Mystery of missing water solved

A mystery has been solved, Colorado City Director of Public Works Buz Rich told the city council Tuesday night.

Rich said the city has experienced a water loss of about 46 percent a year for the last 25-30 years. The loss occurs in the amount of water it purchases from TU Electric and the amount actually used according to meter readings. Most cities experience a 10-15 percent loss which can be attributed to unmetered sources such as parks, cemeteries and fire hydrants.

Rich said that Jim Fisher with the Texas Water Development Board visited the city and discovered that the "loss" has been occurring in the metering device and that the city has actually been paying for water it hasn't been using.

"Now, we're down to the 10-15 percent level which is normal," said Rich, adding that Fisher "found what we had lost and didn't cost the city one red cent."

In the past, the city had considered hiring a firm to track down the missing water.

City Manager Brenda Hammond said that the city should now "just about break even" with the anticipated increase in water rates from TU Electric.

In other business Tuesday night, the council heard from Rev. Lubin Moise, pastor of Payne Chapel Church. Moise expressed concerns about the condition of streets and vacant lots in the southeast part of town and the lack of some utilities.

The council also heard from a group of Jaycees who expressed concern about the number of traffic tickets given to recent Mud-Bog participants and spectators. The council asked Hammond to obtain a report from the police department about the number and type of tickets given during the recent event.

The Jaycees also reported that a new roof has been put on the Scout Hut at Ruddick Park and that a number of other improvements are planned for the building so that it can be used once again for Scout meetings and other organizational meetings.

Hammond reported that for the fiscal year which just ended, the city showed a balance of $903,704, compared with a beginning balance of $764,290, a gain of about $159,000 for the year.

The council instructed the city to notify the estate of Dera Winn that the mobile home variance granted to her in 1985 has expired following her death. The mobile home is located on Chestnut Street.

The council, in 4-2 vote,

MAYFEST '90

Mayfest '90, sponsored by the Colorado City Area Chamber of Commerce, proved to a success as residents and visitors filled the downtown area Saturday to participate in the activities.

A variety of food booths, craft booths and a display of recreational vehicles were the drawing card for the day as well as a number of other events including a 5K Run, a one-mile fun run, a Miss Mayfest contest, a baby contest, games and entertainment. A bass tournament also proved successful, chamber officials report.

Putting on the Hits Proved Fun for All

Putting on the hits!

A large crowd gathered Saturday afternoon to watch 54 local young people perform in "Puttin' on the Hits" contest as part of the Mayfest activities.

Fifteen group acts and eight solo performers entertained the crowd and competed for prizes donated by First National Bank, the Optimist Club, Perry's, Showcase Video, Pizza Hut, Perkin's, granted a mobile home variance to James Coker at 626 Pine Street provided his neighbors have no objection. The variance will be reviewed every six months. Coker asked for the variance for health reasons in order for a family to live in the mobile home and care for him in his home next door. Council members Rex Thacker and Brian Bassham voted against the measure after questioning the legalities of such a variance and the effect it might have on other residents seeking similar variances.

The council appointed Keith Ruddick, David Myers and Debbie Carlock to the Park Board, Lubin Moise to the Housing Standards Board and Duff Chesney to the Zoning Board.

No action was taken following an executive session in which the council met with City Attorney Tom Rees to discuss the suit filed against the city by the League of United Latin American Citizens which is seeking single-member voting districts.

New officers installed in Delta Kappa Gamma

The Beta Epsilon Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma International met Tuesday, May 1, in the C.C. Thompson Room of City National Bank with Jean Robinson, Edna Thompson and Debbie Denson as hostesses.

The meeting was called to order by second vice president Carolyn Weaver. Earline Sellier gave the invocation. During the business session, members voted to continue the Recruitment Grant for Yvonne Lujan who is currently enrolled in college.

Valley Fair Lodge recognized the chapter with a volunteer award for service. Betsy Aycock, made the presentation for Marsha Rickard, administrator of the nursing home.

The annual achievement award was given to Janet Mayo for her four years of dedicated service to Beta Epsilon as president.

Margaret Rees, ceremonials chairman, conducted the installation ceremony for the incoming officers for 1990-92. They are Marian Craddock, president; Ethelyn Lancaster, vice president;

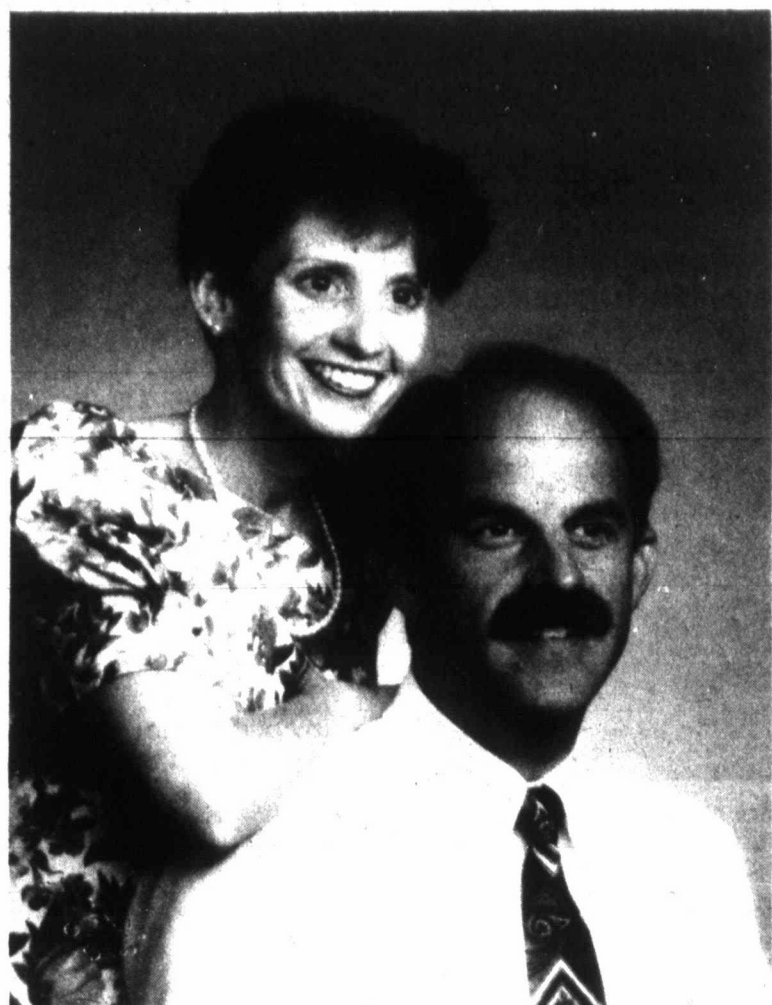

Patty Pharis, second vice president; Edna Thompson, recording secretary; Gaye Carpenter, corresponding secretary; Barbara Hammond, treasurer; and Earline Sellier, parliamentarian.

Orphie Conner, director, presented the Founder's Day program, "Patchwork of Heritage". She called on various members to tell something about each of the 12 founders and to point out a patch on the wall quilt that was symbolic of that individual. At the conclusion, each one present was given a blank patch to draw something symbolizing her life. These were added to the quilt.

Punch, cookies, sandwiches and fresh vegetable sticks were served from a table decorated with a quilt and a centerpiece of greenery highlighted with colorful spools of thread.

Others attending were Fanny Fay Feaster, Frances Godwin, Sonja Hanks, Mabel Merritt and Kathy Wilson.

The next meeting will be Sept. 4 at the country club.

WEDDING PLANS - Debbie Christian, agent-at-large-home economics in San Angelo, former Mitchell County extension agent-home economics, and Jeff Giles, also of San Angelo, will be married in the home of her parents, Bill and Dorothy Christian of Stephenville on June 2, 1990. Mitchell County residents who know Debbie are giving her a "surprise" bridal shower on Monday, May 14, from 6-8 p.m. at the 22nd and Austin Street Church of Christ in Colorado City. Her selections are at Eddie's Pharmacy and Perkin's Apothecary and Mercantile.

Ginny Moore hosts Fairview homemakers

The Fairview Extension Homemakers Club met April 26 in the home of Ginny Moore.

Roll call was answered by eight members and guest Dana Davenport, new extension agent.

For recreation, D'Dee Morris told of various foods that are healthy by using each letter of the alphabet. The secretary-treasurer's report and council delegates report followed. Each member was reminded to bring recipes to the next club meeting. Members were urged to attend the annual book review May 3.

Brenda Casey presented the program on her trip to the district meeting on March 20 in Coleman. She said that there were over 200 in attendance. Guest speakers included Dr. James Denton, microbiologist from Texas A&M, Pastor Dale Scott and Rosa Gibson. Denton spoke of food safety. He gave the ladies the control method to keep contamination down.

Scott talked about building an arc around your family to strengthen your family's values and goals.

Gibson spoke on choices, challenges, changes and opportunities and how these four things can affect each person's life.

Attending the meeting were Muriel Thurman, Billie Smith, Velma Hester, Dana Davenport, Brenda Casey, Ginny Moore, D'Dee Morris, Peggy Faulkenberry and Sherry Autry.

Letters to the Editor

Few bad apples

TO THE EDITOR: It saddens me that what was once a much anticipated summer youth activity is another falling victim to the self destruction adults can do. Why is it a few bad apples can spoil it for all the rest and knowing who they are, no one takes a stand? Politics and selfish control spreads the mania and it's our children who are suffering.

I've had it! Get real, people. These judgmental, narrow-minded sharks are in decision-making positions; and your adult and youth league participation is dying. UGSA did mean summer sport, fun, and fellowship for our kids. Plus, at one time, we were able to compete on all four levels proudly. Now many athletic-minded kids will be sitting at home this summer due to continued adult conflict.

This year after continued controversy, my three daughters chose to play softball for Coahoma. The now UGSA board members retaliated by voting not to release them from this local league and to keep their $45 registration fee to insure their decision. It appalls me to think that adults could use children in this manner. Did someone forget that children are people, too, with feelings stemming from adult actions? In my own opinion, this decision was selfishly made to avoid some highly competitive spirit against them. Trying to cover all angles at all cost only represents traits of leadership we did not want to follow.

For eight years I was very proud to have shared my summers with girls who I coached and worked with. I hated the politics but I loved every minute with the kids. The love and respect I mutually shared with each and every girl will forever gift my heart and life. It's really sad the adult factor doesn't show the same maturity and insight that the girls have.

Again, let me state that only a few bad apples are the cause. The rest are only victims of the system. The love of softball, I hope, will endure these misfortunes.

For the kids sake!

Thank you

TO THE EDITOR: We would like to thank everyone involved in the Puttin' On the Hits contest at Mayfest.

Thank you to the local businesses and organizations that donated prizes. First National Bank donated a $50 savings bond and the Optimist Club donated $50 cash. Perry's and Showplace Video donated video rentals, Piz-za Hut donated certificates for small pizzas and Perkin's donated gift certificates. Fuller Foods donated 10 cases of Shurfine sodas, the City of Colorado City gave day passes to the swimming pool and Dairy Queen gave 20 $1 gift certificates. Dairy Queen also donated free ice cream cone certificates for each contestant.

We would like to thank the judges, who gave up a Saturday afternoon to help out. Sally Neff, Coley Ramage and Marilyn Kay were our local judges, and Greg Beatty from KTXS also helped out. These people did an outstanding job, and we truly appreciate their efforts.

We thank the KTXS crew for their equipment and their help. We enjoyed working with their people, who were cooperative and pleasant. Thanks to the KTXS people who filled in when our local people had to be somewhere else.

A very special thanks to Blaine Lemons, the Masked Rider of Texas Tech. In addition to doing a super job as emcee, he pitched in and did a lot of extra things that really made the difference in the show. We are proud to know that Colorado City has such a fine young man as a representative.

We would also like to thank Gary and Becky Rayburn for being there to help out when we really needed help!

We want to thank all the kids who came out and participated. These kids came through with some great acts, and we are just sorry that they couldn't all win. Kids, we were impressed with what you did!

Finally, we would like to apologize for all the changes and any confusion that was caused. This was our first attempt at this, and we really didn't know what to expect. We were pleased with the response of the kids, the parents, the crowd, the donors and everyone who helped in any way.

Thanks again,
Brenda Eades

Winners of the May-Fest Black Bass Fishing Tournament are, right to left, Maxey Ware, first; Steve Rasco, second; Kay Morris, third.

122 participants enter bass tournament here

The Colorado City Chamber of Commerce sponsored a Black Bass Tournament during the Mayfest activities on Saturday. The open tournament gathered 122 participants from across West Texas. The fishermen fished Lake Colorado City and Lake Champion. Each fisherman entered three fish, and the winner was determined by the combined weight of the fish. The event also gave an award for the largest bass.

The winner of the long day competition went to a local contestant from Westbrook. Maxey Ware, a school teacher, won the $1,700 prize money with his three fish weighing 12.51 lbs. Reeling in the biggest bass was Steve Rascoe from Lubbock, 7.4 lbs. Rascoe also finished second in the overall competition taking home $800 and weighing in at 12.3 lbs.

Other winners in the Mayfest tournament were: 3. Kay Morris, 10.57 lbs., $400; 4. Tom Oliver, Sweetwater, 9.47 lbs., $250; 5. Rick Peeples, Sweetwater, 9.34 lbs., $170; 6. James Hoover, Sweetwater, 8.36 lbs., $130; 7. Steve Walker, Big Spring, 7.39 lbs., $115; 8. Gary Burt, Odessa, 7.34 lbs., $95.

Also cashing in were: 9. J.L. Stracener, Abilene, 7.27 lbs., $75; 10. Eddie Morris, Westbrook, 6.27 lbs., $55; 11. Bo Merket, Colorado City, 6.22 lbs., $50.

Participants who placed twelfth through fifteenth took home $40: 12. Donald Ritchey, Big Spring, 5.94 lbs; 13. Terry Clements, 5.94 lbs; 14. David Mayes, Gail, 5.57 lbs.; 15. Roy Medith, Lubbock, 5.57 lbs.

Abilene duo wins golf tourney

With all the May-Fest activities taking place, the Wolf Creek Golf Course held their own activity sponsoring the Men's Spring Low Ball Golf Tournament. Contestants from the Big Country participated as well as several Colorado City participants.

In the Championship Flight of the tournament, Fudge and Bowyer of Abilene captured first place. Placing second were Poe and Torres of Sweetwater, and finishing third were Cornelius and Helms of Abilene.

The First Flight held C-City participants in the top three places. Mayfield and Powell placed first while Rees and Kreeger finished second. Third place went to J. Hammond and Smith.

The Second Flight had Guelker and Guelker placing in the first place spot from C-City. Second place went to a duo from C-City, Ratliff and Ratliff. The third and final place went to Lara and Garza from Sweetwater.

In the Senior's Division, John Morgan, Ray Smith, Glen Thomas, Stan Moore, and Jim McClean, all of C-City, placed in the top five spots.

Rebates received

The City of Colorado City received rebates from the state comptroller's office this week for its share of mixed drink tax receipts and for its share of bingo receipts.

Colorado City, one of 108 cities which has legalized charity bingo and levies the two-percent local tax on the games' gross receipts, received $783 for the first quarter of 1990. The 1990 payments to date total $1,495.

The city received $254 and Mitchell County $328 as their share of the 12 percent mixed drink tax collected during January, February and March of 1990.

Under state law allowing the sale of mixed drinks, Texas cities and counties each receive a 12.5 percent of the state tax collected on mixed drinks sold within their boundaries. The mixed drink tax is collected by the Alcoholic Beverage Commission.

Loraine Personals

...by Lois Phillips

Hello! Today, I hope things are going well for you. We realize from day to day what a changing world we live in. "Here today and gone tomorrow," how true that is. Last night our fire department had a couple of fellows from Colorado City visiting with us.

They were members of the fire department over there. They had been to a deal in Austin I believe they said, a few weeks back that discussed drugs and drug labs, how they were built, etc.

They were not teaching about us playing drug cops but what to look for if you had to go in a burning house or any other building on fire. It may have been a drug lab or whatever and we really learned things we needed to know.

Thanks Robert Ramage and James Myers for an informative evening, and for using your time to inform us of the changing world we live in and how it effects us as fire fighters.

Mr. and Mrs. Buster Vickrey and children visited with her parents, the Glenn Sanders, a short while Sunday afternoon. They were on their way home to Midland after having attended a family reunion of Buster's family in Brownwood.

Glenn and Shirlene Sanders were in Clarendon the first of the week to attend services for Glenn's brother who died of cancer on Saturday of last week.

The Friendship Class of the First Baptist Church enjoyed a salad supper in the home of their teacher Sally Compton. After the business meeting, they enjoyed a good fellowship.

Those present were Chrystene Britton, Doris Graham, Doris Henderson, Elnora Mitchell, Marilyn Tartt, one visitor, Betty Marsh and the hostess.

The Mary Martha Class went to Abilene last week and had lunch and a "going-away" party for Jan Vest. Well it was sorta a going away deal. Jean and Thomas always went to Sunday School and church here after they moved to their farm at Looney. Now since Jean is by herself, her family has decided she should have her brother, Harvey Jones drive her to church. She is now attending church in Colorado City.

We will miss her but we want what's best for her.

Those present for this nice affair were Jean Vest, Ruth Holman, Hazel McCollum, Gladys Payne, Lorene McNeil, Inez Webb, Iris Preston and Christene Hall, who is teacher for this group.

Debbie and Susie Knox of Houston and Coke Rutherford of Beaumont came last Friday to visit their grandparents, Ollen and Beatrice Lee. They went home on Tuesday.

Beckie Beights has been remodeling her shop and is now open again for business. She says she will cut "pa's" hair and give "ma" a permanent, shampoo and set sister's hair and trim junior up a little bit. Go by and visit, see for yourself how efficient she is.

Girls we are supposed to finish our cancer drive by the 10th, hope you have yours finished by now. I'll have to admit I am not through yet but I'll get there. Thanks Clara, for getting the job done for us in Loraine.

Well children, school is almost out, if you have been planning to make the A honor roll you had better hurry. This is your last time this year. I hope you make it.

Jimmie Jacks was back in San Angelo this week for a checkup. She seems to be doing fine except for some minor things.

Lester and Lela Richburg were in Hart last week to visit the Dennis Smith family and went on to Clarendon on Friday to attend the graduation of a grandson, Dennis Smith.

Eldie Bryant is in Dallas with a daughter where she is receiving medical attention. Get well soon Eldie, you are a special person to me.

I guess you know who our new city council people are. If you don't I'll tell you. Some of these people were not up for re-election this time so they are not all new. Cat Martinez, Harris Hamilton, Sally Compton, Roy Price, Stanley Moore and Richard Cooper.

Good luck to you guys and gals. I feel sure you won't have major problems.

Well since I've given you the council, I'll now give you the school board.

I hope you guys have smooth sailing for the entire year and I feel like you will. Now you know who to gripe to.

As last week was about to come to a close, a very tragic thing happened to our town and others who grew up here. We all feel terrible over the Mahoney tragedy that affected so many people. So much has been said, so much coverage that I am just going to end with this little note that my friend and the Mahoneys handed to me. It says it all:

This past Friday was a tragic day for Nubbin and Addie Mahoney. Although we know that God's intentions are always best, we will all have an aching in our hearts for many days to come. We love you very much Nubbin and Addie.

Sharon Green and all Loraine.

Taylor is Wichita Falls principal

Diann James Taylor, a former resident of Colorado City, is currently the principal of Lamar Elementary in Wichita Falls.

Mrs. Taylor is a 1970 graduate of Colorado High School. After graduation, Mrs. Taylor continued her studies at Cisco Junior College and then earned her bachelor's degree from Midwestern State University in Wichita Falls. After receiving her bachelor's degree, she married Thomey P. Taylor and they have one son, Prince.

While maintaining a home, family, school, and work she still continued her education towards her master's degree in educational administration. Mrs. Taylor has taught in the Wichita Falls Independent School District for the past 16 years. Her assignments included elementary p.e./health teacher, administrator assistant at Hirschi High School and assistant principal/home school coordinator at Washington Math-Science Center.

She is well admired and respected by her students and colleagues. Her advice to young people is that as you strive to achieve your goals in life, there will be many obstacles but continue to push forward and include God in all your endeavors. She also adds that anything worth achieving takes hard work and determination. One can be whatever he or she dreams but you have to do the trying.

Mrs. Taylor is the daughter of Mrs. Luedell Sanders. Persons that have influenced her most were her mother, Mr. David Woods and Judge and Mrs. Austin McCloud. Mrs. Taylor will receive her master's in education in May.

Letters policy

The Colorado City Record will not publish letters pertaining to a candidate or issue when an election has been called.

Opinions for or against an issue or candidate may be published in paid political advertisements.

All letters to the editor must be signed and must give the address of the writer. Letters should be of reasonable length, and the newspaper does reserve the right to refuse letters if they contain libelous material or information deemed in poor taste.

Checkoffs said achieving goals

WASHINGTON, D.C. -- Meat Board Chairman Leon Locke told a House subcommittee that checkoffs are achieving goals set out by Congress and should remain unchanged.

"Producers and consumers alike are benefitting from the checkoff-funded research and product information," said Locke, a cattleman from Hungerford, Texas, who spoke with a broad perspective on checkoffs.

"The National Live Stock and Meat Board, launched in 1922, was funded by the first checkoff in the history of American agriculture. Today, it brings together the entire farm-to-table spectrum of the meat industry," said Locke in testimony before the Livestock, Dairy and Poultry Subcommittee of the House Agriculture Committee.

The subcommittee is conducting oversight hearings on commodity checkoff programs. Locke's presentation gave an overview of the history of the Meat Board, history of meat industry checkoffs, and a look at how the national checkoffs for beef and pork have provided strength and better coordination to market development efforts.

Locke said the conceptual framework of using producer investments at the point-of-sale for commodity promotion, research and information has supported 68 years of Meat Board programs on behalf of beef, pork, lamb and veal.

"This concept also served as a basis for the legislative beef and pork checkoffs created by the 1985 Farm Bill," said Locke. "And since the development of the national checkoff programs, we have more positive results from beef and pork market development programs."

"We can cite many examples of success which have come from checkoff-funded programs," said Locke. "The Meat Board's first research grant led to Dr. G. H. Whipple's Nobel Prize-winning discovery that liver was a valuable food. Today, such research continues to provide information on the 'nutrient dense' qualities of meat and its value in the human diet."

Locke said the Meat Board draws from the expertise of all industry segments--producer, marketer, packer, processor and retailer--believing that all should be involved in developing programs for the betterment of the industry. Funds from the checkoffs are invested by the Meat Board in programs of research, information and promotion with one common objective: "building demand."

"Consumers today reach into the meat case more often, because the Meat Board's checkoff-funded research, consumer information and promotion has reassured them, their parents and probably their grandparents that whichever meat they choose will be safe and nutritious," said Locke.

The National Live Stock and Meat Board is a coalition of the livestock and meat industry, from producers to retailers, that has been working through industry checkoffs to build demand for beef, veal, pork, lamb and processed meats since 1922.

TO COMPETE AT AREA - Colorado High School FFA students Jeremy Strain, left, and Jodie Ellis will be competing for area honors this weekend at the FFA Area II Convention in San Angelo. Strain was recently elected to be the Lone Wolf District's candidate to run for Area II president. Ellis was elected the Lone Wolf District sweetheart and will be competing for Area II sweetheart.
