Mayor and Mrs. W. A. Bratton leading a Spanish promenade. The club emphasized that all dancers should wear historical costumes of any period in Texas history. Appropriate costumes would include those of the French, Spanish, Mexican and Republic of Texas regimes; Indian, frontiersmen, cowboy, and any type of dress worn in Texas in the past. Prizes will be given for the best costumes.

Plans for the Pioneer Roundup, decorations, pageant, floats, wrestling match, baseball, dances, exhibits and for visiting bands was reported.

Superintendents Vote Unanimously To Oppose Rule

The Panhandle Plains Superintendents' association, in regular session last night in Amarillo, voted unanimously to protest against the 18-year-old rule passed last week by the executive committee of the Interscholastic league. The motion was made by Supt. R. B. Fisher of Pampa and seconded by nearly the entire gathering at one time.

The associations, composed of school superintendents from both Class A and Class B schools on the Panhandle plains, agreed that the new rule was passed without consent of the majority of school superintendents. A few members voted themselves in favor of withdrawing from the state organization.

The Panhandle association will send questionnaires to every school superintendent in this section of the state, asking them to express their opinion on the rule and whether they were given an opportunity to vote or express their opinion.

The rule in question reduces the age of participation in all athletic, literary and other school events to students under 18 years of age. If the student becomes 18 before Sept. 1, that student will be ineligible to compete in further school activities. The rule was passed following a breakfast during the interscholastic league track and field and literary meet in Austin two weeks ago. There was not a representative group present. It is claimed, and the rule was passed by a minority.

13-Year Old Boy Admits Killing Farmer Over Girl

TEXARKANA, May 15 (AP)—Howard Wall, 13-year-old schoolboy, today was charged with murder after admitting to District Attorney Elmer L. Lincoln that he killed a Springdale farmer because he had violated a confidence.

Young Wall, questioned all night, admitted he killed Austin Feutal, the farmer, because Feutal had divulged certain information to the father of his youthful girl friend.

Feutal was shot to death Saturday night when he walked to his front porch after hearing the barks of his dogs. Young Wall told Lincoln he walked home and went to bed, sleeping peacefully throughout the night.

Officers were baffled by the slaying and not until a court inquiry held at the Springdale school house yesterday did officials order Wall's arrest.

Twelve witnesses were questioned by state's attorneys at the inquiry, conducted by Justice E. Nelson of Atlanta, Texas.

Wall was arrested and taken to Linden, and questioned all night. Today he admitted to Lincoln all details of the killing.

Comfortable Chair Needed.

Any person having a comfortable upholstered chair or rocking chair that they will give for a worthy cause is asked to call the relief office in the basement of the city hall. The small child of a relief client is seriously ill with no possible chance of recovery. The child either has to lie in bed or be held in the arms of its parents. They have no comfortable chair. They sit for hours at a time on a straight-back chair holding the child. The child has been in a critical condition for nearly six months.
