ANSWERLINE

Q. The State District Judge that is threatening to close Texas schools...what is his first name? I notice he always uses an initial.
A. Don't know. We're a little skeptical though about a guy threatening to wreck havoc on the Texas school system that doesn't know how to spell his first name.

"Teen Court" gets closer look by Commissioners Court Monday

The "Teen Court" which meets in the 32nd District Courtroom of the courthouse drew the attention of the county commissioners Monday as they relayed complaints of unsupervised students in the courthouse to Justice of the Peace Keith Ruddick, sponsor of the program.

Commissioner of Precinct 3 Buddy Hertenberger told Ruddick that he and other commissioners had heard several complaints about students "running and playing throughout the courthouse the last time the Teen Court had met."

Ruddick told the commissioners that "I was pretty upset with them last week too and if it happens again, we'll move it somewhere else."

Ruddick also explained that the court was "just practice" and had tried no actual cases.

He added that he had several law enforcement officers and attorneys address the students about various cases but agreed with the commissioners that it would be better if it was coordinated through the juvenile department, the sheriff's office and the school system.

Several representatives from Colorado City went to Odessa recently to observe their Teen Court where students are actually judged and sentenced by their peers.

Their program started in 1983 and through 1992, 6,900 cases had been tried by Teen Court juries. Of those sentenced, only 15% of the juvenile traffic offenders have received second citations and 1% of the other first offenders have committed a second offense.

Odessa's Teen Court gives young people an opportunity to be tried by their peers under the assumption that when people their own age tell them they have done something wrong, it carries more weight than when an adult says so. The youngsters also get a chance to make restitution by performing community service instead of merely paying a fine and forgetting about it.

No-smoking lamp turned on

The "no-smoking lamp" has been turned on for the second floor of the Mitchell County courthouse as county commissioners voted Monday to ban all tobacco products from the second floor.

The ban was effective immediately following the vote.

All second floor employees petitioned the court for the ban and the first and third floors will probably be considered at future meetings.

In other action, the court approved a lease-purchase agreement for a fax machine for the sheriff's office, approved the specifications and the advertising of bids for a motor grader for Precinct Two and tabled action on a dump truck for Precinct One. However, the dates were incorrect on the bidding of the grader for Precinct Two and the court will meet Friday at 10 a.m. to approve the specifications and seek and advertise bids for a later date.

They also approved the payroll, the minutes from the previous meetings and approved the payment of bills.

Consolidation bill combines Colorado and Sterling ISD

Lawmakers in Austin are hustling to come up with a constitutional school finance plan that will win legislative approval before an Austin District Judge cuts off state funding for schools June 1.

Consolidation, in one form or another, is being tossed around and a group of House members were scheduled to present a plan Wednesday that would merge 109 wealthy school districts with an estimated 131 poor ones.

The plan calls for a nine-member super board to set the tax rate and budget for the consolidated district. Existing school boards would hire and fire teachers, set instructional requirements and submit budget requests to the larger board.

In this plan, Colorado City ISD would consolidate with the oil-rich Sterling City school district and Westbrook ISD would merge with Coahoma ISD.

Loraine ISD would not merge with any other school district.

Rep. Libby Linebarger, head of the House Public Education Committee, said this plan definitely produces equity and answers the court's requirements.

She added "it is a plan that will result in greater efficiency and it also, most importantly, a plan that will allow communities and schools to maintain local control and to keep their identity."

City workers along 17th and that area had to follow the path of least resistance in installing the line and also route around other utilities rights-of-way.

Early voting set for runoff

The runoff election for the U. S. Senate seat currently held by Bob Krueger will be held June 5.

Democrat Krueger will be facing Republican state Treasurer Kay Bailey Hutchison.

These two were the top two vote getters in the May 1 special election that drew 24 candidates hoping to fill the vacancy created by the appointment of Lloyd Bentsen as U. S. Treasury secretary.

In the May 1 election in Mitchell county, Krueger led the voting with 455 votes while Hutchison garnered 290.

Early voting in the election begins May 19 and ends June 1 in the County Clerk's office.

CISD meets Thursday night

The May board meeting for the Colorado ISD trustees is set for Thursday, May 13 at 7 p.m. Its regularly scheduled time is the second Monday of the month but it was changed due to a conflict with the Spring Sports Banquet.

The trustees are to hear a report on the CHS honors course sequence for the 1993-94 school year, approve student transfers into the district for the coming school year, obtain permission to sell three buses and one pickup and hear a Life Skills Curriculum Committee report plus accept resignations and make appointments.

SENIOR BOY AND GIRL ATHLETES OF THE YEAR: Elaine McKnight was selected the Girl Athlete of the Year and Doug Conner was selected as the Boy Athlete of the Year at Colorado High School. Both these seniors and other athletes were recognized at the Spring Sports Banquet held Monday night.

Conner, McKnight honored at banquet

The Spring Sports Banquet for Colorado High School was held Monday evening with the theme of "Picture this ..."

Elaine McKnight was named Senior Girl Athlete of the Year while Doug Conner was named Senior Boy Athlete of the Year.

Other special awards given included the "C" award won also by Elaine McKnight and the Spirit Award given to Lupita Zerneno.

McKnight also received the volleyball most valuable player honor and Cynde Aguilar was named girl's basketball MVP.

Christie Hulme, who will be participating in the discus event in the State Track Meet in Austin, this week received the girl's track MVP Award.

Adrian Martinez captured the Slugger Award for baseball.

Violation of election laws noted Hospital recount held Wednesday

by Wade Warren

The recount of all the votes in last Saturday's Mitchell County Hospital Board election was scheduled for Wednesday, May 12 at 2 p.m. at the First United Methodist Church.

Corky Houston was the recount supervisor and four members of the Ministerial Alliance were scheduled to count the votes. These include Ted Spear, Robert Bracy, Travis Monday and Pat Savage.

The law provides that personal notice must have been given to the person asking for the recount and all opposing candidates at least 18 hours before the recount was to begin. Wednesday was the last day the recount could have been held and fall within the laws of the Election Code.

Dale Geiger, Colorado City, turned in his petition for the recount last Thursday afternoon along with a check to cover the estimated expenses of the recount.

In Saturday's vote count, Geiger trailed incumbent Sybil Smith's total by one vote, 530 to 529.

Regardless of the way the recount turns out, the election may take a completely different twist however due to an apparent infraction of the Texas Election Code by hospital administrator Wendell Alford at the meeting last Thursday called to canvass the ballots.

Alford had the ballot boxes brought to the board's meeting room from his office and then unlocked and opened them. They remained open for approximately five minutes before board member Jay Craddock told Alford that the "ballot boxes should be left alone." Alford then locked the boxes and the board canvassed the totals. None of the ballots were disturbed while the ballot boxes were open.

Sims will change residences to 24th District if necessary

Mitchell County's representative in the Texas Senate, Senator Bill Sims of San Angelo, says he will run in the 24th Texas Senate District if the current redistricting proposal is approved.

"The proposed 24th District most closely resembles the area I have represented the past 10 years," Sims said. "I think it's unfortunate that San Angelo has been attached to Bexar County in the new 25th District. The current redistricting plan is unfair to rural interests in Texas, but big city politicians have the naked, raw power to force this on the people of Texas, and they are doing so without regard to Texans who do not live in the state's major metropolitan areas. Now, more than ever, Texas farmers and ranchers and people who do not live in big cities need an effective, experienced voice in the legislature. I feel I can best serve the people of Texas by running in the 24th District."

Under the current redistricting plan, the new 24th District would include the following counties: Mitchell, Bell, Brown, Burnet, Callahan, Coke, Coleman, Concho, Coryell, Lampasas, Llano, McCulloch, Neard, Mills, Nolan, Runnels, San Saba, Shackelford, Stephens, Taylor (Partial), and Young. To qualify as a candidate in the 24th District, Sims would use his home and ranch in Paint Rock as his primary residence.

"I was born and raised in Paint Rock and have owned a home in Paint Rock and ranch in Concho County virtually all of my adult life," Sims said. "Changing my primary residence from San Angelo to Paint Rock is a technical change so I can continue to represent the people who have sent me to Austin in four elections since 1982."

Sims, a conservative Democrat, is chairman of the Senate Natural Resources Committee. Earlier this year, Sims sponsored and led passage of the Boll Weevil Eradication Bill, a major piece of legislation that will affect farmers through the state.

CITY COUNCIL NOTES

Mancy Scott, a counselor in the Community Corrections and Supervision office here, met with the City Council Tuesday night and discussed the possible lease of a city-owned building at 1805 Chestnut to be used as a meeting place for the local Narcotics Anonymous group.

The city had drawn up a lease for the facility - that once had been used by Alcoholics Anonymous - for $10 for a six-month period.

First step to health includes exercise program

Just do it. A popular advertisement encourages us to stop procrastinating. Medical science also now recognizes that regular exercise is a vital component of a healthy lifestyle and it should be a part of your daily routine.

Did you know that regular exercise:

- helps prevent diseases of the heart and blood vessels?
- lowers blood pressure in people with hypertension?
- lowers blood sugar in people with diabetes?
- reduces bone mineral loss in post-menopausal women?
- improves muscle tone and circulation?
- reduces weight?
- relieves stress?
- makes you feel better?

African Americans have a disproportionately high incidence of high blood pressure and diabetes - two chronic diseases that are more controllable in people who exercise regularly. This group should be particularly encouraged to include exercise in their treatment strategy.

When most of us think of exercise, we think of the vigorous and demanding training done by competitive athletes. In fact, with only 15 minutes of brisk walking done daily, you can reap the benefits of regular exercise. This pace is about three miles per hour or about twice as fast as a leisurely stroll.

People who live in economically disadvantaged communities often find it difficult to engage in outdoor exercise. Most of these communities lack jogging or bicycle trails and are unsafe for walking, especially at night. Consider an indoor fitness program, such as aerobics. Perhaps the best long-range solution is to start a community-based outdoor and indoor recreational program. Such a valuable and essential resource can unite communities by developing a sense of achievement and camaraderie.

Although walking is among the simplest exercises we can do, other activities include bicycling, dancing, housework, and gardening. The key is regularity. You should exercise at least three to four times weekly to see the results. Motivation is often a problem, consider teaming up with a partner to make exercise more appealing and enjoyable. Taking a walk or a bike ride, or working side-by-side in the yard with others can also bring families and neighbors together. Others can motivate you to adhere to your exercise regimen.

Javier and Rosa Ventura would like to announce the birth of their daughter Gladis Ventura. She was born at Mitchell County Hospital May 6, 1993. Weighing in at 9 lbs 5 ozs. and 22 inches long.

The NA group will be responsible for all bills, insurance, etc.

Scott told the council that all the financial arrangements had not been finalized yet but that she had been trying to obtain grants to pay those costs. The council told her that when she was able to do so financially, the City Manager, Buddy Foster could sign the agreement in order to avoid any delays.

Scott said the facility would be used as a meeting place only and not as any kind of residence.

Ricardo Ramirez, Community Work Program supervisor, told the council of the work done at the Sands Park. He said some 42 people have now signed up for garden plots and more than half have already working in their space.

The council granted an animal permit to Coalen and Lisa Swann to keep baby emus up to ninety days old at 921 Rusk. Once the birds reach three months old they will be moved to another facility.

Foster gave the council a step-by-step process in how to sell bonds. The council is looking at a possible bond package dealing with improvements at the water intake system at Lake Colorado City and other improvements.

Foster also advised the council that several firms had been in a meeting to discuss the feasibility study for a regional recycling center here. The state gave a grant of some $90,000 for the study and it will be sometime in June before a firm is selected. The Texas Water Commission and the Texas Department of Criminal Justice will also make recommendations on the firm used.

It is hoped that a plant will be constructed here to take recyclable materials and convert it into useable items for the state such as plastic lumber.

Bob Reilly was unanimously elected as the Mayor Pro Tem - a post he served in his last term also.

The way it works there is when a juvenile, age ten through sixteen years of age, commits a traffic offense and appears before the Municipal Court Judge or Justice of the Peace, they can choose to plead not guilty, plead guilty and pay the fine or go before the Teen Court. It consists of a jury of his peers, a bailiff, clerk, attorney for the state and defense and they are all secondary age school children. Only the Judge is an adult and in Odessa, it is a retired District Court Judge.

The jury does not decide guilt or innocence, only the restitution the offender is to make. Restitution is made in the form of community service - working in such places as the library, nursing homes, hospitals, police department, etc.

The young people work at these facilities and serve out their sentence anywhere from four to thirty hours.

Restitution must also be made in the form of serving on the Teen Court jury anywhere from one to four times.

Youths that have committed offenses such as theft, runaway, shop-lifting, first time (as a rule) alcohol and other drug related offenses and other Class C and B misdemeanors, are also tried before the teen juries and are sentenced to jury duty and community service.

In addition, drug offenders must attend a three-hour drug abuse seminar.

Natalie Rothstein is the Court Coordinator and she says the Teen Court has an impact because it serves as prevention not recrimination. She says young people have a chance to keep their record clean since participating in the Court dismisses an offense and there is no criminal record.

COOK'S CORNER

By Barbie Lelek

In the corner this week is Anna Staats. she is well loved and respected by many in our community. She was born in Wink, Texas. Because of her father's job, her family began to move when Anna was 6 months old. She lived in 5 different states until they settled in Garden City when she was 6 years old. She attended elementary and high school, finally graduating and attending junior college in Garden City.

Anna met her husband, Walt, at the college. He was attending the college on a football scholarship. They began dating in May, but in August, Walt was drafted and was sent away. They continued to "date" by correspondence. They decided to get married but that was easier said than done. The date on their wedding invitations say December 27, 1953 but the Army cancelled Walt's leave. They set another date and the Army cancelled again. Finally three wedding cakes later they were married on January 10, 1954. When Walt returned for good, the couple moved to Norman, OK, where he attended college. He was later transferred to Pittsburg, Pa., attending the university where he later received his Bachelors & Masters degree. Walt taught science for 21 years in Kansas. He was also the head football, basketball and track coach. Anna used this time to stay home and raise their family. Seventeen years later she took several classes from the college also.

Walt and Anna have 4 children, Dianna Hansen of Monroe, WA and Dwight Staats of Ft. Collins, Co. Dwight is graduating from college this weekend. Unfortunately their other two children, Debbie Kelly and Dwayne Staats both passed away due to cancer. The couple also include Dwayne's wife, Marty Sanchez, who has remarried, in their family. They have 1 grandson, Justin Staats, age 11 and Brielle Sanchez age 2.

Being a Texas boy, Walt often longed to go "home." They have lived and worked and been an important part of Colorado City for 15 years. Walt teaches science subjects and was the Golf coach until this year. Anna has worked for the Mitchell Co. Hospital District for 9 1/2 years.

Anna enjoys painting, sewing on tee-shirts and poetry. She is involved in the B&PW Club and the American Cancer Society. The Staats attend First Baptist Church. Anna co-teaches a pre-teen Sunday School Class.

Anna likes to cook but doesn't get to as much as she used to. She enjoys her family coming home so she can get out the recipe books and cook for them. When she attended high school, you could major and minor in subjects. She majored in Home Economics. She learned how to set a pretty table and how to make a plate look good. But they didn't teach a lot of basics. After she married she learned a lot by trial and error. Anna says she is fortunate to have a husband who will eat anything and try everything.

Anna remembers a time soon after being married that she was cooking rice. She poured the whole box into the pot. She said as the rice cooked she had to keep increasing the size of her pan because it kept growing!

Nurses honored this week

May 9-15 is Texas Nursing Home Week, a celebration of the lives and contribution of Texas' 96,000 nursing home residents. It is a time for residents and those who care for and about them to reaffirm their rights to high-quality care and a sense of self-worth and well-being after years of contribution to society.

For the volunteer nursing home ombudsmen who work to insure that these goals are met, the week has become a time of renewed commitment to their purpose.

H.P. Reeves, Regional Ombudsman for the West Central Texas Council of Governments Area Agency on Aging, says ombudsmen are a vital resource for residents or their families who have needs or complaints related to nursing home care.

"An ombudsman can usually avoid the need for conflict or legal action," said Reeves. "We have the skills to negotiate better care for the resident and, when necessary, coordinate with various local agencies to find the resources they need. Our mission is to serve as an advocate for the residents and to look out for their interests."

Ombudsmen are well prepared for this task. They are trained and certified by their Area Agencies on Aging and the Texas Department on Aging, and they must go through periodic recertification to update their skills.

They regularly visit nursing homes in their communities and receive and investigate complaints by, or on behalf of nursing home residents, their families or friends. In most cases, they can resolve these problems much faster than the resident or family could have done on their own.

If you would like to become an ombudsman, if you need the services of an ombudsman, or if you would like additional information about the local nursing

TEXAS ANGLER

By: Keith Warren

The other day I received a call requesting my opinion on the best catfish lake in Texas. Without trying to appear vague, I tried to be unspecific. In the past my answer to a question like this has drawn criticism and even argument from angry fishermen.

Without offending anyone, I do have the right to my opinion. I feel that there are thousands of fishermen out there that will agree with me that Lake Corpus Christi is certain to be at the top of anyone's list for catfish lakes.

Located 5 miles west of Interstate 37 at Mathis, Texas, lies this shallow off colored stump filled lake. This 21,000 acre impoundment was filled in 1935. The Nueces River feeds the lake as do several small feeder creeks located in the lower end. Most of the time the water is very off colored, some say it's just a mud hole. But this lake consistently produces catfish virtually anytime of the year. Blue cats, yellow cats and channel cats are all plentiful and are by far the most sought after species of fish in this lake.

Usually the serious catfishermen uses trot lines and loves the rod and reel at home because action is just not fast enough. But at this lake you can catch more fish with a rod and reel than with a trot line. However, the trot line usually produces larger fish.

Favorite areas are virtually all over the place. Ask 10 people and you will get 10 different answers. I interpret that as they'll bite just about anywhere on the lake. But locals tell me that the big fish are being caught in water deeper than 8'. The largest catfish (the yellow cat) prefer live bait such as shad or small perch. Usually these fish are caught on trot lines. But for rod and reel action the lake is full of blue and channels that bite a wide variety of bait. Shrimp, cheese, worms, cut shad and liver are all popular. The best way to fish these baits is under a tight line next to the bottom. A heavy weight below the bait resting on the bottom will hold the bait in place and it's easy to detect a bite. When rod and reel fishing I usually scatter soured grain in the area before casting my line out. Within 20 minutes any catfish in there should be in the area feeding.

Preferred line size is 17 pound test and up. This size line is strong enough to land some huge catfish. I personally prefer blue Stren line because it's easy to see in the off colored water.

Catfish limits at Lake Corpus Christi are generous and they are delicious to eat. For more information on Lake Corpus Christi, contact Fiesta Marina at 512-547-5462.

LORRAINE PERSONALS

By: Lois Phillips

Last week our kids went to the UIL meet at Highland and several were entered in lots of events. We had several first place winners who will go on to compete elsewhere. We are rooting for you and hope you make it all the way to state.

You had a good report along with pictures last week and I am very pleased that someone came over to take our kids pictures. Because of that good report I will not repeat it, except I am very proud of all of you.

Last week I was looking for someone to get me a report on the banquet and from the Juniors hosted for the Seniors, I asked Dawn Butler to do it for me and she graciously consented. She did a very good job and I am proud that she agreed to do it. I was also told the decorations were so beautiful. I got my plans interfered with, when the cloud decided it wanted to be no. 1 on Saturday night. Believe me it really got to be no. 1 and several of our citizens had other things to do when it did. Our firemen were watching the storm clouds for you so that you, your dates, your mother's and other friends could have fun while others did the watching to make sure nothing slipped upon you.

I told you over a week ago that I would tell you how tennis and golf came out at regional. Well, here it is, we did not win but our kids played and we are glad they tried anyway.

Our high school boys baseball have not lost a district game so far and are still in contention. Guys we need to win district again this year. We had to wait so long for a winner, we need to win what's left and make two district winners in a row, therefore we need everyone of you in tip, top shape and ready to play. Don't disappoint yourselves or your fans, parents and friends. Most of all dear ole L.H.S. a couple of you will be finished so let's go out winners, remember it takes every one doing his best. I don't know how many games are left.

Curtis Bandy won first place in the horse show at the national finals last week. He was thrilled about it and we're pleased for him. I know nothing about what it composed of except that, he must learn to ride and train his horse so that it will learn what his trainers expect of him. Anyhow we are pleased because he wanted to so badly. Peggy and Maylon his parents live in Abilene. Elba Evans, Earl and Lois Phillips are grandparents.

Last Saturday morning was graduation day at H.S.U. The Rev. James McLeod, pastor of Loraine's First Baptist, was one of those who was receiving a Master's of Art in Religion. We, along with his wife Cindy and daughter Tiffany, are very proud of him and his family. They are a very nice family, to say nothing of their good looks and musical talents. We hope to have you around for a long time.

Sandra Phillips also received her degree of Bachelor of Behavioral Science, Magna Cum Laude. She is married to Donnie Phillips, they have a son, Chris, who will graduate from L.H.S. on May 28, 1993. I don't guess they can very well forget the year of graduation at the Phillips house hold. Anyway we are proud of both our graduates.

Last week Doris & Donald Graham were in DeLeon to attend the funeral services for Odessa Graham wife of Jack Graham. Clay Graham, Roland Graham, Ann Browning and Bob & Wanza also attended. Jack Graham is a cousin to our Loraine Grahams.

Bob and Della Vickers and Lisa Vickers spent the week-end with her mother Ann Browning. The Vickers live in Garland. Billie and Ruth Kelley of Robert Lee were also here for Mother's Day with the family. Their daughter came Sunday.

Reba Gross of Buchanan and Larry Gross, wife and sons from San Marcos spent the week-end with Donnie, Sandy and they attended Sandra's graduation from H.S.U.

Mrs. W.J. Noel, Mary Helen Price's mother, is home from the hospital and is doing much better I believe.

On Mother's Day Linton Ray and his daughter took their mothers grandmother and wife out for lunch. They reported a good time.

Bob and Wanza had all their children home on Sunday, except one daughter, Brenda Boyd went to visit her son and family on Sunday.

Sunday was Mother's Day in Action. When Iris arrived home from church she was surprised with all the lunch prepared, on the table, ready to serve. Matt and Ben served as everyone came from church. Honored guests were Christene Hall and Susan's Dad, Dr. Joe Terry. It must have been a nice affair and all enjoyed it.

Janessa Lee is home from the hospital and doing some better.

Estelle Lee is home from the hospital. She had gall bladder treatment in Sweetwater last week. All four of her sons were with her and George Sr. for the ordeal. She tells me she is doing better and expects this last "go-around" will do her a lot of good.

Robert B. and Bess Miller of Austin were in Mitchell County visiting "old" friends last week. Bess is the oldest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. G.W. Hendrick. He was our local undertaker for years.

The Hendricks had one son Robert (Bob) Hendrick who is also deceased. They also had three girls, Bess, Lillian and Ruby. Bess gave a good account of the three girls who are still living, when they lived in Loraine they lived in a big two story house in Southwest Loraine. We all loved that old house and wished we could all live there. It made us all sad when we were told it was to be torn down.

Irene Brown Hester came with the Millers to Loraine and they were all having a good time. Irene Brown had one sister Viola and one brother Fred. They were the children of Mr. and Mrs. S.E. Brown. They lived where what is now called the Glen Coon place.

As far back as I can remember Mr. Brown was president of our bank and Fred also worked there and maybe one of the girls. I know that Viola made it to be a teacher because I went to school with her until the 4th or 5th grade.

Irene married Doyle Hester and they lived on their farm up close to the Alvarez's across and down the road a ways. Viola married Glen Coon and they lived at the Brone homeplace. That is why it is called the Glen Coon place. Glen had a grocery store in Loraine a long time. The Brown's and their daughter Viccon, Glenn Coon and Doyle Hester are all deceased. End of story except we were glad to see them and they seemed happy to visit with everyone. Glenn and Viola Coon, Doyle Hester, Mr. and Mrs. Brown and Fred are all deceased. Irene lives in Ft. Worth.

Mary Helen Price of Loraine and LaVeda Brooks of Abilene attended commencement Friday night at Midland College where their nephew Mike Kreidel who has been blind for five years graduated with honors.

Mike is the son of Bill and Melba Kreidel of Midland and the grandson of Gladys Noel of Colorado City and Mrs. C.L. Kreidel of Sweetwater. He and his wife Carol are expecting their first child in June.

Lorraine homemakers meet

Mrs. Wanza Graham hosted the North Loraine Extension Homemakers Club on May 5, at the Loraine Senior Citizens building with 12 members present. At the beginning the club prayer was given in unison and pledge to the American flag was given.

Since Bryan Limmer, Mitchell Co. Extension Agent, brought a detailed program on fruit and pecan trees, he was first on the program. He handed out several brochures on how to plant and care for the trees. He urged the members to read the brochures and follow their suggestions. He stated the pecan tree could be used in landscaping, as well as for food.

Margaret Brame brought the council report. The treasurer's report was given, and announcement of our upcoming book review and tea was given. It will be given at the C.C. Thompson room on May 11 at 2:00 p.m.

Work on our on-going project the "Mini Park and Gazebo" was discussed at length. Through funds that our club has raised, and donations from many friends, beautification continues. The club feels they have something going that offers pleasure to the entire community.

The hostess served refreshments to the following: Billie Ruth Abernathy, Margaret Brame, Wanza Graham, Doris Henderson, Mildred Rose, Ann Preston, Nelda Hill, Billie Schroeder, Bertha Fay Snyder, Bessie Ann Vaughn, Eva Wells and Effie Wheeler.

Stenholm announces opening of district office

Congressman Charles Stenholm announced the opening of a district office in the O.C. Fisher Federal Building in San Angelo, effective Monday, May 3, 1993.

The San Angelo office, which will be a one-person operation, will be managed by Jayne Schoonmaker who has worked for many years in Congressman Stenholm's district office in Stamford. In addition to working in the San Angelo office, Schoonmaker will also make field visits to towns in the surrounding area.

"I am pleased that the 17th District of Texas now includes a portion of San Angelo," said Stenholm, "and I am opening this office in order to meet the changing needs of one of the largest Congressional districts in the United States."

The address and telephone number for the new office are as follows: Congressman Charles W. Stenholm, O.C. Fisher Federal Building, Room 318, 33 East Twelfth Avenue, San Angelo, Texas 76903, (915) 655-7994.

Stenholm indicated that he plans to hold an open-house in the near future. "For the time-being I encourage folks to drop by the office to get acquainted with Jayne," said Stenholm. "This office belongs to the people of the 17th district, and I encourage them to use it."

CHIEF LONE WOLF

BY JIM BAUM

Once upon a time, Colorado City was proposed as the capitol of Texas. It's true. In fact, no less than the Texas Congress proposed it! And had it not been for one man, a very powerful man we might add, there's a good chance the proposal would have made it.

The plan called for Colorado City to be laid out on the west side of the Colorado River, as opposed to the east side. The town plat covered 5,000 acres and eleven streets were laid out running east and west and twelve streets were platted, running north and south.

Mitchell County's very own Doc R.N. Gray passed this tidbit along to us. He says a Colonel by the name of John W.S. Dancy and other promoters hoped to stop another man, Colonel John H. Moore, who had ambitions of making another town the most important one in the country.

All of the streets in Colorado City were properly named and all the blocks and lots were numbered. That's when the Texas Congress proposed Colorado City as the nation's capitol. (Texas had not yet been annexed by the United States).

That's also when the Texas President, Sam Houston, stepped in and vetoed the action. So, the movement failed and eventually, floodwaters from the Colorado River destroyed the proposed townsite. Evidently of Sam knew what he was doing.

Oh yes, one more thing. This Colorado City was in Fayette County, far to the south of our present day Colorado City. Doc got his information from the Center of American History, University of Texas. He says the first proposed Colorado City was laid out in the 1830's. It wasn't until 1881 that Mitchell County was formed and although our town was called Colorado, it wasn't until 1939 that we officially became Colorado City.

Good one, Doc!

From the mailbag this week, the following letter was passed along to us by Chamber of Commerce Executive Vice President Jay McCollum:

"To Who It May Concern:

I am writing in regard to an old family saddle that is stamped "C.C. Blandford, Colorado, Texas." The only information that we have been able to find on this saddle states C.C. Blandford of Colorado, Texas was in business in 1887. Seeing as how it has been a few years since 1887, we do not even know if Colorado City, Texas, is the same as the Colorado, Texas, stamped on the saddle stirrups. If you have any information on this Saddle Maker or are able to pass this letter on to someone who has such information, please do so. If your City has a Historical Society or Museum Board, please advise as to their names and addresses.

We would appreciate any information you could share with us. Our name and address is: Milo and Dottie Sanberg, P.O. Box 65, Harrisburg, Nebraska, 69345. Phone (308) 436-4464.

Sincerely,
Dottie Sanberg

P.S. Saddle is marked Model 005 and is a half seat style.

We called Mr. Sanberg and talked with him about the saddle. He's employed by USDA as County Executive Director of the A.S.C.S. He says old saddles, Indian artifacts and cowboy gear interest him.

As for how he came into possession of the Blandford saddle, Sanberg says, "My grandpa bought the saddle in 1920, in Gering, Nebraska."

The story is told that the saddle came up the Texas Trail. "I rode the saddle when I was a kid and I was about half way ashamed of it because it was so out of style, Sanberg told us laughingly.

He's having a saddlemaker in Sidney, Nebraska, refurbish the old collectors item.

"He wanted to buy it," Sanberg related, "but I said it's not for sale. Just fix it up and I'll pay you what I owe you."

Sanberg suspects the saddle is worth a pretty good chunk of money. "He offered me considerable money, so I guess it is worth something, in the right place." According to the saddlemaker, the saddle was a true center-fire rig and had been modified later to a double rigging.

Experts say that could mean the saddle was made as early as the 1860's or 1870's.

At any rate, it's a "fur piece" from Texas to Nebraska, but C.C. Blandford's saddle made it. If anyone knows anything about Blandford, or his saddles, Milo Sanberg would like to hear from you.

COLORADO CONVERSATIONS

BY BARBIE LELEK

Mrs. Potter's Kelley Elementary Kindergarten class had lots of fun recently when they made a cake during class. They read a book about a little girl who was frightened by a storm, the thunder in particular. To keep her granddaughter's mind off of the storm, Grandma suggested they make a "Thunder Cake." They gathered the various ingredients including tomatoes!

Mrs. Potter's class got to eat the cake that afternoon and used it also, as a birthday cake for Mario Flores and Nikcoal Upshaw who had birthdays in April. It's GOOD, I had a piece!

My Grandma's Thunder Cake

Cream together one at a time:
1 c. shortening
1 3/4 c. sugar
1 tsp. vanilla
3 eggs, separated
(Blend yolk in beat whites until they are stiff, then fold in.)
1 c. cold water
1/3 c. pureed tomatoes

Sift together
2 1/2 c. Cake Flour
1/2 c. cocoa
1 1/2 tsp. baking soda
1 tsp. salt

Mix dry mixture into creamy mixture. Bake in two greased and floured 8 1/2 inch round pans at 350 degrees for 35-40 minutes. Frost with chocolate frosting. Top with Strawberries.

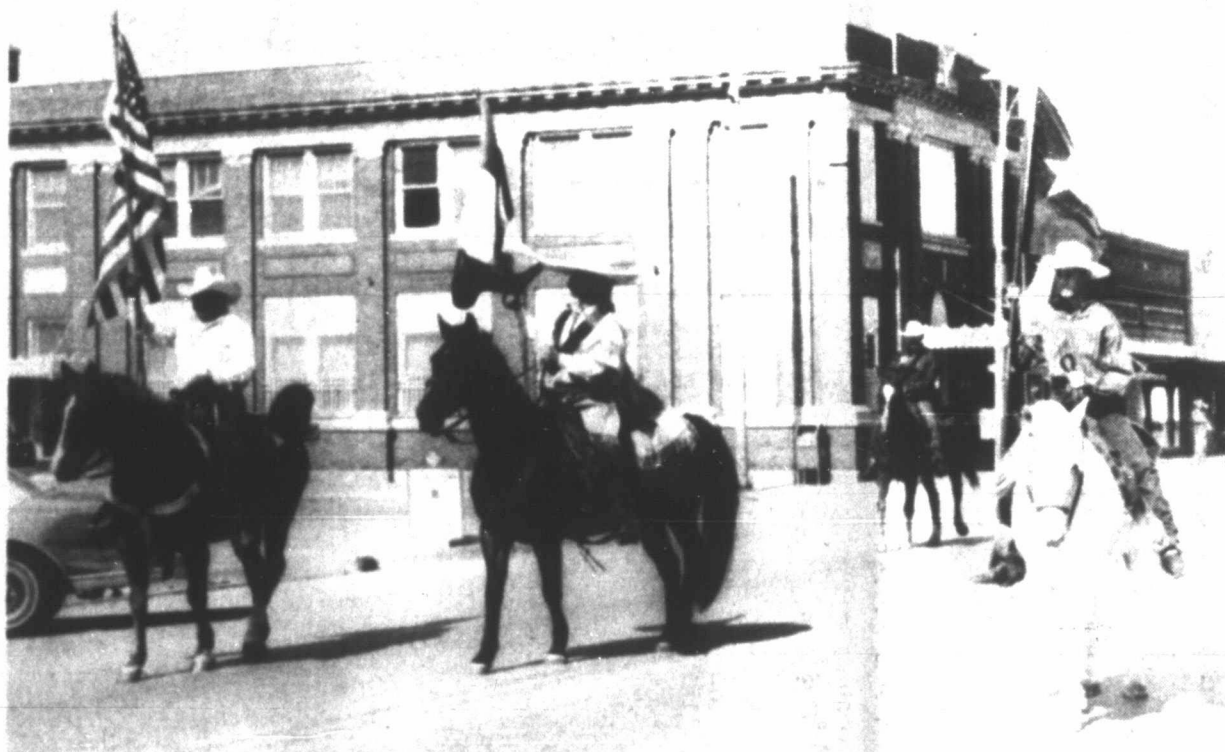

The 6th grade class took part in a field trip sponsored by the Soil Conservation Service. The 98 kids and their 6th grade teachers left at 8:00 a.m. The first stop was the Travis Turner Farm. Everyone had the opportunity to see and learn about his farm machinery. There was even a demonstration on how the module builder works.

The next stop was at the Fern Finley Ranch, South of Loraine. Doc Gray spoke to the kids about the Indians of the area. He showed them the many arrowheads he has found on and around the ranch.

Jim Baum spoke about early Colorado City, and Randy Bullard spoke about wildlife and game laws. After lunch the 6th graders moved around 4 stations to learn about various subjects, such as soil, surveying, plant identification and wildlife and habitat. Mrs. Pharis said this was the best field trip ever, because it was local. She and the other 6th grade teachers are very appreciative of the Soil Conservation Service for their effort.

The 7th grade class went on a field trip recently to the Abilene Zoo. Everyone enjoyed feeding the giraffes. They ate lunch at the park by the zoo, afterwards they travelled to Buffalo Gap, where they toured the Historic Village.

The 85-90 kids were divided among the 7 teachers, who had to double as tour guides. They also watched a 15 minutes video about the Texas Panhandle. Mrs. Cathleen Tutt said she would recommend a visit to anyone, especially if one was interested in local history.

Public Notice

On April 16, 1993, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company (SWBT) filed an application with the Public Utility Commission of Texas (Commission) for approval of a new optional service, Network Subscriber Information Interface (NSII). NSII is a new service feature developed primarily for the provision of Voice Messaging Service (VMS). It will give a VMS provider (as SWBT's customer) the ability to receive originating call information from SWBT's central office and to activate and deactivate a Message Waiting Indicator (MWI) on the line of the VMS provider's patron. NSII also gives the VMS provider the ability to activate and deactivate an intermittent dial tone on a patron's line in multiple offices. The VMS provider will be able to perform these functions in multiple offices through a connection to a single Message Node office. The Message Node will be a pre-designated central office and will interconnect with all central offices within the Message Node Service Area. Upon approval of this application, NSII will be available to customers where facilities are available. Available facilities are not currently deployed statewide. The proposed effective date of this service is June 20, 1993.

OUTDOORS

Spring is the birthing time for wild animals and unfortunately, sometimes well-meaning people will pick up these baby animals and take them home. This is not only illegal but can be very dangerous. Below is an excellent article written by Abilene Warden Steve Medford for the Texas Game Warden magazine.

"Pet Deer"

by Steve Medford

Like most Game Wardens, I too have had the unpleasant task of removing a "cute", "cuddly", rubber legged spotted fawn from a house full of crying kids, a pleading mother and a dad caught between, "do something daddy" and the $25.00 to $500.00 for keeping the deer in captivity and another $25.00 to $500.00 for possessing it in closed season. I don't like to appear as a "bad guy", especially to innocent children, but there's no way to get out of that house with "Bambi", without being viewed that way or worse. Especially when... "this baby fawn had been abandoned" or "but the mother deer must have been killed, because, she wasn't anywhere around" or maybe this one, "the momma ran off when we walked up, so we took the baby deer with us"... you've heard all the stories too, and unfortunately most of the well meaning captors really believe this. That's why I'll give a lot of concessions on "pet deer", from arranging to come back when the kids are gone, to having daddy meet me down the street with it.

Sure, I've explained the reasons for the laws and the dangers involved in raising a deer, not only for the deer's sake, but for the sake of the people involved. However, this explanation does little to dry a child's tears and it does nothing to convince mom and dad to admit and explain to the children that Mr. Game Warden, was right, and mommy and daddy should be kicked for picking the deer up to begin with. I do feel sorry for the children, but I've never regretted removing these young fawns from a household. First of all it's my job, and secondly I think it's best for everyone involved.

On January 17th, I had my beliefs reaffirmed. Austin communication called the Abilene T.P.W.D. office advising of a man being admitted to Hendrick Medical Center in Abilene who had been attacked by his pet deer. Fellow Game Warden Dale Evans and I, thinking a captive deer violation might be involved chose to investigate the report. This is a summary of that investigation.

On January 16th, at 7:30 a.m. Charles Allred, 67, a resident of the Elm Valley community, approximately 20 miles southwest of Abilene, went outside his home to feed the deer that routinely congregated there. Only one deer was at the feeding area behind his home, a 5 year old 11 point whitetail. Mr. Allred was very familiar with this particular buck because he and his wife had raised it from a fawn.

Although the deer was not in captivity and was free to come and go, Allred never knew of it to leave the fenced 70 acres, the way numerous other deer in the area did. As Mr. Allred attempted to feed the deer he noticed it lower its head and began an unprovoked attack, charging and lunging its antlers into Allred's face, chest and arms. After numerous lunges by the deer, Allred attempted to hold on to the deer's antlers to prevent the repeated goings. However, due to its remarkable strength and quickness the deer managed to shake him loose. After an hour and thirty minutes of continuous and repeated attacks the deer wandered off. Allred, barely conscious due to blood loss, exhaustion and exposure from the 16 degree morning, tried to make his way to safety when he saw the deer and turned his back to the deer. For another hour and fifteen minutes the deer repeated its attacks. Again the deer left, and Allred made it to the security of his pickup where he started it for warmth. Mrs. Allred heard it start and came out to find Mr. Allred bleeding badly and rushed him to the emergency room.

Allred received 37 stitches to his face with numerous puncture wounds to his arms, legs, chest and back, and bruises over most of his body.

However frightening and severe this three hours jousting match may sound, Charles Allred is one of the lucky ones, sustaining no permanent physical injuries other than numerous scars. Allred is one of the lucky ones because he still has sight in both eyes. Unlike Bobby Edwards, 32, of Dallas, who lost his left eye due to being gored by a former "pet deer" while visiting relatives south of San Antonio. Unlike Charles J. Coleman, 61, of Caldwell, who lost his life while picking up cans alongside the road when a former "pet deer" attacked him.

None of these deer were in captivity, they had long passed the "cute", "cuddly" stage, so they had been released to the wild. The thing is, a deer raised by humans doesn't have the capability to think of itself as a human, so it considers a human to be a deer. Therefore it has no fear of humans, and because a buck deer is extremely territorial during rutting season, it defends its territory of what it perceives to be other intruding deer.

Although these attacks on humans are the exceptions rather than the rule, they happen every year in Texas. Most incidents are no more than just a threatening territorial challenge, unfortunately others are a fight to the death.

While Mr. Allred was telling Dale and me of this unfortunate incident, I couldn't help but be amazed by the extent of his injuries. I also couldn't help but wonder, if this could happen to a healthy adult male, what if it had been a child, what if it had been my child, or maybe yours. Something to think about.

Christian Temple to hold vacation Bible school

You can expect to see the ARK PARADE at Christian Temple starting June 7. The church has declared itself a "Zoo Zone" for Vacation Bible School. The school will run from 8:45 a.m. till 11:45 a.m. June 7 through 11.

"Our VBS program features animals this summer," says Director Dana Moody. "Like Noah, we'll be surrounded by God's wonderful creatures, and every one of them has a story to tell about their Creator. It will be an incredible experience!"

It all will take place at Christian Temple, which is located at the corner of Fifth Street and Elm. This free daily program for students ages two through those who this year will have completed sixth grade includes games, crafts, music, snacks and lots of life-changing Bible interaction. The week will conclude with a program Friday evening designed to allow parents to come to a graduation ceremony. For children who attend 3 out of the 5 days, there will be a giant "candy toss" on Friday.

To register, phone Christian Temple at 728-5944. You may also register by calling 728-8881 or 644-5621. The church will be running their van for children needing transportation that week.

HEALTH NEWS

Texas leads the nation in cases of vaccine-preventable diseases. This sad fact should come as no surprise, since immunization levels for preschool children in this state are less than 50 percent. That means that one out of every two young children in Texas are at high risk of serious, sometimes life-threatening diseases such as measles and whooping cough.

Within the past 5 years, 3,717 Texas children under 5 years old have developed measles, and 12 have died from complications of this totally preventable disease. Needless whooping cough outbreaks also have occurred.

In addition to causing unnecessary, senseless suffering and death, preventable diseases are economic burdens on our already over-burdened health care delivery system. For example, during a 1990 measles outbreak in Dallas, 238 children and adults were hospitalized at a total cost of $3.4 million. Vaccine for the same 238 people would have cost less than $3,700.

For years we have been aware of the problem, but as a society, we have ignored the blinking yellow warning light-the reports and statistics that told us that fewer and fewer preschool children were adequately immunized.

Now the lights are no longer yellow. The warning signals have been replaced with the piercing red of a moral stop light. Can we morally continue to ignore needless sickness among our children? I think not. It's time to slam on the brakes.

Proposals now pending in the state legislature will expand the Texas Department of Health's existing immunization efforts, making immunity from childhood diseases the birthright of every boy and girl born in this state. It will mandate early childhood immunizations and create mechanisms to overcome barriers that leave so many of our children vulnerable to disease.

For example, this legislation will allow public health clinics to open earlier and stay open later to accommodate the schedules of working parents. It will make hospitals and physicians responsible for reviewing children's immunization histories and administering any needed vaccinations or referring them for an appropriate immunization clinic.
