But When Not Revealed...

Panel To Meet Hostages

By The Associated Press
Iran's Ruling Revolutionary Council decided unanimously that the five-man U.N. commission in Tehran will meet with the American Embassy hostages, a U.N. spokesman said today. But there was still no indication of when the meeting would take place. An Iranian firing squad executed seven members of the Forghan terrorist group early today less than 24 hours after the nation's prosecutor general charged a leading U.S. Embassy official with links to their secret organization and asked that he be turned over to the revolutionary courts. U.N. spokesman Samir Sambar said the assurance of a meeting with the hostages was delivered this morning during a one-hour meeting between the commission and Iranian Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh. Ghotbzadeh had already promised such a meeting last week.

It was not immediately clear whether the council had won approval for the meeting from the embassy militants holding the hostages. A spokesman for the militants insisted earlier today that no decision had been taken on whether to approve a visit.

Sambar refused to answer any questions on details of the meeting, saying Foreign Ministry officials had pledged to advise the commission later of developments concerning the timing. He also said the council had promised to turn over to the commission all documents relevant to its mandate by Tuesday evening.

Tehran Radio said the seven men were executed at 1 a.m. in the courtyard of Evin Prison in Tehran after being sentenced to death by the central Islamic revolutionary court for five murders, an attempted assassination and armed bank robbery.

The broadcast said among their victims was Professor Mohammad Mofatteh, head of the theology department at Tehran University and a close associate of Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, who was assassinated Dec. 18, and Hojatolislam Hashemi Rafsanjani, a member of the ruling Revolutionary Council, who was wounded in an assassination attempt last May 25.

Forghan is a leftist, anticlerical group which was blamed for the assassination of four other associates of Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini the leader of the Iranian revolution, in 1979.

On Sunday, the prosecutor general accused Victor L. Tomseth, 38, the U.S. Embassy's political officer, of links to Forghan and asked Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh to deliver him to the revolutionary courts. There was no indication of Ghotbzadeh's response. Tomseth has been held at the Foreign Ministry along with U.S. Charge d'Affaires L. Bruce Laingen and embassy security chief Michael Holland since Nov. 4, the day militant students seized the embassy and took most of those inside hostage.

Meanwhile, a member of the U.N. investigating commission, Adib Daoudi of Syria, said it has received assurances it can see the American hostages "very soon." But Iranian government officials said the militants still refused to permit the visit.

Striking Miners Report To Work

FAIRMONT, W.Va. (AP)—About 6,000 striking workers reported to work today in "good numbers," meeting a federal judge's deadline and apparently ending the most widespread wildcat strike in nearly two years in the Appalachian coalfields.

The return to work came one day after a federal arbitrator upheld the firing and suspensions of three union officers at Consolidation Coal Co. The disciplinary action sparked the walkout Feb. 21.

Ask Us

Q—Do Snyder Police issue warning tickets?
A—No. Chief Bill Stone says that, in situations in which an officer feels that a warning is needed, it is issued verbally. Some law enforcement agencies do have warning tickets, but if a Snyder policeman gives you a ticket, it will be the real thing.

Grand Jury Has Heavy Docket

A heavy docket was in store for grand jurors convening this morning.

Among the cases tentatively scheduled to be presented to the grand jury were two burglary charges involving Armando Flores. Flores is charged with burglary of a habitation for allegedly breaking into a residence last August owned by Cheryl Chance, and with burglary of an auto for allegedly breaking into a car owned by C.W. Berryman last month.

Ricardo Corrales, 2809 38th St., is charged with theft, and his case was also to be presented to the grand jury. Corrales is alleged to have purchased nearly $300 worth of goods from Steve Mason last October with a check backed by insufficient funds. The case of Charles Chester Atkinson was also going to the grand jury. Atkinson, 304 28th St., is charged with burglary for allegedly breaking into a car owned by Jobie Groves. The incident occurred Feb. 4.

Drunken driving cases constituted the bulk of the workload for the grand jury, however.

Persons whose driving while intoxicated charges were being presented this morning were Larry Neil Crawley, 2410 27th St.; Cecil Boyd Carroll, Ponderosa Motel; Ronnie Hale Farmer, 605 35th St.; Isidro Gutierrez, 505 32nd St.; Mike Lopez Valadez, 508 14th St.; Lorenzo G. Rodriguez, 1011 26th St.; and Israel Thomas Torres, General Delivery, Snyder.

CRMWD Begins 10th Year Of Cloud Seeding

The Colorado River Municipal Water District is ready to begin its 10th year of weather modification operations this week, and all it needs are rain clouds to work on.

Realistically, these are not expected in substantial number until the latter part of March and possibly until mid-April. The CRMWD effort, however, became operational March 1 and will continue through November 30. This week, said John Girdzus, meteorologist, the network of 96 recording and 85-non-recording rain gauges will be put in place within the cloud-seeding target area. This is bounded roughly on the west by a line from the Howard County line north to Lamesa and O'Donnell, east to US 180 below Post and south through Snyder and Sweetwater and northern Coke County. This is essentially the drainage area for Lakes J.B. Thomas and E.V. Spence.

The district has two planes used in basal and top-seeding of clouds with silver iodide crystals which form the nuclei of ice crystals within cloud masses. This enhances the coagulation of moisture to the point of precipitation.

A Sky Water Rata-75 unit, located on a 45-ft. mobile structure, will be dispatched here from California March 15. Images on the radar screen will reflect cloud densities in color to facilitate more accurate seeding. The information also is recorded magnetically so it can be called up for review, or for use in the daily briefings.

In early April, CRMWD also will help prepare for the federally-funded HIPLEX (High Plains Experiment) weather modification research project. Twenty-five stations will be located within the network to transmit data every minute, if desired. The signals are beamed to a satellite, bounced to Wallops Island in the Atlantic and then eventually relayed to Denver, Colo. from whence the Big Spring operators can call up the data.

Also, the P-Navajo airplane will be sent to Boulder, Colo., April 10 for installation of cloud physics equipment to measure temperature, humidity, wind direction and velocity, iodine and moisture particles. A companion package also will measure the density and distribution of ice crystals within clouds. Later, the National Center for Atmospheric Research will send an airplane to Big Spring to seed clouds with inert material so that the movement and distribution of particles in a cloud's updraft may be traced.

The HIPLEX period is from May 15 through July 15, and technicians from Texas A&M and Texas Tech Universities will join other scientists in monitoring seeding operations.

The district's network of rain gauges is designed so that a recording gauge is set at every 10 kilometers within the target area, and within the center they are spaced at 5 kilometers. These are supplemented by 85 non-recording (fence post) gauges in order that researchers can get an indication of results of seeding.

Rebels Report 50 Lost

By The Associated Press
The Afghan rebels admitted heavy losses in one communist attack between Kabul and the Pakistani border but claimed severe Afghan army casualties in two battles and the capture of a town in the area.

Soviet MiG jets and helicopter gunships bombed and strafed the rebel held village of Kot east of the Afghan capital, killing 50 Moslem insurgents, the rebels reported. It was one of the highest tolls admitted by them in nearly two years of guerrilla war against the communist regime.

An account of the fighting, issued Sunday in Pakistan by the rebel Hizbe Islami, or Islamic Party, said the rebels captured the village in Nangarhar Province several days ago, and the Russians were trying to drive them out.

Sugar Sours Food Bills

By The Associated Press
Sugar prices added a sour note to family grocery bills last month, helping boost supermarket prices by an average of just over 1 percent, according to an Associated Press marketbasket survey.

The price of a five-pound sack of sugar went up at the stores checked in 12 of the 13 cities on the survey list and was unchanged in the 13th city. The increases, ranging from 4 cents to 45 cents, more than offset declines in the price of pork chops and eggs.

Transcripts Denied

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court today thwarted efforts by news reporters and historians to obtain transcripts of telephone conversations Henry A. Kissinger had while he was secretary of state and White House national security adviser.

By a 5-2 vote, the justices ruled that the Freedom of Information Act does not authorize federal courts to order transfer of the notes from the Library of Congress, where they are stored, to the State Department for release.

The ruling, however, leaves the State Department free to seek return of the documents. It is likely the department will come under some pressure to do so.

Manson Avowed Patriot

VACAVILLE, Calif. (AP)—Mass murderer and cult leader Charles Manson says he knits dolls and plays poker to idle away his multiple life sentences. And the mystic killer declares himself a patriot who would "turn Iran into a parking lot" if the American hostages were not freed.

"I'm all for the country," Manson said recently during a rare, 2½-hour interview at the California Medical Facility. Reporter Linda Summers' story was published today in a copyright article in the Fairfield Calif. Daily Republic.

The aging patriarch of the bloody, drug-crazed Manson Family cult masterminded the killings of seven persons, including actress Sharon Tate, whose bodies were found in the Los Angeles area in August 1969.

No Controls, Says Carter

WASHINGTON (AP)—Top Carter administration officials are trying to reassure the nation's 500 largest businesses that wage-price controls will not be used as weapons in the war on inflation.

At the same time, Treasury Secretary G. William Miller and Alfred Kahn, who heads the Council on Wage and Price Stability, are making it clear those companies are expected to cooperate with President Carter's voluntary anti-inflation guidelines.

In telegrams sent Sunday to the corporations, Miller and Kahn expressed concern about reports that some businesses are raising prices in anticipation of Mandatory controls.

36 Die In Storm...

Much Of South Buried In Snow

By Charlotte Porter
Associated Press Writer

Snow was knee deep across much of the South today with flurries falling deep into Florida where oranges were freezing on the trees in record cold. At least 36 persons have died in the storm that roared out of the Midwest into the Atlantic Coast states.

The National Guard was called out to assist stranded motorists in North Carolina where two feet of snow driven by 60 mph winds hammered some communities and 13 people died. Five-foot drifts paralyzed Wilmington, a coastal city of 50,000 people.

"A day the Tar Heels will remember," was the way one North Carolina forecaster described the two-day storm. He said it was "as close as a Midwestern blizzard will ever come to North Carolina."

Residents were ordered off the streets of Norfolk, Va., after the storm dumped heavy snow along the East Coast from Florida to southern New Jersey.

In Florida, where temperatures broke records for the date set in 1947 from Pensacola to Miami, it was 32 degrees this morning. Earl Wells of the Florida Citrus Mutual said there had been considerable damage to the citrus crop, with about half the season's oranges still on the trees.

"We know we've lost some juice, but the severity of the damage will depend on what happens tonight and during the next week.

"If it stays cold, we get the fruit off the trees and still get some juice. But if it turns warm, it deteriorates and the fruit starts to drop off."

With snow flurries reported as far south as Tampa, record temperatures in Florida included the 25 in Orlando, 26 in Daytona Beach, and 32 in Miami.

Meanwhile, California residents were digging out from under a fresh series of rain-spawned mudslides, and "twister" winds caused a small plane to crash in snow in the San Gabriel Mountains.

Virginia Gov. John Dalton declared a state of emergency as officials in Norfolk, a port city of 286,000, ordered everyone off the streets and the National Weather Service predicted more snow. Some looting was reported as wind-driven snow brought the city to a standstill.

Some 2,300 persons attending a late-afternoon circus performance in Norfolk on Sunday were ordered to remain in the Scope coliseum overnight as a blizzard raged and the curfew began.

"I spent $28 on tickets and I'm going to see the circus," said Billy Bank of Chesapeake. "Besides, I haven't missed a circus in 10 years and this wasn't going to stop me."

Low Reading Of Winter Recorded

The Snyder area was thawing some, but not rapidly, after recording the coldest day of winter on Sunday.

The official thermometer at the city water plant logged a low reading of 9 degrees Sunday morning. It's the lowest reading so far this winter. The high reading Sunday moved in to the low 40s and the "warmup" was expected to continue today.

SNYDER TEMPERATURES: High Saturday, 32 degrees; low, 9 degrees; reading at 7 a.m. Sunday 10 degrees. High Sunday, 42 degrees; low, 16 degrees; reading at 7 a.m. today, 31 degrees; precipitation, none; total precipitation for 1980 to date, 1.03.

West Texas - Mostly cloudy through Tuesday except partly cloudy southeast today. Windy and warmer. Widely scattered showers West of mountains today. Highs upper 50s north to upper 70s extreme south. Lows upper 30s north to near 50 along Rio Grande. Highs Tuesday mid 50s north to near 80 south.

WASHINGTON (NEA)—The XIII Winter Olympics now are part of history, but the organizers' prejudicial treatment of the athletes from the two Chinas long will remain an indelible stain on the records of the games.

The United States must share with the International Olympic Committee (IOC) the blame for the disgraceful performance, not only because this country was host to the games.

More importantly, the U.S. Department of State devised the formula used by the IOC to wrongly discriminate against athletes representing a nation of more than 17 million people.

That country is the Republic of China (ROC), more commonly known as Nationalist China. It is located on the island of Taiwan, off the coast of the People's Republic of China (PRC), also known as mainland China or Communist China.

When the United States withdrew diplomatic recognition from the ROC and formally recognized the PRC in January 1979, it went one step further and decreed that it would not officially recognize any of the ROC's official symbols -- including its name, its flag and its national anthem.

This country has not extended formal diplomatic recognition to numerous other nations throughout the world -- including North Korea, North Vietnam, South Yemen, Albania and Cuba -- but in no other case does the State Department deny the existence of the country's official name, flag and anthem.

The modern history of the two Chinas dates back to 1949, when nationalist leaders fled to Taiwan and established an independent government and a capital in Taipei after a communist-led revolution gained control of the mainland and its capital of Peking.

Although many western nations rejected the PRC as an outlaw government in the ensuing decades, it sanctimoniously withdrew from the 1952 Olympics and subsequent games, refusing to participate as long as any ROC athletes were allowed to compete.

When the Canadian government, which recognizes Peking but not Tai-pei, refused to issue entry visas to ROC athletes to participate in the 1976 Olympics in Montreal, the United States protested that action as a violation of Olympic ideals.

But in February 1979, one month after gaining diplomatic recognition from the United States, Peking applied for readmission to the IOC. The request subsequently was approved.

Meeting in Japan in October 1979, the IOC executive board decided that Peking's athletes would be allowed to compete under their country's name, flag and anthem -- but Taiwan's athletes could continue to participate only if they changed all of their national symbols.

Even though there is little similarity between the two nations' symbols, the ROC representatives were required to devise an entirely new (although unspecified) set of symbols that would have to be approved by the IOC executive board.

China is not the world's only political and geographical bifurcated nation in which both governments claim rightful control over the entire country. Similar situations exist, for example, in Germany and Korea, but neither the communist nor non-communist Olympic representatives from those lands have been subjected to the indignities visited upon Taiwan by the IOC.

"We are a sports group," former IOC President Avery Brundage proclaimed many years ago. "When we let politics, racial questions or social disputes creep into our actions, we're in trouble."

But when the first contingent of the 18 athletes and 10 officials Taiwan expected to send to this year's Winter Olympics arrived in Lake Placid, N.Y. in February, they were barred by local Olympic officials and New York State Troopers.

They eventually returned to their homeland rather than compete under what a spokesman aptly described as "a name that is not our own, a flag we have never seen and an anthem we have never heard."

The ROC athletes retained their pride and integrity, while the IOC and the United States were left only with shame and disgrace.

budget manipulations

If you are one of those who believe that President Carter's Fiscal Year 1981 budget is all that the White House says it is, then you have not read that budget.

The Carter budget is much less than meets the eye despite the political puffery oozing from an election-minded presidential staff. It also will cost you more money in taxes.

The White House and the Carter-Mondale campaign say the proposed budget is a model of austerity and restraint. Considering that the projected $15.8 billion deficit easily could work its way up $40 billion or so, that shows little restraint. As for austerity, well, there isn't much of that, either.

Understand that a federal budget calls for spending on two separate levels. The first is "budget authority," wherein Congress is asked to put up money for programs to be spent over a period of time. The second level is the "outlay," the money actually to be spent in the current fiscal year.

There are a number of major new high-priced programs in the FY 1981 budget, but little will be spent on them this year. The big-dollar outlays must await future budgets. Sophisticated experts in political economics refer to this as having your cake and eating it, too. In other words, those special interest groups you need to keep happy in an election year are kept happy while your election year budget is "austere."

For example: A new subsidized housing program in the budget carries a $100 million FY 1981 outlay - and a $2.9 billion overall pricetag; and a new youth employment program shows up as a near-freebie in the outlay department, but will cost $2 billion before it runs its course.

One thing is made quite clear in the new Carter budget, though: There are higher taxes in our future. Total tax revenues in FY 1981 will grow by 14.5 percent with individual taxpayers (that means us) paying $35.7 billion more in FY 1981 than this year. About $14 billion of this is due to "bracket creep," where inflation-caused salary hikers push wage earners into higher tax brackets with little or no (and sometimes negative) income growth. The rest of the extra payout comes from ever-higher social security taxes.

Actually, the Carter-Mondale puffers may be right. The FY 1981 budget indeed may be austere and restrained. Only it is the taxpayer who must impose the austerity and show the restraint - because he or she won't have much money to spend when the federal government gets through.

grounds for debate

There may be grounds for debate on the advisability of conscripting women for combat roles, but there should be none as to their combat ability.

At least so argues psychologist Louise H. Kidder of Temple University.

In reference to the furor accompanying President Carter's call for the registration of women as well as men for possible military service, she gives her professional opinion that there is no doubt women are up to the challenge although it may take some relearning.

"Women," she observes, "usually feel fear rather than anger when someone threatens them because they've been taught from the time they are young not to fight."

It's a point. But possibly one difficult to sell to legions of men who grew up with older sisters.

at wit's end

by erma bombeck

It was your usual elevator crowd of women descending from a luncheon-style show on the mezzanine to the main floor.

They all faced the front of the elevator, their stomachs sucked in, their eyes glued on the lighted numbers. Out of silence a voice said, "I've heard it from too many people for it to be a rumor, Margaret. Ironing boards are definitely coming back."

Seconds later, the doors opened automatically, but no one moved to get off. We all just stood there numbed by what we had just heard.

Mayva was the first one to laugh. She said it was a stupid prank and someone was just trying to get attention. If it is untrue, it's the most vicious rumor to be circulated since the one a few years ago that long telephone calls caused cellulite.

The very mention of the words "ironing board" brought back all kinds of memories. The early mornings when the kids would drop off at the utility room just before they caught their bus for school and I'd iron anything that showed from under a sweater. (The short kids had to be lifted to the board and held steady.)

The time one of my children was visiting and got burnt on an iron. He had never seen one hot before.

And who could forget the night when their grandmother babysat with them and laid ironed pajamas out on their beds and they were afraid and refused to touch them?

Then one day I bought a dress made out of nylon that was "drip dry." It was hot in the summer and cold in the winter, but it was a major drudge breakthrough. It got me out of the utility room and led me giddily into the 20th century. I never ironed again.

thoughts

A penalty for trespass, formerly quasi criminal, was provided for in the Mosaic law.

"If a man shall cause a field or vineyard to be eaten, and shall put in his beast, and shall feed in another man's field ... shall he make restitution." — Exod. 22:5

Berry's World

"I took the money because I thought I could connect the bills with D.B. Cooper."

When I told my daughter that I had heard ironing boards were making a comeback because of the new perma-wrinkled linens, satins and silks, she was unmoved. "What's an ironing board?" she asked.

"You remember. I used to iron when you were a child."

"I remember. Didn't you burn my leg once while you were pressing my skirt?"

"That's it. It's about waist-high and has a hot surface on top and you kids used to pile your coats and books on it."

"I thought that was a stove."

I've always gotten the two mixed up...but if either comes back, I'm in trouble.

real growth firm

SAN BRUNO, Calif. (AP)—Oscar Pieper isn't in favor of crime, but it's giving his company a real growth market. A fortune in fingerprints, as it were.

Pieper, 44, is president of Identicator Corp., an eight-year-old manufacturer of fingerprinting units used to deter bad check artists, credit card thieves and other forgery aficionados.

Indenticator is one of hundreds of corporations now in the business of fighting business crime, estimated by the American Management Association at $40 billion annually. Some analysts say 15 percent of the price of retail merchandise reflects corporate costs for crime losses.

About one-quarter of business crime - $10 billion - comes from fraudulent transactions, the AMA estimates, with phony identification enabling the "pen" criminal to pass bad checks, use stolen credit cards or otherwise obtain cash or merchandise in another's name.

Surveys show that fraud is growing at about twice the national crime rate. Many businesses or banks now want a "package" - driver's license, credit cards and maybe even a check guarantee card - before they'll take your check.

If they do refuse a check or charge, that's usually all that happens - except that the effect is to irritate the legitimate customer while the criminal simply shrugs and walks off.

There is another way, one which Security Pacific National Bank, Barolays, Coast Federal Savings and others are using in California. It's Identicator's "Touch Signature" Endorsement System, which is also employed by Chase Manhattan in New York and Societe General, France's largest bank.

"Touch Signature" is a stamping device about the size of a doorknob that produces two colored ovals on the back of a check, credit card voucher or other sensitive document. Touching one oval and then the other produces a perfect fingerprint on the check but leaves no ink on the customer.

Since false identification is the heart of fraud, the fingerprint - each person's truly unique "signature" - is a powerful deterrent, Pieper reasons.

Pieper acknowledges that many people don't like being fingerprinted but contends that those who think the "Touch Signature" system through carefully wind up favoring it. He adds that he's against government agencies or anyone else keeping mass fingerprint files.

Tigers Finish Sixth

COLLEGE STATION--Snyder's varsity tennis team took sixth place among the top 16 AAA teams in the state here Saturday, participating in the Texas Tennis Coaches' Association Tournament.

Snyder Coach Bill Boles commented that the competition was tremendous, with a number of state champions from last year in the tournament.

"I feel that sixth among these 'greats' is something to be proud of, and we gave it our best," added Boles.

Taylor took first place, followed by Brownwood, Monahans, Fort Stockton and Georgetown. Others competing in the two-day tournament were Paris, New Braunfels, Waco Midway, Wichita Falls, Hirsch, Wharton, Katy, Austin Westlake, Terrell, Grapevine and Kilgore.

Next action for the Tiger netters will be a dual with Colorado City after school Tuesday on the local courts, followed by the Sweetwater Team Tennis Tournament next Friday and Saturday.

Snyder 11, Wharton 5
Boys Singles: Neil Paige def. Doug Harrison 6-3, 6-4; Jimmy Fowler lost to Robert Beck 6-3, 6-4; Jon Smith def. Phillip Lacy 7-5, 2-6, 6-3; Jeff Wesson def. Jonik 6-2, 6-1; Mark Cypert def. Korian; Richard Derrick def. Border 6-4, 6-2.
Boys Doubles: Wesson-Smith lost to Harrison-Beck 3-6, 1-6; Paige-Fowler def. Border-Lacy 6-3, 6-2; Derrick-Cypert def. Korian-Nash 6-3, 6-4.
Girls Singles: Donna McGee def. Carolin 6-1, 6-2; Diane Sentell lost to Patty Derches 3-6, 1-6; Cathy Cypert def. Suaste 6-2, 6-4; Pam Smith lost to Fant 1-6, 5-7; Kelly Scott had defeated Tammy Duka 6-4 and was into the second set when Snyder's tenth match was called. A ruling in the Texas team tournament states that when one team wins at least 10 matches, the remaining matches are terminated. This applied to Dee Gilbert's match also, in losing to Atherton 4-6, in the first set of their match.
Girls Doubles: Scott-Cypert lost to Carolin-Duyka 4-6, 5-7; McGee-Sentell def. Perches-Atherton 6-3, 6-4; Smith-Gilbert won over Suaste-Reed 7-6, 6-2.

Spurs, Rockets Lose...

Boston Called To Aid Bullets

By The Associated Press
Lawrence Boston is lucky and he knows it. He's been given a second chance, and he's vowed to make the most of it.

Boston, a 6-foot-8 forward from Maryland, was cut by Washington prior to last season. But with Mitch Kupchak unable to contribute because of injury, Boston was summoned by the Bullets for a 10-day emergency trial.

"We liked him when we had him before," said Washington Coach Dick Motta, "but there was just no room for him then. He can help us if he gives us five or six minutes a half." Boston did just that on Sunday. He scored 14 points and grabbed 12 rebounds in 18 solid minutes, helping the Bullets to 118-104 victory over the Indiana Pacers.

In other National Basketball Association games Sunday, the Milwaukee Bucks beat the San Diego Clippers 101-98, the Portland Trail Blazers edged the Chicago Bulls 110-107, the Seattle SuperSonics defeated the Utah Jazz 103-91, the Phoenix Suns topped the Los Angeles Lakers 123-115, the Kansas City Kings trimmed the Houston Rockets 94-91, the Philadelphia 76ers clobbered the Golden State Warriors 114-99, the Boston Celtics nipped the Detroit Pistons 118-105, the Atlanta Hawks beat the Denver Nuggets 100-93, the Cleveland Cavaliers defeated the San Antonio Spurs 123-119 and the New Jersey Nets downed the New York Knicks 113-96.

The win was the fifth in the last six games for the Bullets, who are making a late drive toward their 12th consecutive playoff berth.

Bucks 101, Clippers 98
Milwaukee posted its fifth victory in a row and 11th in 13 games since obtaining center Bob Lanier, rallying in the fourth quarter to overtake San Diego. Reserve Junior Bridgeman led the Bucks with 25 points and put Milwaukee ahead to stay 97-76 with a three-point play with 2:27 to play. Bridgeman made 11 of 17 shots in his 32 minutes.

Blazers 110, Bulls 107
Portland moved one game ahead of San Diego in the race for the final playoff berth in the Western Conference on rookie Calvin Natt's three point play with five seconds remaining.

Chicago guard Rickey Sobers had tied the game at 107-107 with a jumper from the top of the key with 28 seconds left. But Natt drove from the free throw line, scored, was fouled by Bulls center Artis Gilmore and made a free throw for the final margin. Natt led all scorers with 31 points.

Sonics 103, Jazz 91
Seattle moved back into first place in the Pacific Division, one-half game ahead of Los Angeles, by beating Utah behind Gus Williams' 28 points. The Sonics led 58-45 at the half and by as many as 23 points in the third quarter.

Suns 123, Lakers 115
Phoenix led by as many as 21 points in the final period in beating Los Angeles behind 25 points by Paul Westphal. The Suns effectively used three centers, Alvan Adams, Rich Kelley and Jeff Cook, to neutralize Kareem Abdul-Jabbar of the Lakers.

Kings 94, Rockets 91
Scott Wedman and Otis Birdsong each scored 24 points to lead Kansas City to victory despite 29 points and 14 rebounds by Houston's Moses Malone.

76ers 144, Warriors 99
Julius Erving scored 39 points as the 76ers breezed to their fifth straight victory. Erving, who did not play the fourth quarter, shot 14-for-16 from the field and 11-for-11 from the foul line.

Celtics 118, Pistons 115

Larry Bird led Boston with 41 points, but the Celtics needed baskets by Dave Cowens and M.L. Carr in the final 14 seconds to deal Detroit its 16th loss in 17 games. Bird had 14 points in the fourth quarter as Boston won its sixth in a row.

HAWKS 100, Nuggets 93
Atlanta outscored Denver 14-4 in the final 5:32 to win its third in a row. Eddie Johnson led the Hawks with 31 points, including the last 12, and Wayne Rollins grabbed 22 rebounds.

Cavs 123, Spurs 119
Mike Mitchell scored 35 points, including four in the last 28 seconds, as Cleveland outscored San Antonio 15-6 down the stretch to win. George Gervin scored 39 points for the Spurs, who dropped one game below .500 in their first game under interim coach Bob Bass, who took over after Doug Moe was fired Saturday.

Nets 113, Knicks 96
The Nets outscored the Knicks 29-13 in the final period to pull away and end a three-game losing streak. Maurice Lucas led the way with 32 points and 13 rebounds.

Archie Hahn, the "Milwaukee Meteor," won gold medals in the 1904 Olympics in three events, the 60-meter, 100-meter and 200-meter races.

'Sun' Claimed By Stephenson

SUN CITY, Ariz. (AP)—Jan Stephenson shot a 71 on the final round for a 13-under-par 275 total and won the inaugural Sun City Classic.

Stephenson finished one stroke better than M.J. Smith, who birdied the final hole to finish a stroke ahead of Bonnie Lauer at 277.

The victory earned Stephenson $15,000. It was her first win since 1978 for Stephenson, who led all the Way and earned $15,000.

Baseball Scheduled Moffett Field, 4 p.m.

Snyder High School was to try to open its 1980 baseball season again this afternoon after adverse weather wiped out Saturday's scheduled start.

The Tigers, defending District 3-AAA champions, were slated to host Midland at 4 p.m. at Moffett Field.

Snyder junior varsity was also to begin play this afternoon, at 4 in Midland.

Saturday's scheduled opener with San Angelo Central here was called off - as were a trio of track meets involving SHS teams - due to sub-freezing weather and strong, gusting winds. The rest of the week has the Tigers at Abilene Cooper 4 p.m. Tuesday, at Odessa Ector, 4 p.m. Thursday, and back here with Lubbock High in double-header play Saturday beginning at 1 p.m. The junior varsity will be at Lubbock Estacado 4 p.m. Friday, and at Big Spring for a twin-bill 1 p.m. Saturday.

Area Teams Dominate Cold Border Olympics

LAREDO (AP)—Texas A&M, Angelo State and Odessa College braved near-freezing temperatures and flat-popping winds to collect the top honors in an weather-abridged Border Olympics track and field meet.

A cold front blew through South Texas on Saturday, the day of the final events, and the cold became so severe that coaches agreed to let most of the running preliminaries become finals, with runners competing for best times. The Aggies racked up 133 5-6 points, compared with Texas' 85 and Baylor's 75½ in the university division.

Tim Scott of A&M was named the meet's outstanding performer for his wins in the shot put and discus. His win in the shot was a personal best of 65-6, and he took the discus with a throw of 184½.

The winds "just killed my discus throws," Scott said. "The conditions were the most miserable I have ever competed in."

The Aggies also won the sprint relay without speedy Curtis Dickey, who was in an AAU meet in New York.

NCAA silver medalist Todd Harbour of Baylor captured the 1,500-meter run and Texas freshman Fred Acorn took the 100 meters in 10.24.

In the college division, Angelo State ended Abilene Christian's five-year reign by getting 143 points. ACU left the meet early because of the weather and format change, and Southwest Texas State finished second with 73 points.

Odessa won the junior college division with 117 points, to 99 for runnerup Ranger.

King Comes Back, Beats Navratilova

HOUSTON (AP)—Billie Jean King, showing flashes of the form that once made her the queen of women's tennis, put a dent in the throne of current No. 1-ranked Martina Navratilova on Sunday with a 50-minute, 6-1, 6-3 victory in the finals of the $150,000 Women's Pro Tennis Tournament.

"I don't think in terms of being 'No. 1 anymore,'" said King, 36, who delivered the kayo punch early and never let her 23-year-old opponent get into the match.

Of course, if you win enough tournaments, the No. 1 ranking will follow, and King has an elite list of goals.

"I wanted to win back to back tournaments on the tour this year and now I've done that," King said. "I also want to win New York and I want to win Wimbledon again." King won the tournament stop at Detroit last week.

Eichelberger

Wins Classic

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Dave Eichelberger battled bitter cold and wind gusts up to 45 mph to win the $54,000 first prize in Arnold Palmer's Bay Hill Classic by three strokes with a closing 74.

The 36-year-old Texan finished with a 72-hole score of 279, 5-under-par over the 7,119-yard Bay Hill Club course.

Leonard Thompson also shot a 74 for a 282 total and second place.

After Seven Years...

Kidnapped Youth Back Home

MERCED, Calif. (AP)—Steven Stayner, a 14-year-old who disappeared seven years ago in a stranger's car and eventually learned to call his abductor "Dad," has come home to a tearful reunion with his parents and the Christmas presents he never got to open in 1972.

Stayner, who neighbors say attended high school and helped his surrogate father raise chickens and other livestock at a spartan one-room cabin near Manchester, was greeted by banners of "Welcome Home, Steve," when he arrived here carrying a small dog.

His family turned reporters away after enveloping him in hugs.

"We expected him to come back," his mother, Kay, had said earlier. "I know this is not something that happens very often... I expected him to have changed a lot. He really has not changed that much. He's definitely ours."

Earlier Sunday, 5-year-old Timothy Lee White, abducted Feb. 14 while walking home from school, was reunited with his parents in Ukiah, about 200 miles north of here.

Police said they found the two boys together Sunday when Stayner tried to return the younger boy to his family.

Kenneth Eugene Parnell, 48, who neighbors said Stayner had called "Dad" during their years together, was booked for investigation of kidnapping the White boy, police said.

No charges were filed in connection with Stayner's disappearance.

Parnell was jailed under $7,000 bond and was to be arraigned today.

Police Chief David Johnson said the boys were found on a street in Ukiah when an officer recognized the younger child despite dye that had turned his blond hair brown.

The brown hair nearly fooled the boy's parents. "But the police said, 'look closer,' and we did and it was him," said Jim White. "He seems perfectly healthy and glad to be home."

"We were all feeling that we were only going to find him one way—that was deceased. We're all really glad that's not what happened," said Ukiah Police Capt. Richard Perry.

Stayner told police he knew his companion had been kidnapped and that he was trying to get him home. He then revealed his own identity authorities said.

"I didn't like what was happening," Stayner later told reporters, adding the two boys had hitchhiked the 20 miles into Ukiah. "And it happened to me, and I just didn't want to see it happen to somebody else."

Johnson said $15,000 was collected for information leading to young Timmy's return. A committee will decide who gets the money, and the police chief said he thought Stayner should.

Stayner disappeared on Dec. 4, 1972, when he got into a stranger's car on his way home from school in Merced. His parents had never abandoned hope for his return.

"We thought that as soon as he was old enough to get out that he would," his mother said. "We'll be so thankful to God that we have him back home and that somebody took care of him for the past seven years."

Merced Police Chief Harold Kulbeth said the story began when a man stopped Stayner, then 7, and asked if he wanted to "contribute to a charity." The boy got into a man's car to ask his mother if he could go, the chief said.

The abductor then pretended to call Stayner's mother, and the boy was told she said it was all right for him to go along, Kulbeth said.

Stayner was later told a court had awarded Parnell custody of him, the chief said. He said the youth once left Parnell, but "got lost and returned" to the small, remote cabin, which had no electricity and indoor plumbing.

Kulbeth said the boy played on his junior high school team. As a ninth grader at Point Arena High School, he tried out for the basketball team but quit after one day.

"He was kind of a quiet kid. Friends? He didn't have any that I knew of," said basketball coach Don Genasci.

Neighbors said Stayner, who called himself Dennis, never gave them any inkling that he was being held against his will.

"I thought it was a father and son all the time," said Leslie Stornetta, owner of the ranch cottage. "They came in here as father and son and got along real well."

Ezzell Leads Discussion In School

State Rep. Mike Ezzell met with the fifth grade classes of West Elementary the past week and discussed the democratic form of government.

The students, who had been studying different types of government, listened as Ezzell explained the functionings of the democratic form of government, the Texas government, and how taxes are being used. Also discussed were the duties of a state representative.

Participating in the program were the classes of Mrs. Jay Guthrie, Mrs. Susan Rosson, Mrs. Elizabeth McCloskey, and Mrs. Phyllis McGinnis. Frank Miller, the school principal, was also in attendance.

Making Trip To Washington To Protest Oil Tax

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—About 500 oilmen and dozens of pieces of oilfield equipment will leave here Wednesday in a motorcade to Washington, D.C. to protest the windfall oil profits tax.

Don Ferrell, press secretary for Sen. Henry Bellmon, R-Okla., said the motorcade protesting the tax would leave from the state fairgrounds at 9 a.m. Wednesday.

State Rep. Charlie Morgan, D-Prague, is the state chairman of the protest.

Sen. Bellmon called for oil producers to protest the new tax recently at a meeting of the Energy Consumers and Producers Association in Oklahoma City.

Ferrell said oilfield equipment operators from Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas and New Mexico and other states are also scheduled to participate in the protest.

The oilmen expect to arrive in Washington, D.C. on Saturday.

He said the Oklahoma group will spend the first night in Little Rock, Ark. and will be joined by the Texas and Louisiana delegations at Nashville, Tenn.

Bud Stewart of Muskogee is national chairman of the convoy. He is the director of the Energy Consumers and Producers Association.

Rip Sewell, a pitcher for the Pittsburgh Pirates in 1946, threw the "eephus" pitch, a delivery that sailed 25 feet in the air before reaching the hitter.

Texas Must Pay Lawyers

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court today refused to free Texas from having to pay $38,845 to lawyers who successfully sued the state on behalf of all its prisoners.

The justices left intact decisions that a 1976 federal law allowing the winning side in civil rights lawsuits to collect attorneys' fees from the losing side even applies to lawsuits mainly litigated before 1976.

Arthritis and blood cells

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Since the blood is regularly rejuvenated in the bone marrow, I would like to know which bones are the most significant in that activity and how arthritis might affect them.

I understand that dead cells are wasted through the pores and in the "sleep" of the eyes. Does this mean that excess perspiration indicates a healthy bone marrow? I'm a carpenter, active at 63, 192 pounds, 5 feet 11 and I sweat and ache a lot.

DEAR READER — Yes, for adults most of the new blood cells come from the bone marrow. In fact, your body produces three million new red blood cells every second. The sternum or breastbone is a good source for blood cell formation. Other bones, including the long bones in the legs, where there is bone marrow are capable of producing blood cells.

Arthritis itself will not affect blood cell formation. Arthritis involves joints or the surfaces of the bones where they meet. These end areas are not the areas that are rich in bone marrow and produce red blood cells.

In some people the medicines they take for arthritis can depress bone marrow function. This is true of some medicines used for other conditions as well. That's why many doctors like to have blood tests and other examinations to see how their patients are getting along with the medicines that they're using.

To give you a better understanding of how your body produces and destroys red blood cells every day, I am sending you The Health Letter number 4-3, Understanding The Anemias. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Dead cells from the surface of the body just simply flake off. They're so small usually that you don't see them. The classic example is dandruff, which is simply the flaking off of skin cells from the scalp. We all have this except in many people the little dead cells are so small that they're not visible to the naked eye. In certain individuals these cells clump together, then they're seen and we call it dandruff.

You don't really lose cells through the pores of the skin or through perspiration. That's an entirely different mechanism. Many of the old cells inside the body that die are simply reused. One of the best examples of this is the lining of the small intestine. It's completely replaced every three days.

Those old cells that are shed from the lining of the intestine every day are broken down and digested just the same as the meat that you eat. In fact, there are enough of those cells each day to provide a major portion of the turnover of protein in the body. Our body is a very good recycling machine and it tends to use over and over many of its component parts, including vitamins and minerals and even the amino acids that make up the proteins in old cells that are replaced by new ones.

4 Bitten In

Rattlesnake Sacking Game

AUSTIN (AP)—Four men taking part in a rattlesnake sacking contest this weekend had to be taken to Brackenridge hospital for snakebite treatment.

Pat Spence, 27, Waco was listed in "satisfactory" condition today after being bitten Sunday at the Taylor Jaycees National Rattlesnake Sacking Competition at Austin Coliseum.

Bill Locky, San Antonio, and Bob Harkrider, Taylor, also were bitten Sunday. Larry Johnson, Houston, was bitten Saturday.

All three were released from the hospital after receiving treatment.

In sacking competition, contestants race to put 10 snakes in a sack as fast as possible. A five-second penalty is added if a contestant is bitten or a snake hurt.

FBI Presents Double Agent

WASHINGTON (AP)—At an unusual news conference, the FBI today presented a top-ranking Soviet spy who became a double agent during the course of his 11-year assignment to secretly report on political trends in the United States.

The agent, a colonel in the Soviet KGB, said he was about 45 years old and had operated under the name of Rudolph Albert Herrmann. He answered questions from reporters while appearing in profile behind an opaque glass screen with his voice disguised electronically.

Herrmann operated as an illegal resident posing as a free-lance photographer living in Hartsdale, N.Y., outside New York City, and said that his primary mission was to gather political information, and military data.

King Leopold II of Belgium died in 1909 after ruling for 44 years.

New Tax Law Worries Cities

By The Associated Press
The Texas legislature has provided land developers a way to avoid commercial taxes without the public being able to find out, through passage of a tax law that has city officials worried.

The law calls for taxing agricultural land based on its production value, rather than what it would sell for. It also says applications for the agricultural exemption are "confidential and not open to public inspection."

To further confound the situation, local tax assessors can put the applications in the public record if local ordinance require it, but by doing so the assessors would commit a Class B misdemeanor under state law.

City officials, especially in suburbs, say they fear developers will take advantage of the confusing law to avoid taxes.

"I've read through the law twice, but that's like reading 'Gone With the Wind' twice," said Fort Worth Tax Assessor Charles Scott. He said he would consult with the city manager before releasing the names of any applicants.

Irving Tax Assessor Leon Kessler said he first thought he could not discuss the applicants, but "after reading it over a bit more I got a little bit different opinion." He now believes he should get a legal opinion from the city attorney, Don Rorschach.

Rorschach said he thinks the section applies only to applications from landowners whose primary source of income is farming.

He said the clause does not apply to applications under another section of the law that provides exemptions for land used for agriculture five out of the last seven years.

State Sen. Grant Jones, D-Abilene, who sponsored the bill, agreed with Rorschach.

"Frankly, I don't see why anything else would be covered," he said.

Firemen Called Three Times

Three fires were doused during the weekend by city firefighters.

The first, a house fire, occurred at 2:15 p.m. Saturday at Ave. N and Hargrove, firefighters reported. They said the north side of a house owned by Perfecto Castillo received considerable damage.

Considerable damage was also reported to a car owned by Janice Bradbury that caught fire Saturday night. That fire was reported at 8:55 p.m. and occurred about one mile north of Snyder on Highway 84. The car was a 1972 Ford.

The only fire Sunday involved a wellhouse owned by Burdie Anderson. The fire was reported at 4:45 p.m. and occurred five miles east of town on Highway 84.

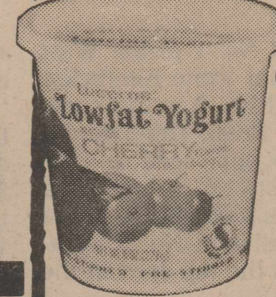

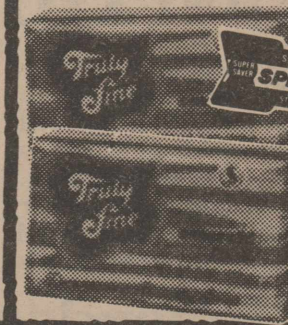

Hubcaps Stolen

Four hubcaps were stolen from a car Saturday, police reports show.

The hubcaps, worth $67 each, were removed from a car owned by Jose Hernandez. The incident was reported at 12 a.m. at the Latin American Center.

The case was worked by officer Bill Armstrong.

Arkansas, Aggies In It...

NCAA Tourney Field Set

MISSION, Kan. (AP)—The Big 10, Pac-1 and Atlantic Coast Conference comprise more than 25 percent of the 48-team field and got seven of 16 first-round byes in the expanded NCAA Basketball Tournament announced Sunday.

The nine-man Division I Basketball Committee, for the first time in tournament history, exercised almost total freedom in selecting teams and handing out seedings. Previously, no conference could have more than two entries.

The eight-member ACC placed five teams in the tournament while the Big 10 and Pac-10 got four each. Four ACC teams, North Carolina, North Carolina State, Maryland and Duke, received first-round byes. The top four seeds in each of four regions are relieved of playing first round games, which begin Thursday and Friday at different locations.

Under its expanded format, the tournament includes 25 at-large entries along with 23 teams which got automatic invitations by winning conference championships or postseason tournaments. The team payoffs are expected to jump dramatically over last year, with teams getting about $80,000 for first and second-round games, $200,000 for advancing to regional competition and $320,000 for making it to the final four. This is up from $40,000, $117,000 and $275,000 last year.

Top-ranked DePaul, whose 26-1 record is the tournament's best, was seeded No. 1 in the West Regional while Kentucky, ranked No. 2 in the Associated Press Top Twenty, is the top seed in the Midwest. No. 5 Louisiana State is seeded tops in the Midwest and No. 3 Syracuse is the top seed in the East.

Committee Chairman Wayne Duke conceded that committee members "recognize there may be discussion" on a few conferences getting so many invitations.

"Our No. 1 objective was to take the best 25 teams after the 23 automatic qualifiers," Duke said. "Our No. 2 objective was to balance the brackets as best we could. Our No. 3 objective was to take into consideration as best we could any geographical boundaries."

The tournament will conclude with the nationally televised semifinals and finals March 22 and 24 in Indianapolis.

Others receiving first-round byes included Georgetown in the East Regional; Notre Dame and Louisville in the Midwest; St. John's and Indiana in the Midwest, and Ohio State, Brigham Young and Oregon State in the West.

The Midwest Regional will launch first-round action Thursday in Lincoln, Neb., with Missouri meeting San Jose and Kansas State playing Arkansas. Friday night in Denton, first-round games in the Midwest will be completed with Alcorn playing South Alabama and Texas A&M meeting Bradley.

Britton Guides A&M Past Hopeful Hogs

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Shelby Metcalf has seen a lot of basketball ups and downs in his 17 years as coach of the Texas Aggies. But he can't remember being any more excited than he was after A&M's Southwest Conference post-season tournament title.

The dean of SWC basketball coaches, who won his fifth SWC championship this season, got his first SWC post season tournament title Saturday night with a 52-50 victory over Arkansas.

That tournament title had eluded him in the first four post-season classics. His 1976 SWC champions got a bye into the finals of the first tournament, only to be upset 74-72 by Texas Tech.

Thanks to reformed hot dog David Britton, it was a different story Saturday night.

"I was more excited over winning this ballgame than I think I was in a long time," Metcalf said after the victory. "I haven't been this excited in a long time over a basketball game."

Britton scored 17 of his 23 points in the second half, engineering the Aggies' four-corner stall offense that Metcalf didn't put in until the flashy Britton arrived last year in College Station.

"When he gets the adrenalin flowing, he's beautiful," Metcalf said of Britton. "The difference in the ballgame is that we had Britton."

Richardson Confers With Tulsa Officials

Western Texas College coach and athletic director Nolan Richardson was one of several applicants interviewed by Tulsa University for the job of head basketball coach recently.

Richardson, who coaches the No. 1 ranked junior college basketball team, the Westerners, talked with Tulsa school officials Saturday.

"I had my say and they had their say and that was about it," said Richardson. "There are several people they are looking at and I believe they are going to narrow it down to three early this week. I really don't know where I stand. Right now I've got the regional tournament on my mind, and that's all I want to think about, these next three games."

WTC begins Revison V Tournament play against either Amarillo or Hill County College 7 p.m. Tuesday in Midland.

WTC Scheduled In Region Meet

MIDLAND—The nation's No. 1 ranked junior college basketball team, Western Texas College, makes its bid for a fourth straight Region 5 Tournament championship here this week.

The annual tournament, pitting five teams from the Western JC Athletic Conference (WJAC) against five Northern JC Athletic Conference (NJAC) teams, begins today at Chaparral Center.

Tickets for today's session are $3. Tournament passes, which are good for all five sessions (10 games, four days), are $10 at the gate. Session tickets are $3 each.

At 7 this evening, the No. 4 seeded NJCAC team, Hill County, takes on No. 5 WJAC Amarillo. The 9 o'clock contest pits No. 4 WJAC Frank Phillips against No. 5 NJCAC Cisco.

A full slate tips off tomorrow beginning at 2 p.m. when Cooke County (No. 2 NJCAC) entertains No. 3 West team Odessa. At 4, Midland, the No. 2 WJAC team, tries No. 3 NJCAC Ranger.

Western Texas College

opens the third session of the tournament at 7 p.m. tomorrow, taking on the Hill County-Amarillo victory.

Likewise, the No. 1 seeded northern team, McLennan Community College, plays either Frank Phillips or Cisco at 9.

Wednesday's semi-final games will be held at 7 p.m. and 9. An all-star game will be held at 6 o'clock Thursday, followed by the championship game at 8 p.m.

Winner of the tournament advances to the NJCAA National Tournament March 18-22 in Hutchinson, Kan.

Dusters Begin Play Thursday

Coach Joe Cushing's Western Texas College Dusters begin women's Region V Tournament play Thursday in Big Spring at 4 p.m.

The Dusters, 26-9, take on Weatherford, the No. 2 seeded team from the Northern JC Athletic Conference.

Wednesday's games pit Grayson against South Plains at 6 and Amarillo against Hill at 8.

Thursday in addition to the WTC-Weatherford contest, Odessa plays McLennan at 2, Cisco takes on the Amarillo-Hill winner at 6, and Howard County College, the host team, welcomes the Grayson-South Plains victor at 8.

Semi-finals will be held at 6 and 8 p.m. Friday, with the championship game at 2 p.m. Saturday.

Tournament passes are $8 each. Session tickets are $3 adults, $2 students. All games will be held at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

Duim Stops

Heiden Bid

HEERENVEEN, The Netherlands (AP)—Hilbert van der Duim, a 21-year-old teacher, snatched the World speed skating championship from American star Eric Heiden in one of the sport's biggest upsets.

The victory by van der Duim ended Heiden's string of three straight world championships and destroyed the air of invincibility which had surrounded the American following his sweep of five gold medals in the Olympics at Lake Placid.

For the young Dutchman, the top prize came in only his second season in senior skating.

NIT Features Some Of The Better Teams

NEW YORK (AP)—After the NCAA picked the "best," the NIT got the rest. Which wasn't so bad after all, according to Long Beach State Coach Tex Winter.

"There are a lot of good clubs in the National Invitation Tournament," Winter said Sunday after accepting a bid to the nations oldest post-season college basketball tournament.

"Some of them, in fact, are better than the teams that will be in the NCAA."

Winter's Pacific Coast Athletic Association team, which opens the 43rd NIT against Pepperdine of the West Coast Athletic Conference Tuesday night, is one of 32 in the field - the largest in the tourney's history.

After the Long Beach State-Pepperdine game, the first round will continue with seven games each on Wednesday and Thursday nights and a single game Friday night. A second round of eight will be played on Monday, March 10, and a third round of four on Thursday, March 13, at campus sites to be determined prior to the semifinals and finals at New York's Madison Square Garden on March 17 and 19.

The NIT selection committee extended the bids Sunday a few hours after the National Collegiate Athletic Association invited 48 of the nation's leading teams to its post-season playoffs.

"I hope we can get back to playing like we did a couple of weeks ago - I don't think we were hitting on all five cylinders in our conference tournament last week," noted Winter, whose team lost a 57-55 heartbreaker to San Jose State in the finals of the PCAA playoffs Saturday night.

The Big Ten dominated the far-flung NIT field with three representatives - Illinois, Michigan and Minnesota.

SOC, Dumas Clinch State Championships

AUSTIN (AP)—For the third time in four years, the girls of Dallas South Oak Cliff left Austin with the Class 4A basketball championship, but the latest was the best.

"This one means more to me than any of the others we've ever won," South Oak Cliff Coach Larry Blair said of the 74-69 victory over Lubbock Monterey on Saturday. "This time we really had to work for it."

South Oak Cliff had to play without two top performers, 6-2 Deborah Rodman and 5-4 Norita Westbrook, who were benched with injuries.

The team overcame 38 turnovers to beat the Lubbock School, winding up the season with a 40-0 record.

SOC has been in every state tournament since the team was founded in 1976, and 10 graduates are playing college basketball. The Golden Bears have lost only one game in the last 106 outings, and that was to Victoria in the 1979 state finals.

In Class 3A, Dumas followed Michele Clements' free throws to a championship win over Corpus Christi Flour Bluff, 53-43. Clements scored 23 points, including 17 of 18 free throws.

Dumas finished the season 31-2, Flour Bluff at 37-3.

Slaton tied a 2A record by winning its fourth title with a 75-44 victory over Hays Consolidated. The school won in 1974, then again in 1978 and 1979.

Cindy Robinson scored 21 points and Esoleta Whaley had 20 for Slaton. DeAnn McFarlin tallied 16 for Hays Consolidated.

In the Class A final, Robyn Reeder had 26 points as Bogata Rivercrest zipped past Pantherhandle 68-41.

In Class B, Nazareth won its fourth straight title by defeating Weatherford Brock, 56-50.
