Let The People In Texas Rule

Convention's Voice Roars Out A Demand for Speedy and Thorough Inquiry

HUGH NUGENT FITZGERALD
Record News Staff

IN A democracy the people are the masters. Thank God for that. In a democracy there are three branches of government-executive, legislative and judical. Thank God for that. In a democracy the people express their wishes through accredited delegates to a convention after having returned their verdict as to choice of servants at the ballot box. Thank God for that.

In a democracy Jeffersonianism should ever prevail and sanity should govern those who are entrusted with authority or clothed with authority. Thank God for that.

Texas has spoken. The voice of the people has been heard. This voice thundered at the primary ballot box and it thundered again in the council or convention hall.

First 500,000 democrats declared for a change in administration and a change in administration methods. They named a new leader who is to be their governor for two years after January 1927. They held a people's convention and they gave expression to their wishes as crystalized in what is called a platform of the party. This plank bristles from first line to last line as an index to what should be done.

"We declare our adherence to the principle of the perservation of the public faith and the protection of the public credit through the honest payment of the public debt. Within recent months the supreme court of the United States has held a statute of this state authorizing the creation of road districts and the bonded indebtedness thereof to be in violation of the constitution of the United States. Many such road districts have been created under the law and bonded indebtedness incurred for which the districts have received valuable improvements. These bonds were issued in good faith and sold in good faith and we declare that the bonds so issued represent a just and honest public debt and we call upon the legislature of Texas which is shortly to convene to enact immediately such legislation as shall validate these outstanding bonds and restore the public credit of this state and the sub-division thereof."

* * *

THIS message came from the hearts of the people. It rings true. It calls upon the legislators to enact immediately such legislation as shall validate these outstanding bonds and restore the public credit of this proud state. By their ballots the people have decreed, speaking as the masters, that there shall be a change in administration at the earliest possible moment and that those now in control shall step down and out. Throughout the campaign they demanded legislative validation of these bonds, immediate validation. This was denied to them. Now there is to be legislative action and the one outstanding subject of legislation before the lawmakers is bond validation and the restoration of the credit. Who are the masters—the people or their servants? Speaking through the platform adopted without a dissenting vote in the state convention held at San Antonio, this declaration was made:

"We hold that public office is a public trust and that public officers, who have no more power than is granted to them by the constitution and the law, are the servants and not the masters of the people with whose government they are entrusted. All public of-

ORUS O. ROSS DIES AFTER A LONG ILLNESS

Prominent Member of Local Bar Passes Away At His Home Here

Judge Orus O. Ross, prominent Wichita Falls attorney, died at his home, 2900 Tenth street Wednesday evening at 7:15 o'clock. Judge Ross had been in failing health for more than two years following an attack of paralysis which occurred while he was enroute to his father's ranch at Henrietta in October two years ago, and his condition has been growing steadily worse until a few days ago when he was confined to his bed and his condition was pronounced critical.

Judge Ross is a native of Pilot Point, Texas, but resided in Dallas for many years before coming to Wichita Falls. He came to this city about three years ago and commenced the practice of the legal profession. He was soon a forceful member of the local bar and on several occasions sat on the bench in local district courts during the absence of the regular judges.

A Mason

Judge Ross was a member of Tannehill Lodge A. F. A. M., of Dallas and also a member of the Dallas Consistory of Scottish Rite Masonry. That fraternity will assist in the funeral services.

Survivors are Mrs. Ross and six children, three sons and three daughters as follows: Orus O. and But, who reside on the family ranch at Jolly, and Benton, who is at home, and Nellie Mae, Margaret and Elsie Ruth, all of whom are at the family residence.

Funeral services will be held at the residence at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon, it was announced, after which the body will be taken to Pilot Point for burial. The body is being held at the Merkle Undertaking parlors.

Klan Tells U. S. To Let Mexico Alone

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.(AP)—Winding up its third bennial convention the ku klux klan today adopted unanimously a resolution requesting the American government not to interfere in the religious controversy in Mexico.

Thus another issue was drawn before the klan and the Knights of Columbus which have appealed to President Coolidge through Secretary Kellogg for intervention in the dispute between the Calles government and the Catholic hierarchy in Mexico.

Dr. Hiram W. Evans, imperial wizard of the klan will appoint a special committee to present a copy of the resolutions to Secretary Kellogg at the state department this week.

No Change Due In King-Purl Measure

AUSTIN, Sept. 15. (AP)—By a twelve to four margin, the house committee on state affairs Wednesday night voted to recommend to the house of representatives of the thirty-ninth legislature, assembled here in call session, that it would adopt the King-Purl resolution providing for a committee to investigate state departments. The committee would function after adjournment of the call session, and would report to the fortieth legislature.

The meeting was featured by denunciatory oratory, with James E. Ferguson, husband of Governor Miriam A. Ferguson, bearing the brunt of the denunciation.

A. and M. Speaker Talks to Nursery Convention

DALLAS, Sept. 15.(AP)—Perennial wild flowers are the best development of the fungus known as Texas root rot, Dr. J. J. Taubenhaus, Texas A. and M. college, said in an address before the ninth annual convention of the southwestern Nurserymen's association Wednesday. "If Texas can be made a state of lawns and pastures, cotton growers troubled with cotton root rot will be much better off, the speaker thought.

SHOOTS FOR SISTER

LUFKIN, Texas, Sept. 15.(AP)—Vergie Turner, age 25, the son of Jack Turner, is in the Angelina county jail charged with the fatal shooting of A. J. Vinson, 32, Wednesday morning.

The shooting took place in the Turner home.

The left side of Vinson's face was torn off with squirrel shot.

The trouble arose, it is alleged, over the attentions that Vinson was paying to Turner's sister.

DEATH ENTERS ANGELUS CASE

Man To Be Questioned Is Found Dead From Poison Potion

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 15.(AP) Dr. A. M. Waters, 55, brought into the Aimee Semple McPherson case by his name and two telephone numbers being found in the note book of Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman-Seilaff committed suicide here today by drinking a poison solution, according to police reports.

Investigators from the district attorney's office found the man had committed suicide when they called at his home today to bring him to the office for questioning.

Dr. Waters was also scheduled to appear in court today to answer a grand larceny charge involving $1,500.

Following her arrest on fictitious check charges, Mrs. Wiseman-Sielaff in her statement about her being a sister of "Miss X" said that Mrs. McPherson told her Dr. Watters had promised to produce a "Miss X" and that she, Mrs. McPherson, had given him $125. Mrs. McPherson said the doctor never produced the woman, according to Mrs. Wiseman-Sielaff.

U. S. TO STAY ON SEAS

O'Conner Says Merchant Marine Not to Fail.

LONDON, Sept. 15.(AP)—T. P. O'Connor, chairman of the United States shipping board, told British financiers and shipping men today that the United States merchant marine is going to stay on the high seas.

The American congress, he explained, has passed laws requiring that at least half the country's exports and imports be carried under the American flag. His remarks were made at a luncheon arranged by Joseph H. E. Sheedy, European director of the shipping board.

HEALTH MEN TO MEET.

AUSTIN, Sept. 15.(AP)—The annual meeting of the city and county health officers in Texas was set for November 24 to 26, in Austin, by the state board of health Wednesday.

All members of the board were present and they reviewed the state-wide milk sanitation program, the shell fish survey and work of the sanitary squad.

TRIAL CHANGE GRANTED

LEAKSVILLE, Miss., Sept. 15. (AP)—Judge I. M. Bourdeaux today granted a change of venue to Kinnie Wagner, expert wild west trick shot, charged with the murder of Deputy Sheriff Murdock McIntosh at McLain, December 24, 1924.

BARRAGE OF PROTEST DUE FROM SENATE

Validating of Bonds to Be Started With Work Thursday Morning

AUSTIN, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Investigation into expenditures during the recent democratic primaries, a bitter conflict over Governor Miriam A. Fergusan's recess appointees submitted Wednesday, and actual work of validating district road bonds, face the senate in the called session of the 39th legislature Thursday.

Wednesday the senate confirmed thirty-two judiciary appointments of Governor Ferguson, but withheld action on Robert M. Lyles, state's attorney to assist the court of criminal appeals, and W. S. Moore, judge of the 16th district court, and W. W. Witcher, district attorney of the 72nd district.

Hearings will be held Thursday on these appointees.

Due For Criticism

Hal Moseley of Dallas, and John Cage of Stephenville, recess appointees to the state highway commission, will be placed under a barrage of criticism, according to supporters of Attorney General Moody in the senate, who have asserted their opposition.

Moody, the gubernatorial nominee, is reported to have enough supporters in the senate to block confirmation of any Ferguson nominee. It requires only 11 members of the thirty one to oust a recess appointee, and Moody is reported to have at least 17 senators under his banner.

The governor's nominations committee met in executive session late Wednesday to consider appointive officers submitted today to be confirmed. They include R. L. Daniels, commissioner of insurance; Dallas J. Matthews, adjutant general; Roy B. Tenant, member of the state board of control; James Swayne, chairman of the industrial accident board; H. C. Granberry, member of the board of prison commissioners, and T. H. McGregor, commissioner on interstate water conservation.

Some opposition has been manifested against several of the appointees, but as the senators con-

Wagner Wins In Fight For Change

LEAKESVILLE, Miss., Sept. 15. (AP)—Kinnie Wagner, charged with the murder of Deputy Sheriff Murdock McIntosh of Green county, will go on trial in the Lauderdale circuit court at Meridian at a special term of court to be called later it was decided here tonight.

Agreement upon Meridian as a place for the trial came early tonight after a prolonged conference of attorneys for the defense, the prosecution and Judge I. M. Rourdeaux. Judge Bourdeaux earlier in the day had granted a change of venue after it had been contended that a fair trial could not be obtained in Green county.

RAILROADS BUY TERMINAL

Three Big Lines Purchase Valuable Houston Property.

HOUSTON, Sept. 15.(AP)—The application of the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe, the M. K. T., and the Missouri-Pacific lines, to purchase the Texas City Terminal railway company at Texas City, has been granted by the interstate commerce commission, it became known Wednesday.

The property consists of seven miles of main line connection with the Galveston main lines, 41 miles of spur track, valuable terminal facilities, including wharves and warehouses, mostly modern and fireproof, and considerable unimproved land on the water front.

Childress Extends Royal Welcome To Wichita Falls Fair Boosters

Cotton Leaf Worm In County Fields Doing Little Harm

An invasion of cotton leaf worms in Wichita county and the irrigated valley the past few days is rapidly stripping cotton fields of their foliage and causing some alarm among farmers, it developed here Wednesday with reports that serious inroads of boll worms had appeared.

The damage already caused and in prospect from the leaf worm activities will probably not be severe, although some difference of opinion has been found regarding this. Most farmers and agricultural experts, however, are confident that the worms will have comparatively little adverse effect on the crop. Some even go so far as to assert they will have a beneficial effect by trimming away surplus foliage.

County Agricultural Agent Guy R. Jones declared Wednesday that some damage undoubtedly would follow in the leaf worm's wake; but he did not credit reports that fields would be practically ruined. Small, immature bolls are ruined when the leaf worm appears, Mr. Jones said, and it is these dropping to the ground that have caused considerable alarm in local fields recently. He said that many farmers were mistaken in their belief that the trouble was being caused by boll worms when in reality the leaf worm was the only cause of trouble. Little or no trouble has been found here by reason of the boll weevil, Jones said.

J. L. Powell, who has about 250 acres in cotton one and one-half miles west of Wichita Falls, reported Wednesday that his fields had been invaded and that serious damage was apparently being done. He feared that 75 per cent of his cotton was doomed and asserted that a few days ago he had one of the best stands he had ever seen.

Mr. Powell stated that a meeting of farmers of this territory had been called for 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the court house at which time the situation would be discussed in all its phases. He urged that as many farmers as possible be in attendance.

HOUSE PASSES ON 32 BILLS

Validating Measures Taken, Laird Takes Crack At The Klan

AUSTIN, Sept. 15.—(AP)—The house of representatives of the 39th legislature, assembled here in special session, Wednesday advanced toward its initial objective—validation of district road bonds—when by viva voce vote it engrossed 32 district validation bills.

These bills will come up Thursday for final passage. The judiciary committee, following adjournment at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon until 9 o'clock Thursday morning, immediately went into session, and approved approximately one hundred other bills which will be reported out Thursday for engrossment.

Laird Raps Klan

The tedium of expecting unopposed legislation was relieved by Representative John W. Laird's excoriation of the ku klux klan, and a wrangle whether each member should be allowed as much as ten dollars for telegraphing and telephoning on official business. Representative George Purl of Dallas first moved that $20 be allowed; but the house finally whittled the amount to ten dollars, and circumscribed its action by the provision the messages or calls must not go out of the state. Representative Dewey Young of Collingsworth led the fight against granting the allowance.

OCTEGENARIAN IS DEAD

CUERO, Texas, Sept. 15.(AP)—Charles Roth, an octegenarian of this city, known to the public as "Uncle Charley," died suddenly Tuesday at the age of 85 years. Death occurred at the home of Mrs. F. L. Chapman, where he has been living for the past several months.

HALL'S WIDOW IS INDICTED

Four Bills Returned By Somerville County Grand Jury

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Sept. 15. (AP)—Four persons were indicted late today for the murder on September 14, 1922, of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills.

The indictments named Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, widow of the murdered man, her brother, Willie Stevens, and her cousin, Henry de La B. Carpender, all of New Brunswick, and Henry Stevens of Lavalette, also a brother of Mrs. Hall.

Mrs. Hall was arrested last July 28, was released two days later in $15,000 bail. Carpender and Willie Stevens were arrested Aug. 12, and held since then without bail. Henry Stevens was arrested on a bench warrant at his home tonight. He is a fire arms expert.

The grand jury deliberated only 10 minutes.

MEXICO FORTUNE CAUGHT

Aliens Captured on Smuggling Charge

BROWNSVILLE, Sept. 15.(AP) Twelve Mexican aliens, two of whom were burdened with 12,286 silver pesos weighing approximately 70 pounds, were arrested last night near Hidalgo by immigration officials. The prisoners are charged with having smuggled across the Rio Grande.

American officials believe the money was stolen in Mexico, the Mexican officials at Reynosa and Matamores were appraised of the capture today.

NEW FRATERNITY FORMING

Legislators to Organize Chapter In Austin

AUSTIN, Sept. 15.(AP)—The legislators' fraternity, composed of members of the 39th legislature and former members of the legislature, will be organized here Monday night, J. Herschal Boggs, representative from San Angelo, announced Wednesday.

More than 125 members have been nrolled and the organization will be chartered. Representative John E. Davis of Dallas, will head the list of charter members.

AND THAT'S THAT!

Hiram Deserving of Full Credit For Seating Mayfield.

AUSTIN, Sept. 15.(AP)—Hiram W. Evans, imperial wizard of the ku klux, is entirely correct in claiming credit for the seating of Earl B. Mayfield as United States senator from Texas, Scott Woodward of Fort Worth, former state senator and manager of the effort to prevent Mayfield's seating, said Wednesday.

"Any fair-minded person who reads the senate record must know that only the influence of the ku klux klan saved Mayfield's seat," Woodward said.

SHEPHERD HAS A BUSY TIME WITH HOSTS

He Speaks, Sings and Shakes Hands With Cordial Hosts

Staff Special to the Record News.

CHILDRESS, Sept. 15.—Lead by R. E. Shepperd in the dual role of mayor of the city and secretary-manager of the Texas-Oklahoma Fair association, a score of Wichita Falls men arrived here at 4:30 this afternoon to visit the Childress State fair and to visit Wellington Thursday and points in Oklahoma Friday.

Immediately on arrival the fair grounds were visited where automobile races were in progress. Mayor Shepperd extended to the enormous crowd in the grandstand an invitation to visit the Texas-Oklahoma fair. At the conclusion of his brief invitation, he sang a solo; "I'm Glad I'm Here." He was given a round of applause and it began to appear he would have to sing again. Tonight he extended another invitation and entertained a huge throng with several solos. Others in the party joined him in the chorus.

Cordial Greetings.

Everywhere the Wichita Falls delegation was given a cordial reception. At Vernon the party stopped for lunch. They were met by a number of citizens. Due to the late hour in leaving Wichita Falls no stop was made at Chillicothe. At Quanah several minutes were spent in seeing the business men of the city and extending to the people of that city and section an invitation to be at the greatest Texas-Oklahoma fair in history. Quanah is coming to the fair with band and possibly a hundred or more representatives of their city.

Manager Shepperd is setting aside a Quanah day in their honor.

Unusual paid attendance today at the Childress fair was more than 5,000. The gates to the grounds were opened last night and the attendance then was 5,000. It looks like new attendance records will be established. Jerry Debenport, manager, is everywhere and extends a glad hand to the Wichita delegation, it was a royal reception he and his people extended to Wichita Falls citizens.

The Childress fair is one of the best in history. More dairy cattle farm implements and poultry are shown than ever before. This section is rapidly becoming a dairy country and farmers are making money from their investment. A modern creamery is located here and the surplus cream is shipped to Wichita Falls and other places. Farmers are enthusiastic over the dairy business. They are equally as enthusiastic over poultry, fewer beef cattle are being shown than usual. Crop prospects in this immediate section are in the best shape in years. Last year this county produced 30,000 bales of the staple. The yield promises to be greater this year. Childress is building rapidly. New school buildings have been erected. A high school and two ward schools. Several hundred thousand dollars worth of improvements are underway. Childress people are happy at the outlook.

Big Day Thursday.

Thursday will be a big day here. The local high school Bobcats and Amarillo play football in the afternoon, possibly the first high school game of the season and there will be many other features.

Early Thursday the Wichita party will go to Wellington where, at 10 o'clock, Mayor Shepperd will open the Collingsworth County fair. Then the party will go to Mangum for the District fair and to Hobart for the night, returning to Wichita Falls late Friday.

AUSTIN, HUBBY RENAMED

Governor Makes Appointment Announcement Wednesday.

AUSTIN, Sept. 15.(AP)—Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson Wednesday reappointed Charles O. Austin state commissioner of banking, and T. E. Hubby, game, fish and oyster commissioner, for the term beginning September 1, 1925, and ending August 31, 1927.

They were appointed to fill out unexpired terms, and failure to reappoint them sooner apparently was due to an oversight.

BURGLAR ARRESTED

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 15.(AP)—James C. Palmer, 28, of San Antonio, Texas, was arrested early today on a charge of attempting to burglarize a safe in the Pan American Oil station here. Police said he was kneeling in front of the safe when captured. He was locked up.

FONCK SEEKS TO SPAN SEA IN BIG PLANE

Unfavorable Weather No Bar To Frenchman and His Crew

MINEOLA, N. Y., Sept. 16.(AP) The first non-stop flight from New York to Paris will start at 4:30 this morning, standard time, Lieutenant Lawrence Curtin announced shortly after midnight.

Despite unfavorable weather conditions near the American coast, the Sikorsky plane will take off at dawn with the expectation of rising above local disturbances, Lieutenant Curtin said. Captain Rene Fonck, leader of the flight, was notified by Lieutenant Curtin of the decision made after a study of late weather reports. The French aviator said he would accept Lieutenant Curtin's word and would be at the hangar at 4:05 this morning, prepared to leave 25 minutes later.

Now Or Never.

Lieutenant Frederick Nelson, who has aided Lieutenant Curtin at the hangar of the giant bi-plane gave out the following statement with Lieutenant Curtin's approval:

"Weather conditions are slightly below the average for this time of year, but it would be impossible to attempt the flight two weeks from now. At any season of the year there would likely be some bad weather encountered on such a long flight. It is planned to start today even if it is raining here.

Lieutenant Nelson said that clear weather was expected at New York and that the plane would then climb high above unfavorable winds until off New Foundaland. The storm area reported in the northern mid-Atlantic would be circled, he said.

Seek To Take Car; Caught At Quanah After Long Chase

Two men who rented a Ford car from the Lightsey "Drive-It-Yourself System" here Wednesday noon were arrested later in the day by an official of the company and Deputy Sheriff R. T. Gees, after they had trailed the pair nearly to Quanah.

The Lightsey company learned of the intention of the men to keep traveling in the machine and enlisted the aid of the officer. They trailed the car nearly to Quanah before catching it. The men were returned to Wichita Falls and locked up. They were on their way to Dalhart, they said.

ASKS HIGHWAY PATROL

Granberry Voices Plea For Adequate Protection of Roads.

AUSTIN, Sept. 15.(AP)—A state highway patrol would insure complete success of automobile headlight regulations, C. R. Granberry, who recently resigned as engineer of the headlight division of the highway department, to accept an instructorship in Texas university, said Wednesday.

He cited the fifty per cent reduction of night automobile accidents, since the headlight law went into effect as its justification.

CHURCHMEN MEETING

Evangelism Brings Out Growth, Speaker Declares.

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 15.(AP) How evangelism in the Christian churches of Texas has brought about a growth in the churches and a general prosperity in their organization, was told at the night session of the ninth district Wednesday night by the Rev. W. O. Dallas of Fort Worth.

About 150 delegates from the 20 counties in southwest Texas which make up the district were present for the meetings, which will close Thursday.

Middlewest Prays For A Noah's Ark To Take Them Out of Bondage

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.(AP) — A September of almost daily rains came to its half-way mark in the middle west today upon the crest of a new freshet, provoked by a general rain fall over six states. The downpour reached cloudburst proportions in some localities and sent rivers and creeks on the fourth rampage in a fortnight.

Uncontrollable waters near Princeville, Ill., caught fire when a pipe line burst and spread three million gallons of oil on the swollen surface of North Creek. The onrushing flames damaged bridges, timber and crops in a mile-wide swath for ten miles down stream, finally burning out today.

The brunt of the damage of last night's rain was borne by the corn crop.

Rainfall, which already approximated twelve inches in many sections of Illinois, Iowa and Missouri for the first two weeks of September, was swelled from one to four inches last night in these states and Wisconsin, Michigan and Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota, Ohio and Indiana also had scattered showers.

READ THIS FIRST:

MERRY LOCKE, pretty and gay as her name, is a born flirt. She has no ambition beyond having a good time and plenty of beaux. At 20 she fails in her course at business colege, because she won't study When her father dies she takes a job in LILLIE DALE'S beauty shop at a tiny salary.

MOMS, her mother, takes Lillie into her house to board when HELEN, the oldest daughter, marries BILL HEPWORTH. Then later, when CASSIE marries MORLEY KAUFMAN, her rich employer, she takes a MR. HEFFLINGER in to board, too.

At that time Merry is having the first real love affair of her life with TONY GAINES, a young lawyer who wants to marry her. Their engagement ends when Toney finds out that she has been running around with other men. A year later Merry hears that he is going to marry a girl in Montana, where he has gone to live.

Moms accepts the middle-aged attentions of Mr. Hafflinger, and JINNY, the youngest of the girls, quarrels with her about it. Later she elopes with Derrick Jones, who lives next door, and goes to live with his parents.

Through Morley Kaufman Merry meets BILL ERSKINE, a well-to-do bachelor. Bill falls in love with her fresh beauty and they become engaged. But for one reason and another he keeps putting off the wedding day. Finally he promises to marry her, when he returns from Florida, where he is going to stay with his mother and his sick father for a few months. During his absence Merry meets an old sweetheart of hers; LES PURCELL. Not knowing that he is married she sees a great deal of him. His wife threatens him with divorce and finally tries to kill herself. When Bill Erskine comes to town for a party given by Cassie and Morley in their fine new home, MURIEL KAUFMAN tells him about it, and Bill is furious. Merry does not hear from him for a long time. Then he writes to tell her that his father is dead and that as soon as he settles his mother's affairs in Florida he will come to see her and they'll be married in the early summer. Merry talks it over with Helen, who is expecting a second baby, one night when Bill Hepworth is out of town. Helen says no woman is truly happy who is not happily married.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XLIX

Late that night, Helen came into the spare bedroom where Merry was sleeping and wakened her. She had a coat on over her kimono and her hair was dragged back tightly from her white face.

"Merry," she said, turning on the lights, "I'm going to the hospital. I've phoned for the cab."

She caught her breath and her eyes darkened with sharp and sudden pain.

Then, with an effort, she went on: "Mother Hepworth will be over first thing in the morning and she knows just what to do for the baby. So if you'll just give it its

She Read It Again.

"Too bad—he had to go away just now, wasn't it?—I need him so—"

She started down the stairs as the taxicab came rolling up outside in the dark street. Merry followed her, and stood at the front door watching her drive away.

"Moms should be with her," she thought. But Helen had not wanted Moms. She had spoken only of wanting Bill Hepworth, her husband.

"Funny thing," Merry went on thinking, as she looked at the moon, small and silvery and high in the sky. "Funny thing that a man can mean more to a woman than her own mother—"

She turned back to the living room, and stood there in the middle of it, wondering if a little house like this would ever be Heaven to her, as this undoubtedly was to Helen.

She wondered if ever she would care for a man as Helen cared for Bill Hepworth—to care for him so much that it was joy to scrub the floors of his house, keep its windows bright, but a garden around it and peace and contentment within it.

She found herself shaking her head, as she went slowly back up stairs to bed. "I never could do it for Bill Erskine, anyway," she told herself.

When she looked forward to her marriage with Bill, she looked forward to the things he would give her. The beautiful house, the lovely clothes, the kind of automobile she had always longed for. A little jewel-case of an automobile—all shiny glass and paint and leather, with a cut-glass vase of flowers and a cigaret lighter and vanity case in the side, under the door.

But when she thought of actual marriage with Bill—of living with Bill—she just stopped thinking of it! Merry never let her mind dwell on unpleasant things, if she could help it.

"He's not exactly the man of my dreams," she admitted to herself lying in the darkness of Helen's spare bedroom.

But what else was there to do but to go ahead and marry him. As Moms said, he had "taken up two years of her time." Everybody was sure she was going to marry him. And besides, who else was there in sight to marry?

That night Helen's second baby—a little girl—was born. It lived only two hours, and the next morning at dawn Helen died, too.

Her death stunned the whole family. For weeks Moms went around the house dry-eyed and dazed-looking as if she couldn't realize what had happened.

Bill Hepworth took himself and his baby back to his father's house, and early in April the little house on Wandsworth Road was sold just as it stood—furniture and all—to a family with five children. The little house that had been an earthly Paradise to Helen.

"We might have bought it and gone there to live instead of staying in this old barn," Mr. Hefflinger remarked to Moms and Merry one morning at breakfast.

Outside the silvery wash of an April shower was turning the yard to emerald green. The leaves were just beginning to show themselves on the big willow tree at the gate. The old place had never looked so pretty to Merry's eyes as it looked that spring.

She shook her head at Mr. Hefflinger.

"Oh, no, Mr. Hefflinger!" she said. "We just never could move out of this old house until after I'm married—I never could be married any place but here in father's and mother's house."

Moms was frowning at her from behind the coffee percolator. She had asked Merry time and time again, not to mention Dad's name before Mr. Hefflinger.

"When do you expect to be married?" Moms' second husband asked heavily. "It seems to me you've been getting married ever since I've lived in this house."

Merry flushed and bit her lip. "I'm going to be married some time this summer," she said faintly.

She did not speak of her wedding with the same air of triumph that she might have mentioned it a year before. It had been put off so many times that she, herself, had her doubts of its ever coming off.

When she got home that night there was a letter from Bill for her on the hall table.

Then she read it again.

In its way, it was a masterpiece.

"My dear Merry," it ran. "I have been thinking about us—about you and me—a great deal lately.

And I have finally made up my mind to ask you to think things over as seriously as I have been doing. By 'things,' I mean our marriage, of course.

"My dear girl, do you think that you and I are really suited to one another, after all? I very much doubt it.

"You are barely twenty-two. I am getting dangerously close to forty-five. To the time of life when a man wants to settle down.

"Nothing looks so good to me, at my time of life, as my own fireside. And that would never satisfy you, Merry. You thrive on excitement, the bright lights, gayety and attention, not from one man, but many men.

"If you could not settle down to one man during your engagement what would you do in the dullness of married life? Take your love affairs with the married man whose wife tried to kill herself. If you had really cared for me, would you have had that little affair? Would you have run around with young Cabby Marsh, as Muriel tells me you have been running around with him? On the sly.

"Frankly, Merry, I do not believe you are ready for marriage. I

No more Wash Day hands
Savex

Poor abused hands!—red, roughened and coarsened! But it isn't the work that ruins them, it's hard water and ineffective soap.

Savex not only does its work well as a soap, a water softener and a bleach—all in one—but it protects your hands, keeping them firm and white. And of course if Savex won't hurt your hands it won't hurt delicate fabrics.

Use Savex in washing machine without soaking and rubbing. Use it in washtub or basin and soak and rub only badly soiled things. Moreover, boiling and bluing are unnecessary with Savex, for it is a mild, safe bleach. Follow directions and yellowed and stained things become "whitely white;" colored things wash like new, and silks and woolens retain their textile beauty.

Ravages Wrought By Constipation Are Appalling!

Constipation is a bad habit—a dangerous habit!

Constipation is probably the origin of more sickness and disease than all other causes combined. Professor Foges, of Vienna, says—"It is the most prolific source of disease." And other authorities declare that nine out of every ten persons are slowly poisoning themselves by letting CONSTIPATION continue.

Constipation can easily be stopped!

But you can't do it with ordinary methods. Salts, oils, cascaras and such things only reach part of the intestines and partially clean them. KLOK-LAX, on the other hand, clears and cleans out every inch of the twenty-eight foot drainage canal, including the stomach, upper and lower intestines.

That's the only way to really STOP CONSTIPATION. And KLOK-LAX is so easy and pleasant to take—just a tablet with a swallow of water at 9 tonight. No nausea—no griping—no time lost. Then, tomorrow, with your system thoroughly cleaned out of all poisons and wastes, you feel bubbling over with energy and vigor.

KLOK-LAX is the new improved method of overcoming constipation. Contains ingredients now recognized the world over for completely cleaning out the entire intestinal tract.

Everybody is using KLOK-LAX. And with poisonous wastes cleaned out, they find headaches done, skin cleared up, appetite with a hearty-taste and breath sweet and clean—and, instead of that dull, draggy, sluggish feeling they are active and alive.

Get KLOK-LAX from any good druggist.—Adv.

GULF STORM GROWS SEVERE

Bermuda Territory Involved In Disturbance Of Hurricane Force

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.(AP)—The tropical storm centered west of Bermuda was reported today by the weather bureau to be attended by hurricane force. Its location was latitude 33 north and longitude 70 west.

Another tropical disturbance located north of St. Kitts, Leeward Islands, Tuesday morning has moved almost directly westward and is centered a short distance north of St. Thomas, Virgin Islands. This disturbance has attained considerable intensity.

A third tropical storm which passed over central Cuba Monday night has increased in intensity and is now central a short distance south of Nassau, apparently moving northeastward.

"Caution advised vessels bound east of 80," a weather bureau storm warning said.

The Petter

do not believe you would make the kind of wife I want my wife to be.

"When I am with you, you attract me, charm me in a good many ways. You run away with my better judgment.

"But when I am away from you, and I have time to think things over, I feel sure you are not the woman for me. I have been feeling this way about you for the last seven or eight months. That is why I put off our marriage, last September, to tell you the plain truth.

"I do not want you to answer this letter right away. I want you to think over what I have written to you, before you give me your answer.

"You realize, of course, that the whole thing is up to you.

"Very sincerely yours,

"WILLIAM H. ERSKINE."

When she had finished reading the letter for the second time, Merry carried it upstairs with her.

She locked the door of her bedroom and sat down on the bed to read it again—with the eight pages scattered out in front of her on the snowy counterpane.

One sentence seemed to leap out at her from them: "If you had cared for me, would you have run around with Cabby Marsh, as Muriel says you have been running around with him?"

Her lip curled scornfully as she looked at Muriel Kaufman's written name. It was Muriel who had done this thing to her! Jealous, catty little Muriel who had told Bill about Nonie Purcell and about Cabby Marsh!

"She's been jealous of me ever since that time when Cabby kissed me, up at the Crow's Nest," thought Merry in the bitterness of her heart; "jealous of me, because I'm prettier than she is; because I can get 'most any man I want!"

Well, that was one comfort, anyway. That she could attract almost any man she cared to attract.

"And Bill Erskine isn't the only fish in the ocean!" Merry said to herself, as she put the letter away in a wooden box where she kept all the other letters that Bill had written to her. The other ones that he had signed "Yours forever 'n'ever, Billy," and "Yours 'til the cows come home, Bill."

The next morning, as soon as Merry heard her mother stirring around down stairs, she got up and went down to the kitchen in her kimono and bedroom slippers.

"Well!" Moms fairly exploded with surprise, "what gets you up so early in the morning?"

"This," Merry answered, and tossed Bill's letter on the table.

Moms, who was cutting bread, only looked at it from beneath raised brows.

"What did Bill have to say?" she asked, and in a dull toneless voice Merry told her what he had to say.

"He doesn't want to marry me. He thinks I'm too gay for him."

Moms snorted. "Humph!" said she. "It's taken him a good while to find it out, hasn't it?"

She brandished her break-knife as if it were a short-sword or some other kind of battle knife.

"Merry, I've told you all along that this very thing would happen, haven't I?" she asked. "I've told you that six months is plenty long enough for two people to be engaged to each other. There ought to be a law against long engagements! No man has any business taking up a girl's time unless he intends to marry her!"

She banged an iron frying pan down on the stove.

"Erskine is too old for you, and I've always said so. I'd be a lot happier if you had taken up with someone your own age. But you didn't—and if he thinks he's going to toss you aside now like an old glove, he's mighty mistaken!"

Merry glanced up at her with a quick, puzzled look.

"What can we do about it, Moms?" she asked. "There's nothing to do that I can see."

Moms gave another snort. "I didn't expect you to!" she answered in her short, sharp way. "But there are two things that I can think of right now, and I certainly am going to do both of them!"

Moms announces Merry's engagement in the newspaper. Moms' new husband finds fault with the actions of the family. Read it in tomorrow's chapter of "The Petter."

Clarendon Lions To "Sell The Club"

CLARENDON, Sept. 15.—On account of the many new members of the Clarendon Lions club not having the opportunity to attend state conventions and other activities that are usually taking up the time of the luncheons, President O. C. Watson, recently elected to the Clarendon club position, has arranged for a series of programs that will include the entire month on selling the real spirit of Lionism to its members.

Lion Dr. Wilder had charge of the first part of the month's program and gave the history both national and local of the Lion movement of the world. Lion Holcomb secretary manager of the Clarendon Chamber of Commerce had charge of the second week's work that dealt with the real meaning of true Lionism. Special emphasis was given to the ideals that have been set forth by the international for those who wear the emblem of true Lionism.

Cheers and Jeers Greet British Miners Who Go to Work

That there has been a break in the ranks of striking British coal miners is proved by this photo, the most recent one from the mining districts. It shows a small group of miners at Mansfield going to work while the strike continues. A crowd is following them, part of the crowd jeering and some cheering them for their return.

THE ARTISTIC TOUCH

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.(AP)—Captain J. A. Murdocks, arbiter elegantorium in London, is mightily perturbed because these Americans did not know what he meant when he said that the Prince of Wales was "well dressed with a sloppy touch." He said that his highness is "carelessly well dressed, seemingly without premeditation. Furthermore, King George has not abandoned these side creases to his trousers, the captain insists.

WOULD BRING BACK BODIES

War Dead Ought To Be Removed Froma France, Carraway Says

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—(AP) Senator T. H. Caraway, democrat of Arkansas, favors the return to America of the bodies of the United States soldiers dear who are buried in France, he told the Washington Post today, because insults have been written on the little white crosses over their graves.

On his return to the capital from a European trip during which he attended the interparliamentary union sessions at Geneva, he said that "to hell with America" and "vulgar expressions of every character" have been inscribed on the crosses.

"I wish congress would provide appropriations to bring home the bodies of the 30,000 American dead," he declared.

The Arkansas senator expressed the opinion that France "undoubtedly loves the German more than the American or Englishman, and carrying on campaign against her former friends is the principal occupation of her statesmen."

VALUATION FIXED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15. (AP) A final valuation of $2,088,500 was fixed by the interstate commerce commission today on the property of the Texas-Mexican railroad as of June 30, 1919. The railroad is the proptry of the National Railway of Mexico which has figured the investment valuation at $5,204,557.

Dallas Hi-Jackers Do Good Business

DALLAS, Sept. 15.(AP)—Three hi-jackers did a good business and got away with it in Dallas last night.

Two negro robbers held up and robbed J. Nagid and Mrs. Nagid at their dry goods store of diamonds valued at $400 and about $65 in currency. For the second time within a week, the Simms Oil station was robbed, this time of $48.

The negroes entered the Nagid store on a residence street in the guise of customers and got Nagid and his wife after separate purchases for them. At a signal both negroes, Nagid said, pulled out pistols and went through the traditional hold-up formula. One negro, Mrs. Nagid said, forced her to disengage her diamond earrings and hand them over. The other cleaned out the cash register. Both then fled warning the victims not to follow on the penalty of death.

DENIES SHOOTING

GARY, Ind., Sept. 14. (AP) William Donaldson, former Texan, on the witness stand today reiterated that he was not responsible for the fatal shooting of Joseph Mullins from ambush last April. The state contends that Donaldson killed Mullins so that he might marry Mrs. Mullins. Donaldson boarded at the Mullins home.

Defense attorneys confined their efforts to developing Donaldson's assertions that he signed a confession to get relief from third degree methods.

LANGLEY MAY GAIN PAROLE

Former Congressman Is Eligible for Release From Prison

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 15. (AP) John W. Langley, former congressman from Kentucky, serving a sentence in Atlanta federal penitentiary on conviction of conspiracy to violate the federal prohibition act, was recommended for parole by the parole board, it was learned today at the Atlanta prison.

The recommendation for clemency goes to Washington to Attorney General Sargent.

The board denied clemency to Neufeld Jones, former assistant prohibition director for Georgia, and his brother, Winfield, both of whom are serving two-year sentences at the Atlanta federal prison for conspiracy to violate the prohibition law.

AIR MAIL INCREASES

Houston Feeder Line Increasing, Says Report

HOUSTON, Sept. 15.(AP)—The amount of air mail leaving Houston for the Dallas-Chicago airplanes is gradually increasing according to R. F. Cherry who with Fred Schilling, are district representatives here for National Air Transport, Inc.

When the service was first inaugurated a few months ago only about four pounds a day went out of Houston. This has increased to as high as 14 pounds a day and the average daily increase is about five pounds, Mr. Cheery said.

KILLED BY TRAIN

Two Badly Mangled Under L. & G. N. Freight.

PALESTINE, Texas, Sept. 15. (AP)—Two unidentified white men were mangled by an International Great Northern freight train a mile south of Neches today. One was killed outright, and the other probably will die. He is in a hospital here.

The engineer said the men were walking up the track and failed to step off in time.

A scrap of paper showed that the dead man had picked cotton for Jim Batton near Jacksonville, was the only clue to the victim's identity. The wounded man's condition was too serio.. today for him to make a statement.

Kansas City Workers Are Victims of Premature Explosion

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 15. (AP) Eight workmen met death 300 feet under the bed of the Missouri river here today in a premature explosion of dynamite in the waterworks tunnel being bored to north Kansas City.

Rescue workers who had toiled all day in the gas laden air of the tunnel reached the bodies of the victims early tonight. All apparently had been killed instantly by the force of the blast, which did considerable damage to the bore.

Arrangements were immediately made to bring the bodies, which were still locked in the tunnel by a mass of twisted debris, to the surface as soon as they can be extricated.

News that the men were all dead came after rescue workers had battled all day against noxious gasses in the tunnel and the wreckage created by the explosion.

In New Water Tunnel.

The tunnel is to connect Kansas City with the city's new pumping station in north Kansas City and crews were working on both sides of the river to drive the big bore under the bed of the Missouri. The ventilating system which consists of a 15-inch air pipe was wrecked by the blast for more than 1,500 feet and workers had to replace this as they progressed.

Approximately 200 pounds of dynamite are thought to have exploded in the tunnel. Officials of the contracting company said that the explosion probably occurred just as the men were preparing a shot and were handling the dynamite with caps on it.

All of the men are residents of Kansas City.

County Will Dust Off Traffic Laws

Announcement was made yesterday from the office of the county attorney that peace officers in the county had been notified to enforce traffic violations of all kinds, beginning Monday. Complaints have been coming in in great numbers lately concerning the new headlight regulation, and reasons for a number of automobile accidents recently have been assigned to glaring headlights of automobiles on the highways.

Drivers have been running on the improved highways with the rims of their automobiles, and that is a violation of the state law, it was said.

Drivers who are found guilty of driving at night with glaring headlights will be given a statutory warning to have their lights retested and adjusted, and unless the law is adhered to, punishment will be meted out to them, it was said.

Worth Pleased At Prospect For Pageant

Hal C. Worth, who is staging the Pageant of Progress for the fair this year, feels that his work is appreciated more fully in the western towns and cities, and is very proud of the showing he is making at the Childress county fair where he is putting on a big pageant.

The Childress spectacle is known as a "Night in the Orient," and is a showing of Japanese scenes which requires about six hundred children to play it. The pageant was staged Tuesday night at Childress and played to more than 7,000 paid admissions, and Mr. Worth is jubilant, because he stated here that the pageant at the Texas-Oklahoma fair will be much larger and more spectacular, and ought to draw double the crowd he had in Childress.

ROBBINS GOES EAST

Horrace Robbins of the Robbins Insurance company has been called to Baltimore by the home office of the Fidelity and Trust company to confer with officials in regard to the road bond situation in Texas. He also was informed that his firm ranked second in the state in amount of business since the first of the year, and he was awarded by the company a complimentary trip to the Dempsey-Tunney fight.

FEELING LOTS BETTER NOW

Writes Ethel May Snider Who Used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Hartford City, Ind.—Doing housework and taking care of a sick woman proved to be too much for Ethel May Snider, R. R. 1 of Hartford City, until she started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Overwork had so undermined her health that she had to give up all outside work, and when she saw this medicine advertised in the "Star" and other papers, she went to a druggist and got a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She took it regularly, was greatly benefited and now feels very much better.

Ethel May Snider's experience is similar to that of thousands of other women in all walks of life, who have sent testimonials to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company of Lynn, Mass.

From Maine to California, from Wisconsin to Texas, and from Nebraska to Florida letters are received every day from grateful women who say the Vegetable Compound has helped to restore their health.

Women's Club In Formal Plea For Space At T-O Fair

The Women's Home Demonstration club at County Line, which lies north of Electra, made a formal request for a special exhibition space at the Texas-Oklahoma fair yesterday, according to Miss Louise Webb, home demonstration agent for this county. The club plans to have a special exhibit of club work, most of which will be a complete line of canned fruits, vegetables and meats, and are making elaborate plans for the fair.

"The County Line Club," Miss Webb stated, "is one of the oldest clubs in the county, and has been doing good service for several years. The club now has seventeen working members, of which Mrs. Jim Denton is president, and Mrs. Tom Taynes secretary.

A meeting of the club members will be held Friday of this other arrangements for the fair week to do canning and make other arrangements for the fair exhibits, and Mrs. O. A. Whittenbach will have charge of the canning arrangements.

Clara To Show At T-O Exhibit

Clara club, which is located north of Iowa Park, is one of the most active and progressive clubs in the County Home Demonstration work, according to Miss Louise Webb, home demonstration agent, who yesterday received a request from the club to arrange for a special booth for them at the Texas-Oklahoma fair.

Clara is one of the youngest clubs in the county, having been organized by Miss Webb last June. From the very start the club has worked hard and there are now twenty women enrolled, with plenty of activity for everybody. Mrs. Jack Hamner, president of the club, will call a special meeting of the club for an all day canning bee Tuesday and the canning work done will be placed on exhibition at the fair along with a fine exhibit of sewing and other housewife accomplishments.

Mrs. E. W. Cullers, secretary of the club, wrote to Mayor Shepherd requesting one of their very best booths for the showing of its exhabits, and they have been assured that a good space will be saved for them.

Business Council To Hear Of Fair

The meeting of the business council of the chamber of commerce Friday noon will be under the direction of officers of the Texas-Oklahoma Fair association. An elaborate program has been outlined for the event. W. B. Hamilton, president of the fair association, will be the principal speaker, and other prominent men of the city are on the program.

Two other speakers are also expected to be present. John T. Wortham, head of the Wortham Shows will be at the meeting and give a complete outline of the exhibitions the show will display at the fair this year. Mr. Wortham has ordered all of the attractions belonging to the show to prepare to entrain for Wichita Falls, and the business council will get some advance information on what the Wortham Shows will do to make the Texas-Oklahoma fair a success.

Hal C. Worth, who has been engaged to promote and produce the pageant of progress for the fair, will tell the council all about the progress he is making with the pageant.

Pimples gone! a clean shave ready to meet the world

THEY'RE GONE! Those unsightly, annoying pimples that were such an embarrassment to you. Absolutely disappeared! S. S. S., the powerful blood cleanser and red, blood builder, did it!

Now you know what to do about such skin eruptions. Now you know how foolish it is to let pimples, blackheads, boils, blotches, eczema and such things remain to handicap you.

Now that you are free of such unsightly things, people will welcome you—like to see you and talk to you, instead of making excuses to keep out of your way.

When S. S. S. starts charging through your blood, skin troubles fade away. Your whole system is improved—nerves strengthened—appetite returns—strength and power comes back into flabby muscles—you feel like yourself again.

S. S. S. is sold by all druggists. Get the larger bottle. It's more economical.

RICHARDSON IS BIBLE SPEAKER

Methodist Official Talks To First Christian Bible Class Here

Dr. Frank Richardson in his address at the adult Bible class rally at the First Christian church last night declared "No man ever graduates from the textbook of the Bible school class. That man commits religious suicide who neglects his opportunity in the organized Bible class."

Dr. Richardson, who is presiding elder for the Methodist Episcopal church, south, in this district, spoke to a large audience around the banquet tables on "The Place and Power of the Adult Bible Class."

Out of afruitful and extended experience in the ministry Dr. Richardson brought his observations.

He declared, "The future of any church is not in the hands of the pastor; it is in the hands of the adults in the Sunday school. The men of a church can make or unmake a pastor. The greatest asset of any church is a great men's class in its school. It is the recruiting ground for leaders. It is like a hot house sweet potato bed, its fresh supply of 'new plants' is continuous. They are always ready with more trained leaders, as fast as the older ones are set to work elsewhere.

The modern church program cannot be put over by just holding a summer revival meeting. The adult Bible class is the continual evangelistic power that is absolutely necessary if the church is to reach its field. Expose men to the Bible and fellowship with christian."

Wm. J. Spreen announced that the regular church night programs will start next Wednesday night. Class conferences followed the address. New officers for the Men's Bible class were elected as follows: President, J. Tol Camp; vice-president, J. Tol Camp; vice-president, C. W. Corin; secretary, C. E. Stevens; teacher, Dr. Bash; assistant teacher, B. C. McCarty.

Two hundred and thirty additions have been made to Floral Heights Methodist church in the last year, according to reports made at an official meeting of the senior board Tuesday night at the church.

Plans for the closing of the conference year were made, W. P. Ferguson, chairman of the board, said that the finances of the church were in better condition than ever before in the history of the church.

BOOSTERS TO ATTEND FAIR.

Optimists Hear Of Pecan Possibilities

Possibilities of the Wichita Irrigated Valley as a pecan raising section were discussed before the Optimists club Wednesday at the noon luncheon by Mora Clark, who has established a pecan orchard near the city. He expressed the opinion that climatic conditions in this vicinity the soil and the irrigation of the valley are suitable for pecan culture on a commercial scale.

Entertainment was furnished by Mrs. Gladys Land who sang two solos, "Danny Boy," and "Chinese Lullaby," with piano accompaniment by Miss Karma Yeager.

Ira L. Cain made a short talk asking the Optimist club to cooperate with the Boy Scouts who are acting as junior traffic officers in the regions of the public schools. The boys have been vested with police power and their stop signs should be obeyed as though they were uniformed traffic officers.

Mr. C. C. Randle and Mrs. Chas. Pogenpohl spoke in the interest the "clean up" week campaign which is sponsored by the civic league and the city. Clean up week is September 20-25.

Revival Gaining At Bowman Church

The revival now in progress at Bowman church of Christ is continuing with interest growing each service, it was reported last night. Evangelist L. S. Fitzgerald of Weatherford is doing the preaching. The meeting will continue through Sunday and the following subjects will be discussed as follows:

"Paul's Funeral," "Open Thy Mouth Wide and I Will Fill It;" "The Claim of Salvation;" "Heartfelt Religion;" "Reasons for Our Existence;" "Christian Worship;" "What We Teach and Why We Teach It." An invitation has been extended the public to attend the services.

NEW STYLE FEATURES.

BRECKENRIDGE, Sept. 15. A number of new and pleasing effects will be incorporated in the style show which will close the three days' session of the Oil Belt fair here on the evening of September 30.

A stage costing over $200 will be erected before the huge grandstand at the fair grounds and this will be fitted up with the necessary fixtures and incased in decorations which will set off artistically the beautiful models and styles which will be exhibited there.

Among the showings there will be a number of men's models. Two vaudeville acts will give comedy relief to the displays.

NEGRO INJURED.

FREDERICK, Okla., Sept. 15. Badly bruised and bleeding profusely, Louis Albert, negro, was picked up from the highway southeast of Frederick Monday evening and was taken to the Tillman county hospital, where his injuries were dressed. The negro leaped from a truck directly in front of an oncoming car driven by Francis W. Bakin, geologist, Oklahoma City. The injured man will recover.

Senator Charles Murphy of Houston introduced a resolution to inquire into its campaign expenditures. It was referred to the committee on elections.

Want To Find Out

The resolution declared that public charges have been made of the expenditure of great sums of money in the campaign, in violation of the laws of the state, and that it is of interest and welfare of the people of Texas to know who contributed the money spent in behalf of the candidates, how much and for what reason. It asks for appointment of a committee of three senators to investigate all candidates for nomination of state officers, and their methods of securing contributions and the amounts expended. Appropriation of $15,000,000 to carry on the work is requested.

The board of control and the comptroller's department submitted to senator John Davis of Dallas, requests for emergency appropriations aggregating $450,000 but Governor Ferguson said that unless a formal request was made of her she was not inclined to submit it. Senator Davis said he saw fit not to make the request at this time.

Senator Davis, chairman of the finance committee, said that the deficiency appropriation bill to pay the $1,500,000 deficiency appropriations granted by Governor Ferguson, would be passed out Thursday to the senate for consideration.

42 Reported Back

Of the 208 validation bills introduced in the senate, 42 have been reported back by committees as favorable, and if the nominations committee does not report Thursday morning, the first district validating bill will be voted on.

It was rumored that if Mosely and Cage were not confirmed, that Governor Ferguson would appoint L. W. Kemp of Houston and R. M. Hubbard of New Boston, to the highway commission. Kemp is the man who instigated the fight against the old highway commission, which resulted in the resignation of Frank Lanham of Dallas and Joe Burkett of Eastland. Hubbard is former chairman of the state highway commission, and both he and Mr. Kemp have been ardent Moody supporters. While neither would be opposed to accepting the appointments, both have expressed themselves as not being inclined to accept the appointments from Governor Ferguson.

New Nurse Here For School Duties In Coming Term

Miss E. Fredericka Beal of Iola, Kan., who was recently chosen public school nurse of the local chapter of Red Cross, arrived here Wednesday to take up her duties in connection with the schools of the city. She came here from Iola, where she has been doing work in the public schools, and during the summer has been studying in Denver, Colo., in connection with her work.

Miss Beal succeeds Miss Mary Quinn, senior Red Cross nurse, who resigned several months ago.

COLLEGE HAS 35 NEW ONES

Students From Out of Town Comprise A Large Class

At least 35 of the 200 or more of the students now enrolled in the classes at Junior college are new in the public schools of Wichita Falls. Some of this number are out-of-town pupils, some are new residents in the city, and two are graduates of the local St. Mary's academy. Registration Wednesday brought the total well up to 200, and it is probable that several will come in later.

Those who are attending the Junior college as new pupils in the Wichita Falls system of public schools are: Misses Mary de Aguirre, Helen Bailey, Noma Belden, Mary Alice Bone, Vance Brister, Jane Dabney, Gerda Ekurt, Mary Catherine Gould, Catherine Griffin, Olive Hill, Mary Ruddy, Juanita Scarbrough, Hazel Schultz, Mary Evelyn Sherwood, Gracia Swanson, Mildred Tapp, Gladys Walker, Delma Wilson, Thelma Word, Fay Yauger; Mesdames A. B. Banowsky, Mary Brock, Paul Byrd; Messrs. James Boyd, Alexander Cameron, Alton Collins, J. J. Davis, Victor Eckler, Gene Forman, B. F. Gilchrist, Ralph King, Clyde Owens, William Thomson, Milton Wagenfuehr, Lowell Williams.

Regular classes were held Tuesday and Wednesday and the few who are expected to enroll yet will be easily adjusted to the schedule, which is apparently one of the most efficient ever used in the college. Student activities, club meetings, etc., will probably begin next week, and all students and teachers will settle down into the regular routine of school life.

TO PUBLISH NOTICES

SHAMROCK, Texas, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Wheeler county will publish notices beginning this week in preparation for validation of its district road bonds, County Judge A. C. Wood announced Tuesday.

Dispatches published last week said there were indications that Wheeler county would make no effort to validate its special district bonds, but information here shows that County Judge Wood had received no notice from the Texas highway association until after he read state papers carrying the above-mentioned dispatches.

Coffee isn't just coffee. Between a pound of so-called "cheap" coffee and a pound of M·J·B there's a heap o' difference. In fact, actual kitchen-laboratory tests have proved beyond question that M·J·B has far more body, more strength, more coffee substance.

It's concentrated coffee—that's why!

There's nothing weak or half-hearted about M·J·B. Fragrance, flavor, aroma, strength—all are there not only in full measure, but extra measure. You can use less of M·J·B and still have a rich, full-flavored drink that no "cheap" coffee could hope to give you.

It is all right to buy your coffee by the pound, but it is all wrong to measure its cost that way. Measure it, rather, by its cost per cup—and you'll find M·J·B easily your best coffee-buy.

Remember, too, that the economy of M·J·B is sealed in by our patented vacuum process. Every bit of the extra strength that makes M·J·B truly economical is locked in the airtight tin. Nothing is lost; you get it all! Put it up to M·J·B and see!

TOO MUCH OIL DESPITE SLUMP

Market Affected By High Production; New Drilling Discouraged

TULSA, Okla., Sept. 15.(AP) While crude oil production of the nation fell off the past week, for the first time in more than two months of steady increase, it is still too high for the industry to feel any too optimistic over the situation. Heads of major concerns in all of the states that comprise the Mid-Continent frankly declare that there are not enough dry holes.

Oil fields of the country are estimated as making around 2,315,000 barrels a day, a loss of 19,000 barrels a day in a week's time.

Field activity in the Mid-Continent continues at a brisk pace, and as exploration work is now conducted on a more scientific basis, the extensive wildcatting adds another element of concern to the executives.

Still another feeling of uncertainty is the approach of fall weather, with a slackening in consumption of gasoline. This product is already sensing the change in atmospheric conditions, and wholesale prices are softening. The present stability of the refinery markets is burning oils, notably kerosene and fuel oil.

Major oil men are starting to discourage new drilling, assisting in a financial way only tests that must be drilled to maintain leases, or where offsets must be developed.

TEXAS ET AL, THOM

The Texas company and Harry Hines No. 1 on the Fred Thom land and located 450 feet north and 150 feet west of the southeast corner of the W. H. Spillers survey, abstract 257, north Archer county, has started making hole. It is three miles southwest of the Panhandle's producer on the Griffin estate in south Wichita county.

HUMBLE, CHAUNCEY

The Humble Oil and Refining company's wildcat on the Chauncey and Gambill fee in section 21, block 11, extreme northern Wilbarger county has penetrated an excellent looking sand at 3,200 feet, with considerable gas, which will be tested and if it pays off this discovery will open up a large territory for further exploitation.

UPTON COUNTY

Independent Oil and Gas company's No. 2 Burleson, in section 100, Jones Survey, of Upton county, Texas, in the Crane-Upton field, is reported to be flowing 50 barrels per hour from sand topped at 2,310 feet.

MARLAND, THOMAS

The Marland Oil company has started drilling on No. 11 Thomas, located 750 feet from the south line and 450 feet from the west line of block 5, W. H. Thomas survey in Archer county.

$40,000 Paid For Eastland Acreage

Independent Oil and Gas company announces the purchase of a one-half interest in a 1,200 acre lease in Eastland county, Texas. The lease is located in block 3, H. & T. C. survey, and was bought from Corsellus and associates of Eastland, Texas, for a consideration of $40,000.

There is one well making 90 barrels of oil daily, and 2,000,000 feet of gas, the well being in the southeast of the southwest of section 46. The other half interest in the lease is the property of the Chestnut-Smith corporation.

THE PRINCE OF STYLE

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 15 (AP) Women are likely to be bald because of bobs, in the opinion of one hair dresser at the hair dressers' convention. Bobs have led to the fad of tight hats which cause the hair to fall out. Some of the delegates who have earned quite a lot at shingling disagree with him.

FRENCH HAPPED AGAIN

Fascist Part- Issued Orders Spraying Invective On France

ROME, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Orders issued to the fascist party by its dir. .tory today refer vehemently to the French attitude in refusing to accept any responsibility in the case of Gino Lucetti, who came from France to make his attempt against the life of Premier Mussolini. The orders say in part:

"The land of France, for whose safety some of our 500,000 war dead fell, has been for years the most hospitable land for all those hatching in their perfidious hearts hatred against Italy."

ROXIE MARRIED

WASHINGTON COURTHOUSE, Ohio, Sept. 15.— (AP)—Roxie Stinson, divorced wife of the late Jesse W. Smith and who gave sensational testimony in the senate hearing during the investigation of the attorney general's ofice under Harry M. Daughterty, was married at Covington, Ky., September 3 to Phillip E. Brast, an oil operator, she announced here today on her return from New York.

Natural Gas Used In Childress Now

CHILDRESS, Sept. 15. (AP) Natural gas was lighted for the first time here last night.

A big torch fed from the pipe line to Wheeler county fields near-80 miles away was touched off at the fair grounds. The line has been completed at a cost said to be around five million dollars, and is supplied from what is called the world's largest gas well, making more than two hundred million cubic feet daily.

MAYBE HE WON'T

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.(AP)—Elbert H. Gary is tending so strictly to business daily as his 80th birthday approaches that there is considerable doubt in Wall Street of reports that he is going to retire as chairman of United States steel which he has directed for quarter of a century. His birthday comes October 8.

News of The Fields

SIMMS ET AL, TURB

The Simms Oil company and Burleson are rigging up rotary for a test located 1,950 feet west and 760 feet north of the southeast corner of block 142, Robt. Carson survey, Archer county.

MARLAND, WHITE

The Marland Oil company is moving in for No. 2 A. J. White, located 450 feet from the north line and 450 feet from the east line of block 111, Harris subdivision of the Club ranch in south Archer county.

PANHANDLE, YOUNG

The Panhandle Refining company is getting under way on its two offsets to the recently completed No. 1 Prideaux in the southwest corner of the McMullen survey in northeast Young county. This producer is reported holding up nicely for that territory. No. 2 Prideaux, 300 feet east of No. 1, is drilling at 400 feet. No. 1 Mathews, offsetting the producer to the south and located in the Assocoe Rohus survey, abstract 240, was spudding Wednesday.

ATLANTIC, LOGAN

The Atlantic Producing company No. 1 Logan, in the northwest corner of the J. W. Taylor survey, block 25, and southwest of Archer City, is in a sand at 1,218-20 feet and is showing plenty of oil and no water. This well is about two and a half miles southeast of the Oldham pool.

SPINDLETOP

The Spindletop field, near Beaumont, Texas, on the Gulf Coast, is now approximating 85,000 barrels a day. The Gulf Production company has completed two wells there for 6,500 barrels a day, bringing its output there to around 37,000 barrels a day, or 5,000 barrels more than the Yount Lee Oil company, discoverers of the deeper sand, and second largest producer there.

PANHANDLE, WILSON

The No. 1 L. F. Wilson test of the Panhandle Refining company is spudding. Its location is 1,350 feet west of the east line and 1,700 feet north of the south line of section 111, ATNCL survey, Archer county. It is in the Rattle Snake canyon vicinity and about 3 miles northwest of the Turbeville pool.

AMERICAN, TURB

The American Refining company No. 4 Turbeville, block 150 of the Carson survey in Archer county, drilled through a good looking but non-productive oil sand topped at 1,511 feet and at last reports was drilling ahead at 1,520 feet.

DANGELMYER

Lynch, Stahl and Burrell will bail their No. 1 Dangelmyer in block 17, George Ivy survey, two miles north of Munster in northeast Cooke county Thursday. This well is in a sand at 796 to 806 feet which shows oil and it has some gas. Being in a strictly wildcat territory, it is watched with interest.

SCOUTS GIVEN MEDAL HONORS

Oklahoma Boys Rewarded In Panhandle Council Session

WELLINGTON, Texas, Sept. 15. Herbert Campbell, age 17 and Edwin Wilson, age 16, both of Texhoma, Okla., were honored for distinguished service rendered at the September meeting of the Panhandle council of boy scouts of America, which was held in Wellington this week. In July 1926 Campbell and Wilson rescued a man from a running stream after he had been rendered unconscious from diving. Although the man was much heavier than the boys, they succeeded in dragging him from the water to the ground, where they applied artificial respiration so skillfully that his life was saved.

G. A. P. Parker of Hereford, president of the council, presided at the meeting which followed the six-course dinner which was served to the delegates. C. C. Small, mayor of Wellington, made the address of welcome, and G. A. P. Parker responded. The principal address of the evening was made by Bishop Cecil Seaman of Amarillo. Seaman's address was presented with eloquence as he told in a dramatic manner the principals of the boy scout movement.

Short addresses were made by national councilmen, L. C. White and Field Executive F. D. Craft, both of Amarillo.

Delegates were in attendance from Amarillo, Hereford and Canadian, Texas. Texhoma, Guymon and Hooker, Okla.

Kell Invests In Breckenridge Hotel

BRECKENRIDGE, Sept. 15. Frank Kell, Wichita Falls capitalist and president of the Wichita Falls and Southern railroad, telegraphed the local chamber of commerce recently that he was subscribing $1,000 stock in the new hotel which will be erected here at a cost of half a million dollars.

Mr. Kell always displayed a liberal and progressive interest in enterprises here, having contributed largely to the building of the $125,000 Y. M. C. A. building as well as other enterprises.

Breckenridge Will Have White Way

BRECKENRIDGE, Sept. 15. Contract for a white way for the business district of Breckenridge was signed by Mayor B. S. Walker here this week.

The contract calls for the installation of almost 100 large street lights on standards 12 feet high and when installed the white way will represent one of the most beautiful and efficient systems in West Texas, it is declared.

CHANGES HER MINDD

DALLAS, Sept. 15.(AP)—One of two women here who had agreed to end their life by taking poison renounced her part of the compact when she saw a physician minister to her friend who swallowed a fatal potion first, and may die.

The operation of a stomach pump on her companion caused the first woman to change her mind, she said. She declared she had rather live and fight it out than face risk of having a stomach pump applied to her.

Irving Gives Up Big Liquor Still

DALLAS, Sept. 15.(AP)—Federal prohibition agents late yesterday raided an elaborate whisky distillery near Irving, Texas, and went through the usual procedure of confiscation. One man was arrested and several others are being sought.

A 50-gallon copper, gasoline heated still, a truck load of booze making supplies and some 2,000 gallons of mash were found. A water cooling system operated by pumps to the nearby river, was in operation.

It was the biggest haul officers have made here abouts since the dismantling of a huge underground plant in Oak Cliff addition two years ago.

Ben Lyon in "The Savage"

Rapid Fire Comedy Comes to Olympic

Motion picture lovers who like good, clean, side-splitting comedy mixed with plenty of thrills and a delightful love story should not miss seeing "The Savage," which opened yesterday at the Olympic theater. First National is to be congratulated on this picture.

Ben Lyon and May McAvoy have the featured roles, and it is rarely that one sees such a brilliant couple so admirably cast. The part of the savage seems made for Ben, and Miss McAvoy, as always, gives a splendid performance. Sam Hardy, who scored such a hit in "Bluebeard's Seven Wives," in which he appeared as a press agent, scores another in this picture as Ben's man ng editor. Philo McCollough as the "heavy" is well cast and performs admirably, as does Charlotte Walker, and Tom Maguire in the role of an eccentric and hen-pecked old scientist is the last word in perfect casting.

Then there is a surprise in the nature of a prehistoric brontosaurus which Ben rides wildly over a jungle island. The picture is filled with laughs. It was directed by Fred Newmeyer, who directed Harold Lloyd for the past eight years, and he has lost none of his side-splitting. It is an excellent picture.

FITZGERALD

fice holders should make the constitution the touchstone of their officials acts and they should claim or attempt to exercise any greater authority than is conferred upon them under the constitution and the statutes enacted persuant thereto."

Thus, the people make governors, they make legislators, they make the judges of the courts. They make all the officers, major and minor, from the highest to the lowest. All are servants of the people, all are paid by the people, and all should harken to the will of the people as expressed at the ballot box.

* * *

THERE has been a ballot box expression in Texas. That expression was heard around the American world. It spoke for immediate bond validation through the legislative department of government and it spoke by and with the authority vested in the people who are the source of all power in a democracy.

This for the lawmakers. This for the politicians who are not lawmakers. This for the property owners and taxpayers of Texas. This for all of the people who believe in a government of and for and by the people as ordained by the fathers of this republic.

There is business before the lawmakers. They are Texans, they are democrats and should be and no doubt are proud of their state and its history. They are assembled to enact legislation which will bring about the restoration of the credit of Texas and to tell it to the world that the credit of the commonwealth never has and never will be tarnished by the hand of the demagogue or the ballot of the repudiator.

Thank God for that.

* * *

AT THE ballot box in July and August a half million democrats declared themselves to be the masters and these they placed in office their servants. They made the same declaration in the platform that was made and adopted, as their last expression in ther state convention at San Antonio.

As has been shown in this article they demanded first the validation of bonds and the restoration of the credit of the state. Then what did they say relative to special session legislation on the part of their servants. The lawmakers of the commonwealth? There are men who may not have read the platform declaration of the San Antonio convention. For those who have not read it and those who have not read this declaration is incorporated in this story:

"We favor an investigation of all departments of the government and especially of highway contracts let by the highway commission in 1925 and 1926 TO Be CONDUCTED BY THE 40TH LEGISLATURE COMING FRESH FROM THE PEOPLE."

Let the people rule.

TOO MANY BUFFALO

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—(AP) There's another surplus of buffalo in Yellowstone national park and the interior department will give either bull of cow to any one paying the express charges. Purchasers were warned today, however, that the animals will not stand for petting.

Fire Threatens Utah Mine Town

BINGHAM, Utah, Sept. 15.(AP) Fire which for a time threatened a large portion of this mining camp was brought under control this afternoon after it had destroyed Dahlstrom's boarding house and the Holt Rosary Catholic church. No one was hurt. The loss is placed at $20,000.

KILLED BY BEE STING

REDDING, Cal., Sept. 15.—(AP)—Mrs. Henrietta Wing, wife of a bee keeper at Cottonwood, was stung by a bee at 8 o'clock last night and died within two hours. Her heart became affected, her physician said. She had handled bees for years and a bee sting had never bothered her before.

Speeds To Dead Wife, Believing Her Badly Hurt

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.(AP)—Charles Edison, son of Thomas A. Edison, who has just been made president of the Edison Industries, during a visit here announced that to compete with the radio, the phonograph industry would shortly offer a 40-minute record.

"My father has been working on the long playing record for two years," he said. "It will play 20 minutes to each side.

"Long recital programs that formerly required an album of records may then be contained on a single disc."

The phonograph industry after having been almost wiped out by the automobile and radio crazes and the home building campaign, is coming into its own again, he said.

PATROLMAN SAVES LIVES

He Notices Smoke Coming From House; Rouses Sleepers

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 15.—(AP) Observance of Patrolman F. Ackerman saved the lives of four persons whe fire nearly destroyed a two story rooming house shortly before daylight Wednesday.

Ackerman noticed a thin wisp of smoke rising from the top of the rooming house. Believing there must be a fire in the attic, he went up stairs and roused two men and two women from their sleep just as the flames began to descend from the ceiling.

FARMER HANGS SELF

Denton Man Found Dead At His Home

DENTON, Sept. 15.(AP)—The body of J. S. Grant, 79, retired farmer, was discovered hanging from a door at his home here late Tuesday by his daughter, Miss Willie M. Grant, upon her return from a trip to town.

A verdict of suicide by hanging was returned by Justice J. G. Boyd, following an inquest last night. Grant's wife died a year ago and he hd been in ill health for several months. Eight children survive.

RETRIAL IS ASKED

McDonald Will Case Appealed By Lawyers

PARIS, Sept. 15.—(AP)—Motion for retrial of the W. J. McDonald will case has been filed in district court here by attorneys for relatives seeking to break the will, which leaves about $1,000,000 to the University of Texas for establishment of astronomical observatory. A jury awarded a verdict for the proponents last Saturday.

Indications are a date for hearing on the motion will be ste soon. Court is still in session.

EMBARGO ON ARMS

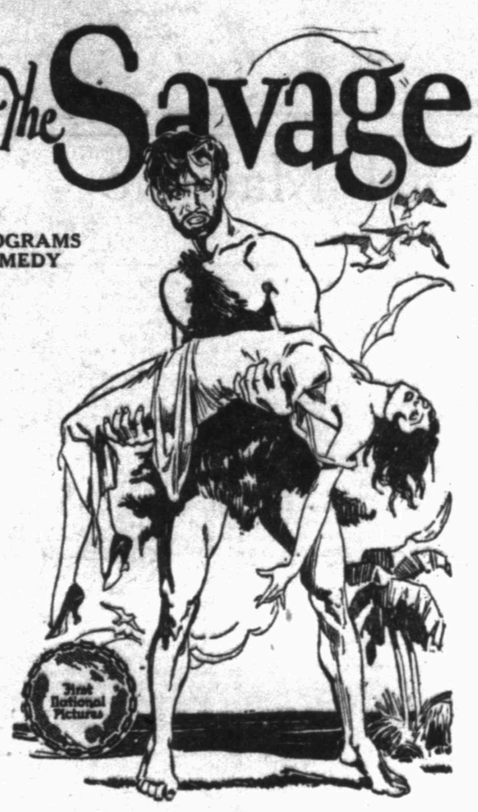

PAUL SMITH'S, N. Y., Sept. 15. (AP)—President Coolidge today issued a proclamation placing an embargo on the shipment of arms to Nicaragua.

The step was taken by the chief executive in response to a recommendation made by the state department in view of local disturbances in the Central American country.

San Antonio Death Inquiry Resumed

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 15.(AP)—Following a new trail revealed in the light of the arrest of a strange "mystery man," in Portland, Me., officers here, led by District Attorney C. M. Chambers, Wednesday once more took up the investigation of the killing last September of Ada McCobb, recluse and globe trotter, who was found beaten to death with a hammer in a rooming house.

Though Mabel Longworth Sheridan, daughter of Mrs. McCobb's landlady, was found in Mrs. McCobb's room held in the iron grip of the dying woman, and now held under bond on a charge of having killed her, new developments in the case, it is said, may prove it was not she but a man who swung the hammer that ended the life of the aged eccentric.

San Antonio Chasing Reptiles Out Of River.

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 15.(AP) St. Patrick chased the snakes out of Ireland and city employes are chasing them out of the Martinez creek.

The city, in its flood prevention program, is cleaning brush out of the creek, and the snakes, having no place left for hiding, are staging a general exodus, hiding under houses in the vicinity.

Police are at loggerheads as to what method would be most successful in routing the snakes.

Jackson Banks To Ad Service Charge

ALTUS, Sept. 15.—Because of the expense of handling accounts so small that the interest earned on them can not cover the cost of banking the accounts, all the banks in Jackson county will make an additional charge of 50 cents on each checking account under $50 after October 1, bankers agreed in a county meeting recently.

CONVICTS CAPTURED

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Sept. 15. (AP)—Three hours after Joe Walling and Jack Colbaugh had sawed their way to freedom through the roof of the Bom Green county jail here last night, police captured Walling in the act with Colbaugh of burglarizing W. J. Bates, suburban grocery, they reported.

Colbaugh, under indictment for burglary, escaped under fire but is believed to have been wounded in the hand.

REWARD FOR HICKMAN

Insurance Company Mails Captain $500 Check.

DALLAS, Sept. 15.(AP)—Ranger Captain Tom Hickman is to receive another reward for shooting down two bank robbers caught looting the Red River National bank at Clarksville last Thursday.

A check for $500 has been mailed to Hickman by a Maryland insurance company which had the bank insured against robbery, the Texas agent for the company was notified today.

SETS $8,000 AWARD

Casualty Company Ordered to Pay For Man's Injury.

FORT WORTH, Sept. 15.(AP) I. E. Kennedy, former packing plant employe, was awarded compensation approximating $8,000 by a jury verdict in district court Wednesday against the Security Mutual Casualty company for a hemorrhage suffered while lifting a 100 pound box of meat in August, 1925.

The company offered testimony that the hemorrhage was due to tuberculosis, but the jury decided it was due to the lifting.

$500,000 Structure Planned By S. M. U. at Dallas

DALLAS, Sept. 15.—(AP)—A $500,000 library will be the next project on Southern Methodist University's building program, Vice President H. M. Whaling, Jr., announced today.

A drive for library building funds will be part of the school's campaign for $10,000,000 for endowment and building to be conducted during the next five years, he said.

PHILOSOPHER DIES.

JENA, Germany, Sept. 15.(AP) Professor Rudolf Christoph Eucken, dean of Germany philosophers, died today from pneumonia. He was born at Aurich, Ostfriesland, January 5, 1846.

Many of his important writings have been translated into English and French. He had occupied the chair of philosophy in Jena university since 1874.

Amarillo Officers Clean Up Big Vice Ring Tuesday Night

AMARILLO, Texas, Sept. 15. (AP Eight men and a woman were arrested last night by the Potter county sheriff's department and charged with attempt to swindle, possess of liquor and automobile theft.

The arrests, Sheriff Wiley Pollard said today, have broken up an extensive crime organization. Two arrests were made when two of the men attempted to sell liquor to two sheriff's deputies. The deputies were posted on the Panhandle highway on the lookout for a carload of booze, when the men approached and attempted to dispose of their cargo.

A third man was arrested in a local bank after drawing on an account said to have been established by a bogus $10,000 deposit slip and two others were arrested outside the bank. The others, including the woman, were rounded up last night. A man giving the name of A. S. Darling, who was employed as a railroad brakeman and later posed as a physician, was taken into custody in Canadian, Texas, last night and is charged by Sheriff Pollard as being leader of the gang.

"THE MAN IS THE THING"

TEXAS is third on the list of oil producing states in volume of output and value of the same. Orville Bullington of Wichita Falls is a lawyer and a successful oil producer. He was a democrat until 1922 when he declared for the protective tariff system of the republican party and became a republican candidate for congress in the district now represented by Quinn Williams. Now he is one of the leaders or props of the republican party of Texas and responsible for this plank in the republican platform of the vintage of 1926 .

"We denounce the manner and methods used by the democratic administration in the state in giving away for a trivial and wholly inadequate sum the oil and mineral rights to land belonging to schools and eleemosynary institutions of Texas and call on the patriotic members of the board of regents of Texas university and other boards having control over all other such lands wrongfully and fraudently obtained from the school children and wards of the state, and we pledge to them our wholehearted and earnest corporation in their effort in this respect."

Orville Bullington is a product of the University of Texas and prominent in the ranks of the ex-students association. He made a fiery speech as a delegate to the republican convention, asserting that he had evidence that certain democratic politicians by the use of advanced information, have been able to obtain rights to minerals before anyone else had had a chance to file the land.

Furthermore, that these politicians had taken advantage of a report made by Dr. J. A. Udden, geologist of the University of Texas, on the prospects for oil under university land, and had financed themselves on account of giving possession of the advanced information.

Plank Maker Bullington should be called upon to make good his declaration. If he is bluffing, then the people should know it. If he isn't bluffing the people should know it.

As it is, the republicans of Texas pledge co-operation to the regents of the State university to clarify the political atmosphere.

Bullington made the charges, Bullington is on the road reiterating the charges and some patriotic democrat should call the hand of Bullington. Bunk is bunk; business is business.

CIVIL SERVICE DEMANDED

DEMOCRATS of Texas in convention assembled at San Antonio, declared for civil service. They adopted a civil service plank without a dissenting vote. There is a legislature in session. It consists of 179 democrats and two republicans. This is the civil service plank:

"We believe that those who direct the governmental policies should be responsible to public opinion; that appointed heads of departments should be subject to change without changing administration and only those whose political views are in line with the prevailing popular will should formulate the policies controlling the operations of government."

The above covers the first clause of the plank announcing a new departure in governmental affairs by the democrats of Texas. The closing clause of the plank is of vital interest. It follows:

"The use of political appointees and state employes by public officials as a political machine, is a wicked and pernicious practice, which the democratic party condemns and we believe that a classified civil service act would protect the public from such attempts to construct a political machine."

Andrew Jackson is the patron saint of the democratic party. In his day when he was the lion of democracy, the policy was inaugurated, "to the victors belong the spoils." An administration has been voted out by 500,000 Texas democrats. Indeed, 500,000 democrats declared for a new deal all around.

They declared for a new administration all around. They declared for a new governor any practically new lawmaker. They declared for a new department head. They declared that all department heads should be men "whose political views are in line with the prevailing popular will and alone should formulate the policies controlling the operation of government." This for the lawmakers, this for the people who read and think, this for all concerned.

TEXAS FARMERS, LAND BANKS

THERE are 12 federal land banks. They represent more than one billion dollars loaned to 450,000 American farmers according to M. H. Gossett, president of the Federal Land Bank of Houston, the system as a whole is sound and prosperous. In a recent address he said the Federal Land Bank of Houston has loaned a total of $138,000,000 to 48,000 borrowers through three hundred and fifty national farm loan associations covering every county in Texas.

Moreover, the operation of this Houston land bank saves to its customers more than $3,500,000 per annum in interest alone.

President Gossett, who is a democrat, a former Texas lawmaker, a lawyer and a banker, says the Texas bank is distinguished among the 12 banks as having the smallest delinquencies and the fewest foreclosures in the system, which he considers a tribute to the stability of Texas farmers and the character of the borrowers.

There have been only 36 foreclosures in nine years out of 48,000 loans. Texas farmers, real Texas farmers, meet their obligations. Texans, real Texans, regardless of their calling, meet their obligations.

This is why they demand the immediate validation of the bonds of Texas and the credit restoration of this commonwealth.

TILSON AND HIS CAREER

NEW ENGLAND republicans send business men to congress. If they make the grade, these business men are kept in congress. John Oliver Tilson, republican floor leader of the house of representatives, represents a Connecticut district.

If elected this year, he will have served the district 18 years. In New England, the republicans know what they want. They know how to get it. They pick their ablest business men. They send them to Washington to make laws. They keep them there while they have any vitality left.

New England dominates the republican party and the nation. They use their brains as well as their money to do it.

SIMONS OF NORTH CAROLINA

SENATOR F. A. SIMONS of North Carolina has proposed a half billion dollar tax reduction at the next session of congress and has served notice that it will be demanded by the democrats and he is ranking democrat of the finance committee. He had discovered the existence of the republican plot. The wicked republicans are going to make a half million dollars tax reduction just before the presidential election in 1928 in order to continue the party in power. It is a shame to pull the wool over the eyes of the people, and Simons of North Carolina is going to prevent it if possible. It is getting so a trusting democrat is never safe from republican machinations.

WHO IS THIS DEMOCRAT

WHO is the Texas democrat who contributed $25,000 to the campaign fund of John W. Davis after his nomination in 1924 and who has since contributed $25,000 to make good the deficit or the hangover debt of the national committee of the democratic party? In the city of San Antonio, convention week, it was stated a democrat who will be a member of the 40th legislature shelled out $25,000 to assist Davis in making his fight and another $ 25,000 to wipe out the obligations contracted by the national committee. Now if money talks, that democrat was talking when he pulled out his check book on two memorable occasions.

FALLING OF THE ROSES

THERE are political roses as well as the scented plants of nature. Five administration leaders have fallen in the primary elections this year. Lenroot of Wisconsin was the last. President Coolidge gave more aid in a semi-official way to Lenroot than he did to all the others.

This did not save Lenroot.

Now the indications are that insurgent republicans will hold the balance of power in the new congress which will assemble in December. They are all from the west. They never stand hitched. They are opposed to many policies of the Coolidge administration.

Remaining primary elections will be this month. Then the real fighting will begin and end the coming November.

The Terrible Tempered Mr. Bang

The Infernal Machine

By F. Britten Austin.

...In that busy quarter-of-an-hour ere the great liner-cast passengers noticed the handcuffed man hurried by two detectives up the third-class gangway into the ship. Those that did shrank back uncomfortably. He stumbled up like a man on the way to execution, pale, haggard, withdrawn into himself, faculties numbled by the imminence of his fate. His eyes stared without seeing.

The two detectives hustled him below, into the depths of the ship, along electric-lit corrodors where the light of day never came. A steward proceded them as guide, indicated at last a cabin on the lowest berth-deck. The door was opened and he was thrust into the tiny apartment, dimly lit by a port-hole close under the roof, the river-water lapping green along its glass. One of the detectives stood over the prisoner, looked into his vacant eyes.

'Now, no nonsense, Jake-or we'll have to keep you tied up all the way," he said impersonally. With that, he unlocked the handcuffs. The prisoner's arms, freed, fell limply pendant. The detective turned and went out of the cabin.

The prisoner watched his exit with black lustre eyes that stared in a vague and increasing horror as the sound of the key turning in the lock penetrated slowly to his consciousness. Suddenly, as though full perception released a spring in him, he leaped at the door.

"Let me out! Let me out! Let me out, I say!" he screamed at the top of his voice, hammering violently at the door. "Police!—police!—'Ere! 'Ere! 'Ere!—Come back!—Come back" His cry rang out on a piercing note of almost maniac terror, of extreme urgency of appeal. "I've got something to tell yer—I've got something to tell yer!...Don't let 'er start!

None answered him. The door remained closed. As he recoiled from it, gasping in despair and terror, he heard the shriek of the liner's siren in its last warning, the clank and rumble of cables paid out, the first throb of her engines awaking to life. A swirl of water in motion darkened the glass disc of the port.

He sank down to a seat upon his bunk, breathing heavily as from weak and overstrained lungs, his pinched face a ghastly grey. He saw himself in the dilapidated parlour behind the boarded-up saloon in the squalid street beyond the dock-gates, saw once more the white, pinched face of the deformed little German-Jew chemist light up with evil triumph as he hoisted the heavy suit-case on to the table around which the "comrades" craned forward with eager interest. He saw him open it and, in a breathless silence, draw forth—a chunk of coal! The little Jew held it up for the appreciation of his companions.

"Dere you are, comrades!" He heard again the throaty, malicious chuckle of the inventor's voice. "Cast in steel—I enameled it mineself—and you can do vat you like vid it." He gigled like one diabolically insane. "You can drop it—you can hit it—you can do anyding you like vid it—except burn it!"

....O'Donnell, the big Irishman, had taken it from him like a...loving-cup and had gazed down upon it with almost affectionate admiration.

"And if it should by accident be shovelled into a liner's furnace, comrade?" he had asked, grimly facetious, in his pleasant Irish tones, his phraseology emphasizing, as was his wont, the fact that he was a man of education.

"It vill blow de belly out of her!" the little chemist had answered with a sudden violent ferocity. "Dose explosives—dey vill blow de belly out of de biggest ship dat efer sailed!"

O'Donnell had smiled amiably and, still holding aloft the chunk of pseudo-coal like a loving-cup, had looked around u on the clustered, gaunt faces of the "comrades" as though in selection of one to whom to give it.

"Comrades!" he had exclaimed, his voice never more mellifluous, "we are going to strike a real blow this time—one the bloodsuckers will feel and remember! They shall know that the solidarity of labor is no vain boast!"

Neither in Jake Bravinsky's reverie of reminiscence, nor at the moment upon those eager faces craned towards the thing the big Irishman held, was there any perception of unintended irony. A longshoreman's strike was in progress, and the white-collared brigade recruited from the desksk of the shipping company's skyscraper had sworn to turn the Gargantuan round and get her to sea again, with mails, passengers, bunker-coal and some at least of her cargo. They were going to make good, it seemed, thanks not a little to the strong force of police who protected them from the none too benevolent solicitude of the awkwardly-idle workers who massed sullenly beyond the locked dock-gates. But not one of that grim little group in the dilapidated parlor was either a striker or a worker.

"Whose shall be the honor?" Comrade O'Donnell had pursued, looking round upon the group, his pleasant, well-bred voice in ironic incongruity with his more than shabby appearance and the terrible implication of his query. "What comrade's hand shall deal the blow?"

And Rosa Bauermann, the most fanatic, the least self-seeking of them all, had turned her head towards him. Jake Bravinsky, had looked upon him—had looked right into him so that he shuddered—with great dark eyes that flashed enigmas.

Jake's own voice had sounded strange to him when he uttered it. "Give it 'ere, comrade.....I'll do the job! 'Aven't I done.....?" and he had boasted vaingloriously of fire-raising and sabotage in the old days before he was chased from England. He ventured a glance towards Comrade Rosa, found her still smiling in fierce appreciation, and boasted again. And Comrade O'Donnell had handed him the lump of pseudo-coal.

And then the next picture—the funnels and upper works of the Gargantuan lividly illuminated in the glare of the purplish-white arc lamps that painted her on the night as the volunteer gangs worked feverishly at her, shift relieving shift. The long line of warehouses in the deep contrasting shadow from that blaze blackened out the bottom of the picture—a blackness to which he crept and dodged, avoiding scrutiny, a heavy object close-hugged to his breast.

Then closer, viewed from a dark angle of the warehouse wall, he saw, in a proximity that dwarfed him, the towering sides of the great liner at the quayside, her gangways busy with hurrying, diminutive figures absorbed in purposeful activity. High up, silhouetted bars of black, rectangular tracery in the fierce illumination higher still, the transporters on a level with the bridge-deck above her cliff-like flanks rumbled outwards with their pendant, swinging burthens and lowered them with an endless outrun of tenuous wire-rope into the unseen depths of her holds.

AL ADMITS IT

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.(AP)—Al Jolson is a rotten screen star, in his own opinion as quited by his attorney. Al is being sued by David Wark Griffith for failure to make pictures. This is Al's defense as told in court: "I have no screen personality. You know the fiascoes of Fred Stone, Elsie Janis, George M. Cohan and Carusco in the moving picture world. My task is singing."

DOROTHY DIX

Questions from the World of Love Answered by a Noted Authority

The Old Bachelor Torn Between Love and His Duty to His Widowed Mother.

Dear Miss Dix—I am a bachelor 52 years old, and live with a widowed mother of 76 whom I support. Six months ago I met a very attractive woman of 48 that I want to marry. My mother is willing that I should marry this woman but she insists upon keeping the entire management of the home in her hands, while naturally this lady, should she marry me, would want to be the mistress of her own home. My mother has a very domineering spirit and would never consent to this.

Now I love my mother and desire to make her last days happy, but I have already waited too long to marry, and do not wish to lose what may be my last chance of getting exactly the kind of wife I wish. What can I do? T. G. R.

Answer: The question of which one of the two rival aspirants should sit up on a throne has never caused half the heart burning, and envy, and bitterness that the question of which of two women should sit at the head of the table has. Nor has any Solomon yet arisen who had wisdom enough to settle the problem of how to divide a house between two ladies, each of whom is bound and determined to run it.

So its no wonder that you send out an S. O. S. call for help, and I only regret that I cannot give you some magic formula for solving your difficulty. Of course, it is easy enough to see how it should be solved. Your mother should graciously abdicate, and turn over all authority to your wife. The commonest gratitude and appreciation of all that you have done for her demands that she should not stand in the way of your happiness.

You have given her years of devotion. You have sacrificed your life to her. You have slaved to support her, and the least that she can do to repay you is not to stand in your sunshine. But, if she is like all of the other domineering old women I have known, that view of the matter will not appeal to her. She will sit fast where she is, and hang on to her keys with a death grip and offer you up to her love of bossing things, without a qualm.

It is nothing to her that she is blighting your last romance, and keeping you from marrying a woman who would make you a tender and loving companion. It is nothing to her that when she dies she will leave you homeless and lonely unless you marry now. For the sake of being the mistress of the house, and having everything done exactly her way, she is perfectly willing to sacrifice your happiness.

So don't look for your mother to make the gesture of renunciation. She won't do it. There's nothing so self-centered and selfish as age. None who cling frantically to every vestige of power as the old. There remains, then, but for you and the woman you love to make the best of a bad situation and submit with what grace you can to the tyrant on your hearth.

Naturally every wife wants to be the head of her own establishment. Especially does the woman, who marries late in life, crave the pleasure of building the nest she has waited for so long.

But in a case of this kind it seems to me that, if she really loved the man, she would be willing to marry him, and stand aside and leave the old lady in possession of her much-coveted authority as long as she lives, which can't be many more years.

But what an unenviable position the old put themselves in when they make those about them look forward to their death as a day of freedom.

Lyrics of Life

By Douglas Malloch

JUST TIME ENOUGH

If I were going away,
I know we would not say
The things we said today.

For who would hurt a friend
Who would tomorrow wend
The journey to Land's End?

If you were leaving me
Tonight to put to sea,
How gentle I would be!

And yet I know no bond,
However fair or fond,
But has its last beyond.

With all our wealth and art
I know that heart from heart
Will sometime have to part.

So briefly we are here,
The night so very near,
The dear should be so dear!

For even lips that smile
Along life's merriest mile
Are parting all the while.

And then at least we find
There was no time designed
When hearts could be unkind—

Just time for bliss,
For kindness, and a kiss,
Just time enough for this.

Tomorrow: UNCLES.

PASSENGER PIGEONS

Some of the tales that are told about passenger pigeons, now extinct, are almost incredible, but they come to us on very high authority. There are persons now living who can remember the passenger pigeons perfectly. It is said that their roosts extended sometimes 20 miles in radius ,every limb being covered. They could fly with the speed of one mile a minute, and often fared 200 miles before noon, scattering out from their roosts, in search of food, They actually darkened the sky when migrating. They were shot and netted into extermination, hogs being driven in to feed on the carcasses.

Now what do you know about that?

Answers to yesterday's questions:

1. Tea is chiefly grown in southeastern Asia.
2. Tea is grown experimentally but not commercially in North and South Carolina.
3. Yerba mate is the national beverage of Paraguay and is made from holly leaves; it is closely similar to tea.
4. Coffee is chiefly grown in Brazil.
5. The United States is the greatest coffee-consuming country.
6. An advantage in geinding your own coffee is that by delaying till you are ready to use the coffee, the flavor of the inner kernel is not lost by exposure to the air.

WHAT TODAY MEANS TO YOU

BY MARY BLAKE

VIRGO.

Today's planetary aspects are fairly good, although, not espicially favorable. They undergo a violent change after sundown and and become quite propitious, engendering misgivings and doubt. Today cannot by any stretch of the imagination, be considered auspicious for the launching of any new enterprise. It is, however, a valuable opportunity for research work, or for the preparation of any plan of future activities. There will not be sensed any feeling of resoluteness or determination. There will be present, though, ability to judge well, and clear vision. In the evening, and in order to counteract the gloominess of mind that will prevail, resort should be had to recreational relaxation.

Children born today will, during infancy and until they are well advanced in their "teens," enjoy rugged health, and be practically free from all ailments. Some short time, however, prior to their attainment of adulthood, they will experience a serious "setback"—either by illness or accident. Their dispositions will be rather boisterous, but they will never abuse ther strength, or show any signs of meanness. Their characters will need a lot of "building-up," as they will always be striving to please. Although devoted to outdoor sports, they will not neglect their studies, in which they will be more plodding than brilliant.

If today is your birthday, you have a very amorious disposition, without being mushy. Harmonious and pleasant surroundings, freedom from care, and not too much to do, are apparently assential to your happiness and peace of mind. Even this does not afford you perfect content, and, more so than others, you need some one to love you, and whom you can love. All your tastes are domestic, and you have no particular ambition to shine either in business or in society. You are demonstrative, very thoughtful of those near and dear to you, very easy to please, and unusually amiable. There is, of course, "a fly in the ointment," and, in your case, it shows itself in unreasonable jealousy—as undeserved as it is unnecessary. Your sphere of happiness will always be the home, and, if mated with one born in May or November, you should lead a contented, although, perhaps, not a very useful life.

THE POST GRADUATE COURSE
Further Thoughts Upon the Opening of School.
By Sunny.

Dear Prince, I wasn't quite like you;
I always loved to go to school.
I sensed that it would never do
To grow up ignorance, a fool;
Because I felt some day I'd find
A man like you, a Master Mind.

And if I were to be his mate,
The kind that he'd be proud to own,
'Twas up to me to graduate
With all the knowledge that was known.
That's what I started out to do—
But WHAT I've learned since I met you!!

I thought I knew Arithmetic,
And now to add or to divide,
But I guess I was pretty thick,
For since I've travelled by your side
Subtracting kisses from our store
Has left as many as before!

In Latin I would conjugate
The verb "I love," and little knew
What was to be my happy fate—
The object of that verb was you!
My greatest knowledge gained thus far
Was learning just how dear you are!

"Seasick? Why, Mrs. Thompson, how can you suggest such a thing! Of course I'm not going to be ill! The very idea! The sea enchants me with its broad, restless expanse of heaving billows—I think this is wonderful. I could go on like this forever, gently tossing on the surging waves, wild and free-er-wild and f-f-free. It's j-just wonderful —um! I —ah—I don't feel very well today for s-some reason. I—Oh!

"Mr. Captain! Oh, Captain! I'm desperately ill—frightfully ill. I can't stand this! I'm dying, I'm—Oh, stop the boat, Captain! Turn around and go b-b-back!

I'M THE GINK!

I'm the gink who never wants to pay the regular price for anything I must buy. I go to my friends who are employed in various business houses and I ask them to get me a discount. Of course, I know I cause them embarrassment and inconvenience. It probably doesn't help them any with their employers to be asking for price reductions. I don't mind. I use my friends as much as I can. If they get tired I find others and cultivate them.

AND WHY?

At first it appeared flaming flappers were taking an unusual interest in Coyote football practice, judging by the number hounding the boundaries of the grid each p. m., but careful scrutiny caused discovery they have eyes for none than "Box" McCallum, brother to Bud and handsome brunet brute assisting as line mentor.

Took Him Neatly

There was quite an elevation of sporting eyebrows last week when Dutch Mantell was beaten (let us use that term) in such freakish manner. Another rise is in order when it's announced the "defeat" cost the Borneo man $50 from his end of the proceeds.

* * *

The world's athletic idol, of course, was highly irritated at the method used in enaction of his downfall, but his heart, no doubt, was torn asunder at having to part with the half-hundred clinkers. There was a clause in the match contract whereby the loser chucked $50 to charity.

We have at hand a letter penned by J. M. Sherrill acknowledging receipt by the Kiwanis club of $25 from Dutch to be applied on the day nursery fund. The other $25 went to the Salvation Army.

Nice But Inaccurate

Mr. Sherill made a minor mistake in his acknowledgement, saying "This is very LIBERAL on the part of Mr. Mantell and the day nursery wishes to extend him its thanks for the GENEROSITY." Matter of fact, Dutch never will be the same minus that 50. He gave it because he couldn't help it.

OUTFIELDER SOLD

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 15. (AP) Outfielder Tucker of the New Orleans Southern association club has been sold to the Washington Senators, A. J. Herrmann of the local club announced Wednesday.

Tucker will report to the Senators next spring. He came to New Orleans from the New York Yankees.

Indian Grid Crew Looks Better Daily

Maroon and Gold stock kept improving as the third day of practice rolled around. While the fact that only three of the 1925 squad returned makes somewhat uncertain the possibilities of the team, there are a number of men of considerable experience among the dozen and a half of new-comers. And appearences give the Tribe credit for pulling a fairly husky weight. Several other experienced men are expected out by the coming week.

Wednesday's camp activities consisted of a little more advanced instruction in line formation, twisting, defensive drill, and conditioning, with a talk from Coach Ludgate on the importance of diet and proper care of health. Sideline observers commented on the snappy, business like spirit of the work-out in spite of the heat handicap.

Reds Humble Brooklyn, 7-2, Behind Rixey And Retain Loop Leadership

Robins Fail to Support Petty, Making Five Errors—Critz Plugs Three-Bagger With Two Men On.

BROOKLYN, Sept. 15.(AP)—The Reds humbled Brooklyn and retained the top notch in the National league scramble today 7 to 2, the victory gave Cincinnati a clean sweep in the five-game series. Eppa Rixey, southpaw, who blanked the Robins Monday was a puzzle for Brooklyn again today. He allowed seven scattered hits. Petty, matching his left arm against Rixey, conceded only two more but his mates played raggedly, five errors being chalked against them. Butler and Leberry made mistakes in the first inning, encouraging Hendricks' men to score twice. In the third inning Critz, who has been in fine fettle during the series, tripled with two runners on. Brooklyn was let in for a tally in the fourth when Herman hit over the right field wall for a homer. Another Robin run came in the last half of the ninth, Herman scoring on Butler's fly to Walker after he had singled and taken third on Cox's one bagger. Cincinnati scored another in the sixth and added a victorious touch in the eighth with two more. Clabaugh went to left field for Brooklyn and immediately muffed a long one off Zitzman's bat, putting the batter on third. Cincinnati worked a squeeze play with Roush beating out a grounder and Walker scoring. Roush stole second and scored on Pipp's single. Today's win was the seventh straight for Cincinnati. It concluded the Reds' appearances against the Robins for the season which has seen brooklyn bow 18 times and win only four times from Hendricks' men.

BUFFS CLEAR DECK FOR '27

Ankenmen Sells Penner To Syracuse, Vigare to Okla. City

HOUSTON, Sept. 15.(AP)—Several deals were announced at the Houston baseball office Wednesday as President Fred Ankenman began clearing the deck for the next season's race.

Chief of interest was the conditional sale of Pitcher Kenneth Penner to the Syracuse club and the outright purchase of Third Baseman Felix Vigare by the Oklahoma City club of the Western league.

Heinie Schuble, Houston lad who who was signed as a free agent late in the past campaign, has been sent to Syracuse under an optional sales agreement. The stars will have until April 15 to decide whether or not they will keep Penner and Schuble. If these men are retained, a further payment either in cash or players will be made, President Ankenman announced.

Recall Men

The five men whom the Buffs had out under option were recalled. Nick DeMaggio, from St. Joseph; Yatz Corrigan and John Berley, from Des Moines; Bob Burns, from Texarkana and Ollie Jones from Palestine, each were returned to the Buff fold. Some of these transfers were previously announced.

From the Austin club the Buffaloes exercised their option to purchase four players. These were Danny Bloxsom, Carl Littlejohn, Tex Carlton and Bob Minty, the latter three being pitchers.

A deal was completed with the Fort Smith club Wednesday whereby Pitcher Paulsen was added to the Bison staff in exchange for Jones, Carl Littlejohn and Danny Bloxsom.

Clean Austin Out

Paulson was with the San Antonio Bears for a while this spring, having been transferred under option by Syracuse in the deal which gave the Stars Danny Clark. Paulson was later returned to Syracuse which club sent him to Fort Smith. Paulson, with Lefty Myers, who was recently bought by the Buffs from the Twins along with a couple of outfielders, and two infielders, has been the pitching backbone of the Twins this season.

The Buffs also announce the transfer of four contracts to the Austin club. These men now on the Senator's roster, are Ed Hennig, the pitcher who formerly toiled for the San Marcos Teachers; Yatz Corrigan, Bob Burns, pitcher; and Infielder Brovold.

CARDS CLUB PHILS

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 15.—(AP)—The Cardinals opened their six game series with the Phillies today by winning 9 to 2. The Cards cinched the game by heavy hitting in the fourth and eighth innings in each of which they scored four runs. Shortstop Tommy Thevenow delivered two timely hits that drove in three runs and he also scored a pair of his own. Haines was hit hard but was invincible with men on base.

BUCS LOSE ANOTHER

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.(AP)—Pittsburgh saw her pennant chances get dimmer today as her traditional rivals, the New York Giants, took a 5 to 1 game from her. Though the Pirates won the series, three games to two, the loss placed them three and a half games behind Cincinnati leading the league and three games below St. Louis. New York started off with a vengeance in the second inning with a double by Tyson, Jackson's walk and Florence's single. But the buccaneers went into a two-run lead in the next frame. Smith singled, Brickell walked and then Waner smashed a triple into deep right center and went home on Cuyler's clout. The Giants crawled up one more point with their second run scored in the same inning. The Pirates scored a gain in the fourth on singles by Traynor and Smith, but New York went after Bush in that inning for three hits and victory. Morrison was sent in to save the day but the New Yorkers finished their threat, putting over four tallies before he could get under way. Scott held the visitors scoreless for the rest of the way. It was the Pittsburghers farewell appearance at the Polo Grounds.

CUBS DROP BRACE

BOSTON, Sept. 15.(AP)—The Boston Braves virtually blasted any pennant hopes of the Chicago Cubs by taking a double headeg, 1 to 0 and 3 to 1 here today. Joe Genewich pitched airtight ball in the opener, allowing only four scattered hits, three of which were gathered by Jimmy Cooney, Chicago shortstop, while Foster Edwards former Dartmouth pitching ace went the distance in the second. He held the visitors to six hits. Cooney, Adams and Grimm completed the 169th double play for the Cubs this season in the second game, bringing the total just three below the league record.

Victory-Wilson To Galveston Friday

DALLAS, Sept. 15.(AP)—Victory-Wilson's baseball team, amateur champions of North Texas, will leave Friday evening for Galveston where they will meet the McFadden Compress team, amateur champions of South Texas, for the state title this week-end. One game will be played Saturday and a double header on Sunday.

Manager Rags Thompson of the Victory-Wilson team said that he would pitch Albert Brecht, star left-hander, or Charlie Taylor, right-hander, in the first game of the series. Fifteen players will make the trip to Galveston.

U. S. TENNIS "BIG FOUR" FACES FRENCH ACES IN NATIONAL TOURNEY AGAIN TODAY

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 15. (AP)—America's tennis "big four once again faces the challenge of France's lapetutous young invaders, this time with the national singles championship at stake.

Surviving the third round of the title tournament at the West Side club's stadium today the four American aces will go into the quarter finals tomorrow against the same opponents they turned back in the Davis cup challenge round last week.

This is the way the Franco-American battle line will be drawn in tomorrow's matches starting at 2:30 p. m.

William T. Tilden vs. Henri Cochet; Vincent Richards vs. Jacques Brugnon; Richard N. Williams vs. Rene LaCoste and William M. Johnson vs. Jean Borotra.

Tilden's battle in defense of the crown he has worn for the past six years found him extended for the third straight day, carried to the full limit of five sets by Arnold W. Jones, of Providence, R. I., former Yale captain by scores of 7-5, 7-5, 4-6, 66-1, 6-2, but revealed him as closer to his real form than at any time this week.

The figures indicated that Tilden had a close call from losing three sets in a row, but the suddenness with which he regained control and swept through the final two sets taking more chances with the injured knee than at any previous time, showed that he has lost little, if any, of the keen edge of his game when it comes to a pinch. He discarded a bundle of bandages for a rubber knee supporter in the middle of the match.

The champion will meet his biggest test tomorrow, however, for his opponent, Cochet, in downing the hard hitting New Yorker, Francis T. Hunter today at 7-5, 6-3, 0-6, 6-3, flashed a volleying game of unusual brilliancy.

The other three Americans had little difficulty advancing. Williams lost a set before conquering Herbert L. Bowman of Nyack, at 4-6, 6-2, 6-3, 6-4.

"Little Bill" easily beat Edward Jacobs, Baltimore youth, at 6-2, 6-3,6-0, while Richards brushed aside the remaining Japanese entry, Teito Tobs, 6-0, 6-2, 6-4.

Brugnon was the only one of the Frenchmen to be really extended and it took him five stirring sets to check Dr. George King of New York, 6-3, 6-2, 7-5, 5-7, 6-1.

Borotra and LaCosta both seemed at the top of their games, the "bounding basque" vanquishing the inter llegiate champion, Edward G. Chandler of California 6-2, 6-3,6-2, while LaCosta, although dropping a set easily proved himself the master of Manuel Alonso of Spain 6-1, 6-2, 4-6, 6-2.

OWLS SCRIMAGE

HOUSTON, Sept. 15. (AP)—The Rice Institute football team began scrimmage today, the first of the training spell, and from today until the season commences on Sept. 25, scrimmage will be an every day occurrence for the Owls under the direction of Coach John W. Heisman.

Herting, husky halfback and George "Grandpa" Wood, regarded as the most accurate forward passer in the southwest conference, reported for training Wednesday. Herting is a veteran of one season, while Wood holds his letter of two seasone ago, having been ineligible last year.

The addition of these two letter men together with Hamilton and Mucke of last year's freshman squad, has bolstered Rice's outlook considerably.

Notre Dame To Play Midshipmen

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Sept. 15.—(AP)—Navy and Notre Dame have entered into a two-year agreement for football games on a home and home basis during 1927 and 1928, athletic authorities of the naval academy announced today. October 15 has been selected for each game. "Home" to navy will be the Baltimore stadium and to Notre Dame Soldiers' field, Chicago.

Wilbert Robinson, president-manager of the Dodgers, announces for next year. Robbie has the jubilant acquarium all to himself right now.

It's Even Wager Tonight In Romonoff-Yaqui Jose Battle, Dopesters Agree

Riotous Redman Confident of Victory Over His Formidable Opponent; Kopecky Ready for Turk.

THE CARD

Billy Romonoff, New York, versus Yaqui Joe, Sonora. Welterweights, two falls to a finish.

Joe Kopecky, New Orleans, versus Kala Pasha, Brownwood. Middleweights, two falls to a finish.

Time: 8:15 tonight.

Place: Eleventh and Ohio arena.

All principals last night were said to be on hand and prepared for action this evening in what looms as the banner program of the fall season so far.

Kopeck and Yaqui Joe, both of whom have been in the city several weeks, tapered off training exercises Wednesday and declared themselves in great condition and confident of victory.

Kopecky and the Turk tangle in the first of a series of elimination matches billed for the local arena in competition to select a man to meet Johnny Meyers, world's middleweight champion, here several weeks hence. The winner of this bout is to be matched with another of the half a dozen or so of middleweights now in Texas, said Matchmaker Ross. The survivor of the tourney is to be given a chance at Meyers' championship belt if present plans go through successfully.

Yaqui Climbs Near Top.

Yaqui Joe in recent weeks has streaked to the fore of the welterweight class, beating several top-notch boys on the local mat and taking all-comers with such ease that lately it has been difficult to find talent of sufficient class to pit him against.

Romonoff, admittedly one of the greatest welters in the game today, following victories over Jack Gorman, Matty Matsuda and Dutch Mantell stacks up as the most formidable opponent who can be selected off hand for the Indian. Romonoff, in fact, looms as head and shoulders the toughest proposition the Redman ever has been slated to buck.

Opinion Differs.

Opinion differs as to the relative wrestling merits of the two men. It appears a fairly even break in the pre-fight dope as to who will win tonight. Romonoff, wiley veteran of many torrid ring battles, has the advantage of experience and strength. The question remains can Yaqui's superior speed, aggressiveness and natural cleverness overcome this handicap? There are many fans who believe it can. But there are just as many others who are of the opinion Romonoff's strength and generalship will bring him out on top.

Hustling Hugmen Bombard Uhle From Box in Seventh

CLEVELAND, Sept. 15.(AP)—New York breathed an icy blast today on Cleveland's hopes of winning six straight from the Yankees and going into first place by taking the first of the series here, 6 to 4. The Yankees drove Uhle, Cleveland pitching ace from the mound in the seventh. Uhle previously had beaten New York five straight this year. Until that inning Uhle had held New York to three hits and struck out seven men including Ruth once. Uhle, however, lacked his usual control and in the seventh New York bunched four hits, got a pass and pinch hitter Ruether was hit by a pitched ball. It was a single to center by Pinch Hitter Paschal that put across the tying and winning runs. Cleveland drove Jones from the box in the fifth but Shawkey who replaced him was a puzzle. Both Jones and Shawkey were helped by New York's four double plays. Koenig playing a remarkably brilliant game at short stop and coming within one of the American league record by accepting 16 chances. He could have tied the record in the ninth but turned aside to allow Gazella to catch an easy pop fly. Combs led in batting with three singles and a triple.

The game was held up 45 minutes in the first inning by rain which resumed in the eighth thus preventing the playing of a second game. A double header will be played tomorrow.

SOX SOCK RED SOX

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.—(AP)— Chicago socked out thirteen hits, seven of them for extra bases and easily defeated Boston, 5 to 1, in the first game of the series. The visitors gathered only four hits off Thomas one being a triple in the 9th inning when Mostil slid in the mud going after Rigney's fly. This was followed by a sacrifice fly which saved the visitors from a shut out.

Aggie Frosh Eleven Best In Grid Annals

BRYAN, Sept. 15. (AP)—Fifty members of the 1926 A. and M. college freshman football squad were given full equipment today under direction of Coach John Bender. Another 50 "Tosh" will be given uniforms Saturday.

This year's freshman team is easily the best in Aggie history in the opinion of James Sullivan, A. and M. business manager. Among those to receive uniforms today are:

I. Sneed, tackle, from Waco; Jack Hammons, tackle, Sherman; George Butler, tackle, Dallas; F. Scoville, all state end, north Dallas high school; M. L. Johnson, end, Houston; B. T. Hapkins, end, Maine Avenue high school, San Antonio; H. L. Grant, 193 pound center, Weimar; Tom Holloran, center, Maine Avenue, San Antonio; Pinky Alsabrook, all state fullback, Cisco; Frank Ish, all state quarterback, Waco; Brooks Conover, North Dallas high school quarter; Roy Drive, quarterback, Burleson college, Gainesville; R. H. Black, fullback, Hollywood, Calif.; J. Sansky, fullback, Savannah, Ill.; Terry Geffers, fullback, Laredo; Virgil Roberts, fullback, John Tarleton college, Stephenville.

Bobby Nearly Defeated By Another of Joneses In Dogged Links Battle

SHORT HILLS, N. J., Sept. 15. (AP)—Over the hills where American minute men fought a heroic battle almost 150 years ago against the British, 32 gladiators of the links grappled for the national amateur championship today in the two heart breaking rounds of golf which felled three former title holders and threatened to dethrone the mighty Bobby Jones.

It was a gripping struggle which found great stars fighting back gamely against a sweeping attack by young and daring challengers who had marched upon Baltusrol to launch a whirlwind attack against the men who have held sway over the fairways for almost a decade. But when the hail of shots had echoed their last note of conflict from the flanking mountain ranges, the ranks of the favorites showed only a few gaps, with Jones, the defending king, Watts Gunn, his Atlanta chum, Francis Ouimet of Boston, George Von Elm of Los Angeles and Chick Evans of Chicago among those to gain the round before the semi-finals.

Surviving with them the grueling test which marked the first attempt in recent years of the U. S. G. A. to bring off two rounds of match play in a single day were two young aspirants from the middle west, Eddie Held of St. Louis and George Dawson of Chicago. By their victories, Dawson and Held qualified to meet tomorrow in the 36-hole third round, while Evans will face Bobby Jones, Vom Elm will engage Gunn, and Ouimet will lock with young Frederick J. Wright, Jr., of Boston, the Massachusetts champion.

Out of 24 nerve-wrecking matches today, ten carried the galleries in breathless suspense to the home green, five to the seventeenth, and three to the sixteenth. Bobby himself was among the warriors who found themselves on the verge of defeat, and only by holding a birdie four on the eighteenth was he able to beat back the determined thrust of A. Jones from the north, Richard A., Jr., of New York city.

Safely past the New Yorker Jones at one up, the two-time champion romped through a second round match with William Reekie of Mont Clair, N. J., to score the only decisive triumph of the round at five and four. It marked his second successive verdict over the veteran Jersey man for Reekie fell before the 24-year-old Georgian a year ago at Oakmont by a one-sided first round score.

Sensational putting saved the former champions, Ouimet and Evans. After dropping two long ones to save his first round match against Roy M. Moe of Portland, Ore., one up the bespectacled hubman soared to such brilliant heights on the greens against Eustace Storey of England, that consistently sound golf could not save the former British Walker cup player. Ouimet at no point was able to relax in his brilliant playing, however, for Storey clung to his task tenaciously before going down, 2 and 1.

Dallas Officials Off For New Orleans

DALLAS, Sept. 15. (AP)—J. Doak Roberts, president of the Texas League and J. Walter Morris, secretary of the Dallas baseball club, left Wednesday afternoon for New Orleans to hold a conference with Frank Martin, president of the New Orleans baseball club to complete arrangements for the Dixie series.

Secretary Morris of the Dallas club indicated that he would select New Orleans as the opening city for the first two games in the event he won the toss.

Unless New Orleans objects, the series will open on Wednesday, September 22, with games in the opening city on Wednesday and Thursday. Friday will be an off-day and the series will be resumed in the other city Saturday, Sunday and Monday. If a sixth game is necessary, it will played Wednesday in the city where the series opened. A toss of a coin will decide the site of the seventh game, should it be necessary.

Tunney Quits Camp And Goes Fishing

STROUDSBURG, Pa., Sept. 15. (AP)—Discovery that he was on the very verge of his fighting weight caused Gene Tunney to refrain from boxing today when he had expected to spend a busy afternoon in the ring. It was understood that Tunney weighed only 187 pounds when he had completed four miles of road work today. As he expects to enter the championship sesqui ring against Dempsey at 186 pounds he promptly decided that he would not box today. A normal period of boxing would have brought him below his fighting weight.

In lieu of the ring activities, the challenger left with his volunteer chef, George Ransberry for the Ransberry hunting and fishing camp, 22 miles from the Glenbrook Country club. As the Ransberry camp is in the heart of the Poconos Tunney was safe in seclusion there. Only a guide could pilot visitors to him. In retirement, he expected to put on enough weight to insure himself against encroachment on his margin. He wishes to keep some poundage in reserve.

Loughran Scores In Two-Rounder Against Champion

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 15.(AP)—In the presence of a 100 of more newspaper correspondents and camera men huddled around the ringside, Jack Dempsey today engaged in his first semi-private workout with the gates of the Grey Hound racing track closed to the public.

He took things rather easy boxing the usual five rounds.

Dempsey boxed two rounds each with Tommy Loughran of Philadelphia and Martin Burke, finishing up with a round with Benny Krueger announced as light heavyweight champion of Germany.

Loughran outboxed and out generalled Dempsey as he did last Saturday. He kept him off balance and out of range with lefts to the face and occasionally dropped over a right cross. Dempsey apparently wanted Loughran to lead so he could practice getting away from the Philadelphians thrusts and weave in close to hook his left to the body.

Dempsey was unable to connect solidly while boxing with Loughran except when he crowded him into the ropes and cut loose with short rights and lefts to the body at close quarters.

Burke was not so fortunate. His nose was bleeding within 30 seconds. Dempsey posibly could have won the light heavyweight title of Germany if he had chosen to cut loose against Krueger. He doubled him up with a left hook to the stomach and knocked him into a corner with a right and left to the head.

BAYLOR TO USE PASS

WACO, Sept. 15. (AP)—The Baylor Bears, 47 in number, went through their first scrimmage of the season Tuesday afternoon at Carroll field.

Coach Jennings scrimmaged his men for only a few minutes. Most of the time at practice was devoted to perfecting pass formation.

For the first time in several years the Bears will have an aerial threat this year. Jennings is noted for his effective pass formations. The Bears have a punter of merit in Charles Noble, former Marlin high gridster, and in Noble, Cloud and Kelly, have a trio of good passers.

Sam Coates and Charles Taylor, the former a veteran, and the latter a newcomer who was a star with the Waco high team in 1924, are two of the most promising men coming out for line positions.

Brewster Sends Veteran Eleven Against Wilson's Archer City Lads Friday

Hawks, in Pretty Fair Shape, Present Very Well-Balanced Team for Season Opener.

BY BLONDY CROSS.

Brewsters Iowa Park Hawks invade Archer City Friday against Wilson's eleven in the first gridiron tilt of the year, it was announced yesterday.

The Parkers have taken on an ambitious program preliminary to their drive for class B moleskin honors in this section. Friday of next week Brewster storms Grandfield with his warriors and in all likelihood tackles Reese's Electra team at Iowa Park October 1 in the home season opener. The Electra game is tentative with final agreement or disagreement to be reached some time today, said Brewster.

The Hawks ploughed through a fairly progressive scrimmage session yesterday, coming away apparently none the worse for wear. The lads have gone in for the heavy work several days now.

Balanced Outfit.

Brewster's squad at first glance appears to be very light, but close scrutiny disproves the idea for the club is comparatively heavy and well balanced as class B outfits go. The backfield averages 152 pounds with four veterans in the lineup. Beasley at half tips the scales at 160, Enloe, quarter and full, weighs 168; Penn, full, 141, and Cheeves, half, 154. This quartet is playing its last season at Iowa Park. Four of the linemen, also, are training for their final performances this fall with the Hawks. They are Fields, 165-pound tackle; Wiley, 147-pound center; Denney, 143-pound guard, and Filmore, midget end who weighs 128.

At the other tackle, Brewster has Fitzgerald, a two-year letterman who weighs 179. Baxter, 195-pound guard, is a veteran. Wigley, 164-pounder at end, is a letterman, also. Brewster's hold-overs from 1925 are rounded out with A. Smith, end; Thompson, guard, and Morehead, center.

It's practically a veteran team Iowa Park will send against the Archer City squad.

May Shift Wigley.

It is quite likely that Wigley will be shifted from end to center. Filmore, Corder or A. Smith loom as the regular wingmen in that event.

Corder, the speedy little basketball star with the Hawks last season, is making his football debut and looks pretty good.

D. Smith appears to be making a hefty bid for an end or center job. Taylor, out for end, seems to have promise and Sunday is doing some pretty good work in his tryout for a tackle position.

Hodges Not Able To Be With High Elcven This Fall

Coyote followers expressed considerable disappointment when it was learned yesterday that Joe Hodges, the much touted athletic flash from Archer City, who was reported to have decided to finish his high school career with Wichita Falls, wired that it was not possible for him to come. Much backfield power was expected from the lad, aside from his ability in other sports.

Coach Bud McCallum is losing no time in giving his Coyotes pack a taste of real competition early. Saturday afternoon football fans may listen to the thud of the moleskins in earnest when the powerful eleven from Walters, Okla., opposes the Red and Black on the Junior college field.

Walters, champions of southern Oklahoma last year in the Sooner high school league, undoubtedly will furnish the local team the toughest possible task to win. Very little is known of the mettle of the Wichitans as fewer than a half dozen of last year's first stringers are reporting back. Much new material is being discovered out of the large squad of candidates, though most of it with more ambition than experience.

According to Coach McCallum, another day or two of practice should give a much better line on the prospects and on the abilities of the many new men, although Bud is far from pessimistic even this early.

Suds Slugs Victory Over Cannibal Club

CORSICANA, Texas, Sept. 15. (AP)—Dallas defeated Longview in an exhibition game here Wednesday, 6-5, in a 10-inning contest. Relief Pitcher Suds Sutherland hit a two-bagger in the eighth to tie the count and his long home run in the tenth decided the issue.

Lowrance of Longview hit a homer in the fourth inning. Four double plays were completed.

Latest News of the Markets

Grain

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW.

CHICAGO, Sept. 15.(AP)—All grains averaged lower today on the board of trade with bull leaders acting timidly in the face of rather bullish news. The reason for this hesitancy on the part of friends of higher prices was said to be the weakened technical position of the wheat market and the easier tone in corn. Wheat at the finish showed a net loss of ¼ to ⅝c, corn was off 1¼ to 1⅝c, oats ⅛ to ¼c down, and provisions unchanged to 30c lower.

Corn broke sharply around mid-day under scattered selling and lack of buying induced largely by a report that the crop in Illinois, Iowa, Ohio and Indiana is apparently closer to maturity than has been generally supposed but rallied somewhat on the late upturn in wheat.

Selling of oats was largely of a local character while commission houses were only fair buyers.

Provisions were dull and weak in line with lower values in grain and hogs.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 15(AP)—The cotton market was again quite active today and although the general trend of prices was downward there were several good rallies mainly on storm warnings or fears of possible bad weather resulting from the tropical storms. The reason for the decline was the active hedge selling due to the free movement of the crop and the large sales in spot markets of late. There was also more or less liquidation of October and in fact all the active months. After a somewhat irregular opening prices rallied moderately on fears of storms, reaching levels four to five points above the close of yesterday. The market then turned easier on fair weather in the belt and a renewal of long liquidation, prices receding 18 to 19 points from the highs. Practically all of this loss was recovered near mid-session on covering induced by fresh storm warnings, but after mid-session prices again became weak mainly on hedge selling, dropping to levels 40 to 46 points under the highs. After rallying about 12 to 16 points from the lows in the final trading on covering, prices closed at a net loss for the day of 26 to 28 points.

First trades showed losses of two points to gains of two oints but soon rallied to 16.52 for October, 16.77 for December and 16.83 for January or 4 to 5 points net higher.

These prices were the high points of the day.

The later declines finally carried October down to 16.16, December to 16.32 and January to 16.35, or 45 to 46 points down from the highs and 40 to 41 points under the previous close. There was a rally of 12 to 16 points in the late trading.

Exports for the day totaled 17,755 bales.

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.(AP)—The cotton market was lower today under continued liquidation, southern and local selling which appeared to be inspired by expectations of fairly favorable mid-September crop figures and reports of increased spot offerings in some sections of the south. Prices for all months made new low ground for the movement. December contracts selling off to 16.46, or 195 points below the high price touched just before the last government crop report and 85 points net lower. They closed at 16.42, the general market closing barely steady at net declines of 89 to 92 points.

The market opened easy at a decline of seven to 12 points under selling promoted by failure of early weather news to show any definite storm threat and relatively easy Liverpool cables. Reports that increased curtailment of yarn production in the American section of Lancashire might be recommended if business did not soon improve, was probably another factor on the decline which carried prices about 24 to 25 points net lower in early trading.

Rallies of eight to 10 points followed the weekly report of the weather bureau which emphasized bullish features to rather a greater extent than expected but they met increased offerings, the market reaching the lowest levels of the day in late trading. October sold off to 16.22 and January to 16.47, net decline of about 33 to 35 points on active months and the close was within two or three points of the lowest on most positions.

Southern hedge selling was reported on the late decline.

A private crop report estimated the yield at only 14,898,000 bales, but appeared to attract comparatively little attention.

Exports for the day were 17,789 bales making 600,102 so far this season. Port receipts 46,632. U. S. port stocks 825,069 bales.

CLOTHING NEEDED

Welfare workers report finding many children who are unable to attend school because they have not suitable clothes to wear, it was said yesterday. Clothing for children is needed especially, and those who have dresses or boys' suits which have been outgrown are asked to notify W. G. Bralley, juvenile officer or Mrs. Kathleen Gorsline, secretary of the Municipal Welfare Board.

N. Y. Stocks

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.(AP)—Wall Street had another "money scare" today and as a result stock prices broke sharply after an earlier period of strength. Bear traders took full advantage of the weekly recurrence of rumors of an increase in the Boston or New York federal reserve bank rates, hammering stocks down in all sections of the list, but concentrating on a few specialties in which pools have been active during the past few days.

The day's trade news was given constructive in character. It included the announcement that freight traffic in the week ended September 4, broke all records, publication of optimistic weekly steel trade reviews, reports of a decrease in crude oil production and several favorable earnings statements. The fact that call money held firm at 5 per cent all day, when a lowering of the rate was looked for in any quarters undoubtedly revived fears of a higher rediscount rate.

Despite the fact that steel mill operations were being maintained at above 85 per cent of capacity, and stiffening and stiffening price tendency was noted in some sections, U. S. Steel common yielded rather readily to pressure, closing 1¼ points lower at 147¼ after having touched 148½. Bethlehem Steel displayed a temporary outburst of strength on rumors of an early resumption of dividends, but it cancelled half of its two points gain in the late selling movement.

General Motors continued to show evidence of strong buying support, touching 152, or nearly 12 points above Monday's low and then slipping back to 149¾ for a net gain of ⅝ on the day. Mack Trucks also acted better closing 1⅛ higher at 115b.

Erratic fluctuations took place in the motion picture shares. Fox Films "A" was bid up to 79¼ a new high on the movement in the first hour, broke to 75 and then rallied to 76 for a net loss of over two points. Warner Pictures broke from 66⅝ to 61 and bounded back to 65, off ⅜ net. American Smelting dropped from 151⅛ to 148⅝, Allied Chemical from 136⅝ to 132½, DuPont from 212¼ to 208⅛. Hudson from 62⅝ to 60⅝ and Woolworth from 167 to 162¾ but several of them made substantial recoveries from their low levels.

Pullman was bid up over three points to 198, the highest price in over 15 years. Other issues to break into new high ground included Howe Sound, Cudahy Packing, International Business Machine, Tobacco Products, American Sumatra Tobacco and Adams Express.

Rails showed better resistance to selling presure than the industrials. "Nickel Plate" common soared over six points to a new record high at 189½ and then yielded to 186, and Delaware and Hudson showed a net gain of more than three points at 180¾. Atlantic Coast Line closed nearly four points lower and heaviness also developed in Atchison, New York Central and a few other recent strong spots.

Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Foreign exchanges were mixed. Demand sterling was slightly easier, just below $4.85, but French francs held firm above 2.55 cents.

COTTON HANDS STRANDED

Another problem that local welfare workers are meeting these days is that of the stranded cotton pickers, it was said yesterday. Already the movement is begun for finding work in the cotton fields and numerous families who have reached Wichita Falls, ran out of funds, and cannot go any further.

1 CLUE LEFT IN GRAVE CASE

Search Directed Toward Identification of Old Cigarette Stubs

HOUSTON, Sept. 15.(AP)—Search for clues to persons who violated the grave of Miss Mamie Bichon here Sunday night centered somewhat Wednesday on identity of a particular kind of cigaret, stubs of which were found nearby.

Identification of the brand was sought Wednesday by George Andrew, investigator for District Attorney Horace Soule. Andrew was the only official who seemed to be following an actual clue Wednesday. Other officers were working on the case, but they frankly admitted they were without new material to work on.

Work Three Days

For three days officers have investigated disinterment and mutilation of the dead woman. Every possible clue has been exhausted, except those held by Andrew, without result.

Miss Bichon died last week from poison, administered by her own hand.

Late Tuesday Andrew was "tipped off" that a certain Houstonian, one of several suspects, smoked an uncommon brand of cigarets. Andrew immediately began working on the theory that cigaret stubs left near the girl's grave might tell a story of their own.

Can't Identify It

The identifying of the brand was not so simple. The cigarets were smoked down to a short stub and had been out in the dew and rain.

Tobacco experts, however, may be able to identify the brand.

Andrew holds the theory that the men who violated Miss Bichon's grave are the same who broke into several graves and mutilated women's bodies in 1917. The investigator is also looking for three men who were seen near the cemetery by a neighbor who furnished a description of the trio.

Ford America's First Billionaire

Joseph S. McCoy, government actuary for the United States Treasury, has announced that the U. S. has its first billionaire. Inasmuch as John D. Rockefeller, Sr., is known to have cut down his fortune largely through transfer to his son and by charitable enterprises, it is understood that Henry Ford is the man to whom McCoy refers. Real Oxen To Be On Fair Display

The younger generation of Wichita Falls who have never seen any real oxen will have an opportunity to see four teams when the gigantic Pageant of Progress is staged at the Texas-Oklahoma Fair next month. Eight head of oxen are needed to stage one of the settings in the pageant, and Hal Worth, producer of the pageant, asked the Fair Association to see what they could do.

R. E. Shepherd, secretary-manager, cast about the country to see if any of the old time oxen were in existence anywhere in the state, and was fortunate in locating them at Clarksville, Texas. Eight head of oxen will be shipped from that town to Wichita Falls in the near future, and will be in the Pageant on the night of October 2nd.

First M. E. Shows Steady Advance In Post Quarter

Reports given by officials and department heads at the fourth quarterly conference of the First Methodist church, south, last night showed the church in good condition and ready to go into the fall work with renewed energy following the summer vacations.

Sixty-four additions have been made to the church roll during the last quarter, and during the year 266 have been enrolled, according to the report of the pastor, Dr. Walter J. Johnson.

E. H. Bohmfalk, educational director, gave the Sunday school report, showing a total enrollment of 2,625 students and a staff of 102 officers and teachers. During the quarter more than $1,500 have been raised by the Sunday school department and $216.43 for mission work.

225 In School

During the last three months the Daily Vacation Bible school was held with 225 enrolled and an average attendance of 140. A leadership school was held over a period of two weeks when five instructors conducted six courses.

The program ahead contains a number of features as follows, Mr. Bohmfalk announced: Sunday, September 26, promotion day; October 3, rally day; October 10, photographers' day; October 17, family day.

Annual Banquet Friday

For Friday night of this week the annual Sunday school banquet will be held with the principal speaker for the evening, W. N. Wiggins of Dallas, superintendent of the Texas Sunday school association. W. B. Hamilton will be toastmaster, and a program of music, readings and stunts has been arranged.

Oral Jones, treasurer of the board of stewards, gave the financial report showing the church is in good standing.

Jean Fisk reported for the Annie Laurie Long league saying that 34 members have enrolled. During the quarter $518 were raised for missions.

League Collects $784

C. C. Donaldson reported for the Ansil Lynn Epworth league which for the quarter has collected $748.09 for its work. It is supporting one young man in Southern Methodist university and assisting another young man student in the same school. It contributes to the support of the missionary in Africa, Ansil Lynn. An active dramatic club is sponsored by the league which has 100 on roll.

Mrs. B. P. Williams gave the report showing the work of the missionary society which during the quarter has raised $1,816.04 carrying on its activities.

Joel H. MacGregor, choir director, made a brief report; Miss Annie Laurie Long, visiting secretary, Miss Marguerite Haynie, secretary, also made reports.

Rev. Frank M. Richardson, presiding elder, was in charge of the conference.

Church Conference Set For Thursday

The fourth quarterly conference of the Grace Methodist Episcopal church will be held Thursday night at the church when reports from the department heads will be announced, it was reported yesterday by the pastor, Rev. Leslie Miller.

Rev. Howard Thomison of Lawton, Okla., district superintendent of the Fort Worth district, will be in charge of the conference. The meeting will be in the form of a supper followed by a social hour and business meeting, Rev. Miller said.

This is the last conference to be held before the annual conference which meets at Pawhuska, Okla., October 13.

Marlow Will Open New Sub-Division

The firm of J. B. Marlow and company has purchased the Hugh Reilly Sr., tract of land. This property is to be subdivided and placed on the market within the next few weeks. The Reilly addition is the seventh addition now being put on by Mr. Marlow.

The tract is surveyed into ten blocks of eighteen lots each, cleaning and grading of streets and alleys is now under way.

This will be a valuable addition to the city, giving close-in locations for those not desiring to live far out. The south line of the new addition connects with the north line of the base ball park and extends north. A great part of the property is covered with large trees, resembling a natural park.

Mexican Club To Celebrate Today

Mexicans of Wichita Falls will celebrate at 2:45 o'clock today at the Benito Juarez club the one hundreth and tenth anniversary of freedom from Spanish rule. The program will include addresses by Ivey, (Jimmie) Gonzales, president of the club; George Hodgins, chief of police; Joe Marlow and Ventura Flores, formed president of the club.

Miss Maria Gonzales will read, "Mexico and Spain;" another number will include readings by Frank Alejandro and his son. A Mexican orchestra directed by A. Verara will play.

The celebration began Wednesday at 11:30 when members of the Benito Juarez club read the Act of Independence at the exact hour that Miguel Hildago y Postia, Mexican priest, succeeded in urging the oppressed colonial subjects of Spain to pave the way for liberty 110 years ago.

This Guy Hodgins Is Versatile Cuss; Look At Him Now

Members of the Lions club are working diligently on the minstrel, scheduled for the latter part of the month as a benefit for the Lions boys' band which was recently organized. Committees have been appointed and rehearsals have already begun and are being held at the Ripley-Jones Music company on Scott avenue, according to announcement made at the regular meeting Wednesday at the Kemp at noon.

George Hodgins

George Hodgins, chief of police, who was formerly on the minstrel stage, is in charge of the production, and in a short talk to the Lions urged the co-operation of the club in putting over the show.

A short talk was made by Alec Ross who is in charge of the publicity end of the entertainment and of the ticket sales.

Encouragement concerning the benefit were made in brief addresses by Lions B. G. Ripley, Glen Groves, W. E. Millican, J. S. Dickey, J. W. Lyle, R. H. Graham and A. B. Maples.

The chief talk of the day was by Bert King, local attorney, who spoke on "The Constitution" in observance of constitution week.

Entertainment for the day was furnished by Paul Seeds, director of the Lions Boys' band, which now has 44 members. He played a number of saxophone solos with piano accompaniment by J. S. Pitman. Little Miss Lena Mae Lesley gave two readings, "A Real Lady," and "Ma and the Auto." J. W. Lyle introduced the speaker of the day, and E. V. Lesley introduced the musicians.

Joe B. Hatchitt, president, was in charge of the meeting.

Mrs. Belva Doss Lieutweiler, field worker of the Texas Children's Home and Aid society, left Wednesday morning for Bonham, her former home. While there she will have her tonsils removed.

Miss Lillian Brumbelow leaves Saturday for Austin where she will enter the University of Texas.

Miss Billy Vaughn has returned from Dallas and Galveston where she was a guest of friends.

Mrs. G. J. Geiger of Biloxi, Miss., is visiting her sister, Mrs. Alice Merritt at the William-Mary.

MAKES INSPECTION

John W. Dillinder, lieutenant U. S. navy, left this city Wednesday for Fort Worth, after making inspection of the sub-stations in this territory. He expressed satisfaction of the Wichita Falls station and commended the local office for the acceptibility of recruits from Wichita Falls. He is in charge of the navy recruiting station in Dallas.

SCHOOL OPENS

The Sabbath school of Temple Israel will open for registration Saturday, Sept. 25, according to Rabbi Samuel Phillips. A staff of competent teachers will be in charge and parents are asked to enroll their children, the Rabbi said.

LEGION GETS HALF OF QUOTA

Good Headway Being Made On Drive for New Members Here

Wednesday rounded out another day for the American Legion membership drive in Wichita Falls, and more than half the required quota has already been raised, according to R. J. Claypool, who is directing the activities of the committee.

Two teams have been working all this week on getting memberships for the local post in co-operation with the big state-wide effort to get enough new members to outnumber the state of Oklahoma, and thereby retain the much coveted and most popular "Old Gray Mare."

All day yesterday, the "Old Gray Mare" did her bit for the drive by parading the streets, and many new members were added to the local roster. The two teams, each under the direction of a team captain, are working hard to bring Wichita Falls post up to the standard in membership, and there is every indication now that this aim will be accomplished by the end of the week.

The dues charged for the rest of the year are $2.25, all of which goes to state and national officers, as the local post is waiving its share of the dues favor of the new members.

PREMIUMS AWARDED

ELECTRA, Sept. 15.—A special premium fund to be divided between the farmer producing the first bale of cotton on unirrigated land and the farmer producing the first bale on irrigated land, and the first bale premiums were awarded by the Electra chamber of commerce as follows: Roy D. Scales, $35, premium for first bale of cotton ginned in Electra, which was produced on unirrigated land. A second premium of $25 was awarded to G. D. Cosey who produced the first bale of cotton ginned in Electra this season from irrigated land.

STRENGTH THAT CAN BE APPLIED TO YOUR NEEDS

Just a few banks in Texas are larger than this one, but we've never emphasized its bigness.

We know that business is more interested in the manner in which size and strength can be applied helpfully to their needs.

We've tried to work along that line, and let size take care of itself.
