STERLING HOLDS FIRM HAND ON DEMO REINS

Guardsmen Mobilized In New Orleans On Eve Of Bitterly Fought Election

Home Town Talk

By B. D. D.

Charles I. Francis, Wichita Falls attorney, will be one of three floor leaders for nominee Ross Sterling at the Democratic convention in Galveston this week. Mr. Francis is a member of the state executive committee. He is a leader among the younger Democrats of the state and is a courageous and able exponent of progressive policies and measures.

Mr. Francis is one of those men, and fortunately there are many of them, who give of their time and money and effort in political activity not only because they like the stimulation of politics but also because they wish to serve their party, their state and their communities. Men like Mr. Francis do not ask or expect reward in the form of political favors or political office. A lot in politics is selfishness and self-seeking. Men like Mr. Francis, and Talker hopes too that Ross Sterling may be included, are the leaven that makes for service and progress.

After every campaign men of this character will be heard saying they are through with politics and will never engage in another fight, but the next election will find them giving active support to men and measures whom and which they believe will best serve the state and nation.

A new and larger army than ever before entered the doors of public schools of Texas Monday as the result of the new law lowering the scholastic age from 7 to 6 years. Many thousands of these 6-year-olds were enrolled in the schools instead of remaining at home another year—in Wichita Falls it was estimated there would be nearly 1,000 of them.

In many schools there will be overcrowding and teachers will have too many young charges to handle. There will be disadvantages as well as advantages from the new rule. Here in Wichita Falls nearly $100,000 has been expended in additions to school buildings to take care of the new enlistment of pupils, and additional teachers have been employed.

Not all educators are agreed that the lowering of the scholastic age was in the best interest of education in Texas. They realized better than the average citizen the burden the change would impose upon the schools and the expense that would be added. From a survey it appeared there was no particular advantage to the pupil in earlier matriculation.

But if there is no particular advantage in it from an educational standpoint, we at least have the knowledge that many states begin the scholastic age at 6 years and no harmful results have been observed. Anyway the lower scolastic age is in effect in Texas and we can expect our public schools to meet conditions with that fine spirit of sacrifice and service which has always characterized the profession of teaching.

From New York where the national convention of dancing masters was held last month comes the news that the waltz, the slow fox trot the fast fox trot and some new novelty steps and tap dancing will be popular this season. The pendulum seems to be swinging back toward formality and dignity in many expressions of life—our dances among others.

This change is progressing along a wide front with a wedge being forced forward here and there. Some of these forward movements are thrust back because they are too much out of tune with the practical spirit of these modern days. Such a thrust that is being forced back was the movement that began a year or so ago by women to let their hair grow long. Most of those who let their hair grow long have capitulated and shortened their tresses again.

"Even those most in favor of long hair a year ago are losing ground today," says Baron de Meyer, Paris fashion authority of Harper's Bazaar and photographer of Europe's most fashionable women. "Their state of joy was short-lived, for it has been followed by the day on which unpleasant facts had to be faced; the day on which they discovered that their unruly locks had destroyed the youthful outline of the head. It was suddenly obvious that long hair had begun to make women look old, who up to then had seemed to be quite young. The undeniable fact now is that short hair for women has ceased to be what might be called a fashion and is now only a part of modern evolution."

HUEY P. LONG UNDER GUARD AFTER SCRAP

Possibility of Martial Law Seen as Units Assemble

FEELING INTENSE

Blows Mark Climax Of Stormy Senatorial Campaign

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 8. (UP)—The possibility that Gov. Huey P. Long would place New Orleans under martial law for the Louisiana primary election tomorrow was bolstered tonight by mobilization of eight units of the Louisiana national guard at Jackson barracks.

Four batteries of artillery, under command of Lieut. Henry B. Curtis, and four companies of infantry were billeted at the Rambling barracks on the city's outskirts.

Other infantry units, it was learned, have been ordered to report at Jackson barracks at 6:30 a. m., tomorrow.

Feeling Intense

Feeling was at a high pitch here tonight at the close of Louisiana's stormiest political campaign since reconstruction days.

Guards were first assembled at Jackson barracks Sunday night and were detained today as bodyguards for Gov. Huey P. Long, running in the primary election tomorrow for the Democratic nomination to the United States senate against Senator Joseph Ransdell, prominent in congress for more than three decades.

Additional city police were on duty tonight and more were ordered to report at the opening of polls tomorrow. All newspaper publishing plants here were under heavy guard.

Guards Free Streets

Scores of militiamen were on the streets, but failed to explain why they were in uniform. Several militia officers in uniform were with Governor Long. All wore their side arms.

Governor Long, stormy center of politics in this state, who twice has escaped efforts of impeachment before the state legislature, said today he would call out the national guard if he was not "given a fair election."

Texas A. & M. to Have New Three-Story Dorm

AUSTIN, Sept. 8. (AP)—Construction of a three-story dormitory at Texas A. & M. college was announced today. Bids for the new building will be taken Sept. 12 and work will start immediately. The structure will be the largest dormitory on the campus.

Bids for a new three-story cell block and administration building at the Huntsville penitentiary will be received Sept. 15, architects also announced. The cell block will be of concrete and steel construction.

Crash From Bed Delays Flight of Aerial Clown

CHICAGO, Sept. 8. (UP)—A spinal "crackup" resulting from a fall out of bed caused Al Wilson, aerial clown, to delay his intended cross-country flight to Los Angeles in his antiquated "crate," a 1911 model Curtiss Pusher plane.

"I guess I did a loop in my sleep," explained Wilson, who suffered dislocation of two vertebrae when he landed on the floor of his room in the Hotel Sherman.

"If my back's repaired in the next day or so I'll take off Thursday or Friday probably," he said

SLAYS TWO

BROWNSVILLE, Texas, Sept. 8. (UP)—Manuel Beltram was held here tonight for the fatal stabbing of Angelita Garza and Catarina Cisneros, at San Benito, Sunday. He admitted to officers that he stabbed Angelita because she spurned him but gave no reason for killing the other woman.

VETERAN'S BODY RECOVERED

COOPER, Texas, Sept. 8. (UP)—The body of Foster Whitley, 40, was found in the South Sulphur river near here today. He had been in poor health due to shell shock and gas suffered while serving in the 36th division during the war.

Good Rains Reported by Many Towns in Texas and Oklahoma

Lightning Starts $3,000 Fire at Electra; Comanche and Tillman Counties Get Heavy Showers

The old saying that "it's bound to rain between the 1st and 15th of September," recalled optimistically at recent drouth meetings over this section of the country, made good throughout Northwest Texas and Southwest Oklahoma Monday night when rains varying from cool showers to downpours drenched the territory and sent unusual high temperatures scurrying to lower levels on the thermometer.

The Wichita Falls vicinity received a good drenching which began with a light shower about 8 o'clock, shortly after high winds swept over the city. The shower changed into a downpour within a short while, although the heavy rain lasted but a few minutes. At 9 o'clock the rain was falling steadily and the temperature, which rose to 104 earlier in the day, had dropped sharply to more agreeable levels.

Bolt Hits Barn

FISH STORY

Two Wichita Falls men who were a bit skeptical about tales of raining fish were convinced Monday night when they saw the actual thing.

E. B. Smith and L. F. Lamb were driving along Harrison street near the Lucile intersection Monday night when something suddenly appeared on the street in the glare of their headlights. In spite of the heavy rain at that moment they investigated and found a large alligator gar, measuring about 28 inches, and nearby a perch about eight inches long. Since there is no irrigation canal near that point and no other water from which the fish could have come, the two Wichitans were at a loss to explain the presence of the fish.

age estimated at $3,000 on a farm near Electra, when a bolt of lightning struck and set fire to a barn on the Letty Proud estate, according to the report of Mrs. N. D. Cooper, wife of the tenant. The heavy damage was accounted for in that the barn contained several tons of feed, a precious commodity in this section of the country where drouth has killed practically all feed on dry land farms.

The rain covered an area which apparently extended in a northeasterly and southwesterly direction from Wichita Falls. Memphis, Clarendon and other points as far as Amarillo in the Panhandle received no rain, while Crowell to the west received good showers in town and heavy rain in the rural sections.

GEORGIA MOB SLAYS NEGRO

Prisoner Shot After Death Of Police Chief

DARIEN, Ga., Sept. 8. (AP)—This village was under military rule tonight after an exciting day when a band of armed men lynched a negro in his jail cell following the slaying of one officer and the wounding of three others.

The national guard under Col. W. R. Neal of Savannah, took charge of the situation under a proclamation by Gov. L. G. Hardman who acted at the request of the civil authorities.

Police Chief Killed

Police Chief Robert L. Freeman was killed and R. J. Anderson, deputy marshal, John Fisher, special officer of Darien, and Deputy Sheriff J. H. Collins of McIntosh county, were wounded when they engaged George Grant and another negro in a gun battle in nearby swamps. The negroes were wanted for shooting at a night watchman who attempted to arrest them for loitering near a bank last midnight.

Grant, captured in the swamp, was shot to death in his cell by the men who disregarded orders of Col-

FIRING HALTS FESTIVAL FOR GEN. URIBURU

Buenos Aires Shaken By Wild Clashes In City Streets

NEW REVOLT FEARED

Misunderstanding Blamed As Soldiers Fight Among Selves

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 8. (UP)—A gay celebration of the ascent to power of the revolutionary government reached a tragic climax tonight when at 9 p. m., firing broke out in the principal streets of the city.

Both soldiers and civilians joined in fighting which spread rapidly in the center of the capital.

The crack of rifles and the rattle of machine gun fire interrupted and then silenced the blare of bands and the cheers of merrymaking crowds for the revolutionary government of Gen. Jose Evaristo Uriburu, sworn in this afternoon as provisional successor to President Hipolito Irigoyen, who was deposed Saturday.

Revolution Feared

It was assumed by government officials, by the crowds and by soldiers themselves that a counter revolution had broken out against the new Uriburu regime and measures were taken at once to suppress it.

Gaiety was turned in a moment into the gravest concern, and there was such confusion that none knew what was happening. As the firing spread, both civilians and soldiers fought against each other. There were brisk fusillages in front of the United Press offices.

A United Press correspondent managed to reach government house through the firing, in an effort to find out the reason for the outbreak.

False Reports

Government officials said they believed it had been caused by a false report that infantry units were rising against the Uriburu administration.

There was firing at the postoffice building and then at govern-

Wichitan Fatally Hurt When Crushed Between Truck And Car; Knox Man Makes Bond

Henry Larkin, 52, a driver for the Perfection Water company here, died about 3:15 o'clock Monday afternoon as a result of injuries sustained earlier in the afternoon when he was crushed between his truck and the radiator of an automobile driven by O. D. Reid of Knox City.

A complaint charging negligent homicide in the first degree was filed Monday evening against Mr. Reid by Wayne Somerville, county attorney. The accused man was released on bond of $500 after his father had come to Wichita Falls from Knox City to aid in perfecting the bond. Mr. Somerville explained the charge against Reid was "negligent homicide in the performance of a lawful act" instead of second degree negligent homicide, which is based on performance of an unlawful act.

Windshield Clamp Blamed

The accident occurred about 1 o'clock Monday afternoon on Indiana avenue near the Tenth street intersection. Onlookers reported something apparently dropped inside of Reid's car and that he leaned over to see what had fallen. When he looked up after a moment, Larkin was between the front of his car and the rear of the truck. Reid attempted to throw on his brakes but the effort was too late to prevent striking Larkin, officials said. Larkin was crushed between the two machines. It was found later, members of the county attorney's department reported, that a clamp on the windshield of Reid's car had fallen to the floorboards and it was this that caused him to take his eyes away from the street for a moment.

Reid rushed to Larkin's side immediately after the accident and assisted him to the curb. An emergency ambulance from the Dalton-Powell Funeral home was called and the injured man was rushed to the Wichita General hospital.

Internal Injuries

Physicians said his death resulted from severe internal injuries which made it at once apparent upon medical examination that he could not live. Attendants said his leg was broken and his face, arms and body lacerated.

The body was taken in charge by the Merkle Undertaking company Monday evening. Funeral arrangements were awaiting word from Larkin's father in Arkansas. The deceased was an active member of Pat Carrigan post of the American Legion, having served on various committees and taken part in the work of the organization for the past two years. Legion officials said a full military funeral would be held in the event the burial is in Wichita Falls.

AGE-FINDER

New Ice Box Will Reveal True Age of Meat Sold as 'Fresh'

CINCINNATI, Sept. 8. (AP)—An ice box of the future which will show up old beef that the housewife has been misled into buying as "fresh meat" was described in a report to the American Chemical society today.

If the "fresh" beef has been stored a long time, it comes out of this new refrigerant with its color changed from red to brown. Really fresh beef remains red.

This age finder is an atmosphere exhaled by the refrigerant, solid carbon dioxide, or dry ice. It was presented as a preservative promising some definite improvements in the food supply.

MEDICS OPEN MEETING TODAY

Physicians of 19 Counties To Convene Here

Physicians representing 19 counties of Northwest Texas will spend Tuesday in this city in attendance at the annual convention of the Northwest District Medical association, 150 members being expected to register at the Wichita club by 10 o'clock Tuesday morning, according to Dr. Austin F. Leach, president of the Wichita county association and secretary-treasurer of the district organization.

Shackelford, Tarrant, Cooke and Wilbarger counties mark the corners of the territory embraced by the northwest district of the state medical association.

State President Here

Opening of the convention Tuesday morning will be in charge of Dr. J. W. Burns of Cuero, president of the Texas Medical association, it was announced. Dr. Burns also will be the principal speaker on the program for the convention banquet to be held at 7 p. m. in the Wichita club. The district association is headed by Dr. C. W. Stevenson of this city. Dr. C. F. Clayton of Fort Worth is vice president; Dr. Leach, secretary-treasurer, and Dr. W. L. Parker of Wichita Falls, councilor.

Wichita Falls doctors on the program include Dr. O. T. Kimbrough, who will read a paper on "Conditions of Upper Urinary Tract Due to Adnexal Disease"; Dr. C. W. Castner, superintendent of the Wichita Falls State hospital, who will speak on "Prevention of Mental Deficiency by Sexual Steriliza-

Texan Shot to Death On Georgetown Road

GEORGETOWN, Sept. 8. (AP)—Believed to have been attacked when he slowed down his automobile preparatory to entering a side road leading to his home, B. W. Miller, 21, farmer of seven miles north of here, was found dead today with two bullet wounds in his head.

The shooting is believed to have occurred between 11:15 and 11:30 last night.

Officers were concentrating their search for the murderer or murderers on slight clues, the main one being a chocolate colored roadster in which Miller was riding and in which his assailants escaped.

Vice Consul Praised For American's Rescue

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8. (US)—Ralph Miller, American vice consul at Buenos Aires, was highly commended today for his "bravery and devotion" in trying to secure the release of Frederick Henry Radel, 22, of Chicago, during the recent revolutionary disturbance.

Avra M. Warren, American consul there, wired the state department that Miller traversed the streets three times in the face of rifle fire to effect Radel's release. Radel was arrested for carrying a revolver.

Rediscount Rate Cut at Dallas

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8. (AP)—The federal reserve board announced today that the Federal Reserve bank of Dallas, Texas, has reduced its rediscount rate from 4 per cent to 3½ per cent, effective tomorrow.

Relief Plans Drawn In Comanche County

Special to The Record News

LAWTON, Okla., Sept. 8.—Preparations for handling the drouth relief situation in Comanche county were started today by County Agent Ed Roberts following receipt of instructions from the extension department of A. & M. college, Stillwater. Immediate needs so far as this county is concerned, is for seed to insure fall pasture for providing food for livestock. Later measures will be taken to provide food for families actually in want. The latter are composed mainly of tenant farmers of which it is estimated there are 1,800 in the county.

In compliance with instructions received from D. P. Trent, relief director, a committee of three local business men will be appointed to have general supervision of relief measures and to maintain contact with the state drouth committee.

GOP Candidates Lead Demos 2-1 in Maine

PORTLAND, Maine, Sept. 8. (AP)—First scattered returns in Maine's biennial "off year" election tonight gave Republican candidates for United States senator and governor a better than two to one lead over the Democratic opponents.

The first six precincts gave Congressman Wallace H. White Jr., of Lewiston, who represented his district in the lower house 11 years, 85 votes, while his Democratic opponent, Frank H. Haskell, Portland, attorney, had 38.

Gov. William Tudor Gardiner, Republican running for a second term had 80 votes. Edward C. Moran Jr., Rockland, who opposed Gardiner two years ago, polled 50.

Senator Woodward Made Keynoter for State Conclave

GALVESTON, Sept. 8.—Ross S. Sterling of Houston, Democratic nominee for governor, evidently will be unhindered in his policy of government in the state Democratic convention tomorrow when he will be commissioned formally to carry the party banner next November against the Republican nominee, and all other comers.

As the duly elected delegates began arriving here today it became more and more evident there would be no inclination to block the plans of Mr. Sterling and his friends to write a platform of principles and policies.

Jim Will Not Attend

Former Gov. James E. Ferguson, husband of former Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson, who was defeated for the nomination by Mr. Sterling with a margin of 88,960 votes in the runoff primary sent word he would not attend the conclave.

Lindbergh and Byrd Join Hoover In Welcome to French Air Heroes

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8. (AP)—President Hoover, in the quiet beauty of a White House rose garden today, gave the official welcome of the nation to Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte, French aviators.

Gathered around the chief executive and the men who flew from Paris to New York only a few days ago were three of America's most famous aviators—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, Admiral Richard Byrd and Eddie Rickenbacker. General Pershing, Vice President Curtis, Jules Henry of the French embassy and other government representatives, were present.

Visit Tomb

The greeting by the president and the response by Coste climaxed a day of official tribute to the two fliers which included a White House luncheon, a pilgrimage to the tomb of the unknown soldier and calls at four government departments.

"We wish the people of France to know that our welcome of their two heroes is warm and spontaneous

Mere Man Takes to Showmanship As Illinois Women Hold Stage

CHICAGO, Sept. 8. (UP)—When a woman runs for the United States senate she attracts a lot of attention. And when two women run against each other for the job, they make so much commotion that a mere man in the race has his own troubles staying in the public eye.

All of which is by way of explaining why dignified James Hamilton Lewis, Illinois' Democratic senatorial candidate, sent a parade winding through Chicago's streets tonight, a parade which included a calliope, a bevy of girls dressed as clowns and even a grand prize offer of one pigmy automobile.

Wet Ticket

While Senator Lewis thus was starting his campaign on a thoroughly wet ticket in hope of winning the November election, his two feminine opponents were scrambling the Illinois political situation into such a hodge-podge that even the wiliest of ward captains had wrinkles in their brows.

First there was Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, tall and smiling Rement house, fronting the great Plaza de Mayo.

Officials said they believed members of the eighth infantry fought among themselves at the postoffice, believing each other to be disloyal to the new government. Civilians joined them, firing from houses. Windows in the postoffice building were shattered by machine gun fire.

Misunderstanding

The firing at government house, officials said, was due so far as they could tell, to a misunderstanding. The third infantry, it was said, was seen marching toward the Plaza de Mayo. Some officials, it was said, though the infantry was supposed to be in barracks for the night, and fearing an uprising was in progress—exactly like that of Saturday, when soldiers overthrew the Irigoyen government in behalf of Uriburu—ordered a machine gun volley fired by soldiers guarding the government house.

Excitement High

This situation continued for two hours—from 9 p. m., when the first shots echoed through the streets, until 11.

Soon after 11 o'clock government officials became confident that their belief the outbreak was not a revolution but a tragic misunderstanding between two groups of loyal men was correct.

All soldiers with whom government officials had established contact professed their loyalty and all believed they had been fighting counter-revolutionaries.

Provisional President Uriburu and his cabinet ministers, meeting their first crisis on the first day in power, telephoned for organized units of soldiers to move at once to the Plazo de Mayo, to re-establish order.

The populace remained excited and nervous and the situation was a dangerous one. Many citizens of pronounced political convictions broke into shops and armed themselves, seeking to defend the government. Fire continued and there were shots apparently from warships in the Platte river.

Delivery Boy Hurt In Accident Here

Leland Stovall, 16, delivery boy for the Faith pharmacy, sustained severe lacerations on the thigh and leg Monday night in an accident near the intersection of Eleventh and Burnett streets when his motorcycle and a truck collided, throwing the boy to the pavement.

The injured youth was rushed to the Wichita General hospital where he was reported resting quietly late Monday night. Attendants said the deep cuts were confined to the right thigh and leg and that no bones were broken.

and universal," the president said. "We rejoice that this brilliant feat has been accomplished. We are delighted to honor these two men who have thus dramatically recalled Colonel Lindbergh's call."

The name of Lindbergh recurred constantly throughout the president's welcome. Mr. Hoover called the flight of the French men a "return visit," of Lindbergh's New York to Paris flight. He said the pride and happiness of the nation in Lindbergh's safe landing were "redoubled when we heard of the magnificent reception given to him by the government and the people of France."

Lindbergh Speaks

Lindbergh stood, face to the front and expressionless, only a few paces to Mr. Hoover's right. His greeting to Coste and Bellonte,, however, was animated.

A reception at the French embassy for Coste and Bellonte followed the White House luncheon, but their program was not yet completed. A dinner at the Washington Board of Trade in the evening ended the capital's welcome. They planned to leave for New York tomorrow, but as one of the embassy attaches expressed it: "They may sleep late."

DEATHS

MRS. KATHERINE MINCHEFF

The body of Mrs. Katherine Mincheff, 60, who died in a local hospital early Monday morning, was sent to Muenster, Texas, by the Hines mortuary at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon. The husband, John Mincheff, accompanied the body.

Funeral services are to be held in Muenster Tuesday afternoon.

W. E. SIMPSON

Funeral arrangement for W. E. Simpson, 29, of Decatur, who died in a local hospital at 1 o'clock Monday morning, Monday night awaited the arrival of his father, Will Simpson, of Bridgeport. The body is at the Hines mortuary.

MRS. ANNIE CLEGHORN

Funeral services for Mrs. Annie Cleghorn, 67, who died Sunday night at the home of her son, Melvin Cleghorn, 1311 North Fourth street, following a long illness, will be held from the Scotland Baptist church Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. Harrold Diggs, pastor, will officiate. Interment will be in the Iowa Park cemetery.

Surviving are eight sons, H. E. Cleghorn of Lohn, Texas, L. A. Wilson and E. L. Wilson of Iowa Park, G. A. Wilson of Amarillo, C. C. Wilson of Ola, Okla., and L. C. Quiet Predicted

Mr. Sterling, who arrived in Galveston today while the state executive committee was canvassing the returns of the second primary and declaring him the nominee, predicted the convention would be one of "the quietest in years."

"Tomorrow's state Democratic convention, while prospectively one of the quietest in years, and therefore one of the most harmonious, will mark the beginning of a new day of progress in Texas, it is my hope and belief," he said.

"Texas has put away irresponsible proxy government forever, and the bitterness and strife of that and other disruptions of the state Democracy during the past decade are but unpleasant memories. The people wish peace and the advancement of the state's interests, which can come only with peace. The spirit which their chosen representatives to the convention have manifested on the eve of the meeting clearly demonstrates that the citizenship of Texas is ready to unite and in harmony work for the development and prosperity of Texas. To that end I shall gladly give my utmost efforts in days to come, inviting the cooperation of all men and women to seek good government.

Moody Confident

"I rejoice in the good feeling with which Texas Democracy is gathering here, and in its promise of state progress. I am happy that the convention which is to pronounce officially my nomination is to be held in Galveston, the first city I ever knew, which I all but considered my home in youth; where one of the first serious impulses was given to my candidacy, and where I made my closing campaign speech."

Likewise, Gov. Dan Moody, who, if the Democratic party is triumphant in November as is usually the case, will surrender the reins of government to Mr. Sterling, whom he appointed chairman of the state highway commission four years ago, expressed confidence that the administration of his successor would be along lines of business so badly needed.

Woodward Keynoter

With virtually all delegations on hand tonight there was a strong likelihood that Mr. Sterling and his partisans would have the exclusive say as to what should go in the Democratic platform. There was little chance of a discordant vote entering into the proceedings.

Senator Walter C. Woodward of Coleman, supporter of Senator Small in the first primary, who went along with Mr. Sterling on the stump in the run-off against Mrs. Ferguson, was recommended by the state Democratic executive committee as temporary chairman and keynoter of the convention.

His selection was made by acclamation on motion of Gen. Jacob F. Wolters of Houston. Mrs. J. W. Fincher of Houston, assistant campaign manager for Mr. Sterling and in charge of women's activities, was named convention secretary, and T. J. Anderson of Galveston, sergeant at arms.

Francis Floor Leader

W. E. George of Wichita Falls, C. C. Renfro of Dallas and Charlotte Graves of Galveston were elected assistant secretaries. Floor leaders named were Thomas H. Ball of Houston, Charles I. Francis of Wichita Falls; Alvin Moody of Houston; Ben Stone of Fort Worth; Oscar Dancy of Brownsville, and A. P. Johnson of Carrizo Springs.

Murphy Townsend of Dallas, North Texas manager of the Sterling campaign, was to be permanent chairman of the convention if he cared to accept the honor.

Judge W. O. Huggins of Houston, editor of the Houston Chronicle, contemporary of Mr. Sterling's Houston Post Dispatch, was slated to be chairman of the new state Democratic executive committee, succeeding D. W. Wilcox of Georgetown, who held that position during the troublous days of the 1928 presidential campaign and who steered the party through several storms.

It was considered certain that Albert Sidney Johnson, secretary of the committee over a period of several years, would be renamed to that office.

Cone Johnson of Tyler, old school orator and long prominent in Texas Democracy, was to nominate Mr. Sterling. Probably no man was closer associated with the nominee than Mr. Johnson, who served with him the past four years on the highway commission. Mrs. Alex Adams, of San Antonio, prominent in Texas club activities, was to second the nomination.

A coterie of Sterling partisans was at work tonight on the party flatform.

Bonds at Issue

It was evident there would be no clear cut declaration for a state wide highway bond issue, such as was advocated by Mr. Sterling in the first primary. It was likely the platform plank on this subject would declare generally as a matter of policy that the highways be paid for by those who use them. This declaration, friends of the bond issue said, would not compromise the nominee, in that should the state legislature ultimately submit an amendment to the constitution to permit issuance of highway securities and the people adopt it it would be necessary for the bonds to be retired from revenue of the 4-cent gasoline tax.

However, Senator Love of Dallas, one of the candidates for governor eliminated in the first primary, indicated he might press for an out and out declaration for the bond issue plan. Sterling forces, seeking to have their candidate go forth as the representative of a reunited and requited democracy, were hopeful of not antagonizing anyone on the question. They felt the time had come to present a solid front and they were willing to have their candidate stand on the general plan of pay as you go without emphasizing the bond issue.

Prison Reform

The platform, in addition to touching on the several outstanding problems of government, was to deal with penitentiary reformation without advocating definitely relocation in Central Texas; some kind of system of equalizing taxes and a form of control of public utilities.

The executive committee canvassed the returns of the run-off primary and declared the nominees of that contest to be Mr. Sterling for governor, Edgar Witt of Waco for lieutenant governor, James V. Allred of Wichita Falls for attorney general, Charley Lockhart of Austin for treasurer, J. E. McDonald, of Waxahachie for commissioner of agriculture, and Pat M. Neff of Waco for railroad commissioner.

Official Returns

Secretary Johnson reported returns from all the counties, maintaining the record established for the first time in history when all the counties reported in the first primary. His tabulation showed that Sterling received 473,362 votes to 384,402 for Mrs. Ferguson, a majority of 88,960 for the highway commission chairman.

The vote in the other run-off races was as follows:

Lieutenant governor, Witt 429,122, Sterling Strong 360,566.

Attorney general, Allred 464,292, R. L. Bobbitt, 343,292.

Treasurer, Lockhart 420,007, John E. Davis, 362,480.

Agricultural commissioner, McDonald 444,864, A. H. King, 313,506.

Railroad commissioner, Neff 463,531, W. Gregory Hatcher, 339,878.

Women Vote Dry

Mr. Sterling appeared before the Texas Woman's Democratic association today and told his hearers if elected he would try to "be a good governor" and administer the affairs of Texas to the liking of a majority. He was introduced by his sister, Miss Florence Sterling.

Earlier the association had adopted a resolution expressing stringent opposition to repeal of the 18th amendment and memorializing the legislature to repeal the search and seizure law, which it was claimed hampered state officers in enforcing prohibition.

publican nominee for the senate. Mrs. McCormick was having her own troubles, what with a senatorial committee investigating her campaign expenses and a coterie of senate radicals planning to attempt to refuse her a seat, should she be elected.

Splits Ranks

And then there was Mrs. Lottie Holman O'Neill, whose recent entrance into the race was as a dry independent, split the state's dry forces and threatened to split the state's hitherto close-knit Republican ranks.

Mrs. O'Neill said further that she wouldn't be surprised if she also had split the Democratic camp while she was about it. Because, after all, Mrs. O'Neill continued, there are bound to be some dry Democrats.

Whether or not, the Illinois anti-Saloon league endorsed Mrs. O'Neill unqualifiedly. And then state W. C. T. U. which formerly had supported Mrs. McCormick, announced that it wasn't going to support anybody.

Mrs. McCormick, a politician of the old school even if she is a woman, incidentally, personally said that she was "dry" but that if the state voted "wet" at its referendum, she would support certain wet proposals in the senate.

On the other side of the fence was the W. O. N. P. R., which means "Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform." The W. O. N. P. R. in announcing whole hearted endorsement of Senator Lewis, threw a barb among the white ribbons of the W. C. T. U. by issuing figures purporting to show that the W. O. N. P. R. had 16,000 members in Illinois, as many as the W. C. T. U.

Wherefore Senator Lewis' parade, a pageant in which he, the lonely man among all the feminine politicians, had to hire feminine clowns to dance on his festooned trucks in an attempt to interest the masculine half of the citizenry in the campaign.

Canada Prepares To Boost Tariff Rates

OTTAWA, Sept. 8. (AP)—Upward revision of the Canadian tariff as a measure to relieve unemployment and economic depression in the dominion was forecast today in the message from the throne which opened a special session of the Canadian parliament.

The session, convened specifically to deal with unemployment, heard the governor general read a four-sentence speech in which amendments to the customs act and the customs tariff were mentioned as being expected "to meet the unusual conditions which now prevail."

G. O. P. HOPES FOR DEMO SPLIT

SAN ANGELO, Texas, Sept. 8. (AP)—Capitalization of animosities within the Democratic party to elect Republican officials for Texas in November was urged on Texas Republicans at their state meeting here today by R. B. Creager of Brownsville, national committeeman for Texas.

Creager offered the state executive committee an estimate by which he said Republicans could hope for 430,000 votes in the November election: 150,000 from the Republican party; 180,000 from the supporters of James E. Ferguson; and 100,000 from those who voted for Ross S. Sterling as "the lesser of two evils." His speech before the executive committee, in which he declared Dr. George C. Butte of Austin, Republican gubernatorial nominee, had a bright chance to be elected, brought cheers from the committee and delegates.

Zweifel Chairman

Henry Zweifel of Fort Worth was selected temporary chairman and keynoter for the convention tomorrow. E. C. Toothman, secretary of the state Republican organization, was chosen temporary secretary of the convention, and Frank Blankenbecker of Cisco was named temporary sergeant-at-arms.

After an open session of the committee, an executive session was held at which Creager presented a platform he had drawn up. Creager refused to say what it contained, on the theory parts of it might be blue-penciled, but the gist of it was learned from other sources.

It will be short, consisting of about 1,200 words minus the preamble. It was said it would recommend a tariff on oil, with the notation that such a tariff was opposed in congress by certain Democratic senators.

Platform Drawn

Other planks in the platform, besides the tariff on oil, were said to include: Commendation of prohibition enforcement under the present national administration, censure of expenditures by state departments under the present administration, amalgamation of county offices in the interest of economy, passage of an equity of redemption law with one and two-year clauses, complete revision of election laws, condemnation of the administration of the state prison system, and passage of a law making the state highway commission a board of five members, four to be elective and one to be appointed by the governor.

Georgia Negro Lynched by Mob

onel Neal that the negro not be slain. Grant's companion, said to be Fred Bryan, escaped and was believed surrounded in a 150-acre territory of swamp.

Guard Sent

Colonel Neal, with a unit of guardsmen, hurried here today shortly after news of the shooting of the officers was received in Savannah. Later, approximately 150 men of the 118th field artillery, Savannah, were sent here, but tonight all except 50 men and officers have been returned.

Under the governor's proclamation, described by Colonel Neal as "martial law," civilians who throughout the day searched the swamps and gathered in groups on the streets, were ordered to take their arms home. Only a select unit of civilians were allowed to bear arms after 5 p. m.

Negro Identified

Sheriff Poppell said the lynching of Grant occurred immediately after the negro had been locked in the jail. A band of men, armed with shotguns and other weapons, rushed into the place and fired a load of buckshot in the negro's body. Grant was said to have been identified by Anderson as one of the negroes he attempted to arrest near the bank. Officers believed the negroes intended to rob the bank.

The sheriff said he had been lured away from the jail by a ruse, some one having told him that Deputy Collins had just died. When he learned of the plan to kill the negro, he said, it was too late to act.

Other Speakers

Other speakers include Dr. E. H. Bursey of Fort Worth, Dr. J. H. McCracken of Mineral Wells, Dr. W. E. Sistrunk of Dallas, Dr. Sidney J. Wilson and Dr. X. R. Hyde of Fort Worth, Dr. C. B. Williams of Mineral Wells and Dr. Jack Daly of Fort Worth. Dr. N. D. Buie of Marlin will speak at the banquet Tuesday evening on "Periodic Health Examinations." Mayor Walter Nelson will welcome the group.

The local entertainment committee consists of Drs. C. R. Hartsook, W. L. Parker, G. T. Singleton, B. C. Cammack and J. W. Masters.

Approximately 65 out-of-town members of the state auxiliary to the medical association are expected to be present during the day, it was announced, and will honor Mrs. O. M. Marchman of Dallas, president of the organization, at a luncheon to be held at the Woman's Forum at noon. Mrs. T. B. Lynch is president of the local auxiliary. Entertainment features planned for the luncheon include violin numbers by Miss Daisy Wharton, accompanied by Mrs. F. R. Collard, and readings by Mrs. Helen Fuller.

Out-of-town physicians will be entertained at luncheon in the Wichita club at noon by the Wichita Falls Clinic hospital. Members of both the medical association and the auxiliary will attend the banquet in the evening.

LONG SUMMONS GUARD UNITS

New Orleans Tense On Election Eve

an order for several artillery units to "stand by" was issued Sunday.

Public feeling was tense.

Governor Long was suffering a badly lacerated mouth and swollen jaw tonight, sustained earlier in the day when William G. Wiegand, reporter of the New Orleans Item, hit him twice for calling him a "fighting name."

Long's final campaign plans were disrupted when he was subpoaenaed to appear in federal district court to testify in a suit against him, Sheriff Frank Clancy and six state police, filed by the attorney general's office for conspiring to kidnap Samuel Irby and James Terrell.

Long appeared as summoned, but denied any knowledge of the two men's whereabouts. They were wanted as witnesses in a secret investigation of the state highway department.

Fighting Name

Wiegand, who engaged in an argument and fist fight with Governor Long after he said Long called him an unmentionable name, said he "did not want to strike the governor, but I forgot who Huey Long was when he called me a fighting name in the corridor outside his suite in the Roosevelt hotel.

"I went to the hotel with a deputy United States marshal to serve the subpoena on Long in court today," Wiegand said.

"Long began cursing the New Orleans newspapers and called me the name. I lost my temper and hit him. Blood ran from his face and two of his bodyguards caught my arms.

"'Arrest that man,' Long said." Wiegand continued. "'He has struck the governor.' While the body guards held me he slapped me in the face. I am afraid that I laughed."

Wiegand was released by the bodyguards after Long had a long consultation with his attaches.

Sedgwick Leads Kansas Activity

TULSA, Okla., Sept. 8.—For the second time in two years Sedgwick county has become the most active district in Kansas oil fields. Twenty-eight drilling wells, rigs and locations were reported in scout reports. Of that number, 25 were in the Eastborough area, at the east and southeast edges of Wichita.

The 36th location there was staked Saturday when the Derby Oil company started No. 3 Eastborough estates, just 120 feet south of Siegel Bros. Lancaster and Van Marter's No. 1 Jim Woukop, in the northeast quarter of 19-27-2e, a test that is being drilled on a lot, 80x150 feet, and is entirely surrounded by leases owned by Derby Oil company.

The unexpected performance of the Derby's No. 1 E. Rimel, in the northwest of the northeast of the northeast of 30-27s-2e, that made 1,565 barrels the first 24 hours from 2,233 to 3,236 feet, has caused the Eastborough area to be given wide attention from oil men. It then began to increase in production, swabbing 1,906 barrels the last 24 hours. The second 24 hours after coming in it did 1,601 barrels; 1,477 barrels the third day; 1,830 barrels the fourth; 1,180 barrels the fifth and 1,906 barrels the sixth day.

HOOVER PUSHES T. & P. PROJECT

President to Urge Speed in Preliminaries

MARSHALL, Texas, Sept. 8. (AP)—President Herbert Hoover will take up with the Interstate Commerce commission the matter of speeding up action on the Texas and Pacific railroad's application to build a 333-mile extension in West Texas, according to a letter received from the chief executive by the Marshall Chamber of Commerce today.

The idea of consummating preliminary details as speedily as possible was originated by Homer M. Price, editor of the Marshall Morning News. His plan was to have Texas senators go to Washington in the interest of the project, which had been approved by the Marshal and a number of other chambers of commerce.

Oklahoma Tests Oil Proration Powers in Julian Hearing Today

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 8. (AP)—The first significant test of the oil proration laws of Oklahoma will come up for a hearing in the state supreme court tomorrow when that tribunal will decide whether the C. C. Julian Oil and Royalty company will be allowed to continue to flow its wells wide open into its own refineries in defiance of the curtailment agreement of operators.

The Julian company contends that it was not a party to the proration agreement, which it further alleges is not being carried out "equitably," insisting that it works to the advantage of the major operators with a tendency toward wiping out the independents.

55 Per Cent Cut

The curtailment agreement under which production has been cut in the Oklahoma City field from 60 per cent to five per cent was brought about through common consent among operators and is reinforced through orders from the corporation commission.

Operators estimate that the Oklahoma City field, alone, if allowed to run unchecked, would produce more oil than the entire state is allowed to flow under proration. They point this out as an example of the flood of oil that would be thrown into an already weak market, if conservation plans are abandoned.

Order Defied

Julian defied the state to stop his wells when he ran them over the 24-hour test period allowed under the agreement. The state tried to stop him, but he obtained a temporary writ of prohibition against interference. His wells have run wide open since. The hearing which opens tomorrow is expected to require several days.

Soviet Executes Six Speculators in Food

MOSCOW, Sept. 8. (US)—Six of the 200 food speculators arrested Saturday were today shot to death by a firing squad. They went to their doom branded as "bloodthirsty beasts" by the Soviet tribunal that decreed their offense tantamount to counter-revolution.

The fate of the 114 other prisoners remains yet to be determined. All were arrested by the G. P. U. and charged, as employes of Soviet co-operative stores, with diverting supplies to private merchants.

Extortion Suspect Arrested in Dallas

DALLAS, Sept. 8. (AP)—A man who admitted to officers that he sent J. L. Brown, president of the Brown Cracker and Candy company here, two letters demanding $200 or his life and the destruction of his plant, was arrested today.

The man, who said he decided to send the letters after he had been refused work, was arrested as he emerged with a decoy package from the place where the letters demanded that the money be hidden.

Sooner Commission Faces Damage Suits

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 8. (UP)—District Judge Wyley Jones issued an alternative writ of mandamus today to force the state highway commission to hear about $80,000 in damage claims.

The mandamus action was filed by W. B. Thomas and 33 other Wister residents who claim their property damaged in a flood during May, 1927.

They allege the damage resulted from faulty highway construction.

The state highway commission is alleged to have been empowered by the senate and legislature to take action in the damage suit but have failed to do so.

The alternative writ allows the commission either to start hearing of the damage suits or to answer in district court by Sept. 17.

MONEY TO BE MADE BY HOME CANNING AROUSES HOUSEWIVES

Higher Prices Loom for Canned Goods Bought Next Winter

All over the country women are realizing that if they put up fruit now they will have extra money in their purses next winter. Even the newlywed is being attracted by the unusually low price of pure cane sugar and choice fruit and is pleasantly surprised at the ease in putting up a nice variety of preserves, jellies and jams.

For the woman who takes pride in her menus, there is real satisfaction in putting a quivering colorful mold of her own home-made jelly on the table. And if she appreciates the value of fruit in the balanced diet, she will be happy in the fact that her shelves are well stocked with preserved pears, plums, peaches or other fruits.

Sweet pickles and relishes made of cucumbers, tomatoes, cabbage or watermelon rind are also inexpensive and easy to preserve. Their spicy tart-sweet goodness encourages the consumption of essential foods such as meat, fish and vegetables. Good food promotes good health. The Sugar Institute.

As fine gold refined—

THE NEW PACKARD EIGHT

WE MOST cordially invite you to come in and look over the new Packard cars now on display at our showrooms.

You will find them as fine gold refined—as one of the world's finest cars made still finer.

A Wide Choice of Beautiful New Models

The new Packard Eight includes more notable improvements and refinements than any Packard of recent years. It is available in thirty-two beautiful models ranging in price from $2385 for the ever-popular Standard Eight Five-Passenger Sedan to $6075 for the finest Individual Custom creation. (At the factory.)

Improved carburetion and manifolding have increased the power. With added power, performance, especially in traffic and at the "red light", has been bettered. The advantages which only a four-speed transmission can give have been retained, with the transmission converted to the "short-shift" type. Longer and softer springs and new shock absorbers provide more riding comfort. An entirely automatic lubrication system now takes the human element out of daily chassis care and protects the long life resulting from fine engineering and precision manufacture.

Bodies made in Packard's own factories are the finest in every way that Packard has ever offered. Traditional appearance has been retained and beauty of line refined. Interiors have been beautified, and made more luxurious. New color combinations have been provided.

Thirty years of building for the most discriminating clientele has taught the Packard Motor Car Company what such a clientele demands. And year by year—and again this year—new luxuries, new refinements and new improvements have been added.

An Investment in Luxurious Transportation

Today when nearly everyone is thinking in terms of investment instead of speculation, and buying more carefully, we ask you to view refined and improved cars—cars without a single speculative or untried feature. With Packard the car has always been greater than any one feature. You could not buy, expecting to keep your car four or five years if it were otherwise.

We shall be delighted to have you visit our showrooms and, as our guest, you will not be urged to buy. You will be extended every courtesy and desired attention in return for your own kindness in calling.

ASK THE MAN WHO OWNS ONE

NEW RCA RADIOLA SUPER-HETERODYNE

"a great advance in radio reception" says MARCONI

Sensational new instrument . . . thrilling new performance . . . at a remarkably low price!

The greatest compliment a radio ever received . . . Marconi calls the new RCA Radiola Super-Heterodyne "a great advance in radio reception . . . a splendid contribution to the art!"

As the inventor of radio . . . as the courageous pioneer who first made it practical . . . as the brilliant leader of the science for 36 years, Marconi's judgment must indeed be respected.

After seven years of scientific development . . . after seven years of RCA sponsorship of the Super-Heterodyne principle . . . after an investment of millions of dollars in research . . . the world's most brilliant radio engineers now bring out the new RCA Radiola Super-Heterodyne!

A radio so far advanced . . . so skilfully engineered . . . so highly perfected that even Marconi, himself, was moved to praise it!

This new Radiola is not merely twice, not merely three times, but four times more sensitive than any recent model . . . three times more selective in getting the one station you want . . . without interference from others . . . without hum!

It reproduces the broadcast superbly . . . voice for voice . . . instrument for instrument . . . tone for tone . . . note for note!

The greatest value in Radiola history! In 1926, the Radiola Super-Heterodyne cost $570. Today, this highly perfected Radiola comes to you for the unheard of low price of $142.50, less Radiotrons.

Hear its thrilling tone . . . see its exquisitely designed, well-built cabinets . . . You'll agree that only the world's greatest manufacturer of radio could offer so much for so little . . . Since the best now costs no more, why not own the best?

Senator Guglielmo Marconi, inventor of radio, testing one of the first models of the new Radiola Super-Heterodyne at his home in Rome, Italy.

NEW RADIOLA SUPER-HETERODYNE

model 80 illustrated—with screen-grid, nine tuned circuits, latest electro-dynamic speaker, illuminated precision dial, push-pull amplification, improved "local-distance" switch, no A. C. hum, and beautiful new cabinets by famous designers.

A nominal down payment secures immediate delivery from most dealers. Ask your dealer about easy terms and liberal trade-in allowance on your present set.

Angry Filipinos Not So Primitive
Andree Comes Back
All That Glitters

By EMILE GAUVREAU

Civilized Westerners will contemplate with an air of superiority the burning by the Filipinos of Nicholas Roosevelt's book on the islands, "The Philippines, a Treasure and a Problem." They will be amused at the naivette of the natives who hammer a copy of the book on an anvil to "emphasize the resentment felt against Roosevelt's his appointment."

Not so many centuries ago classics of literature and science were burned in the public square in the name of religion. That is what happened to books in those days that did not accord with the views of the ecclesiastic authorities. And before that bodies were burned in effigy to emphasize a similar disagreement. The Filipinos are not so primitive after all. Our New York and Chicago gunmen are much nearer to the savage and the beast.

Hacked from the Arctic ice in which they were buried for 33 years, the bodies of Salomon August Andree, the Swedish explorer, and his aid are brought back to the Norwegian coast. Andree's diary and other records of the fatal expedition to the North Pole, the first one ever attempted by airway, are intact. From them the whole story of the last days of the heroic pioneers in the frozen wastes will be reconstructed.

Andree, dead, is preserved at least against the temptation of unduly capitalizing on his experience. No one will be able to charge against him, as it has been charged of another explorer, that he "vulgarized the pole."

The quest for buried and sunken treasure, which has worried adventuresome youth and avaricious old age since the days of Captain Kidd, nets at last a $5,000,000 trove in silver and gold, off Point du Raz, France. The fortune has not yet been recovered, but it has been sighted under sea.

This find will reawaken the dreams of fortune-hunters all over the world, to whom the lost Atlantis is more solid reality than London or New York, and to whom Stevenson's "Treasure Island" is all the "law and the prophets." People will always be lured by the prospects of a get-rich-quick venture. And even though they know only too well that not all that glitters is gold, the chance that some of it might be is sufficient for them.

Peru's new ruler Sanchez Cerro, exalted overnight from the obscurity of a soldier's rank to the position of dictator, tells America that Lt. Col. Harold D. Grow, an American aviator in the employ of the overthrown government, "is subject to common law" and will be tried accordingly.

"I do not think Commander Grow does much honor to his country," declares Cerro. "He is a mercenary and has been Leguia's (overthrown leader) personal agent. His mission was to bombard the defenseless city of Arequipa when we were fighting for our freedom."

The fact remains, though, that Colonel Grow is an American citizen and his rights as such will have to be respected. Traitor or patriot, however he may be judged in Peru, and by whatever camp, his liberty will not be denied him with impunity. His crime is simply in serving a defeated cause. The same "crime" branded Nathan Hale as a spy to the British and made him atone for it with his life.

Shreveport Man Made Federal Bank Official

DALLAS, Sept. 8. (AP)—Ben Johnson of Shreveport was elected chairman of the advisory board representing stockholders of the federal reserve bank of the 11th district at a meeting here today. Alf Morris of Winnsboro, Texas, was elected secretary. They will serve for one year.

...well, we ought to have dried ...if it don't rain." ...Bentley to his ... One thing's sure, ... won't git bow ...

If sports writers thought they were clever in dubbing the baseball "pill," let them exercise some real ingenuity in finding a monicker for the golf and ping-pong ball.

Santo Domingo's Curse

IT SOMETIMES seems as if an unkind providence had decreed that the sunlit regions about the Caribbean sea should be the permanent home of turmoil and disaster.

This is especially true of the island that the Spanish adventurers called Hispaniola—the island which is the home of the Dominican republic. From the moment of its discovery to the present day it has had a turbulent history, and misery and desolation have been visited on its people times without number. The hurricane is only the latest in a long list of catastrophes.

Perhaps the earliest Spanish conquerors began it when they systematically exterminated the native inhabitants and replaced them with luckless blacks, dragged from their homes in Africa by slave-traders. Before the white men came Hispaniola was probably peaceful, save for an occasional hurricane. But Columbus' arrival seems to have signalized the beginning of a new era—an era in which battle, murder and sudden death were to be regular, anticipated events in the lives of the islanders.

Sir Francis Drake swooped down on Santo Domingo once, took the city by dint of hard fighting and looted it of all valuables that the retreating inhabitants had forgotten to take with them. Other pirates followed; indeed, Hispaniola was the very center of the buccaneers' stamping ground for nearly two centuries.

The island passed from Spanish rule to French; and in the last decade of the 18th century some faint echoes of the French revolution hit a responsive chord in the breasts of the islanders and they rose to massacre the whites, carrying through the job with thoroughgoing savagery. There were wars and rumors of wars; Spain took charge once more and was ousted by a successful civil war; an army came over the mountains from Haiti to lay waste and despoil the land around Santo Domingo; peace was established and a dreary succession of minor civil wars followed, punctuated with sporadic murders and culminating in an unusually bloody uprising that finally brought the United States marines to the scene, bringing law and order on the gleaming points of their sharpened bayonets.

And now, as a final period of this long tale of trouble, comes the hurricane—suddenest and sharpest blow of all, with the ancient city of Santo Domingo nearly destroyed, and with hundreds of people struck dead in an hour's time.

There is little that one can say about the hurricane. It is the embodiment of the threat that perpetually hangs over the West Indies; the final curse that lies perpetually in wait for the people who live about the lovely Caribbean; the last chapter in a story of disasters.

What Puzzles Europe

IF YOU ever wonder why Europeans tend to look upon Americans as a strange and incomprehensible people, you might give a little attention to the recent cable dispatches concerning Mr. Jack (Legs) Diamond.

Legs Diamond is a New York racketeer, rapidly gaining a Manhattan reputation as a sort of small-scale Al Capone. Not long ago, thirsting for the broadening effects of travel, he sailed for Europe.

His liner got to England and the British authorities, forwarned as to his antecedents, refused to let him in.

Thereupon he went to Belgium. The Belgian police met him at the dock, trotted to the German frontier and turned him loose—possibly as a belated reprisal for the indignity of 1914.

In no time at all the Germans arrested him. Having been tipped off that he was a director of various criminal enterprises and a highly dangerous man, they immediately wired New York and announced that they were holding him; would New York please send and get him?

The surprise came when New York replied that it didn't want him. In a broad sense, of course, that was understandable; but New York meant that it had no criminal charges ready to place against him, had no cell yawning for him and, on the whole, had no reason to deprive him of his liberty.

This was the sort of thing that the Europeans found themselves unable to assimilate.

Here was a notorious "bad man" on the loose. England, Belgium and Germany, in rapid succession, gave him short shrift, and the Germans thoughtfully and tactfully arrested him so that his home town could deal with him as he deserved; and then the home town announced that it wasn't interested! It had him down in its list as a racketeer, but it couldn't do anything about it. As far as New York was concerned he was free as the air, and he could come home any time he wanted to.

It is hardly surprising if Europe finds this a bit thick. In Europe they have different ways of dealing with crooks and highbinders. They do not give them the freedom of the city until such time as they obligingly commit murders under the eyes of the mayor. Politicians do not befriend them. The law and the courts do not throw out protecting technicalities to shelter them. The criminal is harried and hounded—and, as a result, does not thrive.

Our way is different. Here we make national figures out of them. We call them "kings of the underworld," or some such flamboyant title, and leave them strictly alone. We revel in accounts of their misdeeds but we do not dream of punishing them. And they flourish, consequently, as the green bay tree.

Hanging "The Worst Criminal"

IT IS a little bit hard for an opponent of capital punishment to stick by his guns when the case of Carl Panzran comes up for consideration.

Hanged in Leavenworth penitentiary, the self-confessed murderer of two dozen people, Panzran seemed to represent humanity at its very lowest. He was called the worst criminal in America, and he seems to have deserved the title. He boasted that he deserved his fate, and remarked that he would kill everybody if he had the chance.

Demanding leniency for a man of that type is not easy. Until we grow a great deal wiser and more skillful in dealing with psychopathic personalities, there is little for us to do with such a man but terminate his existence. If society was ever justified in executing a criminal, it would seem to have been justified in this case.

Quotations Worth Noting

"Talking pictures will make it possible for us who thirst for knowledge to sit literally at the foot of genius. Greatness, living and dead, will speak to us and show us the way to light and understanding."—Will Hays, movie czar.

"Most people are afraid to trust their imaginations and the artist is not."—Sherwood Anderson.

"The notion that the drouth will be a blessing, in that it consumes the farm surplus, is not sound, because those that suffer most have neither corn nor surplus to sell."—Louis J. Taber, master of the National grange.

Answers to Questions

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

The answers to questions printed here each day are specimens picked from the mass of inquiries handled by our great information bureau maintained in Washington, D. C. This valuable service is for the free use of the public. Ask any question of fact you want to know and you will get an immediate reply. Write plainly, enclose two cents in coin or stamps for return postage, and address The Record News Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, director, Washington, D. C.

Q.—What state had the first indeterminate sentence law for people convicted of crimes?—W. K. R.

A.—New York had the first. It was adopted in 1876 for the reformatory at Elmira. In 1889 the law was amended, making it applicable to the state prison. Now, all but 11 states have indeterminate sentence laws and these 11 make use of executive clemncy which serves the practically same purpose.

Q.—Where is the Rialto?—L. D.

A.—It is the largest and finest bridge in Venice, connecting the island of Rialto with the isle of St. Mark across the Grand canal. It dates from 1588.

Q.—What foreign languages are the most necessary for a singer to know?—M. K. M.

A.—The Musician says that Italian, German, and French are the most important.

Q.—To settle a friendly argument, was Patrick Henry a descendant of Irish Catholics?—B. F.

A.—Patrick Henry was the son of John Henry, a Scotsman, who served in Virginia as county surveyor, colonel, and judge of a county court. His mother was of Welsh descent. Patrick Henry belonged to the Church of England. Bruton church in Williamsburg, Va., contains a pew with a silver marker bearing the patriot's name.

Q.—What was the Gordian knot?—R. W. O.

A.—This expression has its origin in the tale of Gordius, a Phrygian peasant, owner of a yoke of oxen, who became king. He dedicated his car and oxen to Zeus, and the knot of the yoke was tied so skillfully that an oracle declared that whomsoever should unloose it would be ruler of Asia. When Alexander the Great came to Gordium, he cut the knot in two with his sword and applied the prophecy to himself.

The Record News Offers A Booklet on Meat

About one-fourth of the edible portions of animals used as meat in this country are the so-called choice cuts. The other three-fourths are the less expensive cuts, but if properly selected and prepared they are healthful, delectable, and for the most part equal in food value to the choice cuts. The use of less expensive cuts, and the use of left-over meats and the by-products of meat cooking, like gravy and soup, are essential steps in planning the economical use of this great food staple, which is the largest item of expense in the average household budget.

Send for a copy of The Record News booklet on meat and learn how to know the various cuts of meat and the best methods of preparing them. Scores of recipes for all kinds of meats.

Floral Heights Methodist W. M. S. Opens Fall Season

Autumn activities of the Floral Heights Methodist Women's Missionary society began Monday at the church with a luncheon served by Mrs. Ed Malone's circle at a table artistically decorated with flowers in varied colors. More than 100 members enjoyed the delicious menu. Dr. C. M. Simpson gave the invocation and during the luncheon visitors were introduced.

Mrs. J. A. Curtis asked the assembly to visit the Junior Missionary society room where the children had built a colorful Filipino village in a large sand box.

In the afternoon business session, held in the main auditorium, Mrs. Austin Leach, president, was in the chair. Mrs. Val Land led a short song service with Mrs. Lester Jones at the piano and Mrs. S. M. Gose read the Bible lesson and reviewed the third chapter of "Stewardship," a textbook studied by the society. The devotional hour was closed by Mrs. M. T. Clements with prayer.

Mary Elizabeth Simpson sang "Living for Jesus" accompanied by Martha Johnson and the work of all departments was inspired by a short talk given by Mrs. Leach.

Mrs. Rhea Howard read the minutes of the last spring meeting and Mrs. M. E. Faulk gave a splendid financial report. Assistant treasurer's items were read by Mrs. W. J. Stuckler.

Letter From Missionary

Miss Dora Armstrong's letter, expressing appreciation for a generous donation for the leper colony in Africa where she serves was read and Mrs. S. E. Trevathan's detailed report of each division's work in the missionary society was of interest. In the absence of Mrs. Curtis, Mrs. Rhea Howard read a report of the children's work. The work done by the young people during the summer was described by Mrs. Leach. Mission study was ably presented by Mrs. Val Land, and the social service work accomplished during the last quarter was outlined by Mrs. Paul Harding.

Mrs. H. W. Barton, vice president, read a list of names of prospective members for the society. A report of local work was presented by Mrs. M. T. Clements and the flower chairman, Mrs. J. O. Presley, told of plants and bouquets sent during the summer. Mrs. C. M. Simpson graciously expressed thanks for all new furnishings placed in the parsonage during the summer.

Plans were made by the supply department to send a box to some connectional institution in the near future.

Circle reports were read by Mesdames Lester Jones, John Tancred, F. H. Corbin, A. B. Gough, Hal Yeager, J. B. Hathorn and S. E. Trevathan. The week of prayer and self-denial offering envelopes were passed to each member with the announcement that they are to be sent this year to the Eliza Bowman school in Cienfuegos, Cuba, and Wolff settlement in Tampa.

Birthday offerings were received, various announcements were made and a rising vote of thanks was extended the hostess circle for luncheon. Mrs. R. J. Claypool dismissed the assembly with prayer. Circles one and four tied for attendance.

Large Number Present

Those present included Mesdames Austin F. Leach, H. W. Barton, Rhea Howard, W. J. Stuckler, M. C. Faulk, S. E. Trevathan, T. J. Waggoner, C. M. Goodwin, Earl Stuckey, Milton Johnson, W. H. Wichitan to Lead Voice Department At Howard Payne

Mrs. W. L. Underwood, a resident of Wichita Falls for the past four years and active in musical organizations here during that period, will leave Thursday morning for Brownwood, where she will assume charge of the voice department in the school of fine arts of Howard Payne college.

Mrs. Underwood will succeed Cameron Marshall, who has been teacher of singing in the college during the past 10 years, and who recently accepted a similar position with a larger institution in Oregon. In addition to giving individual lessons to students of the department, she will conduct courses in public school music supervision and in theory. It was stated that Mrs. Underwood also had been asked to become organist and choir director of a large Brownwood church upon her arrival there.

Active in the Musicians club, the Music Study club, the Woman's Choral club and in church choirs of this city during the past four years, Mrs. Underwood has been associated during the past year with the Mahaffey studios as accompanist and coach while continuing her voice study with A. H. Mahaffey. Prior to this training, she had studied with Arch Bailey of the Chicago Musical college, Arthur Guy Faguy-Cote, now voice department head of Baylor Belton, and graduated from the conservatory of Grinnell college, Iowa, in voice and public school music. Prior to coming to Wichita Falls, Mrs. Underwood maintained vocal studios in Electra, Breckenridge, and in Montezuma, Iowa. During the past three months, she has been organist at the Sacred Heart church here, and has been a pupil of Mrs. A. H. Mahaffey, organist of the First Presbyterian church.

Aside from her activities as a performing artist, Mrs. Underwood has given much time to composition for voice, and some of the numbers for which she wrote both words and music have been published by a large publishing company in the East. She also has been an active member of the Little Theater during the past year.

LOST TIRED, WEARY FEELING

Lady Tells of Taking Cardui In the Spring With Resulting Benefit

Portsmouth, Ohio.—Mrs. H. E. Penn, who lives at 839 Front street, this city, has written the following account of her use of Cardui, for the interest of other women who have suffered similarly:

"I was tired all the time—had misery in back and sides that kept me feeling bad. I was in a nervous and weakening condition. I lost in weight until I was very thin.

"During girlhood, mother had given me Cardui, and it had helped me so much then that I decided to take it again. I took several bottles and my strength began to return and I gained in weight. I soon lost that tired and weary feeling.

"Cardui has done me a great deal of good since then. I have taken Cardui several times in the spring and have been benefited. It does me lots of good, and I am always ready to recommend it."

Thousands of women have written to tell me how they had been benefited by taking Cardui.

Cardui is purely vegetable; contains nothing harmful or injurious.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY
Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

Questions in regard to health and diet will be answered by Dr. McCoy who can be addressed in care of this paper.

The Good Psychology of Beautifying the Home

President Hoover has said, "America is a nation of 23,000,000 families living in 23,000,000 homes. To me, the foundation of American life rests upon home and family."

The fashioning of a home is one of the most satisfying of adventures. Everyone dreams of a home he will have some day, with roses climbing over the walls, beckoning curtains blowing in and out of the windows, and a warm cheery fire burning inside with lots of comfy chairs for old friends. While the savage has but a temporary resting place which he changes frequently for others, civilized man always longs for a home that is permanent, where he can have friendly trees growing in the yard, where there is something good to eat tucked away on the pantry shelves.

A large part of our leisure time is spent, or should be, in our homes. How important it is that our precious leisure hours be spent in pleasant surroundings. A home should be more than a place to hang your hat. It should be more than four walls surrounding a bed. It should be a place of inspiration, where one may really live and study and enjoy life. A home should be interesting and attractive. In it you should be able to spend joyous hours with your loved ones.

A real home is a place where you may welcome your friends, or where you may seek peace and quiet, as you choose.

The kind of a person you are is largely determined by the kind of a home you came from. It is well known that one of the biggest helps in the world is to have been reared in the right kind of home environment.

The home has a great deal to do with the physical health. There you eat your two most important meals. There you obtain your rest, sleep, recreation and baths. The most important health habits are carried on in the home.

The home also molds our mental health, for homes have a deep psychological influence on us. A well ordered home has a cheery, invigorating effect on the mind, while a disordered home depresses one. A home that is dressed up in inviting colors gives us a better mental picture than a home that is dull and drab. A clean, colorful, cozy home fills us with confidence, and awakens the feeling that we will conquer the world and bring the spoils home to show the folks. Eddie Guest was right when he said, "It takes a heap of living in a house to make it home," but the right kind of living in the right kind of home only makes it seem dearer and more delightful.

A home should be a place where the good emotions are brought out and taught to stick around. Calmness, courage and cheer are as necessary in making a real home as a bed or stove.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Eye Winks

Question—R. H. writes: "My lower left eyelid seems to wink when I look at anything for about five or 10 minutes. Please print the cause and also the remedy."

Answer—The trouble with your eyelid is caused by nervousness, and can be cured if you will regulate your diet, increase your exercises, and build up your general bodily strength.

When Citrus Fruits Produce Rash

Question—L. P. writes: "I would like to try your cleansing diet, but oranges and some of the other acid fruits produce a rash which will last for weeks and itch so intensely that I can hardly stand it. Is there any way I can take the fast without having this unpleasant experience?"

Answer—If you will follow the cleansing diet exactly as I have outlined, I am sure you will get over the rash which you have been subjected to. If the rash still shows after four or five days of the fruit fast, you should continue the fast longer, until the rash entirely disappears. The citrus fruits often stir up hidden toxic conditions which temporarily produce a rash, but this will always disappear if the fast is continued long enough.

Location of Liver

Question—J. K. writes: "To settle an argument, will you tell us just where the liver is located, and what holds it in place?"

Answer—The liver is located in the upper portion of the abdomen, just below the diaphragm. About four-fifths of the liver is on the right and one-fifth on the left side. The liver rests upon various abdominal organs, such as kidneys, large colon and stomach. It is also supported by five strong ligaments. The gall bladder is attached to the lower surface of the right lobe of the liver at about the level of the ninth rib.

Typographers Open Business Session

HOUSTON, Sept. 8. (AP)—Following a Sunday of frolicking on the beach at Galveston, the 2000 delegates and visitors to the 75th annual International Typographical union convention turned to business today as the first session opened here with an address of welcome by Gov. Dan Moody.

The Women's International auxiliary, meeting in conjunction with the Typographical union, opened its doors for formal session at the same time with approximately 2,000 delegates from the United States and Canada in attendance.

Following the morning session the delegates and visitors took a trip down the ship channel to dinner and entertainment at the San Jacinto battleground.

Oklahomans Charged With Breaking Sabbath

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 8. (UP)—The Earl W. Baker & Co. and five drivers were charged in Peace Justice Frank Burkett's court today with Sabbath breaking.

I. M. Cottle, alleged the construction company operated a mixing machine Sunday in the same block with his home and also allowed five truck drivers to work in hauling away concrete.

Warrants for the arrest of the company official and the five drivers were issued on the complaint.

Statesmen Approve Federation Proposal

GENEVA, Sept. 8. (AP)—Foreign Minister Aristide Briand's plan for a federation of European states will go before the assembly of the League of Nations with "approved in principle" stamped upon it by the representatives of 27 European powers who today in a three-hour session debated its merits and finally approved a resolution for its preliminary approval.

RAIL TAX RATE UNDER PROTEST

Sooner Counties Attack Santa Fe Values

Special to The Record News

ALTUS, Okla., Sept. 8.—Jackson, Dewey, Alfalfa and Major county assessors and attorneys have united in a protest against the assessed valuation of the Orient branch of the Santa Fe Railway company. Hearing will be granted before the state equalization board Sept. 10. At that time delegates will attempt to have railway company assessed on an equal basis with other property in the four counties which it traverses.

Figures issued by the state equalization board show that property of the Santa Fe railroad in Jackson county is assessed at approximately one-seventh the amount per mile at which the St. Louis and San Francisco railroad is valued and about one-third that of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas.

Wilbur to Officiate As Dam Work Starts

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 8. (UP)—Work on the $165,000,000 Boulder dam power and irrigation project will start officially on Sept. 17 with a ceremony attended by Secretary of the Interior Ray Lyman Wilbur, it was announced today by U. S. Senator Key Pittman of Nevada.

Senator Pittman made the announcement after receiving word from Wilbur that he would be present when construction begins on the 22-mile Union Pacific branch line railroad to the dam site.

Answer to Yesterday's Puzzle

"HEART HUNGRY"

By LAURA LOU BROOKMAN

Girls in fluttering summer frocks stood inside the drug store and talked to tall young men in white flannels. Life was a merry holiday for them. They had youth and laughter.

And money!

That was the difference.

Celia Rogers knew it as she watched the gay group through the window. Celia's great dark eyes, soft as brown velvet, were serious now. The shining dark hair was a little straggly under her cheap straw hat. Celia was hunting for a job and couldn't find one.

She had beauty, charm, loveliness, a high school diploma and business training. And she had to work.

That was why she didn't even pause as she watched life through the plate glass window of the drug store.

All she wanted now was a job, a chance to help her widowed mother.

But suddenly a door swung open into a magic land, and Celia was swept away into a glamorous, laughing world. She had dozens of gowns, dozens of lovers, shining jewels, magic corners of the earth in which to roam.

And across the street, back home, a boy watched his mail box eagerly.

Read what happened when the 17-year-old Cinderella came into an inheritance of luxury. An inheritance which she didn't want when it came. A glamorous life which she would have given up for Barney, the boy across the street—if it hadn't been for her mother.

Margaret Rogers, however, had sacrificed for Celia and now it was Celia's turn.

So with a dream or two in her brave young heart, and Barney's kisses on her lips, Celia rode away.

Barney had told her about the life where the wealthy played. He was a newspaper photographer who took pictures of the idlers. Now Celia belonged to them.

But read the story, a thrilling, realistic tale of modern times. A girl starts out to make her dreams come true. See what happens.

Laura Lou Brookman, author of "Rash Romance," understands the heart of youth. Understands the restlessness, the beauty, the laughter and tears of a young girl's love.

With a sympathetic, sparkling touch she has woven them into a story which will sweep you into an enchanted land and tell you how another girl solved her problems.

WILTSE'S RECOVERY FROM INJURY BRIGHTENS SPUDDER HOPES

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED D. THOMPSON

The Mourning Mail

"Dear Rambler," writes W. C. Rushing of Electra, "You have been talking back to J. Alvin and telling him how to run the league long enough so I am going to chase you out of the park. You know as well as I do that if the Spudders had won the short game at Beaumont you could not have pushed them out on the field to play two more innings just to give the Shippers a chance to win. I don't believe that every man on the team felt that way about it for I am sure that the most of them are game sports, but Carl Williams let out a yell because they lost and he wanted the game if it took a fourteen count to get it. I am just as strong for the Spudders as you or anyone else but I had rather they would finish in the cellar than take a game that they didn't win fair. I don't care what baseball law says. That has nothing to do with a life-long rule of the Texas league. It would be just as reasonable to say the first game should have gone eleven innings. The only mistake that Mr. Gardner made, if any, was not giving the game to Beaumont in the first ruling. You can come back to the park tomorrow."

Why, of Course

I know as well as you, Mr. Rushing, that if we had won the game there would have been no use in protesting. It doesn't take many tons of gray matter to see that, and you are right in saying I knew it as well as you. And as for the matter of baseball law, I don't care what it says either, but it's always enforced. Hal Wiltse pitched eight beautiful innings down at the lot against Fort Worth the other day trying to win his 20th game of the season and when he was hurt another pitcher went in, and by the simple expedient of allowing a man to score he got credit for winning the game. Because it so happened the run he allowed in tied the score. This rule is official and must be observed, but there are cases when it seems raw as the devil. The old Rambler wanted to see Hal win his 20th, and so did all of Spudderville; and actually he did win it. But the rules said he shouldn't get credit for the victory, and so what could we scorers do? Rules are rules, no matter what they say. Therefore Beaumont should have observed the rules and made the seven-inning agreement, because that is the thing the home club is supposed to do; and Carl Williams wasn't yelling about losing either—he had lost but, as we said several Corners ago, he saw a loophole in that the rules had been violated, and tried to jump through it. The league prexy apparently put a block of cement on the other side of the loophole, so when Carl jumped through all he got was a shock. It shocked many others, too; and you needn't bother about chasing me out of the park, Mr. Rushing, because I think Mr. Gardner is going to chase me out hisself.

What, Some More?

Gosh, why everybody is getting excited about that protest at this late date, I don't know. It's been over for days, and anyway, the season is past history. But a fan from Olney has written in about it. He didn't sign his name, and for that reason we have the privilege of throwing it in the wastebasket. It is bad form to publish letters without their signatures. But we will publish this one, anyway.

"Dear Rambler," the Olney fan writes, "I have a few words I want to say about the Wichita Falls and Beaumont protested game. I never heard of a dirtier trick pulled, and as the pennant fund, I figure they lost several dollars.

"And I hope the Spudders never win aother game (witch I know they will). From a fan the Spudders (Carl Williams) lost. Please print this."

Well, now, Mr. Olney Fan, I'm sure Carl Williams isn't going to lose any sleep over the fact that he's been talked about. But it isn't clear what you mean. How was it a dirty trick and how will they lose money by it? As for winning another ball game ("witch" they will) —just wait till Wednesday.

Those Autographed Balls

Yes, sir, everybody residing outside of Wichita Falls who won a baseball autographed by Levey and Burns, will get them—and soon. Hold your hosses. I haven't had time to mail 'em out. They will reach you in a few days. Several have written in, wanting them in a hurry. I'll get 'em to you in three days or else.

American Woman Wins International Dashes

PRAGUE, Sept. 8. (AP)—Stella Walsh, United States women's sprint champion, today won the 100 and 200 meter dashes in the international women's games. The Cleveland, Ohio, girl stepped the 100 meters in 12.5 seconds and the 200 meters in 25.7 seconds. Schurrman of Holland was second to the American girl in both events.

Marine Wins National Pistol Championship

CAMP PERRY, Ohio, Sept. 8. (AP)—Gunnery Sergeant H. M. Bailey, U. S. marines, Waterboro, S. C., scored 262 out of a possible 300 today to win the national individual pistol match here and the title of champion pistol shot in the United States.

There were 549 entries in the match.

13 Letter Men Return to Strengthen Southern Methodists' Gridiron Hopes

Squad to Take First Workout Today; 1930 Pony Schedule Calls for Three Heavy Intersectional Contests

Special to The Record News.

DALLAS, Sept. 8.—The sound of the punted pigskin on the Ownby stadium field Wednesday will mark the initial workout of the 1930 Southern Methodist university grid machine. Thirteen letter men from last year will report along with many of last year's squad men and several brilliant freshmen that will be wearing the varsity colors this season. Since S. M. U. rose into prominence in the football world a few years ago, there has never been such possibilities for the young Dallas institution.

Hard Schedule Ahead

Even though the road to fame this year for the Mustangs will be the hardest ever attempted by a Southwest conference team, the outlook is bright. The schedule is the most outstanding feature in the Pony's 1930 campaign. Three interscholastic contests of importance mark the strongest schedule ever arranged for a Pony eleven. They are well scattered through the season and represent both home and foreign aspects. Two of these battles are dedication games for two of the finest stadiums in the nation —the first with Notre Dame on Oct. 4, when they dedicate their 60,000 seating capacity stadium, and the second with Indiana university on Oct. 25, when Dallas presents to the world their new Fair park stadium. The third intersectional game will be played against the United States Naval academy in the mammoth Baltimore stadium.

Besides the strong intersectional schedule the Ponies engage in five conference games. The contests with conference teams promise to be every bit as hard as the out of conference frays. It is reputed that the conference will be stronger this year than usual.

The schedule, to Ray Morrison may not be as cheerful looking as it is to the Mustang supporters, but certainly the potentialities of his large squad gives him more pleasure than they do the fans.

Old Faces Depart

The face of Captain Hammon, all-American tackle last year; Past Captain Choc Sanders, who was all-American two years ago; Joe Davidson, flashy back last year; Haskell Ross, giant freshman prospect, and others will not be seen in the ranks this year but still the potential strength of the 1930 squad is not to be doubted.

Only 11 men can play on a football team at one time, but there are 13 letter men returning to the Morrison machine. There are squad men of last year who will give plenty of trouble to the old regulars for their positions.

Little can be based on untried men but it is impossible to overlook the strength of the 1930 Colts. The files of this quad are full of stellar high school performers. There has possibly never been a larger group of outstanding high school talent assembled in one team. If these former Colts come through with half the power expected of them the Mustangs will have reserve strength never before equaled in this section.

LONGHORN PROSPECTS FOR 1930 ARE BRIGHT

AUSTIN, Sept. 8. (AP)—Football is in the air as backers of the Orange and White gather in small groups to discuss the prospects of Coach Clyde Littlefield's grid hopefuls for the 1930 campaign. Incidentally, prospects for a winning combination at the Longhorn school are exceedingly bright at this time.

Thirteen lettermen will answer the roll call when Coach Littlefield sends out his car for the initial practice. The men around whom Littlefield will build his machine are Maurice Baumgarten of Schulenberg, guard; John Cragi of San Antonio, halfback; Doell, tackle; Elkins, quarterback; Emerson, tackle; Nick Gatoura of Austin, center; Charles Hawn of Athens, guard; Mobley, guard; Perkins, halfback; Peterson, end; Shelley, (captain), halfback; Vining, end, and Weaver, halfback.

Great Stars Graduate

The Steers were seriously hurt by graduation when some of the most brilliant players that ever donned the Orange and White stepped out of intercollegiate competition. Among them were Nona Rees, quarterback; Jim Beard, halfback; Rose, all-Southwest conference end; Gordy Brown, captain and tackle; Mac Burnett, center; Shorty Nemir, guard; Henry Mills, tackle; Curtis Beaty, guard; Nick Nixon, tackle; Ed Beaular, fulback; Frank Cheatham, end, and Billy Hargrove, tackle.

Ox Blanton, guard, probably will be ineligible because of scholastic difficulties.

In talking over the chances for the coming season, Coach Littlefield said: "We have a number of exceptionally good but young and inexperienced men with which to deal. If these men can develop fast, I believe we will have a good chance to cop the conference title."

Among the outstanding players who will be out for the team and who were members of last year's freshman squad or who were ineligible are Brown, halfback; Underwood, halfback; Bankhead, quarterback; Perry and Barber, linemen; Munster, guard; Price, end; Sparks, end, and Burr, Clewis, Koy and Stafford, backs.

Have Easy Schedule

The Longhorns will be aided this year by a comparatively light schedule which will enable them to point for their conference tilts. Most of the other conference teams, especially S. M. U., have hard games before and after their clashes with the University of Texas.

Nine games, five to be played on the home field and one in neutral territory, are on the schedule. The Steers will open the season with the Texas College of Mines of El Paso, marking the first time the university has ever tackled the Miners. The El Paso eleven is coached by two former Longhorn stars, Phillips and Saxon.

ROBINS ANNEX THIRD PLACE

Double Win Over Phillies Boosts Flock

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 8. (AP)—The National league pennant race was drawn a little tighter today as the Brooklyn Robins won a double-header from the Phillies, moving into third place, only three and one-half games back of the pace setting Chicago Cubs. The Brooklyn-Philadelphia games were the only contests scheduled in either of the major leagues.

Two big innings in each game and a brilliant hurling exhibition by Ray Moss in the opener gave the Robins the first encounter 8 to 2 and the nightcap 11 to 4. Moss was the whole show for the Robins in the first fuss. The second contest was a close battle until the seventh frame, when the Dodgers smashed six runs across the plate, driving Willoughby from the mound. Scores:

By FRED D. THOMPSON

Spudderland's hopes for a successful campaign in the Texas league play-off with Fort Worth beginning here Wednesday were revived Monday when Hal Wiltse, wrong-handed ace of the pitching staff threw away a pair of crutches he had been limping around on since last Friday, and participated in a strenuous workout with the boys down at the foot of Seventh street.

Wiltse shagged fly balls in the outfield and stopped hot infield grounders without the trace of a limp, his comrades reported, as Skipper Carl Williams drove his pennant-aspiring crew through one of the hardest training grinds of the season. The lot resembled a pre-season training camp assemblage as each member of the squad tore into the preparatory skirmishes knuckle and bone and went through four rounds of batting practice.

Injury Causes Apprehension

When Wiltse sustained a sprained ankle in last Friday's game with the Fort Worth Cats it was feared the agile southpaw would see duty only in the last games of the play-off with Fort Worth, but his surprising recovery now makes him eligible for either of the first games here. Provided, of course, the pesky ankle doesn't betray him at the last moment and throw him once again into writhing pain. And sprained ankles have been known to do such things.

Indications Monday, however, were that Wiltse would be in good physical shape by Wednesday, and able to bear the brunt of the last hard stretch with Milton Steengrafe.

As for Maul 'Em Milt, he is the one member of the Spudder hurling staff in which everyone has the most supreme confidence. He is in excellent physical shape, and unlike the majority of the Spudder hurlers, he has of late been pitching his best ball. His performance during the second half brought him a wide margin of victories over defeats, and he continued to improve even through the last game he pitched Sunday against the Fort Worth club. Wiltse likewise has shown more of his old tricks of late, and it is no secret at all that the Spudder hopes for a Texas league pennant in 1930 rest squarely on the shoulders of these two brilliant hurlers.

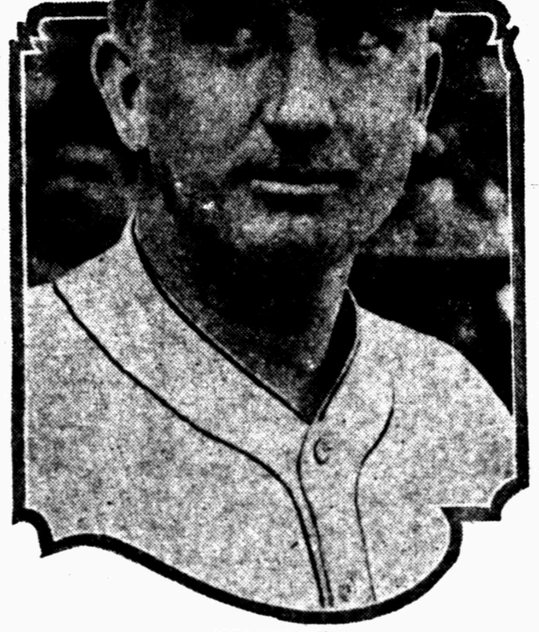

Ticket sales for the carnage have been progressing in rapid fire fashion, Secretary Guy Airey reported, with streams of fans making their reservations at the baseball park Monday. The sale of tickets will be continued today at Renfro's Drug store No. 1. Officials reported there were many choice seats left, although the "ringside" seats behind the plate have all been sold. Reservations may also be made for seats at the games in Fort Worth, Airey announced, and there is the probability that the Fort Worth tickets may arrive here for distribution before the two games are completed here.

The gates will open at the lot at noon Wednesday, it was announced. Patrons who have purchased tickets to both Wednesday's and Thursday's games were earnestly requested to bring the right ticket for the opening game. The tickets have been numbered, one and two, designating the game to which they entitle the patron to a seat, and each patron is urged to bring ticket No. 1 to Wednesday's game, and ticket No. 2 for Thursday's game.

There will be no passes honored at either game, the club secretary announced.

The Fort Worth club Monday was back on its home lot in Pantherville, but it was expected the Cats would return here Tuesday in order to get a good night's rest on the eve of the opening game.

Skipper Williams instructed his hopefuls to be prepared for another stiff workout Tuesday afternoon. Then sweet dreams for a few hours ....followed by the charge of the Spudders against the Snydermen!

CATS PUT IN LIGHT DRILL

The Pitching 'Big Three' Take Life Easy

FORT WORTH, Sept. 8. (AP)—One more day of rest, then the Fort Worth Cats, of the Texas league will step out for what they expect to be their toughest series of this campaign.

After a light workout tomorrow afternoon, the club, second half winners, will leave for Wichita Falls, where Wednesday they open the title series with the first half champions, the Spudders of Carl Williams.

The athletes took their exercise with an hour of hitting practice today. 'Lil Stoner, Dick McCabe and Dick Whitworth, the three hurlers who pitched Fort Worth into second half honors and who are expected to do all the pitching for Fort Worth in the series, took life lightly. They went to the outfield and shagged a few flies while their mates batted at the service of young pitchers.

Manager Snyder will load the athletes in a bus after tomorrow's drill and have them in Wichita Falls by 10 o'clock.

Club house conversation indicates any one of the big three is likely to get the nod for mound service in the first game of the series, with Whitworth most likely to be reserved for the third game of the series.

Steers Buy Two Sport Players

DALLAS, Sept. 8. (AP)—Starting early on a rebuilding program, the management of the Dallas team of the Texas league today announced purchase of Ernie Holman, third baseman, and Cecil Stewart, second baseman, from the Shreveport club of the same league. Bob Tarleton, business manager, said the pair would cost the Steers about $12,000.

WORLD SERIES TO OPEN AT HOME OF AMERICAN LEAGUE CHAMPS

TITLE WAR TO START OCT. 1

Clubs Arrange Details At Chicago Meeting

CHICAGO, Sept. 8. (AP)—The first act in the 1930 world series will be staged Wednesday, Oct. 1, in the park of the team winning the American league championship, undoubtedly the Philadelphia Athletics, it was decided today at the annual pre-world series conference in the office of Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis.

The second game likewise will be played at the home of the American league pennant winner with games three, four and five at the park of the National league champion. If two more games are necessary, they will be played in the American league champion's park.

Prices Remain Same

Prices will be the same as last year and ticket applications will be accepted effective next Monday, Sept. 15. The price scale, including tax, will be: boxes $6.60; grandstand reserved $5.50; general admission $3.00, and bleachers $1.00. Tickets will be sold only in blocks of three, as last year.

If the Chicago Cubs or St Louis Cardinals win the National league pennant, one day will intervene between the second and third games. If Brooklyn or New York win, the series will be played on consecutive days barring rain. All tie games will be re-played in the park where they occurred, unless they do not affect the outcome. As usual, the team winning four games will win the series.

All games will start, as usual, at 1:30 p. m. eastern standard time at Philadelphia and central standard time at Chicago.

Contenders at Parley

Representatives of all clubs with mathematical pennant chances were invited to the meeting today, but the Washington Senators and the New York Giants did not accept. The Senators were all but out of the running in the American league, trailing the world championship Athletics by six and one-half games. The Giants still retained a chance, trailing the leading Cubs for four games.

A day for traveling in event of a St. Louis or Chicago victory in the National league pennant race was regarded as a break for the Athletic pitching staff, as it would give a chance to rest the pitchers and give their two start, "Lefty" Grove and George Earnshaw an extra fling in the classic.

Lott Defeated In Singles Tourney

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 8. (AP)—A prey to his own erratic temperament and the hair-trigger strokes of his famous opponent, young George Lott of Chicago went down to surprising defeat at the hands of the veteran, Richard N. Williams, in the second round of the national tennis singles championship this afternoon. The scores were 9-7, 7-5, 7-5, 6-1.

Preceded only by Big Bill Tilden and Wilmer Allison on the list of "seeded" American favorites, Lott had been generally expected to win without difficulty from the Philadelphia sharpshooter, who held this title back in 1914 and 1916. Now 39 years old and long since past his peak, Williams was not even included among the seeded entrants, but he had enough of his old wizardry left to turn the trick.

Tilden, who was in the same half of the draw with Lott, pushed over Joseph J. Armstrong, of St. Paul, Minn., 6-1, 6-1, 6-0.

Michigan U. Has Backfield Strength In Abundance, but Needs Line Men

(This is the second of a series of stories on prospects of major college football teams.)

By W. G. STEVENSON,
Associated Press Sports Writer

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Sept. 8.—University of Michigan's 1930 football squad presents the coaches with a problem unusual to this member of the Big Ten.

When the practice season opens next Monday Coach Harry Kipke expects to have present an oversupply of burly and swift backs and ends, but a limited number of likely candidates for the line. All of the 12 returning letter men are ends or backs. This situation is in contrast with that of other years, when performances of Michigan line men caused Fielding H. Yost to remark that "the line makes the gains, the backs only carry the ball."

In order to fill a gaping hole at center, Kipke plans to transform Maynard Morrison, a hard charging fullback and great defensive player, into a pivot man. Stan Hozer, another good fullback, may play at guard and Hewitt, an end, will be tried at tackle.

Seventy-two of the best prospects have been invited to join the training camp next Monday. From this group the coaches must find a team to meet Michigan State, Purdue, Ohio State and Illinois during October, with Harvard, Minnesota and Chicago for November games.

The schedule, which calls for six Saturdays at Ann Arbor and two away, follows:

Sept. 27.—Denison and Michigan normal at Michigan.
Oct. 4.—Michigan State at Michigan.
Oct. 11.—Purdue at Michigan.
Oct. 18.—Michigan at Ohio State.
Oct. 25.—Illinois at Michigan.
Nov. 8.—Michigan at Harvard.
Nov. 15.—Minnesota at Michigan.
Nov. 22.—Chicago at Michigan.

HOLTON NAMED GRID OFFICIAL

Coyote Mentor Given Post At Lubbock Coaches Meet

Special to The Record News.

LUBBOCK, Texas, Sept. 8.—Pete W. Cawthon, coach at the Texas Technological college, was elected president of the West Texas Coaches and Officials association here when more than 125 West Texas coaches and officials gathered for a conference on new football rules and to perfect an organization. Garnet Reeves, publicity manager of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, was elected secretary. Dr. Rupert Parcells of Amarillo was elected vice president. Barry Holton, coach of the Wichita Falls High school, was elected vice president; Less Cranfill, coach of Simmons university, was elected vice president; and other vice presidents are to be selected from San Angelo, El Paso and other central points in West Texas.

Coach Cawthon is to appoint three to serve with the other officers as an advisory board to pass on rules and to transact other business.

The West Texas organization is to be affiliated with the state organization.

New Rules Discussed

A major part of the day was spent in discussing new rules and new rulings as agreed upon at a state conference at Houston last week. Coach Cawthon attended the meeting and explained in detail about the new rulings.

At noon, the visitors were guests of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon at Hotel Lubbock. W. L. Stangel, chairman of the athletic council at the Texas Technological college, served as chairman of the meeting. Several of the old time players were called upon to recount their experiences in the game years ago. B. Sherrod, director of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce made the welcome address and Dr. Rupert Parcells responded.

Others on Program

Others who spoke included Chas. A. Guy, editor of The Lubbock Avalanche Journal; Garnet Reeves, Lubbock; Tom Garrard, Lubbock; J. H. Goodman, Lubbock; R. L. Smith, Lubbock; Bub Mosley, Wichita Falls; Indian Bateman, Quanah; Ben Condray, Lubbock; Less Cranfill, Abilene; Raggs Matthews, Fort Worth; Blair Cherry, Amarillo; Ox Fullingim, Amarillo, and Albert Lowe, Abilene.

The association voted to meet in Lubbock again next year.

Following the meeting, coaches of district No. 2 met at the college to arrange schedules.

Iowa Park Grid Team Starts Work

Special to The Record News.

IOWA PARK, Texas, Sept. 8.—Coach A. D. Neil issued uniforms to 20 men this afternoon and sent them out for a mild workout on the field. Among these who were at the first get-together were nine letter men of the previous season. These old timers were Captain-elect J. C. Cobb, Guy Cowart, Killdow, Albert May, Dell Harbour, Cerliss Davis, Bedford Cunningham, Keith Watkins and Ross Burney.

Coach Neil sees some good prospects in the new material, and expects a few more men to report for practice in the next few days.

WILTSE'S RECOVERY FROM INJURY BRIGHTENS SPUDDER HOPES

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED D. THOMPSON

The Mourning Mail

"Dear Rambler," writes W. C. Rushing of Electra, "You have been talking back to J. Alvin and telling him how to run the league long enough so I am going to chase you out of the park. You know as well as I do that if the Spudders had won the short game at Beaumont you could not have pushed them out on the field to play two more innings just to give the Shippers a chance to win. I don't believe that every man on the team felt that way about it for I am sure that the most of them are game sports, but Carl Williams let out a yell because they lost and he wanted the game if it took a fourteen count to get it. I am just as strong for the Spudders as you or anyone else but I had rather they would finish in the cellar than take a game that they didn't win fair. I don't care what baseball law says. That has nothing to do with a life-long rule of the Texas league. It would be just as reasonable to say the first game should have gone eleven innings. The only mistake that Mr. Gardner made, if any, was not giving the game to Beaumont in the first ruling. You can come back to the park tomorrow."

Why, of Course

I know as well as you, Mr. Rushing, that if we had won the game there would have been no use in protesting. It doesn't take many tons of gray matter to see that, and you are right in saying I knew it as well as you. And as for the matter of baseball law, I don't care what it says either, but it's always enforced. Hal Wiltse pitched eight beautiful innings down at the lot against Fort Worth the other day trying to win his 20th game of the season and when he was hurt another pitcher went in, and by the simple expedient of allowing a man to score he got credit for winning the game. Because it so happened the run he allowed in tied the score. This rule is official and must be observed, but there are cases when it seems raw as the devil. The old Rambler wanted to see Hal win his 20th, and so did all of Spudderville; and actually he did win it. But the rules said he shouldn't get credit for the victory, and so what could we scorers do? Rules are rules, no matter what they say. Therefore Beaumont should have observed the rules and made the seven-inning agreement, because that is the thing the home club is supposed to do; and Carl Williams wasn't yelling about losing either—he had lost but, as we said several Corners ago, he saw a loophole in that the rules had been violated, and tried to jump through it. The league prexy apparently put a block of cement on the other side of the loophole, so when Carl jumped through all he got was a shock. It shocked many others, too; and you needn't bother about chasing me out of the park, Mr. Rushing, because I think Mr. Gardner is going to chase me out himself.

What, Some More?

Gosh, why everybody is getting excited about that protest at this late date, I don't know. It's been over for days, and anyway, the season is past history. But a fan from Olney has written in about it. He didn't sign his name, and for that reason we have the privilege of throwing it in the wastebasket. It is bad form to publish letters without their signatures. But we will publish this one, anyway.

"Dear Rambler," the Olney fan writes, "I have a few words I want to say about the Wichita Falls and Beaumont protested game. I never heard of a dirtier trick pulled, and as the pennant fund, I figure they lost several dollars.

"And I hope the Spudders never win aother game (witch I know they will). From a fan the Spudders (Carl Williams) lost. Please print this."

Well, now, Mr. Olney Fan, I'm sure Carl Williams isn't going to lose any sleep over the fact that he's been talked about. But it isn't clear what you mean. How was it a dirty trick and how will they lose money by it? As for winning another ball game ("witch" they will) —just wait till Wednesday.

Those Autographed Balls

Yes, sir, everybody residing outside of Wichita Falls who won a baseball autographed by Levey and Burns, will get them—and soon. Hold your hosses. I haven't had time to mail 'em out. They will reach you in a few days. Several have written in, wanting them in a hurry. I'll get 'em to you in three days or else.

American Woman Wins International Dashes

PRAGUE, Sept. 8. (AP)—Stella Walsh, United States women's sprint champion, today won the 100 and 200 meter dashes in the international women's games. The Cleveland, Ohio, girl stepped the 100 meters in 12.5 seconds and the 200 meters in 25.7 seconds. Schurrman of Holland was second to the American girl in both events.

Marine Wins National Pistol Championship

CAMP PERRY, Ohio, Sept. 8. (AP)—Gunnery Sergeant H. M. Bailey, U. S. marines, Waterboro, S. C., scored 262 out of a possible 300 today to win the national individual pistol match here and the title of champion pistol shot in the United States.

There were 549 entries in the match.

13 Letter Men Return to Strengthen Southern Methodists' Gridiron Hopes

Squad to Take First Workout Today; 1930 Pony Schedule Calls for Three Heavy Intersectional Contests

Special to The Record News.

DALLAS, Sept. 8.—The sound of the punted pigskin on the Ownby stadium field Wednesday will mark the initial workout of the 1930 Southern Methodist university grid machine. Thirteen letter men from last year will report along with many of last year's squad men and several brilliant freshmen that will be wearing the varsity colors this season. Since S. M. U. rose into prominence in the football world a few years ago, there has never been such possibilities for the young Dallas institution.

Hard Schedule Ahead

Even though the road to fame this year for the Mustangs will be the hardest ever attempted by a Southwest conference team, the outlook is bright. The schedule is the most outstanding feature in the Pony's 1930 campaign. Three interscholastic contests of importance mark the strongest schedule ever arranged for a Pony eleven. They are well scattered through the season and represent both home and foreign aspects. Two of these battles are dedication games for two of the finest stadiums in the nation —the first with Notre Dame on Oct. 4, when they dedicate their 60,000 seating capacity stadium, and the second with Indiana university on Oct. 25, when Dallas presents to the world their new Fair park stadium. The third intersectional game will be played against the United States Naval academy in the mammoth Baltimore stadium.

Besides the strong intersectional schedule the Ponies engage in five conference games. The contests with conference teams promise to be every bit as hard as the out of conference frays. It is reputed that the conference will be stronger this year than usual.

The schedule, to Ray Morrison may not be as cheerful looking as it is to the Mustang supporters, but certainly the potentialities of his large squad gives him more pleasure than they do the fans.

Old Faces Depart

The face of Captain Hammon, all-American tackle last year; Past Captain Choc Sanders, who was all-American two years ago; Joe Davidson, flashy back last year; Haskell Ross, giant freshman prospect, and others will not be seen in the ranks this year but still the potential strength of the 1930 squad is not to be doubted.

Only 11 men can play on a football team at one time, but there are 13 letter men returning to the Morrison machine. There are squad men of last year who will give plenty of trouble to the old regulars for their positions.

Little can be based on untried men but it is impossible to overlook the strength of the 1930 Colts. The files of this quad are full of stellar high school performers. There has possibly never been a larger group of outstanding high school talent assembled in one team. If these former Colts come through with half the power expected of them the Mustangs will have reserve strength never before equaled in this section.

LONGHORN PROSPECTS FOR 1930 ARE BRIGHT

AUSTIN, Sept. 8. (AP)—Football is in the air as backers of the Orange and White gather in small groups to discuss the prospects of Coach Clyde Littlefield's grid hopefuls for the 1930 campaign. Incidentally, prospects for a winning combination at the Longhorn school are exceedingly bright at this time.

Thirteen lettermen will answer the roll call when Coach Littlefield sends out his car for the initial practice. The men around whom Littlefield will build his machine are Maurice Baumgarten of Schulenberg, guard; John Cragi of San Antonio, halfback; Doell, tackle; Elkins, quarterback; Emerson, tackle; Nick Gatoura of Austin, center; Charles Hawn of Athens, guard; Mobley, guard; Perkins, halfback; Peterson, end; Shelley, (captain), halfback; Vining, end, and Weaver, halfback.

Great Stars Graduate

The Steers were seriously hurt by graduation when some of the most brilliant players that ever donned the Orange and White stepped out of intercollegiate competition. Among them were Nona Regs, quarterback; Jim Beard, halfback; Rose, all-Southwest conference end; Gordy Brown, captain and tackle; Mac Burnett, center; Shorty Nemir, guard; Henry Mills, tackle; Curtis Beaty, guard; Nick Nixon, tackle; Ed Beaular, fulback; Frank Cheatham, end, and Billy Hargrove, tackle.

Ox Blanton, guard, probably will be ineligible because of scholastic difficulties.

In talking over the chances for the coming season, Coach Littlefield said: "We have a number of exceptionally good but young and inexperienced men with which to deal. If these men can develop fast, I believe we will have a good chance to cop the conference title."

Among the outstanding players who will be out for the team and who were members of last year's freshman squad or who were ineligible are Brown, halfback; Underwood, halfback; Bankhead, quarterback; Perry and Barber, linemen; Munster, guard; Price, end; Sparks, end, and Burr, Clewis, Koy and Stafford, backs.

Have Easy Schedule

The Longhorns will be aided this year by a comparatively light schedule which will enable them to point for their conference tilts. Most of the other conference teams, especially S. M. U., have hard games before and after their clashes with the University of Texas.

Nine games, five to be played on the home field and one in neutral territory, are on the schedule. The Steers will open the season with the Texas College of Mines of El Paso, marking the first time the university has ever tackled the Miners. The El Paso eleven is coached by two former Longhorn stars, Phillips and Saxon.

ROBINS ANNEX THIRD PLACE

Double Win Over Phillies Boosts Flock

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 8. (AP)—The National league pennant race was drawn a little tighter today as the Brooklyn Robins won a doubleheader from the Phillies, moving into third place, only three and one-half games back of the pace setting Chicago Cubs. The Brooklyn-Philadelphia games were the only contests scheduled in either of the major leagues.

Two big innings in each game and a brilliant hurling exhibition by Ray Moss in the opener gave the Robins the first encounter 8 to 2 and the nightcap 11 to 4. Moss was the whole show for the Robins in the first fuss. The second contest was a close battle until the seventh frame, when the Dodgers smashed six runs across the plate, driving Willoughby from the mound. Scores:

Spudderland's hopes for a successful campaign in the Texas league play-off with Fort Worth beginning here Wednesday were revived Monday when Hal Wiltse, wrong-handed ace of the pitching staff threw away a pair of crutches he had been limping around on since last Friday, and participated in a strenuous workout with the boys down at the foot of Seventh street.

Wiltse shagged fly balls in the outfield and stopped hot infield grounders without the trace of a limp, his comrades reported, as Skipper Carl Williams drove his pennant-aspiring crew through one of the hardest training grinds of the season. The lot resembled a pre-season training camp assemblage as each member of the squad tore into the preparatory skirmishes knuckle and bone and went through four rounds of batting practice.

Injury Causes Apprehension

When Wiltse sustained a sprained ankle in last Friday's game with the Fort Worth Cats it was feared the agile southpaw would see duty only in the last games of the play-off with Fort Worth, but his surprising recovery now makes him eligible for either of the first games here. Provided, of course, the pesky ankle doesn't betray him at the last moment and throw him once again into writhing pain. And sprained ankles have been known to do such things.

Indications Monday, however, were that Wiltse would be in good physical shape by Wednesday, and able to bear the brunt of the last hard stretch with Milton Steengrafe.

As for Maul 'Em Milt, he is the one member of the Spudder hurling staff in which everyone has the most supreme confidence. He is in excellent physical shape, and unlike the majority of the Spudder hurlers, he has of late been pitching his best ball. His performances during the second half brought him a wide margin of victories over defeats, and he continued to improve even through the last game he pitched Sunday against the Fort Worth club. Wiltse likewise has shown more of his old tricks of late, and it is no secret at all that the Spudder hopes for a Texas league pennant in 1930 rest squarely on the shoulders of these two brilliant hurlers.

Ticket sales for the carnage have been progressing in rapid fire fashion, Secretary Guy Airey reported, with streams of fans making their reservations at the baseball park Monday. The sale of tickets will be continued today at Renfro's Drug store No. 1. Officials reported there were many choice seats left, although the "ringside" seats behind the plate have all been sold. Reservations may also be made for seats at the games in Fort Worth, Airey announced, and there is the probability that the Fort Worth tickets may arrive here for distribution before the two games are completed here.

The gates will open at the lot at noon Wednesday, it was announced. Patrons who have purchased tickets to both Wednesday's and Thursday's games were earnestly requested to bring the right ticket for the opening game. The tickets have been numbered, one and two, designating the game to which they entitle the patron to a seat, and each patron is urged to bring ticket No. 1 to Wednesday's game, and ticket No. 2 for Thursday's game.

There will be no passes honored at either game, the club secretary announced.

The Fort Worth club Monday was back on its home lot in Panherville, but it was expected the Cats would return here Tuesday in order to get a good night's rest on the eve of the opening game.

Skipper Williams instructed his hopefuls to be prepared for another stiff workout Tuesday afternoon. Then sweet dreams for a few hours ...followed by the charge of the Spudders against the Snydermen!

CATS PUT IN LIGHT DRILL

The Pitching 'Big Three' Take Life Easy

FORT WORTH, Sept. 8. (AP)—One more day of rest, then the Fort Worth Cats, of the Texas league will step out for what they expect to be their toughest series of this campaign.

After a light workout tomorrow afternoon, the club, second half winners, will leave for Wichita Falls, where Wednesday they open the title series with the first half champions, the Spudders of Carl Williams.

The athletes took their exercise with an hour of hitting practice today. Lil Stoner, Dick McCabe and Dick Whitworth, the three hurlers who pitched Fort Worth into second half honors and who are expected to do all the pitching for Fort Worth in the series, took life lightly. They went to the outfield and shagged a few flies while their mates batted at the service of young pitchers.

Manager Snyder will load the athletes in a bus after tomorrow's drill and have them in Wichita Falls by 10 o'clock.

Club house conversation indicates any one of the big three is likely to get the nod for mound service in the first game of the series, with Whitworth most likely to be reserved for the third game of the series.

Steers Buy Two Sport Players

DALLAS, Sept. 8. (AP)—Starting early on a rebuilding program, the management of the Dallas team of the Texas league today announced purchase of Ernie Holman, third baseman, and Cecil Stewart, second baseman, from the Shreveport club of the same league. Bob Tarleton, business manager, said the pair would cost the Steers about $12,000.

WORLD SERIES TO OPEN AT HOME OF AMERICAN LEAGUE CHAMPS

TITLE WAR TO START OCT. 1

Clubs Arrange Details At Chicago Meeting

CHICAGO, Sept. 8. (AP)—The first act in the 1930 world series will be staged Wednesday, Oct. 1, in the park of the team winning the American league championship, undoubtedly the Philadelphia Athletics, it was decided today at the annual pre-world series conference in the office of Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis.

The second game likewise will be played at the home of the American league pennant winner with games three, four and five at the park of the National league champion. If two more games are necessary, they will be played in the American league champion's park.

Prices Remain Same

Prices will be the same as last year and ticket applications will be accepted effective next Monday, Sept. 15. The price scale, including tax, will be: boxes $6.60; grandstand reserved $5.50; general admission $3.00, and bleachers $1.00. Tickets will be sold only in blocks of three, as last year.

If the Chicago Cubs or St Louis Cardinals win the National league pennant, one day will intervene between the second and third games. If Brooklyn or New York win, the series will be played on consecutive days barring rain. All tie games will be re-played in the park where they occurred, unless they do not affect the outcome. As usual, the team winning four games will win the series.

All games will start, as usual, at 1:30 p. m. eastern standard time at Philadelphia and central standard time at Chicago.

Contenders at Parley

Representatives of all clubs with mathematical pennant chances were invited to the meeting today, but the Washington Senators and the New York Giants did not accept. The Senators were all but out of the running in the American league, trailing the world championship Athletics by six and one-half games. The Giants still retained a chance, trailing the leading Cubs for four games.

A day for traveling in event of a St. Louis or Chicago victory in the National league pennant race was regarded as a break for the Athletic pitching staff, as it would give a chance to rest the pitchers and give their two start. "Lefty" Grove and George Earnshaw an extra fling in the classic.

Lott Defeated In Singles Tourney

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 8. (AP)—A prey to his own erratic temperament and the hair-trigger strokes of his famous opponent, young George Lott of Chicago went down to surprising defeat at the hands of the veteran, Richard N. Williams, in the second round of the national tennis singles championship this afternoon. The scores were 9-7, 7-5, 7-5, 6-1.

Preceded only by Big Bill Tilden and Wilmer Allison on the list of "seeded" American favorites, Lott had been generally expected to win without difficulty from the Philadelphia sharpshooter, who held this title back in 1914 and 1916. Now 39 years old and long since past his peak, Williams was not even included among the seeded entrants, but he had enough of his old wizardry left to turn the trick.

Tilden, who was in the same half of the draw with Lott, pushed over Joseph J. Armstrong, of St. Paul, Minn., 6-1, 6-1, 6-0.

Michigan U. Has Backfield Strength In Abundance, but Needs Line Men

(This is the second of a series of stories on prospects of major college football teams.)

By W. G. STEVENSON,
Associated Press Sports Writer

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Sept. 8.—University of Michigan's 1930 football squad presents the ecaches with a problem unsuual to this member of the Big Ten.

When the practice season opens next Monday Coach Harry Kipke expects to have present an oversupply of burly and swift backs and ends, but a limited number of likely candidates for the line. All of the 12 returning letter men are ends or backs. This situation is in contrast with that of other years, when performances of Michigan line men caused Fielding H. Yost to remark that "the line makes the gains, the backs only carry the ball."

In order to fill a gaping hole at center, Kipke plans to transform Mavnard Morrison, a hard charging fullback and great defensive player, into a pivot man. Stan Hozer, another good fullback, may play at guard and Hewitt, an end, will be tried at tackle.

Seventy-two of the best prospects have been invited to join the training camp next Monday. From this group the coaches must find a team to meet Michigan State, Purdue, Ohio State and Illinois during October, with Harvard, Minnesota and Chicago for November games.

The schedule, which calls for six Saturdays at Ann Arbor and two away, follows:

Sept. 27.—Denison and Michigan normal at Michigan.
Oct. 4.—Michigan State at Michigan.
Oct. 11.—Purdue at Michigan.
Oct. 18.—Michigan at Ohio State.
Oct. 25.—Illinois at Michigan.
Nov. 8.—Michigan at Harvard.
Nov. 15.—Minnesota at Michigan.
Nov. 22.—Chicago at Michigan.

HOLTON NAMED GRID OFFICIAL

Coyote Mentor Given Post At Lubbock Coaches Meet

Special to The Record News.

LUBBOCK, Texas, Sept. 8.—Pete W. Cawthon, coach at the Texas Technological college, was elected president of the West Texas Coaches and Officials association here when more than 125 West Texas coaches and officials gathered for a conference on new football rules and to perfect an organization. Garnet Reeves, publicity manager of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, was elected secretary. Dr. Rupert Parcels of Amarillo was elected vice president. Barry Holton, coach of the Wichita Falls High school, was elected vice president; Less Cranfill, coach of Simmons university, was elected vice president; and other vice presidents are to be selected from San Angelo, El Paso and other central points in West Texas.

Coach Cawthon is to appoint three to serve with the other officers as an advisory board to pass on rules and to transact other business.

The West Texas organization is to be affiliated with the state organization.

New Rules Discussed

A major part of the day was spent in discussing new rules and new rulings as agreed upon at a state conference at Houston last week. Coach Cawthon attended the meeting and explained in detail about the new rulings.

At noon, the visitors were guests of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce at a luncheon at Hotel Lubbock. W. L. Stangel, chairman of the athletic council at the Texas Technological college, served as chairman of the meeting. Several of the old time players were called upon to recount their experiences in the game years ago. B. Sherrod, director of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce made the welcome address and Dr. Rupert Parcells responded.

Others on Program

Others who spoke included Chas. A. Guy, editor of The Lubbock Avalanche Journal; Garnet Reeves, Lubbock; Tom Garrard, Lubbock; J. H. Goodman, Lubbock; R. L. Smith, Lubbock; Bub Mosley, Wichita Falls; Indian Bateman, Quanah; Ben Condray, Lubbock; Less Cranfill, Abilene; Raggs Matthews, Fort Worth; Blair Cherry, Amarillo; Ox Fullingim, Amarillo, and Albert Lowe, Abilene.

The association voted to meet in Lubbock again next year.

Following the meeting, coaches of district No. 2 met at the college to arrange schedules.

Iowa Park Grid Team Starts Work

Special to The Record News.

IOWA PARK, Texas, Sept. 8.—Coach A. D. Neil issued uniforms to 20 men this afternoon and sent them out for a mild workout on the field. Among these who were at the first get-together were nine letter men of the previous season. These old timers were Captain-elect J. C. Cobb, Guy Cowart, Killdow, Albert May, Dell Harbour, Corliss Davis, Bedford Cunningham, Keith Watkins and Ross Burney.

Coach Neil sees some good prospects in the new material, and expects a few more men to report for practice in the next few days.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Sept. 8. (AP)—The government crop report placing the indicated yield as of Sept. 1 at 14,340,000 bales was followed by a decline of about $2.50 to $2.85 per bale in the cotton market here today. These figures were about 300,000 bales above the average of recent private indications and the market which had been rather nervous and irregular preceding their publication broke under more or less general southern, local and Wall street selling.

New December contracts sold down to 10.90 or within a point of the low record established on the decline of last month, but the break was checked by trade buying and covering at this figure, and that delivery closed at 11.03 or 13 points up from the lowest. The general market closed steady at net declines of 38 to 45 points. Prices rallied after the usual 20 minutes to receive the government crop report at midday. Selling was active and appeared to be coming from practically all directions. It included southern selling, but this was said to be generally in small lots and the bulk of the pressure was attributed to liquidation of long accounts that had been carried over and pressure from local and foreign selling.

The report of the census bureau showing ginnings of 1,878,253 bales prior to Sept. 1, was slightly above expectations, but came in for very little comment in connection with the selling. Trade interests were reported good buyers on scale down, while covering became more active as prices approached the previous low records for the season. Exports today were 48,359 bales, making 321,476 so far this season. Port receipts, 55,711. U. S. port stocks, 1,988,727.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 8. (AP)—The government crop report showing an indicated yield of 14,340,000 bales of 500 pounds weight and total ginnings prior to Sept. 1 of 1,878,283 running bales today dominated the cotton market. Both totals were larger than expected and the effect on the market was a sharp decline. Prior to receipt of the report the market had advanced 9 to 10 points on shorts covering and the immediate effect of the government showing was a drop of 37 to 42 points. This decline compared with the highs of 64 to 66 points.

The market continued active during the period after midsession fluctuating within the previous range and near the end prices rallied on satisfied shorts covering recovering 11 to 14 points from the lowest and closing steady at net declines for the day of 35 to 44 points.

Liverpool came in 1 to 3 points better than due but prices here opened 3 to 5 points down on a little further pre-bureau liquidation. Prices soon rallied on belated short covering and before the government report was issued October traded up to 11.37 and December to 11.55, 9 to 10 points above the previous close.

Prices rallied in the late trading on satisfied shorts covering. October finally closing at 10.84 and December at 11.03, showing net losses for the day on those months of 42 to 44 points.

Port receipts 55,930, for week 93,084, for season 1,000,702, last season 735,348. Exports 48,359, for week 67,065, for season 503,882, last season 378,034. Port stock 1,992,631, last year 774,318. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 69,719, last year 60,187. Spot sales at southern markets 49,049, last year, 36,502.

Stock Prices Decline in Sympathy With Setbacks to Wheat and Cotton

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Sept 8. (US)—Profit-taking induced by the market's performance in the latter part of last week, coupled with some renewed short selling, brought about a slight recession in average prices today. The net losses, however, was rather reasonable in view of the substantial gains previously scored. Many leading stocks had attained new highs on the present recovery before the selling had effect on prices.

Another setback in wheat, a sharp break in cotton, and continued uncertainty regarding steel trade operations, furnished the day's quota of discouraging news. Yet the market displayed rather impressive resistance to the developments. Its techincal position, seemingly, has not been impaired to such an extent that such developments have more than minor influence. Certainly, a public following has not been built up to any degree warranting caution on this score exclusively. In the first hour, when enthusiasm was at its height, volume expanded enormously, but as prices softened the trading likewise fell off sharply but nevertheless the day's total exceeded 2,200,000 shares.

The outstanding performance of the day was the strength in General Motors which closed up over a point at its highest price. The buying of this issue stimulated strength throughout the auto group and tended to offset the somewhat more bearish sentiment which had begun to develop as a result of the market's hesitancy. Buying of General Motors was for the account of some of the best-informed people in that corporation. The demand is speculative in character, of course, but is based on belief that this enterprise in particular and the automobile industry in general is just about scraping bottom. Definite evidence of substantial improvement is still lacking, but the feeling is growing that the industry is passing through its final depression stage. A revival of the auto trade would provide tremendous stimulus to the entire industrial world.

Practically all of the leaders yielded fractionally. Among the utilities new highs were recorded on the early upswing but they finished generally fractionally off. Buying of National Power however was reported to be for the account of well informed interests who believe this company will figure in important expansion deals in the near future. Auburn auto advanced 10 points on reports its management is planning a new surprise for the trade. Oil shares were under pressure on lower gasoline prices in the East. Railroad stocks as a group were relatively firm, some encouragement being gleaned from the statement by President Sargent, of the Chicago and North Western that the depression has passed and seasonal betterment already is evident. This was interpreted to indicate that car-loading figures in the near future may be much more encouraging. From standpoint of activity, Radio-Keith was a particular feature as it attained a new high on heavy dealings. The stock enjoys powerful sponsorship, which accounts for the heavy volume, but the best kind of buying is for the long-pull. The remainder of the motion picture group was sluggish. Strength in the utility list was based in part on report the weekly power consumption figures may show expanding activity in industry.

Forecast that the Steel corporation's unfilled tonnage will probably show a sizeable decrease brought in considerable selling, but influence of these figures may be exaggerated. The steel trade is concerned chiefly with operating ratio and prices rather than building up enormous tonnages. The policy of hand-to-mouth buying which seems general in the business world precludes any huge backlog of orders. The betterment in steel operations even during the month of August, when the industry would have done well even to hold its previous rate, testifies to some betterment in actual demand and it is not at all unlikely that further expansion in operations will be witnessed. Steel common, furthermore, has had a reasonably substantial rally from its recent low and at least a resting spell was warranted. The stock also had to contend with a bearish comment by a leading statistical organization.

Firmness in the copper group was significant. There is talk that the next monthly statistical report on the industry will probably represent the last bearish analysis of its condition. It is also rumored that the Anaconda company is anxious to advance the price of copper but is waiting upon Kennecott for tacit approval of such action. Kennecott it is stated, has been opposed to any immediate upward change in copper prices, but is understood to have changed its attitude somewhat.

Speculative character of recent spurt in the rubber stocks was indicated by the receivership action against Kelly-Springfield. Pool activity in specialties was less aggressive after the initial strength in the general list. It is evident, however, that active sponsorship will continue to be afforded favorite issues at least for the immediate future. Radio yielded almost a point as its sponsors neglected it to concentrate on Radio-Keith. General Electric which is enjoying very active sponsorship, crossed 75 before yielding with the list. Young Spring and Wire yielded to profit-taking, but its sponsors maintain their bullishness on the stock.

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, Sept. 8. (AP)—Exporters' bids on wheat of 89 cents remained out of line in today's trading on the cash grain market, but there was a fair domestic demand. Mills were bidding nominally 94@95c. No sales were posted.

Fair demand was also reported for corn and oats.

Estimated receipts: Wheat, 36 cars; corn, 18; oats, 7; barley, 4, and sorghums, 2.

Bids and offers on coarse grains ranged as follows, basis carload delivered Texas common points, freight paid:

Corn—No. 2 mixed $1.00@1.01; No. 2 white $1.02@1.03; No. 2 yellow $1.11@1.12.

Oats—No. 2 red nominally 52@53c; No. 3 white delivered Texas group No. 1 points 50@53c, to which add 1 cent for delivery group No. 3 barley, No. 2, 71@72c.

Sorghums—No. 2 milo per 100 pounds nominally $1.90@1.95; No. 2 kaffir $1.68@1.72.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Sept. 8. (AP)—Unloading of wheat by owners collecting profits and persistent hedging pressure proved more than the Chicago wheat market could stand today and prices eased downgrade. Scattered selling by tired owners and by commission houses placed more wheat on sale than there was buying power to absorb it. Trade was not large and the market was nervous and easily influenced. Chicago wheat was firm at the start because of strength in Liverpool, but this influence proved only transient. Corn ranged downward along with wheat. An overbought condition showed in the trade when owners started to unload on weak spots. A sensationally bullish estimate of the 1930 corn crop by an unofficial crop expert resulted in only sporadic buying and had little market influence.

Wheat closed nervous and unsettled, 1⅛@1½c net lower than Saturday's finish. Corn closed weak, ⅝@1⅛c down, oats ⅛@⅜c off, and provisions declined 10@23c.

After the opening flurry of buying, the wheat trade settled into the rut of indifference which has characterized trading here of late. Traders said that it looked as if recent developments in Argentina had checked the aggressiveness of professional sellers, many of whom were caught flatfooted by the swift response the market made to news from Buenos Aires Saturday. Liverpool cables said that offers of Russian wheat had decreased in size and increased in price.

Provisions weakened because of scattered commission house selling and because the recent buying was absent. Demand was much less aggressive.

Closing indemnities: Wheat—September 82⅛c, 86c¾ December 88c, 91c; March 92c, 94⅝c; May 94⅝c, 97⅜@⅝c.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, Sept. 8. (US)—While there are evidences of an increased demand for North American wheat from abroad, buying from this source is still far short of sufficient to offset the heavy pressure from the Northwest. What support comes on breaks is largely credited to the extremely low price range itself.

With some of the leading bulls selling out their lines, sentiment turned rather bearish in corn today. Traders admitted that news was as bullish as ever, but the failure of the market to respond to the news was considered the bearish factor.

Italian advices indicate that import requirements for the season will be around 70,000,000 bushels.

It is expected that all of the markets will more or less mark time tomorrow and the day after, owing to the pending government report.

Confirmed bulls on corn are looking for a reduction in figures below those of the private experts, while the bearishly inclined think a crop of around 2,200,000,000 bushels might be indicated. The latter hardly seems likely in view of Secretary Hyde's recent statement.

COURT DIVIDES TAX MONIES

General Fund Increased Under New Budget

The tax levy of 75 cents for Wichita county, set recently by the county commissioners court, was divided Monday into 17 portions, representing the amount each of the county's various funds will receive from the 75-cent levy.

The apportionment as approved at the regular weekly meeting of the court Monday indicates an increase in the amount to go into the general fund and into the interest and sinking funds for road and bridge bonds, with corresponding decreases in the amounts given over to the regular road and bridge funds, according to Judge John P. Marrs. The general fund levy, including the third class and the hospital maintenance funds, was raised to 25 cents, about four cents higher than the levy of last year. Smaller increases were made in the bond funds. Other levies, Judge Marrs said, remained substantially the same, with slight decreases in some cases to make up the increases in the other funds.

Levy Unchanged

The total levy of 75 cents, it was explained, remains the same as last year, the general fund apportionment having been raised to take care of increased numbers of charity cases and other costs of operating the county, and the bond levies having been increased to cover additional amounts required in retiring road and bridge bonds.

The levies for the various funds as listed by the court follow: Jury, 4 cents; third class (general fund), 22.5 cents; hospital maintenance (included in general fund), 2.5 cents; hospital No. 1 fund, 0.2 cent; hospital No. 2 fund, 0.1 cent; jail fund, 0.1 cent; second class fund, 15 cents; jail improvement fund, 1.2 cents; courthouse fund, 2 cents; bridge bond fund, 1.2 cents; road No. 2 fund, 15 cenas; Holliday road improvement fund A, 0.9 cents; Park road improvement fund B, 2 cents; Electra road improvement fund C, 0.8 cent; Electra bridge improvement fund D, 0.5 cent; Electra bridge improvement fund E, 1 cent; road No. 1 refunding fund, 6 cents.

The court Monday authorized Paul Barnett, county auditor, to advertise for bids for rock asphalt topping on two to five miles of the Wichita Falls-Thornberry road in precinct No. 1. The bids will open Oct. 6.

Reports Filed

The court received the August report of T. W. McHam, county treasurer, showing $22,097.43 in the precinct No. 1 fund; $31,663.67 in the precinct No. 2 fund; $21,302.04 in the precinct No. 3 fund; $824.16 in the precinct No. 4 fund; and $28,749.13 in the general fund. Mr. McHam also turned in the August report of the Wichita county drainage district No. 1 showing a balance of $72.01 in the interest and sinking account and $257.57 in the maintenance account.

The August reports of R. V. Gwinn and O. L. Gibbs, justices of the peace for precinct No. 1, were also received by the court.

Texas Farmers Join Cotton Co-Op As Crop Report Brings Slump

DALLAS, Sept. 8. (UP)—Texas farmers are joining the Texas Cotton Cooperative association at the rate of 600 a day, and today's market decline will bring them in at an even faster rate, it was forecast at association headquarters here tonight, where officials said the growers are not inclined to sell at present levels, and the government-supported cooperative plan offers the most economical method of holding with the least possible risk.

Reports from the association's 200 offices over the state show that from 35 to 40 per cent of the crop is being held off the market by individuals, and association officials expressed confidence that a large part of this cotton will eventually be placed in the pools which are to be sold through the season by the American Cotton Cooperative association under the supervision of the federal farm board.

CROP ESTIMATED AT 14,340,000 BALES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8. (US)—The nation's cotton crop for 1930 will be 14,340,000 bales, about 22,000 bales better than was in prospect a month ago, the crop reporting board of the department of agriculture estimated today.

The figure still is about 688,000 bales less than the average crop of the five years from 1924 through 1928, and about 488,000 bales less than last year's crop.

Average yield was forecast as about 153.2 pounds to the acre, which is 1.9 pounds per acre less than the average for the last 10 years.

The report stated that the loss from boll weevil infestation will probably be very small.

The estimate by states gave Texas 53 per cent of normal; 122 pounds to the acre; 4,321,000 bales indicated. Oklahoma was given as 42 per cent normal; 112 pounds to the acre; 925,000 bales indicated.

Popular Couple Are Wed Monday Afternoon

A simple but pretty wedding ceremony was read at Walters, Okla., Monday afternoon when Miss Hazel Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Young of Wichita Falls became the bride of Dexter Kirby. Both young people are among the young business group of Wichita Falls and have many friends in the city. Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Pyle accompanied them to Walters. Mrs. Kirby wore a handsome black and white crepe ensemble with accessories to harmonize. They will be at home to their friends at 1106 Thirteenth street.

As a surprise compliment to the bride elect, a group of friends gathered at her home Friday evening to present her with many lovely gifts. Delicious refreshments served by the honoree, assisted by Mesdames Della Sligar and William Edwards. Messrs. Bert Pyle, Howard Witherspoon and Elmer Ryle helped entertain the group with Hawaiian instruments.

Among the guests were Mesdames Della Sligan, W. R. McFadden, J. D. Potts, S. L. Bradshaw, Mary Myrtle Pyle, Lillian McDaniels, Odell Gerdes, Ethel Lee, A. D. Foster, Gertrude Maddox, Misses Attrilla Moore, Carmen Hubbard, Velma Hunter, Thelma Carter, Ernestine Huff, Frances Trent, Willie Foster, Grace Giles, Hazel Haley, Thelma Pyle, Bonnie Beason, Ida Nuss, Malinda Haines, Frieda Nuss; Messrs. Elma Pyle, Howard Witherspoon, Joe Gerdes, Jack Montgomery, Hugh Rhea, J. D. Lee, Bert Pyle and the bride and groom elect.

DRY GOODS MARKET

NEW YORK, Sept. 8. (AP)—Print cloths sold in fair volume prior to the cotton crop estimate today. Afterward prices were firmly maintained on gray goods, with quiet conditions ruling. Fine goods were in moderate demand. Burlap markets experienced moderate inquiry with spots firmly held. Spot raw silks were dull and weaker here and in Japan.

SOUTH OF ARCHER COUNTY

Hickernell and associates (formerly King & Hays) No. 1 J. H. Turbeville located in block 62, Jefferson county school lands, Archer county, is showing for a well in the pay at 1001-1006 feet. The well is a wildcat being northeast of production in block 50, same survey, and about five miles south of Archer City.

PANDEM LOCATION

The Pandem Oil corporation of Wichita Falls staked out location for its No. 2 Stoker deep test to be drilled 330 feet south, 990 west of the northeast corner of section 31, G. H. & H. survey in Garza county. No. 1 Stoker located about three-quarters of a mile southeast which was drilled some time ago but abandoned as a dry hole encountered a good sand at 2880 feet which promised at one time the earmark of a producer of some sort.

NORTHWEST OF ARCHER CITY

Frazier and associates have a derrick up for their No. 1 Wm. Coleman test to be drilled 750 feet from the north, and 150 feet from the west lines of section 81, A. T. N. C. L. survey, about four miles northeast of Archer City in Archer county.

NORTHEAST OF NEWCASTLE

Panhandle Refining company No. 1 J. Mayes, a deep test located northeast of Newcastle in section 439, T. E. L. survey, Young county has reached a depth of 2440 feet.

PETROLEUM PRODUCERS TEST

The Petroleum Producers No. 2, J. G. Graham, located in section 2249 T. E. & L. survey, north of Newcastle in Young county has spudded in and drilling at 200 feet.

FOARD COUNTY TEST

Northwest of the Thalia field in Foard county, A. W. Phillips and associates No. 1 R. T. Owens in block "A", section 327, H. & T. C. R. R. survey is running eight-inch at a depth of 1700 feet.

MONTAGUE COUNTY TEST

T. L. King and associates No. 2 Mrs. S. Loy, located in the Wm. Donoho survey has started drilling operations and is drilling at 600 feet.

THROCKMORTON COUNTY

T. B. Slick Oil company No. 1 Reynolds Land and Cattle company, located in section 4, T. T. R. R. survey in Throckmorton county is drilling at 640 feet.

SOUTHEAST OF GAINESVILLE

The completion of the Lloyd Oil corporation's No. 2 Jacobs producer in the J. Strickland survey, abstract 929 in the extreme southeast part of Cooke county is still the center of interest to the oil men in this section. The well which is a wildcat making 250 barrels from a sand at 1546 feet, has been responsible for the changing hands of several leases in its immediate vicinity, and it is reported plenty of cash changed hands for these leases during the past few days. The buyers being reported as Danciger brothers who already control many acres in the county, M. Staniforth of Wichita Falls and the Simms Oil company.

HEAVY RAINS OVER SECTION

Bolt at Electra Starts $3,000 Blaze

Truscott to the southwest received a one-inch rain while the fall in many rural sections near Crowell amounted to more than two inches.

Rain in Oklahoma

At Olney a light rain was falling at 8:30 o'clock Monday night and indications were good for continued heavier rain during the night. High wind and lightning accompanied the storm, without damage. Archer City also reported light rain about 8:30 o'clock.

Iowa Park and Electra both received heavy rain which lasted about an hour around 8 o'clock, with indications that the precipitation would continue into the night. Burkburnett received a heavy rain which had changed into a light downfall at 8:30 o'clock. Henrietta had received wind and lightning at 9 o'clock although no rain had fallen in that vicinity at that hour. Rain was expected to follow the windstorm. Randlett in Oklahoma also received the benefits of the rain which struck Burkburnett, a heavy fall having been reported there shortly after 7 o'clock.

Petrolia reported its first good rain since June 15, about one-half inch having fallen within a few minutes Monday evening. In the vicinity of Lawton, Okla., heavy rains were reported, with a three-inch downpour drenching portions of Comanche county and the city of Lawton receiving about one inch. Frederick, Okla., received a good rain which proved of great benefit to crops and which sent the temperature down 20 degrees within the space of a few minutes. Byers reported a good rain which, though it came too late to save a large part of the farm crops, will prove of great benefit to pasture lands.

STAMFORD HIT BY WIND AND RAIN

Special to The Record News

STAMFORD, Texas, Sept. 8.—Rain measuring .61 inches, accompanied by a high wind fell here at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon.

The wind unroofed a part of the metal roof of the Brazleton Lumber company, blowing it more than 100 feet into the street, tearing down electric light wires, as it went.

Traffic on the block was stopped for an hour on account of the wreckage.

Two small plate glass windows in the Stamford Cotton Produce company were blown out, and other minor damage over the city reported. The rain was reported to be general over the Stamford trade territory.

REMNANT OF HURRICANE BRINGS U. S. RAINS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8. (AP)—The Santo Domingo hurricane remnant that was moving inland from the Gulf of Mexico today, bringing general rain and promising more, was breaking what weather bureau reports showed to be the greatest drouth in its history.

While Meteorologist C. L. Mitchell was smiling over rain maps which showed his drougth-end predictions materializing, Meteorologist J. B. Kincer was compiling drouth statistics from December through August of this driest year.

His chart of 32 parched states showed 19 "deficiency in precipitation" records established. The August reports, just received combined with those of the preceding eight months, put the 1930 drouth on a higher, drier level than the famed drouth of 1881 in the Southwest; 1894 in the Northwest; and 1901 in the corn belt. In 40 years of weather records, nothing was found to compare with the now apparently-ending drouth in scope and duration.

Five states had the driest spring on record—West Virginia, Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois and Missouri.

Seven states had the lowest summer rainfall on record—Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi and Arkansas.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 8. (AP) (U.S.D.A.)—Livestock trade around the 11-market circuit was featured by an increase in the movement of range cattle. Receipts were estimated at 119,300. Western killing cattle were on a steady to 25c lower basis with outside demand at some centers, a supporting factor to the trade on the better grades of Western steers. Chicago had a top of $12.60 on both weighty fed steers and yearlings.

Moderate activity developed on hogs at steady to 15c higher prices. Demand for underweights also showed more stability. The day's extreme top of $11.45 was paid at St. Louis. Offerings were around 84,000.

The sheep supply approximated 137,200. Fat lambs were unevenly steady to 25c lower while matured classes of sheep held about steady. Choice native lambs in Chicago topped at $9.25 and a few of the best rangers paid $9.10.

TEXAS LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, Sept. 8. (AP)—Slow trading with a lower tendency on cows and calves featured today's market.

Slaughter steers sold from $5.50 to $6.00. Bulls sold steady to strong with a load of Brahamas bulls at $4.65. The bulk of the light bulls sold from $3.75 down. Slaughter yearlings sold from $7.50 to $8.00. Common packages sold from $3.50 to $4.50.

Canner cow bids and a few sales were around 25c lower. Very thin ones sold down to $2.00 with canners from $2.25 to $2.60 and cutters around $2.75. Fat cows sold around $4.25 with a load on the heifer order at $5.25. Calves were about steady with a load of good heifer calves at $7.00.

Stocker steers sold at $6.60 and down. Young cows sold at $5.50 with some heifers at $5.25 and some yearlings from $5.50 to $7.00. Truck hogs 15 to 20c higher with a top of $10.35 and packing sows $7.25 to $7.75. Truck lambs sold at $7.00. Bidding was $4.00 on fat wethers.

Hogs—Receipts 600, no good rail butchers offered. Truck hogs 15 to 20c higher; top $10.30; packing sows $7.50@7.75.

We prepare men and women for employment in the printing industry, which is one of the fastest-growing industries in the country. Our graduates often earn from $100 to $140 per month on their first job. We also teach bricklaying, plastering, electrical work and other mechanical trades. More money and steady employment comes to those who know how to do one job well. For information write Southwest Vocational School, Chamber of Commerce building, Dallas, Texas.

MEN OR women, make big money selling "Building Health," a new book containing two hundred pages of truth in plain English about the human body. One year's subscription to "The Optimist" given free with each sale. Send $1 for sample book and get our wonderful proposition. Boyer Specialty Co., box 1186, Wichita Falls, Texas.

CIRCUS CREWS 'PLASTER' TOWN

School Children Get Thrill On Opening Day

Whatever bitterness vacation's end may have brought to youthful hearts in Wichita Falls Monday morning was alleviated in a large measure by the city-wide flare of brilliant billboard ads announcing that the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey combined circus will display its wonders in this city on Saturday, Sept. 20—just 11 days off.

Bill posters and lithographers numbering about 50 arrived in Wichita Falls Monday morning to place thrilling pictorial announcements of the circus' coming throughout the city. According to the words of the advance advertising forces of the huge amusement company, the 1930 circus is the largest and most impressive ever assembled under a big tent in any country.

Among the thrillers for which the youngsters will wait with bugging eyes will be the projection of a man through a 100-foot arc from the mouth of a huge cannon, according to those who have witnessed the circus' recent performances elsewhere. He is a real man, and crawls down the mouth of the cannon which a moment later hurls him head foremost through the air across the big tent.

Seven rings are used by the 1930 Ringling-Barnum-Bailey circus. Among the army of performers required to present a continuous show in each ring are complete families and troupes of foreign stars new to American audiences, according to representatives of the circus. Elephants will probably outnumber any drove ever seen in this section before, and the wild animal display also will include an imposing group of giraffes.

Calendars will exist during the subsequent 11 days for local children only for the purpose of pointing to the 20th as "circus day."

Hoo Hoo Leaders To Take Office Today

Recently elected officers of Hoo Hoo club No. 45, local lumbermen's unit of the national organization, will be installed at a metting to be held Tuesday noon at the Kemp hotel, it was announced Monday.

J. H. Crumpler will assume the office of president. O. G. Stephens, vice president, and Carl LeBrecht, secretary-treasurer, are the other officers to be installed. New directors are W. H. McAbee, C. E. Naylor, Walter Taylor, Marian Stephens, and George Bowie.

Plans for attendance of local members at the international convention of Hoo Hoo clubs to be held in Toronto, Canada, Sept. 15 to 17, will be made at Tuesday's meeting, it was said.

It is customary to berate the film industry and the local theater manager for choice of rotten shows. The critics wail and the public follows in expressing its disgust. After the fate of "Disraeli," "The Rogue Song" and now "Song O' My Heart" in Wichita Falls, it seems that the public must also come in for a little berating.

"Song O' My Heart" booked for a four-day showing was "jerked" Monday night, and "Lawful Larceny," with Bebe Daniels, will begin Tuesday instead of Wednesday. The Majestic theater cannot be blamed. Theaters are run for profit, not as an altruistic project. Even motion picture producers and performers have to eat, even as you and I.

To be perfectly plain, the responsibility for the sort of pictures Wichita Falls gets rests on Wichita Falls. The public can always get what it insists upon . . . that is, if it insists by way of digging down for the 50-cent pieces.

Even after the failure of "Disraeli" and "The Rogue Song," it is surprising that "Song O' My Heart" flopped so miserably. In the first place, John McCormack drew a larger audience in his personal appearance here two years ago than has any other single person in concert.

Only a few weeks ago, New York had scrambled for seats at $2.00. Wichita Falls got the picture ahead of any other Texas city.

It may be that these flops could be avoided by bringing the high-type pictures in for a one-day showing at a $1.00 or $2.00 price. The public might appreciate the superior merit by means of the higher price. If such a thing happens, it would be well to remember that the theater-going public brought it to pass.

Wichita Falls is really getting new pictures earlier than has even been the case here before. Within the past few weeks, there have been several pictures which were secured here ahead of any other city in the state. It is ridiculous to suppose, however, that the theater managers will continue to pay top prices to film a picture to a scattering audience.

KGKO Orchestra To Play at Charity Ball

Music for the charity ball to be staged next Saturday night in the Wichita club by the Junior chamber of commerce will be furnished by the KGKO dance orchestra, it was announced Monday.

Consent of the local musician's union permitted the local radio organization to donate its services for the affair, all proceeds of which are to go to the family relief society, according to Wilburn Page, secretary of the Junior chamber of commerce.

Cleo Grantham, director; Miss Lorene Tucker, John Harrell, E. L. Davis, Guy Woodward, Hanford McCarty, Byron Johnson, A. D. Rische, and Francis Quinn make up the orchestra.

Members of the city's various luncheon clubs are to hear speakers from the Junior chamber of commerce at their meetings this week in pleas for attendance at the Saturday night dance.

Kiwanis Club Hears Reports on Convention

Members of the Kiwanis club Monday heard reports on the Kiwanis district convention held last week in Lubbock, Tom Medders, Roy Grimes, and A. A. Spencer discussing the deliberations and actions of that body in brief talks.

Vocal numbers by Mrs. Victor B. Lowrey, accompanied by Mrs. F. R. Collard, were included in the program for the weekly meeting.

SPUDDER FANS BUY TICKETS

43 Make Reservations For Dixie Series

Reservations for accommodations on the special train to be run to Memphis, Tenn. in case the Spudders vanquish the Fort Worth Panthers in the approaching play-off series continued to come into the office of Dudley B. Foy, assistant manager of the chamber of commerce, Monday afternoon.

Announcement of lower fare, berth, and admission ticket rates than those announced Sunday stimulated registration of fans who will make the trip should a Dixie series face the Spudders. Railroad fare, Pullman accomodations, and a reserved seat for the two Memphis games will be $36.40 for upper berth and $38.95 with lower, it was announced. Those making the trip will provide their own meals and hotel accomodations, although reservations at the Peabody hotel in Memphis may be made through the chamber of commerce here.

Late Monday afternoon it was said that 43 places already had been reserved on the prospective special train. Should the trip materialize, the special will leave this city at 5:30 p. m. on the day preceding the date of the first game in Memphis arriving in the Tennessee city 15 hours later.

Expressions from local fans indicated that scores are laying plans for accompanying the Spudders to Memphis in event of a victory over Fort Worth in the play-off, according to Mr. Foy.

Will of Mrs. Wheeler Filed With Clerk

The will of Mrs. Fannie Wheeler, who died here recently, was filed Monday with Miss Elizabeth Hall, county clerk. According to the terms of the will, all real estate and personal property of the deceased is given to her children, Mrs. Iris Weaver and Richard Wheeler, both of Wichita Falls; G. S. Wheeler of Los Angeles, Calif., and Mrs. Susie Coke of Sinton, Texas, share and share alike. The son, Richard, and the daughter, Mrs. Weaver, of this city were named joint executor and executrix without bond. Court officials said an estimate on the value of the estate would not be available until an inventory has been filed.

SCHOOLS GAIN 500 PUPILS

Registration Shows Heavy Increase Here

First-day enrollment showed a gain of more than 500 in the Wichita Falls Public schools over that of 1929, according to information received late Monday, with a total registration of over 8,000.

Enrollment for all the schools except Benito Juarez, for which figures were not available, totaled 8,002. Last year's first-day enrollment at the Huey school was not known, but comparative figures for the two years, excluding Huey and Benito Juarez, indicate a gain of 560.

Large gains ere shown in all the schools, with the exception of Junior college, Zundelowitz Junior high and Fannin Ward school.

Detailed registration figures as reported at 4 p. m. Monday follow:

500 Expected At Shrine Stag Party

Approximately 500 nobles, 200 of whom will be from out-of-town, are expected to attend the Shrine stag party which will follow the regular business meeting of Maskat Temple in the auditorium in the City National bank building Tuesday evening, according to Sid Gaines, chairman of the committee on arrangements.

The program, which will be given under the direction of Clarence Rogers, master of ceremonies, will consist of numbers by Maskat Temple's famous two-piece orchestra, a show under the direction of Horrace Robbins and Jim Hanks, a contest on skill which will be conducted by Lester Jones and Henry Ford. The feature of the entertainment will be a story telling contest when judges will be J. W. Akin, E. E. Fischer and Rabbi S. J. Schwab. Albert Ellis and J. Marshall Franklin will have charge of the refreshments.

The general committee on arrangements for the affair includes Lester Jones, Henry Ford, Jerry Moffett, Kindel Paulk and Sid Gaines.

Half of Capital Stock in Company To Aid Farmers Subscribed Here

Efforts of business men in this community to aid drouth-stricken farmers had resulted Monday in the pledging of approximately half of the $50,000 capital stock for the proposed drouth relief corporation, according to J. T. Harrell, chairman of the committee in charge of the movement.

It was said that progress reported thus far indicated that the corporation may be chartered within the next few days. Subscriptions to capital stock of the proposed organization are being solicited here under the direction of Mr. Harrell, W. M. McGregor, and Leslie Humphrey.

While most of the money thus far pledged for the relief project represents subscriptions of Wichita Falls business men, those of Iowa Park, Archer City, Burkburnett, Electra, and Henrietta have been asked to pledge about $3,000 each during the next few days in order to provide the stipulated amount without delay. A campaign is to be staged in those communities at once, it was said.

Provision of funds which farmers hit by the drouth may borrow for the purpose of resuming their operations is the object of the proposed corporation, Mr. Harrell stated.

Fairtrace and Martin Attend Convention

City Manager George D. Fairtrace and City Attorney Thelbert Martin left Monday for Amarillo where they will attend a city attorneys' convention. They are expected to return Wednesday.

Free Ads Offered Wichita Residents in Need of Work

Aid to those seeking employment will be given by the Daily Times and Record News by running classified ads under the "situations wanted" heading without cost, it was announced Monday.

The plan was adopted for a limited time, it was stipulated, and may be withdrawn at any time. An advertisement will be accepted for not more than three insertions, and must not exceed three lines in length. Such ads must be brought to the offices of the Times Publishing company at Seventh and Scott avenue, as they will not be accepted by telephone.

Persons wishing to avail themselves of this service were urged to do so without delay.

Zinc Manufacturer Dies Suddenly Aboard Ship

LONDON, Sept. 8. (INS)—Stanley Marenda, wealthy zinc manufacturer of La Salle, Ill., died suddenly today aboard the liner Cedric, on which he was a passenger, en route to England on business.

Marenda died in his sleep, officers of the ship revealed when the vessel docked at Liverpool.

Dr. E. C. Brooks, president of North Carolina state college, has been made an honorary member of the faculty of the University of Chile.

WILLIAMS ASKS NEW TRIAL

Former Constable Given Two Years for Bribery

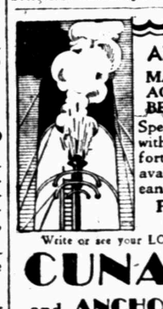

A sentence of two years in the penitentiary was fixed here Monday by a jury in the 89th district court after J. P. Williams, former Iowa Park constable, had entered a plea of guilty to a charge of accepting a bribe alleged to have been taken in return for a promise of protection to beer sellers in Iowa Park. A formel motion for a new trial was filed in Williams' behalf.

A second indictment against Williams on a similar charge was dismissed, according to Sam B. Spence, district attorney. The two-year sentence fixed by the jury was upon the recommendation of the district attorney's department.

Ruth Short entered a plea of guilty Monday morning in the 89th district court on a charge of giving a worthless check in payment for goods bought from a local merchant. She was given a two-year suspended sentence by a jury.

The trial of Jack Lane was in progress Monday afternoon at the adjournment of court by Judge P. A. Martin. Lane is under indictment on a charge of assault with intent to commit a statutory offense. He entered a plea of not guilty. Testimony for the prosecution was nearing completion at the close of the court. The trial will be continued Tuesday.

Mike Anglin and George W. Anderson, assistants to the district attorney, prosecuted the cases in the 89th district court Monday. The trial of H. H. Ward of a charge of swindling by check over $50 is scheduled for call Tuesday.

"I HAVE never bought or sold a share of stock speculatively in my life, except one small lot that I bought early in life. I determined to sell all my interests in every outside concern and concentrate my attention upon our concerns in Pittsburgh. Such a course should commend itself to every man. For a business man especially the rule would seem all-important. His mind must be kept calm and free if he is to decide wisely the problems which are continually coming before him. Nothing tells in the long run like good judgment, and no sound judgment can remain with the man whose mind is disturbed by the mercurial changes of speculation. It places him under an influence akin to intoxication. What is not, he sees, and what he sees, is not. He cannot judge of relative values or get the true perspective of things. Speculation is a parasite feeding upon values, creating none."—ANDREW CARNEGIE.

A DOG was crossing a brook with a bone in his mouth. Looking into the stream he saw, as he supposed, another dog with another bone. Desiring to possess that also he made a snap at it, when lo and behold! the bone he was carrying dropped into the water and straightway sunk to the bottom.—An Old Fable.

This dog "took a chance" (as some of us humans sometimes do) and lost all he had. Maybe you at some time have grasped at a shadow in the form of a get-rich-quick scheme that promised everything but became a total loss.

Anyone who wants to INVEST money and not speculate or gamble with it can find a safe working place for his savings in the electric light and power business.
