Permian Basin OIL & GAS LOG

Lario Operation In SE Borden Is New Reef Opener

Lario Oil & Gas Company No. 1 T. L. Griffin is a new flowing discovery from the Canyon reef lime in Southeast Borden County.

Operator is now pulling test tool after the interval from 7,095 to 7,110 feet developed flowing oil on a drillstem test at the rate of 20 to 30 barrels per hour.

The flow was clean 46-gravity oil. Five minutes after the test tool was open gas was at the surface and oil flowed out at the top in 11 minutes. Operator let the well flow for about two hours before closing the tool. At the time the tester was closed the oil was flowing steadily.

It has not been decided whether to drill deeper or to complete the well at its present total depth of 7,110 feet.

The reef was topped at 7,100 feet, elevation 2,381 feet. The portion of the reef so far cut was drilled extra soft.

No. 1 Griffin is one and three-quarter miles west and three-quarters of a mile south of the nearest production from the Pennsylvanian on the southwest side of the Reinecke field. It is separated from the field by several dry holes. Exact location is 660 feet from south and west lines of section 46, block 25, H&TC survey and five miles north of Vincent.

Lowe-Magnolia To Drill Five Wildcats On Midland Farms

Ralph Lowe of Midland and Magnolia Petroleum Company have jointly assumed an obligation to drill five Spraberry sand wildcats on a spread of 64,000 acres on the Midland Farms property in Southeast Andrews, Northwest Midland and Northeast Ector Counties.

The first of those prospectors is due to be started early in 1952 and the other four are due to be started soon afterwards.

Lowe, some time ago, acquired a geophysical option on the 64,000 acre spread of Midland Farms acreage. All other lands on the large block of property owned by that concern were already under lease.

To Select Five Blocks

In acquiring the geophysical option Lowe was given the right to select five drilling blocks, each not to exceed 10 sections, out of the entire 64,000 acres.

The selection was to be after the region had been seismographed.

After the five blocks were selected Lowe was contracted to drill a Spraberry wildcat on each of them.

Magnolia has acquired a one-half interest with Lowe in the entire deal.

Midland Farms retains the northeast quarter of each section covered by the Lowe-Magnolia option. Each section forms a separate lease. Midland Farms also retains a three-sixteenths royalty interest down to 10,000 feet and a one-eighth interest below that depth on alternate sections, with a three-sixteenth interest on the remainder of the acreage.

Magnolia Block Nearby

At the June auction of University of Texas leases, Magnolia acquired a 2,568 acre drilling block in Southeast Andrews County in block 8, University Lands for a bonus of $1,280,000. That block adjoins the Midland Farms acreage involved in the Lowe-Magnolia deal on the north.

Ellenburger Makes Oil, Gas, Water For Humble In Winkler

Humble Oil & Refining Company found some oil and gas, and some water of an undetermined source in a drillstem test in the top of the Ellenburger at its No. 1-B R. M. Evans, Northeast Winkler County wildcat.

The test covered the interval at 11,678-715 feet. The tool was open two hours and 15 minutes. There was a good blow of air at the surface during the entire test period.

Recovery was 20 feet of free oil, the 2,715-foot water blanket, which was cut with oil and 3,025 feet of muddy, salt water and oil.

Low Salt Content

That water was cut with oil. Informed sources report that about 20 per cent of the 3,025 feet of fluid was oil. The remainder was mud and salt water.

Chloride content of the water was 35,000 parts per million. That is a low salt content. Some observers think the water may have come

SWEAT OUT PEACE OFFER—GI's relaxing near a machine gun nest, rest up and read late developments in peace negotiation efforts. Communist China and North Korea agreed to talk peace in Korea and proposed a meeting with UN envoys in Kaesong between July 10 and July 15. The Allies seek an earlier date.

Malik Scooped UN Allies On Own Cease-Fire Plan, Says Columnist Pearson

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—The exact terms never have been made public, but the United Nations have cabled Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway the exact conditions for negotiating a cease-fire in Korea.

This writer, however, has obtained a copy of the cease-fire terms. The major points are:

1. The opposing armies shall be separated by a 20-mile demilitarized zone "with the southern limit following generally the line of the 38th parallel."

2. Naval forces shall keep at least three miles from enemy shores, except to keep the supply lines open to UN-held islands in Wonsan Harbor.

3. Prisoners of war shall be exchanged "on a one-for-one basis, pending final settlement of the Korean question."

4. The cease-fire shall be supervised by a United Nations commission with "free and unlimited access to the whole of Korea."

The inside story is that this proposal was supposed to have been offered on June 25, the first anniversary of the Korean invasion. In fact, the final draft actually was awaiting approval by the 16 nations fighting in Korea when Soviet Delegate Jacob Malik got wind of it and jumped the gun. He

Fair Skies, Hotter Weather Predicted For July Fourth

By The Associated Press

Typical July Fourth weather—hot and generally fair skies—is expected in Texas Wednesday.

There'll be a few cumulus clouds—the big, white, fluffy sort. But they won't do much to relieve the heat, nor to keep you from picking up some picnic sunburn.

The Summer thunderstorms which erupted in tornadoes and hail Sunday and Monday played themselves out during the night. This cleared the way for hotter weather.

Monday's high Texas temperature was 105 at Presidio. The low during the night was 63 at Marfa. Rainfall for the 24 hours ended at 6:30 a.m. included Abilene 1.13 inches, Big Spring .05, Dallas .51, Fort Worth 1.87, Beaumont .09, Wichita Falls, .04 and Texarkana .75.

Negro Electrocuted For Wife's Murder

HUNTSVILLE —(AP)— Sam Williams, 53-year-old deaf negro, was executed in the electric chair at the Texas State Prison early Tuesday.

He refused the condemned prisoner's traditional last meal at first, but finally decided to drink two bottles of orange soda pop.

Williams was convicted of murdering his wife, Lassie, by a Harris County jury on April 26, 1951. She was killed at their home in Houston on July 9, 1950.

June Water Figure Record For Midland

Midland used almost a quarter-billion gallons of water during June.

Henry Nunn, water and sewage engineer, reported Tuesday a record-breaking 221,666,000 gallons were pumped during the month, 39.1 per cent more than during the same month of last year.

It was on June 20, when the temperature had soared well over 100 degrees several days in a row, that 9,386,000 gallons were pumped, the highest single day's pumping in the city's history.

In fact, said Nunn, the 1950 peak day's pumping of 8,557,000 gallons already has been exceeded nine times this Summer.

The largest previous single month's pumping was the 197,776,000 gallons used during August of 1950.

Ken Regan Says Truce At Parallel 38 Is Satisfactory

Congressman Ken Regan said in Midland Tuesday he believes a settlement of the Korean war at the 38th parallel would be satisfactory.

The congressman was enroute to Pecos to attend the annual rodeo Wednesday. He took part in organizing the event 15 years ago.

He said little was happening in Congress this week, and when asked for his views on the Korea cease-fire move, he said:

"I hope it'll work out. Let the Chinese save face partially and at the same time let them know we protect everything below the 38th.

"I believe the Chinese have had all they want and since they don't seem to be able to get much help out of Russia, I believe they'll be glad of a settlement. This seems to be the attitude generally in Washington.

"Personally, I don't think we are obligated to protect Korea except below the 38th parallel, even though President Syngman Rhee is opposed to this sort of settlement."

Congressman Regan said he would be back in Midland Thursday before returning to Washington.

Conference Slated On Bus Line For City

City Manager W. H. Oswalt said Tuesday he had scheduled another conference Thursday with a Texarkana bus operator interested in establishing a bus system in Midland.

The operator, C. W. Burgess, was expected in Midland last week to confer with city officials but was detained by other business.

FBI Launches Manhunt For Missing Reds

NEW YORK—(AP)—Four top U. S. Communists failed to surrender to begin serving prison terms Tuesday, heightening speculation they either had gone underground or fled the country.

Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan, who Monday had set an 8:30 a.m. Tuesday deadline for their surrender, immediately ordered bonds of the four forfeited. Each had been free in $20,000 bail furnished by the Civil Rights Congress, an organization tagged subversive by the U. S. attorney general's office.

The motion to forfeit the bonds was made at the government's request when the missing Reds failed to appear in court by the deadline.

Seven other leaders, also members of the Party's American Politburo, began serving their prison terms Monday. The four missing leaders were to have appeared in court at the same time.

No Explanation

The four, object of a nationwide FBI and police search, are Henry Winston, the party's national organization secretary; New York State Chairman Robert Thompson; Illinois Chairman Gilbert Green and Party National Secretary Gus Hall.

Gas Company Told To Take Rate Hike Requests To Cities

AUSTIN —(AP)— The Texas Railroad Commission Monday told the West Texas Gas Company to take its rate increase request to the 47 towns and cities where its customers live.

Officials of the company thought their petitions for higher rates should be filed with the state agency. Commission Chairman Olin Culberson said they were wrong.

Culberson allowed the officials, President C. I. Wall and Comptroller Thomas F. Cartwright, to leave the petition with the commission but said no action would be taken unless an appeal is filed.

He said an appeal could result if one of the towns or cities serviced by West Texas Gas Company turned down the higher rates or waived original jurisdiction.

Cities served by the company include Midland, Plainview, Lubbock, Levelland, Odessa, Hereford, Friona, Bovina, Dimmitt, Canyon, Happy, Tulia, Kress, Hale Center, Petersburg, Silverton, Quitaque and Turkey.

Lubbock Dentist Is Shot To Death In San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO—(AP)—Dr. Clyde C. Craig, Lubbock dentist, was shot to death Tuesday in a fashionable suburban apartment here.

Raymond Donnell, 34, was charged with murder. The slaying occurred in Mrs. Donnell's apartment in suburban Alamo Heights.

Donnell walked into police headquarters in downtown San Antonio while Alamo Heights police and deputy sheriffs were searching the area near the shooting. He surrendered to Police Capt. Dave Cruz about an hour after the shooting.

The shooting was witnessed by 11-year-old June Roberts, Mrs. Donnell's child by a previous marriage.

Dr. Craig was a prominent citizen at Lubbock, where he moved in 1941 after previously living at Ranger and Corpus Christi. He had investments in oil, amusements devices, a woman's clothing store and a restaurant, and participated in many entertainment activities.

Mrs. Donnell is a former Lubbock resident. She moved to San Antonio only two weeks ago. She and Donnell were married March 18, 1951, in Amarillo.

Bill Veeck Gets Control Of Ball Club

ST. LOUIS — (AP) — Bill Veeck went "over the top" Tuesday in his stock drive to buy the St. Louis Browns.

An important stockholder, who had been a stubborn hold-out in the deal, tossed in his 8,572 shares at noon to give Veeck more than the 75 per cent of Browns' stock he wanted.

Now all he has to do is exercise an option he holds on the club and it is his.

Herbert Waltke, the stockholder, had been one of the important hold-outs in Veeck's deal to buy the club from the DeWitt brothers.

Veeck had demanded a minimum of 206,000 of the total 275,000 shares of stock. He was about 8,000 short when Waltke decided to sell his stock and assure Veeck's ownership.

Veeck reached his stock-buying goal with only 12 hours left before the deadline set for acquiring 75 per cent of the stock. He had 72 1/2 per cent at close of business Monday and picked up another 1,000 or so shares in the morning mail.

Drive Carefully And Live, Officers Urge Midland Vacationers

Chief of Police Charles R. Hemingway has appealed to Midlanders planning Fourth of July trips to drive carefully and live through a safe holiday.

Hemingway said many residents will be leaving Midland for holiday outings.

"We hope they will observe the simple rules of courtesy and caution while on the highways," the police chief urged.

An additional three men will be assigned to the force's regular traffic patrol to control driving within the city limits.

Precautions Urged

The Midland County sheriff's office and state highway patrolmen also asked that holiday drivers be particularly careful in the heavy traffic that is expected to flood the highways.

The sheriff's office and highway patrolmen will be on continuous patrol duty over the holiday period.

Last year's July 4 cost 793 lives in holiday accidents over the nation.

The National Safety Council has listed these rules to be remembered Wednesday: (1) Start your trip early so you won't have to hurry; (2) be patient in heavy traffic—don't let annoyance make you take chances; (3) leave fireworks alone; (4) be careful in recreation, especially in swimming and boating.

Truman Asks New Military Billions

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Truman Tuesday sent Congress a supplemental budget request calling for more than $4,500,000,000 in military construction.

The building program, which has been announced previously, includes military bases of various kinds in every state of the union.

Congress now is working on legislation authorizing the program.

Truman's money request totals $4,535,212,308. By far the largest share, $2,403,900,000, would go to the Air Force. The Army would get $1,237,069,698 and the Navy $894,242,610.

The MATURE PARENT

Winning Love And Respect Sometimes Takes A Battle

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

At some point in parenthood—and it is a different one for all of us—we suddenly stop having to fight for children's consideration and respect. Quite suddenly, we've got them—and the fight is over.

From that point on, though we may have minor skirmishes now and again, they only end by bringing our children closer, by making them dearer.

That point is reached when we stop fretting about the consequences of demanding peace, dignity, joy, privacy and courtesy for ourselves. It's when we lose fear of how children may react to the idea that we have a right to be ourselves.

Is that a novel idea to you? If it is, you are very lucky in your relationships. Most of us have had to battle for love with the people who now love us best. Most of us who are loved and respected by friends, children, wives and husbands, have won love and respect in battles, in showdowns in which we risked the loss of love to defend self-respect.

A mother I know faced the problem of her adolescent son's habit of "picking" on her before his friends. She solved it by remembering a showdown experience with her husband before their marriage.

He had wanted a secret engagement. His mother, he had argued, was not well. The shock of learning that an eldest son wanted to marry might make her seriously ill.

She had said to the man she wanted to marry, "Bill, when I get engaged, I want to be engaged. I know it's a hard decision. But it's yours and you mustn't ask me to help avoid making it."

She was sure she had lost him. She was also sure that keeping him at the cost of her own self-respect wouldn't be having him at all. She had lost him. By telling him what she thought was true, she found him, and helped him to find himself, too.

Fighting Ends, Joy Begins

So, remembering that, my friend applied the lesson to her son one day.

She was passing his room where he and his friend Sam were busy working over an electric battery. The crumpled suit she had asked him to hang up was still on a chair.

When she mentioned it, her son said, "If you're so anxious to have my suit in the closet, why don't you put it there yourself without bothering us when we're busy?"

Discussing it with me later, she laughed. "I said everything on my mind," she told me. "I psychoanalyzed bullies for him. I told him what made cowards tick. I didn't know how he'd take it and I didn't care. All I cared about was putting him straight on who he had for a mother."

"What did he do?" I asked.

"He said, 'Gee, mother, how could I know you felt like that?' Then Sam came running in with a glass of water for me and I said, 'Thanks'—and well, you'd have thought I was June Allyson or somebody the way those two young ones fussed over me. After that, I was through having to fight young Bill for courtesy. It came naturally."

My friend had made contact with her child. She had thrown down the script of patient, long-suffering motherhood and started talking in her own character. She had reached the point where the fighting ends—and the joy begins.

ussia's Peace Bid

The Russian peace proposal offers hope to the mil-ns of people who would like to see an end to the fighting d something approximating real peace established in is war-weary world.

Or does it? Is it an honest attempt to negotiate at st a dispute that already has claimed thousands of lives d cost billions of dollars in war expense and destruction property? Or is it another crafty Kremlin trick to lull e U. S. and its UN Allies into a feeling of false optim-m? Is it a trick to split the Allies by causing dissension mong them over the actual peace terms?

Those questions have to be asked by any sensible per-n because of Russia's long record of diplomatic duplic-y, double-crossing and shameless dishonesty in her inter-ational dealings. They have to be asked despite UN Sec-tary-General Trygve Lie's assurance that the Soviets' otives are sincere and their off-hand peace bid should be ken seriously. They have to be asked because a wise an always reaches for a grain of salt when listening to ious utterances from a known liar.

So while Malik's gambit offers hope to some, it also onfronts President Truman, the State Department and eir opposite numbers among our UN Allies with a keen allenge. It is a challenge to their judgment and their bility to come through when the chips are down in an ternational poker game in which one player has no com-unction about using a marked deck and hiding a few ces up his sleeve.

By their handling of the situation the President and is advisers have a chance to redeem themselves with many tizens throughout the country who feel that Truman-cheson and company have demonstrated something less han dynamic leadership in their handling of the whole roblem of Communistic expansion in Asia.

Because of previous sad experience of those naive nough to take Russian promises at face value, it is only ne part of wisdom to retain a healthy skepticism until he Reds' sincerity is proved beyond doubt. But that does ot mean that we should lead the UN along the path of midity. The burden of proof of sincerity is on Russia. y taking a firm stand with her and refusing to be stam-eded by wishful thinking, we can call her hand and make er put her cards on the table. Then perhaps our diplo-ats will learn that Russia doesn't hold all the trumps they ad credited her with. Or that she is just trying to cheat gain.

Fade-Out

Well, the curtain has been rung down on the Senate's MacArthur inquiry and whether or not it was a good thing o end the probe at this point is something on which many eople will disagree. But we hope that all will agree that nding the inquiry brings one happy result. That is that will expedite the fading away of the plague of strained araphrases on General MacArthur's now-famous "Old oldiers never die" line.

'As Soon As Moscow Invents Peace, We'll Declare It!'

DREW PEARSON ON The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

(Copyright, 1951, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Drew Pearson says: Liberty Bell did not ring July 4, 1776; British monopoly began our break with the empire; Old-fashioned taxation was relatively cheap.

PHILADELPHIA — Wednesday the nation and this city celebrate the 175th signing of the Declaration of Independence. Here are facts about that great cornerstone of our liberty which some of us may not know or have forgotten:

The Liberty Bell did not ring out when the declaration was signed July 4. It rang only on July 8, at which time the declaration was read in the public square, now Independence Square . . . Failure to rejoice on the first day was due to the fact the signers were by no means popular. They got angry glances on the streets of Philadelphia, were considered "radicals," and called "dangerous persons" — even after the revolution was a year old . . . Four months after the signing, a powerful group in the Continental Congress — chiefly from Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware, New York and South Carolina—wanted to give up the revolution. It was only by bare majorities that most congressional moves squeaked by, and it was by adroit negotiation and compromise that the young radicals were kept intact . . . New York even abstained from voting for independence for a week.

That Boston Party—if it hadn't been for a monopoly and British business bungling, we still might be part of his majesty's empire. The British East India Company had a monopoly of the empire's tea business and like most enterprises that lack competition, it almost went broke. To get out of the hole it raised prices, which in turn caused smuggling . . . One of the best-known signers of the Declaration of Independence, John Hancock, was a top smuggler, who got caught with a warehouse full of smuggled tea at a time when the British reduced prices and permitted tea retailers to buy direct from the company . . . Naturally Hancock was sore. In fact, he resented this "unfair" competition, and rather than lose money on his smuggled tea, organized the Boston Tea Party . . . British retaliation against the City of Boston was one of the biggest factors in leading up to the Declaration of Independence.

Old fashioned taxation — The Stamp Act, which got everyone so excited, was only eight cents for a bill of lading and two shillings threepence for a mortgage. It chiefly hit bars, liquor sellers and newspaper advertisements . . . Newspapers refused the tax and printed death's heads in their upper right-hand corners . . . Today with Congress passing one of the biggest tax bills in history the old Stamp Act looks pretty good . . . British national taxes at that time—following the Seven Years War with France —were about 30 per cent, which is a lot more than the Greeks, Italians and Germans pay today . . . Eventually the British removed the Stamp Act . . . Now we, instead of paying a few pence on bills of lading and liquor licenses, pay enough to support the rest of the world . . . A Philadelphia mob almost tore down Ben Franklin's house because he, as emissary to England, failed to get the British to remove the Stamp Act. Wonder what they'd do if they saw the tax returns their descendants have to fill out?

Chief rabble-rouser among the signers was 38-year-old John Adams of Boston, who never had been out of New England before and was wide-eyed with astonishment at the hospitality, the lavish living" of New York . . . The Adams family now is among the bluest blue-stockings of New England, but on its ancestor's first trip south, young firebrand Adams wrote with astonishment of his breakfast in New York—" A rich plate, a very large silver coffee-pot, a very large silver tea-pot, napkins of the finest materials." . . . Despite their hospitality, New Yorkers kept their fingers crossed about independence. Robert Livingston was described by Adams as a "downright, straightforward man." But when it came to walking up and signing the Declaration of Independence, Livingston took a runout powder . . . The others who did sign were a mixture of lawyers 21, merchants 10, doctors four, farmers three, clergymen one, printer one and 16 men of fortune. Twenty-five were college graduates. Their average age was 44. Franklin being the oldest, 71, with Edward Rutledge of South Carolina, 27.

Who the founders were: When John Hancock signed the declaration, he wrote his name in large letters so the king of England could see it without using spectacles. Hence the present synonym for "signature"—"John Hancock." . . . Roger Sherman, who at an early age traveled on foot from Massachusetts to Connecticut, carrying his shoemaker's tools with him, was one of the committee of five appointed to draft the declaration . . . When Charles Carroll of Maryland signed, he added "of Carrollton" after his name so the British would not arrest his cousin Charles by mistake. Carroll survived all other signers, dying in 1832 at the age of 95 . . . John Witherspoon, of New Jersey was a native of Scotland. When asked whether the country was ripe for independence, he replied, "Sir, the country is not only ripe but rotting." . . . John Hart also of New Jersey was a farmer who was so intensely hunted by the British that he spent most of his time during the revolution hiding in the Jersey swamps . . . George Walton of Georgia was a carpenter's apprentice, who studied law at night, later fought in the revolution . . . William Williams of Connecticut, when things looked bleakest, remarked to the Connecticut Safety Council: "If the British armes are successful, one thing I have done they will never pardon. I have signed the Declaration of Independence. I shall be hanged." . . . To which another council member replied: "Anyway my life is safe. I have not signed the declaration or written anything against the British government." . . . "Then," snapped Williams, "you should be hanged for not doing your duty."

"Second hand low" is a fairly good general rule for defensive play. If the declarer leads from his own hand or from the dummy and if you are next to play, it is usually wise to play one of your low cards.

There are dozens of situaitons in which you must break the rule. For example, it may be vital for you to win the trick rather than let it be ducked to your partner. Today's hand is a case in point.

West opened the ace of diamonds and continued with the eight of diamonds. How should declarer play the hand?

When the hand was actually played South saw that the defenders were threatening to take all of the trumps out of dummy. This would prevent him from ruffing a club.

	NORTH 3 ♠ Q 10 8 7 4 ♥ 10 9 5 ♦ K 5 3 ♣ 8 4
WEST ♠ 6 5 2 ♥ K J 8 3 ♦ A 8 ♣ K J 9 2		EAST (D) ♠ K J 9 3 ♥ 7 4 ♦ 7 6 2 ♣ Q 10 5 3
	SOUTH ♠ A ♥ A Q 6 2 ♦ Q J 10 9 4 ♣ A 7 6

Pass	2 ♥	Pass	2 ♠
Pass	2 N.T.	Pass	3 ♦

Opening lead—♦ A

The best chance to preserve the club ruff was to win the second trick in dummy with the king of diamonds and return a low club at once. This gave East the chance to be a hero. He should have put up a club honor. Only he could lead a third round of trump, so it was vital for him to win whatever club trick was surrendered by declarer.

Actually, East played a low club —just as most players would. This was what South had been hoping for. He played the six of clubs, ducking the trick around to West.

Now the defenders were through. West led a spade to South's ace, and declarer took the ace of clubs and ruffed a club in dummy. He then led the ten of hearts and let it ride around to West's jack.

West led another spade, forcing South to ruff, but declarer could draw the last trump, cash the ace of hearts and give up a second heart trick. Nothing could stop him from fulfilling his contract with the last trump and the queen of hearts.

If East had managed to win the first or second club trick he could have led a third round of trumps. Then South would have lost the club ruff, falling one trick short of his contract.

CARD Sense

Q—The bidding has been:

North	East	South	West
1 Heart	Pass	1 Spade	Pass
1 N.T.	Pass	?

You, South, hold: Spades A-J-10-6-3-2, Hearts 7-5, Diamonds 9-8-4-3, Club J. What do you do?

A—Bid two spades. Your distribution is poor for no-trump, and your six-card suit should provide far greater safety. You are looking for a safe spot, not for game.

PETER EDSON'S Washington News Notebook

At Last, Bureaucratic Worms Turns On His Congressional Tormentors

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—At least one federal worm turned last week. The Senate and House economizers had been kicking bureaucrats and civil servants around quite a bit. Measures to fire 10 per cent of all government employes had been considered. The vacation periods of those remaining were to be cut. The number of government chauffeurs was to be reduced. And it even was proposed that government automobiles be painted bright yellow, so the people riding in them could be watched more closely.

Whereupon one anonymous, low-grade government employe with a sense of humor drafted a bill to complete the degradation. It read like this:

"Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, that this Act may be cited as 'The Federal Employes Identification Act of 1951.'

"Sec. 2. Under such regulations as may be prescribed by the Chief Sadist of the Civil Service Commission, and without regard to the tenets of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, each Federal employe shall be conspicuously and indelibly identified by having branded on his or her forehead the Coat of Arms of the Civil Parasite. Such brand shall consist of a mink coat rampant on a Cadillac sedan and a cup of coffee couchant on an RFC loan certificate.

"Sec. 3. The privilege of wearing this Coat of Arms of the Civil Parasite shall be in addition to, and not in lieu of, such existing prerequisites as loss of leave, job insecurity, public disdain and congressional disfavor."

High Moving Expenses

U. S. Ambassador John B. Blandford, Jr., now estimates it will take three to five years more to resettle the 870,000 refugees of the Arab-Israeli war of 1948. Cost of the resettlement is estimated at more than $150,000,000, of which the U. S. proposes to furnish $50,000,000 in the next year, Congress approving. Ambassador Blandford recently resigned his State Department post as adviser to the Palestine relief mission, to become director of this resettlement work for the United Nations. The main job is to feed, clothe and shelter these refugees until the economy of the Middle East can be developed to provide them with jobs. The Arab states still plan to ask for Israeli compensation for driving these people from their old homes.

Austrian Commies have uncorked a couple of new prapaganda tricks. In general, there is more international cooperation in Austria than in any other part of the occupied world. But there is no peace treaty yet in sight, in spite of 258 conferences on the subject. And things like this manage to keep the populace on edge:

The Soviet zone in Vienna has opened a chain of retail stores. They undersell Austrian stores in the other zones by 20 to 25 per cent. But every customer must take away with him a copy of a Commie newspaper, the cost of which is added onto the price of whatever else is bought. And every departing customer must sign his name on what turns out later to be the old Communist peace appeal.

Of a more violent nature, Communist youth demonstrators recently protested the granting of more land to expand U. S. Army of Occupation installations at Salzburg. They handcuffed themselves to each other, then padlocked this human chain to the door handle of the Austrian chancellor's office. It took a blow torch to cut them away.

Back In Harness

Louisiana Congressman F. Edward Hebert's recent series of articles, giving his eye-witness account of the most recent atomic bomb explosion test on Eniwetok, probably got greater newspaper distribution than anything ever written by a congressman. Representative Hebert was himself a former city editor and columnist on the New Orleans States.

While he was criticized by some commentators for having revealed atomic bomb secrets and for writing a story which no other newspaper correspondents were allowed to witness, Representative Hebert points out that his articles were censored and fully cleared by the Atomic Energy Commission, and that he accepted no money for writing. He has taken a strong position that no government official should accept pay for writing on official duties.

Bureaucrats In Basement

This is how hard up your constantly growing government is for office space in Washington: The vast Pentagon basement, originally intended for storage space, has been cleaned out and converted into offices. All this did was create a new demand for storage space.

A bakery in nearby Virginia, a paper mill in Georgetown, two Sears-Roebuck warehouses in Northeast Washington and an old Navy torpedo station in Alexandria were taken over for record storage.

A soap factory and a distillery on the Pentagon acreage, originally marked for demolition, have been saved and made into office space. World War II WAVE dormitories along the Potomac have been made into offices for a new defense cataloguing project.

The President's Materials Policy Commission under Columbia Broadcasting President William S. Paley has offices now in what used to be the lobby of a YMCA. The new National Science Foundation with 85 employes had to be split in two buildings, one a former private school which fled crowded Washington for Virginia. Every time a new agency is created, it makes a new space problem.

Col. Matthew Baird, director of training for Central Intelligence Agency, has organized a nationwide scouting system to find talented recruits for CIA work. He has located former Army, Navy and Office of Strategic Services intelligence officers at some 88 U. S. colleges and universities. They look over the student body in the junior year. Courses of study and Summer employment that might help fit likely candidates for CIA jobs may be suggested.

In the senior year, CIA traveling assessment teams look over the most promising material in the top 10 per cent of the class. These students then are given a special aptitude test, devised by Educational Testing Service at Princeton. Physical condition, aggressiveness and personality also are considered. Having a Phi Beta Kappa key isn't enough to get you in. Examination probably is the most thorough ever devised to get top brains for a tough job.

VIII

WAVERING in that strange twilight between oblivion and half-consciousness, instinct struggled with physical weakness. I was aware of the fire. I could feel its heat, but my muscles refused to recognize the need. The best I could do was drag myself, inch by weak inch, from the crackling flames, while Carl, the death trap neatly sprung, sped away.

Frank had spoken of the police, the FBI. My numbed mind didn't grasp it.

Somehow, I got to hands and knees, staggered crazily to my feet. The flames were higher behind me, crackling hungrily, fanned by wind from a broken window. Carl hadn't overlooked a thing.

I lurched toward a door, knowing that I would never make it, that I was falling—falling—

Blackness rolled in, great swirling waves of it, cool and damp and—so black.

I PUT out my hand. I listened to the stillness that was soothing and not terrifying. I opened my eyes.

Above me was one of those soft, muted greens that hospitals go in for these days. The room was small and decidedly antiseptic.

"Are we awake?"

The voice was soft, yet firm with nurse-like assurance.

"What day is it?"

"Thursday." When I turned my head to look at her, the nurse smiled. "You have been with us two days, Miss Tobias."

Two days.

"Did they catch Carl?"

"Doctor says you're not to talk," she hedged neatly.

"They didn't!"

"Now, Miss Tobias—"

I touched fingers to my face. Don't "Now Miss Tobias' me! He gave me this, he left me to die—"

"There, there, I know." She looked so exasperatingly efficient. She'd never get herself in such a mess! "Let's not get ourself upset."

I closed my eyes with an "all right let's not" resignation, and Miss Starched-Stiff rustled across the room to adjust the venetian blinds.

"Am I in Hollister?"

"Yes. In Hollister County General hospital."

"I want to talk to Bart Jonathan."

Nurse relented a little. "I'll ask Mr. O'Brien."

I said, "My doctor?"

"Your—" her face stiffened with disapproval—"guard. One of your guards."

"So they didn't catch Carl."

She eyed me accusingly, as if she thought I had trapped her into a blind-side admission of something she was supposed to keep from her patient. "I'll ask Mr. O'Brien," she said, and disappeared into the hall.

Instead of Bart, I got Mr. O'Brien. Timothy O'Brien, he introduced himself, and flipped in my face the credentials that said he was on my side. I looked at them. Federal Bureau of Investigation.

"Feel chipper?"

"I may when you get Carl Metzker," I told him.

The map of Ireland that was his face sobered. "We'll get him, Miss. His woman, and his pals. We've already got Burson—"

I gasped, "Burson!" Burson was Caroline Leigh's maiden name. "Which—which one is he?"

"Their key man in the State Department, Miss Tobias. The one you told Lieutenant Stuart was—" he grinned—"a meek little man from Washington."

IT took time to digest that. Lieutenant Stuart was the name of the cop who was grinning like a Chessy cat when I left his office. I told O'Brien what I thought of him.

"Sure, and I know how you feel, Miss Tobias. But Bill Stuart was higher than a kite next day when some dame from up-state identified that dead girl as her runaway sister. So she couldn't be Mrs. Leigh. And if she wasn't Mrs. Leigh, then this Carl Metzker had lied. So—" he shrugged—"maybe you had been telling the truth. Anyhow, the lieutenant passed the word along, and us boys got busy.

"You're nowhere to be found, apartment empty, clothes there but you don't come home and you don't show for your job. Metzker's busy as a hen on a hot griddle, seeing this and that gent that nobody in the building recalls seeing before. Then this doll shows at his apartment, they and these two thugs who think they're smart operators get in the car and head for Jersey."

O'Brien sighed. "We're sure going to need your testimony, Miss Tobias. With you we can crack Burson, tie him and Metzker and Mrs. Burson-Leigh up like a birthday present. But you are all we've got to do it with—yet."

"Is that why all the rush to save me?"

"Partly," he admitted it blandly. Then he grinned, and the sun shone in Old Erin. "We lost them in Pennsylvania. They slipped through our spot-check, switched license plates, probably. So the boys bore down harder in New York till they found the railroad clerk who remembered selling a ticket to Hollister, Ind., to a 'sort of a blonde.' He remembered the town because he has the sort of mind that whistle-stops stick in, he told us. Your description tallied with what we'd got from Stuart and a picture we lifted from your apartment. Except for the hair, which there was traces of in the fireplace.

"So here we are." Timothy O'Brien leaned back on the chair that looked frail beneath his bulk. "You've got lots to explain, Miss Tobias. You might as well begin."

As I began to talk, I wondered if he would believe me.

Child Diagnosed As Mongoloid Belongs In An Institution

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

Although mongolism or mongoloid idiocy has been discussed in this column several times a number of correspondents have asked for additional information or help with special problems.

One young woman, for example, says that her baby brother, who is two and a half years old, has been diagnosed as a mongoloid. The specialist advised that the child be placed in an institution, but the mother is not well, has developed an affection for the child and does not want to part with him.

This is indeed a delicate matter to handle. Someone in whom the mother has confidence will have to discuss the whole matter with her.

A mongoloid child does not grow better and will prove an increasing burden on the parents and is likely to prove a drag on the activities and perhaps education of the other children. For reasons such as these the placing of a mongoloid infant in an institution usually is recommended—and this should be done as soon after birth as possible, partly to avoid the development of that very affection which the mother mentioned already has developed. But even though it is a blow and a wrench to do this later it is usually best, and time at least partially numbs the pain of separation.

Another question which has been asked is whether parents who have had one mongoloid child can try for another baby without undue risk. There are many factors involved and it can perhaps only be answered in general by stating the mathematical figures. In the population at large a mongoloid child is born about one time in 500 to a 1,000 births.

Odds Against It

After one mongoloid child the chances of having another are about one in 20; put the other way round, parents who have had one mongoloid infant have about 19 chances out of 20 that the next will be normal.

Finally people often ask whether the birth of a mongoloid child is the fault of the parents. It is not. The birth of a mongoloid child does not reflect in any way on the parents, the diet, the relatives or the medical care. Careless talk of this sort is painful for those who have had this misfortune and does not reflect favorably on the intelligence or kindliness of those who indulge in it.

AUSTIN —(AP)— Important between-session legislative posts were filled Monday.

Speaker Reuben Senterfitt named House members of the Legislative Council and the Budget Board, a committee to investigate the Texas State Railroad, and House members of an interim commission to study corporation laws.

The latter is a 22-member body to be made up of seven House members, seven senators and eight persons selected by the governor.

House members designated for the Corporation Law Commission were Reps. Reagan Huffman of Marshall, W. H. (Bill) Abington of Fort Worth, Sterling W. Williams of Snyder, Ben Atwell of Hutchins, Hiram Childress of Sweetwater, Stanley Banks, Jr., of San Antonio and William E. Osborn of Marlin.

Named to the Legislative Council were Reps. Lamar Zivley of Temple, Abraham Kazen of Laredo, Harold M. Lafont of Plainview, Jerry A. Steward of Fairfield, Pearce Johnson of Austin, William A. Steps Taken To Get More Oil From Anton-Irish Field

LUBBOCK — Another important step in the conservation of the oil and gas resources of West Texas has been taken with Railroad Commission of Texas approval of a unitization agreement for the Anton-Irish field, 30 miles northwest of Lubbock.

Substantially increased recovery is expected to result from a field-wide gas injection program to be developed by the operators. Formation of the unit was a necessary preliminary to the start of secondary recovery operations.

The unit agreement covers some 6,110 acres and unitizes the Clearfork formation which is found at an average depth of 5,900 feet.

Railroad Commission approval of the unit and the secondary recovery program climaxes three years of joint effort by the operators to establish a secondary recovery program in the Anton-Irish field. A spokesman for the unit members said the project represents an important conservation measure and demonstrates how oil operators and royalty owners cooperate in the best interests of conservation.

Unit members are Stanolind Oil and Gas Company, which will operate the project; Anton Oil Corporation, Gulf Oil Corporation, The Pure Oil Company, Caroline Hunt Trust Estate, Hunt Oil Company, Magnolia Petroleum Company, and A&H Oil Company.

Injection of gas into the Clearfork formation will start as soon as facilities are completed. Stanolind said it expects to place the program in operation late this year.

Since not enough casinghead gas is produced with Anton-Irish crude to carry out a secondary recovery program, additional gas will be purchased from El Paso Natural Gas Company for injection into the producing formation.

Facilities required for the program include a 28-mile pipeline for transporting gas from El Paso's Amhurst station; compressors for raising the pressure of the gas to levels needed to inject gas into the reservoir; and a field-wide pipeline system to distribute the gas to the injection points. The entire expanse of installing necessary facilities and buying gas to carry out the program will be borne by the participating operators.

Now known as one field, Anton-Irish originally was considered as two seperate producing areas. Discovery well in the Anton portion of the field was Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 J. R. Jackson. This well was drilled in December, 1944. In April, 1946, Stanolind Oil and Gas Company discovered the Irish field with its No. 1-A Lee Irish. Later development showed the two fields actually were part of the same producing area, and the Railroad Commission declared them to be one field, Anton-Irish. To date, 141 wells have been completed in the field.

Dry holes drilled to the north, east and west have pretty well defined the field in those directions. However, the southern limit of the field may extend a short distance farther, and some new wells are being drilled in this area. The unit agreement provides that wells drilled outside the present unit may be brought under the unit pact, thereby sharing in the benefits to be gained from the project.

Per-well allowable in the field at the present time is 42 barrels per day, as the result of a recent order cutting it back from 100 barrels daily. It is possible that the higher allowable will be restored now that unitization for gas injection has been accomplished.

Kerrville Rancher Starts Trip Back To Illinois Prison

SAN ANTONIO — (AP) — Allan Baker, Kerrville rancher, started on his journey back to the Illinois penitentiary Monday.

Two prison guards who arrived here Saturday left with Baker, identified as an escaped convict after his arrest a week ago on a minor charge.

They said they expected to arrive some time Wednesday at the prison in Menard, Ill., where he may have to serve out the remainder of a one to 20-year term for armed robbery.

Baker, whose real name is Clarence Cahall, was sentenced in 1932 and served five years before his escape in 1937.

Since his escape, the man married and had become a highly respected citizen of the Hill Country. A flood of letters and telegrams was arriving at the ranch of his wife from friends and neighbors from all parts of Texas. Many of the communications offered assistance, even to the point of making personal representatives before the Pardons Board in Illinois.

Field-Wide Injection Expected To Raise Anton-Irish Yield

DALLAS —(AP)— Stanolind Oil & Gas Company spokesmen said a substantial increase in recovery from field-wide injection of the Anton-Irish field 30 miles northwest of Lubbock is expected.

A unitization agreement for the field, covering 6,110 acres was the first step approved by the Railroad Commission of Texas. Covered by unitization is Clearfork, to an average depth of 5,900 feet. Injection of the formation will begin when secondary recovery facilities are installed. The operation is to start this year, Stanolind said.

Czechs Agree To Return Jet Pilot To West Germany

FRANKFURT, GERMANY —(AP)— Czechoslovakia Tuesday said it would release Lt. Luther G. Roland, American jet fighter pilot held by the Czech Reds almost a month after a mistake landing near Prague.

The Czech Foreign Office said Roland, of Hummelstown, Pa., will be delivered to West German authorities on the West German frontier at 10 a.m. Wednesday.

Roland and a Norwegian pilot, Lt. Bjoern Johansen, were on a routine training mission from a U. S. fighter base in Bavaria on June 8 when they became lost and landed their F-84's at a Czech field.

According to Czech officials, Johansen asked to be flown back to Norway, instead of returning to West Germany for further training with the U. S. Air Force.

The Czech announcement, released here by the U. S. High Commission, did not mention Johansen. It was assumed he would leave Czechoslovakia at about the same time as Roland.

The Czech government also promised to return the two jet planes to the Americans but demanded payment for storing and hauling the aircraft.

The Huffen held out his hand to catch

"Ooomph!" said the Huffen, and again he had thrown to throw the old throwstick away. But again it circled. Again it turned. Again it was flying back through the air! "Ooomph!" said the Huffen, because he had caught the throwstick fast in a hurry to keep it from knocking him down.

"Trouble, trouble, and trouble," said the Huffen to himself. How oh how could he throw the throw-stick away because it always came back to his hand? He couldn't, and so what should he do? He didn't need the old throwstick, because of the new throwstick his Uncle had sent him from Australia.

The Huffen thought and thought until at last he decided what to do. He did it. He went in his house and reached out the window to throw the throwstick away again. He threw it. Quickly then the Huf-fen slammed the window shut, so the throwstick couldn't come back to his hand again. To this very day, the old throwstick is traveling around in a circle - - forever circling by the window where the Huf-fen threw it, waiting for the Huf-fen's hand to come out and catch it. And I hope you enjoyed this play-like story which really didn't happen at all. Really it didn't. No sir. Happy day!

Here is "Your Reward"

The health of yourself and your family is a mirror which reflects YOUR INTELLIGENCE, YOUR EFFICIENCY, and your COOKING METHODS. If you purchase your foods wisely, plan your menus carefully, prepare meals with minimum nutritive loss, and see that each body requirement is supplied to every member of your family daily, then you, your children, and your husband can probably possess vibrant, buoyant health. With this degree of health come beauty, clear thinking, co-operativeness, cheerfulness, and freedom from bickering and quarreling as well as freedom from illness and infections.

To the mother of such a family come pride of accomplishment and deep satisfaction of a job well done. To her comes egogratification infinitely more satisfying than she may once have obtained from such trivialities as preparing fluffy-textured cake or devitalized white bread. When she hears her physcian praise the beauty of her children, when she sees her husband young beyond his years, succeeding because of his energies, when she feels the surge of vibrant health in her own body, she will realize that she is largely responsible. She has shouldered her tasks and has seen to it that good health has come from good food.

Cease-Fire—

pondent Nate Polowetzky reported, and a feeling that the shooting would come to an end.

However, news dispatches from Moscow and Washington suggested not too much should be expected in the immediate future from armistice moves.

The UN commander's suggested preparatory meeting would lay the groundwork for the cease-fire talk. Ridgway proposed sending three officers by helicopter or jeep—depending on the weather—to meet with three Communist officers in preliminary sessions. None would be of higher rank than colonel.

Message Broadcast

Three Far Eastern radio stations began broadcasting Ridgway's message at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday. That was exactly 39 1/2 hours after Red officials had answered the original UN armistice suggestion.

Ridgway's message said:

"I have received your reply to my message of 30 June.

"I am prepared for my representatives to meet yours at Kaesong on July 10, or at an earlier date if your representatives complete their preparations before that date.

"Since agreement on armistice terms has to precede cessation of hostilities, delay in initiating the meetings and in reaching agreement will prolong the fighting and increase the losses.

"To insure efficient arrangement of the many details connected with the first meeting, I propose that not to exceed three of my liaison officers have a preliminary meeting with an equal number of yours in Kaesong on 5 July, or as soon thereafter as practicable.

"If you concur, my liaison officers, the senior of whom will not be above the rank of colonel, will depart Kimpo Airfield, southwest of Seoul, by helicopter at 2300 GMT on 4 July (9 a.m. July 5 Tokyo Time or 6 p.m. EST July 4) or at the same hour on the day agreed upon for this meeting, proceeding direct to Kaesong.

In Three Unarmed Jeeps

"In the event of bad weather, these officers will proceed in a convoy of three unarmed one-quarter ton trucks, commonly known as jeeps, along the main road from Seoul to Kaesong. Each vehicle will bear a large white flag. The convoy will cross the Imjin River on the Seoul- Kaesong road about 2300 hours GMT, 4 July, or at the same hour on the day agreed upon for this meeting.

"The convoy bearing your liaison officers to and from the meeting will be granted immunity from attack by my forces, providing you advise me of its route and schedule, and the manner by which my forces may identify it.

"Your reply is requested."

Navy's New Air Reserve Plan Is Minus Pre-Korean Bugs; Helps Men Find Jobs

GLENVIEW NAVAL AIR STATION, Ill. —(NEA)— The Navy has come up with a revised air reserve program, minus its pre-Korean bugs, which gives good promise of setting a pattern for future reserve systems of the other services. It is also the Navy's answer to universal military training.

The Korean crisis virtually wrecked the other services' reserve setups. It showed their basic inability to be useful in a partial mobilization situation. And in trying to force them to do a job for which they were not designed, gross inequities on reservists and National Guardsmen resulted.

Korea also exposed a basic misunderstanding on the part of most employers as to their responsibility in helping to maintain a strong reserve force in the U. S.

Licking the knotty job problem for their reservists since Korea has been one of the prime efforts on the Naval Air Reserve Training Command headquarters here, located just outside of Chicago. It is a two-way effort, directed at educating employers and helping reservists find themselves.

"I believe we are convincing employers in cities where we have a reserve unit that it is to their advantage to hire our reservists, a Glenview spokesman says. "We are proving to them that in addition to getting high caliber men whom we have specially trained, cooperating with us is part of the cost of doing business in the U. S.," he says.

Job Counselor

In addition, the Navy League, an organization of prominent businessmen interested in furthering the goals of the U. S. Navy, has volunteered its help in giving jobs to Naval reservists.

For the men themselves, a job counselor or committee is being set up in each unit, to advise the men on jobs they are best suited for and to get them together with employers.

This two-way plan is working well and has gained the praise of experts on the problems of reservists.

"One of the biggest mistakes we made before Korea," the Glenview spokesman admits, "was failing to prepare our members psychologically for the day when they would be called to active duty. As a result, when they got their calls they were caught flat-footed, without any plans for taking care of their families or for adjusting themselves to what was coming."

In the new program this is corrected by a careful psychological briefing of each man for the time when he does get his call. Alternative plans for such things as the housing of his family, caring for the payments on his house and relations with his employer are suggested to him. This keeps him mentally as well as physically ready for the big day.

Can Re-learn Duties

Part of this psychological preparation is another brand new idea in the call-up procedure. For the first six weeks the unit is mobilized it is kept at its home station. This permits the men to re-learn their staff duties and paperwork before they go to units of the fleet. And it also gives them time to take care of their personal problems before being forced to leave home.

The quick uprooting of men from their families and home towns, before being able to settle their civilian affairs, was one of the most irritating aspects of the way the reservists of all services were called up.

The exact size of the present Naval Air Reserve is a secret. But, unlike the reserves of the other services, it is having no trouble keeping up to authorized strength, thanks to its modernized plans.

At the start of the Korean War, the combined Navy and Marine Air Reserve programs were able to supply 27 squadrons of 3,104 men for active duty. Their state of readiness was good and won the commendations of fleet commanders. Just 29 days after the Marine units were mobilized, they were fighting.

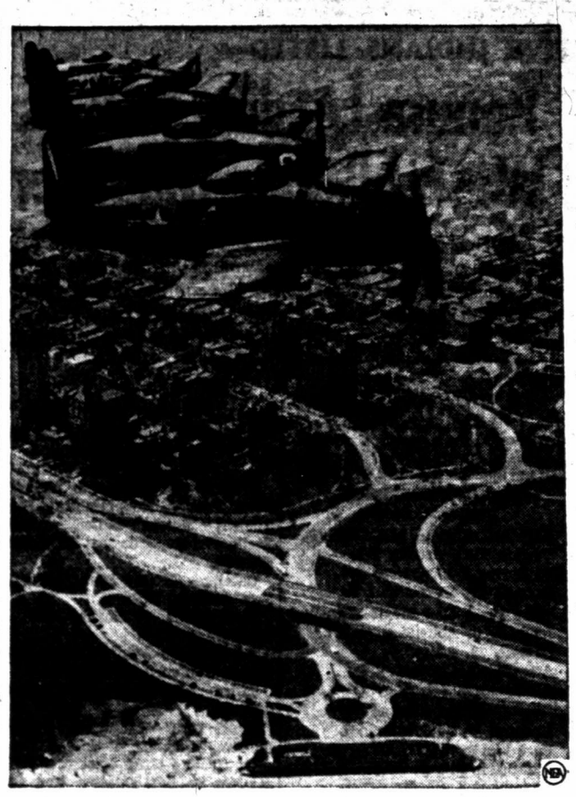

Plan Has Appeal

Another basic difference in the Navy's new plan is the appeal it makes to attract men into the reserves. Before the Korean war, services based their reserve appeal on one argument: "If war comes, everybody will be in anyway, so you might as well join the reserves and be paid for it and then be ahead of everyone else when the shooting starts."

To the bitter disillusionment of the thousands who responded to this appeal, it didn't work out that way. The shooting started and only they were called.

The Naval Air Reserve appeal is on the basis of getting good training as a pilot and the prospect of getting a monthly retirement check of about $87 after reaching the age of 60. This appeal envisions a young man getting his boot training in the reserves, his wings at Pensacola a period of active duty and then future service in the reserves. It's a voluntary universal military training.

"And we're not just asking the boys to join a Sunday afternoon flying club" the Glenview spokesman says. "We're aiming at building up a reserve force in an honest state of readiness for any emergency."

High above Chicago, fighter planes of a Navy reserve squadron practice formation flying. On the ground, these fliers get other training to help adjust personal lives to active duty.

speculate on whether the four leaders had gone underground or fled the country. No explanation for their absence was offered by their seven comrades who surrendered on schedule.

But some officials here thought it possible the missing Reds had gone into hiding to set up a new underground Politburo with three other Communist leaders who have been fugitives from justice since June 20.

Four Others Sought

It was on that date a spy-hunting federal grand jury here indicted 21 more Red leaders on charges of conspiring to advocate the overthrow of the government. Many of those indicted were believed to have been groomed by the party to take places of the 11 top leaders when they finally should be sent to jail.

The FBI quickly rounded up 17 members of this group but four still are at large.

They are James E. Jackson, Sidney Stein (or Steinberg), Fred Fine and William Marron.

In ordering forfeiture of the bonds, Judge Ryan directed that Defense Attorney Harry Sacher and Abraham Isserman, who represented the 11 leaders in a recent court appearance, appear before him Tuesday afternoon.

He also ordered subpoenas issued for the signers of the surety bonds for the four missing leaders.

All four of the missing Reds are American-born but each either has visited or studied in Russia.

NEW TEL PROCESS

A continuous process for producing tetraethyl lead, the antiknock additive for motor fuel, has been developed by a chemical company. The new process replaces the batch method of manufacture. The developing company says the continuous process will increase the output of TEL and eliminate the need for equipment made of special metal alloys.

Truce Must Not Halt Preparedness, Declares Wilson

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson told the tax-writing Senate Finance Committee Tuesday a Korean truce "will have no effect" on the nation's preparedness program.

That program, he declared, "must be based, not upon the Korean fighting, but upon what we know to be the ultimate aims and present tactics of the Soviet Union."

"Until we know that there is a genuine change in the long-term aims of world communism, we cannot afford to slow the pace of our own defense build-up and our aid to other countries."

Wilson urged the committee to approve the $10,000,000,000 tax boost which president Truman has asked.

Although Wilson said a Korean cease-fire should make no difference in the preparedness program, Senator George (D-Ga) said it unquestioningly would affect the Senate's attitude toward a steep tax increase.

"The mobilization program must go on," George told a reporter, "but there should be an end to the hysteria of giving the military everything it wants right now to the exclusion of the needs of the civilian economy."

Israel Students Boycott Meeting In German Locale

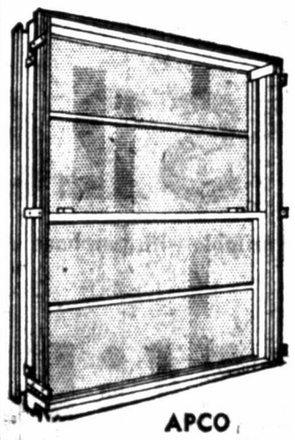

JERUSALEM —(AP)— East or West Berlin—for Israeli students it's still the capital where Hitler once ruled, the swastika was the national emblem and millions of Jews were doomed to death.

This is the reason the "Central Council of the National Union of Israel Students" has decided to boycott the "Third Youth Festival of the World Federation of Democratic Youth and International Union of Students" which will open in East Berlin in August.

When the invitation to participate in this Communist-sponsored congress first reached Jerusalem from Prague, Israelis sent a letter of protest against "holding the festival in a place which makes it impossible for the Israeli delegation to participate."

Two official replies came from the congress promoters, who recognized that the name of Berlin had been blackened by the Nazis, but they added that "a new peace-loving German youth is now growing up." This assurance did not change the attitude of the student youth of the Jewish State.

men have seen a slackening in the wars pace in the last 10 days.

They sense the end is near.

A regimental commander said: "There have been too many times when we've won a military victory and were defeated diplomatically. I sincerely hope history does not repeat itself here."

However, the chance of peace still was accepted as only a slim hope by many.

Pfc. Jerry Puls, Oklahoma City, said: "All we can do is what we've been doing for the last week, pray and keep our guns loaded."

Cpl. James E. Hillman of Philadelphia said: "I still don't believe we can find a solution that the Communists will agree to."

A young soldier dropped his freshly done laundry in the Korean dust when he heard the news of Ridgway's acceptance of the Communist offer to talk peace.

"Gee, maybe this is the real thing," exclaimed Pvt. James J. Sess of Cincinnati.

"As soon as I get home, I'm going to take a streetcar ride."

"It's just a Communist trick," declared Cpl. Jim Kemp of Galveston, Texas.

"Those Reds aren't going to give up. They have no reason to quit now."

27TH OIL STATE

North Dakota recently became the twenty-seventh state to produce crude oil in commercial quantities. The first well came in at a rate of 350 barrels of high-gravity crude daily. An indication of how recent is North Dakota's emergence as oil territory can be seen in the fact that in 1942 little or no land in the state was under lease while today more than half of the state's 45,000,000 acres are under lease to oil companies.

PECKING PHEASANTS GIVE FARMER HAY FEVER

VANCOUVER —(AP)— Bill Greenslades' house is surrounded by a flock of beautiful birds that give him hay fever. They also peck his bald head occasionally and they are highly critical of his taste in clothes.

This might discourage some men from pheasant farming, but not Greenslades. He likes pheanants, despite the fact they haven't sense enough to come in out of the rain and are noted for neglecting their young.

OIL FOR ELECTRICITY

Petroleum products play a key part in the generation of electric current. Power and distribution transformers used by central stations and large industrial plants are filled with oil which acts as a cooling and insulating medium. Power transformers may contain up to 18,000 gallons of oil.

MODEL FUEL

Hobbyists who delight in building model airplanes will take heart in the development of an improved fuel for the tiny engines. The new fuel consists of 20-25 per cent amyl nitrate (a new diesel fuel additive), lubricating oil and straight run gasoline. It is said to be superior to any model engine fuel used so far.

RIGHT ON THE DOORSTEP

Oil men, who long ago began to use airplanes to speed the job of supplying the nation with oil, now are bringing flying machine right to the office. In New Orleans, a new oil company building will have a helicopter landing platform on its roof. It is expected that approximately 12 departures and landings will be made daily from the rooftop heliport.

It is illegal to sleep in a hotel restaurant, kitchen or dining room in North Dakota.

came out two days ahead with a cease-fire proposal, thereby scooping the United Nations.

MacArthur Jumps Gun

What the 16 nations had intended to do was proclaim (1) that the invaders had been driven out of South Korea, hence the military objectives had been accomplished; and (2) that total unification of Korea could be accomplished by peaceful means.

Despite the fact that they were scooped by Malik, the 16 nations believe their conditions are sound for implementing a cease-fire, and now have cabled them to General Ridgway in the form of instructions.

This cease-fire proposal might have been offered last Winter. However, President Truman sent a copy for General MacArthur's approval and the general offered it himself, even using some of the identical language. Coming from MacArthur instead of the United Nations, the Communists pooh-poohed it as propaganda.

BONURA SOCKS HOMER—

Colts Pound Tribe 15-7

The San Angelo Colts showed the Midland Indians why they are leading the Longhorn League here Monday night, exploding for a 15-7 win over the Tribe before a packed "Ladies Night" crowd.

Five Indian miscues, eight bases on balls and 17 base hits were too much for the Midland team to overcome. The Colts hopped on Jim Haggard for three runs in the first inning and five in the second before Haggard retired to an early shower with his first loss in two starts. Steve Follett homered for the Colts with the bases empty in the second. Bill Reed and Emil Ogden followed Haggard to the mound, but the Colts still pounded out hits.

Midland scored three runs in the second on hits by Kenny Jones, Dick Campbell and Flem Flott, plus a Colt error and three walks.

But San Angelo steadily increased its lead, and the Indians had to wait until the fifth to score again. The two tallies came when Eddie Melillo doubled to right field, scoring Scooter Hughes and Jones.

Manager Zeke Bonura thrilled the large Midland crowd with a pinch-hit home run over the First National Bank sign in left field in the last inning, but it was too late, although Jones scored ahead of him. Jimmy McClure went the distance to win for San Angelo, although tagged for 12 hits.

Lubbock Climbs To Second Position

By The Associated Press

Ray Faust hurled the Lubbock Hubbers to a 9-0 shutout over league-leading Abilene Monday night and Lubbock rode into second place on the victory.

Faust's twirling pushed the Hubbers three percentage points ahead of third-place Albuquerque.

In the struggle to stay out of the league cellar, the Amarillo Gold Sox moved another step ahead of lowly Clovis by whipping the Pioneers 7-4.

Pitcher Rene Vega tried an "iron man" stunt for Borger in hurling both games of a doubleheader against Albuquerque. Vega won the first game 4-1 but lost the nightcap 1-2. Don Cantrell of Albuquerque was the winning pitcher in the second game.

Lamesa trounced Pampa 10-0 on the effective hurling of Ted Wyberanec, who scattered 10 hits among the Oilers. The victory gave Lamesa a tie with Albuquerque for third place.

Bob Feller of the Cleveland Indians has pitched 10 one-hit games and three no-hitters.

King's Row

by Larry King

Dave McKenzie, the chubby right-hander who hurled with some degree of success for Midland earlier in the current baseball season, is due to join the club again later this week.

McKenzie won two and lost five games here before going to Louisiana on an emergency call, but he had a lot of hard luck.

Twice he lost 2-1 contests. Another time he dropped a 4-2 game to tough San Angelo in 12 innings, and again he lost 4-3 to Artesia in 13 innings.

McKenzie at first said he wouldn't return here, but he was eager to come back when he heard Zeke Bonura was managing the Tribe. He'll help the Indian mound staff.

Midland fans have shown more interest in the Longhorn League all-star game to be played in Roswell July 19, than fans from any other Longhorn loop city.

Approximately 80 ballots were cast here—and the players named, for the most part, were Eddie Jacome, Kenny Jones, Flem Flott, Eddie Melillo and Scooter Hughes, with Zeke Bonura as manager.

Releases from the league's headquarters in Abilene show those players leading in the poll. That would indicate the Midland vote is the heaviest in the West group. Deadline for voting is midnight Wednesday, July 4.

Eagles Meet Fire Department Nine Wednesday Night

A couple of former Indian baseball players will return to the scene of their triumphs Wednesday night.

One is Jim Prince, the big first baseman who retired from active play this year, and Ernie Nelson, the bespectacled left-hander who used to twirl for the Indians.

Both will be in the line for the Fraternal Order of the Eagles in an exhibition game at 8 p.m. with the Midland Fire Department.

There will be no admission charge for the Fourth of July attraction at Indian Park.

Nelson was named Tuesday by Manager Earl Robertson to start on the mound for the Eagles and he will face Charles Crowley, another left-hander, who will get the beginning mound assignment for the Firemen.

Prince, of course, will start at first base for the Eagles.

Leadoff man for the Firemen will be O. A. Goodman, Jr. The remainder of the line-up includes Farrell Ezell as catcher, Marvin Beauchamp at first base, L. C. Thomas at shortstop, J. L. Brooks at second base, Charles Sapp in left field, Odell Ponder in centerfield and Hoyt Burris in right field.

The Ford Six Man Gang Cab Truck, with oil field service body, provides safer, more comfortable transportation at less expense because it eliminates extra units. Ask major oil companies now using it and then see us for particulars. Ford Trucks cost less because Ford Trucks last longer.

Dickson Cops Tenth

By The Associated Press

All Murry Dickson needs to become the first pitcher in 48 years to win 20 games for a last-place National League club is 10 more victories and for the Pittsburgh Pirates to remain in the cellar.

The 33-year-old righthander notched his tenth triumph Monday night as the Pirates whipped the Chicago Cubs 7-2.

Gil Hodges clouted his twenty-fifth homer for Brooklyn to help Preacher Roe beat Boston's Braves 6-1 for the southpaw's eleventh victory against one defeat. Brooklyn kept its five and one-half game lead in the National League while the runnerup New York Giants edged the Philadelphia Phillies 4-3. The third-place St. Louis Cardinals trounced the Cincinnati Reds 8-2.

Allie Reynolds snapped his scoreless streak at 32 1/3 innings and walked his first batter in 37 2/3 innings, but he gave the New York Yankees a full game lead in the American League race by stopping Philadelphia's Athletics 14-5.

The Chicago White Sox, knocked out of first place Sunday, dropped a 3-2 decision to Cleveland. Third-place Boston defeated Washington 5-2 to pull to within two and one-half games of Chicago. Detroit and St. Louis were idle.

Odessa Shooter Wins Small Gauge Crown At Dallas

DALLAS —(AP)— S. N. McKee of Odessa won the open championship of the small gauge (28), 98x100, Monday as seven new champions were crowned in the second day of the Pan-American Skeet Shoot here.

Rain showers delayed the shooting and forced postponement of 20-gauge shootoffs until Tuesday.

Mrs. Maxie Thomas of Dallas won the women's championship with 91x100. R. W. Botts of Dallas won the industry title with 95x100.

Mrs. Dorothy Weberly of Dallas took the women's crown in the 20-gauge, 93x100. Bobby Buford of Houston won the junior championship, 98x100. Ed Scherer and Robert M. Brown, both of San Antonio, took the two-man team title, 199x200. E. B. Spencer of Waco won the industry crown with 98x100.

Grant Ilseng of Houston and Scherer fired perfect 100x100's to deadlock for the 20-gauge crown.

Houston Moves In Front Of Dallas; 'Necks Take Third

By The Associated Press

They battled the Dallas Eagles two weeks with a game and a half separating them before they finally took over, but Saturday night, the Houston Buffs moved a half-game out in front only to see Dallas win two to their one Sunday and tie it up.

Monday night, they took a full game lead

The Buffs blasted San Antonio pitching for 16 hits and a 17-0 victory. Dallas lost a pitchers' duel to Fort Worth 2-1.

Dallas and Fort Worth battled through seven scoreless innings, then Jim Kirby hit one out of La-Grave Field to put the Eagles ahead in the top of the eighth. Fort Worth tied it in the bottom half of the inning and won it with one out in the ninth.

Beaumont's Roughnecks, 17-4 winners over San Antonio Sunday, moved past the Missions into third place in the pennant race with a 5-4 win over Shreveport.

Oklahoma City and Tulsa engaged in a slugfest with the Indians having the best of it. The Indians won an 8-7 decision although outhit 15-13.

Sam Snead, Walt Burkemo Tangle For PGA Honors

OAKMONT, PA. —(AP)— If anyone ever had a chance to write a fabulous finish to a Cinderella story in golf, 32-year-old Walter Burkemo is the guy.

The strong-hearted blond from Franklin, Mich., goes against the great Sam Snead, the par-busting West Virginian, in the 36-hole finals for the 33rd Professional Golf Championship.

And the startling angle is that the former Army sergeant, winner of two Purple Hearts as the result of World War II wounds, believes he has a good chance to win the title test over Oakmont's 6,882 yards of heavily-trapped and treacherous terrain.

The Yankees closed out the first half of the Little League baseball season Monday by thumping the last-place Realtors 14-0.

Broncs, Dusters Cop Double Wins; Rockets Take One

By The Associated Press

Ironman stunts are getting to be quite the thing in the Longhorn League. Two pitchers tried it Monday night with one turning the trick.

The two, Pancho Perez and Eddie Johnson, opposed each other as Big Spring and Odessa tied up in a doubleheader. Perez went the distance in both games to pitch the Broncs to a pair of wins over Odessa. Johnson had to be relieved in the second tilt.

The Broncs took the first game 3-1 as Perez gave up four hits. His mates got to Johnson for seven. In the second game, Odessa took a first inning, one-run lead while Johnson was pitching one-hit ball for three innings but in the fourth the roof fell in.

Big Spring scored 10 runs to win 10-1. Perez gave up six hits in this game for a total of 10 for the night.

The Vernon Dusters swept a doubleheader from Artesia, winning the first game 21-7 and the second 3-1. Roswell blasted Sweetwater 17-2, and San Angelo whammed Midland 15-7.

Cotton Russell, a pitcher playing in the outfield, homered with two on to set the pace for the wild first game at Vernon. Runs were hard to get in the second.

Roswell hitters slugged four Sweetwater pitchers for 18 hits in building their 17 runs. San Angelo scored early, counting 11 runs in the first three frames to swamp Midland.

Fireman Hugh Casey Dies Of Shotgun Blast

ATLANTA—(AP)—Hugh Casey, former baseball pitching star, killed himself here early Monday, seconds after assuring his wife he was innocent of a charge that he fathered a son out of wedlock.

Lt. C. R. Fleming of the Atlanta police said the former Brooklyn Dodger player shot himself through the neck with a 16-gauge shotgun in a downtown hotel room shortly after midnight.

Mrs. Kathleen Casey, an attractive, 34-year-old blonde and the pitcher's estranged wife, said she argued for 15 minutes over the telephone seeking to dissuade him from committing suicide.

She said in an interview she argued desperately with him but her pleas were interrupted by a shattering blast that faded into silence.

When the gun sounded, a friend of Casey's was only a few feet from the door of the 38-year-old athlete's room, hurrying to prevent the tragedy.

Wife Begs, Pleads

"I begged and pleaded with him not to do it," Mrs. Casey said, tearfully. "I tried to tell him that it was for God to decide when a man must die but he laughed and said 'I am ready to die—ready to go'." And, she said, he added "I feel just like I was walking out to the pitcher's box."

Casey's last words, the distraught widow related were:

"I am completely innocent of those charges."

Mrs. Casey explained that he referred to the ruling of a three-judge special sessions court in New York which named the big pitcher as the father of a son born out of wedlock to Hilda Weissman, a 25-year-old brunette.

"I can't eat, or sleep since going through all the embarrassment of that paternity case," Mrs. Casey quoted her husband. "And I had to drag you through it, too, but I swear with a dying oath that I am innocent."

'My Time To Go'

Mrs. Casey said she assured Casey of her belief in his innocence, and again pleaded with him not to kill himself.

She said Casey laughed and said, "No, this is my time to go. I feel just like I was walking out to the pitcher's box to pitch a ball game. I was never any more calm that I am right now. I've been feeling empty and dead inside, but I'm all right now and I'm ready to go."

The Caseys, who married 13 years ago, have no children. Mrs. Casey said their estrangement had nothing to do with the New York paternity suit.

"I stood by him then because I thought Hugh was innocent," she said, "and I still believe that he is innocent."

She said friends had told her Casey's health was poor lately, but that he himself had never complained to her.

First Year Out Of Baseball

"What he seemed to feel most was that this was his first year out of baseball," she added. The only anxiety he had expressed to her, she said, was that business was not what he had expected at the restaurant he operated in Brooklyn.

Casey was a native of Atlanta. He began his baseball career with Atlanta of the Southern Association in 1932. He left the big leagues after pitching for Pittsburgh in 1949.

He pitched for Brooklyn between 1939 and 1948. In 1947 he established a record for most games pitched in a World Series—six—and for the most games finished in a World Series—six.

Last Summer he returned to Atlanta and pitched in relief for Atlanta. At one time this Spring he was reported working out with Brooklyn in an effort to return to the majors.

Johnny Goodman was the last amateur to win the U. S. Open championship. That was back in 1933.

Optimists To Hold Family Night Picnic

Emil Rassman, president of the Midland Optimist Club, Tuesday told the members present at the noon luncheon in Hotel Scharbauer the directors had set July 17 as the date of the club's family night picnic in Cole Park.

The picnic will supplant the regular luncheon on that day.

A new member, Victor Reinholz, was introduced, as were the following guests: Bill Hussey, Johnny Wood of Dallas, Vernon Redpath, Henry Wilkinson, Jr., and Bob Morton.
