Murray Redrafts Shutdown Order To Withstand Expected Legal Onslaught

STATE RIGHTS FIGHT

Supreme Court Test of Federal Power Over State Is Anticipated

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 3. (AP)—Gov. William Henry Murray demonstrated again today that a nervous oil industry can not hurry the executive order by which he intends to choke off wells in prorated Oklahoma fields.

Believing there is no longer a time element in the shutdown plans, the governor indicated today the order might not be expected before tomorrow or Wednesday. He said he realized he would "have to go to the supreme court of the United States and I want to be ready for it."

Order Redrafted

The proposed order, it was understood, was redrafted to include a brief of a test case of state rights in the high court.

Murray said it would cite statutes and constitution by section and number and would name important related cases.

While the industry awaited the order, producers lost no time in flowing wells, some to complete their allowable production for the August period which began Saturday. A week ago Murray promised the shutdown unless oil prices reached $1 per barrel by last Saturday night. The prices remain at a 50-cent top.

Murray said law cited by oil men covering jurisdiction of federal courts over the militia, which the governor has threatened to use to enforce his projected order, has since been revised.

Test Expected

Many believed his order, when it is issued, may force a test with the United States supreme court taking original jurisdiction. Observers at the state capitol thought the issue had switched from a question of protecting the state against loss of production tax because of low prices to a case of Murray taking the offensive on a doctrine of the state's right to regulate its internal affairs and control its natural resources.

In the Oklahoma City field, source of half the state's supply, preliminary estimates of Otto Bradford, field umpire, indicated a daily allowable flow for August of more than 300,000 barrels—largest

Storm Of Protest Greets Sterling Proposal For Oil Production Tax

AUSTIN, Aug. 3. (AP)—Gov. Ross S. Sterling today asked the legislature to impose a tax of two cents a barrel on crude oil, to be paid by the producer. The present tax is two per cent of the value, with oil nowhere bringing as much as $1 a barrel and with it selling for as low as 10 cents in some districts.

With the special session nearing its close, Representative Dewey Young of Wellington, chairman of the house committee on revenue and taxation, announced that hearings on the proposed tax would be started tonight. A bill to carry out the governor's wishes was introduced by Representative Lee Satterwhite of Odessa.

The governor's recommendation drew immediate opposition from several legislators, particularly from the oil districts. Referring to the oil industry's plight, they said this was a poor time to increase that industry's tax burdens. They also stated the tax would be unfair because it placed the same levy on inferior oil as on better grades.

Many legislators expressed the opinion that the governor's message opened the gates for all kinds of tax proposals. In that event they predicted there would be a large amount of unfinished work at the end of the special session nine days hence.

Some of the lawmakers opposing the two-cent levy were endeavoring to work out a graduated tax scale whereby the small operator would not have to pay as much as the large producer. The tax on the first 50 barrels of oil would be slight and would increase on additional production.

Governor Sterling pointed out that the state's revenue from the gross production tax on oil had dropped to one-fifth of what it should be under normal prices and present production. He previously had indicated that unless the state's revenues should be increased the property tax for general revenue purposes would have to be raised.

HOUSE DISPOSES OF 'MRAKET DEMAND'

AUSTIN, Aug. 3. (AP)—One branch of the legislature today disposed of the question of market demand as a factor in the conservation of oil and gas.

The house, by an overwhelming majority, voted down an amendment by Representative Walter Beck of Fort Worth to the Wagstaff administration sanctioned bill, which would have required the railroad commission to restrict production to market demand. The vote was 28 ayes and 90 noes. The action was taken by the house sitting as a committee of the whole.

And the former "Miss America's" charming young daughter, Des Cyne Gilcrease, right bids fair to surpass them both. The picture was taken as Mrs. Gilcrease left for Paris to meet her millionaire oilman-husband.

Probe of Archer Bank Collapse Includes County Bond Proceedure

Special to The Record News.

ARCHER CITY, Texas, Aug. 3.—Searching investigation into the bonds that secured Archer county's $1,100,000 deposit in the defunct People's Exchange bank and into the action of the commissioners court in accepting the bonds, as well as a probe of the operation of the bank itself, began in the Archer county grand jury Monday. Sam Spence, district attorney conducting the inquiry, said the jury would probably be in session for several days before its first report.

The bank closed its doors on July 11. Four officials, P. J. Hays and his three sons, Leon, Bernard and J. C. Hays, were charged with accepting deposits after insolvency. The grand jury is to act on these charges during the present session.

In a special charge to the investigators Monday morning District Judge Allan D. Montgomery said it is a misdemeanor for a county commissioner to decline to vote on the acceptance of a depository bond and that the law makes such a refusal grounds for removal from office.

The judge outlined the legal steps necessary for perfecting depository bonds, especially the filing of financial statements by the bondsmen. The legal distinction between perjury and false swearing, in relation of the financial statement, was explained.

Banking laws of the state with special reference to private institutions, with accepting deposits after insolvency, and with forgery were outlined.

Jobless Rail Workers Fear Hard Winter As Lines Reject Parley

CLEVELAND, Aug. 3. (AP)—The 350,000 unemployed railroad workers in this country will face "a very severe winter" unless something is done for their relief, David B. Robertson, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, said today.

A request of executives of the 21 railroad labor organizations comprising the railway labor executives association, of which Mr. Robertson is chairman, that railroad executives meet with them to consider a solution of unemployment has been rejected, Robertson said, as well as a counter proposal of the lines that each deal separately.

Robertson said the labor executives have not yet been decided what their next step will be, but would probably meet in about two weeks to determine it.

The brotherhood chief said the railway unemployed were being helped now by funds contributed by employed fellow workers but these funds were almost exhausted. He said outside help was imperative.

LINES PROPOSE SEPARATE CONFABS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3. (US)—The railroads have turned thumbs down on a request by the railway labor unions for a conference to attack the problem of unemployment in the ranks of railway workers, it was learned today.

The request for such a conference was made last spring in a letter to R. H. Aishton, chairman of the Association of Railway Executives, by the Railway Labor Executive association, embracing 21 rail unions with a membership of some 1,500,000.

The matter is one that should be taken up with the individual lines, the Association of Railway Executives held in refusing the request.

The railways' decision was communicated to the labor association at its executive meeting here last week, it was learned, and resulted in a sharp reply being sent to the railway heads.

The labor leaders are understood to have taken the executives to task for displaying "an indifferent attitude" toward the problems being faced both by the roads and the workers.

When the conference was proposed, it was suggested that not only the unemployment situation, but the matter of railway competition from other means of transportation be discussed.

Meanwhile there was a general impression among union leaders that the petition of the railroads for a flat 15 per cent increase in freight rates carries with it a veiled step toward reducing wages.

In this connection, it was pointed out that during hearings before the Interstate Commerce commission, the demands for the increase came more from the financial backers of the railroads than from the traffic managers.

Failing to get the freight rate increase, it was believed here that reduced wages will be put forth as an alternative proposal.

Grape 'Bricks' Under Probe as Wine Base

NEW YORK, Aug. 3. (US)—Dried grape bricks—"drop 'em in water and a few weeks later you have wine"—are being officially investigated by Andrew McCampbell, prohibition administrator, it was learned today.

But, unofficially, nothing much is expected to come of the investigation. For, to obtain convictions, the federal officials must prove intent on the part of the sales agency to violate the law—and that, it is freely conceded, approaches the impossible.

The bricks, which are made of dried, pressed grapes, are being offered for sale here by the Vino Sano Distributors, Inc., but are not a new product, it was said. The dried, pressed form, as well as the liquor concentrate, has been offered for sale all over the country for years.

MOB ENRAGED AT EVICTION OF RENTERS

Three Killed as Blacks Attack Officers Called To Quiet Throng

COMMUNISTS BLAMED

Reserves Are Mobilized To Prevent Spread Of Outbreak

CHICAGO, Aug. 3. (AP)—Three negroes were killed and three policemen injured late today in a riot by several hundred negroes protesting the eviction of a family for non-payment of rent. The negroes were slain, officials said, after the police had been attacked with knives and pistols. The crowd was dispersed by police reserves and several scores were taken into custody.

Tonight every police reserve in the city had been mobilized in the south side negro district as a precaution against further outbreaks.

Several squads were detailed to thwart an expected gathering of negro communists in Washington park. Other squads were under orders to patrol the district and disperse any gathering threatening disorder.

Crowd Gathers

Today's disorders resulted when two court bailiffs started to move to the street the household belongings of Rose Warwick from a flat building at Fiftieth and Dearborn streets for non-payment of rent. A crowd of negroes, estimated by police at more than 500, quickly gathered shouting defiance to the bailiffs and threatening them.

Police declared the ringleaders of the mob were negro communists who have been active recently in opposing other evictions. In the other cases, however, order had always been restored by the appearance of police.

The bailiffs, alarmed by the menacing attitude of the quickly growing mob telephoned for police assistance. As soon as the patrol wagon, manned by Policemen Fred Graham, negro, and Martin Ernst and John McFadden, white, arrived, the police trio was engulfed by the crowd, many of whom carried knives, clubs and pistols.

Police Attacked

In their fight to reach the bailiff through the crowd, the policemen were attacked with clubs and knives. Ernst suffered a fractured skull. McFadden and Graham were severely cut on their faces but returned to duty after receiving medical attention.

The arrival of a squad car caused the crowd to transfer its attention from the patrol wagon crew to the new arrivals. One negro drew Sergeant Henry Lion's pistol from his holster and pressed the muzzle against the officer's stomach.

"I'm going to kill you," the negro threatened.

Shooting Starts

Policeman William Jordan reached over the menaced officer's shoulder and shot the negro in the head. He fell dead. Then the crowd became wildly excited, striking at the officers with knives and clubs. The police fired several bullets into the crowd and several negroes fell, two dead. The wounded were carried away by friends. Officials were trying to learn tonight whether there were any more fatalities.

A riot call to police headquarters brought all available reserves and the crowd was scattered after a brief struggle.

Police said that en route to the scene they met a strong force of negroes in marching order, shouting threats against the government and moving towards the fighting. Officials said they were sure the crowd was communistic and had hastily been mobilized to protest the eviction.

Third Serious Riot

In the pocket of one of the dead negroes, John O'Neil, 45, police found a membership card in an unemployment organization believed to be affiliated with a Communistic group.

There have been two serious negro riots here in recent years. One, in 1920, resulted in the slaying of two white men, one a United States sailor, and several negroes in disorders that followed the sailor's attempt to rescue an American flag from being burned at a demonstration by a fanatic negro "freedom" cult.

In 1919, 15 white persons and 13 negroes were killed in violent race riots resulting from the reported stoning of a white boy by negro youngsters while he was swimming, causing him to drown. National guardsmen restored order only after a week of sanguinary flare-ups.

Contract for Drainage Ditches In Lake Wichita Area Let for $44,000

Coombs & Glade, Wichita Falls contractors, with a bid of $44,406.54, were awarded tentatively Monday afternoon a contract for the construction of five and one-half miles of deep ditches for Wichita county drainage district No. 2, which lies southwest of this city.

Seven other bids were received by directors of the drainage district and of Wichita county water improvement district No. 1 from contractors representing other parts of the state. Provision for the construction of drainage ditches was made last August, when voters of the district voted bonds in amount of $26,500 for the purpose. It had been agreed that an equal amount would be provided by water improvement district No. 1, the total drainage system having been estimated to cost about $53,000.

Final award of the contract to Coombs & Glade will be made subject to the working out of certain details, which include the securing of the necessary right of way, directors of the districts stated. The new drainage district lies between Wichita Falls and Lake Wichita, and between Call field and Holliday creek. Real estate within that area has been tentatively appraised at $130,730, according to Tax Collector Max Shumake, and an estimate of $4,410 has been placed upon personal property within the district subject to levy for retirement of the drainage bonds.

Those present for the opening of the bids at the Memorial auditorium Monday afternoon were C. M. Crowell, chairman; J. S. Down-since proration. Because of a voluntary shutdown the field was under-produced 3,483,927 barrels for July.

Wells Run Open

Virtually all companies not included in the shutdown agreement produced large quantities of oil Sunday and Monday, forcing some companies owning offsets to open more wells.

Oil men were interested in a proration attack by the Champlin Refining Co. before three judges at Guthrie. The company seeks a permanent injunction against enforcement of proration rules or penalties against it.

EAST TEXAS OIL OUTPUT CLIMBS

DALLAS, Aug. 3. (AP)—Production in the East Texas oil field continued to show an increase in figures released today for the week ending July 31. The figures, compiled by a major company, showed a daily average of 671,000 barrels.

Total production from the field since discovery was placed at 46,580,000 barrels. This was divided: Bateman area, 21,217,000; Joiner, 16,200,000; Longview, 9,163,000.

Total completions in the field for the week were listed as 80.

With production rapidly mounting, plans for a voluntary shutdown of wells by East Texas operators were going forward. A meeting to discuss this proposal was to be scheduled this week. Capt. J. F. Lucey, Dallas, sponsored the plan late last week after communications with the shutdown committee in the Oklahoma field. Robert R. Penn, chairman of the Texas central proration committee, endorsed the plan Saturday.

Other bids received Monday were as follows: George W. Condon, Dallas, $49,788.89; Monarch Engineering company, Sweetwater, $49,226.31; Gifford-Hill company, Dallas, $57,436.39; Dallas Transportation company, Dallas, $53,108.91; A. J. The J. C. Penney company has reported net earnings for the six months ended June 30, 1931, after deductions for federal taxes, but before preferred stock dividend requirements of $4,210,909.30.

This compares with net earnings for the same period of last year, from all sources, of $3,407,400.28.

Preferred stock dividend requirements for the six month period of this year were $597,483.00. Net earnings applicable to the common stock after preferred dividends were $3,614,126.55, equivalent to $1.46 per share. This compares with net earnings for the same period of 1930 of $2,821,374.57, equivalent to $1.14 per share.

The cash account of the company at the close of the first six months of the year was $10,163,701.01. Merchandise inventory at the same date was $44,834,141.19, as compared with inventory for the same time last year of $57,735,050.54.

Gross sales of the J. C. Penney company for the first six months of the year were reported at $77,359,906.04 compared with gross sales for the same period of last year of $86,457,229.27.

Commenting on the statements of the organization, Earl C. Sams, president, said:

"In spite of a decline in dollar sales the management has been able to effect a substantial increase in net earnings through a more intensive merchandising effort and a rigorous campaign of economy.

"Retail prices of all items in our stores have been drastically reduced to correspond with the drop in commodity and manufacturing costs which has taken place during the past two years. The company has, at all times, promptly passed on these savings in the cost of merchandise to its customers; as a result the volume of our business in terms of units sold has exceeded 1929 or 1930 and is steadily increasing.

"General operating expenses have been reduced in many ways and have been kept well in line with the 1931 volume.

"The ratio of our current assets to current liabilities of June 30 exceeded 5 to 1. The cash account of the company at the same date considerably exceeded the total of all accounts payable, none of which were yet due.

"Our organization is in a very sound condition and ready to take immediate advantage of any decided swing in general business conditions."

Letter Written by Fillmore in 1851 To Sultan of Muscat Made Public

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3. (AP)—A curious diplomatic document, written by President Fillmore in 1851 to the sultan of Muscat, was made public by the state department today after being dragged out of musty files because of its comic opera style.

Acting Secretary Castle described it as "the most amazing diplomatic document I have read in a long time."

The note was addressed to Seyed Syeed Bin, sultan of Muscat, a city on the eastern side of the Arabian peninsula, and signed by President Fillmore and Daniel Webster, then secretary of state.

U. S. Power Stressed

Its apparent purpose was to get the sultan's permission for American ships to enter ports of Zanzibar, a Muscat province, and President Fillmore went to great pains to impress the sultan with the power and importance of this country.

He told of "many hundred ships belonging to this great nation which now float over all seas" and said he would "order them frequently to stop at Zanzibar and inquire after your health."

Fillmore pictured the wonders of his land in flowery language, saying:

"From the region of ice which bounds the United States on the north to the flowery land of the orange on the south, is a journey of 100 days, and from the eastern shores, which receive the first beams of the rising sun, to those on the west, where rest his setting rays is 150 days journey, and this immense country is not a sandy waste, but filled with populous cities, traversed by mighty rivers and crowned with lofty mountains.

"Commands" Obeyed

"By railroad or in steamboats the citizens of this immense country pass from one place to another with inconceivable rapidity. From the seat of government at Washington I send my commands in a few minutes by the lightning telegraph, to all parts of the United States; and they are obeyed."

State department experts believe President Fillmore was aided in preparation of the note by some one familiar with the sultan's country because it was filled with Mohammedan phrases.

The note was addressed "to our great and good friend, His Majesty Seyed Syeed Bin, sultan of Muscat and its dependencies," and throughout the letter the sultan was addressed as such.

Expressing hope for the sultan's health, Fillmore said, "I pray that your days may be many, and that your reign may continue to be peaceful, prosperous, and glorious and that your shadow may never be less."

Referring to letters sent by the sultan to President Polk, a few years before, Fillmore said: "I am sorry to tell you that he no longer is an inhabitant of the earth. The last president was Gen. Zachary Taylor—. My heart sinks within me when I tell you that he too has joined the ranks of the immortals."

After explaining the seal of the United States had been placed on the note "by the officer who is entrusted to hold it, and to use it on great and solemn occasions," Fillmore concluded by noting that the document was written May 10, 1851, in the 75th year of American independence, and "the eighth day of the month Redjeb, in the year of Hegira one thousand two hundred and sixty-seven."

The letter was dispatched aboard the naval steamship Susquehanna in the custody of Commadore John H. Aulick.

plane Fort Worth landed at the airport here because of failure to successfully contact their refueling plane, it was said.

The Fort Worth, a sister-ship of the Winnie Mae, flown by Post and Gatty in their recent record-breaking dash around the world, performed beautifully until the time the gas supply was about to be exhausted, it was said.

Three weeks ago a similar attempt by Robbins and Jones ended at Nome when bad weather and failure to establish proper contacts with the refueling ship forced the fliers back to Seattle. Here a new motor was placed in the plane and the second hopoff took place yesterday morning.

The Seattle-Tokyo flight was attempted as the result of a big prize offered by a Tokyo newspaper.

At that time the Lindberghs had been gone from Fort Churchill five and one-half hours. The distance is 375 miles.

PAIR HEADS FOR ARCTIC

CHURCHILL, Man., Aug. 3. (US)—Straight toward the arctic circle, Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh headed today in their vacation plane after a night and part of a day spent in this north Canadian town.

They took off at 12:45 p. m. from the Churchill river harbor, circled above the camps, Mrs. Lindbergh waving gaily to her late hosts, and then straightened out almost due north for Baker lake, their next scheduled stop 275 miles away.

A few minutes before taking off Colonel Lindbergh said they had decided to make no change in their original route as published. He was impatient to be off and did not want to wait for lunch.

From Baker lake they will go to Hunter bay, northwest territory, and thence to Aklavik. Lindy said they had no definite schedule so far as time was concerned.

OIL REGULATION BILLS DEBATED

House Strikes Out Clause On Market Demand

In view of the large majority against the amendment it was believed unlikely any further effort would be made to insert this provision when the bill is up for house action.

Hearings Completed

The senate state affairs committee concluded its hearings on the oil bills and immediately went into executive session.

The bill the administration favors, by Senator Walter C. Woodward of Coleman, was voted favorably, 13 to 1, and the committee refused to substitute for it the conservation bill offered by Senator Clint Small of Wellington.

The Small bill, backed by the Texas emergency oil committee, would have permitted the commission to consider current consumption in arriving at decisions as to what orders reducing or adjusting production it might make.

A considerable portion of the legislative oil fight has centered about the market demand provision. Gov. R. S. Sterling sent a message to the legislature today in which he indicated he would veto any bill that limited production to market demand.

Numerous Viewpoints

Numerous viewpoints about what was wrong with the oil industry and how it could be remedied were presented to the senate committee. Several witnesses argued the state should not consider economic waste but should deal only with physical waste. Others argued the state "should not kid itself," and should include market demand in any bill. No need for additional regulation was seen by others.

Representative A. M. Howsley of Albany attacked in the house Governor Sterling's plan to levy an occupation tax of two cents per barrel on oil, claiming the major companies would be able to make up the tax in some other line while the independent producer would be forced to make up the tax since he couldn't pass it on.

Tom Hunter of Wichita Falls, connected with the oil emergency committee; Brig. Gen. Jacob F. Wolters, counsel for the Texas company, and John E. Green Jr., general attorney for the Gulf companies, were among those who appeared before the senate committee during the day.

Mr. Hunter urged that if the legislature couldn't go so far as to write the market demand clause into a bill, it could define production in excess of current consumption as to waste.

Wolters for Proration

General Wolters urged that such production be prohibited as physical waste.

"When the news goes forth that this legislature has refused to permit proration against overproduction," he said, "60,000 stripper wells (very small producers obtaining the 'leavings') will shut down and be destroyed forever. Texas will see dark days—far darker than now. There will be 120 counties to default in their bonds."

"They're trying to send us back, gentlemen, back to the law of the jungle."

Mr. Green said he thought the state had ample conservation laws already.

"You have got a problem you nor nobody else can do anything with. There is only one law for the situation, one inexorable law that is a little hard to contemplate—"

Discussing the proposed bills, he said the courts would not "stand for these indirections."

EDISON GAINS ON DISEASE

Inventor in Good Spirits Despite Aailments

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Aug. 3. (AP)—Thomas Alva Edison, fighting a complication of diseases, showed more activity and more interest in the outside affairs today than at any time since Saturday when his son, Charles, revealed the inventor was "critically ill."

Mr. Edison had a good night and slept seven hours, one more than the previous night. His physician, Dr. Hubert S. Howe, said the 84-year-old inventor was in excellent spirits. Later Mr. Edison sat at his living room desk reading newspapers.

Messenger boys made regular marches up the half mile hill on the crest of which the inventor's home is situated, carrying messages from many points. One was from Sir Thomas Lipton, wishing the inventor a speedy recovery. Among those calling by phone were Harvey Firestone Sr., and Henry Ford, two of Mr. Edison's closest friends.

Diet Cut

Mr. Edison is suffering from diabetes, Bright's disease, ulcers of the stomach and uremic poisoning.

Mr. Edison, long on a milk diet, six weeks ago cut his routine of two glasses every two hours to one every two hours. Dr. Howe said that undernourishment helped to bring about his present condition.

Dr. Frederick Allen, after a visit this afternoon, likened the inventor's condition to that of a ship.

"As long as a ship keeps on its course all is well," he said, "but if it happens to strike a submerged rock, then complications develop."

Doctor's Bulletin

The following bulletin was issued at 6 p. m. eastern standard time:

"Mr. Edison's condition continues about the same. He slept about one hour this afternoon. His spirits are cheerful and he is looking forward to an early return of his strength.

(Signed) "Dr. Hubert S. Hower."

A bulletin issued at 10 p. m. eastern standard time said:

"This evenig Mr. Edison shows encouraging improvement. He has spent most of the evening enjoying the company of his family and amusing them with his humorous remarks. He has every prospect for a good night."

Dr. Howe left the Edison home this afternoon to go to New York and approved the bulletin over the telephone. His place tonight was taken by Dr. Clifford Weston of Glen Ridge.

The Edison family was very much encouraged over the aged inventor's gains today.

Footprints on Beach Furnish Clue To Slayer of Girl Choir Member

Sheriff Says Tracks Found at Grave Are Similar to Those Of Victim's Lover, Held in Jail

ARANSAS PASS, Texas, Aug. 3. (AP)—Muddy footprints on the beach were regarded as valuable clues today in reconstructing the story of the slaying of Miss Dorothy Doris Symon, pretty choir singer.

Sheriff Frank Hunt measured and pictured the bare prints for comparison with those of Newton Yarberry, 24, who was charged with murder in connection with the 18-year-old girl's death. He said there was a similarity.

Sheriff Hunt believed the girl was strangled to death while held under water. This theory was supported by the discovery of water in her lungs and marks on her throat.

The slayer was then believed to have swum across the channel with the body, climbed over the breakwater and hid it in seaweed and mud in the shallow channel where it was found Saturday.

One set of tracks led to the improvised grave and returned, indicating that the body had been carried. The body was clad in a bathing suit.

Yarberry, held in jail here awaiting his preliminary hearing on the murder charge tomorrow, denied guilt. He refused to make a statement, saying he knew no more than what he had read in the papers.

NEGRO HELD IN ROBBERY FREED

Police Resume Search For Girl's Assailant

Police continued Monday a search for an armed negro who robbed and attempted to assault Miss Mary Faubion, 1813 Rose street, at her home late Sunday night.

A negro arrested early Monday morning by patrolmen seeking the girl's assailant was transferred to county authorities Monday afternoon and charged with carrying a pistol.

Miss Faubion could not identify the man, and told police that she believed that she could not identify the black if he were caught, according to information given by Frank Burns, chief of police. Efforts have not been relaxed, however, to take into custody the negro.

Miss Faubion, who resides in a downstairs garage apartment at the rear of the W. J. Barrett home, 1813 Rose, was preparing for bed Sunday night when she was confronted by the negro, armed with a pistol. Levelling the gun at her, she told investigating officers later, the negro searched her purse, which lay on a nearby dresser. After extracting $10 in cash from the purse, she said, the negro announced his intention to assault her, and grasped her by the throat.

The young woman screamed as she tried to escape. The black, frightened by the outcry, leaped through the window by which he had gained his entrance, and fled. He was pursued by Mr. Barrett who had rushed from his home with a shotgun when he heard Miss Faubion's scream, but was unable to get within range of the negro.

The resolution inviting the boy to deliver the address was introduced by Ben G. Oneal, senator from Wichita Falls.

T. H. Etheridge of San Antonio and C. M. Caldwell of Abilene were invited to present the youth with prizes he won in the oratorical contest he won for the second time at the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention at Lubbock recently. The awards are the Etheridge cup, $100 in cash and the choice of a scholarship to any university in the state. Young Witherspoon's selection is Texas Christian university at Fort Worth.

TWO CONCERNS CUT GAS PRICE

Panhandle and Orient Make Another Adjustment

A two-cent reduction in the retail price of gasoline produced by the Orinet Petroleum company and the Panhandle Refining company will be effected Tuesday morning at 7 o'clock at all service stations, it was announced by officials of the companies Monday.

White gasoline of both concerns will return to the price of 12 cents per gallon. Panhandle green "Noxless" will be reduced from 16 to 14 cents. Orient's "Master" gas will be reduced from 17 cents to 15 cents.

The Panhandle and Orient increased prices two cents per gallon here a few days ago, as did the American Refining properties. Officials of the American said Monday night that a conference would be held Tuesday to determine whether that company would also reduce quotations.

Prices were increased at the time with the announcement that the new figures were the cost of producing gasoline.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

According to an article we read in the April, 1931, Review of Reviews, in about one year, 50,000 cars were hauled on modern motor trucks that at times carried as many as six in a load, and dumped at their final destination in the Rouge plant of the Ford Motor company where they were "stripped of their raiment, their bodies and bones to go into the furnace to be melted into steel."

Derelicts, all their glory gone; the steel salvage went into the furnaces where tons on tons of other scrap steel from other sources melted in the terrible heat.

When the process is complete, the steel is cast into ingots which are turned into bloom, then billets and bars and finally "parts" for other cars.

In the shining new motor you drive, there may be part of the first Lizzie you drove. Manufacturing is a repetition of nature and the story made us think of Omar Khayam and the fair flowers that bloomed where buried Caesar bled. (Don't call us on that line, we are just hitting at it. No quotes).

It looks like there's no way of getting away from the thought of eternity. Everything, since history began, has moved in a constant cycle.

As for us, we're tired of going round and round. We grow a bit pessimistic about the world's condition just when it begins looking up. But we met in a string today, three optimists with the corners of their mouths curved down. All their optimism was in empty words.

We have decided in our heart that the population of the globe would be much better off if each person did not look at the other and feel that in that man's boots, he could do better. Let him only keep his own boots clean.

The clerk who works for the merchant often feels that if the merchant could only see as he does, business would be better. People withthout children know how to raise children; those with children are confident that others do not raise them right. It would be a strange and peaceful world if each person did not try to tell the other how to manage life.

We catch ourself giving directions to others who know far more than we have learned. We grow pessimistic over our lack of knowledge but believe that a little pessimism is at times better than over-optimism.

We heard today of a Texas widow who complained daily of the burden of managing her money. "The estate my husband left me," she moaned, "is so much trouble that I sometimes almost wish he had not died." Was she optimist or pessimist?

Flattering Bib Collar Frock

Pattern 2175

By ANNE ADAMS

The bib collar is shown in many types on the becoming softly designed frocks for summer afternoons, and this is a particularly charming example. The collar dips to a point in the back, and in the front forms a deeper point that is held down by the sash at the waistline passing through a slot. The flaring skirt is joined to the top in a pointed line accentuating the lines of the collar. Embroidered batiste would make this a lovely flattering afternoon frock, or georgette, chiffon or printed crepe could be used.

Obtainable only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 4⅛ yards of 39-inch material and 2½ yards of ruffling. Yardage for every size, and simple, exact instructions are given. No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model with our pattern.

Send fifteen cents (15c in coins or stamps (coins preferred), for each pattern. Write plainly your name, address and style number. Be sure to state size wanted.

Way to Whiten Skin 3 to 5 Shades Overnight

New Way Found to Remove Flaws

Here's the new scientific way to remove freckles, blackheads, ugly weather stains and tell-tale wrinkles, and to make the skin smooth and whiter — three to five shades whiter overnight. It is the safest and surest way known to have a beautiful pink and white skin and to keep it that way indefinitely.

Just get three ounces of Orchard White from any druggist and follow the easy directions. Pat a little into the skin at bedtime and by morning you can see a big improvement. Ugly flaws disappear. The skin gets whiter and soon it is satiny smooth, youthfully fresh and beautiful. What's more, it stays that way. For in Orchard White there's a remarkable ingredient not found in any other preparation. It preserves the beauty of the skin and protects it from the ravages of the wind, rain, sun and dirt. If you really want a smooth, soft, beautiful pink and white skin—try this successful way. You'll be happy that you did.—Adv.

WOLL ASSAILS WAGE SLASH

A. F. L. Leader Appeals To John D. Rockefeller

NEW YORK, Aug. 3. (UP)—Matthew Woll, vice president of the American Federation of Labor, today placed before the public for judgment the action of the United States Steel corporation in reducing dividends instead of wages, and the action of the Rockefeller controlled Colorado Fuel and Iron company, in slashing miners wages 20 per cent.

Woll's action came in an appeal to John D. Rockefeller Jr., to restore the old wage level ordered slashed in C. F. & I. mines last week. The miners are not affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

The C. F. & I., wage cutting policy will, if followed, lead to "world bitterness, internal dissension, chaos and world ruination," according to Woll.

Woll praised the United States Steel company for reducing dividends instead of wages as "a rebuke to those who would encourage a wage reduction policy."

The labor official's appeal was the second in the Colorado fuel and iron situation. Last week Miss Josephine Roche, president of the Rocky Mountain Fuel company, which had announced its intention of keeping its wages at the existing level, also asked for a restoration by the C. F. & I Co. of its former wage of $6.52 a day. The company had announced a reduction to $5.25.

"The real need is for general and widespread increases in wages, not reductions," Woll said.

"It is not difficult to understand the demand of a certain class of international bankers to have the wages of English, German and French workers reduced 'to correspond to the reduction in prices of commodities.' It is equally clear why they demand a reduction in the wages of American workers 'so as to permit competition with the products of other lands'."

Oklahoma Towns Join Work For "Shortcut to Cavern" Route

Special to The Record News.

ALTUS, Okla., Aug. 3.—Representatives of Hollis, Gould, Altus and Headrick have organized a "Short Cut Carlsbad Caverns Route" association.

Claud Brown of Duke was elected president of the group organization and automatically became vice president of the combined association. Group organizations of several towns are being organized along the entire route.

This organization is formed in an effort to route visitors to Carlsbad cavern from the East back through Altus as they return to their homes, local officials pointed out.

It is believed that visitors to Carlsbad will travel federal highway 62 to the cavern but will probably want to drive through the scenic central part of New Mexico and Colorado on their way home.

Strip maps will be made and markers put up along the highway routing traffic from Carlsbad to Roswell and Clovis, N. M., and through Hollis, Altus, Lawton and on to Oklahoma City.

The new organization will not affect the Carlsbad Cavern Highway association. Most of the towns which are members of the short cut route association are also members of the Carlsbad Cavern Highway association.

J. W. Edwards of Turkey, Texas, was here the past week to assist in the organization and was scheduled to make other group organizations at Lawton and Chickasha soon.

He had planned to enter Texas university in September.

Revival Meeting Holds Interest

Interest continues unabated in "The Prophetic Evangelistic Bible Conference" which is now on in a large tent on Indiana south of Tenth street. It was said, that many expressed themselves publicly in the service Monday night as to benefits that they had received during the conference. Rev. Albert E. Davis declared that other seats would be installed to accommodate the crowds who are attending. Many persons are responding to the "inquiry room" invitations which are being given each night.

Mr. Kellogg stated in his message in part: "There is nothing in the world as bad as religious bondage. It is possible for a man to be religious and yet not know God or possess any of the essentials of Christianity. It was a group of religious people who crucified the Christ nearly 2000 years ago, but there are many religious people who are constantly crucifying the Christ in their every day life, right in the city of Wichita Falls, Texas. It is only those whose lives are controlled by the spirit of God who are enjoying true liberty," the speaker countinued.

Tuesday Mr. Kellogg will speak on the subject: "The Greatest Prayer Meeting in the History of the World and Not a Christian Present."

Young County's Courthouse Scrap Renewed in Contract Question

Special to The Record News.

OLNEY, Texas, Aug. 3.—Young county's courthouse controversy showed a tendency to linger on today when it became known that members of the commissioners court were divided on the question of recognizing the contract with J. J. Taylor, Fort Worth contractor, to build the new structure.

The minutes of Saturday's meeting of the court show that the vote on the issue was a 2 and 2 tie. County Judge W. F. Parsley refused to break the tie and the meeting was adjourned with the issue unsettled.

Learning of this, a detegation of farmers called on Judge Parsley today, urging him to vote against carrying out the agreement with the contractor. The delegation contended that $300,000 was too great a debt for the county to incur at this time and that a six per cent interest charge on the proposed warrants was too high, pointing out that the interest and principal would total more than $500,000.

Judge Parsley told the farmers he was trying to effect a compromise with the contractor to delay beginning of construction. He also said he had never favored building a courthouse of the present plans.

Until today's developments, the controversy was thought to have been settled in view of the state supreme court's ruling allowing the commissioners to issue warrants for the building.

SPANISH STATE ASKS FREEDOM

Catalonia Petitions For Autonomy

BARCELONA, Spain, Aug. 3. (AP)—Catalonian officials today made plans to present as quickly as possible a statute granting autonomy to the state at the national assembly in Madrid.

The proposal received overwhelming support in a plebiscite taken Sunday in which 600,000 persons voted—a record vote for Catalonia. On the basis of official figures 90 per cent of the voters favored independence.

The belief was expressed that the Catalonian measure would be ready for debate on the floor of the assembly before the end of the week.

The state authorities were silent about what attitude they would take if the proposal were rejected.

MADRID, Aug. 3. (AP)—Stiff opposition to autonomy for Catalonia when the measure comes before the national assembly was predicted today by political observers.

Indications were the Catalonian deputies would try to obtain the support of Basque and Gallegan representatives, who have similar aspirations for their districts. Republicans and Socialists were expected to form the opposition.

"TOASTING" expels SHEEP-DIP BASE naturally
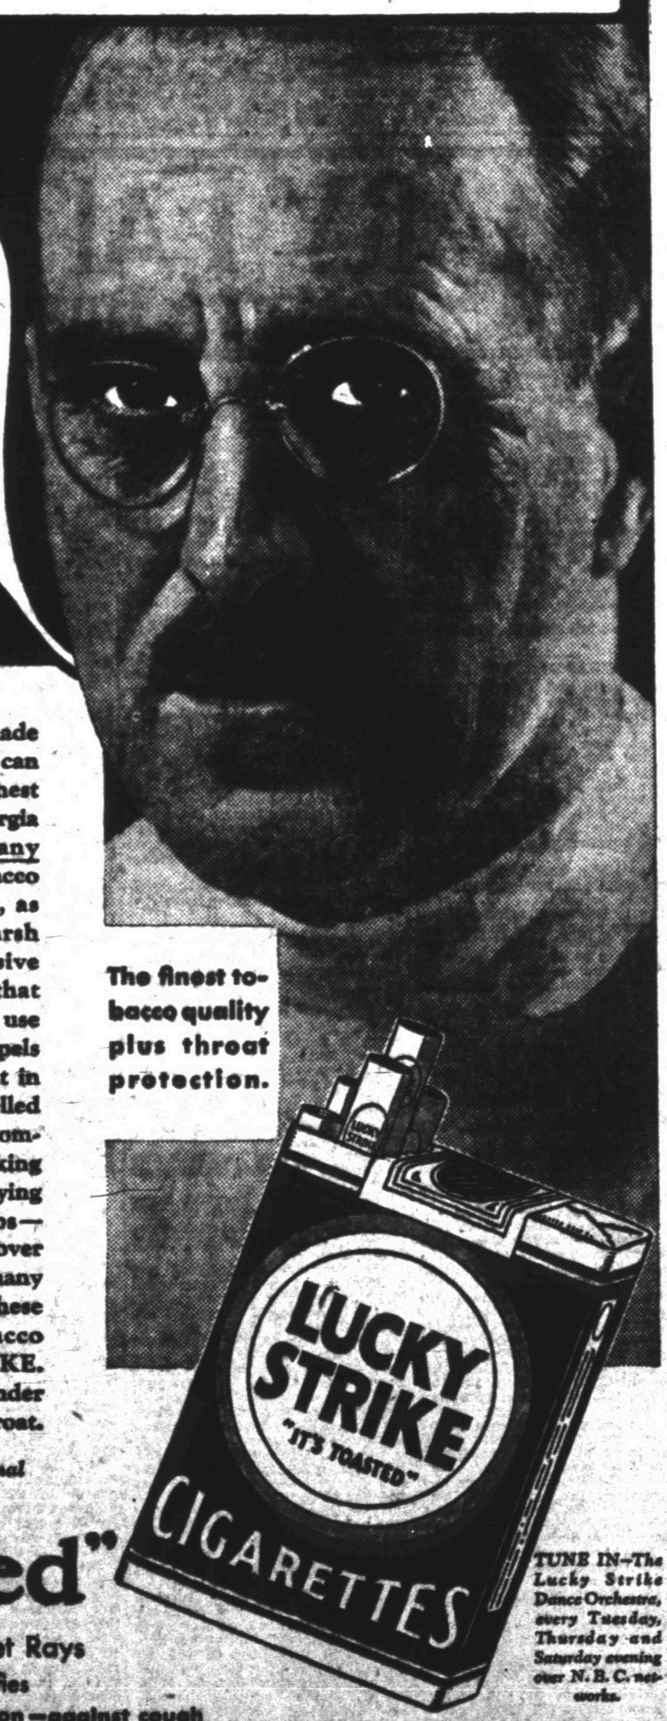
(Black, biting, harsh irritant chemicals)
present in every tobacco leaf



Every LUCKY STRIKE is made of the finest tobacco leaves the world can offer—the finest from Turkey—the finest from Kentucky, Tennessee, Virginia, Georgia and the Carolinas—the Cream of many Crops throughout the world. But all tobacco leaves, regardless of price and kind, as nature produces them, contain harsh irritants. LUCKY STRIKE'S exclusive "TOASTING" Process—a process that mellows, that purifies, that includes the use of the modern Ultra Violet Ray—expels certain harsh irritants naturally present in every tobacco leaf. We sell these expelled irritants to manufacturers of chemical compounds, who use them as a base in making sheep-dip*, as well as a powerful spraying solution for fruits, flowers and shrubs—enough to permit the daily dipping of over 50,000 sheep or the daily spraying of many thousands of trees. Thus, you are sure these irritants, naturally present in all tobacco leaves, are not in your LUCKY STRIKE. "They're out—so they can't be in!" No wonder LUCKIES are always kind to your throat.

Texas Facts

By BILL EDWARDS

Texas has 673 hotels (U. S. census figures) doing an annual business of $33,177,000 from their 47,373 guest rooms and dining rooms with seating capacity of 19,483. Five hundred and ninety Texas hotels operate on the "European" plan, 32 on the "American" and 51 give their guests option on either plan.

HELPING BUILD TEXAS

A new hydro-electric project in Texas now under construction near Eagle Pass will take water from the main ditch of the Maverick County Irrigation district, use the 80-foot fall for the operation of turbines and then return the water for use on the 70,000 acres of land in the district to be brought under irrigation . . . Interest in hydro-electric development in Texas seems to be steadily increasing, as work proceeds on the huge Hamilton dam on the Colorado above Austin, and now comes the announcement that one of the big companies is interested in the same river further down stream—at Columbus, where plans are being considered for a dam to provide a 20-foot fall that will develop 8,000 horsepower with stabilizing dams further up the stream. The Maverick county project will develop 12,000 horsepower and will be the largest hydro project in the state except for the Hamilton dam which will develop 30,000 or more.

Hydro-electric current has cut small figure in the total Texas output in th past and at present (on figures for 1930) accounts for only 1½ per cent of the total. There are 26 hydro-electric plants in the state already, however, with a generative capacity of 31,174 horsepower, which is only slightly more than one-fifth the capacity of the largest steam plant in the state. Most of the 26 are small and 10 of them are used by private manufacturing plants as a source of their power. Projects under construction or consideration will more than double the output of hydro-generated current in Texas.

Aged Railroad Builder Starts New Venture

WICHITA, Kan., Aug. 3. (UP)—Jacob Achenbach, who was 70 years old when he began railroading and whose first move was to build a 103-mile line through a barren country and then sell out for two million dollars, is entering a new venture at the age of 86, it was learned today.

A little 10-mile road runs past Achenbach's home at Hardtner, and Achenback announced he would take it over if the Missouri Pacific does not renew its lease when it expires in 90 days.

Achenback's start as a railroader is one of the classics of the business in the Southwest. He built the Beaver-Meade and Englewood, 103 miles long, in Kansas and Oklahoma and then waited for the country to build up. When it did, he sold his "worthless" line for two million dollars.

An editorial writer has referred to Germany as the sick man of Europe. It has been ale-ing for some time.

When Eugene O'Neill returned from Europe he made a very dramatic arrival. Six of his trunks were filled with the manuscript of one play.

Cooperation Is Needed

PROBABLY it would be a mistake to expect too much of the agreement recently concluded at London by which Germany is given extended credits. In the very nature of things it can be little more than a breathing space. The crisis has been postponed, certainly, but it is too early to say with assurance that it has been averted entirely.

To say this is not to minimize the importance of the work that was done. If Germany got only a breathing space, she needed that breathing space imperatively. It is not pleasant to think what might have happened if it had not been forthcoming. But the danger is not over.

The most important underlying fact seems to be that a new era of international cooperation must begin very soon if the world is to be saved. The London conference was only a first step. There must be other steps to follow, and they must not be small ones.

For at London the great powers were compelled to face the fact that no nation can live to itself alone any more. The distress of one is the distress of all. Cooperation must take the place of rivalry.

It isn't hard to see some of the things that follow from this. First and most important of all is next year's disarmament conference. Something really effective must be done. To talk of international cooperation and go on in a world-wide competitive armament race does not make sense. A sharp reduction all around in armies and navies seems to be in order.

With that the ordinary man must get a new mental attitude. The old habit of looking on other nations with distrustful suspicion must end. National pride needs to be tempered slightly with common sense and unselfishness.

Of course, no one need expect that an era of universal brotherhood is going to begin next week. We have a long, weary way to go, and we shall undoubtedly do a great deal of backsliding. But it's time we got started, and it's up to us to realize it.

He Shouldn't Be Alone

ALBERT B. FALL is in prison at last, and the scandalous oil deals of the Harding administration may be said, at last, to have come to their conclusion.

For Fall himself, in his hour of adversity, it is hard to keep from feeling a sort of sympathy.

He is getting, of course, precisely what he deserves. A prison cell is the only place for a cabinet minister who stoops to bribery. And yet—well, Fall was not the only culprit in the whole business.

Through a singular quirk of justice, Fall was convicted of bribery while every one who was accused of giving him bribes was acquitted. The government official who betrayed his trust is in prison, where he belongs, but the men who connived at the betrayal are at liberty. Fall would arouse no sympathy were it not for the fact that he went to prison alone.

Higher Prices and Prosperity

A STIMULATING comment on the widely expressed theory that prosperity will not return until high prices have been restored is contained in a current bulletin from the Alexander Hamilton institute of New York. The bulletin remarks:

"As long as business policy is based on this theory, just so long will recovery from the depression be delayed. The argument is that prices cannot be reduced because of the cost of production. The fact remains that the cost of raw materials has been greatly reduced.

"The income of the producers of raw materials has been correspondingly reduced. These producers can no longer buy finished products, or services such as railroad transportation, in normal quantity. With reduced sales the producers of finished goods find their profits curtailed."

There is food for a good deal of thought in that comment.

On Minding One's Business

FOR the Indianapolis reformer who landed in jail after he knocked a cigaret out of the mouth of a woman who was sitting by her husband in a parked automobile it is hard to feel very much sympathy.

People differ in their attitude toward the use of tobacco by women. A great many people see nothing at all wrong in it. Others are convinced that it is an extremely pernicious habit.

But there is something else that is more important—the duty that is incumbent on each citizen to mind his own business.

The Indianapalis reformer forgot that duty grievously. The 10-day jail term that he drew as a result was just about what he deserved.

Old Closet

Long ago, I tucked away
Things I thought I'd like some day;
Tarnished shoes, with heels of gold;
Faded perfume, like an old,
Ineffectual caress
In a limp, forgotten dress;
And in a box behind a bonnet
I have a sad, uneven sonnet
That made a simple music of
Such words as love and dove and glove,
And a note without a name;
It read: "Nobody is to blame
That loves will end and hearts will break."
It read: "Be happy for my sake.
We've had our penny and we've spent it."

I wish I could recall who sent it!

Novelette

Max Gordon, the producer of "Three's a Crowd" and "Band Wagon," is the son of an orthodox Hebrew. Some time ago, Max fell in love with a beautiful girl, a Catholic, and they were married. It has been a successful match.

When Max notified his parent, however, that he intended marrying a shiksa (Gentile to you!) the old gent didn't lose his head or scold his son. He tried to be tactful, instead. He unfolded dozens of reasons why nice Joosh boys should marry nice Joosh girls. Max told him Love was Everything.

The very religious old man realized he could do nothing with his boy. So to top everything he shook a threatening finger and thundered "Ull right, mine son. But watch! Remember wot I'm saying. There will come a day—when you will die—and they'll come in with a barrel of beer!"

Observation

From the scribbled walls of a West 47th St. speakeasy: "'Safety First' is selecting a girl friend who has the same color hair as your wife!"

Of All Complaints!

Perhaps George Jean Nathan enjoys the distinction of being the toughest critic to please. Rarer than a day in June is a posey from Mr. Nathan. Take the time he covered "Lovely Lady."

He summed it up this way: "It's a good play. But there are no drinking cups in the gent's washroom!"

He Couldn't Be Bothered

And talking about crisp cracks from caustic critics as we usually do, there's the priceless one written by a small-town dramatic reviewer, covering a road company which offered: "Custer's Last Fight."

He dismissed it in this manner: "'Custer's Last Fight' is being fit at the Melodeon this week."

Heheheh

Leave it to Mrs. Holtz to imagine that everyone of any importance in New York is Jewish and that they have changed their names. So far as Mrs. Holtz is concerned it isn't "The Ziegfeld Follies."

She asked her son Lou to get her "a teecket" to see "Mr. Segal's Follehs!"

Ever Try It?

It was the late Walter J. Kingsley, Broadway's most popular exploiter, who once said that no man could awe him unless he was the type who could recognize his own waiter in a Chinese restaurant.

Uncommon Sense

When a well known local was asked why he didn't subscribe to a press-clipping bureau so he could see all the mention he received in the newspapers, he wisely replied: "My dear fellow, I do not care about the puffs or the flattery, and I can always depend on my ill-wishers to send me the roasts."

Ad Soliciting

When Mark Twain edited a newspaper in Missouri one of his subscribers wrote him that he had found a spider in his paper and wished to know whether it meant good luck or bad.

Twain replied: "Finding a spider in your paper is neither good luck nor bad. The spider was merely looking over our paper to see which merchant was not advertising, so that he could go to that store, spin his web across the door and lead a life of undisturbed peace ever afterward!"

Making It Hotter

Irvin S. Cobb was saying only the other day in an interview that he couldn't understand why men in New York wore such heavy clothing in the torrid weather. "Frankly," said Mr. Cobb, "down home I wear white suits, linen suits, they are so comfortable. I don't dare wear one here for fear of the stares!"

Well, some of us are not that touchy. We wear them in New York and brave the sidewalk wits who yell: "Where's yer broom?" or "You look like a bottle of milk!" More devastating, however, is "Hey, hey! Everything white—but the neck!"

"MARY FAITH" by Beatrice Burton

COPYRIGHT, 1931, BY KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.

Mary Faith and Kimberly Farrell, have been engaged for some time. Mary Faith, beautiful, young orphan, gives up her position as secretary to Mark Nesbit when Kim sets their wedding date. His attitude changes brusquely when his mother objects. The latter treats Mary Faith coldly. Heartbroken, Mary Faith returns to her office and breaks the news to her co-workers. Mark, taken ill, has Mary Faith driven to his country home, daily, for two weeks. He tells her of his love for her. She halts him saying she will never love anyone as she did Kim. While in a jewelry store with Mark, selecting a Christmas ring for his sister, Mary Faith meets Kim with a girl. Next morning, Kim calls at Mary Faith's boarding house. He assures her of his love and proposes immediate marriage. Mary Faith melts in his arms.

Mary Faith tells Mark she is leaving to marry Kim.

CHAPTER XIV

Mary Faith and Kim were married at high noon in the chapel of the Church of the Heavenly Rest.

December sunlight came in through the high, stained-glass windows and laid its bright finger on the pages of Dr. Pomeroy's prayer book as he began to read the marriage service:

"Dearly beloved, we are gathered here together in the sight of God to join together this man and this woman."

Mary Faith had tight hold of Kim's hand and her eyes were on his face.

"Dearly beloved, I wonder if you know how happy I am to be standing here beside you at last!" she said to him in her heart, while the minister went on with the beautiful and simple words that were binding them together.

Kim, being Kim, had forgotten to buy the wedding ring, and Claire Maldon had let him take hers for the ceremony. Mary Faith looked down at it as Kim slipped it over her finger and found herself wondering what he had done with her engagement ring.

"I'll never ask him about it," she made up her mind. In all probability he had taken it back to the jewelry store where he had bought it. He was always in need of money.

Well, she would see to it that he saved part of his money from now on, she told herself. She was a good manager. Hadn't she saved eighteen hundred dollars herself during the last four years? She thought comfortably of them tucked away in her savings account downtown.

"I can buy lots of little things for the house." In her mind she went through the dinky Wilton street flat, putting up new white curtains in the sitting room, setting the dining-room table with a set of Indian Tree china, tacking down shiny new blue-and-white linoleum on the kitchen floor. Her fingers fairly itched to get at that flat and make it a brighter place for Kim.

He was turning to her now and Dr. Pomeroy was beaming at them both as he closed his prayer book.

Claire and Jack Maldon came up to them from the shadows where they had been standing.

Claire's bright blue eyes were on Kim's face and she was smiling broadly at him. She laid one of her white-gloved hands on his shoulder.

"Well, Sandy," she asked him, "how do you feel now that it's all over?"

Kim laughed. "I feel just like a married man," he said. "That service certainly does tie you up for life, doesn't it?—'Till Death us do part.' That's quite a line, isn't it?"

Claire turned her eyes to Mary Faith. "Now that you're safely married, could I please have my wedding ring?" she asked. "They say it's bad luck to take off your wedding ring, and this is the first time I've had mine off since Jack put it on last October. I keep it on even when I wash dishes."

She talked constantly. She talked all the way into the registry where Mary Faith and Kim wrote their names in a book filled with the names of other brides and grooms and all the way out of the shadowy old church into the sunlight.

"Sandy," she said to Kim as they stood in the street beside Kim's shabby little roadster. "We bought you and Mary Faith a wedding present and put it in the back of your car. It's a package of books—all the new novels that looked good to us. We knew they'd be life-savers for you down in that dead little down where you're going."

She had a light, pretty voice that was like a very simple piece of music.

"You don't believe what I'm telling you," it rippled on, "but in a week or so you two will be so bored with each other that you'll yawn every three minutes by the clock. You'll wish you'd never seen each other. . . . Jack and I scrapped all the time we were on our honeymoon, didn't we, Jack?"

Jack Maldon, a tall, dark, quiet-mannered young man, grinned and said nothing.

"Well, we did whether he admits it or not," said Claire. "We fought like two strange bull-dogs. . . . You see, we thought we wanted to be all by ourselves, just the way you do. So we went 'way up into the North Woods, miles from everywhere. And four days after we got there it began to rain. It just poured! And we didn't have a thing to read or even a deck of cards! It was ghastly! Next time I get married I'm going to Atlantic City or Palm Beach or some other crowded spot for my honeymoon, and no fooling!"

She clung to her husband's arm and waved her hand at them as they drove off.

"When you get lonesome come back to town and call up the Maldons!" her voice floated after them through the clear bright air. "Don't forget, Sandy!"

The gray-blue shadows of late afternoon lay across the snow when Mary Faith and Kim drove into the main street of Garrettsville—"the main drag," as Kim called it.

It was a long narrow street lined with little shops—a candy store called The Sugar Bowl, a White Front Meat Market, a Five-and-Ten filled with tinsel and toys, a jewelry store that reminded Mary Faith that she had no wedding ring.

Kim parked the car at the little telegraph office and they sent off two day letters—one to his mother and one to Mrs. Puckett.

"Now, then, we've done our duty," Kim said when they came out into the snow and sunshine once more; "and we can forget the rest of the world for two solid weeks, Mrs. Farrell."

The world that Mary Faith had always known already seemed very far away. Was it only last night that she had sat talking to Mrs. Puckett in the house on River street? Only this morning that she had said good-bye to Mark Nesbit in her old office in the Nesbit building? It seemed ages ago.

Aunt Ella Goad's brown shingle house stood at the top of a little hill half a mile beyond Garrettsville.

Snow lay deep on its porches and along the tops of its diamond-paned windows. A silver fringe of icicles hung from its low-pitched roof and on either side of it stood a tall fir tree.

"It isn't a real house at all. It's a picture on an old-fashioned Christmas card, Kim, and I know it!" Mary Faith declared as they drove up the hill and into the drifts of the backyard.

"It's old-fashioned, all right. There isn't even a garage," Kim said dryly. He always seemed embarrassed when Mary Faith made extravagant statements or quoted poetry to him. "The car will probably freeze, standing in that woodshed all night."

He set the suitcases and the Maldons' books on the back porch and unlocked the door.

The kitchen was filled with a faint spicy smell as if gingerbread had often been baked in it, and the low red sun shining in through the west windows made it seem very bright and cozy. There were rag rugs on the floor and a big cushioned rocker stood near the stove.

Mary Faith stood in the very middle of it, enchanted.

"Did you ever see such a lovely kitchen in all your life!" She turned wide starry eyes to Kim. "And look at the wall paper in the dining room! All little Chinese pagodas and boats! Why, this house is just a house of a dream, isn't it?"

"Is it?" Kim asked. He had no eyes for the little house. He had come up behind her and his arms were around her, holding her so close that she seemed to feel the quick heavy drumming of his heart in her own heart. She sighed, lifting her face to him.

"You're happy here with me, aren't you, Mary Faith?"

"Kim," she said with a throbbing note in her voice, "Kim, I'm never happy unless I am with you."

Playground Plan Proves Success In Waurika Park

Special to The Record News.

WAURIKA, Okla., Aug. 3.—Backers of Waurika's first supervised playground were delighted with the results as shown by the reports when the children were dismissed last week.

Sponsored by the Rotary club and the Mothers club, funds for the enterprise were donated by the civic clubs and the chamber of commerce.

Mrs. Hugh Plumlee, assisted by a group of local girls was in charge of the children, with the following program carried out each day: Reading a chapter of a book; setting-up exercises; a treasure hunt for a toy; and group games.

Special days such as dress-up day, tacky day and music days were popular. On each Tuesday Guy Edwards donated the use of the swimming pool to the children.

An average of 45 children attended each day. The highest attendance during the summer was 92 with a total of 220 different children registered during the summer.

Dick Pryor, athletic director at Waurika high school was in charge of the older boys, most of whom were of high school age. They were organized into baseball teams and played a regular schedule.

Q.—What per cent of the United States Olympic games teams are college students?—L. F. C.

A.—In the makeup of the 1928 team at Amsterdam, athletes who were college trained comprised 84.14 per cent; high school athletes, 2.44 per cent; non-school athletes, 13.42 per cent.

Q.—How deeply sunk must a vessel be to cease being a menace in navigation?—V. N.

A.—That depends on the condition of the ship. Recently a wire drag survey of the coast and geodetic survey discovered a sunken derelict off the entrance to Green wich harbor on the north shore of Long Island. Although the hulk was covered by 48 feet of water, a mast, still standing, came to within one foot of the surface at low water. In such cases, measures are taken to destroy the whole wreck.

A.—The grapefruit is the largest member of the citrus family and the kumquat is the smallest.

Q.—What is meant by the "dead man's handle?"—R. C. C.

A.—It is a safety device on electric locomotives. On the controller handle, by the movement of which the current is switched on or off, there is a small button, and unless this button is pressed the handle cannot be moved from the off position. If the driver releases the pressure the handle flies back to the off position and the train comes to a standstill.

Q.—Which countries have the largest standing armies in their order?—K. L. D.

A.—The rank of stading armies of the world is France, Russia, Italy, Poland, Japan, Rumania, Switzerland, Czecho-Slovakia, Spain Jugoslavia. The Record News Offers A Booklet on Grape Juice

Grape juice can be made easily and cheaply in the home. It has many uses. In the old days it was used in making wine, but in its unfermented state it may be pasteurized and preserved for use by itself as a refreshing hot weather drink or in the preparation of a wide variety of culinary products, including grape nectar, punches, sherbets, ices and ice creams, lemonades, sillabub, gelatins and custards. Therefore it is worth while knowing how to make it, and this official government bulletin tells all the methods.

In sending for your copy, use this coupon and enclose 10 cents in coin or stamps to cover handling and postage charges.

BUFFS ROUT MILT IN FIRST TO WIN, 5-2; FLORRID STARS

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

ODE TO DIZZY

Who is he who is big and tall,
Who can hit and run and pitch a ball
Like a streak of lightnin' right over the plate
And laugh when the batter is swinging too late?
Who will give them three balls, just for a teaser
Then give 'em three strikes that gives 'em the fever,
Who goes over and tells 'em with a big boyish grin
"I'm givin' you two hits, and fanning 12 men."
Who climbs from the dugout and walks to his place
With the ball in his hand and a smile on his face,
Looks over the batter and lets the ball fly,
Retires 'em in order as easy as pie,
Then razes the skipper and men all alike
With "Go get your Boy Scouts and give 'em a hike."

Then like a whirlwind he breezes right through,
Twelve men he fans, and their hits are just two.
Then he goes to the showers and comes out neat and clean,
I'm telling the world it's our Dizzy Dean.

—ROSS EDGEMON.

Our readers doubtless will agree that Mr. Edgemon, who lives here, has written a very fine poem about Mr. Dean, although it is slightly inaccurate. Dizzy is not "our Dizzy Dean," alas!

But the poem was right about one thing—about Dizzy going to the showers and coming out neat and clean. Last Sunday he took his shower at the end of the fifth inning of the second game.

At His Best and Worst.

Something like 3,000 fans turned out Sunday to see Dizzy Dean in action. It was the most enthused crowd that has attended a baseball game in Wichita Falls this season—not even barring the opening game of the season, with Fort Worth—and it so happened everything the crowd hoped for, with respect to Dean, came true.

So far as this writer was able to judge the sentiment of the crowd, it wanted to see Dizzy do some of his grand pitching—but it wanted to see him blasted out of there, too!

And the crowd saw just that. Dean was at his best and his worst, all within the space of five innings, at Athletic park Sunday afternoon.

That First Inning

If any pitcher on earth could have done a better job than Dean in polishing off the first inning of the second game, then we'd like to know his name.

If you remember, Garms first up, popped to short. Allday then socked a double and Stanton singled to center and stole second.

No team on earth ever had a better chance to score—men on third and second, and only one out.

But the Spudders didn't score. Dean rose to the heights and struck out the next two men, Gerken and Bradbury, making one of the most perfect jobs of wiggling out of a hole that these old eyes have ever seen.

There was Dean at his best. When the Rambler rubbed his eyes and realized what had happened, he decided that Allday's double and Stanton's single were to be about the only hits the Spuds obtained off Mr. Dean that day.

But it happened otherwise. Dean shot his bolt in the first frame, and Skipper Schultz, who doesn't ordinarily leave his pitchers in when it is obvious they haven't the stuff, and until runners are cluttering the bases—Skipper Schultz, we say, did the wise thing in getting the big play-boy out of the game. If Lester White had been as summarily jerked in the sixth inning, while the Spudders still had the lead—even if only a one-run lead—we believe our boys would have won the second game.

He's a Man, Now

But back to Dean.

"Whataman!" shouted the overjoyed crowd jerkingly as double followed single, and single followed double off the Spudder bats and at Dean's expense Sunday.

Dizzy wasn't in the Whataman class after the before-mentioned first inning, but when he was going good, he offered a striking contrast to the Dean that pitched at Spudder park last fall.

Dizzy then didn't have that matured look about him. That day he stepped to the box and fanned 12 of the hard-hitting 1930 Spudders, he was so decidedly a bubbling fountain of youth that he excited considerable wonder hereabouts.

Sunday, making his first appearance here of any length since the fall of 1930, Dizzy, in his good moments, looked craftier—he looked more tense, as if the steam of youth that he exuded so boyishly last year had been deflected into other channels, and had been put to turning the wheels a little faster in the old dome.

He looked, in fact, just what he is on those days when the sap races through that right arm of his and he aches to go out and pitch—the brainiest and smartest young pitcher in the Texas league.

Too much credit cannot be given Skipper Schultz' splendid pitching staff—Tex Carleton, Lefty Fowler, old Gawge Payne, Hanson and Dean. It is trite to say that it is the best hurling staff in the league.

"But here, Rambler! Whoa! Hold on a minute! If you think so dawgone much of the Buffs why don't you get out o' here and move to Houston!"

After writing this corner, that is about what we expect to reach our ears.

And the Rambler's answer is the answer of most of Spudderland: That we're starved for pitching. We yearn to see good hurling. For years we've had everything else, but not a corps as brilliant as Carleton, Payne, Fowler, Hanson—and last, but not least, old Dizzy Dean!

And if that be treason, make the most of it!

People in some parts of Scotland believe that the finding of a four-leaf clover denotes bad instead of good luck.

DICK EQUALS GEORGE PAYNE

Bisons Get Only Four Hits Off Richard

By FRED THOMPSON

Going to the rescue of Milt Steengrafe in the first inning, Dick Florrid, clever little Spudder relief hurler, shut out the league-leading Houston club for eight and one-third innings yesterday with four hits, turning in one of his best performances of the season.

But it went for naught. Steengrafe had assured the Buffs of their third straight victory here, and had assured himself of his 11th defeat of the season long before the third out in the first inning was made, allowing four runs and setting the stage for the fifth before Florrid went to the hill.

Marvin Ferrell, right-handed pitcher, brother of Wes Ferrell, ace of the Cleveland mound staff, and Rick Ferrell, regular catcher of the Browns, has been acquired by the Spudders on option from the St. Louis American league club, President William E. Huff announced Monday.

Marvin is a young pitcher with no extensive experience. He left St. Louis Monday, Mr. Huff said, and was due here this afternoon.

The score was 5 to 2.

Florrid battled old George Washington Payne, the Buff veteran and former Spudder, on even terms after the first frame. Payne let the Spudders down with five hits, and turned in a noble job of pitching, his only period of danger coming in the fifth, when singles by Fuss and Gerken, a double by Euller and a walk to Hungling accounted for the only Spudder tallies. The Buffs got nine hits, five of them off Steengrafe at the start of the game.

The Spudders presented a revamped line-up owing to an injury, or series of injuries, that placed Debs Garms, regular left fielder, on the sick list. Garms cut his foot on a piece of glass Saturday. The wound became infected Sunday, when, on top of it all, he sprained a leg muscle chasing a ball in left field. Gerken was placed in the lead-off position yesterday, with Badgro, who replaced Garms in left, batting in fourth position.

The Scoring Starts

Steengrafe couldn't get but two men out in the first inning, and after the hustling Buffs had bounced him for five runs Florrid took the hill. Hock, first up, singled to center. Smith walked. Selph lined out to left. Peel doubled to center, scoring Hock and Smith. Medwick grounded out, third to first, Peel taking third. Sturdy singled to right, scoring Peel. Carey beat out an infield hit to third, Sturdy taking second. Funk singled to left, scoring Sturdy, Carey taking third. Florrid went in. Funk stole second. Payne singled to right, scoring Carey, but Funk was thrown out at the plate, Fuss to Hungling.

In the home half, Gerken singled to center. Allday popped to third. Stanton popped to second.

Both Florrid and Payne had the stuff in the second, and three on both sides went down in order.

In the third, Peel grounded out, Euller to Stanton. Medwick was safe on Scharein's error, but Sturdy popped to Stanton and Carey fanned. In the home half, Euller grounded out, third to first. Florrid popped to second. Gerken filed to center.

Florrid Stops Drive

Florrid knocked down Funk's liner and threw him out to start the fourth. Payne fanned. Hock singled past second. Smith popped to short. In the home half, Allday grounded out, third to first. Stanton filed to left. Badgro grounded out, pitcher to first.

In the fifth, Selph walked. Peel hit into a double play, Euller to Allday to Stanton. Medwick grounded out, Scharein to Stanton. In the last half, Hungling walked. Fuss singled past first, Hungling taking second. Scharein fouled out to the catcher. Euller doubled to left, Hungling scoring and Fuss taking third. Florrid popped to third. Gerken hit to Hock at third, who missed tagging Euller coming from second. Fuss scored and Gerken got credit for a hit. Allday popped to first.

In the sixth, Fuss made a great running catch of Sturdy's line drive near the right field fence. Carey grounded out, second to first. Funk singled to left. Payne fanned. In the home half, Stanton was safe on the shortstop's error. Badgro filed to left. Hungling forced Stanton at second, second to short. Fuss filed to center.

Hock beat out an infield hit to short to start the seventh. Smith sacrificed, Euller to Allday, who covered first, Hock taking second. Selph filed to center. Peel filed to left. In the last half, Scharein grounded out, short to first. Euller beat out a hit to short. Florrid filed to center. Gerken forced Euller at second, short to second.

Whiffs Medwick

In the eighth, Medwick fanned. Sturdy grounded out, second to first. Carey grounded out, third to first. In the last half, Allday filed to center. Stanton filed to right. Badgro filed to center.

Funk filed to right to start the ninth. Payne fanned. Heck fouled out to Euller. In the home half, Hungling fouled out to left. Fuss fanned. Scharein grounded out, short to first.

Milwaukee Brewers Get New Manager

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 3. (AP)—Louis Nahin, president of the Milwaukee association baseball team, today said Frank O'Rourke, infielder from the St. Louis Browns, would replace Marty Berghammer as manager of the Brewers. Berghammer formerly managed Tulsa of the Western league.

The change was made, Nahin said, because Berghammer apparently was not getting the results expected from the material the Brewers have this season. Berghammer came to the club from Tulsa in the middle of the 1929 season, after successfully piloting the Oilers.

Lil Stoner and Whitlow Wyatt were the opposing pitchers and each went the distance, allowing five hits. Score:

BOTH SURPRISED

PORTLAND, Ore.—Ed Moss hurried home. He was called out on a three months' business trip and wanted to let his wife know. When he reached home he found his wife had been called on jury duty and was locked in the jury room. Unable to get word to her, Moss left town. Mrs. Moss was disagreeably surprised when she got home to find her husband had left.

Carroll "Big Boy" Ridling, Presbyterian ace, was in perfect form Monday afternoon on Debus field when he blanked the Noble-Little Hardware company team with only one hit while his mates were pounding out a 12 to 0 victory. Filp Hoskins robbed Ridling of a no-hit no-run game in the fourth inning with a crashing double. Of the 15 men retired by the Presbyterians, Ridling sent no less than 13 of them back over the strike-out route. Babe Hall and Ross Edgeman led the batting attack with two hits each. Score:

Commercial League Race Ends Today

The Commercial league pennant chase will be brought to a close this afternoon with the Texas Electric Service company and the Empire Paper company playing their last game. Tuesday brings to a close the original schedule of the league, but due to the early ending it was voted early to add five more games for each club. With the Presbyterians all but in with the last half championship, it was decided to drop the playing of these last five games. The final plans for the play off between Malones Beauty Shop, winners of the first half and the Presbyterians, winners of the second half, are expected to be completed today.

CUBS BLANK REDS, 8 TO 0

Bob Smith Turns in No-Run Mound Job

CHICAGO, Aug. 3. (AP)—Bob Smith blanked the Cincinnati Reds as the Cubs took the series opener, 8 to 0, and thus ran the string of scoreless innings compiled by the cellar occupants to 40. The Reds have not scored in the last four games or in the last four innings of the preceding one.

A big seventh inning gave the Cubs five runs on five hits.

In suffering their fourth consecutive shutout the Reds tied the all-time major league record. Two clubs, the Boston Braves of 1906 and the Cincinnati Reds of 1906, were blanked in four straight games. No team has ever been held scoreless five consecutive times.

Malone's Nine Wins Over Dixons, 5 to 4

Skipper Sam Robertson, of Malones Beauty Shop, and Phillip Powell, ace of the Dixon Sign, hooked up in an airtight pitchers' battle Monday on Harrison field with Robertson nosing out a 5 to 4 victory.

Malones got away to a flying start in the first two innings, but Powell settled down after that. Errors in the early stages proved costly to both pitchers. Powell gave up only three bingles while Robertson was touched for only four. Marion Barrett's sensational catch in short right off Carr in the fifth inning, and Rabbit Gordon's perfect throw in the seventh to cut down Williams at the plate featured the game. Score:

From Want to Plenty

It has been little more than three centuries since the first expedition of white men landed on our eastern shores, but how many changes in our dietary habits have taken place since that time! These early settlers found their food problem was indeed a difficult one. The Indians who had learned to raise corn, potatoes, and a few other herbs and vegetables had no commercial instinct, and were accustomed to raising only enough of such food for their own use. With their bows and arrows they could secure enough flesh food by bringing down deer, wild turkey, and other wild fowl.

The white settlers soon learned the necessity for establishing settlements and raising corn and other foods which would last them through the winters. They soon introduced and planted wheat which came from Russia, but for several seasons their diet was principally the same as that of the Indians.

With transportation facilities very limited, the colonial farmer learned to grow or manufacture all the necessities of life. The grains were stored away for the winter, and he raised pigs, chickens, sheep and finally beef. He raised a plentiful amount of vegetables and fruits during the summer time, storing some of the vegetables and drying some of the fruit for winter use. He even spun the wool from the sheep into clothing. Linen clothes were made from flax which he raised; leather for shoes from the hides of cattle killed for food. Their houses were made of logs, and the forests furnished a plentiful amount of wood for the fireplace. Luxuries were the only things purchased as far as food was cencerned and not many of these were enjoyed owing to the expense of getting them from Europe. The early spring was always the hardest time for the early American settler, for them it was when the food supply was always the lowest.

At first, the settlers located very close to the sea or to navigable rivers. The population on the eastern coast is still the largest concentrated population in America. It soon became too crowded to raise sufficient crops near the coast, and many sturdy pioneers began their movements to the inland. Today, most of the crops are raised in the middle West where there is plenty of room. Today, men live where it is the most pleasant and secure their food from the butcher and grocer. The millions who are not engaged in any agricultural pursuits live quite differently than did the early colonial pioneers. The business man of New York rides to his office in his automobile or on the elevated after eating a breakfast of orange juice from California, cornmeal from Iowa, and eggs from Illinois.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Question—Mrs. M. W. B. asks: "Will you please explain something about undulent fever and the treatment for it?"

Answer—Undulent fever is a rather rare disease in this country, although frequently known in Spain and Portugal. It is usually contracted through the use of goat's milk which is infected with the micrococcus melitensis. Occasionally it is contracted through the use of cow's milk when the cow is affected with contagious abortion. In this disease the spleen usually becomes large and softened, and the lymphatic cells increase. There is a congestion of the liver and kidneys, and the colon is usually ulcerated and the lungs congested. After a few weeks the sweat glands are usually obstructed, the joints may be painfully swollen, and some anemia is present. The outlook for recovery is usually good if treatment is begun in time. Send a large self-addressed stamped envelope for a correct fasting and dieting regimen.

Grape Diet

Question—Mrs. R. W. asks: "In taking a fruit fast, could one use grapes in place of orange juice with equally satisfactory results?"

Answer—I frequently use the grape diet and grape juice fast in my private practice with very favorable results. The whole grapes, with the exception of the seeds, are used, except when there is some inflammation of the intestinal tract, in which case only the juice is used. Either the fresh raw juice or the pasteurized grape juice produces satisfactory results. No sugar should be added, however, as this interferes with the curative action. Grapes furnish plenty of nourishment to maintain the patient's strength and also provide an abundance of the protective alkaline elements which are so necessary in building up the body's resistance against disease. Grape juice is readily digested, and the grape sugar is assimilated by the body more readily than any other form of sugar.

Musicians Billed For Firemen's Meet

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, Aug. 3.—T. E. (Red) Lewis, secretary of the Electra Firemen's association, has received a letter from L. P. Waddle, lieutenant of Engine Nine of the Oklahoma City firemen, stating that the four Firemen's orchestra of Engine Nine, nationally known as radio entertainers, had been granted a leave of absence to attend the Panhandle Firemen's association which will hold a convention in Electra Aug. 11-12. The four firemen play every Monday and Friday over station WKY, and are well known to Electra radio fans. The firemen will play at various times during the convention.

Mr. Lewis with his wife and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Owens will leave Tuesday for points in East, Central and West Texas. Mr. Lewis plans to take a number of the programs and banners of the convention and will stop at all fire departments en route and give them a personal invitation to the convention.

Mrs. Blacklidge Charges Frame-Up

CHICAGO, Aug. 3. (INS)—Mrs. Myrtle Tanner Blacklidge, former collector of internal revenue, appearing in court in answer to charges of disorderly conduct today, declared she believed there was malicious prosecution behind the complaint of Mrs. Cora Rowe, her neighbor.

Just before the case was called someone set off a tear gas bomb in the courtroom, sending every one weeping out of the room.

The case was called and continued until Friday.

Mrs. Cora Rowe, the neighbor who signed a warrant for Mrs. Blacklidge's arrest, was present in court. She declined to comment on the case.

NEW YORK COTTON
NEW YORK, Aug. 3. (AP)—An early advance on cotton today was followed by reactions.

December contracts sold up to 8.06, or 21 points net higher, on the early demand but broke to 8.52 in the late trading, or 7 points net lower, and closed at 8.43. The final tone was steady, net 4 points lower to 1 point higher.

Owing to the continuation of the holiday in Liverpool, there were no cables to influence sentiment and there seemed to be no particular change in the generally favorable average of the weather and crop news. The market showed indications of a decidedly firmer technical position following the declines of last week, however, and in addition to covering there was probably some buying in anticipation of a rally before the publication of the government crop report at 11 o'clock this week.

Failure of the early advance to attract a more active demand was evidently a disappointment to some of the early buyers, which accounted for some of the selling during the late afternoon. A private crop report was issued placing the condition at 70.5 and the indicated yield 14,327,600 bales, slightly above reports published last week and may have increased the tendency to take profits on early purchases after the covering movement subsided on the forenoon advance.

Some trade buying was reported during the early trading but the bulk of the demand was in mind to cover and was supposed to represent covering. The Liverpool market will reopen for business tomorrow.

Exports today 6,302. Import receipts 2,254. U. S. port stocks, 2,782,668.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON
NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 3. (AP)—With Liverpool closed for the bank holidays the cotton market had rather an irregular opening, off a few points. Prices soon rallied, however, despite continued good weather in the belt and shorts covered freely on the strength of the technical position until gains of 15 to 24 points were shown.

About 2 to 9 points of this gain was lost after mid-session on realizing and there was a sharp break in prices in the late trading and new lows for the day were made 26 to 29 points under the high. After a slight rally at the end of 4 points the market closed steady showing net losses for the day of 4 to 7 points.

A private report issued during the morning showed condition of the crop at 70.5 per cent of normal and an indicated yield of 14,327,000 bales.

Prices rallied 4 points from the lows at the end, October closing at 8.31, down 6 points net for the day, and December at 8.42, down 7 points net.

Market Slips Back a Little After Early Show of Strength

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Aug. 3. (UB)—Early strength on the stock exchange today turned to reactionary trend as the session progressed and the close found price changes very mixed, although perhaps slightly to the advantage of the constructive side. Week-end developments were not particularly stimulating to speculation, although they tended toward confidence.

The sizeable credit to the Bank of England was welcomed as a sign possibly of more friendly relations but at the same time it is to be recognized that the English bank's requirement reflects a not altogether healthy condition. However, other developments were of little importance and the disposition was to look mainly upon domestic conditions as the background possibly for better market this month.

Trading continued on the same scale as recently, less than a million shares changing ownership, and a large part of the transactions were purely professional.

The feeling, or perhaps hope, that August will inaugurate some betterment in general conditions was exemplified in the revival of activity of many stocks. As already forecast here, interest centered on the lower-priced issues. No effort is being made to stimulate public interest on an investment basis in these issues, but rather the subtle intimation is made of possibly greater speculative profits available in these issues than in the relatively higher-priced standard issues.

Radio was subjected to aggressive sponsorship on this theory and closed up a half-point. The stock's principal sponsor was an active floor trader; the issue's recent performance has been rather impressive to tape-followers. Montgomery-Ward was also actively traded in and closed higher. Principal bull argument on this issue is the company's strong financial position; with the added bull point that improvement has been scored in the earning position of the company although it still operated in the red during the first half of 1931. The trend of earnings, however, has been favorable, with the June quarter showing a profit.

A slight upward trend has been noticeable in the market during the first few hours of trading. This was interrupted when Case Threshing renewed its decline under persistent offerings, which finally forced it into new low ground. Although the stock has come down over 450 points since its peak price, even speculators are hesitant to buy Case because of the recognized uncertainty surrounding its dividend and its financial position. This uncertainty presumably will be present until the dividend is lowered and necessary new financing is accomplished.

The usual bevy of unfavorable announcements came to light during the day, these including halving of the dividend by the powerful Standard Oil company of Indiana and the expected reduction in dividend by International Nickel, whose stock was placed on a 10-cent quarterly basis in place of the 15 cents previously paid. Buying of International Nickel is taking place only on a downward scale; important buying probably will be substantially increased should it break through its former low price.

A pleasant variation in corporation earnings reports was the disclosure that Heart Consolidated Publications, Inc., had earned $2.64 a share on its class "A" stock for the period Jan. 1 to July 12 inclusive, against dividend requirements of only 87½ cents a share.

COUNTY TO STOP DOLES

Charity Donations to Close Aug. 10

Economy measures adopted by the commissioners court in its weekly session Monday in keeping with decreased tax receipts, current and prospective, resulted in the announcement that all charity donations by the county will cease on Aug. 10, and that beginning on Aug. 15, Sheriff Perry Browning will receive an allowance of 45 cents daily for feeding each county jail prisoner instead of 60 cents as at present.

Economy orders passed Monday were the result of a discussion of the county's general fund, which was said now to be about $20,000 in arrears. The general fund is receiving the maximum of 25 per cent of the total levy which the state law allows, and cannot receive more funds except through increased taxable valuations on property, according to County Judge Marrs.

Called before the commissioners for a conference upon the allowance for feeding of prisoners in the county jail, Sheriff Browning at first demurred when a reduction in the current allowance of 60 cents was suggested. He desired to show a sizeable profit for the sheriff's departments at the end of the year, he said, and pointed out that the excess earnings would return to the county at that time.

Sheriff Browning stated that his expenditures show a cost of less than 30 cents daily for each prisoner's food, and that the sheriff's office shows a profit of more than $7,000 thus far for 1931. When an allowance of 40 cents was proposed, he declared that under such an arrangement he would serve prisoners but two meals daily. The commissioners and the sheriff compromised at a daily allowance of 45 cents, and the order was passed. Its ultimate effect, according to Judge Marrs, will be to leave in the county's general fund several thousands of dollars which otherwise would be lying in the sheriff's account during the remainder of the year.

Approximately $100,000 has been spent by the county during the past seven months, it was said, through the donations of supplies and provisions of extra work for needy families in Wichita county. Cessation of charity donations on Aug. 10, as ordered, will save the general fund about $4,000 monthly, it was said.

HELD IN INDICTMENT

Deputy Sheriff Pat Allen left Monday afternoon for Plainview after word from officers there had been received saying that Fred Thurman, under indictment here for theft over $50, was being held for Wichita county officers. Thurman was indicted here early in July for alleged theft of an automobile. He will be returned Tuesday to the Wichita county jail, it was said.

HELD IN AUTO THEFT

Charges probably will be filed Tuesday, county officers said Monday, against two men and a boy arrested Sunday by Deputy Sheriffs Pat Allen and L. N. McKelvey in connection with the theft of an automobile from the rear of a local hotel last week. The car was found stripped Saturday.

Around the RADIO Clock

BY C. E. BUTTERFIELD

(Time Is Central Standard Throughout)

NEW YORK, Aug. 3. (AP)—Combination sight and sound programs, with music and voice on an extensive network, start on a regular schedule at WABC-CBS next Sunday evening.

Under this plan five or six of the network features each week will be taken into the television studios of W2XAB, the chain's picture station, and the combination sent out together, sound on the regular broadcast channels and the sight on the short wave frequency of 2,750 kilocycles.

Except for the opening night, the sound of W2XAB's television programs has been going out on W2XE, the network's short wave rebroadcast station. The change in plan has been effected to make regular programs available also on television where the feature to be presented can be accommodated before the photo-electric cells.

A preliminary sound-sight program was given last night when the Bon Bons, negro girls' quartet, were televisioned as they sang for the chain listeners.

Leaders of civic and theatrical life are to participate in the broadcast of the re-christening of the former Hammerstein theater, New York, as the Manhatten theater. It is to be made at 2:00 p. m. Tuesday over WEAF-NBC, with Jack Haley, comedian, as master of ceremonies.

Otherwise your dials may be set for:

9:00 a. m.—Radio homemakers, WABC-CBS.

9:30 a. m.—New program featuring the Landt trio and White, Sam Herman and others, WJZ-NBC.

12:15 p. m.—Song recital by Whispering Jack Smith, WABC-CBS.

3:00 p. m.—Matinee program from the San Francisco studios, WJZ-NBC.

3:30—Gypsy music makers, with Emery Duetsch conducting.

5:30 p. m.—Talk on "Economic Outlook for the Irish Free State," Walter Butler Mahony, editor and publisher, WEAF-NBC.

6:30 p. m.—Alfred Wallenstein's orchestra in a classical program, WEAF-NBC.

6:45 p. m.—Sisters of the Skillet, WJZ-NBC.

7:30 p. m.—Sidney Lowenstein's orchestra and soloists, Polly Waters and Clyde Dengler, WEAF-NBC.

8:45 p. m.—Waves of melody with Tom Brown soloist and the Victor Arden orchestra, WJZ-NBC.

9:00—Fletcher Henderson's dance orchestra, WABC-CBS.

9:15—Songs by Little Jack Little, WEAF-NBC.

Postponements of previously announced programs have delayed a couple of WABC-CBS features. One was the broadcast attempt scheduled for Tuesday of a description by Ted Husing of a new type of diving apparatus from the floor of Long Island sound. It has been delayed indefinitely because of boiler trouble on the "mother" ship Salvor. The other postponement put off the start of Arthur Murray's dancing class on WABC only until September.

A program outlining activities for the manufacturers and jobbers division of the chamber of commerce during the remainder of the year was drawn at an executive committee meeting of the organization here Monday afternoon, according to J. W. Chatham, chairman.

PANHANDLE REFINING COMPLETION

The Panhandle Refining company of Wichita Falls No. 1 pool, located 275 feet west and 175 feet north of the southeast corner of the lease in the Francisco Cordova survey, Rusk county, East Texas field, blew in with an estimated daily production of 20,000 barrels per day.

This is the first well to be completed by the Panhandle company since its entrance into East Texas area.

GEORGE PROCTOR LOCATIONS

George Proctor, local operator, staked out locations for five new tests to be drilled on his lease on the W. B. Honaker land in C. & M. R. R. survey, abstract 379, Wichita county. The locations which are northeast of Electra in the shallow 900-foot pay will probably not be drilled until the market does a little kiteing.

MARTIN WATER SHUT OFF

Jack Martin and associates No. 1 Kemp townsite, completed last week with an estimated production of 500 barrels from its showing of oil from the sand at 3937 feet, cored further and topped a water sand but has successfully shut it off and shut down until the arrival of N. H. Martin, one of the owners from Colorado.

COLLINGSWORTH LOCATION

F. Downey and associates staked out location for their No. 1 Beasley deep test located 330 feet north and 330 feet west of the southeast corner of southwest quarter of southeast quarter of section 95, block 15, H. & G. N. survey in Collingsworth county near the town of Quail.

SHAPPELL OIL PROGRESS

The Shappell Oil company No. 1 W. P. Ferguson, in the E. Patterson survey, north Archer county, two miles south of Kemp City, has

ARCHER TEST HAS NEW SAND

Formation at 3614 Feet To Be Examined

Casing will be run to test out the new sand at 3614 feet in the Deep Oil Development-Lindsay company's No. A-5 L. F. Wilson in block 75, A. T. N. C. L. survey, north Archer county.

The sand which may prove to be another deep productive horizon added to the county's number was penetrated to a depth of 26 feet and showed plenty of oil.

A string of eight inch pipe will be run to the top of the formation sometime in the next few days and the outcome will be watched with interest.

The well is located 660 feet west of the Deep Oil-Lindsay Drilling No. 1 L. F. Wilson, Archer county's 2200 foot producer brought in several months ago with initial flow of 900 barrels, but at present is choked in to an allowance of 350 barrels per day.

This well like the discovery well passed through the 2200 foot pay that from its performance was estimated at 1,000 to 1,500 barrels but in order to meet lease requirements it was compelled to keep drilling to a depth of 5000 feet.

pipe set and is ready to drill out the plug from the sand to test something Wednesday or Thursday. The sand was topped at 3815 feet. In the event of making a producer, the well will extend the deep pay into Archer county and further work will be watched with keen interest.

ARCHER COUNTY TEST

B. W. Omohundro and others No. B-2, Turbeville, located in section 35, J. W. Harris subdivision, Archer county, is drilling at a depth of 1430 feet.
