Navy Cuts Point Scores For Most Ranks To Release Third Of Personnel By Jan. 1

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP) — The Navy tonight announced reduction in point scores for the greater part of its personnel, intended to release one-third of its war-end strength by the first of January.

With further cuts predicted in December and January, the score for enlisted men will be reduced from 44 to 41 points, effective November 1.

On the same date male officers will be cut from 49 to 46 points, WAVE officers from 39 to 32 and WAVE enlisted personnel from 29 to 26.

Formula Unchanged

No change was made in the formula by which points are computed.

The new schedule steps up the Navy's demobilization plan by some two months.

The Navy announcement also said that a further reduction in point scores for medical doctors probably will be made on January 1. Reduction of doctors' scores from 60 to 53 points was announced recently. The expected further cut will be to 51 points.

In other classes the further predicted cuts are: For male officers other than doctors, to 44 points on December 1 and to 43 points on January 1.

Enlisted Male Personnel

For enlisted male personnel, to 39 points on December 1 and to 38 points on January 1.

For WAVE officers, to 30 points on December 1 and 29 points on January 1.

For enlisted WAVES, to 24 points on December 1 and 23 points on January 1.

The point score for unmarried nurses will remain at 35 until January 1 when it will be cut to 33. The Navy announced earlier that all married nurses would be released by November 1.

Point scores for naval aviators, yoemen and storekeepers remain unchanged. The Navy said an announcement speeding the release of aviators, whose point score continues at 44 for fliers above the rank of ensign and 36 for ensigns, will be made before November 1. The announcement said the scores of yeoman and storekeepers will not be reduced November 1 because of need for their services.

Special Groups

Specialists of classification and mailmen, who have been ineligible for release under the point formula, will become eligible November 1, with scores of 44 points for men and 29 for women.

Still in frozen ratings, not eligible for discharge under the point system are these classifications: specialists (S) short patrol; specialists (I) punch card accounting machine operator; specialist (X) key punch operator; specialist (X) transportation; storekeeper (D) disbursing; physical therapist; occupational therapist. About 22,650 men are in these classifications.

The Navy estimated that with the cuts, slightly more than 1,000,000 enlisted men and more than 100,000 officers will have been released by the end of this year.

The Navy is running ahead of its announced schedule for the release of personnel. It announced today that 283,149 officers and men have been demobilized since Japan's surrender, 56,443 more than its timetable called for.

Irma Grese Recounts Beatings At Belsen

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

LUENEBURG, Germany, Oct. 16 (AP)—Irma Grese, 22-year-old SS women's supervisor at the Belsen concentration camp, testified today she beat many of the 20,000 to 30,000 women prisoners in her charge with a braided cellophane whip.

Maj. L. S. W. Cranfield, defense counsel, in his opening argument quoted from a book on corporal punishment which he said told of the severity of treatment which has been accorded prisoners in the United States, specifically mentioning North Carolina, Ohio and Georgia.

He read from "The Whip and The Rod," by Prof. R. G. Van Yelyr, which was published in Britain in 1941.

"My argument," Cranfield said, "is that (condemning of) corporal punishment in a prison camp is not a proper course for a judicial body to take. The court must consider what was reasonable conduct of the persons involved—these are not unknown horrors."

Taking the stand during the 26th day of hearings by a British military commission trying 45 men and women guards for war crimes, the blonde, silk-stockinged Irma Grese frankly admitted she thrashed women and made them kneel because "they behaved like animals."

Denies Pistol Loaded

She denied the pistol she carried at the camp was loaded or that she took any active part in selecting victims for gas-chamber executions.

Before testifying herself, Irma had sobbed at mention of her father, during testimony by her sister, Helena.

It was her father who turned Irma out of his house in 1943 when he learned she was working in a concentration camp, Helena said, and later gave her a beating when she returned once on a visit. The witness said she did not know where the father was or "even if he is still alive."

Father Anti-Hitler

Telling her life story on the stand, Irma said her father, who knew nothing but hard work, was anti-Hitler in his views and forbade his five children to enter Hitler Youth movements. But after her mother died, Irma said she became a nurse and volunteered for the SS, being sent to the Ravensbruck concentration camp, north of Berlin, for training.

Then followed jobs at the Osweicim and Belsen camps. At the latter she rose to rank of women's supervisor and was paid $3 per week, she testified.

When corporal punishment was to be administered at Belsen, she said that as women's supervisor she had orders to give victims the last two lashes herself. "I carried out my orders," she declared.

Workers Walk Out At Texas Textile Mills

HILLSBORO, Oct. 16 (AP) — Workers at two Texas textile mills are out on strike today, and union employes of a third mill were expected to walk out tomorrow, C. C. Niles, Hillsboro representative of the Textile Workers Union (CIO) announced.

At Mexia Cotton mill, Niles stated, second shift union employes failed to return to work after their lunch period last night. Employes of the Itasca Cotton Manufacturing company did not report to work for the first shift today.

Nation Involved In Greatest Mass Movements Of People In History

(By The Associated Press)

TOKYO, Oct. 16—In one of the largest political demonstrations seen in Japan since the people were liberated from strict military and government control, more than 500 shouting and banner waving members of the newly formed Nippon working class party massed today before General MacArthur's headquarters seeking American aid in getting more bread from the government.

Earlier the group of demonstrators passed out handbills urging all senior statesmen in Japan to commit suicide.

Dislike Present Regime

Individual members of the parade, which marched from beside the imperial palace to the American headquarters, said they did not like the present Japanese government.

Other sections of Japan were involved in one of the greatest mass movements of people in history.

More than 1,500,000 Koreans, who have been working in Japanese war plants, in mines and on farms swarmed into Hakata seeking transportation to their native land.

By train and on foot the homeward bound people, many thousands of forced laborers among them, were arriving at the Kyushu island seaport at the rate of 500 daily.

Koreans Create Problem

Policing of southwestern Japan was made harder for American Marines by the influx of Koreans, who are seeking shelter along the docks, in stables and in unused sewer pipes. The Koreans are badly in need of food and clothing.

The extent of Japanese plundering of conquered countries was revealed by the Tokyo newspaper Asahi which said printing presses backed by Japanese force deluged China with new worthless currency which added up to about 54,000,000,000 U. S. dollars in face value.

Contributed To Inflation

This sum, nearly 20 times the war-time homeland note output of the Bank of Japan, contributed a great deal to inflation in Japan.

The last Japanese serviceman and civilian will not be home from abroad until August, 1949, Japanese Minister of War Sadashi Shimomura disclosed in a report to the cabinet.

Troops of the Americal division ended a buried silver hunt approximately 100 miles from Tokyo when they uncovered a cache of Japanese silver bars valued at $1,100,000.

Java's Troubles Blamed On Allies

By WILLIAM F. BONI
Associated Press Staff Writer

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 16—The Netherlands minister of overseas territory today declared that the government was ready to offer Indonesians self-government, within the Dutch commonwealth, as a solution to the nationalist uprising in Java.

The minister, Dr. H. A. Logemann, told the Dutch lower House that the government was willing to discuss the proposal with Indonesian leaders "who merit consideration," but would not deal with Dr. Soekarno, president of the "Indonesian republic."

SHOOTING BREAKS OUT

BATAVIA, Oct. 16 (AP)—Four military governments were attempting to establish law and order in Java tonight as armored cars patrolled the streets of Batavia and small shooting affrays broke out spasmodically.

The military forces attempting to restore peace are the British, representing the Allies; the Dutch, including the Netherlands Indies civil administration; armed Japanese troops on whom the British are depending to patrol the country, and Indonesians who are fighting for independence from the Dutch.

Chiefs Of Staff Blamed

Logemann in a long review blamed some of the troubles in Java on failure of the combined chiefs of staff to make adequate plans either for the Netherlands, or for other Allied powers, to take over the occupation and administration of the East Indies directly after the Japanese capitulation.

(The "Indonesian republic" in a broadcast over the free Indonesian radio denied that it had declared war on the Netherlands and asserted that foreign agents were attempting to discredit its aims.)

Logemann said the government flatly refused to talk with Soekarno, however, because he "had identified himself so completely with the Japanese regime and is completely hostile toward the Netherlands."

Disarming of Japs

He also declared that the re-establishment of lawful rule and the disarming of the Japanese in the Indies was the duty of the Allies.

Even the decision as to which command should take over the Indies was not made until Aug. 15—the day of the Japanese capitulation—when it was decided that the islands would come under the Southeast Asia command, he said.

After paying tribute to the British nation, the minister said "we also may be allowed to remark how dangerous it was to publicize the intention of the occupying force to limit itself to the occupation of Batavia and Soerrabaja and thereby giving the Soekarno regime a feeling of security in all the rest of Java.

Limitation Removed

"Danger to Dutch lives," he continued, "has forced the British to remove this limitation, but the announcement already has had its evil effects."

Another danger, Logemann said, is the fact that virtually nothing has been done to disarm and transport the Japanese out of the Indies and that such weapons as were taken from them have been getting into the hands of the Nationalists.

Halsey Says U. S. Is At Crossroads

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16 (AP) —Admiral Halsey declared tonight that America had reached a 'rendezvous with destiny" from which it could head toward permanent peace or back to where the nation was found years ago.

And, calling Japan a ruthless foe, he emphasized his belief that it must not be admitted to the society of civilized nations until it proved itself worthy.

Difficulties Recounted

The old sea dog, commander of the famed Third Fleet, in an address prepared for delivery at a civic home-coming banquet, related the difficulties overcome from the "shoestring era" until the thudding blows against Japan forced the enemy's sudden surrender.

"If anybody had asked me what sort of shoulder patch we felt was appropriate for the South Pacific force in late 1942 and early 1943," the admiral said, "I'd have told him without hesitation: 'A frayed shoelace—fastened with a rusty nail!"

Halsey said that "beyond question, both the atomic bomb and the entry of Russia into the war weighed heavily in Japan's ultimate decision for a quick surrender.

Navy Earned Its Stripes

"But the atomic bomb was thrown at the Nips from bases which teamwork of all services, including the Navy's ploughing ahead to prepare the way by carrier-plane assaults and shipping sweeps, earned for us.

"Naturally, I am tremendously—and unalterably—proud of the part played in those gruelling campaigns by my own service, the Navy, in carrying the ball up from the Solomons to Tokyo. Yet

Berlin Is Ruled By Communists

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—The Communist party of Germany now dominates Berlin's city government, General Eisenhower reported today. He added that informal reports indicate it could not retain that position in "a fair and impartially supervised election."

Eisenhower, in an occupational report made public by the War department, said such an election would "reveal relatively strong support going to the Social Democrats and the Christian-Democrat union, in that order."

Newsprint Allocation

All four political parties functioning in the German capital are allocated sufficient newsprint by the Soviet authorities to print 100,000 newspapers each, Eisenhower said, "except that the Communist paper is permitted to print 200,000."

"All papers," he added, "are subject to Soviet censorship."

Of the four political parties, Eisenhower said the Communists and the Social Democrats are "well organized, active and have a basis of former members on which to build."

"The four parties in Berlin joined, on the initiative of the

Revamping Of Law May Result From War Crimes Trial

Yamashita Case Offers Problem

By KENNETH L. DIXON
Associated Press Staff Writer

MANILA.—Anglo-Saxon law is likely to get the sharpest revamping it has had since the Magna Carta as a result of Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita's war criminal trial here Oct. 29.

It begins to look as though the American Military commission which will try Yamashita may decide that some crimes committed against humanity have outdistanced the law books.

The charge against Yamashita does not accuse him of committing a single atrocity or of personally ordering a single one committed.

Rather, it charges that he "failed . . . to control operations of members of his command, permitting them to commit brutal atrocities" and that he "thereby violated the laws of war."

That charge is as full of potential legal explosives as an atomic bomb.

There isn't any law of war—at least none that Japan ever subscribed to—holding a commander legally responsible for personal crimes committed by soldiers under his command. If such a law exists anywhere, this correspondent has been unable to find out where.

Yamashita is being tried for his life on a charge which by its very nature assumes the existence of such a law.

Neither the charge nor the subsequently filed bill of particulars which detailed thousands of cases of murder, mayhem, maiming and torture attempted in any way to connect Yamashita personally with any individual incident. There was not even an effort to show that he, as commander of the Japanese Imperial Army in the Philippines, either ordered any atrocities or officially was aware any had been committed.

Since the charge and the bill of particulars provide the basis for the coming trial, it is doubtful if any such efforts will be made. Every indication seems to be that the prosecution will concentrate on proving that the commission of such atrocities was possible because Yamashita failed to control his troops.

Apparently, the American Military commission is taking the quite understandable point of view that too many thousands of human beings suffered or died horribly to justify delaying the trial until some adequate law could be passed to cover the situation.

Even if they waited, they still would be forced to overrule the ancient 'ex post facto'—after the fat's in the fire—common law because the acts committed would predate the passage of any measure making them international crimes.

HST, Marshall Urge Universal Training

President, Drafting New Appeal To Congress, Lauds Army Chief Highly

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16—President Truman today was reported drafting a plea to Congress to pass a law for peacetime universal military training.

If Mr. Truman sends this message to Capitol Hill soon, as he reportedly has told legislators he will do, it probably will start one of the hottest controversies since he took office.

The advent of the atomic bomb has left a lot of legislators wondering whether it is worthwhile to maintain large armies and navies in the future.

Want Men Home

Their mail is largely devoted to pleas to get constituents out of uniform and any mention of future conscription usually is adverse.

But the President reportedly remains determined to check the issue up to Congress as he gave warning he would do in his Sept. 6 message outlining his program.

At that time, Mr. Truman said it was his intention to "communicate with the Congress from time to time during the current session with respect to a comprehensive and continuous program of national security, including a universal training program, unification of the armed services and the use and control of atomic energy."

Would Continue Draft

He urged then that the Selective Service act be continued to take care of this country's extensive military commitments, declaring:

"I am certain, as are the War and Navy departments, that we cannot rely on voluntary recruitment as the sole method of procuring the necessary replacements."

Congress seems inclined to let the Selective Service act run along for several months, but the opposition to enactment now of a peacetime compulsory training law is vocal and apparently determined.

Congress recently passed the so-called "red apple" recruiting bill, offering special benefits to members of the armed services who reenlist.

Hearing Set Thursday

The military committee intends at a hearing Thursday to find out how enlistments are coming along. It also will get a report from the Army and Navy on how fast they are turning men out of uniform.

The possibility of the presidential recommendation for compulsory training also is expected to play a part in committee hearings, beginning tomorrow, on measures to merge the Army and Navy.

Appeal Made By Marshall

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16. (AP)—Gen George C. Marshall, described by President Truman as having done "the greatest military task in the history of the world," pleaded anew tonight for peacetime military training.

The Army chief of staff told a meeting of the Reserve Officers association that the "immediate availability" of men for service in a citizen's army is the keynote of the nation's future defense.

Presented By Truman

Marshall was made a life member of the association at a dinner in his honor. Mr. Truman, an association member by virtue of his reserve commission as artillery colonel, presented membership in the association's behalf.

"We made a colossal effort to bring victory at the earliest possible time," Marshall asserted. "We must be exceedingly careful we don't waste that victory."

Mr. Truman told the group he organized the first reserve corps in the United States in Kansas City in 1921 and was chosen for that reason to put the scroll of membership to Marshall.

Ideal Of A Leader

General Marshall," he said, "is my ideal of a leader. I consider myself something of a judge on that subject due to the fact that I have spent many of my odd moments reading the history of great military leaders of the world."

Mentioning several, the President said none of them had anything like the task which had faced General Marshall.

Sometime before Pearl Harbor, the President said, he offered his own services to Marshall by seeking active status as a colonel, but "he very wisely refused them."

"He persuaded me I had a job that needed to be done in the United States Senate," the President said. "I would have been much happier wearing a uniform."

Sparked Allied Cause

Marshall, the President added, not only acted as chief of staff of the United States Army, but as head of the chiefs of staffs of all the Allies.

"He succeeded in getting coop-

Trial Of Griffin Sent To Dickens

CROSBYTON, Oct. 16. Special) —Judge Dan Blair of 72nd district court this afternoon ordered venue changed from Crosby to Dickens county for trial of R. W. Griffin on a murder charge.

Judge Blair's action was taken after arguments of attorneys for the state and for the defense, both sides having presented testimony Monday afternoon and this morning—the defense in favor of its motion for change of venue, the state in controverting it.

Term Begins Nov. 5

Trial would be during sessions beginning Nov 5.

Griffin, 30, is charged with murder with malice of 30-year-old Lonnie Hillin, son of Crosby County Sheriff and Mrs. Roy E. Hillin. Witnesses told District Attorney Burton S. Burks in formal statements soon after Hillin's body had been found by his father in a muddy bar ditch near Crosbyton that Griffin had struck Hillin on the head with a quart bottle of whisky at a stage of argument in a poker game in Crosbyton.

Witnesses Are Called

For the venue hearing, approximately 20 witnesses were summoned by defense attorneys, the Lubbock law firm of Crenshaw, Dupree and Milam.

A special venire of 90 men who qualified for jury duty out of the 100-member panel had been instructed by Judge Blair to report back at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, said District Clerk W. F. Ezell.

The 72nd district courtroom was packed all Monday afternoon, but the crowd had thinned somewhat for today, probably due to the technical sameness of questions directed principally into disclosure of whether there would be difficulty in obtaining a jury and a fair and impartial trial of Griffin in Crosby county.

Three of those who crashed in rice paddies at various points in Japan said Nipponese countryfolk gave them first aid and a banquet.

U. S. Holds Exclusive Atom 'Trade Secret'

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—It was disclosed today on Capitol Hill that the United States alone had a "trade secret" for making the atomic bomb's fuse.

The secret hasn't even been given to an ally, senators heard.

This report came from Rear Admiral William R. Purnell before the Senate's joint military-commerce subcommittee studying future science.

Purnell said one American firm, only, possesses the secret of the fuse. And, he added, there are more trade secrets still in hiding.

The House Military committee voted to reopen hearings Thursday.

Vivid Account Of Lost Battalion In Java Related By Col. Tharp

AMARILLO, Oct. 16. (U.P.) — Texas' famous Lost Batalion, the 131st Field Artillery, composed of mostly West Texans who were Jap prisoners about three years, fought on Java as anti-aircraft crews, airplane ground crews, airplane gunners, anti-tankmen, infantrymen and artillerymen before surrendering to the Japs.

This is the heroic resistance revealed in the records of the battalion kept by Col. Blutcher S. Tharp, of Amarillo, commander of the 131st Field Artillery. The officer, his wife and 15 year old son, visiting in Amarillo, will leave soon for Hot Springs, Ark., where Col. Tharp reports to the Army hospital.

Fought With Dutch

The artillery unit is referred to as the lost Battalion due to its sudden disappearance after it had landed on Java on Jan. 11, 1942, later battled the Japs for three furious days and then was unheard of for a year.

In combating the Japs, the battalion, which trained at Brownwood, Tex., defended an airport, worked as ground crewmen and some of the men even went on bombing missions, Col. Tharp said.

On March 1, 1942, the battalion, with what trucks it had left, moved up to the Dutch lines, where it served as an anti-tank unit. On March 4, the Japs' offensive rolled into the Dutch and American lines. After withdrawing into the interior of the island, the battalion battled the Japs for three days, and the capitulated as the Dutch ordered its forces to surrender.

As prisoners, the battalion, and also Dutch and English prisoners, was moved to Burma where it worked on a jungle railroad until December, 1943, when the unit was transferred to Siam.

Col. Tharp kept his battalion records by burying them in the ground in tih cans. He concealed a diary from the Japs by hiding it in a piece of rubber he used as a pillow.

The records were so carefully kept that the 53 year old Colonel can locate and identify the graves of every man in the outfit who died during imprisonment. The fate of each man is known, except for some men shipped by transport to work in Japan, the officer said.

Starved To Death

Referring to the railroad work in the Burma jungle, Col. Tharp said: "The boys were starved and worked to death. By the time we started to work on the railroad we were nearly all barefooted. The men, some of them badly eaten with ulcers, had to wade in water and jungle muck."

After the Lost Battalion surrendered, Col, Tharp was questioned by a Jap staff officer. "Where are the rest of the Americans?" he asked. The Colonel replied that just his battalion was engaged in combat.

"But there must be many more. Our battalion couldn't do so much," insisted the Nip. "Does your country think that the imperial Japanese Army can be stopped with one battalion," haughtily asked the Jap.

"I had been wondering about that myself," replied the Colonel.

From that moment to Sept. 9, 1945, Tharp and his men who managed to survive, were Jap prisoners. The first man in the Lost Battalion died in June, 1943. From then until January, 1944, there was a funeral in camp every afternoon; as many as nine men were buried one afternoon.

Born in Kansas and reared in Missouri, Col. Tharp moved to Amarillo in 1911 and worked for the Santa Fe until enlistment in the service in 1916. He never got overseas in World War I as he was in officers' training school. He was commissioned June 1, 1918.

He entered the National guard and was commissioned a lieutenant colonel in August, 1940. A son of the Colonel, Blucher S. Tharp, jr., will be graduated from West Point next June.

WANTS U. S. "KNOW-HOW"

NEW YORK, Oct. 16 (AP)—Edgar Granville, liberal member of the British Parliament since 1929, appealed today for the export of American "know-how" to aid the reconstruction of Britain.

Three former Texas Tech students now residing in Washington, Ens. Winifred Woods, WAVE, Mrs. Britt S. May, and Mary Menon Stangel, entertained Dr. Wm. M. Whyburn, president of Texas Tech, with a dinner party while the president was in Washington last week attending a veterans administration conference.

T. H. Robinson, agricultural training officer from the veterans administration office at Waco, met with Texas Tech college officials on the campus Tuesday to discuss enrollment of veterans and additions to the course of agricultural studies offered these students. In conference with Dr. H. L. Kent, administrative assistant, and W. L. Stangel, dean of the division of agriculture, the three men made tentative plans to offer additional short courses in the agriculture division. No definite arrangements were made, the decision of approval rests with the veterans administration, Dr. Kent said.

DALLAS, Oct. 16 (AP)—Considerable relief from the sugar shortage is expected by Nov. 1, Bob Trigg, regional Office of Price administration food rationing executive, announced today.

Sugar still will be rationed for many months to come," he predicted, "but by the first of the month housewives should be able to buy all the sugar they have ration stamps for."

This relief, he explained, will come from the beet sugar and Louisiana sugar cane crops which are now coming in.

Electrical Oil Field In Miniature Revealed

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 16 (AP)—Gulf Oil corporation today announced perfecting of an electrically-operated miniature oil field designed to save immense quantities of oil that otherwise would never be pumped to the earth's surface.

The corporation's scientists experimented with the instrument, named the electrolytic modern oil field, at Harmarville, Pa.

The model can represent a field up to 20 wells, is about the size of a home workbench, and is described as able to forecast a given oil field's future for 20 years in no more than three hours.

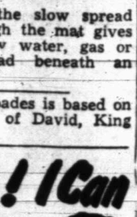

Gulf corporation says the new device "will substantially increase the world's usable oil resources, by assuring a greater percentage of oil recovery."

They set up small tubes to represent wells in the same relation and at proportionate distances as in a given oil field, and connected them with an electrically sensitized mat.

Recording of the slow spread of current through the mat gives a picture of how water, gas or oil would spread beneath an actual oil field.

Gen. Ike Hits Back At Report On Jews, Says Real Progress Made

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP) — Striking back at what he called "misleading" reports to President Truman, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower told the President today that real progress has been attained in caring for Jews and other victims of Nazi persecution.

The White House released without comment General Eisenhower's reply to a report made last August by Earl G. Harrison, U. S. representative on the intergovernmental committee on refugees. Harrison said, among other things, that "we appear to be treating the Jews as the Nazis treated them except that we do not exterminate them." He added that refugees are in concentration camps in large numbers "under our military guard instead of SS troops."

Terming the latter statement "definitely misleading," Eisenhower said he had set a policy of using military supervisors as sentries only in emergencies.

To cope with a "desperate" housing shortage, Eisenhower said subordinate commanders "are under orders to requisition German houses, grounds and other facilities without hesitation."

Jews and other concentration camp victims, he added, have "absolute preference over Germans."

Recent inspections showed, the general continued, that despite crowded conditions the refugees generally have more than the 30 square feet per person of floor space required for American soldiers.

Food Values Raised

Eisenhower said he recently raised the daily caloric food value per person for ordinary displaced persons in approved centers from 2,000 to 2,300 "and for racial, religious, and political persecutees to a minimum of 2,500."

"Clothing and shoes are available in adequate amounts and of suitable types," he said. "Uniformly excellent medical attention is available to all Jewish people in our centers, where they have generally adequate sanitary facilities."

DDT Used To Help Rid City Of Rodent Threat

The new "wonder" insecticide DDT is being used in the current campaign to rid the city of rats and thus lessen danger of typhus fever, it was said this morning by James H. Harris, representative of the U. S. Public Health service.

As rat poison is spread in and out of buildings, a 10 per cent formula of DDT is dusted along rat "runs" and passageways, Harris said, to destroy fleas, lice and mites. It is proving highly successful, he said.

Harris said 50 buildings in the wholesale and industrial district have been freed of pests since the campaign got under way in July. He said work has just started in the retail business section.

The campaign here is a far-reaching one, he said, and will be carried on for "some time to come." Eventually, eradication methods will be applied to residential sections.

The drive is a joint project of the city, the state health department and the U. S. agency. H. G. Gaither and Don Cook, superintendent of typhus control, represent, respectively, the state and city in the drive.

Houston May Be Tied Up Again By Walkout

HOUSTON, Oct. 16. (AP)—Possibility that Port Houston may be tied up Friday by another strike of carloader locals of the International Longshoremen's association loomed today over a 17½ cent hourly difference between what the port commission is willing to pay, and what the union will accept.

A. L. Nurse, president of I.L.A., Carloaders Local 2330, said the union has set 5 p. m. Friday as the deadline for employers to meet a demand for a 95-cent hourly wage plus 5 and 10-cent hourly differentials for handling certain commodities.

Uncle Of James Self Is Claimed By Death

Mrs. Self will travel to Wichita Falls with her husband and remain with relatives while Self and two cousins proceed to Springfield.

Definite funeral arrangements have not been made, Mrs. Self said. It is uncertain whether he will be buried in the family plot at Buffalo, Mo., or at Springfield.

A prominent lawyer in Springfield for 50 years, Self was a Mason and active in the First Christian church.

Controversy Over Use Of Hall By Negro Is Opened In Congress

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16. (AP) — The controversy over denial of Constitution Hall for the appearance of a negro musician broke onto the House floor today in bitter debate.

At one point, Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) had to caution the gallery against "demonstration."

The flareup began when Rep. Rankin (D-Miss) declared that attacks on the Daughters of the American Revolution, owner of the hall, are of "Communistic" origin.

"We have come to a hell of a pass," he shouted as the galleries applauded vigorously.

Siding against Rankin, Rep. Coffee (D-Wash) told the House he deplored "drawing of the color line" in the use of the Hall which, he said, enjoys freedom from taxes.

Gallery applause also greeted his speech, and Rayburn admonished the spectators that House rules prohibit demonstrations in the galleries.

Grateful Citizens To Reward Texas Hero

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 16. (AP) — Sgt. Cleto Rodriguez of San Antonio, winner of the Congressional Medal of Honor, is soon to become a bridegroom and a grateful Latin-American citizenry are planning to "start him off right" for his feat of killing 82 Japanese in Manila.

Representatives of Latin-American organizations have set a goal of approximately $15,000, of which $1,000 was contributed at a banquet given the returning former newsboy last night, so that he can have a "house, a car and all the trimmin's" it was announced.

When asked to describe how he disposed of the 82 Japanese Rodriguez demurred and asked instead that the company rise in silent prayer for his "buddy"—Pfc. John Reese of Tulsa, Okla., who was killed in that action and was awarded the Medal of Honor posthumously.

ROBBING ROBINS

IT ISN'T likely that Mrs. J. A. Fortenberry, who lives on the Levelland highway, will be singing about the time when the robins come bobbin' along; in fact if she never sees another robin Mrs. Fortenberry will be happy. For the little migrating birds have paid a call to her pyracantha bushes and stripped them of their handsome, colorful berries.

Mrs. Fortenberry is worried lest the robins come through town and damage other bushes. She said a flight visited Levelland a year ago and wrecked thorough damage to berries.

You can imagine Mrs. Fortenberry's consternation when she returned home the first of the week after being away a few days and found her bushes (there must be at least 50 of them, she said) ruined, while hundreds of birds (the figures are the writers) pecked happily away. She said she had an awful time getting rid of them; that she could walk right up to the birds without scaring them in the least.

• • •

WE PROMISED to sound the warning but having done that we haven't any suggestion. No one is going to kill the birds. There doesn't seem to be anything to do except hope the birds will pass by. Putting poison on the berries won't frighten the birds away and beating on a pan grows tiresome.

We join Mrs. Fortenberry in the hope that the robins will go on south without damaging any more property. Let us know if they come by your yard, please.

"FU-FU" WATER

ALTHOUGH standing in line is not a favorite pastime of GI's anywhere, they say there is one line they do not mind standing in—in fact, they often forego that last hour's sleep to join it. We refer to the line that forms in front of perfumeries in Paris.

Though perfume prices have trebled since 1939, it doesn't seem to deter the American serviceman, who'll come back again and again, until he succeeds in buying the exact bottle his wife or sweetheart wants. Though "Fu-Fu" water—as the GI's call it—is rationed one bottle to a customer, the daily supply is gone an hour after the shop opens.

ARE WOMEN "PERSONS"?

ACCORDING to those who seek adoption of the Equal Rights amendment, "women are not persons" and "wives are chattels" under the federal constitution. The much-discussed amendment reads "equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex. Congress and the several states shall have power, within their respective jurisdiction to enforce this article by appropriate legislation." If adopted, the Equal Rights amendment will take effect three years after the date of ratification.

If the space permitted, we'd like to quote from an avalanche of opinions, both pro and con. Please write us. One thing is certain: The proposed amendment, if passed by the Congress and ratified by the states, will have a very personal and profound effect on women. You owe it to yourself to know both sides.

Public Urged To Demand Freedom Of Press Be Extended To World

BOSTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—Calling attention to tendencies toward government control of radio, press and motion pictures, Kent Cooper, executive director of the Associated Press, today urged the public to demand of those in power a guarantee that freedom of the press will be extended throughout the world.

Speaking at the Boston conference on Distribution, Cooper asserted that "press freedom everywhere is essential for the future welfare of mankind," and that a universal free press "can develop into the world's antidote for the employment of the atomic bomb."

He referred briefly to the recent government anti-trust suit against the AP with the observation that "the cause of truthful international news exchange and "the right to print it in every land . . . greatly transcends anything that can happen to the Associated Press."

In the radio case, he explained, "we have freedom of speech into the homes of the land through the medium of radio definitely channelled for regulation by a government commission." Only last week, he said, "the trial of the government suit against eight motion picture distributors began in the federal court in New York."

He explained that "no attempt so far has been made by the government through the courts or by the courts to assert editorial powers over the news the Associated Press delivers in spite of its successful legal intervention in its affairs.

Hits Federal Powers

"In explanation of its efforts to make the Associated Press service available to any one who wants it the government distinctly disavowed its intention to gain control of the news report. Nevertheless, it is obvious, as in the case of radio, that the powers now in the hands of the administration are of fundamental and far-reaching importance and that they are definitely not based on an expressed grant by Congress.

"It is for you to find out whether the government is moving to control the avenues to our minds as is the case in other countries. It is for you to reflect upon whether the government is to define what our actions are to be instead of us controlling what the actions of the government are to be.

Protects Other Freedoms

"All the rights enumerated by the Constitution must be fervently defended. But man, being what he is, and his methods of communicating his thoughts one to another being what they are, the very keystone of our liberty is freedom to print . . It is the printed record which implements and secures the other freedoms, namely: freedom of religion, of speech and assembly."

Cooper said "the right to know," universally accorded, would promote international understanding, tolerance and friendship such as exist between the states of this country.

Declarations calling for worldwide freedom of the press, he noted, are on record in the political party platforms and Congress; the result was "the placing of the matter squarely on the doorstep of the President of the United States."

"I wish my voice could carry conviction," he added, "that everyone should watch developments of the lack of them from the White House in this matter of applying the guarantee that truth shall be available to all men, since the truth makes men free.

"It seems to me that the atomic bomb that destroyed Hiroshima on August 6 makes it mandatory for every man, woman and child in this world to demand of those who have been vested with power to save civilization. Let those in power be convinced that civilization has gained its greatest advances through the printed word and that the printed word, truthfully presented, offers peace."

Morton Contracts New Sewer System

Contract for construction of a new sanitary sewer system for the city of Morton has been awarded to W. G. Cullum & Co. of Dallas on a low bid of $74,204, H. N. Roberts of Lubbock, consulting engineer, who drew the plans and specifications, said last night.

Work will start soon, Roberts indicated. The contract calls for completion within 150 days from time the date-of-work order is issued.

Six other firms submitting bids were Ed Starr & Son, Albuquerque, N. M., $77,078; Panhandle Construction Co., Lubbock, $81,923; Fulton & Brodie, Brownfield, $83,026; Sherman Machine & Iron Works, Oklahoma City, $83,989; Shook-Owen Construction Co., Odessa, $90,051; and Grafe-Callahan Construction Co., Lubbock, $96,234.

Woman To Go Alone After Love, Jealousy "Get All Involved"

HOUSTON, Oct. 16 (U.P.)—Love and jealousy got all mixed up last night when John Roberts, 35-year-old negro, walked hand-in-hand with his girl friend, Goldie Mitchell, 27.

One of Goldie's would-be suitors, Rochester Williams, 45, walked over and fired a pistol at Roberts, glazing his head.

Goldie helped the wounded man to a porch. Groggily, Roberts rose to his feet, pulled a knife and started stabbing her. Both Roberts and Williams were charged with assault to murder.

And, Goldie said, after this she isn't walking hand-in-hand with anyone.

Whyburn Back From Capital Conference

Dr. Wm. M. Whyburn, president of Texas Tech, resumed his administrative duties at the college Tuesday after having spent a week in Washington where he and other Texas college officials conferred with the veterans administration concerning the amount the government will pay toward cost of educating veterans in Texas state colleges.

College officials hold out the hope that the figure will be their requested $100 per semester but the decision will not be forthcoming for several days, Dr. Whyburn said.

The difficulty has arisen in the interpretation by the administration of the Texas out-of-state tuition fee and the legislation passed after World War I that veterans be allowed to attend school tuition-free.

Cost to a resident of Texas to attend college is $25 per semester, but Texas has a reciprocal arrangement with other states to assess an out-of-state student in an amount equal to that which a Texan would pay in the other state concerned.

The Texas group held out for the position that the actual cost of instructing a student was approximately $100. If the veterans administration agree to this, the $100 would be paid to state institutions, regardless of whether the student was resident of Texas.

Unification Of Army Navy, AAF Is Urged

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 16. (U.P.)—Lt. Gen. Ennis Whitehead, commander of the 5th Air Force, declared today that unification of the nation's military might under a single dpartment of national defense was a necessary postwar move.

"The Army Air Forces believes that the integrated type of organization which proved indispensible in combat should be translated into the permanent peacetime military establishment," Whitehead, making his first public speech since returning from the Pacific arena, asserted.

DEDICATED TO THE ADVANCEMENT OF PROFESSIONAL EYE CARE

Drugs alone can't cure the flu— nor glasses alone correct faulty vision

What's wrong with this picture? Just this. Everyone knows that doctors don't base their fees on the drugs they prescribe.

When the flu picks you for a victim you depend upon the professional training, experience and skill of your doctor to pull you through.

You know that drugs are important but only incidental to the professional knowledge of the doctor who diagnoses your illness and prescribes for it.

But are you as wise about your eyes?

When eye troubles threaten, do you say: "Guess I'd better buy a pair of glasses"? That's illogical. When the flu got you down, you didn't rush out to buy drugs. You phoned for your doctor. You followed his professional advice.

Why think only of glasses, then, when you need eye care? Glasses alone can never correct faulty vision. Their value to you depends entirely upon the professional skill with which your eyes are examined and refracted—your glasses prescribed, fitted and serviced.

So don't confuse the price of glasses with the cost of eye comfort. Glasses alone without professional eye care are never a bargain at any price. Go to your Ophthalmologist, Optometrist, Ophthalmic Dispenser for professional skill and technical services. Give your eyes the benefit of the professional skill and service that your priceless sight demands.

Invest in eye care—not glasses at a price.

Seek professional advice—not glasses at a price.

Indies' Revolt May Be Beginning Of End For Pacific Imperialism

By LOUIS F. KEEMLE
United Press Staff Writer

Revolt in the Dutch East Indies and French Indo-China signifies the inevitable end of European imperialism in the Far East.

The powers which profited most of the exploitation of Southeast Asia-Great Britain, the Netherlands and France—are confronted by native demands which in the end they will be unable to deny. The demands are basically for self-rule, a better standard of living and a fuller share in the profits which their natural resources and their labor produce.

Big Bases In Spotlight

The European governments concerned recognize in principle the justice of the native aspirations. Selfish interests, both private and national, stand in the way of fulfilling them as rapidly as the new post-war world demands.

These interests are financial economic, and to a lesser extent military. Several billions of dollars of foreign investments are concerned. The three powers have a vital concern in maintaining a favorable trade position in the areas which they now control. Militarily, the British have their naval-air base at Singapore to consider, the French theirs at Saigon and the Dutch theirs at Batavia.

Interests Are Varied

None of the powers feels that its interests would be protected properly if immediate full independence were granted in the various colonial areas involved, as demanded by native nationalists. They argue, not without reason, that the polyglot populations are not united in race, religion, or degrees of civilization; that they have had no political experience and, in short, are not capable of governing themselves without a period of transition.

The interest of the United States is partly moral, and partly economic and financial. The Dutch make quite a point of mutual interest in their efforts to get support for the restoration of their empire. Dutch figures on the investment of outside capital in the Netherlands Indies place the total at $2,500,000,000 of which 55 per cent is Dutch, 25 per cent British, five per cent American and the remainder French, Belgian, Chinese and others.

Hold Rich Resources

From a world trade viewpoint, Indo-China, Malaya and the Netherlands Indies have vast importance. They are a rich source of such necessities as rubber, oil, coal, tin, iron, gold, rice, sugar, coffee, tea and spices. The release of rubber and sugar stocks which are believed to have survived the Japanese occupation already is eagerly awaited by various countries, including the United States.

A settlement of native aspirations without a period of bloodshed and economic loss therefore is desired all around. It evidently will require a great deal of patience and wisdom, particularly on the part of the Dutch and French. Outnumbered British troops are trying to control both the Japanese and the resurgent native nationalists in Indo-China and Java, but the British have their manpower problems elsewhere in Southeastern Asia, and have no intention of taking over the job of restoring the pre-war status quo for the French and Dutch.

Persuasion On Demands

Much depends on how successfully the Annamese and Indonesian nationalists can be persuaded to modify their demands for complete independence at once. The Dutch have offered the Indonesians dominion status, with freedom in internal affairs, as promised by Queen Wilhelmina in 1942. The French have not gone so far, but are understood to have proposed gradual steps toward self-government in Indo-China, under a French governor general.

So far, these offers have not proved satisfactory, but the extreme nationalists may not be able to push their demands with as much armed violence after adequate French and Dutch forces have arrived.

Man Is Held In Death Of Night Club Owner

GALVESTON, Oct. 16 (U.P.)—The preliminary hearing for John Beeler, 29-year-old veteran, charged with the street-slaying of Charles W. Birch, Texas fight matchmaker and night club owner, was continued until tomorrow.

With his hands above his head, Beeler surrendered to detectives yesterday a short while after Birch was killed while standing on a downtown sidewalk.

An unidentified woman who told police she and Birch were to have been married yesterday said Beeler telephoned Birch 45 minutes before the ceremony and told him: "Meet me. I've got seven bullets for you."

Detective Dave Henry said the shooting was an outgrowth of previous trouble about a woman.

Police said Birch, who used the alias of Charlie Woods, was shot in the head with a 32 caliber pistol. He was approached by a man in a two-toned automobile, who stopped and after talking for a few minutes fired at close range.

Hurley declined to discuss Secretary of State James F. Byrnes' announcement that Hurley would return to China after a short rest.

Asked about a report that he would not accept re-assignment to the China post, he said he would not "discuss the matter" until after the New Mexico vacation.

He said he now was concluding his White House and State department conferences, and within a few days would join Mrs. Hurley at Santa Fe.

Navy Man's Warning Saves Many Lives

PEARL HARBOR, Oct. 16 (AP)—Quick action by Navy Radioman Billy Brumett of Washington, Ind., was credited today with saving 1,349 men from death or injury in a dynamite blast on Okinawa last Friday.

The Navy announced yesterday that six enlisted men were killed and 23 wounded in the explosion of dynamite stored in an Okinawa tomb.

Brumett, shouting "dynamite on fire," spread an alarm through the tent area and in the minute and a half before the blast men scattered and took shelter behind embankments and a seawall across the road.

United Nations Paper Said Full Of Lingo

LONDON, Oct. 16 (AP) — Canadian delegate escort Reid declared today that the report under preparations by the United Nations executive committee was full of "League lingo, Geneva jargon and gobbledeguk."

Attacking what he called the stuffy, slipshod style of the document, Reid declared:

"It should speak to the people of the world and be written so that they can understand it."

The report on details of organization of the United Nations will be submitted to the preparatory commission meeting in London Nov. 8 and to the first meeting of the United Nations assembly.

Times Do Change, Japs Discover, And So Do Tactics Of Tokyo Cops

By JAMES D. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 16 — The Tokyo Mainichi quotes the chief of police, a Mr. Takano, as laying down the following rules for Japanese policemen:

1. Absolutely no more torturing of prisoners, even though it "impedes" investigation.

2. Cheerfulness and kindness to be the new police motto.

WHITE

On this basis, let us suppose that a bean-curd peddler named Suzuki parks his push-cart wrong on one of Tokyo's small side-streets.

Suppose a Tokyo policeman I once knew by the name of Hirabayashi catches Suzuki San off-base with his push-cart. The following purely imaginary conversation might now ensue, under the new order of things:

Cop: "Aaaaaaahg." (Japanese policemen always try to scare the pants off people by yelling "aaaaaaahg" at them. Besides, General MacArthur has not yet forbidden them to do it.)

Suzuki: "Nan des-ka?" (What's up?)

Cop Explains Violation

Cop: "You have parked your push-cart contrary to the rules for the parking of push-carts, section c, paragraph 2. Kindly deign now to accompany this unworthy instrument of the law to the police station for questioning into possible sinister motive behind breach of regulations."

Suzuki: (Noting policeman still wears badge of imperial authority on uniform) "Very well, let's go."

Cop: "After you, please."

Suzuki: "You mock me. I could not possibly lead the way for you."

Cop: "Many things are changing. Courtesy is now our motto."

Suzuki: "Do you mean we are going to the station without your first beating me up, just a little?"

Record Is Dug Up

(They reach the station, and clerks dig up Suzuki's file, which shows he served with the Army in Manchuria in 1931 and was discharged for internal injuries sustained when he wandered, drunk, in front of a supply truck. He is fined two yen and told he can go.)

Suzuki: "I don't understand. Do you mean that I get to go out of here without being grilled for days? As a Japanese subject I expect to be starved for at least a week on thin rice gruel, live in a small cell that is empty except for a bucket in the corner, and have bamboo splinters pushed under my fingernails."

Things Just Changed

Cop: "Don't ask me why. Things are just changed. You can go."

Suzuki: "But aren't you going to double my knees up under my chin, tie my arms around them and then kick me around the floor like a hard-boiled egg and pour water down my nostrils?"

Cop: "None regrets more than this one that such useful devices now are denied us. By the way, your continued presence grows embarrassing."

Suzuki: "But for 300 years you policemen have done as you pleased. What is the world coming to?"

Cop: "I tell you I am equally mystified. Please be good enough to go."

Parks Where He Pleases

(Suzuki goes, and thereafter parks his push-cart where he pleases.)

(Hirabayashi, the policeman, resigns from the force and considers becoming a farmer in the far north. But he hates cold weather, so he opens a small bar in Yokohama, selling bad liquor to American occupation forces.)

That's purely imaginary, remember, but the darndest things do happen in Japanese police stations.

Accidents Take Huge Toll Of U. S. Lives

CHICAGO, Oct. 16. (U.P.)—The National Safety council revealed today that 36,550,000 Americans were killed or injured in accidents on the homefront during World War II; almost 36 times the total of battle casualties suffered by U. S. Armed forces.

The council said that the comparison was drawn, not to "imply that wartime activities at home compared in danger with actual fighting on the battlefront."

United Nations Food Plan Given Praise

QUEBEC, Oct. 16. (AP)—L. B. Pearson, Canadian ambassador to the United States, declared today that he had no fear that the proposed United Nations food and agriculture organization, in seeking to raise dietary standards in poor countries, would jeopardize the interests of farmers in exporting nations.

Pearson spoke as chairman of a commission which drafted the constitution of the food and agriculture organization to be set up at a conference opening here today.

Replying to press conference questions, Pearson said he was aware that some farm leaders in the more highly developed agricultural countries were concerned lest the new organization, officially designated the FAO, endanger existing peace and market structures of farm commodities.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN
Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there's something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills. ADV

Tale Of Two Scores May Be Battle Cry Of Westerners

BORGER 21, LUBBOCK 19.

Those are apt to be sad words for Coach Jake Bentley's Abilene Eagles this weekend in their game at Tech stadium.

Coaches Dixie White and George Philbrick started in Monday afternoon giving the Lubbock Westerners a "working over" that should either make or break the Black and Gold warriors of Lubbock High.

The defeat last week at Borger stung deep. It was the second time Borger had ever beaten Lubbock, and the boys are going to have to show something this week to get back in the good graces of the home fans. The Abilene Eagles just happen to be the next team on the schedule, so Lubbock hopes to make it the goat.

Then, too, there is that little matter of another score. A year ago, in most papers, it was just a single line under the heading of "football results."

ABILENE 7, LUBBOCK 6.

A year ago, Lubbock surprised the state with a win over the Odessa Bronchos, then stunned the state with a win over State Champion San Angelo. The Westerners ran roughshod over Big Spring and Lamesa. They were rated high, and touted as possible championship timber.

Then came Abilene, and the bubble blasted.

The Westerners should be on the rebound, trying to look up. But it will find Abilene is much the same, trying to come back after losing to the Odessa Bronchos.

Two of the chief cogs in the Westerner attack were missing last week at Borger, and maybe they would have made a difference. They were John Paul Jones, regular quarterback, and John Lanham, regular fullback. Hopes are high that both will be in the lineup this week.

An accident took another from the squad Tuesday afternoon, when Rhea Bradley, squadman backfielder, went out with a broken ankle. Bradley was injured during a pass defense drill that started of Tuesday's rugged workout.

The injury came when Bradley leaped for a ball, and came down on the side of his foot. The injury was first thought to be just a bad sprain, but after being taken to the hospital, it was discovered that a bone had been fractured.

Perhaps the outstanding fault of the Westerners play at Borger was their defense, both ground and air, and Tuesday found coaches still putting the stress on building a stouter defense for the Eagles, and other foes down the line.

The workouts will continue hard for the rest of this week, with scrimmage sessions due today.

"We should be more ready this week than we were last," White said Tuesday. "It's not too late. Anything can happen yet."

Charter Issued For Texas Pro Grid Loop

AUSTIN, Oct. 16 (AP)—First legal step toward establishment of a professional football league in Texas in 1946 was taken today when Secretary of State Claude Isbell issued a charter to the Texas league of professional football clubs.

Incorporators were Fred Maly, sports editor of the San Antonio Evening News, president; Frank B. Bridges, former Baylor and Hardin Simmons coach, now of San Antonio, vice president; Frank Baskin, attorney of San Antonio, secretary-treasurer.

"It is inevitable that professional football will come to Texas and we believe it should be controlled by Texans. That's why we took this step in organizing the circuit," said Maly.

Maly said that plans are already underway at San Antonio and Corpus Christi for organization of professional teams with a view to joining the proposed league.

Other franchises will be offered interests in Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston, and Tyler, Maly said. Tyler's interest, he added, had been demonstrated by the annual rose festival game.

The new organization hopes to affiliate with the National football league, with farming arrangements.

Top Air Force Elevens Clash

FORT WORTH, Oct. 16 (AP) — Two unbeaten, untied teams — Army Air Forces Training Command and the Fourth Air Force of March Field, Calif. — clash here Sunday in the top game of the season in the National AAF football league.

It will mark the second time that the Training Command Skymasters have played an Air Force league game and the third for the Flyers. They are the only unbeaten teams in loop play.

Last Saturday at Nashville, the Skymasters, their vaunted passing attack under wraps from preying eyes of Fourth Air Force scouts, turned back Air Transport Command 14-0 for their fourth straight victory. The Fourth Air Force meanwhile was beating powerful St. Mary's Pre-Flight 20-7. The Flyers also hold victories over the Second Air Force 17-14 and the Air Transport Command 21-14.

The Nashville victory came at a high price for the Skymasters as Herman Rohrig and Roy Petsch, first and second string quarterbacks, suffered injuries. Petsch definitely will not see action. Rohrig, the team's leading passer and signal caller, is expected to be available for limited duty only.

Babe Hallmark, former Texas A. and M. star, is expected to be ready after having been sidelines by injuries for the past three games. Hallmark is a top passer.

A's Send Siebert To Browns For McQuinn

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 16. (AP) —Dick Siebert, first baseman for the Philadelphia Athletics for the last eight years, was traded to the St. Louis Browns today for George McQuinn, first sacker for the Brownies for the same length.

It was a straight swap, no money being involved, Manager Connie Mack of the Athletics said.

Athletes Not To Be Held Over In Army

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP) — As an aftermath to the Charlie Trippi case, the War department said today "there is nothing to hold" an athlete in service any longer than anyone else if he is eligible for discharge.

Trippi was released by the Third Air Force at Tampa, Fla., after Georgia's Democratic senators, Walter G. George and R. B. Russell, personally discussed his case with Secretary of War Patterson.

Trippi, who had 41 points, was discharged on a "surplus and hardship" basis.

Baylor's Pierce Sets Fast Pace

(By The Associated Press)

The University of Texas rolls along at a merry clip in Southwest Conference football, battering the opposition for almost 320 yards per game.

The Longhorns, in first place on offense for the second week in a row, have flailed four opponents for 1279 yards on the ground and in the air.

Baylor's youthful Bears, who have become top threats to Texas' championship hopes, are in second place with 1171 yards and have the best defensive record, allowing only 105 yards per game.

Baylor Tops Rushing

Other conference statistics, released Tuesday by James H. Stewart, executive secretary, show Baylor with the best rushing record—814 yards—and Southern Methodist, loser of three games, with the best passing mark—599 yards.

Sammie Pierce, Baylor's one-ton halfback, is the leading ball-carrier with 368 yards net on 39 carries, an average of 9.4 yards per try. In second place is Preston Smith of Texas A. and M. with 350 yards on 64 runs. Pierce last week made 98 yards against Arkansas. Smith got only 31 against Louisiana State.

Plyler Best Kicker

Jim Plyler, big Texas tackle, is the leading punter with an average of 39 yards on 22 boots. Moving in on him is Howard Maley of Southern Methodist, who has averaged 38.7 in 19 kicks.

George McCorstin, Southern Methodist freshman, has the best average on punt returns with 17.5 on four runs, but Bud Canada of Arkansas has the most yardage—141 on 11 returns.

Leon Joslin of Texas Christian still is far in the lead in passing with his 364 yards on 25 completions while Jack Price of Baylor is second with 270 yards on 20 connections. Price got 118 yards against Arkansas last week. Joslin didn't play.

All-America Hubert Bechtol of Texas is the leading pass-receiver with 191 yards on 13 catches. Paul Page of Southern MethodiMst is second with 177 on 13. Bechtol took seven for 107 yards last week against Oklahoma. Page caught five for 101 against Oklahoma A. and M.

Red Raiders Polish Attack For Baylor

Putting the polish on the attack took up the major portion of Tuesday afternoon's workout of the Texas Tech Red Raiders Tuesday afternoon, as the team settled down to work to get ready for the Saturday night battle here with the Baylor Bears.

There was a tint of gloom at the stadium Tuesday, however, and some doubt as to the condition of Walter Schlinkman, the sparkplug of Coach Dell Morgan's T model.

Walt Bruised Up

Schlinkman came out of the Tulsa game last week in a somewhat battered condition, and was nursing a bruised arm and leg Tuesday, which may slow him down a little against the Bears.

Gene Hardey, the regular quarterback, injured his knee in the Tulsa game, but reported Tuesday that it was much better, and seemed to be loosening up somewhat.

Morgan also announced Tuesday that Billy Joe Snodgrass of Brownfield, letterman tackle, has been dropped from the squad, and Tuesday began to shape up a replacement for the tackle post.

McSwane, Winkler Ready

Douglas McSwane, former San Angelo Bobcat, and Bernie Winkler, recently returned Navy star, appeared to be getting the center of the stage in the battle for this tackle post. Winkler, who played fullback at Texas Tech two years ago, played tackle at North Carolina Pre-flight, but came back to the Red Raiders as an end.

While most of the regulars worked on perfecting a passing attack, Morgan continued the search of the material on hand for capable reserves on the offense.

Working on blocking assignments, Morgan spent a large part of the Tuesday session working with the boys who have seen but little, if any, service this year.

Reports of last week's Baylor victory over Arkansas indicated that Coach Frank Kimbrough used reserves freely in the game, a tactic that has worn down the hard fighting Red Raiders in at least three games this season. Means of overcoming this has been one of the chief problems to face Tech coaches this year.

Upsets Spark First Round Of Golf Play

FORT WORTH, Oct. 16. (AP)—Favorites in all but two matches showed the way into the second round of the 1945 Texas Women's Open golf tournament here today.

The pair of upsets were recorded by 22-year old Mrs. Joanne Barr Tracy of Dallas, who downed the Fort Worth veteran, Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite two up, and by another young Dallas entry, Mrs. George Noble Jr., who won a 3 and 1 decision from Miss Jean Hopkins, nationally known player from Cleveland.

Both the Dallas women, however, will have their hands full tomorrow with experienced shotmakers as their opponets. Mrs. Tracy will mee the Los Angeles star, Miss Dot Kielty, Mrs. Noble will oppose Mrs. R. M. Torgenson, a former New York City metropolitan champion who is an Army wife now living in Fort worth.

The second round match drawing stop interest however, will be between Miss Polly Riley, young Fort Worth veteran and San Antonio's former national champion, Miss Betty Jameson.

The tourney favorite and medalist, Mrs. Babe Didrikson Zaharias, the ex-Texan who now lives in Los Angeles, won an opening engagement from Miss Cathrine Flint of Memphis 5 and 4. Mrs. Zaharias will take on another Memphisite, Miss Margaret Guntner in Wednesday's competition.

Army Holds Top Spot In Nation

NEW YORK, Oct. 16 (AP)—Army, for the second straight week, dominated the Associated Press poll to determine the best college football team in the country by capturing 90 of the 105 votes to retain first place.

The only other elevens to receive top nominations were Navy with 14 votes and Ohio State with one.

The Cadets, with 1,035 points, were followed by Navy (803); Notre Dame (768); Ohio State (655) and Minnesota (581), exactly the same as last week. Ten points were given for each first place vote, nine for second, eight for third, etc. The 15 critics who did not place the West Pointers first voted the Cadets second.

The only two newcomers to this week's big ten are Pennsylvania and Purdue. The Quakers, by virtue of their 49-0 victory over North Carolina, jumped from 11th place to seventh (310) while the Boilermakers hopped from 15th to ninth (84) on the strength of a 40 to 0 rout of Iowa.

Alabama moved up a notch from seventh to sixth (511) place while Indiana (292) and Texas (117) retained their respective eighth and tenth positions.

Southern California, absorbing a 33 to 6 lacing by the San Diego Naval outfit, dorpped out of the first ten, skidding from last week's sixth place rating to 14 place. Michigan, ninth in the previous listing, slid to 13th following its 28 to 7 defeat by Army.

Teams in the second ten were St. Mary's with 114 points; Georgia 113; Michigan 94; Southern California 45; Oklahoma Aggies 42; Duke 40; Columbia 27; Tulsa 24; Holy Cross 22 and Mississippi State 18.

Abernathy Favored In New Deal Battle

MONROE, Oct. 16. (Special)—The Abernathy Antelopes will be favored here Friday afternoon in their battle with the New Deal eleven, but plans are being made to care for perhaps the season's greatest crowd for the meeting of these traditional foes.

The only direct comparison of the two teams is in games with the high geared Hale Center club. Hale Center rolled over New Deal, 19-0, but had a hard time stopping the Antelopes, winning a 19-13 thriller.

Abernathy has defeated both Lubbock Cowhand teams, Class A Lockney and Petersburb. New Deal has split even in four tils, winning from Frenship and Idalou ,and losing to Hale Center and Lubbock B.

Vernon-Wichita Falls Set Annual Exes Tilt

VERNON, Oct. 16 (AP)—A lot of questions may be answered by a football game called the Legion Bowl scheduled to be played here Christmas day and expected to be made into an annual affair alternating with Wichita Falls.

It will match former Vernon High school players against ex-Wichita Falls High school footballers.

So now those cracks: "Well, if we had Bill Doakes this year, it would be different," and "Bill Smith was a lot better than your Joe Jones," etc. can be tested on the football field.

LAAF Cancels Grid Schedule

The LAAF athletic department announced today that due to the many problems of personnel instability, game scheduling and demobilization, the balance of the LAAF Flier's football schedule has been cancelled.

The Fliers played two games of the schedule before conditions made it impractical to continue the season. Scheduled games with West Texas State Teachers College, Amarillo AAF, and Blackland AAF have been cancelled. Blackland AAF found it necessary to drop its schedule a few weeks ago when the station began inactivation procedure, leaving the Fliers with only two games left on their schedule. The LAAF squad has been subject to continual reduction by discharges.

The LAAF football season thus comes to an untimely close, with the squad just beginning to reach playing condition, despite the loss of the entire coaching staff. Handicapped from the start, because of inability to get players, and a dearth of time to condition and practice, the Fliers had not yet reached winning form in their first two games, and with the accumulated problems that necessitated the closing of the season insofar as the LAAFers were concerned, they necessarily terminated future preparations.

With the suspension of football activities, the station's athletic program will be directed toward the winter sports, basketball and inter-squadron athletics.

TROJANS LOSE STAR

LOS ANGELES, Oct 16. (AP)—Trojan Capt. Jim Callahan, star end, will be lost by Southern California about November 1 when, it was disclosed today, he will go into active duty in the Navy.

Box-Seat Quarterbacks

They "Advise" The Commanders

OUR commanders have been getting a great deal of quarterbacking from the customers lately.

If they had hearkened to as much advice and criticism during the shooting as is now being freely handed out, General Eisenhower probably would still be looking for a landing spot on the European continent and General MacArthur a springboard on Guadalcanal. Happily, they seem to be not the least bit concerned over the jabbering and the general clamor, coming from Washington's unofficial strategists and from every crossroads in the land.

A lot of us need to keep our shirts on, especially on the matter of demobilization. On the books, we're still at war; we have not even commenced to gather the fruits of victory. We had utmost faith in our high commands when the shooting was going on; then let us trust them a little while longer, permit them to finish their jobs. A peace must be built out of near chaos.

Either we must maintain large military forces in the conquered countries for the task or turn the job over to the politicians. It is easy to see which choice is more attractive.

As "Moving Day" Approaches

"ALL good things must come to an end," which is about as good a way as any to mark the decision of the War department not to include Lubbock Army Air Field in its permanent, postwar plans.

Throughout the war, Lubbock was fortunate in having a total of four military installations, in addition to West Texas recruiting and induction stations for the Army, Navy, Marines and their feminine counterparts. Only recently this city was designated as West Texas recruiting headquarters for the peacetime era. So even as they see the beginning of the end for Lubbock Army Air Field, our people may take satisfaction in knowing that their city has played an important role in recruiting, induction; in playing host to Lubbock and South Plains Army Air Fields, and to the Tech Pre-flight and Army Engineers detachments, as well.

With the coming of peace, the War department naturally has found it necessary to eliminate, prune and condense. In most cases, we think, the decision of which stations to keep and which to drop was good; perhaps the decision was good in its entirety. At any rate, the die is cast and the river is crossed.

The vast majority of our people will be sorry to see the Army Air Forces move out, which will occur within the next few weeks, or, at the most, months. Yet when the runways at LAAF again are turned to rich furrows we may be proud of the fact that our contribution to Victory was a good one and that the city made many friends from throughout the country while it was "home" to its temporary uniformed citizens.

The Area's Farm Summary

THIS has been a bad year for Texas farmers, particularly those of the South Plains.

The major crops are below normal everywhere, due in most areas to insufficient rainfall.

The state's 1945 cotton production has been estimated 2,100,000 bales, 546,000 bales short of last year's crop. The biggest cotton decline will come in this area, which will produce 175,000 bales as compared with more than a half million bales in 1944.

The drop will be offset to a limited extent by higher prices, but not enough to prevent an appreciable decrease below the normal income for cotton and cottonseed.

The outlook for grain sorghums is some brighter. This year's state production is placed at 72,672,000 bushels against 96,724,000 for last year. The South Plains will probably produce as much or more grain than last year, because more than the usual number of farms were planted to feed after rain did not come in time for planting cotton. The area might have produced a record grain crop had it not been for the sustained, early Fall rains.

The aggregate farm income for the state up to September ranged 6 per cent above that for the same period last year, but this trend will be reversed in the last four, normally big farm income months. Indications are that livestock marketings will also be below the level common for the closing months.

But, most South Plains farmers will be able to take a lean year in their stride. The war years have been good to them. Most of them are solvent and have a comfortable reserve on which to live up to their usual standard. With many products due on the market which hitherto have been unavailable, farmers wil lcontinue to spend money and, therefore, the area should not suffer economically.

Bobby sox talk overheard: "Where are you going?" "Nowhere." "When will you be back?"

I DANCE AGAIN

VII

In London, mother was too busy to listen to my request for a course of English literature but said she would write to my father about it (which she completely forgot to do), and in the meantime she would let me go to all the schools and classes I wanted, provided I left her alone with her concerts.

I started studying piano at the Guildhall School of Music and attended classes in drawing from the nude three days a week, at the Frank Brangwyn School of Art in Kensington. The rest of the time I divided between the evening classes at the Chelsea Art School and the Whitmore School for Women.

Despite all Dr. Neumann's expensive treatments, I limped badly and could not even put a hat on or brush my hair with my left arm. Mother was bitterly disappointed about this, and I think this was the reason I threw myself into my studies with fervor and worked hard to please her, so that the money that had been spent on me in Switzerland should not be wasted. The old inferiority complex returned with interest, but I battled it through, passed the exams for Girton College, Cambridge, with honors, and won a gold medal for piano and theory of music at the Guildhall, in spite of my arm and the tortures I went through practicing with it.

The discussions about my future continued daily, and in the end we consulted the doctor about my trying to regain my flexibilty for dancing.

He said that my physical condition had improved very much and that in his opinion I could have massage and stretching exercises, especially on my arm, which was the worst of all my troubles. If I had the will to take a good deal of punishment, he saw no reason why I could not gradually start dancing exercises.

I started training at the Pavlova School at Ivy House, Hampstead, and was really surprised to find that I could dance perfectly on my toes again and hide completely the shortness in my left leg. My body became limber in about three weeks, and it was impossible to tell there was anything the matter with me except for my left arm. This remained weak and awkward.

* * *

Some months after this when I was dancing in the corps de ballet at the Palace Theater, the biggest of the Zeppelin raids over London occurred, about 11 o'clock at night.

It seemed that when the raid was at its height, one of the staff of the Hotel Savoy had gone up to the apartment about the lights. There he found grandmama crouched in front of an open window, mother's jewelry in one hand, shaking her other clenched fist at the raiders and shouting, "Cobardes—a que no se atrevan de bajar," meaning, "Cowards, you don't have the nerve to come down here."

The effects of this raid were disastrous for mother's nerves, and besides, she was fretting continually about my brother. We knew he had been in action and that his division had sustained heavy casualties. Mother thought she should go with grandmother to Paris and endeavor to get my brother back on leave, or see if there was any way to get him transferred from the Legion. (This was, of course, impossible, but she insisted on trying it.) It was eventually decided, on advice from my father, that until the end of the Palace engagement I should board at the Sacret Heart Convent, Portman Square, where a relative of his, Mother Maria Agnese, was Mother Superior.

The convent was a wonderful experience for me; I loved it and for the first time in my life realized the full meaning of the words "peace" and "quiet." On my arrival, the sweet and wise old Mother talked to me for a long time in her office, asked me not to tell the nuns anything about the theater or any worldly topics, and said I was to be in the convent by 10:30 every night. Our ballet finished at 9:30, so she had calculated to a fraction of a second, the time for me to return on the bus.

By the time I had got into the swing of living in a convent, a telegram came from mother in Paris, stating that she had been notified Bunnie was missing, and she wanted me to come to Paris at once to be with her.

* * *

Of my brother's arrival in Paris and the discovery of his blindness I do not want to write. All my life I have tried to forget it. Fortunately father arrived and took charge of everything, and the fact that Bunnie was at least alive, though in a very serious condition, saved my mother's reason.

Father preferred to place my brother under doctors of his own choosing rather than depend on military hospitals. When Bunnie could be moved, he was placed in the American hospital in Neuilly and later in a convalescent home in Fontainebleau, where we took a furnished house.

We all spent Christmas together in Fontainebleau, and it was the only occasion that I had ever lived with both my parents under the same roof, and also granmama, back from Spain. After the New Year, mother and I accompanied my brother to the Orthopedic Sanitarium at Berck, Paris-Plage. In addition to his head wounds and loss of sight, he had a shattered hip which had been operated on and had a platinum or silver head fitted to the hipbone. As a result of the operation, he could stand but not walk; his spine had become affected and he was very ill. Father and mother had received two decorations for him, as he was too crippled to appear at any ceremonies.

Looking At Life ------ By Erich Brandeis

THE War department recently received a communication from a Newark, N. J., wife in which she asked for the discharge of her soldier husband. This is what she wrote:

"He's fat, sway-backed—with a crick in the sway—chipped-elbowed, has several teeth missing and hobbles into age thirty-eight this month. But he has a nice smile, with what teeth he has left, and he is good to me, and I love him. So won't you please send him home?"

BRANDEIS

Well, when I read this little item, I looked in the mirror and suddenly it came to me my wife told me only last evening that she loved me.

And maybe it will come to many other husbands who have been wondering—if they have mirrors that tell them the truth—why their wives still love them.

It may also explain why so many Hollywood marriages go on the rocks, and why so many glamour-girl-marriages end up in the divorce courts.

* * *

Nobody has ever yet been able to explain love satisfactorily. But one thing is sure—it doesn't come in bottles or compacts, nor are beauty and love synonymous.

If you can compare love to anything at all, it is more like a good, warm radiator on a chilly autumn night, or like a good wine that improves with age.

I certainly am no angel—what newspaperman is?—and I like to look at a pretty girl as much as the next fellow. But if I had to get married all over again I'd marry exactly the same girl I took "for better or worse" more than twenty years ago, and I'd like to make you a bet that the great majority of men and women would do exactly the same thing.

Every now and then, when we sit in a New York cafe or night club, my wife catches me looking at some pretty face with more than the necessary gleam in my eyes.

I don't think she likes it particularly well, but, being a seasoned wife, she knows that one may admire a beautiful painting in a museum without necessarily wanting to have it hanging in one's house.

* * *

AND, furthermore, I think that a wife feels doubly flattered if, after having seen and admired those pretty night-owls, a husband is doubly attentive to his wife and lets her know that there isn't anybody in the world quite like her.

You may say, of course, that my kind of love is a sign of approaching old age, that real love is turbulent and romantic and disquieting.

That's all right with me. I have had my romance and my turbulence and my disquiet when I courted my wife, and even for some time after that. But now the ship has made port, the storm has subsided and there is quiet and peace and contentment.

And every once in a while, just so that no barnacles may grow on the ship, we take a little sail into excitement and adventure, and sometimes there is a little squall and a little squabble.

But, all in all, we are at anchor and safe and sound.

And what more than that can I—or you—expect from love or from life?

More Strikes In Offing

But No Crackdown Yet Planned

WASHINGTON
By Albert Leman

BIG NEW strikes are impending in Ford, General Motors and Chrysler factories, affecting 800,000 workers, but the Labor department does not intend to crack down — yet.

The procedure will be to delay recommending legislation on arbitration until the Labor-Management conference, scheduled for November 5, has presented its program for industrial peace or until Secretary Schwellenbach, OPA Administrator Bowles and other administration bigwigs can get together and decide on a wage-price policy.

During the past week Schwellenbach has had John L. Lewis and the coal mine operators in across-the-table confabs in his office. And he has tried conciliation in the oil, lumber and transport fields.

LEMAN

But he can only plead, "Boys, patch up your quarrel because you are postponing reconversion." He has no legal power to force disputants to agree. The recent reorganization of the department merely brought a few new desks under his roof, no few clubs.

He has scarcely more than the prestige of his high office to back him. As he is a newcomer to a post of high administrative authority neither capital nor labor has yet had a chance to size him up as an impartial guide.

Business men remember that back in 1934 he advocated government operation of land idle factories and other radical measures. Labor is less uncertain about him as he already has supported several laws desired by the unions.

* * *

FACT-FINDING: The main issue in industrial strife remains the same this week as last: Labor demands take-home pay approaching its wartime amount; management asserts that it cannot fatten envelopes without boosting prices.

Government officials maintain that there is no federal machinery to determine whether businessmen are giving the correct picture of their position. They want a new fact-finding agency set up in the Department of Labor to sift the truth about the costs of living, value of the dollar, production costs, prices and profits.

Reports on these are available from parties with axes to grind or may be located in sketchy form in numerous scattered bureaus. But unbiased information suitable for current arguments between capital and labor are not readily accessible to federal conciliators.

Secretary Schwellenbach plans a test case in a labor dispute to find out if the price ceiling can be raised without causing inflation and, if so, how much? The test should also show whether a wage increase compels a price increase. It was suggested that this test be made by the War Labor board but as this harassed outfit is on the verge of liquidation another agency will probably operate on the guinea pig.

* * *

PRO-LABOR: The administration does not want the wave of strikes and violence to continue as it will undermine union responsibility, delay reconversion and anger the public. All three would be had for the coming political campaign.

But it has no desire to stop walkouts by sheer force. This is a pro-labor administration even though Franklin Roosevelt has passed from the scene. It is reluctant to bar strikes for it would thereby rob workingmen of one of their chief weapons in collective bargaining.

The President's advisers also oppose compulsory arbitration. The phrase sounds good. But experts insist that in a free-enterprise democracy the government cannot compel men to work or force owners to run businesses at a loss. Union leaders and the spokesmen for industry generally agree on this.

* * *

CONFERENCE: Since the administration has no whip and wants none, its eyes turn to the coming Labor-Management conference. It hopes that this body — in which Secretaries Schwellenbach and Wallace will sit — will evolve a method of handling industrial disputes acceptable to all concerned — pehaps voluntary arbitration.

Analysts fear that the strike plateau will last three months. The November conference may continue for four or five weeks.

But already several committees are working in advance of the big meeting and ironing out difficulties. Instead of the principals gathering impulsively and passing meaningless resolutions on broad generalities much of the spadework on concrete matters will have been done for them and they will tackle really vital subjects.

For the moment Congress is marking time on strike legislation; action on the Burton-Ball-Hatch bill is hung up. But if industrial rows get out of hand, public opinion may impel Congress to act on its own without waiting for the patient administration to make up its mind.

* * *

CRITICAL: Secretary Byrnes at his conference with the Senate Foreign Relations committee got new backing from his old colleagues for his stand against domination of the world by the three giant nations.

But certain members of this powerful group of legislators and other leaders on Capitol Hill are still critical of the way the Council of Foreign ministers was handled in London and of the State department's policies in South America and China.

Apparently the Secretary himself is not yet satisfied that the latest shake-up in his department was enough. Insiders predict that several key ambassadors will be shifted unless present plans are halted. Among those slated for new posts or for retirement are John G. Winant in London and W. Averell Harriman in Moscow. Ambassador Patrick J. Hurley is in the USA and may not return to Chungking.

The impression is being fostered in Washington that there is no connection between the shuffle and diplomatic stalemates. But foreign capitals are not likely to believe this.

* * *

TIMING: The moment may be appropriate for a general moving day. But some observers here think that the timing is poor.

Not in months have our foreign relations reached such a series of crises. Delicate economic negotiations are being conducted with Great Britain. The Soviet Union is afraid that we are prompting a "Stop Russia" blockade. The apple cart in South America has been upset again. Our position in China on Chiang Kai-shek and the Communists has not yet been defined. In a couple of weeks France will have not only a new set of leaders but an entirely new system of government as the result of the Constitutional election.

Correspondents who attended the London conference maintain that many of the troubles which came from secrecy and conflicting statements released sub rosa by members of our delegation were based on the inexperience of our representatives.

Now, if the transfer of ambassadors takes place, we not only will have a comparatively new broom at the head of the State department but a whole bundle of new brushes.

* * *

CLEAVAGE: The State department is staffed with earnest men who are trying to establish strong leadership of the United States in world affairs.

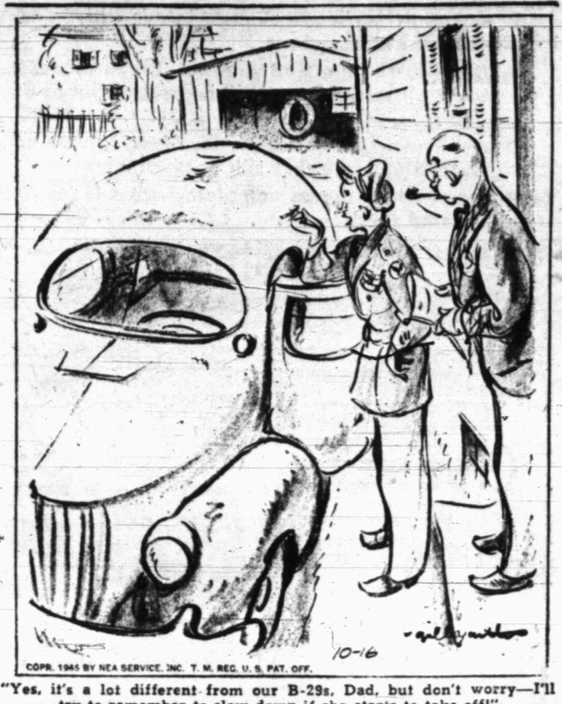

But even now — after the Stettinius regime has vacated the old building—there is still a wide cleavage. Advocates of leftist and rightist policies have sharp differences backstage.

Many recent appointees are what are known as "practical boys" who call career diplomats the "striped trouser crowd." The newcomers prefer to surround themselves with "hardheaded businessmen" rather than take advice from old hands in statecraft, contending that the atomic bomb and the economic age have relegated the "afternoon tea drinkers" to minor roles.

"A Colorado housewife won a contest by throwing a rolling pin 67 yards." —News item. We suggest that her husband go in training for the 100-yard dash.

"Congressional Reform" Plans Are Talked

Stokes Envies South's Strength

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON. — One of the chief obstacles to real democratic procedure in Congress and an equal voice in its affairs by all sections of the country is the so-called "Seniority" rule.

Reform of Congress, now widely favored cannot overlook this.

Under the Seniority rule, committee chairmanships fall automatically to the member who belongs to the party in power and who has served longest on that particular committee. Committee chairmen are key figures in legislation. They are not only influential in determining priority of bills but also in shaping their form. Sometimes they may determine whether a bill should even considered.

STOKES

Designation of a chairman merely on the ground of long tenure contributes to rigidity and conservatism. Likewise the system restrains men of ability.

But most important of all, when Democrats are in power, as they have been now for nearly 13 years in the Senate and almost 15 in the House, it gives an influence to the Southern members of that party all out of proportion to their numbers and to the number of people they represent.

* * *

Here's How It Works

The seniority system favors the South, because the one-party rule there makes it easier for a member to stay in office and thus move to the top in committees. How powerful Southern influence is now in Congress may be seen from a few facts.

The Speaker of the House, Sam Rayburn is from Texas. The President Pro Tem of the Senate, Kenneth McKellar, is from Tennessee.

So are the chairmen of 15 of the 33 committees in the Senate, including some of the most powerful, with three other chairmanships in the hands of border state members. Nearly half of the 48 House committees — 23 to be specific — have chairmen who are Southerners. Six other committees are headed by border state members.

* * *

SOUTHERNERS are chairmen of three of the four four most important committees in Congress on domestic matters. The other is headed by a border state member. These four are the Appropriations committees of each House, the House Ways and Means committee and the Senate Finance committee which handles tax and tariff legislation. A Southerner Tom Connally of Texas, is head of the important Foreign Relations committee.

Southern and border state members wield a preponderant influence on the House Rules committee which decides what bills go to the floor and in what order. Four Southerners and two border state members hold six of the eight Democratic places on the committee. This permits a coalition with four Republican members to block administration bills, as has often occurred.

* * *

Investigation To Be Reported

The House Democratic Committee on Committees which hands out committee assignments for Democrats is composed of the Demócrats on the Ways and Means committee. Seven of the 15 are Southerners, and there is one border state member.

So it goes. This explains why some change in the Seniority rule is a chief concern of thcse who are trying to modernize Congress, including the Joint Congressional committee which is to report soon after a long investigation.

* * *

REFORMING the seniority rule is difficult because it bucks a system. Resistance is met for obvious reasons.

Election of chairmen by committees themselves has its drawbacks, as this would contribute to blocs and feuds.

The suggestion considered most practical is to require rotation in the chairmanship every six years, which would help some. Seniority would be retained in promotion to chairman, but the practice would be modified by the six-year limitation on tenure. This may be recommended by the Joint committee, headed by Senator LaFollette (Prog., Wis.) and Rep. Mike Monroney (D., Okla.)

Bold action is needed. Something must be done, in the interest of Congress, itself, and of the public.

Oklahoma Asks For Division For State

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 16. (U.P.) —Oklahoma has asked that the entire 4th division be stationed in Oklahoma together with auxiliary units. Adj. Gen. George Ade Davis disclosed today.

Davis said he acted on authority of Gov. Robert S. Kerr in asking location of the 4th "here and in Tulsa."

The request was filed with National Guard headquarters in Washington. The 4th is now at Camp Bowie, Tex., and includes troops from Oklahoma, Colorado, Arizona and New Mexico. Approval of the governors of the other three states would be necessary before such move could be made, Davis said.

MOSLEMS JOIN FIGHT

CALCUTTA, Oct. 16 (AP)—Sir Khwaja Nazimuddin, ex-premier of Bengal and a leader of the All-India Moslem league, declared today the Moslems of Bengal were ready "to undergo any sacrifices" in support of the stand taken by Christian and Moslem Arabs against Jewish expansion in Palestine.

Peron's Backers Storm Capital

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 16 (AP) — Fifteen thousand laborers shouting slogans favoring the deposed Juan Peron paraded through the capital's business district today as the harassed Argentine government continued its attempt to form a new cabinet.

Police made no effort to interfere with the marchers and there were no disorders. Union leaders said the march was not supported by organized labor and declared that "armed men" without union affiliation forced employes to quit their jobs in suburban Avellaneda and march into the city.

In Protective Custody

The government earlier announced that Peron, former vice president, minister of war, and secretary of labor who was forced by Army leaders to quit last week, was "not being detained" but was in protective custody. No details were given.

While leaders of labor unions are almost all anti-Peron because Peron, while in power, named his own candidates for choice union jobs, the rank and file of labor remembers the wage increases and reduced hours which the cabinet member established for them by decree.

Not To Cancel Gains

The government in an apparent effort to calm labor has announced officially that it would not seek to cancel any of labor's gains.

President Edelmiro Farrell, who was left in office despite Peron's ouster, so far has been unable to form a new cabinet. Civilian political leaders, demanding that he resign and turn over his powers to the supreme court, have refused to serve under him.

Admiral Halsey

having heard many a discussion of the specific work done by this outfit and by that, I come back always to the inescapable conclusion that the Pacific war was a war won by all services.

Did Impossible Job

"So here is my first point: doing the periods of greatest stress and toughest going, we had utter, complete and total unit of our forces. As one team, Army, Navy, Marine corps, Coast Guard—yes, and the men of the Merchant Marine—went ahead and did an apparently impossible job.

"The second is the magnificent work of the men involved. In war, the human equation is one riddle you can't solve with gadgets, gears and levers.

"You can't press a button and get a positive answer. But you have to depend on it—or you're licked. I can tell you, with pride, that your American boys never let us down.

Applies To Allies, Too

"That goes, too, for our splendid Allies, the New Zealanders, the Australians and the British."

Halsey said Japan must have realized "the jig was up" some time before V-J day because of the simple process of military arithmetic which must have shown the enemy she could not win.

"I hold steadfastly to the principle that, until it proves itself worthy, Japan cannot and must not be admitted even to the society of civilized, decent nations."

PARTY JOINS FIGHT

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Oct. 16 (AP)—The Bulgarian Democratic party today joined other groups opposed to the fatherland front in a decision to boycott the Bulgarian elections set for Nov. 18.

METALLURGIST DIES

PALO ALTO, Calif., Oct. 16 (AP)—Dorsey Alfred Lyon, former chief metallurgist of the U. S. Bureau of Mines, died suddenly of a heart attack at his home here today.

STOCKS SHOW STRENGTH

NEW YORK, Oct. 16 (AP)—Selected steels, liquors, utilities and specialties exhibited belated strength in today's stock market although many pivotals elsewhere backed into losing territory.

The day's volume was 1,630,000 shares, the same as Monday.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was off 1 of a point at 72.5, after eight successive sessions without a setback. The utility composite, though, edged to a top since March 10, 1937.

At peaks for 1945 or longer were U. S. Steel and Bethlehem, again buoyed by prospects of booster ceilings for some products; Par kand Tilford, up seven points, Distillers Corp., up 6¼ and Hiram Walker, up 3½.

Modest improvement was shown for Goodrich, U. S. Rubber, Douglas Aircraft, Boeing, Anaconda, American Telephone, American Water Works and Santa Fe. Casualties included Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Great Northern, Westinghouse, General Electric, Du Pont, U. S. Gypsum, Kennecott and American Can.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Oct. 16 (AP) — The cotton futures markets moved through a quiet session today featured by liquidation in October following the issuance of 21 additional notices. Hedge selling was also in evidence in the near months, which was absorbed on the scale-down through mill buying. The deferred positions were relatively steady on buying influenced by continued unfavorable weather reports in the cotton belt.

There were unconfirmed reports in the trade that some large textile mills had purchased 130,000 to 140,000 bales of cotton directly from government holdings, which, it was believed, might partly account for the small mill buying in the open market.

Futures closed 10 to 30 cents a bale lower.

Marshall Appeal

eration, and in getting the Navy to cooperate with the Army, the President said. His own personal chief of staff, Admiral William D. Leahy, was exceedingly helpful in that respect, he added.

"Its my opinion General Marshall has done the greatest military task in the history of the world," the president said.

Visibly moved by the tribute, Marshall said he would cherish the Presidents remarks the "remainder of my life."

He spoke appreciation of the part the reserve officers played by having a substantial force "immediately available" for building an Army aground.

Time Said Important

In reiterating his plea for universal military training to keep a citizen army ready, he said "it is that immediate availability which is so important.

"Do we capitalize on our great victory or do we waste it?" he asked. "That must be the state of our national military posture; the immediate availability of a citizen's army to insure the maintenance of peace in the world. The immediate availability of weapons for peace depends on the citizens army. I think I represent the Navy viewpoint, too."

THANK YOU, MA'AM!—Many servicemen are momentarily fooled into a friendly greeting or a sharp whistle when they see this lovely hostess at the American Red Cross Service Club in Bologna, Italy. Secretary Questioned In Savage Slaying Of Michigan Socialite

PONTIAC, Mich., Oct. 16 (UP)—The pretty secretary of Louis Veto Thompson, 48, estranged husband of brutally-murdered Lydia Thompson, today admitted "intimate" friendship with Thompson over a two year period.

Taken into custody last night, Mrs. Helen Budnik disclosed in a statement that she and Thompson had been together in Miami and that Mrs. Thompson hired a detective to locate them.

Would "Haunt Her"

The victim of one of Michigan's most savage slayings was disclosed to have been violently jealous of Mrs. Budnik and hired a detective who "located us in Miami," the secretary said.

"Mrs. Thompson said to me, 'you can't have my husband, I'll haunt you all your life if you take him,'" Mrs. Budnik said in her statement.

Mrs. Budnik said that after Mrs. Thompson came to Miami and threatened to kill herself, the secretary promised she would never see Thompson again.

Like Lavish Parties

Sheriff E. K. Thomas earlier had indicated he did not believe Thompson was implicated in the death of his estranged wife. Thompson denied during questioning that there had been any other men in Mrs. Thompson's life.

Thompson said "we just couldn't get along," and that Mrs. Thompson was more concerned with lavish entertaining at her $75,000 Orchard Lake home than anything else. He said they had separated about a year ago and he asked for a divorce last spring.

Thompson said he did not agree with police theories that the murderer of his wife had been after money. He said she seldom carried any large amounts with her.

Mrs. Thompson's stab-punctured body was found by mushroom pickers in a lonely marsh Saturday, three days after she was killed. There were 13 stab wounds and her neck was all but severed.

The coroners' report showed that Thompson visited his wife's home last Friday, the day after her death. Thompson told Coroner Leon Cobb that "the house was locked, her car was gone, and I drove away."

The vegetable tanning process used in shoe manufacture was discovered by the Hebews thousands of years ago.

The Saturday raid, which was led by four tanks, a fleet of armored cars, snared a number of Russians officially identified as "senior officers." Along with other Red army men, they were released after questioning.

Paper Pick-Up Planned Today

Today is the last chance for Lubbock citizens to put in a lick for a vital, patriotic cause.

A waste paper pickup will be staged in the city with the cooperation of Army authorities. It will mark the end of all salvage drives in the city during the present emergency.

Trucks To Gather Paper

Fifteen Army trucks, manned by military crews, will gather the paper under the direction of Capt. James F. Grey, salvage officer at Lubbock Army Air field.

Residents are asked to place their contributions of newspapers or magazines at designated places by 8:15 o'clock this morning. Those living on streets should place their bundles near the curb in front of their residences, and persons residing on avenues should take their bundles to the nearest corner. Trucks will travel only east and west routes.

Newspapers and magazines should be tied separately in bundles of from 20 to 25 pounds. Bundles should be tied securely with a stout cord. Cardboard boxes will be acceptable if they are mashed flat.

Shortage Still Acute

Trucks are scheduled to start the pick-up at 8:30 o'clock.

Despite the ending of the war, there still exists a serious shortage of raw materials for the manufacture of boxes needed to ship food and other supplies to the hundreds of thousands of U. S. troops still abroad.

The salvage committee of the chamber of commerce is helping the Army in the drive.

T. C. Root Talks At Optimists' Luncheon

Lubbock Optimist club members at their luncheon Tuesday in the Lubbock hotel heard a talk by T. C. Root, member of the Texas Tech faculty and recently discharged officer of the Ninth Air force, with which he served as captain in the counter-intelligence branch of the intelligence section in England, France, Luxembourg and Germany.

In an informal talk in which he included many humorous incidents relating to the work his group performed in counter-espionage, counter-sabotage, censorship and security, Root gave an insight into overseas intelligence work.

L. D. Casey, club president presided over the business portion of the program. Guests were Clyde Shropshire, E. G. Travis, Sam Hallmark, Capt. E. L. Hallmark, Mack Hiatt and Robert Macher.
