Snow Decorations

Wednesday's 8-inch snow here curtailed most outside activities while decorating lawns, shrubs and trees. The patio furniture and shrubbery of Mrs. Curtis Erwin, top, at 844 Hickory St. was no exception. But the youngsters thought the snow ideal in more ways than one and little Truman Alberts, right, 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Alberts, 928 E. 12th St., found the snow a new and thrilling experience. The snowman in the background, built on the lawn of young Alberts' grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Kidd, 705 E. 18th St., was the "giant" of Colorado City. It stood 9 feet, 10 inches tall.

As Part of Industrial Week Here

Colorado City is an ideal site for industrial development and, too, already, has some industry.

The city will honor its present industry and open an expanded campaign of industrial development during its observance of Texas Industrial Week Sunday, Apr. 1, through Saturday, Apr. 7.

The week is jointly sponsored locally by Colorado City Chamber of Commerce and Colorado City Industrial Team, Inc., as part of the statewide observance.

Highlights of the week-long observance will be a report of the findings of a recent industrial survey in Colorado City and a display of locally manufactured products in the lobby of City National Bank.

Any local manufacturer may display his product at the bank free of charge — but arrangements for each display must be made with Chamber office by 5 p. m. Friday.

Industrial Week will be under the direction of the Chamber's Industrial Development Committee, chaired by Roy Bates.

"The purpose of Industrial Week in Colorado City," reports Bates, "is to make residents conscious of the need for industrial development here and aware of the vast job involved in a good industrial program. Also to acquaint Colorado City and Mitchell County residents of the present industry here and products this present industry manufactures."

Other parts of the week's observance will include a report of the results of the industrial survey, posters in local businesses and bumper stickers advertising the week. Chamber manager Dick Kendall will report the survey's findings to Lions Club here Friday, Apr. 6, at the group's regular weekly noon luncheon in Civic House. Plans are in the making for Kendall or See SURVEY Pg. 7

Hog Breeders To Attend A&M Session

All Mitchell County swine breeders interested in attending the 11th annual Swine Short Course at Texas A&M College in College Station Monday and Tuesday, April 2 and 3, are urged to contact Mitchell County Agent Buddy Logsdon.

"Raising More Pigs on Less Feed With More Valuable Carcasses at Slaughter Time" will be the theme of the program. "This is a well-rounded program with presentations in all areas important to successful hog production, including feeding, disease, housing, equipment and marketing," says Logsdon. "It should be of special interest to Pure Breed breeders, commercial producers and all others in related industries in hog production."

The program will be headed by 3 nationally known speakers. Dr. J. A. Whatley, Jr., in charge of swine breeding research at Oklahoma State University, will lead the discussions on the use of production records in swine selection and planning crossbreeding programs.

Bernard Collins, commercial hog producer and president of the Iowa Swine Producers Association, will lead discussions on the breeding programs of Iowa master swine producers. This will include a discussion on the size of units, and an evaluation of some of the newer programs being advocated.

W. C. Haase, Swine Specialist for Swift and company in Chicago, Ill., will lead a discussion on merit hog marketing.

OVER SAME '61 PERIOD

Construction Up For City in 1962

Construction in Colorado City during the first 2 1/2 months of 1962 is a few thousand dollars ahead of the same period in 1961.

Building permits issued here by the City through Friday totaled $123,621 for 1962. Through the same date in 1961, permits totaling $419,650 had been issued, an increase this year of $3,971.

But construction now in the planning state in the City, including plans by First Methodist Church for a new chapel, to cost an estimated $35,000, is expected to hike the increase within the next few months here.

Lone Wolf Electric Cooperative's addition to their present building — now under construction — is the largest

CENTEX PAVING COMPANY

Paving, Sealcoat Pacts To San Antonio Firm

Contracts for paving of streets in Colorado City and sealcoating of existing streets were awarded to Centex Paving Company of San Antonio by City Council here Thursday night.

Two contracts, totaling $148,669, were awarded — a $20,155 contract for sealcoating and $128,514 contract for street paving. Centex was low bidder on the 2 projects, bids opened at 2:30 p. m. Thursday.

Only 1 of the 13 bids opened on the sealcoating program was found to contain an error — and it was only an error of 50¢.

Benjett Reeves and Red Smith, representing the city's engineering firm of Parkhill, Cooper and Smith of Lubbock, recommended the awarding of the contracts to Centex. Reeves estimated paving would begin actual paving Estimates of $35,000 for construction of the chapel and a 4-classroom, 2-office educational section adjoining; furniture; remodeling of the present building's basement; new sidewalks; and landscaping were originally made.

The lowest of the 4 bids opened Thursday was for an approximate $36,700 — for the chapel construction alone.

The committee will reconsider means of cutting construction expenses and it is possible the chapel could be built under the direction of a superintendent and not a contract. The committee does not plan to ask for additional bids.

The 32-foot by 22-foot chapel and 50-foot by 32-foot educational space were designed by Rev. Hugh Hunt executive secretary of the Town and Country Commission.

The chapel will be named Ella Dry Memorial Chapel in honor of the late Mrs. Ella Dry who donated land to the church from which proceeds of its sale are to be used for the chapel construction.

The planned 1-story chapel will seat 60.

The construction will be directly south of the church's sanctuary at 333 Chestnut St. The church's old parsonage at that spot will be torn down See BIDS Pg. 7

Kermit Rips Wolves 13-0 Here Friday

Kermit's Yellow Jackets blanked Colorado City's Wolves, 13-0, here in a non-conference baseball game Friday afternoon.

The Wolves and the Yellow Jackets met in a doubleheader here Saturday afternoon — beginning at 1 p. m.

Kermit ripped 3 Wolves pitchers for 12 hits — including a 2-run homer in the inning. Jacket winning hurler Stringer went all the way allowing the host Wolves only 3 hits, all singles, by James Dambrosky in the fourth. Pendergrass in the seventh and Moore in the seventh.

Coach Ken Kern's Wolves had men in scoring position in the first, third, fourth and seventh stanzas, but couldn't solve Stringer's hurling at the opportune time to drive base runners across the plate.

The Wolves now have a record of 3 wins and 5 losses in 1962.

Options in Filing Farm Income Report

Some self-employed farmers in Mitchell County may be entitled to use an optional method for figuring their net earnings from the farm for social security credit, says Erven L. Fisher, district manager of the Big Spring social security office, which includes this county.

If your gross income from agricultural self employment is not more than $1,800, you may count as your net farm gross income; or

If your gross farm income is more than $1,800, and your net farm earnings are less than $1,200, you may use either your actual net or $1,200.

If your gross farm income is more than $1,800 and your net farm earnings are $1,200 or more, you MUST USE the actual amount of your net earnings.

Fisher added that use of the option will enable farmers with gross incomes of $66 to obtain social security protection for themselves in their old age, or, if they become disabled, and for their survivors in case of death. He emphasized, however, that regardless of the way in which you figure your net earnings, you must have net earnings of at least $400 (from farming alone, or in combination with other self employment earnings) to get social security credit for the year.

Some farm owners who receive cash rent, or crop shares from tenant farmers can get social security credit for such income. If the farm landlord or his agent, under his agreement with his tenant, materially participates in the production or management of the farm crops raised on his land, this income may be creditable for social security purposes and subject to the social security tax.

Information regarding taxes due and tax return forms can be obtained at the Internal Revenue Office at 116 E. 7th St., Big Spring. Questions about old-age survivors or disability insurance can be answered at the social security District office at 700 Ruppels St., in Big Spring.

TIPS

Equipment Is Important
One can't expect to become a good bowler when using a different ball each week and rented shoes.

The first (and perhaps most important) step in improving your game is having your own ball and shoes. Your own ball is custom fitted to your hand; therefore, using it over and over, makes it easier to practice fundamentals.

Your own shoes are a must. When your feet are comfortable, you can concentrate on your game alone. Shoes which slide up and down on your heels build tension which distracts.

This bookshelf room divider separates the modified entrance hall and the living room area in the new Homer Bodine home on the Snyder highway. The home is 1 of 4 to be shown in the semi-annual Pilgrimage of Homes. The hallway to the right leads to the bedroom.

White Is Basic Color in Interior Of H. Bodine Home

At the end of a winding drive off of Highway 208 (to Snyder) is the home of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Bodine, one of the 4 homes to be shown in the semi-annual Pilgrimage of Homes sponsored by the 1949 Study Club. Date for the event is Thursday, April 5, from 7 to 9 p. m.

The Bodine home is constructed of dark red brick and the interior of the large porch gives the first glimpse of the stark white that is the background for all interior decorations in the home.

Just off the porch are the bedroom windows outlined with white scalloped sills that contrast sharply against the dark red brick veneer.

The front door leads directly into a modified entrance hall that is separated from the living room area by a bookcase divider that features slender columns on top that extend to the ceiling.

The house is textured throughout in Dover white. The living room, dining room and bedroom areas feature wall-to-wall carpeting in Chappagne.

The center of the living area is accented with a bubble-effect lighting piece that extends from the ceiling. It is in a matching white. Triple full-length windows face the front lawn from the living room. The entire front wall is covered with full-length oyster white draperies. The color scheme for the living room is done with main colors of coral and turquoise. Furniture is solid walnut in the Americana style.

Three large lamps placed at vantage points in the room carry out the color scheme of coral, turquoise and white. A Japanese silk screen centers the wall above the sofa. The background is a subtle gold with accents of coral, black and white. Mrs. Bodine said her living room was designed around the large silk screen that was sent to the family from relatives in Japan.

The dining room is just off the living area and is separated from the kitchen with a counter topped with birch cabinets. The dining room furniture is in the same walnut style as the living room furniture and the room features the same white draperies and light fixtures. The kitchen is lined with birch cabinets and counter space which covers 3 walls. It is separated from the den by a breakfast bar. All counter tops and floors are covered in beige-tone Tessora.

The den features triple windows that offers a view of the spacious backyard. Birch paneling covers the walls and blends with the birch cabinets.

in the kitchen. A birch desk graces one wall. Main colors in the den are green and brown and are carried out through the furniture and curtains. A stereo console carries out the walnut Americana theme used in the living and dining areas. A 3-piece white and brass light fixture is suspended from the ceiling.

A doorway from the den faces a long hallway from which doors to the bedrooms, utility room, coat closet, linen closet, heating fixtures and bathrooms open.

The Bodine's 15-year old daughter, Lynda, has a bedroom near the end of the hall. The bedroom features pink and white candy-striped curtains and a snow-white coverlet. The furniture is contemporary in design in a light-toned wood. Each bedroom in

HOME TOWN Talk

By PEGGY BELVIN

IN THE ULTRA-SOPHISTICATED years known as the 1960's, it is so easy to forget the utter simplicity and happiness of what it was like to be a little child.

It is fortunate for this writer that there is a 3-year-old around the house, so that the wonder of the toddler's world is not lost forever.

Just seeing the happiness and joy of just being alive mirrored in the curiosity of the deep blue eyes of this child can bring a lift and new spirit into living for the not-so-young.

A fall at the heartstrings can not be avoided when she dishevels her loving care to a well-worn, broken-down last year's doll while a new one is completely ignored. Her loyalty to her first baby overpowers the temptation of the early golden hair and brightly-colored dress of the new-comer.

To hear the words of innocence that come from the lips of such a carefree and lovable specimen is to get a completely new insight into the true world of living.

TO SIT DOWN to a meal and hear her voice her disappointment that her favorite dish, "meat balls and spaghetti" are not being served or that the soup is vegetable instead of chicken noodle can make one wish to give up the last cent in his pocket just to change the menu.

As a child's family, the "baby" is always spoiled and considered that she is utterly the prettiest female in the human race. There is not a chance that this child can be chastised for anything, however. She has too many privileges.

So, when a new tupe of lipstick is found smeared from ear to ear and a new pair of high-heeled shoes are broken, she is usually scolded with a hug and a kiss to soothe the hurt.

Each new day holds a new adventure for this child, either she will be assigned by the song of the first robin on the sky will be bluer than the day before. But, woe is the fate of the day that dawns with snow on the ground. For to her, this means that Santa Claus will visit that night, whether it be in December or July.

When a new outfit is found a new outfit for her insatiable desire of change and mischievousness, which she had never even heard the day before.

Wool Shrinking—Excess fullness in the knee of wool trousers or slacks can be "shrunk-in" by a simple technique. Place an untextured wool cloth on the knee and a cotton press cloth on top of this. (Moisten the press cloth if you're not using a steam iron.) Continue to press until the fullness has disappeared, checking your progress at intervals.

Prolong Drapery Life—Excessive wear in one colored pattern area of your draperies sounds mysterious, but the explanation is quite simple. Certain dyes are more susceptible to the chemical action of sunlight than others. Colors most frequently affected are yellow, red and chartreuse. Lining your drapes and rotating them will help extend their life. Frequent cleaning will remove the imbedded soil that also causes dulling of light background colors.

Ring Rules—If you try shampooing rugs yourself, avoid over-wetting. This is a primary cause of the delayed-action brown stain that has cut short the life of many a carpet. Be sure the shampoo you use does not leave a permanent residue (as some do). This causes rapid re-soiling and may damage the colors or even the fabric itself.

Handy Hint—In an emergency, a handkerchief can be "pressed" reasonably flat after washing by spreading it out on a mirror or other clean-glass surface. When dry, it will peel off passably smooth.

Disappearing Act—Many of the new synthetic furs are lovely to look at and have distinctive advantages, but there are several things to watch out for when buying one. On some coats with striped patterns, the stripes are applied by the garment manufacturer. In some instances, these "painted" stripes have been known to come off in cleaning. To test the durability of the stripe pattern, rub it with your handkerchief. If the color comes off - well, you're forewarned. Professional dry cleaners will not guarantee such a garment.

Stocking Drying Rack—Here's a tip to prevent stocking snags after you wash them out at night. Wrap an old terrycloth towel around a towel rack and stitch it on. In addition to preventing runs, it will absorb the moisture more quickly than your regular racks. It is also useful for other small, hand-washed items.

Home Permanent Hint—Home permanent wave solutions can be milder on fabrics. When giving yourself a home treatment, be sure to cover yourself with an old smock or some other item that doesn't matter. Permanent wave chemicals may destroy the colors in a fabric. Sometimes the destruction of color is not evident until the garment has been stored for a long time, or until pressed.

Tips and Tricks—Sponge gashes with soapuds after use and let dry away from heat. Stuffing with paper helps keep their shape... If your synthetic garments cling to the body, try an anti-static agent, available at supermarkets. Prepared fabric softeners also can help... You can temporarily inject new life into a listless veil by covering it with wax paper when ironing.

CONVERSATION CORNER

By RUTH COFFEY

That news, somehow, has a melody of its own!

THE TASTING TEA, with members of the Garden Club as hostesses in Community Center Friday afternoon, brought out an array of C. City ladies plus some husbands who knew what the supper-at-home score was likely to be after the little women spent an afternoon tasting everything from ham loaf and baked stuffed eggs to that heavenly orange pudding made by Ruth Airhart, and Mrs. Leon Jenkins's black pepper cake.

And Mrs. Bun Pritchett, serving tidbits from the foreign foods table, was saying that niece Mariet Robinson's new Washington D. C. position is in the office of Senator Clinton Anderson of New Mexico.

SUPPER WAS a sorry affair in certain Chestnut Street domiciles, following the Garden Club tea. But then, as we were saying, this is the age of testing. That includes testing and tasting elegant recipes. Who wants canned baked beans on top of apple bread and cheese cake?

MRS. WARREN COSTIN was bringing us welcome greetings from a former C. City family now of Denton—the G. L. Hardins. Jean, she says, teaches English and History in Denton Junior High. Her mother, Mrs. T. R. Haggard, now lives in Denton with her and is recovering from recent illness. Hardin daughter Ann, married at 15, now mothers four babies at 20! Tava Jean, younger daughter, is a high school student. Hardin ranches near Denton.

HAD FORGOTTEN, if ever we knew, that our little favorite Frankie Lee Dearen, daughter of the Frank Dearens, is happily married now! She and her husband Dale Sawyer live in Austin where he manages the concession stand at the air base. The couple (both sightless) have two daughters, Pam, aged two, and Penny, one-year-old. Frankie Lee, talented pianist and graduate of the special school at Austin, types glowing letters to her mother.

Pam and Penny, friends here are grateful to know, are both sighted. Pam, their grandmother relates, is already fond of making her own baby brand of music on the piano.

Emmy first flew as hostess for Pioneer, based at Houston, then for Seaboard and Western on a flight including Tokyo and Alaska—which gave her the fun one year of two Christmases, when she crossed the International Dateline.

BRIEF ENCOUNTERS, mostly at First Baptist morning revival services, brought howdy-dos from Willie Womack (Mrs. Will) of Walnut St. . . Mrs. Sam Bullock . . . Pretty Willie Whitmore (Mrs. Erwin) . . . A. T. Caffey . . . The A. K. McCauleys Sr. . . Mrs. Joe Smoot and Violet Moeser . . . Lucille Trulock (Mrs. Oren) . . . Linnie Thompson (Mrs. Sam) and Irene Robertson . . . The Rev. and Mrs. H. W. Bartlett, too.

HAD FORGOTTEN, if ever we knew, that our little favorite Frankie Lee Dearen, daughter of the Frank Dearens, is happily married now! She and her husband Dale Sawyer live in Austin where he manages the concession stand at the air base. The couple (both sightless) have two daughters, Pam, aged two, and Penny, one-year-old. Frankie Lee, talented pianist and graduate of the special school at Austin, types glowing letters to her mother.

Pam and Penny, friends here are grateful to know, are both sighted. Pam, their grandmother relates, is already fond of making her own baby brand of music on the piano.
