Faith Can Bring You Through Peril

FLOYD PHILPOTT IS A BOY from Hogansville, Ga. He used to work in a textile mill there and go to the Baptist Church. But although he probably will do these things again, there is something different about him now. He has spent 702 days as a prisoner of the Communists in Korea.

Floyd Philpott was one of that first group of sick and ailing prisoners of war exchanged in Korea. When he came back home, the town turned out to greet him in front of the First Methodist Church and he made a little speech. According to the New York Times, this is what he said: "I know the Lord had to be with my body, for my feet couldn't have taken me over some of the roads I walked on."

• • •

HAVE YOU EVER THOUGHT about how the Lord is with you always and how he can bring you safely through any experience? Too many of us forget it. A surgical magazine tells the story of a hard-pressed, irritable, nervous, overworked surgeon in a New York hospital ready to perform an emergency operation. He was in a hurry—there were other operations to perform that day.

They wheeled in the patient, a beautiful girl of seventeen, seriously injured in an accident. She had not been told that she probably was a hopeless case. The nurse who was to administer the anesthetic stood over her and said kindly, "Relax, breathe deeply and you'll forget the pain."

The girl looked up at the nurse and said, "Would you mind very much if first I repeated something my mother taught me when I was a little girl? I would like to say the 23rd Psalm."

The nurse looked at the doctor, he nodded and the girl began, "The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want . . ."

The surgeon continued his preparations, but everyone else stood silent, listening. They had heard these wonderful words in church many times, but they had never sounded so moving before. Here they had another meaning, meaning of a deeper kind.

• • •

THE GIRL WENT ON: . . . Though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me . . ." The nurse held the cone above her to begin giving the anesthetic.

"Hold it," the surgeon said. "Let her finish." Then he spoke to the girl, "Go on, honey, say it to the end—and say it for me, too, won't you?"

They all listened as her heart full of faith filled that operating room with some of the most moving words ever written. The doctor looked down at her. He was relaxed, his sense of irritation gone. There was no feeling of other duties pressing him. His patient was at peace and ready for him. Everyone in that room was lifted by the girl's faith. How could an operation performed under such conditions not be a success?

• • •

THERE IS MORE AND BETTER therapy in faith than in anything else in the whole wide world. If you will fill yourself with it, there is available to you the greatest storehouse of faith men have ever known. It is the Bible and you can take from it all the faith you will ever need. The girl on the operating table took her words of comfort from one small part of it; other parts of it helped the prisoner of war in Korea make the long marches as his comrades died all around him. Read it for yourself and you will find there the words you need to help you.

Fill your life with faith, and faith will bring you through.

Black Widow Spider Bites Midland Man

Don Busby, 21, an employe of the Magnolia Petroleum Company, was bitten on the finger by a black widow spider while moving oil drums Saturday.

Taken to Midland Memorial Hospital, Busby is expected to be released Sunday after observation. An attending physician said Saturday no severe symptoms usually accompanying such a bite have appeared.

The black widow, according to Webster, is the female of a species of common American spiders, noted for its shiny black body and habit of devouring its mate.

Although its bite inflicted a certain amount of pain on Busby, this black widow picked on the wrong male. He killed the "widow."

Teasing Rains Temper Basin Area's Drouth

Hopeful eyes of area business men and farmers alike were turned toward the skies over the weekend as teasing rains, occasionally turning into torrents, pattered out a tune of possible relief from the driest drouth this generation of Texans has experienced.

The City Barn in Midland reported a downfall of .48 inch of rain and many streets were turned into waterways late Friday. Light showers dotted the city again Saturday morning.

Scattered showers fell through the area, mostly light, with McCamey receiving .41 inch.

The rain brought refreshing breezes to Midlanders but in one case Friday showers produced a harrowing experience for a housewife.

Mrs. James Roy, 24, of 1100 South Main Street, had a narrow escape when she apparently was struck down by a bolt of lightning during the rainfall and electrical storm.

Collapses On Floor

Mrs. Roy, visiting Mrs. Art West, 415 Cottonwood Street, was leaning against the doorway of the house watching the rain.

A sudden blinding flash of lightning and Mrs. Roy collapsed on the floor.

She was revived at Midland Memorial Hospital and kept overnight for observation.

No serious injury resulted from the freak accident, apparently, but Mrs. Roy returned home Saturday morning with a headache.

A little twister Friday night struck 10 miles northwest of Levelland, and an area of two to three miles was drenched with three and one-half inches of rain. At Levelland itself, rain totaled only .07 inch.

The only rain which fell on Weather Bureau reporting stations Saturday was: El Paso and Beaumont .05 inch; Abilene, Big Spring and Dalhart .01, and Brownsville, Galveston and Marfa a trace.

Italy Budget Chief Names New Cabinet

ROME —(AP)— Giuseppe Pella, veteran budget minister, accepted the premiership of Italy Saturday night and announced his new Cabinet. It did not include former Premier Alcide de Gasperi in the Foreign Ministry, as had been expected.

Pella, 51-year-old architect of the nation's postwar financial recovery, told President Luigi Einaudi he would take for himself the presidency of the council and the ministries of foreign affairs and the budget.

De Gasperi, who was left on the sidelines by the new government, had been president of eight postwar Italian Cabinets and foreign minister for the last four years.

Pella said he would present his new ministers to be sworn in on Monday. The new Cabinet, put together after a 19-day government crisis, faces its test for life in the Senate and Chamber of Deputies Tuesday or Wednesday.

First Martin Bale Ginned In Stanton

STANTON—Martin County's first cotton bale of 1953 was hauled in Friday, ginned and weighed at 440 pounds.

First-bale winner this year is Preston Morrison, who produced his cotton on a dry-land farm two and a half miles southwest of Stanton. It was his first win in the first bale race.

The bale, ginned at the Farmers Co-Op Gin here, will be auctioned next Friday in front of the First National Bank in Stanton. Jack Arrington will serve as auctioneer, and the producer, Morrison, will be handed receipts of the sale.

Wildest Pacific Typhoon Bypasses Island Of Okinawa

NAHA, OKINAWA —(AP)— One of the wildest typhoons ever recorded in the Pacific bypassed Okinawa and the key American air base Sunday after slapping it overnight with winds up to 78 miles an hour.

At 3 a.m. Sunday Air Force weathermen said the typhoon center was moving into the China Sea at 15 knots about 130 miles southeast of the island. Wind here had dropped to 46 to 58 miles an hour.

On its present course, the storm center will hit the Chinese mainland about 120 miles south of Shanghai, forecasters said.

Before the course of the storm changed overnight, weathermen had predicted winds of 140 mph would whip the island Sunday.

The American Superfort bombers and most of the fighter planes here were flown to other bases until the winds died down.

TRAFFIC SIGNAL HOLIDAY SLATED

City motorists can forget about the traffic lights Sunday morning. They won't be working.

Traffic Engineer Jack Keese explained Saturday that the master control mechanism will be moved Sunday morning and the lights will be out of action during the several hours required to make the change.

"Every man will be on his own," said Keese, "and it probably will be a good thing if every motorist approaches a signal light just as if it were burning red."

★ LATE NEWS FLASHES ★

SAN ANGELO—Hard-driving rains ranging up to four inches soaked a five-county West Texas belt Saturday night. Water Valley near San Angelo reported 4.31 inches. Precipitation ranged from .75 inch upward in Glasscock, Sterling, Sutton, Tom Green and Crockett Counties. Lake North Concho's level was raised 1.22 feet at San Angelo, adding 1,271 acre feet of water.

GUAYAQUIL, ECUADOR —(AP)— Authorities here received orders late Saturday from the Ecuadorean government to give back to the publishers of La Nacion and La Hora their properties seized last year after the government charged both opposition papers tried to incite a revolution.

ILLINOIS FAMILY INJURED—The occupants of this crushed automobile, Mr. and Mrs. Cohee Smith and their two children of Wood River, Ill., were injured Friday night in a two-car collision east of Midland on U. S. Highway 80. Four persons in another car were injured in the same accident.

Sunday's Prisoner Exchange Includes No One From Texas

PANMUNJOM —(AP)— Truckloads of happy American and British captives and exuberant South Koreans rode out of the Communist northland into this big prisoner exchange center Sunday in rumbling Russian-built Molotov trucks.

The repatriates waved at observers and shouted greetings. They jumped spryly down from the trucks as their names were called.

The South Koreans arrived singing boisterously and beating time with their hands on the sides of the Communist vehicles. A few were perched precariously on truck cab roofs and canvas canopies.

Most of the repatriates in the first two groups appeared to be in sound condition. Four of the South Koreans, however, were emaciated litter cases.

The first American repatriated Sunday was an Indiana soldier, Pfc. Lawrence E. Bridgewater of Loogootee.

The prisoners carried Red Cross packages, apparently distributed earlier in the morning at the Communist assembly center of Kaesong.

Like the South Koreans coming home, the Red Koreans traveling north through Panmunjom had thrown away most of their prisoner clothes. They sang Communist marching songs as their trucks rolled past the Allied repatriation center.

The exchange Sunday brought 75 Americans, 75 British and 262 South Koreans back to their own side. None of the Americans was from Texas.

Although the exchange was only 12 days old, the Allies already had passed the halfway mark toward their target date for completion of the movement of Communist prisoners northwards.

They gave back about 2,400 North Koreans in Sunday's exchange.

This brought to better than 50 per cent the number of Red prisoners the Allies promised to return, while the Communists have released a little better than 40 per cent of UN troops they held.

The exchange began July 28 and is scheduled, barring bad weather which delays transportation, to be completed by September 3.

Including those exchanged Sunday, the Allies have returned 39,824 Red prisoners. Between 74,000 and 75,000 Communist prisoners were listed at the start of the exchange.

By contrast, the Communists have turned over 4,790 of the 12,373 Allied prisoners listed at the start of the operation.

Only 31 per cent of the Americans held—1,032 out of 3,313—have been repatriated.

The transfer of liberated prisoners back to the United States picked up speed.

The Navy transport Gen. W. F. Hase sailed Saturday from Inchon with 437 men aboard, including both repatriates and rotating troops. The ship is bound for either San Francisco or Seattle and the trip takes from 10 days to two weeks.

PW's Bare Chinese Threat To Halt Their Repatriation

FREEDOM VILLAGE, KOREA —(AP)—Liberated Americans returned from Red prison camps Saturday said Chinese had threatened to halt their repatriation unless the Americans told Red Cross workers their camp treatment was good.

The Americans said a Chinese interpreter threatened them at Kaesong, the last North Korean stop before their delivery for repatriation at Panmunjom.

The Kaesong incident was reported by Cpl. Stefano Salerno of Rochester, N. Y.; Pfc. William Ira Blackburn of Monroe, Wash., and Pfc. Stephen W. Barcylowski of Wilmington, Del.

They told of meeting the Red Cross team which, under the armistice agreement, was allowed to aid Allied prisoners on their way to freedom.

Salerno said that when the freedom-bound Allies reached Kaesong Friday night a Chinese interpreter called him aside and told him to tell the Red Cross team stories of good treatment in the POW camp. The Chinese said the American's story would support those told by British repatriates.

Told What To Do

Salerno said the Chinese warned him that "they might hold me back unless I did" what he was told to do.

"I refused," Salerno said.

Blackburn said the Chinese told him that if he didn't do as requested "it would interfere with our repatriation."

He said he felt he had to go see the Red Cross workers and he went in with seven British men, but "I never opened my mouth. The British did all the talking."

Pfc. Ernest R. Rodriguez, 23 of Watkins, Colo., said he talked with an Australian member of the Red Cross team at Kaesong Friday night but he couldn't say what he wanted to.

"There were so many English-speaking Chinese around that if I had said the things I wanted I probably wouldn't be here today," Rodrigues said.

Holdover directors are Roy Fox, Colorado City; Ben Oglesby, Bronte, and Charles Roberts, Andrews.

Life Savings Lost, Found

ODESSA —(AP)— The life savings of an elderly Odessa couple were found and returned Saturday by an unidentified woman shopper.

Mrs. Pearl White, 58, left her purse containing $3,895 on a supermarket counter, where it was found by the woman shopper. Manager Jack Hubbard called police, who handed the purse over to Mrs. White when she called at the station to report her loss.

"This is all we have in the world," said Mrs. White. "Our only steady income is $7 a week from a small rent house."

Mrs. White's husband, 77-year-old Lorenzo White, is a cancer victim and recently underwent his second operation.

Fun Day Tickets Ready For Children

Youngsters can get their free tickets this week for the JayCee Fun Day.

Junior Chamber of Commerce officials Saturday said merchants will pass out tickets for the Labor Day celebration at Pagoda Park and the Indian baseball field.

Children will swim and take train rides free during the morning at Pagoda, moving into Indian Park at 1 p.m. for contests and other activities.

Three Remain In Hospitals; None Critical

Nine persons were injured, none of them critically, in a pair of traffic accidents in the Midland area Friday night and Saturday.

Eight of the nine were injured in a head-on collision of two automobiles Friday night 14 miles east of Midland on U. S. Highway 80.

The ninth casualty was six-year-old Roger Schuelke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Schuelke, 2200 West Kentucky Street, who was struck by an automobile Saturday near his home.

The child was released after being treated at a doctor's office for contusions and abrasions.

But three persons still were in the hospital Saturday as the result of the collision in Martin County.

Midlanders In Hospital

Mr. and Mrs. James Garrett Smith, 55, of Midland, were in Stanton Memorial Hospital. Smith was treated for a broken leg and head injuries while Mrs. Smith suffered a slight head concussion and chest injuries.

Two occupants of their automobile, Mr. and Mrs. Lee May, 700 South Loraine Street, were treated for minor injuries at Midland Memorial Hospital and discharged.

Mrs. Cohee Smith of Wood River, Ill., wife of the driver of the other automobile, was in Midland Memorial Hospital with knee abrasions and a broken left arm.

Released from Midland Memorial Hospital after emergency treatment were her husband and two children, Jodie Jeanette, five, and Nadine, 12.

State Highway Patrolman Bud Newberry said the Illinois family was heading west at the time of the accident.

He said the other car, traveling east, had pulled off the highway and then turned to the left, colliding with the Illinois vehicle.

Both automobiles were demolished.

Traffic Officer Oscie Renfrow of the Midland police force said the Schuelke child was struck Saturday morning by an automobile driven by Mrs. M. H. Davis, 2306 West Kentucky Street.

He said the child had been across the street buying some ice cream from a street vendor and was struck as he ran back across the street.

He was rushed to a doctor's office by Mrs. Davis.

16 UN Allies Reach Peace Talks Accord

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. —(AP)—The 16 United Nations Allies who fought together in Korea reached virtual agreement Saturday on a formula to seat Russia at the Korean peace conference.

A three-hour harmony meeting to heal a U. S.-British breach on the question broke up with a formal announcement of substantial progress.

From some sources, however, it was learned agreement was so near that delegates were cabling home to their governments Saturday to approve their ratification of it at another meeting of the 16 Sunday.

It was learned that a series of resolutions on the makeup of the peace conference has been decided on.

A U. S.-backed resolution, in which most of the others would join, would invite any of the 16 UN members and South Korea—all of whom had fighting forces on the Korean front—to be members of the peace conference, representing the UN side.

A second resolution would invite countries to serve as conference members in their individual capacities. Separate clauses would cover Russia and India and let the entire 60-nation UN Assembly make a final decision on each. The United States would not appear as a sponsor of this kind of resolution.

Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., chief U. S. delegate, told newsmen, "We are rapidly reaching an area of agreement on many subjects." He declined to discuss details of the near-agreement but he left an impression that the United States had backed down on insistence that the Russians must be nominated by the Communist side.

Best Seller Didn't Sell This Texan

WACO —(AP)— Dale Carnegie's best selling "How To Win Friends and Influence People" fell flat on the luck of one reader.

Baylor University Library reported Saturday that in the appendix space where Carnegie suggested the reader could write of his own experience in practicing suggestions offered in the book, one borrower scrawled in ink:

1. Got fired, two times.
2. Shot at, once.
3. Lost my wife.
4. Flunked psychology.
5. Thrown out of school.
6. Disowned by parents.

Nixon Named Head Of New Committee On Discrimination

DENVER —(AP)— President Eisenhower Saturday named Vice President Nixon, John Roosevelt and a Chicago negro attorney—J. Ernest Wilkins—to a new committee assigned the job of preventing hiring and firing discrimination in plants with federal contracts.

Eisenhower picked Nixon to serve as the chairman of the committee, created by executive order last Thursday, and Wilkins to be vice chairman.

Roosevelt, youngest son of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt and an active campaigner for Eisenhower last Fall, will serve as a member of the new committee.

The announcement was made at Eisenhower's vacation headquarters at Lowry Air Force Base shortly after he pocket-vetoed three bills and signed 15 others into law.

That action cleared his desk of the last of the more than 200 bills which Congress passed in the closing days of the session which adjourned August 3.

Red Feather Budget Set At $93,132 To Serve Nine Participating Agencies

Midland's Community Chest goal for 1953 has been set at $93,132.75, an increase of approximately $13,000 over collections for last year, Don Oliver, Chest president, announced Saturday.

The budget was approved by directors on the recommendation of the budget committee.

Nine participating agencies are Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Midland Youth Center, Guadalupe Youth Center, Colored Day Nursery, Salvation Army, USO, Goodfellows, and YMCA.

The addition of the YMCA in this year's campaign accounts for a part of the increase in the budget, Oliver said.

The annual finance campaign of the Chest will be conducted beginning the latter part of September and extending through October.

John Perkins, named campaign chairman, already is engaged in organizational plans.

The Community Chest has been growing to maturity in Midland through the addition of participating agencies each year, thus covering a larger portion of the citizenship.

"During the current year," Oliver said, "services through the organizations have been rendered to more than four thousand persons, and with the adding of the YMCA to the program, it is anticipated that an additional one thousand persons will be served this year.

"Of the nine groups participating, only the Salvation Army and Goodfellows can be placed in the class of 'charity' organizations," Oliver said. "All of the others perform duties largely coming under the category of service."

"The Community Chest, having become established as a permanent organization in Midland," continued Oliver, "will, during the year, maintain a permanent office with a paid secretary, so as to be prepared at all times to carry on the work necessary to a successful administration of this worthy enterprise."

The campaign to be conducted this year will endeavor to enlist the support of every available person in the community and it is desired to enlarge the pledge system, which will have the effect of making it possible for many more persons to contribute, and may spread the collections over a period of one year, or such shorter periods as may be desired.

It has been the custom during the last year to require participating agencies to submit quarterly financial statements to the Community Chest and the allotments to such organizations have been paid on a quarterly basis. This will be continued during the next year, Oliver said.

Mrs. John D. Freeman, Jr., executive secretary of the Chest, is in charge of the office at the Community Chest headquarters, presently located in Room 168, Allen Building. The telephone number is 3-6688.

Loophole In Law May Erase Federal Curb On Corn Crops

WASHINGTON —(AP)— A loophole in farm legislation may lead Secretary of Agriculture Benson to announce that marketing quotas will not be invoked on the 1954 corn crop even though bit supplies might warrant them.

Unlike other crops subject to controls, the law fails to provide a penalty for farmers who oversell corn quotas. Hence, quotas in themselves would be without effect in restricting production, sale or use of this grain.

Department lawyers said congressional committees had indicated their intention of providing penalties, but the proper legislation was not passed.

Under quotas voted on the 1954 wheat crop by farmers Friday, sales of this grain in excess of a farms quota would be subject to a penalty tax of about $1.10 a bushel, or more than half the current price of the grain.

Latest returns from the wheat quota referendum show the quotas were approved by an overwhelming margin. Figures announced by the Agriculture Department Saturday showed 361,392 growers voting for the quotas, and 53,252 opposed. This was a favorable vote of 87.2 per cent, far larger than the 66 and two-thirds per cent required. The figures were still preliminary, but later tallies were not expected to change the percentages much.

No Sales Restrictions

As for corn, a department forecast this week of a 3,330,000,000-bushel crop raised the prospect of quotas on next year's crop. Benson said at the time that quotas might be necessary under the law, subject, of course, to approval by two-thirds of the growers voting in a referendum.

Later, department officials did some calculating and concluded that the prospective supply this year was slightly below a level which, under law, would require the secretary to propose quotas.

They suggested that the secretary take advantage of the situation and announce now that there will be no sales restrictions. They pointed out that if he waited longer —the law gives him until November 15 to make a decision—crop prospects might improve sufficiently to force him to invoke quotas which he could not enforce.

Roping World's Best Due For Labor Day Event Here

Kings of the roping world will participate in team competition at the annual Labor Day celebration of the Midland County Sheriff's Posse. The Rodo-Esta will be held at Midland Fair Park on East Highway 80 with the public invited to attend.

Toots Mansfield of Big Spring, many times world champion, heads the Texans including J. D. Holleyman of Ozona, Lanham Riley of Rankin and Bill Teague of Crane, who was the top roper at last June's World Championship Midland Rodeo.

The opposing New Mexico team presents Troy Fort of Loving, and Sonny Davis, Junior Vaughan and Cotton Lee, all of Fort Sumner.

Each of the contestants will rope four calves.

Thirty top entries are due in the cutting horse contest. Girls' barrel races, "Pony Express" and jackpot roping are other events planned for the celebration.

Filipino President Quits U. S. Hospital For Political Wars

BALTIMORE—(AP)—President Elpidio Quirino of the Philippines left here Saturday bound for home via Washington and San Francisco after a seven-week stay in Johns Hopkins Hospital during which he underwent two stomach operations.

Doctors pronounced the 62-year-old President fit for the ardous campaign for reelection he faces on his return to his homeland.

Dr. Agerico B. M. Sison, his personal physician, said the President had recovered well enough but would have to pace himself in the campaign. He was operated on July 25 for a stomach obstruction.

The President expects to be back in Manila September 4.

Law's Long Arm Gets Nip For Boarding-House Reach

Midland's legal arm is indeed long . . .

But last week the hand thereto attached got a playful nip from a set of teeth many miles away.

Seems that Dick Guelich, a Buffalo, N. Y., realtor stopped in Midland not long ago—and apparently stopped too long in one place.

Upon his return to Buffalo, he had received a unique little self-addressed envelope from the City of Midland—seeking, two bucks for a delinquent parking ticket.

The $2 dutifully was dispatched by law-abiding Guelich, together with a heartening note for his friend, Judge Ed Stitt.

Wrote Guelich:

"What's the idea of letting this get through?

"I feel that you are letting me down . . .

"But, due to my intense interest in the favorable outcome of your one-man crime crusade, I'm sending you my two bucks.

"Don't pocket it—give it to the clerk."

Prophet Sees 1976 Encore For Texas' Sizzling Drouth

WASHINGTON —(AP)— A veteran weather man took the plunge Saturday.

He predicted the weather not just for tomorrow or the next five days, but for 1976.

The forecast: a dry Spring and Summer in the Southwest, with perhaps a worse and longer drouth than the one this year.

Dr. Charles G. Abbott, 81-year-old former secretary of the Smithsonian Institution and one of the world's foremost authorities on solar radiation, made the long-range forecast in summing up his weather studies over more than half a century.

In a publication issued by the institution, Dr. Abbott said he believes "a definite relation between sun and weather must exist, even if it cannot as yet be adequately explained."

Dr. Abbott said his observations have shown that, roughly speaking, the weather repeats itself in cycles of 22 3/4 years, in rhythm with changes in heat energy coming from the sun.

The veteran scientist emphasized that "even after 50 years of observations—some of them among the most delicate ever made by astronomers—the threshold of this (solar radiation) system of meteorology has just been crossed."

But he said there is evidence that "a trend in the heat radiation of the sun is attended almost invariably by a trend in terrestrial weather."

"In some unknown and perhaps unknowable way," he said, "the changes in solar radiation act as triggers to set off forces that bring about, for instance, a dry July and a wet October or a cool June and a warm December."

On the basis of his cycle theory, Dr. Abbott predicted that by and large, this year's weather will repeat itself, so far as general trends are concerned, in 1976.

Foreseeing important economic results from his studies, Dr. Abbott envisioned a time when a map of predicted weather 10 years in advance might be available to the whole country.

"Then farmers, oil men, resort keepers, everybody, could prepare for wet and dry, hot and cold seasons long in advance," he said.

Benson Vows He'll Enforce Farm-Okayed Wheat Quotas

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Secretary of Agriculture Benson promised the nation's wheat producers Saturday he will carry out the rigid control program they have voted for next year's crop "in an equitable and constructive manner."

Benson, who has indicated in the past a preference for a different approach to farm surplus problems, issued this public pledge of cooperation after preliminary returns from Friday's nation-wide referendum showed wheat farmers favored strict marketing quotas on the 1954 crop by a 7-1 margin.

The tabulation by the Agriculture Department showed that 361,392 farmers voted for the controls, while only 53,252 registered disapproval.

By accepting rigid marketing controls, the wheat farmers are assured of continued high government price supports.

The Agriculture secretary said he feels the farmers "have made a wise decision—a decision in their own best interests."

That top-heavy 87.2 per cent favorable vote set a new record for wheat referenda. It also was well above the two-third majority required by law.

Although the returns were described as preliminary, the department said it expects little change from that ratio when the final official count is in.

Eligible Midlander Snubs Wheat Ballot

One Midland County farmer was qualified to vote in the national wheat referendum, according to records at the Midland Production & Marketing Administration (PMA), but he didn't show up Friday to cast his ballot.

Consequently Charles Champion, Midland PMA officer, had to send in a report similar to this: Votes for—none; Votes against—none; Number of voters—none.

Across Texas as a whole, The Associated Press Saturday reported 92.3 per cent of farmers voting favored the marketing quotas.

Saturday's almost completed count showed 18,056 ballots for the quotas and just 1,496 against them.

DEMOCRAT JOB HOLDERS HANG ON—

Many Republican Senators Still Sing Patronage Blues

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Despite two moves by President Eisenhower to make government jobs for Republicans more plentiful, some GOP senators still are singing the patronage blues.

The jobs simply are not opening up as fast as they would like, these legislators say. They say they are worried by countless requests for jobs from Republicans while thousands of Democrats remain on the federal payroll under civil service protection granted by previous administrations.

Senator Watkins (R-Utah) put it this way to a reporter:

"One of the cleverest and most effective jobs done by the Democrats in their 20 years in office was to make a Democrat spoils system permanent."

Back on April 1, the President signed an executive order stripping civil service protection from what a White House secretary called "more than several hundred" government policy-making jobs. He thus opened the way for presidential appointment to these key places filled during the 20 years the Democrats were in power with persons later blanketed into the merit system without competitive examination.

Then, on June 25, the President issued another order removing civil service protection from thousands of federal jobs held by socalled "specialists" and including hundreds of attorneys. This order called for a review—still under way—of about 134,000 jobs to see which should no longer come under the merit system. Veterans, holding an estimated 60 per cent of these jobs, were exempted.

The order in effect reversed a 1947 order by President Truman blanketing the "specialists" into civil service.

To illustrate his complaint Saturday, Senator Watkins said 33,000 workers make their living in his state by federal employment. They work at government installations, in post offices, in regional offices of the Reclamation Bureaus, the Soil Conservation Service and other federal agencies.

So far, Watkins said, he has placed just two Republicans in office in Utah, a U. S. marshal and a U. S. attorney.

No Jobs, Period

Another Republican senator said: "It's a hell of a mess. We don't have any jobs, period. Our people back home worked for 20 years to elect a Republican president. They just can't understand, now that they've done it, why there isn't some reward. They'd be satisfied with very little. But we can't even give them that."

These senators say they have no bone to pick with President Eisenhower, that it isn't his fault. But they say explaining the situation to a Republican back home is difficult.

An indication of the poor patronage pickings can be found in this statistic: Only 75 postmasters were appointed and confirmed by the Senate during the first session of Congress. Last year the Senate confirmed 764 postmasters, the previous year 1,177—undoubtedly most of them Democrats.

OH, BROTHER, WHAT A BENDER

GLASGOW, SCOTLAND —(AP)— Alexander Brown was fined five pounds ($14) Saturday for taking his false teeth out of his mouth and hurling them at an usher trying to get him out of a theater. His wife told the court:

CROP Sends Food For Quake Victims

The shipment came from contributions to CROP in Kansas, Texas and Iowa.

Declining Sales Indicate Texas Farm, Ranch Land Prices Soon To Level Off

COLLEGE STATION —(AP)— Market values of Texas farm and ranch lands in 1952 maintained an upward trend unbroken for 13 consecutive years.

According to a study conducted by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station in cooperation with the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, the index of prices paid for land was 376 in 1952 against 351 the preceding year, and 100 in the five year period, 1935-39. The increase in the average acreage price was seven per cent, or from $62.15 in 1951 to $66.54 the succeeding year.

'Good' Land Sells Best

Notwithstanding, there are indications that Texas land prices are leveling off, observes William G. Adkins, technical assistant department of agriculture economics and sociology, who directed the study. The 1951 price also marked a record since it was 24 per cent higher than the preceding year, 1950. Furthermore, the volume of sales indicated that land prices may be nearing a peak.

"The number of transfers in 1952 was 11 per cent smaller than in 1951, acreage volume fell 28 per cent, and the dollar volume 18 per cent," Adkins said. This information, based upon warranty deed records in 24 sample counties, "reflects relatively more buying of 'good' land than of 'fair' and 'poor' types," he added.

The north-central grazing area, with a decrease of 28.8 per cent in average price, was the only type of farming section showing a significant drop. Land prices in the Rio Grande plain decreased less than one-tenth of one per cent, and the decline in the High Plains cotton area was about 1.9 per cent. All other areas, the analysis reveals, recorded increases from about two to more than 50 per cent. The largest was in the Edwards Plateau and Central Basin area, where prices rose 52.3 per cent following a 19.7 per cent drop in 1951. More farm and less ranch land was transferred.

Other areas showing selling prices higher than in 1951 were Grand Prairie, 32.6 per cent; West Cross Timbers, 20; and the northeast sandy lands of East Texas, 21.1. West Cross Timbers scored a record of $62.16 an acre, a rise from less than $10 an acre in 1937.

Jones, Ellis and Nacogdoches are sample counties from which detailed information is obtained on yearly land transfer. An average of $102.80 an acre, or 6.7 higher than in 1951, was paid for land in Jones County; while sales in Nacogdoches advanced from $52.09 in the previous year to an average of $64.08, an indicated increase of 23 per cent. The average price in Ellis County advanced about two per cent to $109.74. Although this was almost three times greater than the 1942 average, yet was slightly lower than the 1920 price level. Volume of sales declined substantially in the three counties and the acreage involved also was considerably less.

The most important change in credit buying was in Jones County, where cash sales represented 21 per cent of transactions compared with 55 per cent in 1951. Thirty-eight per cent of the purchases in Ellis County were cash trades, an increase of four per cent over 1951. Meanwhile, transactions on similar basis in Nacogdoches increased one per cent over 1951 or from 56 to 57.

French Induce Tribal Chief To Forego Moroccan Revolt

CASABLANCA, MOROCCA — (AP) —Fiery Tempered Berber tribal chieftains named a new "leader of the faithful" Saturday claiming for Moulay Mohammed Ben Arafa, 72, a Moslem title held by Sultan Sidi Mohammed Ben Youssef, 44, his nephew.

But they did not press their recently voiced demands for ouster of the sultan, the nominal ruler of this tense, French North African protectorate in both civil and religious affairs.

The French expressed hope this decision would avoid plunging the proctectorate into a bloody civil war.

Moulay Ben Arafa claims descent from the Prophet Mohammed's son-in-law, Ali. He was chosen as iman—"leader of the faithful"—by Thami El Glaoui, the pro-French pasha of Marrakech, and other Berber dignitaries who have accused the sultan of backing the schemes of anti-French nationalists.

The action at El Glaoui's palace in Marrakech represented a compromise urged by the French in an effort to smash the threat of civil war. El Glaoui and his supporters, who include thousands of warriors famed for their racing cavalry, had threatened to march on the sultan's palace to depose him.

Civil War would affect the United States, which has three giant Air Force bases in operation in Morocco.

The proclamation by the Commission of Caids—tribal chiefs—came only after French Resident General Augustin Guillaume and Jacques Vimont of the French Foreign Ministry staff had argued with El Glaoui and his supporters about four hours.

Sultan's Reaction In Doubt

The French said they were mediating. They apparently did it by persuading the sultan to accept certain reforms, and then persuading El Glaoui in turn that the sultan had made enough concessions to permit him to hold the throne.

The French were in a ticklish position, for under treaty obligations they are obliged to keep the sultan on the ruler's seat.

How the sultan would take all this was the big question. The proclamation of the new iman provoked no immediate public reaction in Morocco's larger cities, but the word had not yet been given mass circulation. In Rabat, a stronghold of those faithful to the sultan, placards on doors and walls proclaimed willingness to "shed our blood for his majesty."

CIRCE'S GONE ELECTRONIC—L. S. McKown, of Stillwater, Minn., is the power behind his 20th Century Circe, who, by means of radio control, "lures" sailors on the St. Croix River with a wave of her handkerchief. Nine More Sick Prisoners Arrive

TRAVIS AIR FORCE BASE, CALIF. —(AP)— Nine more American prisoners of war—all showing evidences of their long confinement in Red prison camps—were flown home from Korea Saturday.

Six of them were carried off the plane in litters and the other three debarked on their own power; although one, Lt. Col. Thomas D. Harrison of Clovis, N. M., almost fell down the ramp. A jet fighter pilot, he lost his left leg when shot down over North Korea May 21, 1951.

Three of the six litter cases, their faces masked, are ill with tuberculosis. They are Sgt. Robert M. Wilkins of Detroit, Mich., Pfc. Edgar J. Hinton of St. Louis, Mo., and Pvt. William H. Hubbard of San Antonio. They and the other three litter cases were taken to the base hospital immediately.

Another returnee was Cpl. Lawrence A. Buzbee of Ruskin, Fla., who hurried from the plane to Oakland Airport, where a waiting American Airlines plane took off with him immediately for Tampa. Buzbee's father is gravely ill.

The other litter patients were Pfc. James T. Thompson of Horation, Ark., Sgt. James Davis of Mullins, S. C., and Pfc. James H. Montgomery of Weston, W. Va.

The two who walked off unassisted with Col. Harrison were Buzbee and Pfc. Eugene W. Roid of Warranton, Va.

Harrison who previously had told how the Communists tortured him in an effort to obtain information about the American Air Force, was the only returnee greeted by his family.

Harrison, who is a second cousin of Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison Jr., chief United Nations negotiator at Panmunjom, had no definite plans, except to take some leave at Clovis. Later he will go to Walter Reed Hospital, Washington, D. C.

Family Of Wounded Colonel Boards Repatriates' Plane

TRAVIS AIR FORCE BASE, CALIF. —(AP)— Little Barbara Anne and the rest of the Harrison family didn't wait for Lt. Col. Thomas D. Harrison to touch ground after the second freedom flight of Korean prisoners landed here Saturday.

Mrs. Harrison, wife of the highest ranking American captive released by the Communists, hurried up the ramp and into the arms of her crippled husband.

The 32-year-old Harrison of Clovis, N. M., imprisoned for two years, lost his left leg when his jet was shot down over North Korea May 21, 1951.

Harrison was one of nine liberated prisoners coming home after long hard months in Korean prison camps. Six of the men were carried from the four engine military transport plane on litters. Three, including the hobbling Harrison, walked down the ramp.

Princess Anne Celebrates Third Birthday Anniversary

BALLATER, SCOTLAND—(AP)— A picnic, a cake and a tricycle race. These delights added up to a perfect birthday for Princess Anne Elizabeth Alice Louise, three years old Saturday.

The tricycle race was with her brother, Prince Charles, four, on the grounds of Balmoral Castle, where the British royal family is living as quietly as can be expected, with all that banging going on. The noise is caused by the grouse hunters, who are at the height of their season.

There were many gifts for the little princess, but what they were wasn't announced.

"Just little things for a little girl," said a family friend.

There were presents from her parents, Queen Elizabeth II and the Duke of Edinburgh, and from Prince Charles, Queen Mother Elizabeth and her Aunt Princess Margaret. All were on hand for the little party attended by children of the Balmoral estate.

SHE'S THREE—Her Royal Highness Princess Anne Elizabeth Alice Louise of Edinburgh poses prettily for her birthday portrait.

Four Bodies Found Below Niagara Falls

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y.—(AP)— Four bodies were pulled from the Niagara River Thursday and Friday, and authorities listed all four as suicides.

The average number of bodies recovered from waters near this honeymoon resort during the Summer is one a week. All this week's were believed residents of this area.

One was a 75-year-old woman, Mrs. Nora Schroyer of suburban Kenmore, who just before she leaped, mailed an envelope to her daughter containing only a $5 bill and three postage stamps.

Two See Cart Hit, Smashed By Train

TEXARKANA — (AP) — Luckily, John Huggins and his sister, Mrs. Anita Dunham, were standing by watching when a train plowed into their car, tossed it up 50 feet, caught it on the cowcatcher and gave it a half mile ride.

Huggins, 34, told Arkansas state trooper Charles Boyd that their car stalled on the crossing here about 12:40 a.m. Saturday. Huggins said he had tried to push the car, but fled with his sister, 30, when they saw the lights of the approaching train.

The two live on Route 7, Texarkana, Ark.

Comfort Bank Robber Says Money Needed For Children

BOERNE—(AP)—A charge of armed robbery was filed Saturday against a polite young man who said he robbed the Comfort State Bank "to take care of my two children."

"I made one payment to pay it back, and I would have made another," William Henry Adley, 27, told Kendall County Sheriff Douglas Kugel in the presence of newspaper reporters.

Adley waived examining trial and was held in jail here under $5,000 bond.

The Comfort State Bank was robbed of $1,700 last July 21 by a man who first had asked the bank president for a loan and was denied it. Later, the bank received a money order for $36 and a note saying it was in part payment of the money taken in the holdup.

Adley was arrested in Three Rivers Friday, where he had bought a small upholstery shop, opened August 10. He said he had worked in Karnes City before going to Three Rivers.

He told Mrs. Molly Anstiss, an Associated Press correspondent in Boerne, that he took the money "because I needed it to take care of my two children."

He said he was divorced and had a housekeeper to take care of the children.

When he was arrested Friday he first denied any knowledge of the robbery. But he changed his statement after Sheriff Harper Morris of Karnes City showed a pistol he said was used in the robbery.

Kugel said that Adley had no previous record and a good reputation.

Carbondale Crash Victim Identified

TEXARKANA —(AP)— A Little Rock man Friday positively identified the fifth victim of a car-truck crash here last Monday as his wife, Mrs. Jean Carmichael, 21.

Hearing On Laughlin Removal Charges Due To Start Monday

AUSTIN—(AP)—The first hearing of its kind in Texas history is set to begin Monday on removal charges against a district judge in politically embroiled South Texas.

Short, stocky C. Woodrow Laughlin of Alice faces eight charges challenging his fitness to serve on the 79th District bench.

Twenty-seven witnesses have been subpoenaed to appear. Two were called by the judge, the others by his opposition.

Laughlin, 39, contends the charges are "politics." His court serves four counties—Jim Wells, Brooks, Duval and Starr—long rocked by political feuds between friends and foes of political boss George Parr.

Laughlin won his office last year with Parr's backing in a bitter contest that ousted incumbent Sam O. Reama. Parr had split with Reams four years earlier.

Array Of Legal Talent

A big array of legal talent has been lined up on the side of the 11 South Texas lawyers who brought the suit against the judge. Their counsel includes State Senator William H. Shireman, Corpus Christi, and Elton M. Hyder, Jr., Fort Worth. In addition, the State Bar moved to enter the case on their side this week, bringing in the attorney general and Earl P. Hall, former judge of the 2nd Court of Civil Appeals at Fort Worth.

Attorney General John Ben Shepperd assigned four top assistants to the job—Willis Gresham, Robert Trotti, Mrs. Mary K. Wall and Burnell Waldrop.

Only announced counsel for Laughlin so far is former State Senator C. C. Small of Austin. State Bar President Everett L. Looney of Austin had been retained as co-counsel but withdrew 10 days ago. He said his reasons were illness and objections from his bar colleagues.

The hearing will be conducted before District Judge D. B. Wood of Georgetown, named master in chancery by the Supreme Court to take evidence and report back to the court by October 1.

The high court ordered the hearing on eight of the 12 charges brought against Laughlin by the 11 attorneys, all of whom practice in his court. The procedure was written into the State Constitution in 1876 but never before has been used.

The charges allege that Laughlin:

1. Ordered impounded ballot boxes delivered to Parr's nephew, then sheriff of Duval County, subjecting them to possible inspection.

2. Obstructed a Jim Wells County grand jury's inquiry into the "murder-by-mistake" slaying of Jacob S. Floyd, Jr., son of a Parr political foe.

3. Made his own selection of a judge to try two criminal cases involving Laughlin himself.

4. Dismissed 68 Starr County indictments including 60 based on allegations of fraud and irregularity in last July's primary.

5. Discharged a Jim Wells County grand jury before it could complete an investigation into a property sale by his brother, W. M. Laughlin, Jim Wells County commissioner.

6. Ordered Starr County jury commissioners to violate the code of criminal procedure by instructing them not to select grand jurors.

7. Permitted the state to be represented in a criminal case by an attorney he knew would not endeavor to obtain a conviction.

Political Figures Subpoenaed

8. Continuously delayed acting in a suit involving D. C. Chapa of Duval County, active political leader of the party that elected Laughlin to office.

The ouster proceedings were taken to the Supreme Court after an earlier failure of anti-Parr forces to get a full investigation in the Legislature. The Constitution provides both routes.

Witnesses called for the hearing include key figures in the South Texas political feuds, law enforcement officers, newspaper reporters, public officials and private citizens. Laughlin himself and Reams, whom he defeated last year, have been subpoenaed.

The only witnesses called so far by Laughlin's counsel are District Judges Roger Thurmond of Del Rio and Arthur A. Klein of Brownsville.

Hearing is set at 10 a.m. Monday in Travis County's 98th District courtroom.

AROUND THE CITY HALL

Orman, In Three Years, Changes Midland's Map

By COPE ROUTH

Stuck away in the tiniest office in City Hall—a second floor cubbyhole barely large enough for his desk—is the man who has one of Midland's toughest official jobs.

He is James Melvin Orman, a 45-year-old soft-spoken former field artillery lieutenant-colonel, who holds the title of director of the Department of Public Works.

This month Orman is winding up his third year on the city's payroll and in those three years he has directed the job of literally changing the map of Midland.

The extent of his job probably surprised some members of the City Council when Orman officially presented a report on the activities of his department.

But in three years he has supervised the construction of some 70 miles of water line and the development of an entirely new supply of water.

He has directed the laying of just about the same amount of sewer lines, along with the construction of of a new sewage disposal plant.

He has built approximately 100 miles of paved streets.

And all this time he has developed into the city's housekeeper.

His trucks haul away 1,100 tons of garbage a month and his fleet of 103 vehicles carry the policemen on their patrols, maintain more than 200 miles of city streets, keep the water and sewer departments functioning and perform a hundred and one other duties.

His department employes 192 of the city's total 349 workers and his monthly payrool is $45,000.

In responsibility, he ranks just under City Manager W. H. Oswalt, who, an engineer himself, directs the overall operations of the city's government.

It was a chance meeting of these two men seven years ago that brought them together again in Midland two years ago to direct the back-breaking task of keeping the city developing in an orderly and efficient fashion.

A native of Round Rock, Texas, Orman attended grade school and high school in Dallas, before going on to Texas A&M, where he was graduated in 1932 with a degree of bachelor of science in engineering.

Tucking away his degree, he joined the State Highway Department in San Angelo and worked two years as a rodman and an instrument man. He worked a year for Sun Oil Company and two years for the Cardinal Oil Company.

And when World War II came along, like all good Texas Aggies, he marched away to war with the rank of lieutenant.

In 1945, after spending 16 months in the European Theater, he left the service with the rank of lieutenant colonel and came back to Texas.

He went to work for the city of Dallas as assistant city plan engineer, just about the time they started remodeling the second-floor of the City Hall there.

Oswalt had come back from the service as a major and, as an assistant to the city manager, was supervising the remodeling job.

The two men met on the job and formed the friendship which brought them together again in Midland.

Orman left the city of Dallas and went to Bryan as city engineer. Oswalt went to Jacksonville as city manager before coming on to Midland at the same job.

When the job of director of the public works department came up, Oswalt sent for Ormen and their team has been functioning ever since.

Midlanders used 346,845,700 gallons of water, one-third more than in July of last year . . . 10 Killed, 58 Hurt As Commuter Trains Collide In England

MANCHESTER, ENGLAND —(AP)—Two speeding commuter trains collided headon Saturday on a bridge, killing 10 persons, injuring 58 and tossing one smashed coach 80 feet into the shallow Irk River.

The southbound Bury-Manchester electric train and the northbound Manchester-Bacup steam train crashed at 7:40 a.m. Many of the passengers were on their way to work in this city's industries.

A coach of the electric train crashed through the barrier of the viaduct-bridge, tore out a 30-foot wide hole and fell into the valley. One end of the car lay in the water.

The engine and two coaches of the steam train and three coaches of the electric train were derailed. Several passengers were thrown into the river.

Witnesses told of seeing a child stumbling among the wreckage crying "Mama" just after the crash. Passengers were seen frantically trying to escape and others, more lucky, staggering along the viaduct, dazed and bleeding.

Hurricane Brushes New England Coast

BOSTON—(AP)—Atlantic hurricane B—for Barbara—swung out to sea Saturday after leaving heavy rains—but little damage—in its wake as it skirted the New England coast.

The Weather Bureau said the hurricane, the second of the season, was about 200 miles at sea by mid-morning and moving northeastward at about 27 miles an hour.

The center of the storm passed within 20 miles of Nantucket Island—crowded with Summer vacationers—about 3:30 a.m., bringing 69-mile-an-hour winds that lashed the island.

Winds of only a little less force buffeted Cape Cod, another crowded Summer resort area some 30 miles to the north of Nantucket.

The heaviest downpours were reported at Block Island, R. I., with 4.86 inches, New Bedford with 4.85, and Falmouth on Cape Code with 3.90 inches.

The tide rose to abnormal highs along the New England coast Friday night; but it had ebbed by the time the hurricane reached the area.

In a few places the high tide swept over beachside roads, but no substantial damage was reported.

Four hours after the hurricane passed Nantucket, the fishing and resort town of Provincetown at the tip of Cape Cod reported winds still reaching 50 miles an hour.

Only minor damage was reported from scattered areas in Rhode Island and Massachusetts which were closest to the storm.

Two cruiser yachts were blown ashore at Block Island and one of them was damaged by rocks. A few yachts, most of them small sailboats, were reported sunk at their moorings at resort harbors.

Only minor dislocations of electric power and telephone service were reported in the sections closest to the storm.

Lawsuits Ask Ban On Three Alleged Galveston Brothels

AUSTIN —(AP)— Suits to ban use of three places as houses of prostitution in Galveston County were filed jointly Saturday by Attorney General John Ben Shepperd and Galveston County Attorney Raymond Magee.

Shepperd's office said the attorney general joined in the suits at the request of various citizens of Galveston County.

Named defendants were Omer B. Coate, William W. Long, and Jessie Elliott, the latter identified as a woman.

The suits were filed in two district courts and asked injunctions against the use of certain places.

Assistant Attorney General Robert P. Trotti said 10-day temporary restraining orders had been granted by judges of 56th and 10th District Courts, and hearings on temporary injunction were set for August 26.

RICHMOND, VA.—(AP)—Mrs. Lottchen Poindexter Harrison, noted for her work in raising funds for lepers, died here Saturday at the age of 81.

Mother Of Airman Accused Of Arson Declares Son Ill

DECATUR, ILL.—(AP)—The mother of a 19-year-old Air Force enlisted man accused of setting fires that caused more than $800,000 damage Saturday said her son had been expecting a medical discharge from the service.

Mrs. Harley G. Miller said she learned through newspaper accounts that her son, Airman 1/c Orville Miller, faces three charges of arson in Wichita Falls. Miller is stationed at Sheppard Air Force Base.

Mrs. Miller said her son suffered a head injury when he was slugged and robbed by three assailants while he was training in Texas last year. She said he had been admitted to service hospitals twice since then for treatment and was awaiting a medical discharge.

She tearfully described Miller as a church-going youth who had "never been in any trouble before."

Excitement Puts Grandma In Bed Eases Rifle Vigil

BALTIMORE —(AP)— Excitement Saturday did what a construction company couldn't—it forced a 57-year-old grandmother to relax her vigil over construction equipment she's impounded in her front yard.

Only Friday, Mrs. Wanda S. Sienkelewski had driven off a landing party bent on recapturing some of the equipment.

Saturday she was in bed. "Too much excitement," her son, Raymond, explained.

He said she has been ordered to bed by a doctor. When she'll get up and resume her rifle guard over the equipment Raymond couldn't say.

All he knew was that the doctor had ordered her to take it easy.

Mrs. S. contends a construction firm has parked equipment on her lawn near Bear Creek without permission. And, she said, they haven't offered a fair rental fee.

Sleepy Man Escapes Death By Donning Clothes Slowly

WACO—(AP)—S. E. Chastain, 30, Waco, figures he missed death in an explosion of his car Saturday because he was sleepy and couldn't get dressed in a hurry.

Chastain, owner and operator of music machines in various taverns around here, said he received a telephone call at 3:10 a.m. He said a man's voice asked him to bring some nickels for change to a Dallas highway tavern where Chastain had a machine.

Chastain said he dressed and went outside toward his pickup truck. When he was 15 or 20 feet away, the front end of the truck blew up. He was stunned but not injured.

"I was half asleep and didn't get dressed quickly—I guess that's the reason I'm alive," he said.

Chastain said he had no idea who caused the explosion.

District Attorney Tom Moore, Jr., and City Detective Capt. Wylie Stem said they had reports of machines owned by Chastain being damaged by vandals.

"It appears somebody is trying to run Chastain out of the music machine business here," Stem said.

Radford Assumes Top Military Job

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Eisenhower Saturday got a new senior military advisor and the military services saluted a new skipper as Adm. Arthur W. Radford took the oath as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

He was sworn in by his veteran soldier predecessor, Gen. Omar N. Bradley, at a Pentagon ceremony attended by high civilian and military leaders.

The unusual procedure of having a new chief sworn in by his predecessor was approved by both men and by Defense Secretary Wilson to underline the orderly turnover of the military high command.

In another Pentagon ceremony, Gen. Mathew B. Ridgway took over from Gen. Lawton Collins as Army chief of staff.

Admiral Radford accepted his mission and congratualations with a brief: "I will try my best." Ridgway delivered a four-minute speech in which he pledged "unquestioning loyalty" to civilian authority and dedicated himself to gaining full respect from all civilians for the men and women in uniform.

A third member of the new military team, Gen. Nathan Twining, Air Force chief of staff, witnessed both swearing-in ceremonies Saturday as a veteran of six weeks in his job. He succeeded Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg on June 30.

Admiral Radford's team will be complete Monday, when Adm. Robert Carney succeeds Adm. William Fechteler as chief of naval operations. As chairman of the joint chiefs, Radford actually commands no forces, but he is charged by law with being the principle military advisor to the defense secretary and the President.

The new chiefs have been given the task of making an exhaustive survey of the nation's defense needs. They will make recommendations which will not only serve as the basis for next year's military budget but which also could change the course of this nation's global strategy.

Radford has gone on record with his belief that the United States cannot hope to compete with the Communists on a manpower basis but he believes "we can build up an organization that can apply superior power at the right time and places."

An outspoken champion of positive policy and action, Radford also has stated that U. S. armed forces must contain mobile elements that can be dispatched quickly to "future Koreas."

Official Notices Bring Happiness, Tears To Texas Homes As POW Stories Unfold

By The Associated Press

Heartbreak and pathos . . . unbounded joy and laughter . . . glad tidings and deep grief. All hit Texas homes Saturday as some prisoners of war were freed and others were reported dead.

There was news that one Texan, Pfc. S. H. Davis of Houston, had escaped from a Red prisoner-of-war stockade. The Communists said 147 Americans have escaped. Davis was the only Texan among the first 36 identified.

So far 69 Texans have been freed by the Communists in the prisoner exchanges in Korea. Three of them, all suffering from tuberculosis contracted in prison, are convalescing at Brooke Army Hospital in San Antonio.

Three Texans released Saturday (Korean time) were Pfc. Jose Rodrigues, Sherman; Pfc. Thomas R. Peasner, Jr., Lancaster; and Sgt. Louis Amador, Mathis.

The Communists said Saturday a total of 1,022 Americans died in captivity. Release of the Saturday (Korean time) list left the names of 644 yet to be made public.

Another 26 Texans have been reported dead by the Communists. Just how they met death in prison has not been revealed. The latest announced dead include:

Pfc. Fred Beddingfield, Windom, Fannin County; M/Sgt. Guenther A. Burrer, Fredericksburg; Pvt. Jimmine J. Gaitan, San Antonio; Pfc. Henry Gonzales, Mexia; Pfc. Leo H. Williams, Dallas; Pfc. Hames R. Wagner, Rockwall; S/C. John Wheeler, Dallas; A1/3 Thomas B. Evans, Jr., Fort Worth; Air Force Capt. Grant W. Simpson, Austin.

Pfc. Felipe A. Champion, son of Mrs. Silveria O. Garza, Brownsville; Cpl. Charles J. Cline, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jordon E. Cline, Hankamer; Lt. Col. Burt N. Coers, husband of Mrs. Jayne Coers, Fort Sam Houston; Cpl. Robert J. Hughes, godson of Mrs. Osceolia Reed, Galveston.

Cpl. James T. Nash, husband of Mrs. Imogene B. Nash, Seagraves; Cpl. Oliver L. Pruitt, son of Mrs. John Polk, El Paso; Sgt. L. C. Earl C. Porter, son of Mrs. Georgia Porter, Dallas; Cpl. Frank L. Sandoval, husband of Mrs. Guadalupe Sandoval, San Antonio; Pfc. Frederick G. Sutton, son of Mrs. Carrie Sutton, Texarkana.

'Just Small Fellow'

Pfc. Davis' mother predicted in Houston that her son would make it back home. Mrs. Ygnacio Davis, said her son was an expert at "sweet talk" and "just a small fellow but he is a fighter and never gives up." Davis is five feet two inches tall, she said and "no heavyweight."

Some parents refused to believe their sons dead, but in Texarkana Mrs. Carrie Sutton, mother of Pfc. Sutton, said "somehow or other I believe it." Sutton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Sutton, was reported missing Feb. 18, 1951.

In Galveston, Mrs. Osceolia Reed said, "Thank God," when told her soldier was dead. "At least I know he can't be hurt anymore by the Communists," she added. Cpl. Robert J. Hughes, 28, was her godson.

"Now I know," said Mrs. Reed.

Joyed By Release

Mrs. John Rodrigues, mother of Pfc. Jose Rodrigues, 23, wept with joy when told her son had been freed. "And I think I'm going to cry, too," Jose's sister, Juanita said.

"In every letter he wrote that they were treating him good," Juanita said. "But he's always tried to sound cheerful. We didn't know what to believe . . . You know how it is."

Rodrigues has been a prisoner since April 1950.

"Boy, are we happy," Juanita added.

Mrs. Thomas J. Gaitain, San Antonio, was grief-stricken when told her son had been reported dead by the Reds. She recalled her son had written that in a war people had to be killed.

Young Wife Weeps

An image of the Virgin Mary is in a shrine Mrs. Gaitain built in her front yard for her son several months ago. He was captured Feb. 3, 1951.

There was more heartbreak at the home of Cpl. Frank L. Sandoval, 22, who was one of the first to go to Korea. His wife sobbed as she told of getting the news of her husband's death.

"It was two years, seven months and seven days yesterday," she said, "since he was made a prisoner and that's the day the Army told me he was dead."

Mrs. Guadalupe Sandoval and her husband had two children, Alejandro, five and Frank, Jr., three.

Only Woman Senator Hopes Others Will Seek Election

WASHINGTON —(AP)— For five years now, Mrs. Margaret Chase Smith has been the only woman among 96 men in what has been called the most exclusive men's club in the world—the United States Senate.

How have they treated her?

"Most of them, just fine. I wanted to be regarded as a senator, not just as a woman senator. I am not a feminist."

But Mrs. Smith is anxious to have other women join her in the Senate. She is not anxious to defeat any of her present male colleagues, but is confident that some woman replacements would strengthen the government.

"Real peace would be installed and guaranteed if we had more women in the United Nations and in top government positions of the various nations of the world," she said.

Attractive, energetic and always stylishly dressed, the one time 10-cent store clerk, telephone operator, school teacher and business executive long has urged other women to be more active in politics at all levels.

MARGARET CHASE SMITH . . . Lonesome in the Senate.

Voters of Main have sent her to Washington ever since 1940—first as a House member to succeed her late husband, then to the Senate in 1948 as the first woman ever to be elected to both chambers of Congress.

She is one of the hardest-working members of Congress. This plus seniority has won her places on three of the most important Senate committees, Appropriations, Armed Services and Government Operations.

Gins May Utilize Large Mesh Screens

AUSTIN—(AP)—Texas farmers now may use a larger mesh screen in crushing cotton burrs and gin trash, State Agriculture Commissioner John C. White announced Saturday.

Modification of the mandatory treatment of burrs and gin trash was ordered after experiments showed a two-inch mesh screen was just as effective as the one-inch in killing pink bollworm, White said. The larger mesh will require less powerful grinders and permit processing of more burrs per hour.

Visitor In City Recovers After Wrists Slashed

A 26-year-old St. Louis, Mo., woman was recovering Saturday from what police described as an attempt to take her own life Friday afternoon.

The woman was identified as Mrs. Jane Brawley Schmidt, who had been staying in a hotel here since August 9.

She was found in her room Friday afternoon with a slashed wrist. Detective Sgt. Walter Fields said she also apparently had taken an overdose of sedative.

She was rushed to Midland Memorial Hospital, where she was reported in good condition Saturday afternoon.

Police said no reason was given for the apparent suicide attempt.

Calm Analysis Of POW Stories Shows Few Captured GI's Turned Progressive

By FORREST EDWARDS

FREEDOM VILLAGE, KOREA—(AP)—Nowhere near as many American prisoners of war succumbed to Communist indoctrination or turned informer against fellow POW's as stories told by men returning from Red prison camps would seem to indicate.

That is an opinion and a conclusion based on evaluation and correlation of the stories, the emotional condition of the men who told them, conditions under which they originated in prison camps and the conditions under which they were told.

Almost every repatriate interviewed by newsmen in the first 11 days of Operation Big Switch told of "progressives"—the name prisoners used for men who fell or at least seemed to fall for Communist indoctrination. Those who resisted were known as "reactionaries."

Many said they either personally knew or had heard of American POW's who turned informer.

Constant Repetition

There is no doubt that each Red prison camp did have some men who played the Communist game. Some even spied on other prisoners and reported their activities to the Reds.

Some prisoners were beaten, tortured or thrown into solitary confinement because these spies carried tales to Communist guards and prison authorities.

But the constant repetition of these stories by repatriate after repatriate tends to distort the picture.

Close analysis of the stories rules out any impression that there were large numbers of progressives and men who "squealed" against other prisoners.

Many stories, particularly those about informers, have differences that at first glance would make them appear to be separate actions. But on closer examination many of them apparently involve the same small group or individual informer.

A sizable percentage of the stories are hearsay only.

An American Army officer or censor sat in on each Freedom Village interview. He would stop any attempt by the returned POW's to name the alleged informer or to identify him in any other way. In itself, this was justified. It prevents unjust accusation, by name. But it prevents newsmen from checking individual story against individual story and fact against fact.

It permits individual cases to be duplicated.

Too, the emotional and mental condition of the men themselves, both while they were prisoners and now that they are returned, must be considered carefully.

Months in prison builds up strong, sometimes unreasoning resentment. It is easy for a man under such conditions first to start suspecting and then believing that another man is getting a bit more food, a bit better treatment. It is only one step more to believing it is because the other man is collaborating with the guards or authorities.

Some Accused Unjustly

Each repatriate had his own definition of "progressive."

Some lumped all men who attended Communist indoctrination lectures without protest as "progressives," even though attendance was compulsory.

Some said they did not consider a man a "progressive" unless he either informed on his fellows or tried to recruit others to communism.

A few said POW's were accused unjustly of being progressives just because they did not openly rebel against indoctrination lectures or openly defy the Communists.

One young repatriate told me: "Maybe some of the men think I was a pro. I went to the Communist lectures. I did not argue and I took the phamphlets they handed me without arguing. There was no use trying to fight going to classes. The Chinese had us and I knew it.

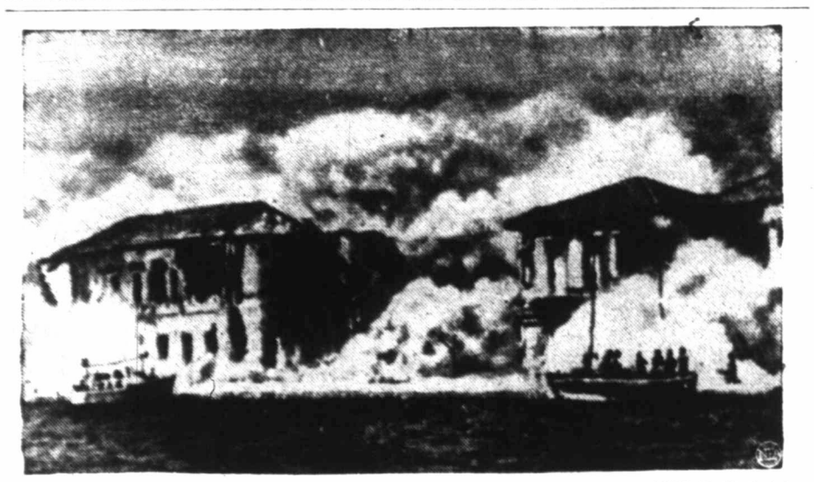

Harder For Everyone

"I got along as well as I could because it was foolish to do anything else. The guys who argued with the instructors and sassed the guards did not help themselves and they did not help the rest of us.

"They just made it harder for everyone because the Chinese would take it out on all of us when they got sore. But just because I went to the lectures and took the pamphlets does not mean I believed what the Chinese told me. I am not a Communist and never was—at any time."

I asked him his name but he refused to give it.

"You use my name," he said, "and when I go home people will look at me and wonder if I really was a progressive. All I want is to go home and live a normal life. Some of these men are going to be branded for life as Commie-lovers when they are no such things."

EARTHQUAKE'S RUIN—Dust clouds partially envelop damaged buildings in Argostoli, Greece, as two small boats remove survivors from the quayside. The tremors which rocked the islands off Greece's West Coast seven successive days seemed to be dying Saturday.

Carrier Roosevelt Joins Mercy Fleet Off Ionian Islands

ATHENS —(AP)— The U. S. aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt joined the international mercy fleet off the Ionian islands Saturday to serve as a floating base for air relief of the quake-stricken people.

The 45,000-ton giant from the U. S. 6th Fleet and seven supporting ships dropped anchor at Argostolion, the ruined chief port of Kefallinia, to help ease the misery left there and on the neighboring islands of Ithaca and Zakinthos by earthquakes estimated to have killed more than 1,000 persons.

More than 40 other ships—American, British, Israeli and Greek—already were on the scene, with labor details, medical teams and kitchen crews seeking to bring order from the chros.

Vice Adm. John H. Cassady, commander of the 6th Fleet, said the situation "still is serious," but the relief operation now is functioning smoothly and the tempo is increasing.

Some after-shocks still rumbled in the islands, where many among the population of 120,000 have had no shelter and little food for six days. U. S. rescue teams reached one group of 200 survivors who had had nothing to eat for 48 hours. Mirror flashes in the sun and waving shirts showed airlift pilots the location of other groups seeking succor.

Officials of the Athens Observatory would not say the quake danger was completely passed, but expressed the view there probably won't be any further big ones immediately. Instruments have recorded 110 tremors during the week, ranging in intensity from "destructive" to Saturday's "feeble."

East Texas Bell Workers Leave Jobs

By The Associated Press

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company union employes at Beaumont and Orange walked out Saturday "in sympathy" with the day-old walkout at nearby Port Arthur.

The 400 who walked out at Beaumont were the largest group. Ninety phone workers at Orange walked off their job at 3:30 p.m. Saturday. About 225 workers were out at Port Arthur.

The Port Arthur union members had quit work in protest against hiring of what they called "an outside person" for an opening in the business office here.

Jack Bailey, Bell manager at Orange, said 15 management employes had been assembled to take the place of off-duty operators and that by 6 p.m. service was "about normal."

B. J. Lemoine, president of the CIO Communications Workers of America local at Port Arthur, said the work stoppage there was a protest against "injustice to senior employes denied a higher rated job."

Bert Lloyd, company manager at Port Arthur, said he considered the walkout unnecessary and unjustified. He said the contract with the union has provisions for handling grievances of that sort.

McCarthy Declares Washington Editor Abuses Press Rights

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senator McCarthy (R-Wis) called on a group of newspaper editors Saturday to investigate his charge that James Russell Wiggins, managing editor of the Washington Post and a critic of McCarthy, has "prostituted and endangered" freedom of the press.

Wiggins immediately issued a statement saying nothing would please him more than to have a study made of the Post's "full, accurate and fair news coverage of and editorial comment on the public career of Senator McCarthy." He accused McCarthy of "evading the issues."

Wiggins was chairman of a special committee of the American Society of Newspaper Editors which studied the question whether McCarthy's closed-door questioning of James A. Wechsler, editor of the New York Post, threatened freedom of the press.

The 11-member ASNE committee issued a report earlier in the week saying in effect that, after a two-month study, they had failed to agree on any clear-cut answer.

However, four of the editors, including Wiggins, submitted a separate statement calling the interrogation of Wechsler a definite threat to freedom of the press.

Brain Surgery Fails To Aid Victim Of Mystery Shooting

AMARILLO —(AP)— Brain surgery apparently has failed to help Walter Ellis remember details of a mysterious double shooting near here last week.

Officers had hoped removal of a bullet from the former Air Force major's head would help his memory and also restore his sight. Questioning of the 46-year-old Neward, N. J., man Friday indicated the operation had failed on both counts.

Ellis was found seriously wounded, shot through the back of the head, last Saturday sitting in a shallow water hole on the Frying Pan Ranch near here. About 150 yards away on a hilltop was the body of Mrs. Sarah Matila Taylor, 56, Tulsa, also shot through the back of the head.

Ellis told Sheriff Paul Gaither Friday the last thing he remembers is that he and Mrs. Taylor were sitting on a hill. He said he had a revolver in his hip pocket after engaging in some target practice. A 38 caliber pistol was found near Mrs. Taylor's body.

Officers said paraffin tests on the hands of both Mrs. Taylor and Ellis failed to reveal any traces of nitrate. This was a test to determine if either fired the pistol. They said this was not conclusive because her body had begun to decompose and Ellis' hands had been immersed in water for possibly 24 hours.

Gypsies Start Annual Trek To Gonzaga's 'Romany' Fair

ROME—(AP)—Want to see a gypsy girl barefooted all the way up, dance by harvest moonlight to appease the ancient river gods?

Hasten by all means to tiny Gonzaga, in the wheatlands of Italy's Po River Valley. Be there September 5.

But come without illusions. Many cynical modern day observers doubt it will happen this year, for all that it's a tradition half a thousand years old.

Gypsies have gone modern, too. When reporters and movie cameramen start showing up in the village of Gonzaga next month, they'll find the sun-bronzed children of the highways looking down their noses at many of the old customs.

Some in modern limousines, many in trucks, and families by the score in horse-drawn wagons already are crossing North Italy for the annual Gonzaga Fair of the "Romany folk."

They've entered Northwest Italy from France and Spain in their annual trek. Others are filtering throug from the mountain passes of the Northeast, saying they are from Slovakia, Bohemia, Moravia, Transylvania, Hungary—and as far as Armenia.

Only they know how long their journey really was, or how they crossed forbidden borders.

The ceremony of the nude virgin dance dates back to the fourteenth century and—so the gypsies say—has taken place regularly ever since.

Back in those days of knights and princes, the Duke of Mantova set aside a bit of land between the Po and Mincio Rivers, near Gonzaga, and said gypsies could camp there as they would.

They did. But along came a flood one wet year and many drowned. So since that time, according to their tradition, they have had the dance once each year by harvest moon to appease the river gods and let the Romany folk camp in peace.

Grateful Jay Repays Debt To California Benefactor

BEVERLY HILLS, CALIF.—(AP)—Several months ago, Mrs. Maxine Karp noticed a one-legged bluejay in her front yard. It was coming out second best competing for food with fellow jays.

She started feeding the bird. Before long it was coming around three times a day for meals. Mrs. Karp named it Baby Blue.

Saturday the crippled jay repaid the months of kindness.

When Mrs. Karp walked into her yard with a handful of crackers, Baby Blue fluttered violently around her, chattering shrilly in great agitation.

The woman looked down and saw a rattlesnake in a clump of ivy at her feet. She quickly got a shovel and killed the rattler, which she plans to convert into a snakeskin belt.

Five 'Death Trap' Victims Interred

WEST MEMPHIS, ARK. —(AP)—A grief-stricken father interred four sons and a daughter Saturday, then got his axe and smashed the old icebox in which they were trapped and suffocated.

The victims were the youngest children of a tenant farmer, J. A. Hallman—the first to die in a recent series of icebox "death traps" that shocked the nation.

Hallman, eyes puffed with weeping, pounded the old box to splinters and burned the wreckage in a cotton patch beside his home.

"That old box cost me five dollars," he gasped, slamming the axe into the brittle wood, "but it sure lost me a lot more."

Two boys who died in a similar tragedy also were interred Saturday at Haverhill, Mass.

Three of four boys who smothered in an old icebox at Richmond, Va., were interred Friday. Funeral services for the fourth will be held in Taft, Texas.

The emotion-packed Hallman funeral drew about 200 neighbors and friends, many from out-of-state. The stiff, curiously doll-like bodies, in white coffins against a bank of flowers, reduced many to tears.

Mrs. Hallman, 28, shaken by sobs, her face streaming with bitter tears, kissed each child before the coffin lids were closed and cried over each blonde head:

"God bless you, darling . . . oh, God bless you."

Her lean, sun-dried husband bowed his head against her shoulder and covered his face during the brief, simple services—and held his two surviving children in comforting embrace afterward.

The cemetery, a flat stretch of green in the hot sun, was bordered by cotton fields similar to the one in which Mrs. Hallman was working when her children climbed into the icebox and somehow slammed the lid last Wednesday.

Hallman, 34, was in Rockford, Ill., when the accident happened. He had left to work in the city because a drouth made it tough to make a living on the farm.

The chain of accidents will mean the end of many an old icebox—each a potential death trap for venturesome children. More than 100 youngsters have died in such traps during the last five years.

Longview Woman Charged In Fatal Tavern Shooting

LONGVIEW —(AP)— Faye Young, 23, Longview, was charged with murder Saturday in the fatal shooting Friday night of George Edd McNeal, 29, Paris, Texas.

Sheriff Noble Crawford said McNeal was shot during an altercation with Miss Young's stepfather, Bill Thomas, at a drive-in cafe just outside the city limits. Crawford said Miss Young, Max Ponder of Jefferson, her mother and stepfather had just arrived at the cafe when the altercation broke out.

The sheriff said McNeal was under bond pending retrial on a murder charge in connection with a February 22 slaying at Hugo, Okla. The first trial resulted in a hung jury.

12 New Texas Prison Dead, One More Escapee Reported

By The Associated Press

The Defense Department late Saturday released names of 12 more Texans the Communists say died while Korean War prisoners of the Reds.

This brings to 38 the number of Texans reported by the Reds to have died in prison camps.

Meanwhile, the name of a second soldier from Texas said to have escaped from Communist captivity was released.

The Defeense Department emphasized once more that Communist lists of purported dead and escaped prisoners have not been verified.

These were on Saturday's late list of dead:

Cpl. Charles E. Alexander, Dublin; Sgt. Clyde A. Fanning, Tyler; Sgt. James R. Ford, Tyler; Pfc. James H. Hamilton, Beaumont; Sgt. Robert C. Harris, Crosby; Sgt. Walter Harris, Corsicana; Pfc. Curtis A. Keith, Wharton; Cpl. James R. Martin, Thornton; Sgt. Willie C. Pritchett, Corpus Christi; M. Sgt. Iva B. Tadlock, San Antonio; Cpl. Bobby D. Tanner, Archer City, and Cpl. Elmer T. Wilson, Leakey.

On a second list of reportedly escaped prisoners released Saturday was Sgt. Baldomero Anzaluda, husband of Mrs. Helina Anzaluda, Raymondville. Pfc. S. H. Davis, Houston, was on the first "escape list" Friday.

Eisenhower Clears Way For Four New Brazos River Dams

MINERAL WELLS. —(AP)— President Eisenhower Saturday cleared the way for construction of four new dams on the Brazos River.

He signed a bill that removes a federal cloud on Possum Kingdom Lake, controlled by the Brazos River Authority—a state agency.

Before this cloud was removed, the Brazos authority was crippled in attempts to build the four new dams below Possum Kingdom with revenue bonds.

The new dams will be developed without federal money.

Under previous federal regulations, the Federal Power Commission could have "recaptured" Possum Kingdom in 1988. It was this recapture clause in the law which was removed by President Eisenhower's signature.

The Brazos Authority plans to build power dams at Turkey Creek, Inspiration Point, Decordova Bend and Bee Mountain.

All will be between Possum Kingdom and Lake Whitney.

The new dams will be dependent on Possum Kingdom above them for controlled water storage. In effect, Possum Kingdom will be the mother lake.

Since the dams are to be financed by revenue bonds, and the bonds would be for 50 years—extending beyond the recapture date—the agency would have faced difficulty in obtaining such loans. Bond buyers would hesitate to finance state dams that might become dependent on a federal agency before they were paid for.

John D. McCall, Dallas, general counsel for the Brazos River Authority, hailed President Eisenhower's approval of the bill as a means of allowing states to help themselves. The legislation applies to similar situations in other states.

McCall, when he appeared before a Senate committee to argue for the legislation, explained that the state-owned dams could "not be self-liquidating unless Possum Kingdom can be operated in conjunction."

Brownell Declares Wetback Problem Almost Intolerable

LOS ANGELES —(AP)— The problem of Mexican wetbacks has reached such serious proportions, Attorney General Herbert Brownell said Saturday, that "the present situation cannot continue much longer."

He said he intends to make recommendations in existing laws when he returns to Washington after his fact finding tour of the Far West.

Brownell flew here Saturday from the Southern California-Mexico border area where he discussed the wetback problem with farm, labor, civic and government groups.

He told a press conference farmers don't want to employ wetbacks.

"The farmers are interested in getting workers who are here legally . . . We are aiming for a sufficient supply of legal labor. But we must be careful to see that American workmen are not displaced or wage levels depressed by alien labor."

India-Pakistan Near Crisis In Showdown For Kashmir

NEW DELHI, INDIA —(AP)— Indians and Pakistanis started their seventh year of freedom this weekend under the clouds of a new crisis in their struggle for the mountain-walled lakeland of Kashmir.

Sober Independence Day observances in Karachi Friday and in New Delhi Saturday showed a growing anxiety over that issue, amid internal danger signs within both nations.

A dramatic showdown meeting here Sunday between Indian Prime Minister Nehru and Pakistani Prime Minister Mohammed Ali could ease the tension. Or it could bring a fresh threat of war.

A week ago, the outlook for friendly Indian-Pakistani relations had never seemed brighter. Nehru and Mohammed Ali had met cordially in London at the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II in June. They sat down together in Karachi late in July to seek a broad settlement of their differences. They scheduled further talks in September, and many observers predicted the future of Kashmir would be decided at that time.

Then a sudden chain of events inside the largely Moslem border state, climaxed by the arrest of independence-minded Premier Sheik Mohammed Abdullah and the Nehru-backed installation August 9 of a new, frankly pro-Indian regime, infuriated Pakistan's Moslem people. Mohammed Ali called an emergency Cabinet meeting and decided not to wait until September to see Nehru again.

Nehru, who was cheered and feted on his arrival in Pakistan's capital July 25, urged the citizens of New Delhi to receive Mohammed Ali enthusiastically.

"He should be welcomed with the same warmth of spirit as I found in Karachi," the Prime Minister told a throng estimated at 100,000 in an Independence Day address.

West Texas Gas Observes Twenty-Fifth Anniversary

West Texas Gas Company celebrates its twenty-fifth anniversary in Midland this year.

This is a story that started in 1927—June 1. On this date the first man employed, R. F. Hinchey, now chairman of the board of West Texas Gas Company, started recruiting the men who built the original natural gas line from the Panhandle Gas Field to the North and South Plains and the Permain Basin of Texas.

This event, too, was the beginning of a new way of life for the people of this area. Natural gas service has been, and now is, a real boon to convenient and healthful living and to commerical and industrial development. Adequate, dependable natural gas service, at low cost, contributes its share to the economy of Midland and all of the other cities and communities served.

Widespread Facilities

Since the day construction began, the company, continually has extended and enlarged its facilities to keep abreast of the continued growth of the West Texas Empire.

The company now operates seven compressor stations along the more than 900 miles of transmission lines to gring natural gas to cities and communities. Approximately another 1,000 miles of city distribution mains are required to carry gas from the scores of town border stations and district regulators to the customers' homes and businesses.

The natural gas distributed by the company throughout the West Texas Empire it serves comes from six sources: (1) Red River Gas Company in the Panhandle Gas Field, (2) and (3) El Paso Natural Gas Company's Panhandle-to-California line at Umbarger and Amherst, (4) El Paso's Goldsmith Processing Plant in Ector County, (5) several producing companies in the Homann Field in Gaines County, and (6) the Ropes Field in Hockley County.

More than 390 field and plant men, compressor station operators, engineers, draftmen, dispatchers, construction and maintainance men, bookkeepers, clerks, servicemen, meter readers and other skilled employes are required in order to give customers the best gas service possible. The continuous supply of natural gas, 24-hours-a-day, is controlled by dispatchers and plant men who keep around-the-clock watch over the movement of the fuel.

West Texas is a young country and 25 years is a long time in its history. One has only to check the history of the area to find historians writing about the open ranges, prairie schooners and buffalo hunters of the 1890's. It was not until the decade of 1900 to 1910 that the area began to be settled.

During the period from 1910 to 1920 coal and cows furnished the fuel for the early pioneers with which they cooked. One historian in writing about this period said that coal cost about fifteen dollars a ton at this time but that it cost about seventeen dollars a ton to have it hauled into the area.

Natural Gas Empire

The latter part of the next 10 years saw the building of natural gas lines throughout this expansive and now well-recognized West Texas Empire. Natural gas became, and is now, the predominant fuel for cooking, water heating and house heating.

Records reveal that the area enjoyed an immediate boom following the laying of natural gas lines.

The above illustrates the growth of the area which is often justifiably discribed, "The Fastest-Growing Section In The U. S. A."

Natural gas service has played, and will continue to play a paramount part in the building and industrial development of this West Texas Empire.

Girls Town Profits As Old Maids Of Denton 'Step Out'

DENTON —(AP)— Denton's old maids kicked up their heels again Saturday. It was the fourth annual Old Maids Day.

A theater party at Denton's largest movie house began the festivities. All old maids brave enough to admit their spinsterhood were admitted free.

In the lobby, a representative from a Denton florist gave each a long-stemmed red rose.

And during a special intermission, Theater Manager J. P. Harrison welcomed the old maids, wished them many happy returns of the day.

Saturday's celebration didn't include the customary Country Club teas, parties and gifts. There was a reason.

The old maids asked this year that anyone who wished to remember his favorite old maid send a contribution instead to Girls Town, a home for homeless girls at Whiteface, near Lubbock and Levelland.

Last year the old maids made the same request and got about $200 in their Girls Town fund.

Sports—PARLEY

By CHARLEY ESKEW

Outlining the sports scene hereabouts:

Roswell Manager Pat Stasey looked as much like a prophet as a crackerjack pilot Saturday when his team stood but seven games from fourth place after a double win over Artesia Friday.

Pat, who usually is a quick one to reap a profit from the game, amazed other managers by his refusal to sell any Rockets when he last toured Texas. He would not bolster any possible playoff foes—no sir, he claimed, not since it was evident that "Artesia is on its way down."

Time, however, may run out on Pat, considering that less than a month remains in this year's regular Longhorn League race. But Pat, at least, is proving a lesson in optimism. The Rockets have made up five games on Artesia since August 1 on a nine-win records.

Cherry Misses A Bet

Don Cherry and Tommy Bolt, the top tantrum-twosome of golf, won't be in the August 27 Odessa Pro-Am field as scheduled and more than the Odessa golf club is disappointed.

Young Wendy Green, 17-year-old Ranchland Hill shop boy, had proposed to Midland Country Club Pro Boyd Huff that Cherry and Bolt be invited here a day in advance of the tourney for a private match.

There's a little thing like Cherry's 1-up win over Green in the 1952 Hobbs finals that Green would like to avenge . . .

But while Odessa will lose Cherry to the Walker Cup team (which departs for England August 39), the crooner may at least play in Midland this year. The state PGA tourney, scheduled in October over Ranchland's layout, was planned to avoid any conflicts with Walker Cup and Ryder Cup matches . . .

Pro-Am Loses Coe Too

Pro Bill Oliver of Odessa has said that without Cherry, Bolt probably won't be a contender in his club's $7,500 event. Another announced twosome, Amateur Charley Coe and Pro Dutch Harrison, both from Oklahoma, will likely pull out of the Odessa play also . . .

The Midland teams planning to compete are Boyd Huff-Williard Crenshaw of Dallas, Buddy Branum-J. C. Hardwicke of Houston, Abe Beckman-Wendy Green, Walter Thompson-Red Watkins, Shirley Robbins-Gene Gregston of Fort Worth and Jay McClure to choose a partner. . .

Pat Garner, whom the golf writers along the women's tourney circuit call Princess Pat, wound up a holiday from the game last week by trimming both Huff and Beckman through nine holes of play on the Ranchland course. She had a 37—including two bogies and a birdie—as she started first preparations for her next tournament bid—at the Women's National Amateur August 24. Long-driving Pat last played in May at the Southern where she reached the semi-finals.

Contest To End Season

The final note about golf is that Pat Patteson, the high school coach, who'll soon be back on the gridiron with the Bulldogs, plans about two more weeks of activity at his Midland Driving Range, climaxed by a long-hitting contest August 29.

Patteson will give away an expensive golf prize during the contest and is setting up the tourney entries this week and the first part of next week. He announced Saturday that those who practice before the tourney will get one free drive for each bucketfull of practice balls.

His season for the driving range, he said, ends right after the contest.

Hightower, Branum Surprise Favorites In Ranchland Play

Two Tangle In 36-Hole Duel Sunday

A couple of pals, Bill Hightower and Buddy Branum, staged upsets in the Ranchland Hill Country Club golf tourney semi-finals Saturday and planned thereafter to "keep an eye on each other" for an even start in Sunday's final rounds.

After Hightower eliminated the 1951 titlist Bob Wortman, 6 and 5, and Branum beat the defending champ, Red Watkins, 1-up, Branum said "We're staying together and if he wants to party, we'll party; if he wants to get lots of sleep, I will, too."

So at that rate, the two start on equal footing at 9 a.m. for the first 18-holes of the two-round championship match Sunday. They'll tee off for the incoming-18 at 1:30 p.m.

Hightower rules as a slight favorite on the basis on his fine stroking against Wortman. He not only caught the city champion playing cold but wound-up two-under par through 13 holes picking up his second win over an ex-Ranchland titlist. He beat Kit Carson in the first round.

He moved ahead of Wortman even as he missed the No. 1 green and built up a five-hole margin through nine holes; he needed only one birdie and pars when Wortman soared to a four-over figure.

Hightower, a Lloyds Of Midland executive who's playing his first time in the Ranchland club tourney, burdied his second straight hole on four-par No. 10 to gain the eventual margin. But he saw Wortman rally with a birdie-three on No. 12 before he closed out with a par-four win on No. 13.

Branum, Tri-Service Drilling company president, picked out two vital points that enabled him to whip Watkins, his first top flight success after three years. He claimed he had "never got to first base" in three other tries at Ranchland.

For one bit of luck Saturday Branum dropped a 50-foot put on No. 8 to go 2-up over the tourney medalist. He turned to the last nine holes 3-u pwith a win on No. 9.

After Watkins rallied for wins on No's. 10 and 12, Branum picked up another grain of luck when the 1952 winner booted a pitch shot on the 545-yard No. 15.

Branum won the hole and held on as Watkins gained one back on No. 17. Branum finished the 18 holes with a 73—two over par.

Seven champions and consolation winners will be decided in Sunday's duels. L. B. Putman beat Cooper Daugherty, 1-up in 19, in the seventh flight finals and L. F. Mullin tripped F. S. McLaren, 2 and 1, in the flight's consolations Saturday.

(For complete Saturday results, see TOURNEY SCOREBOARD, page 11.)

Interest Lagging In City Net Meet

Interest was lagging in the Midland Tennis Tournament Saturday as only a few entries had been received by Myrt Baker, registration chairman.

Baker announced registration would close at 5:30 p.m. Sunday. Prospective entries may drop by the Midland Youth Center or call 2-1352 to enter, he said.

Thus far, none of the heralded stars who announced intention of entering have done so. Chick Harris, former Southwest Conference champion, was figured as the man to beat, but he had not entered through Saturday.

Only 11 entries had been received by Saturday night in the men's singles, while only seven women and 10 boys had registered.

Barbara Miller, defending champion in the women's singles, and a pair of high school performers, Janna and Wanda Murray, headed the women's division.

Joe Frailey, Stanley Bellows, Bryan Elder and John Galle topped the men's singles entries while Jim Wolfe and Bill Vandeventer were the outstanding boy's singles entrants.

Baker said pairings would be drawn Sunday night. Play begins Tuesday.

DAWSON NAMED MOST VALUABLE 'STAR' PLAYER

CHICAGO — (AP) — Halfback Gib Dawson of Texas, who scored a touchdown and a field goal as his collegiate mates Friday night lost to the Detroit Lions, 24-10, Saturday was named the game's most valuable all-star performer by sports writers.

Dawson's running skill and his 29-yard field goal was credited with keeping the Lions from making a rout of the game.

Although not a unanimous choice, Dawson easily outdistanced the other nine players named in the balloting.

Jim Sears, Southern California's fleet halfback, whose handling of kicks constantly threatened the Lions, and Dick Modzelewski, 245-pound defensive tackle from Maryland, tied for second place honors.

Other collegians named included Val Joe Walker, Southern Methodist, and Harley Sewell, Texas guard.

CINCINNATI —(AP)— Harvey Haddix hurled fine ball for seven innings Saturday and smashed three hits himself as the St. Louis Cardinals blasted Cincinnati, 10-4, but the 27-year-old lefty had to be taken out in the eighth when the Redlegs rallied for their four runs.

Colts Down 'Ashers, 4-3

SAN ANGELO —(AP)— The San Angelo Colts defeated the Carlsbad Potashers Saturday night, 4-3 to gain a split in their four-game series and boost their Longhorn League lead to three and one-half games.

The Colts capitalized on erratic Carlsbad fielding as Bobby Gregg chalked up his sixteenth win of the season against seven defeats.

The Colts drew first blood in the second frame on a walk to Bill Winn and singles by John Jeandron and Gregg.

Carlsbad tied it in the top of the fourth on Don Riley's solo homer. The Colts came right back with two runs in the bottom of the inning, but both tallies were contributed by Carlsbad fielding.

John Malgarini led off with a single but was forced at second by Winn. Rudy Briner's slow roller to third was thrown wild by John Treece, Winn stopping at third. Jeandron hit back to Pitcher Gene Wulf who threw wild to first, both Winn and Briner scoring.

Carlsbad again contributed a run in the fifth when Malgarini singled and moved to third when Carlsbad Shortstop Gene Grant allowed Winn's perfect double play ball to roll through his legs for an error.

Malgarini counted on Jeandron's fly to left.

Carlsbad closed the gap to one run with a pair of scores in the seventh.

Odessa Breaks Midland's Domination Of Swim Meet

Odessa, paced by Judy Voss, Billy King, Valton Jackson, and Phillip Barnes, broke Midland's five-year domination of the West Texas Invitational Swimming Championships Saturday at VFW Pool by compiling 223 points to Midland's 202.

The Odessa team captured 21 first places to Midland's nine. Sweetwater, which placed third with 104 points, had three firsts, 12 seconds and six thirds. Crane's Don Crawford scored three triumphs to earn 18 points.

Gail Black, and Doug Muir were Midland's most effective performers. The young Miss Black captured a pair of firsts and a second as well as anchoring two relay teams.

Muir took one first, two thirds and was on two relay teams.

Star of the meet, however, was Miss Voss, who swam in the 15-and-under division. She placed first in the 100-yard and 50-yard freestyle events, the 50-yard breaststroke and led off two relay teams to easily outdistance any other female performer in individual points.

King also was a three-time victor in the boys, 15-16 division. He also was on two winning relay teams.

Almost all of Odessa's points were on firsts, seconds and thirds. The Odessans had 10 seconds and five thirds. Midland had 12 seconds, 11 thirds and numerous fourths, fifths and sixths to beat Sweetwater for second.

By winning the Clint Dunagan Memorial Trophy, Odessa broke a chain of five Midland triumphs. It is the first time any team except Midland has captured the trophy.

The meet was sponsored by the Midland Junior Chamber of Commerce, which received an assist from the VFW who provided the facilities at half price.

Complete swimming results may be found on page 9.

Officials' Group To Meet Monday

Jerry Covington, secretary-treasurer of the Midland-Odessa Football Officials Association, has announced the group's first meeting of the year will be held at 7:45 p.m. Monday in the Odessa High School gym.

Purpose of the meeting is to familiarize coaches and officials with the 1953 rules interpretations. All area officials and coaches are urged to attend.

C. C. Mason of Midland is president of the organization and T. D. (Lefty) Roberson of McCamey is vice president.

Indians Defeat Oilers In Wild Fifth Frame

ODESSA — Midland's reshuffled linuep attacked Charley Craig with a vengeance in the fifth inning Saturday night to drive him from the box and rack up an 8-4 triumph over the Oilers.

Odessa had built up a 3-0 lead on Jack Schaening over the first three innings before the Indians found the range for seven runs against Craig in the fifth. The Tribe then quienting down to Glen Selbo's first home run of the season in the seventh and coasted in to the victory.

The two clubs move to Midland for a two-game series beginning Sunday. Game time at Indian Park is 5 p.m. Fred Rodrigues is the probable Midland pitcher. He probably will be opposed by Manny Rodriguez, Joe Ruiz or Bill Blackburn.

Odessa jumped on Schaening for a single run in the opening inning, and it looked like the Tribe righthander would meet his Waterloo in Odessa again. His first outing for the Indians was a 2-1 loss in Oiler Park. However, Schaening settled down after yielding the three-run margin and the only other damaging blow was a home run by Lefty Loyko in the Seventh.

In the first, Paul Dieppa beat out a bunt to first, and Leo Eastham drew a walk. Art Neal flied out to deep center, and both runners advanced. When Barney Batson flew out to center, Dieppa scored.

Paul Zubak hit a 3-1 Schaening pitch over the center field wall in the second to send the Oilers out front, 2-0. The Oilers scored again in the third on Dieppa's double and Eastham's single.

Midland, meanwhile, bided its time, waiting for Craig to tire. This he did in the fifth, and the Tribe went on a rampage. Art Bowland singled, and Bill Brown doubled to set the stage for Frank Casanova's two-run double.

Roger Dalla Betta singled Casanova home and was sacrificed to second by Schaening. Scooter Hughes was purposely passed, but the strategy backfired as Mickey Diaz doubled off the right field wall scoring both runners.

Diaz continued to third on the throw-in, and scored as Selbo grounded to Batson, who threw to Reliefer Manny Rodriguez, who dropped the throw. Selbo went to second on the play. Bowland then grounded to Batson, who dropped the ball, permitting Slebo to move to third with Bowland holding at first.

Bowland and Selbo then worked a delayed double steal for the seventh run of the inning.

Selbo's homer in the seventh was offset by Loyko's that ended the scoring for the night.

Junior Tracksters Aim At New Marks

Troubles continued to pile up for Midland's young trackmen who have resigned themselves to making the trip to Houston for the Junior Olympics this week by hook or crook.

The youngsters sent out an appeal for financial aid last week and two Midland businessmen replied with financial contributions. Since then, however, the 11-man squad has learned it is without transportation. Originally, Rev. A. B. Lightfoot had planned to take them to Houston. He has learned he will be tied up this week, and the youngsters now are looking for a ride to Houston.

The group has a good chance of establishing several marks. Both Jerry Wilton and Jimmy Hicks have run the 100-yard dash faster than the 10.4 record, while the 440-yard relay team of Wilton, Gerald Watts, Dale Jobe and Buddy Whitley have better the 46.0 record on several occasions.

Watts, Charles Frick, Larry Cooper and Arthur Mayhew will team up to run the shuttle hurdle relay—a new event.

Wilton, Watts and Bob Proctor will toss the shot, while Jobe will run the open quarter and Cooper will compete in the high jump and hurdles and Hicks in the broad jump.

Stanley Lightfoot and Phillip Hubbard, who injured an ankle, will not make the trip.

A's Tag Reynolds For Sixth Defeat On Babe's Double

PHILADELPHIA —(AP)— The mighty New York Yankees rallied their home run sluggers, ace Pitcher Allie Reynolds and even worked a squeeze bunt for a run, but it wasn't enough to beat the Philadelphia Athletics Saturday as the A's staggered to a 9-8 victory on the strength of a walk to Cass Michaels and Loren Babe's double in the ninth inning.

A crowd of 7,502 saw Reynolds appear as a relief pitcher in the eighth and wind up with his sixth loss against 10 victories. Maurie Martin, the third pitcher for the A's, got credit for the win by holding the Yank's scoreless in the ninth.

Most of the action was packed into the eighth.

The Yankees counted four runs on a double by Gene Woodling, Irv Noren's single, a two-run homer by Billy Martin, Phil Rizzuto's single and a triple by Joe Collins.

But the A's came back on Elmer Valo's double, Eddie Robinson's two-run homer, singles by Cass Michaels and Loren Babe, a sacrifice by Eddie McGhee and a pinch double by Carmen Mauro for four runs to tie the score. The game was Reynolds' first defeat as a relief pitcher since Aug. 22, 1951. In this span he has answered 30 emergency calls.

Aber's Relief Stint Silences Chisox, 5-4

DETROIT —(AP)— Southpaw Al Aber of the Detroit Tigers gave up only one hit in four and two-thirds innings of sparkling relief pitching Saturday to save a 5-4 victory over the Chicago White Sox and prevent them from gaining ground on the New York Yankees.

Aber replaced Starter Ted Gray in the fifth and the only hit off him was a meaningless single by Bob Wilson in the eighth inning.

Led by Bob Nieman, the Tigers scored all their runs in the first three innings to tag Harry Dorish with his sixth setback.

Nieman, who had only two hits in 17 at bats, drilled a two-run homer in the second inning and a run-scoring single in the third.

BOSTON —(AP)— The Boston Red Sox succeeded only in snapping pitcher Bob Porterfield's string of 29 scoreless innings Saturday while losing a doubleheader to the Washington Senators by 5-2, and, 4-2, margins. Chuck Stobbs, Boston bonus discard, topped Bill Henry in the first game's southpaw duel.

Porterfield, who went on to win his fifteenth victory against nine defeats, saw his whitewashing job end in the first inning of the nightcap, during which the Red Sox scored on a base on balls and singles by Dick Gernert and George Kell.

RALPH BLAIR
. . . Leaves Indians.

Blair Sent To Plainview; Tribe Seeking Replacement

The Midland Indians Saturday announced the option of Pitcher Ralph Blair to Plainview of the West Texas-New Mexico League, and at the same time, Manager Jay Haney said attempts were being made to obtain a pitcher from some other league.

Blair, who has appeared in 29 games for the Indians this season winning eight and losing six, will be eligible for the playoffs in the West Texas-New Mexico League if Plainview earns a berth. Plainview is currently in fourth place in the league.

As a rookie, Blair won 12 games and lost 11 for the Indians. He won 17 and lost 15 in his second year, and 18 and lost 12 his last season before entering the service.

Blair has been ineffective since July 3 when he pitched all 13 innings as Midland defeated Odessa. He has made five starts since then and has failed to last any of them.

Should the Indians acquire a new pitcher, he would be eligible to compete in the playoffs, Haney said.

VETERAN—Vann Ligon, 1952 Midland Country Club champion and the recent winner among seniors in the Men's West Texas, plans a busy golf campaign September 1-6 for the U.S.G.A. sectional qualifying and the annual MCC Invitational tournament. Ligon filed a bid to join the sectional play recently with the U.S.G.A. office in New York and now awaits announcement of the pairings.

40 Golfers May Bid In Sectional

Midland Country Club made certain that the 1953 edition of its annual Invitational Golf Tournament would be big in field, duration and names when it scheduled the event for Labor Day weekend.

With this year's invitational will be the September 1 sectional qualifying for the United States Golf Association National Amateur tournament.

That not only will extend the meet to a complete week of play but means that "about 40" of West Texas' foremost stars will remain in the field which may reach 300 entries.

The Invitational proper runs September 2, with qualifying through September 6.

USGA representative Fred Hogan of Midland estimated that about 40 would bid in the sectional's 36-hole medal qualifying, with about four National Amateur berths being won by this field.

Six of the entries, at least, should be Midland players after Vann Ligon, the senior champion at the Men's West Texas; J. T. Smith, MCC club finalist, J. H. Floyd; C. W. Chancellor, Jr.; Joseph O'Neill, Jr.; and J. H. Binford among others had filed applications for the USGA trials.

Hogan announced that "around 12 from Odessa" had filed and others from the West Texas area will apply before deadline time. Applications for USGA Amateur qualifying must be in the association's New York Office by 5 p.m. Monday.

The country club delayed its usual mid-Summer start for the invitational because of conflicts and thus became sure of some gaining most of West Texas big name amateurs.

Among the early ones who've announced intentions to play here are Ernie Vossler of Fort Worth, winner in about four pricipal tourneys this year, Dick Jennings, champion of his hometown medal play invitational; Wendy Green of Midland who reached the semi-finals of the national juniors and Jack Williams, Men's West Texas champion.

Hezzie Carson of San Angelo, National Junior Champion Rex Baxter, Jr., of Amarillo, Midland Champion Bob Wortman, and Bob French, Bill and Ted Roden and Bill Breeden of Odessa all are expected.

The two Rodens, Breeden, French and Jennings each have won sectionals posts in the National amateur competition before. The 1953 Nationals will be held September 14-19 in Oklahoma City.

Mulcahy Hogs Honors

Les Mulcahy, gunning for the Longhorn League's outstanding player award, needs no more proof of his prowess than his clippings.

He's been clipping enemy pitchers all along and seems a shoo-in for about four—maybe five—blue ribbons in the league's batting races. For instance, the ex-major league catcher right now is leading in hits with 139, in total bases with 261, in doubles with 37, runs batted in with 119 and trails by two the leading home run hitter, Joe Bauman.

Bauman, also of Artesia, added his thirty-first home run to edge out Glen Burns of San Angelo last week for the lead in that department. Bauman also heads the pack in runs with 96.

Elias Osorio, the sophomore hitter from Carlsbad, is on top in percentage, a .395, on 137 hits in 349 at bats.

Len Ruyle of Artesia with 17 victories and Marshall Epperson of Carlsbad with 163 strikeouts are pitching leaders.

Art Bowland's .367 average, good for fourth place, and Scooter Hughes' 93 runs, good for a second place tie, represent Midland's best bets for a batting first prize.

Writers Add Babe Zaharias To Texas Hall Of Fame List

DALLAS —(AP)— Babe Didrikson Zaharias, the greatest woman athlete of the half-century, Saturday was voted into the Texas Sports Hall of Fame.

The indomitable Babe, now waging what appears to be a successful fight against dread cancer, became the third living athlete to be named to this honor through vote of the Texas Sports Writers Association.

She received 239 votes to 207 for Sammy Baugh, the old Texas Christian and professional football star.

Mrs. Zaharias only last weekend electrified fandom by winning third place in the world's championship of golf at Chicago—less than four months after an operation. She joined Tris Speaker, the baseball great, and Ben Hogan, world's champion of men's golf, in the select circle that makes up the Texas Hall of Fame.

At the same time that the Babe is inducted into the Hall of Fame, Bo McMillin and Billy Disch will receive posthumous glory. The Hall of Fame votes in one deceased athlete each year but McMillin, the football great of Centre who was a Texan, and Disch, famed baseball coach of the University of Texas who was from the Midwest, were so close in the balloting, the sports writers association decided to honor both. McMillin got 138 votes, Disch 137.

Oilers Rack Indians, 10-4

ODESSA — Midland started and finished with home runs against Odessa but inbetween the Tribe had little to shout about Friday night on the way to a 10-4 defeat.

It was Odessa's third triumph in 14 battles with Midland—compared to 12 of 20 during the regular 1952 season.

Midland's only effective hits against winning Pitcher Orlando Zgraggen were Scooter Hughes' leadoff homer—his thirteenth of the year—a single by Glen Selbo that plated Mickey Diaz, both of which came in the first inning, and Roger Dalla Betta's ninth round-tripper which accounted for two runs in the ninth inning.

Odessa tabbed lefty Ralph Atkinson with the loss with a four-run outburst in the third inning and continued its 12-hit spree on reliever Max Newcom.

Robert Fabian slammed an Oiler homer in the attack.

Detroit Looks Like Title Bet After Easy Win Over Stars

CHICAGO—(AP)—It's just as well that most of the College All-Stars move on now to join their respective pro teams in training. They have a lot to learn.

They found that out Friday night when the Detroit Lions, one of the most determined pro teams in the series history, gave them a football lesson, 24-10.

The Lions left little doubt in the minds of 93,818 spectators at Soldier Field—biggest crowd since 1948—and uncountable TV-radio fans that they will be hard to stop from repeating for the National Football League crown this Fall.

They sheared the All-Stars with the fanciest passing barrage ever seen in the rivalry, gaining a record 339 yards in the air. Bobby Layne personally contributed 323 yards by hitting on 21 of 31 tosses.

The Lions picked up 134 yards on the ground.

The All-Stars were virtually stymied, by comparison.

They connected on only nine out of 27.

Meanwhile, Gib Dawson of Texas, Buck McPhail of Oklahoma and Don McAuliffe of Michigan State mustered most of the running power from scrimmage that totaled 107 yards.

The Lions jumped into a 10-3 halftime lead, scoring a touchdown in the first period on an 80-yard thrust in 10 plays. Layne's toss to Hart, who lateralled to Walker, covered 47 yards and was the key play. Bob Hoernschemeyer ploughed the last yard on fourth down.

Walker booted a 10-yard field goal in the second period and Dawson placekicked one for 30 yards for the All-Stars before the halftime gun.

The Lions struck for 74 yards in seven plays in the third quarter with Layne spearing Box for 53 yards and finally hitting him for the final nine to score.

Detroit made it 24-3 out at the outset of the fourth, slamming 96 yards in 15 plays with Layne alternating on passes to Hart, Walker and Box. Hoernschemeyer barrelled over from the two.

The All-Stars showed signs of life midway in the finale when Jim Sears of Southern California raced 73 yards on a punt return and Dawson sped 17 more to score.

Six Schools Sweat Out NCAA Rules

CHICAGO —(AP)— The National Collegiate Athletic Association's powerful council fiddled with track records and football television Saturday while speculation sizzled over the fate of three colleges expected to be socked for athletic code violations.

The so-called "unholy three" haven't been identified but grapevine reports are that they're Michigan State, Notre Dame and Arizona State at Tempe.

Walt Byers, executive director of the NCAA, said the council wouldn't get its teeth into these important matters until Sunday with an announcement not expected before Monday noon.

However, there may be a report Sunday on the cases of three other schools sweating out punishment meted to them a year ago. These are the Kentucky, whose basketball team was forced to remain idle last year; Bradley, barred from the last national basketball championship, and Midwestern of Wichita Falls, Texas, reprimanded for recruiting irregularities.

This trio is expected to be given a clean bill of health after a full council review.

Split 'n Miss Has Firm Hold In Kegler Loop

Split 'n Miss took a firm toehold on first place in the Men's Scratch Bowling League last week by sweeping four games from the Pickups.

The Dummies dropped a little further back by winning only three of its four games with the Dubs. The Bulldogs and Hound Dogs split their match, 2-2.

Individually, W. Speck compiled a 233 game and a 587 series. He holds both first and second high games, 235-233; and high series, 607, 587 for the season. Jim Anderson bowled a 224 game.

Garden City Player Helps West Triumph In Six-Man Classic

SAN ANGELO —(AP)— The West bested the East, 49 to 18 Saturday night in six-man football. The contest was an all-star event climaxing the Texas Six-Man Football Coaches Association School here.

West Coach G. W. Tillerson of Christoval was quite merciful because he wouldn't let his 105-pound star Christoval back, Jack Pardee, play very much.

Despite in and out tenure, Pardee scored four touchdowns on his own and pitched passes to Bucky Atkins of Christoval, Bryant Harris of Garden City and Jack Tankersly of Mertzon for three other touchdowns.

Doyle McReynolds of Karnack waged a spectacular battle for the East both as ball carrier and passer, but his team was outmanned.

Burke Leads Fort Wayne Golf Tourney

FORT WAYNE, IND. — (AP) — Jackie Burke, Jr., Kianesha Lake, N. Y., fashioned an eight-under-par 64 Saturday to jump in front of a closely packed field at the end of 54 holes in the $15,000 Fort Wayne Open golf tournament.

His 198 total gave him only a one-stroke advantage over Dave Douglas, Newark, Del., and only eight strokes over two men tied for twentieth place.

Dr. Cary Middlecoff, Memphis, shot a 69 Saturday for a tie for third at 200.

At Wall, Jr., Pocono Manor, Pa., equalled Middlecoff's 200 total with a 68. Marty Furgo, Lement, Ill., who held a share of the lead after the first two rounds, scrambled over the 6,535-yard Elks Country Club layout Saturday and finished with a one-under-par 71 for a 202.

Fry, 'Little Mo' Gain Essex Finals

MANCHESTER, MASS. — (AP) — Shirley Fry, Akron, Ohio, shook off one personal tennis nemesis here Saturday and won the right to face another — Maureen Connolly, San Diego, Calif.—in finals of the Essex women's tournament Saturday.

Miss Fry scored a stirring comeback with victory in the last five games after a 5-2 deficit to eliminate Mrs. Margaret Osborne DuPont, Wilmington, Del., 6-2, 2-6, 7-5.

Miss Connolly swept past Louise Brough, Beverly Hills, Calif., in 51 minutes, 6-4, 6-3.

Brooks Rock Bucs With Homers, 14-6

BROOKLYN —(AP)— Brooklyn slugged its old Pittsburgh sparmates with four home runs in a 15-hit attack Saturday to smother the Pirates, 14-6, for the seventh straight Dodger victory.

Bob Morgan, Roy Campanella, Carl Furillo and Rube Walker homered off the parade of Pirate pitchers as Brooklyn won its thirteenth in 14 starts over the feeble last place club.

The Brooks started out at a three-run-an-inning clip and held it through the first four frames before Jim Waugh, second Pirate pitcher finally held them scoreless. It was no contest long before that.

Ben Wade, who replaced starter Russ Meyer in the third following two Pittsburgh doubles and a walk, went the rest of the way to win his sixth.

The score:	R	H	E
Pittsburgh	101 002 020— 6	11	2
Brooklyn	333 302 00x—14	15	0

Aussie Whiz Kids Upset

NEWPORT, R. I. —(AP)— Uncle Sam's tennis aces completed one of their best days against Australia Saturday by sweeping Lewis Hoad and Ken Rosewall, the whiz kids from down under, out of the Newport Invitation tournament.

Vic Seixas, Philadelphia, and Tony Trabert, Cincinnati, slated to carry the burden for the U. S. in the Davis Cup matches, will battle it out for the title Sunday. But it was 19-year old Ham Richardson of Baton Rouge, La., expected to be the third member of the American cup squad, who turned in the mightiest feat of the day.

Before he lost to Seixas in the afternoon semifinals, the NCAA champion came from behind a 2-1 set deficit to upset the power-hitting, 18-year old Hoad 6-2, 3-6, 4-6, 6-1, 6-3.

Seixas, last year's cup captain, downed Richardson 6-2, 7-5, 6-4 after Trabert had routed Rosewall, 6-3, 6-3, 8-6. It was the first time Vic had gained the final round in 12 tries.

Bob Maxwell, Scott Gain Littlefield Tournament Final

LITTLEFIELD —(AP)— Bobby Maxwell, Big Spring, and Arlyn Scott, Odessa, went into finals of the first annual Littlefield Invitation Golf Tournament Saturday.

Maxwell, North Texas State College student, beat Tommy Cox, Pampa, 1-up, and eliminated Dwight Weir, San Antonio, by the same score in a later match.

Scott, Hardin-Simmons, had easier going, defeating Jim Symons, San Antonio, 6 and 5, and Gene Boyd, Plainview, 8 and 6.

Maxwell and Scott clash over the 36-hole distance.

Adcock, Spahn Rip Cubs Asunder, 2-0

CHICAGO —(AP)— Joe Adcock's two-run homer in the fourth was all Lefty Warren Spahn needed behind his five-hit twirling to give the Milwaukee Braves a 2-0 victory over the Chicago Cubs Saturday.

It was the season's sixteenth triumph against five defeats for Spahn, the National League's top southpaw.

The score:	R	H	E
Milwaukee	000 200 000—2	7	0
Chicago	000 000 000—0	5	0

Native Dancer Adds Travers Stakes Win

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y. —(AP)— Native Dancer toyed with four rivals for almost a mile Saturday, then sailed off by himself in the stretch to win the $27,900 Travers Stakes by five and a half lengths and become the fourth leading money winning horse in the world.

Backed down to prohibitive one to 20 odds by a crowd of 28,260, Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's powerful grey express train caught George Auebach's Dictar about three-sixteenths of a mile from the finish of the one and one-fourth-mile race and galloped home an easy winner.

Mrs. Widener Wichfeld's Guardian II was third, two and one-half lengths behind Dictar.

There was win and place betting only and the Dancer paid the minimum of $2.40 and $2.40, with Dictar the same short price to place.

Texas Horse Wins $29,950 Handicap

CHICAGO —(AP)— Cyclotron, a 10 to 1 shot owned by Clifford Mooers, Boerne, Texas, Saturday won the $29,950 Clang Handicap by two lengths over Duntreath Farm's Van Crosby at Washington park.

Cyclotron, 5-year-old bay horse and a Calumet Farm castoff, led most of the way down the stretch to take the seven-furlong race in 1:23-1-5, two seconds off the track record.

Cyclotron's share of the purse was $13,725, boosting his winnings for the year to $23,250.

DAMP STROLL—It was warm, so Alex Wozniak, of London, England, decided to put on his walking "shoes" and take a stroll down the Thames. His shoes in this case are skis, each of which is, in effect, a miniature boat with a keel. Wozniak pushes himself through the water with two ski poles which have cork floats at the end. He plans to "walk" the English Channel in the future.

COP CONFIRMS HER SUSPICION

SACRAMENTO, CALIF. —(AP)— An excited woman called the sheriff's office Saturday:

"Now don't get me wrong," she blurted. "I'm not drunk, but I think there is a cow standing on my back porch looking in the window."

Sheriff's Lt. Ben M. Karlovich replied:

"I'm sure you're not drunk, lady, and there is probably a cow on your back porch. Can you describe it?"

She did. The cow fit the description of one which farmer John R. Lucas had reported missing.

Enterprising Prisoner Gains Title Of 'Best Car Salesman'

DETROIT —(AP)— New car sales may be slow in some parts of the United States, but they boomed in Korea for a 27-year-old Detroit airman held prisoner by the Communists for 26 months.

In civilian life, a S/Sgt. Robert Wilkins was a new car salesman for a Detroit auto agency. His employers rated him as one of the most promising.

Wilkins now is back in the United States with eight other Americans released in Operation Big Switch, and from all indications he has a thick pad of sales orders.

While still a prisoner, Wilkins wrote his wife Ottile:

"Chevy sales are going great guns here. It's a real seller's market. When I get back, they should make me a GM vice president."

What Wilkins didn't reveal was the scope of the "Wilkins' Auto Agency" or the revitalizing effect his salesmanship had on fellow prisoners of war.

Another Detroiter, also released by the Communists, filled in those details. Pfc. Clarence Harris, 25, who didn't know whether Wilkins had been repatriated, referred to the salesman as "a Detroit Air Force sergeant." But Harris termed Wilkins "the greatest car salesman in the world."

Harris said the sergeant had written General Motors and received permission to "give the boys a deal"

"We'd quote a couple of hundred dollars off on low-priced cars and more of a cut on the higher priced models. I told the boys there were no strings attached. It was the easiest job I ever had," Harris said. "And it did wonders for morale. Suddenly every one had to get home just to drive that new car," Harris added.

Wilkins' former employer also smiled on the booming car market. "We'll be ready to handle any orders Bob brings home, believe me," the dealer said, "and I'm not surprised that he's done well over there. In the two years he worked here, he became one of my best men."

POW Races Clock To Visit Father Who Nears Death

RUSKIN, FLA. —(AP)— Sgt. Lawrence Busbee, who six days ago was a prisoner of the Communists, Saturday flew on the last lap of a race against the clock to see his dying father.

The Ruskin sergeant, released Monday by the Communists, was to arrive at Tampa late Saturday night then be rushed to his home here.

The last wish of his father, L. E. Buzbee, is to see his boy before dying. The elder Busbee, ill with a heart ailment and kidney disease, has been told by doctors he may die at any time.

Sergeant Buzbee began the final air lap of the 8,500-mile trip home at Oakland, Calif., Saturday morning. He landed at Travis Air Force Base after a flight from Hawaii, didn't lose a minute's time and was rushed 40 miles to the Oakland Airport by a San Francisco Chronicle reporter and photographer.

The returning POW was captured Nov. 24, 1950.

Buzbee's father learned Tuesday of his son's release. He showed a slight improvement, then suffered a relapse Friday. Saturday he was a little better.

Sergeant Buzbee's mother said that if the soldier's father "can see his son while he is alive, I know he will die a happy man."

"I want to serve notice here and now that if other nations vote Red China into the United Nations I will move for immediate adoption of a resolution which in effect says that on the day Red China gets into the UN the United States of America gets out."

Thousands Of Japs Fleeing Homes Inundated By Flood

TOKYO, Sunday —(AP)— The third devastatng flood to hit Japan in less than a month left hundreds dead, missing or injured and scores of thousands driven from inundated homes in the narrow Kisu River Valley Saturday

Latest police figures, as rescue squads waded through hip-deep yellow mud, were 143 dead, 170 injured and 234 missing.

The stricken area is near Kyoto, in the southern part of Honshu, the main Japanese island.

The great flash flood resulted from the breaking of the Tenzhe Dam at the head of the valley and the pouring of half a million tons of water from the reservoir into the already rain-swollen Kisu River, which burst its dikes in 700 places.

Rescue workers reported 800 homes washed away, 444 others smashed and 24,632 inundated and filled with the gummy, yellow mud. One hundred sixty-eight bridges were washed out.

Scores of landslides followed the wall of water which swept down the narrow valley.

The disaster struck without warning before dawn Saturday. Inhabitants of the quiet valley had gone to bed late Friday after celebrating the Buddhist "Bon" festival. At this time each year, the Buddhist say, the spirits of the dead return to their families.

Guards Comb River Lands For Convicts

HUNTSVILLE —(AP)— Prison system guards combed wide areas of the Trinity River bottoms Saturday in a search for three escaped convicts.

The fugitives escaped Friday on tractors while supposedly working on a weed-cutting detail. They left one tractor at the work site, abandoned another a short distance away, and drove a third about five miles down the river from Eastham State Prison Farm.

Prison officials identified the trio as Ralph H. Williams, under life sentence from Motley County on a forgery charge and habitual criminal; John Clyde Doggett, serving 15 years for rape from Harris County; and Aubrey Lloyd Colston, serving 25 years for robbery from Harris County.

General Manager O. B. Ellis of the prison system said the men were restricted trusties who work under supervision but at times out of sight of the guards.

Deepest Underwater Pipe Line Completed

MACKINAW CITY, MICH.—(AP)— The deepest underwater oil pipe line ever attempted was completed here Saturday night, a week after it was launched at St. Ignace, four miles on the other side of the Straits of Mackinac.

Twenty thousand feet of 20-inch pipe were pulled from the north side of the 265-foot deep straits to connect with the land pipe line on the south side here.

It was the longest water crossing ever attempted by the pull method. This whole operation will be duplicated in another month when a parallel 20-inch pipe line will be pulled across the straits 1,250 feet to the east of the line just laid.

The double line across the straits will be linked on both sides to the 30-inch pipe line being laid between Superior, Wis., and Sarnia, Ontonio.

The Superior-Sarnia line will connect to the present line from Edmonton, Alberta, to Superior to bring oil from Alberta's fields to Michigan and eastern Canada.

By Monday, unless the picture changes quickly, there will be a 1,000-picker shortage in the immediate Houston area, he said.

Survey Shows East Texas Area Green, In Excellent Shape

LONGVIEW —(AP)— The East Texas Chamber of Commerce said Saturday a survey shows that East Texas is green.

Most of the 72 counties were reported in "excellent shape."

"Pastures are green, cotton good, stock water plentiful," the chamber said.

The area is east of a line running through Sherman, Dallas, Waco, Austin and Houston.

"East Texas agriculture show less strain from lack of rain than some other sections of Texas and surrounding states," said Hubert M. Harrison, chamber general manager. "We are thankful and fortunate to have had a more or less constant supply of life-giving rain over the years."

Twenty to 30 inches of rain have fallen so far this year across the area, the chamber said. Some sections are above normal and moisture shortages are spotty.

The report was compiled from farmers and ranchers, Weather Bureau, A&M Extension Service, Department of Agriculture and other sources.

BULLETIN BOARD

REPORTING THE TOP NEWS IN REAL ESTATE

I'VE FISHED CANADIAN RIVERS on my vacation, and now I'm fishing for dream homes . . . and I've hooked a beauty. Only 6 months old, this magnificent brick home has 3 wonderful bedrooms, 2 tile baths, huge living and dining room combo, utility room, and attached garage. Idyllic floor plan with entry into hallway—so you never need walk thru the living room. Centrally heated, softly carpeted thru-out, and $250 draperies in living room. Tile fence, landscaping, and with a CUTHBERT address, too. Could be handled for as little as $5,000 down. $19,500.

WE HAVE BEEN TAGGED the 'Swap Shop of Real Estate' because we've worked so many TRADES. For instance, we'll listen to terms on an attractive brick, new, home in Urbandale. 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, living and dining room combo, and 2-car attached garage. With the many features for which you'll always be grateful, such as a wood-burning fireplace, HOT-POINT dishwasher, utility connections, and water softener. Tile fence, paved street. ONLY $21,000.

IT'S SPITTIN' DISTANCE from the Senior high school, this cozy frame home. Quaint in appearance, comfortable in livability, and extremely shy in price, it has 2 nice bedrooms, separate dining room, and detached garage. The fence encloses a nice lawn, trees and a "D" zoned lot. Only $8,750.

2606 WEST HOLLOWAY has statistics to back its price. 1 inch insulation board over the original frame, 2 large bedrooms (12x15 each) separate dining room, 12x19 living room, and an attached garage, neatly finished. Nicely landscaped, the yard is fenced, and the street is paved. Drive-by! Then call us to see. $10,000.

IT'S AS SHINEY as a kid who has just washed his face. And because it has 3 bedrooms and located near a grade school, it was built for the family with small kiddies and small pocket-books. Large living room with dining area, lots of closets, big kitchen with pantry, utility room, tile bath, and attached carport. Central heating, ceramic tile drainboard, and oak floors. Paving. Priced at $10,750. ONLY $1,656 down is all you pay.

R. C. MAXSON (the boss-man) went independent approximately 75 days ago. But did you know that our firm has over 55 YEARS of actual REAL ESTATE PRACTICE and EXPERIENCE behind it? And we're betting these 55 years that you'll fall in love with the BRICK home that we have on Storey Street. 3 L-A-R-G-E bedrooms, gigantic living room (16x30), 2 ceramic tile baths, attached garage. Best of all, you'll love the kitchen with its myriad cabinets. Central heating and air conditioning, extensively carpeted, in immaculate condition thru-out. Huge rear patio, CEDAR fence, and paved street. Sam Houston district. A hurry-up-and-sell price of $18,300.

420 E. PECAN . . . WHERE YOU'LL FIND A BEAUTIFUL LAWN SURROUNDING A CHARMING 2-BEDROOM HOME. CALL FOR APPOINTMENT.

THE MOST MAGNIFICENT mimosa tree in Midland is in the rear yard of this 3-year old home on Tennessee. 2 blocks this side of Grafa-land. It has 2 nice bedrooms, expandable living and dining room combination, ceramic tile bath and attached garage. Distributed heating, air-conditioning unit, some carpeting. Nicely landscaped and fenced yard. $11,500.

REMOVED FROM THE CRY of city screaming and skidding civilization is this country residence. Painted white against a green backdrop of poplars, it has 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, large living room with fireplace, separate dining room, and double garage. Central heating and air-conditioning, colorfully carpeted thru-out, and with a hundred desirable features for your relaxed living. Located on 2 acres of soil, with 2 water wells, the magnificent landscaping and flowers should be a magazine feature. Northwest location where you can keep horses. $21,000.

FIGURING FROM FACTS makes it almost impossible to beat this 3-year old home. 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, living room, full dining room, and attached carport. 45 feet of running front porch. Located on 1 and 1 3 acres, with copious water well, your figuring will inform you that you can't buy more for $10,900.

WE'VE GOT 3 SILVER DOLLARS for every kid whose parents buys a home from us within the next 30 days. (P.S. I won them, and want to distribute my good luck to the young citizens of Midland.)

Is Indecision Robbing You Of A Home Of Your Own?

Sometimes it takes courage to buy a home. Prudent people wonder "Is this the time to buy?" . . . and it is right to ask themselves this question. But it is WRONG to go on year after year, never answering it—waiting, and not knowing why they are waiting, or what they are waiting for. Indecision is a costly luxury . . . costly in wasted rents and in wasted years.

The man who has investigated the FACTS will not delay longer in buying a home in Midland. Because the fact are convincing. He will find that people are moving to Midland . . . to stay! He will realize that those new office buildings, those new department stores and other business buildings are here to stay. That the people who have come here from other parts of the country to find jobs, to make jobs . . . these people are buying homes, for they, too, are here to stay. He will find that the things on which Midland's prosperity is based are permanent things. Here is the answer to that question, "Is this the time to buy?" And it calls for action!

There are plenty of good, sound opportunities for home buyers in Midland. In a period between two great phases of development, home buyers may NOW find better values than were possible a year ago. And every indication leads to our belief that increased demand will, in a short span of time, result in a general price advance in Midland homes. Your REALTOR is trained and experienced in helping you find the best home values. Whether your desires lean toward an inexpensive residence or an elaborate residence, check with your Realtor today!

PRICE INCREASE INSUFFICIENT—The above chart shows soaring costs of finding and producing crude oil. Increases in oil equipment, materials, services and labor from December, 1947, to June, 1953, are illustrated in relation to a nine per cent increase in crude oil prices in that same period. The chart summarizes part of testimony presented by the Independent Petroleum Association of America to the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee in recent Washington hearings. IPAA has estimated the national average cost of finding, developing and producing crude oil has increased 75 to 80 cents a barrel since the 1947-49 period. On this basis, the 1953 crude oil price increases were not only justified, the association contends, but were "insufficient" to cover increased costs.

North Flanker To Be Drilled To SE Dawson Discovery

Seaboard Oil Company and associates have staked location and will start drilling at once on a one-location north flanker to their No. 1 Herman Petteway, important flowing discovery from the reef lime of the Pennsylvanian in Southeast Dawson County.

The new exploration will be Seaboard and associates No. 2 M. J. Peterson. It will be nine miles southeast of Lamesa and 2,006.9 feet from north and 1,500 feet from west lines of section 40, block 34, T-5-N, T&P survey.

It is projected to 9,000 feet or a test of the reef lime at a lesser depth. The drillsite is one-half of a mile south of Midway and 1,346.9 feet north of the No. 1 Pe...way.

To Run Another Test

Seaboard and associates No. 1 Pettaway, the discovery is pulling a core from 8,008-8,033 feet. After that specimen is out of the hole a drillstem test will be run.

A core at 7,982-8,008 feet cut 26 feet of section and recovered 18 feet of material. Most of that core was porous, oil stained limestone.

There were a few dense streaks of lime in the core which had no appreciable shows of oil and gas.

On Unitized Block

This wildcat which is on a unitized block of approximately four sections is a joint operation of Seaboard, Phillips Petroleum Company, Plymouth Oil Company and Forest Oil Corporation.

Each of those concerns have acreage in the unit and each of them will participate in the production from all of the block in proportion to their interests.

The No. 1 Pettaway has already proven flowing, natural production in prolific amounts from the section at 7,884-7,983.

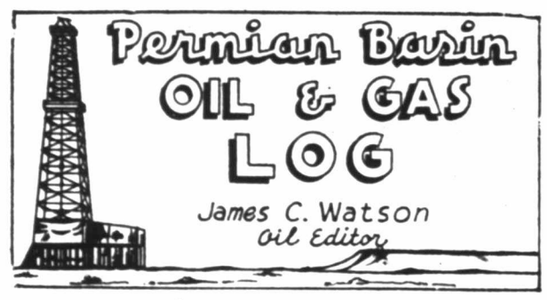

The top of the reef is at 7,885 feet and that gives the wildcat 98 feet of pay down to 7,983 feet. That zone has not shown any water and the core at 7,982-8,008 feet did not show any water.

Heavy Oil Flows

No. 1 Petaway had flowed oil at the rate of 11.4 barrels per hour through a one-inch choke from 7,884-7,910 feet.

It had produced 89.64 barrels of oil in one hour and 45 minutes at 7,910-33 feet and it produced 101 barrels of clean oil in one hour and 20 minutes from the interval at 7,932-83 feet.

Location of the discovery is nine and one-quarter feet from south and 1,500 feet from west lines of section 40, block 34, T-5-N, T&P survey.

Tom Green Wildcat Tops Strawn Lime High To Discovery

L. E. Scherck of San Angelo and Plymouth Oil Company No. 1 S. F. Hignett, wildcat in North-Central Tom Green County, has topped the Strawn 90 feet high to the discovery well and lone producer in the Nasworthy field.

The top of the Strawn lime was found at 5,126 feet, by samples. Elevation is 1,832 feet.

Operator took a drillstem test from 5,128 to 5,146 feet with tool open 30 minutes. Recovery was 15 feet of drilling mud with no shows. The project is now drilling below 5,170 feet in lime.

Location is 6,700 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of the H. Hornburg survey No. 175 and approximately 500 feet southwest of the southwest side of the San Angelo city limits.

Projected depth is 6,500 feet for a test of the Ellenburger.

MIDLAND'S ADMIRAL—William W. Studdert, Midland engineering company owner and operator who recently was promoted to rear admiral in the U. S. Naval Reserve. Admiral Studdert now is on a retired status, but is serving on two important boards of the Navy and is subject to call in emergencies and for special services.

Studdert Promoted To Rear Admiral In U. S. Naval Reserve

William W. Studdert of Midland has been promoted to the rank of Rear Admiral in the United States Naval Reserve.

Studdert is now on a retired status but is subject to being called back to active duty in emergencies —and despite being on the retired list is currently serving on two Naval Reserve Boards.

The new Rear Admiral (USNR) is owner and operator of Studdert Engineering Company of Midland, a concern which operates in all parts of the United States and which frequently works in several foreign countries.

In Active Service

Studdert was in active naval service during World War II from April 1941 until May 1946. He resigned a position as civil engineer on the staff of the Texas-New Mexico Pipe Line Company's division office in Midland to take a commission as a lieutenant in the Navy "Seabees."

He served as an officer on construction work for the Navy in the Pacific all during the war.

He started his actual combat engineering work on Guadalcanal and finished it on Okinawa. The engineering regiment which Studdert commanded was the first American unit to go ashore on Okinawa. He held the rank of captain at that time.

Received Awards

Studdert was awarded the Legion of Merit for his work on Okinawa and the Bronze Star for service on the island of Emirau.

Studdert was released from active naval service as a captain.

He returned to Midland and started the firm now known as Studdert Engineering Company shortly after his release by the Navy.

However, he has been in the active reserve until recently. During a part of the time since the war he was commanding officer of a Midland Naval Reserve training unit.

Member Of Boards

Studdert has been a member of the Navy Selection Board and of the Naval Reserve Policy Board for several years and even though he is now on the retired list will continue as members of both those groups and will attend frequent meetings in Washington.

He also is subject to call to handle special assignments in the Civil Engineering Corps of the Navy.

Studdert's family consists of Mrs. Studdert and their daughter Elizabeth (Bet), a senior at the University of Texas.

The Studderts first came to Midland in 1937 when he joined the staff of Texas-New Mexico Pipe Line Company as a civil engineer.

All Types Of Work

Studdert Engineering Company does all types of survey, engineering, appraisal and valuation work.

It is currently handling a 196 mile, 16-inch petroleum products pipe line for the Texas Pipe Line Company between Port Arthur, Tex., and Baton Rouge, La., and two big jobs in South Carolina.

One of those contracts is doing the engineering and survey work for natural gas distribution systems in Columbia and Charleston, S. C., for the South Carolina Electric & Gas Company.

The other is engineering and survey work for South Carolina Natural Gas Company on a 160-mile, 10-inch natural gas line from Aiken, S. C., to Columbia and Charleston.

Other Contracts

Studdert Engineering has been working several months on special reports and surveys for West Coast Pipe Line Company, the concern which is planning to build a large diameter crude oil pipe line from

Permian Basin Rig Activity Still High

Rotary drilling activity in the Permian Basin areas of West Texas and Southeast New Mexico still was at a high level August 10 according to the survey of rotary rigs conducted by Reed Roller Bit Company.

The company's count showed 494 units in operation in the Basin August 10 as compared to the 486 on July 25, and 500 August 10, 1952.

The above three figures show that the post-boom activity is holding steady. Four years ago there were approximately 400 rotary units in operation in the Permian Basin.

Lea County, New Mexico, and Andrews County were the top activity areas on August 10, with Lea showing 111 rotaries and Andrews 47.

Counties included in the Reed survey, with last two counts listed, are:

Charles E. Webber, Sun Oil Company, Philadelphia, has been named chairman of the main technical committee of the Natural Gasoline Association of America, according to an announcement by NGAA President Frank M. Perry, vice president, Cities Service Oil Company, Bartlesville, Okla.

Vice chairman of this group is Roy Schuster, Chicago Corporation, Corpus Christi, Texas. Chairman and vice chairman appointed to the various working subgroups of the technical committee are: Subcommittee A-Absorption: M. F. Wirges, chairman, Cities Service, Bartlesville; R. E. Styring, Jr., vice chairman, The Atlantic Refining Company, Dallas.

Texas Gulf Completes First Devonian Oiler In Headlee Area Of Ector

Texas Gulf Producing Company has completed its No. 4 E. V. Headlee as the first Devonian producer in the multipay Headlee field of Central-East Ector County.

The well was finaled for a 24-hour flowing potential of 390 barrels of 41.1-gravity oil and no water. Flow was through a 16 64-inch choke. Gas-oil ratio was 3,041-1.

Production is coming from casing perforations between 11,756 and 11,842 feet. The perforated interval has been treated with 12,500 gallons of acid.

Pipe On Bottom

Total depth is 11,888 feet in the Devonian and seven-inch casing is cemented on bottom.

Location of No. 4 Headlee is 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 8, block 41, T-2-S, T&P survey. It is four miles northeast of Odessa and 17 miles southwest of Midland.

All the other wells in the Headlee field are producing from the Ellenburger but each of them had Devonian shows when drilled.

Texas Gulf drilled No. 4 Headlee as a Devonian exploration. It is one-quarter of a mile east of the same concern's No. 1 Headlee, the initial Ellenburger producer in the field.

Larkin, Forman Receive 30-Year Humble Awarrds

Joe M. Larkin and B. R. Forman have been presented with diamond-studded Humble Company 30-year service emblems.

Larkin, division mechanical supervisor with Humble Pipe Line Company in Midland, started work for Humble in Cisco in 1923. Forman, division chief clerk with the West Texas division of Humble Pipe Line, started work the same year in Corsicana. He came to West Texas in 1939 as division clerk.

Larkin moved to West Texas in 1930 as an engineer at Wink. He became division mechanical supervisor in 1943.

In addition to the service emblems, the two Humble hands were each given a wrist watch.

The awards were made recently in the office of F. D. McMahon, division superintendent for Humble Pipe Line.

Oil Products Line Across Continental Divide Is Opened

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH—The first pipe line to cross the Continental Divide to bring petroleum products into the Salt Lake Valley and the great intermountain area has been formally put in operation.

The 300 mile Pioneer Pipe Line from Sinclair, Wyo., to Salt Lake City will deliver 12,000 barrels daily into the line's terminal here for local distribution and for transshipment to Idaho and Washington. It is owned by Continental Oil Company and Sinclair Pipe Line Company.

200 Wells Finaled In Week's Digging

AUSTIN—(AP)—Completion of 200 oil wells last week was reported by the Texas Railroad Commission Saturday.

The figure was five more than the previous week. It raised the year's total to 6,570 compared with 7,058 a year ago.

No gas wells were brought in last week.

There were 157 dry holes reported.

McSpadden, Green Handled Midland Oil Lease Deal; One Of Largest Ever Made

The recent transaction in which Forest Oil Corporation and Cities Service Oil Company acquired the oil and gas lease on the Mrs. Dora Roberts ranch in Southwest Midland County of more than 19,000 acres, was one of the largest, if not the largest wildcat leases deal ever consumated in the United States, according to persons acquainted with such matters.

The deal was a major one from the standpoint of the total amount of acreage involved; from the stndpoint of the acreage all being in one solid block, and from the standpoint of the cash bonus, which is reported by unofficial sources to have been in excess of $5,000,000.

Worked Out Deal

This major trade was worked out between Forest and Cities Service on the one hand and the owners of the property on the other hand by Joe W. McSpadden and Charlie C. Green, Jr., Midland independent oil operators.

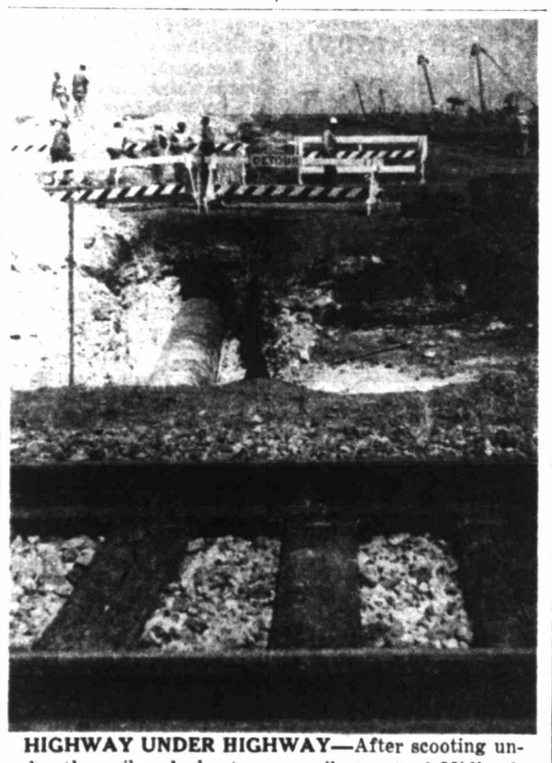

The ranch covered by this transaction was owned for many years by Mrs. Dora Roberts of Big Spring. The property was bought from Mrs. Roberts several months ago by Mrs. L. E. (Docia) Brown of Fort Worth and Mrs. F. B. (Eloise) Waters of Houston.

Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Waters are daughters of Mrs. Dora Roberts.

Commodity Price Index Climbs Higher

NEW YORK—(AP)—The Associated Press index of important commodity prices climbed last week, though industrials and foods lost ground.

The index was at 179.81, compared with 178.62 a week ago and 186.39 a year ago.

HIGHWAY UNDER HIGHWAY—After scooting under the railroad about seven miles east of Midland, Permian Basin Pipeline Company's 30-inch pipe line goes on under Highway 80. But that's not all. The proposed widening of Highway 80 meant the reinforced line still had to run under the yet-to-come road.

Repeated Warnings Of Oil Shortages Have Little Effect

By CHARLES C. HASLET

WASHINGTON—(AP)— Remember the 1944 official estimate that the nation would exhaust then-known petroleum reserves in 14 years if no new oil fields were discovered and consumption continued unchanged?

Well, officials of the Petroleum Administration for Defense (PAD) say Saturday it would take 13 years to use up known oil reserves in the United States even at the increased 1953 consumption.

And they say there is no need to worry about after 1966, either. They feel there is still enough undiscovered oil below ground in this country to take care of the nation's needs "in the foreseable future."

From time to time since 1861 someone has come forward with a statement that the nation might run out of oil within so many years.

The first such dim view, however, was expressed by an action rather than a statement.

In 1861—two years after bringing-in of the first commercial oil well, near Titusville, Pa.—a group of men bought a nearby farm and planned to dig a pit to store one million barrels of petroleum.

PAD officials say the move apparently stemmed from a conviction that all oil below ground would be exhausted within a few years.

Substitute Lubricants

In 1875, an official government publication stated that within 10 years the known U. S. supply of petroleum might become exhausted and it then might become necessary to start looking for substitute lubricants.

At that time, PAD records show, there was some oil production in Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia and New York.

In September 1926, the federal oil conservation board reported that crude reserves totaled 4,500,000,000 barrels in this country. It was obvious, the board said, that at the 1926 rate of consumption, the United States would run out of oil in six years unless new supplies were discovered.

High Daily Use

The 14-year estimate put out in 1944 came from the late Harold L. Ickes, then secretary of the Interior. Estimated reserves then totaled 20,064,152,000 barrels. The domestic production for that year was 1,713,655,000 barrels.

Today, according to latest figures available at PAD, known oil reserves in the United States are 24,649,489,000 barrels. The rate of domestic use is about 6,500,000 barrels a day.

Fortunately, PAD says, many areas look promising for exploration for new oil supplies.

AAPG Is To Hold Three-Day Regional Meeting In Wichita

The American Association of Petroleum Geologists Mid-Continent Regional Meeting will be held September 30-October 2 in the Broadview Hotel, Wichita, Kans.

The Kansas Geological Society, in cooperation with the Mid-Continent Council of Geological Societies is sponsoring the meeting.

The gathering is divided into two parts, "Carbonate Reservoir Symposium" and "Symposium On Oil Production From Artificially Fractured Formations."

John Emery Adams, president of American Association of Petroleum Geologists, will be one of the speakers. Adams is research geologist for Standard Oil Company of Texas in Midland.

Details of the meeting will be announced at a later date.

Crews Work To Make Ends Meet In Spraberry Gas Plan

By BOB GALLAWAY
Reporter-Telegram Staff

Strike that "one-way" tag from the records.

And add "Wasson-to-Spraberry" to the catalog of gas-saving pipeline terms.

Last week in the pipeline world (Midland sector) saw the start of 30-inch line work destined to stretch from the Wasson Field near Denver City to a junction somewhere along a 96-mile route with the line moving northward from the Permian Basin Pipeline Company Spraberry compressor station under construction near Midland.

The two-side system was begun, said Permian officials, in order to speed the already fast-moving project toward its mid-December deadline. Under the new plan, progress totals each week will run into higher figures and give even more hope to shutin-plagued Spraberry Trend operators.

Worker Is Killed

Advanced work on gas saving, however, is not without its price.

An employe of the Sterns-Rogers Manufacturing Company, contractor for the $2,000,000 carbon dioxide removal plant near Fort Stockton, was killed August 10 in an auto-truck crash near there, a Northern Natural Gas Company bulletin has reported.

The worker, unnamed in the Northern Natural notice, was driving on a road leading to the plant site when the accident occurred. Blinding dust kicked by other vehicles on the road was believed to have obscured the victim's view, causing him to crash into the rear of a moving truck.

This, however, was believed the

Two Wildcats, Three Pool Stepouts Are Listed In Lea

Locations for two wildcats and three stepouts to field production have been announced in Lea County, New Mexico.

The Texas Company No. 1 Byars, rotary wildcat in the southeast part of Lea County, will be drilled 1,981 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 9-24s-38e. This prospector is northwest of production in the West Dollarhide (Multipay) area.

It is scheduled to go to 6,650 feet for tests of the Clear Fork.

Union Oil Company of California No. 1 Vickers-State, new wildcat in Southwest Lea County, is being drilled 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 27-21s-35e.

Drilling Deeper

Now drilling below 3,550 feet, the project is to bottom at approximately 4,300 feet.

The Texas Company spotted location for No. 1-BA State, stepout from Wolfcamp production in the East Caprock area of Northwest Lea County.

It is to be drilled to 9,200 feet. Site is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 22-12s-32e.

Two of the field stepouts are in the East Hobbs (San Andres) area. One will be drilled by C. U. Bay as No. 2 Lowe-State, 330 feet from north and west lines of section 32-18s-39e.

Velma Petroleum Corporation will dig No. 2 Goode 330 feet from north and east lines of section 31-18s-39e.

Both these tests will drill to around 4,500 feet, starting at once.

Attendance will be limited to members and invited guests and admission will be by ticket only, according to Lester Clark of Breckenridge.

Construction Soars Toward All-Time High

WASHINGTON —(AP)— New construction will climb to an all-time high of almost $35,000,000,000 this year, the government forecast Saturday.

The Commerce and Labor Departments estimated the dollar value of new construction will rise about six per cent—or some $2,000,000,000—above last year's record.

WASHINGTON OIL —

'Why A PAD?' Is Explained By Deputy Administrator

(EDITOR'S NOTE—Joseph A. LaFortune, deputy Petroleum administrator, and top man in government on oil and gas, writes this week's petroleum report from Washington. This, then, is the word of the authority on Washington matters. LaFortune, who became deputy administrator six weeks ago, is on leave as vice chairman of Warren Petroleum Corporation, Tulsa. He fills in for Joseph Huttlinger, Reporter-Telegram Washington oil correspondent.)

By JOSEPH A. LaFORTUNE

WASHINGTON—Aluminum no longer is under general government control. Neither is copper. Neither is steel except for nickel-bearing alloys.

Why, then, a Petroleum Administration for Defense?

It's a legitimate question. It finds its answer in the very nature of gas and oil.

If the products with which the Petroleum Administration deals were frills on the national economy, it would be easy to do away with the agency. But oil and gas are no frills. They are essential to war and our economy.

The wartime needs are enormous. You couldn't fly a plane without petroleum, or drive a jeep, or run a submarine, a tank, a half-track. You couldn't package the field rations for the troops, or pave an airstrip, or keep a field stove running behind the front lines.

The peace time needs are great. You couldn't run a tractor on the farm, or a diesel on the railroads, or a sedan on the highway without oil. Twelve million homes would be cold this Winter if the supply of gas were cut off, and nine million homes would be cold if there were no heating oil.

Our survival depends on oil and gas.

Fifty-seven per cent of the nation's energy requirements come now from oil and gas.

That's a peacetime figure.

The war-time statistics are even more impressive. Better than half the total tonnage shipped abroad during World War II was in petroleum. There were single invasions in which the percentage scaled to 65. Yet the dependence on petroleum has grown since those days. A B-29, World War II's biggest bomber, burned 440 gallons an hour. Today's B-36 burns 980 gallons an hour. World War II's P-51 burned 63 gallons of fuel an hour. Today's F-48 burns 355 gallons an hour.

Government's Concern

Because they are so important to survival, oil and gas naturally became a part of the government's concern.

There is no need for a government watch over the bobby-pin industry. There is every need for a watch over gas and oil.

Whether or not the truce in Korea results in a real peace, it will be necessary for some government agency to insure these things.

1. That the officials of the nation be informed as authoritatively as possible on oil and gas needs now and in the event of all-out war.

2. That there is a present balance between essential civilian and military demand and the oil-and-gas supply.

3. That expansion of the industry to provide an adequate reserve for emergency is encouraged by every means available.

4. That at least part of the necessary expansion be stimulated by the proper granting of certificates of necessity for accelerated tax amortization to encourage construction.

5. That military needs for high-octane gasoline are met at reasonable prices.

6. That the products that make up aviation gasoline are efficiently handled and directed into the most productive spots.

If the oil companies on their own attempted to meet all of these needs, they immediately would be subject to prosecution under the anti-trust laws. No existent agency except PAD can reach the many necessary goals.

Not Permanent Fixture

This is not to try to suggest that PAD will have to be kept in business permanently. We are making every effort to go out of business as quickly as possible, just as the Petroleum Administration for War did before us. Back in March of 1952 the agency had a staff of 342 people. Today we have a staff of less than a hundred, and we shall go on reducing personnel just as fast as the problems we face are reduced. Most of us in the agency, frankly, are anxious to be out of government and back into private industry just as quickly as possible. But we are not so anxious to leave that we could with good conscience duck a clearly vital job that still needs doing.

PAD exists through patriotic necessity, filling a vacuum that could not otherwise be filled. It is my hope to keep it within the limits that efficiency dictates and at the same time insure that it fulfill a responsiblity that destiny long since appointed for it. Already the agency has been able to save the government many millions of dollars through its expert advice on the placement of aviation-gasoline contracts. It is our firm intention to continue just that kind of prudent economy.

RIPPING JOB FACES BEAVER

RALEIGH, N. C. —(AP)— The prisoner was known as "the Beaver," police told the judge, because of his talent for ripping his way into stores with his bare hands. He admitted tearing a hole in a jewelry store roof with his hands, climbing out again with $5,500 worth of watches.

"Well," said the judge, "let him try his talent on some steel bars. Ten to 18 years."

RAILROAD CROSSING?—Permian Basin Pipeline Company instead of slicing through rail and highway right-of-ways simply slipped under. The 30-inch gas-saving line starts its trip under the railroad, above, about seven miles east of Midland, and continues under the present Highway 80 and the proposed new double-lane strip.

Spraberry Gas Line-

only serious accident involving the hundreds of men working along the 285-mile pipeline avenue.

But back to the Spraberry-to-Wasson and vice versa picture.

Pipe Due In Seagraves

Three miles of right-of-way has been cleared southward from the Wasson field. And two miles of ditch has been dug.

Moving south from the Spraberry station, 23 miles of line have been lowered and filled. Some 43 miles of right-of-way has been cleared and seven more miles of ditch readied for its load of pipe. At least 25 miles of pipe have been welded and now await the trip underground.

Keeping in line with fast work, more 30-inch pipe will arrive in Seagraves this week. Shipments of six-inch gathering line pipe already are arriving in the Hobbs, N. M. area for the system up there—and loads of eight-inch pipe are due there in "the very near future." At least 12 and one half miles of six-inch will go underground.

McCamey residents are seeing increased activity in their city—and are due to see a lot more. Material, including some 20-inch valves, has begun to arrive in McCamey for the 76-mile line from the Puckett (Ellenburger) Field near Fort Stockton to the Permian Plymouth compression station. Final survey, by the way, has been completed on this 20-inch line.

Finally, the Hobbs-to-Wasson report rounds out the week's pipeline scene.

The New Mexico side of the project, a transmission line, includes 15.32 miles. That total is complete except for routine cleaning and checking.

Over in Texas, right-of-way clearing ditch digging and pipe stringing along the 21.46-mile route is 100 per cent complete. And 15 miles of pipe have been welded. The best news is, of course, that 12 miles of pipe have been lowered and covered.

A general look at the overall Hobbs-to-Wasson work finds that project within 25 per cent of completion.

Blowing dust last week slowed construction near Midland, but the rains which followed promised at least a few days of rest—and a few days of stepped-up activity.

El Paso Natural Gas Company, now moving through the early stages of construction on its 1,056-mile network, reports good progress and pledges a near-future boost in overall activity.

North Flanker—

Permian in Central Lea County, New Mexico, has found only salty sulphur water in a drillstem test from 5,502 to 5,529 feet and is now taking electric logs and will possibly drill deeper into the Permian.

Tool was open two hours and 15 minutes on the test. Recovery was 1,845 feet of salt water with no shows of oil or gas.

The shows of possible production in the San Andrews were developed in drillstem tests from 5,176 to 5,252 feet.

Location for No. 1 Carter is 1,972 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of section 5-18s-39e and four miles north of production in the East Hobbs field. That makes it five miles northeast of the town of Hobbs.

Conoco Is Testing Devonian Section In NE Andrews

Continental Oil Company No. 1-49 University, five-eighths of a mile northeast of the Prichard (Devonian) field opener in Northeast Andrews County, is swabbing to test the Devonian through perforations.

In the last 24 hours reported, the project swabbed 131 barrels of new oil and 108 barrels of load water.

The production is coming through perforations at 12,456-12,462, 12,472-12,493, 12,499-12,509 and 12,514-12,524 feet. Section had been washed with 500 gallons of mud acid.

Location of No. 1-49 University is 330 feet from south and 2,310 feet from east lines of section 49, block 6, University Lands survey.

Thomas, Et Al, Have Completed Opener In NW Garza Region

Clifton Thomas of San Angelo and others No. 1 Honolulu-Sims, wildcat in Northwest Garza County, has been completed as a pumping discovery from an upper formation in the San Andres.

Operators reported a daily pumping potential of 144 barrels of 36-gravity oil plus 50 per cent water from perforations at 3,481.5-3,491.5 feet.

Pay was treated with 1,000 gallons of acid.

This well is one-half mile northeast of a San Andres producer in the PHD field, but the well is producing from a lower section than is the Thomas and others No. 1 Honolulu-Sims.

Harris And Walters Deal

Location for No. 1 Honolulu-Sims is 2,460 feet from north and 2,309 feet from east lines of section 1282, BS&F survey.

The project was drilled as a result of a deal turned by Randall Harris and James Walton, Midland independent operators.

They took a farmout on 1,280 acres from Honolulu Oil Corporation and turned that acreage to Thomas to drill the well, keeping a working interest in the 1,280-acre block. Harris & Walton also hold 80 acres offsetting the new well.

Unidentified Lime Makes Water On DST In Andrews

Southwest Natural Production Company No. 1 Tankersly Estate, wildcat in Southeast Irion County, is drilling below 7,328 feet in an unidentified lime after a drillstem test from 7,286 to 7,328 feet.

Length of the test was not reported. Recovery was 275 feet of mud cut salt water and 2,800 feet of salt water.

Bridges Says U. S. Spending To Be Below President's Aim

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Senator Bridges (R-NH) forecast Saturday that federal spending would total $72,000,000,000 in the current financial year, $2,000,000,000 less than the latest Eisenhower Administration estimate.

However, such a spending figure still would leave the budget unbalanced by $3,500,000,000 on the basis of the Administration's revenue forecast.

Bridges' estimate was contained in a report on the record of the 1953 session of Congress on money bills. He is chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, as well as president pro tempore of the Senate.

He did not explain how spending could be pushed down to the 72,000,000,000 figure, which compares with the most recent estimate of $74,000,000,000 in spening for fiscal 1954 made by top Administration officials.

'Largest Cut In History'

But an Appropriations Committee aide who assisted in preparing the report said that Bridges believed the Administration would find ways to cut off the additional 2,000,000,000, in the remaining 10 1/2 months of the fiscal year.

The President and his budget director, Joseph M. Dodge, already have issued orders for strict economy in the months ahead.

Bridges reported that Congress cut $14,081,517,697 off the appropriations requests of former President Truman in the last session.

He called this "the largest cut in appropriations that has been made in the history of the United States in a single session of Congress."

President Eisenhower revised the Truman budget downward, but the lawmakers trimmed $4,578,210,207 more off the new President's requests.

The reduction in the Truman budget included about 13,000,000,000 slashed off what the former President asked for fiscal 1954, and 1,000,000,000 off supplementary bills he sent up in January for fiscal 1953.

Bridges said many persons appeared to be surprised that the Republicans could not achieve a balanced budget in fiscal 1954—their first full financial year in office—despite the big appropriations cuts.

The answer, he said, lies in the fact that much of the spending in fiscal 1954 will come from past commitments. By the same token, much of the money voted this year will be spent after fiscal 1954 ends next June 30.

Dutch Drilling Rigs Make Midlander Feel At Home

ROTTERDAM, HOLLAND—Holland is the flat, beautiful country which lies mostly below sea level and where people surely are the most industrious and patient in the world.

After crossing the North Sea from England we landed on the Hook of Hoalln and moved down through Den Hage (The Hague) political capitol of this tiny country and into Scheveningen, the country's smartest seaside resort.

In this stretch of land we passed the famous greenhouses and fields of flowers for which Holland is noted, but they weren't tulips. Since this is the "off season" for tulips we saw only carnations and roses by the acre. The fields were irrigated with miles of canals guarded by an occasional windmill.

This neat, orderly country is a land of contrast. In one part, buildings of contemporary design stand next to the moorish style castles and whole towns of modern architecture are found only a few miles from tiny villages were inhabitants still wear the ancient costumes of their forebears and live in houses their great, great grandparents once occupied. On farms reclaimed from the sea all work still is done by almost primative methods.

Land Of Wooden Shoes

We always had thought that the wooden shoes and picturesque costumes seen on postcards were worn for the benefit of the tourist. Our first day in Holland proved how wrong we were. As we passed along the canals into the town of Aadheim we saw children of every age happily clomping down the coblestones in wooden shoes of every color. The shoes are practical here, where the people spend hours of each day working the wet black earth of their fields. They are worn only for work and left outside the scrupulously clean "Gingerbread" houses at other times.

In Aadheim we visited the flower market where an auction was is session. Millions of flowers of every imaginable hue were stacked in bunches on carts and brought in one at a time for the buyers. It was quite a sight to see men in traditional Dutch costumes sitting beside men in modern dress bidding on the flowers by means of the most modern of auction equipment. To say how many flowers they wanted and how much they would pay, the bidders had only to push a small button at their seat and it registered electrically.

Amsterdam, leading city of Holland was our next stop. Here we visited the Rijkmuseum to see the famous "Night Watch," the beautiful canvas which cost Rembrandt his profitable career as a portrait painter. In this modern city much business still is carried on in the canals which interlace the streets. It isn't unusual to find a housewife bargaining with a flower seller near his loaded barge in front of a lovely modern apartment house.

A short drive from Amsterdam on the shores of the Zuider Zee stands Volendam, a quaint little town where inhabitants still wear the traditional costume. Here, as in many small villages, the streets are kept clean by housewives armed with heavy scrubbrushes and buckets. In the harbor stand the fishing boats, their masts hung with nets drying from the day's outing.

In Volendam we boarded a boat for the Isle of Marken. Although we found Volendam unusual, landing on Marken was like suddenly stepping into the past. In Volendam a few people had worn regular clothing; on Marken it just isn't done. Everyone wears the traditional Dutch costume.

Centuries ago the Protestants of all Catholic Volendam revolted and fled to the island to found a protestant village. At that time there were about 16 families, today the population is 40 families. Each family has an average of six children and anyone marrying a person from Volendam must leave the Isle to make his home.

The clothing of Marken is the heavy wool skirt, embroidered or striped longsleeved blouse, apron and lace cap for the women. Men wear wide black pants, and shirts with ornate brass studs and round black hats. Of course, every one wears wooden shoes.

Until seven years of age all children are dressed alike in the full dresses. Only a strip of embroidery down the front tells which is little brother and which is his sister. The clothes they wear have been passed down through the families for generations and never grow out of style.

Space Is At Premium

Inside a tiny fisherman's cottage, space is at a premium since a family of six children, mother and father is average for the three room house. Trundle beds are built into walls, which are covered with plates of every color collected by the family. In one large closet which consists solely of shelves, all clothes are kept neatly folded in accordian pleats to save space.

Bric-a-brac covers every spare inch of wall space and a concession to modernity, a light bulb, is placed in the ancient painted glass lantern. While the parents and children sleep in the living room trundle beds, the older children climb into the attic to sleep on their straw pallets.

The people are happy and have few of the worries which plague the outside world. During the war in which Holland suffered so much, little Marken was not occupied to any extent although she lost about half her men fighting in the Dutch army.

Back in Den Hage we visited the Peace Palace donated by Andrew Carnagie to be used for international peace conferences. Today it houses the International Court of Justice and a fine museum.

A city within a city, Madurodam is built on a park between Den Hage and Scheveningen. It is built small scale to resemble any large city in Holland.

The Peace Palace and Amsterdam's Royal Palace occupy prominent positions. In front of the Royal palace a crowd has gathered to see Holland's Queen Julianna coming down the steps. A television unit is parked nearby to record the event.

Other Features Cited

Other features of the city are an airport with a Constellation warning up on one end of the runway, propellers spinning; a harbor with ships, barges, sailboats and ocean liners moving up an down it. Several barges have pulled into the dock to be loaded. When full, they move away to another port to unload.

On tiny speedways, cars, trucks and trollies race up and down paying strict attention to flashing street lights. A train does everything a train should do and from the steeple of a church an organ peals out and its tiny clock keeps perfect time. At night all lights in the building, farms, cars and on the street light the city.

Looking down the tiny drilling rigs which dotted an outlying district, we found a part of Holland which resembles Midland, and we knew exactly how Gulliver must have felt on his first visit to Lilliput.

In Rotterdam we found the best examples of the courage of the Dutch people. This city, 90 per cent bombed out in World War II and plagued by floods continuously, has pulled itself up by it's "bootstraps" and stil is doing so.

Driving into the city we passed through a tunnel which would rival the best in the States. Air-conditioned and well lighted, it was built during the reconstruction soon after the close of the war. Modern apartment houses of contemporary design stand over areas completely demolished by bombs eight years ago. Reconstruction here has been more modern and complete than in England.

The Dutch people never complain. Their cities were bombed out so they are building better ones; floods have covered their farm lands so they reclaim them. Floods also have delayed reconstruction but they just wait, then grab back from the sea what can be salvaged.

War's End Is Not Expected To Curtail Drilling In U. S.

End of the Korean War will not prevent the United States drilling industry from having the biggest year in its history.

Plentiful steel and the recent stiumlating increase in crude prices will contribute to the completion of a record 48,155 new wells this year, it is predicted in the August 15 issue of World Oil. This total would be 4.9 per cent more than the 45,885 wells drilled in 1952, and compares with a first-of-the-year forecast of 46,988 wells for 1953. The total is expected to include 10,468 wildcats, in contrast with 10,084 last year.

Completion of 23,304 wells during the first half of 1953 was a record volume, contrasting with 23,096 in 1952. World Oil forecasts the completion of 24,851 wells during the last six months of the year.

Oklahoma is to show one of the biggest increases this year, the forecast being 6,875 wells compared with 5,685 last year. Kansas will also show a gain with 4,755 completions forecast in contrast to 4,182 last year. New Mexico is expected to drill 1,420 wells against 1,086 last year. Completion of 2,630 wells is forecast for California, up from 2,459 during 1952. Louisiana, North Dakota, Nebraska, Colorado and Wyoming are also expected to show sizeable gains in drilling activity.

West Texas Off

Texas will have fewer completions. Only 16,910 wells are predicted for this state against 17,395 during 1952. The decrease is to to a big drop in West Texas, which nevertheless remains a leading area with an estimated 3,620 completions against 5,125 for 1952. The drop in drilling in West Texas has been caused primarily by the slowdown in operations in the Spraberry Trend Area.

U. S. drilling is being stimulated by continued production gains. U. S. crude production averaged 6,483,000 barrels daily the first half of 1953, an increase of 6.1 per cent over the 6,112,000 barrels daily in 1952.

World Oil points out that a mammoth pipe line construction program is under way. Rising demand requires facilities for moving more oil, natural gas and products to markets, and with steel more plentiful than at any time in a decade, a record amount of new lines may be put into operation during 1953.

37 Crude Lines

During the first six months of 1953, PAD approved materials for construction of 37 crude lines totaling 4,450 miles, and 1,000 miles of oil-gathering lines, plus 25 product lines totaling 4,500 miles. Most of these will be finished this year. Prospects are that crude and product lines will exceed 1952's total of 4,363 miles of crude and 1,696 miles of product lines.

Natural gas transmission line construction will be sizeable, though not up to the 7,188 miles put in operation during 1952.

Grand Jury Action May Close Franks' Era Outside Walls

On the same day Franks was arrested for speeding in his new convertible car. Franks has had a series of tangles with the law since.

A Texas prison system physician has forwarded to the district attorney's office here a statement that Franks had an advanced case of epilepsy.

Daddy Ringtail And Story Of The Stars

By WESLEY DAVIS

The night had come to the Great Forest. Up in the sky a million stars were shining. How pretty they were to see!

That's what Daddy Ringtail was thinking. Mugwum Monkey and the Huffen Puffen, the friendly wolf, were thinking it too. Our friends were lying flat on their backs out on the porch of the monkey house. They had pillows to be comfortable and they looked way up at the stars in the sky and talked bout them.

Said the Huffen: "I wish, I do, that I were a star, a-shining up there in the sky."

Said Mugwump: "I bet I used to be a star before I was a monkey, and I bet some day I'll be a star again."

Said Daddy Ringtail: "Some people say that stars are the eyes of the night to see about the things that happen."

Then our friends were quiet again thinking of the stars and watching them. Mugwump wondered if the stars were really the eyes of the night, and what they were seeing. Mugwump decided they were seeing all the friendly things there are to see, since the night is a friendly something.

Said the Huffen: "I wonder, I do, what happens to the stars when the morning comes and the sun is shining bright. You can't see the stars any more then, you can't."

Mugwump laughed and said: "Maybe the stars shut their eyes when morning comes. Or maybe they go around to the other side of the world to be the eyes of the night for other people."

"What other people?" asked the Huffen.

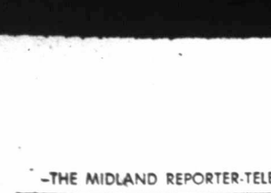

"The people over on the other side of the world in China," Mugwump explained.

And the Huffen said he was glad he wasn't a Chinaman, because he didn't know how to talk Chinese, but Daddy Ringtail said not to worry about it because probably he would never be a Chinaman and maybe some Chinaman right now was glad that he was not the Huffen because he couldn't talk Huffen.

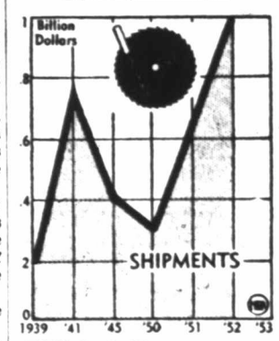

The night grew later and later. Mugwump Monkey went to sleep. The Huffen too went to sleep. Daddy Ringtail alone was still awake to look at the stars and wonder about them—what they are and why. Then Daddy Ringtail was fast asleep. The stars kept right on shining down to watch like the friendly eyes of the night. Happy, friendly night. Happy day!

During the last week, the Soil Conservation Service checked systems on the Emil Teinert and E. F. Potter farms. Actual discharge of the sprinklers and operating pressures at various points in the system were measured. Depth of moisture penetration in the soil was determined to check the effectiveness of the irrigation application.

The association is devoted exclusively to the development and promotion of Polled Hereford beef cattle. There are more than 9,000 members of the association throughout the United States and Canada.

Nielsen and 12 other Texas Polled Hereford breeders were among the 147 breeders of registered Polled Hereford nationally who joined the APHA in June and July, Chittenden announced.

Cowboys' feet aren't what they used to be!

Sizes are way up, and the cowboys of old just couldn't fill the boots of the modern cowboy.

And with the foot expansion trend of the cowboy, the firm of H. J. Justin & Sons, Inc. Fort Worth boot manufacturer, has dropped the extra charge of oversize boots, for the first time in its 74-year history.

Cowboys' feet, the Justin record indicates, must have been growing through the years, because the boots sold in the cattle country have been increasing in size.

Back at the turn of the century, a cowboy with a boot size of 8 1/2 was a "big footed" man. The biggest selling sizes were sixes and sevens, according to the Cowtown bootmakers. Many cowboys back in those days wore size 4 1/2 or five.

My, My . . . What feet

Today, records show that the biggest selling boot sizes are nine and 9 1/2.

It is said that a change in the living habits of the cowboy is responsible for his larger feet. Cowboys, it seems, walk more today. The old cowboy never walked anywhere unless he absolutely had to. And World War I and II perhaps had something to do with it, too.

The Justin firm didn't mention it, but boot prices too, seem to have increased along with the sizes.

Believe it or not—the Texas lamb crop for 1953, estimated at 2,546,000 head, is eight per cent or 182,000 head larger than the very small 1952 lamb crop. The number of breeding ewes on last January 1 was seven per cent less than a year earlier, the U. S. Department of Agriculture, reports.

Although below average, the lambing percentage of 66 per cent was nine points above the low of 57 per cent last year.

The United States lamb crop for 1953 totaled 19,702,000 head, seven per cent up from last year.

An impressive new record in purebred registrations was set by the American Hereford Association last month—the greatest July figure in history.

Applications for registrations received at headquarters in Kansas City, Mo., during the month soared to a new mark of 56,658 an increase of 1,666 over July of last year.

Association Secretary Jack Turner underlined the July volume by pointing out that the total for the month was twice the total registrations for the year 1910 and 10,000 above the total for the year 1915.

With the new record set last month, association officials look forward to closing the current fiscal year August 31 with a new world's record for a purebred association. Registrations last year totaled 548,418, almost three times the total registrations of other major beef breeds combined.

Here's something on this idea of stretching feed. Neal Randolph, Extension entomologist, says control of livestock pests will result in more meat, eggs, milk and fiber. He says that flies reduce milk and beef production—insects keeps pastured animals from grazing when feeding costs are normally at the lowest. Cattle grubs not only damage hides but reduce the output of beef and milk. Ticks, lice, screw worms and mosquitoes take their toll in unproduced meat and fibers which should go for food and clothing.

Randolph points out that animals infected with these insects are hard keepers and usually are poor producers. Another important point is that some insect may transmit diseases from sick to healthy animals. These losses can be reduced and in some cases can be eliminated entirely. Not only can the individual farmers protect their livestock but community actions can be more effective. This community action is especially effective in the control of screw worms, cattle grubs and other pests.

MAIZE FOR COTTON—I. J. Howard, farmer near Valley View, southeast of Midland, studies the soil condition in a dryland cotton field which has not made enough growth to cover the land. He already has drilled 80 acres of maize on parts of the field without a stand of cotton.

DANGER OF WIND—Fallow fields in the Midland area already are beginning to blow. I. J. Howard points out to Ben Osborn, soil conservationist, the wind erosion hazard caused by the drouth on his farm.

Relief Money Promised Area Farmers Curbing Wind Harm

Agricultural agencies in Midland moved last week to counter an unusual threat of damaging wind erosion and dust storms this Winter by encouraging the planting of cover crops on fields left barren by the drouth.

The county PMA committee and Soil Conservation Service acted to make Midland county farmers eligible for payments under a new Agricultural Conervation Program practice to help defray costs of planting emergency cover on drouth-stricken croplands.

The emergency cover practice was offered to 138 counties in the drouth area. It provides for payments on the planting of grain sorghums, sweet sorghums, sudan grass millet, oats, or barley. W. E. Pigg, chairman of the county PMA committee, and Ben Osborn, soil conservationist, wrote the state PMA committee accepting the practice as a part of the Midland county program. Final approval is expected immediately.

Early Report Asked

In the meantime, Charles Champion, PMA office manager, has written all producers for whom ACP funds have been allocated, asking an immediate report on the practices completed and those which will not be performed because of the drouth. Funds originally allocated for practices which will not be applied will become available for the new emergency cover practice.

Farmers who have funds allocated for practices which they will not be able to complete may substitute the emergency cover practice up to the amount of the guaranteed assistance, Champion said. Substitutions can be made immediately, but funds to be reallocated will not be available until about September 15.

Need for 50,000 acres of emergency cover to prevent wind erosion was indicated in a survey of cropland conditions in the Midland area prepared by the Soil Conservation Service for the board of supervisors of the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District.

Much Acreage Abandoned

Of the 70,000 acres of cultivated land in Midland County, 25,000 acres was not planted because of the drouth, and another 10,000 acres of dryland cotton already has been abandoned. Drilled sorghums or small grains are needed on this acreage to protect it from blowing.

Another 15,000 acres of dryland cotton has such a sparse growth that inter-row plantings of sorghums or grains and legumes are needed to provide a protective cover this Winter.

The soil conservation district is urging farmers to plant adapted covers wherever and whenever it rains according to J. T. Flowers, supervisor representing the Midland area. The Texas Association of Soil Conservation Districts has asked all districts in the south plains to join in a cover crop campaign under the slogan, "For land's sake, cover it." The Martin-Howard district will cooperate.

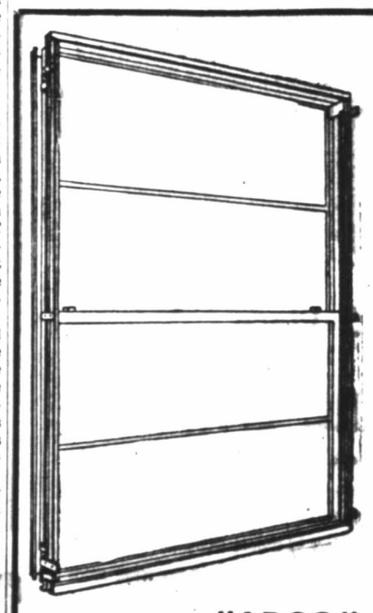

Cannot Be Grazed

The district has a row seeder which can be used to plant in the middles of cotton or feed crops, and a grain-fertilizer drill for planting small grains and sorghums. The row seeder is at the Flowers' farm near Valley View and the grain drill is in the custody of the Martin County agent.

The ACP practice is expected to encourage cover crop plantings if rains occur in time. The following rates of payment are offered for planting seed of average purity and germination: grain sorghums five cents per pound, sweet sorghums 10 cents, sudan 15 cents, millet 13 cents, oats five cents, and barley four cents.

A crop will not qualify if harvested for grain or hay, and sorghums, sudan, or millet will not qualify for payment if grazed. Oats or barley must not be grazed to the extent of permitting wind erosion.

Cork oaks grow best on land which is of little value for other purposes.

NOT LATE FOR COVER—Maize or other sorghums close-drilled will provide a soil-protective cover even though planted too late to produce a grain or forage crop. This practice is recommended by the soil conservation district and is included for payment under the new ACP practice announced for the drouth area.

Parent, Teacher Workshop To Move Into Second Week

The teacher and parent workshop being conducted in the Sam Houston Elementary School, is progressing satisfactorily, according to Harold Hitt, director of curricula for Midland public schools, who reported on the first week's activities in the three week workshop.

A total of 85 to 90 persons are participating in the workshop, he said, with half of the morning sessions being concerned with elementary, secondary and primary levels of school and half with teachers and principals and interested groups working on problems of next year's school administrative regulations.

During the last week Frank Monroe, superintendent, spoke on "School Services in Midland" and Dr. James Knight, University of Texas, spoke on 'Earmarks of Value in Classroom Activities."

Seminar A, or the primary, intermediate and secondary levels, has been giving consideration to the learning process and the development of teachers aids with subjects areas pertinent to the teachers' assignments.

Seminar B, which is instructed by staff members from the University of Texas, assisted by Midland school principals, is divided into three teacher groups. Of main interest are subjects concerning leadership and group processes and analysis of classroom activities and community relations orientated around the area of human growth and development. The principals also are working on administrative problems.

A pre-school session conference for all teachers will be held September 3-4.

Midlander Among First Post-Armistice Returnees

A Midland Marine, M/Sgt. Marlin K. Stephens, was among 473 veterans of the First Marine Air Wing who arrived in San Francisco from Korea last week aboard the USNS General William Mitchell—the first group of Marines to return since the armistice in Korea.

Stephens, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Stephens, 705 South Fort Worth Street, was returned for reassignment to Camp Lejeune, N. C., after completing 11 months in Korea as communications chief with the Marine air unit. After a brief processing period, he will be given leave to visit relatives and friends.

The 38-year-old veteran of more than 13 years with the Marine Corps first enlisted in the corps at Dallas in July, 1940. During World War II he saw combat action in the campaigns for Bougainville and Iwo Jima.

Stephens' wife, Mildred and their four-year-old daughter, Sara, are now living in Villisca, Iowa.

Merworth Wires From Tokyo He Leaves For Midland Soon

The story of the return of Sgt. Lee E. Merworth, 23, to his family in Midland started picking up momentum Saturday when word came that the soldier was in Tokyo and would be home soon.

A telegram from Lee to his brother, Roy L. Merworth of 2102 West New Jersey Street, read "I am in Tokyo . . . feeling better . . . will see you soon . . . tell everybody hello."

Sergeant Merworth was released in the prisoner exchange at Panmunjom last week after spending 31 months as a POW in North Korea.

No hint was given in the telegram about how the sergeant would come home or when but the fact that he is coming home is good enough for his family.

Veterans Forfeit Civil Service Job Points In New Law

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Veterans competing with non-veterans for federal Civil Service jobs lose some special preference under two changes in the law, approved Friday in Denver by President Eisenhower.

1. They will not have five points, or 10 points in the case of disabled veterans, added to their Civil Service competitive examinations if they fail to make an original passing score of 70. They still will get the added points if they pass.

2. They must have at least a 10 per cent service-connected disability before they can move to the top of a job list for which they qualify by examination. Previously, those with service-connected disabilities of less than 10 per cent had this right.

The changes are effective in 60 days.

Apparent Murder Try Unsuccessful

HOUSTON —(AP)— Someone apparently tried to kill an Ellington Air Force Base truck driver, his wife and infant son with a homemade bomb Friday.

"It definitely was an attempt on their lives," said fire investigator George Radcliff after examining a broken wine bottle found under their bed. The bottle was half filled with gasoline.

The truck driver, Dorsey Malbrue, said he and his wife, Irene, 23, and their son, Eugene, nine months smelled smoke on returning Friday from a trip to Galveston. They found the home-made bomb. Radcliff said the draft from a window apparently blew out the fuse to the bomb.

America's Grecian To Aid Countrymen In Texas Meeting

HOUSTON —(AP)— Americans of Greek origin gathering here Sunday for a national convention have added a sad subject to their agenda: How to help earthquake victimes on three Greek islands.

A special meeting for that purpose will be held shortly after the start of the twenty-seventh national convention of the Order of Ahepa, international organization of persons of Greek origin and descent.

Principal speaker at Tuesday night's banquet will be Oveta Culp Hobby of Houston, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare in the Eisenhower Administration.

To facilitate plans for relief for the three Greek islands devastated by earthquakes, the Greek ambassador to the United States, Athanase G. Politis, has been asked to be on hand Sunday. He originally was not scheduled to arrive until Monday.

Air Force Poses Problem In Cutting Off Mission Base

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The Air Force is withholding indefinitely a final decision on use of Moore Field at Mission, Texas.

The Air Force had announced it planned to reactivate the base and Texas state health officials began removal of patients from the state tubercular hospital which had been established there after World War II.

Recently, the Air Force said under its cutback program, it would have difficulty using Moore Field.

Representative Bentsen (D-Texas) discussed the matter with officials. He said the state had gone to great expense in relocating patients and planned to vacate completely the buildings by September 1. He said the Air Force had a moral obligation to reopen the base because of the large expenditures made by state and local authorities in providing new hospital facilities.

Psychiatrist Says Judas-Like Betrayal Of Some GI's In Korean Prisons 'Normal'

By DON WHITEHEAD

WASHINGTON —(AP)— A noted psychiatrist predicted Saturday that only a few of the Americans released from Chinese prisoner of war camps in Korea will carry through life any permanent taint of communism.

"Some people sell out cheap," he said, "but not many. Most of those boys will come home strengthened in their belief that we have the right way of living—because they have seen communism for what it is. The return home to normal life will be an antidote for any poison that was instilled."

This judgment came from Dr. Winfred Overholser of St. Elizabeth's Hospital, editor of the Quarterly Review of Psychiatry and Neurology, who has been studying the workings of men's minds more than 30 years.

Apostles Of Christ

I went to Dr. Overholser to get the opinion of a psychiatric expert on why it was some of our soldiers apparently fell prey to Red propaganda in prison camps while others fought against it despite tortures and threats of death.

Prisoners returning to Freedom Village in Korea have told bitter stories of some Americans falling for the Red propaganda and currying favor with their captors by turning informer on their mates. Some were reported to have chosen life with the Reds over freedom.

"You must remember," Overholser said, "there were only 12 apostles and yet there was one Judas among them. In any group there are the weaklings. But, thank God, the strong outnumber them by far."

American Stubbornness

There were some weaklings in Korea, virtual traitors to their prison mates. Yet there were men like Pfc. Leonard Brewton of Toledo, Ohio, who told of fighting Red guards and of being beaten because he refused to attend a lecture accusing America of germ warfare.

Brewton was beaten, thrown into solitary confinement beaten again, bayoneted, stripped of clothing, left to freeze, and sentenced to hard labor But men like Brewton didn't break.

His story reminded me of the horror camp run by the Nazis at Buchenwald during World War II. Gen. George Patton's troops liberated the walking skeletons of Buchenwald, where Jews by the tens of thousands had been sent to die in torture chambers and furnaces.

Defiance In Eyes

Our troops found gaunt, emaciated ghosts of men stumbling about with the light of life snuffed out in their eyes. But the Nazi couldn't snuff out either hope or defiance entirely. It gleamed from eyes set deep in the skull-like faces of men who never could be crushed even by death.

What inner force sustained men like Brewton through trials—while a prison mate's soul shriveled to Judas' size under the same conditions?

Only the men themselves can give a true answer, of course. For one it was a strong religious faith. For another it was hatred of communism. For another it was memory of home and family. For another it was early childhood training. Different men were sustained by different things.

Little To Fall Back On

But for some there was no such inner well of strength of powers of resistance. They had no reserves to fall back on.

Dr. Overholser said: "Much of this is related to a man's temperament, the roots of which reach far back into his life and even can be related to his physical build.

"But these are less important than the early family life, the attitudes with which the individual grew up. Some people tend to conform and conformity is drilled into them from childhood Others react in an opposite manner with defiance or stubbornness.

"These things may come from the influence of an overbearing father or a too-possessive mother. From environment. From a good many elements about which we know nothing. Psychiatry doesn't know all the answers to human behaviour.

"We must remember, too, the tremendous pressures of these men during months of imprisonment. They lived in a world of unreality. There was the constant threat of death or torture or sickness. They were worn emotionally and physically.

"And our men didn't understand this war as they had understood the last war when we were attacked by the Japanese at Pearl Harbor. There was not the same sentiment about this war as the last one or even World War 1.

"I don't mean to minimize the danger of even a few men accepting communism. But it is honestly amazing to me that more of them didn't appear to break under the strain of prison life in North Korea. The fact that the great majority didn't break is a tribute to the elasticity of the human being—and it's the greatest argument we have in support of our democratic way of life."

Dr. Overholser isn't too greatly alarmed about the number of men who might have appeared to accept communism. He suggests it is possible some of them merely gave the appearance of accepting the Red propaganda in a gamble for survival.

Aged Woman Held By Police In Bribe For Aid Of Sapet

SAN ANTONIO—(AP)—A 71-year-old San Antonio woman tourist court operator is accused of accepting a bribe in exchange for a promise to use her influence to get Mario Sapet out of prison.

Sapet is the San Antonio tavern operator under 99-year sentence for the "mistake" slaying of Jacob S. (Buddy) Floyd, Jr., of Alice.

Texas Rangers Friday arrested Mrs. Martha Shattuc, 71, charging she accepted an envelope containing marked money from Ishmael Garza, a private investigator posing as a member of Sapet's family.

Earlier this week, Sapet's family had told investigators a woman approached them with an offer to free Sapet for $7,000. The woman claimed she had "pull" with the governor. Ranger Zeno Smith said hidden microphones recorded conversations with the suspect.

Smith said the envelope handed Mrs. Shattuc contained $75 in marked money although she was told it contained $3,000, and that officers hiding in an adjoining house arrested Mrs. Shattuc shortly after she had accepted the envelope.

Sapet, in jail at Brownwood awaiting results of an appeal, said he did not know Mrs. Shattuc. Floyd was shot to death from ambush by a killer believed to be gunning for the youth's father, an Alice attorney and political foe of George Parr, South Texas political boss.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy R. McKee, 907 West Michigan Street. She was graduated from Southern Methodist University, Dallas, with a degree in elementary education.

Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Bedford, 1110 North Big Spring Street. He was graduated from Texas Technological College, Lubbock, with a degree in industrial engineering.

When the couple returns from a wedding trip to New Mexico, they will go to Fort Belvoir, Va., where the bridegroom will be stationed as a second lieutenant in the Army's Corps of Engineers.

Wedding vows were repeated at the church altar, which was decorated with baskets of white gladiolus, white tapers in branched candelabra, smilax and palms.

The officiating clergyman was the Rev. Howard H. Hollowell, pastor of the Oak Cliff Methodist Church, Dallas, and former pastor of the Midland First Methodist Church.

Mrs. Howard Swain, organist, played a program of traditional wedding music. She also accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Clarence Collins, wife of the St. Luke's Methodist pastor, who sang, "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer." Candles were lighted by Scott McKee, brother of the bride, and Charles McCall, a friend of the bride and bridegroom.

Honor attendants for the couple were Jo Anne Boykin of Austin and Benny Bedford, brother of the bridegroom. Bridesmaids included Sue Lue Smith of Gonzales, Doris Stewart of Dallas, Mrs. H. S. Hartley of Lamesa and Camilla Birkhead. Miss Smith, Miss Stewart and Mrs. Hartley were roommates of the bride at SMU.

Serving as ushers were Joe Stoltz of Hobbs, N. M., Fred Willis of Odessa, Ed Prichard and Charles Moncrief.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a semi-formal gown of crystal white imported Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over satin. The dress was made with a fitted bodice of lace fastened with tiny self-covered buttons. Cut-out lace applique complimented the scooped out neckline and tiny shirred cap sleeves were enhanced by lace gauntlets that formed petal points over the hands. The bouffant skirt, made of tiers of tulle with panels of lace, terminated in a short chapel train and was worn over hoops and crinolines.

The bride's finger-tip veil of silk illusion was held in place with a small cap of lace, accented with seed pearl embroidery. She carried a purple-throated white orchid, showered with satin ribbons and loops of stephanotis atop a white Bible.

Dresses for the bride's attendants were identically styled, waltz length frocks of ice blue nylon tulle over taffeta.

The dresses were fashioned with shirred strapless bodices that were accented with stoles attached on the left sides and draped around the shoulders to form portrait necklines. The full gathered skirts were accented with wide flanges down the left sides.

Complimenting their dresses, the attendants wore tiny nose veils of ice blue satin and shoes dyed to match. They carried arm bouquets of American beauty roses tied with blue satin ribbons.

The reception was held in the church parlor, where guests were received by the bridal couple, their parents and the bride's attendants.

The bride's table, done in all white, had a gathered skirt of net over a satin cloth. A crystal punch bowl was placed at each end of the table and the centerpiece was the wedding cake, placed on a reflector edged with net ruffles.

Dorris Summers of Odessa and Anne Boring presided at the twin punch bowls and Dot Graham of Odessa and Patricia Pryor served the cake. Presiding at the guest book was Mrs. David Leaverton of Lubbock.

Others in the houseparty were Mrs. Paul Westerfield of Lubbock, Mrs. Arnold Scharbauer, Mrs. J. P. Carson, Jr., Mrs. E. P. Birkhead, Mrs. J. A. Sewell, Mrs. D. E. Hoover of Hobbs, N. M., and Mrs. Luther Kirk.

For traveling, the bride changed to a suit of cotillion blue textured wool with black accessories and a white orchid corsage.

Mrs. David N. Leaverton of Lubbock and Mrs. W. A. Schaeffer, Jr. of Fort Worth were hostesses Friday at a luncheon in the Midland Country Club honoring the bride.

The table was covered with a white cloth and decorated with an arrangement of American beauty roses and pale blue chrysanthemums centered with bride and bridegroom figurines. Extending the length of the table was a pale blue satin ribbon trimmed with bows in which were tied lilies-of-the-valley.

Guests were Mrs. Roy McKee, mother of the bride; Mrs. A. J. Bedford, mother of the bridegroom; Mrs. H. S. Hartley of Lamesa, Sue Lue Smith of Gonzales, Doris Stewart of Dallas and Camilla Birkhead of Midland, bridesmaids. Jo Anne Boykin of Austin, maid of honor, and Mrs. Charles Browning, Mrs. John Ed Green, Mrs. Joe Mabee and Mrs. John A. Mills.

Alice Moore, Robert L. Reese Read Vows In Tulsa Cathedral

Vows were solemnized at 8 p.m. Saturday in the Holy Family Cathedral in Tulsa, Okla., for Alice Constantin Moore and Robert Lavon Reese, both of Midland.

Msgr. Victor J. Reed officiated at the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Louis Moore of Tulsa. Reese is the son of Roy Lavon Reese of Corpus Christi, and Mrs. Ruth Reese of Austin.

The altar rail was banked with white caladium leaves and mums. Torcheres holding cathedral candles, and white caladium leaves were placed back of the altar rail. White urns holding seasonal flowers and caladium leaves flanked the wedding party. Family pews were marked with white satin ribbons.

Presents Nuptial Music

Mrs. Cora Greer, organist, presented a program of traditional wedding music and accompanied William Sheebhan who sang "Panis Angelicus," "Ave Maria" and "On This Day, Oh, Beautiful Mother."

The bride given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of candlelight ivory Italian silk taffeta. The bodice was complemented by a wide decollete neckline edged with deep folds that extended around the shoulders to a deep V in the front, revealing a hand-run Alencon lace yoke. The yoke was re-embroidered with seed pearls. The tapered sleeves were of elbow length. Her flared skirt, accented on either side by deep folds of taffeta at the hipline, formed a full panier, and extended into a wide, fan-shaped train.

She wore a fingertip length veil of imported French illusion banded with heirloom Rosepoint lace and caught to an invisible cap in natural folds. Her crescent bouquet was of stephanotis and white tuberous begonias with full satin showers.

Betty Perry of Midland was the maid of honor and bridesmaids were Patricia Moore of Chicago, Ill., and Mary McGann of South Bend, Ind.

The attendants wore identical gowns of natural cotton lace, fashioned with moulded ballerina bodices embroidered with sequins. The full flared skirts were waltz length. Tiny shoulder capes were worn over the gowns. Their hats were of matching lace, and they carried crescent bouquets of coral-colored tuberous begonias with matching caladium leaves.

George McCollough of Eagle Pass was the best man. Ushers were James Green of Wharton, M. E. Moore of Robinson, Ill., H. R. Moore of Omaha, Neb., and Thomas L. Moore, Jr. and Daniel C. Moore of Tulsa.

For her daughters wedding Mrs. Moore chose a powder blue lace and chiffon floor length gown with a matching hat. Her corsage was of coral begonias.

Mrs. Reese wore a formal gown of pale blue changeable taffeta and a hat of matching color. Her corsage was of fushia asters.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore were hosts at a reception at Snug Harbor at Southern Hills Country Club following the ceremony. Screens of smilax and urns of white caladium leaves formed the background for the wedding party. The bride's table was centered with a wedding cake garlanded with coral tuberous begonias holding tapers. Assistants were Mrs. Richard H. Clements, Mrs. R. Phillips Pringle and Mrs. Neal Edward McNeill.

After a wedding trip to Colorado, the couple will be at home in Midland.

Out-of-city guests were Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Constantin, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Rogers, Mrs. Harold R. Delaney, Mrs. Jules Constantin, Mrs. W. D. McMee, Lucille Constantin, Alice Constantin, Ann Guthrie and Charles Constantin, all of Dallas.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert McGann of South Bend, Ind.; Mrs. E. M. Moore of Elkhart, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Pryser of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. John G. Best of Elkhart, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. John Kirsch of Sturgis, Mich., and Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Moore of Fort Worth.

RUTH MILLETT SAYS—

Arrogant Hubby Defeats His Working Wife's Spirit

By RUTH MILLETT

It's hard to believe a husband can get by with this kind of high-handedness in 1953, but here's the story as the wife tells it:

"When we were first married I thought my husband was being the man of the house by doing all the banking, shopping and errands that were necessary. There weren't any bills then and I thought it was great fun to have no responsibility, other than cooking and doing the housework which I loved.

"A short time later, he was in the service and I did remarkably well on my own, not only with the banking, but I managed to save quite a sum which I banked jointly.

"Upon his return, he withdrew our savings and that included what I had saved from working, also. Since then it has been a one-sided bank account in his name ONLY. I get no allowance for household expenses, or for my personal use. I am not allowed to learn to drive the car, even though the shopping centers are quite some distance away.

RUTH MILLETT

"Now there are bills and I can't write checks, and when the bills pile up my husband creates such a fuss reminding me that he knows what he is doing. I can't even look at our savings book. If I ask for carfare, he digs 'way down for fifty cents.

"He comes and goes when he pleases. The car is his. The money is his. And he tells me I'm pretty lucky to have such a wonderful husband who does all the shopping. But I feel more and more like a whipped dog. I seem to have lost all confidence in myself."

Years Of Bad Treatment

Who wouldn't, after a few years of that kind of treatment?

But why have you put up with it so long? Surely if you have worked before, you can get another job, whether your husband approves of your working or not.

After all, if he isn't willing to put his earnings in a joint account or give you an allowance, he certainly has no right to object to your earning some money of your own.

The main thing, however, is to stop feeling like a whipped dog and stand up and fight for your rights. And don't worry too much over what your sudden independent spirit will do to your marriage.

Almost any kind of change would be an improvement over the way it is now, if you are giving a fair description of it.

Darlene McEntire, O. L. Dorsey Married In Church Ceremony

The marriage of Anna Darlene McEntire of Abilene and Oscar L. Dorsey of Midland was solemnized at 8 p.m. Saturday in the Elmwood Baptist Church of Abilene.

After August 25, the couple will establish a residence in Sterling City, where the bridegroom will start his second year as teacher and coach in the high school.

From Abilene

The bride is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. C. D. McEntire, Abilene. She was graduated from Sterling City High School and attended Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, for two years.

At H-SU, the bride was a member of the Baptist Student Union, Life Service Band, Colt Club, P. E. Club, Spanish Club, and served as class social chairman her freshman year and as a cheerleader her second year.

She formerly was employed with the Telephone Company in San Angelo, the West Texas Gas Company in Midland and Station KWKC in Abilene.

Mrs. Oscar L. Dorsey

Is Midlander

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Hayden Conine, 1006 South Colorado Street. He was graduated from Watervalley High School, San Angelo Junior College and Abilene Christian College, and now is working on his master's degree at H-SU.

At ACC, the bridegroom was a member of the athletic association and lettered four years in track and basketball. He served as student president at San Angelo Junior College. Before going to Sterling City, he served for a year as teacher and coach at Blackwell.

The couple repeated wedding vows before a green archway that was flanked with baskets of pink shasta daisies and fern and pink tapers burning in branched candelabra.

Father Officiates

Officiating for the single-ring service was the bride's father. Anna Lee Johnson, organist, played the traditional wedding music and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Oran Teal, who sang "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was given in marriage by her grandfather, C. O. Welch.

She was wearing a gown of white imported organdy and imported silk lace over taffeta. The lace bodice was fashioned with scalloped neckline and long, pointed sleeves and was accented with seed pearls. A lace peplum over the bouffant organdy skirt extended into a chapel-length train.

The bride's finger-tip length veil of silk illusion was caught to a seed pearl crown. She carried a white gardenia and carnations atop the ivory-backed Bible that her sister had carried. For something old, she wore a gold coin necklace belonging to her great-grandmother.

Wear Pink And Yellow

Mrs. W. O. Spence of Midland, who attended her sister as matron of honor, was wearing a ballerina-length gown of pink embroidered organdy over taffeta, fashioned like that of the bride. She carried a bouquet of yellow daisies and wore a small pink tiara.

Sue Lowe of Sterling City, Barbara Burkhart of Fort Worth and Nan Welch of Midland, an aunt of the bride, were the bridesmaids. They were wearing dresses of yellow organdy with headbands of pink flowers. They carried nosegays of pink daisies.

Sherron Kaye Chambers of Midland, cousin of the bride, was the flower girl. She wore a dress of blue organdy made with ruffled and hooped skirt over ruffled pantaloons. She wore a matching hat and carried a basket of mixed flowers.

The bride's mother wore a dress of orchid silk shantung with pink accessories and corsage. The bridegroom's mother was wearing a dress of navy blue velvet lace nylon over pink taffeta, with navy accessories. Her corsage was pink.

Attendants Named

Hugh Reynolds of Midland attended the bridegroom as best man. Ushers included John Fred Phillips of Abilene, Steve McEntire of Abilene, who is the bride's brother, and William O. Spence of Midland, brother-in-law of the bride.

Woodie Carroll of Bronte and Kenneth Welch of Midland, cousin of the bride, served as junior ushers and ring bearer was Rickie Cauble of Midland, cousin of the bride. Candles were lighted by Beth Welch of Midland, aunt of the bride, and Nita Faye Welch of Denver City, the bride's cousin.

Reception Held

The reception was held in the church, where the couple was assisted in receiving guests by their mothers, the matron of honor and Mrs. C. O. Welch and Mrs. C. C. Gibson, grandmother of the bride.

Also assisting in the houseparty were Sarah Duke of Abilene, LaVern King of Sterling City, Sue Guess of Abilene and Troyce Eiland of Midland.

The table was laid with a linen embroidered cutwork cloth over pink and was centered with a wedding candle encircled with the bridesmaid's flowers. The three-tiered cake was topped with a miniature bridal couple.

When the couple left on a wedding trip to Colorado, the bride was wearing a dark gold suit with white linen collar and cuffs. Her accessories were brown and she wore a white gardenia corsage.

Among the wedding guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Lowrey of Midland, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Breeding of San Angelo and the bridegroom's stepfather, Hayden Conine, also of Midland. Mrs. Lowrey and Mrs. Breeding are sisters of the bridegroom.

First Methodist Circle Holds Family Picnic

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Lane Horstman, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Otell, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Payne, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Klebold and Mrs. Billy C. Johnson.

Garden Club Council Answers Questions On Variety Of Midland Gardening Problems

(One of a series of articles on gardening in Midland, prepared and submitted by the Midland Council of Garden Clubs)

Midland gardeners have asked questions concerning a variety of problems in the last month. One question asked is where seeds for the large annual Spring blooming poppy may be secured. These are not available in stores because this poppy is a source of opium. Seeds can only be obtained from some gardener who has saved them from last year's seed pods. They can be planted in September or October for bloom the following Spring.

Another inquiry concerns columbine plants which seem to be dying. First check the undersides of leaves for red spiders. If they are present, dust with powdered sulphur. Columbines cannot survive if planted in the hot sun; they prefer shade. The plants may die if allowed to go to seed. Seedlings of hybrid varieties, the most desirable, often revert to common short spurred types so start with plants or purchased seeds.

Questions Dividing Verbenas

One questioner asks about dividing verbenas. Verbenas, once started, will grow well in Midland and may be had in bright, red, wine, pink, purple and white. They seem to grow better from divisions or plants than from seeds. Long runners grow from the original plant and these runners grow roots. It is recommended that the runners be cut free from the original plant, carefully dug in the Spring with dirt left on so the small hair roots are not damaged, replanted and kept damp for several days. It may be possible to do this in the Fall with extra care and shading from the hot sun but save some for Spring transplanting in case they do not live.

In answer to a question regarding what plant to use in a narrow bed between a walk and a wall with a northern exposure; violets can be used here for an evergreen effect and they can be set out as new plants or started from divisions of old plants. This can be done now. Plants will need to be kept damp and perhaps shaded. Vinca, plain or variegate, also evergreen and sometimes called myrtle, could be used as a groundcover for such an area. It is a trailing plant easily started from rotted runners. Your neighbor is the best source for vinca. Honeysuckle could be trained against the fense, the common variety Halli grows readily.

A correction should be made with regard to last week's article. The correct order of the ingredients of commercial fertilizers is first nitrogen, then phosphorous and last potash.

This week in your garden you should spend some time on the rose bushes. Roses have two main blooming periods, Spring and Fall. At the present time, feed rose bushes to improve Fall bloom. One or two handfuls of a balanced fertilizer should be worked in with the least possible disturbance to the mulch. Applications of liquid fertilizer (fertilizer dissolved in water) are satisfactory also. Do not feed roses in the late Fall as new soft growth will be severely damaged by early Fall freezes.

Remove Faded Rose Blooms

Rose blooms which fade should be removed, cut stems back to where two five leaflet leaves are left. Cut back dead wood and remove twiggy growth which does not produce blooms. Careful pruning now will keep bushes shapely and encourage new shoots which will produce a good showing at the Fall blooming period. Try DuPont Floral Dust for insect control. Some authorities suggest Fall planting of roses but this is not recommended for Midland because of Winter and Spring weather conditions. Wait until late January or February.

A visit to the nursery will enable you to see many blooming shrubs such as lantana, roses, abelia, hibiscus, vitex and althea or Rose of Sharon. All of these bloom in the Summer and make a very satisfactory showing for landscaping where the gardener does not have a great deal of time to spend on care of flowers. Visit the nursery and look over these shrubs to help you decide which you would like to plant this Fall or Spring. Seeing them in bloom and with leaves will give you a better idea of their effect than just seeing bare branches.

Manners MAKE FRIENDS

If his birthday rolls around before he has ever had an occasion to give you a gift—go easy. Get him a small remembrance, such as a book or a record you think he'd like. But don't get him an expensive present. If you do it may look as though it's you who are pursuing him.

It's always better to have it look the other way 'round.

SPEEDY CAKE FROSTING

The cake baker who is always looking for more efficient ways to turn out her favorite delicacy can speed things up by putting the baked cake on a Lazy Susan for decorating and frosting it. It turns easier and the work is smoother.

SO YOU WANT TO TAKE OFF UGLY FAT?

Then read what Mrs. R. A. Mills, 1212 S. Hazelwood, Sherman, Texas, has to say:

"I have lost 20 pounds taking Barcentrate with very little effort on my part. I feel lots better. I am glad to say the Barcentrate way of reducing is pleasant and easy."

We receive letters like Mrs. Mills' every day from grateful users. Nearly five million bottles of Barcentrate sold in Texas in nine years.

Just ask your druggist for four ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Mix with grapefruit juice as directed on bottle. Then take according to directions.

If the very first bottle doesn't show you the sensible way to take off ugly fat, without starvation diet, calorie counting or back-breaking exercises, just return the empty bottle for your money back.

Double Ring Ceremony Unites Dorthia Livengood, D. L. Payne

The Central Presbyterian Church in Abilene was the scene of the wedding Saturday of Dorthia Louise Livengood and Donald Lee Payne, both of Abilene.

The Rev. Frank D. Travis officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Gray of Midland. Payne is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy D. Payne of Abilene.

Mrs. Gordon Weir, organist, played the traditional wedding music, and Truett Rogers, soloist, sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Decorations Described

Baskets of white gladiolus, palm trees and white candelabra holding green candles formed the background for the ceremony. Pews were marked with white bows.

The bride, escorted by her stepfather, C. B. Gray, wore a ballerina dress of Alencon lace and tulle designed with a strapless bodice over which she wore a modesty jacket of Alencon lace. Her full skirt was fashioned of six layers of tulle with an added flounce of the Alencon lace on the top layer. Under the flounce the entire hem and bottom of the skirt were knife-pleated in tulle. She wore a fingertip length veil of imported French illusion, gathered to a carnation cap of lace with pearls. She carried a purple-throated white orchid on a white Bible.

Lavern Livengood of Abilene, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Joan Randal of Houston and Mrs. Louise Hagle of Abilene.

Thomas L. Payne of El Paso, uncle of the bridegroom, was the best man, and ushers were Charles Fischer, Bud Klingman and Cecil Roberts, all of Abilene.

Following the wedding a reception was held in the Garden Rooms of the Windsor Hotel. Assisting the couple in receiving the guests were the parents of the bride and bridegroom and the bridal attendants.

The bride's table was covered with a white imported linen cloth, scalloped and tied with tiny white satin bows. The three-tiered wedding cake and the bride's bouquet served as the centerpiece for the table, and the bridesmaids' bouquets were arranged at the corners of the table. Baskets of white gladiolus completed the decorations.

Wedding Trip To Austin

For her wedding trip to Austin and Corpus Christi, the bride chose an azure blue imported linen suit with a fitted jacket and a round collar fringed in white. The deep cuffs also were fringed in white. The pencil slim skirt was designed with a back pleat. Completing her ensemble were white gloves and a white half hat of rhinestone-studded feathers. Her accessories were of azure blue.

The bride was chosen Miss Stamford in 1950 and also was rated one of the top ten in the Miss Texas Pageant that year. She is a graduate of Hardin-Simmons University where she was University Princess her senior year. She also belonged to the White Horse Riders. In Abilene she was employed as stenographer for the Chicago Corporation.

Payne attended Texas A&M, the University of Texas and now is a senior student at Hardin-Simmons University where he is a cadet captain in the ROTC. His fraternity is Kappa Alpha. He is associatd with the Travis Drillers in Abilene.

After their trip Mr. and Mrs. Payne will be at home in Abilene.

Grain For China Sought By Peiping

SAN FRANCISCO —(AP)—Peiping radio says Communist China intends to double its annual grain production within the next 10 years to reach an cutput of 300,000,000 tons a year.

The figure was announced by Teng Tzu-Hwei, vice chairman of the Financial and Economic Affairs Committee of the ruling Red Administration Council, said a broadcast heard by The Associated Press in San Francisco. Swimmer Gives Up Effort To Cross Great Lakes Span

WINDSOR, CANADA—(AP)—William Sadlo, a 51-year-old grandfather from Brooklyn, gave up Friday night in a valiant attempt to swim Lake Erie from Point Pelee, Ontario, to Sedar Point, Ohio. He was 15 miles from his goal.

At the time, Sadlo climbed into the escorting motor launch he had been in the water 15 hours and 20 minutes for the 30-mile swim.

"I could have gone for another couple of hours," Sadlo said, "but I never could have made the American shore and there was no sense continuing." It was his second unsuccessful try. He gave up after more than six hours on August 3.

The water was choppy and the night darker than usual. A wind from the south made the going hard by blowing the lake water into the swimmer's face.

Despite all this, the attempt might have gone on had it not been for the arrival of a U. S. Coast Guard cutter. Coast Guard officials said the escort vessel had gone off course and that the trip would have to cover 45 miles by the route followed.

Told this and also that he still was about 15 miles from Ohio, Sadlo agreed to give up the swim.

Proof Of Red's Depravity

If you would see communism at its most sickening level of degradation, read the stories of repatriated American and other UN soldiers who have streamed into free territory since the Korean truce.

War correspondents describe some of these men as the most miserable cases to be returned since the prisoner exchange began in April. Tuberculosis is rampant. One South Korean being borne on a stretcher to the Allied camp was found to be dead.

GI's express concern over the fate of some buddies; they fear they may never get back. There are cases reported of men being held in jail on trumped-up charges of refusing to cooperate.

In watching this dismal parade of broken men back to our own protection, we must remember that the Communists told us in April they then had sent back all the sick and wounded. That was the idea of "Operation Little Switch." But the evident truth is that many of the soldiers now returning are worse off than those released earlier.

• • •

Even the "able-bodied"—a term we can only use loosely when speaking of captives of the Reds—are walking on toothpick legs and showing us gaunt faces with sunken eyes. It seems clear that it must be considered almost axiomatic a prisoner of the Reds will come out of captivity a sick man, if he does not die before.

The low state of the Communist mind is revealed in the way the Reds tricked some GI's into participating unknowingly in Communist films, while they momentarily were loaded down with razor blades, soap, and other symbolic signs of good prisoner treatment. Such unutterable fraud compound Red inhumanity a thousandfold.

As if all this were not enough, the Communists have been working their cheap tricks with reverse English as their own men were freed from our captivity. Men who have lived like kings by comparison with Red-held captives have sought to mask this elemental fact by throwing away comfortable shoes and jackets, ripping off other clothing and even doing injury to themselves.

This is supposed to indicate ill-treatment, and no doubt some "flagrant examples" dutifully will be filmed for Red propaganda purposes.

• • •

There's one great flaw in this shallow technique. When the Red soldiers tear off their clothing they disclose clean, healthy, well-fed bodies. Full cheeks and bulging biceps tell a better story than any they can manufacture by last-minute fakery.

Are these men, these creatures who visit vicious misery upon helpless prisoners and then try to pretend WE have done the crimes of which they are guilty?

Let us be charitable and say they have bodies like men. Beyond that we have no reason to be sure.

Some people constantly knock hot weather—others just sweat it out.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Why Not A Strong, Solid Table?

• The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright 1953, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc).

Drew Pearson says: State attorneys general plan Supreme Court test of Tidelands oil; Monaco imports Communists to get U. S. loan; Premier Nehru sore at John Foster Dulles.

WASHINGTON — A group of young state attorneys general are secretly working on the largest lawsuit in American history.

Representing Alabama, Arkansas, Montana, Rhode Island and West Virginia, they are preparing a lawsuit to declare the recent tidelands oil act unconstitutional. If successful, the rich offshore oil area would be shared equally by all the states rather than California, Texas and Louisiana, as decreed by the recent Congress.

The secret group held its first closed-door meeting the other day, at which 39-year-old Attorney General Si Garrett of Alabama was the oldest A. G. in the room.

Chief discussion revolved around the technical legal question of whether the various states should file suit in their local U. S. district courts or bring the case directly to the Supreme Court.

West Virginia's attorney general, 29-year-old John G. Fox, complained that "there's been entirely too much talk about these lawsuits and not enough action. As far as West Virginia is concerned, we're going to file suit in the Supreme Court as soon as possible."

Arnold Olsen, able young attorney general of Montana, commented that his state "is desperate for new schools and if we win this case Montana will at last be able to afford the schools and teachers it needs."

Arkansas' A. G. Tom Gentry announced to the group that he had already filed his case and felt he had a better-than-even chance to win it. Rhode Island's assistant attorney general Archie Smith assured the group that his state was ready to join in whatever legal action was decided on.

During the meeting, Alabama's Garrett revealed he had received assurances that at least three other states would join the giant lawsuit.

Six top Washington lawyers attended the secret session, including Phil Perlman, former U. S. solicitor general. All experts in Supreme Court procedures, they assisted in working out technical procedures.

How To Get A U. S. Loan

Says Chester Bowles, recently returned U. S. ambassador to India: "We're too anti-communist and not enough pro-democracy. For example, according to one popular story going the rounds, the little country of Monaco wanted a U. S. loan. Monaco officials decided, however, that they didn't have enough communists to justify U. S. aid. 'We've got to have a communist threat,' said their foreign minister, 'if we expect to get any dollars.'

"So Monaco's prime minister decided that the only answer was to 'import' a few commies from neighboring France. He just wanted them for the week end to impress the American authorities with the 'gravity' of the problem.

"The French government turned Monaco down cold," says Bowles. "The French admitted they'd like to help in every way, but they were dependent on American aid themselves, just couldn't afford to lose a single commie if they were to keep that aid."

Advice To The Press

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles called in newsmen the other day and tried to sell them on the idea of writing a story that the reason for the Korean War's ending was because of President Eisenhower's forthright approach in cleaning up the Korean mess.

John Foster didn't want the newsmen to quote him as saying this, but suggested that the gentlemen of the press put this political promotion story out on their own.

One newsman asked what new facts the Eisenhower Administration had brought into the Korean picture to clean it up, to which the Secretary of State replied that he had told Prime Minister Nehru of India that the United States was ready to expand the war to the Pacific. Dulles said he had told this to Nehru, knowing it would immediately get back to Communist China.

There are few secrets in diplomacy; so the Dulles remark shortly got back to India and Prime Minister Nehru. Naturally it made him hopping mad. For the Dulles remark put him in the position of reporting Western military secrets to the Communists.

Note — Only one newsman took Dulles' suggestion and wrote the story.

Mailbag

G.I.A., Los Angeles—The Lister Hill Amendment to give oil royalties from submerged oil off the outer continental shelf to the schools of the nation was killed in a secret session between committees of the House and Senate. Every member of the House committee voted secretly against aid for schools except Emanuel Celler of New York . . . The opponents were: Congresswoman Ruth Thompson of Michigan, Congressmen Louis Graham of Pennsylvania, Pat Hillings of California, and Edgar Jonas of Illinois, all Republicans; plus Francis Walter of Pennsylvania and Frank Wilson of Texas, both Democrats . . . Senate conferees at first unanimously opposed them. Then Senators Cordon of Oregon, Butler of Nebraska, and Millikin of Colorado, all Republicans, deserted aid-to-education. But Senators Anderson of New Mexico and Murray of Montana, both Democrats, stuck by the schools to the very end.

Judicial Clean-Up

It doesn't hit the headlines, but in contrast to the slam-bang, grandstand tactics of Senator McCarthy, the Subversive Activities Control Board has been doing a thorough, fair-minded job of cleaning up communism.

This board operates as a court, with the Justice Department presenting the evidence as prosecutor. The board was set up under Truman, but is now headed by a Republican, ex-Gov. Tom Herbert of Ohio. In addition to being governor of Ohio, Herbert served three terms as attorney general, knows his law, and works hard at the job of pointing the finger at Communists.

On the board with him are both Democrats and Republicans — including ex-Sen. Harry Cain of Washington and David J. Coddaire of Massachusetts, both Republicans; also Democrats Watson Miller, long a leader of the American Legion and former commissioner of Immigration, and Katherine McHale of Indiana.

The board has the advantage of access to J. Edgar Hoover's list of Communists, but in order to be fair it permits any group charged with being a Communist front to present evidence to the contrary. After a full hearing, the board rules on the evidence. If a group is cited as being a Communist front, it is virtually forced out of business, since it has to list all its members, and this automatically causes its dues to dry up.

It's believed that the board's careful, judicial tactics are much more likely to run the Communists out of the U. S. A. than the more sensational operations of McCarthy.

Note—Ex-Senator Cain, whom I sometimes criticized as a senator, has been doing a good job as a board member. The other day Abner Green, secretary of the American Committee for the Protection of the Foreign Born, challenged Cain's right to rule on whether his group was a Communist front because, he said, Cain had voted against the admission of Jewish displaced persons. Cain quietly showed that Green had his facts completely twisted.

• JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Every experienced bridge player is familiar with the hold-up play. You simply refuse to take your winning card in a suit at your first opportunity. The idea is to take your trick at such a time as to exhaust one of the opponents of cards in that suit.

The hold-up is a fine play, but even the best play in the world can be overused. In today's hand, South picked the wrong time to try a hold-up.

West opened the queen of hearts, preferring the solidity of that suit to the length of the clubs. It was a close choice, but most experts would agree with West's actual decision.

South automatically refused the first trick, a grievous error. West looked fearfully at dummy's five-card diamond suit and decided that the comparatively short hearts were not strong enough medicine to defeat the contract. He therefore shifted to the three of clubs.

This shift proved highly profitable to the defenders and disastrous to South. South had to take his ace of clubs fairly promptly and could then take five diamonds. He could not make his contract, however, without trying for spade tricks; and as soon as South led the spades East took the ace of spades and returned to clubs. This, naturally, permitted West to set the contract with his long club suit.

It should have been obvious to declarer at the very outset that the clubs were far more dangerous than the hearts, and that a hold-up play might give West the opportunity to change his mind about the right suit to attack. What's more, it should have been clear that the hearts were not really dangerous.

West could not have five hearts, since then East woud have held a doubleton king (in which case he would have played the king at the first trick). If the hearts were 4-3, South could well afford to take the first trick and let the opponents eventually make the ace of spades and the heart tricks.

President's Order Indicates New Attitude Toward UMT

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower's order for a new study of National Security Training—formerly known by the unpopular name of Universal Military Training, or UMT—represents a somewhat changed attitude on this question.

Before he became a candidate for the presidency, General Eisenhower supported the old Army policy of wanting UMT. During the campaign, in a speech at Champaign, Ill., last October 2, Eisenhower declared that the shadow hanging over every home was, "When is our son or our brother going to be called into service?"

Then he voiced his opposition to UMT. "Let us not confuse the issue now," he said. "We have Selective Service. Let us not have anything else piled on top of that until we solve this problem."

He repeated this position during his trip through the South. And in a speech at Baltimore, devoted largely to military policy, he spoke of the need to reduce military expenditures for a huge standing defense force.

After he entered the White House, in answer to a press conference question, President Eisenhower declared on February 25 that he wasn't sure UMT was practical while the U. S. still was drafting men.

But now the President has reconstituted the National Security Training Commission and asked it to report to him by December 1 on the feasibility and desirability of conducting UMT, or NST, along with the draft.

Commission Loaded For UMT

There is little doubt about the way this commission will report. It is loaded in favor of NST. The new chairman is Brig. Gen. Julius Ochs Adler. Dr. Karl T. Compton, president of MIT, was chairman of the commission under President Truman. Warren Atherton is a former American Legion national commander and the Legion always has been and still is hot for UMT. The other two members are Lt. Gen. Raymond S. McLain and Adm. Thomas C. Kinkaid, now both retired.

Dr. John A. Hannah, assistant secretary of Defense for Manpower, apparently believes that the draft and NST can't be run at th same time. He says it's simple arithmetic.

It is pointed out by American Legion officials, however, that this argument overlooks the fact that the draft today is taking only about one man out of every five of draft age. If the draft took them all, and granted no exemptions for educational or other deferments, there wouldn't be any manpower shortage, it is claimed.

This emphasizes the unfairness of the present Selective Service system. The men who are drafted serve two years on active duty, then go into the reserves for six years more.

The men who don't get drafted escape this reserve duty.

Under an NST system, everyone would serve his six months for training, then go into the reserve and be subject to call in an emergency for six years. This would equalize the burden of military duty. In addition it would provide the country with a bigger trained reserve and it would not subject veterans of World War II and the Korean war to double duty.

The other big argument in favor of an NST system is that it probably will have the greatest influence on many congressmen now hostile to any form of compulsory military service in peacetime.

The cost of U. S. national defense has to be brought down if the budget is to be balanced and taxes reduced. The defense budget this year is $34,000,000,000, plus $6,000,000,000 foreign aid. This is to maintain U. S. armed forces of 3,400,000 men. If these forces could be cut down, savings could be effected.

Department of Defense estimates that it now costs $10,000 to keep one man in the armed forces a year.

The National Security Training Commission under President Truman reported to Congress in October, 1951, that 800,000 men could be given this six months' basic military course for $4,000,000,000 the first year—while the system was getting started—and $2,000,000,000 a year thereafter. This would be $5,000 per trainee the first year and $2,500 thereafter.

The Senate Armed Services Committee held hearings on this report last year. The House voted to send the bill back to its Armed Services Committee, and there the project died. But it now appears the issue will be back before Congress again next year.

THE next day was Arbor Day and there was a half-holiday that Lilith welcomed. She hadn't slept very well and she knew her eyes were shadowed, her face drawn and tired. Probably now the catty ones would say she was showing her years, the marks of the hectic life she had once led—"You know what these actresses are — cocktail parties, late nights and all the rest of it—and she doubtless had her share of it—"

Lilith could count all the cocktail parties she had ever attended and all the theater had meant for her was hard work and not much money, a deal of heartache and uncertainty. She had left it with no regrets and had never felt any great desire to return to it.

She had promised Gavin she would go to his house and see what the carpenters and decorators were doing, but she didn't have much heart for it and she called him up and begged off.

"I'm not too happy about last night, Gavin," she said. "I've got a bit of thinking to do—"

"You'll add no cubits that way," he said. "Look, please try to forget about the unpleasantness, won't you? It will all blow over and be forgotten before the roses bloom in our garden. I've done a whale of a lot of thinking too, and it got me nowhere. Let's go back where we were such a little while ago, you and I. You know—in a lovely country of our own where it's always summer and sunshine. There's no reason why we can't, Lilith."

"I'm being foolish, I know. Acting as temperamentally as the good ladies here seem to think I really should. I was quite a lioness last night when they got me indoors."

"What was the judgment?"

"Sort of a hung jury, it seems to me. Some thought I was a shy genius, others thought I was probably a reformed burlesque queen. It was fun in a way. Was it really so much of a sensation?"

"The whole town's talking. But it's all in your favor. You're the biggest thing that's happened in the local theater since before the war when we used to get Martin-Harvey, Ellaline Terris, Seymour Hicks and the like. You were really big time."

"Small pond, big frog. I wish I'd kept my light under that bushel. I feel as if I'd done a strip-tease in front of the bishop."

• • •

SHE was glad, later, that she had not gone to Gavin's house. In the quiet time of the afternoon, there was a timid knock at the door.

When Lilith opened the door she saw the young girl at the head of the stairway, walking slowly, swiftly, a woolly fawn coat thrown like a cape over her shoulders.

"Peg!" she called softly. "Oh, Peg—do come back, won't you?"

Peg turned. The pallor of her face made her eyes seem larger than ever, the red mane hung down on one side and she looked tragic and injured and woefully young. She hesitated, then came slowly back along the corridor.

"I—I thought I'd better come to see you," she said very low. "I've been in a dreadful stew—"

"Please come in. And sit in Miss Keightly's chair if you don't need to nurse your ribs in a straight one."

"I'll take the Kite's if you don't mind. We used to call it 'The Judgment Seat. She always had someone on the carpet."

She watched the girl ease herself into the chair and went herself to sit in the window seat only a little distance away. She wondered what had brought Peg here so soon. She couldn't yet tell whether she was forgiven or whether, for the sake of peace and tranquillity, the fiery young Wayland had decided to declare a truce.

"I'm glad you came, Peg. I—well I've been in a bit of a stew myself over this business. I shouldn't have been so crude about breaking the story, but I—I didn't know what to do."

"I suppose not," said Peg bleakly. "For me it was like—well, as if I'd been a fair performer on the fiddle, say, and met a man and he let me play for him and I played him pieces that I'd learned—like Pop Goes the Weasel. And he said, 'My, you're a swell player, a real artist.' And I thought I was pretty good and some strangers came along then and said to him 'Why, how do you do, Mr. Heifetz. Won't you give us a tune?' And Mr. H. took my poor fiddle and made it sing through Vieuxtemps' Rondino and a few etudes by Paganinni—"

• • •

"PEG! Oh, my darling! I didn't know. I didn't ever intend it to do that to you, to give you that idea."

"No? Well, so it was, and how do you expect me now to stand up and play my little pieces after the great maestro has made the fiddle talk? How am I to go on stage and play Diana after what you did last night?" She shook her head. "That's why I came—to tell you I can't go on, that you'll have to do the part again."

"No."

"But I tell you I can't do it—not now. I had really begun to think I was pretty good and that I could turn in a pretty decent performance—until I saw you. I realized then that I—"

"Listen, you're all wrong. You couldn't be more astray about anything. You're Diana Lane—the real Diana—the 16-year-old trying to be worldly wise and sophisticated and being defeated by her own youth. What I did was simply what we call a tour de force—do you want to write the phrase in your book?" She smiled and Peg began to smile slowly, a bit mournfully.

Liquid poured into a very hot frying pan may cause warping from the sudden change in temperature. You can prevent this by turning off the heat or setting the pan aside for a minute or two; this will lessen the danger of burns from spattering fat, too.

Looking for an unusual back-to-school decor idea? Well—why not try the big-game-hunter theme? Or use the heap-big-fisherman motif, if you prefer.

The outdoor look should be the rage this year predict school belle decorators.

One enterprising young lass—19-year-old Bridget O'Shea of Wilton, Conn.—got a decorating idea for her college room from fraternity houses. The boys use mounted deer and moose heads to perk up their rooms. Why wouldn't the same idea work for a girl's room, reasoned the blonde, blue-eyed Bridget.

But not having mounted animal heads handy around the house, she advertised in the local Bulletin. Believe it or not, mounted heads are scarce—and expensive. So far the only offer she has received are for slightly moth-eaten bucks with a big price on their heads. Although some sportsmen have had their kill stashed away in mothballs for a couple of decades, they still are loathe to part with the beasts for less than $15. (A standard price even in junk shops, says Bridget.) Her offer is $5. Says she:

Prices Are High

"One man had 2 mounted deer but still wouldn't take less than $15 for one. Another offered me a 14 pt. bull moose from Canada. The antlers probably would be bigger than my room at college."

Bridget loves animals—she used to have horses and dogs before she went off to Mt. Holyoke at South Hadley, Mass., where she will be a sophomore this year. She loves the sea, too, and last Summer lived on a sail boat with her family.

She's not so sure college authorities will admire her liking for big game decor, however.

Most colleges do not approve of pets, so thousands of parakeets, cats, dogs, hamsters, horses, turtles will be left home—unlike Mary's little lamb—when kids take of for school. So the animal, bird, fish decor should make a hit—cheering as well as interesting conversational pieces. If mounted fish or deer heads don't materialize, the room can be decorated with prints of favorite animals.

Hunters To Be Popular

This is a big year for game-hunting Dads. They'll be pretty popular with the college crowd, especially if there are mounted deer, pheasant or quail around.

If daughter lives at home during the school year, so much the better. Dad will be happy to see his prize relegated from attic anonymity to daughter's room. Even Mom, who has objected to its presence in the living room, might enjoy its usefulness as a coat or hat rack in daughter's bedroom.

Bridget's beaus are highly in favor of her pursuit of deer head but so far haven't offered to help her corral one. Instead they ask "please get one for me."

Her forest room decor goes like this: Pale walls, woodland green bedspread, light green Chinese rug, a plaid-like chair in gay black, red, yellow, green—and a beautiful mounted deer—she hopes.

Audience Enjoys Informality Of Summer Mummer Presentation

Name any tear-jerking or laugh-provoking quality of an old-time melodrama and it has been written into the Summer Mummer production of "The Drunkard."

There are the starving heroine and her widowed mother about to be put out of their tiny cottage, the mustachioed villain, the hero who stages a comeback after a mighty downfall, the country bumpkin philosopher and the lisping child who pleads "Father, dear Father, come home to me now."

"The Drunkard" played to fun-loving audiences Friday and Saturday nights in the American Legion Hall. It is being alternated with "Dirty Work at the Crossroads" to provide weekend entertainment for Midlanders throughout August.

Typical Melodrama

Presented in the artificial, posturing style of a typical melodrama, "Drunkard" mostly is more corny than the cast intended.

Burden of the show falls on A. Weller Cole, who, of course, is a professional. As Edward Middleton, the hero, he provides some of the funniest scenes, running a gaumet of characters — from a T-shirted collegian to the downfallen drunkard to the prodigal husband who conquers the demon rum, or in this case brandy.

Another bright bit of acting in the production this weekend was given by Mrs. J. Henry Wilkinson, Jr., as the pious mother, and Malcolm Gibson was funny in the role of a young boy with his lollipop and windmill hat.

Cast Named

Charles Dixon was leeringly adequate as the villain and other cast members adding to the merriment were Nancy Bass as Mary, the heroine; William L. Adam as William Dowton, a heroic son of the soil; Jane Hasencamp as Agnes, his half-witted sister; Mrs. Henry C. Hall as Miss Spindle, a wealthy spinster; Myron C. Anderson as the keeper of the bar; George Lindsey as Jimmy, son of Mary and Edward; Richard A. Connolly as Arden Rencelaw; Karl Koch, Bruce Shade, Orwin Bellerjeau, Dave Collis, Fred Kittler, Dan Page, Claude Neeley and Bill Shaner.

A chief contributing factor to the fun of the performances was the informality of the presentation.

Members of the audience were seated at tables where they could clink their glasses, munch on peanuts and shout advice to the characters on stage.

Olio Program

There was a shirt-sleeved piano player to add to the noise, confusion and mood of the performances, and a spirited olio program was a proper ending for the evening's entertainment.

Among the best of the olio acts were a song and dance number, "Memories" by Diane Perkins and Mrs. George Shelton, and a comedy dance pantomime, complete with bumps and grinds, done by John Alcorn, who was billed as "The Shiek."—T.M.

Oliver Explains Cummunity Chest's Activities As Campaign Date Nears

What's the pitch?

Where does my money go?

And who has the say-so on where my money's going?

These and other like questions pop up daily, even hourly, during Midland fund campaigns—and, naturally, deserve answers.

Don Oliver, president of the Midland Community Chest, faced those questions Saturday and then phrased an answer—not only to queries about the money's destiny, but also about the aims of the entire program.

First things first, though . . .

What's the pitch?

It's a hard thrown pitch right over the center of the plate for funds to aid such organizations as the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Midland Youth Center, Guadalupe Youth Center, YMCA, Colored Day Nursery, Salvation Army, USO-UDF and the Goodfellows.

Aiming For Minimum

Each year, during pre-campaign planning, a 14-man budget and admissions committee meets to review budgets of the member agencies. A careful study of the estimated needs of each member's year-long program results in the minimum goal for the year's drive. Too much money is, of course, better, than not enough, but the Chest workers aim for that minimum need.

Where does my money go?

The question's already answered.

The $1, $100 or $1,000 contributed to the Community Chest will be scattered among member agencies.

And finally, who has the say-so on where my money's going?

"The Chest is run just like a business," Oliver pointed out, "distribution of money is done fairly and systematically—and with an eye to saving."

'Legitimate And Necessary'

The budget and admission committee isn't through after its before-drive meeting. The group meets quarterly to restudy the budgets of member agencies. Working funds then either get a boost or go under an economic knife.

If, for example, a member requested $2,000 for the first quarter, and used but $1,500 before the budget review, that allotment will be trimmed to meet the new position.

And, if a member goes into the red during a quarter of operation, its budget may be boosted a bit—if, of course, the expenditures were "legitimate and necessary."

Before the budget and admission recommendations go into effect, however, they must meet the approval of the 35 persons who make up the board of directors.

Thus the entire program is a matter of checks and balances for smooth distribution.

Burden Of Financing

"The Community Chest setup," Oliver continued, "might be likened to a trusteeship for participating agencies. It guarantees that money is on its way through proper channels to a worthy cause.

"And it might be compared to a voluntary taxation program whereby the city is relieved of the burden of financing many of these youth and adult ventures and the citizens take the responsibility of finance and promotion."

Detailed parts of administration are handled by the executive secretary and the Executive Committee. Rounding out the organization are the elected officers.

Aims of the Community Chest as outlined in its constitution and by-laws include:

"1. To promote the social welfare of the community by encouraging cooperation and community planning among the citizens through its civic, charitable, benevolent and social welfare agencies;

"2. To promote economy and efficiency in all such agencies, individually and collectively, to prevent duplication of effort among them and to combine and coordinate into a single organization all fund-raising activities of such agencies;

"3. To advise in the undertaking of new work by existing agencies and the formation of new agencies;

"4. To study community conditions through research and in other ways, and to compile material to be used in social planning;

Annual Collections

"5. To create and continue a fund to be known as the "Midland County Community Chest," to be collected annually by voluntary subscriptions, to which may be added other special gifts, bequests and receipts from other sources, which fund will be disbursed periodically in accordance with the by-laws, for the expenses, maintenance and support of the participating members, and such other proper purposes as may be determined by the Executive Committee pursuant to provisions of the by-laws; and

"6. To extend, if necessary, its activities to include coordination of appeals for such special state and local projects, and for national and international relief and service."

The Community Chest was organized in Midland in 1947, and since then has grown steadily in membership and civic stature. The "business-like" campaign is slated for this Fall.

Justice Wilson To Address Midland Lions, Odessa JC's

Will Wilson, associate justice of the Supreme Court of Texas, will address the Midland Lions Club at their weekly noon luncheon August 26 at Hotel Scharbauer.

He also is scheduled to speak to the Odessa JayCees, August 25.

Will Wilson

In 1950 Wilson was elected by an overwhelming majority to the Supreme Court of Texas and is one of the youngest men ever to serve on that court.

He received his law degree from Southern Methodist University and was employed as a trial lawyer for a Dallas civil law firm from 1937 to 1941.

As an assistant attorney general of Texas under Gerald Mann and Grover Sellers in 1941 and 1942, Wilson specialized in trial work for the state in cases involving the endowment funds for the public schools and Texas University.

During World War II he saw active combat on Biak and Luzon. As commanding officer of the 465th Field Artillery Battalion on Northern Luzon he accepted the surrender of the forces of General Yamashita, infamous Japanese military leader.

While serving as district attorney for Dallas County from 1947 to 1950, his drive in Dallas against organized crime and vice attracted national as well as state-wide attention.

Wilson was one of the five district attorneys selected by the U. S. attorney general to advise the National Crime Conference held in Washington in February, 1950.

He is a past president of the District and County Attorneys Association of Texas.

New drapery and slipcover fabrics come in many interesting paatterns and motifs, like the ones shown in the accompanying pictures. Stylized pea-pod designs in white on olive green and colorful scenic patterns add life and beauty to that hard-to-decorate room.

Modern Fabrics Will Simplify Home-Decorating Problems

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

New drapery and slipcover fabrics make a strong pitch to contemporary home owners with such decorating problems as too much window glass to curtain and open floor plans.

Reversible prints, correlated patterns, colors and textures designed to avoid monotony are aimed to help solve these problems.

Those of us in older homes benefit too. Fabrics and motifs are adaptable. Some of the most handsome are priced. I'm happy to report, for the "mass" market, which means you and me.

One of the most interesting fabrics I've seen is the reversible print on washable, pre-shrunk cotton. The cloth is roller-printed simultaneously on each side in perfect color register. Used to curtain a window, the fabric will present as colorful a face to the street side as it does to the inside. Five patterns ranging from modern abstract to traditional scenic will be available.

Rambler or ranch houses, with open floor plans blending one living area into another, sparked another collection of sailcloth and bark cloth patterns. With the correlated designs and colors, you can cling to a basic color scheme throughout the house—even to a zoo train motif for Johnny's room.

One of the designs, which looks like pea pods to me, shows up printed in reverse colors on a semi-sheer rayon casement cloth. Colors are muted for the most part and motifs are neat and sharply defined.

Close harmony in another firm teams printed patterns on semi-sheer casement cloths wth matching patterns on heavy sailcloth. These can be used as side drapes or slipcover material. The sheers have soft pastel backgrounds, including a delicate watery green, as well as white.

Nothing muted or delicate about colors used in another new, textured, drappry cloth. The brightest plaid I saw on my rounds was woven of solution-dyed acetate and flashed a brilliant red, kelly green and chrome yellow, cut with a modicum of black.

Aluminum foil coats the back of a glazed cotton chintz to double as self-liner and insular when the chintz is made up into draw drapes. The patterns are pleasantly floral. The material would not only look well at a window but would serve to cut down excessive drafts or screen a room from excessive amounts of burning sun.

SO THIS IS NEW YORK

BY NORTH CALLAHAN

NEW YORK —Two well-dressed farmers walked into the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, made their way to the chrome-plated registration window and asked for a room. These men were smiling and at ease. Although this was their first trip to New York, movies, radio and television had educated them to the Big City. The sleek clerk asked them if they had a reservation. One of them grinned and replied, "No, that's what we're askin' you for." The clerk, taken off guard, laughed with them. He excused himself, looked at the vast card-file, then told the visitors he could give them a room on the 45th floor. As one signed the register, the other farmer slapped him on the back, burst into an infectious guffaw in which several of us bystanders could not help but join, and remarked happily, "O. K. Bill, but if anyone asks for me after I get up that high, just tell them I'm outta town!"

Anyone who thinks we are secure in this U. S. should consider what the Seafarers International Union did the other day to prove how vulnerable our ports are. Two of the union's men were put aboard an Italian freighter just before it docked here. The pair easily passed customs and immigration authorities. One seaman tossed a suitcase, large enough to have contained a bomb, into the Hudson railroad tubes, a vital transportation link between New York and New Jersey, while the other deposited the harmless contents of a valise—which could have contained poison into the reservoir supplying this city with drinking water.

While sitting in a local barber's chair, he was recognized by a man who came over and thanked Hoppy for helping him raise his four sons. It seems that the the four have been regular watchers of the "Hopalong Cassidy" television and movie programs, and the good lessons of conduct which Hoppy tries to convey made a deep impression on the boys. Hence the father's thanks.

Freddie Suits, local lawyer, tells me that the downtown law firms are celebrated for their long hours of work, especially on the part of the younger men. A partner of one firm who tried in vain to reach a member of his staff on Sunday, gave the young man a dressing down on Monday. "But sir, I was married Saturday," the junior member explained. "That's all very well," replied the partner, "but where were you on Sunday?"

On a trip out of town, I dined at a certain hotel room which has survived the motel epidemic and which had the following printed on its menus: "This hotel has been built for the comfort of the traveling public. On arrival each guest will be asked how he likes the location. If he thinks the hotel should have been placed nearer the railroad depot, the house will be moved immediately. The BEST room in the house is reserved for EVERY guest. Each guest gets the best seat in the dining room and the best waiter in the house. Any guest not getting his order 'red hot' or who experiences a delay of 16 seconds after giving his order, will please mention this to the Manager. The cooks and waiters involved will then be blown from the mouth of a cannon in front of the hotel at once. Children are welcomed with delight and are requested to bring hammers to hack the furniture especially provided for that purpose. The Manager is always happy to hear that SOME OTHER hotel is the "best in the country!" Amen.

Corduroy Goes Sophisticated

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Woman's Editor

NEW YORK—Corduroy is no longer a classic. It's come out of the woods to enter a new fashion world both on the campus and away from it. This Fall, it's used for young fashions and for sophisticated clothes as well.

The news in corduroy lies in patterns, color and finish. Calico prints, for instance, are authentic copies of the calico dresses of the 1850's. Roses are strewn over a black surface for truly sophisticated "fancy pants." In one group of prints, there's a black-and-white chevron design that has the look of tweed. And there's almond green combined with black for the appearance of woven boucle. This is cut into a suit and piped in leather.

In some of the fine-ribbed patterns, Aztec weaves are copied in colors both subtle and odd. These patterns appear in slacks and in dance dresses. Black corduroy is cut into a late-day dress and corduroy in a khaki tone is seen in long shorts paired with a shirt in a lighter shade.

We show, left, a weskit and flared skirt in a chevron tweed pattern. This is a fine-ribbed corduroy. It's worn here with a long-sleeved white blouse.

Printed corduroy, right, is almond green and black. This is a riding jacket suit with leather bindings. The skirt is straight and slim.

School Registration Barely Week Away

Midland public schools will be ready to register their students in just barely a week with senior high school students to be the first to sign up Monday, August 24.

In keeping pace with the needs of its students, Midland High School is adding several new courses.

In the field of industrial arts, a course in diversified occupation is being offered. This course allows students to work in various types of work organizations for one half day and go to school one half day. Under such a plan a student gets actual on the job training and credit for school work at the same time.

The choral and speech departments are being expanded by the addition of more teachers and equipment.

Registration schedules for Midland High School, listed according to the first initial of the students' surnames are as follows:

SENIORS

August 24—A to E, 8-12 a.m.; F to L, 1-5 p.m.

August 25—M to R, 8-12 a.m.; S to Z, 1-5 p.m.

JUNIORS

August 26—A to D, 8-12 a.m.; E to J, 1-5 p.m.

August 27—K to Q, 8-12 a.m.; R to Z, 1-5 p.m.

SOPHOMORES

August 28—A to D, 8-12 a.m.; E to J, 1-5 p.m.

August 31—K to R, 8-12 a.m.; S to Z, 1-5 p.m.

August 24, ninth grade students from A to L.

August 25, ninth grade students from M to Z.

August 26, eighth grade students from A to P.

August 27, eighth grade (before noon) from P to Z; and seventh grade (afternoon) from A to H.

August 28, seventh grade from I to Z.

All seventh grade students who live south of the railroad and who do not ride a school bus will register in the South Elementary School.

Visits By Parents

Schools will be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and parents are urged to come with students to assist them in selection of courses. It is vitally important that all students register during this time.

The same division of area between the two junior high schools as applied last school year, will apply this school year, officials said.

Elementary school pupils will register Monday, August 31 and Tuesday, September 1.

This registration schedule will apply:

Monday, 8 a.m. to 12 a.m., A to F, 1 p.m. to 4:30 p.m., G to L.

Tuesday, 8 a.m. to 12 a.m., M to R, 1 p.m. to 4:30 p.m., S to Z.

All first grade students are required to bring birth certificates when they register. They should also bring the Summer health round-up blanks.

Citizen Makes Sad Mistake

Last Tuesday afternoon, Joe Doakes, wandering north in the 300 block of North Colorado, met a lady, walking south, obviously tired, hot, and disturbed. She wore no shoes and carried her stockings in her hand.

Joe, kindly soul that he is, offered aid and comfort. "Ma'm", says Joe, "I know how it is. I often felt that way after a long, hot struggle to mow my lawn with an old, dull push mower."

"Tell you how I solved my problem," he continues, confidential-like, "One day, mowing away, hot and tired, had my shirt off, had my shoes off, and had my mad on, when, suddenly I remembered a news item in the paper, which told how other people, with troubles like mine and yours, had solved them by getting one of those sleek, easy-starting, quiet-running Jacobsen Power Mowers. I put on my shoes, my shirt, and my composure. Thirty minutes later I was back on my lawn, purring a song of joy. Now, I wear all of my clothes and my shoes when I mow. Try it, ma'm. Saves work, and you'd be a lot purtier in shoes."

"Well, I never—!", says the indignant femme, "now let me tell you something, you, you—!"

Then she smiled and softened, "Thanks for the tip, buddy, I'm going to get a Jacobsen, but the truth is, my shoes hurt my feet while I was in the picture show. Absent-minded that I am, I left without them, now I'm going back to the Yucca."

Nice work, Joe! We delivered her a new Jacobsen on Wednesday, and she had her shoes on.

Jewelry Can Serve As Foil For Features

Models above give lesson in art of wearing jewelry which most flatters types of necks, jaw-lines and arms. At left, model with rounded jaw-line and short, broad neck flatters herself with waterfall earrings and a necklace with small beads that gently flows below her throat. Her fairly broad arms are made prettier with matching bracelet with a delicate look. In center picture, same model surveys herself in a different type of earring. It's large but not heavy. The airy, delicate filigree work counterbalances her too-heavy jaw and neck lines. Notice that her pin in worn well below base of her throat. An opposite type, the tall, slender, bony model at right, can wear a choker on her long thin neck. Her earrings are large with circular petals. She wears two wide, closely-fitting bracelets. To sum up lesson in a few words—rounded, closely-fitting, big pieces are for the slender, while angular or vertical pieces in a smaller size with a looser fit are for girls with more rounded proportions.

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Costume jewelry can light up your beauty as well as your costume. But you've got to know the rules of this little game to play it well. Here are some of the ins and outs:

If the imaginary triangle that lies with its base stretching from ear tip to ear tip, with its third corner nestling in the hollow of your throat, is a slender tapering triangle, here are your tricks: wear chokers mixed or matched and bold, chunky earrings; allow at least an inch between the tips of your earrings and your choker.

The girl with a short, squatty, imaginary triangle tends to have a short neck and roundish or squarish face. She can wear slender waterfall earrings, but not a ball or a hoop. The tiny delicate button or seed earrings are beautiful for her. Her neckline might be a long dangling strand of pearls, knotted just above the waist. A choker doesn't belong in her jewel box.

If yours is an ideal triangle, with all sides even, you can wear what you please.

But that's not all about jewelry and faces. Magnificent earrings and necklaces can call attention away from facial irregularities. For instance, jawlines are softened, noses seem more elegant when bold, curved lines of jewelry are placed nearby.

Going below your throat now; you can make your figure prettier with jewelry. For example, an overly generous bosom is beautified with an angular, delicate pair of pins, worn off center. Not so with a large, roundish pin, especially when plunked in the middle. Thinner girls, however, can wear huge sparklers as they wish.

A tiny waistline is flattered with a fob, a clip or a large medallion at the belt. A broad-waisted girl, however, wears jewelry at her midriff on a narrow belt and she places the jewel, a largish one, at the center.

A tiny, subtle pin "gets lost" on a tall, skinny girl or on the girl that's plump. Each of these girls wants to wear an important pin or a grouping of small ones.

If the large girl is overweight, not merely big-boned, she must avoid the round pin and let it be angled. An overweight girl does well to keep her pin away down from chin and shoulders.

Your arms and hands may be slender and tapered or plump and squared-off. There's a bracelet flatterer for you in either case. Slender arms wear many bracelets nicely, wide and closely fitting, sometimes on two arms at once. If your arms are very long, don't wear above-elbow bracelets, no matter how much the rage they are. For broad arms, wear no more than two at the same time, on one arm only. Wear them low, loose and slender.

One well-known jewelry firm has a wide range of styles available to which new ones are added each season. This firm suggests that you choose jewelry to suit your clothes, your life and your beauty needs, and never mind what "everyone" is wearing.

Record-Breaking Streak Over Atlantic Piloted By Texas 'Four-Headed Monster'

By GRACE HALSELL
Reporter-Telegram Special Correspondent

FAIRFORD, ENGLAND—Texans hold world records for spanning the Atlantic.

A Liberty Hill farm boy, Lt. Col. James M. Smith, piloted a B-47 Stratojet across at an average of 615 miles per hour.

"Just routine flying," the tall (six feet, two inches) sturdy (220 pounds) former Crystal City High School coach commented.

A Bryan, Texas, native, Lt. Col. Robert Michie, was pilot of a B-47 flying an average of 605 miles per hour, from Goose Bay, Labrador, to Fairford.

Plane commander, handsome Col. Elliott Vandevanter, Jr., who looks a lot like Movie Star Gregory Peck, said the four hours, 14 minutes Goose Bay-Fairford crossing was the fastest time ever recorded for this route.

Modestly, the crew agreed.

"We weren't trying to break records."

But the world seems to disagree with Texan Smith's comment on the "routine" flying.

Since their arrival here, the crew has been moving from one television and radio appearance to another.

'Four-Headed Monsters'

Trained as radar operator, navigator and bombardier as well as pilot, each man has four ratings.

"We're four-headed monsters," Colonel Smith commented.

Despite each man's quadruple responsibilities, "the plane is easier to fly" than other bombers, Colonel Smith said.

He added he had not had time to get tired, did not feel any sensation in linking the New and Old World together in less than five hours.

And while the B-47, in carrying enough fuel to fly non-stop or without refueling in air, has little crew space, "it is quiet and peaceful up there," Smith said. "No engine noises at all."

Colonel Smith flew his plane from Limestone, Maine, to Fairford—a distance of 2,925 miles, in four hours, 45 minutes.

Co-pilot on Colonel Smith's plane was Lt. Col. Donald Frank of Allsbora, Pa., graduate of Lubbock Flying School (as is Smith) and the observer was Maj. Albert Dawson of Pontiac, Mich.

• • •

Born Sept. 16, 1917, on a farm near Liberty Hill, the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Smith who now reside in Austin, Smith played football with the Austin High School "Maroons," then took a degree in physical education from the University of Texas.

Before entering the Air Force he taught the Crystal City High School "Javelins" football team.

A B-17 pilot based in England during the war, he completed 25 missions, was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross and Air Medal.

He is married to the former Frances Shelby of Austin, and they have three children, Michael, Patrick and Shelby.

• • •

Plane commander on the Goose Bay-Fairford run, Colonel Vandevanter looks the role of a distinguished young Wing Commander. Now 36, he was one of the first pilots to bomb the Japanese at the outbreak of World War II.

A West Point graduate, he is married to the former Helen Henry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Heber Henry of Cleburne.

• • •

Colonel Michie, pilot on Colonel Vandevanter's plane, was born in Bryan, the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Michie now of Lubbock. He attended schools in Austin and Lubbock, and in Texas Technological College, his father, a mathematics professor, "gave me the lowest grade I ever made in calculus."

He met his wife, the former Ingeborg Raupp, in the Dutch East Indies after he had served three years in a Japanese POW camp. They were married in 1946 in Austin, and have one son, Robert, Jr., five.

Observer on the plane was Maj. William Richards, Cannonsburg, Pa.

• • •

Purpose of the flight by the two B-17's was to give ranking officers of the 305th Bomb Wing, which will be moved from MacDill, Fla., to England, an opportunity to inspect facilities available in the United Kingdam for use in the Strategic Air Command's training program.

The B-47 is SAC's new medium jet bomber, replacing the B-50 as the U. S. A.'s principal new air weapon.

The B-47 is the first operational plane to use the ingenious parachute which "pops" from behind on a landing to slow the plane down.

When the chute, just slightly larger than a regular airman's parachute, pops, "it gives you a good jolt, a sharp pull," Colonel Smith commented.

The B-47 can land without use of the chute, but "it saves a lot of brakes," Smith added.

Fragile looking chutes are good for repeated landings.

RUFE'S ALOOF—Rufus the hornbill, restless bird from the Far East, has hundreds of New York residents gawking up at him as he perches 28 floors above Wall Street. The only victim of Rufe's freedom was Joseph Schlesinger, of the ASPCA, who chased Rufe for hours, trying to catch the bird and return him to the pet shop. After many hours of freedom the hornbill was caught when he walked into a pigeon coop belonging to a Manhattan rubbish collector, who held Rufe in captivity until Schlesinger claimed him.

Neighborhood Lads Lose Feathered Foe

SAN ANTONIO —(AP)— Answering a complaint, Patrolman R. G. Schmudlach found that a goose severely had flogged Irving Davis, Jr., six. The boy had numerous cuts and bruises.

Other boys appeared while Irving was talking to Schmudlach and showed bruises they said the goose had inflicted.

"The goose has a mean temper," the owner admitted. "She just blows her top occasionally."

Cook it, keep it penned or get rid of it, advised Schmudlach. The owner decided on goose dinner.

Any Way You Look At It, It Is Just Car Troubles

The family's ready. There's the car.

But wait a minute—sumpin's wrong. The car's shrunk . . .

Or maybe the family's grown . . .

Anyway you look at it, Claude Carr of Midland has his hands full. And the car's too full . . .

If only I'd known, moans Carr, who's associated here with the Texas Employers Insurance Association.

If only I'd known there'd be triplets, I'd never have let her go to Houston.

For this is Carr's problem. He and Mrs. Carr didn't know until they got to Houston that they were due three blessed events in one package. July 12 the three newest Carr children made their debut.

The two other children, Susanne, 11 and Michael, eight, are with their mother in Houston.

Papa Carr did some figuring. The back seat would make a fine place for the three new members. Mom and Dad and the two other youngsters could fit (maybe) into the front seat for the trip to Midland.

But, that was some time ago. Since then, Joyce Lee, who weighed four pounds, one ounce at birth has climbed to five pounds, 15 ounces; Joyce Marie, once a demure five pounds, three ounces now tips the scales at six pounds; and finally, the male voice in the trio, John Cleo, has jumped from five pounds, one ounce, to six pounds, three ounces.

Will they fit? The trip next week to Midland will tell the tale.

A final note. Perhaps association has an influence on social and family habits, but the Houston case may be taking it a little far.

While in Houston, the Carrs lived at 240 West 22nd Street—less than two blocks from the Harold Riley home, which was invaded by triplets a few years ago.

Omar Bradley Due On Civilian Payroll Under Watery Roof

NEW YORK —(AP)— Gen. Omar Bradley, just out of uniform, takes over a new job this week as a civilian in a brand new building with six inches of water standing on its roof.

But the retired chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff won't have to worry about a leaky ceiling. The pool is according to plan, to keep him and several score other experts comfortable.

It is one of several features which make the 10 million dollar headquarters of the Bulova Research and Development Laboratories at Jackson Heights on Long Island one of the most unusual factories in the land. The water serves as a natural booster for the building's air-cooling system.

As chairman of the board of research and development laboratories, Bradley will guide overall policy for 120 scientists, engineers and technicians. Most of what they will be doing is secret. But their purpose is to "engage in creative thinking in in physics, chemistry, mathematics and electronics—to develop projects from the idea stage through field testing."

'Continue Contribution'

They will be working on improvements in artillery and rocket fuses, electronic timing devices for guided missiles and similar projects. Precision craftsmen will be waiting to translate drawing board blueprints into the real things.

The talents of foremost scientists thus are combined with skills and techniques typical of the watchmaking industry, to produce high-grade precision equipment for the U. S. armed forces. That's one of the things that make the new job appealing to Bradley.

"It is obvious from the present situation in the world that America and her allies must have more and better defense," he says. "Therefore I have chosen to work in the field of scientific research and development, which offers one of the greatest opportunities to continue to contribute to the defense of my country."

DREW PEARSON ON The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Drew Pearson says: 83rd. Congress vetoed any probe of prices; Farmer get less money while housewife pays more; White House sore over Taft-Hartley leak.

WASHINGTON—Sometimes during the rush of a Congressional session, the public misses some of the most important things Congress does—or fails to do. Sometimes the session is so hectic that not even congressmen themselves catch all that happens. Accordingly, this column will publish some of the unnoticed actions or lack of action by the 83rd Congress.

One thing the 83rd Congress did do was to turn thumbs down on one of the most overdue probes on the national agenda — to discover exactly who gets what out of the housewife's dollar.

Partly as a result, the Eisenhower Administration is now faced with the difficult and embarrassing fact that prices today are higher than ever while the farmer's share is lower than ever.

It was promised that prices would go down when the new Administration removed controls last February. Instead, price levels have reached new heights. While beef cattle are selling at record lows, beefsteak is selling in the butcher shops for almost record highs. Yet Congress voted to bar an investigation.

On September 27, President Truman wrote to Federal Trade Commission Chairman Mead asking for a "special investigation to give us a breakdown of the consumer's dollar."

Pointing out that the government needed the information to deal with the complex problems of the modern U. S. economy, Truman said that "powerful interests are at work trying to convince the consumer that it is the farmer who is responsible for the high cost of living . . . although the farmer receives only about half of the consumer's food dollar."

To carry out this vital probe, the Federal Trade Commission asked the 83rd Congress for $186,000. But Congress not only cut out these funds altogether, but took the amazing step of passing a special rider stating that none of the FTC's funds "shall be available for a statistical analysis of the consumer's dollar."

Senators Bricker of Ohio, Dirksen of Illinois, Jenner of Indiana, Hickenlooper of Iowa, and McCarthy of Wisconsin, all Republicans, represent millions of farmers and housewives who would like to know just who's taking money out of their pockets. Nevertheless all voted to kill any probe of prices.

The Price Picture

Meanwhile, here's what's happening to the ever-increasing spread between what the housewife pays and what the farmer gets:

In 1945, the farmer got 54 per cent of the housewife's food dollar. In 1951, he got exactly 50 per cent. Today he's getting only 45 per cent.

The decline in the farmer's share is hitting practically all major farm products. Between the second quarter of '52 and the second quarter of this year, the farmer's share of the consumer's beef-dollar declined 36 per cent. In the case of butter, the farmer's share dropped 9 per cent; cheese, 13 per cent; evaporated milk, 17 per cent, and fluid milk, 7 per cent.

In contrast, middlemen's fees were generally moving upward. Between 1951 and '52 they made 17 per cent more on a pound of beef; 4 per cent more on a pound of bread; and 3 per cent more on a pound of butter.

Simultaneously, the food-processing industry increased its net earnings, after taxes, 11 per cent between the last half of 1951 and the last half of 1952.

Farmers Lose

In addition to the squeeze on food products, farmers are also losing out on other basic commodities. Between December '51 and December '52 the housewife paid 4 per cent less for cotton articles, but the farmer who grew the cotton received 21 per cent less. And as the tobacco manufacturers and middlemen gradually increased their percentage of the consumer's dollar, the tobacco farmer's share dropped 15 per cent.

As the farmer gets less and less of the consumer's dollar, the housewife is paying increasingly more for the farmer's food. In 1951, the average housewife spent $722 per year for her family's farm products. Today, that same housewife has to pay just $1,000 for the same yearly supply of farm food.

Government economists under the new Administration are a little timid about talking, but some of them point out that the period when prices were held firmest was under OPA Administrator Leon Henderson and Economic Stabilizer Fred Vinson, now chief justice of the United States. With the relaxation of price controls, they point out, both the consumer and the farmer lost while the big processor gained.

Note — Former Federal Trade Commissioner John Carson sparkplugged the proposed investigation of the big processors' profits. When his term of office expired last Spring, Eisenhower did not reappoint him.

Washington Pipe Line

The White House is determined to fire the official who "leaked" to the Wall Street Journal the Administration's tentative plans for revising the Taft-Hartley Law. So far, however, it hasn't been possible to fix the blame . . . Recent drop in demand for steel has threatened to put the steel gougers out of business. Only a month ago the gray marketeers were charging $40 a ton above the normal factory price . . . The NAM admits its proposed 5 per cent sales tax on all manufactured products, except foods, will hit hardest at low-income families. It'll cost the $4,000-per-year family about $100, but the $10,000-income family only about $200 . . . Admiral Radford, new chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, tells friends privately he expects "very serious trouble" in Indo-China within a matter of weeks.

Postman's Golfing Keeps Him In Shape

TARPON SPRINGS, FLA.—(AP)— Thirty-five years a postman, Charles E. Renfroe, 70, frequently plays 36 holes of golf before making his daily 15-mile round.

"That's to keep in trim," he explains.

He uses a bicycle to cover his mail delivery route and believes he was the first bicycle mailman in the United States.

He is to retire soon because of age. That's when he plans to play a lot of golf because he will miss his postal activity.
