American Airlines DC-6 Plunges To Earth At Love Field; Official Weeps Unashamedly As He Counts Broken Bodies

By BILL BARNARD AND TIM PARKER
Associated Press Staff Writers

DALLAS, Nov. 29.—An American Airlines plane crashed into buildings on the border of Love field early today and burned. Twenty-eight of the 46 aboard were killed.

Fourteen persons were in hospitals and one was missing. Three others left hospitals.

The big DC-6 was en route to Mexico City from New York and Washington.

It struck a hangar and plowed broadside into a chemical plant after swooping over the field in an attempt to land. A crew member, who staggered dazed and bleeding to a nearby house, said one of the engines was afire and he had stopped the other three.

Three of the crew members and 14 passengers survived.

Identification of the dead was difficult because the bodies were badly burned. Survivors not badly injured scattered to hotels, adding to the task of rescue workers in determining casualties.

Lt. Col. A. F. S. Fane, a British king's messenger, was among those presumed dead. The British embassy said he was en route to Mexico City and Guatemala on an official mission.

Two prominent Mexicans, Dr. Luis De La Rosa and Jose De La Mora and his family, also were aboard. De La Rosa was president of the Mexican National Chamber of Broadcasting. De La Mora is a director in the Mexican Aviation company (CMA). Dr. De La Rosa was among the survivors.

Other prominent passengers included Mrs. Ernest G. Wadel, Dallas, national chairman of the women's division of the United Jewish Appeal; David N. Lewis, member of the War Claims commission, formerly of New York; Joseph Stanley Smith, employe of the War Claims commission, recently of Albuquerque, N. M., and Major W. J. TEN REPORTED DEAD IN FRENCH CRASH

LYON, France, Nov. 29 (U.P.)—An estimated 10 persons were killed today when an Air France DC-4 passenger plane carrying 37 passengers and crewmen crashed in the Alpine foothills while jockeying for a landing at the mist-cloaked Lyon airport.

Paul Jacot a, passenger who survived the crash, said he saw seven bodies dragged from the wreckage, and he believed the daad numbered about 10. Police had estimated earlier that 10 were killed.

The big four-engined transport burst into flames after it crashed. It was bound for Paris from Tunis, North Africa, with 32 passengers and five crewmen.

Justice of the Peace Pierce McBride said he had viewed 28 bodies—those of 17 men and 11 women.

Colored Flames Light Up Scene

The CAB began an investigation.

Colored flames from burning chemicals lit up the scene eerily. Nearly two hours after the crash officers described the situation as "organized chaos."

Firemen were still pulling charred and rigid bodies from the twisted wreckage.

Three of the five crew members were among the survivors, American Airlines said. There were 40 passengers aboard.

A blue-uniformed representative of the lines stood by the plane, weeping unashamedly as he kept count of the bodies brought out.

Flames licked the one-story galvanized building into which the larger part of the plane crashed for hours after it hit. Firemen used grappling hooks to pull apart the mixture of plane and building.

It was about 5:45 a. m. when the big plane struck the Magnaflux plant on the northwest edge of the field. The plant inspects plane engines by chemical means.

Both the plane and plant apparently burst into flames. Small explosions followed.

A seriously injured crew member staggered to a nearby home.

While blood oozed from his mouth, he said:

"I want to make a statement."

Woman Takes Man's Statement

Frances Hudson, a grocery store employe, said she took this statement from the man, who described himself as the co-pilot:

"Number four engine afire on approach. Air opened the right hatch. The plane was on fire and I cut all four engines. The engines were off when we hit."

"I didn't get his name except 'George'," she said. "His head was bleeding and his back was hurt."

An American Airlines spokesman said crew members in the hospital were Capt. Laurent (Tommy) Claude, (the pilot); Robert Lewis, first officer, and William S. Forbes, flight engineer.

Hostesses on the plane were Josephine Cadena and Margaret Van Biberm, the spokesman said.

Collapses And Is Taken To Hospital

The man who said he was co-pilot collapsed on the porch at the home of J. M. Kiddy, about 100 yards from the field. He was taken to a hospital.

Mrs. K. C. Gullett said other survivors straggled into her front yard.

"A couple came up with a baby. The man was carrying the baby. The baby was bleeding and crying. . . . In a few minutes an ambulance took these people away." All of the injured were taken to a Parkland City hospital, a city-owned institution.

The scene was one of organized chaos for hours after the crash. Ambulances and fire trucks raced over the field. Sightseers crowded in.

Part Of Wing Still Had Motors

A wing was the nearest intact part of the plane. One part of the wing still had two motors in it. The propellers were bent, but still in place. The wing was lying at the side of what is left of the Magnaflux plant. Part of another wing was nearby — a burned-out engine on it.

The rest of the plane was a scrambled mess of wreckage.

The plane left New York at 10:47 p. m. (EST) last night, American Airlines said. It left Washington—its last stop—at 12:54 a. m. (EST).

The huge plane was coming in for a landing when it crashed on the northwest edge of the field. It immediately burst into flames.

Rising Cost Of Coffee Brings Probe Request

Republican Solon Hits Speculation And Profiteering

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29—The cost of coffee brought a demand today from Senator Young (R-ND) for a full-dress Senate investigation.

"It seems clear there is considerable speculation and profiteering in coffee," Young told reporters.

He added that a Senate inquiry might "prevent a racket" in coffee sales.

Young made his statement as a Senate agriculture subcommittee called on a government witness to testify on the price of bread and other bakery products. The witness was Ewan Clague, commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Protests Lodged

The committee is looking into the bakery industry's pricing methods and profits.

Young joined Senator Gillette (D-Iowa) in the move for a coffee price inquiry. Gillette said the committee has received hundreds of protests from people whose coffee drinking suddenly has become an expensive habit.

Young said a hearing may develop there is no real shortage in the coffee supply. And at least, he added, it might prevent hoarding and speculation of the coffee supply.

Unjust Profits Hit

"There is no excuse for dealers to raise prices on stocks already on hand," Young insisted. "That's an unreasonable practice. They should stick to normal profits and not create more misery for the consumer."

He said he believes that honest coffee dealers would welcome such an inquiry.

Young is convinced the price of bread has gone up with increased profits by the bakers.

He said the baking industry made a net profit on capital investment in 1940 of about 8 per cent, and that this profit had climbed last year to about 15 per cent.

Labor Wants Share

"That's far too much profit," he said. "Labor and the farmers are not enjoying that kind of prosperity. And it's an invitation to

Telephone Workers May Vote On Strike

No Progress Shown In Contract Talks For Better Pension Plan, Wage Boost

(By The Associated Press)

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 29—The possibility of another phone strike by 50,000 employes of the Southwestern Bell Telephone company arose here again today.

Frank P. Lonergan, vice president of the CIO Communications Workers of America, said the workers would take a strike vote within the next week unless there is a "favorable turn" soon in negotiations for a new contract.

He said little or no progress has been made in contract talks with the utility since negotiations began Oct. 25.

The contract expires Thursday.

Issues Listed

Lonergan said that the union's membership workers in Missouri, Arkansas, Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas and parts of Illinois, has indicated it will not "stand for another long-drawnout non-bargaining session such as happened last year."

In 1948, negotiations continued for more than nine months.

The union members struck for 41 days in 1947, after the company failed to meet their terms. The strike began on April 7, lasting until May 17.

Lonergan said the main issues now are wage increases, pension plan improvements and changes in working conditions.

The negotiation sessions were resumed here yesterday following a recess since Nov. 4. The recess was requested in order to hold a union convention at San Antonio, Tex., where the strike vote was authorized.

Party-Liners Asked To Aid Revolt Drive

Secret Conference Held; Rumors Of Plot Circulating

(By The Associated Press)

MOSCOW, Nov. 29—The Cominform called upon all Communists in the world today to help Yugoslav peasants and workers overthrow Premier Marshal Tito's regime.

The Comingorm (Communist International Information Bureau) has held its first meeting, the official press and radio said, since it expelled the Tito regime from its membership in June, 1948. The meeting was secret and was held the latter part of this month in Hungary.

A resolution passed by the Cominform said the "fight against Tito's clique—the hired spies and murderers — is the international duty of all Communist and workers parties."

Coup Plot Rumored

(Communist leaders in the past have urged the overthrow of Tito's regime. The new blast touched off speculation by western diplomatic observers on whether the Cominform had secretly drafted concrete plans for action to oust the Yugoslav ruler.

(Foreign diplomatic quarters in New York last week said they had heard reports an anti-Tito coup was planned for sometime between Christmas and Easter. According to the necessarily unconfirmed reports, the coup would start with a staged revolt in Belgrade with plot leaders calling in immediate help from Hungary and Romania).

The duty of all Communists, the Cominform resolution said, "is to give their utmost help to the Yugoslav workers class and working peasantry in their fight for the return of Yugoslavia into the camp of democracy and socialism.

Expelled From Group

The resolution added that the Yugoslav Communist party under Tito's leadership "has lost the right to be called a Communist party."

Yugoslavia was expelled from the Cominform in June, 1948, on charges that the Tito government was anti-Soviet and refusing to follow traditional Stalin-Leninist principles of Communism.

The resolution was made public on the anniversary of the founding of the Tito government in 1945.

It denounced Tito's "spy clique" and said they are "enemies of the workers class and peasants, enemies of the nations of Yugoslavia."

"This espionage group does not express the will of the nations of Yougoslavia (Servia, Slovenia,

$17,500 Set As Tech Goal For Bowl Tilt

Final action on a bid to the Raisin Bowl in Fresno, Calif., Dec. 31, which was received by Texas Technologiacl college Monday, had not been taken at noon today, Tech officials reported.

Acceptance of the invitation by Tech will depend on the bowl committee's approval—or disapproval—of a Tech request that the guarantee be raised from $14,000 to $17,500. A member of the Tech athletic council talked to Al Radka, chairman of the Raisin Bowl group, Monday night, and at that time Radka promised to wire or phone confirmation or refusal of the higher guarantee.

Players Favor Game

At noon, however, no word from Radka or the bowl committee had been received here.

Members of the Red Raider football squad paved the way for Tech acceptance of the bid Monday afternoon when they held a quick meeting and voted unanimously to play in the game. San Jose State college would be the host team should Tech accept the invitation.

Tech's athletic council first was inclined to accept the bid immediately, but in view of turning down the Sun bowl bid because it was not financially attractive, council members decided to investigate costs of the proposed California trip.

Expenses Estimated

The closest rough estimates for expenses, such as train or plane, hotel bills, food and incidentals, shot the expense up to over $12,000. They did not believe that it was worthwhile unless the Raisin Bowl committee would raise its guarantee to a figure Radka had named as the probable amount they would receive.

Texas Western originally received the Raisin Bowl bid, but when Tech declined the Sun Bowl spot, Texas Western accepted the El Paso bowl. Radka immediately contacted Texas Tech officials and expressed strong desire that the Red Raiders accept.

San Jose State, which already has accepted, is a

INDIAN SUMMER IS OUTCLASSED

Christmas Weather Still Not In Sight

Texans today prepared to give the "Indian" in Indian summer back to the weatherman as they faced another day of abnormally warm weather.

In Lubbock, a cold snap had lost most of its zip as a front arrived in the area shortly after 4 a. m., dropping the minimum to a comfortable 44 degrees. The mercury was expected to climb to 72 this afternoon.

Lower Temperatures Seen

Colder temperatures were promised today, however, probably in the mid-30's, although the weatherman saw scant possibility of freezing conditions.

Wind was steady at 18 to 20 miles an hour. Skies were clear on the South Plains.

While Christmas decorations sparkled in stores throughout the state, armies of shoppers doffed their coats, donned sunglasses and made the usual remarks about climatic vagaries in the Lone Star state, the United Press reported.

Throughout the state today's temperatures were expected to be only slightly lower than Monday's record-breaking readings in the 90's and 80's.

Laredo Hottest

Laredo received 97-degree heat to top the day's mercury ascent. San Antonio with 90 degrees was the hottest it's ever been on Nov. 28. Dalhart reported a minimum of 34 degrees during the night.

There were other unprecedented highs for the date at Del Rio, 96; Austin, 89, and Dallas, 83.

Lubbock's 83-degree maximum was the highest ever recorded here on Nov. 28. The same reading was reported at Houston and Texarkana. Thermometers in Waco and Corpus Christi also scoffed at all previous November records, climbing to 89. At Tyler it was 85. At Amarillo, 81, and Galveston and El Paso, 78.

Weathermen credited brilliant sunshine and a lack of wind for the freakish, shirt-sleeve situation.

A weak cool front which began moving into the state last night from the Great Lakes was due to drop temperatures to the 40's.

NURSE NONCHALANT

WORTHINGTON, Minn. (U.P.)—Mrs. Marie Ennenga's car overturned twice when she lost control of it by ducking as a pheasant flew in front of her. She climbed out of the wreckage, picked up some scattered belongings, and after being treated for minor bruises, went back to work as a nurse that same night.

Dallas Woman Dies In Blast

DALLAS, Nov. 29 (AP) — Mrs. Mildred Noble started her gambler husband's car today and was blown to death by explosives apparently planted by his enemies.

It was the fourth attempt on the life of Herbert Noble, 40.

The blast shattered the car in front of the Noble's home in Oak Cliff, a Dallas residential section, about 8 a. m.

Noble was wounded in a running gun battle with unidentified men on Sept. 9. On two previous occasions, Noble was wounded in gun fights.

Husband Not Home

The explosion tore the car apart and hurled fragments of metal into surrounding yards. The frame, twisted and blackened, was left upright in front of the Noble's Dallas house.

Wires which had connected explosives to the starter were left dangling from the frame.

The Nobles lived most of the time at a ranch near Grapevine, in Tarrant county. Neighbors said the couple stayed only occasionally at their Dallas residence. Noble was not at the house when the blast occurred.

Hurled From Car

Mrs. Noble's body was hurled 100 feet from the car. Her face was crushed and one foot torn off.

Neighbors said the car, a 1946 Mercury, was usually driven by Noble. He was seen leaving the

District Attorney Is Claimed At Abilene

ABILENE, Nov. 29. (AP)—Dist. Atty. Thomas E. Hayden, jr., 58, died today. He had been in ill health for more than a year.

Hayden was mayor of Abilene from 1927 to 1931. He had been prosecuting attorney of the 42nd district court since 1944.

During his term as mayor the Abilene municipal air port was constructed and Lake Kirby (a city reservoir) was built.

Hayden was active in church affairs. He was born on a ranch near Moran, and received his law degree from the University of Texas in 1921 after serving overseas in the first world war as an infantry soldier.

Fight On Rent Controls Seen

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 (AP) — Any administration request for continuation of rent controls next year appeared likely today to run into strong congressional objections.

That such a request will be forthcoming was taken for granted. Tighe Woods, federal rent control boss, said Sunday the general rental picture has not changed since last spring when Congress extended rent controls until next June 30.

Issue In Doubt

Woods took the position that the same members of Congress who voted for rent control earlier this year would vote for it again under the same conditions.

Congressional leaders aren't so sure.

Chairman Spence (D-Ky) of the House banking committee declined to make a public prediction on the chances of extension. Rep. Wolcott (R-Mich) flatly asserted that there would be no rent control by the federal government after June 30.

Wolcott is top minority member of the banking committee, which handles rent control legislation. He has led Republican opposition to the Truman administration's idea of rent control.

"Federal control just isn't necessary," Wolcott said in an interview. "There are only a few areas in which housing shortages still exist, and they may be handled locally."

Wolcott said the Truman admin-

Truman, Staff Enjoy Informal Vacation In Florida Sunshine

(By The Associated Press)

KEY WEST, Fla., Nov. 29. President Truman and the other better-dressed men here today wore plain woolen bathing trunks, or a pair of pink slacks and a sports shirt.

Some of the President's staff—special counsel Clark M. Gifford, for instance—shunned such conventional attire. The 42-year-old lawyer threatened to do as he did here last March—go barefoot in tattered duck trousmatch his blonde hair.

Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross, despite his recent increase from $10,000 to $18,000 a year, got out an old blue denim shirt and pants that almost matched.

It was a far cry from Washington as the nation's top command settled down to the enjoyment of a three-week vacation in this semi-tropical naval submarine base.

The schedule called for more work than play, but there was nothing in the official decree to require striped trousers, ties or other such

Lefthand Prop Feathered, Passenger Says

Survivor Of Crash Considers Himself Luckiest Man Alive

(By The United Press)

DALLAS, Nov. 29—I'm the luckiest man alive," Albert Brody, a survivor of the plane crash today at Dallas which killed at least 29, said shortly after the accident.

Brody, a hulking 35-year-old field superintendent for a contracting firm, was riding near the front of the big DC-6 as it came into Dallas for a landing.

"I noticed the lefthand outside propellor was feathered (at a standstill)," Broady said.

"We were kind of low for the landing and then the pilot apparently saw he couldn't make it. He started to race the engines but all that happened was a terrific amount of vibration, followed by a tremendous smash."

Brody said there was no fire apparent before the plane smashed at the north end of Love field. "However," he continued, "fierce flames broke out at the instant of impact.

"I kicked out the emergency door near my seat and sprawled onto the plane's wing as flames burned my

MISFITS IN SCHOOLS PROBLEM

Court Decision Ruling Ban On Reds Illegal To Be Appealed

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 29 (AP) — The state today planned a swift appeal of a New York supreme court decision declaring unconstitutional the Feinberg law, which bans Communists from employment in public schools.

Justice Harry E. Schirick of state supreme court held that the statute conflicted with provisions of both the U. S. and state constitutions.

In an opinion yesterday, Schirick wrote that the law was a "dragnet which may enmesh anyone who agitates for a change of government." He said that it provided punishment without judicial trial and amounted to "a denial of due process" of law.

Need No Answer

Schirick signed an order, asked in separate actions by the Communist party of New York and by four New York City teachers, restraining the state board of regents from enforcing provisions of the law.

The statute, enacted by the 1949 legislature, directed the regents to compile a list of organizations they considered subversive and to ban from school employment members of such groups. The regents, governing body of the state's educational system, previously had been restrained by a temporary order.

In holding the law unconstitutional, Schirick said:

"The court is not, of course, oblivious to the practices of international communism, which have met with such universal and well merited contempt among free men . . .

"It is no answer to say that this measure is needed to combat the menace of communism. Small service, indeed, to our democracy, is afforded by emulating the tactics of communism and by destroying the guarantee of freedom."

Appeal Scheduled

Schirick wrote that he found it "hard to believe that it is necessary to resort to witch hunting in our schools to displace misfits."

The state attorney general's office announced it would appeal the decision directly to the court of appeals, New York's court of last resort. This would mean by-passing the appellate division of supreme court, a procedure permissible when constitutionality of a law is the principal issue.

Schirick's decision was hailed by a Communist party spokesman as a "victory for the democratic rights of the people of our state, for equal citizenship for teachers, and for free, democratic education for our children."

Mrs. Lillian Gates, legislative secretary of the Communist party in the state, added in a statement that the decision "reflects the growing resistance of Americans to the wave of repressive legislation touched off by the indictment of the (eleven) Communist leaders."

Santa Visits Lamesa As Yule Lights Go On

LAMESA, Nov. 29 (Special) — Several thousand persons jammed Lamesa's downtown business section Monday night as Santa Claus made a brief pre-Christmas visit at the first lighting of the city's Yuletide decorations.

Christmas lights strung across the square were turned on for the first time, and merchants unveiled windows decorated in the Christmas theme.

Floodlights were turned on a nativity scene painted on wooden figures by Mrs. C. L. Houston, and erected on the courthouse lawn.

But hundreds of kids complained because Santa didn't give away any candy — or anything else. Saint Nick simply circled the square on a fire truck, preceded by a city patrol car and the high school band, waved to everyone, and disappeared for other pre-Christmas visits of a very busy month.

Prison Sentence Is Given Lufkin Man

CROSBYTON, Nov. 29 (Special) —Two criminal cases were disposed of here Monday when pleas of guilty were entered before 72nd District Judge Dan Blair after the defendants had waived a jury.

They were Ray Jones, 20, of Lufkin, charged with forgery, and Pauline Martin, 19, also of Lufkin, charged with passing a forged instrument.

Jones was sentenced to serve three years in the state penitentiary. Suspension of three-year sentence was allowed Miss Martin.

Other cases were passed: one upon motion of Buck McNeil, attorney appointed by the court, for more time to allow him to prepare a defense, one upon a defense motion asking a special venire; another because a defendant is in a hospital for surgery.

Plane Crash Victim In Critical Condition

FLOYDADA, Nov. 29 (Special)— The condition of Clyde Irwin, injured in the plane crash which killed his daughter near here Sunday, is still critical today, according to People's hospital attendants here.

Irwin suffered second and third degree burns in the fiery crash only a mile and a half east of his private airport in the Fairview community 10 miles northeast of here. The airport was only a mile north of their farm home.

Services for his daughter, Miss Leola Faye Irwin, 22, who has been teaching school near Brownsville, were held here Monday, with burial in the Floydada cemetery. She had come home to visit over the Thanksgiving holidays, and was being flown back to Brownsville by her father.

Feature Story Brings Flood Of Presents

Interior Secretary Chapman's Paperweights Create Problem

By VERN HAUGLAND
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29—Oscar L. Chapman figures he's got far more paperweights than he can use as secretary of the interior.

So—no more, please.

Chapman has been receiving paperweights in almost every mail since publication of a feature story about him Nov. 12, the day after he was appointed to move up from undersecretary to secretary.

The story picked up a phrase from an Interior department biography which said that as a hobby Chapman "collects paperweights and enjoys movie thrillers."

That was incorrect, said Chapman today from the middle of his paperweight surplus.

Not Collector

"I am not particularly fond of paperweights, and I have never been a collector of them," he smilingly told a reporter.

"Anything you can do to stop the flow will be appreciated."

Chapman's secretary, Miss Hildreth Bond, listed some recent additions to the growing collection of whatnots:

A weighted mahogany gavel.

A glass basin filled with what appears to be gold coins.

A porcelain pig.

From Hot Springs, Ark., and labeled "We Bathe The World," a bronze nude up to her armpits in bronze water in a bronze bathtub.

A war veteran offered to send along "the only souvenir I brought back from France," a tiger paperweight good as new except for a broken tail.

False Conclusion

A number of persons, said Miss Bond, have offered to send other souvenir paperweights "for a slight consideration."

How did the weight-collecting report get started?

"In the old days," an aide explained, "before the Interior department building was air-conditioned, we used to have a lot of brass paperweights around to keep things from blowing out the windows.

"Chapman had several of them on his desks, and after he had been here 13 years he was presented with a fancy one.

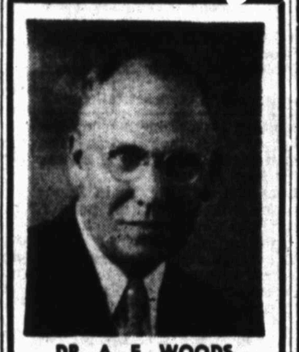

"Some writer saw on his desk the assortment of what at that time was useful office equipment—and drew the false conclusion."

Speculative influences are making a lively coffee market in Ethiopia.

Youth Admits Slashing Throat Of Girl In A Fit Of Jealousy

NEWSPORT NEWS, Va., Nov. 29. —Police say Jesse Wilmer Worley has admitted slashing the throat of his attractive 18-year-old neighbor, Millie M. Summs, in a fit of jealousy.

The 20-year-old Worley admitted the attack last night in a statement to three Warwick county officers, Police Chief Leroy Woody said.

Previously Worley had denied knowledge of the crime. Miss Summs, a brunette high school senior, is "improving" in Riverside hospital. Her throat was slit from ear to ear, her windpipe severed —but doctors say she will live barring complications.

The attack occurred Friday night while Miss Summs was alone at home. Only a few hours after doctors performed an emergency operation Saturday morning she scribbled a note to police saying "Bill Worley did it."

Woody would not elaborate on Worley's statement other than to say the youth claimed jealousy as the motive for the throat-slashing.

No date has been set for a preliminary hearing for Worley, who is held on a maiming charge.

Buttons Reappear As Hutterite Sect Relaxes Austerity Ideas

NEW YORK, Nov. 29 (U.P.)—The Hutterians, a sect of religious communists, are gradually absorbing American ways, according to Dr. Marcus Bach, professor of religion at the University of Iowa.

Buttons, forbidden as a rebuke to German militarists during the Thirty Years War, are finally appearing on Hutterite clothing. Milking machines are making the lives of the women easier.

Although all personal possessions and luxuries are forbidden, elders in a South Dakota commune which Bach visited were discussing the possibility of buying a station wagon, and the influence of the outside world on the group

Have Eight Colonies

The Hutterians, who came to America in 1874 and have eight colonies in South Dakota, two in Montana and about 30 in Canada, boast of their high moral code: no divorces and no Hutterians ever in jail, except two pacifists in World War I. The two were young men of the Bon Homme Colony in South Dakota who died in Leavenworth prison. They refused to shave off their beards, grown by all Hutterite married men, and went naked rather than put on prison garb. When they died they were shipped back to the colony dressed in prison clothes. The Hutterian fathers sent the clothes back to Leavenworth and buried their sons in the traditional hook-and-eye homespun. The unmarked graves of these two men are in the Rockport, S. D., colony. Things were different during World War II. "America," said the Huterians, "marvelously respected our rights."

Simple To Join

Dr. Bach, one of the few "outsiders" who have been allowed to penetrate the isolated Hutterian communes, reports that he asked the boss of a colony what he would have to do to become a Hutterian.

The man answered. "That's simple. You just give up everything you own and we put it in the colony treasury. You find work you like, dress as we do and become one of us."

When Dr. Bach asked him whether that meant giving up his wrist watch and his car, the boss answered, "Why not? What do you want with a watch? We've got the colony bell. And what do you want with a car? You're not going anywhere."

The U. S. Public Health Service has granted Wayne University $19,365 to find out why the Hutterites are so well adjusted to their environment.

Educated Taste

Dr. Bach commented, "When they tell me that the Hutterians have found Utopia I think about the time I took one of the colony overseers with me on a car ride. When the gate closed behind us and we were on the open road the bearded old man said, 'You know what would go good on a morning like this? An ice cream cone.' We stopped and had some cones. A few miles later he spoke again. 'You know what I have never tasted? A malted milk.' We had malted milks, and were still 70 miles from our destination. We had pretzel sticks and candy bars and lots of other stuff that loosened up life for the old man. He was out of Utopia and was having a whale of a time."

The Hutterians insist that they are happy in their communes. As one colony boss puts it, "Of course we are or we wouldn't stay. No one stands at the gate with a gun. But there is something greater than happiness." It was to find out what this was that Dr. Bach began his series of visits among the Hutterian people. He has based a novel on his findings, "The Dream Gate" (Bobbs-Merrill).

Veterans Open Office For Auld Lang Syne

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28 (U.P.) — A new post office has been opened to help veteran re-unite with their war-time friends.

The National Association of Combat Units, composed of 50 divisional associations which contributed $340 each, has opened a bureau at Fort McNair. It has a tiny office and a personnel of four.

But Edmund G. Love, newly-appointed director, expects that the bureau will expand rapidly once GI's begin writing to contact the pals they swore never to forget.

Thus veterans who haven't seen or heard from friends since 1944 or 1945 may be swapping war stories again.

The plan has the approval of high ranking Army brass, including former Gens. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Jacob L. Devers.

The job of handling mail contacts for former GI pals had been handled previously by the Defense Department, Veterans Administration, and various veterans organizations. But these groups were unable to cope with the approximately 2,000 letters they received weekly, inquiring as to the whereabouts of former soldiers. The new bureau was formed to take over this task, and will keep a list of addresses of former members, now scattered to all parts of the country.

High School Students Sponsor Scholarships

ELKHART, Ind., Nov. 29. (AP)—Students of Elkhart High school are giving an example of what young people can do to help promote good will between the United States and other countries. At the suggestion of a social studies teacher, Wilbur Mater, the student council voted to establish scholarships for two foreign students, who would spend a year in the United States learning about our way of life. The youths would live in private homes in Elkhart and attend classes at Elkhart high.

The student body raised $1,500 for the project. It has now agreed to raise a similar amount for two foreign youths for the school year of 1950-51.

The youngsters who are spending the 1949-50 school year in Elkhart are Max Bouchet, 16, of France, and Gabriella Gisci, 19, of Italy.

Japan Is Negotiating For Pakistan Trade

KARACHI, Pakistan, Nov. 29. (AP)—A Japanese trade delegation presently is negotiating with the Pakistan government for a bilateral trade agreement. Under the present one-year agreement entered in July, Pakistan would supply Japan with 100,000 bales of raw cotton, 85,000 bales of raw jute, 20,000 tons of salt, 10,000 tons of cotton seed, 500,000 pounds of raw wool and 1,500,000 pounds of hemp and animal by-products.

Japan would export to Pakistan cotton textile and cotton yarn each worth $9,000,000 and looms and spindles worth $2,100,000, besides hydro-electric plants, bicycles, paints, dyes, rolling stocks and small machinery.

Men Usually Use "Ten-Thumbs" And "Sticky-Tape" Methods

Gift Wrapping Of Christmas Packages An Art To Be Practiced By Women, Writer Declares

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29.—There is more than one way to wrap a Christmas package, as any man can tell you.

Most men use the ten-thumbs method and wind up with something that looks like a job done in the monkey cage at the zoo. Others go for the no-string system. All sticky tape. Us guys, who are smart in things like wrapping packages, figure that whoever receives the bundle will jump on it with all fours, anyhow, rip it open and concentrate on examining the goodie inside. And to heck with the expensive paper and pretty ribbon!

Women take a different view. They spend hours putting a dollar's worth of expensive paper and ribbon around a dollar and a half tie.

I went to an expert today to learn why.

She was Mrs. Doris Dunn, who is in charge of a crew of fancy wrappers at Julius Garfinckel & Co.

Method Demonstrated

"Women are fussy, even about the gifts they have wrapped for men," she said. "And most women would rather have fancy wrappings than fancy gifts."

Mrs. Dunn showed me one of her experts at work on package wrappings—a Marjorie Campbell.

Here's how she did it, men.

First, she took the price tag off. Then she ripped off a slice of copper paper a few inches longer than the box she was going to do up. She took off the lid and put tissue paper around the present, which happened to be a fancy doll. Then she folded the copper paper, which Mrs. Dunn explained had a "little metal in it," and saw that the corners were square around the box. Then Miss Campbell reeled off several yards of ribbon and wound it left to right, making it into a pretty bow. She set this aside and put a ribbon of the same color around the box. Then she took the bow and tied it in the center of the knot around the box—as simple as that.

Not So Easy

The girls, Mrs. Dunn said, can do it corner-wise, or center-wise. However you want it. The whole performance took less than a minute. The big stores offer this service free, if you want cheap paper. But if you want the special job—like I saw—it runs from 25 cents for a plain wrapping up to $1.50. The best includes a cluster of mistletoe or some other artificial flower, plus the best paper money can buy. (For $1.50, including the service charge).

The whole performance looked easy. Maybe it is, if you know how. I tried it, with Miss Campbell looking on and giving instructions over my shoulders. But it was the same old story. The paper still stuck out of the corners. The ribbons looked something like my hand-tied bow ties, and I had enough transparent tape off the heel to take care of the packages for greater Washington.

Wrapping a package is an art, which no male should attempt to perfect.

Blaze Sweeps Plants Of Baytown Oil Firm

BAYTOWN, Nov. 29 (AP)—Fire swept six acid plants at the Humble Oil & Refining company here yesterday. There were no injuries.

Humble officials said the first probably started when a workman's torch contacted inflammable material. No estimate of the damage was made immediately.

Mary Haworth's Mail

In Her Experience As Hostess, Woman Has Met Only Exhausting Types Of House Guests

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: In my experience there are two types of guests, those who do nothing when staying with us, and the other kind who take over the house. Or is there an in-between type?

And what of the hostess? Are there actually people who feel glad to see visitors arrive and sorry to see them go? Or does every hostess feel as I do — glad to see guests arrive, and equally glad to bid them goodbye?

I always look forward to a visit of any length from anyone; yet always I find myself exhausted by the time they leave. I am exhausted not by the extra work, but by the effort to keep up endless conversation, and by always having someone special to consider. In short, by having no time for myself. Maybe I try too hard.

All this concerns my husband's relatives who live quite a distance from here and will be visiting us occasionally, thus confronting me with a problem every time. I realize I need better perspective on the whole situation, and your suggestions will be appreciated. Signed—A. H.

PROBABLY HOSTESS TIRES GUESTS TOO

DEAR A. H.: There is a lot of shadow boxing and a glimmer of awareness mixed into your recital of your distress. You start by complaining that all guests (in your experiences) come under one or the other of two headings, namely, either passive or active nuisances.

But then with intuitive good sense you modify this criticism by suggesting that maybe there is some distortion in your attitude, maybe you try too hard, etc. At this point you begin to study yourself, which is the beginning of wisdom.

You want to know why you have so little tolerance of guests in your home for several days, why you are so wearied by their presence, when the extra work is really no strain. And I think the nub of the matter is that you wear yourself out acting a part on these occasions, instead of behaving in keeping with your real self and normal pace.

If such is the case, as I believe, then of course your tension would be picked up by the guests, they couldn't help it; and they would begin to respond at the same pitch, thus establishing a vicious circle and costly drain on nervous energy, with the result that they would be as tired as you, and of the same mind to say goodbye, when the hour for leavetaking came.

WEARIED BY ALWAYS ACTING DEFENSIVELY

TO BE a comfortable hostess who enjoys the fellowship of her own hospitality, you've got to be on good terms with yourself, so that you feel presentable or acceptable to guests on the basis of what you are, not especially for what you have of worldly goods, no what you can "do" for them—and so that the emphasis is on the great human experience of mutual interest, and not on the surroundings or the program provided, whether sparse or splendid.

For another suggestion, many shy sensitive persons have great difficulty trying to conduct a tete-tete for any length of time with individuals other than well seasoned intimates: and in general this kind of difficulty takes its rise from fixated unconscious fear (implanted in childrhood) that accidental self revelation is apt to have consequences painful or embarrassing.

In the grip of that kind of tension, persons are compulsively defensive in social exchange, and one of their defensive techniques—used by you — is to talk a great deal, to ward off "threatening" closeness. But to understand the drift is sufficient to dissolve it, so if that's your trouble, a habit of awareness should clear it up.—Signed M. H.

Diapers, Vitamins And Blankets Are Among Gifts American Youngsters Send Overseas

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 (NEA)—A move toward the world understanding which adults have failed to achieve is being made by 19,000,000 youngsters of the American Red Cross.

In the last fiscal year, the organization sent $1,430,000 worth of goods to 25 countries and areas of the world. But it isn't just the dollars that is important.

The essence of the program is in the kinds of materials being sent. They range from water color paintings to toothpaste, from sun glasses to diapers. All shipments were in response to specific requests from the Junior Red Cross in recipient countries.

Glasses To Children

In the shipments to the Middle East were 10,000 baby blankets, crayons, chalk and toys. To Italy went 300 pairs of sun glasses for pre-tubercular children and 7,302,000 vitamin tablets among other items. To Pacific islands went 10,000 yards of cotton dress material together with the buttons, thread and needles to complete the job.

High praise for the program came from Dr. Goetz Fehr, president of the Junior Red Cross coordinating committee in the three western zones of Germany.

"I was overwhelmed by the performance of the American Junior Red Cross members in their production program," he said. "I realize the possibilities resulting from Junior Red Cross work in overcoming the present conflicting tension between nations and in promoting a new behavior between people."

Books Provided

Approximately 500,00 gift boxes, containing school supplies, toilet goods, toys, sewing kits, etc., were sent to overseas children in the last year. About 12,000 of these went to displaced children emigrating to this country.

In addition to the gift boxes the young emigrants received 5,000 pairs of shoes and 5,000 soft toys, while shipboard supplies of 50 chests of recreation equipment and 50 book libraries shortened their voyage to their new homes.

English language grammars and readers, books of other types and maps were provided at embarkation centers. The most popular of all the books was the World Atlas. "People will stand in line for hours to get a look at an Atlas," a Red Cross worker said.

Another worker told of seeing a small boy snatch the first pair of leather shoes he had ever seen. "He hid in a corner with the shoes tucked in his blouse and refused to come out and try them on, for fear they would be taken away from him."

SMILES ACROSS THE MILES: Unpacking an educational gift box, sent to them by the American Junior Red Cross, these Parisian boys glow with excitement as they examine the treasures inside.

Thanks By Letter

The Red Cross received 95,000 letters of thanks last year from the children overseas, many written in garbled classroom English.

"It was an extraordinary surprise for me so fine a gift box of yours to receive," wrote Ine Peters, of Venlo, Holland. "I preserve the marbles some more till the weather be better. It is here still cold and damping weather. Mama use the soap to washing me. She smell very fine. Once more heartily thanks, with friendly greetings for you all together."

Rene Thebault, writing from an undecipherable town in France, said, in his letter of thanks: "I remember to have seen a little boys who could not open his parcel so much he was glad."

And from Machiko Kado, of Hiroshima, Japan: "Our homes were burnt by the bomb and since we are leading a new life once again, we are unable to repay you for all you have done for us. But we hope to repay you as soon as we can. Let us become greater friends in this coming future."

UNIQUE CAST

The actors in one Russian film consisted of puppets fashioned of wood, clay, cloth, and rubber. All their movements were made by hand, and 25 exposures were required to show one puppet raising its arm. The cast consisted of 3000 puppets.

Bread Firm Granted Corporation Charter

Mead's Fine Bread company of Lubbock today led seven new corporations chartered at $100,000 or more last week, the United Press reported from Austin.

The Secretary of State's office there announced that the Lubbock firm was incorporated at $400,000 capital stock by W. L. Mead of Big Spring, Billy O. Mead and Mack Mead of Lubbock.

The firm operates baking plants in Lubbock, Clovis, N. M., and Roswell, N. M. The Lubbock plant was established 10 years ago.

Mack Mead, who with his brother, Billy O. Mead, operates the Lubbock firm, said this afternoon that the charter was a routine business matter, and that the corporation has no plans at present for expansion, new construction or other activity.

The Town Council of Graaf-Reinet, South Africa, passed a "no drink at dances in the Town Hall" rule—but exempted policemen.

DON'T FORGET.

You'll Need 2-cent Stamps on Unsealed Christmas Cards This Year.

CHRISTMAS REMINDER—Uncle Sam says you may not mail Christmas greetings in unsealed envelopes for 1½ cents this year as you have in the past. Recent legislation upped the fee to two cents. The Post Office Department would like you to keep this in mind when mailing this year's batch of greeting cards.

Bogus $10 Bills Found Here Linked With California Men

Counterfeit $10 bills circulated in Lubbock the last several days have the same serial number and seal of bills that produced the arrest of four Californians in Clovis, N. M., it was said here this morning.

Several of the bills have been discovered here since a Friday warning that counterfeit money was floating about.

The chief of the treasury department in Dallas has sent a federal agent here to investigate.

The suspects in Clovis allegedly had passed 12 spurious bills and "threw down 12 more" when arrested. State police made the arrest as the suspects were "leaving town."

The men allegedly had passed similar bank notes in Texas, Arkansas, Missouri, and Kansas, as well as in Texas, investigators said.

Charges, expected to be filed after further investigation, probably would be lodged with the Albuquerque division of federal court.

Speculation was directed toward the possibility that a syndicate of counterfeiters is operating over much of the nation.

The bills bear an excellent likeness to the genuine article, but are easily distinguishable to the cautious person by their pale and faded, or "washed out" appearance.

They bear the serial number 167759115E, and the seal of the Federal Reserve Bank at Minneapolis, a large "I," to the left of the portrait. The federal reserve district number "9" is printed on the face in the four corners just inside the framework.

Colored Silk Threads Lacking

The paper does not have the colored silken threads found in genuine bills, and has a greater tendency to show folding cracks, but the feel is much like that of the treasury notes.

The green treasury seal on the face to the right of the portrait is poorly executed and looks smeared, but most of the engraving work, including the difficult lathework along the frames, looks identical to genuine bills to the unpracticed eye of the layman.

The portrait of Hamilton on the counterfeit is slightly harsh and contrasty, with the mouth and eyebrows greatly accented, and the grillwork in the background light in comparison with the treasury note portrait.

Officials of Lubbock banks told police most bills picked up here had been passed to firms on College Avenue.

Optimists Hear Talk On Hoover Report

"Operations Economy" or "A report to the people on the findings of the Hoover commission" was the topic of Harold Chapman of the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce at the Optimist club luncheon meeting in Hotel Lubbock today.

Ctapman reviewed many statistics to illustrate the waste of manpower and money in our federal government at present.

He said support of the Hoover commission report was the national Jaycee project for the year.

Guests at the meeting were R. S. Wilkinson, Lubbock Jaycee president, First Lt. Maxwell Ihrig and Maj. David Moody of Reese Air Force base.

G. C. Stewart presided. J. Holland Cox gave the invocation and Billy Davis was program chairman.

NEW UNION HOLDS CONVENTION

CIO Leaders Drafting Plans To Oust Reds In Labor Ranks

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 29.—(AP)—Policy-makers of the new CIO electrical workers union set out anew today to give American labor a blueprint for fighting communism in its ranks.

The union, successor to the expelled united Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America (UE), started the second day of its founding convention with the pattern sharply drawn by CIO President Philip Murray.

Speaking for a full hour yesterday, Murray—his face flushed and his tongue bitter—attacked Communist leadership in the labor movement and warned that other left wing unions, now affiliated with CIO, would go the way of UE.

He did not name them,however. "Your greatest enemy is communism," he shouted.

Warns Of Trickery

"I have come here definitely committed to support you against all your enemies—and I care not who those enemies may be.

"I swear to you that I will fight them with every ounce of my energy and wisdom which the Infinite being has bestowed upon me."

He warned the fight will be long and hard, and that "trickery will be used against us." But he said he was sure of victory.

An uproar of applause and whistling — there were several such approving outbursts while he held the stage—greeted his words.

Again and again the theme was taken up by other speakers, in preliminary committee meetings, in lobby talk.

James B. Carey, acting leader of the self-styled right wing IUE, expressed what appeared to be a general convention view — that this is not regarded as a factional fight in the labor movement, but a struggle against Communist infiltration into trade unionism.

Besides the UE, one other union —the farm equipment workers— has been ousted by the CIO.

Long Hearings Seen

Ten others are scheduled for hearings before CIO fact-finding committees. The first of these are expected to be called in December. Hearings, it was said, probably will continue over several months.

The fact-finding committees then will report to the CIO executive board, which will determine whether to expel any of the unions concerned.

Highlighting today's convention program will be an address to the 400 delegates by William H. Davis, former war labor board chairman.

Meanwhile committees are settling down to work. One of them will draft resolutions to be submitted to the convention later in the week.

Officers will not be elected this week. Instead they will be chosen later, probably by referendum, over a period of perhaps five or six months.

Many delegates felt the highest office—the presidency — would fall to Carey, whom Murray in his speech singled out for special praise. Carey, a wiry young man with something of the actor in his appearance, is one of the dominating personalities of the convention.

Leftwinger Replies

Yesterday's sessions were smooth and decorous. Delegates listened carefully to what they were told and discussed it at length at recess times. Occasionally, in the auditorium, they mildly jeered when communism was mentioned—but that was all.

For days before the convention opened, rumors sped through the city that the UE might try to heckle its adversary by picketing IUE headquarters in the Broadwood hotel, and by other demonstrations. No such incidents have developed.

But Murray's lashing of the UE's leadership did prompt a reply from Albert J. Fitzgerald, president of the ousted union.

Terming the IUE a "company union in the electrical industry," Fitzgerald asserted "for a considerable period now the UE has been carrying on a two-front fight, against union hating employers on one hand and against the bankrupt policies of the CIO on the other."

He said the UE has won "outstanding wage increases and other gains" whereas the "record of the CIO top officials has been one of capitulation to the employers and the substitution of hysterical redbaiting to cover up abject failure to win economic and legislative gains for the membership."

He scoffed afresh at IUE's membership claims and repeated that an "overwhelming majority" of UE members remain loyal.

Flames Engulfed Liner And Big Explosion Followed

Crashing Airplane At Dallas Ripped Building, Dropped Engine, Watchman Eyewitness Says

DALLAS, Nov. 29. (AP)—A night-watchman who saw a huge American airliner crash at Dallas' Love field before dawn today said the plane came roaring up and dropped one engine when it hit a building.

This is the eyewitness account of L. Boyd, nightwatchman for the Dallas aviation school who was sitting in a small lookout house on the field:

"I was sitting in my little house when this plane came roaring up and hit the Dallas aviation school. One engine fell off when it hit and then it kept on going across the road and hit some buildings on the other side. There was no one in the building as far as I know. The minute it hit the building big flames burst up. And there was a big explosion. The Dallas aviation school was on fire, too. I ran over to what was left of that plane. I figured nobody would get out of that one.

Plane In Chunks

"The fire was everywhere. The plane was broken up into just chunks. When I got up to the plane, two men staggered out. I helped them away from the fire. Then I ran around on the other side and five other people were getting out. Two of them were women. They were hurt and crying.

"I never heard anyone else cry. There weren't any screams when the plane hit. I helped the women away from the flames. I don't know how bad they were hurt or burned but they acted like they were stunned. They didn't know what they were doing. They were crying and I got them away.

"A couple of minutes later the first ambulance came up and carried the people away. I never had anything like this happen in my life.

Man Walks Out Of Flames

Another eyewitness said a survivor staggered right out of the flames and said "where is a doctor?"

"It gave me an awfully strange feeling to see a man walking out of those flames," the eyewitness said.

Bill Crabtree, driving along another side of the field, said:

"I looked up just in time to see it explode.

There was a muffled explosion —like you throw a match into 300 gallons of gasoline. Then came the fire. The fire spread real fast.

"It looked to me like he overshot the field and then tried to gun his engine. The plane twisted after it hit the first building."

The crash and resulting fire knocked out telephone and power service to surrounding area. The tail section of the plane torn from the rest as if by a huge canopener lay near the street alongside the airport.

Aubrey B. Flowers, who lives at a home very near the scene, was asleep.

"There was a big jar," she said. "I got up and there were no lights."

Ku Klux Klan Raid Described

ROME, Ga., Nov. 28 (AP) — The witness quoted the robed Ku Kluxer: "We whip white folks like we do the blacks."

Mamie Clay was telling federal district court here of that tumultuous spring night which led to the mass civil rights trial of 12 men.

The lean, work-worn mother of three told how she came home April 2 to find a cross standing on the hillside across the road.

That night, she told the jury, the cross was set afire and she went to the front door to watch.

Then, she related, two hooded men came to her door, knocked and said, "Mamie, come out, we want to talk to you." And, Mamie added, she went out.

Officers Charged

A tall klansman said to her, Mamie testified yesterday, "We hear you been having wild parties. You can't help it 'cause you're black and we're white. We whip white folks like we do the blacks."

Mrs. Clay said she was frightened, and answered only "yes, sir."

It was at the Clay home that the government charges seven negroes were placed under arrest by four Dade county officers and subsequently turned over to a band of 50 to 75 men in Ku Klux Klan robes for whipping.

On trial are Dade County Sheriff John W. Lynch, three deputies and eight private citizens.

Each is accused of conspiring to deprive the negroes of their rights to equal protection under the law and immunity from illegal punishment.

Firemen were badly stung by bees from the blazing roof of a thatched house at White Parish, England, before chemical extinguishers subdued the swarm.

Negro Dies Of Shot Fired By Conductor

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 29 (AP)—An argument with a conductor over sitting in the white section of a streetcar has resulted in death for a 34-year-old negro man.

The negro, Sammy Lee Williams, died yesterday. He was shot the night of Nov. 20 by M. A. Weeks, a streetcar conductor, Detective R. A. MacMurdo said.

Both Weeks and Williams were accused of assault with intent to murder after the incident.

MacMurdo said no additional warrant would be sworn against weeks. The county grand jury is scheduled to investigate the case at its next session.

Two other negroes were wounded slightly by stray bullets in the shooting.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (U.P) — Leroy Penn was fined $35 for ending a "friendly" boxing match with a pen-knife. John Henry Hayes, jr., said he was sparring around with Penn when Penn threw off the boxing gloves, grabbed a knife and slashed him on the nose and hand.

CITIZENS PATROL DANGER AREAS

Pittsburgh Aroused By Assault Murder

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 29. (AP)—The tree-lined streets of Pittsburgh's Shadyside district are being patrolled nightly by groups of residents aroused by the rape-slaying of a 38-year-old woman.

Raymond Thornmeyer said yesterday he had organized a "committee of defense" after a wave of violence culminating in the slaying last Friday of Jean Brusco.

Fourteen men are patrolling the 300 block of South Pacific avenue from 6 p. m. to 1 a. m. nightly, Thornmeyer said, with each man taking a half-hour shift.

Another South Pacific avenue resident, Mrs. Sue Smith, said she was taking steps to establish similar patrols on other blocks.

Witness Threatened

Alderman Joseph Rigby of the seventh ward started a volunteer escort service to protect women from trolley stops to their homes along dark streets.

Councilman Joseph A. McArdle urged Mayor David L. Lawrence to declare a state of emergency and hire at least 100 additional policemen.

Mayor Lawrence declined to comment on the steps being taken.

Police admitted they are without a clue in the slaying of Miss Brusco. Two policemen were stationed at the only eyewitness to the crime, Mrs. Ellen Flannigan, who reportedly received a telphoned threat on her life.

Mrs. Flannigan told authorities she happened to be looking out a window and saw Miss Brusco attacked by a man.

HEIRS CARVE IT UP

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (U.P.)—A $400,000 estate was divided by lot here. Morgan Murphy's estate was divided into five parcels of equal value. The five heirs then drew numbered cards from a hat.

SQUEEZE PLAY—Elated over being elected to head the Young Democrats of America are D. W. Gilmore of Benton, Mo., president and Mrs. Kay Glass of Washington, D. C., vice president. The new officers were chosen at the YDA convention in Chattanooga, Tenn.

NLRB Bringing Action Against Houston Attorney For Assault

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 (U.P.)—The National Labor Relations board has decided that it simply can't have Texas lawyers going around punching its agents in the eye—especially during hearings.

NLRB General Counsel Robert N. Denham ordered John L. Camp, a Houston attorney, to show cause why he should not be barred from further board hearings because of an incident at an Oct. 26 hearing in Rankin, Tex.

Punched In Eye

Camp was representing an Ohio Oil Co. According to Denham, he made "an unprovoked, brutal physical assault" on Don E. Wilson of the board's Fort Worth regional staff.

"(Camp) approached Wilson from behind, jerked him around by the shoulder and, without warning, punched Wilson in the eye, knocked him to the floor," his petition said.

Thereupon, it added, Camp "pounced upon Wilson on the floor and was attempting to punch and kick him, when he was physically restrained . . ."

Criminal Action Seen

The board gave Camp until Dec. 8 to decide if he wants to try to explain. It was the first time the board had taken such action in its 14-year history.

Besides filing the show cause petition, Denham also said he has referred the case to the Justice department for appropriate action under the "criminal statutes."

Under the Taft-Hartley act anyone who interferes with an agent of the board in the performance of duty can be fined $5,000, jailed for a year or both.

HIS FATHER'S VOICE

HOLDEN, Me. (U.P.)—Guided by his father's voice, broadcast over the amphlifier of a state police cruiser, 2-year-old Walter (Skippy) Tardiff was able to find his way to safety after being lost for hours in a Maine wilderness.

Breaking Into Bank Vaults Tough Task

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 29. (U.P.)—A burglar who thinks he can spin the right combination on a modern bank vault will find the odds are 2,400,000 to 1 against him.

Jack Denniston, regional manager of a world-wide manufacturer of protective equipment for banks, posted those figures. He said there is no such thing as a successful burglary of an up-to-date vault with an alarm system.

Doors two to 36 inches thick guard the vaults and their steel is almost impervious to explosives, drills and acetylene torches.

The slightest pressure on the vault or any noise made by the yegg would set off an alarm through sensitive microphones. If the thief thinks he can snip outside wires and cut off the alarm he is wrong; the mere snipping will start bells ringing at the police station.

An old stunt of burglars is to lock employes in the vault while they finish their looting and make their get away. The new vaults are built so that if the door is pushed from the outside it will close only partially. The thief can't get in, or open it fully. But the employe inside can open it whenever he considers it safe to pursue the robber or sound the alarm.

A true coffee cup holds a pint; this beverage mostly is served in teacups.

5,000 Batteries A Month Are Produced By Lubbock Concern

Here's one Lubbock concern that the Chamber of Commerce should get quite a charge out of, if the gentle reader will pardon a poor pun.

It's the Hot Point Battery company, a $100,000 manufacturing plant that currently is grossing half a million dollars a year in the manufacture of storage batteries.

In producing an average of 5,000 batteries a month, the manufacturing plant provides a sizeable straw in the wind to indicate how Lubbock is rapidly becoming an industrial city.

12 Different Types

Hot plate batteries, in 12 different types and sizes, are now on sale in Texas and New Mexico. The firm makes storage batteries for practically every purpose except marine engines.

The firm is an outgrowth of the Zermac battery manufacturing firm which was established here several years ago.

Officers of the firm are Buster Welch, president, J. F. Anthony, vice president and J. T. Talkington, secretary-treasurer.

The manager is James E. Thompson, a chemist with a long background in the battery business, who arrived in Lubbock Monday to take the helm of the plant as general manager.

Experienced In Work

A member of the American Chemical society and a graduate in chemistry of Monmouth college, Thompson's experience goes back to 1930, when he was employed by the Globe-Union, Inc., testing laboratories for two years. From 1932 until 1936 he had factory training in the actual manufacturing of batteries with the firm. From 1937 until 1942 he was assistant manager of the firm's Memphis, Tenn., plant.

From 1942 until 1944 he was in the research laboratory at the Milwaukee plant doing research work. From 1944 until 1947 he did research work for Ideal Industries, Inc., of Sycamore, Ill., on the recharbeable wet type flashlight battery, and in 1948 he became manager of the Price Battery corporation, Atlanta, Ga.

Plant Is Enlarged

In October the firm moved into a remodeled building at Sixth and Texas avenue, where 11,000 square feet of floor space permitted considerable enlargement of the assembly lines and manufacturing processes.

The firm is now working on plans for further expansion, to double the present plant output. Along with greatly increased output will naturally follow expansion of distributorships and dealerships and of the territory in which Hot Plate batteries are available.

The manufacturing process actually is an assembly-line fabrication of pre-manufactured parts. Battery cases, insulation and chemicals are purchased, the firm molds and pastes plates, makes its own posts and straps.

One big customer of the firm is the State of Texas. Hoit Point has a contract to supply all storage batteries used by the State of Texas.

Actor Cesar Romero Ends Long Contract With 20th-Fox Firm

BY BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 29—Cesar Romero and 20th-Fox have come to a friendly parting after 13 years of association.

"Actually it has been 15 years," the actor recalls, "because I was under contract to 20th Century for two years before it merged with Fox."

"There was no trouble between the studio and me," he said. "I just wanted to get out of the rut. I had been doing some pretty bad pictures.

To Choose Roles

"I don't think I'll sign with another studio. I want to try freelancing. I doubt if I'll make more money this way, but I'll have the chance to choose the roles I'll play."

Romero is now playing a meanie in his first outside film, "The Iron Cage." He next plans a color musical which will be filmed in England and Scotland next year.

Film Is Praised

Capsule review: "The Hasty Heart" (WB) is a simple and touching story of the backwash of war. It's a tale of a dour Scotsman soon to die in a Burma hospital. Fortunately, it's done with good sense and sentiment. Ronald Reagan and Patricia Neal are fine, but the real news is Richard Todd, who is handsome and convincing as the Scot.

New York's O'Dwyer Resting In Hospital

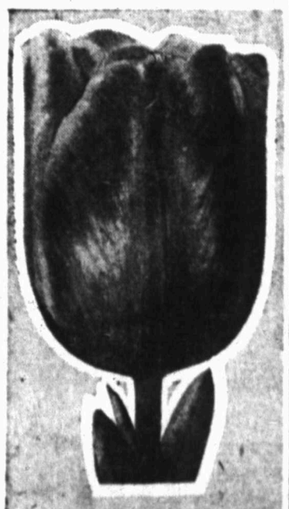

NEW YORK, Nov. 29 —Mayor William O'Dwyer, apparently suffering from nervous and physical fatigue, has entered a hospital for a rest.

His physicians said he should have no visitors for the time being.

The 59-year-old mayor was taken to Bellevue hospital last night after an examination at Gracie mansion, his official residence, by Dr. Edward Bernecker and Dr. Clarence De La Chapelle.

They said he evidently was suffering from "almost complete nervous and physical exhaustion" and ordered an "absolute and complete rest."

Texas Western Host Team In Sun Bowl

EL PASO, Nov. 28 (U.P.) — Twice-beaten, once-tied Texas Western will be the host team in its home town Sun Bowl game Jan. 2 to four-times beaten Georgetown university.

The athletic council of the local school yesterday accepted the invitation which had been extended Saturday after Border conference champion Texas Tech declined the bid.

TWC, formerly Texas School of Mines, finished in a tie for third place in the conference with Hardin-Simmons. Second-place Tempe, Ariz., state already was committed to the Salad bowl.

The Miners were beaten only inside the conference, by Tech and Hardin-Simmons, and tied by West Virginia. Georgetown lost to Maryland, Fordham, George Washington and Villanova.

New Attendance Mark Is Set In Southwest

An all-time attendance record for Southwest conference football was set this year.

For 39 home games, 1,268,029 fans turned out, bettering last year by more than 170,000. Last year 34 games drew 1,094,865. The average in 1948 was 32,202 per game; this year it was 32,510.

Southern Methodist was responsible for it. The Methodists drew 484,000 for eight games compared to 255,931 for five last year.

Texas Christian and Texas A. and M. were the only other schools to show increases.

"Shoe Dance" Too Rough For Student

URBANA, Ill., Nov. 29. (AP)—University of Illinois dances are getting rough. Ernest Kaufmann of Paterson, N. J., left one dance with a broken collar bone and spent the rest of the evening in a hospital.

It happened during a "shoe" dance when co-eds lined up on one side of the ballroom and tossed one shoe each into a pile in the center. Male students, at a signal, darted for the shoes to find the owners. Kaufmann got to the shoe pile early—too early, and he was carried away.

Georgia Mentor May Get Oklahoma Post

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 29 (U.P.) — The new head football coach at Oklahoma A. and M. will be J. B. Whitworth, now line coach at the University of Georgia, the Atlanta Constitution reported today.

The Constitution article, under the by-line of Sports Writer F. M. Williams, said there was no doubt of the truth of the information it has received from "a very reliable source."

The Oklahoma Aggies coaching job has been open since the resignation of Jim Lookabaugh. Whitworth has been line coach at Georgia since 1939 and became known as a tutor of place-kickers. As a collegian, he played on the Alabama Rose bowl team of 1931 and has been coaching ever since.

Police Say Few New Car-Stealing Tricks

AKRON, O., Nov. 29 (U.P.)—The fine art of stealing an automobile hasn't changed very much over the years, according to Arkon police.

Principal modification in the car rustler's techniques is that of opening the door. He no longer fits a lead pipe over the door handle to force it: modern doors don't work that way. He forces open the front ventilator a crack and then uses a wire to unlock the door.

He doesn't even have to force the ventilator a good part of the time, for many motorists leave their cars unlocked.

Starting a new car without an ignition key requires exactly the same procedure used in starting Ford's first Model T.

The three major rules for protecting a parked car are (1) don't leave the motor running, (2) don't leave the keys in the car, and (3) don't leave the car unlocked.

If your car is stolen even after you have obeyed these three rules, you have one consolation: it isn't your fault.

Wife Of University Dean Death Victim

AUSTIN, Nov. 29 (U.P.)—Mrs. J. Anderson Fitzgerald, wife of the dean of the college of business administration at the University of Texas, died of a heart attack last night.

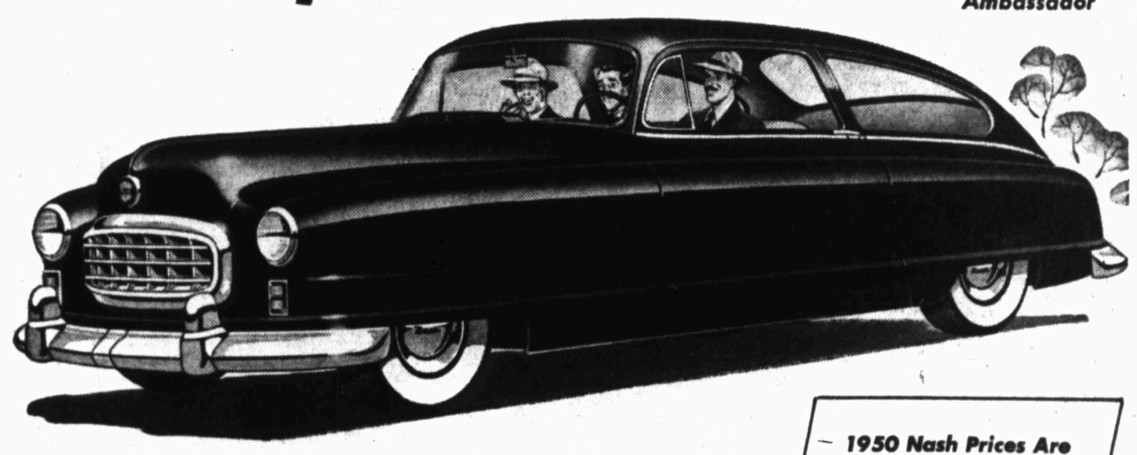

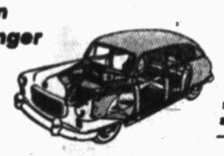

Mrs. Fitzgerald, 51, collapsed at her home. Efforts of a fire department inhalator crew and a doctor to revive her were futile.

28 Dead In Dallas Air Crash

Love field, Dallas' chief airport, is seven miles northwest from the heart of the city.

One engine was feathered, American Airlines said, indicating something was wrong with one of the four engines. But the plane was approaching the field in a routine manner before the crash, the airlines said.

Scene Still One Of Organized Chaos

An hour and a half after the crash, the scene was still one of "organized chaos," officers said. What caused the crash was unknown.

As dawn broke, the big stack of blackened, wet wreckage was bright from portable floodlights. Firemen in their black coats were climbing all over the wreckage.

Hundreds of people got into the area in spite of a police blockade. The screaming ambulances and fire trucks added to the pandemonium.

Regular traffic seemed to be continuing at the field, however.

Col. Harold Byrd, chief of the Texas Civil Air Patrol right at the scene, said "this is terrible. Just terrible. There is no other word."

The plane first hit the Magnaflux plant, a plant which inspects aircraft engines by chemical processes.

A series of small explosions sounded and many-colored flames indicated chemicals were burning.

Walls Of Aviation School Collapse

The Dallas Aviation school, a hangar and combined office buildings and classrooms also caught fire and its walls collapsed half an hour later.

Smoke still was rising with an acrid odor an hour after the crash. Firemen were pulling bodies from the wreckage.

As one body was freed, another fireman would shout "here!" A second body—charred and rigid—would be pulled out.

Fred L. Sheaf, 28, employe of the Pan-American Plastic corporation, who lives in a barracks 400 feet from the scene, told this story:

"The first explosion shook my bed. I ran out of the door thinking that one of the gasoline storage tans across the street from the barracks had exploded. It was a rumbling, jarring explosion.

"When I got to the door, I heard someone holler 'a plane has crashed.' I put on my pants and a shirt and dashed down the street. I got to the scene three minutes after the explosion.

Wreckage Is Strewn Everywhere

"The wreckage was strewn everywhere and the flames were high and billowing. They were blue and white flames.

"The plane had crashed into the Magnaflux plant.

"There were a series of small explosions just after I arrived. The flames from the Magnaflux plant were many colored. And it was apparent that various chemicals were burning.

"The Dallas Aviation school, the hangar and combined office building and classrooms, was also starting to burn.

"Wires were breaking overhead, and when the first people to arrive saw them, they scurried to get out of the way.

"I should say four minutes after the explosion a man walked right out of the wreckage. He was white as a sheet and though he walked right out of the fire, he didn't appear to be burned.

"I have tried to figure out where he came from and the only explanation I can think of is that he was thrown out of the plane itself when the crash occurred, was knocked unconscious and came to when the heat hit him.

"His arm was bent and surely broken. He screamed—

'Don't touch my arm.' Then he said, 'where is there a doctor?'

"'I was in the crash,' he said, 'where is there a doctor?'

"He wa sobviously in a state of high shock. He had a German accent. Someone led him across the street into the airways cafe. And that is the last I saw of him."

Mr. Truman, looking forward to rising temperatures, planned to take his first dip in the Gulf this morning.

It was a little chilly for such carryings on when the chief executive, Mrs. Truman and their daughter, Margaret, landed here yesterday. It was just about 71 degrees, fine for walking around, but a little low for outdoor swimming, even for Mr. Truman, who gets more exercise than most vacationers with his vigorous Missouri sidestroke.

The resident and his family, or so the story went, saw a motion picture last night at the commandant's quarters which are being utilized for the seventh time as a temporary White House.

Croatia, Bosnia-Herzegovina, Montenegro and Macedonia)," the resolution declared, "but the will of the Anglo-American imperialists, in consequence of which it betrayed the interests of the country and liquidated the political independence and economic sovereignty of Yugoslavia."

Eight Nations Represented

The communique published in Pravda, voice of the Russian Communist party (Bolshevik), said representatives from the Communist parties of eight countries attended the meeting to exchange views on a number of important subjects. The countries represented were Russia, Poland, Hungary, Romania, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria, France and Italy.

With Yugoslavia, these were the original parties making up the Cominform when it was organized at a secret meeting in Poland in September, 1947.

As a warning against "Titoism" in other Communist parties the Communique declared:

"Agents of the Tito clique are today acting as the bitterest splitters in the ranks of the working class and the democratic movements and are carrying out the will of the American imperialists."

Struggle Necessary

"For this reason," it added, "a decisive struggle is necessary against the intrigues of these agents of the imperialists wherever they try to work in the workers and democratic organizations."

The keynote of the meeting, the communique said, was given by Mikhail Andrevich Suslov (propaganda chief of the Soviet Communist party). He gave a report on "the defense of peace and the struggle against the warmongers."

Another resolution charged the western powers with preparing for a new world war.

"The whole policy," it said, "of the Anglo-American imperialist bloc serves in the preparation of a new war."

"It said this policy was shown in the transformation of western Germany and Japan into "hotbeds of fascism" and the west's "disruption of a peace settlement with Germany and Japan."

"This policy also finds its expression," said the resolution, "in the refusal of the Anglo-American bloc to prohibit atomic weapons despite the collapse of the legend of American atomic monopoly, and in the fanning of war hysteria by all possible means."

istration "could make a better case for restoration of price control than it can for continuance of rent controls."

Since 1939, he said, monthly average rentals have been bosted only a fraction as much as all other cost-of-living items combined.

Wolcott said he does not think the "same pressures" that existed early this year will exist next year if Congress must face a vote on rent control. The demands for continuance of controls, he said, have fallen off sharply as housing has become more available.

Unwed Girl Is Acquitted In Murder Of Her New-Born Baby Found Buried Alive

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 29 (AP)—A circuit jury here acquitted a 20-year-old unwed negro girl of murder in the death of her newborn baby she admitted burying alive in a shallow grave.

Ida Roberts of Montgomery was found innocent yesterday after jurors deliberated only 15 minutes. She was charged with first degree murder.

The woman was arrested July 9 after neighbors found the infant almost entirely covered with earth. Detective Capt. Lewis Miller quoted her as saying that she had the baby while hoeing peanuts.

The infant, a girl, lived 15 hours before being found but died in a hospital here two days later.

Miller said the woman told officers when she was arrested that she already had one illegitimate child and couldn't support another. At her trial, however, defense attorneys contended she thought the baby was dead when she buried it.

Railway Head To Speak Here

William G. Vollmer of Dallas, president of the Texas and Pacific railway, will be speaker at Wednesday's luncheon meeting of the Rotary club in Lubbock hotel, Guy C. Victory, president of the club, announced this afternoon.

Mr. Vollmer, who is in great demand as a speaker throughout Texas, will arrive in Lubbock early Wednesday morning in his business railroad car by the Santa Fe lines.

To Make Tour Of City

A group of Lubbock business ment will greet him and conduct him on a tour of Lubbock during the morning.

Vollmer began his railroad career in 1902 when he entered the service of Pennsylvania railroad as a stenographer. Several years later he was employed by the Baltimore and Ohio company and the Rock Island Lines, and still later, entered the service of Missouri Pacific lines where he worked in several branches, including the maintenance, engineering, and operating departments.

In 1917, when B. F. Bush, then president of the Missouri Pacific lines, needed an assistant, he chose Vollmer, at that time a junior executive in the operating department. In 1943 Vollmer became senior vice president, a position he relinquished upon assuming presidency of the Texas and Pacific May 16, 1945.

Vollmer will be accompanied to Lubbock by J. J. Finegan, assistant to the president, J. B. Shores, director of public relations, both of Dallas, and Hary DeLane, general agent, and Don Scrivner, travelling freight agent, both of Abilene.

The subject of his speech at the Rotary meeting will be "Freedom Isn't Free."

He said, "I crawled out a few feet on the wing and then saw that it was flush with with the ground. I staggered to my feet and stopped to look around. But I could see the ship was a goner. It was nothing but a heap of flames."

Brody, an employe of Hinzmann & Waldmann, Inc., of Brooklyn, said the safety belt on his seat held, but he "believed" many other seats and belts came loose from their moorings.

"The man in the seat ahead of mine got up and started to put on his coat just as the vibration began. A stewardess told him 'we're coming in for a landing, put on your safety belt."

"At almost that moment we hit. A woman sitting beside me completely vanished from my vision. I was dazed but managed to remain conscious and make my way to safety."

Brody said he noticed one engine seemed extremely noisy on takeoff at both New York and Washington—I've flown quite a bit and it seemed unusual to me."

"At any rate, I'm the luckiest guy wearing shoe leather today," he said. "Everyone has always told me, 'Brody, you're the luckiest guy alive' and I'll never deny it in the future."

Brody was en route to Fort Worth, 30 miles from Dallas, on a business trip when the crack-up occurred.

DIVIDENDS DECLARED

NEW YORK, Nov. 29 (AP) — A firmer tone developed on the stock market near closing time today in response to many favorable dividend actions and a optimistic report by Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer.

Through most of the session, the list had moved irregularly with the leaders showing very small changes. Interest centered on special issues and low-priced utilities. The latter's volume helped lift sales above yesterday's total.

Allied Chemical led the dividend parade with a $4 special. Bendix Aviation declared a $1.50 extra; National Lead, $1.25 extra; Jewel Tea, $1 special; American Can, $1 extra plus several others.

Chesapeake & Ohio put over its dividend action until February and the stock fell to a new low for the year.

Railroad issues generally made a fairly good showing. A majority showed small gains and Alleghany corporation preferred rose to a new high fo rthe year. A sale was made of the wide-moving New York & Harlem at $230 a share, off $19 from the previous close.

Bethlehem firmed on a narrow-moving steel group. Chrysler featured an irregular auto section. Oils were steadier after yesterday's decline. Anticipation of good holiday business sustained mercantiles.

During the session, new highs were made by Bendix Aviation, General Public utilities, Gillette, International Hydroelectric, McGraw Electric, and Southern Company.

Leading spot firms were substantial buyers of futures, believed to be against raw cotton purchases.

Pact Nations Plan Defense

PARIS, Nov. 29. (AP)—Chiefs of staffs of the armies of 12 North Atlantic treaty nations met here today and were reported to have reached agreement on unified defense against any future foe.

The military experts, a reliable source said, have now only to put "the technical experts to work" to complete North Atlantic defenses.

Most of this work, he said, would be done here in the next two days, before Atlantic pact nations defense ministers meet Thursday to approve the plan.

Meet This Afternoon

The military delegates remained in the French naval ministry for lunch and are meeting again this afternoon to finish the draft of the plan.

Their meeting followed yesterday's conference of the Big Three chiefs of staff here. It also coincides with talks U. S. Defense Secretary Louis Johnson is having in London with British government and military officials.

To Plan Barrier

The military chiefs' main task is to outline a main 3,000-mile defense barrier from the Norwegian Arctic to the Aegean sea, past which no attacker from the east could march without a fight with the combined forces of all 12 member nations.

No communique on their talks is expected, however, until after their civilian counterparts—the minister of defense of the 12 nations—meet here on Thursday.

Cashier Testifies In Rep. Thomas' Trial

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 (U.P.)—A bank cashier testified today that 66 salary checks made out to employes of Rep. J. Parnell Thomas, R., N. J., were deposited in the account of his secretary between 1940 and 1945.

The attorney for Miss Helen Campbell, Thomas' former secretary, announced that she is willing to stipulate the endorsement on all the checks was hers.

Miss Campbell is on trial with Thomas on federal charges of padding his congressional office payroll and collecting kickbacks from two employes.

Three of the checks identified were made out to Thelma Coffee, an employe in Thomas' office in 1944, and to Edith Squier, who worked for him in 1941 and 1942.

These two women were not listed in the indictment as having contributed kickbacks to their boss.

According to the government charges certain employes of Thomas were carried on the payroll of his office although they did no bona fide work. The government contends that their pay checks were turned over to Miss Campbell and that she deposited them in her Washington bank account. Later, according to the charges, she wrote personal checks to Thomas and mailed them to his Allendale, N. J., bank.

Part-Time Santa Claus Loses Job As Result Of "Sad Expression" In Eyes

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 29 (AP)—A part-time Santa Claus must look the role right up to the merry sparkle in his eyes.

So testified Charles Ross, operator of a photographic studio in a local five and ten cent store, as he appeared yesterday before Leonard A. Civill.

The matter of Santa Claus and his expression came up when Everett Frisbee, 31, filed suit against Ross asking $45 back pay.

Frisbee contended Ross reneged on a verbal contract. Ross said he had to let Frisbee go because his woeful eyes repelled children.

"He's got size and everything else for a good Santa," said Ross, "but those eyese send the kids away."

Alderman Civill awarded back pay of $41.50 to Frisbee, who said he would be happy to return to his old job as a janitor.

King Of Nation's Meat Cattle Will Be Selected At Chicago

CHICAGO, Nov. 29 (U.P.) — The international live stock exposition hits its peak of excitement today with selection of the grand champion steer, the king of the continent's meat cattle.

The top steer will be chosen late today by the show's chief judge, Dr. A. D. Weber of Kansas State college, Manhattan, Kans.

He will judge each animal for conformation, general health and the general placement of muscle, the meat that will be cut up into the fanciest steaks and roasts available in the nation.

Competitors and speculators will wait breathlessly for anxious moments while Weber examines each animal before slapping one on the rump to signify that he should receive the rosette of grand champion.

Before then, however, there still was much competition to be completed, however, in open classes among the three breeds of cattle represented — aberdeen angus, shorthorn and hereford.

In some cases champions of each breed were competing against those of other breeds to determine which should go into the grand championship competition to represent their special class.

Two girls were attempting to get their aberdeen-angus steers into the final judging. They were Bonnie Lu Logan, 15, of Van Wert, O., whose junior feeding contest grand champion, Lin-Lo, went on to win the junior yearling class in the open competition. Betty Hartter, 12, of Carlock, Ill., groomed her reserve junior feeding contest grand champion, Lucky Strike, to the summer yearling class ribbon in the open competition.

Disappearance Of Children Four Months Ago Disclosed

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 29 (U.P.) — A father who doesn't believe in "taking my troubles to the police" disclosed today that three of his small children disappeared nearly four months ago.

The father, Paul P. McAndrew, formerly of Vincennes, Ind., said no trace of the children has been found since they were left with a strange couple while he and Mrs. Andrews looked for living accommodations here last Aug. 1.

Children Are Listed

McAndrews said the missing children are Cleta, 13; Paul Edward, 12, and Mary Catherine, 10.

He said the children were left at the St. Louis union station with an obliging young couple who identified themselves as "Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gaines." McAndrew, a laborer, said he met the couple on a train from Vincennes.

"We were gone about an hour" he said, "and when we returned there was no trace of our children or the couple. We have not heard from the children or the couple since that day."

Main's Search Fails

McAndrews said he made no previous report of their disappearance, "because I don't believe in taking my troubles to the police."

He said after a one-man search of the city produced no results, he first told his story to the St. Louis Post-Dispatch because he "thought maybe a newspaper could help find them for us."

The McAndrews have one other child, Jacqueline Mae, 7, whom they took with them when they left the others at the station. McAndrew has found a job here in a warehouse.

Police said they would no nothing until a report or complaint is made to them.

Queen Wins Dispute On Royal Neckline

LONDON, Nov. 29 (U.P.)—Queen Elizabeth's London dressmaker and Princess Margaret's Parisian couturier traded blows across the English channel today on how low is too low for a royal neckline.

Neither said just where that point might be.

But the queen lined up with Norman Hartnell. Margaret was all for Christian Dior. The queen —it's a matter of history—won.

The royal tempest blown up by Margaret's plunging Paris dress was disclosed in New York yesterday.

The Dior gown, which Margaret had fitted to her bosom in secret by a Paris dressmaker she sneaked into her Buckingham palace boudoir, already has been altered by Hartnell to cover a couple of inches more of the royal 33-inch bosom than Dior intended. That was done on the queen's orders. Margaret reportedly sulked but obeyed.

Lions Plan Minstrel At Whiteface Dec. 7

A complete picture of the 1948 football game between Army and Navy was seen by members of Lions International at their weekly luncheon in the Hilton hotel ballroom at noon today.

Plans to take the club's minstrel to Whiteface Dec. 7 were also discussed, with rehearsal date set for 7:30 p. m. Monday.

Presented by Lt. Paul J. Ruzick, commanding officer of the Lubbock Naval Training station, the 1948 Army-Navy game was shown in its entirety, except for huddles and times out. Navy entered the game a 21-point underdog but emerged with the biggest upset of the year with a 21-21 tie.

The complete cast of the Lions' Minstrel will be taken to Whiteface for the appearance there. Preliminary discussions were made concerning the possibility of the club's selling "safety seals," with action probably to be taken in a directors' meeting this afternoon.

Rev. David Zacharias was program chairman for today's meeting.

Retired Land Dealer Is Claimed By Death

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 29. (AP)—William Wallace Ryan, retired land dealer who once bought 500,000 acres of Texas land in a single deal, died last night. He was 80.

Ryan was head of the Associated Land company of Kansas City until the firm was liquidated and he retired two years ago.

A native of Erie county, Pa., Ryan came west and became a partner of a brother-in-law, Geo. G. Wright, in the George G. Wright Land company at St. Paul, Minn., in 1892.

Until 1906 the company bought virgin tracts in North and South Dakota, subdivided and fenced the land in farm-sized acreages and sold them.

Then the company moved its headquarters here and devoted its attention to expansion in Texas, mostly in the northwest corner of the Panhandle. It made big purchases, including the 500,000 acre deal, from the XIT ranch interests, which had been given 3,000,000 acres for giving Texas its capital at Austin.

The firm chartered trains from the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad and carried prospective buyers to Texas and back.

In the early 1920s the Wright company was reorganized into Associated Land Co. Wright died in 1928.

School Aid For South Urged

Stassen Talks To Educators

HOUSTON, Nov. 29. (AP)—Help education in the south with federal aid, but let the north take care of its own needs.

That's what Harold Stassen, president of the University of Pennsylvania and Republican leader, advocated here last night.

Stassen, one-time governor of Minnesota and ex-candidate for the GOP presidential nomination, spoke at the opening general session of the 54th annual convention of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

Faces Low Standards

The south, Stassen said, faces low standards that erupted from the Civil war.

"A major, continuing national investment should be made in building up the resources, facilities, industries and schools in the south," he said.

In order to bring the south's educational standards to the national level, temporary supplementing of area appropriations would be justified, he declared.

As for the other states, he predicted:

"I believe that concentration upon increasing of local and state support will result, in the decade ahead, equal or greater funds for education in the 36 states of the north, than will any program of federal aid in education."

Sharp Difference Seen

Stassen figured the nationwide average educational expenditure per pupil at $140, but dropped the amount to $80 for southern states.

"This sharp difference reflects not only an educational but also an economic and social situation," he declared. "It is one for which the entire nation bears a portion of responsibility."

Southern states, he said, are making educational support efforts at least equal to the national effort but are hindered by low incomes.

Educational policies of all other states, he added, "should be to concentrate upon stimulating and securing adequate local support, rather than upon the opening up of direct channels of funds to the central national treasury."

Ten other educational groups are meeting here in conjunction with the convention.

One, the conference of the academic deans of southern states, heard Harold W. Stoke, president of Louisiana State university, say yesterday that college faculties should be strong factors in the fight for academic freedom.

Woodward Speaks

Dudley K. Woodward, Dallas, chairman of the University of Texas board of regents, also spoke to the deans.

MAN SAYS HE KILLED GIRL, TOSSED BODY IN BAYOU

Pretty Carnival Worker, Branded As Murder Victim By Arkansas Convict, Alive In Texas

MONROE, La., Nov. 29 (AP)—A pretty brunette carnival worker whose "murder" was described by an Arkansas convict, is alive in Texas, police here reported today.

Police Sgt. L. C. Taylor said authorities at Port Arthur, Texas, had told him that grey-eyed Ellen Cruse of Olla, La., was working at a ring-tossing concession operated there by an amusement company.

At Little Rock, Ark., Sgt. J. H. Porterfield of the Arkansas state police had quoted William Wayne (Billy) Kidd, 21-year-old transient, as saying he killed the girl and threw her body into a bayou last month, a few weeks after they were married.

Kidd's story was told while he was en route to the Arkansas penitentiary to start a three-year term for burglarizing a store.

Authorities at Bastrop, 25 miles northeast of here, said they knew nothing of such a crime, and had not found a body.

As it turned out, Taylor said, there was no crime. The girl, who is about 19, left Bastrop on Nov. 13. She had never married Kidd, Taylor added, although a marriage license had been taken out.

Here is the story which Kidd told Porterfield at Little Rock:

He and Ellen were married last October while he was with a street carnival. About three weeks later he learned his wife had been going out with two strangers. He slugged one of the men and stabbed the other. At Bastrop he drove his wife to a country road, beat her with his fists, shot her with a pistol, and tossed her body into a nearby bayou.

He then drove to Memphis and threw the gun in the Mississippi river. While there he met Richard Allen, 21, of Chicago and they began a tour through the midwest.

The two were arrested Friday night in Prescott, Ar., for burglarizing a store. Each received prison sentences of three years.

Zone Change Requests To Be Considered

Two new zone change requests and two old ones are scheduled for consideration when the City Planning commission holds a regular meeting in city hall Thursday night, it was announced by K. N. Clapp, chairman.

The commission follows a policy of setting a deadline on requests at the 25th of the month preceding the next regular meeting on the first Thursday night of the month.

New requests received by the deadline were the following:

S. S. Allcorn, Cortis Stevenson, G. N. Adams and F. E. Crume, to change lots 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, and 15, Carl Roberds subdivision from "C" residential zone to "F" local retail business zone. The property is on the east side of Ave Q between sixth and Seventh streets.

Albert and Archie Skibell, Mrs. Myrtie Son and Mrs. George W. Harris, to change south 170 feet of block 6, Roberds and McWhorter addition from "C" to "F" zone. The property is on the north side of Fourth street between Sherman avenue and Ave. T.

Old business on which the planning commission will hear reports are:

Request of W. I. Peters to change lots 13 and 14, block 30, Maddox addition from "B" to "F" zone to allow construction of a retail grocery store. The property is located at the southeast corner of the intersection of Ruby street and Van Buren avenue.

Request of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Farmer and Mrs. O. F. Smith to change all property on the west side of Ave. Q between Thirty-fourth and Forty-second streets from residential to business zone.

Alabama Solon Faces Illegal Game Charge

MOBILE, Ala., Nov. 29 (AP)—An Alabama congressman who has been hunting mountain lions in Mexico came home yesterday to face the bare facts.

Rep. Boykin (D-Ala) was arrested for possessing bear meat out of season.

Warden A. E. Nall found the 300-pound bear in Boykin's deep freeze locker about two weeks ago. It had been salted away in readiness for one of the congressman's ritzy Washington dinners.

The warden was waiting for Boykin when he came back from south of the border.

Boykin posted $100 and his trial was set for Dec. 9 in inferior court.

The bear was killed by A. L. Webb, jr., of McIntosh, Ala., who turned it over to Boykin. The animal was raiding his bee hives, said Webb, who was charged with killing a bear out of season.

Two TB Victims Treated With New Drug Completely Cured

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 29 (AP)—Doctors at Pennsylvania hospital reported today the development of a new "wonder" drug—neomycin—which they hope may eventually turn the tide against deadly tuberculosis.

Only two patients, both men, have been treated with neomycin. Complete cure was affected in six days, the hospital said, after all other known drugs had failed.

Neomycin is a drug-brother of streptomycin. Both are made from the same material — a soil fungus.

First Use On Humans

Dr. Garfield G. Duncan, director of the divisions of medicine at Pennsylvania hospital, supervised treatment of the patients. They were suffering from urinary tract infections, frequently incurable.

"The drug had never been given to humans before," Dr. Duncan said. "It was administered successfully only on experimental animals. We weren't sure, and still aren't, whether it would have harmful toxic affects on humans."

The patients, both near death, agreed to risk possible after-affects on chance the drug might work.

The drug was developed by Selman Waksman, Ukranian-born microbiologist who previously had discovered streptomycin in experiments at Rutgers university. Dr. Waksman was assisted in the neomycin development by Hubert Lechevalier.

Drugs Look Alike

"Combined with streptomycin," Dr. Duncan said, "neomycin may help in the treatment of tuberculosis.

"If it does aid in even partially eliminating TB, neomycin will be one of the greatest discoveries of medical science."

Tuberculosis is one of the world's biggest killers, proving fatal to millions each year. Penicillin and streptomycin have helped relieve some tuberculosis symptoms.

Dr. Duncan said he couldn't distinguish any visual difference between neomycin and streptomycin. Both drugs look exactly the same.

"The difference, actually, is in the method of extractoin from the soil microbe known as stroptomyces fradiae," Dr. Duncan said.

The two patients who underwent successful neomycin treatment were Ralph Pitzer, 47-year-old Biglersville, Pa., fruit grower, and Alfred Jones, 54, of Philadelphia.

Other Medicines Helped

Treatment was in Pennsylvania hospital's Benjamin Franklin clinic, Pennsylvania hospital, oldest in the United States, was founded in 1751 with the aid of Benjamin Franklin.

Dr. Duncan said he decided to try neomycin after treatment using penicillin, aureomycin, streptomycin and chloromycetin.

"The other drugs partially cleared up the infection but couldn't kill all the organisms that was

THE QUESTION

Would you like to see the city buy the Broadway Church of Christ at Broadway — and Ave. N for a public library?

THE ANSWERS

E. B. GREEN, 3220 Twenty-First, wholesale grocer: "Yes, I would. I think it would be a very good location for a library. Lubbock is definitely in need of a new library."

C. B. KEY, 2705 Twenty-fifth, former owner of Lubbock Body Works: "I think it would be a very good idea. I have four children of my own, and it would be a place for them to go and study and have all the books necessary for their school-work. Books would be available to everyone then, too."

GUSTINE McDANIEL, 511 Ave. D, salesgirl at Record Bar: "I think it would be very nice. I think Lubbock is badly in need of a larger library. It's a pretty good location, too, because it's a focal point from most parts of town."

JEAN BURKITT, 2018 Tenth, student at Carroll Thompson Jr. High: "I think it would be nice. Most kids like to have some place to go and read, but the library now isn't big enough. I think the new location is good, too."

YVONNE PARR, 2318 Thirty-first, employe of Dunlap's: "Yes, I would. It's a very good location. It's far enough from town to find a parking place. I think Lubbock needs a new library, too."

JIM BAKER, 3413 Twenty-fourth, continuity writer for KFYO: "Yes, I would. The building is conveniently located, and perhaps the purchase would enable us to have a good library in the near future."

Two In Race For Job As Speaker Of House

WICHITA FALLS, Nov. 29 (AP)—The race for speakership of the 52nd legislature's House of Representatives apparently has narrowed to a two-man race.

Rep. Vernon McDaniel of Wichita Falls announced yesterday that he has withdrawn his candidacy in favor of Rep. Reuben Senterfitt of San Saba.

McDaniel did not say how many pledges of support he had. It was understood that about 20 of the House's 150 members were supporting him.

Senterfitt last July claimed 77 pledges—if the pledges return as members of the 52nd legislature.

Rep. Joe Kilgore of McAllen claims the backing of some 45 to 50 members.

"Since Mr. Senterfitt is a two-to-one majority choice of members of the present 51st legislature, I feel this is a good time to withdraw," McDaniel said.

HUMBLE HOME
By JAMES J. METCALFE

There is no wall of stone or steel . . . Or scientific dome . . . That offers more protection than . . . The humble little home . . . However weak its roof may be . . . However old its door . . . It does not mind the weather or . . . The waves that wash the shore . . . And though it may be buried by . . . The bombs that blast the ground . . . It will be standing there at last . . . With flowers all around . . . Because the humble little home . . . Is not of stone or steel . . . But only of the happiness . . . The human heart may feel . . . Its strength is not determined by . . . The weather or a war . . . But only by the love that blooms . . . And lives forevermore.

WELL ALONG in years and not in the best of health, a Lubbock woman called her little granddaughter to her side and attempted to explain to her the mysteries of death.

Trying to make things as easy as possible for the kid, the old lady told her that soon she would die, but that the youngster shouldn't be sad. "I'll just be going away, n[illegible] to return," said Grandma. "That's all there will be to it."

"What will happen to all your things?" asked the little girl.

"Why," said the old lady, they will go to your mother and father.

The kid looked around granny's house, saw the many accumulations of a lifetime, then burst out with:

"Well, grandma, I don't suppose we'll have room at our house for all this stuff, but I'll tell you what we can do. We can sell it —and buy us a convertible!"

INTERESTING TO watch on down the line will be an action taken recently by the Texas Baptist convention in El Paso. The action was the setting up of a three-man board "with official authority to speak promptly for Texas Baptists on any subject related to general public affairs," such as labor relations, international diplomacy and "all other public affairs affecting the masses of the American public."

The theory is a very fine one. But if it works, it will be the first time it ever has worked with any organization embracing any appreciable number of people.

Leaders of political parties, of industrial groups, of labor unions, of various and sundry other organizations have discovered in the past that speaking for all their colleagues—even for a majority of them—is a very precarious undertaking.

The three-man committee named as "official spokesmen for Texas Baptists," a good committee though it is, is likely to discover that speaking for a church group is quite as difficult as expressing opinion for any other organization of human beings.

Denominationally, a man may be a Baptist, a Presbyterian, or a Methodist. Fraternally, he may be a Mason, a Knight of Columbus, or an Oddfellow. In the economic field, he may sell cloaks and suits, legal or medical advice, plumbing, or carpentry service and belong to an organization made up of fellows of his particular calling.

But whatever his organizational connections may be, he remains, basically, an individual, with individual views and attitudes. These views and attitudes may be—and in some instances undoubtedly are—different from those of a majority of his fellows. Therefore, no one safely may speak for himself except himself.

FOR EXAMPLE, some Baptists undoubtedly are constantly on the side of labor in the ceaseless labor-management battle for supremacy. Undoubtedly, too, some other Baptists are constantly on the side of management.

How, then, can the three-man board of spokesmen speak authoritatively, and promptly, for all the Baptists in the matter of labor U. S. management? If they speak out on the subject, how can they possibly know whether their decision is that of the majority, or the minority of their fellow denominationalists?

Perhaps it is a good thing for any organized group—whether it be religious, fraternal, labor, economic, political, or what-not—to have "official spokesmen." Certainly no one outside any organization can object to those in the organization having such spokesmen if they choose to do so.

But in the final analysis, it is a good thing, we think, that no small group, however well fitted, or highly placed, can speak with authority for all their fellows.

If ever a time comes when they can, freedom of thought and action will be a thing of the past in this country—and there will be no more individuality.

Our political system originally was one of checks and balances. In the last 17 years, however, too many checks have ruined the balance.

TWO OF the most frequently voiced criticisms of civic clubs are "the same guys do all the talking," and "we never get around to discussing the things that need most to be discussed."

Mindful of those criticisms, the Kiwanis club of El Paso has set up a regular period at each meeting in which members are invited to get up on their hind legs and say whatever they choose about anything they choose. It's a sort of "remarks for the good of the order" idea, with the added zest of letting members blow off steam about their pet hopes, schemes and peeves.

This is a feature which any Lubbock civic club might well embrace. But it gives rise to an even better suggestion. To wit:

Why doesn't some Lubbock civic club—or all of them, for that matter—set aside one program period each month for a general discussion of some pressing local or national problem?

Why not get "grassroots" opinions—and circulate 'em around?

Every such program would have to have a moderator who'd come up, when necessary, with suggestions of topics to be discussed and who'd "referee" the arguments certain to arise. He'd also have to "hold the watch" on some of the more longwinded boys, so they wouldn't monopolize the time.

But the scheme would work—and probably would result in some of the novel and most interesting programs of the year. After all, the run-of-the-mine civic club program isn't too exhilarating and even the most pliable member tires occasionally of hearing of the admittedly fine aspects of the Boy Scouts, the Campfire girls, the Community Chest and the international policies of the particular club to which he belongs!

To his surprise, the tough Soviet soldier displayed a quaint sense of humor, if not a knowledge of American geography.

PEARSON

On a tour of inspection for the House armed services committee, Congressman Price was introduced to Chuikov at a reception for U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson. Talking through an interpreter, the Russian general inquired what state he came from. When Price told him, Chuikov commented:

"Illinois—oh, that's close to Colorado, isn't it?"

"No, it's about a thousand miles away," replied Price.

"I guess you can see that I'm not very good at American geography," admitted the Russian. "But I know a lot about German geography."

"I hope you're not making a study of American geography now, general," observed the Illinois congressman dryly.

With a smile, Chuikov replied that he was not, then asked Price how long he had been in Berlin.

"Time is only relative, general," responded the congressman. "How long have you been here?"

"Four and a half years," said Chuikov. "It's nicer to be passing through like you than to be nailed down here."

Maj. Gen. James D. McIntyre, a staff adviser of Defense Secretary Louis Johnson, joined the huddle and began comparing notes with Chuikov on their knowledge of each other's language.

"I know only one phrase in Russian 'za vache zdorovye' (a Russian toast)" declared Congressman Price.

"The only English I know," volunteered General Chuikov, "is 'okay.'"

"It's a shame," suggested Price, "that the general doesn't teach Vishinsky how to say that one word."

Kickback Parnell

Due to legal technicalities, the Justice department hasn't been able to show all the salary kickbacks and other tawdry operations of Congressman Parnell Thomas, former grandstanding chairman of the House un-American activities committee.

In addition to the kickbacks with which Thomas is charged in the grand jury indictment, he also put his wife's aged aunt Grace Wilson on his payroll for $2,900 in 1945, though she did not work at his office but was supported by her three nieces in Allendale, N. J. How much of the $2,900 she ever saw is doubtful.

Later Thomas conceived the idea of putting his wife's aunt on the charity rolls of Bergen county, in order to make room on the payroll for his daughter-in-law, Lillian Thomas. She also drew $2,900 and never came near the office.

In addition, the congressman who posed as an example of Americanism to others put Mrs. Jacqueline Voss Hill on the payroll for $3,000. She also "kicked back" to the congressman. Later Mrs. Hill was transferred from Thomas's office payroll to the payroll of the un-American activities committee, though she lived in Allendale and did nothing there to expose un-American activities.

In addition, Thomas required two other secretaries, Miss Helen Campbell and Mildred Kraemer, to contribute $12.50 and $7.50 each month to pay for his re-election campaigns.

In brief, the gentleman from New Jersey had his hand in the payroll till of almost all his office staff most of the time he served in Congress.

SENATE investigations have just begun a sweeping probe of milk profiteering and alleged price-fixing by big city dairy trusts.

Dairy spokesmen will be called on the carpet to explain why consumers are being charged a standard price of 21½ cents a quart for milk delivered in New York, Chicago, Milwaukee, Washington, and other large cities, though the prices farmers receive for the milk vary from six to as much as 12½ cents less.

The biggest price spread is in Chicago, where in some cases dairies are paying only eight cents a quart for milk sold to consumers for 21 cents.

Note—one reason for the price spread is high wages or commissions paid to drivers of milk delivery trucks. An investigation of Chicago milk costs some time ago showed that some milk truck drivers got $10,000 a year and ir a few cases of deliveries to hotels and restaurants, up to $30,000 a year.

Truman Knew Answer

President Truman knew all the answers when officials of the League of Women voters read him some questions on voting and registration from their interesting booklet, "What's the U. S. to you?"

One of the questions was: "How can I enroll as a worker in a political party?" When this was read to him by the LWV's president, Anna Lord Strauss, a New York Republican, Truman smiled expansively.

"I'll be glad to tell you how you can get in the Democratic party," he remarked.

"Oh, no, we mean both parties," replied Miss Strauss. "We want to interest people to become active in both Republican and Democratic circles."

SENATOR Taft, who is supposed to be labor enemy No. 1, still won't do business with any firm whose workers aren't unionized. The Bear And The Lamb

BY ROBERT C. RUARK

Courage Of Old Ship Captain Praised By Former Officer

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 29 — It getting pretty dark and the sky was cut and torn with tracers and blotched with exploding anti-aircraft shell[illegible]

RUARK

One of the ships had drifted back and was burning lazily. Upstairs the Spitfires were still chasing the German planes and the convoyed ships were shooting at everything that moved, including each other.

It was dark, all right, but it wasn't so dark that you couldn't see the thing that looked like a torpedo splitting the water over on the starboard beam, and the old man tried to swing the heavy, sluggish freighter out of the way. She swung but she didn't swing fast enough and the thing hit her right smack in No. 2 hatch, where the cute little tetryl fuses and detonators lived.

The deck plates bucked when she hit and some flame came up and it seemed all of a sudden that I was much too young to be an angel, but there wasn't much to do but try on the wings for size because we had 7000 tons of high explosive aboard and some aviation gasoline, too. You stood there and waited for her to blow and after 20,000 years, or 30 seconds, she still hadn't blown.

• • •

Sticks With Ship

The gunnery officer, who was me, finally ripped his feet loose from the deck and stuck his head down the ladder and hollered for the old man. He stuck his head out of the bridge door.

"Do we get off this thing and walk to Oran?" I asked, "or do we ride her and pray?"

"Vell," said the old man, in his usual voice, "I t'ink we stay aboard. She's still answering the veel."

This is about the best description I can give you of Capt. Karl Peder Olsen. As long as she answered the wheel, he would have driven the ship to hell and back again. He was about the calmest old gentleman I ever saw, certainly one of the bravest, and seems not to have changed at all in the six years since I've seen him. We had a cup of tea in the hotel the other day and all of a sudden I felt very young and full of naval indoctrination once more.

• • •

THE OLD man and I had us a bucket called the Eli Whitney, and we rode her in the North Atlantic and to England and to Africa and Sicily and Italy. We got sniped at by some torpedoes in the Atlantic and some bombs in London and some more bombs off Africa and I was scared stiff most of the time, but not the old man.

He regarded bombs and mines and torpedoes as minor, annoying hindrances to navigation. One time we got hit by lightning, as an extra fillip to a tough trip, and he yawned.

The closest thing to excitement I ever saw him display was one morning in Gibraltar when he came in my room without his customary knock and woke me us.

"You better come down to the galley, mister," he said. "The Chinese cook is chasing one of your fellows around with a toasting fork."

The old man being merchant marine and I navy, he wanted both sides present to witness the punctures.

Back In Tankers

The old man is 66 now and back to riding tankers again. of those 66 years, 51 have been spent at sea. He was born in Odense, Denmark, shipped out as deckboy in 1898, and has been uneasy ashore ever since. Even when the ship is in port, he stays aboard unless called ashore on business. He told me once that land made him nervous.

Captain Olsen has been married 30 years, and has spent possibly four of those years in the company of Mrs. Olsen. He sailed two weeks after they were married and when he got home again he had a son of a year and a half. He said goodbye on another occasion, and turned up four years later.

Rolling slightly as he walked down the hotel corridor, wearing his neat gray shoregoing suit, the old man turned and waved. He looked small and young for his years, and I remembered suddenly that I never really was very worried about getting home so long as the old man was on the bridge.

And if you were to call this a sentimental piece you could very well be right.

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

"HOW can a woman face middle age without letting it get her down?" asks a 40-year-old reader.

Maybe it will help if I describe one of the happiest, most likable middle-aged woman I know.

To begin with, I'm sure she never thinks of herself as middle aged. That word is a depressing one to women, but one they needn't apply to themselves or to their friends. A woman of 40 can be a woman of 40. She doesn't have to be a "middle-aged woman."

MILLETT

This woman I want to describe doesn't bother trying to fool anyone about her age, either by dressing too young, trying to act young, or trying to fool people about her age.

• • •

ISN'T A "PAL" TO CHILDREN

She accepts her age with dignity and she accepts the responsibilities of her age without resentment. For instance, she doesn't embarrass her teen-age children by trying to be a pal to them and their friends. She is willing to be a mother, older, wiser and willing to take a back seat when she should.

She has changed her interests through the years to keep pace with her age. Too young interests are no more becoming to a middleaged woman than a too young dress or hat.

She has found compensations in the age she is, too. She doesn't feel that it is necessary for her to do anything just to impress someone else. She doesn't depend on the opinion of a certain crowd for her happiness. She knows her family should come first—and she sees that they do. She feels perfectly free to be herself, which in a way makes her seem younger than the young. Her naturalness is refreshing.

Maybe this woman once thought of middle age as a depressing period in a woman's life, but I doubt it. I think she prepared for middle age along before it came, by changing with the years instead of trying to fight them.

PANAMA'S PROBLEM IS OURS

The United States has too much at stake to tolerate indefinitely the internal disturbances which have been almost continuous in the little Republic of Panama during the past four or five years.

Our obvious chief interest in that nation is the Panama canal. Anything that endangers the canal endangers the security of this nation and of the entire Western Temisphere.

No reasonable doubt is possible as to the identity of those chiefly responsible for stirring up trouble in the little republic. They are the agents of Communism attempting to improve the position from which they could strike the United States in a most vital spot.

The U. S. commendably leans backward in its respect for the sovereignty of fellow American nations. But this policy cannot be maintained when a nation continues in a state of such turmoil as to endanger others. Panama richly deserves to be told to keep its own house in order, or have the job done for it. The indications are the American State department has been forced to adopt that course as result of the latest of many provocations

Notre Dame '49 Grid Champ

Irish Tops In Final Voting

NEW YORK, Nov. 29 (AP)—The Fighting Irish of Notre Dame today reign as college football champions of 1949.

Notre Dame drew 172 of 248 first place votes and a bulging total of 2,402 points in the ninth and final Associated Press poll of football writers and sportscasters across the nation.

Although Notre Dame, unbeaten over a 37-game stretch, still has to play Southern Methodist Saturday, most of the other high point teams have finished their schedules.

Oklahoma Moves Up

Oklahoma, 41-0 winner over the Oklahoma Aggies, recaptured second place from idle California despite strong first place support for the Golden Bears from the Pacific coast. Oklahoma had 18 firsts to 40 for California but the Sooners piled up a point edge of 2,018 to 1,900. Points are figured on the basis of 10 for first, nine for second so on down to one for tenth.

Army's flashy 38-0 rout of Navy failed to boost the Cadets' fourth-place standing. They polled 12 firsts and 1,838 points.

The other firsts went to College of Pacific, which had four, and Villanova, no. 1 on two ballots.

Behind the "big four" of Notre Dame, Oklahoma, California and Army, in that order, came Rice, moving from seventh to fifth on its 21-7 triumph over Baylor. That win guaranteed Rice the Southwest conference crown and the job of Cotton bowl host.

LSU Gets Ninth

Ohio State, Michigan and Minnesota, all of whom ended their regular seasons a week ago, ran sixth, seventh and eighth, in that order. Ohio State, California's Rose bowl opponent, and Michigan each dropped a peg in the final ratings but Minnesota was a firm eighth.

Louisiana State, 21-0 conqueror of Tulane and Sugar bowl foe of Oklahoma, edged into the top ten, taking ninth place with a surprising 516-point vote.

College of Pacific, with one game to play, finished 10th with the help of an 88-0 romp over California Poly. Both Baylor and Tulane dropped out of the top ten.

Notre Dame polished off Southern California, 32-0, at South Bend Saturday in its last home game to solidify its position. It was the fourth Notre Dame title in 14 years of the AP poll.

The Irish were rated first in 1943, 1946 and 1947. Last year it was Michigan with Notre Dame second.

Final Ratings Given

The total final vote (first place votes in parenthesis):

1. Notre Dame (172)	2,402
2. Oklahoma (18)	2,018
3. California (40)	1,900
4. Army (12)	1,838
5. Rice	1,062
6. Ohio State	998
7. Michigan	848
8. Minnesota	522
9. Louisiana State	516
10. College of Pacific (4)	248

The second team—11. Kentucky, 222; 12. Cornell, 188; 13. Villanova, (2), 148; 14. Maryland, 134; 15. Santa Clara, 128; 16. North Carolina, 106; 17. Tennessee, 82; 18. Princeton, 46; 19. Michigan State, 30; 20. Missouri and Baylor, each 20.

Others receiving votes: Virginia, 18; Duke, 14; Pennsylvania, 10; Stanford, 8; Wofford, Tulane, William and Mary and Southern Methodist, each 6; Texas, Texas Christian and North Carolina State, each 3; Dartmouth, Wyoming, Southern California, UCLA, Vanderbilt, each 2; Brown, Wake Forest and Xavier, each 1.

Salser, Whiteface mentor; Jess Davis, Sundown coach; and Faris Nowell, Brownfield coach. (Staff hPoto.)

SWC Paced By Frogs' Berry

DALLAS, Nov. 29 (U.P.) — Lindy Berry, Texas Christian's small but mighty workhorse, stood head and shoulders above the Southwest conference field today in total offensive honors.

Berry played the latter part of the season behind a cumbersome plastic mask. But despite the handicap, he continued to hit receivers with fine accuracy and whirled to great yardage on the ground.

Berry's total for the season was 1,702 yards rushing and passing on 300 plays. Trailing for overall honors were Adrian Burk of Baylor with 1,347 yards on 221 plays and Paul Campbell of Texas with 1,263 on 218 plays.

Berry Leads Passers

In passing alone, Berry hit 106 times on 220 tries good for 1,445 yards. Burk completed 110 to 191 passes for 1,428 yards and Campbell tossed for 1,372 yards on 91 completions out of 182 tries.

In the "human tank" department, Arkansas' Geno Mazzanti paced the field, according to newly-released Southwest conference statistics. The piston-legged Mazzanti netted 743 yards for the season and was trailed by Sonny Wyatt of Rice with 714 and Texas A. & M.'s Bob Smith with 704.

Still in the running for ground-gaining honors, however, was SMU's Kyle Rote, with one game to play. Rote's total to date was 662 yards.

All-American Doak Walker, SMU's pride who has been handicapped by illness and injury this season, paced leading passers with a .586 percentage. Trailing closely was Burk with a .576 mark.

The leading pass receiver was Ben Proctor, hulking Texas end who galloped 724 yards on 43 catches. In second place, far behind, was TCU's Morris Bailey with 502 yards.

Southern Methodist's Rote has averaged 43.4 yards in punting, 1.7 yards more than the respectable average turned in by teammate Walker.

Bobby Dillon of Texas was the top punt returner with a 19-yard average. Berry was second with a 17.6 mark.

The Texas Longhorns posted the best offensive and defensive marks. They averaged 362.4 yards on offense and held opponents to a 206-yard average.

Baylor was second best on defense, allowing 226.7 yards, and Rice was the second most potent team on offense with a 353.5 average.

COACHING CLINIC HERE ENDS

Buff Cagers Drub Raiders, 67 To 45

The Fourth Annual Clarence Fox Coaching school came to a close last night at Chapman Fieldhouse, where a superior West Texas State college basketball squad trimmed Texas Tech 67-45.

The Buffaloes, showing near mid-season court form, literally blasted the Raiders out of the high school gym. They were hitting shots with deadly consistentency, passed well and carried the action all the way.

Tech was in the game for only the first five minutes, when they held a slim 6-3 edge. A minute later Dwaine Stewart put the Buffs in front for keeps with a crip shot that handled the visitors a 7-6 markin. After that Tech never really came close.

Buff players were deadly at the basket, hitting 42 percent of their shots, good at any time in the season, but especially good at this time of the year. Against that, Tech could hit only 27 percent.

Most of the time Buff players were able to drive in for crip shots, while their defense kept Raider basketeers taking pot shots from too far out to be effective. West Texas hit 11 of 32 attempts in the first half, while the Raiders hit only five of 27.

Both Gus Miller, West Texas State coach, and Polk Robison, Raider mentor, were satisfied with the exhibition. Miller expressed surprise at the percentage of shots, while Robison shook his head over Tech's obvious shortcomings.

Buffs Break Fast

Miller has been free to devote his time to his court squad and the results showed up. The Buffs were freaking for the basket quickly and well, they passed well and they split the defense to go in for crip shot after crip shot. It was the performance of a team that was beginning to add polish to extensive fundamental work.

The Raiders, on the other hand, could do little right. The predominantly sophomore team showed its inexperience. They were unable to break through the Buff defense with any degree of consistency, the passing was ragged and the players showed the lack of attention Coach Robison, tied up with football, has been able to give them.

Buffs Hog Rebounds

Probably the ultimate result was due as much to the way West Texas hogged rebounds and covered the backboard as it was to the high percentage of shots made. Raider Players refused to follow their shots most of the time and the Buffs were controlling backboard play.

A further line on Tech may be gained Wednesday night when they entertain McMurry here. Coach Robison said that a few players gave promise of developing and he will attempt to find the right combinations this week.

After the Buffs wrested the lead away at 7-6, they proceeded to find the range with deadly consistency. After 10 minutes of play they had a 14-8 lead and they upped that to 22-12 at the three-quarter mark.

Visitors Pull Away

The Raiders came back in the second half to narrow the West Texas lead to 10 points after two minutes, but the visitors pulled away rapidly to hold a 40-24 margin after five minutes of action. They upped this to 53-28 at the halfway point and held a 59-37 edge after 15 minutes of play.

Standouts for the Buffs were Hubert Kitchens, an all-conference star from last year, Sammy Malone, one of the five seniors on the squad, and Charles Barnard, the towering six foot seven center.

Jiggs Jackson, Jack Alderson and Irl Brown turned in the most consistent game for the Raiders, while other players showed flashes of future promise.

Jackson had scoring honors for the night with six field goals and two free thows for 14 points, while Barnard had 13 points and Kitchens, 11.

A large portion of the slim crowd watching the game were area high school coaches and their basketball players, who attended the coaching school. The exhibition game concluded the school, which opened Sunday with Robison and Miller as lecturers and their respective squads used for demonstrations. Members of the school also attended an official Border Conference rules interpretation meeting Sunday morning.

Port Arthur Top Schoolboy Eleven

DALLAS, Nov. 29 (AP)—Port Arthur finished the 1949 schoolboy football season rated the best team in Texas.

Sportswriters voting in the Dallas' News final poll gave the powerful Yellowjackets 21 points to 198 for second place Lubbock.

Wichita Falls, Corsicana, Marshall, Abilene, Austin, Highland Park (Dallas), Thomas Jefferson (San Antonio) and Pampa rounded out the top ten teams.

The second ten was made up of Breckenridge, Galveston, Paris, San Jacinto (Houston), Sunset (Dallas), Paschal (Fort Worth), Odessa, Grand Prairie, Conroe and Texarkana.

Coaches Speak At Grid Club

Lubbock High school and Texas Tech coaches shared speaking honors last night at the weekly Quarterback club meeting, with approximately 150 fans present at the Naval Reserve armory.

Both speak of last week's games and future schedules, with Pattison giving the forthcoming bi-district tilt with El Paso Austin the major part of his time. Presiding at the meeting and introducing the speakers was Bill Collins.

Coach Pattison limited his remarks about the Brownfield game, and expressed his appreciation for the automobile which was presented to him during impressive half-time ceremonies.

Panthers Are Fast

In speaking of the Austin game, Pattison said this would be the hardest game of the year to win, adding that he felt the team would be over the "hump" if they successfully passed this barrier.

He said that other teams Austin played had lots of respect for the Panthers, who were fast and have been developing all season. Their record is not too outstanding, but the losses were early in the season to good teams, Pattison remarked.

Coach Pattison pointed out that El Paso used a two-platoon system, with the defensive team being large but slower than the offensive eleven. A different type of offense will also be encountered, Pattison told the group, since Austin sets their tackles and ends wide at times, with large gaps between players in the line.

Floyd, Taylor Speak

Westerner assistant Coaches Bill Floyd and Fred Taylor were called upon to speak, each expressing gratitude for the gifts received last week.

Tech's Coach Morgan opened his talk by briefly reviewing the season and the games with teams in the Southwest conference.

"It is hard to compete in the Southwest conference and the Border conference too," Morgan said, explaining that the schools in the larger conference could offer more in the way of prestige to players making their teams. "The only way we can compete with schools in the Southwest conference is to be in the conference," Morgan stated, adding that each time Tech played one of the Southwest teams it went over its head.

Referring to the Hardin-Simmons game, Morgan said that he was proud of the team and that tackling was hard, adding that it was the kind of game he liked to win.

Praises Matador Club

In answer to a question about turning down of the Sun Bowl invitation, Morgan explained that expenses getting ready for the game and making the trip would not make it financially worthwhile.

Morgan said that next year Tech had an eleven-game schedule, including five SWC teams, with Texas opening the Raiders' home slate.

He praised the efforts of the Matador club this year and expressed his pleasure at being able to come before the Quarterback club each Monday adding that he hoped those present received some benefit from the meetings. Morgan then lauded the spirit of the people in Lubbock for their support and encouragement, saying that he hoped to be here for many years.

Two Texans Honored

Rowland Gets Spot On Team

NEW YORK, Nov. 29 (AP) — Two Texans made the Associated Press little All-America announced today.

They are Brad Rowland, great halfback of McMurry college, and Charles (Rough House) Williams, the great pass-catcher of Sam Houston State.

Eddie Lebaron of College of Pacific gained his third little All-America berth — the only player in the history of the minor college all-star eleven to be so honored.

Poised with the Pacific coast T formation wizard in the little All-America backfield are Rowland, William Young of Hillsdale college, the nation's leading scorer and Conrad Callahan of Morningside college in Sioux City, Ia.

Rowland Only Junior

Until the final week of the season Rowland was the leading scorer, only to be overtaken by Young, who counted 24 points in his school's 48 to 0 rout of Indiana State. Rowland, only junior in the first string backfield, finished the campaign with 108 points compared to Young's 121.

This point producing foursome, possible as great a quartet ever to be honored in the little All-America selections, would operate behind an all-star line that is spear-headed by Elbert Hammett, ace tackle of the equally unbeaten Wofford team. Wofford won all 11 of its games this season, counting 347 points as compared to 67 for its combined opponents.

Tackles Are Strong

The other tackle spot goes to Herbert McKinney of Missouri Valley, a football strongman who has been a regular on a team that has lost but two games during his four years of competition.

The end berths go to a pair of towering stars. Each is 6-3 and each scales just above the 200-pound mar. At one end is Claude Raditke of Lawrence, Appleton, Wis., while the other flang is guarded by Williams of San Houston State.

Vincent Sarratore of Chattanooga, was outstanding for his club the day it lost to Georgia and easily won a guard berth. Opposite him is Art Byrd of the Western Carolina Teachers. He is the watch-charm type popularized by the late Knute Rockne.

Robert Numbers of Lehigh, won out over Lambert Oberg of Trinity and Harvey Moyer of Wofford for the center berth. The one-time Allentown, Pa., prep star is a six-footer, weighs 202 and is 25 years old. He was rated a better pivot than any other collegiate center in the state of Pennsylvania by critics and coaches.

SEVERAL PLAYERS STILL HURT

Westerners Drill For Austin Clash

After a weekend of rest, the Lubbock Westerners began preparations Monday at Chapman field for their forthcoming bi-district tilt with Austin of El Paso Saturday in El Paso.

A hot sun and warm day brought out the perspiration in members of the team, and a few more days of such weather would get the Westerners in top shape for the afternoon battle Saturday.

Mentally the squad seems to be in fine shape, and physically it is improving, although a long way from top condition.

Long Blocking Drills

Coaches Fred Taylor and Bill Floyd had long, hard blocking drills early in the workout. The tackles, guards and centers under Coach Floyd gathered at the north end of Chapman field and concentrated on blocking and breaking loose from blocks.

SPECIAL FLIGHT PLANNED

Continental Air lines Monday announced tentative plans for a special round-trip flight to El Paso for Saturday's Lubbock-Austin bi-district football game. The proposed flight, which will be made if as many as 15 reservations are sold, is to leave Lubbock at 10:24 a. m. Saturday, and arrive here on the return flight at 10:30 p. m. Round trip fare will be $39.91, tax included. Reservations may be made by calling 9348.

Coach Taylor's ends were putting forth lots of effort perfecting their blocking techniques.

The backs meanwhile were working on offense, both running and passing, and different play patterns were used by all three backfield combinations.

The Lubbock Cowhands gave the Westerners a defensive drill late in the day by running plays similar to those that El Paso may use. Using a split-T attack, the Cowhands were stopped on all but a few occasions in a dummy scrimmage with the first eleven. A few pass plays were all that gained.

Head-on tackling and wind sprints closed out the workout.

Injuries sustained in the last three games seem to be healing. Guard Freddy Gray and Tackle Joe Brock were testing their injured knees by jogging around the field in sweat suits. End Billy Wright was back in uniform and working hard, showing no sign of his foot injury.

Injured in the Brownfield game were Fullback Don Rawls and Center Don Herriage, both with injuries to their right hand, and Guard Deverle Henslee. Henslee's right leg was fractured, but he may get back into action before the season ends. The small bone in his lower leg was cracked.

Coach Pattison said Monday that the team probably would leave Friday for El Paso, but no definite hour of departure has been set.

LAMAR SLATES GAMES

BEAUMONT, Nov. 29 (AP) — Lamar junior college of Beaumont will play Georgia Military college here Dec. 16 in the Spindletop bowl. The Cardinals on Dec. 9 will meet Pearl River junior college in the Memorial bowl at Jackson, Miss.

Louisiana, the "Pelican State," also is known as the "Creole State."

Between the Lines by Joe Kelly

The season may not be over for Texas Tech, as had been supposed, but as these lines are written Monday night, it looks as though the Raisin Bowl was fearful of guaranteeing Tech $17,500 to make the trip to Fresno, Calif. As a matter of fact, the sum is not unreasonable. Moreover, it was the one that Al Radka, chairman of the Raisin Bowl selection committee, said that the Raiders probably would be able to take away. He guaranteed Tech $14,000 to make the trip and said that they probably would get more. After talking it over, the athletic council was convinced that it should demand the highest sum mentioned, since they had turned down the Sun Bowl on the grounds that it wouldn't bring in enough revnue.

• • •

Not that Tech felt any moral obligation to the Sun Bowl whatsoever. As mentioned earlier, the Border Conference has turned down the Sun Bowl's urgent pleas that the conference winner automatically become obligated to appear in the El Paso extravaganza. Therefore, Tech did not feel that it had any debt to El Paso's bowl. And that if one came along that paid better and offered the players a more attractive proposition, they would at least consider it. So as not to keep the Sun Bowl committee hanging in air for a team, Tech turned down the bid as soon as it was received officially. No finger can be pointed at Tech. Its record is clear in regards to the Sun Bowl, which has tried and tried, year after year, to make the Border Conference winner feel that it is obligated morally to perform the major role in this chamber of commerce publicity.

• • •

As for Tech grabbing the Raisin Bowl after turning down the Sun Bowl, thereby virtually making Texas Western switch the situation, there's an easy answer to that. When the Raisin Bowl bid was extended to TWC, the Miners didn't know whether Tech would accept the Sun Bowl bid. And Tech didn't know that a bid to the Raisin Bowl would be extended, didn't anticipate that it would, in fact. Jack Curtice, TWC coach, was here Saturday and said that if Tech didn't accept the Sun Bowl bid, the Miners would. El Paso pressure was too heavy on them to refuse, unless the Raiders accepted the bid. Tech turned down the Sun, called the season over and retired from the picture —except that Fresno didn't see it that way. They wanted a Texas team and since they couldn't get Western, they liked the idea of Tech.

• • •

Actually, Tech did nothing to encourage a bid to a bowl game. They had been approached by Odessa promoters, who wanted them to appear there. They had been approached by Amarillo promoters, who wanted them to appear in a Shrine Bowl. They had been approached by the Optimist clubs of Lubbock and Abilene about playing a charity game here against McMurry, in addition to two other promotions, both of which would have been played here. But Tech turned a deaf ear to these bids primarily because of the football players. They felt that they had had a long season and playing in Odessa, Amarillo or Lubbock was no treat to them. Even the Sun Bowl was not attractive, because the players had been in El Paso-Juarez once this season. But the Raisin Bowl was different.

• • •

It was an attractive trip and the players knew it. They lost no time in expressing themselves in favor of it. The schedule called for them to leave Lubbock either by train or plane. If they left by train, they'd leave right after Christmas. If they flew, they'd leave Dec. 30, arriving that night. The game is scheduled for Saturday, Dec. 31. Right after the game the players would either board the train bound for Los Angeles, or the plane. They'd have New Year's eve in Los Angeles and on Monday would be the guests of the Raisin Bowl committee at the Rose Bowl game. be taken through 4(5qrzomD,hdi During the day Sunday they would be taken through Hollywood and feted there. They'd return to Lubbock by plane Jan. 3, or by train. If that isn't an attractive trip for college football players, we don't know what is.

• • •

Texas Tech's basketball team, turning from the gridiron to the basketball court, made its debut last night. It wasn't a very impressive one. Coach Polk Rooison, who has been busy helping the football team, hasn't had much more than one or two days a week with his court squad. As a result, it showed up in the play of the Raiders. They hustled, just as he said they would, but they were inept at best. Their biggest shortcoming was their failure to follow shots. West Texas controlled the backboard all night and therein lay the victory. Of course, that 42 percent shot average didn't hurt any, but when you control the backboards in basketball, you control the game. Tech also showed a marked failure to pierce the Buffola defense and this forced them to shoot from deeper court than they should. They weren't able to drive in for crip shots and this also hurt their cause deeply.

• • •

Before the season is over, we look for the Raiders to show marked improvement. The basic material is there and with Polk's guiding hand we expect it to develop. Gene Gibson, Jiggs Jackson and Charley Pinnell, the only lettermen back, didn't show to as good advantage as we expected. But Irl Brown, Ted O'Neil, Verdell Turner, Bill Eddins and Jack Alderson showed signs of developing into fine hands. They were still rough around the edges and they showed the need for polishing in several phases of the game. But they were bright spots in a dull night for the Raiders. There's bound to be a rough road for the Raiders until they get more game experience. With only three lettermen back and general lack of experience on the squad, there's no question that the early part of the season will be rough. Later on they may be one of the tougher teams in one of the tougher basketball conferences.

Wednesday Deadline For Cage Entries

Wednesday is the last day that area independent basketball teams will have to turn in registration and fees for entry in the city-sponsored basketball league.

Curtis Barrett, Recreation Department athletic official, said last night that Wednesday was the absolute deadline. He said that all rosters and fees for the winter's play must be submitted to him in the City hall not later than Wednesday night. There will be no extension of time.

Hopes Of Pony Fans Boosted

By ED FITE
United Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Nov. 29. (U.P.)—While Southern Methodist grid officialdom moaned today over SMU's chances against mighty Notre Dame here Saturday, there was a mounting groundswell of public feeling that SMU wasn't going to be slaughtered—and might even win.

The "hotel lobby" talk had it that the powerful Irish who have manhandled most of their opposition this season would "take it easy" against Coach Matty Bell's Mustangs.

Stingy With Points

Pointing up this talk was the fact that SMU supporters could get no more than 21 to 27½ points against the Irish even from the "smart money boys"—the gamblers.

Why, these fans ask, should SMU be less an underdog than North Carolina, a team with a Cotton bowl bid and record superior to the Mustangs? The Tarheels were "spotted" 30 points prior to their tilt with Notre Dame.

SMU, they point out, has been beaten three times and tied once while giving up almost as many touchdowns as they could muster themselves. And, today there was serious doubt that all-American Doak Walker would play.

Talk Is Revived

These angles revived the talk that Notre Dame is scaring away future opponents by running up humiliating scores.

Notre Dame, however, announced earlier in the season that its schedule was full for several years and that there was a waiting list for any future openings.

Those persons talking in such terms point out what happened to Notre Dame's relations with Tulane when the Irish virtually massacred the New Orleans Green Wave.

Immediately after its defeat, Tulane announced it would not renew contracts for a continuance of playing relations with the South Bend school.

Prior to the game, it was reported that the two schools had agreed verbally to at least a two-year extension of the contract which expires in 1950.

New Deal Football Banquet Held Here

Football players, coaches and the high school faculty of New Deal High school were honored last night at a banquet in Hotel Lubbock.

The banqquet, at which Elmer Tarbox made the feature address on "It's A Sport To Be A Lady Or Gentleman," was sponsored by the New Deal pep squad. Seventy-eight persons attended.

Coach H. T. Pior was toastmaster while Patsy Hood, Elizabeth Ashmore and Peggy Thurman presented musical entertainment.

The New Deal squad finished third in the District 4-A grid race, losing only two of eight conference games.

District 4-A Meet Is Set Wednesday

LEVELLAND, Nov. 29 (Spl.)—Officials of District 4-A will meet in the Levelland High school at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday to make plans for the forthcomfng year.

The meeting will not be held on Thursday night as was previously reported.

On the agenda is the selection of the All-District team.

Representatives of Sudan, Seagraves, and Sundown schools are expected to appear at the meeting to ask that their respective schools be readmitted to District 4-A.

These schools were dropped from A-4 membership because their high school enrollment did not reach requirements for Class A competition.

It will be necessary that a unanimous vote for this proposal be given by officials of member schools.

F. F. Johnson, superintendent of the O'Donnell schools, who is chairman of District A-4, will be in charge of the meeting.

TYLER HOST TEAM

TYLER, Nov. 29 (AP)—Tyler junior college will be the host team in the Texas Rose bowl here Dec. 10. The once-beaten Apaches accepted the invitation yesterday.

Player Voting Change Urged

NEW YORK, Nov. 29. (U.P.)—National league President Ford Frick, upset over excessive gambling on the outcome, offered suggestions today for changes in the current method of voting baseball's most valuable players.

Frick made his suggestions to Ken Smith of the New York Mirror, the Baseball Writers' association secretary-treasurer who is in charge of the balloting. The National league president admitted he was "upset" after learning of reported betting coups or the selection of Ted Williams as the most valuable player in the American league.

Gamblers apparently had learned of Williams' selection before it was publicly announced and Frick said, "hereafter, I would suggest that the announcement be made immediately after the vows have been counted. That should eliminate much of the betting through leaks."

Frick added, "I also think the writers should vote for the most valuable player after the season is finished instead of the last week of the season."

To Study Plan

According to Smith, Frick's second suggestion had been considered previously but the writers decided it would be unfair to players who did not participate in the World Series if the voting was done following the season instead of during it.

Frick's suggestions, however, will be entertained when the Baseball Writers association holds its annual meeting here, Dec. 13.

There were various reports that one local bettor had won $40,000 because he knew of Williams' selection before the announcement was made officially in the newspapers.

Cotton Bowl Heads Don't Hold Grudge

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Nov. 29—The Cotton bowl has taken a realistic view of the bowl situation.

It is the first bowl to admit that the colleges are going to think nothing of snubbing a bowl if there's a better deal elsewhere.

North Carolina did just that with the Cotton bowl last year. It didn't mind keeping the Cotton bowl on the hook while dickering with the Sugar bowl. In other words, North Carolina wanted to be sure of a bowl bid and the $100,000-plus that went with it. It really wanted to go to the Sugar bowl but it wanted the Cotton bowl available just in case.

Justice Is Attraction

So the Cotton bowl picks North Carolina this year and says so what—it's nothing new for a college to snub somebody. That's water under the bridge and this is another year and another bowl situation.

Thinking it over in the light of day, we are about convinced that the Cotton bowl got the best attraction after all despite North Carolina's three defeats—that is, since the Cotton bowl couldn't get Oklahoma, the prime attraction for any bowl.

A football player like Charlie Justice is worth about as much as a team with an undefeated record so far as the game itself is concerned. Bowl games determine nothing anyway.

Sam Baugh, the old Texas Christian university star who has become a legend in pro gridiron ranks, asked the question the other day when he signed a contract for his fourteenth season with the Washington Redskins.

"Why do you keep asking all the time, 'how much longer are you going to play?'"

We don't know how the sports writers who were interviewing Baugh answered that but if we'd been there it would have been something like this:

"Because you go around every year saying you're going to retire and 'this is my last season.' Only last summer you gave out an interview in Temple, Texas, that this would be your last season. The year before you gave out the same statement at Abilene."

Has Last Laugh

There comes a card signed by Walter Wendlandt in Vernal, Utah, which says: "RE: 13-0 Fish-Shorthorn game and 'lack of stars enrolling at A. and M.! Ha, ha, ha. Definitely not a fan."

We're not quite clear about what Walter is referring to unless it was our recent statement that Texas A. and M. hadn't been getting the schoolboy stars.

If so, we remind him as follows: The Texas Aggie fish beat Texas' freshmen last year but Thanksgiving day we saw the former freshmen play and the score was: Texas 42, Texas A. and M. 14. Also, we had not said A. and M. didn't get some good prospects this year.

DOCTOR DECLARED CASE HOPELESS

Catholics Meet In Secret To Check Man's "Miracle" Cure

LAFAYETTE, La., Nov. 29. (U.P.) —A special representative of the pope conducted secret hearings here today to determine whether a miracle saved the life of a man with a gangrenous appendix after doctors gave him up for lost.

The Catholic church was investigating the case of Herbert Theriot of Franklin, La. The first session was held Saturday.

Case Claimed Hopeless

On April 12, 1948, Dr. Guy Aycock of Franklin operated on Theriot and found that gangrene had set in at the appendix. The doctor closed the incision and said Theriot was a "hopeless" case medically.

A church spokesman said that today Theriot is in good health "to the amazement of medical science."

Theriot sad that after Dr. Aycock gave him up he asked sister Francis, superior of St. John's academy in Franklin, for help. She brought him a piece of the late Pere Antoine Moreau's bones.

Theriot said he held the relic over his incision and grasped a picture of Pere Antoine.

Doctor Now Dead

The next day, Theriot said, Dr. Aycock came to dress the incision and pronounced him out of danger. His recovery was rapid.

Dr. Aycock has since died. But he is understood to have written to Catholic authorities saying that the cure was unexplainable and must have been a miracle.

The church is now trying to determine whether Theriot's cure came by special intervention of God through Pere Antoine.

Pere Antoine, who is not now recognized as a saint by the church, founded the congregation of the holy cross in southwest Louisiana in 1846 and is said to have granted many favors of miraculous character to members of his congregation during his lifetime.

Houston Watchman Is Killed By Car

HOUSTON, Nov. 29 (U.P.) — An 81-year-old watchman was instantly killed last night when a car struck him, catapulting his body 10 feet into the air.

Fred E. Kincaid was crossing the street when he was hit by a car dirven by T. H. Dabney, 36. Dabney told officers he did not see the elderly man until the body rose into the air and landed on the hood of the car, wedged around a radio aerial.

British People Honor American Woman Who Has Been Doing Charity Work For 34 Years

BY JULIUS HUMI
NEA Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Nov. 29—The big silver cup on Mrs. Warren Pearl's desk in London bears the simple legend: "To a great American—from the British People."

It was presented the white-haired, gentle-faced woman as high tribute to a foreigner by Royal Princess Marie Louise—tribute for generosity that began in 1915 and will go on, Mrs. Pearl says, "even when they have to wheel me around in a bath-chair."

Her generosity is not confined to England alone. Now 69, Mrs. Pearl was doing charity work in the slums of New York before she was 20.

Lost Two Sons

Today she is connected with more than 240 charitable organizations, about 100 of them in the U. S. Friends estimate the money she has spent on the needy runs into the millions, although only she and her bank manager know the exact figure. And she has helped raise millions more.

In 1915, Mrs. Pearl and her husband, a one-time U. S. embassy official in London, were on the Lusitania when it was torpedoed. Two sons were lost in the disaster, and she came back to England determined to dedicate her time and money to needy children. Although she had planned to stay only five years, Mrs. Pearl has been in England ever since except for annual visits to New York.

"I am lucky," she says. "I was born with money and a social position. But ever since that fateful day in 1915, I have known somehow that unless I could share my happiness with those less privileged, I would get little satisfaction in my life."

War Hits Again

During World War I she financed and organized a 100-truck civil ambulance outfit. Between the two wars she became famous in London society for the parties she organized for charities.

During World War II tragedy struck again. Her son Duncan, a pilot officer with the R.A.F., was killed in action over Britain. That second disaster only seemed to have spurred further activity, directed specially for war orphans and widows. She spent three hours daily packing parcels for prisoners of war. She made daily visits to hospitals, bringing gifts to the wounded, providing taxis for soldiers going home on convalescent leave. But she seldom left clues to her identity.

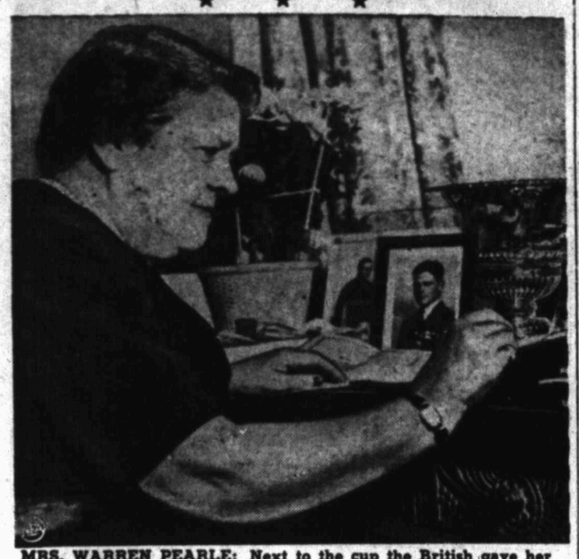

"Over the years I have given cinema shows, balls, parties and tried dozens of ways of raising money for the poor," she says. "I, suppose I have a gift that way, maybe it's because I have kissed the Blarney stone.

Still An American

"I am still an American," she adds with emphasis. "But I love England, and am in the lucky position to have roots both here and in America, where I have a married daughter." She also has another son now a practicing lawyer in London.

"Most charity organizations have become used to appealing to me for funds, and most of my friends have become used to my appealing to them," she admits. "I don't know how much I have raised, but I know it's not enough."

At the moment Mrs. Pearl is busy organizing a bridge party to be held sometime this November. She herself does not play bridge, but she will see to it that within a week of the party a check of more than 1000 pounds ($2800) will go to some charity organization.

LILIENTHAL RESIGNATION A RELIEF

New Trouble Ahead For HST Over Appointments To Offices

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 (AP) — There may be new trouble ahead for some of President Truman's appointments, although David E. Lilienthal's resignation has calmed one threatened storm.

By all odds the President's choice of a new chairman for the Atomic Energy commission is not likely to be anyone half so controversial as the departing Lilienthal.

Lilienthal has asked to be relieved of his job December 31, but probably will stay on for a while after Congress meets in January.

Terms of all five atomic commissioners expire next June 30 under a law passed by the Republican 80th Congress.

Some Senators Relieved

The anti-Lilienthal bloc in the Senate, numbering some of its veteran and powerful members, had planned to make the expected renomination of the present commissioners the occasion for a new battle against the chairman.

There is evidence that some of Lilienthal's staunchest Senate supporters — including such men as Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) — have greeted the chairman's resignation with something akin to relief.

It is reported to be their view that Lilienthal has done a top-notch job but it would please them to have in the chairmanship a man who wasn't forced to take up so much of his time defending himself from continual congressional attacks.

If Mr. Truman finds an outstanding appointee for the chairmanship, there seems unlikely to be any trouble in the Senate over confirmation of the other members of the commission.

Other Troubles Ahead

Even with the easing of his troubles on the atomic front, the President is likely to find Senate opposition to other nominees.

The case of Carroll O. Switzer, given a recess appointment as a federal judge for southern Iowa, is a case in point.

Senator Gillette (D-Iowa), who called Switzer's nomination a personal affront to him, hasn't lessened his opposition. That opposition was such that the Senate didn't act on the nomination in the last session, although it was submitted June 9 and the lawmakers didn't go home until October.

By custom, the President submits new nominations for recess appointments within 40 days after the Senate convenes in a new session.

If Switzer's nomination goes to Capitol hill again, the betting is that it won't reach final Senate action in the next session. In such a case, Switzer would be out automatically with the session's end. Mr. Truman then might name another man more suitable to Gillettee in the first session of the 82nd Congress.

Judge Choices Fought

Another judgeship appointment —that of M. Neil Andrews to the northern district court in Georgia —faces a Senate fight. Senator Russell (D-Ga) is against Andrews and may be able to stop the confirmation.

Similarly, Senator Watkins (R-Utah) is fighting the appointment of Willis W. Ritter as federal judge for Utah.

Pending also is the controversy over the President's choice of Rep. Herman P. Eberharter of Pennsylvania as judge of the western district of that state. Unlike the others, Eberharter didn't get a recess appointment.

His nomination expired when the Senate quit for the year and it will be up to the President to decide whether to send it up again.

European Picture As Static As All Get Out

Military Situation Sized Up By Army Officer Of Taft Era

BY HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK.—I dropped in the other day to get a quick sizeup on the international military situation from my old friend, Col. Amos Frothing, USA.

The antique gent retured from active service during the Taft administration, but still likes to phone an occasion word of friendly advice to the Pentagon.

I found the cunn'l knee deep in his 1909 cavalry boots, sipping some 100 proof bourbon and growling at a typewriter.

"What're you up to, sir?" I asked, tossing him a snappy boy scout salute.

Teddy Took Wrong Path

"Well, I'm writing a piece for the Infantry Journal that makes all histories of the Spanish-American war obsolete," said the colonel. "I've just discovered Theodore Roosevelt took the wrong path up San Juan hill."

To pry the old fellow out of the past, I asked him what he thought of the present military picture in Europe.

"Static, junior. It's static as all get out."

"Do you foresee war?"

"Certainly I foresee war," snorted Col. Frothing. "That's my job. I can foresee war as long as the human race stays as lamebrain as it is now."

I asked him when he thought the festivities with Russia would begin.

"Russia?" he said. "What makes you think we'll go to war with Russia?"

"Well, a lot of people seem to think that—"

Germans No Fools

"A lot of people probably think nylon comes from worms, just because silk does," growled the venerable vet. "But that don't make it so.

"Look, son, you may grow old and die, and your children may grow old and die, before we have to fight Russia. There may be a war with ten other countries before that, including Germany."

He saw my eyebrows go up.

"A lot of darn fools are saying we should re-arm the Germans to serve as a buffer between us and the Russians," said the colonel testily.

"That's nonsense. I was glad to see General Bradley is deadset against that idea. Smart fellow, that Bradley—for a young man under 60.

"Son, never give a gun to the Hun. I got too much respect for the Germans to think you can pay them to fight our wars. If they get guns again, they'll use 'em any dam' way they think will serve them best. They might team up with the Russians to whip us, and then turn around and lick the tar out of the Russians. In fact, that's just what I think they'd do. They don't have any inferiority complex once they start goose-stepping, you know.

"Hiring a German army to fight for us would be just like trying to employ the late Jesse James as a bank guard."

New York Red Out Of Council

NEW YORK, Nov. 29. (AP)—Benjamin J. Davis, jr., one of the eleven convicted Communist leaders, has been ousted from his seat in the New York City council as unfit to hold office.

The 46-year-old negro, the only admitted Communist holding a major public office in the nation, was unseated yesterday by his fellow councilmen.

The council ruled that Davis is unfit to sit because of his recent conviction in federal court. He and ten other top American Reds were found guilty of conspiracy to advocate violent overthrow of the government.

Ouster Denounced

Corporation Counsel John P. McGrath told the council state law provides that conviction of a felony automatically ends the term of an elected official.

Davis, who had only until Dec. 31 to serve in his $5,000-a-year post, called the ouster "a police state procedure and legislative lynching." He told a news conference that he considers the ouster illegal, and that he will consult a lawyer about a possible court contest.

Davis and his ten convicted codefendants are free in bail while appealing prison terms and fines imposed for conspiracy.

Rites Set Today For Victims Of Accident

KILGORE, Nov. 29 —Last rites were to be held here today for five members of a family who died in a fiery auto-train collision.

H. H. Kilpatrick, 35, his wife and five children were en route here from Whiteface when their car and attached house trailer Saturday crashed into a moving train near Lueders. The car and trailer caught fire.

Kilpatrick and three children—Jerry, 13, Elsie, 10, and Sylvia, 7—died in the burning wreckage. Mrs. Kilpatrick, 33, died yesterday in a Stamford hospital.

Two of the children, Christine, 14, and Joyce, 8, were burned, but will recover.

NEGRO IS SHOT

MIDLAND, Nov. 29 (AP)—Melvin Ward, negro ranch worker, was fatally shot on a ranch near here yesterday. Police said his wife surrendered a firearm to rancher Les Floyd.

New Post Office At Levelland Planned

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29 (Spl.) Levelland will get a new $350,000 post office building, Sen. Lyndon Johnson's office reported Monday.

The Post Office department will begin negotiations in a few days for site acquisition and planning, the announcement said. Construction will come later after Congress appropriates additional funds.

SCIENCE WORKING ALL ANGLES

Drunkometer Gets Goods On Guilty And Protects Innocent

NEW YORK, Nov. 29. (AP)— Science is working both sides of the street. Not only does it develop drinks that are more tempting, but it also comes up with better devices to blast your alibi if you have too many.

Among the displays at the chemical industries exposition here is a streamlined 1950 model "alcometer," which might more aptly be called a "drunkometer."

It's about the size of a small console radio and the manufacturers say it's as easy to operate. It has a sloping panel with about half a dozen controls, a large dial with a pointed and a tube sticking out the right hand side.

Legal Evidence In Places

You blow your breath into the tube. The operator of the machine, a refinement of earlier models, manipulates the controls. Eight minutes later the hand on the dial moves over the telltale evidence—cold sober, mildly intoxicated, or stinko.

The machine, made by Alfred Bicknell associates of Cambridge, Mass., was developed by Dr. Leon A. Greenberg and associates in the department of applied physiology at Yale university.

Dr. Greenberg explained that the dial is calibrated to show the percentage of alcohol in the blood. This has been accepted in a number of states as legal evidence of degree of intoxication. The machine actually measures the amount of alcohol on the breath, but translates this to percentage in the blood because the two are related by a fixed ratio.

Innocent Protected

Dr. Greenberg said the universally accepted measurements are these: Up to .05 per cent alcohol in your blood, sober; .05 to .15 per cent, your command of your faculties probably is impaired but that alone is not proof you're drunk; from .15 up, no question about it—you're plastered.

That .05 to .15 range, he explained, is the range covering the differences in individuals which cause one persons to be cutting capers on two martinis and another to be steady as a rock even after four or five. But he said that beyond .15, it can be safely be concluded a person is drunk no matter how well he can hold his likker.

One advantage of the machine, he declared, is that it is much faster and simpler than taking a blood sample and making an analysis. The gadget also is portable, so it can be taken to practically any location and plugged into the nearest light socket.

Dr. Greenberg and the manufacturers both emphasize that the machine not only gets the goods on the guilty, but protects the innocent. If you really did have "only a couple of beers," the machine will back you up. And it also protects persons suffering from shock, diabetic coma or other conditions which might cause them to be erroneously charged with being intoxicated.

Seer Says Rita's Baby Will Be Girl

LAUSANNE, Nov. 29 (INS) —An amateur fortune-teller told Rita Hayworth today that she will give birth to a girl but the Hollywood screen star had little faith in the seer and continued to knit a baby-blue outfit for a boy.

The wife of Prince Aly Khan received her prediction from jovial Pierre Rappas, her favorite restaurant owner, whom she asked what the sex of her child would be.

"You will have a girl," said Rappas when Rita showed him her hands, palms up. When asked for an explanation, Rappas said:

"When one shows her hands with the palms up, it will be a girl because girls are always lost in the clouds. When the palms are down it will be a boy because boys keep their feet on the ground."

New Drug

causing the illness," Dr. Duncan said, adding.

"Neomycin will be used in a very wide range of disorders but I wouldn't be able to tell in advance what it might cure or not.

"We will use it only in cases in which streptomycin or other known anti-biolic drugs prove ineffective.

"That's the only excuse to use it until we know more about neomycin."

Germ Signs Vanished

Pitzer, fighting a 105-degree fever, was given his first intramuscular injection of neomycin Sept. 3. He showed immediate improvement.

Other injections were given at four-hour intervals. Within 14 hours, all signs of the germ had vanished. Injections were continued for five more days at six-hour intervals. Pitzer said the only discomfort he experienced was at the point of injection.

Today Pitzer is working regularly and taking no further medication.

Jones first received treatment Sept. 15. Six days later neomycin injections were halted.

Eight pharmaceutical firms are manufacturing neomycin but only in minute quantities because its final effect on humans is still not known.

Says Dr. Duncan: "It appears certain that neomycin is another step forward in the battle against disease."

Five FFA Members Honored For Work

Five members of the Cooper Future Farmers of America chapter were honored the past week for outstanding work during their first year of vocational agriculture studies.

They were: Don Greene, Glen Hunt, Don Patterson, W. D. Granger and Glen Richardson. Each boy was presented with a silver FFA emblem by H. E. Owen, chapter adviser, following initiation ceremonies in which they advanced from the Green Hand to the Chapter Farmer degree.

Cecil Bradshaw is president of the chapter.

17-Year-Old Youth Guilty Of Bigamy; Given Prison Term

ROANOKE, Va., Nov. 29 (AP) — Sherman Lovelace is a convicted bigamist at the age of 17.

Tried yesterday in Hustings court here, Lovelace was speedily found guilty of having three wives and was given three years in the state penitentiary.

A handsome, dark-haired youth, Lovelace was accused of marrying in Roanoke on August 2, 1949; in Sullivan county, Tenn., in August, 1948; and on Jan. 4, 1948, in Tucson, Ariz.

His conviction yesterday did not end his troubles. He still faces federal charges of illegally wearing a Navy uniform and of being in illegal possession of forged Army discharge papers.

Lovelace won't be 18 until next May.

School Aid

lowing the talks by Stoke and Woodward, the Texas university regent said:

"I am amazed at the emphasis being placed on the word 'security.' So little is said about the word 'opportunity.' You can get security in any penitentiary."

Dr. Ernest V. Hollis of the U. S. office of education predicted yesterday that President Truman will seek millions of dollars for aiding needy high school graduates to obtain college educations.

What the president has in mind, he said in an interview, is a program of scholarship grants.

These grants, he said, would be awarded to high school graduates with the "best minds" all over the nation and would be limited to those who otherwise could not afford to go to college.

The main motive behind the plan, said Hollis, is to provide the nation with intelligent, well-trained leaders.

Another purpose, he added, is to cushion the expiration of the G. I. educational aid program.

E. A. Bills Is Chosen 64th District Judge

The resignation of Judge C. D. Russell of Plainview and appointment of E. A. Bills of Littlefield as judge of the 64th Judicial district has been announced by Gov. Allan Shivers, according to an Associated Press dispatch received here.

The change will be effective Dec. 31, with the first session of court under Judge Bills beginning Jan. 2, in Plainview.

Judge Russell, who was appointed to the office some 14 years ago upon the death of Judge R. C. Joiner, forwarded his resignation to the governor a few days ago. State judges now may retire under a new state retirement plan for the judiciary.

The appointment of Bills by Gov. Shivers came after the lawyers of the district gave him their unanimous endorsement. He plans to remain in residence in Littlefield, and will travel to Plainview for court sessions.

IN HOLLYWOOD: BY ERSKINE JOHNSON

Ginger Receives Bacall Role; Lauren Still Needles Studio

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 29 (NEA)—Ginger Rogers surprised a lot of people, including herself, I think, when she accepted that role in "Storm Center" which Lauren Bacall turned down. It wasn't so long ago that Ginger wouldn't even consider a script that wasn't tailor-written for her. A script rejected by another star would have been out of the question.

Johnson

Lauren is still issuing statements, hoping to get Warner Brothers mad enough to tear up her contract.

A friend was ribbing Marie Wilson about her dog, Mr. Hobbs, following theft of a $6000 mink coat from her home.

"A fine watch dog," he said. "You go to Ciro's and a burglar comes into your home and steals your mink."

"Oh," explained Marie, "the dog was at Ciro's guarding ME."

Unpredictable Lana Turner: She was holding hands with Bob Topping at the LaRue. Five minutes later she rushed to the powder room for a good cry. No explanation.

Plenty of unfilmed drama behind the suspension of Alexis Smith for turning down "The Shoplifter" at UI, and her replacement by Andrea King.

Alexis nixed the part, screaming that she's not a heavy—the role would have put her on the wrong side of the law. Andrea was having tea with friends when she received a call from her agent to rush over to UI. It was the first she knew that the role was hers. That's how fast things happened.

VIRGINIA MAISON reports a startling marquee sign:

"She Wore a Yellow Ribbon and Selected Shorts."

Dana Andrews hopes to make an independent film after doing "Edge of Doom" for Goldwyn. He's writing the story himself—an adventure yarn about the white dictator of a small island in the South Seas.

Farley Granger and Shelley Winters want to do a New York play together. How about a movie first?

Elopement rumors about Jack Carson and Lola Allbright are slightly premature. He's still married, although separated, from singer Kay St. Germaine. . . . Tallulah Bankhead's agents are talking to all studios about "The Tallulah Bankhead Story." Wouldn't Tallulah makes a wonderful Tallulah?

Hollywood's documentary, on-the-spot filming methods has a new convert in veteran director Henry King. King shot most of "The Princes of Foxes" on location in Italy and now says:

WHAT A COMBINATION

DANNY KAYE and Humphrey Bogart may wind up in a film together at Warners. The word is out to find a story to fit the two.

Columbia is making nothing but money with a reissue of "Adam Had Four Sons." William Wyler and Anatole Litvak were talking about directing movies and Wyler said:

Trade Troubles Are Faced By Pakistan

KARACHI, Nov. 29, (AP)—The United Kingdom always would be a willing buyer of Pakistan jute and cotton provided they were offered at prices she could afford to pay, said W. Godfrey, senior U. S. Trade Commissioner in Pakistan.

Addressing a meeting of the Pakistan Institute of International Affairs, Godfrey said that because of Pakistan's non-devaluation of her rupee the U. K.-Pakistan trade relations were bound to be affected.

Word "Press" Impressive On U. S. Cameraman's Phony Card

By GAIL FOWLER
Associated Press Staff Writer

★ ★ ★

SEATTLE, Nov. 29 — If you want to impress some officious somebody in Europe, just flash the word PRESS. At least, thats' what a Swedish student at the University of Washington learned this year while making a photographic trip through France, Belgium and Denmark.

JACK JARVIS and his cards

And it brought chuckles to whimsical Jack Jarvis, night city editor of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, when Nils Fritzner, the student, told him about it on his return the other day.

Card Comes In Handy

Seems that before Nils headed for a summer in Europe he came across some of Jarvis' screwball cards. Jarvis has his own basement printshop as a hobby, and delights in issuing membership cards to such zany organizations as "The What's In It For Me Association," the Don't Let Anybody Tell You Different Association" and scads of others, which he grinds out weekly. Most have "press" printed along the end.

Jarvis had no idea that one which he gave to Fritzner would prove such an open sesame.

Nils was telling about it.

"We were in Copenhagen. There was a garden party, with the king and queen as guests. I wanted to get in to photograph the royal guests. The doorman said 'NO.' I flashed some credentials. The doorman happened to look at one card protruding from my billfold, the word 'press' stood out like a beacon. The doorman oh'd and ah'd, bowed from the waist, opened the door and fairly pushed me into the royal presence.

"From then on I was 'in' in a big way. Whenever I discovered that the person trying to keep me out of something didn't understand English, I flashed the card. Everyone knew the word 'press.' Officials at a sailing meet even put me aboard one of the boats so I could get better pictures."

In Belgium a customs official was going to hold his cameras. Out came the card. The customs man read the word 'press' and apologized.

Managements of Paris night clubs showered him with guest cards. They fell all over themselves to extend the courtesies to the "American press photographer."

Same thing atop the Arc de Triomphe. A guard demanded a fee for Nils to take photographs. Nils showed the 'press' to a gendarme. The gendarme then gave the guard the French equivalent of What For, for interfering with the "American press photographer."

Skeletons Found In Pacific Identified

AUCKLAND, Nov. 29. (AP)—The mystery of New Zealand's tall skeletons may have been solved. Experts think they are the bones of Maoris who died in an epidemic after the Maori wars fought with British settlers in the middle of the last century.

The skeletons were dug up on lonely Ruapuke Beach in the north island, early last year. They were unusually long, some measuring as much as seven feet. The bones, wrapped in rugs and mats, were in wooden coffins, rotting from age. Some of the skulls were fractured.

Some people thought the bones might be those of survivors of a wreck of a Nordic vessel, but Dr. R. A. Fall, director of the New Zealand Museum in Wellington, thinks the skeletons are those of Maoris.

ODESSA, PANOLA MEET

ODESSA, Nov. 29 (AP)—Odessa and Panola will clash here Friday for the Texas junior college conference football championship. Odessa won the western division title and Panola the eastern zone crown.

Weekly Briefs

County Judge Walter Davies Monday filed two judgments in which pleas had been entered several days earlier, officials said. One assessed a fine of $75 and court costs against Bryan Farmer, charged Thursday with drunk driving; and $25 and costs against C. W. Elliott, in a check law violation charge so old that it had been placed on the dormant docket of county court a year ago. Elliot's plea was entered for him by an attorney.

A civil petit jury that reported Monday to 99th District Judge G. V. Pardue was told to report back at 9 a. m. Wednesday.

Mrs. J. E. Shewbert, 2223 Fifteenth, has returned to her home after undergoing major surgery on Nov. 8 at Lubbock Memorial hospital. A son, Rev. J. A. Shewbert and family of Colorado City, and a daughter, Mrs. W. A. Moore of Nashville, Tenn., were at her bedside the past week. She is still confined to her bed but was reported recuperating satisfactorily.

W. D. Rogers was awarded the president's cup for making the best talk at the dinner meeting of the Toastmasters' club at the Hilton hotel last night. His talk highlighted a program which included talks by B. Watkins, Leland Culp and a ten-minute debate by C. W. Ratliff, Norman Gibson of Amherst, Ray Chapman and Waggoner Carr. Lou Walker presided at the meeting; Warren F. Iler was toastmaster and Ira Dunlap topicmaster. Critics were: Winston Robertson, A. S. Meinecke, Dr. Weston Petty and Tom Murphey.

Joseph William Bean, 24, charged Nov. 3 with desertion of two minor children, was arrested by Tom Cannon, deputy sheriff. J. R. Thomas, 36, of Amarillo and Vernon, was arrested for bond forfeiture, outgrowth of his failure to appear for trial of a drunk driving charge filed approximately a year ago, official said.

Marcos Huerto of New Home told police Monday several articles had been stolen from his car parked in the 800 block Broadway. Missing, he said, were two blue sun shades, a blanket and three hood ornaments.

SECOND INCIDENT IN FAR EAST

U. S. Protests To Nationalist China Over Shelling Of Ship

WASHINGTON, Nov. 29. (AP)—The State department drafted an "energetic protest" to the Chinese Nationalist government today as a result of a second attack on an American merchant ship.

The skipper of the vessel, the Sir John Franklin, declared shells from two Nationalist warships struck his ship 12 times during a barrage of about an hour.

The incident, piling up new troubles for the U. S. and China, occurred yesterday at the mouth of the Yangtze river, near Communist-held Shanghai.

First Protest Unanswered

It was at virtually the same spot where another ship of the same line, the Flying Cloud, was shelled by a Nationalist warship on Nov. 15. An American protest filed at that time has produced no reply from the Nationalist government, which at the moment is shifting capitals again to escape the advancing Communists.

The new attack brought new demands from the ships' operators, the Isbrandtsen Co., of New York, that the U. S. government protect American commerce.

There was no hint from any official source, however, that in the present fast-changing stage of developments in China the U. S. plans to do more than protest.

The warships presumably were enforcing a Nationalist order issued last June declaring Shanghai and other major Communist-held ports to be closed to international commerce.

Blockade Not Recognized

The U. S. and other maritime nations have refused to recognize this order as a valid blockade, and several ships of the Isbrandtsen round-the-world service have ventured into Shanghai in the face of the Nationalist ban.

Captain Warren Harding, master of the Sir John Franklin, radioed in a message, relayed to the State department from Shanghai, that the two warships opened fire from a distance of 500 yards without the traditional preliminary of a warning shot across the bow.

Harding reported that the warships were destroyer escorts.

He said that when they signalled the American ship to stop as it was passing over a bar at the mouth of the Yangtze river, he replied: "Cannot anchor here, shallow water. Board us (while) under way or accompany us to deep water anchorage and then board us."

He said the shooting kept up even after the Sir John Franklin reached deep water and signaled the pursuers that the ship was dropping anchor.

Receipt of this message cleared up some initial official confusion whether the shots were fired by Nationalist warships or Communist shore batteries.

Department press officer Michael J. McDermott told reporters that on the basis of the second report "the department will file an energetic protest with the Nationalist government."

Man Is Charged In Shooting At Lamesa

LAMESA, Nov. 29 (Special) — Orencio Olivares, about 45, was charged with assault with intent to murder here Monday as another Latin-American, Joe Garza, about 30, lay critically wounded in a local hospital from a .38 caliber gunshot wound in his chest.

Olivares was charged in connection with the Garza shooting which occurred about 6:30 p. m. Sunday in Lamesa's Mexican section. The jailed man was released under $1,000 bond Monday afternoon.

Although Garza's condition was described as critical, Dr. S. Z. Frazier said chance for recovery is good. Garza was struck by one shot from a .38 caliber revolver, according to Sheriff Roy King.

Officers recalled that Olivares and Garza had a fight in 1947 which cost Olivares the sight of one of his eyes. He has been wearing a glass eye since that time.

Carolina Governor Has Byrnes Figured In Presidential Race

RALEIGH, N. C., Nov. 29. (AP)—Former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes for president in 1952?

The governor of North Carolina says so.

Gov. Kerr Scott, in a news conference yesterday, said speculation at the recent southern governors' conference at Biloxi, Miss., had the matter figured out this way:

Byrnes, former chief justice of the Supreme Court and war mobilier, would run for governor of South Carolina next year. (Byrnes said several weeks ago he was considering a try for the governorship). In 1952 States' Rights Democrats would propose him to the Democratic party as its candidate for the presidency. If the party objected, the States' Righters would attempt to persuade Byrnes to run on a States' Rights ticket.

Asked if there was indication that the States' Rights Democrats had attempted to make the Biloxi meeting a rally for their cause, Governor Scott replied "yes."

Love Burglar Gets $10, Some Kisses

HOUSTON, Nov. 29 (U.P.)—A "love burglar" got $10 and a few kisses today and fled in the dark while his victims screamed for neighbors.

An attractive housewife told police she woke up at 2:30 a. m. when a man started kissing her.

When she roused and discovered it wasn't her husband, she screamed and the amorous stranger left.

The husband, awakened by his wife's screams, found the intruder had taken $10 from his billfold before approaching his wife's bed.

Suicide Ruled In Shooting Of Woman

HOUSTON, Nov. 29 (U.P.)—Mrs. Lois Grace Schem, 43, despondent over her husband's death, shot herself to death in her home here late yesterday.

Her body was found in a bedroom by police, who had been called by neighbors. Beside the body was a note which read, "believe me, no one is to blame." A pistol lay on the floor.

Neighbors said Mrs. Schem had never fully recovered from the shock of her husband's death a year ago.

Justice of the Peace Tom Maes returned a verdict of suicide.

Husky Railroad Worker Is Named As Top Male Crochet Champion Of U. S.

CHICAGO, Nov. 29 (AP)—Joseph Dolinaj, a husky railroad signal operator from Dunellen, N. J., the nation's new male crocheting champion, attributes his success to his wife.

Proudly holding an engraved loving cup for his prize entry, at the National Needle Craft bureau's eighth annual crochet contest, Dolinaj said:

"I wouldn't be what I am today if I hadn't bet my wife $5 I could crochet better than she could. I couldn't even hold the needle. She had to show me. I got some books and practiced until I won the bet. Now she's given up. I do all the crocheting for my family."

Dolinaj won the $5 bet from his wife six years ago and his winning entry of a white cotton tablecloth in a filet crochet design brought him a prize of $100. He hopes to sell it for $350.

Dolinaj said during his spare time at work he crochets, and when Mrs. Dolinaj "takes the kids to a movie, I stay home and crochet."

Mrs. Thomas L. Nightingale, 72, a great-grandmother of Sacramento, Calif., was named grand national crocheting champion.
