Sidelights

By Marvin Jones
Member of Congress From Texas

The emergency measure which has just been passed embodies the farm mortgage refinancing provisions as well as the currency program. It is frequently referred to as the most important and far-reaching legislation ever presented to the American Congress.

The Senate and the House have now agreed on all the provisions of the bill, and it has received executive approval.

Soon after the farm measure was sent to the Senate I introduced the administration farm mortgage bill and lead the fight for its adoption by the house of Representatives. It was adopted by an overwhelming vote.

Currency expansion measures were also pending in the House during this period and had been discussed by many members on the floor.

These measures were combined and the Thomas currency amendment added. The result of these various steps and combinations is one measure of tremendous importance to the farmer and to the nation in general.

In passing this combination measure, the Senate added eighty-five amendments. In order to iron out the differences in the measure as it passed the House and Senate it was necessary for a joint conference committee to be selected to represent each body.

Because of the importance of this legislation, I felt greatly honored in being chosen to head the group of conferees from the House when the measure was thus taken up for final revision and adjustment by the two groups before its enactment into law.

The House and Senate both adopted the conference report, which was the last step before executive approval. It was my privilege to be present when it was approved, and the President presented me with a pen which he used in signing the measure.

The farm relief section of the composite bill is admittedly an experiment, and is intended to be used only in the present emergency. Under its provisions the Secretary of Agriculture is given broader powers to administer several plans in an effort to bring temporary relief while a permanent program is being instituted.

The mortgage refinancing provisions have been discussed in the press reports. The necessity of farm refinancing was recognized by the President, with the result that such a measure has been approved by Congress.

I believe that a controlled expansion of currency will be a long step toward recovery, because it brings with it an increase in commodity prices and increased purchasing power.

The inflation, or expansion amendment which has been added to the farm bill contains four major proposals, any of which may be used by the President for the purpose of increasing the commodity price level. The first relates to open-market operations by the Federal Reserve Banks; the second provides for the issuance of Treasury notes within certain defined limits; the third relates to the acceptance of silver aggregating two hundred million dollars in payment of debts owed by foreign countries; and the fourth authorizes a change in the gold content of the dollar or the remonetization of silver.

With such a program as this in operation, accomplishing three important steps in the President's program of ultimate national recovery, I have every hope that the farmer will once more assume his proper place in our economic structure, and that America will be well on its way to better times.

Public Library Needs Immediate Help

Miss Thelma Lee Norman Commends Citizenship For Loyalty

A recent letter from Miss Sue Goree, head of the State Library Extension department states that she will be with us in Lamesa June 2 and 3. Her mission is to collect state books which have been loaned to us and carry them to another town. She will also teach a group of girls and boys how to mend books properly for our own library.

Thirty of our own girls and boys are beginning this week to solicit books. They are asking for good books in good condition and their goal is three hundred plus.

We urge every citizen to cooperate with this plan and donate one book or the price of a book.

Commends Local Papers

Our local papers have been exceedingly generous in publishing any material that was sent in by us and they have given us the best space at all times. Clippings that have been sent to Miss Goree and she says: "With the support of residents, and the publicity which your local papers seem to give so willingly I feel that your library is going to succeed."

Mother J. Stubbs says: "Children fight and win their moral battles before the conflict is on, and the child whose mind is a store house of virtuous thoughts and mental inspiration through stories is already captured by goodness."

Mrs. R. K. Thornhill donated 12 books to the library Tuesday.

Good books take us away from small vexations into a serene atmosphere of thought, nobleness and truth.

Girls Week Observed With Banquet And Tea Last Week

The second annual observance of Girl's Week, postponed from April until the week of May 7-13, was in every way gratifying to the sponsors of the event.

Two interesting features of the week were the Mothers and Daughters Banquet on Friday evening and the Junior tea on Saturday afternoon.

Wear His Flower

His fixed bayonet was pointed toward the enemy. His steel helmet was tilted down over determined eyes. An unseen machine gun sprayed his path with death, but he went forward for America.

In a poppy studded wheat field he fell. They buried his after the wave of battle had swept by, and poppies sprang up around his grave. His victorious comrades, returning to America, brought memories and the poppy.

On Saturday, May 27, the men of the American Legion will ask you to wear a poppy. The women of the American Legion Auxiliary will offer us poppies on the streets and will give us an opportunity to aid the war disabled, the widows, and the fatherless children. Can there be a person in Lamesa in whom the pulse of patriotism beats so low that he will refuse? He who can so soon forget the patriotic sacrifices of the past is a person from whom friends, community and country can expect little of unselfish service today or in the future.

Woodrow Little and Francis Newell of Lubbock spent the week end here with Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Waugh.

The first railroad line ever constructed in Texas was built in 1851. It was twenty miles long and ran from Harrisburg to Stafford, Texas.

Two new buildings are being planned for the State Fair of Texas, a boys and girls encampment building and an agriculture building. The State Fair helps to entertain more than 3,000 4-H Club Boys and Girls and Future Farmers each year, and the encampment building is now badly needed. Both buildings will be financed by funds raised in the sale of sustaining membership certificates.

Cambro-Ordovician crude oil of Oklahoma is the oldest of the Mid-continent crudes—being already ages old when dinosaurs tramped above its hidden reservoirs. It has mellowed longer, filtered longer, contains less carbon than younger Mid-continent crudes. When refined and blended in the great Sinclair refineries—de-waxed and freed from non-lubricating petroleum jelly, this oldest of Mid-continent crudes becomes Sinclair Opaline Motor Oil, a product of 80 million years of Nature's priceless treatment. THE NEW DEAL

President Roosevelt made fewer campaign promises than any candidate who ever ran for the presidency. The opposing party called attention to this fact and asked the voters the question: "What does Roosevelt promise?"

The answer was in the words "A New Deal." The American people took him at his word, and he has made good. The new deal is working already. No president has accomplished as much in two years as Roosevelt has in less than three months. Plank by plank he has followed the promises made during the campaign.

Present administration policy might be expressed thus: "Raise prices now and go to any possible length to do it." The inflation bill is the result of this attitude. Presidential control of Congress, in spite of appearance of organized opposition was easily great enough to carry it through. Its chief provisions are:

The President may arrange with

Federal Reserve banks and boards for the banks to purchase in the open market and hold up to $3,000,000,000 worth of government obligations thus providing an identical amount of new credit.

If this is inadequate the President may then direct issuance of currency up to $3,000,000,000 to retire government obligations; reduce the gold content of the dollar by 50 per cent or any smaller proportion; provide unlimited free coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1; accept silver up to $200,000,000 in the payment of war debts in the next six months, valuing the silver up to 50 cents an ounce. With the approval of the President the Federal Reserve Board may declare the existence of an emergency, and increase or decrease reserve balances required to be held against deposits.

Of paramount interest is the effect reduction of gold content of the dollar will have on the relation of debtor and creditor. Expert opinion estimates it as follows:

DEBTOR: Following the devaluation of the dollar, a man who had contracted to pay a certain number of dollars could tender the new dollars in satisfaction of the debt. Principal classes to be benefitted in this respect would be those who had mortgaged homes and farms.

CREDITORS: Superficially, this class would lose under the changed basis, inasmuch as the new dollar would have less purchasing power than the old. However, this apparent injustice would be offset by the fact that the loans were largely contracted at a time when the dollar was worth only about half of what it is at this time.

FARMERS: Would benefit. Prices will rise, thus netting the farmer more dollars. On the other hand, the cost of what he purchases will rise as well, but probably not so rapidly.

Business conditions have improved steadily since the latter part of March. Greater activity and generally higher prices characterized the commodity and security markets after gold exports were suspended. Steel mills have gone to more than 20 per cent of capacity after the drop to 15 per cent in March. Automobile output has rapidly expanded. Department store merchandises sales are sharply increasing. Lumber and Electric power production, both good indicators, have advanced. Improvement has been registered in car loadings.

Of prime importance to residents and business men of our territory is that farm markets show similar advances, with grains reaching and holding better levels, and cotton up $17.25 per bale from the low.

As a contemporary expresses it, Roosevelt has at last brought us around that corner where prosperity has been hiding, and now seems to be prodding things along so that all of us can at least touch the hem of that elusive creature's garment.

READY FOR A FULL DAYS WORK

(Editor's Note: This bit of poetry was written by Miss Winnie Ferguson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Estes, and dedicated to the farmers of the O'Donnell territory. Mr. Estes brought it down for us to read, and it was so appropriate that we begged his permission to publish it for our readers.)

Down on the farm about half past four,
I slip on my pants and sneak out the door.
Out to the yard I run like the dickens
To milk ten cows and feed the chickens.
Clean out the barn, curry Nancy and Jiggs,
Separate the cream and slop all the pigs;
Work two hours, then eat like a Turk
An' by heck, I'm ready for a full day's work.

Then I grease the wagon, put on the rack,
Throw a jug of water in an old grain sack,
Hitch up the horses, hustle down the lane,
Gotta get the hay in cause it looks like rain.
Look over yonder! Sure's I'm born!
Cattle on the rampage and cows in the corn.
Start across the medder, run a mile or two,
Heavin' like I'm windbroke, wet clean through.
Back to the house then for recom-pense—
Nance got straddle of the barbwire fence.
Joints a-achin' and muscles in a jerk,
I'm fit as a fiddle for a full days work.

Work all summer till winter is nigh,
Then figure up the books and heave a big sigh;
Worked all year, didn't make a thing
Got less cash than I had last spring.
Now some people say there ain't no Hell,
But they never farmed, so they can't tell.
When Spring rolls around, I take another chance,
While the fringe grows longer on my old pants.
Give my suspenders a hitch and my belt a jerk
Then by Heck! I ready for a full day's work.
—O'Donnell Index.

NEW LOW PRICE
$19.25

$2.00 A MONTH

Old-fashioned kitchens with tiresome, slow hand-operated mixers and beaters are out of the picture where modern homemakers are concerned. The new Hamilton Beach Electric Mixer has speeded up meal-preparation until whatever you do—mix, beat, grind, stir, whip or slice—only requires a fraction of the time and effort it formerly did. Add the power unit that is now available and potato peeling, shredding or chopping can be done just as easily.

Ask to see the new model Hamilton Beach—you'll take one home with you.

Mixes Cake Batter

Most people like cakes, but they are lots of work—unless you use the Hamilton Beach. That way mixing the batter is very simple and easy.

Juices Fruits

The sanitary juice extractor has a removable strainer for seeds and a spout to guide the juice to its receiver without spilling.

Portable
Can be used anywhere

One of the mixer's big points—it is easily portable. You can carry the mixing part around and use it anywhere there is a convenience outlet. You'll find it mighty handy.

I'm buying my tires NOW!

Right now Goodyear is concentrating on two main lines of tires... This saves money for the factory that builds them—for the dealer who sells them—and for the car owner who buys them... If you want to know how real these savings are—and how much they mean to you—just check up on today's price of the size you need, and at the same time take a careful look at the finest quality that ever honored the Goodyear name... This stepping up of quality, this stepping down of price leads the way to a better deal for everyone—and that's what we all want now... Best of all—it means that everyone can afford new Goodyear Tires, especially if you buy now while prices are still low.
