House approves almost $700 million in cuts

By STEVE LEVINE
Reporter-Telegram Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — With surprisingly little debate and no record vote, the House Friday approved almost $700 million in state budget cuts — phase 1 of Speaker Gib Lewis' plan to avoid a special session tax increase.

The bill now goes to the Senate, which has done little in the first 10 days of the session but hold public hearings on the budget. With Senate leaders holding out for new taxes to help relieve the state's $3.5 billion budget, several House members speculated that senators will take no speedy action.

"I hope they will take this bill and look at it very objectively," Lewis said. "I think they will. There's no big fight between the House and Senate."

Asked what leverage the Senate has to force a tax increase, Sen. Ray Farabee, D-Wichita Falls, said, "One alternative is to not send the bill back."

A GRIM-FACED John Odom, Gov. Mark White's chief legislative liaison, watched the House action quietly from the rear of the chamber. Asked what White, who favors a combination of cuts and a temporary sales tax increase, would do next, Odom said, "I don't know."

"A plan that cuts less and raises no additional revenue will not keep the state budget from going into the red," White said in a statement released late Friday.

The House's electronic voting machine is out of order and Lewis ruled the bill had passed on the strength of a voice vote. Thirty-nine House members, many upset over the almost $300 million in cuts for higher education, filed official "no" votes with the House clerk later.

Following the leadership of Appropriations Committee Chairman Jim Rudd, the House approved just 28 of the 44 amendments proposed.

The most significant amendment added $15 million back to the $167.2 million cut from the state's 36 senior colleges and universities. That move gained about $66,000 for the University of Texas of the Permian Basin, which still faces a $1.2 million, 18.6-percent cut for 1987.

Another amendment gave regents at university systems, such as UT, authority to spread the cuts as they wish among their component institutions.

For Higher Education Committee Chairwoman Wilhelmina Delco, D-Austin, those concessions didn't come close to avoiding the "assassination" of higher education.

"You're being asked to mortgage this state's future," Delco said in an emotion-charged address to the House. "The only resources we're going to have going into the 21st century are the human resources of our own minds and our own people."

REP. PAUL MORENO, D-El Paso, called the cuts "too drastic" and said the House had "done nothing but wasted a complete day. All of us know that this bill is going nowhere (in the Senate)."

Sanctions bill passes Senate by 70 votes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate overwhelmingly approved a strengthened package of economic sanctions against South Africa on Friday, including a ban on importing South African steel, textiles, uranium, coal and agricultural produce.

On a 84-14 bipartisan vote, the Senate sent to a conference with the House a sanctions package that also bars new U.S. investment in South Africa, forbids new bank loans and ends U.S. landing rights for South African Airways.

Thirty seven Republicans joined 47 Democrats in supporting sanctions. All of the 14 senators voting against the package were Republicans as were the two absentees.

The White House immediately denounced the package as a hindrance to President Reagan's goal of "peaceful political change and the rapid ending of apartheid" in South Africa.

A statement Friday night from presidential spokesman Larry Speakes said the Senate bill would "impede rather than promote these objectives, penalize the people and the economy in South Africa and the region, and strengthen the radical elements on both sides in South Africa."

"We say no more apartheid, no more violence; this must end, this must change," said Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., immediately after the vote.

Kennedy, Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., Lowell Weicker, R-Conn., and other leading advocates of strong sanctions against South Africa called on Reagan to abandon his long resistance to punitive measures against South Africa and sign a sanctions bill.

"The only question remaining is whether the president will add to this statement with an exclamation mark," said Rep. William H. Gray III, D-Pa., a leading House supporter of sanctions.

Speakes indicated the president will wait to see what sanctions end up in legislation that emerges from the House-Senate conference, saying in his statement, "We will await further congressional action before making a final decision on the enacted legislation."

Cranston said the lopsided Senate vote makes clear that sanctions will be written into law. The margin of victory is far greater, he said, than the two-thirds majority needed to override a presidential veto.

"Tonight the United States of America chose sides," said Weicker. "We stand beside our black brethern in South Africa.

The legislation stops short of total disinvestment and a total trade embargo and excludes strategic minerals.

But it does bar the import of products of companies owned or controlled by the South African government.

It also provides a list of other sanctions that President Reagan could invoke a year from now if he found that Pretoria had not made sufficient progress toward dismantling the apartheid system of racial segregation.

These include a possible ban on the import of diamonds and strategic materials.

Earlier, as the Senate marched through a lengthy list of amendments and proposals, Speakes had hinted that despite his strong opposition to punitive measures against South Africa the president is prepared to renew the limited sanctions he imposed last year and possibly to invoke new ones.

The House-passed bill calls for a complete trade embargo and total U.S. disinvestment in South Africa.

"The question is whether he will add additional sanctions to the sanctions," Speakes told reporters.

Religious leaders seek tax hike, not cut in human services

Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — Religious leaders Friday called on Texas lawmakers to raise taxes instead of cutting spending for health and human services, where they said funding already is "shamefully low."

"We must not reduce funding for social services just when the number of people who need them is increasing," said the Rev. Robert Rehkemper, president of the Texas Conference of Churches, Dallas.

Leaders from Catholic, Orthodox and Protestant denominations from across the state attended the Capitol news conference organized by the Texas Conference of Churches.

The group urged lawmakers to maintain funding for social services by adopting a temporary tax increase.

"We do not endorse any of the particular tax proposals, but would support any plan that is genuinely temporary," Rehkemper said.

The group supports an overhaul of the state's tax system and says it opposes any amendment to the Texas Constitution prohibiting a state income tax or any tax.

The conference also opposes a lottery or pari-mutuel betting as ways of helping the state out of a $3.5 billion deficit hole.

"Gambling is a menace to society...and destructive to good government," said Bishop Ernest Dixon Jr. of the United Methodist Church, San Antonio.

Proposed budget cuts affecting child abuse protection and licensing for day care facilities are two of the areas of concern for the religious leaders, said the Rev. Bob Greene, president of Lutheran Social Service of Texas in Austin.

"We need these kinds of services," Greene said.

Rehkemper said the group applaudes Gov. Mark White and Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby for their "courage in proposing solutions which acknowledge the necessity of increasing taxes."

Midland man gets 50 years for murder

By PATRICK CRIMMINS
Staff Writer

A jury sentenced a Midland man to 50 years in state prison Friday for his part in the brutal beating death of 45-year-old Wylie Wilson four years ago.

James Robert Chambers, 25, showed no emotion as State District Judge Pat Baskin read the sentence of the 11 man, one-woman jury.

He was also assessed a 20-year sentence for Wilson's robbery, which will run concurrent to the sentence for the murder.

Chambers is the third man to be sent to prison for participating in the June 9, 1982, incident.

Decency group wants 'pornographic magazines' removed

By JANE DEES
Staff Writer

A surprise visit Friday afternoon by four Odessans for Decency members to the corporate headquarters of Kent Oil Inc., did not garner the results they had hoped for.

Joe Seay, president of the group, said Friday marked the third official visit to the store's Midland headquarters asking Bill Kent, president of Kent Oil Inc., to remove or replace "pornographic magazines" in his convenience stores in Midland, Odessa and Andrews.

"It's unfortunate Mr. Kent is not making an effort to defend his position and I'm disappointed we couldn't talk about this," Seay said.

Kent, whose 2 p.m. appointment with a client prevented a meeting with Seay Friday, said he's trying not to make a media issue out of this. However, he believes his side of the story should be told, too.

"The only thing we are defending is our customers' right to make a choice.

"We don't believe they want to have someone dictate to them what they can and can't buy.

"By their nature, West Texans are too independent to stand for that," Kent said.

Kent said he takes the issue of pornography seriously. Company policy forbids the sale of adult magazines to minors and instructs clerks to remove the minors from the store if they are found looking at the magazines, Kent said.

Further, he said his stores in Andrews have begun putting the controversial magazines behind the sales counter, as Stop and Go stores do now, but he's not yet opted to do that at all stores.

"Frankly, we've taken some magazines out — not as a sign of buckling under to pressure from any group, but instead because we deemed them inappropriate," Kent said.

"I don't understand this man's behavior, nor appreciate Mr. Seay's actions today (Friday) at some of the Kent stores in Midland.

"I had reports that he would walk in, open up an adult magazine and shove it in the clerk's face, snap their picture as they saw it and then attempt to tape record their verbal responses to his actions.

Four sightings of funnel clouds prompt warning

By RAMONA NYE
Staff Writer

Four sightings of funnel clouds prompted the National Weather Service to issue a tornado warning for Midland County for about one hour Friday evening, said John Wright, meteorologist with the service.

The warning was in effect from 8:23 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. Friday for northwest Midland County, southeast Andrews County and northeast Ector County.

The warning was issued after four funnel cloud sightings including:

— One at 8:05 p.m. northwest of Saddle Club Apartments, 5101 North "A" Street.

— One at 8:15 p.m., 10 miles northwest of Midland.

— Another at 8:15 p.m., eight to 10 miles northwest of the Midland Regional Airport.

— One at 8:20 p.m., seen 15 miles northwest of the city.

No funnel clouds were seen touching down, but Wright said, "We usually don't wait for a tornado. When we get three different reports of funnel clouds, we don't wait."

Once a funnel cloud is spotted and there are indications of a tornado on the radar, the service will issue a warning, he said.

Friday's sightings were a little late in the season for tornados, Wright said.

"It's not tornado season. But it's not unusual. Tornado season is in April, May and June. We're just a little bit late past that."

As of 10:30 p.m. Friday the weather service reported 0.42 inches of rain at the airport.

"One clerk was very offended and asked him if he (Seay) would appreciate that if someone did it to his wife," Kent said.

Seay said he and his fellow West Texans for Decency did visit several of Kent's stores in Midland Friday.

"We would first request to the manager to remove the pornographic magazines. And we then would ask the clerk if he or she knew what they were selling.

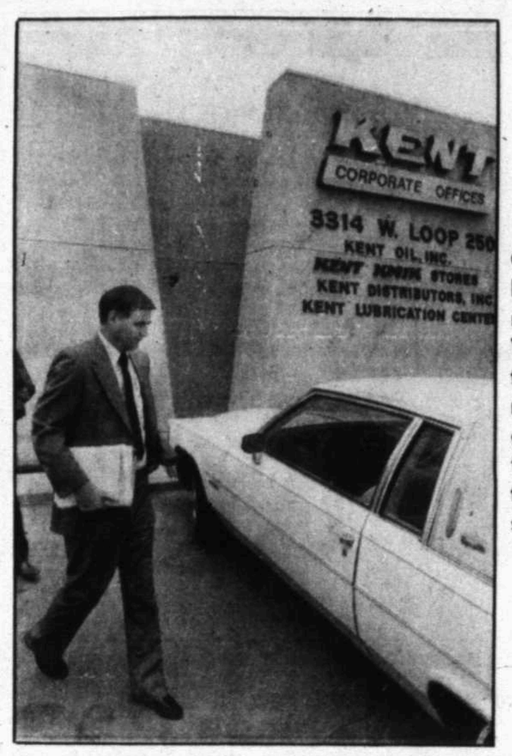

"One clerk claimed she didn't read them, she just sold them. I opened up a magazine and showed her what she was selling," Seay said.

"We took pictures of the display racks and fronts of stores to verify they sell the pornographic magazines.

"We carry a tape recorder because our legal counsel said we should, just to have a confirmed and permanent account of what goes on in case someone claims we harass them," Seay said.

Buck's Convenience Store, 3314 West Loop 250, is owned by Kent Oil, Inc., and stocks such magazines as Penthouse, Playboy, Gent, Easy Riders, Stag, Cheri and Oui, although the magazines are placed in slots with only the title portion of the cover showing.

"The owner of the Wal-Mart stores, the richest man in America, chose to pull all pornography-related materials as well as hard or acid rock albums purely as a business decision," Seay said.

Joe Seay of Odessans for Decency leaves Kent Corporate Offices at 3314 West Loop 250 after requesting the removal of "pornographic" magazines from the corporation's convenience stores Friday.

Ron Jaap/Reporter-Telegram

"He realized many Americans, some 70 percent of whom are against pornography, will boycott stores who choose to sell it," Seay said.

Kent said he is not worried about boycotting at his stores.

"I'm not selling these magazines to make a profit. I am selling them because my customers have a right to choose what they want to read.

"I respect their right to picket, but I also respect those of my customers to choose what they want," Kent said.

Seay contends the Supreme Court, in a 1973 ruling, said obscenity is not protected by the First Amendment, which among other things, guarantees a free press.

"The Supreme Court said it's obscene if it is generally offensive to the community standards, appeals to the prurient (lascivious or sexually explicit) interests of others or lacks serious literary, artistic, political or scientific value," Seay said.

"We have a letter from former Gov. Bill Clements with his endorsements, as well as endorsements from the Republican candidates for lieutenant governor and attorney general.

"I'm not saying the Democrats are pro-pornography — we've had a National Decency Week this year created by Gov. Mark White.

"It's just that their platform courts the homosexual and lesbian vote and sexual perversion of that kind stems from pornography and leads to AIDS which threatens the welfare of the entire nation," Seay said.

Literature distributed by Seay's Odessans for Decency group claims pornography is creating a nation of rapists, has a debilitating effect on marriage and responsible for the tremendous surge of child molesters.

Seay said September 27 has been designated as a nationwide picket day for stores which sell pornographic material and that picketing will take place in Midland, Andrews and Odessa.

"That's the reason this nation is in the mess it's in — good citizens have been quiet for too long," Seay said.

MURDER

Elroy McKee was tried and convicted in March and given a life sentence for the murder and, like Chambers, the maximum 20 years for the robbery. Elroy's brother Leroy, who testified this week against Chambers, pleaded guilty to robbery in the case after the murder charge was dropped and received a 20-year sentence.

Midland County District Attorney Al Schorre and his assistant David Rosado seemed relieved the trial was over, and said they were satisfied with the verdict which was returned after the jury in 142nd District Court deliberated for 90 minutes.

Both said attention would now turn to the trial of 32-year-old Jackie Dorn, the last man to be tried in the case. According to Leroy McKee's testimony, Dorn struck Wilson at least three times in the head with a blunt metal instrument.

The four men, who were at Leroy's apartment at the Kingsway Inn Apartments the night of the murder, spotted Wilson drive up in his sports car and walk to a nearby package store, according to testimony. Testimony indicated Wilson was attacked as he returned to his car.

His body was was discovered in a pasture in southeast Midland County by several workers who were in the area servicing oil well equipment.

Chambers maintained his innocence throughout the three days of testimony. He testified that he had no part in the crime, but was unable to tell prosecutors where he was the night of the murder.

In addition to Leroy McKee's testimony, his estranged wife Patricia and another man testified that Chambers was involved in the murder.

Early Friday, Rosado addressed jurors and asked for a sentence of 99 years or life imprisonment for murder and 20 years for the robbery.

Rosado reminded the jurors that testimony indicated the four men returned to Leroy McKee's apartment after the body was dumped with blood-soaked clothes and laughed about the killing. Rosado said there was no evidence that Chambers made any attempt to stop the murder.

"Direct your mercy where it should be directed — to those potential Wylie Wilsons," Rosado said.

Chamber's attorney, Robert Sutphen, asked the jury for a "fair and reasonable" sentence, arguing that his client's part, if any, in the crime did not deserve the maximum punishment. He also said since his client insisted on his innocence he could not take the stand to express remorse.

"We're not dealing with crime in the streets, we're dealing with James Chambers," Sutphen said.

"Mr. Chambers is not here to be an example for everyone else. I want you to treat him as his own case...rehabilitation is a real possibility here," he said: "He's been a good citizen for four years, he's even been a good citizen up in the jail, and that's a different world."

HOUSE

Rudd defended the bill, which closely resembled the package his committee worked out since the special session began Aug. 6.

"It's balanced, it's equitable, even though we may not all like it."

The Midland-area delegation unanimously supported the bill, with Reps. Tom Craddick, R-Midland, and Kelly Godwin, R-Odessa, calling for steeper cuts.

"I just think that when you have the amount of increase from the budget two years ago to today — $6 billion — we ought to be able to look at it and find more of the dollars we need," Craddick said.

Godwin said he was speaking for "the silent majority of this state, the taxpayers" when he called the bill "a step in the right direction...not near as big a step as it needs to be."

Rep. Larry Don Shaw, D-Big Spring, said he saw no alternative. "The only choice I had today was to do nothing or to make an attempt to balance the budget," Shaw said.

RRC hopeful backs oil import fee

By JULIE HILLRICHS
Staff Writer

State Sen. John Sharp, D-Victoria, Friday urged Texas lawmakers to support a resolution that he says would require the federal government to take steps to reduce U.S. dependency on foreign oil.

Sharp — a candidate for Texas Railroad Commission — toured the Midland-Odessa area trying to drum up support for the resolution to persuade U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm, R-Texas, and other federal lawmakers to back an import fee on foreign crude and petroleum products.

The Senate State Affairs Committee Tuesday voted unanimously in support of the resolution. It is expected to be presented to the remainder of the Senate for consideration next week.

"We're not presenting it as a partisan issue," Sharp said during an early morning news conference at Midland Regional Air Terminal.

"What we're asking is that Sen. Gramm come home and look at this issue and help the state of Texas."

The domestic oil industry is of "vital" importance to national security, Sharp said.

Changing worldwide trade practices have resulted in the destabilization of the economy with particularly dire effects on the increasing dependence on the domestic oil industry.

Increasing dependence on foreign oil imports will result in the plugging of numerous domestic wells and the lessening of exploration, said Sharp.

Sharp noted that the Middle East and North Africa have oil reserves of 433 billion barrels dwarfing the 27-billion-barrel U.S. reserve.

Seventy-five percent of worldwide crude oil and crude oil products are produced by governments, he added.

Domestic oil production during the first half of 1986 was down 140,000 barrels per day compared to the same period in 1985, while at the same time, consumption increased by 515,000 barrels per day.

Snelson seeks federal sunset act

From Staff Reports

Adoption of a federal sunset act to help control the growth of government bureaucracy was called for by Pete Snelson, former Democratic state senator, during a speech to the Midland Southside Lions Club on Friday.

Snelson is the Democratic candidate for the 21st Congressional District seat and current member of the Texas Sunset Commission.

"With the national debt now above $2 trillion and projections that it will escalate to $13 trillion in 15 years every tool must be utilized to control this massive public debt," Snelson said.

Sunset acts have been adopted by 35 states and it is a vehicle that is needed at the federal level, Snelson said. Such an act would require all federal agencies created by Congress to automatically expire within a cycle unless re-created by Congress and approved by the president, he added.

"Letting the sun go down on unneeded government agencies has proven effective in Texas and can be effective in Washington," Snelson said.

No weather related traffic accidents were reported by late Friday evening, law enforcement officials said.

While water was deep in some areas, the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation did not have to close any roads Friday night.

However, a barn did partially block County Road 120 east near State Highway 158 after being blown into the road by high winds, the Department of Public Safety said.

The Midland Fire Department reported an alarm malfunctioning after being hit by lightning at about 9 p.m. Friday. The alarm was at a house on Chatham Court, the department said.

Aside from one fuse being blown out in the Greenwood area, no other power outages were reported by the Texas Electric Service Company, said spokesman Stan Garrison.

Police Roundup

From Staff Reports

More than $2,000 in items were taken from a rural Midland residence, the sheriff's department reports.

Loyd Calvin Samples, Rt. 4, Box 16, reported the burglary of one crackshot 22 Martin worth $1,200, one 20-guage Remington bolt worth $80, one tape deck worth $450 and two other pieces of stereo equipment worth $628. Samples told officers the items were taken between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. Thursday.

In other law enforcement reports, two Alpine 80-watt speakers worth $200 were reported taken from a Toyota, according to Sheriff's Office reports. Laurie Church, Rt. 3, Box 335, told officers the speakers were taken around 12 a.m. Friday from her car parked at her residence on CR 130, about one-quarter of a mile west of State Highway 349.

Robert Elliott, 85 Perrie Lane, told officers a $200 intake manifold was taken from the engine compartment of his '76 Chevy Camaro between Sunday and Thursday. The item was taken while the hood was up and the car was parked behind Elliott's residence, according to police reports.

Pakistani police battle protesters for second day

WORLD

LAHORE, Pakistan (AP) — Riot police battled with anti-government demonstrators Friday for a second straight day and witnesses said five people were shot. Opposition leaders issued a call for new nationwide protests to topple President Mohammed Zia ul-Haq.

Thousands of police wearing armor and steel helmets and armed with clubs and rifles were deployed in Lahore and Karachi following protests Thursday that resulted in at least four deaths and the arrest of opposition leader Benazir Bhutto.

Despite the heavy police presence, groups of protesters on Friday blocked Karachi streets with burning tires and debris. They hurled rocks and bricks at police, who responded with tear gas and baton charges.

The latest shootings occurred in the southern town of Thatta, according to witnesses. They said police fired tear gas and charged at opposition marchers, and then both sides opened fire with guns.

The five injured included two police officers, and two of the victims were in critical condition, the witnesses said.

An angry crowd also stormed and burned a jail near Thatta and released 24 people who were among about 500 opposition leaders arrested Wednesday in pre-dawn government raids.

Several government offices in Thatta district also were burned, according to witnesses.

Opposition supporters in Badin, about 200 miles north of Karachi, stormed and burned a railway station, witnesses said.

Senior police officials in Lahore told a news conference that police were not responsible for the four deaths reported Thursday by local hospitals. Some opposition leaders put the number dead at 11.

The Movement for the Restoration of Democracy, an alliance of 11 oppostiion parties, issued a statement Friday saying, "Several innocent people were shot to death, dozens critically injured, while hundreds of others suffered humiliating and painful beatings at the hands of a police that seemed to have gone completely wild."

But the police at the news conference said that "anti-social" elements had opened fire on the crowds and the police Thursday with Kalashnikov rifles, causing the casualties, and that the police did not have such weapons.

Associated Press staffers and other journalists saw dozens of police Thursday firing Kalashnikovs and other semi-automatic rifles.

The police said 26 officers were injured in the clashes Thursday. Lahore hospitals had reported 35 people were brought in with gunshot wounds and other injuries.

Friday's statement by the Movement for the Restoration of Democracy also said that nationwide rallies and marches were planned Monday in a new, major drive to oust Zia.

The rallies and marches Thursday, the 39th anniversary of Pakistan's independence from Britain, were banned after the opposition ignored an appeal from Prime Minister Mohammed Khan Junejo not to hold meetings that day.

Miss Bhutto, 33, head of the Pakistan Peoples Party, was arrested Thursday after she led a protest march in Karachi and addressed a rally. Officials said she was being held in Landhi jail, about 25 miles north of Karachi.

Miss Bhutto is the daughter of the late Prime Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto, who was ousted by Zia in a 1977 military coup and was hanged two years later.

Refugees victims of plot, Canadians say

HAMBURG, West Germany (AP) — The 155 Sri Lankan refugees rescued from lifeboats off Newfoundland began their voyage in West Germany and paid $2,500 each for ship passage to Canada, police said Friday.

Investigators believe the Sri Lankan Tamils were victims of an international plot to make a profit off people seeking asylum in North America, Hamburg Police Chief Dieter Heering told a news conference. He said three people were in custody and others were sought.

More voyages to Canada were apparently planned for other Tamils still in West Germany, said another police official, Guenter Heerd. Heering and Heerd spoke at a news conference after days of speculation about the refugees, set adrift on the high seas.

Authorities are looking for a Honduran-registered ship, the Aurigae, and its four-man crew. Police say the crew received roughly $400,000 in money, jewelry and other valuables from the 155 Tamils and then apparently later cast them off in two lifeboats.

Police believe $350,000 went to the captain, whom Heering identified as Wolfgang Bindel, 45, of Nordenham, West Germany. Police said Bindel apparently owned the ship.

The West German ARD television network reported Friday that Norddeich Radio, a marine radio operator on the nation's North Sea coast, had made contact with the Aurigae not far from the Azores, a chain of islands in the Atlantic about 950 miles west of Lisbon, Portugal.

The ship's captain refused comment about Tamil refugees, ARD quoted Norddeich Radio sources as saying. The report could not immediately be confirmed.

After their rescue Monday, the group of Tamils first maintained they sailed from India. Police said Friday the Tamils came from refugee camps all over West Germany.

Inspector Jack Lavers of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police said in a telephone interview from St. John's, Newfoundland, that he accepted the Hamburg police report, and that it cleared up many questions surrounding the refugees.

About 37,000 Sri Lankans have requested political asylum in West Germany since 1980, the Foreign Ministry says. Most have been turned down, but they have not been deported because of bloody sectarian strife in Sri Lanka, an island nation off southern India.

Since 1983, Tamil extremists have fought a guerrilla war in Sri Lanka, formerly known as Ceylon.

Scheme to smuggle illegal aliens upsets Canadians

TORONTO (AP) — Indications that the Sri Lankans found drifting in lifeboats were part of a big scheme to smuggle people into Canada has produced a backlash in a country proud of its record in granting asylum.

Member of Parliament Howard Crosby of Halifax said his telephone was "ringing off the hook" with complaints about allowing the 155 Sri Lankans to stay.

"People see two laws at work here. One is for those who choose the legal channels and face all kinds of considerations and considerable time delays. And the other is for these situations where it is all so automatic and quick," Crosby said.

The refugees, who said they were fleeing persecution in Sri Lanka and claimed to have left India July 7 aboard a Canadian-bound freighter, were rescued off the coast of Newfoundland Monday from two lifeboats. They said they had been adrift for five days.

However, West German police on Friday said the Tamils came from refugee camps all over West Germany and left for Canada July 28 on a Honduran-registered ship after paying $2,500 apiece for the passage.

The refugees, now in Toronto and Montreal, declined to answer questions from the press and Quebec Tamil Society leader Selva Ponnuchamy said they were afraid.

"The fear is that they may get deported back to Sri Lanka where their lives are at stake," she said.

Wine connoisseur got taste for industry by helping Dad at age 6

By ANDREA PLAZA

FORT WORTH (AP) — Peter Girardot was just 6 years old when he began helping his father make wine in the cool, damp basement of their Detroit home.

There, the two would prepare 30 gallons of the fruity concoction using skills and materials passed down through six generations of winemakers.

"It was always white, sweet wine," Girardot said, "not anything I would like now."

His French ancestors would probably roll over in their graves if they heard him say that. But then again, Girardot has become somewhat of a wine connoisseur, and that would surely make a long line of winemakers proud.

The chemistry professor at the University of Texas at Arlington is frequently called on to judge wine contests throughout the state. He also writes a wine column for a local newspaper.

And when he's not lecturing about industrial or inorganic chemistry, he's turning untrained tongues into discriminating ones that know the difference between a good wine and a bad wine.

"After taking my wine appreciation course, people can say, 'I like this wine,' and be able to tell why," Girardot, 63, said.

Girardot teaches a course in wine appreciation to "mostly upper-middle-class people who want to do something different," through the continuing education department at UTA.

UT-Arlington professor Peter Girardot poses with wine country posters. He teaches a course in wine appreciation through the school's continuing education department.

He also teaches "Fermentation Science," a freshman chemistry course that focuses on the history of wine and how it's made.

Many students sign up for his wine class to get "a science credit out of the way" and because they think it will be a breeze, Girardot said.

Attorney tends bedding blooms at Brooklyn courthouse

By JOHN M. DOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Cyril Hyman isn't your garden-variety federal attorney.

With only $25 in government seed money and a home-grown knowledge of plants, the veteran of more than 20 years with the U.S. attorney's office has justice flowering, literally, at Brooklyn's federal courthouse.

The boxlike, granite building's stark glass-and-steel entrance now is peppered with petunias and phlox, and even summer squash thanks to Hyman.

"A little law and a lot of cow manure will make anything bloom," said Hyman, 57, who as deputy chief of the Justice Department's Civil Division in Brooklyn spends his working hours representing federal agencies in civil suits.

"I get a lot of pleasure out of it," he said of the gardening.

Thirteen huge stone planters were placed in the courthouse plaza last winter as an anti-terrorist crash barrier, but there was no money in the budget for plants and upkeep. The double row of empty urns became an eyesore, gathering cigarette butts and lunchtime debris.

"It was rather disgraceful," said U.S. District Judge Mark A. Costantino, who suggested Hyman as resident horticulturist.

"It beautifies the environment," said Hyman's boss, U.S. Attorney Andrew Maloney. "I do not have a green thumb, but I admire those who do."

"We supplied the seeds (about $25 worth)," said Building Manager Roger Fudge. "Cyril mixed it all up in some concoction and they just grew. He did all the work."

Hyman's secret ingredient was cattle manure and compost, 1,200 pounds of it, from his Springville, Pa., farm where he vacations.

He spends four to five hours a week on the courthouse oasis, coming in early on weekdays and on most weekends from his home on Long Island.

In addition to the plaza urns, Hyman has planted about 300 feet of window boxes.

House defense bill angers administration

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House, on a 255-152 vote, approved Friday a defense budget bill that has angered the Reagan administration by proposing major restrictions on Pentagon defense initiatives.

Shortly before the Democratic-controlled chamber passed the bill, it turned back a Republican-led effort to eliminate major arms control provisions from the legislation. That rejection came on a 247-163 vote as the House tried to finish a crowded agenda before starting a three-week Labor Day recess.

The final vote went largely along party lines, with 232 Democrats and 23 Republicans voting in favor and 145 Republicans and seven Democrats voting against.

"This is not a perfect bill, but this represents the most significant breakthrough I have seen in my 12 years in Congress," said Rep. Les AuCoin, D-Ore., one of the leaders of the successful efforts by Democratic liberals to add the arms control restrictions.

But Rep. William Dickinson of Alabama, ranking Republican member of the Armed Services Committee, said, "This is a bad bill. We would be better off with no bill than this bruised, mangled and damaged thing here."

He said the White House, which has threatened that President Reagan might veto the bill, "would rather have no bill than this crippled bird here."

Final passage sends the bill to a House-Senate conference committee next month, where legislators will try to reconcile the bill with the far different Pentagon budget voted a week ago by the Republican-controlled Senate.

The legislation is to authorize spending in fiscal 1987.

On the House floor, amendments were added to ban testing of anti-satellite weapons, outlaw production of chemical weapons, require continued compliance with the SALT II nuclear arms treaty, freeze "Star Wars" spending, and halt all U.S. nuclear arms tests for a year.

None of those limits is in the bill passed by the Senate, which rejected several attempts by Democrats on the floor to limit those programs.

School bans girl for pro-choice views

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — An 11-year-old girl who supports the right to abortion will be barred from Roman Catholic school unless she renounces her views, a church official said Friday.

Sarabeth Eason may not enroll at St. Agnes School this fall until she pledges not to publicly support a woman's right to abortion.

Nearly 1,000 attend auction of Marcos items

NEW YORK (AP) — Satin bedsheets, opulent antiques and piles of plastic posies were on the block Friday as the Philippine government kicked off a two-day auction of trinkets and treasures accumulated by Ferdinand and Imelda Marcos.

But the first item sold from among the 772 lots was far from extravagant: a hand-hammered brass and copper coal scuttle with a bail handle that went for $65.

Nearly 1,000 people packed the Viscount International Hotel for the sale, the first of Marcos property in the United States.

Auctioneer Alan Erlichman of Sunrise Galleries predicted a sale total of between $500,000 to $1 million on the goods, which were confiscated from the Marcos' 30-room 66th Street townhouse. Property was scattered throughout the lobby and the auction room of the hotel as the bidding began.

A few lots were being brought in from Manila, including gowns, costume jewelry and several pairs of the former first lady's shoes. She reportedly owned 3,000 pairs.

The proceeds will be used to pay lawyers and investigators trying to locate an estimated $100 million in artwork the Marcoses allegedly hid or secretly sold after the government fell in February, said Petti Benitez, an official of President Corazon Aquino's Commission on Government. The Marcoses have been living in exile in Hawaii.

U.S. filing protest over agent's beating in Mexico

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States said Friday it was sending a note of protest to the Mexican government about the police beating of a U.S. drug enforcement agent, saying such "vigilantism" harms U.S.-Mexican relations.

Attorney General Edwin Meese said the United States "is not going to stand for this kind of conduct."

White House spokesman Larry Speakes said the administration welcomes an investigation by the Mexican attorney general into the arrest of Drug Enforcement Administration officer Victor Cortez Jr. in Guadalajara on Wednesday.

Cortez was held for six hours by Jalisco state police and was released after Mexican Attorney General Sergio Garcia Ramirez intervened at the request of U.S. authorities, Speakes said.

"The police threatened Mr. Cortez and beat him and tortured him with a cattle prod during interrogation," the White House spokesman said. "We expect that when the full facts are known, appropriate steps will be taken against those who are responsible."

Tax talks reach stalemate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional negotiators, committed to writing a tax-overhaul plan that would not affect the federal deficit, struggled Friday to salvage the landmark bill after being told it would boost the red ink by $17 billion.

"I don't know what happens now," Sen. Bob Packwood, R-Ore., the Finance Committee chairman, said after announcing Senate and House bargainers had reached a stalemate. He refused to abandon hope that at least a preliminary agreement could be reached before Congress adjourns this weekend for a three-week recess.

"It is critical that we get this out so that the special-interest lobbyists don't have three weeks to hit our members over the head and break up one of the most extraordinary tax-reform packages we are ever going to get," Packwood said.

Packwood's dramatic announcement overshadowed the fact that he and Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, D-Ill., the chief House negotiator, have, between themselves, resolved most of their differences over the bill.

Packwood and Rostenkowski met again privately Friday night, but there was no indication whether agreement was possible or whether they would submit any agreement to other conferees.

'Superfund' bill passed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress enacted emergency legislation Friday to give the limping "Superfund" program $48 million in stopgap money to keep the toxic cleanup effort solvent through September.

The bill, supported by the Reagan administration, went to the White House following voice votes in the House and Senate.

The action came as Congress was heading for a three-week recess with action on a 5-year Superfund reauthorization bill still stalled by the bigger debate over income tax overhaul.

Teams clean up after mock nuclear mishap

KETTLE FALLS, Wash. (AP) — Men wearing radiation-protection suits cleaned up imaginary plutonium spread following the simulated collision between a cargo plane carrying nuclear weapons and an F-16 fighter plane.

About 350 people from several agencies took part in the four-day, $500,000 Sagebrush IV exercise at this remote site a few miles from the Columbia River, a Fairchild Air Force Base spokesman said Friday.

"Some things were simulated and some things were actually worked out," said Capt. Bob Ballew. "Obviously there was no nuclear material, but for the exercise, participants who went into the area had to suit up just as they normally would suit up.

TORNADO or THUNDERSTORM

WATCH — (Conditions are right for a tornado or severe thunderstorm to form.)

WARNING — (A tornado or severe thunderstorm already is in existence.)

Conditions forecast for 8 PM Saturday

In North Texas, partly cloudy Saturday with a continuing chance of thunderstorms. Partly cloudy Saturday night and Sunday with a slight chance of thunderstorms east. Lows mid-70s. Highs mid- and upper 90s.

In West Texas, widely scattered thunderstorms except Panhandle Saturday, lingering south Saturday night and southeast Sunday. Warmer especially north Saturday. Lows Saturday night, 65 Panhandle to 74 south. Highs Saturday and Sunday 90s except near 105 Big Bend.

In South Texas, scattered showers and thundershowers, more numerous east and south through Sunday. Partly cloudy. Lows tonight and Saturday night low 80s coast to the mid- and upper 70s inland. Highs Saturday and Sunday 90s, near 102 Rio Grande plains.

Chances for rain in Basin lessen over weekend

From Staff and Wire Reports

Chances of rain will decrease over the weekend, with a 20 percent chance of measurable rain predicted for today, says the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Airport.

Today will be partly cloudy with a slight chance of thunderstorms. Highs will be in the mid-90s and lows in the lower 70s. Winds will be southeast at 5 to 15 mph.

Sunday will be partly cloudy with a slight chance of afternoon thunderstorms. The chance of measurable rain will decrease to less than 20 percent on Sunday. Highs will be in the mid-90s and lows in the lower 70s.

Friday's high of 93 degrees was 11 degrees cooler than the record high of 104 set in 1969. The overnight low of 72 degrees was 10 degrees warmer than the record low of 62 set in 1972.

STATE

Temperatures were mostly in the 90s in North and South Texas Friday, but in West Texas scattered thunderstorms cooled the readings to the 80s.

The thunderstorms stretched from the Big Bend to north Central Texas, giving those areas the cooler temperatures. Showers also occurred along the coast.

Winds were mostly from the south and southeast at speeds from 10 mph to 20 mph.

Little change was expected for Saturday, except a lessening of precipitation, the National Weather Service said.

NATION

A tropical storm formed Friday off South Carolina, while sunny weather prevailed over much of the West.

Authorities said Tropical Storm Charley, the third named storm of the Atlantic hurricane season, posed no immediate threat to land, but warned small craft along the Carolina coasts to stay in port.

The storm was southeast of Charleston, S.C.; the National Hurricane Center said. It said conditions were favorable for the storm to strengthen.

Showers and thunderstorms were scattered from the Gulf Coast across Florida to the south Atlantic Coast, and over the Ohio Valley, New York state and Vermont. Scattered showers and thunderstorms also extended from the middle Mississippi Valley to the southern Plains.

A flash flood watch for parts of northwest Texas was canceled as heavy rains that dumped 5 inches of rain in some places Thursday night moved out of the area.

Sunny skies prevailed from the Rockies to the Pacific Coast, with early afternoon temperatures in the 70s and 80s over.

Jerry Berndt laughs at professional suicide critics

HOUSTON (AP) — Rice University Coach Jerry Berndt has carved a successful football coaching career out of not listening to the advice of his friends.

They told him he'd be committing professional suicide if he took the head coaching job at Penn and they smiled smugly when he went 1-9 his first year in the Ivy League.

Penn then won or shared the Ivy League title over the next four years before Berndt resigned to accept his latest challenge — against the advice of his friends, of course.

"They thought I was even crazier this time," Berndt said. "They felt it would be impossible here."

But Berndt is convinced the same positive thinking that turned around the Penn program, will work in the Southwest Conference.

"We have a top 11 that can play with anybody in the league," Berndt said.

"I'd be extremely disappointed if we didn't jump up and beat somebody we aren't expected to beat this year."

SWC Preview, Rice

Berndt is coming to a school that is similar to the one he left, with high emphasis on academics. Rice has been called the Ivy League of the Southwest.

He's not coming to a similar conference, but Berndt still believes Rice will flourish once again.

"I think the strength of the conference will enhance our position at Rice," Berndt said. "There are some outstanding athletes who will come to Rice to get a quality education and to play in a top conference."

The Owls do have some weapons awaiting Berndt's instructions.

Quarterback Mark Comalander led the Owls in total offense last season with 1,156 yards although he missed the final five games with a separated right shoulder.

"He's the best passing quarterback I've been around in 24 years of coaching," Berndt said. "He has a strong arm and can put the ball where he wants it, plus he has great confidence."

Backing up Comalander will be sophomore Quentis Roper, who moved from his safety position to quarterback last season following Comalander's injury, and senior Kerry Overton.

After a slow start in spring training; Overton closed with a flourish.

Steve Kidd, who also starts as a rover on defense, was third in the nation with a 45.9 punting average last season.

Rice needs the most improvement on defense. The Owls yielded 404 points last season and ranked last in the SWC with a 36.7 average yield per fame.

The Owls ranked No. 8 in total defense, giving up 428.0 yards per game.

"Staying healthy will be our biggest key on defense," Berndt said.

Berndt has changed the defensive alignment to a 3-4. Senior Dwain Turner at tackle should anchor the new line with help from junior nose guard Ted Humphreys and tackle Jeff Thomas, all returning staters.

Joe Heikkinen, Danny Burgess and Ed Freeny all return as starting linebackers. William McClay returns at cornerback and Kidd is the starting rover.

Rice returns a veteran offensive line including center Courtney Hall, tackles Russell Moses and Raul Loya and guard David Maberry.

Rice's 3-8 record last season was a turnaround when compared to the school's past performances. Three victories matches the Owls' previous three years win total.

In 1985, the Owls' victory over Texas Christian ended a league record 26-game conference losing string.

The Owls open the season in Rice Stadium Sept. 6 against the Lamar Cardinals, coached by former Rice head coach Ray Alborn.

Weather halts Angel rally in no luck second

By TED BATTLES
Sports Editor

Although the final game was a victim of thundershowers and ominous threats of tornados, Midland had the run-making edge in the series with division-leading El Paso.

Somehow the Angels' 50-47 margin in runs scored brought with it a minimum of satisfaction since the Diablos made off with four of the five games played.

Midland trailed 2-1 when play was halted with none out and two Angels on base in the second but Manager Joe Maddon still regarded the rain as one of the bad breaks with which the Haloed Ones have been plagued in the second half of the Texas League West Division race.

"Phil Venturino had great stuff and before the night was over, we were going to hit their pitcher (Alan Sadler 0-3) hard," Maddon said.

For a fact, both hits which came around to score in the first inning on infield outs, came on high bouncers through the infield, balls, a few feet to either side, would have been routine outs.

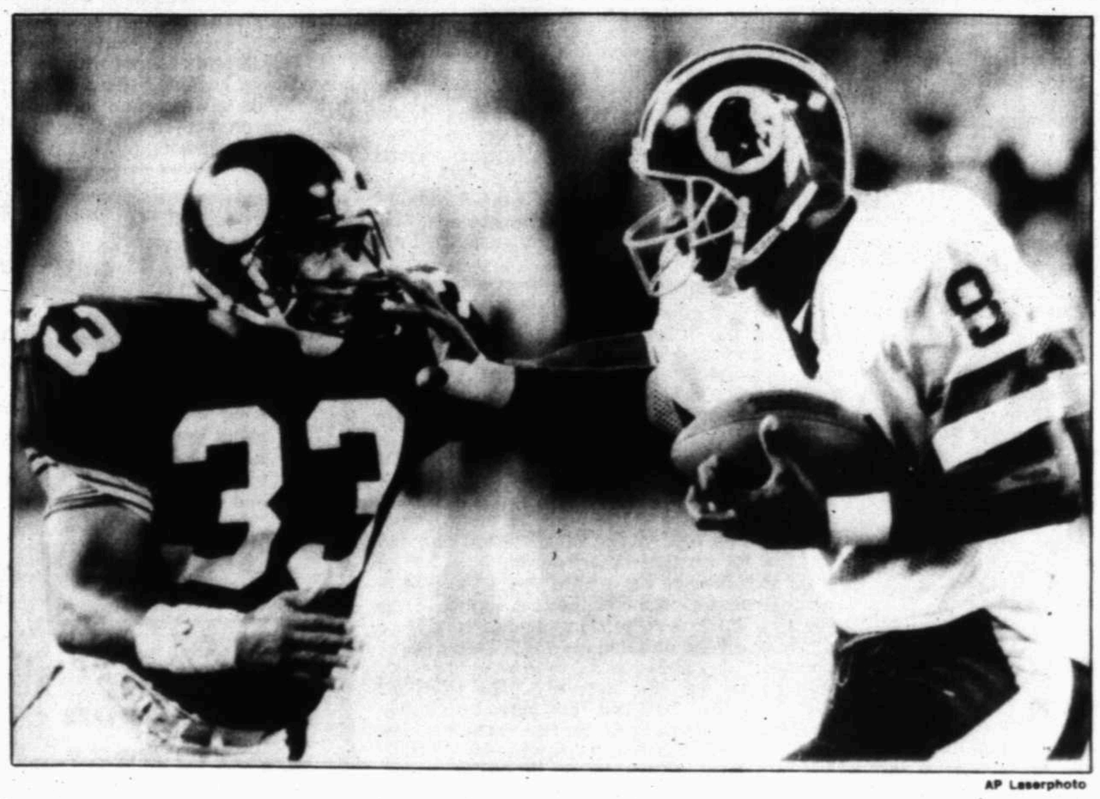

As well as a "W", also gone with the rain was James Randall's 22nd homer, a solo blast in the first.

Tonight, 7:30, the Angels begin their final home stand, five games against the Beaumont Golden Gators and the season's final 10 games will be on the road.

"Rafael Pimental (9-6) is scheduled to go, but is having a little shoulder trouble. If he is unable to go, Kendall Carter will pitch."

Carter is a recent arrival from Palm Springs and Friday, after the game had been halted and the big tarp spread over the infield, entertained the fans with his "Rick Dempsey" called-shot pantomine as the rain came down in torrents. After it was over, there was no need for a post-game shower....

Former Midland relief pitcher DeWayne Buice, 8-6-14 with the Angels, went 3⅓ innings of relief for Edmonton at Albuquerque Wednesday, giving up no runs, one hit and fanning three....The Angels and Diablos will make up their double header when the teams meet again in El Paso....With a 54-63 record for the season, a season's attendance record is about the only goal in sight for the club, but it will take some cooperation from the weatherman....

TECAT costs coach job

VAN VLECK (AP) — Van Vleck High School's newly appointed head football coach resigned after failing the state's competency test for the second time, the school's superintendent said.

Van Vleck school trustees accepted Coach Lee Mitchell's resignation during an executive session Thursday, Superintendent Kenneth Loveless said.

"It is with great regret that I propose to the board the acceptance of Coach Lee Mitchell's resignation due to TECAT," Loveless said. Mitchell was hired to head the Leopards four months ago.

"In my estimation TECAT does not, in any manner, test the effectiveness and competance of Coach Mitchell's performance as a teacher or a coach," Loveless said. "He is dedicated, energetic and serves as an excellent role model of our male students."

MITCHELL WAS not present at the meeting and numerous attempts to reach him Thursday night and this morning were fruitless. His wife said he was on a fishing trip.

Under state law, Texas teachers and administrators must pass a competency test — the Texas Examination of Current Administrators and Teachers — before they can teach. The law was part of major education reforms passed by the Texas Legislature during a special session in 1984.

The TECAT was administered earlier this year and those who failed were given another chance when the test was given this summer. Mitchell failed both times.

Educators failing the test both times risk the possibility of dismissal, although a one-year waiver from the Texas Education Agency is available in exceptional circumstances. "The waiver process, as outlined by the TEA, is next to impossible," Loveless said.

Mitchell will be eligible to take another TECAT Oct. 4, said Loveless, who did not rule out Mitchell's return to Van Vleck in another position.

Athletic Director David McKinney will take over Mitchell's position, Loveless said, and will retain the position even if Mitchell becomes eligible to return. Loveless said Mitchell recommended McKinney as his replacement.

MCKINNEY SAID Thursday night that Mitchell informed the Leopards, who began workouts Monday, of his fate following Thursday night's practice session.

"He didn't want it to have a negative effect on the kids," said McKinney. "It's not a good situation for me. Lee was a very well-liked coach around Van Vleck and it will be hard to replace him."

Mitchell became head coach when Bill McGonagle was named high school principal after heading the Leopards 22 years.

The Leopards advanced to the Class 3A state semi-finals last year and finished with a 14-1 record.

Mitchell was an all-district wingback and safety at Wharton High School. He earned all-conference as a defensive back at the University of Texas-El Paso, where he earned his bachelor's degree in physical education.

Moseley's foot save 'Skins

Lions also win in overtime

Associated Press

Mark Moseley kicked a 51-yard field goal 4:10 into overtime Friday night to give the Washington Redskins a 27-24 come-from-behind NFL preseason victory over the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Washington quarterback Babe Laufenberg, completing 13 of 20 passes for 182 yards, helped the Redskins score the final 17 points to even their preseason record at 1-1. Pittsburgh fell to 0-2.

After the Redskins received the kickoff to open the overtime, Laufenberg moved the team from its own 37 to the Pittsburgh 34 before Moseley, who had missed a 37-yarder with four seconds left in regulation time, kicked his game-winner.

Washington trailed 24-10 in the fourth quarter when Laufenberg started the rally with a 30-yard touchdown pass to James Noble.

Washington tied the game with 9:35 to play when Pittsburgh punter Jeff Williams, kicking from his end zone, dropped the snap and Kevin Williams fell on it for a touchdown.

Pittsburgh, getting a 98-yard kickoff return from rookie Erroll Tucker, held a 17-7 lead after the first quarter. The Steelers made it 24-10 late in the third period when running back Dan Reeder's one-yard plunge capped an 80-yard drive.

Lions 30, Seahawks 27, OT

Eddie Murray kicked a 23-yard field goal 3:46 into overtime to lift the Detroit Lions to an overtime win over Seattle.

Third-string quarterback John Witkowski fired an 18-yard touchdown pass to Detroit wide receiver Carl Bland to tie the game 27-27 with 34 seconds remaining in regulation. Witkowski also engineered the Lions' winning drive.

Both teams now are 1-1.

Seattle never touched the ball in overtime. Detroit drove 74 yards in eight plays. Murray's field goal was his third of the game.

Quarterbacks Paul McDonald and Sean Salisbury keyed a second-half Seattle comeback that brought the Seahawks from a 17-10 halftime deficit to a 27-20 lead midway through the fourth quarter.

McDonald, starting the third quarter, tied it 20-20 when he hooked up with Danny Greene on a 38-yard scoring pass at 1:51 of the fourth quarter.

Salisbury, a rookie free agent, went the rest of the way, hitting Byron Franklin with a 19-yard go-ahead touchdown pass with 7:52 remaining.

Seattle's only other TD came at 11:05 of the first quarter when Patrick Hunter ran four yards to the end zone with a blocked punt.

Todd Schlopy kicked a 39-yard field goal and Norm Johnson had a 22-yard field goal for Seattle.

Detroit quarterback Joe Ferguson threw a 45-yard scoring pass to James Jones and Alvin Moore ran 1 yard for the Lions' other TD. Murray also kicked a pair of 31-yard field goals for Detroit.

NFL Exhibitions

Browns 17, Dolphins 10

Greg Allen, scoring the game-winner in the fourth-quarter for the second straight week, dived over the middle from one yard out to give the Cleveland Browns an NFL preseason victory over the Miami Dolphins.

The touchdown capped an 84-yard, 14-play drive which ate up 7:38. Allen failed to penetrate the Dolphins' line on his first attempt from the 1. On second down, he took the aerial route to score with 3:57 remaining.

The victory gave Cleveland a 2-0 preseason record. Last week, Allen ran 2 yards for a fourth-quarter touchdown to give the Browns a 19-17 victory over Buffalo. Miami, the defending AFC East champion, dropped to 0-2.

The other Cleveland scores were a 21-yard field goal by fromer Dolphins kicker Uwe von Schamann in the first quarter and a two-yard pass from Bernie Kosar to running back Earnest Byner just before halftime.

Miami scored on an 87-yard run by Lorenzo Hampton in the second period and a 51-yard field goal by Fuad Reveiz in the third.

Baylor loses two recruits

WACO, Texas (AP) — Two freshman football recruits have been told they are ineligible to participate in the Baylor program because they did not take their college entrance exams on national testing dates, head coach Grant Teaff said Friday.

Teaff said defensive lineman John Godfrey of Dallas and quarterback Jay Mapps of Greenville failed to meet the standards of NCAA Proposition 48.

Proposition 48 requires minimum college entrance test scores and high school gradepoints for college athletes and requires the tests be taken on specific dates.

"These two young men are victims," Teaff said. "They are victims of having been told by responsible people, in good faith, that they had done everything they were supposed to do to qualify under NCAA Proposition 48.

"They are further victims because the appeal to the NCAA Steering Committee of Division 1 (schools) has been flatly denied."

Teaff said the two must decide if they will trade a year of eligibility for scholarships they were awarded.

Mapps and Godfrey signed up for national test dates, but were unable to the exams at that time, he said.

Teaff said a counselor didn't send one of the recruit's money in on time, while the other recruit arrived five minutes late and was denied entrance to the exam.

USBL cancels playoff run

MILFORD, Conn. (AP) — The United States Basketball League announced Friday the cancelation of the league's playoff schedule, "due to the heavy player losses suffered by some of the contending teams and irresolvable logistical problems."

Daniel T. Meisenheimer, the president of the USBL, said League officials and team owners concurred that the original plan of staging best two of three semifinal and championship series for the top four clubs would not be feasible after USBL teams lost their most prominent players.

Officials said that 35 players went from the active USBL roster this year to NBA summer rookie camps. But playoff-bound teams like the Springfield Fame and Staten Island Stallions had already incurred substantial player losses, USBL officials said. Nine of the 10 players listed on Springfield's opening roster have left, and Staten Island lost five players.

"It would be preposterous to assume teams like Springfield and Staten Island would be playing at full strength after losing the players who initially put them in a playoff position," Meisenheimer said.

Plunkett's job on line against Dallas

Associated Press

Jim Plunkett of the Los Angeles Raiders will be among those with a special purpose in a weekend of National Football League exhibition games.

At age 38, the veteran quarterback is the third-oldest player in the league. Right now, he is without a starting job. His performance against the Dallas Cowboys tonight could determine his status for 1986.

THE STATUS of many players, including some new USFL signees, will also depend on what happens this weekend as teams prepare to cut their rosters to 60 players. In other games Saturday, Atlanta is at Tampa Bay, Indianapolis will be in Chicago, Cincinnati will play the Jets at Giants Stadium, Denver is at Minnesota, Kansas City is at St. Louis, New England is at New Orleans, the New York Giants will play Green Bay in Milwaukee, Buffalo is in Houston and Philadelphia is at San Diego.

There is one game Monday night, the San Francisco 49ers will play the Rams in Anaheim, Calif.

Although the Cowboys' newest addition, former USFL running back Herschel Walker, is not expected to be in uniform, he really doesn't have to worry about a starting job. Plunkett is not that fortunate.

Plunkett was off to one of the finest starts in his pro career last fall when he was body-slammed to the turf by San Francisco's Jeff Stover early in the fourth quarter of the Raiders' 34-10 loss to the 49ers.

PLUNKETT suffered a separated shoulder and was sidelined for the rest of the season. In less than three games, he had passed for 803 yards and three touchdowns and had a completion percentage of 68.9 percent in less than three games.

Marc Wilson took over at quarterback, and although he wasn't particularly effective, the Raiders went 11-2 under his direction to win the AFC West title. Wilson was then extremely ineffective in Los Angeles 27-20 loss to New England in an AFC semifinal playoff game.

With the 1986 season three weeks away, Wilson is listed as the Raiders' No. 1 quarterback. And he didn't hurt his cause last Sunday, completing 13 of 22 passes for 135 yards during Los Angeles' 32-0 loss to San Francisco in a preseason opener.

Plunkett, who didn't see action in that game, is scheduled to play the first half against the Cowboys. Plans call for Wilson to play the third quarter and second-year quarterback Rusty Hilger to play the fourth quarter.

PLUNKETT HAS held the starting quarterback job for the Raiders through most of the 1980s, guiding the club to Super Bowl victories over Philadelphia on Jan. 25, 1981, and Washington on Jan. 22, 1984. But he has missed 20 games over the last two seasons because of injuries.

The Cowboys and Raiders are traditionally two of the NFL's stronger teams, but both have had their problems this summer, especially on offense. The Raiders were blanked by the 49ers a day after Dallas dropped a 20-0 decision to San Diego. The Cowboys also dropped a 17-6 decision to the Chicago Bears.

Wide receiver Mike Sherrard, the Cowboys' No. 1 draft choice, was expected to see his first action for Dallas against the Raiders. After a brief holdout, Sherrard signed a contract earlier this month. He was in uniform at San Diego but didn't play.

Knepper keeps Astros hot

Cardinals spill Mets in 10

Associated Press

Bob Knepper pitched a five-hitter for his fifth shutout of the season and Denny Walling hit a solo homer and drove in another run with a groundout as the Houston Astros posted a 3-0 victory over the Atlanta Braves Friday night.

Knepper, 15-8, struck out five and walked two en route to the shutout that gave him the major-league lead. His 15th victory tied him with the Los Angeles Dodgers' Fernando Valenzuela for the National League lead and his eight complete games rank him third.

Houston broke a scoreless tie with two runs in the fourth inning. Walling, who had three hits, led off with his 10th homer, over the right field fence. Glenn Davis then singled, went to third when Kevin Bass was safe on second baseman Glenn Hubbard's error and scored on Craig Reynolds' single.

The Astros scored their third run in the fifth when Bill Doran doubled and scored on groundouts by Billy Hatcher and Walling.

Jim Acker, 2-2, was the loser. He pitched seven innings, allowing three runs, two earned, on five hits.

The Braves got a man as far as third base twice, in the sixth and ninth. Bob Horner doubled and advanced to third on a groundout in the sixth and Horner singled and Bruce Benedict doubled in the ninth.

Cardinals 4, Mets 2

Rookie John Morris singled home two runs to break a 10th-inning tie and made a potential run-saving catch in the seventh inning to slow down the Mets.

Morris hit the single with two out and the bases loaded off reliever Jesse Orosco, 4-5, and a third run scored on the play on a throwing error by Mets right fielder Darryl Strawberry.

Left-hander Pat Perry, 2-2, worked one inning in relief of starter Bob Forsch for the victory, and Todd Worrell pitched the bottom of the 10th for his 26th save despite giving up a run-scoring double to Mookie Wilson.

Ozzie Smith started the winning rally with a walk and was forced at second by Tommy Herr. One out later, Terry Pendelton walked and Tito Landrum beat out an infield hit to load the bases.

Morris, called up from Louisville last month and used as a defensive replacement in this game, followed with a line single to right, scoring Herr and Pendleton. Landrum scored when Strawberry's throw bounced past catcher Gary Carter and went to the backstop.

The Mets, blanked on just three hits through six innings, scored in the seventh to tie it 1-1 against St. Louis starter Bob Forsch, who allowed seven hits in eight innings.

Expos 5, Cubs 2
Expos 5, Cubs 1

Tim Burke pitched five scoreless innings in his first major-league start and Luis Rivera hit a pair of doubles and drove in three runs to lead Montreal to a sweep of their doubleheader against the Cubs.

Tim Wallach hit a two-run homer and Vance Law had three hits, including a pair of doubles, as the Expos won the first game 5-2.

Burke, 8-4, who has appeared in 144 games in relief since breaking into the majors last year, allowed seven hits and struck out five without walking a batter in his five-inning stint.

Bob McClure was tagged for one run on four hits over the final four innings to earn his sixth save. Ed Lynch, 3-2, was the loser.

In the first game, Dennis Martinez, 2-4, allowed five hits in five innings. Andy McGaffigan pitched the final four innings for his first save since 1984.

Steve Trout, 5-6, was reached for 11 hits and all five Montreal runs in six innings.

Montreal scored twice in the first on Mitch Wesbter's RBI double and Tim Raines' run-scoring single.

Ron Cey hit his 11th homer to pull Chicago within a run in the second, but Montreal broke open the game with three runs and five hits in the fourth.

Andre Dawson singled and scored on Wallach's 18th homer. Law doubled and scored on Tom Nieto's single.

Pirates 6, Phillies 5
Phillies 3, Pirates 2

Rookie Mike Maddux allowed six hits in 7⅔ innings to win his first major-league game as Philadelphia defeated Pittsburgh to split doubleheader.

In the opener, Sid Bream's sacrifice fly with one out in the top of the ninth scored Barry Bonds with the winning run as Pirates nipped the Phillies 6-5.

Maddux, 1-5, recalled on July 3 for the second time this season from Class AAA Portand of the Pacific Coast League, had not made it past the sixth inning in his previous seven starts. Steve Bedrosian got the final four outs for his 15th save.

Jim Winn, 2-5, allowed two runs and six hits in six innings and was the loser.

Cecilio Guante, 5-2, who gave up one hit in three innings while striking out five, was the winner of the first game, while Don Robinson earned his eighth save. Dan Schatzeder, 3-4, took the loss.

With one out in the ninth, Bonds walked and took second on Bill Almon's single. With Ray batting, Bonds and Almon executed a double steal. Ray then was intentionally walked and Bream lofted a fly to medium left, allowing the speedy Bonds to score.

Philadelphia tied it in the fifth on Mike Schmidt's RBI double that put him past Joe DiMaggio into 31st place on the all-time extra-base hit list with 882. Harmon Killebrew is 30th with 887.

Reds 7, Padres 2
Padres 7, Reds 1

Steve Garvey, Bip Roberts and Jerry Royster hit solo homers to support Eric Show's four-hit pitching as San Diego split a doubleheader with Cincinnati.

Buddy Bell drove in four runs with a pair of homers in the opener as the Reds combined for four homers and a 7-2 win.

The Padres rolled to the split by scoring in each of the first six innings of the second game off Tom Browning, 9-10, and reliever Carl Willis.

Show, 8-5, didn't allow a run until the ninth, when Dave Parker hit an RBI single. Show walked one and struck out five for his first victory since July 1, before he went on the disabled list with a sore right elbow.

Bell hit a three-run homer in the first inning of the opener to send Mario Soto to his second victory since coming coming off the disabled list July 17 after shoulder problems.

Bell and Parker hit solo homers in the third off starter Dave Dravecky, 8-10, and Tony Perez knocked in the Reds' final two runs with his first homer of the season and the 378th of his career, leaving him 26th on the all-time list. Perez this week announced his retirement, effective at the end of the season.

Soto, 5-10, gave up five hits and three walks, striking out four in six innings. Rob Murphy allowed two hits and three walks over the final three innings for his first major-league save.

Shot injures 'Skins Bacon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Washington Redskins defensive end Coy Bacon, who recently was charged with possessing cocaine, was shot and critically injured at his home outside Washington, D.C. early today, officials said.

The 42-year-old Bacon was shot in the doorway of his apartment in Silver Spring, Md., by an unknown assailant at 12:30 a.m. EDT, according to Montgomery County police.

"He was alone in his apartment," said police spokesman George Luddington. "He answered a knock at his door, and opened it and was shot one time.

"The suspect ran down the hall, just fled the scene."

Bacon managed to stagger to a neighbor's apartment and call police, Luddington said.

Bacon underwent several hours of surgery at the Washington Hospital Center and was listed in critical condition in the intensive care unit, said Mary Anderson, a spokeswoman for the hospital center.

Bacon and a woman friend, Velma Fowler, were arrested by Prince George's County police on July 30 and charged with possession of cocaine after a gram of the drug was found in their car. Bacon was released on his own recognizance.

Bear survives, but Floyd fails

CASTLE ROCK, Colo. (AP) — Course architect Jack Nicklaus squeaked through, but U.S. Open champion Ray Floyd failed to make the field of 39 players who advanced through Friday's second round of the new International golf tournament.

Floyd, who played brilliantly in the first round, picked up on two holes on the back nine Friday and was eliminated.

Floyd had minus 4 points on the modified Stableford scoring system, which awards 5 points for an eagle, 2 points for a birdie, zero points for a par, minus 1 for bogey and minus 3 for double bogey or worse. Medal scores do not count.

The points are not carried forward, so the 11 points Floyd collected Thursday had no bearing on his standing during a warm, sunny round on Friday. He collected $2,000, the prize allotted for each second round casualty, and went on his way.

Nicklaus, the 46-year-old Masters champion who designed the Castle Pines Club course in the foothills of the Rockies, was facing the same fate until he birdied the eighth hole, his 17th of the day, and saved a place in the semifinals with a scrambling, one-putt par on his last hole.

Nicklaus, who called this scoring system "stupid" after first-round play, went to three points with his birdie-4 and needed a par on his last hole to be assured of a place in the third round.

He was short in two, chipped to about 12 feet and made the par putt that enabled him to advance.

PGA champion Bob Tway, playing with Nicklaus in the last group, also had to make a one-putt par on the last hole to advance.

Tway, who also had three points going to his final hole, put himself in danger when his approach went in a bunker, but got it up and down for the par that sent him into Saturday's round.

The most dramatic rally, however, was by Mike Reid, who was out of it until he staged a eagle-birdie finish.

Rookie Billy Pierot led the advance with 14 points, the largest one-day total of a tournament that offers $1 million in total prizes and $180,000 to the winner.

He scored eight birdies against two bogeys in what he called "one of my best rounds on the tour." His medal score, which doesn't count, was 66.

Joey Sindelar, with six birdies and no bogeys, also had an unofficial 66 and 12 points.

John Mahaffey had 11 points and might have had more but for "ultra-conservative play" coming home.

Lopez, Sheehan chase King in World race

BUFORD, Ga. (AP) — Betsy King, seeking her second straight victory, shot a 4-under-par 68 Friday to take a two-shot lead over Nancy Lopez and Patty Sheehan after two rounds of the $240,000 Nestle World Championship women's golf tournament.

Lopez, playing only her sixth competitive round of the year after giving berth to her second daughter last May, had eight birdies in her round of 66, lowest score in the first two rounds.

Patty Sheehan, the opening-round leader, had a 72.

"I don't feel like I played quite as well today as far as hitting the ball," said King, winner of last week's Henredon Classic.

"The key to me is I've putted well," she said. "I haven't three-putted."

King had seven birdies in her round to offset a double bogey 7 on the fifth hole when her second shot caught the hazzard and a bogey 4 on 17 when she missed the green.

King's birdies included a 20-footer on No. 9 and a 25-footer on the 14th.

King said she wasn't surprised at the play of Lopez, who tied for third last week in her first appearance this year.

"She hasn't played competively, but I'm sure she's played some," King said. "If it had been two weeks after her child was born, I'd be surprised."

Lopez said she believes her game is about 75 percent what it was in 1985 when she set the LPGA's single season money record by earning $416,472.

"Now you have to get the confidence factor back," Lopez said.

LPGA

Lopez went through a stretch beginning at No. 4 where she went birdie-bogey-birdie-bogey-birdie, and said she welcomed a par-5 on the ninth to get out of that trend of giving a shot back each time she birdied.

Lopez sank one 25-footer for birdie, but only two others were more than four feet.

Sheehan said, "I started hitting it crooked on the backside. I kept having to get up and down and did it, except for the last hole."

She bogeyed the 18th when she missed a 4-foot putt.

"I really couldn't get much going out there," Sheehan said.

Blue Jays slow down Rangers, 6-1

Red Sox' Clemens notches 18th victory

Associated Press

George Bell hit a two-run homer and Cliff Johnson added a solo blast, leading the Toronto Blue Jays to a 6-1 victory over the Texas Rangers Friday night in a game delayed one hour and two minutes by rain.

Right-hander Joe Johnson gave up five hits, struck out five and walked two over seven innings to gain his second win against one loss since coming to Toronto from the Atlanta Braves on July 6. John Cerutti and Mark Eichorn pitched the last two innings, with Eichorn picking up his sixth save.

Loser Ed Correa, 7-10, had allowed only three hits before Johnson hit his 13th homer of the season, into the left-field bleachers, to give the Blue Jays a 3-1 lead in the sixth.

After Ernie Whitt singled, Correa was relieved by right-hander Dale Mohorcic, who set an American League record by making his ninth consecutive appearance. The previous AL record of eight was set by Bennett Flowers of the Boston Red Sox in 1953. The major league mark of 13 straight appearances was set by Mike Marshall of the Los Angeles Dodgers in 1974.

A late-afternoon torrential downpour that flooded many parts of Toronto subsided about an hour before game time and the contest started as scheduled. Light rain fell throughout the second and third innings before again tapering off, but several bolts of lightning and thunder claps preceded a fourth-inning deluge that resulted in the delay.

Moments before the rains came, Lloyd Moseby drew a leadoff walk and Bell worked Correa to a full count before hitting his 27th homer of the season for a 2-1 Toronto lead.

The Rangers had taken a 1-0 lead with an unearned run in the third. Steve Buechele reached on shortstop Tony Fernandez's throwing error, his first miscue since July 6. One out later, Buechele moved to third on Oddibe McDowell's single and scored on Scott Fletcher's base hit.

Garth Iorg's two-run triple keyed a three-run eighth for the Blue Jays.

Red Sox 8, Tigers 5

Light-hitting Ed Romero triggered an eight-run fifth inning with a walk and capped the rally with his first homer in nearly two years as Roger Clemens won his 18th victory.

Blanked on two hits, both singles by Bill Buckner, for four innings, the Red Sox jumped on starter Walt Terrell, 10-9, and reliever Bill Campbell for their biggest inning of the season.

Clemens, who had failed in three previous tries for his 18th victory, struggled for his first triumph since July 25.

The right-hander, who has lost four games after a 14-0 start, allowed 10 hits in 7⅔ innings, including a two-run homer by Darrell Evans. He struck out six and walked two. Joe Sambito relieved in the eighth after Chet Lemon's two-run single and got the final four outs for his 11th save.

Detroit took a 1-0 lead in the fifth as Lou Whitaker doubled with two out, stole third and scored on Alan Trammell's single. However, the Red Sox bounced right back for their third victory in a row.

Romero, hitting just .215, began the Boston fifth with a walk and raced to third on a single by Wade Boggs, who took second on the throw.

The Red Sox then got a break when Marty Barrett got a gift RBI single when first base umpire ruled that Terrell, covering first on a grounder to the right side, missed tagging the bag. Boggs went to third on the play and scored the go-ahead run on a wild pitch.

Jim Rice singled, scoring Barrett. Then, with two outs and Rice on second, Bill Buckner was walked intentionally. Tony Armas spoiled the strategy with an RBI single.

Campbell replaced Terrell and was greeted by Rich Gedman's run-scoring double. Romero followed with a three-run shot into the left-field screen for his first homer since Sept. 15, 1984, when he was with Milwaukee.

Clemens' six strikeouts raised his American League-leading total to 180.

American League

Brewers 4, White Sox 3

Paul Molitor singled in the tying run in the ninth inning and pinch-runner Charlie Moore raced home with the winning run on a wild pitch by Dave Schmidt.

With one out in the ninth, Jim Gantner singled and one out later, pinch- hitter Ben Oglivie drew a walk off loser Bill Dawley, 0-5. Schmidt relieved and gave up a run-scoring single to Molitor, who went second on the throw as Moore took third.

With Robin Yount at bat, Schmidt unloaded a wild pitch as Moore scored. Molitor also tried to score on the play, but was tagged out.

Reliever Dan Plesac, 8-6, was the winner. The White Sox scored all of their runs on solo home runs by George Foster, Daryl Boston and Ron Hassey.

Foster, released by the New York Mets last week and signed by the White Sox earlier in the day, homered in the fourth inning and also singled in the sixth in his American League debut.

The homer was his 14th of the season and the 348th of his career and led to a standing-ovation curtain call. The drive of some 390 feet was three rows deep in the lower seats in left-center.

Boston led off the Chicago first with his third homer and Hassey, acquired from the New York Yankees on July 29, hit his seventh of the season and first with the White Sox in the second inning. The homers by Boston and Hassey both were upper-deck shots into right-center.

Rick Manning tripled to open the Milwaukee fifth and scored on a sacrifice fly by Rick Cerone. Gorman Thomas doubled with one out in the Brewers' sixth and scored on a two-out single by Glenn Braggs.

Indians 3, Orioles 2

Former Midland Cub Mel Hall and Cory Snyder hit consecutive run-scoring singles off Baltimore relief ace Don Aase in the bottom of the eighth inning to lift Cleveland to victory.

The Indians, who had lost four straight, trailed 2-1 entering the bottom of the eighth. But Julio Franco hit a one-out single and pinch-runner Otis Nixon stole second before Aase, 5-4, relieved Rich Bordi and walked Andre Thronton with two outs.

Hall lined a single to right, scoring Nixon with the tying run, and Snyder followed with a line single to center to send home Carmen Castillo with the go-ahead run.

Frank Wills, 1-1, pitched one-third of an inning, his first as an Indian. Ernie Camacho pitched a scoreless ninth for his 17th save, wrapping up a combined five-hitter for the Indians.

The Indians took a 1-0 lead in the second on a home run by Thornton, his 15th this year and his first since July 23.

But Juan Beniquez led off the Baltimore fifth with a single, only the second hit off rookie Scott Bailes. One out later, hot-hitting Jim Traber drove a homer over the fence in right center to give Baltimore a 2-1 lead. Traber has hit nine homers and driven in 25 runs in his 27 games since he was called up by the Orioles from Class AAA Rochester on July 17.

Yankees 7, Royals 4

Mike Easler and Mike Pagliarulo drove in two runs each in a four-run fourth inning and Dave Righetti picked up his 28th save.

Righetti came on with the tying run on third and two out in the seventh and shut out the Royals the rest of the way as the Yankees won their fourth straight game.

Rookie Doug Drabek, 3-5, scattered five hits and allowed one run over the first six innings for the win. Brian Fisher came on in the seventh and gave up a three-run homer to George Brett, his 12th of the year.

The Yankees broke a 1-1 tie in the fourth. Singles by Don Mattingly and Dan Pasqua sandwiched around a walk to Dave Winfield loaded the bases with none out against Scott Bankhead, 6-6. Easler singled home two runs and Pagliarulo followed with a triple to give the Yankees a 5-1 lead.

The Royals had taken a 1-0 lead in the first on an RBI groundout by Jorge Orta. New York tied the score in the third on Joel Skinner's fifth homer of the season.

After taking a 5-4 lead, the Yankees added two runs in the eighth on a sacrifice fly by Pasqua and run-scoring single by Paglilarulo, his third RBI of the game.

Andretti smashes Pocono 500's 2.5-mile lap record

LONG POND, Pa. (AP) — Michael Andretti smashed the track record Friday on the way to earning the pole position for the Domino's Pizza Pocono 500.

The fast lap around the 2.5-mile Pocono International Raceway trioval was caught at 205.724, easily topping the mark of 203.532 set a year ago by Rick Mears, who went on to win the race.

Andretti beat out Johnny Rutherford, the winner of the Michigan 500 two weeks ago, for his third pole of his careeer, all this season.

Rutherford's 203.114 gained the middle position in the front row for Sunday's race, with Mario Andretti, Michael's father, taking the outside spot on the front row with a 201.866.

Hitting starved White Sox take chance on Foster

CHICAGO (AP) — George Foster, released by the New York Mets during a furor over remarks that were taken to mean the team management was racist, on Friday signed to play the remainder of the season for the hitting starved Chicago White Sox.

The 37-year old outfielder was released by the Mets on Aug. 6 after a newspaper story qoted him as implying the team would rather promote white players than blacks.

Foster was in the final season of a five-year, $10 million contract with the Mets, who are obligated to pay off the pact. The White Sox will pay Foster only a pro-rated portion of the $60,000 major league minimum salary for the remainder of the season, the team said.

Foster was to make his American League debut in Friday night's game against Milwaukee at Comiskey Park. He could not be reached for comment before the game, but he said earlier this week that he felt he still could make a contribution to an American League team as a designated hitter.

Last week, the White Sox signed veteran pitcher Steve Carlton, 41, for the remainder of the season. Carlton was shelled in his first outing, which was his American League debut.

Foster, who at a news conference Monday insisted that he did not mean to imply the Mets discriminated against black players, had been quoted as saying: "When a ballclub can, they replace a George Foster or a Mookie Wilson with a more popular white player.

"I think the Mets would rather promote a Gary Carter or a Keith Hernandez to the fans so parents who want to can point to them as role models for their children, rather than a Darryl Strawberry, a Dwight Gooden or a George Foster," Foster was quoted as saying.

Foster said his comments were taken out of context and misinterpreted.

Although Mets General Manager Frank Cashen said those comments had nothing to do with Foster's release, Foster has said that "there was a good chance I would have stayed with the Mets if that story hadn't appeared."

Although the White Sox were just 51-62 going into Friday night's game, they were in fourth place, 10½ games behind California in the American League West. But they recently traded top homer hitter Ron Kittle and lost slugger Greg Walker to injuries.

"I've talked to a couple of people in the Mets organization and they still believe he can hit," said White Sox baseball director Ken Harrelson last week.

To make room for Foster, the White Sox optioned outfielder Steve Lyons to their Class AAA farm team at Buffalo. Lyons was acquired from the Boston Red Sox earlier this season in exchange for pitcher Tom Seaver.

Foster was hitting .227 with 13 homers and 38 RBI in 72 games for the Mets this season.

He began his career with the San Francisco Giants in 1969, but enjoyed his finest years when he was a five-time all-star with the Cincinnati Reds in the 1970s.

His greatest season was 1977, when he ripped 52 home runs, most in the major leagues since Willie Mays in 1965, with 149 RBI and a .320 batting average to win the most valuable player award.

Astros obtain Darwin

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Brewers announced today that they had traded veteran pitcher Danny Darwin to the Houston Astros for a minor league pitcher and a player to be named later.

Brewer General Manager Harry Dalton said the American League club would fill Darwin's spot on the roster through purchasing the contract of pitcher Mike Birkbeck from their Vancouver farm club in the Pacific Coast.

Darwin, 30, a seven-year veteran, had a 6-8 record and 3.52 earned run average with the Brewers this season. He had been acquired by the Brewers last year from the Texas Rangers and has a major league record of 67-76 with a 3.61 earned run average.

Negotiators reach tentative contract for phone firms

Associated Press

Negotiators reached tentative contracts Friday for telephone workers in Pennsylvania, Michigan and New Jersey, leaving a strike by more than 36,000 workers for New York-based NYNEX as the remaining major telephone contract dispute.

Friday's agreements with the Communications Workers of America, covering 28,400 workers in the three states, came in negotiations prompted by the Saturday expiration of labor contracts at the seven so-called "Baby Bells."

In most cases, settlements were reached before the deadline, or the CWA and other unions agreed to continue working without a contract.

Friday's pacts ended a three-day strike in Michigan, but workers in New Jersey and Pennsylvania had remained on the job after extending midnight Thursday strike deadlines.

The seven regional telephone companies were formed after the 1984 breakup of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. and employ 310,000 members of the CWA.

The pact between Bell of Pennsylvania and 11,300 workers, covering local work rules, was reached about 6 p.m. in a bargaining session that began around 10 a.m. Thursday, said company spokesman Miles Kotay.

The tentative settlement reached late Friday with Michigan Bell's 12,600 workers represented by the CWA would increase wages and profit-sharing by at least 11 percent and as much as 17.27 percent over three years, said company spokesman Richard A. Christie.

Michigan Bell is a subsidiary of Chicago-based Ameritech.

At New Jersey Bell, four days of bargaining resulted in a tentative contract late Friday for 4,500 workers represented by the CWA, said company spokeswoman Karen Johnson. The talks had resumed early Friday after a five-hour break for sleep.

There were more talks Friday in the biggest and longest strike, affecting 37,600 workers at New York Telephone Co., a subsidiary of New York-based NYNEX, and 1,000 other NYNEX employees in Massachusetts and New Hampshire.

Neither side would comment on whether negotiators had made progress toward ending the strike.

Also continuing to strike in 14 Western and Midwestern states were about 1,000 employees of US West Direct, the publishing arm of Denver-based US West Inc. Another 380 workers remained on strike Friday against the Ohio unit of Ameritech Publishing Inc.

The negotiators in Pennsylvania and New Jersey were trying to settle local issues following a tentative agreement reached last weekend between the CWA and Bell Atlantic. Bell Atlantic has subsidiaries in six states and the District of Columbia.

Local issues included job titles and duties and other work rules, officials said.

INS rounds up 180 aliens

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — About 180 illegal aliens were rounded up early Friday during a two-hour operation conducted by federal immigration officials and Phoenix and Mesa police, authorities said.

Immigration and Naturalization Service spokesman John Belluardo said the latest roundup stemmed from citizens complaints, many of them dealing with burglaries, thefts and other such crimes allegedly committed by illegal aliens.

Belluardo said some stolen property was recovered — mostly televisions and stereo equipment — and it will be up to local police to determine whether to file any charges.

Those not facing charges will be given two choices: return to their homelands voluntary or face deportation hearings, Belluardo said.

Those arrested were all men ranging from 18 to 35 years old and most were believed to be from Mexico, authorities said. The aliens were arrested after they failed to produce proper identification.

Phoenix police Lt. Greg Denney said the roundup began at 5 a.m. are 10 areas were targeted, including two hotels.

The operation involved 15 INS agents and 13 Phoenix police officers, according to Denney. He said the officers were brought in because "we come on contact with illegals more than the INS would."

Walker doesn't blame Dorsett for angry reaction

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — Running back Herschel Walker said he doesn't blame Dallas Cowboy veteran Tony Dorsett for flying off the handle over the 1982 Heisman Trophy winner's new $5 million contract with the team.

"I respect Tony a great deal," Walker said Thursday. "There's not too much I can say. I don't really know the situation at hand. I know how he feels. He's been a credit to his team and to the game."

Dorsett, a 10-year veteran, reacted angrily to Wednesday's announcement that the former USFL New Jersey Generals' back had signed a five-year contract, at $1 million annually.

Dorsett demanded to be traded but Cowboys President Tex Schramm wouldn't hear of it.

"The contract surprised everybody," Dorsett said Thursday. "I flew into a rage. I showed a lot of immaturity."

Schramm said things would be fine once Walker gets back to camp.

"Things will calm down, life goes on," Schramm said. "We've got a football game coming up."

But Walker said he had changed his plans and would not be returning until Saturday morning.

"I talked with Mr. Schramm, and he told me to take my time," said Walker, contacted in New Jersey by the Dallas Morning News. "I've just got more to pack up and, since the team is leaving Wednesday (for Dallas), I don't want to make another trip back here."

Walker plans to attend Saturday's game against the Los Angeles Raiders but won't be playing.

Cowboys Coach Tom Landry said Friday that if Walker suited up it would count against the Cowboys' roster.

Players signed from the USFL have been granted a two-week exemption from counting toward NFL teams' active rosters. But the exemptions are forfeited when players dress for games.

However, Landry said Walker probably will play in Friday's exhibition game against Pittsburgh in Texas Stadium. Walker will have his first practice Monday morning, Landry said.

Walker says he's trying to learn as much as possible about the Cowboys' offense.

"I've really been studying the playbook," said Walker. "It's interesting; it seems exciting. It looks like a very explosive offense."

He said he did not see the Cowboys' 20-0 loss to San Diego last Saturday.

Black, Jewish teens tour cities where it all began

By JEFF BARKER

WASHINGTON (AP) — When the chairman of the House Budget Committee pondered how to build bonds between blacks and Jews, he decided to begin with teen-agers.

As a result of Rep. William Gray's idea, six black and six Jewish Philadelphia high school students have spent three weeks touring New Orleans and rural Mississippi, New York City's garment district and other areas where, he says, "blacks and Jews arrived in America."

The trip has included a visit with New York City Mayor Edward Koch — who several students said made them nervous — as well as a discussion about racial stereotypes with Atlanta Mayor Andrew Young, once an aide to the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr.

Gray, a black Baptist minister who returns to his Philadelphia district most weekends to preach, said the idea was "to take people who we think are going to be some of the leaders of their communities and have them get to know each other." He said he was saddened that blacks and Jews seemed to have broken ties forged in the civil rights struggles of 20 and 30 years ago.

With one week left of the trip, the students arrived in the nation's capital last week to meet Gray, examine exhibits of Jewish culture and discuss the situation in South Africa. The discussion at a reception in the Budget Committee hearing room turned to the food sampled on the journey.

"How did you like the collard greens and catfish?" Gray asked the Jewish students.

"How did you like the lox and bagels?" he asked black students.

The students said there hadn't been much awkwardness getting acquainted.

"We have a lot in common, with our age and with all of us being in school," said Keino Robinson, 16. "And our heritages — we've both been persecuted at different times in history and we're both minorities."

One thing he'd learned: "You may have differences, but you learn to accept that people are different than yourself."

Alyson Bor, 17, said what she would remember most was meeting a 5-year-old black girl in tiny Bolton, Miss.

"She said to me, 'Are you black or white?' and I said, 'I'm white, does that matter to you?'

"She said, 'No, but I've never met a white girl before.'"

Several of the students said they were a bit rattled at their meeting with Koch in the mayor's office.

Vangie Goldwire said: "It seemed like he was trying to debate with us."

"He (Koch) was tough on them," said David Hyman, 32, a Philadelphia attorney acting as a chaperone. "He asked what were the problems and why is something like this necessary. And I think they realized, 'We've got to discuss some of these issues. We're adults.'"

During the students' meeting with Young, the mayor "created a very personal mood and talked about his own assumptions and attitudes," Hyman said.

This is the second year of the program, which is financed by corporations and other sponsors. Last year, a different group traveled to Israel and Senegal.

Scriptures Selected by The American Bible Society

Some years ago I had a private secretary who guarded and protected my schedule almost too severely and to a fault. She gave most people the third-degree of questioning when they came to my office without an appointment.

But every day one little person got passed her without so much as a question. When this little girl finished kindergarten downstairs she would dash upstairs, run pass the secretary who waved her on in, and she'd come crashing into my office always as welcomed as a fresh breath of spring.

Why? She was my daughter! It was not a matter of WHAT she had done nor what she wanted with me that gave her immediate access to me. It was WHO SHE WAS.

And when we approach God, it is not in terms of what we know or don't know; not what we have done or not done, but rather, WHO we are. More accurately, WHOSE we are.

We are His. "We are the children of God, and if children, then heirs, heirs of God and fellow heirs with Christ . . ." (Rom. 8:16,17)

Home museum of Bible story dolls grew from teaching idea for small children

OWENSBORO, Ky. (AP) — Cordia Bruner thought small children would get more out of their Sunday school lesson if she dressed up one of her daughter's dolls as a Bible character.

That first week, she successfully caught the students' attention. Every week after that, Mrs. Bruner raided her daughter's toy chest and created another character.

Nineteen years later, Mrs. Bruner still has those dolls. She now invites the public into a section of her home she has turned into the Museum of Bible Story Dolls.

Since there is no admission fee, people sometimes ask why the 63-year-old woman opens her home to curious visitors.

"It may sound strange to some people — they want to know what I get out of it," she said. "I don't have very much education. It gives me a chance to do something for others."

Mrs. Bruner may have needed her daughter's help with the spellings on each doll's placard, but the imagination for each costume was all her own.

Friends donated many of the dolls in the museum. Mrs. Bruner estimates she has 500 on display and at least that many waiting to be costumed.

"I always liked dolls," she said. "But I never dreamed I'd get this many."

Dolls with soft plastic faces and limbs dating from the 1950s and '60s are painstakingly dressed in flowing brocade robes created from old curtains, or burlap gowns that are supposed to resemble ones worn by Israelites many years ago.

Following no patterns, Mrs. Bruner dresses the dolls in detail, from the turbans and shrouds on their heads to the small leather sandals on their feet.

But Mrs. Bruner's imagination clearly shines on the baby dolls she has turned into grown men.

"I cut their hair and saved little jars of it, then glued bits of it onto their faces to make whiskers," she said.

RELIGION

Robert and Vilia Walter stand in front of the poster, "In the Fullness of Time," one of 40 visual aids used to acquaint students with major Biblical themes.

Grace Church pair attend Bethel Series

From Staff Reports

MADISON, WIS. — Robert and Vilia Walter of Grace Lutheran Church are attending a two-week orientation clinic of the Bethel Series, an international Bible study program administered by the Adult Christian Education Foundation.

Orientation clinics are attended by pastors and Christian education directors, who return to their churches to train lay teachers. The teachers in turn present an overview study of Scriptures to adult members, which is the foundation for continuing adult study.

Since 1959, more than 5,500 congregations, representing over 45 different denominations, have involved one million lay teachers and students in the Bethel Series.

RELIGION IN BRIEF

Crestview Sanctuary Choir presents musical 'Alleluia'

The Sanctuary Choir of Crestview Baptist Church will present the contemporary Christian musical "Alleluia" 7 p.m. Sunday.

Written in 1973 by Bill and Gloria Gaither, the work employs both formal choral settings and familiar praise songs such as "Let's Just Praise the Lord!," "Because He Lives" and "Alleluia." Arranged and orchestrated by Ronn Huff, the production is being directed by Ty Morris Jr., minister of music at Crestview Baptist Church.

The Crestview Sanctuary Choir first performed the musical in 1975. The choir will be joined on this occasion by former members of the choir who sang in the original production, including the Rev. Kenneth James, former pastor at Crestview who is now pastor of First Baptist Church, Hillsboro, and Kenneth Hunnicutt, now minister of education at First Baptist Church, Woodway.

Soloists include Johnnie Baxter, Hunnicutt, Linda Sellers, Thurman Pylant, Kenneth James, Linda Morgan, Ruth Shelburne and Kathy Alverson. Trio singers are James, P.J. Tyler and Morris.

The voice of the fisherman will be done by James Sellers, the tax collector's by Hunnicutt, the woman at the well by Anita Noles and the once blind man by James Dumas.

The public is invited to attend this performance. The church is located at 3300 Thomas St.

Stress control lecture set

Jyotirmayanand

A lecture on stress management will be presented 7:30 p.m. Friday at the Midland County Exhibit Building, Fairgrounds Road and U.S. Highway 80.

The program is sponsored by the Hindu Association of West Texas. The speaker is Swami Jyotirmayanand, president of the Yoga Research Foundation, Miami, Fla., and editor of the International Yoga Guide.

For more information call 697-0222 after 6 p.m. Refreshments will be served after the hour long lecture.

Faith Fellowship has revival

IRAAN — Faith Fellowship Church is conducting a revival 7 p.m., Sunday through Wednesday, at the Iraan Community Center.

Evangelist is Tommy Williams, an ordained minister and president of the board of directors for the Tommy D. Williams Alive Ministries. He is also a member of the board of advisors for Roy Blizzard's ministry, Yavo International and a member of the International Convention of Faith Churches and Ministries.

Willaims has traveled extensively throughout the United States, Guatamala, Mexico, Phillipines, Israel, Canada and Trinidad, West Indies. He has taught for Robert Tilton's Word of Faith Bible Training Center, Bob Nichol's Calvary Cathedral Bible Training Center and for Jerry Savell's Overcoming Faith Bible Training Center. He has been a guest on such television programs as DayStar and TBN Praise The Lord Program.

"Tommy is a much sought after Bible teacher, a powerhouse, filled with the word of God," said a representative from Faith Fellowship Church.

"Tommy has had many miracles occur in his ministry. Among them is the 'Cotton Field Testimony' which Kenneth Copeland has shared in a number of his crusades."

For more information contact the church's pastor, the Rev. Ricky Boren, 1-639-2734 or 1-639-2736.

Speaker touches on occult

Russ Wise of Probe Ministries is guest speaker Sunday at St. Paul United Methodist Church, 4501 Thomason Drive.

Wise will speak on the occult.

Service times are 8:30 and 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Sunday School classes are offered at 9:45 a.m. For more information call 694-2544.

Youth rally scheduled

"Youth Pressing Toward the Mark," the second annual Youth Enlightment Rally, will be held Thursday through Aug. 24 at the New Jerusalem Baptist Church, 1801 N. Carver St.

The rally is for youth in the 7th through 12th grades.

Seminars will begin at 7 p.m. Thursday and Friday. Topics will include —

— "Lines God Uses," teen sex and pregnancy, courtship and marriage, taught by the Rev. D. Bracken of Shekinahglory;

— "The Great Show Down," temptation and following the crowd, taught by the Rev. H.R. Lovelady, pastor of St. Matthew Baptist Church, Odessa;

— "The Most Expensive Thing," the meaning of following Christ, taught by the Rev. D. Flinn, pastor of Freedom Baptist Church, Odessa;

— and "Locating the Real You," self awareness, taught by the Rev. H. Edwards, pastor of Hollowell United Methodist Church.

Registration begins at 6 p.m.

"The purpose of the event is to provide Christian awareness in the daily lives of today's youth, to encorage youth to make Christ a part of their active daily lives, to further culminate fellowship among denominations and to bring the Christian community together in a spirit of fellowship as well as the opportunity to plan and work together," said a rally spokesman.

A Mini Olympics will be held from 9 a.m. to noon at Washington Park. A mass choir rehearsal will be held from 2 to 4 p.m. and a 7 to 9 p.m. Park Rally will feature the Rev. Joseph Williams, New Hope Baptist Church.

Activities will culminate at 3 p.m. Aug. 24, with a special service. Guest speaker will be the Rev. O.J. Archie, pastor of Macedonia Baptist Church. Music for this and the Park Rally will be provided by the Midland-Odessa Enlightment Choir, United Spiritual Singers on Saturday and the Light of Praise Aug. 24. All choirs are being directed by Curtis Butler, Mt. Rose Baptist Church.

Chairpersons of this event are Linda Bailey, St. Paul CME Church, and Wanda McGrew, Macedonia Baptist Church. Other sponsors include the Rev. B. Ashely, B. Brazell and A. Gilbert, all of Macedonia Baptist Church; T. Powell and S. Holland, both of New Jerusalem Baptist Church; R. Brown of Mt. Carmel Baptist Church; the Rev. R. Lathan, pastor of Mt. Calvary Baptist Church; R. Christian and Ms. Sanders of St. Martthews Baptist Church, Odessa; D. Nelson and the Rev. R. McNeil, St. James Baptist Church, Odessa; and the Rev. D. Flinn, pastor of Freedom Baptist Church, Odessa.

All are invited to participate by calling any of the sponsoring churches.

Grandparents recognized

Bellview Baptist Church, 1710 N. Big Spring St., has set aside Sunday as "Grandparents Day."

Highlighting the occasion is the recognition of Cleo and "Preacher" Roberts as honorary grandparents. During the morning worship hour, which begins at 10:50 a.m., all grandparents will be recognized. Special recognition will be given to those who have known the Roberts over the years.

"Those who knew 'Preacher' from his days at Midland High School are encouraged to participate as well as those who have been in the 3-year-old Sunday School class, which he has taught for the last 31 years," said a church spokesman.

Mrs. Roberts, who recently retired after 25 years at Briercroft Savings, has taught in Bellview's Adult 3 Singles Department for 18 years. Roberts retired a couple of years ago from the Midland Police Department after 35 years of service.

"Although the Roberts do not have children, they have influenced scores of young people over the years," the spokesman said. "Their warmth and openness toward children has genuinely made them grandparents. 'Grandparents Day' at Bellview is an opportunity to recognize the Roberts and the contribution they have made to all those who have known them."

A nursery will be provided. The church's pastor, the Rev. G.A. Magee, invites the public to attend.

Mother's Day Out offered

Kelview Heights Baptist Church is offering a Mother's Day Out Program Thursdays beginning in September.

The program will be for church families as well as non-church families and is for children up to 5 years old.

In addition, Kelview Heights is starting a Ladies Bible Study from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. Tuesdays beginning Sept. 2.

For more information on these programs call 682-3842 or go by the church office at 402 W. Scharbauer Drive.

Banquet closes Explosion

Faith Temple Church's 12th annual Spiritual Explosion closes Sunday. The week-long event will be highlighted by the Founder's Banquet, 5 p.m. today at Midland Center, downtown.

Services will be at 8 p.m. today and at 3 p.m. Sunday. An 11:30 a.m. seminar will be held.

The worship series began with a musical Monday featuring the Explosion Mass Choir and other groups from the surrounding area. Special guest was Linda Pawlovich, a recording artist and soloist from San Jose, Calif.

Guest speakers for the week have included the Rev. Charles Rodgers of Memphis, Tenn., Tuesday; the Bishop Nathaniel Wells of Grand Rapids, Mich., Wednesday; Juanita Sapp, evangelist, of Dallas, Thursday; the Bishop Harold Benjamin of Philadelphia, Pa., Friday; the Rev. B. Oliphant of Port Arthur, Saturday. Sunday's guest speaker will be the Rev. S. Allen and a choir from Fort Worth.

Nightly services have been conducted by the Rev. Eddie Jernigan of Los Angeles. The Rev. Lemuel Thuston of Lubbock has conducted the daily seminars.

The Rev. W.C. Kenan is pastor of Faith Temple Church, 1605 N. Terrell. The public is invited to attend the services.

Smalley presents new series

A new film series featuring Gary Smalley is being shown in the Family Center of the Golf Course Road Church of Christ, 3500 W. Golf Course Road, at 7:30 p.m. Wednesdays.

In the series "Love is a Decision" Smalley presents what he calls "biblical relationship princiles" using a teaching technique he learned from corris Ten Boom, author of "The Hiding Place."

"Love is a Decision" was produced and directed by Earl Miller, producer and director of the well-known "Focus on the Family" film series.

Films left to be shown include "How to Energize Your Mate in 60 Seconds," Wednesday; "Five Keys to Loving and Lasting Relationships," Aug. 27; "The Tremendous Value of a Man," Sept. 3; "The Secret of a Close-Knit Family," Sept. 10; and "Finding Fulfillment: More Than Your Cup Can Hold," Sept. 17.

Smalley is the author of two other books from Zondervan Publishing House, "If Only He Knew" and "For Better or For Worse."

Over 50,000 people have attended his seminars in the past five years. He and his wife Norma have three children and live in Phoenix, Ariz.

For more information call the church, 694-8836.

FBC sets Bible study, trip

The Midland First Baptist Church is sponsoring a Bible study and a train trip from Sept. 29-Oct. 6.

The Bible study, conducted by Herschel Hobbs, will be held at the Gloreita Baptist Conference Center in Gloreita, N.M., from Sept. 29-Oct. 3. The theme will be Coming of Age.

On October 3, the group will leave by train for Durango and Silverton, Colo. The group will return to Midland Oct. 6.

For more information call 682-7669. The cost is $300 with a $50 deposit due.

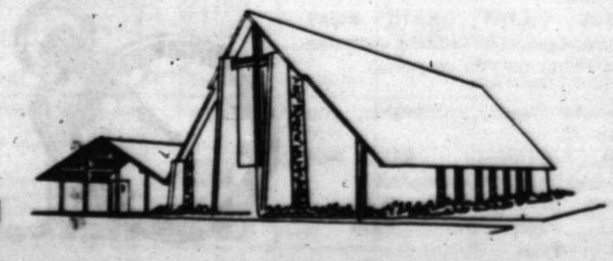

Goodwill Baptist sets gala

The Junior Mission of the Goodwill Baptist Church, 1508 S. Main St., is hosting a Minister's Musical Extravaganza at 7:30 p.m. today.

Special guest minister will be the Rev. Tatum, Odessa. The pastor of Goodwill Baptist Church, the Rev. M.A. Brown, invites the public to attend.

Sunday, August 17, 1986

YOUR BIRTHDAY TODAY: You should find new, high-quality projects to promote. The public's attitude changes. Your work environment improves. A small business offers you greater opportunities for advancement than a large corporation. A coveted leadership position could be offered to you in October.

CELEBRITY BIRTHDATES: Frontiersman Davy Crockett, actor Robert De Niro, the San Francisco Giants' Brad Wellman, Kathy McNeil of "As The World Turns," Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., actor Sean Penn, and tennis' Guillermo Vilas.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): See a doctor about a chronic physical problem. Sort out your priorities at home. Spend the weekend doing things that will give pleasure to your loved ones.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Serious decision-making should be the order of the day when family members gather. Hold back on demands. See what others have to suggest. Luck is on your side. Get involved!

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Your experience puts you in line for a promotion or new job. Be on time for appointments. Personal appearance can be an important asset. Spruce up your wardrobe.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Do not let family responsibilities put you behind the eight ball financially. Make sure everyone chips in. A long-time romance could become permanent. You think about making wedding plans. Avoid speaking impulsively.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Pick up a challenge thrown at you by a friend. A new success will put you in the spotlight. Remain loyal to those who have given you support over many years.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Your personal magnetism works wonders this weekend. Build relationships with those who share your values and goals. A friendship may be turning romantic. Take stock of a domestic situation before suggesting changes.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Say "no" to a proposition you are not comfortable with. Being in the public eye today could help you make huge gains at work next week. The romantic outlook improves following a declaration.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Face financial facts. Being solvent should be a top priority. Travel is best postponed. A winter vacation will prove more pleasing anyway. An old flame shows up; do not try to relive the past.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): A day of rest and recreation will revive your spirits. Someone may try to shock you with an outrageous tale. Separate fact from fiction. Steer clear of someone who likes to gossip.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): An excellent day for getting together with old friends and neighbors. Set aside adequate time for rest and recreation. A private talk could become volatile. Keep your emotions in check. Avoid issuing ultimatums.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Weekend community work brings you new friends and a deep, personal satisfaction. A romance with a co-worker is possible. Be sure your relationship will not complicate your private lives. Go slow!

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): You may be doing something that is not in your best interest without even realizing it. Review your recent actions before proceeding any further. Romance needs time to get back on track.

Legally blind photographer doesn't let handicap keep him from developing

Chipman

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Most people who pose for Ohio State Fair photographer Brian Chipman don't notice he is legally blind.

"Most people I photograph don't even know," said Chipman, a 22-year-old Mount Gilead resident and a student at Franklin University here.

For several years, Chipman has volunteered eight hours a day during the fair to photograph 4-H and junior fair activities. He develops and prints his own film and often processes other photographers' film as well in the 4-H trailer.

"I'm amazed by what he can do," said Stan Ernst, an Ohio State University agricultural news editor who works with Chipman.

Chipman was born with a damaged retina that prevents him from seeing very small or distant objects. To compensate, he uses devices that help him focus his camera and the darkroom enlarger used for printing.

"Even though the law says he's legally blind, he's refusing to believe he's blind," Ernst said. "He's a good photographer, and his strength here is in the darkroom. He kicks the film out as fast as it can be done."

Chipman says taking pictures at the fair allows him to enjoy his hobby before returning to electrical engineering and computer science classes at Franklin University.

He admits pigs are his least favorite animal to photograph.

"They're the worst. They smell. They won't do what you want them to do, and you have to get down and crawl around with them," he said.

SYDNEY, Australia (ap) — A woman who bared her breasts in front of Queen Elizabeth II during a royal visit in March was fined Friday for offensive behavior.

Francesca d'Espiney, 43, unzipped her jumpsuit to expose her breasts as the queen's motorcade pulled up outside the Sydney Opera House on March 5, officials said.

When police asked her to cover up, she refused, saying: "The queen is a very powerful woman. I want to see her, and I want her to see me."

Magistrate Bill Gilbert called the incident a "well-calculated demonstration designed to attract attention."

Ms. d'Espiney was fined 100 Australian dollars, equivalent to $60 in U.S. funds.

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Gordon Fullerton, a veteran space pilot who recently critized NASA's space station plans, has asked to be transferred from the astronaut corps to an aeronautical research group at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., according to a space agency source.

Fullerton, a 49-year-old Air Force Colonel who has flown in space twice on the shuttle, has asked to join a group of NASA test pilots who conduct research flights in advanced aircraft at the Dryden Flight Research Center at Edwards, according to a space agency official who asked not to be named. No final action has been taken on the request, the source said.

National Aeronautics and Space Administration spokesman Steve Nesbitt said Fullerton declines to be interviewed and would neither confirm or deny the report.

Fullerton recently led a group that studied plans for the nation's space station and called for major changes in the space station design.

In a report, he urged that the station include a lifeboat system that would enable astronaut crews to quickly return to Earth if a rescue space shuttle was not available. He also suggested that the station include a large habitable module that would be launched by a heavy-lift booster instead of by the shuttle. Fullerton also urged that most of the critical parts in the station be housed inside the module, thus reducing the number of space walks required for routine maintenance.

Fullerton is one of seven military astronauts who transferred to NASA in 1969 after an Air Force manned space program was canceled. He earlier served as a test pilot on Air Force bombers.

Gabor

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Zsa Zsa Gabor chose the captain of the Queen Mary to perform her eighth wedding because only 30 of the 3,000 couples he has married are divorced, her publicist said.

"When they were told about his track record, they decided he was the one for them," said Beth Herman. "I guess they are hoping it will stick."

Miss Gabor, 58, wearing a lavender and white off-the-shoulder gown, wed Frederick von Anhalt of Munich, 43, Thursday evening in the living room of her home in suburban Bel-Air. Von Anhalt says he is a prince by adoption.

About 125 people attended the ceremony performed by Capt. John Gregory.

Guests included actor Paul Sorvino, actresses Constance Towers and Michelle Phillips, and comedian Red Buttons.

The only members of Miss Gabor's family attending were her daughter, Francesca Hilton, and her sister, Magda Gabor. Her other sister, Eva, and mother, Jolie, boycotted the ceremony.

CHICAGO (AP) — Three boys had to forfeit a softball game after they were robbed of their baseball bats at gunpoint at the Cabrini-Green housing project, police said Friday.

"If you could have seen those kids, they were distraught," said Detective Michael O'Brien. "They lost the game, and they didn't even have a chance to play."

O'Brien said four boys who played in an organized softball league and their 19-year-old coach were on their way to a game Thursday afternoon. Three of the boys were carrying baseball bats and were robbed by two men, he said.

One suspect was arrested shortly after the robbery, and another was being sought Friday, O'Brien said.

Still missing were the bats, and they were unlikely to be recovered, said Sgt. Edward Adorjan. "Who knows where they're at?" he said.

The men who confronted the youths asked them if they were members of a street gang, but got no response, said Adorjan.

"Generally, they don't answer. They're not gang members, and sometimes it (the question) is a test," Adorjan said.

One of the men pulled a handgun, telling the youngsters, "You're not going to play softball today," O'Brien said.

The men grabbed three baseball bats as the ball players implored them not to take the equipment.

City delivers ultimatum on shelter for refugees

BROWNSVILLE (AP) — The Catholic Church on Friday was given 10 days to move a controversial shelter for Central Americans out of a residential area where tensions between refugees and neighbors have escalated.

Casa Oscar Romero, opened by the Roman Catholic Church in 1982, is located in a residential area in San Benito, about 20 miles north of Brownsville.

Neighbors of the shelter and the transient Central Americans who stay there have had skirmishes in the past, but on Aug. 8, a fight erupted between several local residents and Central Americans and eventually involved many of the shelter's residents, city officials said.

On Friday, San Benito Mayor Cesar Gonzalez delivered to Bishop John J. Fitzpatrick a copy of a resolution asking that the shelter be moved out of the residential area by Aug. 25.

"It's terrible to be unwanted," Fitzpatrick said. "We don't know what would happen if we decide to ignore the request and have the city go through legal action against us. We don't want a legal confrontation with the city."

Fitzpatrick said the church doesn't have a place to go. But he said he will meet with his staff to decide what to do.

He said the shelter has kept the Central Americans off the streets and that he was disappointed about the commission's decision.

"We don't know what we're going to do yet. Obviously they just want us out. We have no place to go. We'll go back to the drawing board and see what we want to do," he said.

Casa Romero was opened in December 1982 to provide temporary shelter for Central Americans fleeing their war-torn homeland.

Church officials have spent about $30,000 since April renovating the facility.

Overcrowding, however, continues to be a problem and shelter residents and neighbors have fought several times.

On Thursday, city commissioners listened to about 150 neighbors who said they wanted the church to relocate the shelter. Commissioners voted unanimously to ask that the shelter be moved before tensions escalated more.

Gonzalez said some neighbors talked about arming themselves after the skirmish last week.

"This could turn into an international incident if somebody gets shot who is from El Salvador," Gonzalez said. "If it gets more serious, somebody's going to get killed."

Fitzpatrick said the shelter would probably move, but maybe not in 10 days.

"Everybody in the country knows about San Benito," Fitzpatrick said. "So it's a little discouraging that they've decided to turn their backs on these people."

No proof transfusions caused two AIDS cases, officials say

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Local blood bank officials say there is no absolute proof that two AIDS victims came down with the deadly disease because of blood transfusions obtained at the bank.

One Bexar County resident died and another was stricken with AIDS in two cases health officials have linked to the South Texas Regional Blood Bank.

Officials at the Metropolitan Health District say the two cases should "absolutely not" alarm people about the safety of the bank's blood supply.

The transfusions occurred in 1983 and 1984 before current tests were available and implemented in May 1985 to screen blood for AIDS contamination, health officials said.

"They are extremely cautious — if there is any question they will throw it out," said Dr. Diane Simpson, health district communicable disease coordinator.

Roger Sanchez, the health district's staff epidemiologist, said the two cases do not call into question the department's blood testing policy.

"We don't have any reported as being recently transfused and diagnosed, so apparently the screening process is working," he said.

The two AIDS cases were the only ones out of 71 reported in Bexar County in the past three years linked to local blood transfusions, according to a recently completed study by the Metropolitan Health District on the sources of the disease.

Neither case has been scientifically linked to an AIDS virus-infected donor.

"They have had a blood transfusion within the past five years but you could not categorically state the blood transfusions were the cause of their AIDS," said Dr. Norman Kalmin, medical director of the blood bank.

"There is still a question whether the blood transfusion was the cause, but they had no other identified risk factors," he said.

Mastodon bones found near Paris

ROXTON (AP) — Bones found in the Sulphur River near this North Texas community could be the near-complete skeleton of a 20,000-year-old mastodon, a Dallas museum official says.

Museum workers will continue the process of excavating the skeleton from the riverbed near here this weekend. Roxton is located about 20 miles southwest of Paris.

Charles Finsley, earth science curator of the Dallas Museum of Natural History, said Thursday that bones of the 10-foot-tall, elephant-like creature are a valuable find.

"Scientifically, mastodons — which is what this is — are pretty well known, and have been for a couple of hundred years," said Finsley.

"But they're very rare in Texas, and we like to have Texas animals in our museum. And as a result, we have been looking for as long as the museum has been here for 50 years, really for a restorable mastodon.

He said the new-found skeleton is the "best chance we've ever had of getting one to be put together and put in the museum."

Finsley said the excavation probably will take a couple of weeks.

"We have the skull already in a plaster jacket, he said. "For a 20,000-year-old skull, it's in pretty decent shape. The teeth are in excellent condition."

Finsley said the skeleton was discovered last month by Lee and Pearl Richardson of Terrell.

Blacks must challenge editors' 'shallow' ideas

DALLAS (AP) — U.S. Civil Rights Commissioner Mary Frances Berry admonished black journalists Friday not to forget their race when scrambling to make it to the top.

"People did not march and go to jail and die in the civil rights movement so that as a black journalist, you could spend your time solely promoting your own career by any means necessary," she told more than 1,100 people gathered at the annual National Association of Black Journalists convention.

Those harsh words prompted a standing ovation as Ms. Berry, a black rights activist and a founder of the Free South Africa Movement, said black journalists have a major role to play in American life.

But the role is one that requires courage, she said. "The best black journalists are required to put their special knowledge and insights and their perspectives up against the often shallow, deeply held convictions of their editors," she said.

She lamented the dearth of black faces in America's newsrooms, noting that an American Society of Newspaper Editors survey reported this year that 6.3 percent of the 54,000-person newsroom workforce were minorities.

That's a big improvement over 1978's 3.95 percent, "but 57 percent of daily newspapers still have no minority newsroom employees," she said.

Those who are working journalists often find themselves relegated to a "minority ghetto" such as a low-profile desk or section, or may be forced to suppress their black perspective to get ahead in a white-dominated workforce.

"It is curious that the fastest-rising blacks in some media outlets seem to be those who demonstrate professional ineptness while showing the most disrespect for the views of the black community in what they produce," she said.

Zoo up for approval may have to hide sweet-toothed bear

By CYNTHIA ROBERTS

BRIDGETON, N.J. (AP) — When officials of the American Association of Zoological Parks and Aquariums visit this city's Cohanzick Zoo, Roscoe's gonna have to keep his mouth shut about the Stewie's Chewies.

The on-site inspection by the group's accreditation panel is part of a comprehensive analysis the association makes of a zoo before imparting its coveted seal of approval.

But when it comes to proper care and feeding of bears, the zoo professionals might have to stretch their standards to allow for Roscoe's appetite for chocolate chips.

The 18-month-old cub last year appeared on an album cover with Philadelphia disc jockey John DeBella and other members of his "Morning Zoo" radio show in a pose reminiscent of the Beatles' "Abbey Road" album, where the Fab Four walked in step through a pedestrian crossing in London.

For the "Morning Zoo" album cover shot, Roscoe kept scampering around until zoo director Robin Riley figured out how to slow the cub down by strategically placing a line of Stewie's Chewies cookies across the path.

"He's a real pickle," Riley said affectionately of the cub, who drops down on his paws as if wounded when the zoo director approaches his cage. "That's his favorite fake, so he knows I'll come in and check him out," Riley explains.

Inside the cage, Roscoe gives his buddy a real bear hug before Riley disentangles himself and heads out to conduct a tour of the zoo, which he is leaving as director.

The zoo inside a 1,100-acre city park was founded in 1934 as a menagerie that grew out of a local police officer's efforts to save injured or abandoned animals, Riley said. "Sometimes, somebody would die and there'd be a monkey in the house," so the animal would wind up in the menagerie, he said.

The city-owned zoo, which has an operating budget of $250,000, has grown to hold some 250 exotic and domestic species visited by more than 100,000 people a year.

"We're a little heavy on cats here," Riley says, walking by lions, mountain lions, a leopard, cougar and lynx. In another cage are Lewis and Clark, twin bear cubs that Riley has raised.

The Cohanzick Zoo, named for an Indian chief, seems to have had a round of bad luck.

Several years back, the zoo was planning a zebra wedding and had decorated the place with black and white streamers when one of the striped beasts was struck by lightning the night before the ceremony. Another zebra died earlier this year after running into a pole and suffering a massive concussion.

The zoo's jaguar, Maggie, is recovering from brain surgery performed at the University of Pennsylvania Veterinary Hospital, where she had a malignant tumor removed in a five-hour operation.

The zoo's master growth plan calls for more exhibits and natural habitat trails for zoo visitors, as well as the takeover of "Mount Trashmore," an adjacent landfill.

Navy now in dolphin, seal, whale training

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy, still fascinated by nature's answer to underwater design, is spending millions of dollars each year to study and train porpoises, dolphins, seals and whales.

Many of the research programs are classified and hidden from public view. But Navy officials say the studies range from research on how the animals see, hear and navigate to training programs in which marine mammals are used to recover objects from great depths and to serve as underwater sentries.

Moreover, the Navy conducted a special experiment last year in the Charleston, S.C., harbor in which porpoises were used to detect sea mines, according to sources speaking on condition of anonymity.

The test was considered highly successful because the mammals were able to detect roughly 80 percent of the mines — a rate that meets or exceeds the Navy's experience with various mechanical devices, one source said.

The test was conducted as part of a program that focuses on the use of mammals "for undersea surveillance and detection for object recovery purposes," the source concluded. "They don't try to move them, just find them."

Navy officials this week declined to discuss the experiment in Charleston.

"But the Navy has never made any secret of its research interest in marine mammals," said Lt. Cmdr. Bob Pritchard, a spokesman at the Pentagon. "When you consider the design of a porpoise — nature's underwater design — you find a capability to do things that we can't do ourselves.

"A lot of what we're doing is classified. But the ultimate goal is to replace the mammal with hardware and technology to do what they're doing. We continue to build on the amount of knowledge that we already have."

Pritchard said the service "has never trained nor intends to train marine mammals for any task that could result in intentional injury or death to the animal."

"We would never use the mammals for any type of kamikaze attack," he added.

The Navy's budget indicates the service is requesting $5.4 million in fiscal 1987 — the same amount being spent this year — for the Advanced Marine Biological Systems project. That program is described as "training marine mammals and developing associated hardware to identify those naval operations wherein the utilization of marine mammals is possible."

The unclassified portion of the budget, however, is believed to represent only a small part of the Navy's overall effort. The sources say the service has never stopped pursuing training projects that date to the Vietnam War, when the Navy experimented in the use of dolphins and porpoises to detect underwater swimmers in Cam Ranh Bay.

The sources, meantime, dismissed a recent published report suggesting the service was trying to train the mammals to locate and attach limpet mines to enemy submarines.

The publication "Defense Week" quoted an unidentified retired Navy official as saying the program had been dubbed "tag-a-ship" and involved teaching the mammals to attach a magnetic mine to a sub's hull and then to flee the area before the mine went off.

"Some people may have talked about something like that, but it's highly unlikely," said one source.

"You couldn't send a dolphin out to do that unless you knew pretty much where the sub was. And if we know where the sub is, we can already destroy it."

Pritchard agreed, however, the Navy has successfully trained mammals to recover objects, such as practice torpedoes, from great depths. Sea lions have dived to depths of 750 feet to attach recovery lines and whales have been trained under a "Cold Water Marine Mammal" program to do the same at depths exceeding 1,000 feet.

Aside from training, the Navy says its veterinarians and scientists are studying such things as the way the mammals see, hear and navigate; nutrition requirements and reproduction cycles; and the peculiarities of their physiology and what keeps them healthy in an undersea environment.

Publicly, the service says its research is divided into two phases — exploratory and advanced. The former "addresses generalized object recovery, porpoise hydrodynamics and enhanced training methods," the Navy said in a statement prepared in response to a reporter's query.

"Advanced research carries out tasks dealing with behavioral engineering, biological system studies, animal procurement, health care and logistics and specialized instrumentation and training devices."

The service declines to say how many mammals it has on hand now, but says the research and training efforts have involved "106 mammals over the past seven years."

Chicago restaurant manager Maudie Meeks holds a booklet Friday which McDonalds is making available in all of its restaurants.

McDonald's booklets offer nutritional feast

CHICAGO (AP) — Friday was the day McDonald's promised to have booklets in all its restaurants explaining the nutritional content of everything from Big Macs to biscuits. But a spot check showed some stores didn't have them, and some that did weren't telling customers.

Of 23 McDonald's in nine cities, including Atlanta, Chicago, Miami and Los Angeles, only three were advertising the booklets and few consumers seemed aware they could request a free copy.

"I didn't know they were available," said Vicki Mack, 32, a customer in a downtown Chicago McDonald's, which had about 200 booklets in a back room but no sign advertising them.

Employees at six restaurants said they didn't have the booklets, and 14 had them but weren't advertising their availability.

"I understand they're supposed to be available today, but we haven't received ours yet," said Steve Toland, manager of another Chicago McDonald's. The same problem was reported by managers in Atlanta; Bismarck, N.D.; Portland, Maine; Miami and Los Angeles.

Managers of restaurant where no signs were posted said they hadn't received many requests for the booklets, and several said reporters were the first to ask.

But managers of McDonald's that posted the signs said they had numerous requests for copies.

Ann Culver, day manager of a Dallas restaurant, said about 85 booklets had been given to customers.

At restaurants in Atlanta, Dallas, Raleigh and Portland, Maine, some clerks were unaware the booklets existed. At a Dallas outlet, counter clerk Marla Nelson said she didn't know anything about the brochures.

Charles Rubner, an assistant vice president at McDonald's suburban Oak Brook, Ill., headquarters, said all 7,075 stores should have received the booklets and posted signs advertising them.

The fast-food giant spent about $1 million developing and printing the 46-page booklets, which includes the fact that a Big Mac contains about ¼ teaspoon of sodium and one-fourth the daily cholesterol allowance recommended by the American Heart Association.

Consumers who did get the booklets Friday said they hadn't realized how much sodium and cholesterol were in the food.

In Los Angeles, Graciella Perper bought a biscuit with bacon, egg and cheese for breakfast and was surprised to learn it had 483 calories and 1,269 milligrams of sodium.

"Wow, that's a lot of salt," she said.

A teaspoon of salt contains 2,300 milligrams of sodium. Some doctors say sodium aggravates high blood pressure, a leading cause of strokes.

The heart association, in its new statement on diet and health, will recommend that people consume no more than 3,000 milligrams of sodium a day, said Dr. John C. LaRosa, chairman of the committee preparing that proposal.

A McDLT hamburger contains one-third that amount of sodium, 1,030 milligrams, and 101 milligrams of cholesterol, one third the association's recommended daily allowance of 300 milligrams.

McDonald's announced in early July that it had decided voluntarily to provide the information because of increasing consumer interest.

But state officials in California, New York and Texas said McDonald's decision came after they applied pressure.

Albert Shelden, a California deputy attorney general, and Steve Gardner, an assistant attorney general in Texas, said earlier this week that six fast-food companies, including McDonald's, had agreed to release of the nutritional information in their states.

Rubner said in a recent telephone interview that McDonald's had no such agreement with Texas or California, and that a pact with New York for a one-year pilot test has been transcended by the decision to distribute the information nationally.

Reagan approves replacement for Challenger

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan on Friday approved building a replacement for the space shuttle Challenger and, in a major shift in space policy, said private industry — not NASA — will launch commercial satellites in the future.

A NASA official said the new orbiter would be a high-performance, "state-of-the-art" shuttle with improved computers, brakes and re-entry protection.

Reagan said that the work, to cost in the range of $2.8 billion, will begin after Oct. 1 on a new shuttle that will restore the fleet to four vehicles by 1991. The policy change means the National Aeronautics and Space Administration will concentrate on payloads important to national security, foreign policy and exploration.

"The private sector, with its ingenuity and cost effectiveness, will be playing an increasingly important role in the American space effort," the president said in a statement read by spokesman Larry Speakes.

The decision was called "inadequate and indefensible," by three Republican senators who play large roles in congressional oversight of the space program. They support building a fourth shuttle but said the president's announcement left unclear how the ship will be paid for.

Speakes said that 15 of 44 commercial payloads NASA has contracted for will find room on the shuttle. The others will have to launch on one-use rockets to be provided by a commercial launch industry that does not yet exist.

"We believe that the government getting out of the commercial space business will eliminate a major fear private enterprise has — competing against the government," the spokesman said.

NASA administrator James C. Fletcher said the agency was pleased with the decision and said "the president, like the American people, knows that in this day and age the United States dares not, for political and psychological reasons, let its lead in space slip away."

Rep. Bill Nelson, D-Fla., who flew on the shuttle in January, said "the administration has finally gotten around to the decision that we knew was obvious after the Challenger disaster." He said he was sorry it took so long because America's space community "has been awash in uncertainty."

The United States has more than $200 million in down payments from companies that have booked slots on the shuttle for their satellite launches. Some of that money will have to be returned.

"We will set priorities and notify companies how long it will take before their satellites can be launched," Speakes said. In general, he said, preference will be given to those satellites that need astronauts for the launchings and those that serve national security and foreign policy.

Money for the new shuttle will come from savings found within NASA and other areas of the government, Speakes said. He said the government plans to spend $272 million in fiscal 1987, which begins Oct. 1, $665 million in fiscal 1988, $715 million in fiscal 1989, $515 million in 1990 and $180 million in 1991.

Asked if the money for the shuttle might come in part from the space station program, Speakes said, "No — full funding for space station."

"NASA does not have an extra $250 million to $280 million in next year's budget to begin replacement, nor does it have the rest of the $2.8 billion necessary to complete the project over the life of the construction program," said Republican Sens. John Danforth of Missouri, Slade Gorton of Washington and Jake Garn of Utah in a joint statement. Danforth is chairman of the Commerce, Science and Transportation Committee, Gorton chairs the space subcommittee; Garn, who has flown in space, is chairman of the subcommittee that oversees NASA spending.

Speakes said the money, however, will not come entirely out of NASA's budget but will come from savings achieved by the flight hiatus, and from other funds found in government.

Senate in showdown over Gramm-Rudman

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate launched into a showdown Friday night over the spending-cut law, a bitter confrontation that was blocking an emergency debt bill needed to keep the government solvent until September.

Sen. Phil Gramm, R-Texas, and other sponsors of the Gramm-Rudman law took to the floor as the Senate began debate on the stopgap debt increase — the last mandatory measure before lawmakers could depart for their August recess scheduled to begin Friday night.

Their goal was to win final passage of an amendment restoring automatic spending cuts to the law.

"It's kind of a moment of truth around here, to try to do something" to keep down deficits and help the economy, said Sen. Warren Rudman, R-N.H., told a reporter.

But Senate oppopents geared up for a filibuster, a threat of endless debate to force the sponsors to back down.

And House Democratic leaders, strongly opposed to Gramm-Rudman, worked to secure enough votes to beat back the amendment should the Senate pass it and send it with the debt bill back to the House.

"We hope we don't get to that," said House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass.

Majority Leader Jim Wright, D-Texas, was asked if the House, which has endorsed Gramm-Rudman in the past, could resist the Senate push to restore the automatic cuts. "I've got a feeling it can," he said.

Gramm-Rudman sponsors were working to soften opposition Friday by offering to limit their amendment to one year. A permanent version has already been attached in the Senate to a pending long-term debt bill.

The House approved Thursday, without amendment, the $73.3 billion borrowing boost for the Treasury, which has exhausted its credit limit of $2.079 trillion and needs more soon to avoid a default. Any change by the Senate would require further House action.

Gramm-Rudman, enacted last year, originally included automatic cuts to enforce annual deficit targets designed to reach a balanced budget by fiscal 1991. The Supreme Court last month voided the automatic-cut provision but left the targets in place, allowing Congress to vote on whether to impose the reductions.

The plan reviving the automatic cuts was endorsed by the Senate two weeks ago on a long-term debt bill, but House Democrats strongly object.

Christian closeness leads to contempt, poll finds

Los Angeles Times-
Washington Post News Service

An opinion survey examining the deepening hostility between liberal and conservative Christians in the United States has indicated that increased contact and communication between the two groups — often thought to ease the animosity — usually only makes matters worse.

Greater knowledge, in other words, is more likely to lead to contempt than to sympathetic understanding between Christians on the left or right ends of the spectrum, according to a recently published Gallup Poll.

This "disturbing" finding contrasts with results from studies of racial and ethnic prejudice, which consistently show that interaction between differing groups tends to reduce unfair characterizations and animosity, said sociology professor Robert Wuthnow of Princeton University.

Wuthnow, who has analyzed the study, said the effect of greater contact was especially pronounced among conservatives. Strong anti-liberal feelings were expressed by 59 percent of conservatives who had a great deal of contact with liberals, whereas strong anti-liberal sentiment was felt by only 13 percent of the conservatives who had little or no contact with liberals, according to the study.

Part of the problem, Wuthnow said this week in a telephone interview, is that while racial stereotypes are usually untrue, there are real differences between religious liberals and conservatives:

"Conservative Christians are more likely to emphasize the simple truths of the Bible, the basic facts, as they would put it, of the Christian message, and liberals are more likely to look for broader meanings and express a little more uncertainty."

In the survey, conservatives were often characterized as "overly strict on moral issues," "closed-minded," "intolerant of other religious views," "fanatical about their beliefs," holding "too harsh an emphasis on guilt, sin or judgment" and "too rigid and simplistic."

Liberals, on the other hand, were often seen as "substituting social concerns for the true Gospel," "too compromising with the world," "morally loose," "having a shallow knowledge of the Bible" and "too much influenced by secular humanism."

The poll was commissioned by the Robert H. Schuller Ministries, mission arm of the Crystal Cathedral in Garden Grove, Calif. George Gallup Jr., president of the polling organization, said in an interview that he suggested the study to Schuller, who has financed some previous Gallup surveys, during a meeting of church leaders in Chicago.

Referring to the liberal-conservative divisions that affect nearly every large Christian denomination, Gallup said, "It struck me as a terrible situation."

The survey, in fact, found that 60 percent of those interviewed believe that there is "quite a lot" or a "fair amount" of tension between religious liberals and conservatives, and 68 percent thought greater understanding would be desirable.

Wuthnow said that he believes that the ideological divisions are more serious now than they have been at any time this century.

The sociologist noted that fierce "fundamentalist-modernist" battles over doctrine and biblical interpretation were fought from about 1900 to 1930. But he said that they involved relatively few people.

"The liberals were mostly Boston and New York leaders in seminaries and a few clergy with little grassroot support. Most of the battle was fought out in theological terms and in denominational hierarchies," Wuthnow said.

The solidly conservative South was untouched by the controversies then, whereas today the most visible ideological division is in the Southern Baptist Convention. That 14.4 million-member denomination has pitted fundamentalists against so-called "moderates," although partisan fundamentalists claim that the moderate camp is rife with "liberals" as well.

The Gallup survey, in its analysis of answers, found that most respondents were neither left nor right in their religious views: Moderates totaled 47 percent, conservatives 18 percent and liberals 19 percent. Another 16 percent did not respond to the question.

(A recent nationwide survey by Los Angeles Times Poll, which asked respondents to classify their own positions on religious belief and doctrine, found that 29 percent said they were liberal, 27 percent conservative and 25 percent middle-of-the-road. Another 19 percent said they were not sure of or don't pay that much attention to religious beliefs.)

Gallup, commenting on the implications of the survey in Emerging Trends, a newsletter published by his Princeton Religion Research Center, suggested that Christians might achieve greater harmony by focusing primarily on basic beliefs and broad church goals they share.

Relying on not only the survey but also his own experience in three Bible study groups, Gallup, an active Episcopalian, said he believes that increased contact and clarification of views will improve relationships when conducted in small fellowship groups.

Gallup said that each of his groups includes a range of liberals and conservatives.

Let's Talk Real Estate...

Joanne Langston

One encouraging factor in Midland's current economic picture is continuing strength in the local real estate market.

A flurry of July and early August transaction, at lease in our office, seem to be fueled by incoming transferees getting settled prior to the opening of school plus an encouraging number of move-ups and first time home buyers taking advantage of 9 1/2-10 1/2% interest rates, and moderating prices on a wide selection of homes.

In fact, as a personal observation, in my 20 years in the business, I have seldom seen so many fine properties for sale in all price ranges! I would certainly encourage would-be buyers to call any of our agents for a preview of today's exceptional market.
