U. S. Plans Protest On Ship Attack

BY GEORGE DURNO
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28. — The United States announced tonight that it will file an "energetic" protest with the Chinese Nationalists against the shelling of the American merchant vessel Sir John Franklin on the Yangetze river.

Swift U.S. action against the Chinese Nationalists came a few hours after the State department called upon the Chinese Communists to release two more Americans in the newest move of the Far Eastern "battle for face."

Firm Demands Action

In New Lork, Hans Isbrandtsen, president of the firm owning the Sir John Franklin, declared the U.S. government should "put these trigger-happy people in their place."

Isbrandtsen's statement came in a message to the ship complimenting the captain and crew on their performance.

The protest broadened the U.S. difficulties in the Far Eastern struggle to include the Nationalist as well as the Red governments of war-split China.

Release Of Vets Demanded

The latest demand upon the Chinese Reds was for the release of two U.S. servicemen, Marine Master Sgt. Elmer C. Bender, of Cincinnati, and Naval Electrician William C. Smith, of Long Beach, Calif. They disappeared over a year ago while on a "routine flight" in the Tsingtao area of Shantung province.

The State department instructed Consul General O. Edmund Clubb to make renewed representations in this case at the Chinese Red capital of Peiping.

A telegram from Consul General Walter P. Maconnaughy, at Shanghai, about the shelling of the merchant ship caused the State department to ready the protest to the Chinese Nationalists.

The consul general said that the master of the ship supplied additional details to A. P. Pattison & Co., Shanghai agents for the Isbrandtsen lines, whose trade flag is flown by the American vessel.

This report asserted that at 10:50 p.m. (Shanghai time) today the merchantman, running the Nation-

LILIENTHAL REVEALS NEW ATOM PROJECTS

Super A-Bomb Hinted

By JAMES LEE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—David E. Lilienthal implied today that the U. S. is developing an atomic bomb 1,000 times more powerful than World War II models and as destructive as 20 million tons of TNT.

At the same time Lilienthal emphasized that "despite Russian acquisition" of atomic energy, America will continue at full speed with plans to harness the awesome power of the atom for peacetime purposes.

The Atomic Energy commission chairman, whose resignation is effective Dec. 31, told a news conference that Sen. Johnson (D-Colo.) was "fully and completely informed" on weapons secrets when Johnson said that "considerable progress" has been made toward a thousand-power super-bomb.

Lilienthal said it would be up to the attorney general to decide whether Johnson violated security restrictions in describing the future A-bomb as 1,000 times more powerful than the original model, whose destructive force was compared to 20,000 tons of TNT.

The outgoing AEC boss dismissed with a chuckle Johnson's charge that Lilienthal had plotted to give Britain the secret of the ultra-powerful bomb. However, Lilienthal indicated he favored close cooperation with the British.

The news conference, a full-dress affair attended by all members of the commission plus a corps of security experts, was marked by generous disclosure of some atomic information and rigid secrecy on other data.

Lilienthal said that detailed comment on super-bombs was forbidden because it "involves questions of security."

Developments made public included:

1. Dr. Lawrence R. Hafstad, head of the AEC reactor program, described the successful design of a "breeder" reactor at the Argonne National laboratory as "the greatest forward step so far in the peacetime uses of atomic energy."

2. Lilienthal announced that the AEC will begin construction of an atomic submarine motor in 1952. He said the pilot model will cost $25 million.

3. In a separate announcement, the commission said it expects to start construction on a sample atomic power plant for naval vessels in 1951.

4. Lilienthal said that the commission's policy is to "go ahead strongly with both reactor development for power and basic research despite Russian acquisition" of atomic energy.

5. The retiring chairman asserted that the only atomic secrets withheld from the joint congressional committee on atomic energy are the number of A-bombs in the U. S. stockpile and the rate of production.

6. In reference to Johnson's statement that the "1,000-power" A-bomb would use hydrogen as the explosive, Commissioner Smythe observed that "there is no danger of setting the atmosphere on fire." Government experts say that such a bomb would have a 10-mile blast radius and a 30-mile burning radius.

7. Lilienthal declared that U. S. cooperation on atomic information with Britain and Canada would be "definitely worthwhile."

Significantly, even as the AEC chairman made that statement, American, British and Canadian experts resumed discussions in

New Jersey Solon Goes To Trial On Charges Of Payroll Padding

By FREDERIC TUTTLE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28. — The government today opened its salary "kick-back" case against Rep. J. Parnell Thomas (R-NJ), amid indications his black-clad woman secretary and co-defendant will testify against him.

Thomas, former chairman of the House Un-American Activities committee, and Miss Helen Campbell, his secretary, are charged with defrauding the government by payroll padding.

Their long-delayed trial began after a jury of six men and six women was picked to hear the evidence against them.

John R. Fitzpatrick, lawyer for Miss Campbell, who sat far removed from the dapper Thomas in the courtroom, then told the jurors that his client went voluntarily to the Justice department about Thomas last September.

Thomas Listens Intently

As Thomas, who came to court with a bulging brief case, listened intently, Fitzpatrick declared that the 64-year-old Miss Campbell told the government that Thomas put three persons on his payroll and collected their salaries. Fitzpatrick said:

"What the government knows about this case it learned from Miss Campbell."

Selection of the jury took little more than an hour, and after a luncheon recess the government started summarizing its case against Thomas.

Solon Blamed For Padding

John J. Fihelly, the Justice department's crack prosecutor charged that the alleged payroll padding was Thomas' idea, and that the dapper congressman suggested it to Miss Campbell in 1940. Fihelly said:

"Congressman Thomas suggested to Miss Campbell that she get some names to be put on the payroll."

The government lawyer declared that Miss Campbell deposited the payroll checks in her account, and then wrote checks for Thomas' account in a New Jersey bank.

E. A. Bills Is Named 64th District Judge

The resignation of Judge C. D. Russell of Plainview and appointment of E. A. Bills of Littlefield as judge of the 64th Judicial district has been announced by Gov. Allan Shivers, according to an Associated Press dispatch received here.

The change will be effective Dec. 31, with the first session of court under Judge Bills beginning Jan. 2, in Plainview.

Judge Russell, who was appointed to the office some 14 years ago upon the death of Judge R. C. Joiner, forwarded his resignation to the governor a few days ago. State judges now may retire under a new state retirement plan for the judiciary.

The appointment of Bills by Gov. Shivers came after the lawyers of the district gave him their unanimous endorsement. He plans to remain in residence in Littlefield, and will travel to Plainview for court sessions.

MIDLAND MAN SHOT

MIDLAND, Nov. 28. (AP)—Melvin Ward, negro ranch worker, was shot to death today on the Les Floyd ranch four miles west of here. Ward was shot once in the head with a .22 caliber rifle bullet. After the shooting, his wife, Pauline Ward, was placed in the Midland county jail here.

Heat Records Set; Cooler Weather Due

THERE were just 26 days Monday until Christmas, and it felt like June was busting out all over Texas, the Associated Press said after a survey over the state. Heat records fell and cotton blossomed.

Corpus Christi went through its hottest Nov. 28 in history and tied its all-time November mark —for the second time in five days. And Lubbock, San Antonio, Wichita Falls, Dallas, Big Spring, San Angelo, Del Rio, Austin and El Paso had record high temperatures for the date. Waco claimed a probable record.

Cooler weather was forecast for Tuesday over much of the state, The Associated Press said.

Cold Front Moving In

Lubbock and the South Plains, in fact, could look forward to considerably cooler weather early this morning with the mercury dropping to about 38 degrees, the Weatherman said, and to freezing or lower Wednesday and Thursday mornings.

A medium cold front, a part of the wind-packed wintry blasts which have been rocking the Pacific Northwest, was expected to move over the Panhandle and South Plains early today. Temperatures are not expected to go past the lower 60s this afternoon —sharp contrast with Monday's 83 degrees, the hottest Nov. 28 since temperature records were started at the State Experiment station 33 years ago.

The cold front is not expected to arrive in full force today but likely will shove the mercury down to 30 to 32 degrees early Wednesday and possibly that low again Thursday, the Weather Bureau station said late last night.

No let-up was foreseen in the cooler weather before Thursday afternoon or Friday. No precipitation or high winds are expected to accompany the front, the Weather Bureau said.

Condition's in Lubbock were similar to those over much of the rest of the state, The Associated Press said.

Laredo Hottest Spot

The Associated Press gave this picture of conditions over the state Monday and last night:

The state's highest temperature was 97 degrees at Laredo, but

Texas Tech Gets Invitation To Play In California Raisin Bowl

A BID to the Raisin Bowl in Fresno, Calif., Dec. 31, was received by Texas Technological college Monday afternoon and taken under advisement, while members of the Red Raider football squad held a quick meeting and voted unanimously to play in the game. San Jose State college would be the host team should Tech accept the bid.

Dr. J. William Davis, chairman of the athletic council, called a hasty meeting to discuss the bid received by long distance telephone yesterday afternoon.

Also attending the meeting were Coach Dell Morgan; Frank Junell, administrative assistant to the president, George Langford, Tech ex and member of the athletic advisory committee; Marshall Gettys, Raider tackle and spokesman for the football team; and Clark Schooley, sports publicity director.

After due consideration, the athletic committee postponed a decision until it learned whether the Raisin Bowl committee would raise its guarantee from $14,000 to $17,500. A member of the council talked to Al Radka, chairman of the Raisin Bowl selection committee at 6:15 p. m. Monday and he promised to wire or phone confirmation of the guarantee, or its refusal.

No word had been received from Radka late last night.

Tech's athletic council first was inclined to accept the bid immediately, but in view of turning down the Sun Bowl bid because it was not financially attractive, council mem-

Truman Ready To Haul Lewis Into Court If Strike Called

By ROBERT NIXON
INS Staff Correspondent

KEY WEST, Fla., Nov. 28.—President Truman will take UMW chieftain John L. Lewis into court as swiftly as the process of law permits if his coal miners walk out of the pits again at midnight Wednesday.

A high administration source told this correspondent before the President left Washington today that the national interest cannot countenance a further prolonged coal production stoppage.

HST Hopes For Settlement

Mr. Truman is understood to be still hightly hopeful that Lewis and the mine operators will get together in an amicable settlement of their dispute before the end of the three-week truce that put the miners back to work.

In New York the UMW postponed until tomorrow afternoon a scheduled 3 p. m. meeting of its 200-man policy committee. There was no explanation of the postponement.

It was believed that the policy committee when it meets will decide whether the soft coal miners will resume their strike at the expiration of the truce.

The President would like to see the mine operators and Lewis come to terms and adjust their differences as did CIO chief Phil Murray and the steel industry.

Welfare May Demand Action

This source said that if the President is forced to act, he will do so with reluctance, but that the national welfare will demand it.

The coal mines already had been shut down for 52 days before Lewis called the miners back for three weeks production earlier this month.

It was stated that the White House already had prepared the necessary steps before the President left for a three weeks' stay in south Florida.

At the same time, the President brought with him to Key West his two top labor trouble-shooters—Assistant to the President John R. Steelman and special Counselor Clark Clifford.

They head a formidable array of White House aides who have

Flood Waters Threaten To Hike Damage

(By International News Service)

THE death toll rose to 32 and flood waters threatened new areas tonight in the wake of a winter storm that wrought havoc in British Columbia, Washington, Oregon and Montana.

Hardest hit was British Columbia, where 21 died.

Washington counted six victims Oregon four and Montana one.

Seventeen of the victims drowned, 13 lost their lives in automoble mishaps caused by the storm, one was electrocuted and one was blown off a barn.

Divers late today found five bodies in a taxicab that careened off a highway near Port Alberni, B. C., into the Alberni river.

The taxi accident was second only to the sinking of a tugboat as an individual tragedy. Six crew men drowned then the tug sank near Victoria, B. C., Saturday.

The Weather bureau reported the storm sweeping across the Great Lakes area tonight after traveling 4,700 miles since it first was spotted on weather maps.

The bureau called this "extraordinary" length of life for a storm.

Late reports said it extends now all the way from Sault Ste. Marie to Northern Colorado, even after splitting and leaving one center in the gulf of Alaska.

A broken dike on the Skagit river in northern Washington threatened late today to flood the town of Stanwood.

Another broken dike permitted the river Fir island on the north fork of the Skagit to fence post depth. Field mice huddled on the tops of fence posts in some places.

Water from the flooded stream was two feet deep in parts of Mt. Vernon, Wash., in the lower river valley. The upper reaches of the stream fell as much as seven feet, but the lower Skagit rose for the second time in 24 hours as a high tide slowed the run-off.

The river also washed out half a mile of the Great Northern railroad track south of Mt. Vernon. Trains were re-routed over the Northern Pacific tracks.

In the upper reaches of the fertile Skagit valley, residents began returning to their homes as that portion of the stream fell after isolating seven towns.

Military Chiefs Open Paris Talks

PARIS, Nov. 28. (INS) — The American, British and French chiefs of staff opened talks today on an Atlantic pact defense line for Western Europe and the number of divisions needed to meet the first blows of any aggressor.

Gen. Omar Bradley, U. S. chief of staff, was chairman of the meeting with his British and French counterparts in the luxurious salon of the French marine ministry. Each had five or six advisors, with Lt. Gen. Willis D. Cuttenberger and Rear Adm. James H. Foskett among those in the American group.

Berlin Included In Defense

(Defense Secretary Louis Johnson said in Berlin before flying to London Monday that Berlin is "an integral part of the defense of the United States." He reiterated America has no intention of rearming Western Germany but said it could be "correctly assumed that Western Germany will be expected to make some contribution to the Atlantic pact defense system.")

The meeting of the chiefs of staff was a prelude to the defense ministers' meeting in Paris Tuesday to adopt a blueprint of defense preparations and tactics.

One of the big decisions up for discussion by the chiefs of staff and the defense ministers is whether to make the Elbe river, now part of the East-West zonal frontier in Germany, or the Rhine the first line of defense.

The United States is understood to favor the Elbe.

The subject is included in the Fire In Red Uranium Mine With Death Toll Up To 2,000 Reported

By THOMAS A. REEDY
Associated Press Staff Writer

BERLIN, Nov. 28.—Unconfirmed reports of a disastrous fire and explosion in a Soviet zone uranium mine which caused up to 2,000 deaths were published today in western Berlin.

The British-licensed Telegraf, with Socialist party underground sources in the Russian zone, said the fire broke out in the Johann-Georgenstadt mine, deep in Saxony's Erz mountains 150 miles south of Berlin.

A similar report was broadcast by American radio station RIAS which said it came through "reliable channels." Its sources listed the number of dead in the "hundreds."

U. S. Army intelligence sources said they had not thus far heard any reports of an East zone mine disaster.

The Berlin "Fighters Against Inhumanity," an organization of Germans opposed to Soviet zone concentration camp methods, said it had learned of a "cable fire" in the Erz mines, but had no details.

Hands Off China Policy Is Urged

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LAKE SUCCESS, Nov. 28—U.S. Ambassador Philip C. Jessup said today there is evidence of another Russian attempt to dismember China. He called on the Soviet Union and all countries everywhere to keep hands off China and let the Chinese settle their own future.

Jessup, the State department expert on China who will make a personal inspection of the turbulent Far East after the UN Assembly adjourns, put before the 59-nation political committee a resolution sponsored by the United States, Australia, Mexico, Pakistan and the Philippines.

Soviet Motives Questioned

There is a serious question, Jessup said, whether the Russians had acted in good faith with the Chinese since the second world war ended and the Moscow leaders signed a treaty of friendship with the Nationalist government in 1945.

"Some of the evidence and of the reports (coming to the State department) create grave cause for concern that groundwork is in fact once again being laid for a further Russian attempt to dismember China," Jessup said.

Russia has been accused in the past of making a puppet state of Outer Mongolia and of taking over large parts of Manchuria. Jessup noted that Nationalist China accused the Russians of establishing special regimes under Soviet control on the Manchurian, Inner-Mongolian and northwest-

Latin-American Charged In Shooting Of Man In Lamesa

LAMESA, Nov. 28. (Special)—Orencio Olivares, about 45, was charged with assault with intent to murder here today as another Latin-American, Joe Garza, about 30, lay critically wounded in a local hospital from a .38 caliber gunshot wound in his chest.

Olivares was charged in connection with the Garza shooting which occurred about 6:30 p. m. Sunday in Lamesa's Mexican section. The jailed man was released under $1,000 bond this afternoon.

Although Garza's condition was described as critical, Dr. S. Z. Frazier said chance for recovery is good. Garza was struck by one shot from a .38 caliber revolver, according to Sheriff Roy King.

Officers recalled that Olivares and Garza had a fight in 1947 which cost Olivares the sight of one of his eyes. He has been wearing a glass eye since that time.

Officers Continue Search For Suspect In Burglary At Post

POST, Nov. 28. (Special)—Officers Monday were continuing an area-wide search for a burglar who fled after removing a quantity of clothing, a camera and a rifle from a residence here Saturday.

The man, described as about 24, five feet 10 inches tall and weighing 170 pounds, is believed driving a black 1947 Chevrolet.

Five Calls Made By Firemen Here; Minor Damage Reported

Little damage was reported by city firemen on five calls in Lubbock during the day Monday.

Two cotton fires, a trash fire, a grease fire in a restaurant, and a flash fire at the Plains Co-operative Oil mill at 2901 Ave. A, caused runs by the department during the day.

A trailer loaded with cotton caught fire on the Slaton highway causing "some damage" before firemen could extinguish it. Another call was to the Farmer's Co-operative compress on the Slaton highway, where four bales of cotton were damaged.

The trash fire was reported to be at 311 Ave. Q. No report on the location of the grease fire was made.

Counterfeit Bills Are Found Here By Merchants, Banks

Several counterfeit $10 dollar bills have been uncovered by banks and merchants in Lubbock since a warning was issued Friday that a quantity of the bogus money was being circulated in this area.

The bills bear an excellent likeness to the genuine article, but are easily distinguishable to the cautious person by their pale and faded, or "washed out" appearance.

They bear the serial number 167759115E, and the seal of the Federal Reserve Bank at Minneapolis, a large "I," to the left of the portrait. The federal reserve district number "9" is printed on the face in the four corners just inside the framework.

Colored Silk Threads Lacking

The paper does not have the colored silken threads found in genuine bills, and has a greater tendency to show folding cracks, but the feel is much like that of the treasury notes.

The green treasury seal on the face to the right of the portrait is poorly executed and looks smeared, but most of the engraving work, including the difficult lathework along the frames, looks identical to genuine bills to the unpracticed eye of the layman.

The portrait of Hamilton on the counterfeit is slightly harsh and contrasty, with the mouth and eyebrows greatly accented, and the grillwork in the background light in comparison with the treasury note portrait.

Officials of Lubbock banks told police most bills picked up here had been passed to firms on College Avenue.

Receipts of the same type of bills were reported by nine Clovis businessmen shortly before four California men were arrested by state police Friday and are being held for investigation for passing counterfeit money.

Red Units Reported Entering Chungking

HONG KONG, Nov. 29 (Tuesday) (INS) — Chinese Nationalist headquarters in Formosa announced today that the Nationalist government has completely evacuated the provisional capital of Chungking.

(A dispatch to the London Daily Express said that the Chinese Communists have already entered Chungking.)

The announcement said the new Nationalist seat will be established in Chengtu, 165 miles northwest of the doomed city.

Unconfirmed reports reaching Hong Kong said that Communist spearheads may have entered Chungking—a feat that the Japanese couldn't do in World War II.

The Formosa announcement asserted the Nationalist troops had recaptured Nanwenchien, eight miles south of Chungking.

Secret Meet Of Cominform Held

PARIS, Nov. 29—(Tuesday)—(INS) — The French Communist newspaper L'Humanite said today that the Cominform staged a secret meeting within the past two weeks and voiced fear that the "threat of a new war increases more and more."

The newspaper did not state the site of the recent meeting but asserted that French Communist leader Jacques Duclos and two Russian representatives were among the delegates.

Hungary Claimed Site

(The Warsaw radio said the Cominform meeting was held in a Hungarian town which it did not identify.)

The delegates of the nine Communist countries also expressed belief that the "imperialistic anti-Democratic camp is growing weaker."

In a series of resolutions adopted by the two-year-old "information bureau," the Communists reportedly called for unification of the working classes in the battle for peace, the tasks and duties of the Communist parties and their workers and one dealing with defense of the "iron curtain" countries.

The newspaper also asserted the Cominform violently attacked British Foreign Secretary Bevin and other "right-wing" Socialist leaders in Europe and insisted that Yugoslavia, once a charter member, was now controlled by as-

Federal Agency Reports Cost Of Living At Year's Low Point

By GLENN M. GREEN
INS Staf Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—The government today reported the nation's cost of living hit its 1949 low point while industrial production and employment spiraled upward.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said its consumer index stood at 168.5 on Oct. 15—a decline of sixtenths of one per cent from the previous month and the same reading recorded in mid-July for the lowest index drop of the year.

The Feredal Reserve board said output and employment regained most of the ground lost because of the steel and coal strikes when the issues were settled and the soft coal miners went back to work under the current truce.

The living costs now are three per cent below their level in October a year ago.

Retail food prices, which led the decline, fell 1.8 per cent from September to October, followed by clothing and house furnishings.

Fuel, however, went up along with rents which now are 2.4 per cent higher than they were a year

Reds Directed Waterfront Strike Through Bridges, Witness Says

By CONSTANCE HITCHCOCK
INS Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 28 — The government's hearlded "Sunday punch" witness at the Harry Bridges perjury trial testified today the longshore leader took his orders from the Communist party during the bitter San Francisco waterfront strike of 1934.

John (Big John) Schomaker told a jury in San Francisco federal court the "action, the strategy and the tactics" of the longshore walkout which grew into an abortive general strike were those of Sam D'Arcy.

Red Organizer Involved

Schomaker, an admitted former Red, said D'Arcy at the time was district organizer for the Communists. He testified:

"The strike was conducted by D'Arcy and no one else. Its conduct was worked out by D'Arcy and a committee and I carried the orders to Bridges.

"Bridges was under the discipline of the Communist party and he had to carry out the orders."

The witness said D'Arcy left in 1935 and was followed as district organizer by William Schneiderman but that Schneiderman "was not the man D'Arcy was in working out strategy."

Big Guns Saved

Schomaker, who saved his biggest guns for late in the day, will be turned over to the defense for what promises to be a stormy cross-examination tomorrow.

He testified earlier that Bridges was a card carrying, dues-paying member of the Communist party and that the CIO chieftain actually solicited new members for the party.

The 48-year-old, Australian-born labor leader is accused of lying when he swore in 1945 that he had never been a Communist. The occasion was an Immigration department hearing on his application for citizenship.

Others On Trial

On trial with Bridges are two of his associates in the longshoremen's and warehousemen's union, J. R. Robertson and Henry Schmidt.

Schomaker, an admitted former Communist organizer in San Francisco and a onetime business agent for the ILWU, gave his testimony after Federal Judge George B. Harris announced two adverse rulings on motions entered by fiery Defense Counsel Vincent Hallinan.

Hallinan, in one, asked Judge Harris to disqulify himself on the grounds of "bias and prejudice" against the defendants.

In the other he sought to limit the prosecution to testimony relating only to the period following a Supreme court ruling in 1945 quashing deportation hearings against Bridges for the second time.

Violent Objections Made

Schomaker's sensational testimony was delivered through a barrage of violent defense objections at every turn of the proceedings.

The husky, six foot four witness said that while working as an organizer for the Communist party he turned in Bridges' party book and gave him new ones three times.

He declared he saw Bridges pay dues on different occasions to three unit secretaries in San Francisco adding:

"They all swore Bridges was very bum pay."

Schomaker said that in 1938 he was present at an organizing meeting where Bridges attempted to persuade union men to join the Communists. The witness testified:

"Bridges spoke about the serious international situation and said it was necessary for workingmen to belong to a party that wanted to stop fascism."

Bridges Asked To Join

Much of Schomaker's testimony revolved around a meeting he described between himself, Bridges and B. B. Jones in 1933. Schomaker, now an AFL hod carrier, said Jones asked Bridges "the $64 dollar question:"

"When are you going to join the party, Harry?"

Schomaker said he left the restaurant where they were talking to see a friend and the he later met Jones outside. He said:

"Jones showed me an application for membership in the Communist party. It was an orange card about the size of a postal card. The handwriting was that of Harry R. Bridges."

College Students Raise Fund For Refugee From Estonia

MOORHEAD, Minn., Nov. 29. (U.P.)—An attractive blonde Estonian refugee is going to school at Concordia college here with compliments of the student body.

Eetla Ein, 21, was adopted by Concordia. Campus soliciting raised money for Eetla's board and room and the college administration furnished free tuition. She was brought here by the Lutheran World Federation, which paid her transportation.

Miss Ein was born in Tartu, Estonia, and attended schools there until 1944, when she fled from the Communists. She went to the University of Frankfurt in Germany for two years, majoring in natural science and chemistry.

Her academic work has made her a fluent linguist in Estonian, English and German. Her parents still are at Tartu, but Miss Ein hopes they may be able to leave Estonia for the United States before long.

Sentence was announced by Chief Justice Charles S. Richards of Oyer and Terminer court two months after the plump brunette widow and her son were convicted of the shotgun slaying of Wade N. Woolridge, 67, Stone Mountain, Va., carpenter.

Welfare Group Hears Official Speak Here

Lubbock county unit welfare office workers are interested in any kind of problem or project that touches the life and welfare of youth in Lubbock, Miss Mary Lou Hawkins, Lubbock supervisor, told a luncheon meeting of the Lubbock Social Welfare association Monday at the Hilton hotel.

Services were listed as: offering case work services in way of support to children, teachers or parents having trouble in social adjustment; protective case work in cases of mistreated or abandoned children; an adoptive program and boarding home program.

The boarding home program is made possible, Miss Hawkins explained, by mothers and fathers volunteering to take children into their homes until such time as a permanent plan may be worked out.

The speaker was introduced by Rev. Claude C. Canterbury, program chairman.

Mrs. L. E. Settle, association president, presided. Reports of the conference of the Texas Social Welfare association in Fort Worth Nov. 16-18 were given by Capt. Thomas Gregory of the Salvation Army and John Wilson, city probation officer.

Because of the holidays, it was voted to dispense with the Dec. 26 meeting.

Slight Hope Given For Sight Of Portland 'Last Eye' Girl

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 28. (U.P.)—A little girl lay as rigid as possible in her hospital bed today, given a slight hope by doctors that her one good eye will retain its sight to guide her and her completely blind parents through their daily lives.

Sandbags clamped 12-year-old Mary Hope Hodgdon's head in a stead position so as not to rip the delicate tissues, still healing from an operation performed 10 days ago in an attempt to save her eye.

This weekend, doctors studied the results of the surgery under a bright light that caused the girl to wince. The examination showed she still retained the power of sight and that the electric needle surgery was a "probable success."

But the doctors said it might be years before they will know for sure whether they had succeeded in preventing her from losing her sight entirely.

Mary Hope's left eye has been blinded hopelessly by tiny cysts that detached the retina from the eyeball. Her right eye was threatened and the operating physician, whose identity was not released for "ethical reasons," said only time would tell if the progressive growth of the cysts has been checked.

Surrender Demanded Of Philippine Rebels

MANILA, Nov. 28. (INS).— The Philippine government maintained a firm front today against a die-hard band of insurgents, demanding that they lay down their arms before any talk of amnesty.

Constabulary spokesmen estimated that the last of the rebel force which began an abortive insurrection 10 days ago has been whittled down to 300 men cordoned off in their mountain stronghold in Batangas proivnce 90 miles south of Manila.

The constabulary was using radio in an attempt to reach the dissidents with its peace terms.

Interior Secretary Sotero Baluyat said the government definitely would not accept an amnesty until the rebels surrendered. He declared:

"The government means business."

Meanwhile, President Elpidio Quirino denied the dissidents were Pukbalahap peasant leftists or that the revolt was caused by his victory in the presidential election Nov. 8th.

He said he favors amnesty if the Philippine congress concurs and if the rebels vill first lay down their arms.

Secret Of Missing Plane Still Held By Vast Louisiana Swamp

NEW IBERIA, La., Nov. 28 (A.P.)—The secret of an airplane and its three occupants, missing more than a year, remained locked in the vastness of the Atchafalaya swamps today.

William Butters, safety investigator for the Civil Aeronautics administration, said search probably will be resumed for financier Warren W. York of Allentown, Pa., his wife and their pilot, Joel Ritter, who disappeared on a flight from Waco, Tex., to New Orleans, Nov. 18, 1948.

Saturday's all-day search near the Primm and Sherman bayous, 10 miles northeast of Krontz Springs, La., uncovered no trace of the missing craft. Hunter-trapper Cecil Doyle, who guided the searchers, said that several days previously, while he was on a deer-hunting expedition, he saw three skeletons in a plane wreckage imbedded in the swamps.

Doyle made note of registration numbers in the faded fuselage, and the numerals tallied fairly well with those on the York plane.

But when Doyle undertook to lead a search party to the spot Saturday he could not find it. Fifteen searchers—including reporter-photographer George Arceneaux of the Lafayette Daily Advertiser, and Gerald Wright, editor of the Daily Iberian—fanned out over a wide area, but could not find the craft.

POLITICAL AMBITIONS UNKNOWN

Sons Of FDR Arouse Speculation As To Presidential Possibilities

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28 — There is increasing gossip in Washington today over the possibility that a son of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt may be elected some day to the White House.

Franklin Roosevelt, jr., recently won his first political spurs by being elected to the House of Representatives from a New York City district. Now, the late President's eldest son, James, is an announced candidate for governor of California in next fall's contest.

Few administration oracles can see even the remotest chance of either James or Franklin becoming the Democratic presidential nominee in 1952. Most White House advisers are convinced that Mr. Truman will seek another term three Novembers hence. In such event, it is unlikely that he can be denied renomination.

Historical Precedent Set

There is historical precedent for a son following his father into the presidency. John Adams was the second president and John Quincy Adams, his son, was the sixth. The elder Adams left the White House in 1801 and his son entered it in 1825. Thus 24 years elapsed between the father and son presidential terms.

Administration leaders think James Roosevelt has a greater chance of immediate success in the national political arena than Franklin, jr. But some of them think Franklin will go farther than James, because he is younger and has more time in which to achieve political success.
vealed Saturday.

Party Support Uncertain

There is talk of Franklin being a candidate for governor of New York next year. But Franklin was opposed by the New York Democratic machine in his House contest and there is no sign yet of a rapprochement. He may have to wait some time before being accepted by the organization for promotion to higher office than his present House seat.

James may have opposition within his own party to his gubernatorial ambitions. He opposed Mr. Truman's renomination last year and supported the "draft Eisenhower" movement.

A James Roosevelt as governor of California could be a formidable figure in the presidential arena in 1956—but hardly in 1952 against a President seeking renomination. Meanwhile, Franklin would have to win the New York Governorship to be anywhere at all in the 1956 picture.

Great Future Expected

Rep. Sadowski (D-Mich), an old New Dealer, for instance thinks James has a great political future ahead. He said:

"I think Jimmy will undoubtedly be elected governor of California regardless of opponents, Warren or anybody else. He will have many friends who would support him for higher office, but whether he would be ripe for 1952 is a question.

"If Mr. Truman announced for another term, I think Jimmy's political sense would direct him to support the President. In that event, Jimmy would still be a young man and the way open for him in 1956.

"I don't know what Franklin's plans are. At his age, FDR, Jr. has more time."

But whatever the future holds for these two sons of the late FDR, their political possibilities are giving Washington one of its most tantalizing topics.

NEW MERCURY TO BE SHOWN HERE—Improved appearance, comfort and performance mark the new 1950 Mercury shown above in the popular six-passenger coupe model, which will be shown for the first time today along with other body types at the Bennett Motor Company, 1701 Texas avenue.

New Mercury Line To Be Introduced To Public By Bennett Motor Company Today

Refinement and smart styling, with emphasis on passenger comfort are hallmarks of the 1950 line of Mercury cars which will be shown to the public today by the Bennett Motor Company, 1701 Texas, along with Lincoln-Mercury dealers throughout the country.

The Mercury retains its distinguishing front end appearance while emphasizing its horizontal lines by tieing in larger, oblong chrome parking lights. Instead of the name being mounted in separate letters, a new nameplate has been brought down into the grille area and placed on a chrome strip.

Other Styling Features

Other styling features include a new, ornamental desk lid handle which embodies the Mercury insignia, and distinctive new bumper guards with a cross bar bearing the name Mercury.

Latest developments in engine design give the 110 horsepower Mercury engine added performance, economy, and quietness unequalled in previous models.

Mercury engineers and stylists have given careful thought to every phase of the car's construction. Outstanding features are the attractive new "Safe-T-Vue" instrument panel and the rich harmony of the customized interior trim.

For the first time in any car, all the dials—speedometer, gauges, clock and even the radio dial—are placed behind a single clear plexi-glass panel running the length of the control section. The lettering is large and easy to read with a large, well-placed speedometer directly in front of the driver.

Sweeping downward from the instrument panel is a ribbed chrome section which contains the other control buttons, placed to minimize the chance of pulling the wrong button. The starter button and light switch are off to the left by themselves. Like all the controls they are clearly labeled with letters which illuminate at night.

The heater and air control have been made a part of the new instrument panel with the two vertically-moving handles placed parallel and close together. Three positions of the air control permit the driver to supply the car with fresh air, to send fresh air through the heater or to divert it to the windshield defroster vents.

Interior Tones Contrasting

The customized appearance of the 1950 Mercury has been achieved by planning all interiors in harmonizing, yet contrasting tones. There are two combinations of blue and gray, one in broad sweeps of color, the other in a block pattern, both in broadcloth. A third combination is brown and tan, in wool Bedford cord, with seat cushions in narrow brown and tan stripes. A fourth style is offered in a blue and gray combination in striped nylon cord at extra cost.

To "tie these colors together," Mercury stylists have made the upper part of the seat back, both front and rear, in the darker of the two tones and have carried this same color around into the sidewalls and onto the cowl.

In the 6-passenger convertible, the color combinations are somewhat bolder—tan and brown, black and red and gray and blue.

Cushions and seat backs of the convertible are leather and seat facings of vinyl.

Nine Colors Available

To add to the general custom feeling, the center door pillar is covered with cloth and a decorative plastic medallion in silver and gold has been added to the "garnish strip" on the door.

Nine exterior colors are available in the regular 1950 Mercury line with one extra color—Mirada Yellow—exclusive on the convertible.

The colors, all new except for the conventional black and maroon, are: Trojan gray, Banning blue metallic, Maywood green metallic, Laguna blue metallic, Dune beige, Roanoke green metallic and Everglade green. In addition there are seven two-tone color combinations of tans and beige, gray and green, gray and blue, and blue and gray.

Hollywood Designer Lists World's Worst Dressed Celebrities

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 28. (INS).—Ray Driscoll, Hollywood's "bad boy designer," today named his tenth annual list of the world's worst-dressed celebrities.

Driscoll, one of Hollywood's top designers, said he makes his yearly selection because he feels that "people in the public eye owe something to their public by dressing well."

1950 List Given

His 1950 list of worst-dressed notables:

Christian Dior (fashion) "because ... gives 'the look' of a potato bag that's lost its way."

Robert Rosselini (director) "his alleged wardrobe gives the feeling of Stromboli under stress."

Theft Precautions Possible

Hope Hampton (society) "for her blitzed coiffure and rococo attire."

Milton Berle (television) "his wiered Berle-sque color combinations always leaves 'em laughing — and how!"

Nancy Walker (theater) "her clothes suggest she belongs to the how-far-can-you-go club."

Salvador Dali (art) "because of his willy-nilly jackets of pastel hues."

Franco (Spain) "because he wears such tired-looking suits."

Texas Trio Sought In Three States On Burglary Charges

SPOKANE, Wash., Nov. 28. (AP)—Three Texans charged with burglaries in Idaho and Washington were the subject of a three-state manhunt today.

One of the men, identified by police as Hollis D. Green, 31, has been indicted at Dallas in a $40,000 jewel theft, and at McKinney, Texas, for armed robbery.

Charged with Green on a warrant issued to Coeur D'Alene, Idaho, are Thomas Garner, 30, and James D. Smith, 31. The complaint listed them all from Dallas.

The men are wanted here in connection with burglary of a Spokane market and a tavern. Idaho police have charged them with burglary of a tavern near the Idaho-Washington line.

The trio was identified after a 90-mile-an-hour automobile chase near Spokane. Sheriff Ralph Smith said they wrecked a 1949 sedan in the chase and escaped on foot.

Warnings have been issued to police in Washington, Idaho and Montana to watch for the men.

Meet Bernie Miesch — Another "Do-it-yourself" American

He's coming up on his own!

Bernard X. Miesch of Manchester, Conn., had only a 7th grade schooling. But he studied after work, took courses at the plant, taught himself mathematics. He made the most of a talent for "three-dimensional vision" . . . never said "no" to the chance to learn a new skill. As a result, he raised himself from part-time mechanic to crack set-up man on turret lathes at Pratt & Whitney Aircraft. He didn't stop there! Today at 36 he's a standards analyst—a job that college men aspire to. And he did it on his own!

☆ It's the American Spirit!

YOU'LL hear success stories like Bernie Miesch's all over America! Right now, in 1949, there are "new frontiers" of opportunity on Main Streets everywhere. And folks who have the energy and the initiative to make the most of them. For the do-it-yourself spirit is as lively today in this country as it ever was.

You see it in the fact that so many folks believe in providing for their personal tomorrows on their own. 78 million Americans prove it by holding life insurance. For with life insurance they know they are themselves providing for their widows, their children, their own old age...in the self-respecting American way.

As a result, the demand for life insurance grows as the country itself grows. Serving so many millions becomes a major job. To serve them well, to meet their changing needs, 584 life insurance companies are in active competition. 150,000 trained life insurance agents devote their lives to helping Americans help themselves!

It's a Fact...

It's a fact that over the years life insurance has constantly expanded its protection and services so that it can benefit more and more people...

- Additional types of protection and rates for all kinds of risk have been developed to fit the needs of a greater number of Americans than ever before.
- These new types of policies, and new methods of using life insurance, keep it flexible . . . ready to meet changing and expanding needs.
- As a result, 4 out of 5 American families now enjoy the peace of mind that comes from owning life insurance.
- Most of these are people of modest means . . . people to whom this protection is particularly important.
- The 584 companies train their agents to help America's families get the life insurance that best fits their needs and their means.

To make sure you're getting the greatest value from your present life insurance, see your agent. Life insurance is a service! Your agent is trained to help you use it most effectively. The Institute of Life Insurance—central source of information—60 E. 42nd St., New York 17, N. Y.

LIFE INSURANCE—Helping American Families to Help Themselves

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

A GREETING card concern put a lot of thought behind a card designed especially for doctors and dentists to use during their slack months or when they had returned from their vacations.

The card shows a girl kicking a waste basket over a chandelier while she is holding a telephone. The message says, "My telephone number is . . . . And the line ain't busy."

Although the medicos snubbed the card, it has been a howling success. Lonesome girls, widows and divorcees have been using it.

WOMEN AND FINANCES

MARRIED men often work hard to accumulate an estate to protect their families but wives are not always as well equipped as they should be to handle it, says "Changing Times," the Kiplinger magazine in its December issue.

A wife should be familiar with each of the following subjects:

Who are her husband's advisers —his lawyer, his life insurance agent and the person he would want her to consult about financial matters?

Is there a will? If so, who gets what? If there is no will, the amount a wife gets depends on our Texas laws.

Life insurance. A wife should know how much insurance her husband carries, the number of policies and the purpose of each. If the policies provide a lump sum she should know how she should invest the money.

What is the family's financial status? What are the sources of the husband's income, how much comes in, how much goes out, how much is retained as savings?

What property or securities does the family own? What real estate or broker would her husband recommend?

CASH is an emergency. The widow might need money for hospital bills, estate taxes or other expenses. She should know of any method worked out to get her the money.

Where are the records and papers kept? A wife should know the location of life insurance policies, stocks, birth records, deed, etc., preferably in a safe deposit box.

A family is a sort of enterprise engaged in the business of living, says the article. If a family is to function smoothly through every emergency, a wife must know a good deal about her husband's financial affairs.

I have a little girl who is allergic to wheat, corn, oats, rice and barley products. She can have soya bean bread but so far I have been unable to obtain the bread or flour. I am anxious to find where I can get this flour and would also like to have some recipes which use it.

Sometime ago your column carried an article about the 14 points plan for a well dressed woman to follow. I would appreciate it if someone would send you a clipping of that article. Perhaps you would re-print it.

Thanking you for these considerations.

Miss Riley Is Bride

SNYDER, Nov. 28. (Special) — First Presbyterian church was scene of the marriage of Miss Dorothy Louise Riley, daughter of Ira Riley and the late Mrs. Ira Riley, and Jimmie Randals, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Randals of Snyder.

Gladioli, smilax and palms decorated the altar, which was lighted by white tapers in Swedish wrought iron candelabra. The bridal aisle was marked with white tapers and lemon leaves tied with white satin ribbons.

Mrs. James Rosser played the wedding music and accompanied Mr .Rosser who sang "Through the Years" and "Wedding Prayer."

Brother Escorts Bride

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Doyle Riley, wore a white satin gown fashioned with a deep illusion yoke outlined in imported rosepoint lace and a ruffle of satin. The full skirt ended in a formal train. Her veil of bridal illusion, banded with rosepoint lace and caught to her head with pearlized orange blossoms, had been worn by Mrs. LeRoy Keller Spires, jr., a childhood friend. She wore her mother's engagement ring and a diamond encrusted wrist watch, gift from the bridegroom. Her bouquet was of orchids, roses and stephanotis.

The bride's attendants were Mrs. Spires, matron of honor; Mary Ann Randals, sister of the bridegroom, maid of honor; and Mrs. Caroline Brooks, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Dud Harrison, bridesmaids. Jan Johnston was flower girl.

The matron of honor wore a candy green satin dress and the bridesmaids wore flame red satin dresses and carried arm bouquets of white asters tied with candy green satin ribbons.

Bobbie Hicks of Fort Worth was best man and ushers were LeRoy Spires, jr., Robert Boren and Holman Odom.

A reception was held in the Snyder County club after the ceremony. The bride's table was laid with white satin and centered with the wedding cake on a silver reflector surrounded with white asters and fern.

Herman Trigg's orchestra furnished music.

The couple left for New Mexico for their wedding trip. For travel the bride wore a copen blue suit with a winter pink blouse and other accessories were gray. She wore an orchid corsage.

Upon their return the couple will make their home in Snyder where Mr. Randals is engaged in ranching.

Exporters Told Of ECA Field Service

DALLAS, Nov. 28 (AP)—A movement to bring together small exporters and overseas buyers got under way in Dallas today.

Southwestern businessmen and business service representatives met wit hofficials of the Economic Co-operation Administration to launch the ECA field counseling program.

"This is not an effort to induce more business firms to export or to provide contracts for them," Bert H. White, head of ECA's office of small business, told the group which gathered at the Baker hotel.

"It is a service to provide the answers to the questions of who will buy the small business man's exports and whether he can pay dollars for it."

The meeting hed a two-fold objective—to provide information on the spot for Dallas small businesses and to enlist volunteer, unofficial counselors for the service throughout the Southwest.

Similar meetings later will be held at Los Angeles, San Francisco and Boston, it was announced.

White pointed out that information for small business on international trade under ECA will channel both ways.

"We are to help the small business man get information on who can and will buy his product and to make known overseas in the 19 ECA countries the identity of exporters who want to participate in the export program," he said.

Volunteer field counselors attending Monday's meeting included bankers, chamber of commerce officials, and representatives of other trade associations.

The meeting was opened by E. B. Germany, president of Lone Star Steel Co., who served as chairman. Rep. Wright Patman of Texarkana, chairman of the House Committee on Small business, told the group th... the export program for small business "involves billions of dollars—not millions."

Hiss May Not Be Source Of All Pumpkin Papers, Chambers Says

By JAMES PARLATORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Ex-Communist Whittaker Chambers said today that Harry Dexter White, and not Alger Hiss, may have given him one of his famed pumpkin papers.

Peering at one of 47 documents offered by the prosecution at Hiss' second perjury trial, Chambers said:

"As I look at it here, that was the kind of stuff Harry Dexter White used to give me. The thought just occurred to me now."

Charge Previously Denied

White, former assistant secretary of the treasury, died in 1948. In almost his last breath, he insisted that Chambers lied in linking him to a prewar Soviet spy ring.

Chambers took 47 copies of microfilm of State department documents from a hollow pumpkin in his farm a year ago. They were vital evidence, he said, that Hiss furnished him secrets in wholesale fashion from his high-ranking State department desk.

Throughout the first trial and until today, Chambers insisted that Hiss was the source of all these pumpkin papers.

Attorney Takes Paper

It was near the end of Chambers' cross examination when Defense Attorney Claude B. Cross picked up one of the papers—the only one typewritten on water-marked government stock—that Chambers made the statement.

Earlier, the defense injected into the record mention of two mystery men, identified only as Mr. X and Mr. Y.

In questioning Chambers about the pair, Cross was careful not to divulge their real names.

Chambers said both were employes in the State department before the war. He said he met one and knew the other.

He said Mr. Y had contacts with a photographer for a prewar Soviet spy ring of which Chambers was a member. He accused Hiss of feeding the ring State department secrets in wholesale fashion.

Hiss, 45-year-old one-time State department official, denied ever giving Chambers any state documents or even seeing him after Jan. 1, 1937.

For these denials, Hiss was indicted on two counts of perjury. His first trial ended last July in a hung jury.

Defense Attorney Claude B. Cross said at the outset of the second trial that he would try to prove others, perhaps, but never Hiss, gave Chambers State department documents.

The witness said he persuaded Mr. X to leave a WPA job in 1937 to join the State department and that he afterwards kept in touch with him.

U. S. Prepares

alist blockade of Communist Ports, was ordered to stop and anchor by a Chinese destroyer escort.

The master explained that he was unable to comply since the vessel was passing over a bar.

He replied to the Chinese warship, informing the crewmen that they might board his ship while she was under way or accompany him to a deeper-water anchorage and board there.

Report Describes Shelling

The report then described the shelling of the merchantman, which was struck 12 times without any casualties. The report said.

"Two Chinese warships thereupon opened fire at point blank range, firing a broadside at 500 yards distance.

"The ship was under a constant barrage for about an hour. There was no warning shot across the bow.

"We proceeded across the bar and we reached deep water stopped the engines and signalled the pursuing warship that we were anchoring.

"He kept shooting. Therefore, we went ahead again and anchored off Woosong."

Woosong is the point at which vessels bound for Shanghai normally stop for a pilot.

Meanwhile, best information available at the State department indicated that Bender and Smith are "alive and well" in Communist-held territory, but where has not been ascertained.

Department officials denied as "perfectly fantastic" rumors that a member of U.S. Consul General Angus Ward's staff in Mukden had been killed. The report emanted from the Philippines and indicated Vice Consul William N. Stokes was the victim.

Stokes was just released by the Reds and ordered deported after being forced to spend some hours in a "people's court" as an observer in a spy case.

Ward and his staff at Mukden, now all under deportation order, are still waiting the convenience of the Chinese Reds to give them transportation out of Manchuria. The last report from Ward, who served a month in jail for allegedly beating a Chinese employe, said no department arrangements had been made.

Bender and Smith, the two servicemen Consul General Clubb is attempting to get released, went on a routine flight in October, 1948, and never returned. At that time the United States had a naval mission at Tsingtao.

From various seemingly reliable sources, the State department has ascertained they are alive, although not exactly where they are located. U.S. sailors on shore leave at about the time heard rumors that two Americans were in jail.

YOUNGSTER IS DROWNED

MISSION, Nov. 28 (AP)—Two-year-old Juan Manuel Garcia drowned near here today when he slipped into a canal and was swept through 300 feet of pipe running under a road. A laborer recovered the body.

Christmas Presents Come Too Late For Unconscious Youth

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 28 (INS)—Even an early Christmas will be too late for two-year-old Paul Wheeler—unless a modern-day miracle occurs.

Told by physicians that the boy probably will not live until Dec. 25 because of leukemia—a disease of the blood—the boy's parents began making arrangements for an "early" Christmas day for Paul.

Gifts Too Late

The father, De Wilton Wheeler, and his wife showed up at the hospital with an armload of Christmas presents but the gifts were too late for Paul had lapsed into semi-consciousness.

The physicians explained gently that Paul would probably never enjoy that Christmas day his parents had planned for him.

The Wheelers reside at Logan, Utah, and formerly lived at Sacramento, Calif. Wheeler attended Utah State Agricultural college as a GI student.

Heat Records Set

the Weather bureau said that probably wasn't a record in sultry South Texas. Next were Cotulla and Del Rio, each with 95. The Weather bureau in Dallas said it didn't know about Cotulla, but Del Rio's temperature was a Nov. 28 mark for that Mexican border town.

The fall's hot, dry weather in the Rio Grande valley was blamed for a poor tomato crop. Up to noon Monday, rail shipments totaled a little less than one third of last year's shipments. The Agriculture department said 105 carloads of tomatoes had left the valley, compared with 327 at the same time last year.

Cotton Is Blossoming

Cotton, usually picked and baled by the middle of November, was blossoming in the Big Spring area. But West Texans said that wasn't any more startling than the temperature, which pushed up to a record 85 degrees for the third straight day.

The coastal city of Corpus Christi had an 89-degree maximum. This tied the all-time November record, set Nov. 25, 1915, and duplicated last Thursday.

San Antonio residents stumbled around in a blinding ground fog Monday morning. Then the sun burned away the fog and shot the thermometer up to a record 90 degrees. The previous high mark was 83 degrees, set Nov. 28, 1927.

The heat was welcome in San Antonio after the fog cut visibility to 50 yards, grounded commercial air traffic and caused at least six injuries as trucks and cars piled into each other on slick pavement.

29-Day Drouth Recorded

Wichita Falls marked up an 82-degree top reading for the day, highest on record for Nov. 28. But of more concern to the North Texas city was a 29-day dry spell, its longest fall drouth in history. Wichita Falls' last rain was .18 inch on Oct. 30.

Monday's heat hardly fazed Wichita Falls. It already had gone through a hotter day this month —87 degrees on Nov. 19.

Dallas cracked a 23-year record with an 83-degree reading. Dallas has had only .19 inch of rain in 35 days, but that's not quite a record. The city received only .18 inch in 42 days back in 1943.

Lubbock recorded an 83-degree temperature, its highest for Nov. 28 since the first records were written in 1916.

The thermometer hit 89 degrees at Waco. The Weather bureau said it wasn't sure that was a record, but it couldn't find any late fall days with temperatures that high in its records.

Other Records Broken

Austin's 89 was its highest mark for this late in the fall. Its previous Nov. 28 record was 83 degrees, recorded in 1927 and again in 1929.

San Angelo also recorded 89 degrees, its highest mark in history for late November.

San Angelo also recorded 89 degrees, its highest mark in history for late November.

Most Texans would have called El Paso a cool spot Monday, but its 76-degree maximum was a Nov. 28 record. The previous high for Nov. 28 was 73 degrees in 1945.

Readings over most of the state were likely to drop into the seventies Tuesday, the Weather bureau said, but there were no prospects of rain.

Other Monday temperatures included 80 degrees at Amarillo, 83 at Childress, 85 at Bryan and 90 at Junction. Galveston and Beaumont, on the Gulf coast, and Marfa, high in the mountains of the Big Bend had temperatures in the upper seventies.

Congratulations to:

Today, the husband was fined and given a suspended 30-day jail sentence in North Little Rock municipal court—the owner of the billfold had moved from the address on his identification card.

Mine Disaster

the Russians, called the report "untrue."

The Telegraf's toll figure of 2,000 lives would make it the greatest mine disaster in German history. A coal mine at Kamen, in the Ruhr, blew up in 1946 with a loss of 418 lives.

In the Johanngeorgenstadt disaster only 300 miners were saved from a normal shift of something less than 2,500, the Telegraf said. The mine and nearby workings are reported to employ more than 5,000.

The fire broke out Thursday, according to the Telegraf, when worn insulation on electric cables caused a short circuit. It spread to three uranium workings and set off an explosion of a dynamite dump.

Most of the miners, the paper said, were trapped and were suffocated from poisonous gases and smoke or burned to death.

It charged the Johanngeorgenstadt fire was caused by "negligence," and added that the bulk of the workers were political prisoners.

The newspaper said rescue teams are still at the scene and that by Friday night 968 bodies had been recovered.

Food prices dropped in 55 of 56 cities surveyed with Atlanta, Ga., Bridgeport, Conn.; Manchester, N. H.; Savannah, Ga.; and Scranton, Pa.; all reporting a decline of three per cent or more.

The FRB noted, however, that department store sales are not registering their usual increase for the season and were six per cent below last year's level.

It said wholesale commodity price cuts were "relatively small" while the price of common stocks and bonds were "generally advanced."

The agency placed steel ingot production at 78 per cent of capacity. The output had dropped to about 11 per cent of capacity the previous month when durable goods industries recorded a 12 per cent decline in output.

Petroleum output was cut back during the month because of large stocks. Bituminous coal production picked up to reflect the miner's back-to-work movement.

Tremendous Growth Of Radio, Television Industries Since Birth Cited By Writer

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—Over the weekend and the Thanksgiving holiday I got earache from radios and eyestrain from television.

Remembering back to the painless, peaceful days of crystal, I began to think: The baby's pretty big now.

But how big? So I got some notes together on the boom in hear-and-see.

Take television—

By the first of the year, manufacturers say, there'll be three million television receiving sets in the hands of the public...

TV Shown At Fair

Modern television was introduced at the world's fair in New York, 1939. That year, too, a baseball game was televised to experimental stations...

In 1941 the first licensed commercial television station started business atop the Empire State building in New York. Before the end of that year eight licensed stations went into business.

(Before it can operate, a television or radio station must get the okay of the FCC, the Federal Communications commission, which is the federal agency controlling the air waves.)

Television receiving sets were on the market before the war. But the war stopped the building of new sets and new broadcasting stations although six television stations did business during the war.

Wartime Freeze Lifted

This wartime freeze was lifted in October, 1945. Now 90 television stations are operating. The FCC has given an okay to 22 more.

In addition, FCC has 350 other applications for approval of new stations, but the FCC is holding up on them. Why? FCC gave two main reasons:

Lack of room for new stations until some adjustments are made about distributing the air waves; and interference between stations. Meaning: Transmitters were bothering one another because there didn't seem to be enough distance between them.

No coast-to-coast relays yet. But there's a relay up and down the Atlantic coast and as far west as Chicago and St. Louis.

Meanwhile, FCC wanted to see if color television was ready. It called hearings.

There was a big argument over this: Industry split wide open, one part claiming color television is fine now, the other saying color is still not as good as black and white.

The FCC has spent weeks in hearings ,listening to the arguments. Will spend more weeks, listening to more arguments, starting in February.

$64 Question Unanswered

So, as for the $64 question—when do we get color television in our parlors? —You'll just have to guess.

Take radio—

Now over 2,000 AM (amplitude modulation) and about 800 FM (frequency modulation) stations on the air. FCC has a stack of applications from people who want to start some more.

You'll get arguments on the date of the first radio broadcast. But commercial broadcasting got under way in 1920.

In addition to the 2,800 commercial broadcasting stations, mentioned above, about 150,000 other stations are operating. They include, for example:

29,000 aeronautical (aircraft) stations; 6,000 public safety stations, such as police and fire departments; 83,000 amateur stations, and so on.

Super A-Bomb

Washington aimed at formulating a three-power policy on atomic matters.

Lilienthal declined comment on Brussels reports that the AEC has contracted for the full 1950 output of Belgian Congo uranium in line with plans to step up the entire American atomic program as a result of the Russian atomic blast.

As for his own activities after his resignation becomes effective, the chairman, who recently was cleared by the congressional atomic committee of "incrediable mismanagement" charges, insisted that he has no definite plans.

Lilienthal refused to say whether new atomic weapons tests are scheduled at the Eniwetok proving grounds where A-missiles described as "new and improved" models were proof-tested early this year.

Commission members obviously viewed as a matter of the greatest importance the development of "breeder" reactor plans.

Hafstad said the design was completed at the Argonne laboratory, Chicago, at a cost of a million dollars and that the reactor will be built by the Bechtel corporation of San Francisco, at an outlay of another $2.5 million.

Embarrassed Houston Woman Explains 'Loss' Of Jewels

HOUSTON, Nov. 28. (AP)— Mrs. Myrtle Seargeant found the $10,000 in jewelry she thought she had lost.

She advised police, rather embarrasedly, the valuables were just where she had left them—in a muslin bag pinned to her girdle.

Yesterday she thought she had placed the little bag by mistake on a room service tray she had placed in the hallway outside her door in a downtown hotel.

Plane Crash Victim In Critical Condition

FLOYDADA, Nov. 28. (Special) The condition of Clyde Irwin, injured in the plane crash which killed his daughter near here Sunday, is still critical tonight, according to People's hospital attendants here.

Irwin suffered second and third degree burns in the fiery crash only a mile and a half east of his private airport in the Fairview community 10 miles northeast of here. The airport was only a mile north of their farm home.

Services for his daughter, Miss Leola Faye Irwin, 22, who has been teaching school near Brownsville, were held here today, with burial in the Floydada cemetery. She had come home to visit over the Thanksgiving holidays, and was being flown back to Brownsville by her father.

Death Penalty May Be Sought For 'Love Burglar' Suspect

DALLAS, Nov. 28. (AP)—The state may seek the death penalty for Fred Felix Adair, jr., accused as Dallas' "love burglar."

Chief Prosecutor Waller Collie said today the death penalty would be asked if Adair was indicted for rape by the Dallas county grand jury. Collie took the case to the grand jury today.

Adair, 25, is the father of a young daughter. Saturday he repudiated admissions of attacks he had made.

"I've committed no burglaries, no robberies, no rapes, no murders," Adair told a Dallas News reporter.

He said he decided to "fight this thing now" after a visit with his wife at the city jail.

Adair was formally charged Saturday with raping a 31-year-old woman while her two children look on and cried.

City officers said he had previously signed a statement admitting he assaulted the woman.

Detective Lieut. James A. Bohart said Adair's denial makes "no difference in our case against him."

Tempe Fullback Is Dropped From Squad After Vote Of Players

TEMPE, Ariz., Nov. 28. (AP)—Fullback Henry Rich, Wakefield, Mass., was voted off the Arizona State college at Tempe football squad by his teammates today for "lack of proper attitude."

The action, announced by Head Coach Ed Doherty, was taken at a special meeting of the players. None of the coaching staff were present.

Doherty expressed regret, but said it was "unavoidable."

Rich is a sophomore. He played both offensively and defensively. He was outstanding in the games against Hardin-Simmons and the University of Arizona.

Dropping of Rich leaves the Sun Devils, who will be host team in the annual Salad Bowl game at Phoenix Jan. 2, with only one top-flight fullback, Marko Markichevich, Globe, Ariz.

No explanation of the team's action was given.

Wichita Falls Solon Withdraws From Race For Speaker's Post

WICHITA FALLS, Nov. 28. (AP)—Rep. Vernon McDaniel of Wichita Falls announced today he has withdrawn from the race for speaker of the House in the 52nd Legislature, 1951.

He threw his support to Rep. Reuben Senterfitt of San Saba.

"Since Mr. Senterfitt is a two-to-one majority choice of members of the present 51st Legislature, I feel this is a good time to withdraw," McDaniel said.

McDaniel did not indicate how many pledges of support he had, but it was understood he had less than 20 of the 150 House members supporting him.

Senterfitt claimed 77 pledges.

Rep. Joe Kilgore of McAllen, Senterfitt's only major opponent, has the backing of some 45 to 50 members.

Scribe Reviews Grid Season

By WHITNEY MARTIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 28. (AP)—Impressions gleaned from a practically extinct football season:

That week in, week out, Notre Dame is the best football team (surprise) but that on a given Saturday when everything clicked, Army, Oklahoma or California might beat the Irish.

That a good Tulane team was the victim of a gaudy buildup which put Notre Dame on its toes for the game, and that the Green Wave never quite recovered from the terrific beating.

That Missouri had what might be called a 50-50 season—its offensive team won and its defensive team lost.

That despite much criticism the two-platoon system will remain, with possibly a few hobbles to satisfy the critics, and that personally we have nothing against it.

Nebraska Improving

That Bob Neyland has Tennessee on its way to its great prewar strength, and that Biff Jones, who coached Nebraska and from his comfortable retirement in Washington surveys the scene with a knowing eye, says Nebraska will be up there again before long.

That the championship of the Dixie conference acquired again by Florida State university is a triumph of virtue, as the Tallahassee school is lily white from the sanity code standpoint.

That Army's impressive victory over Navy was a true yardstick of the Cadet's strength as they were meeting a team geared up and supercharged for the game, and that the same can be said for Oklahoma in its victory over the Aggies and Texas' triumph over the Texas Aggies. Such traditional games when both teams are "up" tell the story.

Admires Navy Spirit

That for sheer, awesome power you can't beat Leon Hart, the gigantic Notre Dame end who, offensively, should rank with the all-time great wingmen.

That the always-strong Southwest conference year in and year out sees more so-called upsets within its own family group than any other league.

That when a team is getting the pants beat off it, such as Navy was Saturday, yet has numerous off-sides called against it because of its eagerness to block every try for point, you have to admire its never-say-die spirit.

LEWIS POSTPONES SLATED POLICY GROUP MEETING

NEW YORK, Nov. 28. (INS)—The United Mine Workers union postponed without a word of explanation today a scheduled meeting of its 200-member policy committee.

The meeting had been set for 3 p. m. It was believed called to decide if nearly 400,000 soft coal diggers will resume their walkout at the end of their strike truce Wednesday midnight.

The meeting was put over until 4 or 4:30 p. m. tomorrow.

There was no word from John L. Lewis, chief of the UMW, who spent the day at union headquarters in Washington instead of going to New York.

Lewis also had no comment when he left his office shortly before 5 p. m. (EST).

Lewis Remains Silent

Newsmen asked him whether he could give any explanation for the postponement and whether he was going to New York tomorrow. To both questions he shook his head in a no comment gesture.

Then a newsman asked whether Lewis had any meetings scheduled with any of the coal operators. Lewis smiled and answered: "Sorry boys, I can't help you."

The union leader got into his black sedan and drove off, apparently to his home in Alexandria, Va.

Postponement of the meeting started immediate speculation that some action in the long coal dispute may be in progress in Washington.

Tomorrow's meeting of the policy committee will be the first since Nov. 9 when Lewis ended the 52-day mine walkout and sent the soft coal miners back to work under a three-week truce.

Truman Wagers On Florida Weather, Loses To Daughter

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
Associated Press Staff Writer

KEY WEST, Fla., Nov. 28.—President Truman lost a dollar as he brought the headquarters of the nation today to this semi-tropical naval submarine station.

He paid off to his daughter, Margaret, whom he had wagered their landing at the nearby Boca Chica air station would be made in a temperature of at least 80 degrees.

Actually, it was not quite 71 when the presidential plane came down at 12:16 p. m. (EST) after a three-hour, 46-minute flight from the cold of Washington.

But, the President, Mrs. Truman and Margaret were as well pleased with the warmth of the sunshine as the welcome they received at the airport from Capt. C. C. Adell, commander of Key West operations, and the new mayor, Louis M. J. Eisner.

"It's 81, isn't it?" Mr. Truman inquired as he walked down the ramp, grinning at the local reception committee. When they, a bit apologetically, confessed it was not, he remarked, "Oh, well, it will get higher."

Margaret, here to rest up from a concert tour ended Sunday afternoon at Washington, stepped from the plane into the sun with an excited:

"Isn't this heavenly?"

Mrs. Truman nodded agreement.

The presidential party boarded waiting cars, for the 2½-mile drive to the naval station which, for the next three weeks, will be the temporary "White House" of the country. It is the President's seventh visit here.

Mr. Truman changed quickly into sports shirt and slacks, his habitual uniform while here, except when he takes his morning swim and sunbath in the nearby enlisted men's beach, reserved for his use.

The President instructed John R. Steelman, assistant to the President, to keep him in daily touch with developments in the coal situation. Steelman arranged to talk daily by long distance telephone with Cyrus Ching, federal mediation chief.

Celebrities Attend Burial Of Bill Robinson, Negro Dancer

NEW YORK, Nov. 28. (INS).— Bill "Bojangles" Robinson made his last Broadway "appearance" today to the best audience of his star-studded career.

The body of the dean of American top dancers drew a record throng of fans as Bojangles' funeral cortege moved down Broadway from Harlem to Evergreen cemetery in Brooklyn.

The funeral of the internationally known stage and screen dancer drew the famous as well as the fans, including Mayor William O'Dwyer, singers Marian Anderson and Robert Merrill and pianist Hazel Scott.

Shirley Temple, who appeared with Robinson in several films, sent a large floral piece with the inscription:

"To Uncle Billy from the Little Colonel, Shirley Temple."

The funeral services for Robinson, who died Friday at 71 of a heart ailment, was held at the Abyssinian Baptist church.

Mayor O'Dwyer delivered the eulogy, Miss Anderson sang the "Ave Maria" and Merill, "The Lord's Prayer." Miss Scott played Chopin's Funeral March.

Others who sent their condolences including Duke Ellington, Lena Horne, Bob Hope, Joe Louis and Mr. and Mrs. Irving Berlin.

Tech Gets Bid

bers decided to investigate costs of the proposed California trip.

The closest rough estimates for expenses, such as train or plane, hotel bills, food and incidentals, shot the expense up to over $12,000. They did not believe that it was worthwhile unless the Raisin Bowl committee would raise its guarantee to a figure Radka had named as the probable amount they would receive.

That was the way the situation stood last night. Tech officials presumed that some other institution, possibly Tulsa university, which was mentioned in an Associated Press dispatch as being considered, might receive the bid instead.

Texas Western originally received the Raisin Bowl bid, but when Tech declined the Sun Bowl spot, Texas Western accepted the El Paso bowl. Radka immediately contacted Texas Tech officials and expressed strong desire that the Red Raiders accept.

San Jose State, which already has accepted, is a larger institution than Texas Tech. The Spartan football team ended its season with a record of eight victories and four defeats. Losses were to Stanford, Santa Clara, University of San Francisco and College of the Pacific.

Texas Tech won its third straight Border Conference title Saturday by defeating Hardin-Simmons 23-13. The Raiders wound up with seven victories and four defeats, the latter all at the hands of Southwest conference foes.

Slavs Are Attacked

The newspaper said the representatives of nine Communists nations passed a series of resolutions which included one insisting that Yugoslavia is under control of assassins and spies.

Other resolutions pertained to defense, peace, the struggle against war-makers, unity of the working class and tasks of the Communist parties and workers.

Yugoslavia, which once served as headquarters for the Cominform, was kicked out of the organization when Marshal Tito refused to follow the Kremlin line.

Tiny Albania replaced the Belgrade regime in Cominform membership.

Information Bureau Set Up

In a manifesto against the "imperialistic camp and its directing force U. S. A.," the Cominform announced formation of an "information bureau" with headquarters in Belgrade.

It stated the aim of the organization was to "organize and exchange experience and, in case of necessity, coordinate the activity of Communist parties on foundations of mutual agreement.

The charter members were Russia, Yugoslavia, France, Italy, Poland, Burgaria, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Romania.

ARMS REQUEST DISCOUNTED

West Germans Expected To Ask Allies For More Concessions

By MORRIE HELITZER
INS Staff Correspondent

FRANKFURT, Nov. 28—A ranking American official anticipated tonight that the Bonn republic will ask the West for new concessions in the field of foreign affairs, foreign trade and domestic production "within the next six months."

The official, who asked that his identity be withheld, discounted the possibility that the Germans will request permission to build an army, saying:

"They know what kind of a reception that would get."

Interviewed On Warning

The official was interviewed on the high commissioners' warning to the West German government not to consider the recent Bonn protocol as a "springboard for further demands."

The west agreed in the protocol to halt dismantling of a number of key steel, oil and rubber plants, and to ease shipbuilding restrictions, among other thangs.

The official declared the West Germans "could wear out their welcome by making too many requests directly following the conclusion of the protocol" and added:

However as long as they are occupied, I think the Germans will keep asking for more."

He said he considered it most likely that the Germans will seek progressive freedom of action in the conduct of foreign affairs and trade.

He said:

"Of course, it is understandable for them to try to get hard reserves to provide for the day when Marshall plan aid ends.

"Foreign trade in many countries is now 100 to 150 per cent of the 1936 level, but Germany's trade is about 35 per cent of the level for that year."

On the question of a possible request to boost steel production from the present annual level of 11.1 million tons of ingot steel, the official said he would view such a move as "bad tactics."

He explained that any request for an upward revision most likely would take into account America's steel production as well as the markets Germany would be able to find for its product.

The official said the recent negotiations between the western high commissioners and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer were "productive." He termed the West German leader "shrewd and intelligent" but admitted some Allied observers are skeptical over Adenauer's tactics of seemingly playing a lone hand without consulting his cabinet ministers during negotiations.

Lufkin Man Given Three-Year Sentence On Forgery Charge

CROSBYTON, Nov. 28. (Special)—Two criminal cases were disposed of here today when pleas of guilty were entered before 72nd District Judge Dan Blair after the defendants had waived a jury.

They were Ray Jones, 20, of Lufkin, charged with forgery, and Pauline Martin, 19, also of Lufkin, charged with passing a forged instrument.

Jones was sentenced to serve three years in the state penitentiary. Suspension of three-year sentence was allowed Miss Martin.

Other cases were passed: one upon motion of Buck McNeil, attorney appointed by the court, for more time to allow him to prepare a defense, one upon a defense motion asking a special venire; another because a defendant is in a hospital for surgery.

Jaycees Hear Three Guitar Selections At Meeting Here

Joe Casanta, a recent arrival here from Los Angeles, today entertained the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce with three steel guitar selections at a luncheon meeting in the Hilton hotel Monday.

The violin and guitar instructor who performs daily at 11:45 a. m. over KFYO played his own composition, "Invasion," a number about the Normandy invasion in which he participated.

Also on the program were six members of the Westerner band under the direction of Paul Brannon. Jack Blankenship was program chairman.

It was announced at the meeting that Harold Chapman will speak Tuesday at the Optimist club luncheon in Hotel Lubbock in behalf of the Jaycees sponsored Hoover Commission report.

Barney Stagner will speak on the same subject Wednesday at the 20-30 club meeting.

R. S. Wilkinson presided and Thelbert Miller gave the invocation. Harold Banks led members in singing "The Eyes of Texas."

A total of $540 has been sent to the Red Cross for use in paying emergency expenses of families of eight Latin-Americans killed last Wednesday in a truck-train crash near Shallowater.

In addition, over $300 has been contributed by employes of the TNM&O coaches, and distributed to the families.

Hiram Parks of Brownfield made the initial contribution of $500 Thanksgiving day in the name of Llanos theater in Lubbock, operated for Latin-Americans.

Additional contributions have been $10 each from J. J. Murphy, Doc's Drug store, Edna Weber and Harry N. Roberts.

The money was not solicited by the Red Cross but is being distributed at suggestion of Parks that contributions for the purpose be sent to the Red Cross at 1413 Ave. K.

It has aided in burial expenses and sending bodies by train. Other emergency needs for which available funds would be used might vary, including, for instance, payment for emergency grocery orders in cases where a death cut a family off without income.

More Than 150 Persons Apply For Membership In Elks Club

More than 150 persons have made application to become charter members of a local chapter of the benevolent and patriotic Order of Elks.

W. C. Montgomery and Hub Lee, who are spearheading the re-establishment of a local chapter here, have announced preliminary steps for organizing the new lodge will be concluded on Dec. 5, when a number of dignitaries from over the state will be present.

It is also hoped that Federal Judge W. H. Atwell of Dallas, past grand exalted ruler, will be present.

Lubbock at one time had an active chapter of Elks until the early days of the depression.

The Elks, a patriotic organization with emphasis on loyalty to the principles of Americanism, and contributions to charity, have given more than $500 million to worthwhile vauses since establishment of the order in 1895.

THREE LUNCH PERIODS SCHEDULED

Students To Eat First Luncheon In Senior High Cafeteria Today

Lubbock Senior High school students will begin eating in the school's cafeteria today, after having received special instructions on proper procedures during a practice period Monday afternoon.

Students will report for lunch at one of the three 20-minute intervals beginning at 11:35 a. m., and then at 12:05 p. m., and 12:35 p. m. After each period, students will be allowed five minutes for returning to classes.

Periods Staggered

Classes will be conducted at all times during the staggered lunch periods, and students have been asked to keep noise, confusion and disorder at a minimum.

During the practice schedule Monday, Miss Dora Nell Carroll, director of cafeterias in Lubbock schools, and Miss Helen Priebe, manager of the high school cafeteria, were present to direct students.

The cafeteria counters are in "U" shape and provide arrangement for four cafeteria lines. Three of the lines will have a complete selection of food and one line will be a supplementary line for students who wish to supplement lunch brought from home.

Plate lunch price will be 35 cents in Senior High school. The price of the plate lunch in elementary schools is 30 cents. Servings will be larger in the high school than in the elementary schools.

Choices Available

Included in the plate lunch will be meat, two vegetables, milk, bread and butter. If a student wishes, he may buy a dessert for five cents to ten cents, depending on what he chooses.

The student may choose other foods beside the plate lunch if he wishes. Sandwiches will be available for 12 cents each; soup and crackers, 12 cents, and a variety of salads will be available, with the majority costing 10 cents.

The menu today will include roast beef and gravy, mashed potatoes, choice of another vegetable, milk, plain muffin and butter. One of the provisions in the Senior High school cafeteria will be that the student will have a choice of one vegetable.

Checkers Trained

The main dessert today will be coconut pie. If a student orders the plate lunch and the highest priced dessert available, the price will be 45 cents. The range in price daily for plate lunch and dessert will be 40 to 45 cents, since prices of desserts vary.

Four Senior High school students will be checkers at the cash register. They are Dewey Davis, Jack Johns, Kenneth Brown and Donnie Dean. They have been receiving training in Junior High school cafeterias the last three weeks.

Guidance teachers have been giving students orientation in details of operation of the cafeteria.

A cafeteria committee from the student council has been working to publicize plans for operation. Members are Mona Powell, June Franklin, Juanita Alford and Don Naylor.

Convicted Top Red Ousted From New York City Council

NEW YORK, Nov. 28. (AP)—Benjamin J. Davis, one of the 11 convicted leaders of American Communism, was ousted from the New York city council today.

The council decided by a 15-0 vote that Davis forfeited his right to a council seat when he was convicted Oct. 14 of conspiring to advocate violent overthrow of the U. S. government.

The negro councilman was defeated for re-election Nov. 8.

Neckline Of French Dress Hoisted For British Princess

By BARBARA BUNDSCHU
United Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Princess Margaret of Britain got a wicked Paris dress, but her mother wouldn't let her wear it until she had the family dressmaker hoist its plunging neckline, it was learned here today.

And that is just part of "L' affarire where is a neck?" or "should a princess?" that has had British court tongues wagging for a month.

Exposure Left To Mother

Proper socialites were inclined to be tolerant of the gay 19-year-old of Buckingham palace and leave the amount of her chest exposure up to her sensible mother.

Queen Elizabeth, it was understood, took care of that. But the gown has stirred such a tempest there's no telling whether Margaret will ever dare wear it in public.

The gown, a Christian Dior creation, was a gift. Royal circles were horrified at that, before they ever heard about the neckline. Royalty just doesn't accept such gifts. But critics were mollified on that score when they found the gift came not from Dior but from the entire Paris couture, putting it on an official and permissable basis. But the dowagers weren't happy for long.

Almost before Margaret had a chance to parade her plunging presence before the raised eyebrows of the king and queen, copies of it appeared in shops all over London.

Horror of horrors! The royal family's gowns are made in London, mostly by Norman Hartnell, under the strictest fashion protocol. Sketches and models are destroyed. The gowns are never duplicated.

Broad-minded Londoners figured the French just "didn't understand."

Meanwhile Queen Elizabeth hustled Margaret down to Hartnell with the Dior dress. Too sophisticated, she reportedly told him, and too low down. Hartnell reportedly hoisted. Whether Margaret pouted was not known here.

Armed Men Rob Dallas Store, Lock Manager In Refrigerator

DALLAS, Nov. 28 (AP)—Two armed men robbed a Safeway market early today and locked the store manager in a refrigerator vault.

Robert Howell, manager, told police the men forced him to open the safe. Safeway officials did not reveal the loss in currency and silver.

Second Fort Worth Robbery Suspect Held

FORT WORTH, Nov. 28. (U.P.)—A faded dry cleaners' mark today resulted in a musician admitting to Fort Worth detectives his part in the $15,000 robbery of the Charles Renaud home here Nov. 20.

The 23-year-old Fort Worth man was arrested Sunday as he hid in his brother's home in Dallas. He was the second of the three armed bandits to be captured.

The man at first denied his part in the robbery, but later admitted after Fort Worth Detective A. C. Howerton confronted him with a laundry mark.

Howerton said the mark — clipped from the prisoner's trousers — matched marks found in a mud-smeared suit found in the waters of a Grand Prairie lake.

Officers recovered the suit from the lake Saturday when another admitted participant showed them where it had been thrown.

The musician, a trombonist, told officers he fled to Oklahoma the day after the robbery. Most of the loot has been recovered by officers in Texarkana and near Dallas.

Still sought in the robbery is a 7-year-old former San Quentin convict.

Leftover vegetables can be added to canned soups. Green peas or snap beans are good in tomato soup. Carrots are excellent added to cream of mushrom.

One Killed, Three Injured In Armored Truck-Taxi Wreck

DALLAS, Nov. 28. (U.P.)—One person was killed, and three injured in a collision between an armored truck and a taxi today.

Dead was Herman Earnest, 44, driver of an Armored Service Co. vehicle.

Police said an Oak Cliff cab, driven by Clifford Otts, 52, apparently crashed into the truck. Otts was critically injured. He was being treated at Parkland hospital.

A passenger in the cab, Mrs. H. F. Dobson, 26, was taken to Methodist hospital where her injuries were not immediately determined, but her condition was considered serious.

Inside the locked armored vehicle, loaded with money, was B. L. Searcy, 38, and Roy Reynolds, both guards.

Reynolds sitting in the rear, was not injured, but Searcy was in a serious condition with head and body injuries at Methodist Hospital.

OFFICIAL PROTEST DEMANDED

Chinese Nationalist Warships Pump Shells Into U. S. Vessel

ABOARD THE S. S. SIR JOHN FRANKLIN, OFF SHANGHAI, Nov. 28. (INS)—Chinese Nationalist warships pumped 12 shells into the American merchantman Sir John Franklin without warning today while dining room crews calmly served dinner to passengers. There were no casualties.

It was the second Nationalist attack on an American vessel since Nov. 1, when the Isbrandtsen line's Flying Cloud was shelled as it was trying to get through the blockade of Communist Shanghai.

Like the Flying Cloud, the 6,711-ton Sir John Franklin also owned by the Isbrandtsen line, was hit outside Shanghai.

Attack Ignored

The Sir John Franklin ignored the attack and proceeded up the Yangtze river to Woosung creek, while a Nationalist gunboat, with guns blazing at her, followed.

(Officials of the Isbrandtsen line of New York made a new protest to the State department demanding "effective action" by the United States to halt "these unlawful attacks upon our legitimate commerce."

(The United States does not recognize the Nationalist blockade of Communist China.

(The State department was reported ready to file a new protest with the Nationalist government over the incident.)

Hits Are Reported

The Sir John Franklin, skippered by Capt. Warren R. Hardy of Ardsley, N. Y., received hits in the forward boom, the No. 2 hatch, the purser's cabin directly aft of the bridge and in the stern area.

The attack was begun at 4:30 p. m. (2:30 a. m. CST). American flags flew from the aftermast and were draped over the sides and hatches, to be clearly visible from the sea or air.

The crew acted in accordance with the best American maritime tradition.

Dinner was served to the passengers during the shelling. All was calm aboard.

The passengers included Mrs. Florence Smith, former Red Cross wartime field director in Africa and Europe. She is the wife of Macy Smith, an official of the International Telephone and Telegraph Co., and is en route to join her husband in Shanghai.

Other passengers are Capt. Andrew Crinkley, USN, retired, now a Far Eastern official of the Isbrandtsen line; and Natalie Briesmaster, of East Northfield, Mass.

At 7:15 p. m. the Sir John Franklin anchored at Woosung quarantine and will proceed to Shanghai toworrow morning.

The cargo, which was not hit by shells during the attack, will be unloaded and the vessel will continue on to Pusan, Korea.

Lubbock Man Is Assessed $750 Fine For Liquor Law Violation

Ike Winford, 44, of 400-block Ave. E, was fined $750 and county court costs of $22.40 Monday when he pleaded guilty before Judge Walter Davies of liquor law violation.

He was arrested early Sunday night on the Littlefield highway by two state highway patrolmen, Chris Haskins and Jean Pate, when in possession of approximately two cases of whisky, officials said.

The county attorney's office and the Liquor Control board department said Winford had been convicted earlier of a liquor violation charge.

NURSE NONCHALANT

WORTHINGTON, Minn. (U.P.)—Mrs. Marie Ennenga's car overturned twice when she lost control of it by ducking as a pheasant flew in front of her. She climbed out of the wreckage, picked up some scattered belongings, and after being treated for minor bruises, went back to work as a nurse that same night.

Mrs. H. P. Baker Attends Fort Worth Teachers Meet

Mrs. H. P. Baker, who operates the Baker School for Exceptional Children at 1911 Eighteenth, has returned from Fort Worth where she participated in a two-day conference of the Texas Council for Exceptional Children at the Blackstone hotel.

Principal speaker at the meeting was Miss Laura Wingertszahn of Detroit, who said that mentally retarded children are being prepared to take their places in society through an extensive special education program in the Detroit public schools.

Approximately 200 teachers attended the conference Friday and Saturday.

Oklahoma State Building Urged

BY HOWARD WILSON
United Press Staff Writer

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 28. — Gov. Roy J. Turner today asked the special session of the legislature to spend all but $2 million of the $36 million building bond issue.

In his opening message to the session, he proposed that $18,825,990 be given to mental hospitals and other institutions under the board of affairs and $15,174,000 to state colleges and universities.

The governor's recommendation for higher education was more liberal than expected by most observers.

Large Sum Wanted

In asking that $34 million allocated, Turner said he wanted the large sum to be earmarked at this time so that state officials who are planning the building program will know how much money will be available. He did not say whether this amount would be placed under contract during the final year of his administration.

The unused $2 million will act as a reserve, he said, "to be used in meeting changing conditions."

Turner did not attempt to outline how much each institution should get but said this information will be available in legislation to be introduced later today.

He did, however, give a partial breakdown for institutions under the board of affairs. State regents for higher education will decide how to spend the money given to colleges.

The regents will have under the recommended program, $10,749,000 for new construction and $4,425,000 for repairs.

Turner did not release a total on new construction and repairs for all affairs board institutions but recommended $11,321,310 for new construction at the state's mental hospitals and $2,008,975 for repairs and modernization.

The governor said he expects an additional $3 million in federal aid for hospital construction within the next fiscal year and that this sum will actually give Oklahoma a $39 million building program.

MacDonald Carey To Play Dual Role In Production Of 'The Man With My Face'

BY LOUELLA O. PARSONS
INS Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 28.—One of the most hair-raising novels I've read in many a long day, and the kind that will make you want to be sure you have locked the door and fastened the windows, is "The Man With My Face."

The story, by Sam Taylor, former press agent, is of a man whose identical double—a bank robber—moves into his house and aided and abetted by his own wife pretends to take his place.

That novel was sure to get into the movies, and it has, with MacDonald Carey playing the dual role for Jess Smith, and with Richard Wallace directing him. Mac had promised to take Betty, his wife, on a vacation as he finished "Outrage" at Paramount. But when this picture was handed to him, and he heard it had a United Artist release, he was a goner.

Cooper Selects Story

Hizzoner Gary Cooper (mayor of Brentwood) has decided on the story he wants to do next for Warner Brothers. It's "The Dragger Captain," by Joseph Mitchell, one of several stories bought by Jack Warner for Coop's approval—and the one he likes best.

Always a boy to get outdoors when he can, on or off the screen, Gary loves the character of the captain of a New England fishing boat. The story first saw the light of day as a series in the New Yorker.

New Team Discussed

There has been talk of teaming Tony Martin and Danny Thomas as Van and Schenck, the two old vaudeville headliners. Nat Goldstein, who owns the rights to the story, is getting it put into script form.

Although he has talked with Tony and Danny about it, there is nothing actually definite. What a grand combination they would make!

Gus Van, of the old team, recently opened a singing act at the Orpheum and while he is here he will work with the writers helping them with his story.

Mutiny Still Afoot

The touring Selznick players, Louis Jourdan, Rhonda Fleming, Rory Calhoun and John Agar, open in Cleveland in a completely rewritten skit. But, even so, there's still mutiny afoot.

Europe, too, has gone Hopalong Cassidy crazy. From Scotland comes a letter from a school boy in the second grade with a charming poem about Hopalong's capture of Squint-eyed Pete, the robber.

But the Scottish boy added an unusual twist to the usual legend of Bill "Hopalong" Boyd. He winds up by having Hopy charge sixpence admission for anyone who wants to see the culprit before he is hanged!

Oklahoma 'Society' Bootlegger Assessed 10-Year Prison Term

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 28 (U.P.)—Oklahoma's best-known bootlegger received a 10-year prison sentence and $10,000 fine today from a stern federal judge who feels state authorities are not enforcing prohibition as they should.

Judge Edgar S. Vaught ordered Harold Byford, Oklahoma City "society" liquor dealer, to start his sentence immediately. Byford was recently found guilty of transporting a forged $25,000 check used to purchase liquor from a Louisiana wholesaler.

"I'm tired of this man's conduct in this community," Vaught stated tersely as he hit Byford with the maximum imprisonment on each of three counts.

The sentences totaled 25 years, but they run concurrently, so the bulky bootlegger will have to serve only 10.

LUBBOCK MORNING AVALANCHE

Lubbock, Texas, Tuesday, November 29, 1949

FAMILY AFFAIR AT BAYLOR — Three children of the C. W. Roberts family of Andrews, will graduate at Baylor university next spring. They are Wesley Roberts, star defensive tackle on the Baylor football team; Jim Roberts, editor of Baylor's student newspaper, the Daily Lariat; and Miss Louise Roberts, a pretty coed who says her claim to fame is being a sister to her brothers. Mr. and Mrs. Roberts, the parents, are both Baylor graduates, and Mr. Roberts is editor and publisher of The Andrews County News.

Delegates May Fight Measure

One of the most important city commission meetings of the year will get underway at 1:30 p.m. today when public hearings are opened on 10 proposed city limits extensions.

City officials stated Monday they frankly did not know what to expect at the meeting.

Expressions of interest in the proposition have been few. Yet city officials will not be surprised if the attendance is large. Delegations are expected to oppose some of the extensions. Others favoring them also are likely to be present, including members of a chamber of commerce committee which recommended the proposed annexations.

Would Boost Population

The most vigorous opposition was expected to proposed extensions in southeasterly and westward directions. Residents of those areas who favor annexation to the city are being urged to attend.

The program proposes extensions of the city limits in all directions and, if approved, would add 10,000 to 15,000 people to the population and about 11 square miles to the territorial area of the city. The present area is about 10.5 miles.

The meeting is scheduled to be held in the council chamber on the second floor of the city hall, but will be transferred to the auditorium of the adjoining American Legion home if the attendance requires.

Ranchers In Area To Hold Cattle Program

About 100 area ranchers are expected to gather today at the Edwin Forrest ranch, seven miles north of Slaton for a program on cattle raising.

The program begins at 10 a.m. with dinner to be served at noon by Ray C. Ayers and Son and Slaton Cotton Oil mill, both of Slaton.

The program as outlined by David W. Sherrill includes a talk on "Spraying Cattle" by Edwin Forrest; Dr. N.A. Cox of Lubbock, "Dehorning Cattle", a talk on grass identification by George (Scotty) Samson of Post and a talk on the grazing value of grasses by Jack Carothers, assistant Lubbock county agent.

Marshall Howard will speak on "Water Conservation," O. L. Kay wil discuss "New Grasses," C. E. Fisher, Spur agronomist, will discuss mesquite eradication and feeding at the Spur experiment station.

Jess Robinson will discuss plans for cattle feeding at Texas Tech and B. T. Hill of Stanton will discuss "My Experience In Feeding."

County agents and leading ranchers and cattle feeders of the area are expected t. attend.

STATE OFFICIAL INVOLVED

Four Persons Deny Charges Of Federal Lobby Law Violations

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28. — Four men, including two state commissioners of agriculture, pleaded innocent today to charges of violating the federal lobbyist registration law.

Judge Alexander Holtzoff, who heard the plea in federal district court, fixed their trial for Feb. 13 and said he will not permit it to be delayed.

Texas Official Pleads

Those who pleaded innocent to the misdemeanor charges contained in a government information are Tom Linder, Georgia commissioner of agriculture; James S. McDonald, Texas commissioner of agriculture; Robert M. Harriss, partner in the New York commodity brokerage firm of Harriss and Vose; and Ralph W. Moore, Washington. Also named is the national farm committee.

The defendants, in denying the charges, previously, have said the government action against them is "politically inspired."

The government originally obtained a felony indictment against the four men and the committee, which the government has described as a "front" for the individual defendants with the principal purpose of influencing legislation. This later was reduced to the information.

Lobbying Charge Made

The government has accused the four of lobbying to keep farm prices high for the benefit of personal trading accounts.

The information charges them with lobbying in Congress without having compiled with a 1946 law intended to keep tab on lobbyists.

The indictment which was returned in June, 1948, also charged a conspiracy to violate the lobbying act — a felony.

Last August the government joined the defendants in asking that the indictment be dismissed. The information was then substituted for it. It does not include the conspiracy charge.

Maximum penalties under the misdemeanor charges in the information are one year in jail and a $5,000 fine or both.

Strong GOP Party Needed In Texas, Former Official Claims

HOUSTON, Nov. 28. (AP)— Texas needs a strong Republican party, former House Speaker Joseph W. Martin, jr., (R-Mass) said here today.

He spoke before the University of Houston student body.

"A two-party system makes for better government and that is as true in Austin as in Washington," Martin said.

Santa Visits Lamesa As Yule Lights Go On

LAMESA, Nov. 28. (Special)— Several thousand persons jammed Lamesa's downtown business section tonight as Santa Claus made a brief pre-Christmas visit at the first lighting of the city's Yuletide decorations.

Christmas lights strung across the square were turned on for the first time, and merchants unveiled windows decorated in the Christmas theme.

Floodlights were turned on a nativity scene painted on wooden figures by Mrs. C. L. Houston, and erected on the courthouse lawn.

But hundreds of kids complained because Santa didn't give away any candy — or anything else. Saint Nick simply circled the square on a fire truck, preceded by a city patrol car and the high school band, waved to everyone, and disappeared for other pre-Christmas visits of a very busy month.

Zone Changes To Be Sought Here

Two new zone change requests and two old ones are scheduled for consideration when the City Planning commission holds a regular meeting in city hall Thursday night, it was announced by K. N. Clapp, chairman.

The commission follows a policy of setting a deadline on requests at the 25th of the month preceding the next regular meeting on the first Thursday night of the month.

New requests received by the deadline were the following:

S. S. Allcorn, Cortis Stevenson, G. N. Adams and F. E. Crume, to change lots 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, and 15, Carl Roberds subdivision from "C" residential zone to "F" local retail business zone. The property is on the east side of Ave Q between sixth and Seventh streets.

Albert and Archie Skibell, Mrs. Myrtie Son and Mrs. George W. Harris, to change south 170 feet of block 6, Roberds and McWhorter addition from "C" to "F" zone. The property is on the north side of Fourth street between Sherman avenue and Ave. T.

Old business on which the planning commission will hear reports are:

Request of W. I. Peters to change lots 13 and 14, block 30, Maddox addition from "B" to "F" zone to allow construction of a retail grocery store. The property is located at the southeast corner of the intersection of Ruby street and Van Buren avenue.

Request of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Farmer and Mrs. O. F. Smith to change all property on the west side of Ave. Q between Thirty-fourth and Forty-second streets from residential to business zone.

New Mexico Governor Confined To Room With Severe Tonsilitis

SANTA FE, Nov. 28. (INS)— It begins to look like what New Mexico needs is a private doctor for the governor and his family.

Mrs. Thomas Marby, wife of the governor, broke her left hip last November and was just getting around to walking last Sunday when she fell again and broke her right hip.

Now the governor himself is confined to his hotel room in Albuquerque with a severe case of tonsilitis. He said today, however, that he hopes to be up and around in a day or two.

Stassen Urges Aid For South's Schools

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, Nov. 28. — Harold E. Stassen tonight said federal aid to education should be available only to southern states.

The University of Pennsylvania president and national Republican leader urged the nation's educators to re-examine current programs for requesting federal funds for every school district in America.

He spoke before the opening general session of the fifty-fourth annual convention of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary schools.

Should Build Up Standards

The south, Stassen said, faces low standards that erupted from the civil war.

"A major, continuing national investment should be made in building up the resources, facilities, industries and schools in the south," he said.

Temporary supplementing of southern state appropriations with federal funds would be justified in bringing the area's educational standards to the national level, the former Minnesota governor said.

As for other states, he predicted:

"I believe that concentration upon increasing of local and state support will result, in the decade ahead, equal or greater funds for education in the 36 states of the north, than will any program of federal aid to education."

Stassen placed the nationwide average educational expenditure per pupil at $140, but dropped the figure to $80 for southern states.

Problem For Entire Nation

"This sharp difference reflects not only an educational but also an economic and social situation," he said. "It is one for which the entire nation bears a portion of responsibility."

The south's problems, he added, clearly should be made the subject of a regional approach rather than of nationwide legislation.

Southern states, he explained, are making educational support efforts at least equal to the national effort but are hindered by low incomes.

Ten other educational groups are meeting here in conjunction with the convention.

One group, the conference of the academic deans of southern states, heard the president of Louisiana State university say college faculties should be strong factors in the fight for academic freedom.

Harold W. Stoke said university administrators and faculties should form a "united front for achievement and not struggle for power."

Feeling Of Insecurity

Stoke said there is a widespread feeling of insecurity among the faculties of many schools.

"They feel they must conform with what the boss thinks," Stoke said. "It is always tempting to reflect the opinion of the boss, even among administrators."

Dudley W. Woodward, Dallas, chairman of the University of Texas Board of Regents, told the deans educational leaders have been in the forefront of every struggle to win freedom.

He warned, however, that the nation's educational system long has neglected to disseminate basic facts of its governmental philosophy and economic system.

During an informal discussion that followed the talks by Woodward and Stoke, the Texas university regent said:

"I am amazed at the emphasis being placed on the word 'security.' So little is said about the word 'opportunity.' You can get security in any penitentiary."

Union Ignores Court Order In Stopping Trains At Carlsbad

CARLSBAD, N. M., Nov. 28. (INS) —Representatives of the CIO International Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers union continued to halt Santa Fe railroad trains going to Carlsbad potash companies today in spite of a temporary restraining order issued by District Court Judge Colin Neblett.

The Carlsbad potash plants have been strike-bound for the past eight days.

C. D. Smotherman, union president in Carlsbad, said today that complaints contending the court order is illegal under the Norris-LaGuardia act have been sent to President Truman, the U. S. attorney general and New Mexico's two senators.

No method has been developed to make steel commercially without manganese.

Ousted Prof To Fight Officials

HOUSTON, Nov. 28 (AP)—A former professor of zoology served notice today of a "fight to the finish" with University of Texas officials who fired him.

Dr. E. J. Lund said his dismissal is a matter "which Texas should look into."

He said he has sent "facts of the case" to the university's faculty committee of council on academic freedom and responsibility. He indicated he plans later to present his case to the general public and to the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary schools.

Joined Faculty In 1926.

Lund's services were ended this year after he had been on the school's faculty since 1926. He was dropped as a professor by the regents March 25 after a faculty trial committee had recommended the action.

He continued on the staff of the university's Institute of Marine Science at Port Aransas until Sept. 2 when his salary was dropped from the university budget.

Lund made an unscheduled speech before the annual Conference of Academic Deans of the southern states and later discussed his dismissal and plans with reporters.

Woodward Is Speaker

His remarks were made only a few minutes after Dudley K. Woodward, Dallas, chairman of the university's board of regents, had spoken on "Academic Freedom" before the conference.

Woodward had indicated administrative affairs at the university are functioning smoothly and that academic freedom is fully observed.

Lund told the deans:

"I have been interested in listening to the admirable discussion on the part of Mr. Woodward. The situation at the university would appear to be extremely satisfying to Mr. Woodward. Parhaps so, perhaps not. The public will judge."

Regent Cites Record

Woodward told reporters that records at Austin would speak for themselves in the Lund case.

Regents, at the March 25 meeting, ordered a complete record of the Lund controversy filed as public record at the university's library.

Lund told reporters the faculty

ON '50 CENSUS:

It's The Showdown!

THE public hearing scheduled before the City commission this afternoon will bring the showdown on whether a large and far-sighted program of Lubbock city limits extensions is to be completed this year.

The legal technicalities involved in an annexation are time-taking. Any delays will imperil the completion of the program in time to give the City official credit for the population in the suburbs when the federal census is taken next year. To gain this credit, the annexation program must be completed by December 31.

Enough time probably remains to beat this deadline for most, and perhaps all, of the proposed extensions if the City commission moves swiftly. But if any of the proposed expansions should strike legal snags, as some of them may, there will not be enough time to complete their annexation before the first of the year. This prospect could have been avoided if the commission had attended to these matters sooner, as it could and should have done.

SOMETHING much more important than satisfaction to civic pride is involved in the desire that the official census next year shall credit Lubbock with its true population. That cannot be done without annexation of the suburbs which, to all practical purposes, are a part of Lubbock.

The larger Lubbock is shown to be by the official census, the better will be this City's chances of obtaining new and expanded assets. Official credit for the population in the suburbs might mean the difference between success and failure in obtaining new industries, new businesses of many kinds, new official agencies and more generous provision for private and official establishments already in existence. The City with the larger population usually holds a decided advantage in the competition for many assets.

THIS is a consideration the City commission should weigh carefully in acting upon the annexations program. The personal interests of a few people should not be allowed to stand as a barrier to the future development of the community as a whole.

The Morning Avalanche believes all the 10 proposed annexations should be approved. Without exception, they affect areas which are part of Lubbock to all practical purposes. We know that the best interests of most of our people will be served by making this relationship legal and giving all a common bond of responsibility as citizens in continuing the building of the city the vast majority are proud to call their home.

Disgraceful

REPUBLICAN Congressmen are claiming, loudly, that the U. S. State department badly bungled the Angus Ward trumped up arrest case in Red China.

Whether the claim is wholly just, or not, at the moment cannot be proved. Certainly, it is not free of political tinge.

But this much can be said, with no politics considered—and is being said by a great many Americans not active in any political party: Things have come to a shameful state when the United States government has to ask the aid of 30 other governments in securing release from custody one of our own consular officials illegally jailed in a fourth-rate country by a tenth-rate form of government.

If the American government—in this instance, the American State department—can't protect its own officials, it goes without saying that every American in every foreign country is in danger of incarceration and mistreatment on trumped up charges.

The Ward case is and has been disgraceful and shameful and the American people should not put up with a repetition.

Revised: Look out after your pennies and the tax collector will take care of your dollars.

The Camel Who Got His Head In The Tent

The Cameo

By VIRGINIA TEALE
Distributed By NEA, Inc.

(THE STORY: Martin Falter has been murdered and the motive seems connected with a valuable cameo which he was trying to sell through Arnold Pfieffer. Neil O'Neill claimed the cameo was hers. Hagar Blair, gift shop owner, who wants the cameo, discovers the murdered man and her assistant, Stephanie Smith, comes on the scene soon afterwards. When they go to Hagar's house, they find the cameo in Hagar's collection. Unbeknownst to them, Arnold Pfieffer listens as Stephanie reveals she is Neil O'Neill's niece, unrecognized by Neil, and the cameo belonged to Stephanie's mother. Later Andrey Yakov, who also has reasons for wanting the cameo, calls on Hagar.)

XIV

HAGAR BLAIR considered Andrey Yakov's request to see her cameo collection. It might show how much he knew about cameos. But her finest pieces were in the bedroom and Stephanie was in there. She might show him the cabinet in her studio.

"If you'd like to see a few minor pieces, come along out to my studio."

Yakov eagerly followed her outside to a shed in the rear of the yard. She unlocked a padlock on the heavy redwood door. Yakov stood outside until Hagar turned on the light.

It appeared that Hagar Blair was a competent sculptor, but not a genius, he decided, surveying her work. "Enchanting," he said. "You work much in wood, I see."

Hagar glanced suspiciously at the Russian, but saw in his face only enthusiasm and admiration. Grudgingly, she began to think of him as not a bad fellow, after all. "Here are the cameos," she said, her voice almost cordial. Yakov did not miss her changed tone and smiled.

Yakov peered in. "Very interesting pieces. I see no carnelians."

"I like the carnelians best and keep them in the house where I can look at them. That sardonyx, fourth from left on the fifth shelf, is very similar to the famous Tazza Farnese. You've see it at the Metropolitan Museum, I suppose?"

"Yes. I went there several times to look at it. A wonderful piece, most exquisite!"

Hagar's next words came out precisely and coldly: "The Tazza Farnese is in Naples, and has been for the last 100 years or so. Even the most amateurish collector of cameos would know that."

Yakov met her eyes, his face bland. "Perhaps I have it confused with something else."

"It would be impossible to confuse the Tazza Farnese with anything else!" She locked the cabinet with significant finality. "I don't think there's any point in discussing cameos any further, Mr. Yakov."

Idly, Yakov had picked up a slender chisel from her workbench, he was testing its razor edge gingerly against his thumb. He turned to her, holding up the tool so that light glittered along its edge.

"Wouldn't you say, Miss Blair, that a weapon similar to this chisel could have killed our poor friend, Martin Falter?"

CHIEF of Police Monroe Peters, fat hands clasped loosely, looked at Tom O'Neill and his wife Nell, who sat across the desk from him in his office. At the chief's side, near a corner of the desk, was Charlie Reddy, bright and handsome beginning lawyer, and the chief's pro tem assistant.

"Tom, Bob Knox says you and Martin Falter had a big row at his place yesterday afternoon and you saw fit to make a few remarks about what ought to happen to Falter. Pretty violent ideas, Bob tells me."

Tom, looking tired and painfully sober, looked apprehensively at the chief. When he spoke his voice was hoarse.

"The thing is, Chief Peters, I had one or two too many yesterday. I admit I don't like Falter—didn't like Falter—but I'm not the only one. If everybody who didn't like Falter is suspected of murdering him, you'll have a whole army of possible murderers. We had an argument, sure, I'm not denying that, but Falter had arguments with lots of people."

"Sure," the chief was saying, "we know Falter wasn't popular. Nothing personal in this, Tom. What we're trying to establish now is why you went to Martin's this morning after fighting with him yesterday."

Tom's hand shook as he lighted a cigaret: "I came right down here and reported the body, didn't I?"

Peters sighed heavily. Charlie Reddy looked severe.

"Tom," said Reddy in his pleasantly modulated voice, "how did you happen to find the body? Why did you go to Falter's this morning?"

O'Neill stared at a grease spot on the knee of his trousers: "I—I went up to apologize. I was ashamed of the things I'd said to him yesterday."

Nell threw back her brilliant blonde head and gave a snort of derisive laughter.

Tom jerked around, his face purple: "Shut up, you tramp!"

Chief Peters pounded on his desk: "Cut out that kind of talk, O'Neill! I've tried to be pleasant about this, but unless I get a little co-operation, we'll change tactics!"

Nell put on a serious face Tom once again appeared abject.

The telephone gave a short, strident jangle. Reddy picked up the instrument:

"Chief Peters' office, Reddy speaking. Yes. What time? Was she alone? Just a minute." He covered the mouthpiece. "Chief, it's Allen down at the cab company, he says he brought Stephanie Smith—the chick who works at Hagar Blair's shop—up to Falter's last night about 8 o'clock.

Tom's cigaret was burning close to his fingers but he seemed not to notice: "See? What did I tell you? Lots of other people in this besides me." He wagged his white head earnestly. "Bet you'll find plenty more, too."

Looking At Life -- By Erich Brandeis

COME with me to the Grand Ballroom of the Hotel Waldorf-Astoria in New York.

Eight hundred people are assembled at a luncheon given in honor of a fellow who, on this day, is celebrating the anniversary of a job he has held down for thirty years.

BRANDEIS

For thirty years his job has been to make people LAUGH.

It seems unimportant, doesn't it?

There are so many seemingly much more important things happening these days.

There are so many world-shaking and world-changing inventions and discoveries being made.

But all this fellow has done every day for thirty years is to make people LAUGH.

Yet the majority of the eight hundred attending the luncheon are the very inventors and discoverers and doers of the things that have made and are making the world change and shake.

These men are scientists, educators, statesmen, admirals, generals, leaders in business and the professions—all assembled here in the Waldorf-Astoria to do honor to a man who has never invented or discovered anything except one thing—the secret of making others happy.

His name is Arthur (Bugs) Baer, and for thirty years he has written two funny pieces a day for the newspapers, and every day during those thirty years millions of people have been a little happier because of him.

You should have seen the guests at this luncheon who cheered and applauded him and thanked him for what he had done for them.

Men who deal in billions. Men who employ thousands. Men in whose hands lie the affairs of nations. Men whose professions make them serious and troubled.

POLITICAL PLAN SEEN

RFC Loans Opposed

BY RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON: The inside explanation for the semi-political loans by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation now under Congressional scrutiny is that this depression-born and war-time agency is now being run directly from the White House as a result of President Truman's personal reorganization of it.

Mr. Truman's politico-economic aides saw the partisan advantage which presidential control of this multi-billion-dollar bank would give him. Through postwar advances to enterprises denied credit by the banks, including Federal Reserve outlets, because of the risk involved, it could and did stimulate economic recovery after a fashion, even though these loans nullified the Administration's anti-inflation struggle.

TUCKER

The White House used RFC as a counter-weapon to the more conservative Federal Reserve Board, which had clamped strict, anti-inflation regulations on bank financing and extension of credit. But when borrowers were refused money by these sources, they went around the corner to the RFC.

CRITICISM: It is for this reason that Thomas B. McCabe, Federal Reserve head, has recently suggested a curb on RFC activities. His proposal will meet no success, however, because Mr. Truman wants to use the RFC as an Administration lending agency.

Had it not been for new and extensive powers granted RFC by Congress at Mr. Truman's request, it would not be able to engage in the transactions which have provoked criticism from Democrats on Captiol Hill and from such former RFC chairmen as Jesse Holman Jones of Houston and Eugene Meyers of Washington, D.C.

POLITICAL: Both the much-criticized Kaiser and Lustron loans by the RFC are regarded on Capitol Hill as almost wholly political in nature, and in accord with the new policies as directed by the White House.

Henry J. Kaiser has invariably endorsed the broad programs of the Roosevelt and Truman regimes, and has always been held up by stump speakers as a "rugged individualist" who does not fear New Deal or Fair Deal reforms.

Indeed, it is quite possible that his influence helped to carry several coastal states in the Truman-Dewey contest last year, especially those which went Democratic by narrow margins — California, for instance.

He has also set the pace for other manufacturers by being the first to accept presidential recommendations for pay raises, which he finances with RFC funds.

EMPLOYMENT: In defending his recent borrowing, which makes him the holder of more than thirty per cent of RFC's outstanding obligations, he justified it on the ground that he provided employment for 10,000 people directly, and for more than 40,000 indirectly.

In addition, he took the post war white elephant, Willow Run, off the books of the War Assets Corporation, although he got that tremendous plant on extremely generous terms.

Congressional investigators think it ironic that, in a recent listing of his collateral for more recent loans, he included Willow Run, although he still owes $13,590,000 on that structure, which was sold to him at the bargain price of $15,000,000.

HOUSES: The loans to the Lutsron Corp. for construction of enameled, pre-fab houses fall into another politico-economic category. The RFC was forced to advance these millions by John R. Steelman, White House administrative aide, over the protests of several other federal agencies and high officials.

When returning veterans and cramped civilians began to complain over the failure to solve the postwar housing problem, Mr. Steelman and prominent members of House and Senate saw pre-fabs as an opportunity to quiet the clamor by providing quick, cheap homes, and to furnish employment at the same time.

Recently, although Lustron has not yet been able to find a large marekt, it got another large loan from RFC. The explanation is that, having sunk so much in the experiment, the White House feels that it must "bail out" its earlier investment. Nor does it want to admit that it made a major misuse of the taxpayers' money.

REIN: The man who really operates RFC for President Truman is Donald S. Dawson, who happens to be a fellow-Missourian from Eldorado Springs. He is described as an extremely able and resourceful individual.

Mr. Dawson was chief of the personnel division of RFC until about eighteen months ago, when he was made a personnel liaison man at the White House as one of those "anonymous" presidential agents." In view of his previous post, he knows the lending agency inside out, and many of his former associates now holding top RFC positions are personally beholden to him for their original advancement.

Through Mr. Dawson, President Truman, Mr. Steelman and Clark Clifford are able to keep a tight rein on this supposed independent agency. On several occasions they have forced RFC directors to reverse themselves so as to make loans which at first they had thought inadvisable.

Another Truman official who understands RFC rigmarole is Treasury Secretary John W. Snyder, who was key figure there and subsequently chairman before he became Secretary of the Treasury. However, it is doubtful if the conservative Mr. Snyder looks favorably on the present management of his political alma mater.

'WELFARE' CHARGES SCORED

Social Security Study Urged

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—It is easy to forget history, even rather recent history that has left a deep imprint upon our thinking and our impulses.

But it is helpful to recall it if we hope to understand the now raging issue over the "welfare state" so-called so that we can proceed calmly and in good temper to meet it, and without name-calling and the apopletic furies.

Twenty years ago a great depression broke upon the country with the New York stock market crash. Whose "welfare" was the first official concern here then? Well, those of us who worked day and night through those times here can tell you. It was banks, business and industry. They were quick to call for relief and they got it when Congress, at the request of President Herbert Hoover, set up the giant Reconstruction Finance corporation—RFC—for loans to banks, businesses and industries.

STOKES

Sought To Bolster Firms

The idea was to save them by bolstering up their capital structures and, as regards the general situation in the country, the theory was that this would keep them going and thus provide continued employment. It was relief from the top. It didn't do the job. Unemployment continued to mount into millions.

While President Hoover also set up a committee here to do something about unemployment on a voluntary basis with industry, he resisted direct federal relief on the principle that the federal government should not enter this field as he thought that many dangerous things might follow in our system. Eventually he did consent to loans from the RFC to states—$300,000,000 altogether—for them to provide direct relief themselves, a compromise with the principle, which Congress sanctioned. Subsequently all those loans were cancelled. None was ever paid back.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, his successor, did go to direct relief, but reluctantly, and only after finding out the states had no funds to do it.

There are two points to consider in that earlier history. First, that the natural impulse then was to move first to relief on banks, business and industry, which represented an attitude generally accepted in government. Second, that during those years the American people became so security conscious from the grim experience of unemployment and hunger that the Roosevelt administration was impelled to move naturally to provide protection in their jobs and in old age, among other things to readjust our economy. That was a new attitude.

It still persists today in an uncertain world. It has influenced every election since, up to that of last November 8. It is an indisputable fact of modern machine-age civilization and its politics. We all might as well begin to live with it.

Would Aid Individuals

So today the "welfare" embodied in the Truman program is that for rank-and-file citizens relating to better living conditions and protection against sickness, unemployment and old age for those not yet included. It can, of course, be over-done at the expense of the health of our general economy. But the purpose is sound. And anybody who has watched Congress over a long period is not really concerned that Congress will let it get beyond bounds. In this field, as recent history shows, Congress has served as quite a check-and-balance force, only relenting last session, after ten years, to move forward slowly again on the social welfare front.

This has created all the uproar. An old reporter recognizes among those sardonic clamorers against the "welfare state" the familiar faces of some who came rushing down here in that earlier era to get some "welfare" in the shape of RFC loans.

Instead of getting red in the face mouthing the new slogans, it would seem the sensible thing to do is to sit down and see how much of these things we can do with other demands on our economy, as, for example, a very respected Republican leader, Senator Taft of Ohio, announces he now is ready to do in regard to expansion of our social security system. He advocates a thorough study by the Senate-Finance committee early next session of the social security expansion bill passed last session by the House to see whether the Senate should accept that, do less, or do more.

Senator Taft is no radical, but he is sensible.

West Texas State Cagers Roll Over Texas Tech, 67-45

Buffs Outshine Raiders In Coaching School Exhibition

By JOE KELLY
Avalanche Sports Editor

More finesse on the court, sharper basket eyes and control of the backboard handed the West Texas State college Buffaloes a 67-45 victory over Texas Tech at Chapman fieldhouse last night in an exhibition game that brought to a close the fourth annual Clarence Fox Coaching school.

The Red Raiders held a slight lead through the first five and a half minutes on free throws by Jiggs Jackson and field goals by Jackson and Gene Gibson. But the Buffs went into a lead they never gave up at six minutes of the first half when Dwaine Stewart drove in for a crisp shot to make the score 7-6.

Buffs Hit Shots

From that point on, the Raiders never were able to get close, trailing 28-17 at the half and falling even farther behind in the last stanza.

The Buffs had their shooting eyes with them last night, hitting 42 percent of their shots, a good average at any time and especially good for this early in the season.

The Raiders hit only 27 percent, most of them from far out, as the Buffs threw up a tight inner defense. Tech made only five of 27 shots good in the first half and it told in the score, while the Buffs made 11 of 32.

Both Gus Miller, West Texas State coach, and Polk Robison, Raider mentor, were satisfied with the exhibition. Miller expressed surprise at the percentage of shots, while Robison shook his head over Tech's obvious shortcomings.

Buffs Break Fast

Miller has been free to devote his time to his court squad and the results showed up. The Buffs were breaking for the basket quickly and well, they passed well and they split the defense to go in for crip shot after crip shot. It was the performance of a team that was beginning to add polish to extensive fundamental work.

The Raiders, on the other hand, could do little right. The predominantly sophomore team showed its inexperience. They were unable to break through the Buff defense with any degree of consistency, the passing was ragged and the players showed the lack of attention Coach Robison, tied up with football, has been able to give them.

Buffs Hog Rebounds

Probably the ultimate result was due as much to the way West Texas hogged rebounds and covered the backboard as it was to the high percentage of shots made. Raider Players refused to follow their shots most of the time and the Buffs were controlling backboard play.

A further line on Tech may be gained Wednesday night when they entertain McMurry here. Coach Robison said that a few players gave promise of developing and he will attempt to find the right combinations this week.

After the Buffs wrested the lead away at 7-6, they proceeded to find the range with deadly consistency. After 10 minutes of play they had a 14-8 lead and they upped that to 22-12 at the three-quarter mark.

Visitors Pull Away

The Raiders came back in the second half to narrow the West Texas lead to 10 points after two minutes, but the visitors pulled away rapidly to hold a 40-24 margin after five minutes of action. They upped this to 53-28 at the halfway point and held a 59-37 edge after 15 minutes of play.

Standouts for the Buffs were Hubert Kitchens, an all-conference star from last year, Sammy Malone, one of the five seniors on the squad, and Charles Barnard, the towering six foot seven center.

Jackson Paces Tech

Jiggs Jackson, Jack Alderson and Irl Brown turned in the most consistent game for the Raiders, while other players showed flashes of future promise.

Jackson had scoring honors for the night with six field goals and two free thows for 14 points, while Barnard had 13 points and Kitchens, 11.

A large portion of the slim crowd watching the game were area high school coaches and their basketball players, who attended the coaching school. The exhibition game concluded the school, which opened Sunday with Robison and Miller as lecturers and their respective squads used for demonstrations. Members of the school also attended an official Border Conference rules interpretation meeting Sunday morning.

Matty Bell To Coach West All-Star Team

DALLAS, Nov. 28. (INS)—Matty Bell, head football coach at Southern Methodist university, today accepted the invitation to coach the Western All-Stars in the annual East-West game to be played at San Francisco, Dec. 31.

There is also the possibility that Doak Walker, SMU's All-America back, will make the trip with his coach and play in the game.

Walker is currently suffering from a charley horse, but Bell predicted that his star pupil would accept the invitation if he is in playing condition.

Jeff Cravath if USC will assist Bell.

Officials Of 4-A Will Select All-District Team This Week

LEVELLAND, Nov. 28. (Spl.)—Officials of District 4-A will meet in the Levelland High school at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday to make plans for the forthcoming year.

The meeting will not be held on Thursday night as was previously reported.

On the agenda is the selection of the All-District team.

Representatives of Sudan, Seagraves, and Sundown schools are expected to appear at the meeting to ask that their respective schools be readmitted to District 4-A.

These schools were dropped from A-4 membership because their high school enrollment did not reach requirements for Class A competition.

It will be necessary that a unanimous vote for this proposal be given by officials of member schools.

F. F. Johnson, superintendent of the O'Donnell schools, who is chairman of District A-4, will be in charge of the meeting.

Football players, coaches and the high school faculty of New Deal High school were honored last night at a banquet in Hotel Lubbock.

The banqquet, at which Elmer Tarbox made the feature address on "It's A Sport To Be A Lady Or Gentleman," was sponsored by the New Deal pep squad. Seventy-eight persons attended.

Coach H. T. Pior was toastmaster while Patsy Hood, Elizabeth Ashmore and Peggy Thurman presented musical entertainment.

Crippled SMU Squad Hears Scout Reports On Notre Dame Eleven

DALLAS, Nov. 28. (AP)—SMU's crippled football players listened more than an hour today to scout reports of the Notre Dame football team.

After that skull session, the men who had played in the losing game against TCU last Saturday were released from practice and the remainder went through a short warm-up period at Ownby stadium.

The Methodists will be in poor physical condition for the Notre Dame game in the Cotton Bowl Saturday.

Players' Injuries Are Mending

Westerners Drill For Bi-District Encounter

Coach Pat Pattison sent his Lubbock Westerners through a speedy workout Monday at Chapman field under a bright, hot sun that was "made to order."

The temperature was reminiscent of that seen in earlier practice sessions in September, and the members of the team worked up a good sweat during the afternoon.

A few more days like the on yesterday would put the team in good condition for a sunny Saturday afternoon battle with El Paso Austin this weekend for the District 3 and 4-AA title. The team seemed to be in fine shape mentally, and physically the team is improving.

SPECIAL FLIGHT PLANNED

Continental Air lines Monday announced tentative plans for a special round-trip flight to El Paso for Saturday's Lubbock-Austin bi-district football game. The proposed flight, which will be made if as many as 15 reservations are sold, is to leave Lubbock at 10:24 a. m. Saturday, and arrive here on the return flight at 10:30 p. m. Round trip fare will be $39.91, tax included. Reservations may be made by calling 9548.

Long Blocking Drills

Coach Taylor's ends were putting forth lots of effort perfecting their blocking techniques.

The backs meanwhile were working on offense, both running and passing, and different play patterns were used by all three backfield combinations.

The Lubbock Cowhands gave the Westerners a defensive drill late in the day by running plays similar to those that El Paso may use. Using a split-T attack, the Cowhands were stopped on all but a few occasions in a dummy scrimmage with the first eleven. A few pass plays were all that gained.

Injuries Mending

Injuries sustained in the last three games seem to be healing. Guard Freddy Gray and Tackle Joe Brock were testing their injured knees by jogging around the field in sweat suits. End Billy Wright was back in uniform and working hard, showing no sign of his foot injury.

Injured in the Brownfield game were Fullback Don Rawls and Center Don Herriage, both with injuries to their right hand, and Guard Deverle Henslee. Henslee's right leg was fractured, but he may get back into action before the season ends. The small bone in his lower leg was cracked.

Coach Pattison said Monday that the team probably would leave Friday for El Paso, but no definite hour of departure has been set.

El Paso Panthers Drill For Lubbock

EL PASO, Nov. 28. (Special)—Brief limbering up drills and a dummy scrimmage occupied Austin High school's gridders Monday as the Panthers readied for their bi-district battle here Saturday with the powerful Lubbock Westerners.

Coach Red Harris reported his 37 varsity players in top shape with only minor bruises evident after the Panthers' battle with El Paso high last week.

Assistant Coach Freddy Salem sent his linemen through a drill on fundamentals while End Coach Leslie Rutledge worked in the flankmen on kickoff and punting assignments.

Co-Captain Jerry Baker, halfback speedster, was bothered slightly with a charley horse, but the ache is responding to treatment and the sprinter definitely will be ready by Saturday, Harris said.

A brisk ticket sale was reported by all outlets, indicating a capacity crowd of some 10,000 spectators would be on hand Saturday.

Georgia Line Coach Rumored As Successor To Jim Lookabaugh

ATLANTA, Nov. 28. (AP)— J. B. (Ears) Whitworth, line coach at the Uuiversity of Georgia, has accepted a three-year contract as head coach at Oklahoma A. and M., the Atlanta Constitution says.

Whitworth will succeed Jim Lookabaugh, who resigned in the middle of the season under pressure from various alumni groups, according to the Constitution.

Whitworth, a star guard at Alabama and member of the 1931 Rose Bowl team, has been coaching since his graduation. He started at Alabama, later transferred to Louisiana State university and joined the Georgia staff in 1939.

President Coolidge's inauguration in 1924 was the first to be broadcast. The hookup comprised 24 stations.

Mazzanti Leads SWC Rushers

DALLAS, Nov. 28. (AP)—Geno Mazzanti of Arkansas appears to have won the ball-carrying championship of the Southwest conference.

The fullback moved from third to first place last week as he rolled up 165 yards against Tulsa. Gordon Wyatt of Roce stayed in second place but Bob Smith of Texas A&M who was leading, fell to third.

Mazzanti has gained 743 yards on 123 carries, Wyatt 794 on 137 and Smith 694 on 145.

Only Kyle Rote of SMU can overtake Mazzanti and he must make 82 yards against Notre Dame Saturday to do it.

Lindy Berry of TCU has won the passing title. He has completed 106 out of 220 for 1445 yards and 11 touchdowns. Adrian Burk of Baylor finished second with 110 out of 191 for 1428 yards and 14 touchdowns. Paul Campbell of Texas was third with 91 out of 182 for 1372 yards and seven touchdowns.

Rote Leads Kickers

Rote is the leader in punting with an average of 43.4 on 17 kicks. Doak Walker of SMU is second with 41.7 on 23 and Yale Lary of Texas A. and M. is third with 40.0 on 71.

In punt returns Bobby Dillon of Texas is tops with an average of 19.0 on 11 runs. Berry is second with 17.6 on 19 and Mat Johnson of Baylor is third with 15.9 on 20.

Ben Proctor of Texas edged J. D. Ison of Baylor by one catch in pass receiving. Proctor caught 43 for 724 yards and six touchdowns. Ison gathered in 42 for 457 and six touchdowns. Morris Bailey of TCU finished third with 37 and second in yards with 502.

Berry is the total offense leader with 1702 yards in 350 plays. Burk is second with 1347 on 221.

Texas finished as both offensive and defensive team leader. The Longhorns averaged 362.4 yards on offense and allowed 206 per game on defense. Rice was second in offense with 353.5 and Baylor was second in defense, giving up 227 yards per game.

REDS SELL BURKHART

CINCINNATI, Nov. 28. (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds today announced the outright sale of Pitcher Ken Burkhart of Syracuse of the International league. Outfielder Bill Van Hueit, who played most of last season with Sunbury in the Pennsylvania Interstate league, was sold outright to Tulsa in the Texas league.

Carrots may be left in the ground almost until the time of the first freeze without damage.

'Pat' Expects Tough Battle

Lubbock football coaches discussed the past and the future last night before approximately 150 persons at the Quarterback club meeting at Naval Reserve armory.

In a meeting presided over by Bill Collins, Westerner Coach Pat Pattison and Texas Tech Mentor Dell Morgan each commented on last week's games, and Coach Pattison concerned the major part of his talk with the bi-district tilt with Austin of El Paso Saturday.

Coach Pattison limited his remarks about the Brownfield game, and expressed his appreciation for the automobile which was presented to him during impressive halftime ceremonies.

Panthers Are Fast

In speaking of the Austin game, Pattison said this would be the hardest game of the year to win, adding that he felt the team would be over the "hump" if they successfully passed this barrier.

He said that other teams Austin played had lots of respect for the Panthers, who were fast and have been developing all season. Their record is not too outstanding, but the losses were early in the season to good teams, Pattison remarked.

Coach Pattison pointed out that El Paso used a two-platoon system, with the defensive team being large but slower than the offensive eleven. A different type of offense will also be encountered, Pattison told the group, since Austin sets their tackles and ends wide at times, with large gaps between players in the line.

Floyd, Taylor Speak

Westerner assistant Coaches Bill Floyd and Fred Taylor were called upon to speak, each expressing gratitude for the gifts received last week.

Tech's Coach Morgan opened his talk by briefly reviewing the season and the games with teams in the Southwest conference.

"It is hard to compete in the Southwest conference and the Border conference too," Morgan said, explaining that the schools in the larger conference could offer more in the way of prestige to players making their teams. "The only way we can compete with schools in the Southwest conference is to be in the conference," Morgan stated, adding that each time Tech played one of the Southwest teams it went over its head.

Referring to the Hardin-Simmons game, Morgan said that he was proud of the team and that tackling was hard, adding that it was the kind of game he liked to win.

Praises Matador Club

In answer to a question about turning down of the Sun Bowl invitation, Morgan explained that expenses getting ready for the game and making the trip would not make it financially worthwhile.

Morgan said that next year Tech had an eleven-game schedule, including five SWC teams, with Texas opening the Raiders' home slate.

He praised the efforts of the Matador club this year and expressed his pleasure at being able to come before the Quarterback club each Monday adding that he hoped those present received some benefit from the meetings. Morgan then lauded the spirit of the people in Lubbock for their support and encouragement, saying that he hoped to be here for many years.

Collins also expressed his appreciation to members of the Matador club for their wholehearted efforts in behalf of the Tech athletic program, and president of the club, Paul Cates, said all the pledges of the club would be fulfilled.

To conclude the program, movies of the Texas Tech-New Mexico game were shown.

The meeting at the armory was made possible through the cooperation of Lt. John Ruzick and Chief Davis, who prepared the hall for the large number of persons attending.

Probable Salary Set At $65,000

Boudreau Will Pilot Cleveland Next Year

CLEVELAND, Nov. 28. (INS)—Ellis Ryan, new president of the Cleveland Indians, announced today that Lou Boudreau will manage the Tribe in 1950.

Salary terms were not disclosed but it is believed Boudreau will earn about $65,000.

Ryan made the statement following a three-hour conference with Boudreau and General Manager Hank Greenberg in the Tribe's stadium ofifce.

Boudreau, who led the Indians to their first pennant in 28 years in 1948, will continue as the Tribe mentor under terms of an existing two-year contract which expires at the end of next season.

In making the announcement, Ryan said:

"Lou and I see eye to eye on the problems ahead. I and the new stockholders have confidence in Lou's abilities."

The 32-year-old pilot, tabbed the "boy manager" when he first took over the managerial reins in 1941 at the age of 24, declared immediately that he was "anxious to start working on getting the team back on top."

Boudreau's failure at the bat last season has been cited as one of the main reasons the Indians finished a staggering third. However, his boosters point to the fact that Boudreau was injured several times early in the season and that his play naturally was adversely affected.

Trade Attempt Failed

Others point to the apparent tension between Boudreau and Bill Veeck, dynamic ex-owner of the tribe who once tried to peddle the handsome manager, as one of the major factors leading to the Tribe decline.

Following his abortive attempt to trade his player-manager, Veeck was forced by public reaction to give Boudreau what he had asked since Veeck took over the club in 1946—a two-year contract with no strings attached.

JUSTICE HONORED

RALEIGH, N. C., Nov. 28. (AP)—The Southern Conference Sports Writers association has named Charlie Justice the conference's football player of the year. Right behind the All-America North Carolina halfback was his favorite pass-receiver, End Art Weiner. Tackle Lou Allen of Duke nailed down the third slot in a poll.

NSC Selects Greeley, Colo., As Site Of 1950 Men's Tournament

CHICAGO, Nov. 28. (AP)—The National Softball Congress of America today announced sites for 1950 and 1951 "world" tournaments in men's and women's divisions. It also named Chief Justice Arthur T. La Prade of the Arizona Supreme court as "high commissioner."

Next year's men's world tourney will be held at Greeley, Colo., Sept. 2-11, and the women's meet at Phoenix, Ariz., Sept. 8-17.

Hanford, Calif., home of the present world men's champions, was awarded the 1951 men's tourney. Phoenix also was selected for the 1951 women's tourney.

The congress, closing a three-day annual meeting, named Rex Wilson, El Paso, as president, succeeding Carrol Forbes of Greeley, Colo.

All Major Assignments Drawn In Crowded Football Bowl Picture

East-West Shrine Gridders Chosen

By CHARLES EINSTEIN
INS Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Twenty winning aces have been dealt to the East All-Star team for San Francisco's 25th Shrine football game Dec. 31.

The list of the 20, released today by Bill Coffman, the game's managing director, includes two All-America players, Back Lynn Chandnois of Michigan State and Guard John Schweder of Pennsylvania.

It brings to 24 the number of players already chosen for the charity classic—four have been selected thus far for the West team, and they are no mean four: Doak Walker of SMU, Tom Novak of Nebraska, Jim Powers of Southern California and Ken Carpenter of Oregon State.

Additional members for the two squads—notably a couple of Notre Damers for the East Team—will be announced in the near future.

Bowl Lineup Listed

Thus the post-season football scene nears completion. For one thing, all of the major bowl assignments have been drawn.

The last big date made its announcement tonight, with Missouri and Maryland, two tough babies, named to compete in the 'Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., Jan. 2. The rest of the big Jan. 2 games go like this:

Rose Bowl—California vs. Ohio State; Sugar Bowl—Oklahoma vs. Louisiana State; Cotton Bowl—North Carolina vs. Rice; Orange Bowl—Santa Clara vs. Kentucky.

Sun Bowl—Georgetown vs. Texas Western; Cigar Bowl—Wofford vs. Florida State; Pineapple Bowl—Stanford vs. Hawaii; Oleander Bowl—McMurry vs. Missouri Valley; Salad Bowl—Arizona State (Tempe) vs. Opponent yet to be announced.

Besides the Shrine East-West game, the Raisin Bowl at Fresno, Calif., will take place on Saturday, Dec. 31.

Toledo vs. Cincinnati

Closest bowl date is next Saturday, Dec. 3, when it's Toledo vs. Cincinnati in the Glass Bowl at Toledo, O.; Hillsdale (Mich.) vs Evansville in the Refrigerator Bowl at Evansville, Ind. and Boise Junior College vs. Taft (Calif.) Junior college in the Shrine Potato Bowl at Bakersville, Calif.

Bowls on Dec. 10 will be the Texas Rose, the Orange Blossom, the Little Rose, the Paper and the Gold Dust, while on Dec. 26 there are the North-South game at Miami and the Blue-Grey at Montgomery, Ala.

In addition to Chandnois and Schweder, the Easterners selected today for the San Francisco game were:

BY CHOC HUTCHESON

Border conference officials have taken a step which should improve the circuit's basketball program at least 100 per cent.

Dr. E. L. Larson, conference commissioner who was here this week to preside at a rules session, confirmed a report that this season all basketball game officials will be assigned by the commissioner's office.

In the past, hiring of cage officials was left entirely in the hands of the home coach. The basic fallacy of such a system is obvious. Many officials, wishing to "protect" their jobs, catered strictly to the tastes of the home coach, and there was nothing that visiting teams could do about it.

Since 1941, when I began following Border conference basketball, it has been primarily a case of "You rook me, and I'll rook you." Teams defeated opponents by more than 20 points at home would lose to those same opponents by similar margins on the road. I recall that during the 1946-47 season, Texas Tech won eight and lost eight in conference play— seven of the eight victories coming at home, and seven of the eight setbacks coming on the road!

The blame in the past has not been at any one school's doorstep. So far as I've been able to determine in conversations with representatives of various conference colleges, all the circuit's members were just about equally guilty in this "dog-eat-dog" mess.

But matters should be considerably improved by the new method of assigning officials. In the future, each official will be responsible to BOTH coaches, since they will submit an official report as to his performance to the commissioner's office. This should lead to greater fairness — and certainly it can't produce a worse result than the old method of selecting officials.

Reports indicate that Ballinger won its bi-district Class A game with Ranger last week as a result of a "five down series" similar to that of Cornell fame. It seems that Ballinger scored the touchdown which gave it a 6-2 victory when officials mistakenely allowed the Bearcats five downs in one series, instead of the prescribed four. Ranger has lodged an official protest with the Interscholastic league office, but the odds are strongly against a reversal of the Ballinger victory . . . Randall Clay, the Texas U. halfback from Pampa, was chosen on the NEA's All-America "defensive" team. Doak Walker made the "offensive" unit . . . Post High school's cagers will open their conference season Jan. 6 against O'Donnell . . . Don Stokes, who will be a starting tackle for Lefors against Littlefield at Amarillo Friday, weighs 263 pounds . . . Gus Miller of WTSC and Polk Robison of Texas Tech did swell jobs as instructors at this week's Clarence Fox basketball clinic. Too bad more area coaches didn't turn out for the two-day program.

Short shots from the latest Sporting News: Wish Egan, the Detroit Tiger scout, says the new — and smaller — "strike zone" will "ruin" pitchers, in that it will lead to more bases on balls . . . Clark Griffith, celebrating his 80th birthday recently, scoffed at reports he is about to retire as head man of the Washington Senators . . . Bill Serena was the top fielding third baseman among Texas league regulars last year, with a .945 mark . . . James (Froggie) Williams, the fine Rice end, may pass up pro football to prepare for a law career. He probably will study at Southern Methodist or Texas — two schools he helped beat for the Southwest conference grid crown this year . . . The All-America conference has lost $4,000,000 since its inception, but it plans to expand from seven teams to eight teams next year.

BARBERS RIP RAMBLERS

Barber college downed the Ram Ramblers of Texas Tech, 79-28, last night at North Air Base in an independent basketball game. High scorer for the Barbers was Y. F. Bowley with 26 points, and Bill Walker had 16. Jim Johnson paced the Ramblers with 11, and Eldridge had 10.

Sikes Leads Maulers To Boys Club Win

The basketball game in the Pee Wee league yesterday at Boys club turned out to be a personal affair between Paul Sikes of the Maulers and Gene Calvert of the Roughies.

In the game won by the Maulers, 10-5, Sikes scored all 10 points made by his team. Calvert came through too, making all points for the losers.

The Junior Basketeers defeated Fungis Five, 25-10, as Wray Clark the basket for 10 points. John Blocker topped the losers with four points.

In the other Junior battle, the Hornets nosed out the Five Fools, 29-28, but Roy Owens gained scoring honors by pouring 14 points through the basket for the Fools. Donnie Washington made 11 for the Hornets.

The Seventh Street Thugs proved stronger than the Dirty Demons, winning 12-9 Scoring honors were shared by Jack Hawkins of the Thugs and Davis Hopper for the Demons

In today's games the Stampeders play the Mustangs in the Pee Wee league; Eagles play Five Little Angels in the Midget league; Fancy Five meet Big Five in Junior league; Golden Gophers play Unconscious Five in the Senior league; and Boys club Independents play Plains Ice Cream. The Independents play at 8 p. m.

Texas Western Rejects Raisin Bowl Bid; To Play In Sun Bowl

EL PASO, Nov. 28. (AP)—Texas Western college turned down a bid to the Fresno, Calif., Raisin Bowl here today to accept a bid to play Georgetown university of Washington, D. C., in the Sun Bowl game here Jan. 2.

The TWC Miners, who were hosts in the Sun Bowl last year, in which they lost to West Virginia, 21-12, have a 7-2-1 record this last season. They defeated Brigham-Young, Hawaii, John Carroll, West Texas, Arizona university, New Mexico university and New Mexico A and M, and tied West Virginia. They lost to Texas Tech and Hardin-Simmons.

The El Paso club rates among the nation's top elevens in yards gained rushing, and rolled up 259 points to 93 in 10 games.

Gambling War Looms In East

NEW YORK, Nov. 28. (AP).— A bookmakers' war appeared in the making today following the disclosure of a big betting coup engineered in New Jersey at the expense of their gambling brothers in New York.

Some New York bookies, among those who lost bets estimated at a half million dollars in the recent most valuable player polls in baseball, are crying "double cross" and refusing to pay off.

They claim that advance notice of the American league's choice of Ted Williams had leaked out and the betting boys from across the river pulled a fast one on them. On the other hand, the Jersey odds-jugglers insist they are entitled to the money they claim rightfully belongs to them. All of which adds up to a prospective battle of the bulging bankrolls.

That there was considerable money being wagered on the outcome of the most valuable player competition came to light on Nov. 12 shortly before Jackie Robinson was announced as National league winner. The National league choice was made public Nov. 18 and the American league winner exactly a week later.

Some persons knew that Williams had won the American league at least 10 days before the official announcement.

One Manhattan bookie is said to have bets that could cost him $40,000. It is reported another is down $20,000. A small Brooklyn bookie stands to drop $6,000.

Ken Smith, secretary-treasurer of the Baseball Writers Association of America which conducts the poll, said the votes were tabulated Nov. 11.

"A lot of people knew about it," said Smith, "I told any newspapermen who asked me, confidentially. Who would be silly enought to bet on a thing like that?"

IRISH DRILL

SOUTH BEND, Nov. 28. (AP).— Coach Frank Leahy sent his Notre Dame football squad through a defense drill today in preparation for Saturday' final game of the season against Southern Methodist. Normally the Irish consider Monday a day of rest, but because the team will leave for Dallas Thursday morning, Leahy chose to drop the rest day. Freshmen ran SMU plays.

The Red Cross has a total of 3,739 chapters in this country.

Once-Beaten Xavier Accepts Bid To Meet Tempe In Salad Bowl

CINCINNATI, Nov. 28. (AP) — Xavier university's football team reversed itself tonight and voted to accept an invitation to meet Arizona State in the Salad Bowl game at Phoenix, Ariz.

The vote by the players was 32-8 in favor of playing the game. Earlier in the day, the squad had failed to muster the necessary two-thirds majority in favor of the game.

Xavier won nine of ten games during the season just ended. The only defeat was by the University of Kentucky.

Wyoming Team Votes Unanimously To Reject All Bowl Invitations

LARAMIE, Wyo., Nov. 28. (INS) University of Wyoming's championship football team of the mountain states conference voted unanimously today to reject all bowl bids.

The Cowboy eleven, according to Glenn (Red) Jacoby, director of athletics for the university, rejected all feelers, because "conditions were not right."

Earlier, Jacoby had indicated that the team would have to practice at a field other than Laramie, because of unfavorable December weather. Any guarantee would have to include expenses for the team while away from home for two or three weeks.

State Class AA Lineup Changed

AUSTIN, Nov. 28. (AP).— Reshuffling of schools in eight Conference AA football districts was announced today by the Interscholastic league.

In tentative assignments of schools to Class AA districts for next season, the league emphasized the grouping was not final. It may be changed as the result of district organizational meetings, or enrollment shifts.

Dr. Rhea Williams, athletic director, said the executive committee was guided by three factors in its tentative assignments:

Enrollment in the last four high school grades; the geographical location of the school; arranging schools in such a manner as to have sixteen districts in the state, thus assuring an orderly state championship playoff for Conference AA members.

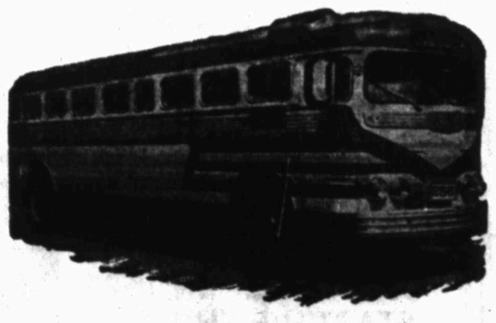

Changes were made in Districts 2, 3, 5, 6, 19, 13, 14 and 15, chiefly as the result of five schools with enrollment less than 500 choosing to join the ranks of Conference A teams, Dr. Williams said.

This is the tentative roster of Class AA schools in districts where changes are planned:

2. Childress, Quanah, Vernon, Wichita Falls.
3. Big Spring, Lamesa, Lubbock, Midland, Odessa.
5. Abilene, Brownwood, San Angelo, Sweetwater.
6. Breckenrige, Cleburne, Graham, Mineral Wells, Stephenville, Weatherford.
10. Bryan, Conroe, Lufkin, Nacogdoches, Palestine.
13. Corsicana, Ennis, Hillsboro, Temple, Waco, Waxahachie.
14. Austin, Kerrville, Roy Miller (Corpus Christi), W. B. Ray (Corpus Christi), Victoria.

Mexico Seeks More Airlines To U. S.

MEXICO City, Nov. 28. (U.P.)—Mexico is asking the U.S. government to allow more Mexican airlines to enter the United States, it was learned today.

Mexican diplomats have presented their case for "reciprocity" in civil aviation to American authorities in Washington.

This nation claims American-flag carriers operate six paying routes into Mexico while only the Mexican Aviation Co. (CMA) flies passengers into the United States, at Los Angeles, Calif.

At least two American airlines —Aerovias Guest and Lamsa—are interested in flights into the United States.

American Embassy officials here said that the negotiations are being handled in Washington and would not comment on the subject.

The United States is known to be holding out for a bi-lateral civil aviation pact, similar to air agreements between it and other nations of the world. Mexico, at last report, was insisting that it be given exclusive rights to certain routes. The last air pact discussion held here between the two nations reportedly broke down over that point.

Aerovias Guest, which now flies from Mexico to Madrid, via the Azores and Lisbon, would like to fly its Constellations directly to New York. Lamsa, the United Air Lines affiliate in Mexico, would like to fly to San Diego, Calif., and southern Texas.

It was believed here the Mexican representatives in Washington may be asking for temporary permits for extension of the two companie's routes into the United States.

Death Of Gargantua, Famous Gorilla, Caused By Pneumonia

BALTIMORE, Nov. 28. (U.P.)—Dr. Adolph Schultz, Johns Hopkins university anthropologist who performed an autopsy on Gargantua, told circus owner John Ringling North today that the huge gorilla died of pneumonia.

Dr. Schultz said he also informed North that the 550-lb. jungle giant was suffering from other serious organical disorders, including diseased kidneys. He said the other disorders would have taken the ape's life before long even without the pneumonia.

Gargantua died Friday morning in his cage at the Ringling brothers circus in Miami, Fla., and was flown to Baltimore the following day.

Eventual Inclusion Of Germany In European Defense Plans Expected

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

Secretary Johnson and General Bradley have added their words to previous official statements that the United States has no intention of rearming Western Germany.

Johnson and Bradley spoke on the occasion of a visit to Frankfurt prior to opening the Paris conference on western European defense plans.

But it is notable that Bradley said "at this time," adding that the problem will come up again some day.

It probably will come up again no later than today.

Individual Defense Basic

The whole preliminary conception of European defense is based on what might be termed a "progressive" system. Each country is to be responsible for its own defense up to the point where it becomes integral with that of general defense.

General defense, by the very allied act of rehabilitation rather than dismantling the industry of the Ruhr and Rhineland, involves at least part of Germany.

To expand production in this vital area without plans to prevent it from falling into enemy hands would be folly. And defense by the present—or even augmented—allied occupation forces in Germany would be difficult if not impossible.

French fear of Germany is and will be the chief obstacle in any plan to use Germany for western defense. Foreign Minister Schuman obtained cabinet approval of recent economic and political concessions to the Germans only through strong assurances. He promised the western allies would stand fast on their German disarmament program. He said that during the recent tri-power foreign ministers conference in Paris there was "no question even for a single instant of German rearmament."

TOO REALISTIC

WICHITA, Kan. (U.P.)—Policeman Clayton Smith, the "drowning man" in a first aid demonstration, was ready for some real first aid when his "rescuer" completed the exhibition. A fellow officer, Warren Huffine, cracked on of Smith's ribs in the artifical respiration workout.

trial committee's proceedings were secret and that the true facts never have been revealed.

He said the trouble began within the budget committee of the university's department of zoology. Dr. T. S. Painter, now president of the university, was a member of the committee.

"Whoever is responsible for this sad episode should be properly dealt with," Lund said.

Copy Of Letter Released

Lund released a copy of the letter of transmittal which he said accompanied the documented facts.

The letter called attention to possible violation of certain rules by the board of regents, to allege falsification of reports to the board, and alleged false testimony before the trial committee.

It said in part:

"No university as an instiution which values and cherishes its reputation and public standing can offer to permit itself to be sullied by acts of this character by its administration."

He said Painter's action of "dropping me . . . has resulted in nearly a complete cessation of work at the institute and departure of all seven research workers except one who by force of circumstances is compelled to remain."

Three Texas Tech Officials In Houston For Association Meet

Three oficials of Texas Technological college are in Houston today for the annual convention of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president of the college, was accompanied on the trip by Dr. E. N. Jones, vice president, and Dr. R. C. Goodwin, dean of Arts and Sciences.

Dr. Wiggins will also attend a meeting this afternoon between officials of state-supported senior colleges and municipal junior colleges for preliminary studies upon a method of co-operation between the two classes of schools.

The trio will return to Lubbock Thursday.

Rites Set Today For Whiteface Residents

KILGORE, Nov. 28. (AP)— Funeral services will be held here tomorrow for five members of a Whiteface family who died in a fiery automobile-train collision.

H. H. Kilpatrick, 35, his wife and their five children were driving Saturday from their home at Whiteface to Kilgore, their former home. The car and an attached house trailer crashed broadside into a moving train near Lueders. The car and trailer caught fire.

Kilpatrick and three children — Jerry, 13, Elsie, 10, and Sylvia, 7 — died in the burning wreckage. Mrs. Kilpatrick, 33, died yesterday in a Stamford hospital.

Two daughters, Christine, 14, and Joyce, 8, were burned, but doctors said they would recover.

The Kilpatricks were enroute to visit Kilpatrick's mother, Mrs. W. O. Kilpatrick of Laird Hill, near Kilgore, and his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Burnett of Kilgore.

Fender Skirt Leads To Finding Of Man Responsible For Accident

SAN PEDRO, Calif., Nov. 28. (AP) Bob Shuck, operator of an automobile repair shop, found a fender smashed when he returned to his parked car last night. Nearby was a fender skirt. He deduced it was from the car that had hit his.

Today a motorist came to his shop to have some dents fixed. Shuck noticing that fender skirt was missing from the motorist's car, brought out the one he had found.

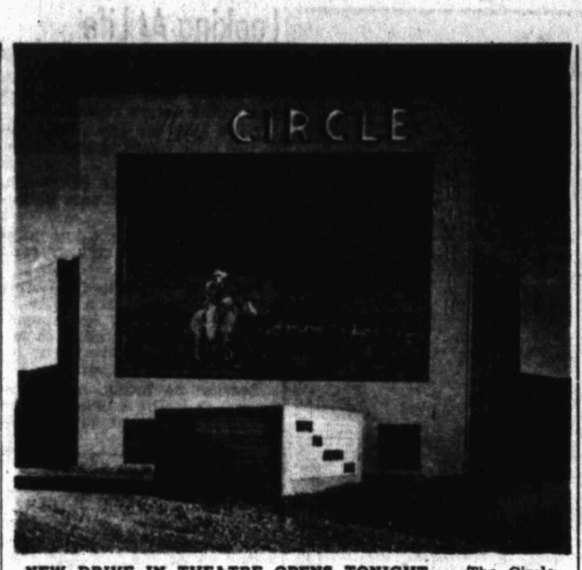

Yep, it was the one. Shuck says the motorist agreed to pay for the damage to both cars.

Southwestern Bell To Seek Hike In Houston Rates Today

HOUSTON, Nov. 28. (U.P.)—Higher telephone rates for Houston and vicinity will be asked by Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. today at a hearing before the city council.

J. B. Patterson, division manager, estimated that Southwestern Bell should receive an annual net return of seven percent on an investment of $59 million in this area. He claimed the firm would make only $1 million this year.

A suggested increase was 50 or 75 cents per month for the average straight line residential telephone, and $1.80 to $2.25 on business lines.

NEW DRIVE IN THEATRE OPENS TONIGHT — The Circle Drive In Theatre, located near the traffic circle on the Tahoka highway south of Lubbock, will be opened tonight, its owners, Marvin McLarty, jr., and John DePauw, announced Monday. The new drive in, with RCA equipment throughout, has speakers for 500 automobiles. It was built by John Sands and William Goates of Wichita Falls, specialists in drive in theatres, for Dick Ballenger, who sold it to its present owners upon completion. Humphrey Bogart in "Knock On Any Door" will be tonight's feature picture. General policy of the management will be to play to family groups and "line parties." An innovation is provided in the concession stand, where patrons may sit at tables and eat and drink and still view the screen. (Photo by Dallas Studio.)

'One-Armed' Man Who Couldn't Reach Wallet Arouses Suspicion

INGLEWOOD, Calif., Nov. 28. (INS)—Kind-hearted police felt so sorry today for a little old one-armed man they saw begging from house-to-house that they gave him $2 and started to help him board a streetcar.

When the cops routinely asked for identification, the one-armed man tried to reach for his wallet in his left hip pocket with his good right hand. He couldn't make it.

The officers became suspicious—and discovered that the beggar's left arm was tied behind his back.

P. S.—The man, Ernest Klatt, 69, will spend the next 10 days in jail—hanging onto the bars with both hands.

Labor-Management Disputes Seen As Major U. S. Problem In Study

By GEORGE GALLOP Director
American Institute Of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 28.—For the first time in nearly three years, voters in a national public opinion survey put strikes and labor-management difficulties as the most important problem facing the United States. It ranks ahead of preventing war, bringing down the cost of living, or controlling the atom bomb.

The last time the strike issue caused so much public worry was in January, 1947, shortly after a winter coal strike which led to a government injunction against John L. Lewis. Today, another coal work stoppage is threatened for Nov. 30.

A cross-section of voters in all 48 states was asked the following question by interviewers for the Institute:

"In your opinion, what is the MOST important problem the U. S. government must solve in the next year?"

The vote:

Strikes, labor-management problems	18%
Preventing war	14
Hight cost of living	9
Govt. spending	7
Handling Russia	6
Unemployment	6
Reducing taxes	5
Controlling atom bomb	5
Housing, rent control	4
Foreign affairs	4
Communism	3
Others	13
Don't know	11
	105%

(Some voters named more than one problem, hence the table adds to more than 100 per cent.)

At the time of the survey the steel strike as well as the coal stoppage was occupying the headlines. The steel strike has since been settled.

Relations to Congress

The public's renewed concern over labor troubles may have an important bearing on attempts in the new Congress to repeal the Taft-Hartley act or to soften it in favor of labor. The question of repeal is expected to come up soon after the session begins in January.

The Institute's periodic surveys on the "most important problem" question have proved highly sensitive indices to measure the degree of public concern over national problems.

Two months ago, preventing war, the unemployment situation and the high cost of living were named the top three problems facing the country. Labor management problems were then way down the list, ranking only in seventh place in public concern.

It was during 1946 and 1947 that strikes and labor troubles were ranked by the public either in first place or very high on the list of problems facing the country. Following passage of the Taft-Hartley act the issue gradually diminished in the minds of voters, giving way to concern over Russia and world peace as the cold war was intensified. Now again, at least temporarily, the strike problem comes to the forefront.

How long it will stay there will probably depend on how long the coal crisis continues.

Bradford, pictured at Arp, Tex., tried to capture the hog and it charged him. Lena, as Bradford calls her, may grow to be 80 pounds in weight. Come to think of it, though, doesn't it carry its own philosophy?

Everybody can't get into print like Bugs Baer. Everybody can't reach millions.

But every one of us CAN bring a little happiness and cheer to those he can reach. And spreading happiness, after all is as important as any discovery, any invention that has yet been made.

Because no invention, no discovery, is worth a tinker's damn unless it contributes to the happiness of mankind.

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—An official of the Argonne National laboratory reported tonight that development of the newly-divulged "breeder reactor"—or atomic pile—will vastly increase the nation's supply of fissionable material from which atomic energy is derived.

Dr. Walter H. Zinn, director of the laboratory explained that the breeder reactor, designed at Argonne, actually creates more atomic fuel than is used in keeping the nuclear reaction going.

Coal Parallel Drawn

He reported it is as if a householder hurled a shovelful of coal into his blazing furnace together with some useless coal that would not burn, and ended with more good coal than he began with.

Dr. Zinn, chief architect of the new reactor said it makes possible production of a new form of fissionable material—uranium 233. He declared:

"When the uranium 235 atom splits, neutrons are emitted. If some of these are lost, it's unfortunate. But if these neutrons are captured by uranium 238—the non-fissionable type 140 times more plentiful in nature than uranium 235—it becomes plutonium.

Use Of Thorium Cited

"We have also found that it is possible to use thorium to capture neutrons and that gives us a new form of fissionable material called uranium 233."

A fissionable material is an element whose atoms can be split, releasing atomic energy.

Dr. Zinn asserted the "breeding" would greatly boost the nation's resources of atomic fuels for use either in making weapons or for civilian purposes such as making power.

Reactor Design Ready

He reiterated the statement made in Washington that thus far only the design for the breeder reactor has been completed. This means, he explained that the mathematical calculations have been made and on the basis of this work the scientists have no doubt that the reactor will operate according to such a plan.

In the past such calculations have been phenomenally accurate. In fact, the first reactor — the atomic pile built under the University of Chicago's Stagg field—was constructed on the basis of calculations made by Dr. Enrico Fermi, Nobel prize winning physicist. When construction of the pile was completed no one could say for certain that it would work. The scientists were certain that it should work if Dr. Fermi's calculations were correct. They were . . . and it did.

NEWS BRIEFS

County Judge Walter Davies Monday filed two judgments in which pleas had been entered several days earlier, officials said. One assessed a fine of $75 and court costs against Bryan Farmer, charged Thursday with drunk driving; and $25 and costs against C. W. Elliott, in a check law violation charge so old that it had been placed on the dormant docket of county court a year ago. Elliot's plea was entered for him by an attorney.

A civil petit jury that reported Monday to 99th District Judge G. V. Pardue was told to report back at 9 a. m. Wednesday.

Mrs. J. E. Shewbert, 2223 Fifteenth, has returned to her home after undergoing major surgery on Nov. 8 at Lubbock Memorial hospital. A son, Rev. J. A. Shewbert and family of Colorado City, and a daughter, Mrs. W. A. Moore of Nashville, Tenn., were at her bedside the past week. She is still confined to her bed but was reported recuperating satisfactorily.

W. D. Rogers was awarded the president's cup for making the best talk in the Monday dinner meeting of the Toastmasters' club at the Hilton hotel last night. His talk highlighted a program which included talks by B. Watkins, Leland Culp and a ten-minute debate by C. W. Ratliff, Norman Gibson of Amherst, Ray Chapman and Waggoner Carr. Lou Walker presided at the meeting; Warren F Iler was toastmaster and Ira Dunlap topicmaster. Critics were: Winston Robertson, A. S. Meinecke, Dr. Weston Petty and Tom Murphey.

Postal Service Plans California Projects

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28. (INS)—The office of Sen. Downey (D-Calif) said today that the Post Office department has picked locations in Los Angeles and San Francisco for multi-million dollar federal buildings and other future projects.

The Los Angeles projects will cost over $7 million and those in San Francisco more than $3 million.

In San Francisco, the department will plan an enlargement of Rincon annex, eventually to cost $3,180,000.

In Los Angeles, enlargement of Terminal annex is planned to cost $6,800,000, along with expansion of Eagle Rock station to cost $276,000.

Other California projects, in some of which the government must purchase new sites, for which plans will be made, include post offices at:

Hermosa Beach, eventually to cost $210,000; National City, $290,000; Bakersfield, $1,830,000; Antioch, $140,000; Oakdale, $205,000; Yreka, $328,000; Arcata, $171,000; Delano, $160,000; Elmonte, $425,000; Van Nuys, $575,000; Wilmington, $470,000; Bellflower, $550,000.

Also included in the group for which planning was authorized is a $78,000 customs station at Andrade. Twelve more California projects are to be chosen.

Krug Gives Medal To San Antonio Man For Distinguished Service

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28. (U.P.)—Retiring Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug today awarded the department's Distinguished Service Medal to Arthur E. Goldschmidt, San Antonio, Tex., for service during the past two years.

The citation lauded Goldschmidt for "deft and sagacious handling" of two assignments — Organizing the United Nations economic and social council's meeting at Lake Success, N.Y., this year and acting as chairman of a committee to analyze and summarize the effect of foreign aid on national resources.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Nov. 28 (AP) — Cotton futures were steady in slow trading today. Prices eased in early dealings as scattered hedging and liquidation met only scale down mill buyings. Trade demand later improved, with prices firming slightly. There was further switching from nearby December to later months. Traders were hesitant, with the December delivery in process of liquidation.

The announcement of mid-November cotton parity on Tuesday was also awaited. Traders looked for the November figure to be unchanged to 12 points lower compared with October parity of 29.76 cents a pound.

Futures closed 20 cents a bale lower to 5 cents higher than the previous close.

STOCK MARKET RETREATS

NEW YORK, Nov. 28. (AP)—Fractions to more than a point were clipped from prices of leading stocks in today's market.

A slow retreat set in almost at the opening.

Losses were due more to lack of any buying interest than to presence of real selling pressure. Transactions dwindled to 1,080,000 shares.

Stocks were unable to shake off the depressing influence of a possible resumption this week of the bituminous coal walkout.

The Associated Press 60-stock average dropped .3 of a point to 67.9, and its industrial component was down .5 of a point. The rail average fell off only .1.

Most steels closed lower.

Chrysler's stock, still subject of active discussion over size of the dividend to be voted Thursday, acted erratically, climbing ⅝ in the early part of the session, then skidding fast to close at 60, off ⅝.

Other issues with losses included Magnavox at 8⅛ (off ⅛), Nickel Plate 80⅛ (down 1⅛), American Smelting 50½, Douglas Aircraft 65, Goodyear 40⅝, Goodrich 70½, Youngstown Sheet and Tube, 68⅜ (down 1⅛), Standard Oil (NJ) 66⅛, Westinghouse Electric 27½, General Electric 39⅝, International Nickel 27 and Transcontinental and Western Air 13¾.

U. S. leather 'A' climbed 1⅛ to close at 22⅝. Gainers elsewhere included International Hydro-Electric, up 1, at 8⅛, Union Pacific 82¼, Santa Fe 93⅝, U. S. Steel 24⅝, U. S. Industrial Chemical 23, Kennecott Copper (ex-dividend) 49⅞, and Homestake Mining 46⅛.

Government bonds steadied in over-the-counter dealings. Commodities were irregular.

Grain

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Nov. 28 (AP) — Grain buying slackened today after many new peaks were scored in the opening minutes of the board of trade. With the demand falling off sharply, prices retreated and in some cases fell under the previous close.

Strongest contracts were May and July oats, which advanced around a cent at times. This is a good gain for cereals selling as low as oats. Traders said buying apparently was based on the theory these deliveries were too low in relation to the December and cash prices.

Wheat closed ¼ lower to ¼ higher, December $2.16⅞-$2.17, corn was ⅛ lower to ½ higher, December $1.30⅛-¼, oats were ⅝-1¼ higher, December 77, rye was ½ to 1 cent higher, December $1.37¾, soybeans were 1 to 1½ lower, December $2.29¼-$2.30, and lard was 7 cents lower to 5 cents a hundred pounds higher, December $10.32.

Police Interference Blamed For Depriving Wounded Vets Of $700

DALLAS, Nov. 28. (AP) — War wounded veterans were deprived of at least $700 from a benefit air show by police "interference" the commander of Amvets post 22 charged today.

Malcolm Summers said police removed "no parking" signs placed around the airport.

The Amvet post sponsored the show yesterday to raise money for a Christmas party for veterans at Lisbons Veterans hospital.

Sgt. L. W. Kelley, of the police traffic division, said however, that not more than 500 cars were parked outside the Red Bird airport. He denied Summers claim that the automobiles around the airport created a safety problem.

WHERE AM I? — If these oranges could speak, they might ask, "Where am I?" They certainly are a far piece from the place they might expect to be. They were grown in Harrison county, five miles south of Marshall. Neal LaGrone, above, purchased the tree two and a half years ago in Pearsall. The tree produced its first crop of six oranges this year. LaGrone plans to leave them on the tree until Christmas and serve tree-ripened oranges with the Christmas dinner. (AP Photo.)

Forgery Suspect Pleads Not Guilty To Charge In Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 28 (AP) —Richard R. Rewalt, wanted in three other states for forgery and prison escape, pleaded innocent here today to three forgery charges.

He was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Otis James and bond was set at $2,000 on each count.

Chief criminal investigator Bill Ridge of the sheriff's office said Rowalt was originally booked and charged under the name of R. C. (Bob) Thorne. However, fingerprints established his identity as Rowalt.

He is sought by Washington authorities for escape from the state prison there. He was under sentence of 166 years for forgery.

Rowalt also is sought by Texarkana and Los Angeles police for forgery.

Ochiltree Wildcat, Damaged By Fire, To Resume Operation

AMARILLO, Nov. 28. (AP)— Repairs were being made today on the fire damaged Gulf Oil Corp. No. 1 Harbaugh wildcat well in Ochiltree county.

CHICAGO, Nov. 28. — Two city slickers amazed their country cousins today when their 255-pound Chester White barrow won a high honor at the Golden Jubilee exposition of the International Livestock exposition in Chicago.

"Mr. Lightgreen Smith" — the city-raised hog waddled off with a second place blue ribbon in his class, eliciting a joyous statement from co-owners Hal White, 27, a sporting goods salesman, and Hots Michels, a nightclub entertainer:

"It took a whole university to beat us."

Purdue Hog Wins

A nameless hog from Purdue university won first prize in the competition.

Michels and White said their only experience was culled during a two-week vacation in the country.

The nightclub entertainer said he met White when he asked for a volunteer for his mind-reading act. After this chance meeting they raised "Mr. Lightgreen Smith" and "Cool Breeze."

The city stockmen said their Chester Whites were fed on corn, wheat and cornmeal mush — with second or third helpings if they wanted them.

Michels said he didn't believe their prize-winner has any better table manners than farm-bred swine but added:

70,000 Jam Show

More than 70,000 persons have jammed the international theatre thus far.

Bonnie Lu Logan of Van Wert, O., a 15-year-old exhibitor, marched into the thick of the competition with her elders when her Black Angus won top honors in the junior yearling class. She must win the breed title in order to compete tomorrow for the grand champion steer crown.

Her closest competitor, Betty Hartter, 12, of Carlock, Ill., kept pressing her with a well-turned Angus, which added the summer yearling class title to the reserve junior champion title garnered last Saturday.

Ohio Girl Wins

Miss Logan's "Lin Lo" — junior grand champion Angus steer — enabled the pretty Ohio high school sophomore to best Cleo Yoder, Muscatine, Ia., whose Aberdeen-Angus "Old Gold" was named grand champion steer of the show last year. Yoder's steer was sold to Glen McCarthy, fabulos Texan, for $10.75 a pound, or $12,900. Yoder's entry finished fifth today.

Chief Judge A. D. Weber, of Kansas State college, will select the grand champion tomorrow from the winners in the Angus, Hereford and Shorthorn breed champs.

School Wins Titles

Students from the institution won the grand champion wether title with a Southdown, took the reserve championship with a Hampshire, beat down everyone with their grand champion pen of wether Hampshires and won the reserve grand championship with Southdowns.

Meantime, a father and son team from Shelbyville, Ind., took the corn king and corn prince title respectively at the 27th Chicago Hay and Grain show. They are Charles Fischer, 42, and his son, Leonard, 14.

Won In 1940

Fischer won the title previously in 1940 while his son was crowned corn prince of Purdue in 1948.

Fischer's other son, Thomas, 16, won the hay and grain corn prince title in 1947 when he was 14.

Fischer, who owns a 240-acre farm, is the farmer of three sons and a daughter.

Wife Backs Efforts

"Time after time," he added, "I'd want to give up. But Dorothy kept pleading with me to continue. I sure did."

His wife and their children are expected to arrive in Chicago tomorrow.

Ohio State Sweeps Honors

Ohio State university swept all honors in fat Berkshire competition. The school took the reserve champion pen of barrows title, champion barrow honors, and reserve championships in both of those categories.

Killiarn Max Juggler, born Feb. 27, 1947, was judged grand champion Shorthorn bull. The animal was shown by Clausen Brothers, of Spencer, Ia.

The reserve grand champion Shorthorn was Gregg Farm Hoarfrost, born April 12, 1948, and was exhibited by Dr. M. Gregg, of Harrisonville, Mo.

Texas Bull Places

Reserve grand champion Hereford bull honors went to Publican Dor..ino 204th, born last Dec. 4, and owned by W. J. Largent and son, of Merkel, Texas.

Cherry Hill Royal Leader, born Oct. 5, 1948, took grand champion honors in the polled shorthorn category. The animal was shown by Cherry Hill Herd, of Glyndon, Md. Reserve honors went to C. H. Bold Salute, born Sept. 14, 1948, also shown by Cherry Hill Herd.

Owner of the Cherry Hill orgnization, H. L. Straus, was killed in a private plane crash last Oct. 26 near Baltimore, Md.

Herd Kept Going

His herdsman, Raymond Duer, kept the herd going and was victorious today in the polled Shorthorn class, taking grand champion and reserve champion honors. His entries also were judged tops in the first group of three bulls and in the first group of two bulls competition.

The grand champion carload of hogs was won by Stanley R. Swift, of Gillman, Ia. He showed Berkshire breed in the 200-300 pound light class which has 25 head to a load.

Calahan Brothers, of Milford, Ill., exhibited the champion barrow. B. Parker Newsom, jr., of Columbus, Ind., was reserve champion.

Newsom also showed the champion pen of barrows besides his exhibit of reserve champion barrow. The reserve champion pen of barrows was won by Glenn Cox and son, of Wabash, Ind.

WEST COLUMBIA, Nov. 28. (U.P.) A man identified as James Avon Dean, 44, Port Neches, was instantly killed last night when his car slid from the highway two miles east of here.
