STUDY IN MEXICO

These five left Friday to attend the summer session of Monterrey Technological Institute in Monterrey, Mexico. All students in Wellington high school, they are, back row, Jennifer Singley, Elaine Crawley and Janice Wood. In front are Lynda Orr, left, and Patricia Sullivan. Five hours Spanish study each day will be their basic course. There will be other studies plus participation in a number of events outside of the school.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

Collingsworth county would have voted about 80-20 for a Johnson-Symington ticket, and at least 60-40 for a Symington-Johnson ticket. The impossible platform adopted by the Democrats might have brought the figures down to some extent, but either combination of politicians would have swept the county. The Kennedy-Johnson ticket is a horse of a different color. Too many people made up their minds the night Kennedy was nominated, and for the wrong reason, I believe. I voted for Al Smith in 1928.

Senator Lyndon B. Johnson will continue to be a powerful figure in Washington regardless of the outcome of the November election. If the Democrats win, he will be president of the Senate, a member of the Cabinet and a member of the Security Council. If Kennedy follows the history of all other presidents who were elected in years ending in zero, Johnson will be President of the United States in less than eight years. If the Republicans win next fall, Johnson will have six more years in the senate where he will be just as influential as ever.

It won't be long until the Republicans announce a platform of their own. They are as sharply divided as the Democrats. One school of thought headed by a New York senator thinks they ought to outdo the Democrats by promising everything to everybody. Another group headed by Senator Goldwater of Arizona believe we should listen to the lessons of history, pay some attention to national and international economics, and more attention to keeping the United States strong and solvent. The Republicans can't outpromise the Democrats unless they try to explain where the money is coming from. And the matter of more taxes, more inflation and more debt is something that politicians simply do not put in a platform.

On the last day of the Democratic convention, I happened to drop by the Singley Mill and the only person there was the venerable E. A. Singley. He said: "Brother Wells this is the darkest day the South has known since the time of the carpet-baggers."

Pick CC Directors, Choose Wheatheart

Two directors of the Collingsworth Chamber of Commerce were re-elected and a third, who is a former member, went back on the board in the recent balloting by members, N. M. Higdon, manager, announced this week.

Re-elected were Henry Sullivan and George Henry Zook Thomas, who is a former director and officer, went back on the board, succeeding Charles Allen.

Each of these will serve a two-year term.

In the meeting that canvassed this election, Miss Gayle Peebles was selected to represent Wellington in the national Wheatheart contest held annually at Perryton.

Traditionally, this honor goes to the girl selected as Miss Wellington. Miss Peebles held that honor last year, but she was ineligible as Wheatheart entry because she was under the age limit of 16. The Wellington entry, Mrs. Farris Wood, then Miss Vada Bell, won the contest and received the 18-day tour to the Canadian National Exposition.

This year's Miss Wellington, Mrs. Lanny Lewis, the former Miss Elouise Bowen, has moved from here, and the honor went to Miss Peebles.

This year's Wheatheart entry is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Peebles.

County Men to Red River Board Meeting

John Coleman and George Roberts represented the Collingsworth County Water Control and Improvement District before directors of the Red River Authority of Texas at a meeting in Wichita Falls Friday, July 15.

Coleman is chairman of the local board and Roberts is a member.

"This meeting was to explain our water district and what it is seeking, and to find out the position of the Red River Authority," Coleman explained.

He expressed satisfaction with the information the two got at the meeting.

"The Red River Authority will work with us and back us. Of course, we will have to Vote Thursday in Referendum on Wheat Quotas

Collingsworth county wheat growers will vote in the referendum on marketing quotas for the 1961 crop on Thursday, July 21, Millard P. Brown, office manager of the county ASC office, announced.

There will be four polling places: Farmers Co-op Gin office in Dodson for Community B; county court room in Wellington for communities A, C and D; Dozier Church of Christ for community E; and Red's shop at Lutie for community F.

Voting hours are from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m.

Growers eligible to vote in the referendum will be those who will have more than 15 acres of wheat for harvest as grain in 1961, not eligible will be growers taking part in the feed wheat program.

Mr. Brown points out that at least two-thirds of the growers voting in the referendum must approve the quotas if they are to become effective. Under quotas, marketing penalties will apply on "excess" wheat resulting from noncompliance with the farm's wheat acreage allotment, and price supports will be available to co-operators on the crop at not less than 75 per cent of parity—the exact rate to be announced before the vote.

On the other hand, if more than one-third of the voters oppose quotas, there will be no restrictions on wheat marketing, but allotments will remain in effect as a condition for price support at 50 per cent of parity, as directed by law. Wheat growers voting in a referendum each year have approved marketing quotas for the past seven wheat crops.

Quail School Opens Aug. 15

The Quail school will open its summer term Monday, August 15, Supt. Herman Moseley announced this week. Class work will continue until cotton is ready for harvest in the community.

Supt. Moseley said the faculty is complete and everything will be ready to go on August 15.

Mrs. Coleman Returns Home

She returned home Saturday evening, July 16, and members of her family report she is "doing real good."

GARDEN CLUB'S "BEAUTY SPOT OF WELLINGTON"

Beginning this month, the Wellington Garden Club each month will select a "Beauty Spot in Wellington." Their first selection was the backyard of Mrs. J. A. Leach, one part of which is shown here. The picture is framed by the branches of one of the town's mimosa trees, and in the background, along the concrete block wall, are candle trees, which will have large yellow blooms later, and other shrubs, with a spider vine growing on the wall. Mrs. Leach, pictured here, is 83 years of age, and did all of the work in the flower beds herself, along with much of the other work.

Arkansas Cat Fish

Benefit Fish Fry Saturday to Aid Cemetery Association

Emil Kersten's Fish Fry, with proceeds to go to the Wellington Cemetery Association, will get under way at 6 p.m. Saturday evening, July 23, in the community building. This is a public event, and all those interested in promoting public improvements for the city's two cemeteries are invited to take part.

Tickets will remain on sale until 3 p.m. Friday, but there will be no tickets sold at the door, Kersten said. Tickets may be had from any member of the board of directors, according to Zook Thomas, president of the Cemetery Association.

The benefit fish fry is Kersten's idea and he has worked out all the plans. He is a director of the cemetery association.

"It was Emil's idea to hold this fish fry and use the proceeds for permanent improvements in our two cemeteries," Thomas remarked. Kersten alone has sold 65 tickets to the event.

The fish served Saturday evening will be Arkansas fresh water cat fish, caught out of Little River, and brought back by Kersten on a trip through Arkansas last week. The remainder of the menu has been worked out by Mrs. Kersten and Mrs. Pearl Aaron.

Directors of the cemetery association praised Kersten's energy in promoting the fish fry. It is not the first time he has directed a benefit meal, from which a number of worthy causes in the past have profited.

At Colorado Springs

9 County Scouts Leave for Jamboree

Nine Collingsworth county Boy Scouts left Wednesday, July 20, to attend the National Jamboree at Colorado Springs.

At the ten-day Jamboree are Chester McLain, Bill Spillman, Bryan Hatch, Ronnie Hurst, Mark Fires, Tim Bailey, Kenneth McClendon of Wellington, Pete Smith of Samnorwood and Ike Gilbreth of Quail.

Boys from all 50 states will attend the Jamboree.

The boys will do their own cooking and live in a tent city. Trading will be one of the highlights of the jamboree, with boys from one section of the country collecting items from boys of other regions.

Arena shows, given by the Scouts themselves, will be given at night.

This is the fifth national Jamboree held since 1937, and it observes the golden jubilee of the Boy Scout movement, according to Murray Smith, Comanche district scout executive.

Dodson Nazarene Church to Open Revival July 27

Revival services will open at the Church of the Nazarene in Dodson Wednesday, July 27, and continue through Sunday, August 7, the Rev. Maurice Moore, pastor, has announced.

The Rev. George Brannon of Bethany, Okla., will be the evangelist. Widely known as a youth worker and later as a pastor, in Kansas and Indiana, he has been in evangelistic work for the past 20 years.

He has been a friend of Rev. Moore for many years.

The singer will be Danny Smith of Montrose, Iowa, brother of Mrs. Maurice Moore. He was graduated from high school there this spring and was widely known in that section of Iowa as an athlete, as well as an outstanding young singer.

The services will be at 8 p.m. each evening.

Collingsworth county has been approved for federal assistance as a disaster area, as requested by Governor Price Daniel, County Judge C. C. Bishop was notified by James H. Garner, state coordinator of Civil Defense and Disaster Relief, Saturday, July 16.

The wire added that detailed information will follow, but so far, Judge Bishop said late Tuesday, this has not arrived.

Collingsworth county commissioners court made application for $102,000 assistance under the disaster program, although an earlier estimate set damage to county roads at $140,000.

Judge Bishop said the full amount was not requested because the county must first pay for the emergency work done, then ask compensation from the federal government. It was not felt, he said, that the county had money and credit to go above the $102,000 figure.

Judge Bishop said that members of the commissioners court will probably discuss this matter in a meeting Wednesday, July 20.

The group is due to sit as an equalization board on oil and gas property valuation on Wednesday morning.

Later, convening as a commissioners court, it is due to discuss the delinquent tax roll to be prepared.

The court also will be presented with a contract with the Texas Predatory Animal Control Association to be signed, opening the way for the county to have a trapper during the coming winter.

Under the proposed program the county would pay $200 per month.

Wood Coleman Named to County FHA Committee

Wood Coleman of Dozier has been named to the Collingsworth county committee of the Farmers Home Administration, it was announced Monday, July 18 by Alton Pyburn, who is in charge of the office here.

Coleman succeeds Bert Starkey of the Lone Mound community, whose term expired.

Coleman is a stock farmer and county farm leader. He is a former president of the Collingsworth County Farm Bureau and was state winner of the GI Farmer of the year contest sponsored by the Texas Department, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the Save the Soil and Save Texas awards program.

On the board of directors, Coleman joins J. I. Morgan of Quail, and Walter Camp of Dodson.

Brothers, Separated 25 Years, Reunited

A brief news story in a Kansas City paper has reunited a Dodson man and the brother he had not seen for 25 years.

They are Charles Grimes, living one and a half miles east of Dodson, and Claude Grimes of Kansas City.

The news item was released by the American Angus Association when Charles Grimes sold some registered cattle recently.

The brothers were separated at Tipton Orphans Home when Charles Grimes was 12 and his brother was 11. The former went to live with a family at Altus, and he recalls that as he left, his brother was crying.

Each has tried many times—vainly—to find the other in recent years. They have learned their paths almost crossed several times in the North African-Italian fighting in World War II.

But even with the newspaper clipping it wasn't easy for Claude Grimes to locate his brother. Finally he wrote to the mayor of Hollis, appealing for his help. Things moved fast then.

Enjoy Farm Life—Practice Safety!

Most of us balk when we see or hear any kind of list of do's and don'ts regarding our daily lives. We consider our beliefs about living our personal property, and we resent outsiders telling us how to live. "It's none of their business!" we complain.

Yet consider for a moment the number of strangers whose advice we listen to each day: bankers, doctors, machinery experts, newspaper columnists, lawyers, radio announcers—the list could go on forever. We're bombarded by advice all day from a variety of experts.

According to President Eisenhower, who proclaimed July 24-30 as National Farm Safety Week, accidents, in addition to draining our nation's financial resources, "bring death, disability, suffering and hardship to thousands of farm people annually." Safety habits, therefore, are vitally needed if there are to be fewer deaths and injuries, less expense, grief and suffering on the farm and a prosperous national economy.

The Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council, which is pushing a farm safety education campaign in Texas, tells us that farm life can be enjoyed by practicing safety each day. The Council asks farmers and ranchers to check their home electric and heating systems, to check and repair equipment, to keep children away from machinery and livestock. It warns against falls, resulting from hurry and unsafe ladders. The farmer or rancher is cautioned to make sure all farm equipment is operating safely and to stop machines before unclogging, oiling or adjusting them.

This is good advice, not only during Farm Safety Week, but the other 51 weeks of the year, too!

In Event Bomb Strikes Bureaucrats Are to be Saved First

An article in the Houston Chronicle June 16 with a Washington dateline said that a $2,700,000.00 bombproof shelter is to be erected at Denton, Texas, and will get under way next February.

But the Regional Director for the Office of Civil Defense and Mobilization for the area, one Mr. Welcome Wilson, practically dropped a bomb himself when he said at the dinner in Washington where the project was announced that the Denton shelter "would be able to take care of some 500 Federal officials from Dallas and Fort Worth" should disaster strike. They could, he asserted, "rush to Denton by way of an express highway without even stopping for a traffic light." As further evidence of the shelter's value in preserving the nation's most priceless possessions, the official explained that "it would also have facilities for Speaker Sam Rayburn whose home is only a short distance away."

Now Director Wilson may be in possession of information and data which we don't have which would warrant him in the assumption that Federal officials, including Sam Rayburn, are not expendable and must be preserved at all costs but we venture the suggestion that there are at least several schools of thought in the matter.

Anyway, what would it profit the Federal officials to huddle safely in a bombproof shelter and let the common garden variety of citizens be mowed down by the bombs? There would be no taxpayers left to put up the money for them to fling around and in that case they would just as soon be dead any way.

Besides, Mr. Hal Draper, a Harris County, Texas, citizen has a better solution for the protection of frightened bureaucrats in the event of disaster. He suggests that in that case they all scurry back to Washington and cluster around the Supreme Court building as no Soviet in his right mind would allow a bomb to be dropped on that friendly edifice.

Meantime, after the shelter is completed, and if Mr. Khrushchev decides to drop one of his lethal calling cards on the Denton area, plain vanilla Americans had better make themselves scarce and hop out of the way or they will be squashed into the concrete as 500 Federal officials come hurtling down the highway at top speed.

Army Ready for World War III

Hooray for the Army!

The Engineer Research Laboratory at Ft. Belvoir, Va., has announced completion of another step toward preparedness for World War III.

In one minute, it can dig a trench two feet wide, four feet deep and 20 feet long "under favorable conditions." It can excavate six cubic yards of earth a minute "under favorable conditions." (There was no timing for soil full of rocks and roots.)

The announcement added: "The new machine is capable of performing all types of Army excavation work. It can dig one-man and two-man foxholes in a minute under favorable conditions. It can dig heavy machine-gun emplacements in a little over three minutes and large horseshoe-type emplacements in five minutes."

We can now feel assured we will win the next war "under favorable conditions." That is, if the next one is to be of trench warfare-type, as World War I was. Or is the Army getting back to boondoggling with a new zest?

CROSSROADS

REPORT

Dear Editor:

My dilapidated neighbor says he notes that before the Democratic Convention all the candidates were bragging about their good health, but most of them are now sick.

Says Mr. Kennedy ought to have left a little more margin for being puny, else if he's elected he won't have any excuse for golfing, fishing or other acrobatic loafing.

Says, anyhow, even a Presidential candidate had better be careful about advertising his robustious condition, or somebody is liable to put a lawn mower handle in his hands.

I see where Pres. Ike has warned Khrushchev to keep paws off Cuba, and my short-suffering neighbor says it's good to note that somebody in Washington is taking up for the U. S. again.

Says here lately, just about anything that happens in the world, we apologize for it and pay the damages.

Claims he is tired of this craven image the world has got of Americans as folks who can be safely insulted, shot at, robbed and hornswoggled. Says we're nursing an inferiority complex which we ought to be giving to others.

I see where the King of Thailand says us Americans ought to take it easier, on account of we go so fast we don't have time to be happy like his people.

Which my worn-nose neighbor says proves Phumiphon is a somewhat less wise king than Solomon, or he wouldn't be recommending that U. S. citizens scratch the rat race.

Says if Americans double-cross their ulcers and call off the dollar-chase, a lot of those happy Thailanders might have to go to work.

I note that when Cuba or some other country hijacks a U. S. citizen's property, there are only very shy protests from Washington.

My home-gouged neighbor says you might think the Poto-mac crowd would resent this poaching on their pigeons, but he guesses they feel like there is enough for all.

And says the results are about the same to a victim, whether his property gets confiscated by greedy politicians at gun-point, or by Form 1040 at jail-point.

I see where the Federal Trade Commission is all upset on account of some business firms put a high list price on an item, so they can give a big discount and sell it for about what it's worth.

But my sharp trader neighbor says he couldn't afford to wear a $100 watch if he didn't get it for $19.95.

Says, anyhow, the F T C ought to look into the matter of Congress advertising some taxes as "temporary" if they really want to discourage public muleture.

I see where our tired Congressmen managed to fatten up their personal pension pickings before they took off for the Los Angeles and Chicago vote-trap settings.

But my humane neighbor says this does not mean that our great statesmen are fundamentally faster on draw and trigger with legislation of a self-pelting nature.

Says, after all, laws to raise Congressional wages, pensions and fringe benefits are sponsored by a very powerful lobby, which turns on the heat every time a legislator looks in a mirror.

This is the time of year when most farm accidents occur. We may hurry a little more to make up for delays. We may be so busy we become careless.

Farm Safety Week is your reminder that a few minutes of your time now is worth your life or your arm. Power farming is more dangerous than making dynamite. Every day, 11 farmers die and 89 more are seriously injured in farm accidents.

We of this business firm know you and know your family. For your sake, we hope you will check your equipment, check your attitudes and check your actions.

Curbing Farm Accidents Is Goal of Safety Week

COLLEGE STATION.—The farm pond or stock tank has become a familiar sight in Texas. These ponds are important sources of pleasure and that indispensable commodity—water. Unless proper safety precautions are taken, however, these same useful ponds can become a source of tragedy, says the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council.

To emphasize the seriousness of farm pond hazards, the Safety Council points to a recent nationwide tabulation of farm deaths. Texas ranked sixth in the number of deaths caused by drowning. This is one "Top-Ten" list, they add, that Texas should not be in.

Anyone who has a pond or tank on his land should observe, and enforce, the following safety precautions. These measures could save a lot of grief, reminds the Safety Council:

Control Ants With Insecticides

COLLEGE STATION.—Ants can be a real household nuisance but applications of the right insecticides will bring them under control in a hurry. Entomologists of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service say that chlordane or dieldrin, sold in many stores as roach and ant sprays, are very effective against ants.

The entomologists point out that several species of ants can become pests in the home. Some may nest in the house, but most build their nests outside and find their way inside through openings. Once they find a food supply they set up a regular route between the food and their nest.

The most common species found in Texas are the Pharaoh, thief, black crazy, fire and Argentine ants. They range in size from the tiny Pharaohs to the much larger fire ants. They feed on any kind of food material in the home including sweets and greasy foods. The thief ant prefers greasy foods.

For inside the home applications, the entomologists recommend a two or three per cent chlordane or a five-tenths (.5) per cent dieldrin household spray. Special attention should be given to drainboards, window sill, door openings and pantry shelves.

For outdoor applications, the entomologists recommend a 10 per cent chlordane, 2 per cent dieldrin, or 5 per cent heptachlor dust. If an emulsion spray is used, they strongly urge that label directions be followed. They suggest that a band of insecticidal dust or spray be applied around the foundation wall and that all ant nests in the yard be treated.

They point out that repeated applications of the insecticides may be needed to give complete control of ants. They suggest that a copy of L-311, the "Texas Guide for Controlling Household Insects" be obtained from the local county extension agent. The Guide lists control measures for the more commonly found household insects, including those attacking fabrics, foods, structures and humans.

Successful Farming Must Be Safe Farming!

- ✓ Each year 12,000 people are killed on American farms.
- ✓ That's twice as many people as live in all of Collingsworth county.
- ✓ Accidents are most costly in human life, but they are also costly in suffering and expense.
- ✓ Don't take chances. Clean up and fix up your buildings and machinery. Be careful with livestock. Use extra caution with electricity. Keep YOUR farm accident free.
- ✓ Follow the rules of safe farming and keep your farm accident free. You are the only one who can do this.

These facts make Farm Safety Week Important!

Farm work accidents claim about 3,500 lives each year, more than any other major industry.

About 12,000 farm residents lose their lives each year in all types of accidents.

A million or more farm people suffer accidental injuries and the accompanying disabilities, miseries, and financial troubles each year . . . because of accidents.

Safety makes sense . . .

- Fewer Deaths
- Fewer Injuries
- Less Expense
- Less Grief and Suffering

Who Loses After an Accident?

Everyone in the nation is affected, directly or indirectly, by the annual farm accident toll. Business in general loses economically and socially, after a farm accident. The victims and their families, however, suffer the greatest loss.

Human Failure . . .

Human failure, not motor vehicles, farm implements or animals, is the basic cause of accidents. In nearly every case, human failure to recognize and correct a hazard is the real cause of accidental death and injury. Human failures include:

- Hurry
- Procrastination
- False Confidence
- Improper care and use of equipment
- Lack of common sense
- Lack of Knowledge
- Improper equipment

Miss Roberta Posey Weds Delbert Long in Ceremony here Saturday

Wedding vows were said by Miss Roberta Ann Posey and Delbert Hugh Long of Ponca City, Okla., at eight o'clock Saturday evening, July 16, in the Church of the Nazarene. The Rev. Jack Rairdon, a member of the faculty of Bethany Nazarene College, performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Posey, while Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Long of Ponca City, Okla., are the parents of the bridegroom.

Robert Glasgow of Jacksonville, Ill., played the organ prelude and used the "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin, Wagner and the "Wedding March" from Mendelssohn's Midsummer Night's Dream as the processional and recessional.

Wayne Long of Ponca City, the brother of the bridegroom, was the vocalist, singing "Bless This House," "Because" and at the end of the ceremony, "The Lord's Prayer."

The altar was banked by a screen of jade and above this, for the entire length were lighted tapers. Jade and white gladioli sprays were entwined in the center arch, and on either side were sunburst arrangements of white gladioli in pedestal holders. At each end was a spiral candelabra, holding lighted tapers, and a satin-covered prie dieu completed the altar arrangement.

Lighted tapers in seven-branched candelabras extended across the back of the church and arrangements of tapers and jade leaves were at intervals along the sides of the church. Sprays of gladioli, tied with white satin, were at each pew.

Mr. Posey gave his daughter in marriage.

Her wedding gown was of hand-clipped chantilly lace. The elongated bodice featured a sabrina neck adorned with seed pearls and sequins and long tapered sleeves. The tiered skirt, with a self-material bow at the back, swept to a chapel train. Her veil of illusion fell from an aurora borealis crown and she carried a bouquet of white Fujii chrysanthemums centered with white roses.

Mrs. James Posey of Bethany, Okla., sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor, and the bridesmaids were Mrs. L. E. Williamson of Merriam, Kan., Miss Jacquelyn West of Oklahoma City, Mrs. John Hill of Lawton, Okla., and Miss Jeanette Singer of San Francisco, Calif.

They wore identical dresses of white silk organza, made with long square necklines and pouff sleeves. The full skirts were street length. Their head-pieces were Dior bows of matching organza. Their bouquets were fashioned after the bride's, of orchid Fujii chrysanthemums and purple violets.

Wayne Long also served as his brother's best man, and the ushers were Fred MacLaren of Oklahoma City, Joe Harvey of Midwest City, Okla., James Posey, brother of the bride, of Bethany, Okla., and Dan Hobbs, of Norman, Okla.

The candles were lighted by Glen Gilmore and Michael Gilmore, cousins of the bride, while the flower girl was Gigi Williamson of Merriam, Kan., and Don Bartlett was the ring bearer.

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Posey were hosts at the reception in the club room of the community building.

White net over taffeta covered the reception table, which was centered with the bridesmaids' bouquets. Mrs. Earl Lynn Bartlett served the wedding cake and Mrs. Mack Bush poured. Assisting were Miss Karen Childress, Miss Patricia Kimbro and Miss Nancy Emert.

Mrs. Dale Pedigo of Amarillo registered the guests and Juanita Long, the bridegroom's sister, was at the rice table.

As the couple left on their wedding trip, the bride wore a white suit with white accessories. Her corsage was of white roses.

Both the bride and bridegroom are working toward their doctors degrees in the University of Oklahoma. Mrs. Long was graduated from high school here and received her bachelor of arts degree magna cum laude from Bethany Nazarene College in 1956. She was awarded her master of education degree from the University of Oklahoma. She was employed by the American University Alumni in Bangkok, Thailand, and upon returning, she resumed her work at the University.

Mr. Long is principal of the University of Oklahoma high school. A graduate of Ponca City high school, he received bachelor of arts and masters degrees from the University of Oklahoma in 1957 and 1958 respectively.

The couple will make their home at 1213 Leslie Lane, Norman, Okla.

Thinking About Your Vacation

Most people are at this time of the year, but far too often the big question is where to get the money to take the kind of a vacation you want.

Look around your premises and you may find the answer—stored away in the attic or the storeroom or even sitting out rusting in your own yard or on your farm.

There may be any number of things that you no longer use, but which might be desirable for someone else.

What about that old chair or that bedroom suite you have not used for years. What about the hand mower you replaced with a power mower? What about some of the farm implements you no longer need? What about hundreds of items you are no longer using?

SOMEBODY NEEDS THEM and will buy them if the Price is Right.

Leader Want Ads have sold a multitude of such items in the past and they can do it for you this summer. They pack a big selling wallop and at very moderate cost.

Patrons May Refuse Any Circular Mail

A question commonly asked of post offices is what can be done to prevent receipt of unsolicited and unwanted third-class mail matter, especially advertising circulars.

Patrons may refuse unwanted circular matter by endorsing it "Refused" and handing it back to the carrier or placing it in a collection box. This would then cause the piece to be returned to the sender, provided the sender has placed a guarantee on the mail stating that return postage will be paid. If this guarantee is not shown on the envelope then it would be useless to refuse this type of mail, as the post office destroys all undelivered third-class matter which does not carry assurance of return postage.

Those who wish to refuse third-class matter should note whether or not the sender has agreed to pay return postage, which is indicated by one of the following endorsements on the left-hand side of the mailing piece:

Return Postage Guaranteed.
Forwarding Postage Guaranteed.

Form 3547 Requested.
"Refusal to accept mail matter is not always an assurance that no more will be received. Even though you endorse unwanted pieces of third-class mail 'Refused' and the sender has a guarantee to pay return postage, you may still be plagued with this type of mail unless your name is removed from the sender's mailing list."

The most direct and most effective action toward stopping

THE WELLINGTON (TEXAS) LEADER
Thursday, July 21, 1960

objectionable third-class mail is to return the piece to the sender with the request that you be taken off his mailing list.

Complaints to the postmaster are important when obscene materials are involved, but only the recipient can do anything to discourage or eliminate receipt of matter which is not morally or legally offensive. All matter that enters the mails properly prepared and carrying adequate postage must be delivered.

Increased mechanization marked the Texas cotton harvest in 1959-60. Machine stripping and picking accounted for 44 per cent of the State's upland harvest last year . . . up from 35 per cent for a year earlier.

Your Bank Is Concerned With Farm Safety, Too

only as our farmer customers thrive can this bank and this community prosper

Farm safety should be practiced by every farmer for the sake of his life, his health, and his family's happiness.

And now may we point to a part of farm safety to which this bank is closely concerned.

We urge you to practice FARM SAFETY for the sake of your finances. One farm accident can cost an entire year's profit, or more. It can take the money you had planned to use for farm improvements, for capital investments, for new machinery or for your children's education.

It is a heartbreaking loss to you that may mean hardship for several years to come. It is a loss to the community in the money you would have spent here, the participation you would have given community affairs.

Habits of alertness to accidents encourage other habits of alertness, too. An orderly and accident free farm indicates an operator who has developed orderly ways of conducting his business, of conducting his life.

This is Farm Safety Week. The Wellington State Bank urges you to practice farm safety every week of the year.

FORMER RESIDENTS VISIT HERE AFTER LONG ABSENCE

A pharmacist here more than 40 years ago, and his son, who is now an Oklahoma City lawyer, returned last week for a short visit, and to observe the changes in the town since they left.

The two were D. L. Gibson, of Wellston, Okla., who was a pharmacist for Hardy and O'Neil Drug store from 1913 to 1917, and again in 1920 and 1921. His son is J. I. Gibson. It was the first visit here in 30 years for the father; the son had not been in Wellington since the family moved away, while he was a schoolboy.

Traveling by plane on a business trip, they were accompanied by Leslie Miller of Oklahoma City, pilot for Fain-Porter Drilling Co.

In Wellington, most of their time was spent with J. B. Castleberry and his son, Bobo Castleberry one of the few families remaining with whom they were closely associated.

Upon leaving here, D. L. Gibson bought a drug store in Wellston, Okla. He is also a registered optometrist and now devotes most of his time to that work.

J. I. Gibson recalled that he attended grade school and his first year of high school here. A graduate of the University of Oklahoma, he recalled how many top football stars that school has had from Hollis. "I can remember when Wellington used to beat Hollis in football," he said. "Of course, we played Eddie Moore after he was graduated from high school, but Hollis was doing the same thing."

Tate on Tech Honor Roll

Rudie Tate has been notified by the dean of Texas Technological College, Lubbock, that he was on the honor roll for the second semester.

This places him in the top 5 per cent of the students in the school of agriculture, which has an enrollment of over 900. Tate is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Tate of Lutie, and in September will begin his senior year at Tech.

Mrs. Bertha Williams, her daughter, Mrs. Roy Snyder and daughters, Cheryl, Dianne and Donna of Twitty, visited last Thursday and Friday in White Deer and Borger. They were guests in the home of two of Mrs. Williams' sons and daughters-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Junior Williams of White Deer, and Mr. and Mrs. Austin Williams of Borger.

Scout Swim Meet Here

Marian Airpark Pool has been chosen for the Comanche District Boy Scout swim meet on August 10, Murray Smith, district executive, announced this week.

Dr. Byron Range of Shamrock, chairman of health and safety activities for the district will be in charge of the meet.

Complete plans will be announced later.

Schools Enroll 262,000 More in September

This September, 262,420 children are expected to enter the public schools of Texas for the first time, according to estimates of the Texas Education Agency.

Estimates are based on births six years ago, immigration estimates and projected birth-to-deaths ratios.

Nearly all public school districts in Texas require proof-of-age in the form of a birth certificate or a suitable certified copy stating that they are six years old on or before September 1.

During July and August, because of the increased demand for birth certificate copies, the Division of Vital Statistics of the Texas State Department of Health is one of the busiest places in Texas.

At the peak periods more than a thousand requests for certified copies will be processed daily.

After the request is received with the correct information and fee properly accounted, a card is prepared which serves as a record of the transaction and an aid in locating the original record.

A special searching crew—extra personnel are needed

Nematodes Serious Cotton Pest

COLLEGE STATION—Nematodes damage cotton in all areas of Texas. The small microscopic worms are more damaging in sandy and loam type soils.

Nematode injury is often overlooked or mistakenly diagnosed as drought damage and poor soil. Damage may vary from slight to as much as 30 per cent of the crop.

The root knot nematodes are the most damaging and most easily recognized. Damage by nematodes result in knots or galls being formed on the roots. Young cotton seedlings can be attacked by the parasites causing them to die or be weakened.

Nematodes damage the roots and provide a gateway for the fusarium wilt fungus to enter. The fusarium wilt disease once thought of as only an East Texas disease has been moving west in recent years. It has been observed in the Wichita Falls, O'Brien and Muleshoe areas.

Other nematodes that cause damage are the dagger, a stubby root and stilet nematodes. The root lesion, lance and true spiral nematodes are suspect-during peak periods — locates the original birth certificate from information furnished on the record card.

Unless there is a complication, such as incorrect or incomplete information, searching takes a short while by using an index specially designed for school searches.

The original certificate is photostated, officially signed and sealed, and mailed to the person requesting the copy.

A record is kept of the transaction for accounting purposes with appropriate listings.

Parents having a child entering the first grade this year should check with the superintendent of school regarding local regulations.

A certified copy of birth may be obtained from a local registrar, county clerk, or the Division of Vital Statistics of the Texas State Department of Health, 410 East 5th Street, Austin, Texas.

Enclose one dollar with the child's name, date and place of birth, and the parents' names.

For The Woman On The Go ...

The Medallion Home is built for the "Woman On The Go"—with the completely automatic Electric Range she doesn't need to "sit" and watch her cooking—economical, too, for less than 3¢ the average family served by WTU can cook a complete meal the modern electric way... and enjoy the convenience of electric living.

Make Your Farm Safe

Electricity is the farmer's hired hand... it's the housewife's chore girl. Hundreds of you enjoy the convenience of electricity around your farm. But you cannot afford to be careless with electricity. So we urge you...

- Are all electric circuits equipped with proper fuses? (Branch fuses should generally not exceed 20 amps)
- Do you cut off current when working on electrical equipment?
- Are you using an approved commercial fence controller?
- Is the path to main switchbox free of all obstructions?
- Do you avoid replacing burned out fuses with coins, wire or other metal?
- Do you use moisture-proof cords for outside weather conditions and heavy rubber cords for motor and motor driven appliances?
- Are all electrical appliances in proper condition? Are they being properly operated?
- Do you know how to treat cases of electric shock?

If you have electrical hazards—correct them

But do not try to repair electrical lines and installations. It can be highly dangerous... instead, phone us. That is our business. Remember, the main line serving your farm carries 3 times the voltage used on an electric chair.

FAMILY PUTS 2,000 MILES A MONTH ON CORVAIR THINKS IT'S MARVELOUS GAS MILEAGE "OUT OF THIS WORLD"

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kahelin of Plant City, Florida, couldn't be happier with the way their new Corvair has worked out as a combination family and business car. On their newspaper distribution route alone they travel more than 400 miles a week over all kinds of roads. Little wonder they're so pleased with the gas mileage they've been getting—"at least twenty-three miles to the gallon with an automatic transmission... and we've had no trouble with our Corvair." The Kahelins have equally good things to say about Corvair's easy-going comfort and unique convenience features. They especially like the way the fold-down seat doubles as a built-in baby sitter.

Joyce Alexander Wins Dress Review

Joyce Alexander, Samnorwood 4-H Club girl, will represent Collingsworth county in the district dress revue in Amarillo Thursday, July 28, after winning the senior division of the local event Monday afternoon.

She was one of four winners picked in the annual 4-H dress review, but girls in the younger groups participate only on the local level, Miss Kathryn Potter, county home demonstration agent, explained.

Joyce is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Alexander of Lurie community.

The event was held in the Greenbelt Electric directors' room.

Winning the division for girls 9 to 11 years of age was Nancy Sikes of Wellington. This group wore gathered skirts they had made for themselves.

Others in the division were Nancy Thomas, Nancy Sanford, Beth Sikes and Lajuanda Peters.

Rebecca Holliman of Quail placed first in the division for girls 11 years old, who modeled their skirts and blouses. Glenda Lancaster was the other contestant.

Lonetta Neely of Quail 4-H was first in the 12 and 13 year age group that made school dresses. Also participating were Nancy Alexander, Sue Saunders, Alcie Holliman and Linda Sikes.

Joyce was the only entry in the division for girls 14 years of age and over.

The winner of the district dress review will participate in the state 4-H dress review later in the summer.

Demonstrate Flame Weed Control Monday

A flame cultivation demonstration will be given at the John Eron Forbis farm in the Fresno community Monday, July 25, at 1 p.m., it was announced this week by Boyd Derryberry, owner of the Wellington Butane, which is sponsoring the demonstration.

This will be the first public demonstration of flame cultivation given here, and all interested farmers are invited to attend, Derryberry said.

An engineer representing the Gotcher Engineering and Manufacturing Company, will be present to give the demonstration.

Interest in flame cultivation or weed killing was first aroused in the county last year, when several farmers observed a unit in operation on the Plains.

"Flame cultivation is nothing more than selective burning," Derryberry pointed out. "Many row crops will withstand more heat, properly applied, than most of the weeds that infest them. By using specially designed equipment, a blast of heat can be directed through the cultivated row at the base of the plants without injury to the cultivated crops."

The unit to be used in the demonstration works off the tool bar of a tractor, and according to engineers of the Gotcher company, a 4-row unit will cover 30 to 50 acres per day.

On the other hand Bob Bowen said: "The platform is a bitter pill to swallow, but I intend to vote Democratic regardless. I have never voted for a Republican and I never will."

We went over to Shamrock Sunday to visit Mrs. Temple Atkins, the mother of the late Marian Wells. She is another one who votes Democratic regardless of the platform or the candidates.

Next week is National Farm Safety Week. Farming and ranching continue to be the most hazardous occupations in the United States. There are a number of advertisements and stories in this issue that deserve careful reading. The cartoon on the editorial page this week is downright funny. The only trouble is it happens to be true.

D. E. Scott is one of those who think this column should be on the front page every week. My son thinks it is easier to find and shows up better on the back page; so the first time D.E.'s back is turned you can look for it on the back page.

There are also those who think the column is at its best when left out of the paper entirely.

here last winter were terrific," the judge said. "A number of people said they lost young livestock. We offered to put a trapper on, but the Texas Predatory Animal Control couldn't get one for us."

If the contract is approved by the commissioners court, Judge Bishop estimated that a trapper would probably begin work in the county about Oct. 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Terry were in Kermit over the week end visiting in the home of their son, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Claude Terry and son, and to be with their granddaughter, Carolyn Terry who is in the hospital there.

State Capital NEWS

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN.—Things are rather quiet around the State Capitol these days.

For one thing, it's the "off season," the hiatus that regularly occurs between state elections and the convening of a new legislature.

For another, it's vacation time with a part of almost every agency staff off to forget it all for a time.

Despite these distractions, state government goes on. Studies are under way on many subjects, on budgets, tax plans and other future legislation. It's important work, but quiet, during this digging and analyzing stage. It'll break into the news next fall as reports are made and trial balloons are run up on bills to be introduced in January.

Surest indication that state government is still on the job is that even now it's hard to find a parking place near the Capitol or the adjoining state office buildings.

During the summer a dozen or so parking slots by the Capitol's east entrance are set aside for tourists. As a rule, tourists don't keep them filled and Capitol guards are regularly beset by the persuasiveness of local people who need a place to park "just for a minute."

No Turning Back

Child adoption procedures, under Texas law, are about as final as anything can be—more so than marriage or divorce.

Texas Supreme Court underlined this in a recent decision that denied the right to change her mind to a mother who had given written permission for her children to be adopted.

In the case at issue, the mother, a widow, gave written permission for her two children to be adopted. Two months later, having remarried, she sought to regain the children.

Lower courts held in favor of the natural mother, but the Supreme Court ruled that only fraud could be a basis for revoking of adoption consent.

Said the court opinion of the adoption laws: "The Legislature had the safety, education, care and protection of the children uppermost in mind and not primarily the contentment or welfare of either the natural or adoptive parents."

No Misunderstanding

In another ruling involving adoption, the Supreme Court held that an adopted child could not inherit a trust set up for a direct descendant.

As a result, a 4-year-old boy lost the chance to claim $830,000.

In the case originating in Dallas, the lower courts had upheld the child's claim to the money from his late grandfather's estate.

In his will, the grandfather had instructed that the $830,000 trust be set up if "any child of my son is born after my death." High court ruled that this made it highly unlikely that the maker of the will intended the money to go to a child born to persons other than his son and daughter-in-law.

Oil on the Highways

On the heels of a U.S. Supreme Court decision that Texas owns its tidelands 10½ miles out, comes a ruling that the state also owns the right-of-way along public roads.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson ruled that the state, not the county, owns the road right-of-way and that the counties cannot lease the land for mineral development.

Whether the state should exercise its right and lease right-of-way lands for oil and gas exploration probably will not be decided until the Legislature sets a policy. Involved is some 1,200,000 acres of land on 228,000 miles of public roads, some of it across areas with oil-bearing strata.

Readin', 'Ritin' and Driving

State Board of Education took a jaundiced view of a proposal for state-supported driver education in public schools. Plea for driver education, one of the main planks in Gov. Daniels' program for increased traffic safety, was presented by Brad Smith, director of the governor's highway safety commission.

"Driver education in the schools is the only way to reduce the flow of uneducated drivers into the stream of traffic," Smith declared. A statewide driver training program has been the goal of the huge

C. T. Simpson Rites Monday

Funeral services for C. T. Simpson of Jacksboro, formerly of this area, were conducted at First Baptist Church there Monday, July 18, at 10 a.m. and graveside service and burial were at Shamrock that afternoon at 4:30. He was a brother of V. J. Simpson of Wellington, and had visited here several times recently.

A former resident of this county, he had taught school at Lillie, Aberdeen and Lurie many years ago, and later was grade school principal at Shamrock for several years before moving to Jacksboro where he had made his home for some time.

Other survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Charles Swisher of Houston; two sons, Joe Simpson of San Antonio, Ed Simpson of Bay City; and two sisters, Mrs. Ruth Moore and Miss Faye Simpson of Beaumont.

Guar Urged as Summer Legume in Area

COLLEGE STATION.—

Guar, a drought resistant dual-purpose summer legume is well adapted to the climate of Texas, said R. D. Staten, assistant agronomist of the Texas A&M College system. Staten said that three varieties of guar—Texsel, Groehler and Mesa—are all excellent summer legumes for the state.

Staten also said Guar is resistant to cotton root rot, is a dependable producer of high yields of forage and seed, is a valuable livestock feed and increases yield of the crop which follows it.

Texsel and Groehler guar consistently produce high yields of seed and are used more frequently for seed production than for forage. Mesa produces large yields of vegetable matter and is valuable as a green manure crop or for silage.

Guar is adapted to a wide range of soil types, but thrives best on medium-textured and sandy types. The major area for guar seed production is west of the 35-inch rainfall line.

Further information on guar may be obtained by writing the Agricultural Information Office, Texas A&M College, at College Station, and requesting Leaflet L-482.

Mrs. Odessa McMahan and son, Robert, have returned to their home in El Paso after a ten days visit here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Shanks, and other relatives.

5 Girls

Classwork starts with five hours of Spanish every day, and by the end of the summer session, they will have a working knowledge of the language. They also will have a course in Mexican folklore and study Mexican dancing.

Officially, the school is the Instituto Tecnológico e day Estudios Superiores de Monterrey, but Texans—and others from north of the Rio Grande, simply call it Monterrey Tech.

During the regular school term it is a boys school, but for the summer session, the program is broadened to include girls of high school classification, as well as students with graduate standing. The course the Wellington girls will take is six weeks long.

There will be much to entertain the girls outside of class hours: picnics, visits to Monterrey homes, horseback rides, and a trip to Horsetail Falls.

Wearing colorful squaw dresses they acquired before they left, the girls will attend several Mexican dances, along with their chaperone.

"Can you come up? My vacation isn't until August."

"I'm practically on my way," was the reply, and Charles Grimes left next morning.

The reunion took place in the office of a van line in Kansas City, where Claude Grimes is employed.

The latter's pleased employer told him, "You're not fit to work. Take a vacation."

First the two visited in Kansas City, then they came to Dodge City. Following a week here they went together to Oklahoma City to visit a sister, Mrs. Nellie King, whom Claude Grimes had not seen either.

Claude Grimes has a wife and three children; Charles Grimes is married to the former Miss Billy Jo Owens, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Owens of Dodge City.
