Ring Ceremony Read By Dr. Lewis Before Five Hundred Relatives, Friends Tuesday

Couple Leaves By Automobile For Short Honeymoon Trip To Roswell And El Paso; Expected To Return On Sunday And Will Make Home In Lubbock

IN THE presence of 500 relatives and friends, Miss Lucille Moxley, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Moxley, 1809 14th street, was given in marriage by her father to Winfield Watkins Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the First Presbyterian church. The couple left immediately after the ceremony for an automobile trip to Roswell and El Paso. They are to return Sunday and will make their home at 1621 Avenue Y.

Five candelabra, each with five snow-white lighted candles rose from the fern-banked altar, and a basket of Calla lilies added floral beauty to the scene.

Dr. Jack M. Lewis officiated for the ring ceremony. Mrs. Douglas Slaps, preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Richard L. Douglas, accompanied as the piano by Mrs. Rosa McWhorter, sang, "I Love You Truly."

Mrs. Douglas was wearing a frock of flowered net over yellow satin, with a picture hat in hair.

Wedding March Played As the bride entered, Mrs. McWhorter softly played Lohengrin's Wedding March.

Miss Moxley wore an exquisite gown of white tulle, with rows of tiny white satin ribbon being brought around the waist of the frock and tied in small bows at the center front.

Wears Flowered Net Miss Kate Boyd, who was maid of honor in the wedding, was lovely in a frock of flowered net over green satin.

Green and peach were the colors favored in costumes of bridesmaids, Misses Mary Snyder, Anne Snyder, Geraldine Smith and Blanche Bradley.

Arm Corsages Worn Misses Anne Snyder and Blanche Bradley, who were frocked in green, wore colonial wrist bouquets fastened of white rosebuds and pink and white sweet peas tied with pink chiffon.

Why Kotex gives you such a safe, secure feeling

YOU will wonder, once you've used Kotex, how you ever managed to get along without it. For here is sanitary protection that is designed to fit; designed to protect comfortably for hours.

Kotex is made of a marvelous absorbent called Cellucotton (not cotton) absorbent wadding.

Throughout America, the leading hospitals (85% of them) now use this very same absorbent.

Kotex offers a lasting softness—no mere surface downiness which soon packs into chafing hardness.

Kotex is adjustable. You can remove layers of the filler. And it is easily disposable.

Kotex Company, Chicago, Ill.

Forty Women Are Present for Meet Forty women attended a meeting of the First Baptist Woman's Missionary society Monday afternoon at the church.

It is a new delivery, a discovery that came as he labored with an aching shoulder in Shibe Park in Philadelphia while his team mates went west to win Connie Mack's first American League pennant in fifteen years.

"Well, you know how hitters complain on the hot days when the fans in the center field bleachers take off their coats and sit in shirt sleeves. The pitcher then is throwing a white ball with a white background behind him and the batter can't see it out. My white shirt acted the same as the white expanse of the bleachers, except that I was closer to the batter and I could maneuver so that it was always in his line of vision."

Leland, Simpson Clash At National Meet In Real "Dash Of The Century"

New York Wins 2nd From Bucs

PITTSBURGH, May 5. (AP)—A six-run rally by the Pirates in the eighth inning failed to overcome a New York lead and the Giants won the second game of the series today 11 to 9. The Giants got four home runs, by Terry, Crawford, Reese and Leach.

Runs batted in: Ott, Comorosky 2, Suhr 3, Terry 2, P. Waner 2, Crawford 2, Leach 2, Mosoff. Two base hits: Ott 2, Suhr. Three base hits: Gratham. Home runs: Terry, Crawford, Reese, Leach. Sacrifices: Bartell, Double plays: Grantham to Bartell to Suhr; Hubbell to Jackson to Terry; Hartell to Grantham to Suhr. Left on base: New York 5; Pittsburgh 9. Base on balls, off Kremer 2; Hubbell 1, Genewich 2. Having 1. Spencer 1. Struck out, by Kremer 3; Hubbell 1. ### Texas Flier Meets Buckeye Bullet In Chicago

(Special To The Avalanche)
FORT WORTH, May 6.—There has been no "dash of the century" in America this year, but there will be one at the national meet to be held in Chicago this summer. In at least two meets this year in which Cy Leland, Texas Christian University's Flying Frog, has matched strides with Claude Bracey of Rice newspapers have heralded the above quoted phrase. No dash, will be the New York lead and the Giants won the second game of the series today 11 to 9. The Giants got four home runs, by Terry, Crawford, Reese and Leach.

Simpson, with the widespread publicity given him in the East and Middle West this spring, is probably a more general favorite for the title of the nation's fastest. Leland has been more impressive in competition so far, but as has always been the case with southwest athletes, eastern scribes fail to give the Frog captain proper consideration and credit. They will admit he is as fast as Simpson only after he has shown his heels to the Buckeye Bullet. Leland and Simpson will not meet until the Chicago meet.

Big First Inning Wins For Chicago
CHICAGO, May 6. (AP)—The Cubs scored three runs on four hits off Dazy Vance in the first inning today and defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers 3 to 1. Babe Herman's home run brought the only score off Fred Blake.

Tolan Improving
Simpson was clocked at 9.5 last Saturday as he led Bracey and Tolan to the tape in the 100. It was Simpson's first match with Bracey this year, though the Rice sprinter has watched Leland flash in front of him five times. Tolan defeated Bracey for second place. The negro is being with every race and may be a serious bidder at the national meet.

Both Outstanding
At least, the Ohio State star and the Christian flier are at present the outstanding sprinters in the nation. No one else has made the remarkable showing these two have made so far, and there is reason to believe that one of the two will lead the pack at Chicago. There is also reason to believe that the recognizing world's record of 9.6 for the century will be in the gravest danger of being shattered when the nation's premier dash stars toe the mark at the national meet.

Dallas Steers Bow To Sports

Invading Golf Forces Reach Great Britain

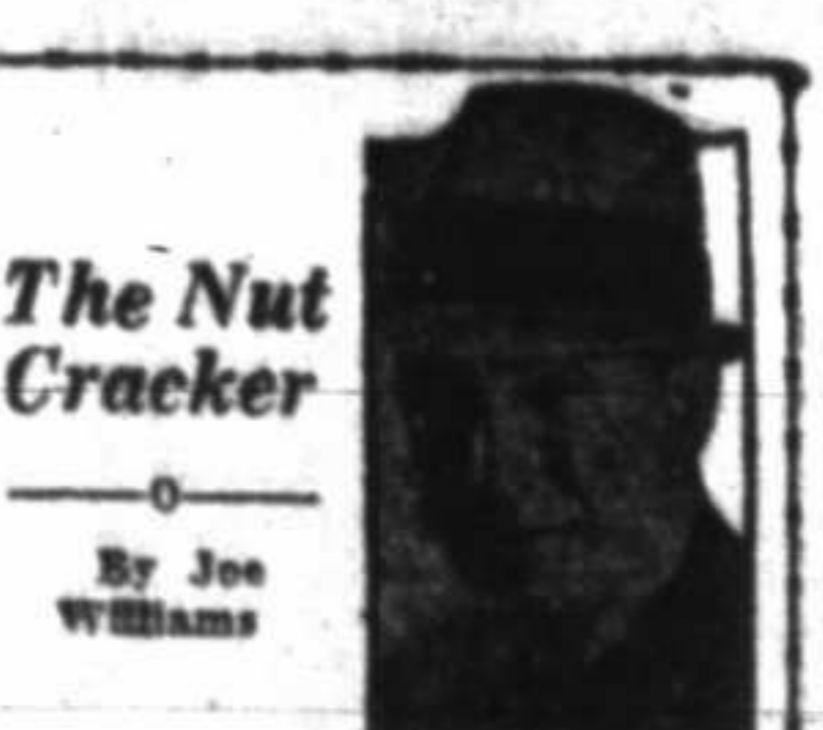

Bobby Jones, Horton Smith, Glenna Collett and Walker Cup Team Ready For Championship Matches

LONDON, May 6. (AP)—America's invading golf forces of 1930 were fully mobilized in Great Britain today. Bobby Jones and the Walker team reached London, Glenna Collett and the other women stars approached the scene of next week's championship and Horton Smith began a professional campaign as the lone player from the United States among the 300 starters in the northern professional championship event at Southport.

Leo Diegel intended to play in the professional championship, but he arrived with the Walker cup players too late to reach Southport for the qualifying rounds.

At Plymouth Jones was greeted by English friends. He told them he was heading a fine team, but did not underestimate the task the Americans faced at Sandwich.

Mishkin Double play—Baker to Holley. Bases on balls—off Rose 4, off Green 2. Struck out—by Rose 5, by Green 1. Left on bases—Beaumont 8, Houston 6. Umpires—Kroh, Basl and Dominique. Time—1:55.

REPORTERS in New York asked Bobby Jones if he thought he shot better in competition than when shooting for fun. O'Goofy wants to know just when Mr. Jones isn't shooting for fun.

AS FAR AS COMPETING WITH MR. JONES GOES, THE QUESTION MIGHT AS WELL HAVE BEEN: "DO YOU PLAY GOLF?" O'GOOFY SAYS THE ANSWER IS "OH YES."

According to fairly recent reports, we are able to state that the rumor that John McGraw was going to trade Terry, Lindstrom, Ott, Jackson and cash for Hughie Critz is not reliable.

Daily Star National League umpire, resigned, saying the nervous strain of the job was too great. Sounds like he may have called a close one against John McGraw.

A Correction

In a recent edition of the Avalanche-Journal W. E. Henson, Terry county ginner, was characterized as Terry county superintendent of schools. This characterization was incorrect, that position being held by Homer H. Winston, county judge and school superintendent. Mr. Henson, however, is a candidate for county judge and school superintendent in the coming primary elections and this correction is being made at his request. Other candidates for the post are J. Barrett and George W. Neal.

CONOCO'S CHALLENGE CONFIRMED! on America's Greatest Motor Proving Ground PIKE'S PEAK!

Now it can be told... the true story of motor oil merit! For this was a test of America's representative motor oils in competition! A daring thing for CONOCO to do, done in confidence. Confidence based on the now-proven advantages of Germ-Processed oils... These tests brought out facts about motor oils which should affect the pocket-book of every motorist... Facts which we believe should force a swinging to Germ-Processed Motor Oils by every reader of our message.

Three Other Popular Oils Were Tried... Side By Side With CONOCO Germ-Processed

Other oils often have been "tested" on speedways, in cross-country dashes, and over the ocean. But they were "tested" only against operating conditions! CONOCO'S Germ-Processed oil was proven against operating conditions, and in comparison with other oils as well!

The CONOCO Germ-Processed oil proved its superiority in the Pike's Peak Tests and with such finality, that now all motorists will know the facts... know how the wearing grinds up to the top of Pike's Peak and down again, up and down again, and again, showed each oil in its true colors... and how the Germ-Processed film so defied the clawing talons of friction that test thermometers showed lessened water and oil temperatures, to the amazement of disinterested engineers!

Motor Parts Were Measured After Each Oil Was Tried

Cylinders were measured with a micrometer, at top and bottom, pistons likewise, and the cylinder taper accurately recorded, after each oil was tested. These measurements were accurate to one ten-thousandth of an inch. This is what the reports of the test developed. Comparing the wear with the use of CONOCO Germ-Processed oils against average wear with the other oils, showed a decrease in wear in favor of CONOCO Germ-Processed oils of 76.4%.

Pike's Peak Tests Conducted Under AAA Supervision...

American Automobile Association observers purchased all oils used in the open market, placed them in separate containers, marked them with a code letter, and locked them up. All crankcase fillings were made by AAA observers who then sealed the inlets and outlets of each motor. All gasoline allowances, every temperature reading, every micrometer measurement, every test was checked by an AAA observer. During every moment of the test, an AAA observer was riding in each car. The records of this test were initiated by an AAA observer as each entry of fact was made, and will be shown to any person on request to the company.

CONOCO'S Superiority Was Proven Under AAA Supervision

Lubricity means slipperiness, smoothness, and lower co-efficient of friction, as compared to another oil. The Extra Lubricity of CONOCO'S Germ-Processed oils is due to its amazing ability to penetrate metal surfaces! Thus, we believe Germ-Processed oil brings a lubricity, a minimum of friction to your motor because it becomes a part of the motor metal.

CONOCO gives you facts... The Pike's Peak Tests reveal that your automobile motor can last longer... that your operating expenses can be lowered! Will you drive in today, at the Sign of the Red Triangle?

Send for Free Booklet IMPORTANT! Send for the Booklet, "Pike's Peak Tests Confirm CONOCO'S Challenge," which gives a detailed narrative of these tests with illuminating charts and photographs. ONE MINUTE PULPIT

Verily, verily, I say unto you, whatsoever ye shall ask the Father in my name, He shall give it to you.

Hitherto have ye asked nothing in my name: ask, and ye shall receive that your joy may be full.—St. John, xvi, 23-24.

WHILE we deeply sympathize with Amarillo poultry raisers whose flocks have been stolen by a more or less organized band of thieves, we gave fearfully upon the announcement that the poultrymen will pay a cash reward for the slaying of any person caught rifling the nests.

Several years ago the Texas Bankers association, grasping for a straw, offered what is now regarded as "colossal bait," its famous "shoot first, investigate later" reward for slaying of bank robbers. At that time the Morning Avalanche was one of the few newspapers in Texas to take the stand that the "reward" for bank-robbing might be worse than the "sickness" itself—a stand which has borne out by time. We feel the same way about the poultry-thief reward offer in Amarillo.

It is said to say, but never-the-less true, that unprincipled people will put a fellow-man "on the spot" to collect a cash reward. It has been done in the case of the bankers' offer. It probably will be done to collect the poultrymen's reward if it is allowed to stand.

This newspaper is not championing the chicken-thieves any more than it championed the bank-robbers three years ago, when it brought down the wrath of the association's president by its stand, now thoroughly approved. We merely fear that an innocent person might be made to pay the extreme penalty and, after all, a human life, even if it be that of a poultry thief, is more valuable than the cash worth of a great number of chickens and turkeys.

Too much blood is being spilled in America as it is. We have come to look too lightly upon the taking of human life. Offering "kill first—look later" rewards may help curb chicken-stealing but it won't make our country a better, safer place in which to live.

AMERICA NEEDS A FAIR

Why doesn't some enterprising American city, properly located for such an undertaking, establish an international trade fair such as is held twice yearly in Leipzig and has been thus held for seven centuries?

The session this spring attracted 300,000 business men representing 72 countries. American buyers numbered 3,000 and American-made goods were displayed in approximately a hundred booths. The size and importance of the American attendance and display was an outstanding feature of the fair.

Thirty-nine great show halls grouped in the inner city were filled with exhibits, and farther out were 17 others.

While the Bazan Messe is at the highest point in its history, its only great rival, the vast fair of Nijni Novgorod in Russia, owing to the antagonism of the communistic state to private trade, has been not merely abandoned but even its elaborate plant, on a peninsula formed by a bend in the Volga, has been razed to insure discontinuance of the institution.

But, returning to the question of an American imitation of the Leipzig fair, why should not the greatest producing and consuming industrial country in the world establish and support the largest trade fair? Even those temporary expositions occasionally staged by our largest cities are often financial failures.

ACHIEVEMENT

Backwoods Buncombe county, North Carolina broke into the front pages a few days ago by sending to Washington 200 adult students who had just learned to read and write. They placed their county on the map of literacy and brought to light a system and movement that is stamping out illiteracy in that little known part of the country.

Eleven years ago there were 7,000 adult illiterates in Buncombe county, two-thirds of them native-born whites. Today there are less than a thousand, thanks to intensive efforts at adult education. It was accomplished by coordinating the efforts of all groups, classes, organizations and instrumentalities.

For the Washington pilgrimage the nation is thankful. It has proved an object lesson in what can be accomplished once a section determines to bring the light of knowledge into the lives of those who know only the dark of ignorance. Buncombe county is about to be initiated.

It is no simple task to teach mountaineers, with generations of abject ignorance and their mountains as their only heritage, to read and write, but even that job is easier than the one cut out for those cities whose illiteracy is largely among the foreign born who know neither our tongue nor our customs. They present the greatest problem in the nationwide movement for abolishing illiteracy.

On the Firing Line at the Nation's Capital

STATE APPROACHING SOCIALISM IS COUNTRY'S PRESENT TREND, PROGRESSIVE SENATOR DECLARES

By CHARLES P. STEWART, Central Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—Republicans or democrats can hardly be told apart any longer, except as "ins" and "outs," or, in spots, vice versa.

Elections hinge on personalities, not issues. Folk divide into plenty of groups, to be sure, but party names have ceased to describe them.

Six years ago the late Senator Robert M. LaFollette tried to begin a new party, with real principles. He even ran for president on its ticket. He expected to be beaten, but he did hope his seceding party would grow into something. Instead, as a separate party, it expired immediately.

Senator LaFollette died soon afterward, but his running mate, Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Butte (Mont.) is still here. A few days ago I asked Senator Wheeler whether he believes the chances would be any better now to launch a major political movement, representative of more than a mere desire for offices and emoluments, than in 1924, when he was a candidate for vice-president.

"Worse," he said promptly. "The last half dozen years' tendency has been decidedly in the direction of disintegration."

"For one thing," continued the senator, "in a sense, the two big parties of today are in progress of changing places."

"Since 1924 business consolidation has made immense progress. That was the period of the merging of large scale industrial units. The consolidation of smaller enterprises was but just beginning. At present we see nearing completion in chains of retail stores, the linking of country banks, the unification of local utilities."

All this implies the rapid growth of monopoly. "Monopoly as it perfects itself, is sure to become oppressive—unless strictly regulated."

"Just as surely, regulation will be resisted. If resistance is overcome, then the monopolistic policy will be to nullify the regulations, by gaining control of the regulative machinery."

"A clean-cut case of human rights versus property rights will develop automatically."

"The democratic party traditionally is on the side of human rights; equally traditionally the republican party is on the side of property rights—of privilege."

"But the democratic party is the states' rights party; the republican party is the party of centralized government."

"However, mere statewide regulation of our increasingly formidable network of interstate corporations cannot possibly prove effective. Already we find old-time states' rights democrats, driven by the logic of the situation, more and more forced to adopt centralization principles. Correspondingly we find the staunchest of stand-pat republicans proclaiming states' rights doctrines—in defense of monopoly."

"Much as I hate bureaucracy, as exemplified in Washington, the democratic party inevitably must turn in that direction to meet changing national conditions, precisely as the republican party is turning in the opposite direction to meet them, in accordance with its own traditions."

"This may appear to provide two new and pretty clearly-defined roles for the old, so-called, republican and democratic parties to play—roles which, in spite of their contradictions, perhaps both of them can adapt themselves to, and once again begin to have each a genuine political significance."

"Yes, if they can hold together as two distinct parties while they are effecting their transformation."

"But can they?"

"Before they can align themselves against one another on the impending economic issue, each must first settle, within itself, its prohibition problem. That will not wait. If not more important, at least it is more urgent than the other."

"In 1932 the northern democrats unquestionably will be strong enough to include a wet plank in the party platform—and they certainly will include it."

"Assuming that that splits the party, what follows? A republican walkover?"

"My impression is that the republican party is about as badly divided as the democratic on the wet-and-dry issue. With an unequivocally wet democratic ticket in the field, how heavy would the republican desertions be to the northern democratic wet standard?"

"I admit I can't answer that question."

"I think the results might be the complete disintegration of both parties."

"In such an event—admitting, for the sake of argument, the prohibition issue's settlement in the 1932 election—there would be nothing to prevent an immediate re-alignment on the economic problem."

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON: ALBERT JOHNSON WON TWO FUTURITIES IN ONE DAY—In 1922 the entries for the Pimlico, Maryland, futurity were so many that the officials consented to run the race in two divisions. Johnson won both divisions, riding Blossom. Time in the first division, and Sally's Alley in the second division. This never happened before 1922, and cannot happen again, since the track's regulations now are that only enough entries for one race will be allowed.

SIDE GLANCES

Editor, The Lubbock Avalanche. There are 16 or more declared candidates for the democratic nomination for governor of Texas— all prohibitionists, all defenders of existing state and federal prohibition laws.

In view of the strong probability that at least half of the voters of Texas have become convinced prohibition is a costly and dangerous failure, it occurs to me that those who favor repeal of state and federal prohibition laws should have at least one candidate.

As such a candidate, I suggest Hon. Joe H. Eagle, of Houston, who as a congressman voted against submission of the 18th amendment. He is a man of high character and commanding intellect. I do not know that he would be willing to make the race, but I believe that if his suggestion finds

Letter to the Editor

Editor, Avalanche:— For the past 12 months I have had the pleasure of living at Brownfield, Texas. Coming, as you know, from Lubbock, I am a Brownfield booster and it is a place worth boosting for. Speaking for the ex-service men of this community, the organization of the American Legion is taking the lead in membership of the South Plains area.

At all times the legion here has for its objective a betterment for this community; sponsoring Boy Scouts; organizing safety-first patrol in the rural and city schools; it works hand in hand with the Rotary, Lions and chamber of commerce.

A spirit of good fellowship is shown in every progressive movement started. This is a great section of the South Plains and I am proud to be considered one of the Brownfield gang.

Yours truly, O. L. Lincoln, Brownfield, Texas.

Jacksonville, Fla.—In telling recently how she was benefited by taking Cardui, Mrs. W. M. Jackson, of 2245 Main Street, this city, wrote:

"Six years ago, my health was not a bit good. I had constant headaches, pains in my back and side. I was restless and could not sleep at night."

"At times, I suffered from weakness. It seemed like my body hurt all over."

"My mother had used Cardui and thought it would be good for me to take. She had taken it and it had helped her, so she told me to get a bottle and start taking it."

"I found Cardui a great help. I improved so much after I began taking it. I took five bottles. I soon got all right, and I didn't have any more aches or pains."

"I gladly recommend Cardui to women who are run-down and weak, for it is a very good medicine. I found myself in much better health after I had taken it."

Frank? Phillips asked in the deeply ingratiating tones she had assumed for the moment.

A look of bewilderment took possession of Mamma Switzer's countenance as Phillips turned hurriedly toward the alcove that had been Uncle Frank's one spot on each of so many years.

Dull anger replaced the bewilderment as she heard Phillips cooing to the crippled man. Uncle Frank died! The husky hadn't called him that in ages; not since she'd grown up and got fine ideas.

Her indignation reached its peak when she saw Phillips hand "Uncle Frank" a box of cigarets from her bag, with the remark that she had almost forgotten all about them.

she looked rocky. He asked himself why she shouldn't look that way with no sweetness whatsoever in her nature. Now he had forgotten the days before her jealousy had so drastically changed her. The past would not hold him now.

More significant, the shock of finding himself thinking unfaithfully had passed. Already he was getting used to it. He was rather in a hurry to get downtown, to be with Phillips again. His manner with Natalie was distant, abrupt.

She saw that he had lost something from his former attitude on these occasions, these mornings after unmade-up quarrels; his dread of a scene it seemed to her. With the thought, terror struck deep at her heart.

Wordless, she let him go. Alan's spirits mounted higher and higher as he neared the office. What a relief to get into a world that wasn't all cluttered up with sentiment and emotional upheavals—with jealousy for instance. No dark looks and frowning brows. Competition, strife, yes, but it had to do with business. A fellow could use his head and let his heart do its proper work.

His step was lighter than it had been for months, when he got into the elevator and dumbledoned the operator with his cheerful smile and breezy "Good morning."

Alan was actually on the verge of whistling when he got off on his lower floor and walked briskly down the hall. The cloud that had hung over him—his dread of Natalie's jealousy even when their skies were blue—had gone to where all dark clouds should go. He was almost happy.

And then he opened the door. His eyes sought Phillips's desk at once and he whistled about his ears.

Like as if she'd ever given him anything before," Mamma muttered herself. "But I guess I know that you're up to, young lady. Trying to make some kind of a play on your boss, that's what you're up to."

If that were Phillips's intention, she was succeeding rather well. Alan felt immensely approving toward her.

And when she sent him away with pleasant good-byes at her door, he wondered if she had read his mind.

He was a little afraid of himself. He'd never felt quite so unfaithful to Natalie before. He'd been angry, suspicious, rebellious. But he'd never wanted to take another woman in his arms and kiss her.

And that was precisely what he had wanted to do with Phillips. He didn't like it, thinking it over on his way home. Phillips was a sweet girl. She deserved something better than a man's left-handed affection.

But, hang it all, I'm not in love with her," Alan argued with himself.

Alan remembered for hours the touch of her hands, as they lay for a moment in his before she took them suddenly away. He remembered the shy retreat of her gaze from his, the soft breath that left her lips before she said: "Now you must go."

He had believed, when he married Natalie, that he never could love another woman. His tenderness toward Phillips filled him with disappointment in himself, made him, before he reached home, wish to make up to Natalie in some way, though he still held her to be at fault.

Outside her closed door he halted for a moment and listened. There was no sound. He half lifted his hand to rap, dropped it back again, and went on to his own room. Phillips was in his thoughts when he fell asleep.

Natalie was still awake, wide-eyed, tormented.

Alan thought, at breakfast, that

Successful After Ten Years Search

Fainview Farmer Had Almost Given Up Hope When He Tried Argotane, But Troubles Are Now Gone

"Almost, I've been trying for ten years to get the relief two bottles of this Argotane has given me," declared E. F. Pelly, a well known farmer residing on Route 1, Fainview.

"Yes, ten years ago," he continued, "I started having trouble with indigestion and from that time on I have certainly had my share of it. I kept taking medicine, thinking I would get over my trouble, but I just kept on suffering. My appetite was no good and I had an awful burning and pains in and about my stomach. I got to where I was disgusted with medicine because nothing helped me. I was blue and despondent, I had no ambition and was just getting clean down and out as far as health was concerned."

"I was so miserable I just felt like I must get some relief some how, and when I saw so much in the papers about Argotane I decided to see if it would do me any good, and upon the recommendation of the friends who had used it, I bought my first bottle. Well, it's true. My awful pain and distress went away before I had finished my first bottle. My appetite is like it should be and I sleep like a log. I may have gained some weight, too. I don't know about that but I do know that I feel like a new man, and Argotane is the cause of it. If anyone will inquire certainly will tell them what this medicine will do. I'm satisfied there's nothing to equal it."

Genuine Argotane may be purchased in Lubbock at the Bowen's Drug Store.

Bears Forced To Retreat At Close Of Mart

Demonstration Of Strength Given In Market Tuesday Following Period Of Pronounced Depression

Tornadoes Sweep Scattered Section Of Texas; Fifty-three Thought Dead

(Continued From Page One) top floor was blown away. Another storm, which earlier in the evening struck Randolph Field, an airbase near San Antonio, killing J. C. Kleespies of Houston, a steel worker, later struck near Runge, Karnes county, east of San Antonio.

This tornado first hit between Hoedheim and Runge, cut a swath through fields, and demolished houses, killing Ferdinand Machost and his wife, and three children of Pascho Villarsel.

The tornado next struck on the Gross ranch between Runge and Charco, Goliad county. No reports had been received tonight indicating whether the storm struck anywhere else in Goliad county before reaching the jail.

One Dies At Spur An unidentified Mexican was killed and four were injured when a house was demolished 12 miles from Spur, in northwestern Texas. Fifty or more persons were injured in various parts of the state, those most seriously at Randolph Field, Runge, Frost, Myrum, Brookline, Mertens and Spur, although several were reported injured in Dallas by glass shattered by the windstorm.

The windstorm which bore a path across West Texas damaged crops and near Coleman, Eastland and Dibrell, demolished derricks in several oil fields.

First news received in San Antonio of the storm at Runge came with the arrival of automobiles and trucks bringing the injured. Runge is 60 miles southeast of San Antonio.

Telephone Lines Wrecked All telephone and telegraph lines were wrecked by the storm and news to San Antonio was telephoned from Cuero, nearly 30 miles away. The twister killed Ferdinand Machost and his wife near Runge in which they had taken refuge.

In Hill county, near Hillsboro, a strip three miles long and one mile wide was swept clean of houses and other buildings by the Central Texas tornado. Seven houses were blown down in the Whites community.

P. E. Isbell, his wife and four-year-old son and Charlie Wolf were killed in their home there, where Charlie Wolf and his father were repairing the house. Fifteen to twenty persons were injured in that community.

The storm struck there at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Near Mertens, Hill county, the W. M. Fly home was demolished, killing two negroes and seriously injuring Fly.

As Lewis, the roof of a lumber yard was blown off, two brick buildings and a cotton gin were torn to pieces and ten residences were damaged, although no one was reported injured.

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 6. (AP)—Oklahoma tonight was surveying the havoc caused by tornado winds, cloudbursts and hail late yesterday and today. Three persons were known to have been killed and more than a score injured at scattered points in the western part of the state. Property damage was estimated at upward of $500,000.

Unsettled weather conditions prevailed tonight over a wide area of central and western Oklahoma, and damaged communication lines make a check in the storm area slow.

Those killed last night were Mrs. C. F. Bush, 63, wife of a farmer living near Greenfield, in southern Blaine county; the five months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Black, living near Reach, Springtown in the southern part of Grady county, and a negro boy, who lived near Greenfield. SUE FOR POSSESSION State Filed For Car Taken In Liquor Raid Here Suit for possession of a Chrysler coupe was filed Tuesday afternoon in 72nd district court by the State of Texas against E. A. McDonough.

The automobile, confiscated several weeks ago in the arrest of McDonough, on charges of pro-law violation, has been held since that time by officers of the Lubbock county sheriff's department. McDonough was released shortly after his arrest on bond of $1,500.

"Every automobile used for illegal transportation of intoxicating liquors will be confiscated by officers when possible," Sheriff Wade Hardy declared last night.

"Heretofore we have allowed the cars to be released but suits for possession by the state will be filed from now on in an effort to further carry on the war against bootleggers."

Aiken Trial

Others to appear in the night session were: P. M. Caudle, father-in-law of Mrs. Ed Caudle, sister of the accused; Harvey Smith and Newton Allen, M. Bennett, chief deputy sheriff, took the stand in rebuttal for the state.

Family skeletons that had rattled in the secret closets of the Aiken family for many years were paraded here today in the trial.

The father of the accused, 77 years old, hard of hearing, slow of speech and with a tremble in his voice and manner, admitted that he considered his son insane. He told of an attack made upon him 20 years ago by the younger man, who, he said, threatened to kill his parent.

Fearing For Lives A sister, barely able to hold back her tears and speaking in a low, tremulous voice, boldly admitted that she feared for the lives of her little children as well as her own life.

Luther Aiken, a younger brother, told of how his own inclinations following the attack upon his father, had been to send the elder brother to a hospital for the insane. He deferred, however, to the wishes of his parent, who apparently did not desire to parade the family secrets in a court of record.

Events moved swiftly today in the murder trial. This afternoon Newton Allen, first state witness, took the stand to submit to a cross examination by defense counsel, T. S. Christopher. Following him came six other defense witnesses.

At mid-afternoon the "state rests," T. L. Price, district attorney, announced.

Fourteen Testify Fourteen defense witnesses were placed on the stand by Christopher before 8 o'clock. It was then announced that the case would be resumed at 8 o'clock with a two hour recess for dinner.

Resuming the cross examination of Mr. Allen, cook and waiter employed by the slain man told about the events that followed the fatal shot. He was unable to tell what became of the Mexicans when the fatal shots were fired.

Then, he said, he came around from behind the counter to the front door and stepped outside, with Aiken. He did not go around to where his dying employer was, he admitted. He said he saw a 45 caliber revolver "in the hands of the deputy sheriff."

Officer On Stand On re-direct examination, Allen admitted making statements first to the county attorney, Mr. Gibson, and then to the district attorney.

A. L. Boyd, now chief of police but then a traffic officer, was the second witness. Mr. Boyd told of seeing the defendant standing in the porch of the Cox cafe who he arrived in response to a call for help.

"He had a 28-38 Winchester rifle in his hands," Boyd stated. "I told him, 'Get out of here, you're under arrest.'"
