Notable Notes

Shrimp Dinner

The Seafood Producers Association will be holding its Annual Shrimp Dinner at the Paws and Taws Building on Fulton Beach Road Sunday, August 9, from 11:30-3:00. A donation of $4.00 for adults and $2.00 for children will be asked. The public is invited.

Kindergarten Drawing

The drawing for morning and afternoon Kindergarten classes at Rockport Elementary School has been completed. Those parents whose children are involved have been notified by mail. If parents have any questions or need additional information, they may come by the school or call at 729-6344.

Pre-Registration

New residents to Aransas County and parents whose children were not enrolled in the Aransas County Independent School District last year, need to register these children prior to the first day of school, which is August 31, 1981. The office hours are 8 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Monday thru Friday.

School Auction

The Word of God Christian School in Aransas Pass will hold a contract for sale auction on Saturday, August 8, with proceeds benefitting the school. The auction is free to the public and features new merchandise, arts and crafts and good used items. Among items for auction are a 14SF PolarKraft boat, a microwave oven, cable television service, wildlife prints and a black and white AC/DC television. For more information, call 758-3089 or 758-2921.

All Precincts Involved In Election

Aransas County voters will fill all five seats on the Aransas County Navigation District in elections Saturday, August 8. Polls will open at 7 a.m., remain open until 7 p.m. in the four county precinct polling stations.

Only one candidate in the election is running unopposed in the Saturday election. He is Hillis Dominguez, running for re-election to the Pct. 2 spot on the commission.

Two other incumbent commissioners — David Maguglin in Pct. 1-1A and Bobby Landrum in Pct. 3 — are seeking re-election. Each has drawn an opponent: Gail Driver in Pct. 1-1A and Homer V. Faber in Pct. 3.

In the at-large election Hal B. McKnight is squaring off against Dr. J.M. Shellenberger. The race for Pct. 4-4A is three-way, with Danny C. Cox, Kirk Holman and John Dzerk seeking the post.

A Pct. 1-1A polling station was decided earlier this year, with the station being located in the Gospel Lighthouse Saturday's election.

Polling stations for Saturday's election are:

Pct. 1, Gospel Lighthouse on Highway 35 South in Rockport.

Pct. 1-A, the Aransas Pass voting center.

Pct. 2, Aransas County Courthouse in Rockport.

Pct. 3, Faith Baptist Church in Fulton.

Pct. 4, Fulton Fire Station.

Pct. 4-A, Lamar Fire Station.

Absentee balloting in the election ended Tuesday, August 5.

Percheron Rocket Waits

Although technicians at the Matagorda launch site have not made the test burn, the Percheron rocket is still scheduled to be launched Wednesday, August 12.

The original engine test was scheduled on July 28 but was postponed when an electrical problem kept Space Services Inc. personnel from performing the test.

During the past week work has continued on completion of a drainage ditch to carry away the water that will be pumped onto the launch pad for cooling purposes.

Space Services Inc. spokesmen said they also had experienced some minor problems with the pump that will be used to draw water from a nearby pond to cool the pad during the engine tests and the launch.

The Percheron program has been plagued with many problems that have continually set the schedule back. The rocket arrived almost a week late in Rockport after being stopped by New Mexico authorities for not having the proper permits to travel on that state's highways.

After arriving in Rockport and being barged to Matagorda Island the Space Services Inc. technicians were delayed for over a week in erecting the rocket on the launch stand because of bad weather that swept the area with rain and high winds.

Of course the biggest delay was caused when the company was forced to move from the original site on Matagorda Peninsula to the new location some seven miles east of the Toddie Lee Wynne Ranch on Matagorda Island.

According to David Hannah, president of Space Services Inc. they will conduct a mini burn to make sure all systems of the rocket work. This will be followed by a short three-second burn. "We will have enough fuel on board just to make an ignition."

Hannah says that the most damage that could be done in the burn would be some minor damage to the housing of the motor. He says that should this happen technicians would go in and replace this housing and prepare the rocket for another test burn.

Hannah said that his company originally planned to fire the Percheron into a 50-mile sub orbital flight but now plans to make a flight that will send the rocket only 14,500 feet high and ten miles down range in the Gulf of Mexico.

Walt Pennino, public relations director for Space Services Inc., says that the company is considering more test shots from the Matagorda site but indicated that launch sites on both the west and east coasts are being considered for future launch sites.

Hannah says that after the two mini burns the rocket will be filled with enough fuel to give a full 28 second static test firing. He says that if the rocket were turned loose with a 28-second burn it would go 80 miles up. He says the reason for the shorter test flight is to work under restrictions placed on the rocket shot by the Federal Aviation Administration.

Hannah says the shorter launch will still give the technicians the information they need — "Primarily what we need to know is, can we get that rocket off the stand?"

Redistricting Battle Back Where It Started ...Again

Twenty days of hard work on the controversial redistricting plan came undone Monday as Speaker Bill Clayton was handed a major defeat as House Democratic loyalists voted to send the plan back to a House committee.

Democratic faithfuls focused on minor errors in the plan in their efforts to prove it had been rushed past the committee; then they convinced members to vote 78-67 in favor of recommitting the proposal.

The South Texas legislators voted to send the plan back to the committee, including Reps. Hugo Berlanga and Arnold Gonzales of Corpus Christi, Don Lee of Harlingen, Tony Garcia of Pharr, Ernestine Glossbrenner of Alice, Billy Hall of Laredo, Juan Hinojosa of McAllen, Irma Rangel of Kingsville and John Sharp of Victoria.

Four conservatives opposing the action were Ken Riley of Corpus Christi, Leroy Wieting of Portland, Jay Reynolds of Floresville and Tim Von Dohlen of Goliad. Von Dohlen is the sponsor of the redistricting plan.

The House redistricting committee must now start over in the efforts of redistricting. The House members have 10 days in which to complete the redistricting before the special legislative session ends.

Committee members must now start over again with the Senate plan which gives Bill Patman a district reaching from the coastal area to Milam County in Central Texas.

The committee meeting on the redistricting plan was filled with emotionally charged speeches for and against the plan.

Band Schedule Announced

Summer band practice is now underway, having started Monday, August 3. Practice will continue Monday through Friday through August 21 with the following schedule: 8-9 a.m., woodwinds only; 9-10:30 a.m., full band; 10:30-11:30 a.m., brass and percussion.

Evening practice will be on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday from 7 to 9 p.m. for the full band.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

What's a birthday party without balloons? There was cake and ice cream too and it was all for Live Oak Bank's seventh birthday. President Larry Boone (left) and chairman of the board George Cone (right) are joined by Donna Kay Hill during the all day long "birthday party" in the bank's lobby Friday, July 31.

Begin School With Proper Supplies

For all those parents with children in Rockport Elementary, who are probably wondering, about this time of the year, what kind of school supplies to purchase, the staff of the school has released a tentative materials list, as follows.

Americans ARE watching what they eat. The Surgeon General says we are taking in 21 percent less milk and cream, 28 percent less butter, and 10 percent fewer eggs.

At New York's Hospital for Special Surgery, treatment for osteoporosis includes lots of calcium, Vitamin C, and sodium fluoride if needed, plus special exercises. Some women were able to increase bone mass by 200 percent!

Waterbeds — little ones, of course — seem to offer advantages for premature infants in hospital tests. Beds are warm and softly rocking, like mother's womb. Babies seem to grow faster, with fewer problems.

Surgeon at University of Wisconsin Medical School has fashioned a new voice box for laryngectomy patients, enabling them to speak again. Procedure must be simplified for general use, he says.

Ten Indicted By Grand Jury

Aransas County's grand jury meeting in session last week returned indictments against 10 persons for charges ranging from possession of marijuana to aggravated assault and indecency with a child.

Bruce E. Littlefield was indicted on a charge of aggravated assault for an incident that occurred on April 25 while he was being pursued through Rockport by a highway patrol officer.

While being chased by DPS Officer Steve Miller, Littlefield's car was in collision with a vehicle driven by Donald Charles Tiffany who was injured in the mishap. Littlefield was indicted on the basis of those injuries.

Bond was set at $10,000.

John Hamilton and Mark Bannister were indicted on a charge that on June 28 they threatened Billy W. Hathcock with a rifle and shotgun.

Bond was set at $10,000 for Hamilton and $5,000 for Bannister.

Incentive Enlistment Program

CORPUS CHRISTI — The Texas National Guard has begun an enlistment incentive program which is available to Corpus Christi State University students.

The program features up to $1,000 per year educational assistance, and pays tuition, fees and textbook costs of the enlistee, beginning this fall.

Individuals with no prior service will attend basic training with full pay during the summer.

There is also a separate reenlistment bonus program for veterans and former guardsmen who join the National Guard now.

Additional information can be obtained by contacting Major Hans W. Micklitz or Capt. Tom Tucker at the Texas Army National Guard Armory, 1430 Horne Road, 855-6381.

The Rockport Pilot,
Thank you for recent letters to an ink-stained cartoonist upon his retirement. I have received, unexpectedly, so many hundreds of good wishes I find I cannot answer each one in the personal way I would like. I feel I know each and every one of you so well.

I appreciate more than I can frame in words this generous outpouring of gratitude for the cartoons I have drawn over the past 20 years for The Christian Science Monitor, and it is I who should be sending this thanks to you. It has been a challenging experience, working for a newspaper as great as the Monitor, but the experience has a fuller reward by having so many challenging and loving readers.

From the bottom of my heart, thanks for your wonderful support.
As ever,
your controversial friend, s/Guernsey LePelley

P.S. Just to let you know I appreciated the kind words about the Monitor — and especially the cartoonist — in your May 17 issue.
I had so many hundreds of letters come in from readers I had to get out this form letter, but my heart is in it.
LeP.

"Low Down" FROM THE Congressional Record

By JOE CRUMP

(A Column for Readers Who Haven't Time to Review the Congressional Record Daily)

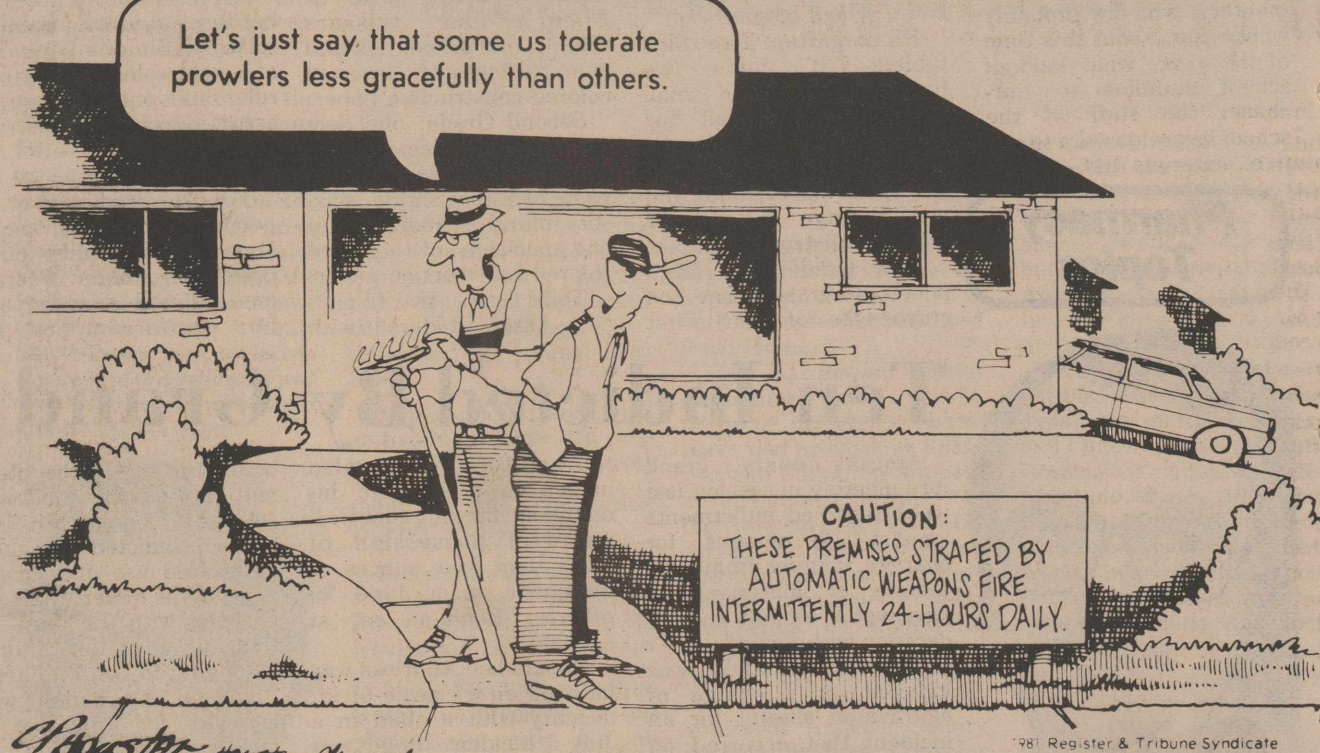

Senator Bill Bradley (N.J.)
...Only weeks after congressional passage of the equal rights amendment, delegates to the League of Women Voters (LWV) National Convention overwhelmingly approved equal rights for all, regardless of sex, as part of the league's national human resources position. At the same convention, delegates voted to support the ERA (Equal Rights Amendment) as one of the major ways to take action in support of this position...

Leagues have raised money, produced and distributed educational material, set up candidate forums, arranged public meetings, lobbied legislators and legislative candidates, secured community leader and editorial support, and organized State and local coalitions to direct and coordinate endorsing organization activities.

"In short, leagues have been involved in every aspect of the campaign to ratify ERA, with the exception of candidate support...
"By March 31, 1978, the national league, with the help of State and local leagues, had raised ERA campaign funds totaling over $1 million, with the major amount going back to the States in the form of direct grants to State leagues to aid ratification and prevent rescission attempts.
"The National Business

Council for ERA was launched by the League in February 1980. The intent of the council is to bring together top executives in the business world to establish a strong public image of business support for ERA. It presently has 160 members. The League of Women Voters holds a vice-presidency in ERAmerica, the coalition of nearly 200 civic, religious, educational, labor, and women's organizations working for ERA ratification...
"The League's determination and its contribution to the final push for ratification of ERA — both through its grassroots activities and through the National Business Council — are critical to the success of the effort to achieve ratification in the three additional States that are needed by June 30, 1982."

* * *
CRUMP'S GRASS ROOTS COMMENT
The League of Women Voters is nonpartisan inasmuch as it does not support or oppose political parties or candidates. It is political, however, in the sense that it takes positions on governmental issues and works to support legislative issues for which it takes a stand.
Not all members of the league support the Equal Rights Amendment. They resent having their dues used to financially aid a program they oppose.

Live Oak Peninsula Philosopher

Editor's note: The Live Oak Peninsula Philosopher on his grassy ranch has a few remarks on the Royal Wedding.
Dear editor:
By this time that Royal Wedding in England with all those plumed uniforms and horse-drawn carriages has faded from public attention but a few odds and ends remain in my mind. Even though the U.S. networks sent over their anchor people, none of them touched on these matters.
For instance, what do the British do with all those horses in between weddings? It may be years before they can put on another such shebang and somebody's got to feed those horses and keep their coats shiny.

And those royal uniforms and plumed hats... the television people never inquired, but are there royal keepers of the coachmen's regalia? Is the guy in charge called the Royal Moth-Baller?
In view of the fact 500 million people around the world watched the show on TV, have the British ever thought of putting on the show often? Have they thought of how much tourist trade and royal trinket sales they could generate if a King or Queen could serve say only one four-year term or eight at the most?

The television reporters kept pointing out somewhat sorrowfully that Prince Charles may have to wait 15 or 20 years before he can become King. So what? There are men in the U.S. who've waited that long to become President.
It's none of my business, but British royalty ought to figure out some way to bring out those horses and carriages and ancient uniforms more often. Even Ringling Bros. & Barnum & Bailey know you can't wait that long in between circuses.

They don't want to let the British people find out about royalty what the American people have found out about baseball.
For years we were told baseball is our national pastime, but this summer it's been found that everybody seems to get along very well without it, except for the people who make hotdogs.
Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Poll Shows Texas Residents Increasingly Fearful Of Being Crime Victims

Texas residents are increasingly fearful of becoming victims of crime, according to the latest Texas Crime Poll.
Almost two-thirds (65.7 percent) of those surveyed selected at least one type of crime of which they felt they may be victims during the next year.
The latest poll is a random sampling of 1,449 Texans from throughout the state. It was conducted by the Criminal Justice Center at Sam Houston State University.
The survey showed a marked increase in the fear of crime over earlier polls. Just a year earlier 60 percent said they were afraid of becoming crime victims, and four years ago, when the first Texas Crime Poll was conducted, that

Similar results were shown by a question on whether survey participants had installed security devices in their homes. More than four out of five (82.2 percent) said they had, compared with 76 percent a year ago and 72 percent in the fall of 1977.
Other questions showed that Texans are increasingly sure that over the past four years crime has gotten worse. In the current survey, 63.3 percent said that is has, compared to 57 percent last spring and 46 percent in 1977.
Furthermore, Texans expect the incidence of crime to increase. Almost three-fifths (59.4 percent) hold that belief as compared to 56 percent last year when that question was asked for the first time.

In line with those concerns regarding crime increases, only 43.8 percent of the survey respondents said that their police departments were doing either a good or excellent job. This was down from 50 percent a year ago.
Sheriff's departments received similar ratings — 44.6 percent this year as compared with 48 percent a year ago.
Texans think the most important function of a prison is to punish the offender. Second in importance is for imprisonment to serve as an example to keep other people from committing crimes (deterrence). Third in importance is providing treatment for criminals to enable them to be more law-abiding (rehabilitation). The least important function of a prison according to the opinions of Texas residents is keeping criminals separated from society (isolation).

The recent survey also attempted to determine how Texans feel about current issues in criminal justice, such as conjugal visits for prison inmates, placement of new prisons, the governor's review of parole recommendations, marital rape, alcohol and marijuana use and so-called "victimless crime."
Over two-thirds (68.5 percent) of those surveyed approved of conjugal visits, contingent on the good behavior of the inmate. Over three-fourths (75.7 percent) said that only the legal or common-law husband or wife should be allowed to participate in such a program.

Almost two-thirds (65.5 percent) said that prisons should be built in rural areas exclusively, rather than in urban areas where it would be easier for most families to visit. Only 18.5 percent said they should be built in both rural and urban areas, and 12.7 percent were undecided. These findings seem to contradict the earlier results which indicated that isolation is the least important function of a prison.
The majority of the respondents (62.6 percent) either favored or strongly favored the current Texas policy that all inmates who are recommended for parole by the Parole Board must receive final approval from the Governor's Office.

Only 9 percent opposed this policy.
Respondents were about equally divided on whether Texas should have a law to permit a wife to accuse her husband of rape. Some 35.6 percent favored such a law; 33.6 percent opposed it; and 29.5 percent were undecided.
Almost nine out of ten (89.1 percent) residents reported having used alcohol at least once in their lifetimes and 72.9 percent had done so in the past year.
Slightly more than one out of every four (27.6 percent) said they had tried marijuana at least once, and more than one out of ten (11.8 percent) said they had used it in the past year.

The largest percentage of the participants (45.2 percent) agreed that marijuana is worse than alcohol. Only 13.9 percent thought alcohol is worse than marijuana, and 34.2 percent thought they are both the same.
Respondents were asked to indicate which of seven activities sometimes referred to as "victimless crimes" they thought should be against the law.
The offenses and percentage of respondents who said they should be against the law included: public intoxication (77.2 percent); marijuana use (64.7 percent); prostitution (59.6 percent); homosexuality (55.3 percent); abortion (41.6 percent); attempted suicide (37 percent); and gambling (36.8 percent).

More respondents (44.9 percent) said gambling should not be against the law than said that it should. Only 33.5 percent said attempted suicide should not be against the law, with 24.2 percent undecided on the subject. Some 40.3 percent said abortion should not be against the law, with 15.7 percent undecided.
The Survey Research Program at Sam Houston's Criminal Justice Center is under the direction of Dr. Glen A. Kercher. Dr. Victor G. Strecher is dean and director of the center.

AS I WRITE IT IS 45 less 3 and counting, my way of defining South Texas' annual hurricane season. Officially it began in June and ends in late October. However, look at the record and it is evident that the days that matter are from the first of August until mid-September. Even so I don't worry. What good would it do? I do know people, a few who do worry. Cruelly perhaps, I have little sympathy for them. Happily, for all the frustration soon gets the better of them and they move to places like the Hill Country where they can enjoy floods, or elsewhere to fret about cyclones, earthquakes and what have you.
Without attempting to appear macho, I think a casual attitude accompanied by plain good horse sense is the way, the only way, to deal with hurricanes. Run from one when it threatens, but only if you live in a low-lying area along the coast. Unfortunately thousands who live on high ground in solid houses take to the highways to endure far greater danger, discomfort and expense than they would face by staying at home.

I am not expert in this matter and so speak only from experience that brews a simple formula. Ask yourself two questions: How high is my home? How solidly built is it? If you are 18 feet, and I almost wrote 12, you are safe enough on the first count. As to how strong your house is, you have only to exercise good common sense. And suppose you remain at home and the roof is lost, windows broken. I would still contend that you are better off than you might be had you hit the road. Certainly you are on the ground to protect your property and even make minor repairs, better off than being holed up in a second-rate hotel a hundred miles away. Needless to say, staying at home means laying in an ample supply of water, food and other absolute necessities including a battery operated radio.
Yes, and of course, candles, kerosene lamps. Food means things that for the most part don't need heat. One can, however, do a lot of getting by with a portable camp stove so that at least you don't have to forego that cup of hot coffee in the morning. Remember, often the worst of a hurricane is in the aftermath when it is often difficult to impossible to get to sources of supply, and utilities, principally water and electricity, are not restored for days. Above all, think twice and then think again before you leave home. It is my uneducated guess that 50 percent and possibly 75 take to the road foolishly.

Most if not all of the foregoing is old hat to everyone who has lived for long in this part of the world, but how many heed it. The safety experts will agree and disagree to varying extents. Thus I write as I have because all too many, when a hurricane threatens, get caught up in the departure momentum and forget to ask themselves that simple question: How safe am I in my home?
MOST OF US, HOWEVER much we may admire President Reagan, have been anywhere from sceptical to concerned about his knowledge and ability in handling foreign affairs. He certainly threw some foul balls early on with his statements regarding China. But he was a winner a few days ago when he brought an end, how temporary no one knows, to Begin's military offensive against the Palestinians in Lebanon. What happened, what Reagan's message to Begin via Philip Habib was, we don't know, and don't care to. There are sometimes secrets of state that best remain secret. Certainly we know that between July 21 and 24 Begin did get a strong message from the American president that caused him to back away from his adamant, aggressive attitude with respect to attacks in Lebanon. True, Begin stood by, looking awfully glum, when Habib announced the agreement for a cease fire had been reached. How lasting naturally remains a question.

EARLIER AMERICAN presidents, Ford and Carter specifically, have tried to put pressure on Begin and failed. Ford threatened to hold up negotiations on future arms shipments to 1975 and that only solidified the Israelis behind their government and brought the Israeli lobby in Washington into action. Later Carter protested Israeli settlements in Arab territory, to no avail.
President Reagan's success must be due in part to the American people's general adverse reaction to Begin's recent dangerous ventures in the Middle East, an attitude shared by the American Jewish community and the Congress. Clearly the ferocity of the July 17 bombing attack on Beirut had its effect, but none of that detracts from the administration's having scored. Reagan rates a cheer for stopping the bloodshed, although again, for how long?

As each day passes I find it to be increasingly strange that the leaders of three small countries, Israel, Iran and Cuba, are mad men who are the world's greatest threat to peace, even civilization, in these waning years of the 20th century.--ahab

New Law Will Cause Changes

As you know, the tax reduction bill which I supported did not pass when the votes were taken on July 29. The Republican substitute which did pass will result in a less balanced reduction, but it does contain several of the good features of the bill favored by myself and a heavy majority of the other Democrats in the House of Representatives.
As approved by the conference committee, the new law will cause many far reaching changes. One of them we don't need — much greater annual deficits, estimated by some leading economists to be in the $75 billion to $100 billion range by 1984. One economist sees the possibility of deficits even higher as early as next year if the optimistic assumption of the Reagan administration — lower interest rates and more real growth in the economy — don't pan out.

The projected larger deficits, if they do occur, will keep interest rates high, and may push them higher.

Along with continued high interest rates, we also are likely to have greater inflation.
The prospect of high deficits, continued high interest rates, and even more inflation are built into the new tax law. That's why I couldn't vote for it.
I sincerely hope that the optimistic assumptions of the President prove out. We urgently need a change in the economic direction in which our nation is currently headed. I'd rather be wrong in my vote on this issue than I would on any of the 9,000 votes I have cast in the past, or will cast in the future. Regardless of whose predictions come true, let's all improve our work together to make our country a nation of justice as well as a nation of economic and military security.

I can provide you further information on the comparison of the various tax bills we had under consideration. Let me know if you would like to receive a copy.

Will Rogers Says...

"We have a lot of men in Congress that have been elected on nothing but a slogan. But what have they cost us after they got in? You take a fellow that has never juggled with real money, and he don't know the value of it: a billion and a million sound so much alike, that he thinks all the difference is just in the spelling."

Woodman And Walston Wed July 18

In a candlelight ceremony at 7:30 in the evening on Saturday, July 18, at Sacred Heart Catholic Church, Laurie Woodman and William G. Walston Jr. exchanged wedding vows.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy G. Woodman of Rockport and the groom is the son of William G. Walston Sr. of Rockport and the late Charlotte Ray Walston.

Father Rory Deane performed the double ring ceremony before the altar, which was decorated with wrought iron pedestals holding arrangements of white gladiolas, pink carnations and lavender daisies.

Wedding music was provided by organist Florencio Lara.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore the wedding gown that had been worn by the groom's mother. The gown was of Chantilly lace over satin, fashioned with a fitted bodice, a boat neckline with a yoke of illusion, long sleeves ending in petal points and a bouffant skirt of nylon tulle.

Twin panels of lace, embroidered with pearls and iridescent sequins, accented the front of the skirt, which developed into a cathedral train.

The bride also wore her mother's fingertip length veil cascading from a Juliet cap, accented with seed pearls. She wore a pearl necklace belonging to her grandmother and carried a cascading bouquet of miniature white carnations and pink roses.

Rebecca Bateman of Austin was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Roy Nava of Houston, Beverly Barnard of New Iberia, Louisiana, Mrs. Matt Lynch of Rockport, Sarah Shenk of Portland and Betty Baldwin of Rockport.

The bride's attendants wore gowns of suede rose Qiana fashioned with full bodices and cap sleeves with a pleated skirt falling from the waistline. They carried nosegays of pink and white miniature carnations, lavender daisies, baby's breath and garnet and white ribbon.

Johnny Washburn of Rockport was best man. Groomsmen were Bill Smith of Austin, Scott McCaskey of Bryan, Peden Rogers of Houston, Tommy Woodman of Kingsville and Chris Oliver of College Station.

Ushers were Craig Woodman and Jeff Woodman, brothers of the bride from Rockport, and Sam Voss, cousin of the bride, from Chariton, Iowa.

Flower girl was Carrie Lyn Pierson of Dickinson, cousin of the groom. Her dress was sheer dotted swiss over rose taffeta, with Old Rose ribbon tied at her waist. She carried a basket of pink and white miniature carnations.

Ring bearer was Tom Woodman of Rockport, nephew of the bride.

The bride's mother wore a gown of soft yellow Qiana with an embroidered yoke neckline.

After the ceremony, a reception and dance was held at the Parish Hall.

The bride's table was laid with white satin and English lace, trimmed with Old Rose ribbon. A silver candelabra decorated with pink and white carnations and lavender daisies was the centerpiece. The tiered wedding cake was decorated with cascading pink roses. White daisies decorated the hall.

Members of the house party were Charlotte Walston of Houston, Mary Walston of Rockport, Mrs. Raymond Bauer of Rockport and Mrs. Mark Gilliam of Rockport, all sisters of the groom. Also Susan Cole of Angleton, Toni Simpson and Sharie Simpson of Rockport, cousins of the bride, and Pamela Bateman of Rockport.

Special guests were Mrs. Elsie Woodman of Chariton, Iowa, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Simpson of Rockport, grandparents of the bride. Also Mrs. Carrie Ray of Memphis, Tennessee, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Johnson of San Antonio, grandparents of the groom.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Byron Voss, Mrs. Cleo Sellers, Mrs. H.G. DeBok, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Voss and Mr. and Mrs. Ron Voss, all of Chariton, Iowa.

Also Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Cole and children, Chip, Susan and Toby, all of Angleton; Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Simpson and son Ron of Liberty; Mr. John Simpson of Angleton; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Pierson Sr. of Dickinson; Mr. and Mrs. Carl V. Pierson Jr. of Dickinson; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Hubbard of Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Keene and Susie Alwell of Xenia, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Allan Maresh and son Shane of Fort Worth and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kleinjan of San Antonio.

Also Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Grabowski of Austin, Mrs. Melanie Price of Austin and Mrs. Judy Valdez of Kingsville.

Mrs. Laurie Walston

Captain's Table

1 1/2 pounds fish fillets
2 packages (10 ounces each) frozen broccoli spears
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon melted margarine or butter
1/2 cup skim milk
1/4 cup grated Cheddar cheese
1 can (1 pound) tomatoes, chopped and well drained.
1/4 cup crushed corn flakes

Cut fish into serving size portions. Cook broccoli half as long as directed on package. Drain thoroughly and place in a greased baking dish. Place fish over broccoli. Blend flour and seasonings into margarine. Add milk gradually and cook until thick and smooth, stirring constantly.

For her going-away attire, the bride wore a sheer white knit dress trimmed in white lace.

The couple are both graduates of Rockport-Fulton High School. The bride is also a graduate of Southwest Texas State University and taught third grade at Rockport Elementary this past year. The groom will graduate in August from Texas A&M University.

After a wedding trip to Hawaii the couple will make their home in San Antonio where the groom will attend St. Mary's Law School.

The Friday night prior to the wedding, a rehearsal dinner was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Walston Sr.

By Lucille E. Skrobarcek
The winners at game afternoon on Thursday, July 30, were Mrs. Hazel Dailey and Mrs. Mary Ann Rike. Jerry Huffman won the finale.

The hostesses were Mrs. Margaret Gill and Mrs. Kay Ragot. Refreshments were served during the afternoon.

The next game afternoon is on Thursday, August 6, at 1 p.m., at the Town Hall. The AARP business meeting will be Wednesday, August 12, at 10 a.m. Coffee and cookies will be served at 9:30 a.m. Blood pressure checks will be taken after the meeting.

The AARP-sponsored dances will resume on October 7, at Paws and Taws, at 7 p.m. The AARP-sponsored game afternoons will resume at Paws and Taws on October 1 at 1 p.m.

If you are going on the trip to New Braunfels "Wurstfest" on November 3, please contact Genevieve Ohring for reservations. The bus has a seating capacity for 43 persons and the cost per person is $20. This includes bus fare and a box lunch.

THE REAL ESTATE CONSUMER

Sensible home repairs and improvements can protect and enhance your home investment.

Unfortunately, Americans are bilked out of millions of dollars annually by dishonest repairmen. Prudence can protect you from such a loss.

Before starting any project, have several bids prepared by local contractors with good references. Never rely on verbal agreements. A contract should be prepared listing a complete description of the job to be done.

Before you sign any contract, make sure you understand it or have it checked by an attorney. Finally, never deal with anyone who shows up at your door uninvited and offers you a "special deal" on leftover materials or offers to perform a free inspection of anything in your home.

Property Owners Have Legal Liability
As a property owner, are you aware of the legal liabilities to which you may be exposed?
If someone slips on the steps of your house, you may be liable for more than just medical expenses. If you have an "attractive nuisance" on your property, such as machinery, a pile of logs or a fish pond, you may have an additional obligation to protect children from injuring themselves on these objects.

Since the doctrine of an attractive nuisance applies to those who cannot appreciate the danger of the object, a "no trespassing" sign or even a woven wire fence probably will not eliminate liability.

You should keep such objects out of sight or in a location where children are not likely to trespass. Your attorney or insurance agent can give you additional insight into the various types of liability property owners are exposed to.

Check out the EER
Air conditioning is the greatest energy consumer in most Texas homes. And when your old air conditioning unit wears out, you might consider replacing it with a new unit that has a high energy efficiency rating — or EER.

EER ratings apply to both central and window air conditioners. Units with higher ratings are cheaper to operate. For example, a three-ton unit with an efficiency rating of nine would cost the average family about $100 less per year to operate than would a three-ton unit with an efficiency rating of six.

So, before you invest in a new air conditioner, check its energy efficiency rating. It might keep you from sweating out your utility payments in the heat of summer.

Save Taxes on Old Buildings
If you own a commercial building that is more than 20 years old, you may consider rehabilitating it in order to reap significant tax benefits.

The Revenue Act of 1978 provides for a tax investment credit to renovate commercial buildings. To receive the maximum credit of 10 percent, a building must have a useful life of seven years or more.

For expenditures to be eligible, a building must retain 75 percent or more of the original exterior walls after the rehabilitation is complete. The cost of acquiring the building and enlarging it do not qualify.

The tax benefits are limited to commercial uses. Even apartments do not qualify under the act. For more information, contact someone who can give you sound legal and tax advice.

Understanding the Role of a Broker

If you are contemplating buying a house, you will have to decide early whether or not to use a professional real estate broker.

Since the role of a broker is not always understood, here are some thoughts which might help. In real estate, each unit is unique. They differ by price, location, design, upkeep, landscaping and a host of other factors. The primary role of a broker is to identify and create a buyer for a particular house with unique set of characteristics.

A professional broker knows the market and is acquainted with a wide range of buyers. Moreover, the broker is familiar with the closing of a real estate transaction.

Application has been filed with the Army Corps of Engineers for the following permits. Comments must be submitted to the District Engineer, P.O. Box 1229, Galveston, Texas 77553 on or before the deadline shown.

Corpus Christi Oil and Gas Company, P.O. Box 779, Corpus Christi, Texas

Remember, whether you sell your home yourself or use a professional broker is up to you. But brokers are in a position to help you if you need them.

WHITTLE TOURNEY

Gunny Whittle, center, widow of the late Col. Fred Whittle, Reese Rozzell, tournament director, looks on. On the left of Mrs. Whittle are Willie Rinche and Nancy Moran who were last week, her lucky card was from Island Surf 'n Sun Wear and this week's card is from Super D Foods. She plays 20 cards a week, a system that seems to work. Walter plays 30 cards per week. This week's winner was from Island Surf 'n Sun Wear.

Whittle Memorial Tennis Tournament Draws 64 Players From Area

Sixty-four players from the Rockport-Fulton community and neighboring cities competed in the ninth annual Summer Fun Mixed Doubles Fred Whittle Memorial tennis tournament during the past weekend. Final matches were played last Sunday afternoon at the Rockport Racquet Club.

Larry Patterson of Portland and Sara MacKennon of Corpus Christi won the Division A title and were awarded the Whittle trophy. They defeated Willie Rinche of Rockport and Nancy Moran of Corpus Christi, 6-1, 1-6 and 7-6 with a tie-breaker required to decide the match.

The revolving Whittle trophy will remain in possession of Patterson and MacKennon until next year's tournament. The trophy was first offered in 1973 to honor the memory of the late Col. Fred Whittle, retired Air Force officer who spent the last years of his life promoting tennis in the Rockport-Fulton area with special emphasis on encouraging young people to take up the sport.

As in previous years, Gunny Whittle, widow of Col. Whittle, presented the trophy and assisted Reese Rozzell, president of the Rockport Tennis Association, in distributing trophies to winners and runners-up in other divisions. Rozzell was director of the tournament which was sponsored by the association.

Division B winners were Mary John Lynch and Buddy Adams who defeated Jim Langham and Lynn Campbell, 6-1, 6-2, in the final match of that division. Division C top honors were won by Norman Glasson and Betty Hamilton who defeated Ike Boling and Helen Swank, 6-3, 6-2, in the final match of that division.

As has been the custom for several years, pairing of players was determined by lot at a draw party for players and friends at the Sandollar Restaurant Friday evening before the tournament.

Matches were played at the Rockport-Fulton High School, Key Allegro Tennis Club, Little Bay Club and Rockport Racquet Club Courts.

Players from Portland, Corpus Christi, Beeville, San Antonio, Austin, Callen and Aransas Pass, as well as from the Rockport-Fulton area participated in the tournament.

In addition to winners and runners-up in the several divisions, the following players took part in the annual sports event:

DeDe Dean, Carl Perwitt, Jerri Barker, Cote Trout, Reese Rozzell, Elmer Hartley, Zophia O'Shea, Buzz Sanders, Vivian Kromer, Rick Nerod, Karen Siedler, Jean Kirksey, Ron Mussell, Joyce Adams, Robert Richter and Jack O'Shea.

Also in the tournament were Chester Wuest, Polly Bracht, Kathy Langham, Tommy Barker, Marsha Foster, Ann Green, Tom Kirksey, Gwen Davis, Bill Wadsworth, Mary Crow, Annie Langham, L.D. Crumly, Taeko Domaschk, Jack Russell, Lucy Pompa, Doyle Hamilton, Theresa Gausa and Helen Nerod.

Others in the tournament include Walter Baxter, Eloise Baling, Janet Langham, Bill Green, Janice Prewitt, Randy Ramey, Karen Gates, Bud Howard, Beth Patterson, Ray Govett, Tony and Jimmy Aleman, Nora Govett and Wes Crow.

The Rockport Racquet Club's six tennis courts are operated by the Double R Tennis Club which is under direction of Robert Richter and Ike Boling. Joe Couch is the owner of the local tennis complex.

Alibi Takes Fourth In Navy Regatta

Three local boats entered the competition in the 19th annual Navy Invitational Regatta over the weekend with "Alibi", owned by Gordon Dancer and Jerry Shaw, placing fourth overall in the two-day event.

Two other boats from the Rockport Sailing Club that entered the event but failed to place were "Jubilant" and "Waunderlust".

Five boats from the area that cruised down to the regatta but did not enter the event were "Chiriga," "Cho Cho San," "Kitty

IV," "Interlude II", and "Final Freedom."

Besides the sailboat races, the regatta featured a buffet lunch, a mariachi band and a steel band. Over 100 sailboats reportedly took part in the regatta.

A VOTE FOR LANDRUM SECURES EXPERIENCE AND INTEGRITY IN THIS IMPORTANT LOCAL GOVERNMENT BODY

- * During the last two years Landrum has brought many improvements to the overall operation of the ACND. A few are listed here:
- * Rebuilt docks in Fulton and Rockport Harbors
- * Increased revenues from the harbors in an equitable manner so that the harbors are now self-sustaining
- * Spent many hours rebuilding ACND properties after Hurricane Allen
- * Worked diligently to secure monetary assistance from Federal Agencies for rebuilding properties after Hurricane Allen
- * Initiated improvements to ACND property to accommodate the Rockport SeaFair Festival
- * Supported Rockport Art Association projects since its beginning

- * Of particular interest to boatmen, Landrum has devoted special attention to the responsibility of the ACND to maintain the entrance channel to Little Bay
- * Landrum supported the efforts of the Aransas County Recreational Planning Association to plan improvements to the Rockport Beach and secure financing for this project
- * Landrum initiated the draglining project in Cove Harbor and has great concern for the expansion and improvement of this very important area of the economy of our Community
- * Landrum was in charge of securing all Corps of Engineers permits for dredging Key Allegro channel and ski basin

PRIORITIES FOR THE NEXT TERM:

- * Re-initiate the expansion of Cove Harbor with our new federal representatives
- * Protect and improve the environment of our Community in order to increase our tourist industry
- * Work in the capacity of this office in every way possible to support our shrimping and fishing industry
- * Install underground electrical distribution system for Rockport and Cove Harbors
- * Work to maintain the financial solvency of the ACND
- * Landrum's past record of performance as Commissioner of the ACND has proven that he is not encumbered by political pressures from special interest groups

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Stephenson Jr and their daughter Dana are staying at the Surf Court Motel. Mr. Stephenson and his father, Mr. Robert Stephenson Sr., own the radio station KTRH in Houston and do the program "Outdoorsmen" there.

Joe Garcia, son of the Daniel Garcias, flew to Houston for a two-week visit with his cousins Mrs. Rosa Nova Krinsky and her children Randy and Rissa.

Charlotte and Dale Rolland and daughter Frances have returned from a six-week trip to 15 states and Canada. They visited relatives and "old" service friends while they were away.

Visiting Mrs. Jeannie Rutledge and her daughter Gail are Mike Neuman, Stacey and Tracey Neuman from Houston. The twins, Stacey and Tracey, celebrated their sixteenth birthday while they were here.

New employees at the First National Bank are Thelma Garza and Ele Moores.

Mr. and Mrs. O.H. Brueggeman have spending a week with them their grandson Timothy Strensen-Reuter from Alamogordo, New Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Devoe returned from a two-week trip to Oklahoma visiting their daughter Anne Henson and her family and then they went on to the Texas hill country and visited family there.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Richards spent the past week in Ruidoso, New Mexico, with the R.C. Taylors from Lubbock.

At the Richards' home, staying while they were gone, are Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Sanford, their two children Ryan and Somer, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Fowler and son Aaron and Mr. and Mrs. Don Bellev and their sons Brandon and Bonner, all from Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. Buck Bush returned from a short stay in New York City. They went there to attend a Marquetry (art of exotic woods to make pictures) convention. People attended this convention from Europe, Canada and different parts of the United States.

Carle and Fred Hineson returned from a several week trip to Hawaii.

Brother Ralph Gonzales from Oral Roberts University in Tulsa, Oklahoma, will preach at both Sunday services August 9 at the Fulton Community Church.

Mr. and Mrs. S.D. Hervey from Luling purchased a second home in Lamar and are looking forward to leisure fishing trips when they are in the area.

Mrs. Carl Fiene is home now after having hip surgery in Doctors' Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Hamm, their children Barbie and Dale, spent a weekend in San Antonio visiting Mr. and Mrs. Henry Saylor.

Phyllis McBride returned from a several weeks trip to the East coast visiting relatives.

Milton Nolan is home from the Coastal Bend Hospital after having surgery and is doing fine.

Irene Hopper spent several days in Houston visiting family and then when she returned home had as guests her niece Diane Schneider and friend Jan Munn from Weimer. They were both former teachers in Aransas Pass.

Calvary Baptist Church is planning a church-wide picnic lunch for members and friends at Memorial Park Sunday, August 9, at 1 p.m. Games and activities are planned after lunch.

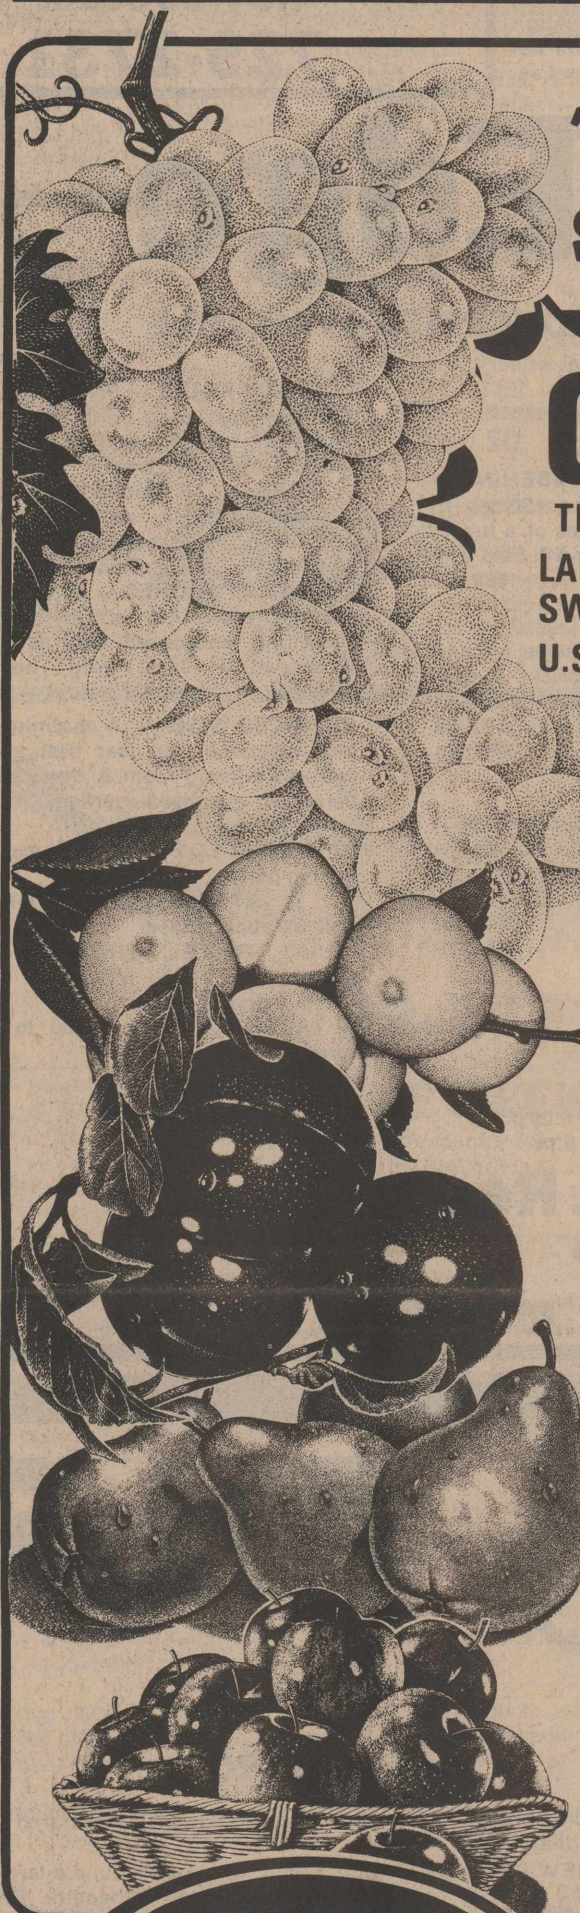

Rev. and Mrs. C.J. visitors their daughter M and her children from Whitehouse for a Gayna Harrell has her storage, Alaska, helping Blossom Shop. Also visit sister-in-law Mrs. A.J. Ardmore, Oklahoma.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Rev. them their daughter Eileen Tom and their children H from Colorado. Eileen, University of Colorado at the Dean's List.

State Parking Fines Increased

AUSTIN — A new state law, fixing fines from $50 to $200 will be put into effect on September 1, making it illegal for non-handicapped persons to use parking spaces reserved for the handicapped.

These will be marked by a sign five feet high with an official decal that will be available from the Texas State Highway Department.

The law will apply on private property, as well as on public property, as long as the property owner or tenant posts the signs.

Temporarily disabled individuals will be able to purchase a windshield decal available at the County Court Houses in the Tax Assessors' offices for $5. Permanently disabled persons will still be able to purchase license plate decals for only $1 at the same location.

Many elderly individuals with mobility impairments have been under the impression that they could park in these spaces as long as they are disabled, but they are cautioned that the decal must be on the windshield or the license plate, or they will be subject to the fine, according to officials.

County Agent News

By Mike Rothrock
County Extension Agent-AG
San Patricio-Aransas
Counties

Some people never think about the beef they buy in the meat packages in the supermarket. Oh, sure, you know that most steaks come from finished feed steers.

Only about 450-500 pounds of meat are derived from the slaughter of a 1000 pound steer. So, what do they do with the other 500 to 550 pounds of the animal? To be truthful almost all of the animal is utilized.

The first thing you probably think of is the variety meats such as livers, brains, tongues, ox joints, kidneys, hearts, tripe and spleens.
These foods are very nutritious but generally aren't too acceptable to American consumers.

Or are they? Look at the contents of some of your luncheon meats. There are some gourmet recipes floating around that utilize these variety meats and some consumers consider these meats to be delicacies.

Another widely used beef by-product is gelatin. Gelatin is a derivative of cattle collagen (cartilage in humans). Gelatins are used in desserts, salads, chewing gum, marshmallows, and dissolvable capsules.

Some inedible products manufactured from gelatin are photographic film, printer rollers, window shades, sheet rock, matches, sandpaper, wallpaper and various glues.

While I'm talking about inedible by-products of a slaughtered steer let me list a few more for you such as leather, cosmetics, violin strings, "camel hair" brushes, explosives, buttons, bone china, soap, surgical sutures and sports equipment to list a few.

Of these leather is probably the leading money winner as far as sales of beef by-products go.

Another important string of by-products is medicine.
About 140 medications are derived from cattle glands.

One of the most important is insulin. In humans and cattle the pancreas gland naturally manufactures insulin, but it takes the glands from 1500 slaughtered animals to produce only one ounce of insulin refined for human use.

Insulin is necessary to the five million diabetics in the United States. At least one-fourth of these people require insulin daily to regulate their blood sugar.

There are a lot more by-products that come from a slaughtered steer. I just wanted you to know some of the more important ones. It may give you something to think about when you buy your next rib-eye, sirloin, or T-bone steak.

Legislature Funds Scholarship Act

CORPUS CHRISTI - A scholarship program for educationally disadvantaged minority students was recently funded by the Texas Legislature and will go into effect September 1.

The Legislative Academic Scholarship Program will be funded by a $500,000 allocation made to the Coordinating Board of the Texas College and University System.

The funds are intended to encourage more minority students to enroll in the State's institutions of higher education.

In order to qualify for the scholarship, transfer students must have at least a 2.75 grade point average on a 4 point scale, be working toward an academic degree and be bona fide Texas residents.

They must be members of an ethnic minority of the State's population, not be recipients of any form of athletic scholarships and be certified by their institution as needing the award.

Freshman students who have graduated in the upper third of their high school class or who have composite SAT scores of at least 800 or ACT scores of at least 18 also qualify.

To be certified by the university as having financial need, students must submit a need analysis form, which is regular procedure for students applying for financial aid.

"We feel this is the most equitable way of determining a student's needs," said Lee Alatorre, financial assistance officer.

CCSU's 1981-82 share of the two-year appropriations amounts to $4,000. Mrs.
Alatorre said the minimum award is $500 and the maximum $1,000.

She said $500 awards will be made to eight students for one year. Subsequent year awards will depend on continued financial need and grade point average eligibility.

The amount of the awards made to each institution is based on fall 1980 enrollment figures. To award the fall scholarships, the CCSU Office of Student Financial Assistance will review its file of qualified people and submit applications to the Coordinating Board.

"Students who have not applied for financial aid by now will not be considered for the scholarship this fall," she said. "Applications must be in Austin by October 1. In order to meet this deadline, it would be difficult to accept new applications now."

She urged students who wish to be considered for a spring award of the Legislative Academic Scholarship to apply now. Anyone wanting more information may contact the CCSU Office of Student Financial Assistance.
