14 Arrested In Teenage Drinking Party Friday

City, county and state officers under the direction of Chief of Police Bob Hewes raided a private residence late Friday night and arrested 14 teenage youths for various charges coming from a drinking party that was being held in the home.

The youths, 11 boys and three girls, ranged in age from 14 to 17 years old. Eleven of the youths were released to their parents and one girl was held in juvenile shelter and later transferred to the juvenile shelter in Corpus Christi where she is already under a suspended committment to the State School for Girls.

Two boys were held on other charges. Hewes stated that all except the girl transferred to Corpus Christi will be ordered to report to Corporation Court Judge G. D. Johnson some time this week for a hearing.

Officers other than Hewes in the raid were City Patrolman Joe Dominguez, Constable Buddy McLester, Deputy Sheriffs Stautzenberger and Helton and State Liquor Control Board agents Holland and Pribble.

Chief Hewes stated that several of these parties have occurred in the past several months and were not known about until the party was over but that close observation of increased traffic around this home was the reason the party was noticed. He further stated that any and all parties of this nature were going to be observed and if possible further raids were going to be made.

Harbor Oaks Work Is On Schedule

Work at Harbor Oaks, a deluxe subdivision being developed around Canoe Lake, is proceeding on schedule, J. E. McCord, executive vice president of Canoe Lake Corp., reported this week, James H. Sorenson, Jr., is president of the corporation.

The dredging contract for the entire area has been awarded to Loyd W. Richardson Construction Corp. of Aransas Pass. Canoe Lake has been pumped dry to permit draglines to build dikes preparatory to dredging and filling required in the subdivision plan.

All waterways in the venetian type subdivision will have a minimum seven-foot depth, including the channel from Little Bay. Land around Canoe Lake will be filled to 7½ feet above sea level.

The channel into Little Bay will have a bottom width of 50 feet and will serve as the waterway access to Little Bay, Aransas Bay and, if desired, into the Intracoastal Canal and the Gulf of Mexico.

The bridge on Fulton Beach Road will have approaches approximately 300 feet long on either side, a span of 50 feet and a clearance of 20 feet. The bridge will meet Texas Highway Department specifications as required by Aransas County.

"We expect to dredge in from Little Bay to Fulton Beach Road," McCord said, "then lift the dredge over the road and continue dredging required in the Harbor Oaks area. Upon completion the dredge will be lifted back across Fulton Beach Road so that the road will be maintained and open for traffic during this work. When the bridge and its approaches are being constructed, a by-pass road will be provided."

Canoe Lake Corp. owns approximately 135 acres in the area to be developed. Unit No. I covers about 50 acres. McCord said the developers will petition to have the area annexed by the City of Rockport before the sale of lots begins in late spring or early summer.

The entire lake and all channels will be bulkheaded with concrete. Unit No. I will offer 53 waterfront home sites and 10 water-access sites. The average waterfront lot will have about 80 feet facing on the water, with some larger lots measuring from 125 to 130 feet of frontage. He also said that in Unit I there is an 11-acre area which will be filled and bulkheaded and designated for apartments or condominiums.

All streets will be paved, curbing and gutters will be provided throughout, and city water and sewer service, gas and electricity will be provid-

Shop At Home

As Christmas approaches, the Pilot urges all local people to SHOP AT HOME and buy your presents from Rockport merchants.

In the first place the local stores have an outstanding array of gift items suitable as presents for the young or old. The stock of merchandise is really outstanding.

Another reason to patronize local merchants is the fact that most of the Austin Street merchants have pitched in and done their share to help beautify the downtown business district. The palm trees and planters have greatly improved the appearance of the area.

If you have avoided buying locally because you have a charge account in one or more Corpus Christi stores and need a little time to pay for your purchases, don't let this stand in your way. If your credit is good enough for you to have a charge account in Corpus, be assured that local stores will extend suitable credit terms to you.

On of the best reasons to BUY AT HOME is service. If you purchase a TV, appliance or any article which requires occasional service, your best bet is your local merchant.

Scope of Water Project Reduced

There will be a reduction in the cost of the water system now being planned for Aransas County by the Aransas County Conservation and Reclamation District.

James Barnett, of Lockwood, Andrews and Newnam, engineers for the Water District, stated this week that the present estimated total cost of the project is $1,400,000, compared to the original cost estimate of about $2 million.

He said the cost reduction has been made necessary by the fact that fewer people in the county, outside the city limits, have signed up for the new water supply than had been anticipated.

Up to now, he said, the number of people outside Rockport who have signed up account for an estimated 700 water connections. The water —treated Nueces River water—will be purchased by the Aransas County Conservation and Reclamation District from the San Patricio Water District. It will be sold by the Aransas County District to customers in this county outside the city limits and also to the City of Rockport.

Harold Picton, president of the Aransas County District, said that "even though there will be a reduction in the size of some water lines, all of the original area to be served by the new water system will be served."

Barnett made his remarks at an informal meeting at the City Hall attended by Aldermen Charlie Garrett, Mrs. J. W. "Tony" Harden, N. F. Jackson and Joe "Pepe" Zambrano, City Engineer Gene Urban, Mayor Delmar R. Hiller, Assistant Public Works Commissioner J. C. Gurley and others.

Picton announced that Jack Wells has been named manager of the Water District, succeeding Ike Campbell who retired.

The suit concerned recovery of insurance benefits in connection with dental surgery performed on Mrs. Godde Nov. 11, 1966.

The Court ordered that the plaintiff recover from the defendant:

1) $345 as indeminity under one policy.

2) $41.40 as penalty provided by the Insurance Code of Texas.

3) $565 attorney's fees.

4) All costs the Court incurred.

X'mas Decorations Tour Planned

Mrs. Juanita Wagley, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Christmas decorations contest committee, this week announced plans for a tour to see the decorated homes and business establishments on Tuesday night, Dec. 17.

"The night of Dec. 17 is the occasion when judges will view all the homes and business places that have put up outside Christmas decorations and which will be competing in the Chamber of Commerce contests, Mrs. Wagley explained.

"We are urging local people to get in their cars and meet at the big Christmas Tree on Rockport Beach at 6:30 p.m. on Dec. 17 to form a caravan for the tour.

"If you would like to go but don't have a ride, call Mrs. Loyce Landrum at the Chamber (SO 4-6445) and she will get one for you. If you are willing to provide a car to transport others, please let Mrs. Landrum know," Mrs. Wagley suggested.

Tentatively planned in connection with the tour, which will be led by Chief of Police Bob Hewes, is a community Christmas sing by all those participating in the tour, at a location to be announced later. Tom Allen, High School choral director, will lead the sing.

The Chamber of Commerce will provide four prizes of turkeys for the most outstanding display of Christmas decorations and the most original exhibit in the home and business categories.

In other action at the Chamber Board of Directors meeting, John Ross and Vernon Kleypas were appointed chairman and co-chairman to put up the lights for the Big Christmas Tree on Rockport Beach.

Fishing Hints

By Danny Adams

About noon this Monday, a cold damp day, Eddie DeSha, the local Highway patrolman and I decided to try the sloughs for redfish.

This wasn't our day. The first slough we tried we caught one keeper. The next spot produced nothing. The last spot was no better. Feeling somewhat defeated we started home. Almost midway back to the old causeway we ran into a pea-soup thick fog.

Eddie thought we were lost but I knew exactly where we were, but I ran into Goose Island State Park. Oh, well!, there will be better days.

The bay was like a mirror so I thought we would try for sheepshead around the bridge. Our luck improved a little. We caught four nice sheepshead on live shrimp.

By now it was dark, so what the heck, might as well fish tonight. Friends, I'll tell you one thing, when our luck changed, it changed like a thunderstorm. I bet those fish would hit a piece of bubble gum on a straight pin.

All told, we caught 60 specks. H. Lee and A. Voigt from San Antonio caught 54 trout, Mr. and Mrs. Harlon from Waco caught 56 trout. There were only two other people fishing and I didn't get their names but they caught at least 30 or 35 trout.

So, as they say, keep fishing, you'll catch one sooner or later.

Joe Cronin was so versatile he could play most any position on the baseball diamond.

EDITOR'S VIEWPOINTS

WHO FOILED WHOM?

Ten years ago the FBI arrested a Russian master spy named Col. Rudolph Abel. After a spectacular trial, he received a 30-year prison sentence. Six years ago, this country swapped him for Francis Gary Powers, who had been shot down over Russia in the famous U-2 incident.

Colonel Abel has been boasting in Russian publications about how he outsmarted the FBI. He says he disposed of a decoding device and a tape recorder under the eyes of arresting agents and later fooled FBI men by causing a tiny bit film to be dislodged from his tie clasp and lost on the floor on the automobile in which he was being taken to jail after his arrest.

No American will be deceived by Colonel Abel's claims. Spies are trained for lives of lies and deceitfulness. Their usefulness disappears when they are caught. Colonel Abel is attempting to improve his standing with his government with his tales of fooling the FBI, and his government apparently believes him, for it is spreading his accounts in the Soviet newspapers for young Communists. Colonel Abel says he outwitted the FBI. Well, he was detected, arrested and convicted. It wasn't the FBI that was outwitted. —Roanoke (Va.) Times.

A LETTER OF THANKS

We wish to thank the many people of the community who helped to make our convention a success.

We certainly appreciated the Mayor taking time out from his busy schedule to come and welcome our delegates into the city; Mrs. J. H. Malchar, for the lovely arrangements for the banquet at the Sandollar Motel; the motels, for making our guests comfortable, and many others who opened the door to their home and loaned other facilities to us.

Again we say thank you.
The Local Church, and State Convention of the Church of God.

If you doubt that the future will bring exciting new discoveries, ponder the following true statistics supplied by the University of Texas:

Ninety per cent of today's drugs were unknown 10 years ago.

—Half of the world's knowledge has been gained in the last 20 years.

—Half of the research accomplished in the world has been in the past 10 years.

—New knowledge is being researched and recorded at the rate of nine complete Encyclopedia Britannicas (sets not volumes) each day.

—Population statisticians tell us that by 1970 half of the United States' population will be under 25 years of age.

—University of Texas engineers are experimenting with temperatures ranging from 50 to 70 million degrees Farenheit. This phenomenon passed only one minninth of a second, and during that time photographers have been able to take 100 consecutive pictures of this recorded temperature.

—The telephone company has invented a one-cubic-inch box capable of holding one million complete electrical circuits.

—An air conditioner has been produced and will be marketed sometime in the future that is the size of a cigar box and which completely air conditions a large auditorium seating around 2,500 people.

—Scientists tell us that by 1979 we will have a man on the surface of the moon.

—Scientists state that sometime in the future man will develop space vehicles capable of traveling at the speed of light which is 186,000 miles per second.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Bone and Tommy Johnson spent the Thanksgiving holidays in New Orleans with Mr. and Mrs. S. V. Johnson.

Miss Rouquette, Bart Rozzell Exchange Vows

Candlelight illuminated the altar as nuptial vows were exchanged by Miss Essie Darlene Rouquette and Bart C. Rozzell on Friday evening, Nov. 29 at the First Baptist Church in Rockport. Rev. U. S. Lucky of Fulton performed the double ring ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis M. Rouquette of Fulton are parents of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Steirly Rozzell are parents of the groom.

The altar was a setting of tiered tree candelabra, commodore green palm trees and branched candelabra with a background of laurel leaf with cascade arrangements of glads. Leather leaf and pink carnations accented the candelabra.

The pew markers were red votive candles entwined with leather leaf and pink carnations. On the organ was a candle entwined with leather leaf and a single pink carnation.

Mrs. Norman McLead was organist. Mrs. Eddie Bradley sang "Each for the Other." Mickey Casterline sand "Entreat Me not to Leave Thee" and the "Lord's Prayer."

The bride, presented in marriage by her father, wore a gown of silk peau de soie appliqued with re-embrodiered Chantilly lace. The watteau train was accented with lace embroidered with pearls. A crown of pearls, crystals and fabric petals held her silk illusion veil. Her cascade bouquet of white sweetheart roses centered with a white orchid was carried on a white Bible. On her way to the altar the bride paused and presented her mother with a long stem white rose, and as she left she presented the groom's mother a white rose.

Miss Cynthia Ann Rouquette was her sister's maid of honor. Matron of honor was Mrs. Joe H. Livingston of Kingsville, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Monte Rouquette, sister-in-law from College Station, Miss Anne Smith of Rockport and Miss Sylvia Shults, cousin of the bride, from Alice. They were all attired in ruby red velvet trimmed in pink satin peau de soie with matching accessories. The bridesmaids carried topiary bouquets. The bouquets were three round balls covered with pink pom poms cascading down to form the topiary.

Flower girls were Arlene Shults of Corpus Christi and Kathryn Morgan of Rockport, cousins of the bride, who wore identical gowns as the bridesmaids. They carried baskets of pink satin peau de soie with pink rose petals.

Steirly Reese Rozzell was his brother's best man. Groomsmen were David H. Picton and Mark K. Johnson, both of Rockport, Joe H. Livingston of Kingsville and Peter Rabalais of Corpus Christi, Mark Meador of Rockport and Rocky Sanders of New Orleans.

Candlelighters were Monte Rouquette, Jr., of College Station, Mike Rouquette, Rocky Rouquette and Leslie Casterline, all of Fulton.

Mrs. Rouquette selected for her daughter's wedding a magenta imported twill suit with pink accessories, white gloves and a corsage of pink miniature roses.

Mrs. Rozzell, the groom's mother, chose a green silk shantung suit with matching accessories. She wore white gloves and her corsage of white feathered carnations.

The reception was held at the Aransas County Woman's Club. Miss Robbie Segler presided at the bride's book. The register table was laid with pink net over taffeta. A beautiful memory candle flanked the book. From the candle extended a garland of leather leaf and a single happiness rose. On the other end of the table was the rice tree.

The bride's table was covered with a floor length white cloth of illusion and satin peau de soie. The top of the table was trimmed with a band of irridescent sequins. The skirt and appliques of white satin roses with miniature white wedding bells hanging from each petal.

A white three-tiered wedding cake was accented with pink and deep red roses with a bride and groom in a trellis of roses on the top. A bridge with white doves and wedding bells connected the individual cakes with the three-tiered cakes. Two silver candelabra held four white tapers. The centerpiece for the table was the bridesmaids' topiary bouquets.

The groom's table was covered with beige taffeta bound to the skirt with a deep red velvet band. The cake was an open book decorated with frosted grapes and a small gold plaque of clasped hands. The center piece was a formal arrangement of Garnet King mums, red happiness roses and gold pom poms and leather leaf in a wriught iron candelabra with garnet and green grapes entwined holding green candles.

Members of the house party were Misses Kay Sparks, Diane Shults, Denise Picton, D'Ann Huffmeyer, Sally Griffith, all of Rockport, Miss Hedy Gaida of Victoria, Mrs. John Pace of Corpus Christi, Miss Connie Littleton and Miss Kathleen Littleton of Houston.

For a wedding trip to Mexico the bride chose a red and black plaid caped suit with red accessories. She wore the orchid corsage from her banquet. The couple will make their home in Fulton.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Joe H. Livingston of Kingsville, Mr. and Mrs. Monte Rouquette and family of College Station, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Littleton and family, Houston, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Shults and Arlene, and Wayne Shults of Corpus Christi;

Craig and Mike Bohn, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sanders of New Orleans, Mrs. Durwood Touchstone and Woodie of Aransas Pass, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Schuster, Gary and Dana of Denver City, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Cole and children of La Porte, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Rabalais, Mr. and Mrs. John Pace, Terry Gill, Miss Rebecca Rabalais, and Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Simmons of Corpus Christi.

NATURE TRAILS

By CONNIE HAGAR

And now it's winter. Trees are fast losing their leaves, Chinaberries have only the yellow berries left, sycamores grow more leafless each day, cottonwoods are nearly bare, so nature takes a little rest.

But our beautiful live oaks stay green through this cold period of the year so when spring comes they take their rest and we have their bare appearance but by then the other trees have acquired their new foliage. Never a "bare look" at Rockport.

The best loved shrub on our coast is what natives call "Texas Holly" and use it in Christmas decorations. Of course it isn't in the holly family; it's a yaupon but the berries are red and the leaves green, Christmas colors.

Athols stay green all year; so do the salt cedars, the common name used here for both shrubs but they are not the same shrub.

On the South Beach by the Rockport Hotel the black skimmers are performing their beautiful winter flight—rise, soar, circle, land on a small reef. They always face into the wind. And from the study of birds man learned how to rise and how to land with airplanes.

Have you noticed the yellow evening primroses in blossom at the beach, and gaillardias again have had blossoms every month in the year, but spring is wild flower time.

The high tide has kept our usual number of shore birds awoy from the shoreline. Like people, birds must go where they can find food, and high tides ruin beach feeding. Ducks in their favorite Little Bay area are building more and more and more species. How lovely they float, all undisturbed, no hunting, thank all of the bird friends.

And now Merry Christmas to all my friends, and thank you for the kind phone calls.

BID OPENING DAY—

ed by Cooper met the specifications.

Commissioner Mrs. Wanda Sparks moved to purchase the distributor from Cooper. The motion was seconded by Commissioner Mrs. Ludene Wofford. Commissioners Sparks, Wofford and Raymond Owens voted "yes." Commissioner W. B. Allen voted "no." The motion carried.

County Judge John D. Wendell informed the court that he had received an additional bid for fencing the county warehouse site. The bids were as follows: Hurricane Fence Co., $2,245, and Kuykendall Fence Co., $2,209. Kuykendall received the contract on its low bid.

Next action was unanimous agreement by the commissioners to purchase 2.5 acres of land in Holiday Beach, at $300 per acre, to be used for road material storage.

A letter was read from Travis A. Long, District Highway Engineer, requesting the county to purchase additional right-of-way to rebuild FM 136, the county to be responsible for the right-of-way acquisition and utility adjustment. After discussion it was moved by Commissioner Sparks to advise the Highway Department that the county is in favor of purchasing additional right-of-way and endorsing the project. The motion carried unanimously.

X'MAS DECORATIONS—

A truly dedicated hunter will tell you there is much more to hunting than killing—much, much more.

There is the challenge of the chase, the suspense, the excitement.

Then there is the enjoyment of getting into the somber woods, away from the hustle and bustle of city life, sharing experiences with companions. Of all, I guess the best part is the companionship.

A congenial, understanding buddy who appreciates the little things that make up the delights of a hunt, who will congratulate you when your aim is true, or sympathize when things go wrong, can turn any hunt into genuine pleasure, whether anything is killed or not.

But a companion who ignores the rules of safe gun handling, who is careless with fire or the landowner's property, or who is continually griping about conditions or his own luck, can tarnish any hunting trip. This no matter how successful it might be from a shooting standpoint.

Being a good hunter buddy requires effort. It isn't a haphazard thing that should be taken for granted. Every hunter must go out of his way to make the hunt a pleasure for his companions. On such considerations a lasting friendship is bonded.

It is easy enough to be a good hunting companion. All you must do is have full consideration for your gunning partner and practice gun safety and the every-day principles of ordinary courtesy.

Enter into the hunt enthusiastically!

If you are the host, try to figure out what type or method will best please your guest. Ask him what's his pleasure. This immediately removes the threat of misunderstanding.

If you are the guest, let the host dictate the order of the day, and do so enthusiastically, whether you approve or not. If you want to do something else, ask him in a polite way and undoubtedly he'll be pleased.

A successful hunting trip is two-way cooperation.

Have a well understood shooting procedure before you start out. Should you be deer hunting, let your companion have the first shot, out of courtesy. Don't try to show him up by killing the first deer or attempting to bag the biggest.

If quail is your game, shoot only at the birds on your side of the cover rise. Await your turn in shooting single birds. If duck hunting, don't spoil your companion's chances by firing too soon. Make sure he is ready and the birds are in range. And take those on your side of the blind only.

In dove hunting don't try to claim every bird that's downed. Should your companion say he got one, while inside you feel it was your shot that bagged the bird, let him have it. There's always another chance and to squabble over a bird only sours the hunt.

Everyone should be familiar with the rules of gun safety. Don't be careless. Treat every gun as if it were loaded and never point at anything you don't intend to shoot. Don't take a loaded gun into an automobile or truck.

A man careless with a gun soon finds his invitations to hunt are conspicuous by their absence.

If you're hunting upland game birds, don't try to handle your companion's dog. You are not familiar to the dog, your efforts might confuse him, and your companion is almost sure to resent it. Regardless of who killed the bird, let the dog retrieve it to his master if he desires.

When you go hunting with another gunner, never be a show-off. You may be a much better shot, but don't make him feel it.

Let it be a "we" and "our" hunting trip and he will be more than glad to go with you again.

Uncle Sam's Selective Service

Editor's Note: Below are questions now being asked at draft boards. The answers are by Col. Morris S. Schwartz, State Selective Service Director, 209 W. 9th Street, Austin, Texas 78701. He will welcome your questions.

Q—Why do I have to request a student deferment in writing when my college already has furnished my local board evidence of my satisfactory academic progress?

A—You have to do this because the Selective Service law provides that you do it. Your local board has no authority to defer you in class II-S unless you do. You have to do this only once; you don't have to do it each year you are in college. The information provided by your college that you are a full-time, satisfactory student each fall is done by the college as a courtesy to you. Actually it is your responsibility to do it.

Q—I was married and the father of two children. Currently I am classified in class III-A for the dependent children. This week I was divorced and my wife was given custody of the children. Will this development have a bearing on my III-A classification?

A—Yes. The Selective law places upon you the responsibility of reporting to your board in writing any fact that might result in your being placed in a different classification. You must do this within 10 days after the change occurs.

Q—I started college in September and was classified in class II-S, but I've now discontinued my studies. Do I have to report this to my local board?

A—Yes, within 10 days after you dropped out.

HEALTH and SAFETY TIPS

from the American Medical Ass'n
435 N. Dearborn Street
Chicago, Illinois 60610

That plump, health, happy youngster may grow up to be a fat, unhealthy, unhappy older child, and later into a fat adult who is prey to all of the physical ailments that are part of obesity.

Faulty eating habits started in early childhood are the cause of overweight adults in later life, says Today's Health the magazine of the American Medical Association.

All too many mothers, with the best of intentions, nag their small fry into eating more than they want to eat. The healthy, fat baby who remains chubby as he grows into pre-school and first grade years becomes less attractive as an individual. And the habit of eating more calories than necessary is likely to remain the rest of his life.

The parent is not the one to decide whether the child should lose it, or whether he should lose weight, how he should lose it or whether he should continue to remain "pleasingly plump," says Today's Health. The doctor should be consulted.

If it fits your doctor's counsel, here are some tips to help your youngster lose weight:

—Weigh once a week and keep track of the weight. Use the same scale and wear approximately the same clothing.

—It isn't necessary to cut out all desserts and snacks, as long as their calorie count is included in the daily total. Fresh fruits are good for snacks.

—Keep a supply of raw carrots, radishes, celery sticks and pickles for more snacking. Tomato juice or clear bouillion can serve for drinks.

—Cut out rich salad dressings; instead use vinegar and lemon juice.

—Trim fat from meat, take it easy on the butter, substitute skim milk for whole milk. But be sure to get sufficient Vitamin A from fruits and vegetables.

The most important factor in helping the obese child to reduce poundage is to handle it naturally. Don't make a point of telling the child he is on a reducing diet. Just serve the meals naturally and as a matter of course. Avoid nagging the child about his diet. It will only make him rebellious and more inclined to snack on the sly.

but also at supermarkets...in the woods...on Saturday chores...at the beach...

You see more and more Chevy pickups in the most unexpected places. And why not! They look great anywhere.

We give Chevy pickups strength without the trucky muscle-bound look. And you'll find a Chevy a pleasure to drive.

Let's say you select a CST (Custom Sport Truck) . . . or the long wheelbase Longhorn pickup that's made especially for kingsize camper bodies. Just add things like air conditioning and bucket seats and you have more luxury than you'll find in the average second car.

Let your Chevrolet dealer tell you all about the smooth ride, the long-lasting toughness and particularly the low cost of a new Chevy pickup. After all, good looks aren't everything!

Top State Official Charges—

Federal Highway Heads Attempt to Grab Power

College Station. — Federal highway administrators are attempting to grab power far in excess of the intentions of Congress, a top State highway official charged here recently.

John O. Morton, president of the American Association of State Highway Officials, leveled a withering blast at what he termed "this senseless takeover" in the keynote address opening the Forty-Second Annual Highway Short Course at Texas A&M University.

The regulations call for two public hearings—instead of one required presently — before a highway can be constructed. Any person or group could bring a halt to further progress on the project at either hearing or afterward by citing any of the regulatory points in opposing the proposed construction.

Morton noted that this is the first time in the 52-year history of the Federal Aid Highway Program that a government agency has resorted to this means of establishing rules and regulations for the highway program.

"I can only regard this move as being of a sinister nature, conceived by a few people in high authority and possibly accepted by others who are not aware of its serious consequences," Morton said.

Morton pointed out that of the 41,000-mile Interstate Highway network, some 6.4 thousand miles are within urban areas. Of this mileage, only 150 miles are in dispute. Practically all the rest has been constructed or resolved.

"Of this total mileage of urban expressways, only 2.5 per cent have presented problems of an unusual nature and certainly this constitutes a record of accomplishment and not one of failure," he said.

Morton said highway builders have developed cordial and responsive working relations with community officials and with representatives of every level of government.

"We have encouraged the appearance of interested persons at our public hearings and responsive attention to the suggestions and problems that have been presented.

"As a matter of record, of the 41,000-mile network of Interstate highways, approximately two-thirds of the mileage is now completed and in service. I can factually report that this accomplishment has been accepted, approved and applauded by the overwhelming majority of the American people," Morton said.

Should the pending regulations go into effect, he said, "For most of the States this will have the effect of bringing about a complete stoppage of the highway program . . ."

He said the regulations will take the highway program out of the hands of the States and the State highway departments and put it under the direct supervision of "a mammoth federal bureaucracy."

The veteran highway engineer and administrator charged that "at the present time, millions of highway dollars are being dissipated by a Washington bureaucracy — funds that are urgently needed for well thought-out construction projects.

"Complexities are being created that cannot be untangled at the local, State or federal level. Meaningless reports are being required — reports that never will be read—and each day the shuffling of more paper requires added help. All of these dubious requirements are being presented to the public under the guise of creative federalism."

Morton said it is "high time that we raise strong objections to this senseless takeover. To me, a highway program should be one that is aided by the use of federal funds rather than one completely dominated by government bureaucracy.

"The dissolving of the time-honored partnership between the Bureau of Public Roads and the States will destroy the continuity of well thought-out highway programs.

"Necessarily, it will create more confusion and complexity. A program completely dominated by the federal government will never be responsive to a fair and intelligent evaluation of local conditions or local planning."

Wedding Held In Lassiter Home

In a wedding ceremony held at the Walter Lassiter residence, Mrs. Olga Theodore Kendrick became the bride of Beryl Kendrick on Nov. 20. The bride was given in marriage by her youngest son, Jimmy, of the U. S. Coast Guard. The bride wore a two-piece suit of grey and a corsage of white sweetheart roses.

The Rev. J. W. Campbell of First Methodist Church performed the single ring ceremony. Mrs. Walter Lassiter was her sister's matron of honor, and Mr. Lassiter served as best man. A reception was held at the Lassiter home where a two-tiered cake topped by a miniature bride and groom was served with coffee and punch to a few friends and relatives.

After a short stay in Rockport, the couple returned to Houston where they will reside. The bride is a former resident of Rockport.
