The SDN Column

It has been some time now since the Snyder Chamber of Commerce had a membership drive, although membership in the organization always is open to business firms and individuals who wish to participate in the program and support it with their money.

Such a drive will be conducted, beginning Wednesday, and those who already are members hope that others will join them in backing the Chamber as it continues to work for the community.

It is apparent from time to time that some people do not know exactly how the Chamber of Commerce is organized, how it is financed and how it functions.

Members foot the bills. There is no tax money involved. The financing comes from membership dues. Of course there are those who sit on the sidelines and offer advice, but no funds, and still others to avail themselves of services provided by the Chamber of Commerce but carry none of the financial load.

The members have no quarrel with people who take advantage of the Chamber services. That's the purpose of the organization — to provide community service and to coordinate efforts toward community improvement and progress.

However, they do want people to know that when advice, or criticism, is offered, they should remember that the Chamber of Commerce is not a government agency, that it is owned and operated by dues-paying members and that these members will welcome others into the fold.

Moreover, those who use Chamber services and facilities should remember that others are paying for it.

Actually, the Chamber of Commerce here has been too busy to conduct an intensive membership drive for many months, and things are still going on. But development which has occurred in the past two or three years has resulted in new prospective members throughout the city, and their neighbors are now ready to ask them to join their effort.

★ ★ ★

I hope this is not an omen, what with the arguments over "Railpax," or "Railpax," or whatever they are calling it now, but I received a letter Friday, April 30, from the U.S. Office of Transportation reminding that clocks should be moved ahead one hour before 2 a.m. Sunday, April 25, because daylight saving time goes into effect at that hour.

The letter went on to explain that the Dept. of Transportation "inherited its time-keeping duties in 1967 from the Interstate Commerce Commission which held the responsibility since the enactment of the Standard Time Act of 1918."

From this, it appeared that the department had lost at least five days somewhere in the past four years, but the letter was dated April 22.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Sunday, May 2, the 122nd day of 1971. There are 243 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1945, the Soviets announced the fall of Berlin in World War II. And the Western Allies announced the unconditional surrender of Nazi troops in Italy and southern and western Austria.

On this date:

In 1670, the Hudson's Bay Company was chartered by England.

In 1863, Gen. Thomas "Stonewall" Jackson was mistaken for a Union scout and shot and fatally wounded by his own soldiers during the Civil War battle at Chancellersville, Va.

In 1890, the Oklahoma Territory was organized.

In 1960, Caryl Chessman was executed in San Quentin Prison in California after 12 years of litigation, during which time he wrote four books.

In 1966, there was rioting in Israel during a visit by former West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

Ten years ago: The U. S. State Department described Cuba under Fidel Castro as a full-fledged member of the Communist Bloc.

Five years ago: The U.S. Ambassador to Saigon, Henry Cabot Lodge, discussed the conflict in Vietnam with Pope Paul VI at the Vatican.

One year ago: U.S. and South Vietnamese troops overran four Communist bases in Cambodia and captured large caches of rice.

TO PROMOTE PEACE

Rogers Arrives In Saudi Arabia

RIYADH, Saudi Arabia (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers began his visit to Arab lands on his Middle East peace mission today in Riyadh. News from Egypt was discouraging.

President Anwar Sadat of Egypt told a May Day rally in Hilwan south of Cairo he was not interested in Israel's Suez Canal plan. But he said "I am interested in the U.S. stand and I shall press Mr. Rogers to define it in frank, clear-cut terms."

Sadat reiterated that Egyptian armed forces should cross the Suez Canal after a partial Israeli withdrawal. Israel insists Egyptian forces must stay on the west bank.

Rogers confers in Riyadh with King Faisal and other Saudi Arabian leaders before proceeding to Jordan, Lebanon, Egypt and Israel.

Faisal is friendly toward the United States. U.S. oil investments in Saudi Arabia amount to more than $1 billion. Saudi Arabia, however, contributes $150 million a year to Jordan and Egypt to offset their losses in the June 1967, war with Israel.

Before leaving Ankara, the Turkish capital, Rogers was cautious, saying he did not expect any spectacular breakthrough in the Arab-Israeli dispute. But he still hopes to narrow the gap between Israeli and Egyptian terms for reopening the Suez Canal.

"I wish him copious success, but I don't know whether he will be able to arrive at this result just on this trip," Premier Nihat Erin of Turkey told reporters as Rogers ended a two-day stay in Ankara.

Without exception, U.S. officials said, the foreign leaders with whom Rogers has talked since leaving Washington Monday have responded favorably to his ideas — including trying to narrow the gap between Egyptian and Israeli terms for reopening the Suez Canal.

Rogers does not rate this as official foreign support for his venture, and he believes others share his assessment that no breakthrough on knotty issues will come soon.

May Day Is Fair

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

May Day brought Texas a weather serving of light breezes and rising temperatures.

Scattered showers dried up and skies cleared except for partly cloudy conditions in extreme South Central Texas.

A little rain pelted the Middle and Upper Texas Coast in the vicinity of a dissipating cool front Friday afternoon. There also were a few showers in the south central part of the state but no point received any moisture of consequence.

Top afternoon temperatures went as high as 91 degrees at Del Rio and Laredo. Most places saw maximums in the 70s to 80s.

Readings this morning ranged from 48 at Dalhart, Fort Worth and Lufkin up to 67 at Del Rio and Laredo.

Forecasts called for little change through the weekend.

LA Bank Bombed Saturday

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (AP) — A pipe bomb damaged a wall and shattered windows today in a Bank of America branch and broke windows in nearby homes. It was the 35th assault in 15 months on the bank's properties by arsonists and bombers.

Police said the bomb in a wooden box was placed in the rear of the one-story stone and stucco building in the city's West Side. Damage to the bank was estimated at $10,000.

The blast also broke windows in four nearby houses and a piece of pipe from the bomb went through a wall of one of the houses.

There were no injuries and no arrests.

Late Thursday, a black powder bomb shattered 20 windows in the Bank of America's Montebello branch in Los Angeles.

In the last five weeks there have been five other bombings of bank branches in Berkeley, Oakland, Mill Valley and Sausalito, all in the San Francisco area.

The 18 bombings and 17 arson attempts by set fires or fire bombs began in February 1970, when the Isla Vista branch was burned in the Santa Barbara area.

Letters claiming credit for some of the bombings have been written by persons identifying themselves as young radicals. They singled out the bank, they said, because it symbolizes "capitalist exploitation of the little man."

AM Is Defendant In Damage Suit

J. R. Meadows and his wife, Effie Lou Meadows, have filed suit against American Magnesium Company, asking for a total of $63,940 in damages and reduction of land value.

The land involved is section 202, block 97, Houston and Texas Central Railway Co. survey near the AM plant.

Plaintiff alleges that "smoke, vapors, fumes, obnoxious odors and poisonous and corrosive gases (including particles of magnesium chloride, hydrochloric acid and chlorine gas) have blown in, upon and over plaintiff's land and premises into their home at all times of the day and night" since the plant went into operation in July of 1969.

Meadows claims the operation of the plant is unreasonable and constitutes a nuisance. He claims damages and injuries to crops, grass, livestock and loss of income from farming and ranching operations. He also alleges damages and injuries were sustained as a result of corrosion to fences, stock and horse trailers, tractor and farm equipment, electric wire, engines of his automobile and pickup, television antenna and damages and injuries to furniture, appliances, drapes, carpet and air conditioner.

He alleges that he has been forced to move away from his home in order to protect his health.

Meadows is asking $25,000 in damages and $38,940 in reduction of land value, which he declares is a permanent nuisance. The total sum asked for in the suit is $63,940.

Protests Not Fixing Policy, Nixon Asserts

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon declared Saturday that "policy in this country is not made by protest," and warned demonstrators massing in Washington that the government is prepared to deal with illegal conduct threatened by dissenters against his Vietnam course.

Nixon told a hastily called news conference that the right to demonstrate for peace abroad does not include any right "to break the peace at home."

He spoke at the Western White House as an estimated 35,000 antiwar demonstrators gathered in Washington. Beginning Monday, organizers of that protest have threatened civil disobedience designed to disrupt traffic, and, in their words, close down the government.

"When I say that I will not be intimidated and that Congress will not be intimidated, I'm simply stating the American principle ... that policy in this country is not made in the streets," the President said.

It was Nixon's second news conference in three days, and, as he did Thursday night in Washington, the President defended his Vietnam policy as the correct one for the sake of a lasting peace.

He said he believes those now demonstrating will, in the long run, come to see it that way, too.

"I have no plans to meet with any of them," he said. "I am quite aware of their position."

He said those who make government decisions must listen to all viewpoints, then do what they think is right.

Nixon noted that there have been incidents of lawbreaking and arrest as demonstrators attempted to block access to government agencies this week, and said "if this kind of illegal conduct continues next week, as some say it will, we are prepared to deal with it."

He said that means those who break the law will be arrested.

CBS Asked To Answer Charges

By STAN BENJAMIN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Columbia Broadcasting System, refusing to show congressmen material left out of "The Selling of the Pentagon," has been asked by the Federal Communications Commission to answer complaints the documentary was unfair.

The network Friday was given 20 days to respond.

Even as that deadline was being set, another for CBS was running out: the 10 days given by congressional investigators to provide material collected for but not used in the documentary.

"Instead of providing the material, CBS sent the House Commerce Committee's special investigating subcommittee a new refusal, saying complaiance "would have a chilling effect" on news reporting in all media.

A subcommittee attorney said it may take a week to 10 days before the members decide whether to seek a contempt-of-Congress citation against the network, a possibility that could set the stage for a court confrontation.

"The Selling of the Pentagon," first broadcast Feb. 23 and repeated March 23, stated, as the FCC described it, "that the Department of Defense would spend $30 million this year in 'public relations funds not merely to inform but to convince and persuade the public on vital issue of war and peace.' "

Pentagon officials said responses by Daniel Z. Henkin, an assistant secretary of defense, to interview questions by CBS newsman Roger Mudd has been edited and rearranged in ways that misrepresented Henkin's statements.

They charged that a Marine colonel, quoting the prime minister of Laos on the "domino theory" of Asian mutual defense, was made to appear as if the words were his own.

Rep. Harley O. Staggers, D-W.Va., chairman of the subcommittee, ordered CBS April 8 to turn over all the material it collected in preparing the program. On April 20, after CBS refused, Staggers gave the network 10 days more to reconsider.

Meanwhile, Staggers wrote the FCC March 9 asking what action it would take in response to complaints about the program. In a reply Friday, the FCC said it has no evidence of deliberate distortion and therefore no authority to intervene on the complaints.

Chamber Plans Campaign For New Members

The Snyder Chamber of Commerce will begin a membership drive Wednesday morning, Mel Z. Gilbert, president, has announced.

Members of the Chamber have been invited to meet at the office in the city hall at 10 a.m. Wednesday. They will then go in teams of two to call on prospective members.

Gilbert said that a substantial list of prospective members had accumulated since the organization had conducted any sort of membership drive. Lists of these, along with invitations to participate in the drive will be distributed to members before the Wednesday morning kick-off of the drive.

Special Session May Be Avoided

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — Politicans have predicted for months that the "conservative" House and the "liberal" Senate would deadlock and maybe force a special legislative session over business taxes.

The House would pass a tax bill laden with consumer taxes, so the reasoning went, and the Senate would pass a corporation profits tax.

That would set the stage for weeks of fruitless bargaining, and the session would automatically end May 31 with no revenue in sight to pay for new spending.

But now there's a chance the two chambers might get together on taxes without even requiring any formal compromise talks.

"That's a reasonable proposition," confirmed an aide of Speaker Gus Mutscher, who is having his staff analyze the Senate's tax bill over the weekend.

A House decision whether to accept the Senate's $684.6 million two-year tax bill in lieu of the $604 million tax and tuition package passed by the house could come this week.

When the House passed its tax bill, Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes and several senators criticized it for being too light on corporations and too heavy on consumers.

But when Senators debated taxes Wednesday, two members of what had been considered a 17-member liberal majority voted "no" and killed all efforts to pass a corporation income tax.

The result was a bill that is just about as tough on the consumer as the house bill. The two bills have in common a sales tax increase from 3.25 to 4 per cent and a motor vehicle sales tax jump from 3 to 4 per cent. While the house included new "consumer" taxes on amusements, stock transfers and hotel rooms, the senate impose a 2 cents per gallon gasoline tax increase and a 3 cents per pack cigarette tax increase.

No I.O.U. on loan leads to trouble

By Abigail Van Buren

(c 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: For five years, Tex [not his real name] accepted expensive gifts, hundreds of meals and a lot of money from me. Also my love and devotion, which he said he wanted for the rest of his life. He said marriage was out because he had been hurt by a former wife. I accepted that.

Suddenly Tex turned up married! He explained that several months prior he had gone to Las Vegas with a woman and he suffered heavy gambling losses, which his female traveling companion made good. Soon she began pressuring him for repayment. Having no funds, he offered her marriage and she jumped at the chance.

Since he was heavily indebted to me, too, I demanded payment, whereupon he went to the county attorney and informed him that since I was a consenting female over 21, that he [Tex] did not "twist my arm," and was not indebted to me for anything. Thus he cleared himself.

For me to have been publicly condemned as an immoral person by one who had taken everything a woman could give was indeed a humiliating experience. I am not asking for advice or consolation, Abby. I have learned my lesson. I just want to pass it on to other women who may find themselves in the same situation. Sign me . . . "USED"

DEAR USED: There are two lessons to be learned here. A gift is a gift, and a loan without an "I. O. U." may as well be a gift. Also, she who sleepeth with dogs shall get up with fleas.

DEAR ABBY: I'm sure you've heard everything by now, so this won't shock you. I am a 23-year-old woman. Last year I took all my savings and had an augmenting mammaplasty — a breast implant of silicone.

I was sick of being flat-chested and wearing padded bras. I have no regrets, as I now feel so much more womanly and self assured. I see nothing wrong with people having their noses bobbed, or wrinkles removed if that's what makes them happy. Same for silicone breasts.

I am now engaged to a wonderful man. I fear that he would feel gypped if he knew my breasts were filled with silicone. He is sure to find out because they are very hard and some scars remain.

Is there any way to have the scars removed? Or should I swallow my pride and confess before we're married?

MARRIAGE OR BUST

DEAR MARRIAGE: Confess. And get the opinions of several top notch plastic surgeons with regard to the scars. Some scars can be removed.

DEAR ABBY: My fiance and I have been planning our wedding for several months. We have set the date and arranged for the church and even set up our vacations from work. Everything was perfect until my mother and sister announced that they wanted it to be a double wedding!

Up until now, my sister and her boy friend never even talked about marriage. I'm sure my mother is the real force behind this as she likes to outdo everybody and this is her chance to put on a big show.

My fiance and I want our wedding to be "our" day, and we don't want to share it with another couple. My dad plus my sister's fiance and his family are all for the double wedding, so we are outnumbered.

I had planned on paying for my own wedding, and Dad was paying for the reception; now dad says he will pay for everything if I agree to a double wedding with my sister.

Originally my sister was going to be my maid of honor. Now she wants to be a co-bride. Whose side are you on, Abby?

-BLUE BRIDE

DEAR BRIDE: Yours! [I am not opposed to double weddings. I had one!] But such double-headers are only for those who want them.

DEAR ABBY: Hooray for that little old frugal lady who carries a plastic bag in her purse for her leftovers when wealthy friends invite her to high-classed restaurants.

I am also a widow on a tight budget, and my wealthy friends taught me to carry a plastic bag in my purse. I know a woman who not only takes home her leftover meat, but her uneaten rolls and bits of parsley as well. Why not? The whole lot would be thrown out anyway.

Visits To China Are In Future

HONG KONG (AP) — So you want to go to China?

Indeed you may, although the prospect of any big tourist influx soon seems unlikely.

In the wake of the visit of the U.S. table tennis team, it appears likely the next travelers probably will be sports or cultural groups, newsmen, scientists, doctors or other professionals.

But tourism is bound to come. It is a source of enormous revenue no country, whatever its political complexion, can afford to snub.

The Chinese will let tourists in when they are prepared to make their trips comfortable and pleasant. That means new hotels, more English-language interpreters and guides.

The attractions include the Great Wall of China, the Summer Palace, the Forbidden City, the Temple of Heaven, the Ming tombs, the Great Hall of the People and a dozen museums, all in or near Peking; The Shanghai Bund, the Canton Trade Fair and Sun Uat-sen memorial not to mention trips to rural communes, factories, nurseries and other aspects of 1971 China.

For those luck— Such to get a visa, here are some observations gathered from this correspondent's 10-day trip in April:

The Hsin Chiao Hotel in Peking is large, square and Soviet Victorian. The stairs are flanked by paintings of Yenan, the Chinese Communist cave capital and the Hunan birthplace of Chairman Mao Tse-tung. There are room boys on every floor, a Western-style restaurant on the top one and an excellent Chinese one under the stairway. Taxis are available for hire. Special dinners can be arranged. But there were no English guidebooks and no enlightening signs in English.

The Ho Ping or Peace hotel in Shanghai is a luxurious relic from a capitalist past. Once the old Cathay, it remains elegant, comfortable and good. Shanghailanders know more English and are quicker to be helpful, perhaps because of this.

The Tung Fang in Canton, is like the Hsin Chiao, vast and heavily Russian. During Canton Fair time it is lively with foreigners from scores of countries.

Seasoned travelers bring their own beverages, including coffee.

Cemetery Assn. At Hermleigh

Mrs. Frank Nachlinger, president of the Hermleigh Cemetery Association has announced that the annual meeting will be held Monday at 8 p.m. in the Hermleigh Community Center. All interested persons are urged to attend.

Graveside Rites For Nelms Infant

Graveside rites were set for 1 p.m. Sunday at the Snyder Cemetery for the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Nelms. The child was stillborn Friday.

The Rev. Columbus Crayton will officiate and burial will be directed by Bell-Seale Funeral Home. Surviving are the parents, one brother and one sister.

Time For Pecan Tree Spraying

Area residents are reminded that now is an excellent time to spray pecan trees to cure of prevent rosette. This word comes from Billy Roach, County Agriculture Agent, who explains that rosette is a very common nutritional deficiency disease caused by the lack of zinc. Certain soil conditions make zinc unavailable to pecan trees and all pecans must have zinc for growth.

Trees affected by rosette have a yellowish color, have somewhat bare limbs and small cluster of leaves and shoots at the tip of the branches. On young trees, little growth is made each year.

There are two methods of control: ground application of zinc sulfate and foliage application. Ground application is usually unsatisfactory and uneconomical.

Foliage application of zinc sulfate can be made by spraying with a solution of 3 lbs of the 36 per cent zinc sulfate in 100 gallons of water. For small amounts 2-3 tablespoonfuls in 1 gallon of water. The addition of 1 tablespoon of a liquid detergent per gallon will aid in adhesion of the solution to the leaf surface and obtain better results.

The agent cautions producers that stronger solutions may cause burning of the foliage, so be sure and use the correct amount of the correct strength.

Police Blame Doctor In San Antonio Killings

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A shooting spree in two homes which police attributed to a physician left three member of one family dead and four others gravely wounded Friday night.

Officers said Dr. Lonnie Deadrick, 40, ended his own life after the deadly foray.

His wife Ruth, 39, and son Lonnie III, 10, also were slain. All three were shot in the head.

Hospital attendants said the wounded were in critical condition. They are the remaining three Deadrick children—Joyce Lonnie III, 10, also were slain. Mark, eight months old—and Deadrick's mother-in-law, Viola Edwards.

Police said Deadrick formerly practiced medicine here and was on a San Antnnio hospital staff before taking a leave of absence. For the past 18 months he had been studying psychiatry at the Baylor University college of medicine in Houston and returning for weekends at his home here.

Mrs. Edward, young Lonnie and Mark were shot at the Edwards home and the other shootings occurred at the fashionable northeast San Antonio home of the physician and his wife, police said.

The bloody night began, police said, at the Edwards home when the doctor went there to find his wife. After shooting the three victims there, he then went to his home and shot the others, homicide detectives reported.

Police said they first answered a call to the Edwards home on a burglary complaint at about 10 p.m. Officers found the home locked and did not try to enter it.

A few minutes later, they reported, police received another call from Mrs. Edwards, who said she and her grandchildren had been shot.

Officers found Mrs. Edwards and the two children wounded, Mrs. Edwards told police that Dr. Deadrick came to the house looking for his wife. She said when she told him that Mrs. Deadrick was not there he started shooting "everything in the house."

Officers rushed to the Deadrick home and also found it locked. Lt. Preston Slocum and detective Jesse Arzate kicked down the door.

They said they found the dead doctor and Constance in a back bedroom, Joyce in the den and Mrs. Deadrick, fatally wounded, sprawled on the kitchen floor.

A pistol was under Deadrick's body, the officers said.

Capt. L. G. Dunaway said the house was disarranged as though there had been a "big struggle." He said there were bloody footprints of a child throughout the hall.

A neighbor told a newsman that Deadrick was attending the Houston school and was to have completed his studies there in June.

"When he dropped out of practice in San Antonio he told me he wanted to be a psychiatrist because he felt most people's problems were mental," said the neighbor, John Evans. "He had been coming home every weekend."

Another neighbor, Clifton Bettison, said Deadrick "got along fine with everybody. He would take our kids to ball games if we didn't have time."

Program Is Discussed

The Scurry County Program Building Committee met in the County Extension office recently to discuss the county program and make recommendations for educational programs to be conducted during the coming year.

The County Extension Agents reported on the 3.76 in '76 program, revision of the long range program and discussed sub-committee planning that had been done.

Members of the committee made recommendations on environment improvement, a study of the possibility of new crops, improving efficiency of production as well as approving educational programs and demonstrations that subcommittees had suggested.

Arthur Lee Pieper, chairman, appointed a nominating committee to prepare nominees for officers to be elected at the next annual meeting.

The Scurry County Program Building Committee serves as an advisory and planning group for the Agriculture Extension Program in Scurry County.

Texas Economy Reviving

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas' economic climate continues the mild revival that began during the latter part of 1970, the Texas Bureau of Business Research says.

"Estimated personal income in Texas rose 3 per cent in March after showing no gain in February," said the bureau. "With the exception of the February hesitation, this index has risen during each month since November 1970," the University of Texas agency said.

"At last inflation has abated to the point where price increases are not as great as increases in income. The 5.4 per cent increase in personal income between November and March represents an approximate 4 per cent gain in real purchasing power. This is welcome news to the consumer."

All 20 cities selected to judge business-activity in the state showed gains in business for the year to date, except one—Beaumont, which was down one per cent.

The bureau report showed this business activity for the month and the year:

Abilene down 2 per cent for the month, up 4 per cent for the year to date; Amarillo up 16 and up 3; Austin down 3 and up 11; Beaumont down 11 and down one; Corpus Christi down one and up 18; Corsicana up 10 and up 10; Dallas up 12 and up 8; El Paso up 4 and up 8; Fort Worth up 14 and up 16; Galveston no change and up 10; Houston down 5 and up 7; Laredo down 4 and up 11; Lubbock up 12 and up 7; Port Arthur up 21 and up 12; San Angelo up 13 and up 17; San Antonio up 4 and up 15; Texarkana up 2 and up 2; Tyler up 4 and up 4; Waco up 7 and up 4; Wichita Falls down 4 and up 10.

Scurry Students Get HPC Awards

BROWNWOOD — Two students from Scurry County are among those who received awards at Howard Payne College, Dr. Guy D. Newman, president, has announced.

Otis James Archie Jr. of Snyder received a certificate award in forensics, and Rebecca Jane Wall of Hermleigh received an Outstanding Intramural Sportsmanship Award.

Oyster Power

LONDON (AP) — Scientists at Aberdeen University hunting for drugs and antibiotics in sea creatures say the oyster may contain tumor-fighting chemicals.

Mollucks, crabs, fish and protozoa also are being screened for use in human medicine.

Legislators' Wives Tour LBJ Ranch

AUSTIN (AP)—A telephone in the bathroom? Why not, if you're the former president of the United States there's no telling who might call ... or when.

A group of Texas legislators' wives took a bus trip to the LBJ Ranch and unexpectedly got a personal tour from Lyndon Johnson of both the ranch and the house.

Here is an account of the House tour by Mrs. Betty Hanna, wife of Rep. Joe Hanna of Breckenridge:

"The president's bedroom contains three television sets, side by side, and three telephones. He also has piped-in oxygen at his bedside, a precautionary measure carried over from his heart attack.

"Also in his bedroom are a massage table, and in one corner were some golf balls, a practice putting game, and [illegible] ern pictures adorn all his walls, along with pictures of his wife and grandchildren. He has a well-filled closet of suits and other clothing, including two pair of fancy cowboy boots. He discards his cast-off socks in little wadded up balls, just like any other man.

"His bathroom also has a telephone, numerous manly cosmetics, and a set of heat-curlers. No one asked [illegible] left there by his girls or his wife, or if he uses them to curl [illegible] rently adopted page-boy style.

"Mrs. Johnson, who was absent at the time, sleeps on pink sheets, with a pink satin and lace coverlet on her bed. She has a beautiful collection of china and gifts in shelves on her walls. Her closets are neat and orderly.

"The president pointed out a picture on her wall, which he said he gave her on their 35th wedding anniversary. The picture, which was on loan to the White House when the Johnsons were there, was owned by Texas Tech University. President Johnson said he tried to buy it from them, but they refused to sell it, and instead gave it to Mrs. Johnson, who had told her husband, it was the only gift she had ever asked for.

"Before we left, the president shook each of our hands, boarded each bus and sent a message of regard to our husbands in Austin, and then threw kisses to us as we drove off."

Special Observances Mark Trains Last Run

By RICHARD BOUDREAUX
Associated Press Writer

More than 150 passenger trains rode into extinction, many of them crowded with people who climbed aboard for the first time in years and children whose parents did not want them to miss these fading relics of Americana.

Amtrak, the new government-backed train system, took over operation of the passenger service at midnight Friday and allowed lines to drop 182 passenger trains in an effort to cut losses.

Old favorites such as the Wabash Cannon Ball and Nancy Hanks will run no more.

Some trains had to add extra cars Friday to handle nostalgic rail buffs and former railroad employes.

"If business had held up at this volume, we wouldn't be losing the trains," said one employe of the Southern Pacific Railroad, as its San Joaquin left Oakland for the last time with a capacity load of 616 riders.

When the Southern Pacific's Sacramento Daylight set out on its last run to the California capital Friday, three cars were added to handle what one railroad employe called "kiddies getting train rides before there are no more."

School children made up 90 per cent of the full passenger load on the Chesapeake & Ohio-Baltimore & Ohio Railroad's last trip from Detroit to Grand Rapids, Mich.

Parties and other special observances marked the passing of some of the trains. Others made last runs without fanfare.

Champagne flowed freely and orchids were pinned on ladies present for the final New Orleans-to-Chicago run of the Illinois Central Railroads Panama Limited.

The Wabash Cannon Ball made its last runs between Detroit and St. Louis.

A "Save the Cannon Ball" sign was held up by members of Phi Delta Theta fraternity at Purdue University, where students and other riders fought earlier efforts by the Norfolk & Western to discontinue the train.

Aboard the train was Mrs. William T. Taylor, 76-year-old passenger agent for the Baltimore & Ohio. In a last futile gesture to save the Cannon Ball, she paid her own fare rather than use her railroad pass.

"I feel so sad, I feel like putting black crepe on my arm," she said.

A Union Pacific train, the City of Los Angeles, had its engine draped with U.S. and California flags for the last run out of Union Station en route to Chicago.

The Nancy Hanks Southern Railway's 24-year-old Atlanta-to-Savannah, Ga., train carried 500 passengers on its last run Friday night. About 200 persons turned out to greet the train as it passed through Griffin, south of Atlanta.

Help For Job Changers

Career Corner

by Joyce Lain Kennedy

Dear Joyce: My husband has been out of work for a year. He worked in a meat-packing company for 16 years until they closed his plant. He thought they might call him back to work at another plant but so far they haven't. I work in a beauty shop, and our daughter in high school works part time at the post office, but there's never enough money and he has to do something. What? – L.A.G., St. Louis

A main place to get free counseling and placement help is the local office of your State employment service. A similar case is described in a new publication for counselors published by the Federal Labor Department, "Relating General Educational Development to Career Planning":

VOCATIONAL CHANGE. Vito Z., aged 43, worked for 25 years at a meatpacking plant – the only one in town. His most recent job (10 years), was as a beef boner, and Mr. Z. expected to keep it until retirement.

However, the packing company unexpectedly closed, and he, like the other 750 employees, was jobless. Although the company offered to relocate employees, Mr. Z.'s wife worked at a garment factory in the same town, his 2 married daughters lived there, and he was reluctant to start over at his age in an unfamiliar community.

DURING THE INITIAL INTERVIEW, the State employment service counselor learned that Mr. Z. had immigrated from Lithuania at 17, and started at the packing plant as a laborer. He had gone to school until age 15, and while his math aptitude was good, his language development was low. Language was his biggest barrier to a variety of jobs.

He had been a dependable and popular worker, able to follow directions, and quick to learn new methods. He had not been aggressive in his attitude or work habits, and had never shown ambition to do more than what was assigned to him.

Mr. Z. expressed an interest in any kind of plant job, or some other kind of work in which he could use his packing plant experience. The counselor turned to a reference book with an areas-of-job listing (Dictionary of Occupational Titles), and looked under the "crafts" listings, which includes jobs much like the ones Mr. Z had held.

THE COUNSELOR kept in mind that there were factories in the area which manufactured work clothes, plumbing fixtures, and paper bags. There was also a cannery, which processed and canned vegetables raised nearby.

The 2 most suitable available jobs were in the plumbing fixture plant; one was "enameler" and the other, "plumbing hardware assembler." But the rub with these 2 jobs was that they were not entry jobs. Just as it would have been impossible for him to go into another industry at this level (familiarity with plant operations, union contract requirements, etc.).

MR. Z. WAS WILLING to accept a job at a lower pay rate, and there was no barrier of pride to keep him from performing a job at a lower skill level. However, all factors considered, another alternative seemed most promising, since his financial situation – while tight – was not critical. Among similar jobs listed under the same group as beef boner was that of "meat cutter" (wholesale or retail trade).

It so happened that a meat cutters' class was being offered in the community under the Manpower Development and Training Act (MDTA – Federal money). But, before he could enter this daytime training program, Mr. Z. would have to spend 12 weeks in night classes of basic education courses to strengthen his language skills . . . and later continue his basic education courses for another 22 weeks, while attending the MDTA meat cutters program.

AFTER COMPLETING meat cutters' training, Mr. Z. would be eligible for employment in the meat department of a supermarket.

It would be less than candid not to admit that I have received a number of letters from readers who are critical of the service at public employment offices. All I can say is that it's up to you to be PERSISTENT in seeking job help, and that on a widely available basis, the State employment service offices are the most likely source of free counseling-placement help for the most people.

FAMILIAR SIGHT TO WW II VETERANS — Wyatt and Robert Swint are shown by the sign designating the site of Camp Blanding, a familiar installation to many GI's of Co. G in World War II. Blanding now serves as a facility for National Guard maneuvers. The two former soldiers and their wives visited the old camp on a recent trip to Florida. The Wyatt Swints and son, Ronney, visited a daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Van Meter in Panama City while on the trip.

Drought Worst In History

MIAMI (AP) — South Florida's drought officially became the worst in the state's history at midnight Friday with only 2.04 inches of rain recorded in the parched, fire-blackened area in the past six months.

The previous dry-spell record was set in 1944-45 when 6.47 inches of rain were recorded in the November through April span.

A stocky Comanche Indian [illegible] dances Friday. He was greeted with 90-degree temperatures and a sun dimmed by the smoke from sawgrass fires raging in the Everglades just west of Miami.

Chief George Watchetaker created a sensation in Texas last week when a cloudburst followed his rain dance, but the weather department had predicted a 100 per cent chance of rain for the area on that day.

In Miami, the chief faced cloudless skies and predictions that said no rain was in sight. He was scheduled to dance in Pompano Beach today.

The Tamiami Trail and [illegible] Avenue, both major South Florida traffic arteries, were closed near the Everglades fire.

Continued high temperatures and high winds have increased the rate of water evaporation in the area and the danger of fires.

Dade County officials Friday announced they had shut down two City of Miami wells to lower the chance of salt water intrusion.

Salt water had reached within a mile of some of the city's fresh water wells, the officials said, and only a hard rain could force the salt back.

Public Misinformed On Issues Says Mitchell

DALLAS (AP) — "We find emotion and intuition riding high in the saddle (in consideration of national issues) while truth is trampled in the dust," Atty. Gen. John Mitchell told a college audience Friday.

He was greeted at Southern Methodist University by students who wore hankerchief gags and gave a clenched fist salute. This was done in protest against a court order forbidding an antiwar rally on the campus while Mitchell was there.

There was no disorder as school officials had feared, however.

A last-minute change, recommended by the FBI, transferred the attorney general's Law Day address and dedication of the university's new $3.5 million Underwood Law Library from an open quadrangle into a nearby auditorium. Invitation cards and identification were required for students to enter, and many were turned away.

While some students turned thumbs down when Mitchell said he brought greetings from President Nixon, he was not interrupted. There was warm applause at several points.

Emphasizing change through law and order, Mitchell said, "In the national dialogue and ferment that accompanies change, let us get the facts before we act. Law and reason cannot even spring to action except from a platform of facts."

The attorney general criticized what he described as "wild irrationality" and "unfounded accusations" of certain public figures and some news media. In this connection he cited a charge that the nation's police had waged a genocide campaign against Black Panthers and the [illegible].

He said the facts were that no genocide drive ever took place and the "no Knock" entry and search legislation actually gave citizens more protection than before.

"Can we now allow ourselves, in our national decisions, to abandon fact in favor of emotion?" Mitchell asked. "We cannot, any more than the medical profession would revert to the age of the witch doctor or our courts return to trial by combat."

It turned out that the attorney general had no objection to the antiwar rally being held on campus while he was there.

"I am all in favor of complete and open dialogue," he said, adding that the "boundaries of dissent go to all."

One of the "Chicago Seven" defendants, John Froines, appeared at the students' rally after Mitchell left SMU for a reception elsewhere in Dallas. He said he brought greetings from dissidents massing this weekend in Washington.

Thousands of protesters will begin disobedience Monday if the United States does not withdraw from Vietnam at once, Froines declared.

Appearing with him was Rutgers law professor Arthur Kinoy, a lawyer for the Chicago Seven.

Stock Sold To Restore Driskill

AUSTIN (AP)—A group headed by Max Brooks and Clint Small Jr. said Saturday $500,000 in public stock has been sold to restore the historic Driskill Hotel.

Brooks, an architect and president of the Driskill Hotel Corp., said the corporation obtained an option last December to lease the original Driskill for 99 years and buy the 12-story annex, constructed in 1928, from Highland Resources of Houston.

"We are extremely pleased with the support offered by the public, especially in the last few weeks before our May 1 option deadline," Brooks said.

"We propose to go ahead with construction, starting before June 1 so that we can have the hotel in operation within a year."

The 85-year-old Driskill was shut down two years ago and threatened with demolition to make way for a more profitable downtown building.

The corporation plans to convert the Driskill annex into a luxury hotel of 115 rooms. Objectives are to restore the old Driskill to its one-time splendor, opening its famed crystal ballroom, Maximillian room and Jim Hogg suite.

Brooks said additional funds from stock sales will be required to complete rebuilding that is expected to cost $1.4 million.

Loan commitments of $700,000 have been obtained from six Austin financial institutions.

Wilson In Texas For Visit

AUSTIN (AP) — Britain's former prime minister Harold Wilson says the Anglo-American relationship must be more than posturing diplomats and politicians.

"It must be a relationship of peoples," he declared.

Wilson arrived in Texas Friday for a five-day visit including a long private weekend with former President and Mrs. Lyndon Johnson. En route he stopped in Washington for a brief talk with President Nixon.

Wilson spoke Friday to several hundred persons at the University of Texas in a lecture sponsored by the LBJ School of Public Affairs. Monday he will address the legislature.

The head of the Britist Labor Party and Mrs. Wilson were driven to LBJ Ranch, 65 miles west of Austin, Friday night and will remain there until Monday morning.

Veriato Is Golf Champion

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Texas A&M sophomore Steve Veriato rules today as the Southwest Conference individual golf champion.

The sharpshooting Hawaiian closed Friday with rounds of 69 and 73 over the A&M University course for a 72-hole total of 273, seven under par.

He captured the title by six shots over runner-up Stan Altgelt of Southern Methodist, who fired rounds of 68 and 69 on the final day to nip Tommy Johnson of A&M by a stroke.

Jim Cisne of Arkansas, at 281, was fourth with Jerry Gatti of TCU fifth at 285.

The SWC tennis finale today matched a pair of Rice Owls, Harold Solomon and Zan Guerry. Solomon Friday beat another Rice player, Jorge Berman, 6-2, 6-0, while Guerry mowed down still a fourth Owl netter, Gus Pellizzi, 6-2, 6-3.

Solomon and Guerry teamed to beat David Stout and Phil Landauer of Arkansas 6-2, 6-3 and will meet Dick Fikes and Jon Ragland of Southern Methodist in the doubles final.

Western Texas College In JuCo Conference

ROSWELL — Western Texas College of Snyder was voted into membership of the Western Junior College Athletic Conference here Friday at the annual conference meeting hosted by New Mexico Military Institute.

The WTC application for membership received the necessary three-fourths vote of the existing members on the first ballot and thus became the ninth member of the conference which includes junior colleges in West Texas, the South Plains and Panhandle and in New Mexico.

Dr. Ben Brock, dean; Rex Hopkins, business manager, and Sid Simpson, athletic director, represented Western Texas College at the conference meeting, which was presided over by Dr. W. D. Gasaway of Frank Phillips College, Borger, the conference president.

"WTC is scheduled to compete for conference titles in tennis and golf during the 1971-72 school year, and basketball competition is due to begin in the 1972-73 year. Although WTC will play several conference members in basketball in its first year of operation, it was unable to schedule enough conference games the first year to qualify for the championship.

So, playing an independent cage schedule the first year, Simpson is scheduling games with other junior colleges and with senior college freshman and junior varsity aggregations to launch the WTC program.

Dr. Brock said that conference members indicate that they hoped WTC would begin competition in track and field within a reasonable time, but a starting time for participation in this sport is uncertain at this time.

Simpson, who was appointed athletic director and head coach at WTC several weeks ago, already is recruiting athletes for WTC teams. He signed three basketball prospects the past week and was in Snyder most of the day Saturday meeting with prospective tennis, golf and basketball players.

In addition to WTC, members of the WJCAC are Howard County Junior College, Big Spring; Odessa Junior College; Hobbs, N.M., Junior College; New Mexico Military Institute, Roswell; Amarillo Junior College; Clarendon Junior College; South Plains Junior College, Levelland, and Frank Phillips Junior College, Borger.

Ends Speculation

NEW HAVEN (AP) — South Windsor High School basketball player Tommy Roy ended months of speculation and wooing by more than 200 college basketball coaches Friday when he announced he would attend the University of Maryland in the fall.

The 6-foot-9 Roy shattered the New England scoring record with 2,059 points over three seasons and led his team to its second straight title.

Cougars May Be In SWC

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Southwest Conference officials say they expect to determine Sunday whether Houston will be admitted to the conference.

"It's possible that we'll have to stay over until Monday morning," said Howard Grubbs, executive secretary of the SWC, "but it's more probable that we will get to the matter Sunday and have it cleared up by Sunday afternoon."

Houston is expected to be admitted as the ninth member of the conference in a meeting of the league faculty representatives here for the annual SWC track, golf and tennis championships.

Spurs Protect Dixie Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Dallas-Fort Worth protected its two-game edge in the Dixie Association West Friday night but the league leaders in the Central and East divisions took it on the chin.

Rain took its toll for the second straight night, washing out Jacksonville at Columbus and Charlotte at Savannah.

The Dallas-Fort Worth Spurs meanwhile pinned another loss on Albuquerque, 3-2, dumping the New Mexicans from second to third place behind Amarillo.

"I have not yet begun to fight," was spoken by John Paul Jones in 1779 in the battle against the Serapis.

Longhorns Will Have Young Team

By JACK KEEVER
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP)—Texas football coach Darrell Royal should find out quickly next September if seniors who seldom lost can be replaced by sophomores who don't think they can be beaten.

Seventeen starters who led Texas to 30 straight victories in three years have finished their college football careers. Nine were good enough to be drafted by the pros.

Despite the losses, the Longhorns will have the biggest and fastest team since Royal became coach in 1957.

But many haven't been tested under fire, and the fires should be roaring early next season as Texas opens against UCLA at Los Angeles and plays Texas Tech, Oregon, Oklahoma and Arkansas on successive weekends.

"I honestly believe we are replacing top talent with top talent," said Royal, "but I can't see us being as good a football team because of the inexperience."

Quarterback Eddie Phillips and halfback Jim Bertelsen return to the Wishbone T backfield that has set Southwest Conference rushing records the past three years.

Royal said he does not think there is anyone in college football who can handle the split-second wishbone maneuvers any better than Phillips, who some think might be drafted by the pros as a running back.

Bertelsen, says Royal, should have been an All-American last year. Royal thinks he is the best all-around halfback in the SWC since Royal came to Texas.

Sophomore Don Burrisk starts at the other halfback. He averaged 10.9 yards a carry in gaining 713 yards in his five-game freshman season. That broke Bertelsen's old record.

At fullback, Bobby Callison, a swift 190-pounder fills in for All-American Steve Worster, the heart and soul of the wishbone since the Longhorns adopted it three years ago. How well Callison fills in may decide how well Texas does this year.

Royal said it is the fastest backfield he has had.

The offensive line was rebuilt around junior tackle Jerry Sisemore, 6 feet 4 and about 250, generally regarded as the best blocker on the team last year.

A trio of 240-pounders are replacing last year's 200-pound guards; Rick Davis, a 6-4 222-pound tight end who can run the 40-yard dash in 4.7 seconds, takes over for Deryl Comer; and either coach's son Jeff Zapalac or sophomore Bill Wyman will be at center.

Tagged as All-American tackle Bobb Wuensch's successor is Julius Whittier, one of the first two black starters for Texas.

Liquori Sets Meet Record

QUANTICO, Va. (AP) — The opening day of the 15th annual Quantico Relays was supposed to belong to the women in their bid for berths on the U.S. team in the Pan American games, but Villanova's Marty Liquori turned up at the last minute and took the spotlight away from the girls.

Moving in front with 1½ laps to go, Liquori obliterated the meet record in Friday's only men's event, the 5,000 meters, with a clocking of 13,52.4 and a three-second victory over Barry Brown of the New York A.C.

And what was miler Liquori doing running more than three miles?

"Getting in shape for the King Games," siid the Villanova star, who's scheduled to run at least one of the relays on today's mammoth final program in which all the rest of the men's events are interspersed with finals in the five running events in the women's Pan Am Trials.

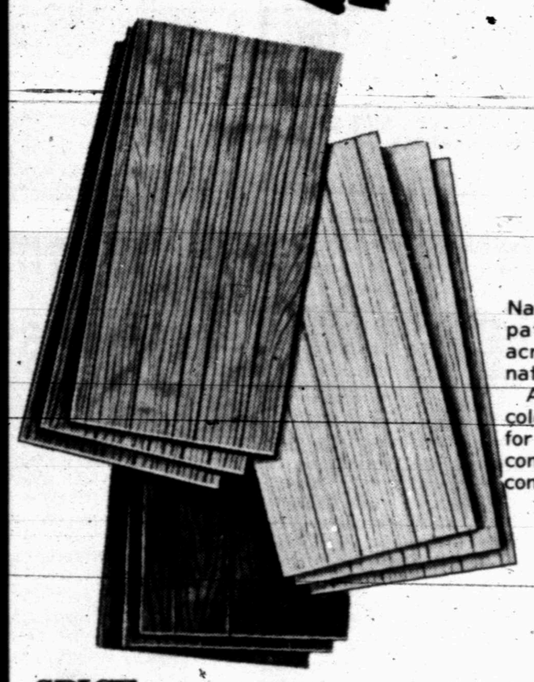

Liquori was referring to his scheduled May 16 meeting in the Martin Luther King Games in Philadelphia in which he's scheduled to run the mile against world record-holder Jim Ryun, among others.

The first six finishers in the 5,000 meters bettered the meet record of 14:15.6 set last year by Villanova's Donal Walsh.

Until then the program had been devoted to picking the women's team that will represent the United States in the Pan American Games, July 30-Aug. 13 at Cali, Colombia.

Steinmark Near Death

HOUSTON. AP — Freddie Steinmark, the former University of Texas football player, was listed in critical condition today with the cancer which took his leg 16 months ago.

Steinmark was readmitted to the M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute April 20 for evaulation. It was at Anderson that his leg was removed just six days after he had helped Texas win the national college football title by downing Arkansas.

Steinmark was a starting safety on the Longhorn football team before the operation.

Mets Beat Astros 4-3

HOUSTON (AP) — While the New York Mets and the Houston Astros didn't repeat the 24-inning game marathon they once staged here, they still took three hours and 36 minutes to decide that the Mets were going to win 4-3 in 12 innings Friday night.

Ken Boswell knocked in the winning run and made a game-saving catch for the Mets in the last frame.

In the top of the 12th, with two on base and two out, Boswell rapped a grounder to second base for an infield single and saw Bud Harrelson score the go-ahead run.

Then in the bottom half of the 12th, with two out and two Astros on base, it was Boswell who made a great catch of Bob Watson's soft, looping drive just over the infield.

Boswell's heroics made a winner out of Southpaw pitcher Tug McGraw, who relieved in the ninth and yielded just two hits the rest of the way. It was his second triumph in three decisions.

The loser was George Culver. He toiled three innings as the last of five Houston pitchers, and might have come out better if Boswell hadn't reached so well. Culver now carries a 2-3 record.

New York took a 1-0 lead in the first inning on Cleon Jones' single and added a pair in the third as Jones doubled home Dave Marshall and later scored on Boswell's sacrifice fly.

Houston got on the board in the fourth on singles by Joe Morgan and Watson, then tied it up in the eighth as Morgan hit his second home run of the year.

Joins Chaps

DALLAS (AP) — The Texas Chaparrals of the American Basketball Association said Friday they have signed 6-foot-3 guard Jimmy Guyman, a ninth-round draft choice from Eastern New Mexico.

Big O, Bucks Win NBA Title

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

BALTIMORE (AP) — For the first time since he started playing basketball more years ago than he cares to remember, Oscar Robertson sipped the sweetest taste of success.

"This is the first time I've ever had champagne in the dressing room," he said off in one corner with just a trace of sadness as his Milwaukee Buck teammates celebrated noisily around him.

But the feeling was there for only a brief second, and then a big grin returned to his face.

"We only got soft drinks when we won the title in high school, but this is the big time."

For Oscar, more than any of the Bucks, the champagne was a dream come true, the once-seemingly impossible dream. For 10 years he had labored with the Cincinnati Royals, the premier backcourt in basketball, but never a professional champion.

And then came the trade to Milwaukee last year, and with it the final piece of the puzzle the Bucks so quickly put together in only three short years.

The dream come true Friday night as Robertson led the Bucks to a 118-106 victory over the Baltimore Bullets and a four-game sweep of the best-of-7 game series for the National Basketball Association title.

"I got a great personal satisfaction after what happened to me at Cincinnati," Robertson said, thinking back to the way Royals' coach Bob Cousy tried to trade off the 6-foot-5 star, first to Baltimore and finally to Milwaukee.

"I realize how close I came to being with Baltimore," said the Big O, who rejected the trade through a clause in his contract. "I'm just glad I'm able to be here at this time. If I hadn't someone else would have been here instead of me."

Oscar, still unstoppable at 32 years of age and giving perhaps the finest defensive effort of his career, pumped in 21 of his 30 points in the first half of the nationally-televised finale as the Bucks surged ahead 60-47 by intermission, and never looked back.

And although 7-3 Lew Alcindor, the dominating giant in the middle who notched 27 points in the clincher, was selected the Most Valuable Player in the championship series, Robertson had his own backers.

"The MVP? Oscar," said Coach Gene Shue of the Bullets, without hesitation. "He was the leader, he controlled the offense, he hit the open man and he played tremendous defense. I said when they got him they would be the best team in basketball."

Alcindor, too, who has worked hand-in-glove with his fellow superstar to make the dream possible, had nothing but praise for his running mate.

"Oscar pulled us through," he said after a slapping handshake between the two in the center of the wild, wet celebration. "When things bogged down, we could always look to Oscar."

Alcindor, it should be noted, also was drinking the bubbly in the dressing room for the first time despite three NCAA titles at UCLA.

"We would come in and yell a bit and throw the trainer in the shower at UCLA. That was nothing like this feeling. There is no comparison."

The only Buck ever to play on an NBA champion was Coach Larry Costello with Philadelphia in 1966-67.

And he, too, gave credit to Oscar, although he wouldn't be drawn in to an MVP selection. "Oscar and Lew, they're co-MVP's" he said.

Royals Nip Orioles

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

After losing 23 games in a row to the Baltimore Orioles, the Kansas City Royals had to come up with something new.

They did—a game-winning hit.

Fred Patek broke Baltimore's two-year spell with a run-single in the ninth inning to give the Royals a 5-4 victory, their first over the Orioles since May 9, 1969.

"I knew it was in as soon as I hit it," said Patek, who tagged a slider off Tom Dukes to deliver Paul Schaal with the historic run.

Manager Bob Lemon, who wasn't around when the losing streak started, was glad to be on the scene when it ended.

"The Orioles just don't want you to win," he said, "I guess that's why they're the world champions."

Boston checked Minnesota 4-3; Chicago walloped Washington 8-1; New York stopped Milwaukee 5-1; Detroit beat California 7-4 and Oakland turned back Cleveland 3-1 in the other American League games.

National League scores: Philadelphia 1, Chicago 0; San Francisco 7, Cincinnati 5; Atlanta 7, Los Angeles 2; Pittsburgh 5, San Diego 3; New York 4, Houston 3 and St. Louis 4, Montreal 2.

It looked like a Baltimore-Kansas City rerun as the Orioles' Boog Powell drove in two runs with a screeching double in the first inning.

"Everytime Powell swings, I think it's going over the scoreboard," said Lemon.

But the Royals rubbed out the Baltimore burst with one run in the first and three in the third. The lead stood up until the ninth when the Orioles tied it and left it up to Patek.

Lemon wasn't so sure the ice-breaker would supply incentive for any future victories over the tough Birds.

"I'm not making any comments," said Lemon, hoping to let sleeping Orioles lie.

Two runs rode home on Reggie Smith's double as Boston came up with three runs in the bottom of the eighth to beat Minnesota. Jim Kaat was working on a four-hitter and 3-1 lead before the Red Sox uprising.

Doug Griffin opened with a single and pinch-hitter Don Pavletich bounced another single. Luis Aparicio sacrificed and Kaat threw wild, trying to nail Griffin at third. Griffin scored on the play and Smith's double gave Boston the lead.

Bart Johnson pitched a five-hitter and Carlos May knocked in two runs and stole home for Chicago. Rick Reichardt's solo home run tied the game at 1-1 for Chicago in the fourth and the White Sox pushed across two more in the fifth on Lee Richard's double, a walk to Ed Stroud and May's two-run single. May roared home on the front end of a double steal in a two-run Chicago seventh.

Steve Kline pitched a four-hitter and triggered a pair of two-run innings with singles as New York turned back Milwaukee.

The Yankees managed only three hits in five innings off Milwaukee starter Skip Lockwood, took advantage of six walks. Dave May's two-out homer in the ninth accounted for Milwaukee's run.

Willie Horton unloaded a three-run homer to cap a four-run first and Joe Coleman won his first game since suffering a skull fracture in spring training for Detroit.

Coleman, making his second start since coming off the disabled list less than two weeks ago, checked the Angels on four hits until the eighth inning when California broke loose for its four runs. Bill Zepp came in to shut the door on the Angels.

Pinch-hitter Tommy Davis delivered a three-run double and Vida Blue notched his sixth victory of the campaign, tops in the majors, as Oakland topped Cleveland. The Athletics, winning their 15th in 19 games, loaded the bases with two out in the seventh inning for Davis, who came through with his second game-winning hit in three days. He beat Baltimore with a single Wednesday night.

FACTS about prescription drugs

① Back in 1950, drugs and sundries accounted for 20¢ of the per capita health dollar. Today, our much more efficient modern drugs take no more of the total medical care dollar than they used to.

② In spite of talk to the contrary, the average U.S. price to have a doctor's prescription filled is only $3.25.

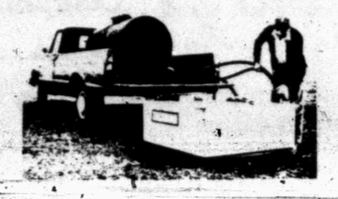

We are proud of our record of serving physicians and their patients with the finest products of the ethical drug companies — at uniform prices, always. We welcome your prescription patronage.

Ford Spikes Fertilizer Company Has Most Fascinating Business

Ford Spikes, owner and operator of Ford Spikes Fertilizer Company on the Old Lubbock Highway, has one of the most fascinating businesses in Snyder. He provides prescription mix fertilizer with or without weed control chemicals. Custom application of the chemicals also is available.

Spikes' company features Arcadian liquid fertilizers, made by Allied Chemical Corporation. Ford has two 12,000-gallon storage tanks behind his business. One of them is filled with nitrogen. The other one has Poly N (mostly phosphorous). A third tank is used to mix the nitrogen and phosphrous. Other chemicals can be added, depending on the type of crop you have.

This prescription mix fertilizer is distributed through a 4-ton capacity truck that has a 30-foot boom. Ford can spray 35 feet at one time with this truck and cover 100 acres or more a day.

"We have actually increased some crops up to four times normal yield," said Spikes. The prescription mix fertilizer is good for many crops, including cotton, milo, Bermuda grass, sudan — "you name it, it'll help it," said Spikes.

"When you begin to talk bout fertilizer, the first thing people think of is money," Spikes said. But, prescription mix fertilizer has proven its worth on any number of crops by giving extra yield.

"You'll make about $6 for every dollar you spend on a cotton crop," Ford said. "Wheat gives you a return of about $3 to $1," he added. Of course, the extra yield varies with the crop.

This liquid mix is ready for immediate application and does not have to be diluted with water. In one operation you can put it on the ground whereas three steps normally are required for spreading dry fertilizer. First, you have to spread the dry fertilizer. Then you have to spray anhydrous ammonia (much of which escapes into the air), and then you have to use a weed chemical spray. Ford can save you time and money with his spray truck, which requires just one operation.

Spikes Fertilizer also sells a liquid supplement feed for livestock. He will furnish troughs and install them. This liquid supplement feed replaces cottonseed cakes or range cubes.

Spikes and his wife, Doris Nell, are both life-long residents of Snyder. They live one mile northwest of town. They have three children: Van 15, Shann 13, and Bob 4. They are members of the Methodist Church.

Ford Spikes has been in business eight years, and four years at his present location on the Old Lubbock Highway. For prompt attention to your fertilizer needs, just dial 573-6602.

The huge tank on the left in the background is filled with nitrogen. The other one has Poly-N (mostly phosphorous). A third tank is used for mixing the fertilizer, and other chemicals can be added, depending on the type of crop.

School Awards Banquet Is Set

JIM REESE

Jim Reese, mayor of Odessa, will be guest speaker Thursday night at the annual Scurry County Schools Awards Banquet.

The banquet, which is held each spring by the Scurry County Unit of the Texas State Teachers Association and the Snyder Classroom Teachers Association, is set for 7 p.m. Thursday in the Snyder High School Cafeteria.

Reese has been mayor of Odessa since 1968. He is regional manager for Eppler, Guerin and Turner, Inc., a brokerage firm which is a member of the New York Stock Exchange. Reese received his bachelors degree at the University of Texas in 1951 and a masters degree at Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., in 1952.

He was selected for the 1965 edition of the publication "Outstanding Young Men of America," and in 1969 was named Stockbroker of the Year by his company.

Both the TSTA and CTA units will install officers for 1971-72 at the banquet. In addition, service awards will be presented.

Snyder school service awards will include a 25-year pin to Mrs. Elizabeth Beavers; 20-year pins to Horrace Bostick, Ollie Peek, Josie Barron, Carolyn Reon, Joel Griffin, Ida DeShan, Lillian Robertson and Ora Ussery; 10-year pins to Don Eiring, Inez Lowry, Betty Price, Dorothy Rosson, Charles Shaw, Albert Lewis, Zoe Horton, Johnny McKinnon, Phillip Fisher, Carolyn Harrington, and Curtis Hamm.

Personnel of Snyder Public Schools retiring from service also will be honored. These include Nan Allen, 17 years; Elmer Bryant, one year, and Pearl Walker, 18 years.

Eleven Gas Wells Drilled Last Week

AUSTIN (AP) — Corpus Christi led the 10 Texas districts with six wildcat gas wells drilled last week, the Railroad Commission said Saturday.

Kilgore District 6 had three and San Antonio District 1 and Kilgore District 5 each had one wildcat well. The 11 gas wells brought the year total to 163, compared to 201 last year.

Eight wildcat oil wells were drilled. Houston and Lubbock had two apiece, and both San Antonio districts, Corpus Christi and Abilene had one each.

So far 95 oil wildcats have been drilled, compared with 132 last year.

There were 235 wells plugged the past week, including 79 dry holes.

The commission reported 117 oil wells were completed, hiking the year total to 1,842, or 69 more than a year ago. Gas Wells completed numbered 31, running the year total to 584, or 58 fewer than a year ago.

F111s Are Grounded By AF

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force has grounded all its F111 swing-wing fighter-bombers for the fifth time in three years.

The action was taken Friday after an investigation of the 18th crash of an F111 showed a flaw in the pilot-escape system. Two crewmen were killed in the April 23 crash near Edwards Air Force Base in California.

Air Force officials said the bail-out capsule separated properly from the plane, but a metal door on the recovery parachute compartment failed to blow open. The reason for the bailout is undetermined.

The grounding was described as temporary pending completion of tests, possibly by Monday, to determine why the explosive system that knocks off the chute door failed to operate.

The F111, originally the TFX, has been plagued for years by production and operational problems and discontent in Congress over cost overruns.

The Air Force has accepted 257 of the planes from General Dynamics, the manufacturer, at a cost of about $9 million each, compared with original estimates of $2.8 million. The original plan to purchase 2,411 of the planes has been cut back to 552.

In all, the F111 has been involved in 22 major accidents since January 1967, with loss of 17 planes and nine crewmen.

All F111s were grounded in December 1969 when a wing fell off one in flight over Nevada and two crewmen were killed. The jets were returned to operational status only last July after a long series of stress tests.

Judge Hughes Inks Protective Order

DALLAS (AP) — U. S. Dist. Judge Sarah Hughes has signed a protective order which has the effect of barring the press from taking new depositions in an alleged stock fraud suit by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The SEC requested the order arguing that "the presence of such other persons may impede the orderly and expeditious taking of these depositions, as well as to work a substantial hardship on the parties."

SEC Regional Administrator Gerlad D. Boltz said a number of other interested persons and members of the press had attended the taking of some of the depositions.

Depositions now are being taken in Fort Worth and Houston.

Keep Eye On Busty Secretaries

LONDON (AP) — A Scot who claims to be an expert on the subject has advised businessmen to keep a close eye on "busty secretaries." They might be spies.

Willie Hamilton, a former schoolteacher who represents Fife in the House of Commons said in a statement he conducted a personal investigation into industrial espionage.

He found "professional secretary bird spies are becoming a menace to British industry." In British slang a "bird" is a girl.

One of their devices, he reported, was a minibug sewn into their bras.

Counties Eligible For Loans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Department added 182 more Texas counties to those eligible for emergency loans from the Farmers Home Administration because of drought, the office of Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., says.

The additions Friday mean that farmers in 235 Texas, all but 19, are now eligible for the loans through June 30, 1972 if they can show sustained damage from the drought.

They can use the money to complete their 1971 crop or start that of 1972.

Federal and state officials in Texas said they had not as yet been informed of the new designations. They said that under present regulations loans can be made by the Farmers Home Administration at 4 ⅞ per cent per year to any farmer and rancher who can show he sustained a loss because of the drought. The loans are available to farmers and ranchers only.

UMW Facing Many Problems

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — The United Mine Workers, once a tightly run, powerful union, is heading into contract negotiations this year deeply divided by the protests of dissident members and a series of legal attacks on its leadership.

The latest blow was a federal court ruling charging mismanagement of the 140,000-member union's pension fund.

U.S. Distr. Court judge Gerhard Resell ordered UMW President W.A. "Tony" Boyle, 66, and Josephine Roche, 84, removed on Wednesday as trustees of the three-member board that administers the $457 million Welfare and Retirement Fund.

Gesell also gave Boyle a June 30 deadline to withdraw the funds massive account from the National Bank of Washington, an institution largely owned by the UMW. Boyle was ordered last year to resign from the bank's board of directors.

Gesell ruled in a $75 million suit brought by 75 dissident disabled miners and miners' widows. Their action was sparked by Mrs. E. E. Noonkester and Mrs. Charles Omechinski, both of Raleigh County, W.Va. Two years ago they wrote Washington attorney Henry Huge complaining that their families were hungry because the welfare fund had refused to give benefits to their disabled husband.

The strife-torn union faces other legal problems:

—Boyle, UMW Secretary-Treasurer John Owens, 80, and lobbyist James Kmetz were indicted in March by a special federal grand jury in Washington on charges of embezzlement, conspiracy and illegal use of union money for political purposes.

—Silous Huddleston, president of a UMW local in La Folette, Tenn., his daughter and son-in-law are three of five persons charged with the New Year's Eve 1969 slayings of Joseph Yablonsky, who had challenged Boyle for president, and of Yablonski's wife and daughter.

—The Labor Department has filed suit asking that Boyle's 1969 election victory over Yablonski be set aside. The pending suit charges widespread fraud and allot irregularities.

—Pending since 1964 is a suit to force the UMW to release its districts from trusteeship. By placing 19 of 23 districts under trusteeship, Boyle has been able to appoint local union officers rather than allowing elections.

Three To Get WTSU Degrees

CANYON — Three students from Snyder are among the 887 candidates for degrees at West Texas State University this spring.

Seeking Bachelor of Science degrees are Lillian Carol Cutbirth McKinney, daughter of Mrs. D. Cutbrith of Route 2, and Paul Savage, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Savage of Route 3.

Pat Black, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Black of 3202 Cherry, is a candidate for the Bachelor of Business Administration degree.

Spring Convocation is at 4:30 p.m. May 9 in the Amarillo Civic Center Coliseum.

Proper Names Are Intriguing

NEW YORK (AP) — Nemesis is a Greek goddess of retribution. Bismarck is a doughnut shaped like a ball. Great Harry was a battleship and Vampire is a jet fighter plane.

These are among the intriguing items gleaned from Webster's Dictionary of Proper Names (G. & C. Merriam Co., $9.95).

FOR WORK SESSION WITH CABINET AND GOVERNORS

Echeverria Plans Border Visit Sunday

By CHARLES GREEN
Associated Press Writer

NOGALES, Mexico, (AP) — President Luis Echeverria comes far north to the U. S.-Mexico border Sunday for a two-day meeting aimed at solving some of the crushing problems hindering development of Mexico's border towns.

The President, most of his Cabinet, governors of the Mexican border states and mayors of most towns along the 1,400-mile frontier with the U. S. will discuss problems ranging from contraband to commercial relations.

Echeverria is expected some time during the two-day visit to announce a vast new action program by the federal government to improve public services and increase the standard of living in the border towns.

He is not expected to leave Mexican territory even though he will stop only a few blocks from United States soil.

The situation in many of the border towns is one of the most serious problems Echeverria faces. In many cases the towns have closer economic ties with the U. S. than with Mexico, and border area residents have complained for years that their share of federal spending is far below what it should be.

Echeverria and his collaborators will discuss living conditions, the dignity of border towns, commercial relations between the towns themselves, commercial relations with the U. S. and with the interior of Mexico, how to end smuggling of goods from the U. S. into Mexico and general federal investment in the border area.

Those taking part in the talks will include the ministers of foreign affairs, the interior, agriculture, public works, water resources, treasury, industry and commerce, education and the head of the department of tourism.

This is the first time so many cabinet members have joined Echeverria on one of the many weekend working trips he has made into the countryside since he took office Dec. 1.

Others who will join the work session in Nogales include the president of the House of Representatives, the director general of the country's Central Bank, the director of the National Border Program, the director of the Mexican Institute of Foreign Trade, and several businessmen.

The President was to leave Mexico City in his small private jet at 8:30 a.m. CST Sunday for Hermosillo, capital of the State of Sonora. He then will go by bus to Nogales, stopping briefly en route in Magadalena to inaugurate a monument to Francisco Kino, the Jesuit missionary who explored much of what is now Northwest Mexico and Southwest United States.

He is to arrive at Nogales at 3 p.m. PST and has planned his first work session with Cabinet members and governors at 5 p.m. He has another session set for 9 a.m. Sunday and plans to return to Mexico City at 2 p.m.

Probers Ponder Next Move

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Justice Department investigators fly back to Washington today to ponder their next move in the politically touchy probe of Gov. George C. Wallace's campaign finances.

A federal grand jury recessed Friday after calling Seymore Trammell, once Wallace's closest political aide.

The probe is focusing on alleged kickbacks from state contractors as well as possible tax violations in handling campaign donations.

Among the windup witnesses was an asphalt dealer who filed a federal antitrust suit charging a kickback conspiracy by Trammell and others, then settled the case out of court two years ago.

The Justice Department sent the jury home without fixing any date for its return, but there were strong indications it would be called back for a final session sometime this month.

"The investigation is continuing," a spokesman said.

A tax expert in the Justice Department said federal attorneys plan to review the testimony and evidence to date before announcing their next move.

Inside sources have said the Justice Department has an unwritten policy of not going into court against any prominent political figure unless it believes its case is ironclad.

Gerald O. Wallace, the governor's brother, has been identified as a central figure in the probe along with Trammell.

Gov. Wallace, who won five Southern states as a third-party candidate in the 1968 presidential race, has not been directly involved. But any charges filed in the current case—and its eventual outcome—are likely to stir fire in next year's politics.

Trammell capped a lit of more than 30 state officials, political advisers and government contractors subpoenaed to testify during the two sessions since the grand jury began its investigation April 12.

Homefolks To See SHS Play Tuesday

The Snyder High School one-act play cast will return Sunday from their third trip in four years to the University Interscholastic League state contest in Austin and immediately make preparations for presenting their play to a home audience Tuesday.

The performance here is set for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday on the SHS stage.

This year's play is "Maria Stuart," by the German writer, Fredrich Schiller.

Though many writers have approached the tragic life of Mary of Scotland, most have sought to show the historical aspects of her story. Schiller approaches the conflict of her life by studying her as a woman in conflict with her chief rival, Elizabeth I of England.

Highly stylized, lavishly costumed and with scenes of tremendous vitality and violence, the play as presented by Snyder High School Players attempts to capture the mood of the era in which the events actually took place.

Critic judges, Mrs. June Prentice of Midwestern University, and Ronald Schultz of Texas Tech, who selected the play as winner at district and regional contests, were unrestrained in their praise for the young actors and their director, Jerry Worsham, calling them a "highly disciplined and well-trained cast."

Members of the cast are Billy Tate, Allana Patterson, Kathie Martin, Danny Martin, Mark Brock, Randy Carmichael, Mike Dennis, Pam Hartsfield, Delores Lewallen and Weldon Sears. Greg Carter is in charge of lighting, Karen Sears is the costume mistress, Robert McCommon is sound engineer, and the technical assistants are Jenny Mullins and Donna Messimer.

Director Jerry Worsham and Roy Carter, SHS Vice Principal, accompanied the cast to Austin for the UIL finals.

SNYDER DAILY NEWS
SECTION B SNYDER, TEXAS (79549) SUNDAY, May 2, 1971

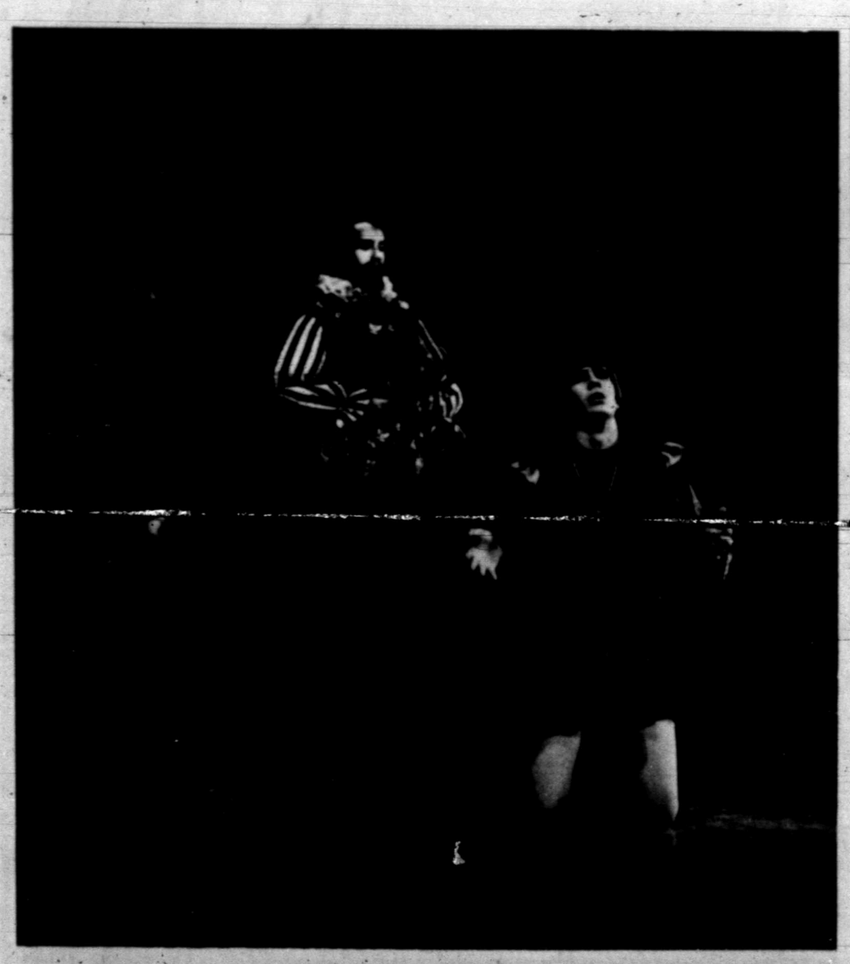

KATHIE MARTIN, as the imprisoned and doomed Maria Stuart, prays before going to her execution in one of the most powerful scenes from the historical drama, MARIA STUART, SHS entry in the State One-Act-Play Contest.

DELORES LEWALLEN (left) as Lady in Waiting, and Pam Hartsfield as Queen Elizabeth I, in a scene from Snyder High School's State Finalist One-Act-Play, MARIA STUART.

BILLY TATE, (left) as Sir Amias Paulet, is discovered going through the jewels of Maria Stuart by her servant, Allana Patterson (center) and by the imprisoned queen of Scotland, Kathie Martin, in this scene from the 1971 State Finalist One-Act-Play from Snyder High School.

MIKE DENNIS as Earl of Leicester and Mark Brock as Lord Burleigh, confront Earl of Shrewsbury played by Randy Carmichael in one of the scenes of intrigue from MARIA STUART.

PAM HARTSFIELD, AS ELIZABETH I, finds herself alienated from her followers and completely alone as Schiller's classic Drama, MARIA STUART comes to a final curtain.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED—Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Darden, Rt. 2 Roscoe, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter Marilyn, to Edward C. Wilson, son of Mrs. Ora Wilson and the late Hal Wilson of Midland. The bride-elect is a graduate of Hermleigh High School and McMurry College. The prospective bride groom is a graduate of Midland High School and Howard Payne College. Both are teachers in the Midland Independant School System.

Women s Comments

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Some quotable quotes from women during the week:

"Such a class would not be welcome. But if the shooting is restarted and we go to defend ourselves, we shall not be able—when we encounter a fighter plane—to check carefully first who is sitting in the cockpit in order to decide whether or not to take action against it." Premier Golda Meir of Israel, on the possibility of a confrontation between Israeli and Soviet pilots should middle East hostilities erupt again.

"My impression is that beautification is catching on. Our administration put it on the political agenda and it stayed there."—Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, former First Lady.

"What in thunder is gained in reversing 'God is He' into 'God is She' except irritating people? It gets us nowhere. All you get with a reversal is the opposite again."—Dr. Margaret Mead, prominent anthropologist, at a conference on women and the church.

"We want the facts about the products we use without the propaganda." —Mrs. David A. Phillips, a member of Housewives to End Pollution, at hearings before the Federal Trade Commission, on packaging and labeling.

"If you can do it and you enjoy doing it and it makes people happy, well, that's something a lot of people would like to do but don't know how. I've found my way."—Annette Clifton, 17-year-old member of California Clowns, a troupe of local high school and college students dedicated to making people laugh.

"Basically our interest is in man himself. We want to improve his lot in the world."—Mrs. Max Schenk, president of Hadassah, the Women's Zionist Organization of America.

"I want him to quit, really. It takes so much out of your life. He's gone too much."—Mrs. Joe Frazier, wife of the heavyweight boxing champion.

Duke Bans Hot Pants

LONDON (AP) — The Duke of Norfolk has dashed cold water on plans to allow women wearing hot pants at this year's running of the Royal Ascot.

Ascot officials, who decree what can be worn in front of Queen Elizabeth in the royal enclosure, said hot pants would be acceptable for the mid-June horse race if worn as part of an ensemble.

But the Duke, the Queen's representative, had the last word.

"I wish to make it abundantly clear," he said Tuesday, "that the only form of ladies trousers permitted will be suits with long trousers."

The Duke's family motto, incidentally, is: "Virtue alone is unconquerable."

In Santa Fe, N.M., there is a club called TOOT. It stands for "Trip Out on Trains." The president is Kristi Glatt, 12.

JUNE WEDDING—Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Herrera, Rt. 2, Hermleigh, announce the engagement of their daughter Aurora to Andrew Rios Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Andres Rios Sr. The wedding is set for June 12 in the home of the bride's parents.

Medley Of Topics Discussed In Book

ECONOMICS, PEACE AND LAUGHTER. By John Kenneth Galbraith. Houghton Mifflin. $7.95.

There is a medley of topics in this collection of essays, magazine pieces, reviews and casual observations which Galbraith has written in the past decade. They encompass both wit and business theory.

These items are arranged in four sections: "Economics," "Peace and the Rest of the World," "Contemporaries and Amusements," and "Points of the Compass."

In the first section the author believes his most important essay is "Economics as a System of Belief," summarizing his contention that our system no longer has a consumer orientation, but one based on the producer. There also is an article on the theme that conservative forces actually are trying to get the government into the private economic sphere, which he sardonically observes would be socialistic.

The next section is mainly about foreign policy—he counts off a good many moves which he considers bad mistakes—and international economic development.

In the last two sections he has a lot of fun and exhibits that dry, understated humor for which he has become known.

There is a very amusing article on a confrontation between Khrushchev and many of America's most prestigious capitalists. On the personal side there are short items about novelists Edwin O'Connor and John Steinbeck, who were his friends, and a tribute to "the nicest village in the country," up in Vermont.

By way of book reviews, involving such people as Dean Acheson, Dwight D. Eisenhower and William F. Buckley Jr., he gives some sparkling comment on our times.

There is everything from heady economic theory to anecdotal chuckles in this collection.

There is a good deal of color in the vegetable garden, as well as the flower garden.

Consider, for example alternating Ruby lettuce, which has red leaves, with the green variety. And red and green cabbage. Royalty snap beans are purple-podded; the common ones are green.

You can get a good idea of a vegetable or flower color from the seed package, thanks to modern printing. Just hold a [illegible] er and you will have a glimpse of your future garden.

We are told that the best color schemes allow one color to dominate.

You might consider the mother-daughter garden—to keep your young one busy. The flowers should be easy to raise, rapid in blooming, easy to harvest and attractive inside and outdoors.

Recommended for such a garden is zinnia, which has a wide range of color and size, variety and height. Marigolds fall into the same category, but the color has less range, featuring yellows, oranges and browns. The spicy pink, generally sold as Dianthus, is another good item. Some bear single flowers; others double.

Sweet alyssum provides many tiny, fragrant white flowers through the summer.

Students Critical

NEW YORK (AP) — At a recent seminar students of Traphagen School of Fashion expressed a desire to change a lot more than just the style of garments worn by women.

They attacked today's poor workmanship, the designing of way out items for the sake of promotion and clothes that are styled to look well only on size eight models.

MRS. MICHAEL BURMAN ELKINS (Photo By Craft)

Miss Black, Mr. Elkins Wed In Double Ring Ceremony

Miss Vicki Selene Black and Michael Burman Elkins were united in marriage April 9 at 7 p.m. at Colonial Hill Baptist Church. Rev. Miller Robinson, minister of the church, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Vonnie L. Black, 2106 Forty-second St. and Mr. and Mrs. Burman D. Elkins, 219 Thirty-sixth Place.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a floor length gown of silk organza with an empire waistline trimmed with a chain of daisy lace from the high waistline completely surrounding the train. The puffed sleeves and high neck were also trimmed in the daisies. A crown of lace daisies held the fingertip veil which frames the bride's face. She wore the traditional blue garter for something new and blue, something borrowed was a ring of her maid of honor and she carried a handkerchief of her grandmothers. The bride carried a bouquet of blue and white daisies with long blue streamers.

Pam Black of Denton served as her sisters maid of honor. She wore a blue floor length dress of silk organza.

Richard Elkins of Odessa served as his brothers best man. Billy Campbell and Steve Ray ushered guests.

Marilou Stevens of Tyler sang the "Theme Song From Romeo and Juliet" and "The Lord's Prayer" as Mrs. Wendell Rehm accompanied at the organ.

The bride presented each mother with a long stemmed red rose.

A reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church following the ceremony. The two tiered wedding cake trimmed in blue and white was served by Becky Tamlin, cousin of the bride and punch was ladled by Ernestine Tamlin, aunt of the bride. Tyra Elkins, sister of the groom registered guests.

For the three day wedding trip to Dallas the bride chose a blue pant suit.

The couple are at home at 1903 Coleman, Apt. 1.

The bride is a senior in Snyder High School and the groom has attended San Angelo State University and is currently attending Howard County Jr. College.

A rehearsal dinner was given by the parents of the groom in their home.

Arkansas Gem Is Valuable

MURFREESBORO, Ark. (AP) — In the kimberlite soil at two locations near Murfreesboro, one may find the only diamonds native to North America.

The gems generally are of industrial grade, but some are better, including a find by a Dallas, Tex., woman.

Her stone, dubbed the "Star of Arkansas," has been valued at $1 million.

Back Talk Is Strong

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Following recent raids and seizures at numerous South African church offices, the Rev. Theo Kotze, regional director of the Christian Institute of Southern Africa, said in a message to "all who threaten the church:"

"When the final reckonings of history are made, you will be seen for what you are—puny puppets of very earthly powers. You cannot destroy the things for which we stand; the concepts of love, truth, kindness, unselfishness and human dignity are imperishable."

Girl Scout News

Brownie Day at Camp Boothe Oaks was enjoyed by 82 Brownies from Snyder on Saturday, April 24th. This was the day Brownies got to explore their Established Camp.

Many thanks to the right Cadettes who acted as guides!

Seventeen adults also went on this outing.

Many thanks, also, to Mr. James Littlepage and Mr. Raymond Horner for driving the buses!

★ ★ ★

Junior Troop 327 (Mrs. Mickey Nunley and Mrs. B. J. Hunter) had a nine mile hike on the 24th. They left from the Santa Fe Station, hiked to Camp Ila Ru, ate their sack lunches and cooked their desserts then hiked back to the station.

Besides being fun, this was part of a badge requirement.

★ ★ ★

Day Camp training scheduled for May 4th will be a cook-out at Camp Ila Ru, according to Mrs. E. D. Loyd, Day Camp Director. Come to the Scout House at 9:30.

Any leaders or assistants who would like to learn more about a Cook-outs are welcome to come to this training.

★ ★ ★

On May 18th Service Unit Team will meet at 9:30 at the Scout House. Service Team will meet at 10:00.

Mrs. Carl Voss, Jr, Service Unit leader, urges all leaders and assistants to attend the Service Unit meeting.

★ ★ ★

A Songs and Games Workshop is being planned soon for all leaders and assistants. More about this later.

Cadette Troop 266 (Mrs. Franklin Pruitt, Miss Wanda Hudgins, Mrs. James Black): One of the Challenge Groups in Troop 266 gave a buffet supper for the rest of the troop and the leaders on Tuesday, April 27th.

The front room of the Scout House was attractively decorated with spring flowers. The girls prepared a chicken dinner with all the trimmings. The hostesses did a very good job of entertaining. All the troop enjoyed the meal very much.

The girls in this Challenge Group are: Darla Black, Denise Holladay, Myra Grant, Pattie Wolf, and Tammy Hoyle.

★ ★ ★

At the meeting of Troop 266 on April 28th the girls voted to go to the Santa Fe National Forest in New Mexico for a camping trip this summer.

A thank-you note was read to the troop from Mrs. Thelma Sims, expressing appreciation for the flag ceremony the girls presented to the District P-TA Conference held in Snyder recently.

★ ★ ★

Snyder Day Camp will be June 14 thru 19. Mrs. E. D. Loyd is Director and Mrs. James Black is Assistant Director. Please get registrations in early to Mrs. B. J. Hunter.

Here's the Answer

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Q.—I plan on building a somewhat fancy cabinet and don't want the hinges on the door to show. Can you tell me how to attach the hinges so they will not be visible when the door is closed?

A.—It is not so much a matter of how to attach the hinges as it is of using the proper kind. Your hardware store, lumber yard or building supply dealer can supply what are called invisible hinges, which come with detailed instructions on the proper method of installation. Don't buy the hinges until you have selected the wood for the door, otherwise you might get a size that is too small or too large. The invisible hinges are a bit more difficult to install than ordinary outside hinges, since openings must be cut in the door edges, but it can be done by anyone who works carefully.

Q.—Maybe you can tell me what is wrong with an outdoor table I just finished. It is made of regular lumber. I used four 1 by 6s for the top, fastening them on the underside with three wood cleats. I used 2 by 4s for the legs, which are crossed at the center points in the shape of Xs. The legs are well braced at the top and seem to be very strong. Even though I used a 2 by 4 as a stretcher, running it between the two Xs at the middle point, the table still rocks slightly back and forth when it is pushed a little. I checked all the fastening areas and they seem solid. What is causing the rocking motion?

A.—The condition will be corrected if you apply two wood braces under the table. Each brace should fit snugly between the spot where the stretcher is attached to the X and the middle cleat under the table top. When in place, these braces will form an inverted V.

Q.—What causes black adhesive to creep up between vinyl asbestos tiles shortly after the tiles have been installed?

A.—The most common cause is spreading the adhesive unevenly and too thickly. It should be distributed carefully with a notched spreader. Another cause is sliding the tiles into place rather than laying them in place.

(You can get either of Andy Lang's booklets, "Installing Resilient Floor Tiles" or "Wood Finishing in the Home," by sending 25 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Know-How, P.O. Box 477, Huntington, N. Y. 11743. Be sure to specify which booklet you want.)

'BEAUTIFUL RALLY, WASN'T IT?'

BUT THERE ARE NO EASY ANSWERS

Drug Problem Is Being Solved

By JOHN BARBOUR
AP Newsfeatures Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Why can't we solve the drug problem?

It's somehow a frustrated silent-majority middle-America question.

A youth in a free clinic in Seattle replies: "What problem?"

A doctor treating addicts in San Francisco ponders a moment and murmurs, "That's a good question."

A drug cop in Washington says defensively, "law enforcement can't do the whole job. But we've made a lot of progress in the last two years."

And a parent in New York persists, "Why can't we solve the drug problem?"

The drug problem. Tintype visions of Oriental opium dens, or young American kids with their backs flat up against a wall and their heads nodding, or dark rooms and dirty needles, or adolescents with a dance in their eyes, a faster dance then usual. Or the up and down escalator of the mind, or the exciting kid in school who gives bad habits a good name. A kaleidoscope of misconceptions and realities, one worse than the other.

Not a bad question: Why can't we solve the drug problem?

We are solving the drug problem, but there are no easy answers.

Only the frustration of realizing that you cannot have a cop on every street corner, you cannot stamp out every opium poppy in the world, you cannot open every package or frisk every tourist or search every ship and plane that comes to the United States. You cannot put the heel to the throat of every youngster who tries marijuana.

It took a long time for drugs to become everybody's problem. Drugs were a buried sin, hidden in the Negro ghetto, the beatnik haven. They suddenly exploded on middle class America. "Why now the big rage about drugs?" asks a federal attorney, "and because it's come from one side of the tracks over to the other side? Instead of being in Harlem, it's now on Park Avenue and Vista Way. People are really jammed up about it now because their kids are involved

Where the hell were they 15 years ago?"

Actually, explains Raymond Enright, an assistant Chief of the bureau's enforcement division, the United States had a drug problem in the early 1900s. Nearly every patent medicine and elixir contained something for the soul. Cures all your ills from rheumatism to cancer, makes you a new man. More direct than today's sales pitch, but, then, it was a young country in 1913. A federal survey estimated a quarter million addicts in a nation of 100 million. That was hard drugs, opiates, real narcotics.

Most of it came from legitimate supplies. In 1914 the United States Congress passed the Harris Act clamping controls on narcotics. Three years later the nation also prohibited alcoholic beverages.

In 1933 the nation repealed alcoholic prohibition. Today there are an estimated six million alcoholics in a nation of 200 million. Many began drinking during prohibition.

The all-time low in drug addiction came during and after World War II. But by 1950 the aimless society was producing a growing number of heroin users, and marijuana's allure was finding its way out of the confines of the ghetto.

At the same time tranquilizers like Miltown joined aspirin in common use as much of the adult society looked for peace in a pill.

That set the stage. Pills, barbituates, pep pills, mind-benders exploded on the children of the '50s as they matured into the hippies and high school students of the '60s.

Why can't we solve the drug problem? Look how long it took to create it.

Yet, from places as diverse as Miami, New York, Seattle, Phoenix, Washington and this hilly addict-haven comes a desperately: The drug problem is being solved, slowly, ever so slowly. There is real tangible hope where there was none. There is optimism where there was despair. It has been a long time coming. It has a long way to go. But the remedy is in the making.

"I think we're going to see a peak, or we've already seen it, in drug usage and in the controversy," says a lawyer for the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs.

Says an expert at the National Institute of Mental Health: "The real progress will come in the 1980s. The 1970s will be the action decade, cementing what we have discovered in the 1960s."

The experts sum it up this way:

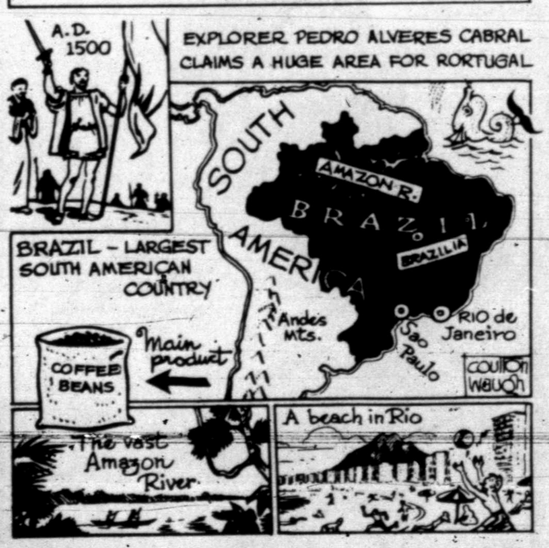

—For the first time, through education, there is a new generation of kids coming up who are wise on drugs, wary of drug use and abuse. In some schools, says NIMH, there is evidence that marijuana use has crested. There is also evidence that nationwide the use of hallucinogens like LSD, and dangerous stimulants are declining.

—The new drug law focuses on the sellers. It reduces the penalty for simple possession of marijuana to a misdemeanor, marked down from a felony. Many states will follow. Too often courts have rebelled at throwing a 10-year sentence at a kid for blowing pot, says a federal lawyer. The new 30-day penalty is more likely to be used. It fits the crime.

—There is a calculated risk: that as a misdemeanor the tendency will be to ignore private marijuana use or casual experimentation unless it is flaunted publicly. It raises the question: does the new law only provide a more realistic penalty, or does it moderate the prohibition?

—In the courts and in the practice of medicine an addict is being reconsidered as a sick person rather than a criminal. Ten years ago chances for reasonable treatment and rehabilitation were nearly nil. Things have changed. Some clinics which screen their patients report they return up to 85 per cent to normal useful life. Over —all the fate is far less. But new innovations blending psychiatry, group therapy and supportive drugs show promise of reaching the dependent and addictive personality.

Junior Editors Quiz on BRAZIL

QUESTION: Why don't Brazilians speak Spanish like other South Americans?

* * *

ANSWER: We wonder how many people realize what a huge country Brazil is — the 5th largest in the world, only a little smaller than the United States. Brazil is remarkable in many ways. Consider that the great Amazon River, flowing through it, is the largest river in the Western Hemisphere, and passes through the greatest continuous forest in the world. It's a romantic, jungly forest where orchids hang from trees in whose branches parrots in fiery colors perform like acrobats, and swinging monkeys join in the fun. Besides such natural wonders, Brazil, which is a republic, has some of the world's most up to date cities. Rio de Janeiro (lower right) with its beautiful beaches flanked by swanky hotels and apartment houses, is fringed with spectacular mountains which rise over 2000 feet above the sea. The country was discovered in 1500 by the Portuguese explorer Pedro Cabral, who claimed it for Portugal. Since the Portuguese controlled the country through most of its history, Portuguese became the national language and still remains, even if Brazil is now an independent republic.

Spring Clothes In Wool

WOOL FOR SPRING—Nature's fiber, wool, is supple in young clothes for spring. 1. A silver buttoned double-breasted jacket rides high on the hip over matching silver buckled knickers by Gare. 2. A rendering by Jim Baldwin shows a crisply carved tunic with bright front buttons combined with contrasting pants. 3. Stegari's big game coat has princess lines and natural reptile buttons and belt. 4. A perky, short cropped jacket is worn over a dress with bi-colored interest by Gininni. 5. Ginori has fashioned an ankle-length gown with a jewel neckline, short cuffed sleeves and three patch pockets. (Layout by Joe Damone).

BUSINESS DRIVE COLLECTIONS—Collections for the Business Drive of the Cancer Crusade have been outstanding this year. Earline Brooks, senior vice president of VFW Auxiliary is handing in collections made by the auxiliary during the drive. Accepting the collections are (from left) Trudie Wood, chairman and Anita Arnold, co-chairman. They have gone over the $1,500 goal and at this time the total is $1,690 with contributions still coming in.

RED AND BLACK BALL—At left is Mrs. Richard Adler. Her Red Riot wig for the Red and Black Ball, benefit for Irvington House by Alfredo couldn't miss charming her husband and children, she said. She planned to wear it for a month. At center is Nancy Roosevelt. She was delighted with her coppery rinsed hair, a trial run for the Bal Rouge et Noir. At right is Mrs. Howard Oxenberg. She impishly forewarned that the Black and Red Ball couldn't be a fashion success unless the weather was dry. Her pert hairdo was done by Charles of the Ritz.

Women Dye Their Hair For Red And Black Ball

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures

A group of society committee women headed by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., proved they are willing to dye for a cause. Twice, even.

At a petite dejeuner meeting at a New York restaurant, for what might have been the first tress rehearsal for a ball, there wasn't much interest in coffee and brioche. The chit-chat was about hair colors—black and red—that the ladies would wear to their Bal Rouge et Noir, the annual black and red ball for the benefit of Irvington House, a privately supported agency, medically affiliated with the New York University Medical Center. The 50-year-old agency is a pioneer in the research and treatment of rheumatic fever and allied diseases in children.

Blondes with blackened topknots and brownettes in fanciful red colored curls arrived freshly turned out from Monsieur Marc, Charles of the Ritz and other hairdressing salons or their own bathroom showers in a trial run of the bigger event that would take place April 21.

Mrs. Richard Feigen found "it was absolutely painless."

"My children said, 'Mom it makes you look so young.' I'm going to try it again because it washes right out." She had done her own Merry Apricot rinse.

Ditto the former Mrs. Dan Topping, Jr., who admitted her Red Riot color had given her a few embarrassing moments.

"It was as though everyone was staring at me as I walked along the street," she explained, "but now I'm used to it and I might even keep it for a few days."

One who wasn't sure of her Black Rage color was blonde, cap-coifed Mrs. Paul Manno, a former model of dress designer Norman Norell. She had discovered her husband really did prefer blondes. When he saw her as a brunette, he said, "forget it."

On the other hand Mrs. Richard Adler was sure her husband would love her long haired curly shag Red Riot wig. "I can't wait to wear it home. Isn't it simply great and Alfredo (the hairdresser) says I can wear it for a month, if I want."

But Mrs. Donald Chipman of the light brown hair felt a little uneasy in her fanciful red rinse. "It makes me feel more like my sister," red-haired Buffie Cafritz of Washington.

The idea for the black and red balls originated six years ago with honorary chairman, Mrs. Roosevelt, who has been an Irvington House worker for 23 years. This year, they decided to add to the fun with the black and red topknots, she explained.

"The event brings in an enormous amount of money. Roux Laboratories sponsors it and we made $75,000 last year. But I don't know what will happen this year." They've reduced the price of tickets from $75 to $50.

She didn't have time to have her own ash-blonde hair color-rinsed, but said she'd probably wear red and black ribbons in her hair for the ball.

But step-daughter Nancy, 20, granddaughter of the late President Franklin Roosevelt, was delighted with the whole idea. She liked the Lucky Copper color that covered her long blonde locks and she was ecstatic about the prospect of going to the ball.

"You know I never had a desire to go to the ball before, but this year I can't wait—a lot of my friends will be going."

But it was Mrs. Howard Oxenberg, also wearing the Lucky Copper color, who advised the ladies they should think dry weather. Exclaiming how great it was that "everybody here sort of looks like Samantha Eggar which has been my own personal dream," she told them of a previous experience with a different brand of brown rinse: she had been caught at a bus stop in what she thought, at first, was a brown rain.

"Well, it might be a red riot this time," quipped another committee woman, although the ladies were assured that it would take more than a few raindrops to remove the hair color.

The observation tower in West Virginia's Pipestem park is 3,100 feet high and provides a 50-mile view of the Allegheny and Blue Ridge Mountains.

JULY WEDDING—Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Badgett of Brookville, Pennsylvania, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter Marjorie Ann to Danny Erwin Rhodes of Hermleigh. Miss Badgett is a junior majoring in modern languages at Abilene Christian College. Mr. Rhodes is a 1969 graduate of Oklahoma Christian College, Oklahoma City and is now a candidate for the master of arts degree at Abilene Christian College. Vows will be solemnized July 9 at the Church of Christ, Hermleigh. The couple plan to make their home in Hermleigh, where Mr. Rhodes serves as minister for the Church of Christ.

Miss Wool Of Texas Contest Set

DALLAS (AP)—The 20th Miss Wool and Mohair of Texas will be chosen from 15 finalists in Dallas May 21-24.

Judy Womack of Hillsboro, reigning wool queen, will crown her successor at a fashion presentation to retail store buyers and then go on to represent Texas in the 1971 Miss Wool of America contest in San Angelo June 25.

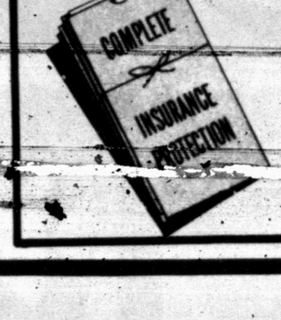

The contest, to select a young woman who tours as a model in shows stressing wool and mohair, is sponsored by the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association and the Mohair Council of America.

Finalists for this year's Miss Wool of Texas are:

Carolyn Cole of Sterling City and Angelo State University; Deborah Crouch of Dallas and Tyler Junior College; Elizabeth Hunter of Dallas and Texas Christian University; Jo Ann Ivy of Dallas and the University of Texas; Sally Heap of Temple and the University of Texas;

Also Rhonda Lewis of Brownfield and Texas Tech; Cathy McCartney of Dallas and Stephenville Junior College; Michelle Magers of Sherman and the University of Texas at Arlington; Nancy Martin of Houston and South Texas Junior College;

Also Vicki Ray of Seminole and Texas Tech; Francine Tippen of Paducah and Texas Tech; Sandi Tomczak of Houston and Wharton County Junior College; Ann Turbo of Fort Stockton and Angelo State University; and Becky Vorhies of Houston and the University of Houston.

Lions To Meet In Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — Lions International, which held its 1968 convention in Dallas, is coming back in 1975, assuring the city of some 40,000 visitors who will be here for five days June 22-27.

Jack V. Vaughn of the Chamber of Commerce Convention Committee, announced that Dallas won out in competition with New York and Chicago for the 1975 meeting.

"Since Dallas has been host to Lions more recently than either New York or Chicago, the Dallas victory was all the more significant," Vaughn said. "The International Board of Directors, meeting in Chicago, chose Dallas by a decisive margin.

The 40,000 visitors are expected to use all of the expanded facilities at Memorial Auditorium Convention Center and to give Dallas hotels, motels, eating places and stores one of their peak crowds,

"This one convention has an estimated total value of at least $10 million for Dallas," Vaughn said.

Palestine May Be Major Port

PALESTINE, Tex. (AP) — Palestine, situated midway between Dallas and the Gulf of Mexico, stands to become a major port on the canalized Trinity River.

Already the location of several major industries and a division point on the Missouri Pacific Railroad, the city, say Trinity planners, is certain to attract new industrial plants.

These companies will be favored by water, if needed, from Tennessee Colony Reservoir and Lake Palestine, by the interchange of canal and railroad shipping, and by a good supply of labor.

If, as expected, the major port does develop, it will be a matter of history repeating. For Palestine and its river port town of Magnolia constituted a major shipping point on the Trinity in the days of the Texas Republic.

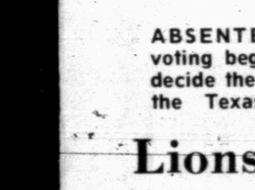

Food supplies, hardware, furniture and other items were brought upriver by paddle wheel steamers which then returned to the coast with the produce of the area, mainly cotton.

The river then was navigated without benefit of dredging or locks. Shipping had to be suspended during dry periods when the water level was too low to float the shallow draft boats.

But over a year's time, commerce along the river was extensive and vital, and large areas of East Texas could not have been developed at the time or to their extent without it.

By contrast with the past, the future canalized river will be in essence a series of lakes, providing year-around traffic for the barge trains it will be designed to serve.

And that will put Palestine, as well as many other towns along the river, back into water shipping and industrial development in a big way.

WILD FLOWERS ON THE HILL

Georgia's poet, Robert Loveman, wrote these words: "It isn't raining rain to me,
It's raining daffodils—
With every dimpled drop,
I see wild flowers on the hill."

The Rain Song it is called. And it expresses the love of a man for the wild flowers, the tenderness of life and the great ability he had to set to poetry life's beauty.

The hills bloomed with these lovely flowers in Loveman's home state, and spring gardens everywhere become alive with their blossoms.

We feel we are in a wonderful business — dealing in flowers, God's loveliest creation. It is a pleasure to serve you as your florist.

Honors Are Planned For 54 West Texas Seniors

Fifty-four area high school seniors will be honored at a dinner on May 11 sponsored by the Education Committee of the Midland Chamber of Commerce.

The students will be recognized for being selected "Outstanding West Texas Scholars" by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Recognized at the dinner, along with the students, will be their parents and their high school principals. The dinner will be held at 7 p.m. Tuesday, May 11, in the Sands Motor Hotel.

The students were nominated by their high schools and selected by the WTCC Education Committee. Criteria included scholastic achievement, character, leadership, and community-school activities.

Dr. Al G. Langford, President of Midland College, will serve as master of ceremonies for the dinner. Invocation will be given by Homer Fort. Presenting certificates of achievement will be Emil C. Rassman of Midland, chairman of the WTCC Education Committee. Welcome will be given by Winston Barclay, president of the Midland Chamber of Commerce. Jack Shepard will be in charge of registration and greeting guests.

L. Roy Prescott is in charge of finances for the dinner. Arrangements committee includes: Noble G. Lane, chairman of the Chamber's Education Committee; Homer Fort, Ray Gwyn, and Leslie Hinds.

Tourists Are Coming To Texas

AUSTIN (AP) — A state tour guide says more and more visitors from the Midwest apparently are switching their winter vacation from Florida to Texas, especially to the Lower Rio Grand Valley.

Jim Garner of the Capitol Tourist Information Center said many Midwestern tourists come to Texas to see bluebonnets.

Garner said the Capitol Tourist Center served 6,532 groups with 27,223 individuals in March. In addition, he said, the center answered 433 telephone inquiries.

Reagan Issues Emergency Order

By BILL STALL
Associated Press Writer

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan's administration, giving up a long legal fight with Washington, has ordered an emergency $10 million-a-month hike in some welfare payments to comply with federal rules.

Without the emergency order, effective June 1, the state faced the cutoff July 1 of $700 million in annual federal welfare assistance. The order is subject to approval in Washington.

The order, announced Friday by Robert Carleson, director of the California Social Welfare Department, grants a 21.4 per cent increase in maximum benefits to recipients or aid to families with dependent children.

An estimated 1.6 million persons will be on AFCD in June, Carleson said.

A mother with four children now gets a maximum grant of $263 a month. The size of the grant is scaled down from there if the recipient has some outside income.

The U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare had ruled that California had not kept up with federally required cost-of-living increases in that category.

Carleson tried to juggle welfare payment schedules to comply with the federal rule without any additional cost to the state, but lost several court challenges.

Now he faces a likely court test from the California Welfare Rights Organization, which believes the increase should be retroactive to last October, at a cost of more than $80 million.

"It's too little, too late," said Ralph Abascal, attorney for the group.

Carleson said he was forced to take the stopgap action "only after an exhaustive series of legal and legislative steps by the Reagan administration to protect California taxpayers had failed."

A second part of his order cuts an estimated 27,500 recipients from AFDC June 1 by reducing the amount of outside income welfare recipients can earn.

More Cuckoos

LONDON (AP) — The cuckoo is multiplying faster than any other British bird, a census by the Trust for Ornithology shows. But skylarks, thrushes and linnets are losing ground.

YMCA's Integrated

NEW YORK (AP) — Most local branches of the Young Men's Christian Association have eliminated all racial discrimination in membership and use of facilities in the last three years, the YMCA national council says. Only five of 168 YMCAs in the southeast have been suspended for failure to integrate.
