How Roby Is Building A Cotton Warehouse

Extracts Taken From An Article In The Roby Banner Of Last Week.

After some considerable discussion the matter was disposed of by adopting a resolution requesting the District Union to take up the warehouse matter, and to build and manage it on the co-operative plan. A committee was appointed to confer with the District Union over this matter.

It was further suggested that the warehouses be built on the "unit" plan. That is to say, build houses not exceeding 2000 bales capacity so that the insurance rate would be lowest, and that if the conditions of the market demanded it, when the first house was about filled, another unit could be built at a distance of 100 feet from the first. It is understood that the insurance companies will require not more than 2000 bales in one house, and that this house be at least 100 feet from any other building or exposure. The plan of the cotton and insurance men is for sheet iron sheds, with hipped roofs, to be constructed with open sides, and well ditched all around. Such a house can be constructed at a cost of not exceeding a $1.00 per bale storage capacity. The officer in charge is to be bonded in accordance with the terms of the National and State warehouse acts now pending in Congress and the Legislature. When cotton is stored in such warehouse, the officer in charge will issue a receipt which will be made a negotiable instrument. It is supposed that the national government, acting through the banks, will arrange for loans to be made through these receipts as security, and that either through the Aldrich-Vreeland asset currency law, or the Federal Reserve Act when it is in operation, emergency currency will be issued with such receipts as collateral. It is suggested that arrangements will be made for advancing $35.00 or $40.00 per bale upon cotton properly stored and insured in bonded warehouses.

We understand that the District Farmers Union is to meet at once and consider the warehouse question.

The warehouse will be built by the public at large, and for every subscription made to it a certificate will be issued by the Warehouse Association and that just as soon as the business of the warehouse earns the money for expenses and first cost, all the subscription will be paid to the subscribers. In other words, this is to be a co-operative concern and is not to be operated for profit. Its use will be open on equal terms to all persons who may desire to use it, and they will all share in its benefits equally according to the use that they make of it.

The District Union held a meeting Wednesday afternoon and decided to take charge of the warehouse proposition and will erect same in the near future. Arrangements are being made to finance the cotton which is stored in this building and we believe that the majority of the producers of this community will have their cotton stored in the building so that they can get even small returns from it.

Thinks There Is A Bug Under Chip.

The News editor took the San Saba county primary returns to Austin Friday for the state democratic committee meeting which was supposed to hear the contest of W. P. Lane against Jeff McLemore, who were candidates for congress-at-large before the July primary. The San Saba returns were not counted at El Paso and they were not counted at Austin. So far as state officers are concerned the citizens of San Saba county have been disfranchised by the state executive committee. The News editor has no interest in this matter whatever. He supported neither of the contestants in the primary election but it is our deliberate judgement after seeing the sights at the committee meeting Saturday that a deliberate effort is being made in the sacred name of democracy to thwart the will of the people as expressed at the ballot box. The executive committee refused to count the returns from San Saba and Montague counties and about five others. In San Saba and Montague counties Lane received several hundred more votes than did McLemore. The county chairman of Montague county was present at Austin Friday with the tally sheets of his county and offered to go on the stand and swear that he sent his returns to El Paso directed to the secretary of the committee and that the same envelope which carried the credentials of the delegates who were seated in the state convention also carried the county returns for all state officers. That meeting Saturday of representatives of the great democratic party of Texas was a tragic farce and such dodges to thwart the will of the people can do the party no good in Texas or elsewhere. —San Saba News.

Perfect Row Binders

A car load of the John Deere Row Binders were unloaded by the Higginbotham-Harris Co. last week. These are the best row binders that are on the market, as they have no side draft to them like the old line of row binders, so if you are in need of any thing in this line come to see us before buying. We will keep one or more set up all the time so you can examine it thoroughly. They are going fast, come in and see us today. 51-1f

Authentic War News

NEW YORK, August 27.—Frederick Palmer, the well known war correspondent, has been designated to represent the Associated Press with the British forces on the continent of Europe. He is the only American correspondent permitted by the British war office to take the field.—Fort Worth Record.—He is the author of "The Last Shot" the beginning of which is printed below, and which we will run in liberal installments until finished.

In this story Mr. Palmer, the noted war correspondent, has painted war as he has seen it on many battlefields, and between many nations. His intimate knowledge of armies and armaments has enabled him to produce a graphic picture of the greatest of all wars, and his knowledge of conditions has led him to prophesy an end of armed conflicts. No man is better qualified to write the story of the final world war than Mr. Palmer, and he has handled his subject with a master hand.

CHAPTER I.

A Speck in the Sky.
It was Marta who first saw the speck in the sky. Her outcry and her bound from her seat at the tea-table brought her mother and Colonel Westerling after her onto the lawn, where they became motionless figures, screening their eyes with their hands. The newest and most wonderful thing in the world at the time was this speck appearing above the irregular horizon of the Brown range, in view of a landscape that centuries of civilization had fertilized and cultivated and formed.

At the base of the range ran a line of white stone posts, placed by international commissions of surveyors to the nicety of an inch's variation. In the very direction of the speck's flight a spur of foot-hills extended into the plain that stretched away to the Gray range, distinct at the distance of thirty miles in the bright afternoon light. Faithful to their part in refusing to climb, the white posts circled around the spur, hugging the levels.

In the lap of the spur was La Tir, the old town, and on the other side of the boundary lay South La Tir, the new town. Through both ran the dusty ribbon of a road, drawn straight across the plain and over the glistening thread of a river. On its way to the pass of the Brown range it skirted the garden of the Gallands, which rose in terraces to a seventeenth-century house overlooking the old town from its outskirts. They were such a town, such a road, such a landscape as you may see on many European frontiers. The Christian people who lived in the region were like the Christian people you know if you look for the realities of human nature under the surface differences of language and habits.

Beyond the house rose the ruins of a castle, its tower still intact. Marta always referred to the castle as the baron; for in her girlhood she had a way of personifying all inanimate things. If the castle walls were covered with hoar frost, she said that the baron was shivering; if the wind tore around the tower, she said that the baron was groaning over the democratic tendencies of the time. On such a summer afternoon as this, the baron was growing old gracefully, at peace with his enemies.

Centuries older than the speck in the sky was the baron; but the pass road was many more, countless more, centuries older than he. It had been a trail for tribes long before Roman legions won a victory in the pass, which was acclaimed an imperial triumph. To hold the pass was to hold the range. All the blood shed there would make a red river, inundating the plain.

"Beside the old baron, we are parvenus," Marta would say. "And what a parvenu the baron would have been to the Roman aristocrat!"

"Our family is old enough—none older in the province!" Mrs. Galland would reply. "Marta, how your mind does wander! I'd get a headache just contemplating the things you are able to think of in five minutes."

The first Galland had built a house on the land that his king had given him for one of the most brilliant feats of arms in the history of the pass.

Even the tower, raised to the glory of an older family whose descendants, if any survived, were unaware of their lineage, had become known as the Galland tower. The Gallands were rooted in the soil of the frontier; they were used to having war's hot breath blow past their door; they were at home in the language and customs of two peoples; theirs was a peculiar tradition, which Marta had absorbed with her first breath. Town and plain and range were the first vista of landscape that she had seen; doubtless they would be the last.

One or two afternoons a week Colonel Hedworth Westerling, commander of the regimental post of the Grays on the other side of the white posts, stretched his privilege of crossing the frontier and appeared for tea at the Gallands. It meant a pleasant half-hour breaking a long walk, a relief from garrison surroundings, and in view of the order, received that morning, this was to be a farewell call.

He had found Mrs. Galland an agreeable reflection of an aristocratic past. The daughter had what he defined vaguely as girlish piquancy. He found it amusing to try to answer her unusual questions; he liked the variety of her inventive mind, with its flashes of downright matter-of-factness.

Not until tea was served did he mention his new assignment; he was going to the general staff at the capital. Mrs. Galland murmured her congratulations in conventional fashion.

Marta's chair was drawn back from the table. She leaned forward in a favorite position of hers when she was intensely interested, with hands clasped over her knees, which her mother always found aggravatingly tomboyish. She had a mass of lustrous black hair and a mouth rather large in repose, but capable of changing curves of emotion. Her large, dark eyes, luminously deep under long lashes, if not the rest of her face, had beauty. Her head was bent, the lashes forming a line with her brow now, and her eyes had the still flame of wonder that they had when she was looking all around a thing and through it to find what it meant.

"Some day you will be chief of staff, the head of Gray army!" she suddenly exclaimed.

Westerling started as if he had been surprised in a secret. Then he flushed slightly.

"Why?" he asked with forced carelessness. "Your reasons? They're more interesting than your prophecy."

"Because you have the will to be," she said without emphasis, in the impersonal revelations of thought. "You want power. You have ambition."

He looked the picture of it, with his square jaw, his well-moulded head set close to the shoulders on a sturdy neck, his even teeth showing as his lips parted in an unconscious smile.

"Marta, Marta! She is—is so explosive," Mrs. Galland remarked apologetically to the colonel.

"I asked for her reasons. I brought it on myself—and it is not a bad compliment," he replied. Indeed, he had never received one so thrilling.

His smile, a smile well pleased with itself, remained as Mrs. Galland began to talk of other things, and its lingering satisfaction disappeared only with Marta's cry at sight of the speck in the sky over the Brown range. She was out on the lawn before the others had risen from their seats.

"An aeroplane! Hurry!" she called.

How fast the speck grew!

Naturally, the business of war, watching for every invention that might serve its ends, was the first patron of flight. Captain Arthur Lanstron, pupil of a pioneer aviator, had been warned by him and by the chief of staff of the Browns, who was looking on, to keep in a circle close to the ground. But he was doing so well

Another New Garage For Tahoka.

Jeff Fleming began a new garage building on the corner lot just north of the Tahoka Hotel. The building is to be 32x70 feet, and by the way they are going forward with the work, it will be pretty near completed by the time this paper gets to our readers. This will give Tahoka two garages, which while it may work a hardship on the owners for a short while, yet will be of great advantage to the general public as they will be able to get broken parts repaired sooner than where there is only one garage. If not right at first, it will not be long before both garages will have all the work each can possibly do.

It seems as though the situation in the Samoan group has now been settled so that no complications will arise there to bother the United States; when Japan declared war on Germany, some people thought perhaps Japan might try to take the German possessions in Samoa but the Germans surrendered to a British force and so that chance for complications has been removed.

The Plainview News came to our exchange table this week printed on a smaller size of paper than usual (five column instead of six) and in commenting editorially thereon the editor says "we did not have a bit of six column paper in the shop, although we are looking for a shipment on every train," in fact there was no six column paper in town. Also the Seminole Sentinel came to our exchange table this week printed on yellow poster paper, so we presume that regular print paper is scarce in Seminole. Paper is advancing so rapidly and the market is so unsettled it is difficult to foretell what news papers will be printed on before the European war is over.

All the float teams are busy unloading lumber, machinery, groceries, coal and in fact supplies of all kinds and freight outfits by the droves leave here for points west every day. The merchants and lumber men are having a time keeping up their stock the demand is so great. Hands to help gather the immense crops of feed are also scarce and demand good wages. The rains this week assure even the latest feed to make good yields and have not damaged anything as yet, and grass is just as green as it can be and has been all this summer. Stock of all kinds are fat, fatter and fattest. Home raised sweet potatoes are taking the place of the "brought on" Irish potatoes, so we don't need so much sugar as we did and sugar is a little off again anyhow so every one feels good and has a glad hand and smile for his neighbor and the stranger within his gates. Every one is so busy attending to his own business that we can't get any one to take much interest in any public improvements such as working the roads, cleaning up the cemetery, getting up a Lynn County fair or even gathering together an exhibit to send to the All Panhandle Fair in Amarillo or the South Plains Fair at Lubbock, or the State Fair at Dallas. "We just ain't got time to fool with nothing but our own business."

A REMARKABLE WAR STORY

Frederick Palmer Now Witnessing Fulfillment of Prophecy Described in "The Last Shot."

Frederick Palmer, the author of the remarkable story, "The Last Shot," is a typical cosmopolitan. He not only knows war and the men who make war, but he knows the world and has been practically all over it.

Mr. Palmer is a native of Pennsylvania, born at Pleasantville in that state in 1873. He was residing in England at the time the Greco-Turkish war of 1895 began and went to the front as a correspondent. At the close of this war he went to the Klondike as a correspondent. He was in the Orient in 1898 when the war between the United States and Spain began and was with Admiral Dewey at the battle of Manila, reporting it for the London Times and a number of American newspapers. He remained with the American army in the Philippines throughout the campaign against Aguinaldo. When the international expedition for the rescue of the foreign residents in Peking was organized at the time of the Boxer uprising in China he joined it in the capacity of a correspondent for his papers.

From 1900 to 1903 Mr. Palmer saw service in the Central and South American and the Macedonian insurrections. With the breaking out of war between Japan and Russia he joined the first Japanese army in the field as the representative of the London Times and Collier's Weekly, and was almost the only correspondent who saw active service with the Japanese army. He was in Constantinople during the Turkish revolution of 1909, and was with the Bulgarian army throughout the Balkan war of 1912-13.

In addition to this active career as a war correspondent, Mr. Palmer has circled the globe with Admiral Dewey, and again with the American battleship fleet in 1907-8. He is familiar with every capital of Europe, and has a personal acquaintance with a very large number of prominent European government officials and military and naval commanders.

Mr. Palmer is now at the front reporting the present war for the papers he represents, and is witnessing the fulfillment of the prophecy contained in his notable story, "The Last Shot."

We have arranged to print Mr. Palmer's remarkable story, "The Last Shot," serially in these columns.

Nothing to Warrant Increased Cost of Flour

By ROGER W. BABSON, Business Statistician

THERE IS ABSOLUTELY NOTHING TO WARRANT THE RECENT INCREASE IN THE COST OF FLOUR. WE HAVE THE BIGGEST WHEAT CROP IN THE HISTORY OF THE COUNTRY. WE DON'T IMPORT THAT COMMODITY. THERE ARE NO SHIPS TO EXPORT IT. BY EVERY LAW OF SUPPLY AND DEMAND THE PRICES SHOULD GO DOWN.

Neither is there any reason for an increase in the price of beef or in the byproducts of cattle. THE PRICES OF THESE SHOULD BE LOWER, IF ANYTHING. And after peace is declared in Europe and ships are available to transport beef across there is no reason to anticipate a sudden demand for beef that will send the price up again. On the contrary, BEEF SHIPMENTS SHOULD BE BELOW NORMAL, for there is bound to be a prolonged era of economy.

KING NEWS

The case against the Wright and Watkins boys was tried at King last Monday. The charge was for disturbing the peace at Hester, in June, at Church services. There was quite a lot of evidence introduced in the three trials. The first trial the jury stood three and three while the last two trials stood four for conviction and two for acquittal. The last trial was characterized by the constable relieving the prosecuting attorney of a gun of the "sixshooter" type and a charge being lodged against one of the boys. Judge Jones dismissed the Wright and Watkins boys for disturbing the peace. Kings Progress, King New Mexico.

IF BACK HURTS USE SALTS FOR KIDNEYS

Eat less meat if Kidneys feel like lead or Bladder bothers you—Meat forms uric acid.

Most folks forget that the kidneys,
like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive;
makes a delightful effervescent lithiawater drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

shot under him, unfolding a variegated rug of landscape. He dipped the planes slightly, intending to follow the range's descent and again they answered to his desire. The tower loomed before him as suddenly as if it had been shot

a thing of winged life, defying the law of gravity, but a thing dead, falling un-his observant imperturbability that of satisfaction that the machine was the

Ultimatum by Austria Pretext For War

Russia
Recovered
From Strife
With Japan

Austria Fears
Growing
Power of Slavs

By Rear Admiral ALFRED T. MAHAN, U. S. N., Retired

THE AGGRESSIVE INSOLENCE OF AUSTRIA'S ULTIMATUM TO SER-VIA, TAKEN WITH THE CONCESSION BY THE LATTER OF ALL THE DEMANDS EXCEPT THOSE TOO HUMILIATING FOR NA-TIONAL SELF RESPECT, INDICATE THAT THE REAL CAUSE OF THE WAR IS OTHER THAN SET FORTH BY THE ULTIMATUM.

Knowing from vast experiences how the matter must be viewed in Russia, it is incredible that Austria would have ventured on the ultimatum unless assured beforehand of the consent of Germany to it. The inference is irresistible that the substance of the ultimatum was the pretext for a war already determined on as soon as plausible occasion offered.

THE CAUSE OF THIS PREDETERMINATION IS TO BE FOUND IN THE GROWING STRENGTH OF RUSSIA ON RECOVERING FROM HER
WAR WITH JAPAN. WITH THE KNOWN DEFICIENCIES OF FRENCH
ARMAMENTS, WHICH WERE RECENTLY ADMITTED, THE MOMENT WAS AUSPICIOUS FOR STRIKING DOWN FRANCE AND RUSSIA BE-FORE THEY REGAINED STRENGTH. THE MOTIVES ARE TO BE FOUND IN AUSTRIA'S APPREHENSION OF THE GROWING SLAV POW-ER IN THE SOUTH AND THAT OF GERMANY CONCERNING RUSSIA
ON THE EAST.

Taking Calomel

Is A Bad Habit.

So Powerful It Shocks Liver and Leaves It Weaker Than Before.
Dodson's Liver Tone Is Better to Take.

Nearly everybody who has ever tried calomel has found that it gives only a temporary relief. For calomel is such a powerful drug that it shocks and weakens the liver and makes it less able afterward to do its duty than in the first place.

This is one of the reasons why
Thomas Bros., Drug Co. guarantee Dodson's Liver Tone the take the place of calomel. Dodson's Liver Tone is a pure vegetable liver tonic that will cure constipation quickly and gently, without any danger of bad after-effects. It is guaranteed to do this with a guarantee that is simple and far. If you buy a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for yourself or your children, and do not find that it perfectly takes the place of calomel, then return to the store where you bought it and get your money back with a smile.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J.
Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Send to Druggists. Price 75c per bottle.

SAGE AND SULPHUR

DARKENS GRAY HAIR

Brush this through faded, lifeless
locks and they become dark, glossy, youthful.

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. Besides, it takes off dandruff, stops scalp itching and falling hair. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.

You Need a Tonic

There are times in every woman's life when she needs a tonic to help her over the hard places.
When that time comes to you, you know what tonic to take—Cardui, the woman's tonic. Cardui is composed of purely vegetable ingredients, which act gently, yet surely, on the weakened womanly organs, and helps build them back to strength and health.
It has benefited thousands and thousands of weak, ailing women in its past half century of wonderful success, and it will do the same for you.

You can't make a mistake in taking

CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

Miss Amelia Wilson, R. F. D. No. 4, Alma, Ark., says: "I think Cardui is the greatest medicine on earth, for women. Before I began to take Cardui, I was so weak and nervous, and had such awful dizzy spells and a poor appetite. Now I feel as well and as strong as I ever did, and can eat most anything."
Begin taking Cardui today. Sold by all dealers.

Has Helped Thousands.
