Baker Links LBJ To Money Woes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bobby Baker testified today that around July 1962, he went to see "the best friend I had around the Capitol," the then vice president, about his financial problems.

Baker did not mention the name, but President Lyndon B. Johnson was vice president at the time.

Testifying in his own defense at his trial on income tax evasion and other charges, Baker said also that he had overpaid his 1961 income taxes rather than underpaying them by $1,504 as the government alleges.

"I was in very serious financial difficulty," Baker related concerning the 1962 incident. "I went to the best friend I had around the Capitol. I went to see the then vice president and told him I had a very serious problem."

KERR CALLED

Baker said he asked the vice president's advice, and he picked up a telephone and called "his friend and my friend," the late Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D-Okla.

Baker said he, meaning the vice president, "advised me to go immediately to Sen. Kerr's office, which I did."

Baker said he told Kerr about his financial problems, and Kerr made arrangements for a $250,000 loan from the Fidelity Bank & Trust Co. in Oklahoma City, Okla.

PERSONAL LOAN

Kerr also said he would make a personal loan to Baker for $50,000, Baker said.

Earlier, Baker's chief lawyer, Edward Bennett Williams, had named Kerr as the recipient of $100,000 given by California savings and loan officials to Baker as senatorial campaign contributions. The government has charged that Baker kept about $80,000 of the $100,000.

Williams said he would prove that all of the money, most of it in $100 bills, was turned over by Baker to the late Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D-Okla. A few weeks later, on Jan. 1, 1963, Kerr died of a heart attack.

TAX CHARGE

Today, Williams put Baker on the stand and began questioning him about 1961, the first of two years in which Baker is accused of evading taxes totaling about $22,000.

Baker said he, former Gov. Luther H. Hodges of North Carolina and Seby Jones, a Raleigh, N.C., businessman, each had a one-third interest in a Howard Johnson motor lodge and restaurant at Charlotte, N.C.

When Hodges was chosen secretary of commerce in the John F. Kennedy administration in 1961 he decided, according to the testimony, to sell his interest to Baker and Jones for $56,430, the sum to be paid on the installment plan.

INTEREST PAYMENT?

Baker said that a sum of $913.12 which he deducted from his income tax for that year represented interest he paid to Hodges. Testifying earlier in the trial, Hodges said he did not consider this interest but part of the purchase price.

Under questioning by Williams, Baker said "I believed then and I believe now that this was an interest payment."

Testimony has shown the $100,000 in cash was raised in the fall of 1962 by California savings and loan executives who had just successfully opposed a tax provision in pending legislation.

CASH FOUND

The money was intended, Williams said, to be delivered to Kerr for distribution among various Democratic senators.

In relating that Baker received the money, which was mostly in $100 bills, and turned it over to Kerr, Willaims said: "It went precisely where it was supposed to go, and Mr. Baker did not commit a theft from California savings and loan executives."

He said a large part of the cash was found in Kerr's Washington safe deposit box after his death. Kerr suffered a heart attack in December, 1962, and died Jan. 1, 1963.

Scene Brings Protest

Lars Brandt, 16, son of West German Foreign Minister Willy Brandt, swings an Iron Cross in scene from film version of Gunter Grass' novel, "Cat and Mouse." The producer says the government, which granted a $75,000 subsidy for the film, wants its money back unless he cuts some scenes, including the one in which young Brandt wears the Iron Cross, which was one of Germany's highest wartime decorations. (AP WIREPHOTO by cable from Frankfurt)

Political Storm Brews Over Movie

BONN, Germany (AP) — A political storm is brewing over a movie in which a son of Foreign Minister Willy Brandt playfully wears an Iron Cross on his bathing suit.

Lars Brandt, 16, toys with one of Germany's highest wartime decorations in the film version of Guenter Grass' novel "Cat and Mouse." The decoration is the knight's cross, one of the higher grades of the Iron Cross.

The film, to be premiered in Berlin in February, received a $75,000 subsidy from the interior ministry. That was before Brandt's Social Democratic party joined the government last month and before Brandt became foreign minister and vice chancellor.

WANTS MONEY BACK

Producer Hansjuergen Pohland says the government wants its money back unless he cuts some scenes, including the one in which young Brandt wears the decoration.

"We have no intention of complying with these demands," a spokesman for the film company said.

He added that Brandt had requested deletion of some scenes earlier and Pohland complied, but the Iron Cross scene was not among them.

"Mr. Brandt had a right to ask this because he is the father of our two stars," the spokesman said. "But under the West German constitution, the government is not supposed to censor films."

Lars and Brandt's son Peter, 18, play the hero of the film at different ages.

The interior ministry says the Iron Cross scene was not in the script on which it gave the subsidy.

"We have asked that the film be cut to conform to the script," a spokesman said. "If this is not done, we will have to take action to recover the money."

Wolfram Dorn, a Bundestag deputy from the opposition Free Democratic party, has announced he will ask the government why the film got the subsidy in the first place and why the interior ministry now wants it back.

Tanker Plane Carries Two Native Texans

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — A widespread air and ground search began at daybreak today over rugged, snow-covered terrain northeast of here, for an Air Force KC135 jet tanker that presumably crashed Thursday night with nine Air Force men aboard.

Hope faded for all nine. Darkness, gale force winds, dense fog, snow and rain had hindered efforts to launch a comprehensive search throughout the night. Snow was up to five feet deep in the vast search area.

An Air Force search plane flew over the area today with infrared equipment, hoping to detect heat from any wreckage. Ground search parties headed into the area on snow vehicles. Snowshoe experts were taken along to search on foot if necessary.

VANISHED

There were earlier reports of signals from what could have been a survival radio, but Col. Woodrow Abbott, commander of the 92nd Aerospace Wing, said that did not necessarily mean there were survivors. He said the radio could have been activated by the impact of the crash.

The plane was making an approach to land at Fairchild Air Force Base, where all those aboard were stationed, when it vanished from the base radar screen shortly after 6 p.m. It was en route from Hickam Field in Hawaii.

BLOWN OFF COURSE

Earlier Thursday, another KC135 returned to Spokane with Fairchild airmen who had been temporarily assigned to Guam and bombing raids over Vietnam. The Air Force here refused to say whether the missing KC135 originated its flight in Hawaii, or stopped over there on a flight that originated elsewhere.

The night search first centered on two neighboring mile-high mountains, Mount Spokane and Mount Kit Carson. But a study of radar films indicated the plane may have been blown off course to the east by high winds, and the Air Force headquarters for the search was moved across the nearby Idaho-Washington state line into Idaho's northern panhandle. The new base camp was established near Twin Lakes, a few miles southeast of Mount Spokane.

The Air Force said the pilot was Capt. Billy Cammack, 33, whose father lives in Matador, Tex., and whose mother lives in Amarillo.

Others aboard included Capt. James Wakeland, 27, whose father lives in Godley, Tex., and whose mother lives in Fort Worth. All aboard were stationed at Fairchild.

ATTY. GEN. MARTIN SAYS:

Texas' Suit Might Check Growing Federal Controls

AUSTIN (AP) — Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin says a piece of "surprise" federal legislation last year may backfire and reverse what he calls the trend toward greater federal control.

Martin told a news conference Thursday that Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., and Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N. Y., played major roles in getting minimum wage and hour laws extended to employes of state hospitals and schools.

Martin filed suit in a Houston federal court Tuesday challenging this extension.

If he wins, Martin said, "it will be the first time the federal government might turn a bend in the road."

'FIRST ATTEMPT'

What makes that historical high-water mark possible, he said, is this "first attempt" to regulate a state government through extension of the commerce clause of the U. S. Constitution.

"We don't find anything in the constitution that authorizes the federal government to come down and regulate our state government," he said.

The federal government has "abandoned the carrot system and is down to the club system" in federal-state relations, Martin said.

After he learned of the new law, Martin telephoned "16 or 17" attorneys general in other states, he said.

'COULDN'T PRINT'

"Some of the Southern States expressed opinions you couldn't print," he said. "They were greatly excited and surprised. Northern states did the same thing.

Congress approved the law, an amendment to the Fair Labor Standards Act, last Sept. 23, Martin said. No hearings were held on the law by committees in either house, he said.

The Texas Attorney General's office did not learn of it until about Dec. 1, and Martin himself didn't find out until after Christmas. He ordered work begun on the suit immediately after taking office Jan. 1, he said.

YARBOROUGH CHAIRMAN

Powell handled the bill on the floor of the House, and Yarborough was chairman of the Senate group that met with House conferees, Martin said. It was at that meeting that the extension, which previously was knocked out by the Senate, was put back in, he said.

Texas' other senator, Republican John Tower, might have been electioneering at the time, and perhaps that's why he didn't know about it, Martin said.

The changes become effective Feb. 1. They require payment of at least $1 an hour, with overtime for work after 44 hours a week. The minimum will go up to $1.15 in 1968, $1.30 in 1969, $1.45 in 1970, and $1.60 in 1971.

The penalty for a second violation of the law is a $10,000 fine or six months in prison or both, Martin said.

Who would be charged? "You're down to the guts of the issue," Martin said. The superintendent at the state hospital at Rusk, for example, would be subject to this penalty, he said.

'I DON'T KNOW'

"But practically speaking, I don't know" whom the federal government would actually file against, he said.

Martin said he thinks the U.S. Supreme Court "probably has got to the point that they think there's got to be a line drawn somewhere. The Romans found that out the hard way after several hundred years."

Martin said he thinks the U.S. aged by a recent 5-4 vote in the high court holding that Florida officials had the right to arrest sit-in demonstrators at a jail. He noted that Justice Hugo Black, whom some had called for many years—until recent months—the court's foremost liberal, voted with the majority in that case.

DENIES ATTACK

Martin said he probably would ask the legislature for an appropriation to establish some system that would keep state officials informed on congressional activities affecting them.

He also said he expected a court determination by mid-April or May 1 on his appeal of an Austin district court's voiding of the votes on the poll-tax-repeal amendment.

U.S.-Reds Talk Arms Race Halt

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department disclosed today that the United States has started talks with Russia on the possibility of avoiding a new arms race in antiballistic missile systems—and indicated the Soviets may be interested.

"The department has no reason to believe," a spokesman said "that the Soviets are not seriously considering the president's expressed interest in halting an ABM arms race."

Press officer Robert J. McCloskey told a news conference that Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin have "been in contact" on the antiballistic missile problem since Dobrynin's return to Washington from a visit to Moscow three weeks ago.

McCloskey said he could not rule out discussion of other subjects such as continuing U. S.-Soviet consideration of a proposed treaty to block the spread of nuclear weapons. But he left no doubt the focus of the Rusk talks with Dobrynin had been on the antiballistic missile problem.

Johnson, GOP Comparisons

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are topical highlight comparisons between President Johnson's State of the Union message and Thursday night's Republican proposals by Sen. Everett M. Dirksen and Rep. Gerald R. Ford:

Vietnam: Johnson — U.S. pressure will be sustained; a test is "whether we can continue to act with restraint when the temptation to 'get it over with' is inviting but dangerous." Dirksen — Advocated "a more vigorous effort on land, sea and in the air" to end the war.

East-West trade: Dirksen — How can more trade be justified when Communist nations back North Vietnam? Johnson — Help U.S. foreign and commercial trade policies by passing an East-West trade bill.

'CONVINCING CASE'

Missile Defense: Johnson — A new arms race would waste resources with no gain in security to either side. Ford — The administration has not spent money already appropriated to prepare for deployment of a missile defense system; nation should speed its readiness to deploy antimissile defense "in a hurry if our survival requires it."

Taxes — Ford: No GOP support for tax increase unless Johnson makes "a convincing case." Johnson — Asked a 6 per cent surcharge on income taxes.

Antipoverty: Johnson — "Intensify our effort to give the poor a chance," but he'll propose administrative changes. Ford — "Republicans will continue to press for total revamping and redirection of the poverty war."

Social Security: Ford — Increase benefits an average of 8 per cent and provide cost-of-living clause for automatic increases, this to be done without increasing taxes. Johnson — Increase benefits by 20 per cent, no mention of financing.

Crime: Johnson — Proposed federal aid for law enforcement agencies. Ford — Welcomed Johnson's "recent recognition" of crime problem, asked courts to "uphold the rights of the law abiding citizen with the same fervor as it upholds the rights of the accused."

Civil Rights: Ford — Republicans will answer "no if we are asked to slow down progress toward the quality that is the right of every American." Johnson — Congress should act to guarantee equality and justice in employment, jury selection, civil rights and "we should find a solution to fair housing."

Government Organization — Johnson — Merge Commerce and Labor departments. Ford — Insulate Post Office Department from politics, reform Agriculture Department, create commission to study streamlining of national government.

Storm Kicks Up Violent Weather

By The Associated Press

A storm in the Pacific Ocean kicked up violent weather in Washington and Oregon today, with heavy rain and snow and hurricane force winds. Some of the storm's fury extended inland to the northern Rockies where wind gusts exceeded 40 m.p.h.

Whole gale warnings were posted along the Washington and Oregon Coasts and southward to point St. George, Calif., with gale warnings south to Fort Bragg, Calif. Winds were clocked at 93 m.p.h. Thursday night on the Oregon Coast at Cape Blanco.

SUBZERO COLD

More tranquil weather dominated most other sections of the nation. Temperatures appeared moderating in the wake of snow and subzero cold across wide areas in the Midwest and Northeast. Below-zero readings were reported in only a few spots, with the coldest weather in northern Minnesota.

In the Northwest storm, the Coast Guard in Seattle reported an unidentified seaman was believed drowned Thursday when he was swept off a Norwegian freighter off Newport, Ore. Winds in the area were 75 to 80 m.p.h., with gusts up to 110 m.p.h.

SNOWSLIDE

At least two storm-related deaths were reported in Washington. One man fell from a plow truck while trying to plow snow from a service station at Leavenworth. Another man was killed when the car in which he was riding went out of control on a road near Issaquah.

Strong winds piled snow to seven-foot depths in Oregon Cascades. The Cayuse Pass was closed by a snowslide.

The gusty winds and rain closed the Columbia River bar and struck at some inland points in Oregon. Winds Thursday reached 110 m.p.h. on the coast and were up to 61 m.p.h. in Portland, about 80 miles from the coast.

Connally Nixes Extradition Bid

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. John Connally denied today an Alabama extradition request for Leamon Lemley, 60, a Plains, Tex., tenant farmer who recently was identified as an escaped convict from Alabama.

Connally denied a 1966 request by George Wallace, then governor, upon the recommendation of Secretary of State John Hill, who presided over a Lemley extradition hearing here last week.

POWELL'S BIG WEAPON

'Keep The Faith, Baby'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A long-playing record entitled "Keep the Faith, Baby" is going to be one of Rep. Adam Clayton Powell's major weapons in his fight for his House seat.

The record, a collection of statements and observations about his congresssional colleagues and sermons by the Harlem politician preacher, is coming out next week. If it's a hit, Powell hopes he will have solved one of his big problems.

He plans to turn all royalties from sales of the record over to Mrs. Esther James, the Harlem widow who holds a $164,000 slander judgment against him. His failure to pay or to respond to other court orders in connection with the suit has led to his being ordered jailed for contempt of court if he appears in New York.

'FANTASTIC'

Powell's chief aide, C. Sumner Stone, said persons who have heard the record describe it in such terms as "fantastic," "unbelievable" and "wild."

The record was made last week by Jubilee records, Stone said, and will be given an intensive publicity campaign and nationwide distribution. Powell is to get 22 cents per record as both the author and performer, which means a sale of 750,000 records would bring in enough to pay the court judgment.

Stone also said a publishing company is bringing out a book of Powell's sermons, from which the royalties will go to Mrs. James.

DECEPTION

Powell's New York court troubles, along with a House committee's accusation of deception in his handling of congressional travel funds, are responsible for

MILLIONAIRE BIRCH RULED MENTALLY FIT

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Albert Otis Birch, the 96-year-old millionaire who married his 59-year-old nurse last October, has been declared mentally competent.

Birch, now living at Odessa, Tex., was granted court permission Thursday to transfer conservatorship of his estate from the Security First National Bank in Pasdena to the U.S. National Bank of San Diego.

Superior Court Judge Frank Wickhem said he based his decision on a psychiatrist's testimony. The doctor said that although Birch was deaf, almost blind and crippled, he was able to make intelligent decisions.

Security First National and Birch's niece, Mrs. Louise Smith Hopkins, contended Birch was mentally incompetent and that Birch's second wife, the former Pearl Choate, married him to get his property.

The judge said state law provides that the conservatee has the right to nominate his own conservator if he is deemed able to make an intelligent choice.

HOUSEWIVES, GOVERNMENT AGREE

Food Costs To Climb

By SALLY RYAN
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite boycotts and picketing, the government and housewives are agreed on one thing: Food prices will climb higher in 1967.

Housewives in Phoenix set off a nationwide protest movement last fall when they banded together in an attempt to force down food prices. They even baked their own bread.

In Denver, the Housewives for Lower Food Prices boycotted major chain supermarkets, then called off pickets after prices fell.

In Dallas, they formed a Women on the Warpath committee and soon all across the country there were housewives against rising prices and mad mothers and fighting fathers boycotting food stores.

Price wars broke out in Portland, Ore., and Chicago.

The reasons were obvious. In January, pork was the highest in 17 years and bacon was $1.09 a pound. In February, a blizzard cut supplies and raised prices in the East and Midwest. In April Secretary of Agricultural parties garee it will take at ed prices might decline as much as 10 per cent by fall. In June flour prices went up and suddenly bread cost 7.5 per cent more than it did in January. Milk went up 7.8 per cent. In July heat and the airline strike shriveled supplies of fruits and vegetables. And in August food prices were the highest since 1954.

The New York City markets commissioner blamed the U.S. Department of Agriculture for higher prices. Freeman blamed the middleman. Grocery stores blamed bakers. Bakers blamed flour millers. Flour millers blamed wheat growers. And wheat growers blamed the weather.

A trade group, the American Institute of Food Distribution, Inc., blamed inflation.

"We don't like to feel we're being taken to the cleaners and we're tired of hearing about some rich, invisible middleman who's causing prices to go up," said Mrs. Jay S. Threlkeld, a spokesman for the Denver women.

"The housewife is wrong," said the president of Campbell Soup Co., W. B. Murphy. "The food store is a handy goat for the housewife. The guilty party is the economy, with its rising cost pressures."

In February, wholesale food prices were 14.9 per cent higher than the previous year. In December they were four per cent lower than in the holiday season of 1965, when meat prices were beginning to soar.

The Agriculture Department maintains food bills will be up again in 1967, but not as much as the six per cent increase for 1966.

Beef, pork and veal prices are expected to begin rising again next spring.

THE PENNEY STORY
Why make such a big, big deal out of quality?
By ROBERTA NASH
If you ever want to get a Penney man going, ask him why Penney's makes such a big deal out of quality. Then stand back.
I asked a Penney store manager the question once and when he finally decided I was serious, he said, "If I could use only one word to describe the phenomenon of Penney's, I'd pick the word, quality.
"Mr. Penney has always been a fanatic on the subject," he continued. "They say the only thing that still makes Mr. Penney angry is when someone suggests we compromise Penney quality to make a lower price."

Award Lowered In CRMWD Land Suit

One condemnation case has been heard and another re-set at Robert Lee as the Colorado River Municipal Water District moves to complete the land acquisitions for its lake on the Colorado River.

A Coke County jury Wednesday evening returned a verdict of $52,000 for Cecil Montgomery, San Angelo, operator of a gravel plant near the SH 158 bridge over the Colorado. A jury of view commission previously had voted an award of $84,262, which the CRMWD appealed.

Meanwhile, the appeal of Weldon Gordon, Idalou, from an $82,300 jury of view award has been re-set for March 7 at Robert Lee. The district requires 389 acres out of the Gordon holdings on the west side of the river. Only one other case had been brought into litigation, and after a trial the Simpson estate and the district reached an agreement.

O. H. Ivie, general manager of CRMWD, said that the district is continuing negotiations with the remaining land owners, who number less than a dozen, and that he was hopeful that agreements could be reached in all these.

Meanwhile, steady progress is being made on the construction of the four-mile-long dam which spans the river valley two miles northwest of Robert Lee. Most of the core trench right at the river has been excavated and some back filled. However, several months may be required to complete the core trench which will underlie the length of the dam. Drillings have confirmed good foundations for the huge earthen structure.

Texas Amateur Dates Are Set

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The Texas Amateur Golf Tournament will be played June 5-9 at Pecan Valley Country Club here, Monk Wilson, president of the Texas Golf Association, said Saturday.

Hal Underwood of Del Rio defeated Cesar Sanudo of Beaumont in the championship match at Pecan Valley last year. The tournament is match play.

Pecan Valley also will be the scene of the Professional Golfers Association national championship in 1968.

Drives 40 Years Without License

LOWELL, Mass. (AP) — An 82-year-old man made a belated discovery recently when he was involved in a minor traffic mishap.

Policeman Daniel Sullivan demanded his license.

"What license?" he quoted the aged driver as replying "I've been driving 40 years and I've been all over New England. I've never had any trouble, never been stopped before."

Sullivan said he gave the man a court citation for driving without a license.

Murder Plea Gets 12 Years

SAN ANGELO—William Ray (Bill) McGary, 19, testified in 51st District Court Thursday that he struck the blow with a coke bottle that killed San Angelo cab driver Tommy McCartney March 2.

McGary was sentenced to 12 years in the state penitentiary with credit given for more than 10 months he has spent in Tom Green County jail.

Two others charged in the robbery-slaying go on trial Monday. They are Kit Cavy Kolb, and Phil Ward, both of San Angelo.

McGary, who was 18 when he participated in the post-midnight killing of McCartney in his cab, pleaded guilty to the charge of murder.

He testified that he and two other young men had been drinking for two days before the incident occurred.

McGary said the three left a bar with the intention of calling a cab and robbing the driver. He said he had no thoughts of murder.

"We let go of him (McCartney) and ran, because we were afraid he was going to chase us," the boy testified.

He said his cohort in the front seat told McCartney to hand over his money.

"When he (McCartney) grabbed for the microphone (on the taxi's radio transmitter), I hit him with the bottle—I was afraid he was gonna call the law."

Critical Decision

Harry S. Ashmore tells a news conference in Beverly Hills, Calif., yesterday that he considers the bombing of North Vietnam a "failure." He said the question of a halt in the bombing may be critical for the chances of peace talks. In front of Ashmore are copies of pictures brought back from North Vietnam by editor William C. Baggs of the Miami, Fla., News, who accompanied Ashmore on his trip to Vietnam. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Calls Red Vietnam Bombing 'Failure'

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — The bombing of North Vietnam has been a failure, a recent U.S. visitor to Hanoi reports. He said the question of a halt in the bombing of the Communist North may be critical for the chances of peace talks.

Harry S. Ashmore, executive vice president of the Center for Study of Democratic Institutions, presented this opinion to a news conference Thursday. At the same time he reported that North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh was quite interested in an invitation to send a representative to a convocation on world peace in Geneva in May.

WON'T END WAR

Ashmore, who returned Monday from North Vietnam, stressed that the May meeting would be unofficial and could by no means be considered a forum for Vietnam peace negotiations. But he expressed hope that Ho's interest meant that "something tengible" was developing in the way of a changed Hanoi attitude toward peace negotiations.

Ashmore told the news conference that "my own judgment is that I consider the bombing a failure" and that from what he had seen and heard, the type of bombing now going on would not end the war. Instead, he said, it was strengthening North Vietnam's unity.

CONCESSIONS

The North Vietnamese officials, he said, seem aware that alone they can never muster strength enough to push U.S. forces into the sea, but he said he had the impression they felt they could not lose the war either.

"We should take any step possible to end the war. If I were president, I would certainly stop the bombing. I am not one of those who are critical of the President's policies, but I feel that if there are to be any negotiations, it will call for concessions on both sides."

Ashmore said that without question the U.S. bombings of the North had caused severe dislocations there.

OFFSET BY UNITY

He said: "Certainly North Vietnam has been inconvenienced, but not in the sense of reducing its war effort. My own judgment is that I consider the bombing a failure. The damage done has had an effect, but it has been offset by the unity it has given the country.

"The morale is extremely high. The people have been solidified behind the government. The problem, in military terms, is that to be really effective, theoretically, would mean it would be necessary to disrupt communications, but that would require escalation of the bombing effort.

CHINESE THREAT

"If the war is spread, it might well bring in the Chinese."

Ashmore reported he had seen four instances of bombing of civilian areas in and on the edge of Hanoi. Some of this, he said, could have been the result of error.

He mentioned a section near the Red River near a major rail link and extensive damage to homes primarily from fire; at the edge of the capital and a demolished school; major damage in the heart of Hanoi to an area of six or seven city blocks, and a trade school and two nearby three-story buildings. He added he saw major damage in the city of Nam Dinh and the town of Phu Ly.

PEACE ON EARTH

Ashmore went to Hanoi in company with William C. Baggs, editor of the Miami, Fla., News and a center director, and Luis Quintinilla, a former Mexican diplomat who has been ambassador to the Organization of American States.

Ashmore formally announced for late May the Geneva convocation, the second "Pacem in Terris" (Peace on Earth) conference of unofficial representatives from many nations, including the Soviet Union. The first was held in February 1965. Secretary-General U Thant of the United Nations, who has given the convocations strong support, will speak at the Geneva meeting, named for Pope John XXIII's 1963 encyclical.

The trip to Hanoi was made in connection with an invitation to North Vietnam to attend the Geneva convocation.

Being on lead was a distinct burden to West in defending against South's four heart contract. West was able to emerge unscathed at the opening gun, however, as the play proceeded, his choice was increasingly restricted until he was obliged, in the end, to surrender the game fulfilling trick to the declarer.

West feared that an aggressive lead might prove helpful to the declarer, and he, therefore, opened a small trump. When the dummy was spread, it appeared to South that every missing high card was apt to be in the hand of the take-out doubler—West. In order to avoid the loss of two spades, one diamond, and one club, therefore, it would be necessary to effect an end-play against his left hand opponent.

The first trick was won with the king of hearts followed by the ace which drew the remaining trump. The queen of clubs was led next and the finesse lost to West's king. The latter exited with a club, and declarer won the trick in his hand with the nine.

The six of diamonds was led and West was obliged to duck, for the play of the ace of diamonds would establish a discard in that suit for the declarer. When North's queen of diamonds held the trick, South was ready to draw the noose around his opponent's head.

Dummy's jack of clubs was overtaken by the ace, and a small diamond was discarded on the ten of clubs. Declarer was down to one diamond in each hand, so he exited with the king of diamonds.

West was in with the ace and found himself in a position where he must concede South a 10th trick. If he returned a diamond, declarer could ruff in dummy while he discarded a spade loser from his hand. If West shifted to a spade, however, it would establish South's king.

107 BILLS PILE UP

Lawmakers Knock Off For Weekend

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas legislators started another three-day weekend Friday, leaving behind enough new bills to keep the clerks busy and looking ahead to the first of a string of long Mondays.

Some members will have to be back in town early Monday to make an 8 a.m. meeting of the House Appropriations Committee, before the session starts three hours later.

Sen. Criss Cole, chairman of the Senate Education Committee, wants that group to organize at 10 a.m., 30 minutes before the full Senate opens the third week of the 60th Legislature.

HEMISFAIR BILL

Rep. W. S. Heatly, Paducah, chairman of House Appropriations, announced it will talk about two bills (HB75 and HB87) which Gov. John Connally says are needed, on an emergency basis, to provide $6,384,444 in funds for San Antonio's HemisFair, the Water Development Board, Texas College Coordinating Board and the attorney general's office. Most of that money, 5.5 million, will be to complete the Institute of Texan Cultures at HemisFair, scheduled for 1968.

Committee notices were on the House bulletin board for a number of organizational meetings when the House quits Monday, including Education, Banks and Banking, Constitutional Amendments and Counties.

GRIND-IT-OUT

That starts the grind-it-out-work of the session, which has been filled so far with ceremonies, committee appointments and introduction of the first 100 bills, a number which almost certainly will pass 1,000 before the legislative session is completed.

House Bill 100, by Heatly, was the Legislative Budget Board's 1968-69 budget recommendation which the House will write its own general appropriation measure. It calls for spending $4.6 billion from all funds, an increase of $576.7 million over the current two-year budget, and for $835.3 million from general revenue, an increase of $217.8 million from the 1966-67 budget.

SAFETY BOARD

Connally's suggested budget of $971.5 million from general revenue, which compares to $835.3 million proposed by the Budget Board, was inroduced by Heatly as House Bill 116.

Other bills handed to the House clerk Thursday included a proposal (HB70) by Reps. Carl Parker, Port Arthur, and Neil Caldwell, Alvin, setting up an occupational safety board within the Bureau of Labor Statistics to set out safety rules for places of employment and providing a fine of up to $500 for breaking the rules.

Rep. Lee Duggan Jr., Houston, introduced a bill (HB85) establishing a public employes retirement system and requesting $100,000 from general revenue appropriations to help start it.

Rep. Frank Lombardino, San Antonio, proposed in HB107 longevity pay for firemen and policemen in cities of 10,000 or more population at the rate of $10 per month for each year of service up to and including 25 years.

Twins Make Same Grades

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — The Hickes twins, a pair of brown-eyed students at the University of Michigan School of Nursing, are trying to become more independent of each other.

But it looks like a tough assignment.

The girls, Melissa and Rebecca, 20, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Roy M. Hickes of Springfield, Ohio, both carry identical 3.91 grade averages of a possible 4.00.

Both are juniors and each has received three Bs in their college careers. Each B grade was in a liberal arts course. But in all nursing and science courses, the girls have earned straight As.

"We have never seen anything like it," said a university nursing professor. "We have gone out of our way to put the twins in different class sections, with different instructors in order to avoid any halo effect, but they keep coming up with the same grades; all As."

Rebecca accounts for the similar records by saying: "We used to live and study together. I guess that helped."

"But lately," added Melissa, "we've been living in different rooms so we're getting away from that."

Rebecca said: "We decided we would have to be completely independent and self-reliant to be good nurses.

"So," Melissa said, "we're purposely trying to become more independent."

Their mother, a Michigan graduate, is a math teacher in Springfield and their father is a professor at Wittenberg University in Ohio.

Planes, Ships Hunt Heiress

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) — Planes and ships continued to search the eastern Caribbean today but there was still no clue to the disappearance of the wealthy daughter of the U.S. ambassador to Britain, her husband, and their pilot on a charter flight Tuesday from San Juan to the Virgin Islands.

Commercial DC7s of Caribbean Atlantic Airlines joined military and civilian search planes Thursday, flying a few hundred feet over the water to look for Mr. and Mrs. Stephen R. Currier of New York, and John D. Watson, the pilot.

Ambassador David K. E. Bruce, arriving in New York Thursday from London, said the hunt for his 33-year-old daughter seemed "pretty hopeless."

Currier, 36, is well known as a philanthropist and civil rights advocate.

The pilot, a 52-year-old Air Force veteran, left San Juan at 7:11 p.m. Tuesday for the one-hour, 70-mile flight to St. Thomas. Friends of the Curriers on St. Thomas became concerned and notified the Federal Aviation Agency about 1 a.m. Wednesday.

The FAA said a search would normally have been started 30 minutes after the Curriers' scheduled landing time but that it had no record of the pilot filing a flight plan.

The Curriers had left their three children in New York and had flown to Puerto Rico from Miami for a 10-day vacation cruise in the West Indies.

A Devotional For The Day

As you have many members in one physical body and those members differ in their functions, so we, though many in number, compose one body in Christ and are all members of one another. (Romans 12:4-5, Phillips)

PRAYER: O God, from whom alone the fullness of life proceeds, grant that Thy church may not glory in wealth or numbers. May it glory rather because Christ is in its midst to offer through its ministries compassion and the peace that passes understanding; to Thine honor and glory. Amen.

Committee Reform Warranted

State legislatures need far more extensive reforms than fair redistricting to help strengthen state governments for a full partnership role in the American federal system. A common weakness is a cumbersome committee system.

In a move sponsored by Rep. L. DeWitt Hale of Corpus Christi and backed by Speaker Ben Barnes, the House has taken a long, firm step in improving the committee system of the Texas Legislature. It reduced its standing committees from 43 to 25, the same number as the Senate has. That change, effective after the current session, compares favorably with the 18 Senate and 21 House standing committees in the U.S. Congress.

Furthermore, for later sessions, these standing committees will be given staffs and authority to operate between sessions with investigative powers. These changes should enable the House to organize quickly, to handle legislation more expeditiously and expertly, improve legislative oversight of administrative agencies, and reduce the outsized number of special interim committees, if not eliminate them.

Judgment on other House rules changes may better be reserved pending experience in performance. But some of the excessive powers of the speaker appear to have been eased without incurring the worst aspects of the congressional committees' seniority system. The speaker retains full discretion in naming chairmen and vice chairmen, but re-elected representatives will continue in their previous committee assignments unless they request a change. That should give the committees more continuity without risking their domination by mere time-servers. And the House Rules Committee apparently will have substantial, though not dominant, power to fix priorities for handling legislation.

The Senate would do well, we think, to instruct its Rules Committee to work up a complementary reorganization of the upper chamber's committee system, which could be adopted at the outset of the next session when the new House system will go into full effect. And if the Senate will go along with the House in restricting conference committees to compromising differences in bills in open meetings, and agree wherever practicable on joint committee hearings to eliminate duplication of effort, the Texas Legislature may within two years or so have a committee system competent to handle its high responsibilities.

Right To Travel?

If there is a constitutional "right to travel," it is an implied rather than a specified right. And so far, despite a rash of passport cases, the United States Supreme Court has not recognized a citizen's freedom to enter and leave the country as an implied constitutional right but only as a conditional privilege subject to statutory restrictions.

So far the court's rulings have merely been construction interpretations of the 1926 Passport Act, authorizing the State Department to issue passports, and the 1952 Immigration and Nationality Act, authorizing the president to restrict travel to certain countries where the national security is involved. Passports are not required by law for travel in the Western Hemisphere, except for Cuba.

On the basis of those statutes, the court has in various cases held: The State Department may deny a passport for travel in restricted countries. It may deny a passport to certain persons on firm evidence their travel would conflict with national security. It cannot criminally prosecute, or punish, anyone, who travels contrary to State Department rules under those laws, but it can refuse any claims to official protection by anyone who so travels and revoke their passports —restricting future travel—when they return. And presumably it can do nothing about persons who travel to a restricted country via a country where a passport is not required, as to Cuba via Mexico.

All of this is confusing, and both a weak protection of national security and an invitation to arbitrary bureaucratic injustices. The need apparently is for Congress to clarify the travel regulation statutes, but sooner or later the Supreme Court probably will have to undertake the delicate and complex task of determining whether there is an implied constitutional right to travel and, if so, what its limitations may be.

Downhearted? Not LBJ!

WASHINGTON — Peter Hurd's is not the only portrait that Lyndon doesn't like. He loathes with all the fury of his giant physique, hyperactive mentality and volcanic temper, those word-pictures which describe him as downcast in spirit because of the November election results, the surliness of Democratic governors and the plunging neckline of the popularity polls.

THE PRESIDENT can ad-lib some short and bitter opinions of reportage which shows him as discouraged or in any doubt about the clear and present success of his administration. Why are there journalists and book writers who tell lies just to hurt him, smear him, misrepresent him? Or he can enter upon colorful, graphic homespun analogies to tell how it feels to be tending the nation's well-being and to be distracted by some ugly and inconsiderate behavior too intimate to be ignored. It is like being at the bedside of the gravely ill wife and having your son come home reeling drunk. You are still there at the bedside in this critical hour, but the wretched deportment of persons whom you love and trust has wrung your heart and raised your honest anger.

TO BE HEART-WRUNG at unfavorable reporting in the newspapers, the magazines and Bill Manchester's book, and to be honestly angry about it, could make the man in the White House think of how Herbert Hoover was crucified during the depression, and how Franklin Roosevelt was pounded for trying to put the country together again, and how Harry Truman caught it in the neck from the inkpot slingers. A president who must worry about inflation, crime, race riots, legislation, administration of government and hot warfare — and who must hear himself ridiculed and abused — such a president just concludes that the American people give a man all these responsibilities and then, as a bonus, heap him with criticism and derision for any occasional slip-up. It's all part of the same job.

AS IT HAPPENS, Lyndon Johnson likes the job and can take the criticism, but there are times when he might lift up his leonine head and growl something like: "Look who's dishing it out." He has a pair of news tickers in his office suite, and somebody at hand might overhear him remark that in five minutes he can find five errors in the dispatches of the Associated Press and United Press International. Yes, but let the President of the United States make one small misake and the American press falls like a thunderbolt upon his head.

THE IRRITATIONS and the ironies of the presidential office bear down upon him. The ingratitude that countries with a republican form of government commonly show to their superior men is ever in his mind. So is the license taken in the name of liberty by the free American press. And so is the fickleness of the people whom Hamilton once called "a great beast."

But none of this irksome contemplation takes President Johnson's attention from his work for any longer than it might take a man to swat at a buzzing fly. And is he downhearted? Not LBJ!

Billy Graham

When listening to your House of Decision I became convicted of my sin. I am 16 years old and in high school. I have been dating a young man who is not a Christian for some time. I fear that through too much familiarity, I have failed to set a Christian example. I am troubled. What shall I do? Y. T.

It is very fortunate that you have guilt feelings about this matter. Most young people seem to breeze through a lustful experience without any pangs of conscience, and they drift down the painless road to all kinds of trouble, only discovering their error after it is too late.

What can you do? First of all, break off this relationship! The danger signals are flying, and you know that trouble lies ahead. Tell the boy you are very sorry that you got involved with him, and that, because you truly want to be a Christian, you are breaking it all off. This will be a blow to him, but he will at least know that there are some young people around who have a conscience about such things, and it may show him how wrong he has been too.

Pray that the Lord will lead you in your romantic life. Most young people make the mistake of "playing" it by ear. The Christian plays it by "prayer." Somewhere the Lord has a Christian boy who will share your high ideals and beliefs.

House May Not Throw Powell Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell seems to have a reasonable chance to stay in Congress if he doesn't keep on doing what he did last week and an investigation of him doesn't turn up something too indigestible.

Last week Powell called this Congress "the biggest bunch of elected hypocrites the world has ever known" after his fellow Democrats took his committee chairmanship away and the full House refused to let him take his seat.

This 52-year-old Harlem Negro, a successful politician with 22 years in Congress, is both a preacher and a good-time-charley. He has called Jesus Christ a "religious beatnik" and compared himself to Julius Caesar.

NOT ALL white members of the House have had angelic records. And among Negroes, reacting strongly against the treatment given Powell, some call it racial discrimination.

A Harlem beauty shop operator put it this way: "I don't say he did right, but if it was a white man he'd have gotten away with it."

Because of the broad Negro resentment, the House may not go all the way now and throw Powell out. Negroes make up a big part of the voters in some congressional districts, particularly Democratic ones, and a Negro backlash over Powell could ruin a congressman who voted to unseat the Harlemite for good.

IN SOME districts Democrats may have to worry about a white backlash if Powell keeps his seat.

The membership of a nine-man committee — five Democrats, four Republicans — named Thursday to investigate Powell further was good evidence the leaders of both parties in the House want to be careful.

As soon as this new Congress got down to business last week a private, Democratic caucus voted to deprive Powell of his plum job, the chairmanship of the powerful House Education and Labor Committee.

Then in the full House Southern Democrats joined forces with Republicans to refuse to let Powell take his seat until a special committee — the nine-man group — could investigate him.

IN THE END, no matter what the nine-man committee recommends, the full House will have the final say on barring Powell or letting him be seated.

Democrats and Republicans both took their time in picking members for the committee although the reason for the Republicans' foot-dragging probably was simple tardiness. It was a little more painful for the Democrats.

Father-To-Be Advice

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) —Britain's National Childbirth Trust has just given birth to a booklet of advice for expectant fathers.

That's right—expectant fathers.

If the father-to-be has not yet been seized by the jitters of approaching parenthood, this well-intended and generally helpful pamphlet, should do much to produce them.

FOR instance, he is advised to take a firm line with his wife when she begins talking about buying a baby carriage.

The National Childbirth Trust says the husband should be able to talk his wife out of buying the perambulator of her heart's desire unless it will, or will not, do certain things.

Father-to-be is told that the baby carriages with weak, or poor brakes is not a good buy. If this is his first baby, who's to help with the testing?

THE BOOKLET counsels the expectant father to organize his wife for the coming blessed event by getting her to apply some time and motion studies to such things as feeding, bathing and cleaning the baby.

More frightening than this, however, is the recommendation that the expectant father should join the expectant mother in the daily exercises she is expected to do.

Among other chores the expectant father is advised to assume is a more careful attitude towards the family automobile, such as nightly checks of the tires, battery, gasoline and oil.

He is told to learn in advance the quickest and smoothest route to the hospital.

As almost any father knows, there are times before the great event when time hangs heavy on his hands as well as his wife's.

"KEEP yourself amused with light household chores, music, or a game of cards," is the advice to husbands.

If the expectant father assumes that his ordeal is over with the baby's arrival, then he is wrong.

The trust says that after the birth, father should buy more books about babies, suggesting such fascinating titles as "The First Nine Months of Life," and "Caring for the New Baby."

The booklet also suggests that the husband of a working wife, one who has given up a job to have a baby, should give his wife a personal weekly allowance to "spend as she pleases."

Having money of her own, says the trust, is probably the best tonic of all.

Hal Boyle is ill.

What Time Is Right For Lunch?

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Our work day starts at 7:30 a.m. and our lunch hour is from 10 to 11 a.m., sometimes a half hour earlier. We have no choice in the matter. We must eat then when we are not hungry and feel sick for an hour or two, or not eat and feel nauseous with hunger later on.

Don't suggest bringing food in and eating at the desk. This is frowned upon. Is it possible for the human stomach to digest food properly at 9:30 in the morning? — K.N.

Some people work nights and live completely upside - down lives without harm. But it does often take a few days to re-adjust if the hours are changed.

You don't explain the reason, if any, that your lunch hour starts at 10 a.m. or even 9:30. Maybe it has to be. Or maybe a petition to the management could bring about a change. That's out of my sphere.

It does seem that you may still be able to work out some sort of eating pattern that will suit you better.

Do you get a coffee break? If so, maybe a husky breakfast and then a sandwich on the coffee break would keep you from feeling either starved or stuffed.

Physically, you can adjust safely to almost any halfway reasonable schedule, but regularity is important to most of us, once the schedule is set.

Dear Dr. Molner: You wrote about the possible dangers of eating pork which is insufficiently cooked. What about heavily smoked pork—sausage, etc.? Does the smoking make it safe? In most European countries smoked ham is a favorite dish. — C.H.

No, smoking does not replace proper cooking. One of our worst outbreaks of trichinosis with which I was involved was among people at a picnic who ate smoked pork sausage without cooking it.

Some European countries have, to their credit, quite effectively eliminated the trichina worm. But this side of the Atlantic the rule of "cook pork thoroughly" is the only wise one. Thorough cooking kills the trichina eggs. Also wash hands thoroughly after having handled uncooked pork. Otherwise you might get some of the very tiny eggs in your mouth and get trichinosis.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have had kidney infections off and on. When my sinus acts up, so do my kidneys. Is there any connection between them? — S.J.

It is quite possible for both sinuses and kidneys to be sensitive to the same germ. That is, as infection flares in the sinuses, some of the germs could well invade the kidneys.

It is not uncommon for a focal infection in sinuses, tonsils, teeth or other areas to contribute to infection elsewhere in the body. In your case, the kidneys may be the vulnerable area.

Shingles can be a painful disease! To receive a copy of my booklet, "The Facts About Shingles," write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, self - addressed, stamped envelope and 10 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim

His Name Doesn't Get In The Paper

"So you say you work for the Big Spring Herald?"

"Yes," I reply.

"How long have you worked for The Herald?"

"Since Sept. 15 of last year," is the meek answer.

"Do you deliver papers or just what do you do?"

"I work in the editorial department."

"You mean like a reporter?"

"NO, NOT exactly. I edit stories and write headlines."

"Ha! Ha! Don't try to kid me buddy. If you've been on the paper's payroll four months, just how come I've never seen your name in the paper?"

All this sweetness and harmony is beginning to get on my nerves.

YOU SEE, I'm a transplanted Okie and when I get mad I get red—Big Red—especially when the Texas Longhorns hook Oklahoma University.

I start to say something bad, like "forget it!"

Then, I recall when I asked Managing Editor Joe Pickle for a job, he said:

"You will find this is a friendly town, but if you want to be left alone, you will be left alone."

BUT LIKE most ex-Okies I like people and try to be real neighborly.

So I say nothing to my doubting 'pal.'

This may sound like bragging, but I hope not. I'm not a complete stranger in the Lone Star state.

I was lucky enough to be selected "Top Texas Newsman" in 1950 by Texas Western College and nominated for the Pulitzer prize, the highest honor in journalism, following six months of investigative reporting in New Mexico, while working for the El Paso Herald-Post.

IT WAS MY big story. My name was in the paper daily, but I didn't make many friends.

You see, I was credited with helping indict 23 persons, including five county and state officials in New Mexico, and padlocking three luxury gambling joints.

EX-STATE POLICE Chief Hubert Beasley and ex-Dona Ana County Sheriff A. L. (Happy) Apodaca disliked me a little bit. They ended up serving prison terms.

I hope this won't alienate the good Republicans of Howard County, but I feel I also must confess I served as publicity director of the Oklahoma Democratic party in 1960.

Despite being a Demo, I like Big Spring.

This column was written for two purposes—two purposes only—because I was told to, and to assure my 'friends' I work at the Big Spring Herald.

The War And Budget Troubles

WASHINGTON — The word from Gen. William C. Westmoreland circulating at the highest level among military men is that the commander in Vietnam needs at least 500,000 troops on the ground, and he needs them not next July or September but now.

Nothing could illustrate more dramatically the squeeze in which President Johnson is caught. Having promised to give Westmoreland everything he needs to win the war, can the President persist in the prescribed course of a gradual troop buildup to 475,000 by September?

THE NUMBER of Americans in uniform on the ground on Jan. 7 was 395,000. Gen. Westmoreland's plea for a swifter buildup was underscored in a broadcast interview he gave in December that got little attention. In that interview he called for more troops and he warned that the war in Vietnam would last for years rather than months.

For a soldier who has tried to keep out of public controversy this was a remarkably frank statement.

Here is the crux of the continuing debate over money, taxes and the economy — the cost of the Vietnam war and the size of the defense budget.

IN MID-1966 the official estimate was in the range of $1.5 to $2 billion a month. But a sterner computation by those with the available data put the cost of the war at $2.7 billion a month.

The defense budget was at the heart of the long and often anguished argument over whether to apply new taxes to meet the rising cost of the Vietnam conflict and advanced weaponry. The compromise decision—a six per cent surcharge on all corporations and individual taxpayers — seems to have had the desired effect. It has pleased a sizable segment of the business community and even the professional viewers with alarm have made only conventional protests.

BUT EVEN within the President's own circle of economic advisers the argument is far from ended. Certain of these advisers will not deny that they were impressed by a document thrown into the debate in the inner circle in mid-December. That was a memorandum on taxes and spending sent to the President on Dec. 10 by William McChesney Martin Jr., chairman of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, at the President's request.

SHOULD THE memorandum become part of the public debate it would have an explosive effect. For Martin predicted that the budgetary deficit for fiscal 1968 will be from $18 billion to $20 billion. That is more than twice the size of the 1968 deficit estimated by the President in his State of the Union Message at $8.1 billion.

The Martin memorandum, the President's advisers say, recommended an across-the-board tax increase that would bring in $7 billion in additional revenue. This contrasts with the $4.5 billion to come from the six per cent surcharge.

WHETHER THE conservative — cautious may be a better term—view of Martin and those who think like him or the comparatively liberal compromise proposed by the President is correct depends on two factors. First and foremost is whether Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara can hold down the defense budget against pressures coming not only from Westmoreland in Vietnam but from the Joint Chiefs of Staff urging the start of an anti-ballistic missile system and other advanced weapons systems.

The second question is whether a flourishing economy will continue to bring in rising tax revenues, as the White House believes. Chairman Gardner Ackley of the economic council is decidedly bearish. If the economy slips, the President's confident predictions will be words written on water.

'Equal Time' For Republicans

WASHINGTON — Equal treatment —this is what all three television networks were asked to give to a "state of the union" message by the joint leadership of the Republican party in the House and the Senate.

The networks were willing to broadcast a half-hour program at various times convenient to their schedules on different days. But both Senator Everett Dirksen of Illinois and Representative Gerald R. Ford of Michigan have insisted that it should be what is known as live coverage. This means that the Republican leaders themselves would appear on the major television networks simultaneously and read the report they have written in rebuttal to the message delivered by President Johnson last week.

THE TELEVISION networks were asked last year to broadcast a live television program, but they did not accede to the request. The reason why the Republican leaders are insisting on live coverage is that this is one way by which the whole television audience could be mobilized at the same time. When the President was speaking at 9:30 p.m. on the night of Jan. 10, there were no other programs competing with him on the three networks.

SO, EVEN though "equal time" may be given, the total number watching such a program is less when there are competitive shows being broadcast.

There is no law which requires simultaneous coverage by the networks. It would have been possible for one of them to make a tape of the President's speech and send it out over the air either later the same night or the next day. The broadcasting companies, of course, have a right to use their own judgment in making up their schedules. Newspapers, too, differ in the display they give to a presidential message—some start it on the first page, some put it on one of the back pages, and still others publish only excerpts.

BUT THE broadcasting networks are deriving a special privilege from the government itself. They pay no fee to the federal government, and yet individual stations are granted licenses to broadcast.

Laws on the subject of "equal time" have been passed by Congress, but, generally speaking, these were presumed to apply only to speeches of candidates during the period of political campaigns. The Federal Communications Commission, however, has proclaimed what is known as the "fairness doctrine." It declares that "equal time" must be given always for rebuttal under equivalent circumstances whether the original broadcasts were paid for or were free.

PERHAPS ONE of the difficulties in the present situation is that the minority party cannot always select the individuals who are considered true spokesmen for the party. In this instance, however, since the President has addressed Congress, it is natural to expect the Republican leaders of the House and of the Senate to represent the viewpoint of the members of their own party in Congress.

MAYBE A reason why there has not been a live television program on the "state of the union" by Republican leaders is that they themselves have not dramatized their own method of rebuttal. If the speech could be delivered in the House of Representatives—with members of the Republican party in Congress, as well as governors, mayors and other members of the party present—the occasion would be more widely publicized and might be coincidentally shown on all networks.

BIG SPRING
BUSINESS REVIEW

5-A BIG SPRING, TEXAS, FRIDAY, JANUARY 20, 1967 5-A

"WE MAKE THE BEST PIZZAS"
Ray Woolverton, new manager of the Pizza Hut

Woolverton Is Manager Of Center's Pizza Hut

Ray Woolverton, long - time U.S. Army recruiter in Howard County, has retired and taken over management of the Pizza Hut, Highland South Shopping Center.

Woolverton came to Big Spring in 1963 as the Army recruiter. While here, he received two awards for the most number of men inducted into the Army in this area. In 1965 he was sent to Vietnam and returned to Big Spring in May, 1966. He was active in Little League and Boy Scouts.

Woolverton has six children, Martha, 19, better known as Micki, is helping him at the Pizza Hut. Edward is a senior at Big Spring High School; Raymond Jr. (Jimmy), freshman at Goliad Junior High; Thomas, a student at Park Hill; and Irene and Scott, pre-schoolers.

The Pizza Hut will still serve the hottest, freshest, juiciest and biggest pizzas in Big Spring. The sauce is made of a special blend of herbs and is credited with setting apart the fresh-daily pizzas. The sauce and dough are always fresh, never frozen.

Thirsty? Pick up the coldest beer, tea and soft drinks at the Pizza Hut. Featured are Michelob light and Budweiser dark beers, served up in frosted mugs.

Pizzas are served in two sizes, 10 and 13 inches in diameter. The place has 10 varieties of the dish including Mozzarella cheese, green pepper, sausage, mushroom, pepperoni, Pizza Supreme, onion, anchovy, sausage and cheese half-and-half, shrimp and hamburger.

There is plenty of parking space outside the Pizza Hut for customers' automobiles while inside the refrigerated brick building is space to seat 80 persons.

Call your order ahead of time (it takes 20 minutes to prepare pizza) and eat it there or take it home with you.

The Pizza Hut's telephone number is easy to remember, AM 3-3333.

Give the Pizza Hut a call if planning a party. The friendly folks there will supply hints for pizza parties at home.

Hours are from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. on Mondays through Thursdays, from 11 a.m. to 1 a.m. on Fridays and Saturdays, and from 4 to 10 p.m. on Sundays.

The Pizza Hut is owned by H. H. Blankenship and B. Bevis Enterprises, Midland, and is one of 120 in a 10-state chain. The chain was started in Wichita, Kan., in 1956 by Frank Carne and his brother, and its success indicates the quality of pizza featured in all locations.

Hester Urges Humidifier To Avoid Super-Heat, Fog

It may seem strange, but a load of Sahara Desert air could improve most of the nation's homes this winter.

It's a fact that many homes are drier than the desert. When the mercury drops toward zero outside, the relative humidity in your home can go down to 10 per cent or less compared to the 25 per cent or more often found in many parts of the Sahara.

An air conditioning specialist, Roy Hester, president of Hester's Sheet Metal, Snyder Highway, says the explanation of extreme indoor dryness in winter lies in the curious ability of air to hold more moisture when it's warm than when it's cool.

"If damp cold outside air at a freezing 32 degrees is heated to a normal 72 degrees, it will become relatively drier because at the higher temperature it can hold more than four times as much moisture," Hester points out. "This means that even if outside humidity was nearly 100 per cent, the same air when heated would have a humidity of not much more than 20 per cent."

"The colder it gets outdoors, the drier the heated air will be indoors unless moisture is added," Hester says. "This happens because indoor air is constantly escaping through combustion flue pipes, stove and bathroom exhaust fans, and general leakage while outdoor air is seeping in at the same rate."

He says Carrier Air Conditioning Company experts have determined that the average house — although theoretically "closed" — has a complete change of air at least once an hour.

As outside temperature drops, the drying out process begins inside. The warm dry indoor air draws moisture from everything it touches, including people.

Many people feel this drying effect in the nose, throat and skin. Furniture joints loosen, walls crack, wood flooring shrinks, and rug and fabric fibers become brittle and wear out faster. More house dust and lint floats in the air. Static electricity sparks jump from hands reaching for a light switch or a metal doorknob.

It isn't enough just to add moisture, though. Too much can put steam or even frost on the inside of windows and allow moisture to condense inside walls causing gradual deterioration of the house structure.

But with a modern precision humidifier attached to a heating system, it's possible to adjust moisture output to avoid either a super-Sahara or fog on the windows. Carrier research shows that more than two million United States homeowners have added humidifiers to their central heating systems in the past three years.

Lawyer Moves To Quash Bill

Roger Brown, attorney, has filed a motion to quash the murder indictment against his client, Avery Voster, who was billed in the death of Jessie Palmer in a fight here last summer.

Foster is slated to go on trial in 118th District Court on Monday.

Brown's petition, filed in the court late Thursday afternoon, alleges that the indictment should be nullified for four reasons.

He claims it does not set forth how nor in what manner the alleged defendant killed the deceased.

He argues the indictment fails to describe the type of weapon or instrument used in the slaying.

He says that the statement the defendant killed Palmer by "striking him with a plank" is faulty in that the kind, shape, type, form, size and substance of the plank is not specified.

He also argues the entire indictment is vague and indefinite and fails to apprise the defendant of the offense charged and the method the said offense was committed.

Foster entered a plea of not guilty when arraigned Wednesday. He was notified his case would be called for trial on Monday morning.

A special venire of 175 has been called to serve in the trial.

Sweetwater Picks Manager

SWEETWATER — James E. Swaim, city manager of Breckenridge since 1957, has been named city manager of Sweetwater to replace W. F. (Buster) Fuller, who is now in Vietnam.

The announcement was made Thursday by Mayor Bill Sheridan and City Commissioner Edwin Aiken.

Swaim will take over his new duties here about Feb. 15.

Swaim, 39, is a native of Young County and served as city secretary and assistant city manager at Graham before taking the city manager post at Breckenridge. He is married and has two children and is an active layman in the Methodist Church. He is an officer in the Lions Club and a member of the executive board of the Breckenridge Chamber of Commerce.

He has been active in Little League baseball work and was singled out for recognition at a recent industry appreciation day banquet in Breckenridge for his efforts to attract new industry.

Under his leadership the City of Breckenridge has had a balanced budget for the past 10 years, something which has not happened in the past.

Hot Checkers Hit Colorado City

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Bum check artists hit five food stores here recently.

They walked away with groceries and the best part of $210 in checks they cashed at Safeway, Village, Fuller Foods and E-Z Way. Each check was for $35.

Assistant Police Chief Truman Henderson said description of the thieves was meager, but he believed they were experienced in the racket. Clerks said the team was a man and woman about 25 years of age.

When they cashed the checks, they listed fictitious residential addresses on East Eighth and East Tenth Streets.

Prisoner Ends Hunger Strike

ABILENE — Murder suspect Ronald Edward Wilhelm ended an eight - day hunger strike at Taylor County Jail Thursday with the evening meal.

The 23-year old San Antonio man began refusing food Jan. 12 when he was brought here from Breckenridge on court orders.

He had been offered the meals three times each day.

Wilhelm is one of three men accused of murdering a Breckenridge service station attendant. He has been subpoenaed as a witness in the trial Monday of one of the other two men and is to be transferred to the Graham trial site next Monday.

Raise Right Direction But Not Enough, Says Anderson

The five per cent salary increase "for all school teachers and other professional personnel" is a step in the right direction, but it "is just not enough, that's all."

This is the reaction of S. M. (Sam) Anderson, Big Spring superintendent and president of the Texas State Teachers Association, to the proposal the governor submitted to the legislature Thursday. Anderson and other TSTA leaders had conferred earlier with the governor. Each stated his position amicably, he said. The governor wasn't changed, and the teacher representatives thought the state could and should do better than the five per cent.

STUDY GROUP

Connally's proposed increase was suggested pending completion of a study by the committee on Public School Education. The five per cent hike for the 1968-1969 academic year would provide an average annual increase of $279 and require additional state funds totaling approximately $50 million for the next two years.

"We hope the governor's committee will come up with something good, and we're very impressed with the caliber of the men serving on it," Anderson said, "but something needs to be done before the committee makes its report.

The 15 - member committee, which is making a comprehensive study of Texas educational system, is scheduled to report its recommendations to Gov. Connally in August 1967.

"We're facing a real emergency," Anderson said. "We have the most serious teacher shortage in history right now."

He said salaries of Texas teachers are $796 below the national annual average and pointed out that 32 states pay their teachers higher salaries than Texas.

Anderson said the TSTA proposes an annual increment of $100 per year "across the board" for every teacher, based on the minimum salary, according to the individual's qualifications and teaching experience. The increase would cut off after the ninth year for persons with a bachelors degree and end after 15 years for those with master degrees.

According to Anderson, the increase favored by the TSTA would increase teachers' salaries $774. It would require funds totaling about $85 million the first year and $87-$89 million the second year, he estimated.

Currently, the state base salary for beginning teachers with bachelors degree and no experience is $4,104; for one holding a masters degree, with no experience, $4,410.

Tom Rites Saturday

STANTON — Funeral services for Edmund Tom, 63, widely known resident of Martin County will be held Saturday at 3 p.m., at Saint Joseph's Catholic Church with burial in Saint Joseph's Cemetery.

Mr. Tom, who owned land in Martin and Glasscock counties and was a director in the First National Bank, was on his ranch when he suffered the brain hemorrhage. He was removed to Dallas, where he died.

He was born in Stanton, Oct. 23, 1903 and was baptized into the St. Joseph's Catholic Church on Oct. 30, 1903.

Mr. Tom was married to Miss Louise Deavenport Aug. 25, 1931.

Survivors, in addition to Mrs. Tom, include one son, Rufus Tom, Stanton; one daughter, Mrs. Fate Kiesling, Lubbock; one brother, Jim Tom, Stanton; and five grandchildren.

POWELL

the challenge to his House seat that has kept him on the sidelines since the 90th Congress opened.

Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin of California touched off the controversy by announcing his intention to try to keep Powell, a fellow Democrat, from being seated as long as he was in contempt of court and subject to arrest.

If Powell, a Negro, can pay the judgment and get Mrs. James to withdraw the many other actions she has filed against him in an effort to make him pay, he will have removed a major obstacle to his being seated.

CELLER IN CHARGE

He also will have considerably eased the problem of the special committee named Thursday to investigate his qualifications to be seated. The panel is to report back to the House within five weeks, at which time the House will determine whether Powell is to be seated or barred.

Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, was put in charge of the investigation Thursday by Speaker John W. McCormack.

Dean of the House with 42 years of service, Celler will head a nine-man committee of lawyers — five Democrats and four Republicans. The other members are:

Reps. James C. Corman, D-Calif.; Claude D. Pepper, D-Fla.; John Conyers Jr., D-Mich.; Andrew Jacobs Jr., D-Ind.; Arch A. Moore Jr., R-W.Va.; Charles M. Teague, R-Calif.; Clark MacGregor, R-Minn.; and Vernon W. Thomson, R-Wis.

DRAWS $30,000

Celler, a stalwart arm of the leadership, and the other four Democrats voted last week to seat Powell while the investigation was conducted, but a Republican motion to bar him during the inquiry was adopted. All four Republican members voted for their party's position, but none has played an active part in the Powell controversy.

Pepper, the only Southerner on the panel, is a liberal with a strong civil rights voting record. Conyers is the only Negro in the group.

Celler said he plans to get the committee together next week to work out the procedure to be following in the investigation.

Although Powell was not seated in the House pending the investigation, he continues to draw his $30,000 annual salary. His fellow Democrats ousted him as chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee.

Cold Drops Miniskirt

LONDON, (AP) — Carnaby Street—home of the thigh-high miniskirt — dropped hemlines eight inches below the knee today.

"I'm experimenting," said Irvine Sellars, 27. "A surprise move, you might say."

Sellars is one of the more successful clothes designers of Carnaby Street, the fashion arbiter for London dollies and their long-haired boy friends.

"In dropping the hemline, I'm being both practical and sexy too," he said.

"Practical because in our chilly, wet English weather, the wintry blasts hit hardest where the skirts are shortest, so to speak."

Dress designer Susan Delfont, 19, who works for Sellars commented:

"Come summer and I suppose they'll be back where they were — way up above the knees."

With an eye on the American market, Sellars said he has a mini that is not-so-mini.

"American girls generally tend to be a bit more discreet about their miniskirts than do British girls," he said. "I design American minis, particularly for those girls way up north and out in the Middle West, with hemlines at the knee."

Runnerup Becomes Miss West Texas

ODESSA — There's a new Miss West Texas as of Thursday.

She was named after the current Miss West Texas, Sharon Kiker, Roby, informed the Odessa Jaycees, sponsor of the contest, of her marriage to Monty Neighbors, Abilene, last week.

The Jaycees, faced for the first time with such a situation, Wednesday contacted first runner - up Cynthia Chappell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Chappell, Odessa. Thursday, Miss Chappell, 18, a graduate of Odessa High School, accepted the new crown and title. Her duties will consist primarily of appearing at the 1967 Independence Day Festival sponsored by the Jaycees. At that time, the 1967 Miss West Texas will be named.

MOD Benefit At Forsan Due Today

Mart Resists Profit Taking

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market today again stubbornly resisted a wave of profit taking on the big 1967 rally. Market statistics were at variance.

The leading averages and indexes called it a lower market but gainers continued to outnumber losers by a comfortable margin. Weakness in several of the big stocks that dominate the market indicators was the reason why these were down.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 2.90 at 843.54.

The total cash value of the market also was down, because the New York Stock Exchange index showed a loss.

A rebound in new orders for durable goods was cited as a bullish factor but there was no question that preweekend caution was causing many traders to realize profits, since they wished to protect themselves against unexpected news that might reverse the market trend.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .7 at 312.8 with industrials off 1.1, rails off .2 and utilities off .4.

American Broadcasting recovered two points or so of the 14⅜ points it dropped Thursday on news that the Justice Department had challenged ABC's proposed merger with International Telephone. IT&T showed a fractional net gain.

Prices were generally higher in heavy trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Death Takes Vet Publisher

DALLAS (AP) — John W. Runyon, publisher of the Dallas Times Herald, died today.

The 79-year-old newspaper executive, who also was chairman of the board of the Times Herald Printing Co., had been ill only a few weeks.

Death came at 4:10 a.m. in Baylor Hospital.

Runyon rose from clerk to publisher over 55 years with the afternoon newspaper. He completed a long term as a director of The Associated Press recently.

Doctors said death was attributed to a malignancy of the liver. Services were scheduled for 4 p.m. Monday, with entombment to follow in Dallas.

Born at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, he came to Dallas in 1906. His long association with the Times Herald began in 1911.

DOUBLE CAPACITY

His first job with the newspaper was as display advertising collector and a year later he was made one of its two advertising solicitors.

He was named advertising manager in 1918 and held that post 23 years before advancing to vice president after the death of the Times Herald's founder and publisher, Edwin J. Kiest.

Runyon became president of the Times Herald in 1952. He was named chairman of the board and publisher in 1960.

Starting in 1943, he had worked in a double capacity as advertising manager of the Times Herald and president of its broadcast facilities—KRLD-AM-FM-TV. Two years later he was elected chairman of the KRLD board.

CIVIC LEADER

Known as a tireless civic leader, Runyon was a 33rd Degree Mason and past master of Washington Masonic Lodge.

He was a director of the State Fair of Texas, the Dallas Grand Opera Association, the Downtown Improvement and Property Owners Association, the Trinity River Navigation Association, the Texas Law Enforcement Foundation, the Southwest Medical Foundation and the Texas Research Foundation at Renner.

Survivors include the widow, the former Grace Dowd of Dallas; a son, John W. Runyon Jr., and a granddaughter, Mrs. Bob Still, of Dallas.

Man Can't Take Feminine Name Despite Dresses

LUENEBURG, Germany (AP)—A Lueneburg appeal court ruled Thursday that a 24-year-old man can't legally take a feminine name because he dresses as a woman.

The man, identified only as Uwe-Cornelius, wears dresses and applied to change his name to Ute-Maria. He said that the masculine name hindered his holding down a woman's job as a receptionist.

The judge, upholding a lower court ruling, said a person's first name must reflect his sex regardless of how he dresses.

There is no law in West Germany against a man appearing in women's clothing as long as he does not outrage public decency.

Dual Concert Set Here Saturday

The Midland - Odessa Symphony Orchestra and Chorale come here Saturday for a brace of concerts, one of which will include a hemisphere premiere on a lost Bach work.

The orchestra and chorale, among one of the finest in the Southwest, will present a special children's program at 4:30 p.m. in the Municipal Auditorium. This is priced at only 40 cents (for children or their parents) in order to encourage the largest possible audience. The program, much the same as one to follow in the evening, is one hour long.

The 8:15 p.m. appearance at the auditorium will be one on the Big Spring Concert Association series, and is open to members only.

Dr. Lara Hoggard, conductor, will feature the presentation of "St. Mark's Passion" by Johann Sebastian Bach, a work lost after the great composer's death 200 years ago. Only within the past two years have fragments of the composition been put together for a performance in Stuttgart, Germany. Last October the book was brought to the United States, and the premiere of this lost work has been set for Big Spring, Midland and Odessa.

Music critics are agreed, that although incomplete, "St. Mark's Passion" ranks among Bach's most significant works. It is based upon the Gospel of Mark, "Chapters 14-15, and is throught to be one of five Gospel passions from the pen of the master musician.

Soloists will include Betsy Roe, soprano, of the Texas Tech faculty; Jean Ann Wolbert, alto, formerly with Fred Waring; Ira Schantz, of the TCU music faculty and formerly director of vocal music at HCJC; Roy Lynch, lute-guitar; Irma Grive Kluck, harpsichord; G. Allison Salley, organ.

Other offerings will include Beethoven's Fantasia in C Minor, featuring Jack Hendrix, pianist, former head of the HCJC music department; the musical pageant, "Song of America"; and "Battle Hymn of the Republic." Big Spring High School percussionists and trumpet players, as well as band members as color bearers, will participate in the national anthem opening the program.

GIs Discover Huge Tunnel

SAIGON (AP)—Operation Cedar Falls turned up a massive tunnel today within the Iron Triangle that may have served as the long-sought headquarters of the Viet Cong's 4th Military Region, from which Communists have launched attacks on Saigon outposts.

Men of the U.S. 196th Light Infantry Brigade probed the tunnel. Brig. Gen. Richard T. Knowles, the brigade commander, said they found maps, plans, weapons, booby traps and some guerrillas within the vast boring, 25 miles northeast of Saigon. This was one phase of a drive engaging about 30,000 American and South Vietnamese troops.

In the air war, American bombers hammered at North Vietnamese rail yards and main lines Thursday for the fourth straight day. But U.S. military headquarters reported two of the planes and the four fliers who manned them did not return.

Many of the strikes were against the northeast line, along "MIG Valley" in the Red River Delta, but there was no report of any MIGs rising to challenge the American raiders.

Ground fighting in South Vietnam was confined to small, scattered engagements, but allied commanders reported a series of clashes from the southern tip of the country through the northern provinces.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported a government force of regimental size — about 1,500 men — launched a search-and-destroy sweep in southernmost An Xuyen Province and in the first day killed 16 Viet Cong. This was one of five scattered operations in which the Vietnamese command said a total of 43 Viet Cong were killed. Casualties to government troops were reported light in all five.

Vietnamese headquarters also reported that government troops repulsed a mortar and ground attack against a military post 60 miles southwest of Saigon in the Mekong Delta. A spokesman said 15 Viet Cong were killed and government casualties were light.

5-Watter Group To Aid Campaign

The Big Spring 5-Watter Rodeo Club will operate mobile units Jan. 21 and Jan. 22 during the March of Dimes Telecast and will serve as pickup agencies for donations to the drive.

Plans for this operation were reviewed by the club at its meeting Tuesday night at the North Birdwell Methodist Church. A. M. Heckler, president, presided at the meeting.

Eighteen guests from Stanton, Midland and Odessa were at the meeting Tuesday. There were 29 in all at the session.

Four inches of snow fell in North Carolina, mostly in mountain areas and in the northern half of the state. Many schools were closed. A man putting chains on his truck was killed near Elkin when he was crushed between his vehicle and another truck which skidded into it.

More light snow or snow flurries fell from the Upper Mississippi Valley to the Great Lakes region. Sunny skies were indicated across most of the southern two thirds of the nation.

The 54 at Helena, Mont., Thursday was a record high for Jan. 19. But cold weather continued in much of northeastern Montana.

Early morning temperatures ranged from -16 at International Falls, Minn., to 70 at Key West and Miami, Fla.

THAILAND THREAT

Counter-Insurgency Measures Pay Off

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — "There has been very real improvement in the northeast," some American officials believe, as a result of the measures Thailand is taking against the worrisome threat of Communist guerrillas.

Other well-placed Americans hard at work here to help the Thais do not dispute this. But they point to shortcomings that they say could imperil lasting progress.

These include:

Difficulty in getting Thai officials "not to feel they are superior to the peasants they are supposed to be helping."

Problems of finding ways to involve largely illiterate, unskilled villagers in self-help.

CORRUPTION CONTINUES

A lack of enough motivated, educated young people willing to go into the rural areas from Bangkok. Some of them who have gone are finding village life rough but are reported adjusting well.

Reluctance of some doctors, sent into the northeast with mobile medical teams, to continue moving around among the hard-to-reach villages. These doctors would prefer to set up in centralized offices.

Persistent corruption among local officials, including policemen, and in the Bangkok ministries.

How effective have the programs been?

BIG IMPACT

An aid mission leader spelled out what he considered to be gains this way: "Economic conditions in the northeast are improving. Roads are going in, and farm products are getting out to market."

An American who holds an important place in the accelerated rural development scheme said:

"The efforts of the Thais have had impact, definitely. Roads have opened up contacts with the outside world. As a result, agriculture officers and rice experts are able to get to the villages and demonstrate better methods. They are showing the farmers how to grow cotton, for example.

"School systems and public health systems are growing and spreading out."

RED NETWORK

He acknowledged that "in the remoter villages the people still don't know anything about the Thai government."

What is the outlook for the future?

A top U.S. general summed up his prognosis in these words:

"I see continued dissident activity in Thailand for a long time—rising activity if there is an unsatisfactory solution in Vietnam.

"I look for the Reds in Thailand to concentrate on development of their clandestine apparatus, the training and grooming of leaders. I expect overt activities not to be appreciably higher than now.

"I do not expect the Communists to try to put the northeast in flames but to try to work as hard as they can to extend and improve their network — so at the proper time they can be ready to go.

"I wouldn't say that 1967 will be a particularly crucial year, from the point of view of crisis or decision, either one."

MAY OVERCOME STERILITY

Revolutionary Brain Harmones Discovery

DALLAS (AP) — Researchers have isolated eight brain hormones which may open new vistas for regulating human growth and overcome female sterility, a medical scientist said Thursday.

These hormones control the pituitary gland and their separation from a section of the brain called the hypothalamus was reported by Dr. Anand P. S. Dhariwal of Southwestern Medical School in Dallas.

He credited the first purification of four such hormones to a team led by Dr. Samuel McCann, head of the school's physiology department in which Dhariwal works. The research was done here and previously at the University of Pennsylvania.

Adding that the research still is in an experimental stage, he said: "There is no hope of using the brain hormones in humans until their structure is determined and until they can be obtained synthetically."

Dhariwal noted that hormones in the pituitary formerly were believed to exercise master control of functions related to growth, ovulation, stress, pigmentation, milk production and thyroid gland secretion.

Now it has been determined that the newly discovered hormones in the brain actually "tell the hormones in the pituitary what to do," he said.

He suggested the discovery raises possibilities for controlling human growth and sterility in women.

HORMONE SHORTAGE

Dhariwal said a lack of ovulation, a frequent cause of female sterility, likely could be overcome by injecting brain hormones that would stimulate the pituitary to release ovulatory hormones.

Such a procedure conceivably could eliminate a danger of multiple births created by direct injection of pituitary hormones.

Experiments have demonstrated that growth hormones from the brains of sheep function in the pituitary glands of monkeys, he said, "so now we are reasonably sure that the same thing will work in humans.

"Since there is always a shortage of the human growth hormone, it would be extremely helpful if we could use brain hormones from lower animals to control human growth.

Dooley Rites Slated Today

AMARILLO (AP) — Funeral services were scheduled today for retired U. S. Dist. Judge Joseph B. Dooley, a longtime figure in Texas jurisprudence.

Judge Dooley died Thursday at the age of 77. He had been unconscious since he suffered a stroke Friday.

Services were to be at 2 p.m. at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, the Rt. Rev. George Quarterman officiating. Burial was to be in an Amarillo cemetery.

Judge Dooley was appointed to the federal bench in 1947 by President Harry S. Truman. During 36 years as an attorney Dooley had been president of the State Bar of Texas.

One of the landmark cases he handled was the South Plains water case. Judge Dooley ruled that farmers in West Texas could consider the depletion of valuable underground irrigation water the same way for tax purposes as oil reserves.

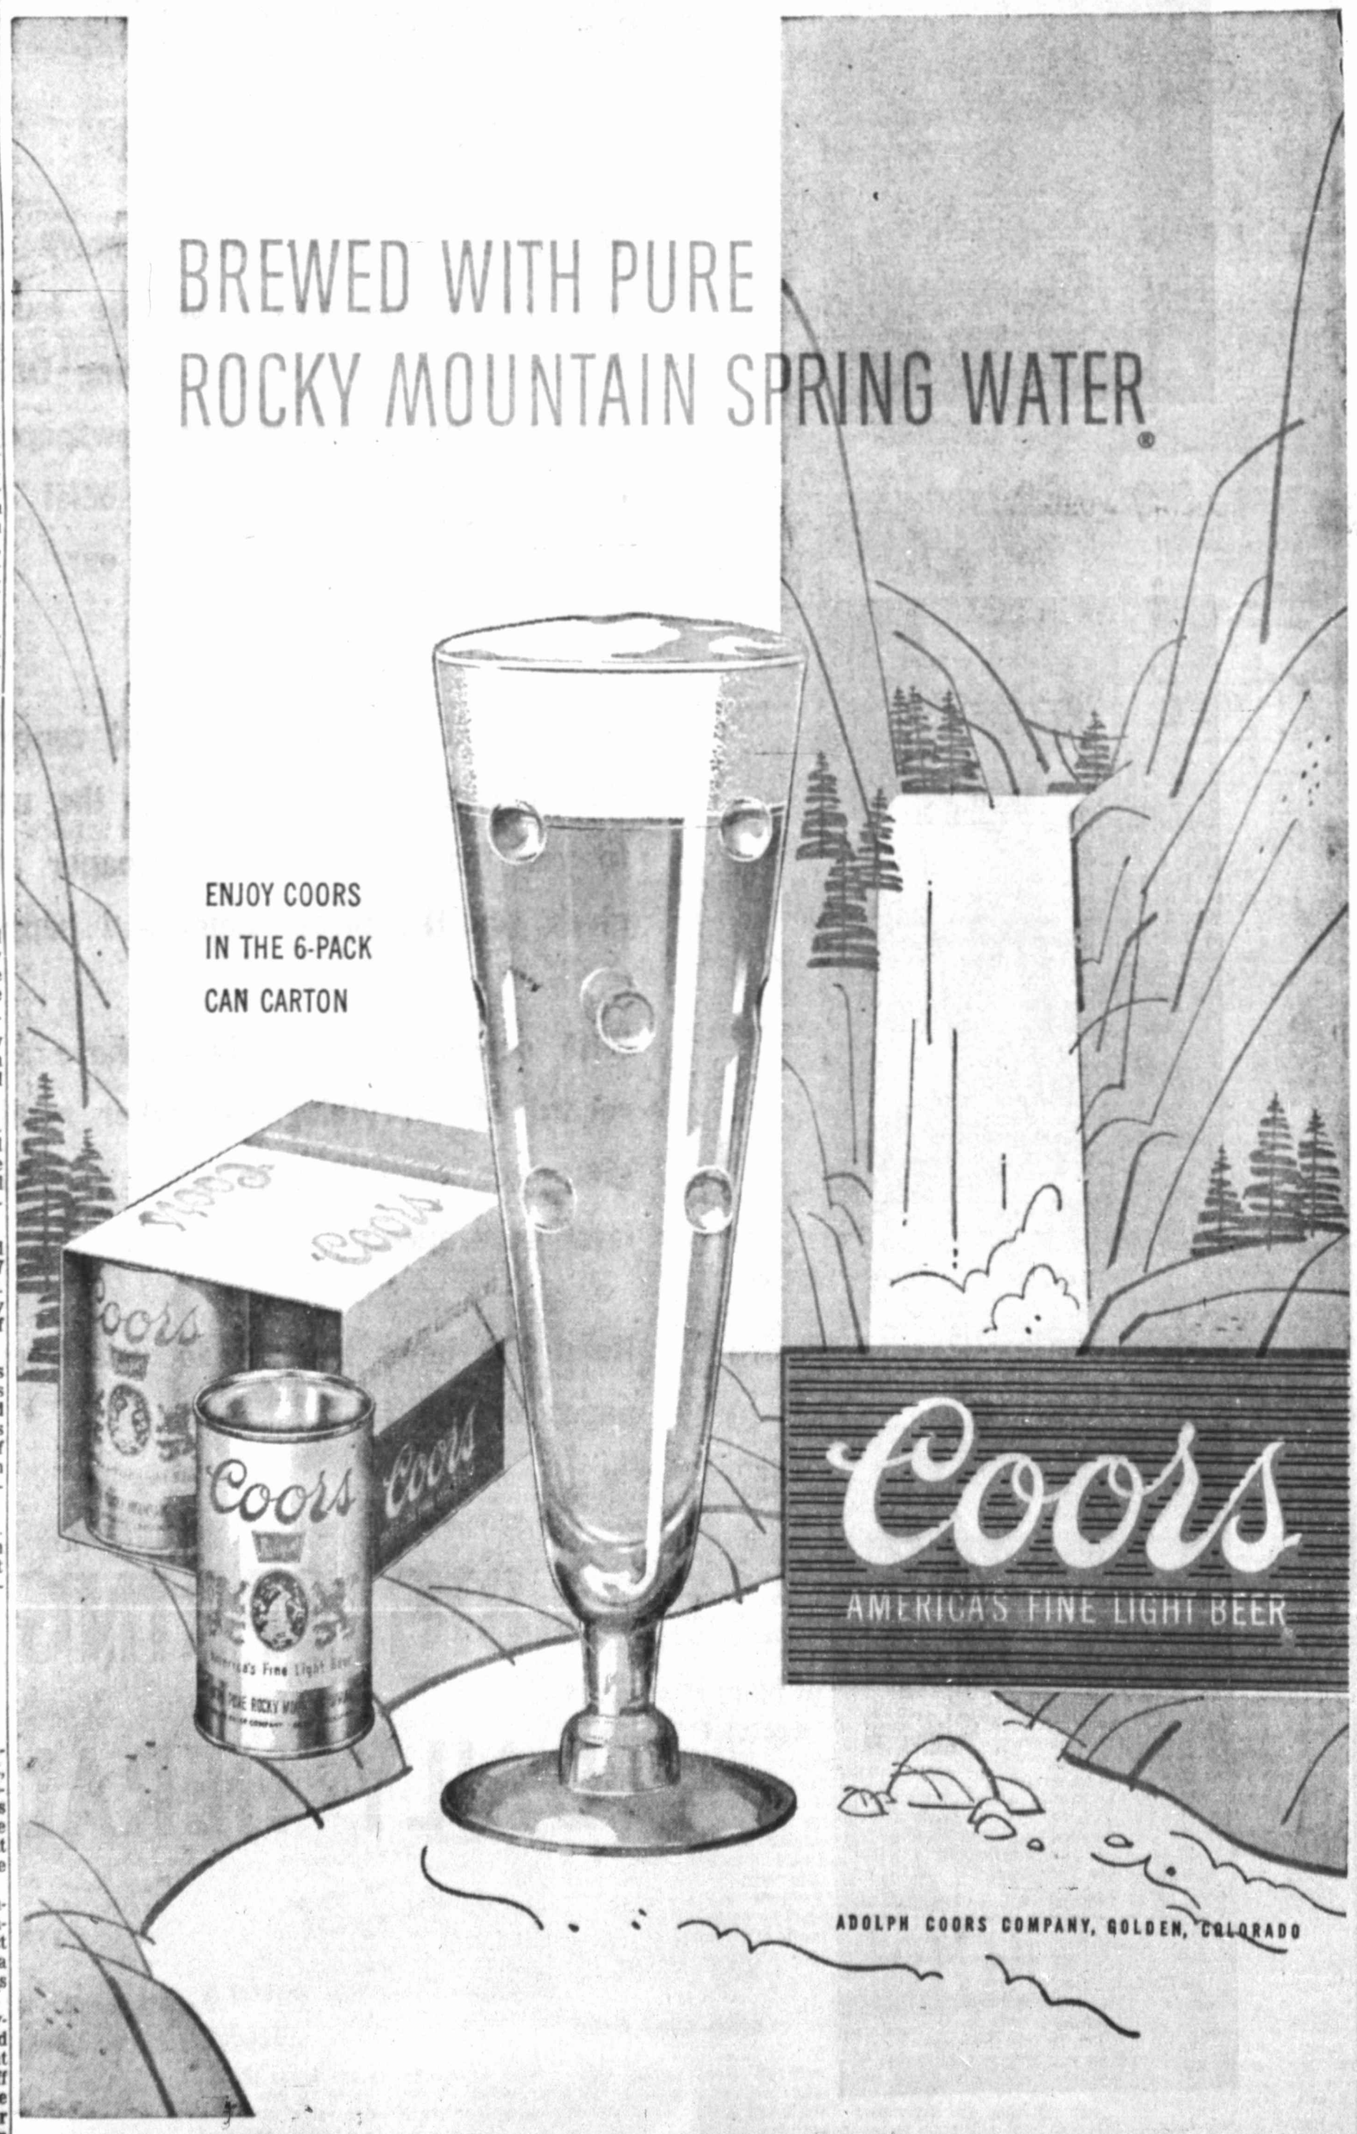

Dooley officially retired Oct. 1. He was a stickler for decorum in his courtroom, insisting that all wear coats and snuff out cigarettes before entering.

Kiwanians Get Parley Reports

Bill Johnson, president, Roscow Newell, first vice president, and Delaine Crawford, secretary of the Big Spring Kiwanis Club, submitted reports to the club Thursday on the recent midwinter Kiwanis conference held last week in Fort Worth.

Representatives of the Kiwanis International and of the Oklahoma - Texas Kiwanis district discussed programs for area clubs and stressed weak points that need to be strengthened.

Ward Jackson, lieutenant governor for Division No. 22, told the Big Spring Kiwanians that he felt the year was getting off to an excellent start. He said the final installation meeting for clubs in his charge is slated in Andrews for this week.

Spyglass Hill Takes Beating In Tourney

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Spyglass Hill's budding reputation as a super monster among golf courses took a beating just as soon as the big name pros began attacking in Bing Crosby's $104,500 tournament.

Four of the leading seven going into today's second round had fired over Spyglass, the course built along the beach and through the forest in the area where the Treasure Island novel was written.

Joe Carr, a 28-year-old from Worcester, Mass., who won only $50 in official money last year grabbed the lead with a 68 at Cypress Point and big Jack Nicklaus carded a 69 at Pebble Beach. Al Geiberger, the PGA tournament champ, had a 70 there.

Also at 70, two under par, were four who shot at Spyglass — New Zealand's southpaw Bob Charles, Jack Burke Jr., Jerry Pittman, and little known Jim Colbert of Kansas City, Kan.

"It's one of the really good courses already," commented Charles, but others weren't so generous in descriptions of the new 6,972-yard layout where holes have such nicknames as Billy Bones and Long John Silver.

Defending champion Don Massengale walked the plank at Spyglass with an 80 while Miller Barber scribbled himself out of what might have been a treasure. After shooting a 72, he incorrectly inscribed his nine-hole total of 34 in the box where he should have put his four for the 18th.

He had to accept a 34 for the single hole, 64 for the nine and 102 for the 18.

A year ago in the Sunday finals at Pebble, Geiberger shot a 76 at Pebble and finished two strokes behind Massengale for top money.

Under Crosby's plan, each pro-amateur team plays each of the three courses and then the low 40 teams and pros in contention shoot in Sunday's final. A $16,000 prize awaits the low scoring pro and the one on the winning team gets $2,700.

Seeing Double

When the Jayhawks of HCJC play basketball, as they will be Saturday night against powerful Cameron, Okla., here, it's hard to tell the twin brothers pictured here, apart. They are Barry and Larry Linder, freshmen from Waco. Game time tomorrow is 7:30 p.m. (Photo by Danny Valdes)

HC, Cameron Vie Saturday

HCJC rolls out the welcome mat Saturday night to Cameron's Aggies of Oklahoma, apparently one of the nation's great junior college teams.

The two teams take the floor at 7:30 p.m. HC will be returning to competition after a lay-off for midterm examinations.

This game will serve as a final warmup for the Hawks before they resume Western Conference play against front-running Odessa College here next Friday night.

Cameron, coached by Red Miller, has two boys playing under the basket who stand 6-9 and 6-8, respectively. The taller boy is M. Savage while Simmy Hill is the other one.

Hill formerly was at Wichita State University, where he was considered an All-America prospect.

The Aggies can be had, as Ranger College proved only recently. The unbeaten Rangers won that one, 81-73. However, the Aggies had been idle for more than two weeks prior to the game due to the holidays and were admittedly rusty.

Other losses have been inflicted on the Oklahomans by Dallas Baptist (two points in a game played at Dallas) and by St. Gregory's of Shawnee, Okla., (one point in an overtime period).

In another outing at Cameron, Cameron had Dallas down by 45 points at one stage of the game on its way to a crushing win. It also beat Clarendon and Dodge City, Kan., each by about 40 points.

Bill Bullock is one of the Aggies' fine playmakers out front and a scoring threat everytime he gets the ball. R. Harper and J. Harper work the ball well for the Sooners.

HCJC will carry a 12-6 record onto the floor. In their last assignment, the Jayhawks were crushed by Dallas Baptist.

The two teams met earlier this season—in a tournament at Garden City, Kan. Cameron rallied in the last few minutes to eke out a 75-72 victory.

Coach Buddy Travis of HCJC likely will go with a lineup consisting of Lee Leonard, Leon Smith, Henry Willis, Bill Sinches and Jack Hosley.

The Hawks have averaged 82.8 points a game this season, compared to 75.4 for the opposition.

HC's wins have come over Odessa, Garden City, Kan.; Texas Western College's freshmen, New Mexico Junior College, Paris, Cisco, NMMI, Jacksonville Baptist, Conners, Okla., Eastern, Oklahoma, Clarendon and Lubbock Christian.

The Hawks have lost to Dodge City, Kan., New Mexico JC, Amarillo and Dallas Baptist twice, in addition to Cameron.

Hank Aaron Hopes To Get Substantial Pay Raise

ATLANTA (AP) — Half of the best home-run hitting duo in big league history won't be back for the Braves this year, and Hank Aaron says he'll miss old No. 41.

"You hate to lose a guy like that after playing with him for 13 years," Aaron said of the Atlanta Braves' trade which sent veteran slugger Eddie Mathews to Houston.

AARON

As teammates, Aaron and Mathews pounded out 863 homers for the Braves, an all-time record which bettered the mark of 793 slammed by Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig as teammates for the New York Yankees.

Not only will Mathews not be around this summer, his number also will be missing.

No. 41 was retired Thursday by Atlanta in honor of Mathews' big league achievements in 15 campaigns with the Braves, in which he hit 493 home runs, good enough for a tie for seventh on the all-time homer chart.

"I'm sure Eddie will be happy about having his number retired," said Aaron, in town to talk about his 1967 salary. "He told me when I talked to him last that the shock of being traded had worn off.

"I know it was a shock to him, because it would be to me if the Braves traded me," added Aaron. "I wouldn't want to play anywhere else.

"I'll miss Eddie, because we were more than just teammates on the baseball field. He was the only guy I ever saw that I could communicate with. I had ideas and he had ideas, and we talked about them.

"And the competition between the two of us made better players of both of us," Aaron added. "Eddie is a helluva ball player."

Aaron, of course, is also one of the best in the business and he indicated he hopes to get paid rather well for his labors this summer.

Lots Of TD's Are Likely At Oakland

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Possibly the last American Football League All Star Game goes on national television Saturday from the Oakland Coliseum with a high-scoring outcome the prospect between the East and West squads.

Players from both the AFL and the National Football League — which plays its All Star Game Sunday in Los Angeles—have proposed a super all star clash between players from the merged leagues. Present television commitments probably would be the biggest obstacle to such a game next season.

The AFL contest was supposed to have been played last week to showcase the new Oakland Coliseum. But the merger produced the Super Bowl and some of the All Star allure was rubbed off in the 35-10 defeat of Kansas City by Green Bay last Sunday.

That could be shown at 1:30 p.m. (PST) kickoff in the 53,000 seat coliseum. The AFL is hoping for 30,000 fans but wouldn't be shocked if up to 6,000 fewer appeared despite a 100-mile television blackout.

Television ratings should prove interesting for this absolutely, guaranteed last weekend of the football season. Has the saturation point been reached by at-home viewers?

Whoever chooses to watch can expect to see a high-scoring show as the East tries to win its first All Star game. They lost the first four before players from seven teams thrashed Buffalo 30-19 last year in an altered format at Houston.

Runnels Wins Two Contests

Runnels Junior High swept both ends of a basketball doubleheader from Coahoma Junior High here Thursday night.

The ninth graders' margin was 48-39 and coach Dan Bustamente got a chance to use all his players. In the eighth grade contest, the Yearlings triumphed, 37-35.

The two games were originally to have been played in Coahoma but were moved to the Runnels gym.

Runnels' ninth graders now have a 7-7 record. The eighth graders are 6-9.

Mark Slate hit four free tosses late in the game to pull the eighth grade Yearlings to the fore. Benito Rubio was especially warm for Runnels, scoring 18 points.

In the ninth grade game, Lewis Switzer was tough on the boards while Herman Evans led the scoring with 13 points for Big Spring.

The Runnels teams tangle with San Angelo Edison here Monday evening.

Mermen Entered

Eight members of the Big Spring High School swimming team will accompany coach Bill Lewis to Lubbock Saturday for the Dolphin Relays on the Texas Tech campus.

Steers Can't Look Back In Contest

Don McDonald and his Big Spring Steers will try to come down out of the clouds tonight in San Angelo.

The Steers are still in a partial state of shock, after having rallied to beat 2-AAAA leader Abilene High last Tuesday night. Whether or not they will be replaying that one or facing up to a stern test against the Bobcats remains to be seen.

Big Spring still has a good shot at the conference crown, if they can pick up a few wins on the road. Their chances diminish if they can't beat teams like San Angelo.

San Angelo isn't going anywhere in the race but can play relaxed ball in the role of the spoiler. And, to date, the Bobcats have had no reason to think the Steers have "arrived" as a conference power.

The Cats, coached by Dick Rittman, are 2-4 in the standings and 7-13 over-all but that record is most deceptive. The Bobcats played Abilene High off its feet before losing, 73-72—and in Abilene, at that.

In other conference starts, they have beaten Odessa, 58-49, and Permian, 54-52, and lost to Lee, 68-59, and Cooper, 65-57.

The Felines don't have a tall club but they have some of the league's better shooters, among them Sam Bradley, Joel Owens and Carl Johnson. Each of those players, incidentally, stands 6-1. San Angelo's tallest player is 6-4 Don Hill, a good rebounder. Other starter for the Cats is 6-0 Bob Allison.

Bradley leads the Tabbies in league scoring with 112 points, which averages out to a robust 18.7 points a game.

As a team against over-all competition, San Angelo has averaged 55 points a start, compared to 57.4 for the foe.

Big Spring will probably go with Danny Clendenin, Charley Tubbs, Robert Jackson, Wayne Johnson and Richard Green as starters.

Jackson has fouled out in the last couple of games.

B teams of the two schools will clash at 6:15 p.m.

The Steers will be seeking their 22nd victory of the season. They have lost four times. All of the reverses have come on foreign courts.

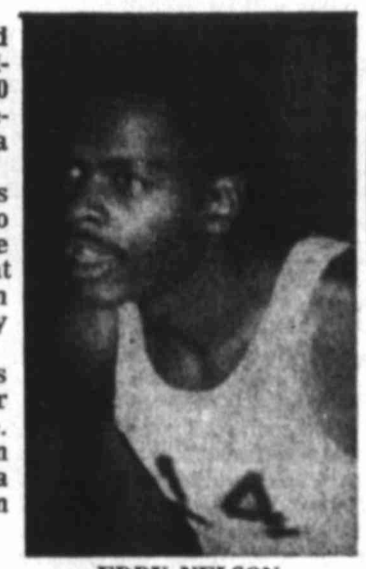

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

James Acree, recently hired away from Corsicana High School by SMU, was one of the men who had talked to the school board's screening committee about the local coaching job.

Acree was gravitating toward Rice University at one time, although he was making $12,000 at Corsicana. A 37-year-old livewire, he had given Corsicana one state championship.

EDDY NELSON

At Corsicana, Acree's teams won 63, lost 14 and played two ties in his seven years at the post. He previously had been at Bonham, where his teams won two district crowns in as many years.

Since the 1920's, Corsicana has been a football hotbed — rather like Breckenridge used to be. Breckenridge never believed in paying the salaries Corsicana did, however, and fell upon hard times in the sport.

Howard Payne is favored to repeat as basketball champion of the Lone Star Conference, perhaps mainly because Big Spring's Eddy Nelson insists on getting into every game.

Nelson is playing with two bad knees. He has to wear braces on both limbs to stay active. Despite the fact that he is only 6-2, he is one of the top rebounders in the league.

HCJC's feeder program for Howard Payne has been so successful down through the years that coach Glen Whitis will probably look to the local school for replacements after this season.

• • • •

The war between the NFL and AFL that reached its climax in last Sunday's Super Bowl at Los Angeles paled in comparison to the pre-game fight for ratings between NBC and CBS television viewers.

Each of the networks called upon some of their finest and highest-priced talent to plug the organization's coverage of the historic battle.

When Madison Avenue takes over a venture like this to such an extent, its significence begins to corrode a little bit. More and more, pro football is being used to sell a beer and/or a cigarette and less and less to provide entertainment for John Q. Fan, whose presence at the game is diminishing in importance.

One of those who didn't agree with Detroit coaching aide Lou Rymkus that deposed chieftain Harry Gilmer, and was a good man for the job, is Nick Pietrosante, the former Notre Dame star.

Pietrosante spent seven years with the NFL Lions before being pink slipped abruptly late in the 1966 exhibition season. He caught on as a relief runner with the Cleveland Browns.

"When he released me," Nick said, of Gilmer, "I said he was ruining and deteriorating the Lions. I think I was proven right. We (Cleveland) finished second and the Lions were last."

Pietrosante also thinks new mentor Joe Schmidt will get the job done.

"He's well liked by the players," Nick said of Joe. "He has their respect and knows what has to be accomplished. He'll give it a 110 per cent effort."

Pietrosante maintained that the job was simply too big for Gilmer and he couldn't cope with it.

"I suppose it really didn't surprise me that I was released. Heck, Gilmer had gotten rid of 20 or 25 players already. If he had stayed he would have dropped everyone."

Rymkus, who probably will lose his job now that Schmidt has been signed, maintained that most of the Lions were playboys who didn't want to change their nocturnal habits for Gilmer or anyone else.

Ho-Hum, Wilt And Cohorts Prosper Again

By The Associated Press

The Philadelphia 76ers not only dominate the East, but they're also winning the West.

The 76ers, leaders in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division, trounced the Chicago Bulls 127-102 at Pittsburgh Thursday night for their 26th straight victory over Western Division teams.

It was the 76ers' seventh in their latest winning streak and ran their record to 44-4.

In other games, San Francisco walloped New York 123-102 and Baltimore edged Cincinnati 122-118 in a doubleheader at Baltimore.

Chicago's Don Kojis and Erwin Mueller scored a total of 19 points in the first quarter to give Chicago a 27-27 tie with the 76ers, but Philadelphia broke the game open with a 39-point spree in the second period for a 66-48 halftime lead.

The 76ers Wilt Chamberlain led all scorers with 27 points. Kojis topped Chicago with 17.

Rick Barry, the league's leading scorer who was held to just 13 points in the San Francisco's loss to Chicago Wednesday night, got only 22, far below his average, against New York. Tom Meschery, however, took up the slack with 28. Dick Barnett led the Knicks with 21.

Kirk Is Hired By Palo Duro

LITTLEFIELD — George Kirk, head coach at Littlefield High School who was interviewed about the coaching job in Big Spring recently, has been named head coach at Amarillo Palo Duro High School.

Kirk guided the Littlefield team to the District 3-AAA championship in his only season there. He had previously coached at Cameron High School, where he had developed two conference titlists in three years.

Kirk succeeds Tommy Gray as coach at Palo Duro. Gray quit recently to become coach at Irving High School.

NEW YOUTH CENTER NEARING COMPLETION
Sacred Heart Catholic Church now shaping broad program

Dream Of Youth Center For Sacred Heart Now A Reality

Members of Sacred Heart Catholic Church will dedicate a new youth center across the street from the church building at N. Aylford and 10th St., late in February.

The new center features a 100 x 50 foot auditorium seating 400 people, and a 40 x 40 foot wing, together estimated to run $42,000 dollars. The plant will include a kitchen with a special sterilization unit, a meeting room seating 75 persons, a dark room, showers, and a game room for ping pong, pool and boxing.

Ninty-five per cent of the money has come from the Sacred Heart's Fall Festival, raffles, building fund, and the many donations from the parents of the children hoping to take part in the youth center's activities.

The majority of the inside work is being done by volunteers. Such a volunteer is Simon Correa Sr. He is in charge of the cabinet making throughout the church. Other volunteers are helping with the floors, brick laying, and installation of the many accessories.

Activities for the boys will include boxing, wrestling, pool, ping pong, and drama. Activities for the girls will include cooking, modeling, ceramics, and drama. The supervisor for the boys is Tony Saracho and for the girls Mrs. Kathy Vasquez.

One club already started is the amateur Photography Club. A fully equipped dark room is being installed in the youth center, and the three present photographers. Bruce Hicks, 14, Johnny Hilario, 14, and Simon Correa Jr., 13, will occupy that department.

Rev. Delaney pointed out that activity leadership is in great need. He is now looking for anyone with boxing experience to supervise the boxing instruction and he hopes to teach a counseling class sometime during the year to help young boys and girls to stay out of trouble. For the adults there will be lectures from nurses, doctors, and other businessmen to help improve the northside living conditions.

"There is no limitation to any boy that wishes to participate in the youth center activities," said Rev. Delaney. "Only boys that destroy property or start fights will be excluded."

The Youth Center is about $10,000 dollars short of the goal. But with help of the Big Spring people, the youth center will serve its purpose and it will become a fine place to attend festivities and other activities, Rev. Delaney said.

IMPORTANCE OF SOWING IS ILLUSTRATED IN PARABLE

In the International Sunday School lesson for Sunday, Jesus speaks a parable, then finds it expedient to interpret it.

In the lesson passage (Luke 8:9-21) we have a series of responses to the Word of God. It is clearly illustrated that hearing is not enough even for the spiritually perceptive. For those lacking in spiritual understanding, the parable may be revealing.

There is involved the responsibility of sowing and of persevering. The believer is charged with becoming a source of illumination.

When His mother and brothers seek to visit Him, Jesus uses the occasion to redraw the family circle to include all who believe and obey. (Daily Bible readings: Monday, Luke 7:1-10; Tuesday, Luke 7:11-17; Wednesday, Luke 7:18-23; Thursday, Luke 7:24-35; Friday, Luke 7:36-50; Saturday, Luke 8:9-18; Sunday, Luke 8:26-39.)

Nazarenes Gain, Remain Tops In Personal Giving

With notable gains in membership and stewardship, and completion of a missionary hospital in New Guinea at a cost of $215,000, the Church of the Nazarene, with world offices in Kansas City, Mo., had an outstanding year in 1966.

The church had a net gain of 7,774 members in 1966, an increase of 2.19 per cent, to bring the national membership to 363,585. This was the largest gain in the last three years.

Nazarenes in churches overseas increased to a total of 69,132 to push the world membership total to 432,717. This was more than double the church membership 20 years ago which stood at 215,000 in 1946.

The annual statistical report by Dr. Edgar Johnson, the general secretary, also showed that per capita giving in 1966 reached a record $179.70—an increase of $11.37 over the previous high mark in 1965. Giving for all purposes reached $64,895,000—an increase of $5,296,000 over the preceding year.

The stewardship gain apparently assures the Nazarene church of remaining in first place in the nation in per capita giving among all major denominations with 100,000 or more members.

The Nazarenes showed a net gain of 37 new churches which brought the denominational total to 4,926.

In the "march to a million" Sunday school enrollment campaign, started in the fall of 1964, the church has gained a total of 925,652 persons. Churches in the U.S. last year gained 28,701 in Sunday school enrollment to reach a national total of 805,652. Sunday schools overseas added about 120,000 more persons.

Congregation Retreats

FORT WORTH (AP)—Evans Avenue Baptist Church, a white congregation situated in an area now predominantly Negro, is moving out of the section to merge with another white Southern Baptist church seven miles away.

"Our people can get concerned about Africans but not about the Negroes across the street," explained the Rev. Frank Minton, the pastor. "We have been missionary minded in an impersonal way for so long that when the mission field moved next door we didn't know what to do."

Poor Help Poor

NEW YORK (AP) — Who are the best friends of the poor?

"Other poor people," says the Rt. Rev. Msgr. John G. Nolan, president of the Pontifical Mission for Palestine. He said low-income Amercians are "most consistently responsive to the needs of the poor elsewhere," as indicated by contributions resulting from Pope Paul VI's appeal for aid to 1.3 million Arab refugees.

LEGISLATION POSSIBLE

S. Africa's Racial Policy Critics May Face Ouster

By DENNIS LEE ROYLE

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Foreign preachers who use the pulpit to criticize this country's racial policies may find themselves out of a job here.

Legislation is expected to cut to a year the usual three-year temporary residential permit. Even the one-year permit could be withdrawn.

Many clergymen, some of them holding foreign passports, have been warned to watch their step. Those who continue to condemn apartheid—race segregation—from the pulpit and in pastoral magazines are the targets.

Growing antagonism between the progovernment Dutch Reformed Church and other religious bodies has influenced the government to take action.

While Prime Minister Balthazar J. Vorster holds the reins of political power, his brother, Dr. J.A. Vorster, an actuary of the Dutch Reformed Church, dominates the religious field. This church has a predominantly Afrikaans-speaking following estimated at 1.7 million whites in a total white population of about three million. It upholds the government's racial segregation policies.

Dr. Vorster has directed attention to the multiracial Christian Institute of South Africa, a religious body which has often attacked what it considers the lack of Christian principles applied to South Africa's racial problems.

Its members embrace many of the country's religious groups, including some ministers of the Dutch Reformed Church, even though the latter has banned the Christian Institute and warned its church followers not to associate with it.

'UGLY IMAGE'

"The Christian Institute is mainly responsible for the ugly image of the Dutch Reformed Church in the outside world," says Dr. Vorster. "During a meeting of the World Council of Churches they conveyed the impression that South Africa was sitting on a powder-keg. Let us tell the world we have rejected them."

A government leader, Ben Schoeman, says:

"We are growing tired of political bishops. They use their pulpits to justify their dirty attacks on the government. If ministers of religion want to take part in politics, let them step down on to the political platform."

Commenting on the religious role played by the prime minister's brother and other Afrikaans preachers, Schoeman denied they ever used the pulpit to further political aims.

"Dr. Vorster was attacking communism," he said. "I would welcome other ministers who followed his example."

Longest Fund-Raising Task Finances Church Addition

Probably the longest fund raising project in Big Spring is still very much active—and no end is yet in sight. Every Saturday for the past 10 to 12 years, the Baker Methodist Church has held a barbecue, open not only to its church members but also to the public.

The barbecue starts sharp at 11 a.m. every Saturday morning with Charlie Merritt as chief cook. Meat is bought by Merritt, and then he prepares the barbecue over open coals while Mrs. Anna Mae Elderge prepares the plates by adding red beans and potato salad. Mrs. Irene Moreland is in charge of the telephone committee, and Mrs. Venora Williams with the help of Mrs. Vrola Merritt, Jasper Evans, E. O. Brown and L. E. Gater takes care of the delivery service.

"Due to this money-making project the church is able to start an addition to their church," explained Merritt. The addition is a 25 x 50 foot classroom.

"There are approximately 45 children attending Sunday school and YPD (Young People's Department)," he said. "With the increasing number of children memberships in the church it became necessary to acquire extra space for Sunday school classes and other special events.

"It is especially hoped to have the building completed in time for the AME Electoral College representatives who will meet in Big Spring," he added. The Electoral College will come from the Lubbock District and Church in July.

Meanwhile, Merritt and others in the Baker's Chapel congregation go right on with their barwill meet at Bakers Methodist becuing, hoping for calls from friends who indulge their taste buds while helping.

Baptists Rap Unconcern

DALLAS — In a scathing sermon at the Texas Baptist Evangelism Conference here Tuesday night a seminary professor blasted the "death of God boys" and internal problems within the church.

Speaking to a crowd of some 7,500 in Memorial Auditorium, Wayne E. Ward, professor of Old Testament Interpretation at Southern Baptist Seminary in Louisville, Ky., said the sin of ungodliness is popular in America today.

Ward said those who espouse the death of God theologize and popularize ungodliness.

"Churches pay theologians to teach the opposite of what they claim to believe," he said. "Even people in the church believe they can dispense with God."

Using a theme "The Great Need of Man," Ward said men have always tried to earn their salvation.

"But God says no," said Ward. "Salvation comes only by faith and works are the fruit of salvation." Ward said people are ignoring God and that ignoring always ends in rebellion.

C. E. Autrey, Atlanta, Ga., director of the evangelism division of the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board, said he feels that a number of Baptist churches "lack concern for the lost," told the crowd that "what one believes determines what he is, and what he is determines what he does."

Roy J. Fish, evangelism professor of Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Fort Worth, spoke on "Redeeming the City." He formerly pastored the Salem Baptist Church near Big Spring.

W. A. Criswell, pastor of Dallas' First Baptist Church, charged the Baptists with the responsibility of relating and improving the home and the church, which he called "God's redemptive community."

"The atmosphere of the American home is worldly in the extreme," Criswell charged. In a vigorous sermon laced with illustration about personal evangelism, he bore heavily on the father's place and responsibility in the home and church.

On Sharing Secularization

NEW YORK (AP) — Amid the secularizing forces in modern society, religion cannot survive "simply as a social force to perpetuate tradition," the Rev. Dr. Bernard E. Meland says.

In a new book, "The Secularization of Modern Culture," published by Oxford Press, he adds, however, that while the process threatens historic religions, it can become a creative ferment, "cleansing and reclaiming our religious sensibilities."

Vacation Benevolence

GREEN LAKE, Wis. (AP)—A group of 40 American Baptist women, who visited Haiti in 1962, held a "tourist reunion" here, at which they announced the gift of a new chapel organ to Haiti's College Pratique du Nord. They learned of the need for the organ on a trip there, and started raising funds.

Church Picks Up Radio Broadcasts

MEADVILLE, Pa. (AP) — Every Sunday during services, unusual sounds creep into St. Marys Roman Catholic church in this western Pennsylvania community.

The sounds are that of a Protestant church service being broadcast by a local radio station.

By some oddity of electricity, the radio broadcasts were being picked up by the public address system in St. Marys. No one has found a way to overcome it.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

CAN YOU HEAR A CHILD'S HEART?

That poor doctor! All he can hear is a thump-thumping in his stethoscope.

But parents can hear more!

They can hear their child's heart in his excited voice . . . in his pounding feet . . . in his noisy play. And the sounds they hear are full of happiness, and hope, and promise.

In his prayers, too, parents can hear their child's heart . . . reaching confidently toward the Love and Power that grown men sometimes forget.

But hearing a child's prayers is only one little gesture in the tremendous responsibility of nurturing the spiritual development of a Christian heart.

Like the doctor's stethoscope it's a kind of routine checkup before we prescribe what the patient needs.

The heart of a child needs religious example in generous doses which only his parents can provide. And the heart of a child needs spiritual truth, of which his family's Church is the convenient, trusted dispensary.

TEXANS AT WAR

Bullet Hits His Grenade

By The Associated Press

"One Viet Cong bullet hit a grenade I was wearing. Another one hit my rifle," said S.Sgt. Jesus Hernandez of Corpus Christi.

The Texan at war was describing heavy fighting he was in during the battle of the Ia Drang Valley in South Vietnam in November of 1965.

VC AMBUSH

Hernandez, now on duty with the 2nd Armored Division at Ft. Hood, recently won a citation for guiding the best platoon through basic training at the Central Texas installation. He led the 3rd Platoon, Co. B, 2nd Battalion, 41st Infantry.

Hernandez went to Southeast Asia with the 3rd Brigade, 1st Cavalry Division, in August of 1965. He initially went to a base camp at An Khe.

"The VC had ambushed one of our battalions on Nov. 14 and choppers moved us in to relieve them," he said.

HAND-TO-HAND

"We fought for three days and then pulled out because B52s were coming in to hit the area.

"After the bombing, we moved back in," Hernandez said.

"We were marching in a column and out of nowhere a VC battalion ambushed us. It was hand-to-hand for a while."

He said his unit broke contact, then called in air and artillery strikes on the guerillas.

"We finally broke them up and moved them back to the Cambodian border."

He identified the enemy as a unit of the North Vietnamese army.

Heavy Fighting

S.Sgt. Jesus Hernandez of Corpus Christi was in Vietnam with the 3rd Brigade, 1st Cavalry Division and engaged in heavy fighting during the battle of Ia Drang Valley. Hernandez said enemy rifle fire hit a grenade he was wearing and another shot hit his rifle and split the butt. (AP WIREPHOTO)

DEAR ABBY

Let Mother Have Him!

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a 55-year-old Mama's boy who gave his girl friend an engagement ring in 1959, but she can't show it to anybody because he doesn't want his mother to find out?

Well, I am the girl friend. I have gone with Wendell for 10 years and I am pretty sick of this setup. I met his mother just once, when Wendell carried her to the foot doctor. He let me go along for the ride. He never told her I was his girl friend, though. The problem is, Wendell's mother has money and she says if he marries she will leave it all to the church.

He was so confused two years ago he wrote to you, and you told him to talk to his pastor. He said he did and the pastor told him he was lucky to have such a wonderful mother.

What am I supposed to do now? I am 48 and not getting any younger.

WENDELL'S GIRL

DEAR GIRL: Put the ring through Wendell's nose and send him to his mother.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am 22, have been working for four years and feel that I am ready to settle down. I have been dating a successful 28-year-old business man. He owns his own home, car, boat, and seems to have plenty of spending money. We have dated for more than a year and his family tells me I am the only girl he has dated more than once.

He says he "cares" for me, but he has never said, "I love you." He seems to enjoy my company, but he has never spoken in terms of the future as far as "we" are concerned. My mother says I am wasting my time with him. Should I pin him down and ask him what his intentions are? PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: No! If his intentions are to marry you, he doesn't need any prompting. If his intentions are to go with you as long as you'll go with him without committing himself, he'll drop you before he admits it. Don't count on this one. And don't pass up any other good bets if they appear.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I love my parents very much, but here is my problem. When they ask me to baby sit with my younger sisters and brothers they never tell me where they can be reached in case of emergency. I have baby sat for others, but they always leave a number where I can reach them. Sometimes my parents will leave on Friday and stay away until Sunday night and I never know where they've been until they come back and tell me.

I have asked them many times to please give me some idea of where they are going, but they say, "We don't know. If anything happens, call the ambulance." My parents have been married for 20 years and I think they deserve a good time, but don't you think they should at least call in or something? WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Yes, I do, but if your parents are not sufficiently concerned about possible emergencies, there is nothing you can do but keep your eye on the little ones and pray you never have to call the ambulance. It may take an emergency to change their attitudes. Let's hope their luck holds out.

Farm Employers Tax Time Near

Employers of farm workers are required to file Form 943, Employer's Annual Tax Return for Agricultural Employes — 1966, and pay their share of amounts withheld from employe wages, on or before Jan. 31, 1967, Ellis Campbell Jr., district director of Internal Revenue for northern Texas, announced.

These taxes applied to cash wages of $150 or more paid to each employe in 1966 or on cash wages in any amount even though under $150 in 1966, if the employe performed agricultural labor on 20 or more days during the year, Mr. Campbell said.

The rate of tax is 4.2 per cent for the employer and 4.2 per cent for the employe or a total of 8.4 per cent on the taxable cash wages paid.

A "Crew Leader" is treated as an employer under the law for the purpose of these taxes the director said.

Legal Liquor Big Bonanza

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Legal liquor is a financial bonanza to Mississippi, compared to the state's old "black market tax" on bootleggers.

The Alcoholic Beverage Control Division reports the state received $6,140,570 in liquor income during the six months since statewide "prohibition" ended.

The old black market tax, a levy imposed by the state on products which could not be sold in the state legally, yielded Mississippi about $2.5 million a year.

Chilly In Texas

By The Associated Press

Clouds disappeared over Texas today except near the coast, where intermittent rain was expected tonight and Saturday.

It was still chilly at many points, but overnight temperatures stayed well above the biting low marks recorded for several days.

Readings by 6 a.m. ranged down to 19 degrees at Dalhart, 21 at Texarkana, 23 at Longview, 24 at El Paso, 25 at Lubbock and Tyler, 26 at Fort Worth and Waco, 28 at Lufkin and Midland and 29 at Dallas.

Forecasts promised a continuing warmup with temperatures averaging three to 11 degrees above normal over the state through the middle of next week.

Milton Berle Not Bitter, Just Loyal

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie - TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The town's know-it-alls thought they detected bitterness when Milton Berle picketed ABC the week after his variety show had been dropped by the network.

He wasn't bitter, says Berle, just loyal.

"I belong to every union in the business — actors, writers, directors, even stagehands and cameramen," he explains. "That's so I can do anything I want on a set — move a table, change a camera setup — things that actors aren't supposed to do under union rules.

"The other day I was walking to my office when I saw pickets around the Hollywood Palace, where I did my show. NABET (National Association of Broadcast Employes and Technicians) was protesting the use of new automatic cameras that don't need operators.

JOINS PICKETS

"The boys asked me if I was going to cross the picket line. Cross it? I joined it!"

Neither bitterness nor cancellation seems to stay Uncle Miltie from his comic rounds. Even though his Friday night show was not renewed by ABC at the end of its first 17 weeks, he believes he will return to the medium he once ruled as Mr. Television.

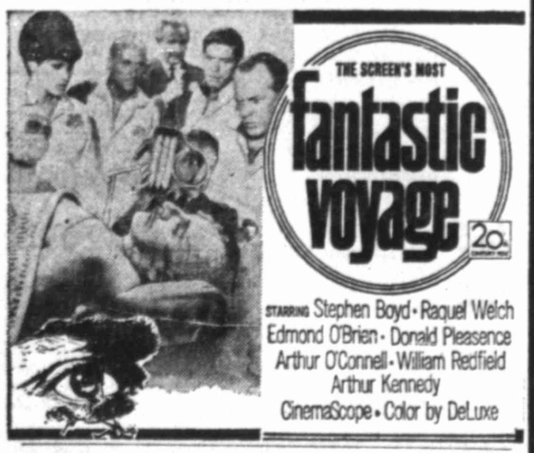

"Why not?" he says. "The formula still works. It's the same thing I used to do at the Strand and the Roxy, the same thing I do today in Vegas and Miami. It's entertainment, and the people go for it."

Then what happened to the ABC series?

MADE MISTAKE

"I made a mistake in setting up the deal," Berle explained. "I should have insisted on a 26-week contract instead of 17. I didn't know we would have only 120 stations on the network instead of the usual 170. That made the show look bad in the ratings, while in the 30-city survey it did well."

Clash Looms Between Reagan, Demo Leader

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—A clash shaped up today between Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan and the powerful Democratic Assembly leader, Jesse M. Unruh, over tuition in California's higher education institutions.

The two face each other, on opposite sides of the tuition fence, at a closed session of the University of California Board of Regents, which held an open session Thursday.

Reagan, pressed by an expected multimillion-dollar state budget deficit, turned over his tuition plan to regents for a month of study. Later, asked about plans to bring the tuition issue to a vote in today's session, Reagan said he was against it.

CRITICISM MOUNTS

Thursday night, it was learned that Unruh, who is against tuition, will push for a vote on the issue which has ignited statewide controversy.

Reagan and the other regents are squeezed between swelling University of California enrollment and a $473-million budget deficit. Thursday, the board voted to keep enrollments open while trying to cut expenses.

Facing mounting criticism over his economy proposals, Reagan agreed to restore $5 million to finance year-around classes at UCLA and Berkeley.

Still undecided is the size of the university's 1967-68 budget, which Reagan has proposed to cut by 10 per cent. The university has 87,000 students on nine campuses, with more than 6,000 teachers.

Reagan, attending his first regents meeting since his election, assured the university his budget plans are temporary. "This is in no way a change in permanent policy," he said.

"Nobody in state administration has in mind reducing the goals of quality in education that have been the glory of California."

In turn, the regents agreed to urge administrators of the university to "continue to make every effort to economize."

'As The World Turns' Antiheroine Returns

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Movie - TV Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — For daytime television viewers this was the week when Lisa Hughes came back to "As The World Turns."

"As The World Turns," it should be explained, is a daytime serial, or soap opera, on CBS that has been a favorite for so many years it probably should start dropping five years from its age. It moves inexorably from emotional crisis to crisis and is sneered at by people unable to watch television regularly during the daylight hours.

FAITHFUL FANS

For the faithful fans, the return of Lisa Hughes was pretty exciting, for she had been a sort of antiheroine of the show for six years. In May 1965, on the heels of the success of "Peyton Place," CBS decided to spin a nighttime soap opera off the popular daytime series. So one day Lisa Hughes, played by attractive Eileen Fulton, boarded a Chicago-bound train in Oakdale, scene of "As The World Turns." That night a new program, "Another World" had its premiere and was built around Lisa's new life in the big city.

As it turned out, "Another World" never made the ratings grade and quietly disappeared with the new season in September. Lisa returned briefly to Oakdale and daytime TV long enough to wrap up some loose ends and then returned to Chicago, a second husband and oblivion — until last Monday.

Miss Fulton, who had majored in music and voice in college, was busily launching a night-club career.

"But now I'm back in Oakdale," she reported. "People who came to see me as Eileen Fulton were marvelous but they also made me realize how important Lisa Hughes has been to me. I just don't want to lose those people.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: An excellent day for you clearly to see the motives and ideals behind the activities of others as well as your own deep-seated mental desires—and the means by which you can attain them with less effort physically but more study of the factors involved. Avoid all kinds of trouble this Saturday night.

ARIES: (March 21 to April 19) Do important work and be sure to get caught up on correspondence during the day so that you can go out in the evening without worry. P.m. is not good for business matters. Be more carefree.

TAURUS: (April 20 to May 20) Day is ideal for planning more financial security and getting some big bill out of the way, but tonight is not good for recreation. Take it easy. Do nothing that will irk others and you keep out of trouble.

GEMINI: (May 21 to June 21) A fine day to achieve what you set your mind to and to speak frankly with partners, but be sure you take it easy tonight. Be very active. Retire early so that you restore your energies.

MOON CHILDREN: (June 22 to July 21) Many personal duties need to be taken care of during day, but take care later and do not let others impose on you. You get fine ideas in p.m. Do not take action just yet.

LEO: (July 22 to Aug. 21) A little thoughtful gift to close ties or pals will do much to bolster their lagging spirits. Be careful you are not extravagant tonight, though. Plan future social affairs. Then hide away in your boudoir, study, and be comfortable.

VIRGO: (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You can do much to improve your social position today if you contact powerful individuals. You are able to persuade others easily in a.m. Be careful to safeguard your reputation in p.m.

LIBRA: Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) If you are to make headway in any of your ideas, you have to adopt an entirely new attitude. Be more appreciative of others and their own abilities. Get out early to whatever appeals to you. Forget woe at home.

SCORPIO: (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) By having the proper attitude, Saturday chores go as smooth as glass. Think objectively, be good to close ties. Money can be made during day. Avoid the social tonight, which could be most disappointing.

SAGITTARIUS: (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Your usual allies should be shown that you are truly devoted, so try to please them in p.m. Avoid a higher-up who could give you much trouble, and those temptations that you know are bad for you as well.

CAPRICORN: (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Morning is ideal for using energy to complete some project, but later you have to do more studying if you want to make improvements in any sphere. Be interested in cooperating with others. Take it easy in p.m.

ACQUARIUS: (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) The day is ideal for getting right into whatever duty brings you the greatest amount of joy, satisfaction. A good friend expects you to carry through with some obligation. Do so. Don't follow hunches tonight—they could be erroneous.

PISCES: (Feb. 20 to March 20) You can have a good time with kin at Saturday activities during the day but tonight arguments could start if you are not tactful. Be sure to take care of practical duties in a.m. first. Rest up tonight.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN tomorrow . . . he, or she, will be one of those very talented young people who can sell almost anything to anyone, since there is an uncanny ability to understand what others are thinking and to anticipate their needs. Give as fine an education as you possibly can since there is bound to be a tremendous success in this chart, and the earning power starts very early in life. Teach ethics, too.
