Big Rainfall Friday

Over Inch Falls in Perryton and Was General Except in North-West Part of County

The rainfall in Perryton on last Friday afternoon and night totaled 1.16 of an inch, so reports Attorney Jack Allen, custodian of the government rain gauge. On Tuesday evening a local shower gave us .14 of an inch of moisture. The Friday rain was pretty general over this area with the exception of the extreme northwest part of the county where it was much lighter. This rain brought the total precipitation for the month of May to 3.14.

The rain during the past month has aided materially in the growing of the small grain crops and if the rains continue, this section may produce a fair yield even though the crop has been damaged considerably by the dry weather and late spring freeze. This year's wheat crop requires more rain than usual on account of the serious shortage of sub-soil moisture.

LEGION ENTERTAINMENT FRI.

OLD FASHIONED PARTY WILL CLOSE FIVE WEEKS CAMPAIGN; AT DONLEY'S SPACIOUS HALL

Everything is all set for the big American Legion party at the Donley Hall tomorrow, Friday, night at 8:30. Arrangements have been made by the finance committee of the Legion for an evening of good clean innocent fun. C. B. Rogers, chairman of the committee, and his co-workers, Sibley Jines, J. R. Thomas, E. B. Gyger and H. I. Hudson, have arranged an evening of entertainment which should appeal to all. Admission tickets by the hundreds have been sold during the building fund campaign and a large crowd is expected.

Refreshments will be served to all. Parts of the program include a number of vocal musical selections, old fashioned games and contests, old time fiddling, and community singing of the war time songs. Three orchestras will be on the job. Jim Yaden's bunch with his old time music; Kenneth Razon's Hawaiian players and Horace Mann's Stompers.

Fire Thursday Morning

Small Damage Done At Piggly Wiggly In Early Morning Blaze Loss at $100

Efficient work on the part of the Perryton fire department limited the loss to less than $100.00 in an early morning fire at the Piggly Wiggly today, the blaze being discovered at 5:30 o'clock.

The blaze was confined to the rear of the store where it caught from unknown causes, the only damage to the building being a window casing which was entirely destroyed and a loss from water amounting to between ten and twenty dollars.

It is thought that a short in the electric circuits might have caused the blaze, but little damage was done to it except the burning of the motor on the Frigidaire.

Investigate Foot Rot

Experts Here Studying Disease Of Wheat; Advise Control By Late Planting

Dr. Hubley Fellows and Mr. Boyle, both of the United States Department of Agriculture station at Manhattan, Kans., spent Saturday and Sunday here, investigating the foot rot disease that is affecting wheat in the Southwest.

Dr. Fellows advocates late planting as a control measure for the disease which apparently crops out in a field without warning, and in areas where it has never been known before.

An extensive examination was made on the W. G. Yearly farm where one hundred, fifty acres was destroyed by the disease. Following Dr. Fellows' advice, Mr. Yearly decided to hold a planting demonstration on the affected field this fall, planting parts of the area at intervals of ten days or two weeks, so as to determine the best time for planting as a control measure.

TRAIN LEAVES SHATTUCK 6:00

WESTBOUND MORNING TRAIN NOW DEPARTS AFTER NO. TWO ARRIVES FROM WEST POINTS

In response to protests from every town along the line and from organizations and individuals, the Santa Fe has made a slight concession toward a better train service, by delaying the departure of the westbound morning train from Shattuck, from 4:40 a. m. until 6:00. This later time of leaving will permit mail and express to be transferred from the eastbound No. 2, which gets into Shattuck from Amarillo at 5:53 in the morning.

The time of arrival of this train into Perryton and on to Amarillo, has not been changed, the hour and half being clipped from the five hour schedule from Shattuck to Perryton. While this change is far from what is desired by the citizens along the line, yet it will help slightly. North Plains citizens want and deserve a daily motor car service running from Amarillo to Shattuck, carrying passengers, mail and express, and will not be satisfied until they get something better than the present freight train service.

Lubbock Legion Meet

Fifth Division and Eighteenth District Hold Joint Convention on June 29-31

The annual convention of the Fifth Division of the American Legion of Texas will be held at Lubbock on Saturday-Sunday, June 20-21. The Fifth Division is made up of the 16th, 17th and 18th districts. The spring meeting of the 18th District will be held at the same time. Lubbock Legionnaires send word that they are making elaborate plans for the entertainment of the convention, with the program starting at noon on Saturday and lasting until a late hour on Sunday.

Lubbock has a reputation as a host city for conventions and they are planning on entertaining one of the largest crowds ever to assemble in the capitol city of the South Plains. They are promising a big time, plenty of eats, dancing, entertainment and a strong business program, with lots of Legion notables on the platform. They even go so far as to state that Lubbock hospitality rivals the hospitality of mon chere in "Paree."

VETERANS OF FOREIGN WARS TO MEET TUESDAY

On account of inability of the state installing officers to be in Perryton last Tuesday night, the date set for the installation of the Perryton post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the date was changed to Tuesday, June 9. At this meeting the Perryton Post will be organized, permanent officers elected and the degree work of the fraternity exemplified by members of the Amarillo Post.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Shupe and sons visited in Liberal, Kans., Friday.

"HOT AIR" WHEAT REPORTS LOWERS PRICE

The long winded "hot air" artists who write some of these bumper wheat crop stories for the daily and weekly papers of the Panhandle, should be taken out by some of our wheat farmers and treated to a good kick in the rear. Some of these high powered God gifted writers think it their sublime duty to eternally boost and report bumper crops whether they are actually produced or not. At the present time nearly every issue of the Amarillo News has a story about the enormous wheat crop that is going to be raised in the Panhandle, and every one of these stories just serves to shove the market a little lower. The truth about the matter is that the 1931 crop in the Panhandle is going to be far below the average. We would just like to take the "long-winded" writers of some of these boosting stories out into the wheat fields and show them the real condition of the wheat. It looks fine from the highways, but step out into the fields and examine the heads, and you will find that many of them have not a single grain in them. We do not know just what is the cause of this condition, probably the dry, hot winds that came before the recent rains, or the late freeze. A close examination will prove that many fields have as much as seventy-five per cent heads with no grain. We like and admire a booster, but there are times when too much boosting results in serious harm.

GRAIN FARMERS TO MEET HERE

FARMERS PROTECTIVE LEAGUE OF AMERICA IS SPONSORING MEETING OF PRODUCERS JUNE 11

A meeting will be held at the courthouse in Perryton on Thursday, June 11, to which all grain producers and business men of the Perryton country are invited. This meeting is under the sponsorship of the Farmers Protective League of America and is for the purpose of passing on to the producers the facts and a remedy for the present deplorable condition of the grain business.

Two eminent speakers will appear on this afternoon program. A special invitation is extended to all members of the Equity and the Grange. Present prospects for a fair wheat price are not very encouraging and this meeting is for the purpose of making an organized effort to correct the cause of these low prices.

C. B. Rogers and son, Gale, motored to Amarillo Saturday to meet Mr. Rogers' parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Rogers, Gainesville, who will make a visit here. Her nephew, H. Clay Thomas of Amarillo, accompanied them home for a short visit.

GREAT PLAINS HIGHWAY MEET

EIGHT FROM PERRYTON AND TWO FROM GRAY ATTEND CHILDRESS ROAD MEETING

Eight Perryton business men and two from Gray, Okla., represented this section at the seventh annual convention of the Great Plains Highway association at Childress on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. Those in attendance were R. T. Shindler, Geo. M. Perry, W. B. LaMaster, C. E. Woods, Dr. G. J. Bud, B. B. Kent, R. C. Johnson and T. D. Moss from Perryton and T. W. Gray and J. W. Sims from Gray, Okla.

The next annual convention of the association will be held at Garden City, Kans. All of the old officers were re-elected. They include J. V. Romigh, North Platte, Neb., president; R. T. Shindler, vice-president; W. B. LaMaster, Texas director; and T. W. Gray, Gray, Okla., Oklahoma vice-president.

A good crowd was in attendance at the Childress meeting and practically every city along the entire route from Regina, Canada, to Laredo on the Mexican border was represented.

Practically the entire route of the Great Plains has received Federal designation, the highway being known as Federal 83, following Texas Highway No. 4 across this state.

New Band Commission

Mayor Shanks Springs Surprise By Appointing Two Women On City Band Commission

Mayor Dave Shanks created no little surprise among the citizens of Perryton when he announced the new City Band Commission, naming two women and one man as members. The appointees are Mrs. Jack Lusher, Mrs. Van W. Stewart and B. B. Kent.

The city band commission is provided by state statute as the governing body of the municipal band in cities which support a band in taxation such as can be done in Perryton. This city authorized the support of a municipal band a number of years ago.

As we understand the law regarding this matter, it does not state or make it compulsory on the band commission or the council, the amount which shall be utilized for band purposes, but it does set a limit of a certain percentage of the tax levy which can be expended for the support of a municipal band. This commission is supposed to make recommendations to the city council in regard to the support, operation, and direction of the band.

R. J. Tallafiero, Medicine Lodge, Kansas, returned to his home after visiting over the week-end in the home of his nephew, Deputy Sheriff D. D. Tallafiero. R. J. Tallafiero has been in Amarillo where he buried his son, a Santa Fe engineer who was killed in a wreck near Quinlan, Okla., about two weeks ago.

Regular Garbage Route

City Garbage Wagons Now Making Regular Trips Through Residence Part of Town

Mayor Dave Shanks announces that under the new order, the city garbage trucks, manned by Earl Reed and Tommie Manning, will make regular trips through the residence section of the city. The trucks will make the west part of town on Monday, and the east on Tuesday. On these days, all real garbage will be collected.

The other trash, such as tin cans, etc., will be picked up when the trucks are not busy with other duties, such as cleaning the streets, etc. The present plans call for but one collection of garbage weekly, but more trips will be made if it is found necessary. Householders are required to place their garbage in receptacles conveniently located for the collectors. Also all trash and tin cans and other refuse must be handled likewise.

PLAY AT CANADIAN SUNDAY

TWO TEAMS TO PLAY OFF TIE; GUYMON TO BE HERE SUNDAY, JUNE 14

The Perryton ball club will play at Canadian, Sunday, to break the tie existing from the two previous meetings of the teams. A good game is predicted and no doubt many of the Perryton fans will follow the local teams to Canadian to witness the encounter.

For the following three weeks, the local club will play at home, Guymon, Okla., coming here on Sunday, June 14. Guymon here on Sunday, June 14. Guymon here on Sunday, June 14. Guymon here on Sunday, June 14.

Revival Continues

Full Gospel Meeting To Last Another Week; Many Are Converted

The revival conducted by Rev. Lee S. Drachenberg and his party of gospel workers is running on another week at the Full Gospel tabernacle, with interest at its highest and with many conversions in the day and night meetings.

Last Sunday consisted of an all day meeting, with great crowds attending, also baptizing in the Palo Duro Creek, Sunday and Monday afternoon. Over eighty persons have been baptized during this revival, with still some more baptizing to follow.

The interesting services daily conducted by Evangelist Drachenberg have been widely attended and have been a wonderful improvement and blessing to the hearts of many.

Of great interest has been the male quartet singing of old time Negro spirituals such as "Heaven," "Gonna Walk the Streets of Glory," "Standin' in the Need of Prayer" and other songs often sung at these services.

At the Monday night service, which was to have been the closing meeting, eight men came forward and knelt in prayer, surrendering their hearts to God, amid the shouts and rejoicing of their mothers and many friends. The evangelistic party was entertained by many to carry on another week, to which Rev. Drachenberg consented. One hundred, thirty-two conversions have been reported.

Open Cleaning Shop

Roy Thrush and Guy Page Opening Shop In North Building On Main Street

The City Cleaners is the name of the new shop being opened in the North building by Roy Thrush and Guy Page. The shop will probably be ready for business by the last of the week, as the finishing touches are being put on the redecorating work and installation of equipment.

Mr. Page has been connected with a cleaning shop in Perryton for several months and has had twenty years of experience in the business. Mr. Thrush is a local young man, having lived here the greater part of his life.

ATTEND CONFERENCE

Miss Kathryn Orr, Miss Hazel Bryan and Miss Reba McLain are in Abilene this week attending the Epworth League Conference as representatives from the Perryton League. Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Pike and son, Charles, accompanied them and will remain for the week.

MEMORIAL DAY SERVICES HELD

FIFTEEN HUNDRED PEOPLE AT MEMORIAL SERVICES AT OCHILTREE CEMETERY SUNDAY

A crowd estimated conservatively at fifteen hundred people attended the Memorial Day services at the Ochiltree cemetery last Sunday. The exercises were under the direction of the Pierce Johnson Post of the American Legion with Past Commander Jack Allen in charge. The day was ideal and hundreds of people availed themselves of the opportunity to visit the final resting place of their loved ones. Every grave in the cemetery was decorated with flowers and the general appearance of the burial plots was much improved by the clean-up which was staged on Tuesday before Memorial Day.

American flags were placed on the graves of all soldiers of all wars, thirty-two veterans of the armed forces of the United States being buried in this cemetery. Lee I. Seward, editor of the Arnett, Okla., Capitol, and commander of the seventh Oklahoma district of the American Legion, was the principal speaker and he brought a very inspiring message to his many attentive listeners. Seward paid a glowing tribute to the mothers, wives, sweethearts, fathers and all others who stayed at home and made such sacrifices during the late World War. He also brought out some of the work which the Legion of today is doing for the community, state, nation, and the disabled veteran.

The program started with the assembly singing "America" led by W. L. McDivitt, followed by the invocation by Rev. J. M. Sibley of the Perryton Baptist church. Several selections were played by the Perryton band. The reading, "Soldier Sleep," by Miss Kathryn Shearer, was very appropriate. The Truax brothers rendered that pleasing vocal selection, "The Unknown Soldier." Following the address of Mr. Seward, flags were placed on the graves of all soldiers by the American Legion Auxiliary. The program was concluded by theta hldioM was concluded with the sounding of taps by Horace Mann and L. O. Byerly, and the benediction by Rev. C. E. Pike of the Methodist church.

Band Wants Musicians

All Players in Community Urged to Join Perryton Band By Leader L. O. Byerly

L. O. Byerly, director of the Perryton Band, announces that all musicians of the community are wanted as members of the band. He states that some are under the impression that they have all the players that they need, but such is not the case. The band is coming strong, has a number of excellent players, but more can be used.

Regular practice nights are on Tuesday of each week at the Legion Hall, unless other arrangements are made. On Tuesday evening, June 8, the band will meet at the country home of Glen Terhune, one of the members, at which time refreshments will be served and a rehearsal held.

Dr. and Mrs. J. C. May had as their guests for Sunday dinner Mr. and Mrs. Blansit Carter, Monroe Carter, Fred Carter and M. E. Manwarren.

Everett Wade was in Liberal, Kans., last week for a tonsil operation.

ON CONSISTENCY! THOU!

ART A TREASURED JEWEL!

There are business men who pose as upholders of the community interests, who are good citizens in many respects; who give of their means for the support of the church, the chamber of commerce, and worthy charitable institutions, and who urge their neighbors to support the business institutions of the town to the exclusion of the mail order houses and nearby towns. They urge the local paper to preach trade-at-home through their columns, and sometimes use these same columns to advertise their wares, which is all fine. BUT when the local printer calls on them for the local job of printing their letter heads, envelopes and other forms, what do you think they say? They will pull the old saying of the mail order customer, "Why I ordered that printing job from San Antonio or Kansas City because I could get it cheaper!" — Farwell Tribune.

LUTHERAN CHURCH NOTES

"A Strong Congregation"
Two men were speaking of a certain church in a neighboring city. When one man spoke of the wonderful things which it had accomplished the other asked, "Is it a strong congregation?" "Yes," was the reply. "How many members are there?" "Thirty." "Only thirty? Are they so very wealthy?" "No, many are poor." "How, then, do you say it is a strong church?" "Because they are earnest, devoted, at peace, loving one another, following the Word of God in all things, instant in prayer, and striving together to do the Lord's work. Such a congregation is strong, whether composed of thirty or three hundred members."

Sermon subject Sunday morning at 10 o'clock: "Three Obstacles Which Block the Way to Heaven" (based on the text, Mat. 19:16-20.) Sunday School at eleven o'clock.

A large crowd witnessed the beautiful confirmation service last Sunday and many expressed words of appreciation and admiration. We invite all who are not members elsewhere to come out to our place of worship north of Perryton, and take part in our services. We also recommend that you tune in every Thursday night at 8 o'clock on the Lutheran Hour over the Columbia coast-to-coast network.

Frozen Shrubbery

Horticulturist Thinks That The Arbor Vitae Will Come Back With Sufficient Care

GOODWELL, Okla., June 1.—P. P. Eshbaugh, Horticulturist of the Panhandle Experiment Station, makes the following statement:

"Much damage was done to trees and shrubs over a large part of Oklahoma, Kansas and northern Texas. Arbor vitae were killed outright in many places, and in others they were frozen to the main stems. Privet, roses, althea, barberry and honeysuckle were badly frozen. Some were killed to the ground this season while heretofore they had withstood our winters nicely. An unusually warm February with a mild March encouraged growth which was caught in zero weather the last week of March. The normal temperature mean for November to March at Goodwell is 39.9 degrees. The 1930-31 mean temperature for this period was 40.1 or slightly warmer than normal. However, February was five degrees above normal and March 6.6 degrees below normal, with April 3.0 degrees subnormal.

"In bringing the shrubs and trees back to a healthy growing condition all dead wood should be sheared off as soon as possible. The arbor vitae are slower to recover and must recognize their growing system before they will green up again. Some of them were hit so severely that it is doubtful if they will recover their normal shape without some assistance. George R. Phillips, State Forester, says regarding arbor vitae—"it would seem to me best to leave the plants as they are until you get some indication of how much of the wood will send out new shoots. It is possible the tips will not do this, so in order to get sunlight into the new shoots it is advisable to shear off the tips. When the young growth gets under way and is out two inches or so it may be advisable to shear it a little in order to keep it dense so a well formed tree will be developed."

Eshbaugh does not feel that the freeze experienced this spring with such disastrous results need cause home beautifiers great worry. "This happened to be one of those odd seasons which serve to undo ones ideas of winter hardness yet we may not have another like it for a long time."

DELAY IN IMMUNIZING HOGS MAY BE COSTLY

The objection of many farmers to having their swine herds immunized against hog cholera on account of cost comes principally from those who wait until the hogs are full grown before using the treatment, says Dr. T. P. White, of the division of hog-cholera control, Bureau of Animal Industry, United States Department of Agriculture. In sections where hog cholera is more or less prevalent year after year, Doctor White adds, the serum treatment is the only safe method of protection. In those localities the immunizing of the herd should be a regular practice just as castrating, docking, dehorning and other common livestock operations. As in the case of these operations that are practiced early in the life of the animal, it is preferable to immunize early.

In experimental tests and under certain field conditions pigs a few days old have been immunized against hog cholera. In general practice, however, opinion seems to favor immunization not long before or soon after weaning. Even at that period, when the pigs may weigh from 30 to 40 pounds, the amounts of serum and virus necessary to confer immunity are much less than for grown hogs. The cost is correspondingly lower, a pig of that age requiring in some cases only a third of the expense necessary to treat a full-grown hog. Also the veterinarian finds it easier to handle young pigs. If a young pig dies the loss is small compared with that of a larger hog.

MANY NEW STRAWBERRIES BUT OLDER ONES REMAIN

People who avoid strawberries because of their high acidity need not deny themselves the pleasure of eating this luscious fruit if they will try some of the milder flavored varieties such as the New York, the Marshall, and the Chesapeake. Several hundred varieties of strawberries are grown in the United States, one for every locality and purpose, according to specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture who have classified them for the benefit of growers and consumers. Of this large number of varieties, however, only about 40 are grown commercially and 19 of these constitute 96 per cent of the acreage. The three leaders—Klondike, Aroma, and Howard 17—account for 63 per cent of the acreage in the country.

Climate and soil conditions are factors that determine to large extent the best varieties to grow in the different sections of the country. The Missionary is the leading sort in Florida and along the Atlantic coast to Maryland. Most other parts of the South prefer the Klondike. The Blakemore, a new berry developed by the department, is becoming popular in the Carolinas and as far north as New Jersey.

The Aroma is a favorite in most of the milder region of the Central States, including the northern part of Arkansas and Tennessee, and the southern parts of Missouri, Illinois, and Indiana. The Dunlap is popular in the remainder of the Middle West. In the Northwest, Marshall, Oregon, Ettersburg 121, and Clark are most widely grown, while the Howard 17 is king north of the Ohio and Potomac and east of the Mississippi.

In recent years varieties adapted to special purposes have taken their places by the side of the older ones. The Ettersburg 121, grown in Washington and Oregon, is preferred by canners, while the new Blakemore appears to be especially good for preserving. The ice-cream trade prefers the Marshall and Klondike.

New varieties of strawberries are being introduced constantly, the department says. Many of them possess no special value as compared with the well-established varieties, and most of them soon disappear from nurserymen's lists. Occasionally a new variety such as the Blakemore has merit enough to make a place for itself.

IMMUNIZE PIGS PROMPTLY IN CHOLERA TERRITORY

In communities where hog cholera existed during the winter, particularly in the North, says a statement from the Bureau of Animal Industry, United States Department of Agriculture, hogs that died from the disease very likely were left unburied, perhaps covered with snow. Frozen ground makes it a difficult task to bury these carcasses, and owners sometimes defer this work till the snow has melted and the frost is out of the ground. In the meantime, new litters farrowed on the premises, as well as other susceptible hogs brought in from outside sources, are in danger of taking cholera from the infection thus scattered.

All susceptible swine on such premises should be immunized. There is always a possibility of infection being present in hidden places to which cholera-sick hogs have had access, thus constituting a source of danger, even after the dead hogs have been properly disposed of. In short, where hog-cholera infection is known to exist, the Federal specialists say, prompt attention should be given to the immunization of the herd. It is not always safe to rely on ability to keep hogs away from places where infection may lurk. Once the serum and virus used in preventing cholera have been properly administered, the owner may rest assured that his hogs are immune and will not contract the disease.

French armies and many high officials in civil circles being opposed to it. Military commanders were afraid it would result in undue interference with the conduct of operations and in derision it was often referred to as the Soviet.

The action of the three governments at Rapallo was approved by President Wilson, November 17, and that fact appeared in the press a day or so later.

The President's action strengthened the hands of those who favored the council and probably became the influence that saved it.

The fact is that if the French and British commanders, in a friendly spirit of co-operation, had made a joint study of the military problem of the western front as a whole and then had seriously undertaken to pull together, as though under one control, the supreme war council would never have been born.

The supreme war council made a favorable start and gave the impression that a wise and conservative exercise of its really unlimited powers would characterize its actions. If refrained from interfere-ing directly with military commanders and operations and confined itself largely to questions of policy, such as the co-ordination of allied resources and the conservation and distribution of allied strength. However, as time went on, the supreme war council assigned greater and greater authority over military questions.

Conflict With Wilson Ideals
As to the political situation, the undercurrent at the moment, as nearly as could be learned, showed a continued lack of accord among the different nations, which were not at all in agreement with President Wilson's ideals. Each had its own aspirations, and each sought to gain some advantage over the others. Some of the divergent war aims had to do with territory distant from France and troops were sent that might have been more usefully employed on the western front.

In a letter to Secretary of War
Baker I inclosed a memorandum which was a report of a conversation held by a man in my confidence with a British official high up in the counsel of Great Britain.
The date of this conversation was October 24, 1917.

"Perhaps it should not be taken too seriously," I wrote, "but it is an indication of the British attitude."

Sees Difference in Aims
In this conversation the British official declared:
"The European allies and America are not fighting for the same thing. Mr. Wilson thinks a great deal more of his ideas of people governing themselves, or a friendly working arrangement among all the great powers after the war, than he does of territorial or specific things going to this or that country. What he wants is to smash the German military power and have a society of democratic nations afterwards. But to England, France and Italy these things are phrases, useful, perhaps, but of secondary interest."

"England wants to maintain her colonial possessions to keep her position on the sea, and her commercial place in the world. We know what France wants—Alsace Lorraine, as indemnity and security for the future. Italy has definite territorial claims. Thus the governments of these countries think a great deal about what they want for themselves and less about ideals, unless these ideals are incidental to success. So there is no clear unity among the allies in Europe and America."

tered a quiet sector of the Vosges
the peaceful aspect of the situation was distributed by a German raid on an isolated post of the Sixteenth infantry November 3, 1917.
A group was caught in a box barrage, and although the men made a courageous resistance three were killed, five wounded and twelve captured.

These were the first casualties that had occurred in our army to units serving in the trenches. The dead were Corporal James B.
Gresham and Privates Thomas P.
Enright and Merle D. Hay, all of Company F.

The French took charge of the funerals and turned out a formal guard in addition to our own. The services were conducted by the French General Bordeaux, who came with his full staff and delivered a beautiful oration over the graves. A large number of French troops came formally to pay their final tribute. This joint homage to our dead there under the fire of the guns seemed to symbolize the common sacrifices we were to make in the same great cause.

Ammunition Question Acute
The ammunition question again became acute at that time, despite our agreement with the French and their positive assurance that they would make prompt deliveries, but their explanation was that we had not furnished the full amount of raw material required.

In my early reference to the prospects of procuring artillery of 75mm. and 155mm. calibers and ammunition for its use, it had been expected that nothing should dimish our efforts at home in their manufacture, but when the probability of delay and possible failure of the French to furnish ammunition for these guns was reported to Washington my cable met with the complacent reply, much to my surprise, that "the French government must furnish it, for there is no other way of getting it. At the present time there is not in this country any actual output of ammunition of the type mentioned. None has been expected."

Home Ports Overcrowded
The difficulty of providing the French with raw material was largely traceable to the lack of shipping, and, of course, the unscientific use of what we had. The fact is that the ports at home were overcrowded with all sorts of material and supplies awaiting vessels.
The French had over 600,000 tons of supplies at seaboard, which they were unable to move, and were clamoring for 150,000 tons additional steel rails.

As the situation in which we found ourselves regarding artillery ammunition was approaching a crisis, it became necessary to lay the whole question before the inter-allied munitions board. After a full investigation of their resources, both the French and British concluded that they could undertake to meet our requirements, with the distinct understanding that their plants must be greatly increased in capacity and that we should furnish raw materials promptly.

The late Gen. Tasker H. Bliss, chief of the War department general staff, represented us in the allied conference and reported the results and agreements reached. He had brought the latest data from home and his knowledge concerning steel and munitions enabled him

Graves of Corporal J. B. Gresham and Privates Enright and Hay.

to give valuable assistance to my chief of ordnance in our efforts to find a solution to the difficult munitions problem.

Baker Writes of Problems
A letter from Secretary of War Baker, dated September 10, had only recently been received, and gave me an idea of some of his problems. In part he wrote as follows:

"I am especially concerned that our troops should not be engaged in actual fighting in France until they are there in such numbers and have made such thorough preparation that their first appearance will be encouraging both to their own morale and to the spirit of our people here. I think it goes without saying that the Germans will make a very special effort to strike swiftly and strongly against any part of the line which we undertake to defend, in order to be able to report to their people encouragingly about our participation and also with the object of discouraging our soldiers and our people as much as possible."

"In the matter of selecting corps and division commanders I constantly feel that I ought to have your advice and judgment. From ber 11, 1917, and found the various

CHAPTER XXI
The units of the Twenty-sixth division, Maj. Gen. Clarence Edwards commanding, began to arrive the latter part of September, continued during October and the early part of November, and were now assembled in the billeting area near Neufchateau.

I inspected the division, November 11, 1917, and found the various organizations presented a very credible appearance. The officers seemed alert and military and the personnel looked strong and vigorous. Their instruction had been carried out under the direction of Brigadier General Traub, one of the brigade commanders, and seemed to be well advanced.

The probable situation as to man power in which the allies would find themselves in the spring was causing much solicitude. The Germans had captured Riga in September. Kerensky's power was at an end and the Bolshevik government was established, with Lenin and Trotzky in control. The situation was such that Russia had become entirely negligible as far as assistance to the allies was concerned.

An analysis of the possible strength of the contestants showed that Germany would be able to spare a considerable number of divisions from the Russian front.
Careful study by my staff, in cooperation with the allied staffs, had led to the conclusion that her total number in the west by spring would be as many as 217, not counting the possibility of the advanced strength of 48 divisions from Austria.
The greatest number the allies could muster, according to estimates, would be 169 divisions, counting two American. Italy could not be counted on to do more than barely hold her own, even with the help of the eleven allied divisions then on that front.

Other American divisions might possibly be in Europe by May 1 if they should arrive according to schedule, which was doubtful, but they would be too late to participate in the expected early spring campaign. At the slow rate of arrival we should not have more than half of the 21 divisions promised by the War department ready for service by June.

In the next installment General Pershing describes a British offensive in Flanders and tells of the interallied conference and war council meeting.

Observed Birthday

In honor of the birthday anniversary of her husband, Mrs. Elton Walker had the following guests for dinner Sunday: Mr. and Mrs. Creed Walker and Beatrice, Mr. and Mrs. John Corbin and son and Mrs. Robert Francis and daughters, Viola, Lucille and Ona Grace.

Honor House Guests

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis O. Roach had a few friends in for an evening of progressive bridge Wednesday, June 3, as a courtesy to their house guests, Miss Lotus Butts, a sister of Mrs. Roach, and Mr. and Mrs. William P. Gotney, all of Pueblo, Colo., who are spending this week in the Roach home.

At the close of an interesting round of games, a lovely plate lunch was served to the honor guests and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dodson and Mrs. C. J. Hutchinson of Baton Rouge, La.

Poverty Luncheon

Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Correll entertained with a poverty luncheon on Monday evening, June 1, in compliment of Mrs. J. W. Wilson, who leaves soon for Kansas City, Mo., for a summer of music study.

The Correll home was decorated with wild flowers and illuminated with kerosene lamps. Progressive forty-two followed the dinner which was served cafeteria style from the table covered with red and white oil cloth.

Mrs. J. C. May and E. E. Shupe won the greatest number of games and each was presented with a jar of preserves. Ten pound sacks of sugar were awarded to Mrs. Jas. E. Barbour and J. W. Richardson as second prize. C. W. Callaway got to wear the size 48 unionalls and Mrs. J. C. Hicknell was given a socky as the booty winners.

The guest list included Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. LaMaster, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. E. Barbour, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Sanford, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Callaway, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hicknell, Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Shanks, Dr. and Mrs. J. C. May, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Shupe, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Woods and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wilson.

Mrs. Merton Smith Has Bridge Party

Mrs. Merton Smith of the Farnsworth community, entertained with three tables of bridge at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Conner on Wednesday evening, May 27.

High score favors were won by Mrs. R. W. Stratford and Dean Conner. Mrs. L. R. Conner and Geo. Van Arsdale were consoled with the booty prizes.

At the close of the games, a delightful plate lunch was served to Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Stratford, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Conner, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Van Arsdale, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Hargrove, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Conner and Mr. and Mrs. Smith.

Miss Bessie Russell Weds

The marriage of Miss Bessie Russell and Mr. Charles H. McCartney was quietly solemnized at the Methodist parsonage, Wednesday evening, May 27, at nine o'clock. Rev. C. E. Pike read the impressive ceremony.

The bride is a member of one of Ochiltree county's pioneer families and practically all her life has been spent in this community. She finished school at Ochiltree and later attended college at Canyon. For the past four years, she has been the efficient teacher of the Blodgett school, located in the southwest part of the county. Her record there is a fine example of her many sterling qualities. An ever ready smile and a jolly disposition has won her many friends in the school room and with all whom she met.

Mr. McCartney has been engaged in farming in this county for the past three years. He came here from Bowie, where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. McCartney, now reside.

On Thursday, these young people left for a ten day visit at Bowie and other Texas points, after which they will be at home on the Russell farm, six miles south of Perryton.

Slumber Party

Miss Doris Cofer had friends in to spend the night Friday, May 29. After attending the show at the Ellis Theatre, refreshments were partaken of at the Cofer home and much later, a wee bit of sleep was snatched.

The guests were Effie Jones, Rose Mary Boston, Virginia Ray Nelson, Ruth Sharpe and Virginia Carrell.

Smith-Hunter

Announcements of the wedding of Miss Thelma Smith, Canadian, to Mr. Floyd Hunter of this city, on Sunday evening, May 31, came as a surprise to his many friends here.

The ceremony was performed at Sayre, Okla., by Judge J. R. Anders in the presence of Mr. and Mrs. Woody Green, Wheeler; Miss Mildred Ballenger, Strong City, Okla.; and V. A. Smith, Raden, Okla., brother of the bride.

The bride is the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Smith, who live near Canadian. She is a very accomplished young lady and we welcome her to our city.

Mr. Hunter came to Perryton from Wheeler about three years ago and since that time has made a wide circle of friends by his winning personality and business policies. At present he is manager of the Perryton Barber Shop.

They are at home to their friends in Perryton.

Miscellaneous Shower

The beautiful country home of Mrs. Ray Bowles, near Gray, Okla., was the scene of a happy gathering on Monday afternoon, May 25, when friends gathered to shower Mrs. George Ragsdale who until her recent marriage was Miss Merle Stewart.

Several jokes and games suitable to the occasion were played and the rest of the afternoon was spent admiring the beautiful gifts and in interesting conversation.

Mrs. Ray Bowles assisted by Miss Vida Stewart and Mrs. Bill McCarter served delicious sandwiches, lemonade and ice cream to the following guests:

Mrs. Ernest Tomlin, Mrs. F. A. Kerns, Mrs. T. W. Gray, Mrs. John Brodie and daughter, Mrs. Paul Corbin and son, Mrs. Russell Ragsdale, Mrs. Ray Tindle, Mrs. I. M. Corbin, Mrs. T. O. Pugh, Mrs. C. C. Ragsdale, Mrs. R. L. Parker, Mrs. Clint Ragsdale, Mrs. J. Neighbors and daughter, Mrs. Chas. Stewart, Mrs. Ernest Calvert and children, Mrs. Bert Leatherman, Mrs. D. C. Robertson, Mrs. V. V. Wilson, Mrs. Frank Leatherman, Miss Pearl Ragsdale and Miss Ruby Leatherman.

Mr. Willmann Honored

Several members of the school band and orchestra gathered at the home of Miss Viola Shearer Sunday, May 24, as a farewell to their instructor, R. R. Willmann. He was presented with a beautiful gold watch chain.

Those present were Mildred Thornton, Augusta May Stark, Charles Pike, Orval and Nathan Newman, Clifton Bell, Orval Cook, Wilford Lance, Arnold Krause, Roy Sanford, Claude Shearer, Earl McClung, Billie Monahan, Jack Collier, Hamilton Murphy and Miss Viola.

If your watch won't run, take it to Crisp's Jewelry Shoppe. 46-t-c.

Immediately after the wedding a

Get-Together Party

Perryton Junior society was entertained with a "get-together" party at the home of Miss Lola Belle Barbour, Sunday afternoon. Lovely summer roses were attractively placed about the rooms, where several games of bridge were enjoyed.

The guests were Miss Fern Leatherman, Miss Ione Packard, Miss Virginia Brannin, Miss Pauline Spencer, Miss Lo Rene Coffee, Miss Bessie Littleton and Miss Odessa Trollinger.

Bridge Guests

Miss Kathryn LaMaster was the charming hostess for a delightful evening of bridge at the country home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. LaMaster, on Tuesday evening, June 2.

Those playing were Miss Mary Alice and Lill Timmons, Miss Janice Murphy, Miss Geneva Green, Miss Elizabeth Smith, H. Clay Thomas, Amarillo, Winburn Bales, George and Roy Schollenbarger, Hamilton Murphy and Walter LaMaster.

Give Series of Parties

Mrs. Paul Bowen and Mrs. Paul Ballew entertained with two parties at the American Legion Home on Friday, May 29. The assembly hall was decorated with beautiful flowers and here the tables were arranged for bridge.

Those attending the afternoon affair were Mrs. H. C. Brillhart, Mrs. J. C. May, Mrs. G. J. Budd, Mrs. Stanley D. Key, Mrs. T. C. Shaw, Mrs. Chas. R. Garrett, Mrs. Fred Battle, Mrs. A. K. Wooten, Mrs. R. T. Correll, Mrs. Carl Ellis, Mrs. H. C. Sanford, Mrs. Fred Hood, Mrs. Virby Conley, Mrs. Jack Lusher, Mrs. Jas. E. Barbour, Mrs. Dewey Allen, Mrs. J. B. Bockman, Mrs. Lee Thompson, Mrs. T. D. Moss and Mrs. Thos Thompson.

Mrs. Stanley D. Key played high and Mrs. G. J. Budd second high. Each received a lovely gift.

Guests in the evening were Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Orrill, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Lackey, Mr. and Mrs. Liel Lewellen, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. F. Bray, Mr. and Mrs. J. Malvin Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank F. Dodson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. H. I. Hurdon, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis O. Roach, Mrs. O. E. Blank and Mrs. A. G. Blank of Granite City, Ill. Paul Ballew and Paul Bowen.

At the close of the evening play, scores were tallied and family prizes awarded to Mr. and Mrs. Curtis O. Roach and Mr. and Mrs. Liel Lewellen.

Delicious refreshments were served in two courses for each affair.

First June Wedding

A lovely home wedding took place at the country residence of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. C. Price of near Gray, Okla., on Monday, June 1, at twelve o'clock, when their daughter, Ellen May, became the bride of Mr. Harold D. Malone.

Rev. Childress, Methodist pastor of Sharon, Okla., read the words which made them man and wife in the presence of the parents, brothers and sisters of both the bride and the groom. The ring ceremony was used.

Immediately after the wedding a bountiful dinner was served to the entire bridal party including Rev. and Mrs. Childress.

Mrs. Malone is a graduate of the Goodwell, Okla., high school and has had two and one-half years of college work at P. A. M. C., specializing in music. She has just completed her second year of successful school work in the city schools at Laverne, Okla.

Mr. Malone, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Malone, Laverne, Okla., graduated with the class of '28 at Laverne. For the past six years he has been associated with the Globe Clothing Store at that place, and he will continue his duties there.

After June 7, Mr. and Mrs. Malone will be at their home in Laverne, which is already nicely furnished, ready for occupancy.

Enjoy Swimming

Swimming was the main attraction for a delightful evening spent at the Jines Springs, Tuesday, June 2. Later a picnic lunch was spread and enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Claybaugh, Mrs. Miles Edwards, Miss Lo Rene Coffee, Miss Lola Belle Barbour, Miss Ione Packard, Mike Murphy, Ralph Shearer and Henry Richardson.

Perry-Hollingsworth

The wedding of Miss Harriet Perry to Doyle Hollingsworth at Wichita, Kans., on Wednesday evening is of more than usual interest to the citizens of this city and community. The bride is a daughter of Judge Geo. M. Perry, the grand pioneer citizen, in whose honor this city is named. Mrs. Hollingsworth has spent the greater part of her life in this county, with the exception of the years that she was away at school. She is a graduate of Grinnell College at Grinnell, Iowa, later studying at Columbia University, New York City, several years. Recently she has been making her home in this city with her father and aunt, Miss Nellie M. Perry. The bridegroom, Doyle Hollingsworth, has been a resident of this city for a number of years. He is the owner and operator of the Consumers Milling Co. and is a very successful young business man. The ceremony was performed on Wednesday evening at nine-thirty in Wichita at the home of Miss Una Bowen. After a short honeymoon trip, the newlyweds will be at home after June 15 in the Murphy duplex apartment. The best wishes of their many friends go with this young couple on their journey through life.

It Has The Features You Want for Good Work — the Quality You want for Long Service!

Now $240 Lower In Cost

Here's interesting news—John Deere No. 3 combine price drop—$240 lower. In addition to the following advantages this announcement makes the John Deere an even more profitable investment to you. Study over these features:

1—MORE YEARS OF SERVICE—

Great strength and durability in every part—built to uphold the John Deere reputation for long life and low-cost service. Sixty-two long-lived roller and ball bearings. John Deere high quality materials and workmanship. Grease gun lubrication.

2—GREATER CAPACITY—

36-inch, 135-tooth cylinder thoroughly threshes the crop. Long, positively-agitated straw racks separate the grain from the straw. Two large shoes provide greater cleaning area.

3—HEAVY-DUTY MOTOR—

35 H. P., 4-cylinder—plenty of power for any condition. Surplus power for the tough spots—even speed maintained. Fully equipped.

4—CLEANER CUTTING—

3-wheel-in-line construction—cutter bar follows uneven ground. High-grade cutting parts. Continuous platform canvas—delivers all the grain to feeder house.

5—COMPLETE THRESHING—

All-steel cylinder has 135 teeth—assures better threshing. Cylinder accurately balanced—carried on self-aligning ball bearings—less vibration—less wear—better threshing. Concaves held firmly at proper height—easily adjusted.

6—THOROUGH SEPARATING—

Sectional straw walkers mounted on cranks at front and rear—maximum agitation—thorough separation. Plenty of room above walkers to prevent bridging or clogging. Large holes in walkers for grain to fall through. Grain pans run full length of machine.

7—BETTER CLEANING—

Two shoes instead of one—plenty of cleaning area on each. Grain and chaff that go through first shoe delivered to second shoe. Tailings handled separately through tailings elevator. Screen in tailings elevator removes clean grain—reduces cracking because it does not go through the separator second time with tailings. Every thrasherman appreciates this exclusive John Deere feature.

8—EASIER TO OPERATE—

All main controls grouped within easy reach on operator's platform—one man has instant and practically complete control of machine with maximum safety to the operator. All necessary adjustments quickly and easily made from outside the machine. High-pressure lubricating system makes oiling a swift, easy job—all parts oiled from outside the machine.

9—EXCEPTIONALLY WIDE WHEELS—

More wheel area than any other combine of its type. Light draft in soft ground. Main wheels on the No. 3 machine are 15-1/2 inches wide, 52 inches high—main wheel 52 inches by 6 inches—front wheel 32 inches by 10 inches. All wheels equipped with highest grade, long-lived roller bearings—light draft, long service. Wide tread permits combine wheels to straddle tractor wheel tracks. Weight is properly distributed on the wheels.

10—LARGE CAPACITY GRAIN TANK—

Sixty-five bushel capacity. Emptied in less than a minute through two doors—saves a half hour to an hour every day—this saving means more bushels in the day's work.

Coach School at Tech

Football and Basket Ball will be featured in Wade-Phelan School at Lubbock

LUBBOCK, Tex., May 25.—Two of the most outstanding basketball coaches in the Southwest have been added to the Wade-Phelan coaching school to be held at the Texas Technological College August 3 to 15, Pete Cawthon, head of the athletic department announced today.

S. D. Burton, coach of the West Texas State Teachers College at Canyon and Jimmy Kitts of the Athens High School have both been secured to give instruction during the two weeks school for Southwest coaches.

Burton's teams for the past two years have averaged better than a point a minute in scoring. In nine years at Canyon, Burton has won five championships of the T. I. A. A. conference and has never placed lower than third. Out of 211 games he has won 178.

Kitts has made an equal record in high school basketball. His Athens quintets have won the national championship for high school basketball two years, won the Texas high school championship in 1927, 1929, 1930 and 1931, and won the A. A. U. in 1928.

The coaching here is the only one to be held in the Southwest this summer, and an unusually large attendance is expected. The annual coaching school at S. M. U. will not be held this year and officials of that school have endorsed the school here at the Tech and are helping advertise it.

Inquiries about the school are coming in from Pennsylvania, Indiana, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Arkansas, Texas, and other states in response to 2,000 letters that have been sent to coaches all over the nation by officials of the Texas Technological College.

Football work at the school will be handled by Wallace Wade and Jimmy Phelan.

Wade, now of Duke University and formerly of the University of Alabama, coached the "Crimson Tide of 'Bama'" to three Southern Conference championships at the University of Alabama, tying Pop Warner's Cardinals in 1926.

Phelan, now of the University of Washington, formerly of Purdue University, famous Notre Dame quarterback under Rockne applied the Rockne system at Purdue to win the Big Six championship in 1929 then skipped to the West Coast, introduced the Rockne system and made it click the first year, 1930.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Ancient and Modern Necromancy, alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced," was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, May 31.

The golden text was from Jeremiah 20:13. "Sing unto the Lord, praise ye the Lord: for he hath delivered the soul of the poor from the hand of evildoers."

The following passages from the Bible were included in the service (Deuteronomy 18:10-12): "There shall not be found among you any one that... useth divination, or an observer of times, or an enhancer, or a witch, or a charmer, or a consulter with familiar spirits, or a wizard, or a necromancer. For all that do these things are an abomination unto the Lord."

This citation from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, (p. 104) was also read: "Christian Science goes to the bottom of mental action, and reveals the theodicy which indicates the rightness of all divine action, as the emanation of divine Mind, and the consequent wrongness of the opposite so-called action,—evil, occultism, necromancy, mesmerism, animal magnetism, hypnotism."

BLODGETT ITEMS

(Too late for last week.) S. J. Powell is transacting business in Seminole, Okla., this week.

Westone Tracy has returned to Wellington.

Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Austin returned to Mangum, Okla., the first of the week.

Word has been received of the death of Andrew Hensley, Pampa, caused by the flu. Two of Mr. Hensley's brothers were here last week to look after his business.

The school picnic was greatly enjoyed Tuesday by all present. The place selected for the picnic grounds was a very beautiful location down on the Balfour Ranch. Beautiful scenery, swimming, fishing and games were enjoyed, later a sumptuous dinner was served. Before returning in the afternoon all expressed their appreciation to Mr. Brainard and Mr. Pearce for the wonderful day. While returning we were very happily surprised by the announcement of the coming wedding Wednesday night, May 27, of our teacher, Miss Bessie Russell, to Mr. Charles McCartney.

Those enjoying the day of fun and recreation were Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Blodgett, Mrs. Ralph Blodgett and son, Miss Bessie Russell, Earl Church and family, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Bell and family, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Ueary and family, Slim Slavins, Mrs. Clyde Harbour and children, Mr. and Mrs. Mease Beck, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Sims, Dorwin Tinker and Mr. and Mrs. L. W. The Invisible Servant
Natural Gas

Always at his master's elbow, but ever in the background. That is the perfect servant and that is the service you receive from gas. It eliminates so much of the drudgery connected with housework and keeps your home immeasurably cleaner.

There is a constant flow and uniform pressure, thus eliminating the fuss, trouble, and delay connected with a home supply of fuel. Gas is convenient and efficient, it makes your home more comfortable and more livable.

It is the most economical fuel as it gives the utmost service for the least expense. You pay for only as much as you use, and you use no more than you need. Gas minimizes waste, worry and work.

Dogs! Dogs!
Dogs!

License your dog at once. The pound man is coming immediately. All un-licensed dogs will be carried to the pound. It will cost to get him out of the pound and if not taken out within three days all impounded dogs will be disposed of.

There are numbers and numbers of stray and worthless dogs in the town and the complaints made to the city authorities are desperately numerous and continuous.

If you are a dog owner license your dog at once and assist the city authorities in the elimination of the stray and worthless dog menace in the town so that it will not be necessary to outlaw all dogs.

Dogs are an enemy of flowers, shrubs, lawns and trees. Help the city authorities reduce the number to the minimum.

Matchless economy
with six-cylinder smoothness

"Better than 20 miles to the gallon." "Its cost-per-mile is the lowest of any car." "Never have to add oil between crankcase changes." "Drove from Ohio to California on a repair expense of $1.05." "It just runs and runs and runs."

—typical comments from owners of the Chevrolet Six Chevrolet's 157" frame supports the body throughout its entire length.

The answer lies in five outstanding factors of Chevrolet economy:

1. Efficient Engine Design makes Chevrolet fuel consumption so low that 20 miles to the gallon of gasoline is nothing unusual for a Chevrolet owner.

2. Modern Chassis Design—as evidenced by Chevrolet's long heavy frame, four parallel-mounted springs, and smooth-running six-cylinder engine—increases the ability of the Chevrolet Six to run dependably, day after day.

3. Excellence of Manufacture also adds to Chevrolet dependability and long life. Chevrolet pistons, for instance, are built so carefully, and held true to such close limits of precision, that many owners have gone 20,000 miles or more without having their motors opened for major servicing.

4. High-Quality Materials are used throughout the Chevrolet car—costly nickel steel, chrome-vanadium steels, chrome-nickel steels—to assure trouble-free, low-cost service for tens of thousands of miles.

5. Economical Nationwide Service, with its low flat-rate charges on labor and genuine parts, is available at 10,000 dealers throughout the country, who also offer the protection of the most liberal owner's service policy ever to back a low-priced car.

Remember—in addition to all these basic economies—Chevrolet offers the extra dollars-and-cents advantage of one of the lowest delivered prices on the market. And this cost may be spread over a period of many months by the liberal G.M.A.C. plan.

Chevrolet's Owner's Service Policy is the most liberal ever offered in connection with a low-priced car.

RECORDS

of records has been... an important one in... in government. In fact... of human endeavor, the... the past has been the... of the present and the... Great Judgment, how... judged by that man... will be a time of op-

I wish to call attention to one thing and if possible help thereby in this most trying time of seemingly financial depression. I do not wish to minimize the present situation but I do wish to call the attention of the people to two things: First, the past, and the glory of achievement written there; second, to the future and the wonderful opportunities that opens before us.

The record of achievement for Perryton and Ochiltree county reads like a fairy tale. In twenty years we have seen the prairie blossom like a rose, railroads cross and recross, roads take the place of buffalo trails, farms and homes replace the den and snare of wild beasts. We have watched towns build and rebuild, schools and churches grow and flourish. The cherished dream of the fathers has actually been worked out in these few years. That record is one to be proud of. It is one to spur us on to greater work than ever before. If the present time has obstacles it is no different than any time in the past has been. Certainly the men who came here in an early day had a hard battle to fight. Certainly the first few farmers had a fight. Certainly the building of the first roads and railroads took its toll of life blood. The building of Perryton has taken the best that many men could give. For us to set down today and howl, "hard times," is certainly to drag in the dust and become a dishonor to those who have fought in other days and who gave even their life's blood that we might be happy. Only a selfish man and one full of egotism will set down and cry over some of his "pet milk" that is being spilled. We have every convenience that human mind can discover and we have created here on what a few years ago seemed to be a worthless prairie a veritable garden of peace and plenty—yet with all we have no time to enjoy it and use it to benefit humanity. I would call your attention to a statement of Paul's, "fight the good fight of faith" and if ever we need to fight and have faith, we need to do so today. Out of the present will come both a future and a past. What will our record be? Will it be a record of "little" men doing "little" things? Will it be a record of whipped men who hid from the battle of life? God said "take it and rule it" and friends it is high time we held up our heads and with the voice of a conqueror went forward to battle to win or die. Just before the carefully planned battle of the Nile, an officer asked Captain Nelson concerning victory and the Captain replied "that we shall win is certain but who will live to tell the story is another matter." People of Perryton and Ochiltree county, we cannot, we must not fail. Who survives matters not but that we win. God is in heaven and all will be well with man who lifts his head and pushes forward.

Don't Forget Fathers' Day

Sunday, June 21

Dear old Dad! He waited a long time to get his due. It took us all a good many years to realize that Dad was a bit more than the signature to a check. But now we know. We know that while he makes a game fight for it up there in the front line of his job, his heart is back home with us youngsters. He makes all kinds of unsung sacrifices for us. Well, we know it now. That's why we set aside this day for him. Fathers' Day! That's why we greet him with some expression of our gratitude, and deep affection.

Remember Dad! Send Him a Fathers' Day Greeting Card

McCORMICK-DEERING HARVESTER-THRESHER and SERVICE

—The Soundest Investment in the Combine Field!

PURCHASE of a harvester-thresher is a very important investment. You are buying it for 10 years or more of harvesting. Each year will be exactly as important to you as this first year. That is why combine service is just as valuable and vital to you as the combine itself. Be sure you get both!

Buy a time-tried, efficient McCormick-Deering Harvester-Thresher, coupled with our assurance of branch house and dealer service—right here in your own community—to back you for the full life of your machine. If you can't count on both the machine and the permanence of the service when you buy you will make a costly mistake, no matter what price you pay.

Sometimes the lack of even a small part, of trifling cost in itself, may mean disaster at the height of the harvest-time rush—but not with McCormick-Deering. We maintain a service of great cash value, substantial stocks of genuine IHC repair parts, fast handling in any emergency, never-failing aid close at hand year after year. This assurance, which may in time save you many hundreds of dollars, can be had in the McCormick-Deering investment.

The McCormick-Deering Harvester-Thresher is the surest, soundest, most economical investment in the combine field today, and it is also the easiest to buy. Under the newly announced McCORMICK-DEERING HARVESTER-

THRESHER SAVINGS INVESTMENT PLAN, you or any other responsible grain grower can buy a McCormick-Deering Harvester-Thresher now and meet your first payment after harvest with just a part of the savings made possible by the new machine—with two more years to pay the balance.

Crop production cost figures compiled by McCormick-Deering users show savings of 20 cents or more per bushel, and show conclusively that the harvester-thresher will pay for itself in two or three years. Make these savings in your own crops and in custom work... and count on the permanence of McCormick-Deering service.

See the McCormick-Deering dealer in your own community for labor-saving power and machines essential to profitable handling of this year's crops. Keep in mind that McCormick-Deering Tractors—10-20, 15-30, and Farmall—and tractor-operated equipment may be had on terms arranged to help you begin at once cutting the costs of your operations and increasing your profits.

Chevrolet Sales and Service Perryton, Texas

To Mexico City With Tri-State Fair Trippers

By Miss Nellie N. Perry
Perryton, Texas

PART I

Travelers in a foreign country usually wish that all their friends might see and hear the interesting things they are seeing and hearing. For this reason I am glad to tell a little about our trip to Mexico, having been invited to do so by the efficient reporter of the Ochiltree County Herald. One advantage of a written over and oral report is that in the former there is no obligation to read the story, whereas the returned traveler who takes the floor and insists on holding forth regarding his experiences, endlessly and repeatedly, meantime fixing his eyes on his helpless victim with an Ancient Mariner glitter, may be an unmitigated bore to his friends.

The Perryton delegation of two started early in order to visit the live town of Morse on its opening day, taking the first train through to Morse on the Santa Fe. Only three other people were on the train, few apparently having caught the idea that there is a special thrill connected with riding over a new railroad. It was fine celebration—immense crowd, plenty of bands, barbecue, rodeo, merry-go-round, speeches at the school house by celebrities, i. e., H. Ansley, Gene Howe and others. H. C. Coffey received the lion's share of credit for the successful assembling and management of the enthusiastic crowd of boosters, this being an accomplishment natural to our one-time townsmen.

We went to Amarillo by motor bus and agreed that this method of transportation would be ideal for Perryton.

Saturday, May 16, at the Santa Fe station we met the rest of the party who were to be our companions for a week on a tour through Texas and Old Mexico. 143 people, the majority from Amarillo, but many from surrounding towns. A big crowd of people were at the station to see us off. Bands played and a great deal of laughing and talking was done. The orange hats of the men as they swung their jaunty canes, gave a cheerful color to the scene. Messrs. Hawk and Ansley were busy greeting everybody and getting them settled in the right places. We pulled out exactly on time. A thunder storm broke making the air delightful. We were fortunate in our Pullman quarters, securing lower fifteen and sixteen and in the corner, an especially desirable location. Porters and waiters were Spanish or Mexican. Our porter was a fine fellow, friendly, willing and jolly. The dining car service was perfect, the food quite beyond criticism. Eating was a joy during the entire trip and our appetites were such that we seldom failed to respond to the "first call" for breakfast, luncheon or dinner. Perhaps after all it is true that men are better cooks than women. Certainly this chef was an artist in his line.

The Sunday trip through Texas was beautiful, the country fresh and green after recent rains. A profusion of wild flowers, fields of yellow, fields of pink or red, then a thick carpet of varied colors and, as we went farther south there were blue bonnets and yet more blue bonnets, until we could understand why it has been chosen for the state flower. To have an obstructed view of central Texas from the rear of an observation car was a great treat.

Our first stop was at Austin, where we found cars waiting to take us to the Capitol. A few minutes to wander about the building, but not long enough to do justice to the historic paintings, pieces of statuary, etc. A short talk with a message to President Rubio by Governor Ross Sterling and a response by Mr. Hawk, then we shook hands with Governor and Mrs. Sterling and were on our way. We had been warned that our train would leave precisely at 9:00 o'clock, but the temptation to drive around the university grounds proved too great for us and we narrowly missed being left in Austin. But we scrambled on board the special safely and had the satisfaction of having seen the beautiful campus where the "shacks" are being gradually replaced by fine modern buildings.

Again there were flowers, more and more of them, as we neared San Antonio—red and white gleanders everywhere. Pickwick buses took us to the Alamo for a ten minute stop, then for a drive through the wide, clear streets of the city and through the largest of the fifty-six parks which San Antonio boasts, the Breckenridge Park. This park is ideal, full of delightful free games and fun of all sorts for grown folks and children: swimming and boating, burro riding and a wonderful zoo, fine collection of animals—flowers and trees! Altogether, we nearly wept with envy. How Perryton boys and girls would shout for joy if turned loose in such a park!

Late Sunday evening we reached the Mexican border at Laredo, crossing to Nuevo Laredo after a perfunctory examination of baggage by government inspectors. Now we were in a foreign land—the land of Pizarro and Cortez and Montezuma. That night we turned down an invitation to a Bohemian party in favor of bed, but we were up with the lark. A matter for regret that our breakfast appetite of long standing called for only toast and coffee, but we managed to add figs and cantaloupe to our regular menu and I experimented with a delicious omelet filled with fresh strawberries, a new idea.

Our arrival in Monterrey was greeted by an official band playing La Paloma and other tunes not so easily recognized. While waiting for the sight-seeing cars we took a walk through the narrow unpaved streets near the station. Here the people seemed poverty stricken and sad eyed, although they responded to greetings cheerfully, wined little old women wearing black crepe shawls and carrying babies or baskets on their arms, old men driving bony mules hitched to ramshackle four wheel carts or light wagons, newsboys everywhere. One little chap was highly amused when, in trying to make him understand why I did not buy his Mexican paper, I put a finger to my eye, pointed to his papers and shook my head vigorously. I watched him as he stopped to tell a man about it, imitating my gestures exactly and pointing at me with great glee. It was only toward the close of the trip that we even dared voice a simple "Buenos Dias Senorita" (good morning, Miss) or "Buenos noches señor" (good morning, sir).

On returning to our special we found a line of buses ready to take us for a survey of Monterrey which is considered one of the most beautiful cities in Mexico. We climbed so the hill top where stands the Bishop's palace—a ruin about 325 years old, very picturesque with a wonderful view of the valleys below. A deep well with an old oaken bucket occupied the middle of the main room and a cool drink was acceptable after our climb. Thrilling stories of Mexican history are connected with this ruin, now occupied by scare-crows, chickens and a Mexican family living in a tiny room, as care-takers. The buses next paused at a little park where beer was served to those who wanted it and then we were escorted through the brewery—the largest in America or in the world, I've forgotten which. It was a strenuous trip for there were stairs to climb, many flights, and long. Immense copper vats, stacks of hops, bottling, packing, loading and steam and queer odors, hot in some rooms, freezing cold in others.

Tuesday we arrived in Mexico City and were driven to the St. Regis Hotel, where many of the party had reserved rooms for the night. This hotel is Mexican, comfortable but not luxurious, in the heart of the city. Our luggage was so slow in coming that we had to sacrifice hot baths and hair curling temporarily, in order to be ready for the sight-seeing trip. Thirty-eight cars of us in all, four trippers and a driver in each. The party was differently distributed each day—giving all a wider acquaintance. Nearly all of the native chauffeurs were like "Jehu, the son Nimshi," for they certainly drove furiously. Their motto apparently is that "a miss is as good as a mile" and they seemed to take great chances, yet we heard of no accidents in our party.

The first important stop in Mexico City was at the Cathedral, the largest and oldest in America, and supposed to be the richest in the world, from the vast amount of solid eighteen-karat gold used in the carvings. These carvings were made by the Indians under Spanish directors and are marvels of art. An immense sculptural painting by Murillo was on the walls, rich colorings, also many smaller paintings by some of the Old Masters. This was a most interesting hour but it is difficult to absorb in an hour that which should have a week's study, and we felt that we had received a mass of confused impressions of all that magnificence. As we glanced from the gold to jewels and the marvelous pictures to the ceiling and then to the floor we saw a marked contrast—ceiling of rough boards and floors of the same, the latter so loose and uneven that we were moved to watch our steps. Mass was in progress and there were scores of kneeling figures by the pews. Many men and women in working dress who knelt on the board floor wherever they could have a clear view of the altar, their eyes uplifted in prayer, to the Virgin, and their faces full of pathos and sincerity and adoration. The Catholic church is the church of Mexico by tradition and education.

Our guide in Mexico City, provided us by President Rubio, was fine. If we had been able to remember all he told us in his lectures we should be wiser than we are.

We were rushed out of the Cathedral and taken to a fine old building where luncheon was ready. We were told that many of the people where the special stopped had been getting ready for us for weeks and we saw evidences of preparation everywhere. This great hall was a beautiful sight—a space in the center for dancing and tables spread with white cloths in all directions—flowers everywhere, glasses of yellow wine at each plate, music, speeches at the end of the meal. One talk was made by the president's assistant, in Spanish. He had an interpreter, a pretty young girl who was chosen by a Spanish grandee for a dance, her lily concealed joy and her father's pride. It was an odd combination of food and the details of the courses have left my mind, perhaps cooked by Mexicans in what they believed to be American style.

After the banquet we drove to the castle of President Rubio and waited on the beautiful grounds until he was ready for us. The castle stands on a hill and below were fields and woods, valleys and lakes, the city with its white stucco buildings and in the distance the mountains—"Popocatepetl", "Sleeping Lady" and the rest. It is far beyond my powers of description to even try to make you see a picture like that. Near us, as we hung over a balcony looking at the view, was a purple bougainville vine, a flower which excited much admiration from all who saw it, common in Mexico, and I believe found in California.

We were then invited to enter the castle, having been gravely warned by an official to avoid all frivolity, to "be as formal as possible" and not to break ranks for any reason, but to pass at once through the castle after greeting the president. We walked two by two with sobriety and waited while a distant murmur of voices assured us that the schedule exchange of compliments was in progress. Mr. Hawk presenting the gold key which is to unlock the doors of the Tri-State Fair and incidentally the hearts of the American people, and President Rubio responding in a gracious manner, his personal guard standing close at his side meantime. When we consider the ancient and the recent history of Mexico we cannot wonder that discretion is practiced even in the reception of a delegation from a more or less friendly nation. At the close of this ceremony the entire party passed by to shake the hand of the president of the Republic of Mexico. He is a large, fine looking man—his newspaper picture are not like him—and he speaks one straight in the eye as he speaks a word of friendly greeting. We were told that his three great aims are for good roads, agricultural and educational progress. With any sort of cooperation he should do much for Mexico.

The castle is magnificently furnished, but we were rushed through so fast, hardly pausing to take a second look at the most interesting objects, that again it was like a dream. Elegant furniture, dating back to the time of Charlemagne, upholstered in hand woven tapestry—whole sets of pearl—mosaic furniture.

A great dining room for the cabinet members had seen very recent service, as rolls were still on the table and the cloth was somewhat spotted with gravy and jelly, or similar viands. It was something of a relief after the strain of long continued "formal" behavior to feel assured that Spanish grandees are only men after all and occasionally spill the gravy just like our men in Texas.

As if a great Cathedral, a castle and a President Rubio were not enough thrills for one day we were at once started on a long drive to the "floating gardens," about a sixty mile drive, at the end of which we found a lovely scene, a real Venetian canal, gondolas, gondoliers and everything. Each boat seated about twenty people and was elaborately decorated with flowers, roses, carnations, lilies and sweetpeas. "Welcome Amarillo, Texas," was written in flowers on each boat. Romantic gondoliers stood at the boat ends and with a long pole furnished the motor power. Flowers, flowers everywhere. Mexican maidens were at our sides as soon as we left the automobiles, laden with blossoms to sell, and as we slowly glided over the water a canoe would suddenly appear and great bunches of posies were thrust upon us. One canoe contained an old Mexican woman who gave a continuous cooking performance. In the middle of the boat was a hot plate, heated I know not how; into this she slapped some grease, cut a roll in two and fried it, patting it tenderly with her dirty hands, then inserted a queer looking mess between the halves and offered it for sale. A brave youth bought one and passed it to the joyriders, but I did not see anyone venture to take a bite. The prettiest things on the water than day were the tiniest canoes fairly filled with flowers and a pretty Mexican girl sitting in the midst, a charming picture, reminiscent of "Elaine."

That same evening there were for our entertainment can ball game, "H-L-L," other Bohemian ball, but much as he loves a ball game, not to be enticed from that night, and we were already perfect day.

The Second Day in Mexico must be continued for

MISSA LANDI STARRS IN FOX ROMANTIC DRAMA

For magazine interviewers, syndicate writers and hard-boiled reporters have at last found a Hollywood personality whose "color" is as good as her "color" is.

She is Elissa Landi, Venetian born beauty whose sudden rise to American film fame was accomplished after she had gained English stage prominence and recognition from the literary world through her two published novels.

Following the national acclaim given her performance in "Body and Soul," interviewers flocked to her at Fox Studios where she was set at her first starring picture, "Always Goodbye," which will be shown at the Ellis Theatre, Sunday Matinee and night.

She was questioned about art, literature, prohibition, manners, morals, love and other general subjects dear to the hearts of interviewers. Imagine the surprise of the writer upon finding that Miss Landi was a cultured conversationalist, one to hold her own with them on any subject they cared to mention!

The report has gone out in Hollywood that there is one star whose personality is genuine, whose intellectuality is real, whose attainments with investigation and whose charm is as contagious as it is fascinating.

One of the interviewers discovered that Miss Landi has one weakness, she will not enact a false situation, but is that she will not put her screen character through actions that would be impossible for a real person. If forced to do so, she claims, it would be against every fibre of her being, and would result in stiff faciality.

For instance," she explained during the filming of "Always Goodbye," "I accept the revolting attentions of a wealthy beer baron in a picture. I wouldn't think of such things in real life; but I realize there are plenty of women who do. Therefore, I am entirely at ease in the scene, and carry it off as all the spirit of my being."

"Always Goodbye" is the thrilling romance of a glamorous woman of adventure who dared to risk everything for her chance of happiness. The story is supported by Lewis Stone, Paul Cavanagh and John Mack in the leading roles. William Merriman and Kenneth MacKenzie co-directed.

CLARA BOW GIVES KICK TO "KICK IN" DRAMA

Clara Bow, herself, is the big kick in "Kick In," the Willard Mack drama on the talking screen, which goes to the Ellis Theatre, Wednesday and Thursday, June 10-11.

Last the red-headed "It" star goes out of her customary character and flashes on the screen a scene of the fiery Bow emotions. "Kick In," Clara's first dramatic role for the talkies is a mighty tale of love versus the struggle of a convict, Regis Toomey, to "go straight," in spite of the hounding of a vicious detective, the pleading of his underworld friends, and the temptations of the "easy" road. Clara is the motivating force in the story, the sweetheart who opposes her to the forces that try to keep the man she loves back to a life of crime.

Toomey, in the leading male role, in "Kick In," a role that offers many more opportunities for action than did his most famous part in "Alibi," in which he was coast-to-coast acclaim. He is a dramatic actor, with an air of believability about him. The drama of "Kick In" is shared between him and Clara. Its success is chiefly theirs.

But an excellent supporting cast and a splendid directorial mind contribute added effectiveness to "Kick In's" drama. Wayne Gibson, Juliette Compton and Leslie Fenton head a brilliant array of supporting players. The direction was in the hands of Richard Wallace, whose uncanny ability for heightening dramatic effects, observed in his recent drama with Ruth Chatterton, "The Right to Love," has here full display.

"Kick In" long a favorite as a stage play, is even more effective on the talking screen where the dramatic changes of scene, and the fleeting moods of its characters are more directly and swiftly projected. It is splendid background for the new Bow charms.

They are Skeets Gallagher, Carole Lombard and Norman Foster; and the name of their newest picture is

THOMAS MEIGHAN SAYS
"WORK MEANS HAPPINESS"

More than likely, 99 persons out of every 100 dream to retire and enjoy life, but the only real happiness in this world is enjoyed by those who work.

Such is the philosophy of Thomas Meighan, who two years ago, following his triumphant performance in his initial talkie, "The Racket," retired from motion pictures, but recently returned to the films to play a featured role as the trainer in "Young Sinners," Fox romantic drama opening next Monday and Tuesday at the Ellis Theatre.

"I used to envy the man who didn't have to work, now I pity him," was Meighan's tense comment when asked how it felt to be back in harness. "There's nothing in this game of loafing; it's just an empty dream. It sounds all right and one can fool himself for a time, but finally he reaches the point where he is contented only when engaged in some active pursuit."

"I'm back in pictures and I'm happy for the first time since I decided to retire so I could play golf to my heart's content. I'm tired of golf and loafing but I don't think I shall ever tire of work, at any rate, the kind of work I am doing now."

Meighan portrays the role of the husky Irish trainer in "Young Sinners," Fox comedy drama, and spent ten days on location during the making of the snow sequences for the picture.

Here the popular star of the silent picture era helped himself, and ate his lunch from a tin pan and drank coffee from a tin cup while surrounded by his fellow actors and scores of workmen. He was just one of the crowd and happy to be back in pictures.

Meighan's first motion picture role was as a featured player in "The Fighting Hope," but it was his performance in the well remembered "The Miracle Man" that attracted world wide attention to him.

Many successes followed this picture, included among others being "Irish Luck," "Manslaughter," "The Man Who Found Himself," "Our Leading Citizen" and "The Bachelor Daddy."

He signed a Fox film contract recently, his first assignment being his present featured part in "Young Sinners," which is adapted from Elmer Harris' successful stage play.

The romantic roles are portrayed by Hardie Albright, who enacted the part of the boy while the play was on tour, and Dorothy Jordan, beautiful and talented young screen actress. The cast of notables supporting the featured players includes such outstanding personalities of the stage and screen as Cecilia Loftus, James Kirkwood, Edmund Breese and Lucien Prival.

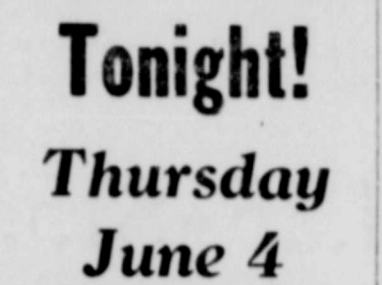

John Blystone, dean of directors for Fox Films, transferred the story to the audible screen.

LOVE IN GREENWICH IS THEME OF ELLIS FILM

A trio that gained triple honors for comedy and romance in "It Pays to Advertise" will be seen next Wednesday and Thursday, June 3-4, in another Paramount comedy-romance, at the Ellis Theatre.

They are Skeets Gallagher, Carole Lombard and Norman Foster; and the name of their newest picture is

"Up Pops the Devil"

Although "Up Pops the Devil" portrays an entirely different phase of modern life than that disclosed in "It Pays to Advertise," the roles are, in their essential points, the same. Foster is the young man in love. Miss Lombard is the girl he loves. And the blond and glib Skeets is the mutual friend who helps them put the old love-game "on ice" as they say in the ball parks.

"Up Pops the Devil" is based on the original Broadway hit of the same name which "packed them in" at the Masque Theatre in New York City last season. It was written by Albert Hackett and Frances Goodrich. Hackett, who is only 25, is a brother of Raymond Hackett, who played the juvenile in Ruth Chatterton's "Madame X".

The scenes of the play are laid in Greenwich village and in the Paramount Theatre, New York.

The story deals with the lives of a young couple, Foster and Miss Lombard, who live in a circle of "good time" artists and writers in the very sophisticated region of which MacDougal Street is the admitted "main stem." Their apartment is in a continual uproar due to the everlasting visits of their hosts of gay-life friends—and all their extra money goes for gin and din. Meals and sleep come second.

But after a year of married life they decide that they will have to buckle down seriously to the business of living, and the wife persuades her husband, who is an advertising man, to give up his job and to stay at home for the purpose of writing a novel. Meanwhile she gets a job in the chorus of the stage show at the movie theatre in order to earn money to pay for the household expenses. Many humorous and many dramatic episodes result from their adherence to this mode of living, but their topsyturvy lives at last turn right-side up.

STONE ACCLAIMS NEW STAR SUPERB ACTRESS

"The most pleasing engagement in years."

Thus Lewis Stone, eminent screen actor and the favorite of millions of movie goers summarized his work with Elissa Landi after the completion of "Always Goodbye," Fox production, which marks the second appearance of the lovely European stage and screen star in American films and which will show Sunday Matinee and night at the Ellis Theatre.

"The fame of this little lady," Stone said, speaking of Miss Landi, "Reached me long before I had the pleasure of meeting her. Now that I have worked with her, I heartily agree with the critics who named her the most amazing discovery Hollywood has made in the last decade."

Miss Landi is starred as the wondrous, clever-in-love heroine of "Always Goodbye," a girl to whom romance is a game not to be taken too seriously. She does very well, in fact, makes a decided success with her policy of dismissing lovers with a casual "goodbye," until she loses heart and head over one man.

The man is Lewis Stone. It is his gentleness, his culture, his charm and, consideration, qualities she had never before found all in one man, that wins her; yet she has so endangered her own reputation with daring escapades that she is not free to accept his love. It is her boldness in clearing her name of suspicion that brings about the stirring climax of this romantic drama.

The cast of "Always Goodbye" is a notable one. In addition to Miss Landi in the starring role, and Mr. Stone in the male lead, it includes Paul Cavanagh, who is also featured as well as John Garrick, Frederick Kerr, Herbert Bunston and Lucinda Hare.

ARE HENS TEMPERMENTAL?

O. S. Willham, animal husbandman of the Panhandle Agricultural Experiment Station, is inclined to believe that they are. He has just completed a four year study of the reactions of laying hens to temperature fluctuations. In an interview Willham says: "Although hens show temperamental characteristics just like high-strung people it is a notable fact that those individuals which are inclined to be good workers pay less attention to what goes on around them and are not so sensitive to discouragements."

His investigations, covering a period of four years, made use of about 100 pullets each of which had a record of 200 or more eggs per year. Taken the year around the daily fluctuations of temperature did not affect the laying or high producing White Leghorns very much. It was found, however, that they were more sensitive to temperature changes after a period of high production.

During a period of steady rise or decline of temperature the hens seemed to adapt themselves to changes very well but they became sensitive to the daily fluctuations of temperature after a marked change either upward or downward in the general trend of the season.

Willham concludes that very often the falling off of production which has been attributed to low temperature is as likely to be caused by other factors, such as feed and care. A report of this study may be obtained by requesting Panhandle Bulletin No. 28 from the Experiment Station at Goodwell, Oklahoma. Further studies regarding climatic conditions such as humidity, wind and rainfall which may affect the comfort of the hens and thereby influence production are in progress and probably will be reported later in the year.

Miss Minna Cross, 61 years old, of Woodland, Cal., who has ridden one bicycle for more than 22 years, and has pedaled more than 50,000 miles, claims the worlds bicycle riding endurance record.
