Business Women—
$10,000 Clear—
Strange Words—
W. T. C. C. Growth—

On the subject of improved business conditions and prospects in this area, a member of the Woman's Forum handed this writer Wednesday a copy of the financial report of the organization covering a period of nine months since the opening of the Forum last fall. Judging from this report, Wichita Falls business men must hustle for their honors. Here's a sentence from the report: "This has made possible the paying off of $10,253 in debts and notes due on stage curtains, kitchen equipment, furniture and interest on loan."

Whenever any civic organization, whether male, female or mixed, earns $10,000 in nine months as clear profit for application on activities of the organization, it can be said there must be capable business heads in the group, as well as many willing and loyal workers. According to the report, the Forum fund was raised from dues, $1,297.90 from its tea room, $1457 from rentals and $4,269.79 from its various benefits. Now how can a mere man talk "hard times" and "summer slumps" in the face of such a report?

Each political campaign brings out something new in the way of platforms and policies, but so far this year all honors for frankness go to R. A. Long, candidate for representative, 111th district, place No. 1. Says Mr. Long: "I am not qualified for the place which I seek. Neither are either of my opponents." Mr. Long's race should be watched with considerable interest, and if he is successful, he may be responsible for an entirely new political philosophy. He may even make it possible for a candidate to announce for office without "yielding to the urgent requests of my many friends."

Suggested changes in the organization of the West Texas chamber of commerce by the Wichita Falls chamber of commerce appear well founded on a basis of common sense. It is quite likely that the proposals may prove disturbing to many persons, and it is also quite likely that the West Texas chamber will eventually adopt the recommendations made here. That is, if the chamber continues to develop and serve a major part in the growth of West Texas.

Wichita Falls residents can readily agree that "conventions of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce have grown so large and so miscellaneous in personnel that they constitute a great burden of expense upon the West Texas communities and produce serious problems of discipline without real and lasting benefits commensurate with the cost." It also seems quite true that it would be better to make "more definite efforts to advertise West Texas outside of the region instead of spending so much time advertising to each other."

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce has played and is playing a major part in the development and growth of this section. It will continue to do so, this newspaper believes, because its leaders will be found ever ready at the proper time to adopt new methods and new programs to meet new conditions. It appears that this time is here.

A. LOEWENSTEIN LOSES LIFE IN QUEER MISHAP

Brussels Banker Drowns When He Falls Into English Channel

TRIES WRONG DOOR

Rich Man Once Offered To Loan Government $50,000,000

LONDON, July 5.—(Thursday)—(UP)—One of the world's richest men apparently went to death last night in one of the most unusual accidents in history—accidentally stepping overboard from his private airplane as it was flying over the English channel.

According to the British air ministry, Captain Albert Lowenstein of Belgium, a multi-millionaire, who startled the world by offering to loan his government $50,000,000 without interest for two years, apparently has been drowned in the channel.

Starts From Brussels

Loewenstein, according to the air ministry, set out from London Wednesday for Brussels, starting the trip in his palatial airplane, one of the most commodious private planes ever built.

While flying over the English channel, Loewenstein is believed to have started from one compartment of the plane, intending to enter the retiring room. Apparently he opened the wrong door and stepped overboard, plunging into the sea.

Pilot Unmindful

His pilot, unmindful of what had happened, continued on toward Brussels, but was compelled to make a forced landing just outside the city. Then it was that he discovered Loewenstein was missing from the plane.

Recent U. S. Visitor

Captain Loewenstein, who visited the United States, and made an airplane tour of the principal cities of the east and midwest, perhaps was best known for his offer to the Belgian government of a $50,000,000 loan for two years without interest in order that the Belgian franc might be stabilized.

Loewenstein, whose offer was refused by the Belgian cabinet, shot like a meteor across the horizon of European finance a few years after the World war. Leaving Brussels for London, he built a modest fortune into one of the largest financial concerns in the world, but shunned publicity with consistent success until 1922.

Another Croesus

When the newspapers found out about his success and he became another "Croesus" whose fortune rivaled that of Hugo Stinnes and, whose affairs reached into every corner of the world. He was—like Stinnes—a tireless worker, a human dynamo.

Loewenstein's trip to the United States was for the purpose of conferring with bankers about hydro-electric projects, artificial silk, and other matters of international finance.

A large number of secretaries, aviators, chauffeurs, valets, and other domestics accompanied Captain and Mrs. Loeewnstein. The entourage occupied space costing $20,000 on the Ile de France.

51 Years Old

Upon his arrival in New York he engaged 22 rooms on the third floor of the Hotel Ambassador. The minimum price for a room was $8 and his bill was something like $200 daily.

He was a broad-shouldered, thickset figure with dark eyes and quick movements, tireless and apparently entirely without nerves. He was 51 years old.

Airmen On Longest Non-Stop Flight Speed Ahead With Trip Nearly Done

ROME, July 4. (AP)—Two Italian airmen were tonight believed to be somewhere over the south Atlantic, more than two-thirds of their flight behind them, in an effort to fly from Rome to Pernambuco, Brazil, on the mainland of South America.

Captain Arturo Ferrarin and Major Carlo P. Del Prete were sighted at 5 p. m. Greenwich time above the Cape Verde islands, radio dispatches from that place to Buenos Aires, Argentine, said.

Saint Vincent, Cape Verde Islands, is approximately 3000 miles from Rome and 1600 miles from Pernambuco but the 1600 miles to Pernambuco is regarded as the most dangerous lap of the flight, though just about one-half the distance already traversed.

The sighting at Cape Verde saw the two airmen 22 hours out of Rome, with a remarkable average of better than 135 miles an hour speed in their plane from that city behind them. Should they maintain this speed, and keep to their course, they would reach Pernambuco about 5 a. m. Thursday, Greenwich time, or 3 o'clock Pernambuco time (3 a. m. eastern standard time).

There is no certainty of the airmen landing at Pernambuco, however, if they still have fuel and can obtain their bearings. It was said prior to their departure they might continue further south, possibly to Rio Janeiro, or other Brazilian coastal cities.

SMITH REPLIES TO CRITICISMS

Nominee Makes Patriotic Address to Tammany

NEW YORK, July 4. (AP)—Replying to "a great deal of very caustic criticism" of Tammany he said he had heard, Governor Alfred E. Smith lauded the patriotic principles of the society of Tammany in an Independence day address at Tammany hall today and attributed the society's long existence to "its great human appeal to everybody who is true to America."

The Democratic candidate for the presidency was the principal speaker at the annual Tammany celebration as he was later, in the evening, at a gathering of new voters at the city hall.

"Can anything live in this country 139 years that is not all right?" he asked in detailing the virtues of Tammany. He then read a public announcement of today's meeting in which "all citizens and lovers of Americanism" were invited to unite in the celebration. This invitation, he said, was in strictest conformity with what the Declaration of Independence has to say about the equality of man.

"We do not care," he said, "whether he is rich or whether he is poor, whether he walks up to Tammany hall or whether he comes up to it in an automobile. We care not what his station in life may be, we care nothing about his religious belief.

"We only want to know one thing," he continued, "and that is that he is a lover of America and in sympathy with the aims and purposes of the society to perpetuate the memory of Jefferson, the memory of Washington, the signing of the immortal document that gave America her freedom, and that he stands behind the constitution that gives life and vitality to the declaration."

New York Klan Left Holding Sack When Heflin Does 'Run-Around' Act

NEW YORK, July 4. (AP)—Elaborate preparations were made by members of the Ku Klux Klan today to insure protection to Senator Thomas Heflin of Alabama, who was scheduled to address a klan meeting at Jamaica but who failed to arrive or to notify the klansmen that he was not coming until after the time set for his appearance.

Early this morning an estimated crowd of 1500 klansmen gathered in a 40-acre field. Many of them were armed with pistols, clubs and sabres, which they said were for use in protecting the southern senator from persons who had sent many threatening letters.

Police reported that nothing could be done about the show of firearms as all the men with guns were deputy sheriffs or had obtained permits to carry pistols from justices of the peace.

Klan leaders announced that they had leased the field and would permit no trespassing by police, but all day about 200 policemen waited at the edge of the field in case they should be needed. An emergency wagon also was on hand with riot guns and tear gas bombs.

THOUSANDS SEE STUNTERS OPEN FLYING FIELD

Kell Airport Inaugurated As City Landing Point In Celebration

AIRMEN SPEAK

New Field Wins Praise Of Army and Civilian Experts In Talk

Ten thousand persons watched 14 airplanes representing many classes of aviation at the formal opening of Kell field Wednesday. This was the major event of the city's Fourth of July celebration, but there were hundreds of groups gathered in many parts of the county, at the lakes of the county for different events.

The gigantic hangar at the field, with flags flying and lights burning for the inspection of the public, was filled with ships, and vast throngs packed the Burkburnett road for several miles. Those who took the new cutoff road a mile to the east, were more fortunate and had sufficient room.

Leap Features

The parachute leap by the Sky Flea was one of the features of the day, and was one of the prettiest ever made in the city. Despite a strong wind, the Sky Flea made a perfect takeoff from the ship at an altitude of 2000 feet. The chute swayed with the wind, and one time swung him so far that it seemed that his feet were even with the top of the chute. However, he finally landed in the exact center of the field.

Formation flying by government planes had given the people an idea of the more prosaic end of flying done by military ships when on their good behavior.

A line of ships which has not been equaled here since the war and the days of the ships at Call field presented a spectacular view in their silver, bright orange and other colors.

Mail Pilot Here

R. L. Dobie of Kansas City, was on the line with his Curtis Carrier Pigeon. He is an air mail pilot flying between Dallas and Kansas City.

B. B. Owen of Dallas was here with his Ryan brougham.

A brave old Curtiss Jennie, resplendent in a coat of paint brighter than all the others, stood near the center and did not take the air until late in the afternoon.

Dave Herget was here in his International from Fort Worth. A pair of Eaglerocks and a pair of Travel Airs attracted considerable attention because they were always doing something. These four ships were the most active on the field.

Cahoon in Charge

There were three De Havilands and three Douglas ships. One D. H. from Kelly field and the other two were from Brooks field which has been converted from a balloon field to a field of elementary training for airplane pilots. The personnel included Lieutenants G. C. Salisbury, O. F. Carlson, C. D. Wheeler, F. E. Cheatle, and Sargeant Williams and Private Nelson.

The Douglas ships were from

Lid On Gubernatorial Campaign Blown Off in Moody's First Talk

WAXAHACHIE, Texas, July 4—Preceeding the body of his address with a picture of the alleged corruption which marked the preceding administration, Gov. Dan Moody spoke before a large crowd here tonight of the progress in repairing that "mockery of democracy" which has been accomplished during his two year tenure of office, and urged his reelection on his own sweeping record of efficiency during his administration.

Outside of the preliminary attack on former Gov. Jim Ferguson, whom he characterized as that "imposter and usuper, who without the voice of their approval held sway in the highest office in Texas," Gov. Moody confined his address to a recital of his record. This, he said, he shall continue to do.

"As a basis of such a campaign as I will make, I shall avail myself the opportunity to tell the people what has been accomplished during the last 18 months. It is a record in which I take pride, and in which I hope and believe the people of Texas can all take pride.

"It is not only fitting," he continued, "but it is proper that the people, having a knowledge of what has been done to them under a previous administration should have a statement of the things that have been accomplished and what is being done for them under the present administration."

Laying stress on the assertion that "court records have disclosed the existence of corruption" in the preceding administration, and that such knowledge had "become popular reading matter," Gov. Moody warned that at the present time a move is on foot to bring these same conditions back into Texas politics.

"We find the same insidious force, against which the people revolted

Man Goes Over Niagara In Rubber Ball And Lives

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., July 4. (AP)—For the third time in history man conquered the mighty Niagara today when Jean A. Lussier of Springfield, Mass, went over the Horseshoe falls on the Canadian side in a specially constructed rubber ball while 150,000 persons lining the river banks on either side, cheered and applauded him.

The start was made from Cayuga island, about three miles above the falls at 2:30 o'clock, standard time, and Lussier was rescued from the bridge eddy below the falls at 3:20 o'clock by William (Red) Hill, daring river man, alone in a rowboat.

At first it was feared the giant ball might be carried downstream into the rapids. Lussier plunged over the brink at 3 o'clock.

OFFICERS NAB DEWEY ROSS

Escaped Prisoner Arrested In Oklahoma

Dewey Ross, one of eight men who escaped from the Wichita county jail March 21, was recaptured Tuesday night in Oklahoma City, according to word received here by Sheriff W. G. Bralley.

It is probable that a member of the sheriff's force will be dispatched to Oklahoma City Thursday to return the fugitive, Mr. Bralley said.

Three Still Free

One of the eight men participating in the jailbreak, Ross is the fifth to be recaptured. Claude Reeves, now serving a term of 7½ years in the state penitentiary, was recaptured here a few hours after the break by city police.

Reeves later led a second break, when he and R. W. Canada escaped. Reeves was recaptured at Dodd City, Texas, a few nights after the break by Sheriff Bralley.

Jeff Whitt, Robert Moore and Henry (Boone) Brown, among those escaping on March 21, were recaptured about a month after the break in Magnolia, Ark.

Moore and Whitt again broke from the county jail on June 26, and have not yet been recaptured. Henry Shumate, who broke jail with them in their second try for freedom, was captured in Electra a day after the escape.

Circulars Broadcast

Ross' recapture, according to Mr. Bralley, was the result of descriptive postcards and circulars mailed from the sheriff here to officers all over the country.

Details of the capture of Ross were not known Wednesday.

Of those who broke jail with Ross, Charles Lindsey, awaiting transfer to the state prison on a three-year sentence for burglary, Roy Jackson, also awaiting transfer, Whitt and Moore are at large now.

Ross was a federal prisoner, facing charges of violation of the narcotic laws at the time of his escape.

Do Times Change? Old Texas Paper Seems Newsy Now

Marathon of '79 Drew Editor's Sharp Comment, and How!

CUERO, Texas, July 4. (INS)—Times haven't changed so much, after all.

A copy of the Cuero Weekly Star of April 26, 1879, reveals that things are pretty much the same now as they were then. The paper mentions the fact that "experiments were being made with local materials in the manufacture of brick to provide permanent materials for rebuilding" a part of the town that had been destroyed by fire.

Recently the chamber of commerce here has been attempting to induce a brick manufacturing company to locate in Cuero.

And there were marathons in those days—marathons that would be impossible now, although some might still appreciate the spirit of the editor of the Star, who said:

"John Connor proposed to drink 1000 gallons of beer in 1000 hours in Austin. He is a fool and ought to be suppressed. How infinitely more Christian-like to divide these 1000 gallons of beer among 1000 sensible people."

Prohibition, then as now, was an acute issue. To quote the editor again:

"Two years of local option have sickened so many of its friends that it is fast going out of date. The temperance lecturers and its other friends have framed a new bill and secured its passage in one branch of the legislature, which they say will knock the 'vilest' whisky and its seller clean out of time."

JULY FOURTH TOLL MOUNTS TO HIGH MARK

Victims of Heat Wave In Northern Cities Total Eight in Day

MISHAPS ARE FATAL

Coast-to-Coast Casualty List Follows Day Of Celebration

CHICAGO, July 4. (UP)—Intense heat, with accompanying humidity, caused nearly a score of holiday deaths in the middle west today as thousands of persons sought the beaches, resorts and picnic grounds for temporary relief.

Nine deaths were recorded in the Chicago vicinity in the past 24 hours, five due to the heat and four to drowning.

Accident Toll High

Two persons were killed in automobile accidents near here. Joe Kavo, 48, East Chicago, was killed when he stepped from a curb in the path of an automobile. Frank Gregus, 19, was killed and Faye Farmer, seriously injured, near Beloit, Wis., at the start of an outing trip to northern Wisconsin.

Albert Norris, Jr., 20, South Bend, Ind., was drowned when he was seized with a heart attack while swimming in Dixon lake near Plymouth.

Three other heat deaths were reported at Detroit, two at Omaha and one at Kansas City. Several cities and towns reported prostrations which may raise the total of deaths.

Traffic accidents on highways were numerous.

Storms in Midwest

Storms were reported in Nebraska and Iowa, bringing temporary relief from the heat in those sections, but the temperature was on the rise again tonight. No deaths or injuries occurred in the 60-mile gale that swept through Nebraska but communications and electric line service was crippled.

Trees, telegraph poles and lines were strewn along the highways throughout Nebraska by the storm which swept the length of the state and passed over into Iowa, striking at South Omaha and crippling electric line service.

Four persons, three boys and a girl, were drowned at outings near Chicago today. Eloise Root, 17, Chicago high school senior, and Lemuel Eddy, 22, Northwestern

MONK FORESAW VIOLENT DEATH

Czar's Friend Predicted End, Daughter Claims

PARIS, July 4. (UP)—More than a year before his death at the hands of Prince Felix Yousoupoff, the Russian monk Rasputin, peasant minstrel and confidential adviser to the Russian royal family, predicted he would come to a violent end and that his enemies, jealous of his power over the czarina, would hasten Russia on its way to ruin.

This is one of the sensational revelations upon which Rasputin's daughter, Mme. Solovief, now in Paris, is basing her suit for 25,000,000 francs damages against Prince Yousoupoff and Grand Duke Dimitri, who was in Yousoupoff's home when the assassination occurred.

Case May Not Be Heard

Whether it will carry weight with the French courts is extremely doubtful; in fact it is even doubtful whether the case will be heard, following assertions by Yousoupoff and his followers that the murder was of a purely political character. Moreover, as the parties involved are under the protection of the League of Nations, having rejected the nationality of the soviet republic and not having assumed French nationality, the jurisdiction of the French courts in this respect is a subject of debate.

It was in November, 1916, according to Mme Solovief, that her father wrote to his wife, then in Siberia, saying:

"You will never see me again. I shall be assassinated and my death will cause the fall of the dynasty and a series of misfortunes such as Russia has never before known."

Mme. Solovief admits the excessive drinking habits of the priest during the remainder of his life but naively adds that he did it because he knew he was condemned and that the fatal hour was approaching.

On December 17, 1917, it arrived and Mme. Solovief attributes to Prince Yousoupoff a sinister design for overthrowing the czar, placing the Grand Duke Dimitri on the throne and himself becoming the power behind the new ruler.

For "Patriotic Reasons"

Yousoupoff in a book dealing with Rasputin's assassination tells how he was murdered "for patriotic purposes." The suit is based partly on the revelations in this book. Dimitri in an interview said he was in the house when Rasputin was killed but took no part in it. He said he had broken his friendship with Yousoupoff.

Mme. Solovief has thrown new light on her father's peculiar character. He was not illiterate, as alleged, she says; in fact he was the author of a volume of meditations written in the holy places of Jerusalem. The czarina always carried a copy of this work with her on her journeys.

Monk Hypnotist

That the monk was capable of hypnotism seems certain: Mme. Solovief tells of a visit to his home of a fanatical woman, intent upon and a few seconds glaring into the woman's eyes subdued her and kneeling at his feet for pardon, she told of the plot to end his life.

Strangest of all the daughter's allegations is the assertion that no less a personage than the Grand Duke Nicholas, now living on the outskirts of Paris and surrounded by a bodyguard of former Russian officers, was the one who introduced Rasputin into the Russian royal household. The czarevitch was seriously ill and the court doctors were unable to reduce his fever. Rasputin arrived, placed his hands on the boy's forehead, and told the czarina not to worry.

"I'm going to pray. At four o'clock tomorrow afternoon he will recover," said the monk.

Youth Recovers

All night the youth tossed on his pillow while the court physicians and the czar's family awaited his death. At precisely four o'clock the next afternoon the fever abated and the czarevitch was conscious for the first time in several days, smiled and whispered to his mother: "Now I feel better."

From that day the freedom of Rasputin in the councils of the Russian empire was assured. This freedom, from which high nobles were excluded, doomed the monk to death by those who had lost favor with the czar and czarina.

Valley Cotton Crop Reduced by Blight

SAN BENITO, Texas, July 4. (AP) Prospects of a 200,000-bale cotton crop in the lower Rio Grande valley have been cut 50 per cent, in the opinion of H. P. Boyd, manager of the Valley Gin company.

"The yield anticipated 15 days ago has been cut 50 per cent by the angular leaf spot," Mr. Boyd said.

Damage from the angular leaf spot, or blight, has extended to Nueces county and apparently has affected all cotton in Southwest Texas, Mr. Boyd said. He estimated that this year's crop in this section would not exceed 100,000 bales.

Petrified Tree Placed in San Antonio Museum

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, July 4. (AP) A petrified tree trunk from West Texas which is 70 feet long and three feet in diameter has been placed in the Witte Memorial museum here. The trunk was found on the Rio Grande about 90 miles above Eagle Pass by a Professor Hilchers, who formerly taught here. Albert Steves Sr., a local business man, saw it in Eagle Pass and purchased it for the museum. The tree was evidently a pine and the grain of the wood, and even a knothole, are perfectly preserved.

Family Represented in Office Eighty Years

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, July 4. (AP) One San Antonio family has had a representative in the Bexar county clerk's office most of the time for the last 80 years.

Sam S. Smith started working in the office in 1849. He was ousted during the reconstruction, but returned to the office in 1873 and worked until his death in 1882.

His son, Thad W. Smith, then took his position and has been in the office, with the exception of one period which he was connected with the city government, ever since.

Chocolate Bars Used as Ammunition On July 4th 10 Years Ago in France

Correspondent Reveals True War Episode Of A. E. F. After Decade Of Silence

Editor's Note: Alfred P. Reck, of the United Press bureau at Washington, was a member of the 109th infantry, A. E. F., and the following is a personal account of a humorous, heretofore untold event of the world war, which occurred on the Fourth of July, 10 years ago:

By ALFRED P. RECK

WASHINGTON, July 4. (UP)—Now it can be told—

On Fourth of July, 10 years ago, America's real chocolate soldiers went forth to battle with chocolate bars and cigarettes instead of bullets to repulse an expected German advance.

The "chocolate bar defense," which bordered on the comical and nearly turned into stark tragedy, will not go down in history, for officials at Chaumont never learned of it. Had they known of it at the time, several silver-starred officers of the A. E. F. would probably have turned somersaults and court martials might have been in order for several hundred inconspicuous members of America's fighting forces.

Guns Were Heard

The third battalion of the 109th infantry, 28th division, was billeted at Montmirial, south of Chateau Thierry, where the French and Americans were engaged in holding back the gray-green tide from engulfing Paris.

At Montmirial the pastoral quietness was shattered by the dull roar of the battle lines and at night the flashes of gun powder played across the horizon like strange northern lights.

But the Fourth of July is the Fourth of July to American soldiers, regardless of whether they are in Oshkosh or in France waiting to take their turn as cannon fodder at the western front. It appeared that the 28th division would not be needed, except in an emergency, so officers of the division arranged a huge Fourth of July field day. Baseball games and track meets were planned for every regiment. Grazing grounds, as yet unscarred by shells, were laid out as athletic fields. To climax the grand event Red Cross trucks backed into the quarters of the 109th infantry and left several large packing cases filled with chocolate bars and cigarettes to be distributed to the division on the Fourth of July.

Prospective athletes of the division went to bed with dreams of athletic conquests.

Bugles Shriek

At 3 a. m. bugles shrieked. There was no mistaking the call to arms. A few minutes before, wide-eyed motorcycle messengers had raced into division headquarters. A German attack was brewing, they reported. Help was needed in reinforcing the lines. Sleepy-eyed officers were routed from their snug beds. Orders and commands were snapped over wires and by messengers. Less than 10 minutes later the entire division was afoot with hastily rolled packs strapped on husky backs and awaiting the command to move forward.

A major of the general staff rode into headquarters of the 109th infantry.

"What's in those boxes?" he asked.

Chocolates and cigarettes he was told.

"No use leaving them here for the French," he said. "Break them open and let your men help themselves."

What Luxuries

In the dusk of early morning the men lined up and passed by the packing cases. Eager arms were loaded with chocolate bars and cigarettes. Cigarettes and chocolates were luxuries seldom seen by the men of the 109th. They loaded their pockets and their packs and still had cigarettes and chocolate to spare.

The order came to move forward at route step. As the regiment moved it was followed by strange metallic clinks. When dawn broke on this Fourth of July 10 years ago, the 109th infantry was double-timing toward Chateau Thierry. A staff officer riding up and down the line of fast moving men saw ammunition belts and ammunition bandholders stuffed full but no cigarettes or chocolate bars were in sight.

Ordered to Return

At 3 p. m., a dusty motorcycle messenger came careening down the road. He handed the colonel a message. The German attack either had failed to materialize or had been checked. The 109th infantry was no longer needed and was ordered to return to its billets.

Tired men dropped to the side of the road. As if of one accord, ammunition belts were opened, out came hundreds of packages of cigarettes and bars of chocolates and a thousand men puffed contentedly and munched chocolates. Even the officers joined in.

A sergeant moved among his men. He happened to bump into an ammunition belt.

"Why you blankety-blank-blanks, where in hell's your ammunition?" he growled. "A swell bunch of soldiers you turned out to be. Goin' up to fight the Germans with chocolate bars and cigarettes."

He turned on his heel. He had forgotten to fasten one of the snaps on his ammunition belt. A familiar red-colored cigarette package stuck out.

Not a man in the outfit had more than five rounds of ammunition. They had tossed the rest away to make room for chocolate and cigarettes—things not quite so ordinary as bullets in the life of a soldier.

GYPSY "KING" "DEAD" AGAIN

But Reporters Find Really Interesting Story

MADISON, N. J., July 4. (UP)—Word went out of Madison yesterday that the "king of the Gypsies" was dead.

About twice a year the "king of the Gypsies" dies in some city or at some roadside camp in these United States. It seems to be a part of the mystery of the wandering sons and daughters of Romany that no one shall know just who is meant by the "king of the Gypsies," if in fact, there is such person.

So today reporters came here from New York and found that this latest "king of the Gypsies" was Naylor Harrison, aged 68.

They found also that Harrison was a native of England and that his mother was Irish. His wife also is Irish.

Interesting Man

They found that when it was suggested that the Harrisons' might by Gypsies that there was a spirited denial ready.

But Gypsy or no Gypsy, they found an interesting man had died. A hundred or more of the clan of which he was the patriarch if not the "king"—Harrisons, Coopers, and Rileys by name—has gathered to attend the funeral. And the funeral service will be a combination of the Masonic ritual and the service of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Harrison, his wife, and 14 children first settled in Madison some 30 years ago. They owned many horses and they traded in livestock. A sign reading "Madame Harrison, palmistry," still hangs in front of the little bungalow where Harrison died and his 75-year-old widow is ready to tell a fortune at any time.

Tents for "Overflow"

In the yard of the Harrison home two tents, pitched years ago and replaced from time to time, house the overflow from the five-room bungalow.

Each summer, for many years, the Harrisons picked up their belongings, their many children, and their many horses and drove away. When summer was over they came back to Madison. Their wagon was gay in color. Their horses, true to the tradition of the gypsy, were the best.

But when winter came, Madame Harrison plied her trade of fortune telling in Madison. Harrison dealt in horses, joined the Masonic lodge, and sometime attended the Methodist church. He amassed a comfortable fortune.

Of recent years the annual trips over the gypsy trail have been abandoned.

Dallas Rotarians Start School for Convention

DALLAS, Texas, July 4. (AP)—Realizing that they will have a mammoth task on their hands when they entertain the 1929 convention of the Rotary International, members of the local Rotary organization are planning to conduct a special convention school for the next several months.

Each Dallas delegate to the recent convention at Minneapolis has been assigned to study one particular phase of convention arrangement and entertainment and to lecture to other members. By the time the members have digested these lectures they expect to be polished in convention procedure.

At least 15,000 visitors are anticipated for the 1929 gathering.

Fugitive "Collects" Stock For Farm; Is Charged

HOUSTON, July 4. (AP)—C. Harper, negro, escaped convict wanted to go back to the country and start a farm. So he began "collecting" livestock.

When he was arrested here he told officers he had "collected" 13 hogs, 9 geese, 10 cows and 4 horses and innumerable chickens. And now, instead of starting a farm of his own, the negro, who has been charged with felony theft, probably will go back to the Retrieve state farm, from which he escaped two years ago. He first was sentenced to the state farm for horse theft.

COLLEGE ORDERS FLOWERS

DENTON, Texas, July 4. (AP)—Five thousand tulips, ranging from large, mahogany red to a soft rosy carmine, have been ordered for spring planting on the campus of the College of Industrial Arts, according to Fred W. Westcourt, head of the committee on campus improvement.

Sandifer Speaks At Crosbyton

CROSBYTON, Texas, July 4.—Dr. J. D. Standifer, president of Simmons university, was in Crosbyton Sunday and spoke to a large crowd at the First Baptist church at 11 o'clock Sunday morning. He came to Crosbyton at the request of the pastor of the First Baptist church and the Crosbyton chamber of commerce to assist in the building of a new brick church for the Baptist people. At the morning service a large part of the amount necessary for the building was subscribed and it is only a matter of a short time until the building will be under construction.

Sunday evening he held a community meeting in the auditorium of the high school where he discussed the national political situation and the conditions under which the present generation is living. Dr. Sandifer is well known and has a host of friends here who were glad to welcome him.

Reduce the Acid

In sick stomachs—instantly

Sick stomachs, sour stomachs and indigestion usually mean excess acid. The stomach nerves are over-stimulated. Too much acid makes the stomach and intestines sour.

Alkali kills acid instantly. The best form is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, because one harmless, tasteless dose neutralizes many times its volume in acid. Since its invention, 50 years ago, it has remained the standard with physicians everywhere.

Take a spoonful in water and your unhappy condition will probably end in five minutes. Then you will always know what to do. Crude and harmful methods will never appeal to you. Go prove this for your own sake. It may save a great many disagreeable hours.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drug store.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.—Adv.

Lone Surviving Witness to Garfield Assassination Recounts Events

NEW YORK, July 4. (UP)—Forty-seven years ago Charles Guiteau, angered by failure to win political preferment, shot to death James A. Garfield, then president of the United States, at the railroad station in Washington.

Robert A. Parke, who then was general agent of the Baltimore and Potomac Railroad company, and who now, at the age of 80, is a resident of New York, is the last surviving witness of the tragedy.

"How well I remember it all," said Parke. "It is a clear as if it had happened only yesterday.

"Word had been sent to the station that the president was going to New York and his car was attached to the New York Limited to leave at 9:30 a. m.

Man Appears

"A few minutes before the president was to arrive a man came up to me asking what time the train would leave for New York. I told him. He sauntered away. There was nothing unusual about him. He looked like any ordinary traveler.

"Pretty soon the state department carriage drove up. Policeman Carney came and stood at the carriage door. The president got out, and walked arm in arm with James G. Blaine, secretary of state, towards the waiting room.

"Mr. Garffied said something to Carney as he left the carriage. What it was, I do not know.

"Then I saw the man who asked me the time of the train's departure, behind Blaine and the president. Just at that moment I heard a shot and saw Mr. Garfield crumple and fall."

Parke rushed at the assassin, who was Guiteau, seizing him by the left wrist and the back of the neck.

"Here's the man who did it," he shouted to Policeman Carney who came running up.

Guiteau Hanged

"I have letter I must deliver to General Sherman," Guiteau cried, fumbling in his pocket but making no effort to escape.

"Guiteau seemed erratic to me but his attorney failed to prove him insane and he was hanged," went on Parke.

"Guiteau, it developed, had been pestering the president and the state department for appointment to a consulate in France. He had become a nuisance around the White House and the state department and neither Mr. Garfield nor Blaine would see him.

"He was an educated man. He had written several books and was, seemingly. of high intelligence."

VIENNA, July 4. (AP)—Publication of Chancellor Seipel's recent note to Premier Mussolini of Italy, regarded as a renunciation of Austria's claims for the South Tyrol as the price for resumption of normal diplomatic relations between the two countries, has caused an outburst of indignation in the Austrian press.

Among the headlines which are used today are: "Seipel kneels before Mussolini and licks Italy's boots," "Austria's ignominious surrender," "Seipel makes strategical retreat," and "Seipel begs Italy's forgiveness."

Europeans Buzz With Rumors That Marshall Field Will Divorce Wife

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN
(Copyright, 1928, by Universal Service)

PARIS, July 4.—Society on both sides of the English channel is buzzing today with news of an impending divorce of the Marshall Fields, American multimillionaires, as well known in London and Paris as in Chicago and New York.

Mrs. Marshall Field, the former Evelyn Marshall, is understood to be about to bring action against her husband in the United States, although several of her friends advise her to file her suit through the indulgent and expeditious French courts.

For several months the grandson of the famous Chicago merchant prince has lived apart from "Evvy," who has returned to her mother in the Marshall house in Grosvenor Square, London.

Conjectures running into eight figures are being freely made as to the size of the settlement Marshall will make upon his wife. His fellows say Field is disposed to be especially generous because of his intention to remarry as soon as possible after the granting of the divorce.

Rumored Bride

The very attractive Mrs. Dudley Coates, whose husband died at Cannes last year of his war wounds, is said to be the future Mrs. Field. Andrey, as she is known in the fashionable purlieus of Piccadilly and Mayfair, recently went to America to spend the summer at the Fields' palatial shooting box near Huntington, Long Island.

The beautiful Mrs. Coates is one of the liveliest members of the gay coterie that always surrounds the Prince of Wales. She was invariably a member of the prince's party at Deauville and Biarritz and in the night clubs of Piccadilly. Their common interest in hunting brought the Fields and Audrey together in one of the week-ends at the Mellon Mowbray fashionable hunt colony. Since then they have been seen frequently together until the Fields' recent departure for America.

Huge Inheritance

On his spacious Long Island domain, Field has constructed a faithful replica of his English country house in Leicestershire. Although born in America, the present Marshall Field has lived considerably in England. He was educated at Eton and Cambridge, but returned to America at the outbreak of the war to enlist as a common private. After seeing service in France he went back to the United States as a captain.

The immense inheritance left Field by his grandfather has been considerably added to by his own wise investments. When the founder of the family fortunes died, he named Marshall and Henry Field, his favorite grandsons, his principal beneficiaries. The late Henry Field will be remembered because of the famous law suit brought against his estate by Peggy Marsh, the actress.

By the terms of the grandfather's will, $90,000,000 will be invested and the total value handed over to the grandsons when they reach the age of 50. It is estimated that Marshall Field's share then will amount to $200,000,000.

Ramblin' with Marie Theresa

NO matter how you spent the Fourth, I am sure it was done perspiringly. Did you ever see such fine weather for an old-fashioned Fourth?

I got around sufficiently, despite the weather to see what some of my friends were doing, and saw that the traditional picnic luncheon lacked none of the frills of past and by-gone days. The spirit of the day was well attended. At least things augur well for Al, judging from a hurried glance into the Fourth of July picnic baskets.

WHEN Christmas rolls around and when Easter Sunday shows up, Marie Theresa is always chased into churches and streets by the skipper (know what that is?) to see just what the ladies are wearing and how much of it. But nothing has been said about corralling the ladies on the Fourth to see what they are wearing.

Rejoicing on the part of said ladies. How would you like to see something like this in print: "The always lovely Mrs. J. F. H. So-and-So was unusually interesting in a pair of well-worn knickers, shirt open at the throat, slouch hat pushed well back on the forehead to allow free circulation of air, and a pair of comfortable shoes laced loosely for ease." Yet that is about the way you looked if you went any place, and even worse if you remained at home. I know I saw you.

BUT enough of personal remarks, somebody is going to get sore.

HOW many cards have you received from friends visiting in Colorado since the last time the subject came up between us? I have had a full share, and really I can't see why even friends should treat me that way.

But taken all in all, there are so many things that we have laid aside for the summer months, that we did not have time to do during the racier wintertime, that I hardly think we should feel left out, even though we are spending the summer at home. All during the winter, we are wont to pile up light fiction that everybody is talking about and with which we should be familiar but for which we had not time. Get out those books and read 'em, it will take your mind off that summer vacation, don't you think it might?

Then think of all the visits you have planned and which have never been executed. Maybe you think this is not appropriate weather for visiting, but I can't see that it is being utilized for much of anything else.

Look around. There are so many things that are just the correct form of pleasure for the hot months, if only you have enough energy left to think of 'em. Anyway, don't complain that nobody told you.

Makes Her Own Skin Bleach

Known for having one of the most beautiful skins in New York, Miss Mildred Ball, favorite artists' and photographers' model, recently made the statement that most of the New York models use a skin bleach of their own making.

According to Miss Ball, "we get three ounces of Orchard White from the druggist and add to it the juice of two lemons. This makes a full quarter pint of a perfectly harmless yet marvelously effective bleach. Applied to face, neck and arms, it bleaches any dark or discolored skin a beautiful rosy white. It also makes any rough or coarse skin soft and smooth. Many of the girls use it, too, for a tan and freckle bleach. Nothing like this wonderful mixture can be bought ready to use because it acts best when freshly prepared. The cost for several weeks' supply is only a few cents."—Adv.

CHIC CHERIE — LATEST FASHIONS

The cloth from the sleeves goes into the skirt
DeJong
7-5

You may have noticed that summer dresses are sleeveless, as Cherie remarks, there's no saving in yardage. The extra cloth has gone into the skirts, which are pleated or tucked or ruffled. Cherie has brought a brand new trowel and is going to dig in the garden. For this pleasant rural occupation a dress of printed voile seemed most suitable, a dress with no sleeves, just the suggestion of a collar, but with a skirt made of box pleats all the way around. Kitty is going along, not to dig, but to supervise. Kitty loathes angleworms and is so likely to find them in gardens! Kitty's frock is of printed dimity, trimmed with stitching, a wisp of ribbon and a belt of white leather.

Eustace is interested in the garden and Cherie is showing him everything that's large enough to be worth looking at. It's quite probable that her weeding killed a few flowers—they look so alike when they are small—but there's no doubt about these peonies. Dina is filling the background delightfully in a dress that shows this same economy of sleeves and extravagance of skirt. A dress of printed organdie with an embroidered white organdie collar. Cherie's frock is plain and printed lawn. Since we are speaking of economy in the use of cloth, however, we wish to show you the really skimpy garment of the season—Cherie's sunburn bathing suit, to the right, which is the smartest and newest of all bathing suits.

Business Girl Has Better Chance For Hubby Than Deb, Says Dix

"The Woman Who Wants to Marry Must Go Where She Will Meet Many Men," Says Dorothy Dix. "And the Business Girl Has a Better Chance to Get a Good Husband Than the Debutante."

A girl bachelor says to me: "It is all very well to tell us unmarried women that spinsterhood is not the worst lot in the world, and that if men had passed us by just to forget it and get busy making our lives along some other lines, and all that, anyway, if we don't make a hit with the masculine sex there is nothing we can do about it.

"It is sound philosophy, even if it is cold comfort. But every normal woman craves a mate and children and finds a job or a career a poor substitute for them.

"And then, no matter what sort of a bluff she puts up, every woman in her heart of hearts hates being an old maid. Of course, she isn't as much of a pariah nowadays as she used to be, but still to a hundred people out of a thousand the unmarried woman is still a looked-down-upon old maid. They speak of her slightingly. They ridicule her, and she never gets the respect that a married woman has, not even in her own family. The old-maid sister or aunt is always the family goat.

"I was taught from my babyhood up that for a girl to grow up and be an old maid was one of the worst misfortunes that could befall her, and, so far as I can see, the general attitude on the subject has not changed. Perhaps if the stigma could be removed from spinsterhood we shouldn't feel it such a curse.

"This is the way we unmarried women feel about old maids. Then we wonder why is it that we have been passed by, and wherein we differ from our sisters, and what attractions they possess that we lack. So far as we can see, we are just as good-looking, just as clever, just as amiable and pleasant as the married women all about us, yet many of them have had seven husbands, so to speak, to our none.

"Evidently men are not difficult and hard to please, nor do they display any particular judgment in picking out their wives. Observe the number of homely and unattractive wives.

"Look at the intelligent men who marry morons. Consider the middle-aged and elderly men who marry flappers young enough to be their daughters or granddaughters. Think of all the men you know who are married to lazy, trifling, extravagant wives who keep their noses to the grindstone all of their lives and who never even give them a decent meal or a comfortable place in which to sit down.

"And every one of these men must have known some pretty, clever, domestic girl who was just yearning to love and be loved and to make some man a good home and an ideal wife, and whom no man ever looked at and who never had a date in her life. So why is the old maid, and how is she to be helped?"

Of course, the general reason why there are old maids is because there are not enough marrying men to go around, but why the individual woman is an old maid depends on any number of causes.

Very often it is environment. A girl may grow up in a community in which she has as little chance to marry as she would to swim in the Sahara desert.

There are plenty of little villages and isolated country neighborhoods in which every able-bodied young man has gone forth to seek his fortune, and which are literally Adamless Edens.

Still oftener a father and mother kill a girl's chances of marrying by keeping her segregated from other young people at the mating time of life.

They will not let her go to parties or take part in the activities of the crowd. They consider her too young to have beaux under 25 or 30. They will not let boys come to see her at home, or permit her to go out with them, and they make her shy and man-conscious and awkward, and by the time her parents are ready for her to marry Cupid has passed by.

Other women do not marry because they are martyrs who sacrifice their own happiness to the good of their families.

They are bread-winners with the hungry mouths of old people or little children to feed, invalids to be taken care of, aged parents to be supported, and they are too noble to desert their posts, and too generous to lay their burden on any man's shoulders.

Many women do not marry not because they can't but because they won't. Mr. Right never comes along for them.

There are plenty of men they could get, but the one particular one they fancy does not fancy them and so they remain single rather than lower their ideals and put up with a makeshift husband.

Other women do not marry because nature did not make them hunters of men. They lack the daring and boldness to stalk down the man they want.

They never require the art of setting their traps. They never learn how to jolly and cajole men. Perhaps they are not willing to stoop to such arts and wiles, but they are the tricks by which women catch husbands.

But the chief reason why women who would like to marry are old maids is because they lack that mysterious come-hither look in the eye that from the beginning of time has made men get up and follow women, whether they had beauty or brains or worth, or not. And this gift, call it sex attraction, or it, or what you will, is a gift of the gods and no woman can make it for herself.

What then shall the woman who wants to marry do? Be a go-getter and remember that Heaven helps those who help themselves to husbands. If she is an unappreciated blessing in her own circle, she must move out of it. Very often the men a woman knows are so used to her charms and virtues that they have ceased to notice them, and she needs to go where men will get a new perspective on her. Many a girl who is a wallflower at home is a belle abroad, and look how many women marry comparative strangers.

She must go to some place where she will be brought into contact with many men. There is no profit in fishing a stream in which there is no fish. The business girl has a better chance than the society girl to get a good husband. And never forget that no man ever discovers a woman until she plants herself in his path so that he falls over her.

Of course, in another generation the woman who wants to marry a man will pop the question to him just as frankly as the man does to a woman now.

Then we will have no more old maids who are eating their hearts out in disappointment because men were such poor pickers that they didn't know a good thing when they saw it. Every woman who wants to will get married.

—DOROTHY DIX.

SOLONS RENEW OIL INQUIRY

Committee to Visit Salt Creek Fields

WASHINGTON, July 4. (US)—A senate public lands sub-committee will go to Wyoming next week preparatory to its investigation of the Salt Creek oil fields scandal, it was announced by Senator Gerald P. Nye, of North Dakota, its chairman.

The move is the first of a series of steps to be taken by senate committees in renewing the host of investigations ordered by the last session of congress.

The committee will first go to the national parks in the West on an inspection tour, after which the preliminaries of the Salt Creek probe will be gotten under way, Senator Nye explained.

The investigators will seek to determine whether fraud attended the leasing of valuable Salt Creek oil rights and at the same time will make a thorough investigation of the sale of $70,000,000 of Salt Creek royalty oil to the Sinclair Crude Oil Purchasing company.

Others Planned

With the political conventions ended, plans were being drawn today for the continuation of four other senatorial investigations. They are:

1. Inquiry into the New Jersey senatorial primaries campaign expenditures and practices during the recent contest in which Hamilton F. Kean was nominated as Republican candidate for the U. S. senate. This will be conducted by the Reed "slush fund" committee.

2. Investigation of the sinking of the submarine S-4, which was rammed by a coast guard cutter off Provincetown, Mass., last December. It will be handled by a subcommittee of the senate naval affairs committee.

3. Continuation of the probe of campaign activities of political parties in addition to the closing up of its study of the pre-convention expenditures of the Democratic and Republican nominees. Senator Steiwer, (R) of Oregon, is chairman of the special committee in charge of this inquiry.

4. Investigation of alleged "jobbing" in political offices in Georgia and other states, which will be handled by a subcommittee of the senate post offices and roads committee.

The actual work of carrying on these investigations probably will get under way within the next two weeks.

UTILITIES SONG READ IN COURT

Ditties Used to Express Power Viewpoint

WASHINGTON, July 4. (AP)—Song has been added to the list of mediums used by power utilities groups to express their viewpoint, with introduction today in the federal trade commission's investigation of utilities publicity methods of a songbook compiled by the Wisconsin Utilities association, for use at their meetings.

Comprised of numerous parodies of familiar airs, the booklet was described by John N. Gadby, secretary of the association, as intended "for public utility meetings." Several of the ditties were read by Robert E. Healy, counsel for the commission, during examination. One, marked to be sung to the tune of "Yes, We Have No Bananas," read:

"Yes, we've no excess profits,
No overgrown surplus today,
We've interest unceasing and taxes increasing
And all of the help to pay.
We've an old-fashioned commission
That holds rates down in precision,
But yes, we've no excess profits,
No overgrown surplus today."

Other mediums brought out previously in the investigation as used by the power utilities have included pamphlets, radio, college courses, school textbooks, moving pictures, editorials and amateur theatricals.

WILD TIGRESS BREAKS CAGE

Animal Slain by Museum Collector

JERSEY CITY, N. J., July 4. (AP) Girlie, a 500-pound untrained Singapore tigress, ripped away the steel bars of her cage in the wild animals building of Henry Bartels museum early today and roamed for several hours within the building, terrorizing scores of other animals and birds, before she was killed. George Bistany, big game hunter and collector for the New York Zoological society, shot the animal.

Walter Masert, youthful night caretaker, narrowly escaped the big beast after he discovered her attacking a camel.

Bartels is a dealer in wild animals. He said the tigress had always been very wild.

William Zuetell, 16, Pasadena, backs up his story with two witnesses.

Zuetell was sleeping in a camp near Pasadena, when suddenly he was awakened by the hot breath of a lion.

Too frightened to move, the youth lay in his bed while the lion licked his face and tore away the covers. But when the lion started to gnaw his head, Zuetell said he screamed.

Kenyon Devore and Glen Moore, forest ranger, Zuetell's companions, awoke and the lion roared and scampered off.

Zuetell was hurt slightly.

Jay Bruce, state lion hunter, got his lion, but in so doing lost the sight of one eye.

Bruce said he chased a giant mountain lion into a thicket and a broken twig flew into his eye. Despite the injury Bruce killed the lion.

"Sure, I'll continue to hunt lions. My sighting eye still is good," Bruce said.

The Day Book of a New Yorker

By CLARK KINNAIRD

NEW YORK, July 4.—Forty feet below the street surface level, resting upon the solid granite of Manhattan island, in the lowest basement floor of No. 24 Walker street, there is a clock which keeps perfect time. Other clocks just as perfectly made are capable of keeping perfect time. But few of them do it. Not pendulum clocks in New York city.

For the big town is too feverish. It has too much motion, too much blasting of subway and skyscraper excavations, too much rumbling of trains and auto travel. All this makes buildings vibrate. The Woolworth building sways. The Times Tower pivots an inch or two. So do other skyscrapers.

Upon this one clock New York is largely dependent for its correct time. It checks a similar clock higher up in the building from which the time is flashed instantaneously at stated intervals to 12,000 other clocks in New York city, keeping them as nearly precise as possible. This instrument also is hooked up with 104,000 other clocks in various parts of the country by telegraph wires. From it the correct time is flashed by radio stations to ships at sea.

The master clock itself is checked as the United States naval observatory by readings of the fixed stars.

New York, richest city in the world, naturally is the beggar's paradise. Police make continuous efforts to break up open solicitation by mendicants; but have an organized system of begging to cope with. This system is under the leadership of a man who assigns the panhandlers to their places and takes half of their collected alms. The leader is an able psychologist, and knows where the largest number of soft-hearted persons may be approached at any given time. He watches the newspapers carefully for opportunities to set his beggars loose upon generous crowds.

Recently a woman sued her husband for divorce, and revealed that he was a professional beggar with an income of more than $400 a week. A chauffeur drove him to "work" and called for him. Evenings, with an ingenious pair of artificial legs attached to the stumps which were his stock in trade, he was a big spender in the night clubs.

On upper Broadway a woman with a pitiful-appearing child pleads with after-theater crowds to buy pamphlets at 25 cents each. The pamphlets contain verse written by her husband, in which a plea is made for better treatment for women and children. Verse writing is the husband's sole occupation, I found out.

Another man was a celebrated singer in Russian opera. He was the favorite of a princess, and when the czaristic regime was overturned, fled with her to Paris. When the fortune was exhausted, he endeavored to become a star member of opera companies in Paris, Madrid and Brussels. They offered him minor roles. Proud, he refused them, and came to the United States. Opera companies here would not sign him; so he became a voice teacher. He had a way of bullying his male pupils and attempting to make love to his female ones, so he failed as a teacher. Now, his gray hairs died black, he is a chorus man in a musical comedy.

REGULARITY

I hope I can live like a Regular man;
With friends who are Regular, too;
And fight all the fights on a Regular plan,
And have things irregular few.
Let me know all the joys of humanity,
And also its regular woe;
Also give me my Regular sanity,
And happily on I will go.

Just give me a Regular span of life,
And with old-age's ease be blessed.
Up to the end, let me smile thru the strife,
With the knowledge that I've done my best.
And when I have finally reached the end,
When I've sailed on the Uncharted Sea,
Come and bid me adieu, my Regular friend;
Drop a Regular tear for me!

Dinner Stories

Sugar, Please

One of the best anecdotes about Professor Copeland, who is resigning from Harvard, is the following: One day he had occasion to reprove some of his students for coming late to class. "This is a class in English composition," he remarked, with sarcasm, "not an afternoon tea."

At the next meeting one young woman was 20 minutes late. Professor Copeland waited until she had taken her seat. Then he remarked bitingly, "How will you have your tea, Miss Brown?"

"Without lemon, please," Miss Brown answered, quite gently.

One-Minute Sermon

There be four things which are little upon the earth, but they are exceeding wise:
The ants are a people not strong, yet they prepare their meat in the summer;
The conies are but a feeble folk, yet make they their houses in the rocks;
The locusts have no king, yet go they forth all of them by bands;
The spider taketh hold with her hands, and is in kings' palaces.—Proverbs, xxx, 24-28.

We eat a dozen barrels of air annually, writes a well known physician in a current magazine. And some people store up their supply for years.

A blurb on the jacket of a recent book calls it "a search for an answer to the riddle of the universe." We were disappointed, though, as the book really doesn't say a thing about national political conventions.

What Senator Love Wants

FOR THE INFORMATION of doubting voters, it might be said that Senator Thomas B. Love would not have his Democratic friends bolt so far they won't be able to vote for him for lieutenant governor.

Logical Mr. Love

REPORTERS for news services seem to view with considerably more concern the bolting plan of Senator Thomas B. Love than will most Texans. In fact, some of the reportorial workers seem quite enthusiastic over Mr. Love's speech to "red-blooded Americans," in which the Dallas man is credited with a new slogan for all the Democrats opposed to Gov. Al Smith. "My party when it is right, some other party when mine is wrong," is said to be Mr. Love's slogan. It is to laugh at the Dallas senator. What he meant was, "My party when it is with me, and some other party when it isn't."

Senator Love's conception of democracy begins and ends on the basis of everyone agreeing with Senator Love. While there might have been a time in Texas when the Democratic party would accept his logic, experience has taught that while Mr. Love can never be wrong, the party as a whole may be quite right in refusing to follow where he leads.

The Backwoods Passes

THE GREAT army of American vacation seekers already is on the march. For the next two months and more, automobile loads of men, women and children will be leaving cities and towns daily, bound for relaxation in new scenes.

These motor parties will cover many thousands of miles. Hardly a county in the United States will fail to see some of them. Yet, for all this wandering far afield, hardly any of the motorists will see any real, old-fashioned "backwoods" country.

It wasn't many years ago that every state had its backwoods. The term didn't so much refer to actual forest lands; it meant isolated, thinly settled regions where the current of life was always half a century behind times—places where new ideas, new styles, new trends in thought and action, never penetrated until long years after the rest of the country had adopted them.

Such places are hard to find now. Go into the smallest village you can find. The chances are you will see girls dressed just as the girls dress in New York and Chicago. You will find people talking about the same things people in the big cities are discussing. They will know just as much about the news of the day as anyone. If you go prepared to apply the term "hick," you will find very, very little occasion to use it.

This change represents a greater revolution in our national life than we often realize. The old barriers of distance have broken down. No longer is Oklahoma a different world than New York. The frontier has passed, and with it have passed frontier ignorance, sectionalism and suspicion.

You will, now and then, meet people who deplore all of this. They talk of "standardization," as if it were some frightful curse. They feel that we have lost something in this new uniformity of culture. Better, in their eyes, were the old days when "backwoods" meant every place outside the limits of some city. Muddy country roads, cramped box-like school houses, kerosene lamps in unpainted farmhouses and ignorant, hemmed-in country folk—these seem to have some strange beauties in the eyes of the foes of standardization.

For the people directly involved, however—the people who actually live in the distant country regions—the thing looks different. No need to ask them whether automobiles, good roads, radios, movies, mail order houses and national magazines have made life easier and more pleasant. They know; and they would not go back to the old days.

Few things in recent American history are more significant than this passing of the backwoods.

REAL DEMOCRATS ARE SATISFIED

Senator Robinson, a dry Methodist whose meteroric rise in politics is second only to that of the "Man of Destiny" of New York, is a fitting running mate for the popular ticket head. Sectional differences are buried in the party leaders. The prohibition question is settled with a dry plank acceptable to all dry leaders and Smith placing himself squarely on this plank with a declaration Friday to enforce the law. What more could the Democrats want? Real Democrats will want nothing more and will go to the polls Democrats in November.

GO CUT YOUR WEEDS

One of the favorite pastimes of a certain type of person is to make fun of politicians, to deplore politics as a sordid, selfish pastime indulged in by narrow-gauged office seekers. Some of our politicians are not much to brag on, but compare the personnel of a national party convention with other gatherings where people come from all parts of the country and all walks of life and they won't look so bad. And if our political leaders are not what they ought to be, it is our fault, so when we make a cheap jest about politics and politicians we are doing nothing more nor less than insinuating that the American people are a lot of ignoramuses incapable of self-government. The vast majority of public men in America are sincere, capable citizens. If they play politics at times, they do nothing more than preachers, doctors, lawyers, business men and laborers in their own respective spheres. Some people are silly when they try to be funny. Paint your house and cut your weeds.

O. Henry Was Actor in "New" Story Of Fact Which Has Typical Ending

NEW YORK, July 4. (UP)—There is a new O. Henry story for the readers of O. Henry. It is not one of his best, for he did not write it; he was an actor in it; yet it was the O. Henry ending.

It is a love story, technically, though the love interest was never anything more than slender and is now not well authenticated. It is a boy-and-girl story, though O. Henry has been dead for nearly a generation, and the girl of the story has been a housewife and a church organist these 40 years.

The story is told in the current issue of a Texas magazine, Bunker's Monthly.

Poor Sheep Herder

In 1883 Will Porter, a slight, frail youth, came out from Greensboro, N. C., to Texas, with a hacking cough and a pharmacist's training. He became a sheep herder on the Hall brother's big ranch in LaSalle county. He was a poor sheep herder. He was an even worse horse wrangler and handy man. About all he could do completely was to ride 15 miles once a week to Fort Elwell for the mail.

In this spiritless errand he found, however, his first Texas inspiration. She was the niece of the storekeeper's wife, a dark-eyed girl named Clarence Crozier, and the shy and lonely Porter boy, who was later to command the highest prices for fiction of his literary generation, spent his slender means and even went in her uncle-in-law's debt to buy the knick-knacks which gave him an excuse to talk to her.

Within a few months the affair had ripened enngh to enable Clarence's sniffy aunt to find in her niece's album this chastened, not altogether original, tribute:

"Thy looks, thy words, each well remembered smile of light,
Like precious gems, or jewelled
caskets rare,
In memory's vault are hid from human sight.
And oft she counts them o'er
from year to year;
As misers count their golden coins
at night,
Or pale sweet nuns their rosaries
in prayer.
"Truly your friend,
"W. S. Porter.
"LaSalle Co., Texas, June 3, 1883."

Aunt Barters

This inoffensive effort, the aunt decided, was portentous of dangers. She resorted to bribery. The possessor of an elegant white ostrich plume long coveted by the niece, she bargained with Clarence to return to her home at Brenham, Texas, and forget the slender Carolina boy and to receive the plume in reward.

Clarence did her share. She married an estimable Brenham resident, R. A. Stuckert, and played every Sunday the church organ, and 35 years later, or thereabouts, she discovered, resentfully, that young Will Porter, who had abandoned LaSalle county and its sheep for an Austin drug store a few months after her departure, was this O. Henry fellow she'd heard about and that in his published letters to Dr. W. P. Beall at Greensboro was this reference to her:

Promise Unkept

"You are right. I have almost forgotten what a regular old, gum-chewing, ice cream-destroying, opera-ticket vortex, ivory-clawing girl looks like. Last summer a very fair specimen of this kind ranged over about Fort Snell (Fort Elwell), and I used to ride over twice a week on mail days and chew the end of my riding whip while she 'stood on the bridge,' and gathered up shells on the seashore,' and wore the 'golden slippers.' But she has vamoosed, and my ideas on the subject are again growing dim."

But that wasn't all that stirred Mrs. Stuckert's resentment. For it reminded her that her aunt never kept the promise about the white ostrich plume.

When A Girl Loves

© 1928 by NEA Service by RUTH DEWEY GROVES

THIS HAS HAPPENED

Nathaniel Dann is engaged to Virginia Brewster, whose father dies suddenly after losing his fortune. Niel begs her to marry him at once, but Frederick Dean and his daughter, Clarissa, persuade her to make her temporary home with them. This angers Niel for he suspects Dean's motives.

Virginia becomes unhappy in her new home and resolves to tell Niel her fears. But when she phones his studio late at night his model, Chiri, answers. This causes doubt and a lovers' quarrel which is later mended.

Hoping to get Niel out of the way, Dean has a company he controls offer him a high-salaried commercial position in San Francisco. Niel is overjoyed and begs Virginia to marry and go west with him. But she refuses to let him sacrifice his art study.

Virginia is involved in trouble with Clarissa when the latter's fiance, Russell Waingould, catches her unexpectedly in a half-drunken embrace. Clarissa accuses her of trying to marry money and Virginia resolves to leave the house immediately.

Now Go On With the Story

CHAPTER XIII

Did Dean believe, as Clarissa, that Virginia would throw Niel over for money?

Virginia swayed in dismay at the thought and put out a hand to steady herself. "No, no," she cried under her breath, "he couldn't! He knows how much I love Niel."

She struggled to put the shocking impression out of her mind, but memory mocked her. What about those fatherly caresses? Weren't they just a little warmer than they used to be? Merely sympathy, she tried to tell herself. But deep in her heart she knew differently...knew that something more than sympathy was the reason for the subtle change in Frederick Dean's manner toward her of late.

It could mean only one thing, reason insisted. Dean must have believed his attentions would be welcome. And if that was the way he felt about it, then he evidently judged her as his daughter did.

Virginia could not be insensible to this situation. She knew that father and daughter shared the same thought concerning her. And the knowledge roused in her an overwhelming impulse to show them both how mistaken they were. She no longer needed to draw upon her courage to face Dean. It had not been her intention to tell him what Clarissa had accused her of but now she wanted to do something, say something, to defend herself against their unjust estimation of her.

Her steps grew brisker as she moved up to the door and walked into the presence of the man she felt was her enemy.

"Come over here," he invited from a comfortable davenport. Virginia walked determinedly over, but as he rose to meet her she suddenly sat down in a chair a few feet away from him.

Dean reseated himself, folded up the newspaper he had been reading, and looked at her inquiringly. His first glance had shown him that she was agitated, perhaps angry, and caution prompted him to let her be the first to speak.

"I've come down to tell you that I shall pack my things and leave your house immediately," she said, plunging in without preliminaries.

"Why, my dear, what is the matter? Has something gone wrong?"

"It's hardly worth while discussing it in detail," Virginia declared firmly. "I think I've made a mistake in refusing to do as Nathaniel wishes and I'm going to live in a hotel until we can be married without improper haste."

Dean leaned forward, a touch of consternation written upon his aristocratically handsome features. "Do you realize what you are saying?" he asked in a voice that convinced Virginia he doubted her sincerity.

Her lips tightened until they were no longer the color of red roses and her chin lifted high from the delicate curve of her white throat.

"Perfectly," she said glacially, and stopped there.

"But you must have some reason, some explanation," the man expostulated. "Surely you can't throw my hospitality in my face in this manner simply because you feel you have made a mistake about your plans."

Virginia could not accept the charge of ingratitude and remain silent.

"Of course there is an explanation," she admitted defensively. "I've learned why Clarissa wished to have me here, and I've also discovered that my coming is misunderstood."

"By Clarissa? She is not the head of this house, let me remind you, Virginia." He smiled placatingly and his deep-set eyes glinted with eagerness.

"If Clarissa could misunderstand me others could do the same," Virginia remarked pointedly.

Dean's smile vanished instantly and his eyes appeared to become lost under his heavy eyelids. There was a pause in which Virginia's words seemed to hang in the air like bombshells about to explode. Dean broke the silence, speaking very gently.

"Won't you tell me all about it?" he asked. "I cannot always find excuses for Clarissa, but you see it is I and not she whom you are taking to task."

"I'm not taking anyone to task," Virginia denied; "but if you insist I'll have to tell you. Clarissa has a shameful idea that I would give up Niel if—if someone with more money wanted to marry me."

Dean almost permitted himself to smile again. "To Clarissa that would not be shameful, I'm afraid," he said. "Certainly she would never consider she was insulting you with that idea. She would call it the only thing to do, no doubt." His words held a note of regret and apology, but it struck Virginia that he was in complete accord with his daughter's views.

"It's the last thing I'd do," she stated emphatically.

"Oh come now, Virginia. You're in no state of mind to make decisions that will affect your whole life—perhaps make a mess of it. Be sensible and go up and dress for dinner. We're dining alone, I understand, and I assure you I shall enjoy it greatly. I'll speak to Clarissa tomorrow."

Virginia got up from her chair and Dean walked over to the door to open it for her. "Please understand that I am leaving at once," she told him positively.

For answer he closed the door again and put his back against it.

"You think you know what love is," Dean sneered. "Why, you haven't even tasted life yet."

"Are you really in earnest?" he queried unbelievably.

His doubt of her sincerity angered Virginia still further.

"Do you think I would remain here where no one seems to care anything about loyalty or—or even love?" she flamed at him.

"But how do you know that no one here cares about love?" Dean retorted instantly. "I imagine there's a love so obsessing that you've never dreamed of it," he went on excitedly. "What do you know about passion or desire? Have you ever yearned with every fibre in your body to fulfill your dreams? You're too young to know what it's like to feel starved, to want to live again, to get back your youth." He stopped, panting a little and slightly flushed.

Virginia's eyes were fastened upon him in something akin to terror. His outburst of emotion was like a series of electric shocks to her, shaking her and filling her with apprehension.

"Please—open the door," she begged, hardly above a whisper.

"Not yet," he refused; "not until I tell you something more about love, my cold one." He came toward her and Virginia stepped back to escape his outstretched hands. She looked beyond him at the door but he was still too near it for her to get past him.

"Don't be alarmed," he said, observing her fright. "I shall do nothing but talk to you and as you have expressed your opinion of me and Clarissa you must be fair enough to hear what I have to say."

Virginia retreated another step. This brought her to a chair and she sank into it helplessly.

"You think you know what love is," Dean sneered. "Why, you haven't even tasted life yet. And you're willing to let a foolish infatuation for a young upstart rob you of your birthright, the only kind of life you know how to live. I hoped you would come to your senses in time and get rid of him, but since matters have been precipitated by Clarissa's blundering you might as well know that I intended to offer you a chance to live as you were reared, in luxury, before you could marry that jackanapes."

"Oh, you are even worse than I thought," Virginia cried furiously. "I guessed you must think I'd listen to such a horrid proposal, but I never dreamed that you would make it."

"Then you must be a trifle thick, my dear," Dean returned smoothly, not at all offended. "For it isn't so absurd as you seem to think. You are the prettiest girl I know, and a charming one. I'm bored with smart women who hunt big game in the Social Register. And you've lost a fortune. That puts each of us in need of the other. It's perhaps a little drawback that I'm not your age, but nothing is perfect in this world, and I assure you I've had younger girls than you are literally thrown at my head by mothers I've known since their debuts."

He stood before her now, his ease of manner completely restored and his voice back to its normal, agreeable accents. He even permitted a smile to rest lightly upon his thin-cut lips.

"You and Clarissa both seem to have suffered at the hands of fortune hunters," Virginia said scornfully. "But if you find it so easy to buy what you want—a wife that is young and pretty—why have you chosen to insult me with the offer?"

"Because, my dear, you are more than young and pretty. You're something that I want above all else in the world. You see, you have the power to stir my imagination," he added candidly.

Virginia flushed painfully under the direct gaze he sent upon her. Her temples throbbed with the rush of blood to her head and she was conscious for the first time in her life that desire could be degrading.

"I wouldn't marry you if I were starving," she cried, jumping to her feet. Dean let her get to the door before he answered.

"But I think you would to redeem your father's honor," he said slowly.

THOUSANDS SEE AIRPORT FETE

Air Notable Present At Luncheon

Houston and were national guard planes. With these ships were Lieutenants E. T. Showalter, L. A. Smith and Justin Aldridge, and Sargeants W. H. McMath and F. G. Griffo.

C. W. Cahoon Jr., president of the airport, was in charge of the ceremonies at the field which was inspected by a large gathering of notables of Wichita Falls and West Texas.

Sheriff W. G. Bralley and his deputies, and six city policemen from Wichita Falls were at the field, but there was little need of them as the crowd was one of the most orderly ever to gather for an aviation meet.

Panhandle Band Plays

The Panhandle band played earlier in the day at the inucheon given the fliers and out of town visitors at the Wichita club, and at the other events. Charles I. Francis, president of the chamber of commerce, presided at the luncheon and Mayor J. W. Akin of Wichita Falls and M. J. Norrell, chamber of commerce manager at Dallas, made the principal speeches.

Visiting flyers were called upon to speak as was C. W. Cahoon, president of the airport.

Field Lauded

The wisdom of the choice of the field was stressed by R. L. Dobie, air mail pilot, who said, "I wish to congratulate you on the man or men who picked this airport. The extreme wisdom of your choice in fields will be seen in the near future."

Lieutenant Edgar Cheatle who spoke for the army fliers said the field was one of the best he had seen anywhere. "It is large enough for a formation of bombing planes to light all at one time, and it is lighted for night flying," he said. "The arrow along with the sign on the City National bank down town is a great aid in finding the field. The hangar is perfect and is not surpassed by any for its ability to accommodate large ships."

Expansion Planned

President Cahoon said that the airport here now is just a start and that the city must keep looking ahead. "We are just started and we cannot stop now," Mr. Cahoon said. "We have gained a place on the air map, and we must now work to make that place a big place of the air that will be known from coast to coast."

Dr. S. S. McKenney pronounced the invocation, and President Francis introduced the speakers.

Mr. Norrell of Dallas gave an inspirational talk on the commercial value of aviation.

Mayor Akin visioned the practical future of flying when ships would rise vertically and take a greater place in modern life.

Those attending the luncheon included the crews of the ships already named, Mr. Norrell, Dr. McKenney, Mayor Akin, Mr. Owen, Mr. Cahoon, Mr. Francis, City Manager George D. Fairtrace, J. W. Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Hall of Electra, F. M. Powers of Archer City, True Strong, John R. Miller and L. Z. Cone of Nocona, J. E. Blaine of Dallas, R. O. White and C. E. Burke of Iowa Park, Rodney Crossman and J. H. Hott of Fort Worth, H. B. Leitzell of Electra, George A. Long of Vernon, A. J. Langford of Dallas, J. F. Dexter of Dallas, Merle Gruver of Olney, H. G. Bell of Archer City, Ed Roberts of Lawton, Okla., J. S. Beauchamp and W. F. Cox of Dallas, H. W. Stroud of Lawton, and L. K. Hyer of Archer City.

World's Coldest Job, Says Guide

Shows Visitors Ice-Walled Caves on Mountain Peak

"If I ever quit my job I'll quit it cold,' says the droll young man who spends a large part of his working day in a cave, with walls, ceiling and floor of solid ice many feet thick. This man is the custodian of the famous ice caverns on the peak of Mount McClellan in Colorado.

Daily, during the summer, sightseers are brought by trainload from Denver over perhaps the most remarkable railroad in the world. The more than 14,000 feet altitude is reached by the train over its famous "switch back" roadbed; ascending steep grades as far as possible and switching back on level to start again on the next grade, and so on until the summit is reached.

This trip, including the Georgetown loop, in itself a great thrill, costs but a nominal sum. Low summer rates to Denver, also over the Direct Fort Worth & Denver Road, are attracting thousands to Colorado's sights this year according to passenger officials of this popular route to the Rockies.—Adv.

FIND "FRIEND IN NEED"

Mother and Daughter Praise Vegetable Compound

Johnson City, N. Y.—"My daughter was only 20 years old, but for two years she worked in misery. She was all run-down, nervous, had aches and pains and no appetite. I was taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound with good results so she decided to try it. Before she had taken two bottles her appetite was better, she was more cheerful and was able to work. I cannot praise your medicine too highly. It is wonderful for mothers and for daughters. It's purely 'a friend in need.'"—Mrs. L. E. Hall, 223 Floral Avenue, Johnson City, N. Y.

German Socialists Try To Abolish Death Penalty

BERLIN, July 4. (US)—"Death to the death penalty." "The ancient headsman and guillotine both must go."

This in effect is the aim and purpose of the new German government headed by Hermann Mueller, Socialist.

Most of the German states use the French guillotine to execute criminals sentenced to death, but Prussia, except in the Rhineland, still has the medieval block, axe and dreaded headsman. The block is somewhat different from that of the time of Henry VIII in that it is six feet long and painted red instead of black.

MISS SUGAR IN ZOO THIS WEEK

Elephant To Be Received With Shipment

Plans are being made at the Wichita Falls municipal zoo in Scotland park for the reception of "Miss Sugar," the trick elephant which is due to arrive in the city from the Horn Zoological gardens in Kansas City the end of the week, according to C. C. Bunnenberg, superintendent of parks.

Original plans were to ship "Miss Sugar" on Monday. She would have been here by this time but for the possibility of shipping an entire carload of animals for the zoo at the same time. It cost no more for a carload than for one elephant, so it was decided to try to include the other animals at this time.

A pair of laughing hyenas, a pair of sun bears, a pair of lions and a pair of kangaroos are among those animals which have tentatively been promised. Final action on these animals probably will be taken locally Thursday, so that Miss Sugar and her carmates can be shipped Friday.

Miss Sugar will travel by express as the ordinary freight trains are not her kind, Mr. Bunnenberg said. This elephant is a trickster who will stand on an inverted half barrel, will roll over a man without hurting him and will stand on one leg while waving the other three in the air.

Hoover Makes Fourth Complete Holiday

WASHINGTON, July 4. (AP)—Secretary Hoover made the Fourth a complete holiday, abandoning all official and political work, seeing only a few personal friends in the way of callers, and taking a short automobile ride. There were prospects in sight for considerable activity from him for the balance of the week, and he took opportunity today for complete relaxation.

League of Nations Draws Model Peace Treaty

LOST AVIATOR BACK ON SHIP

Russian Airman Returns After Four Days

KINGS BAY, Spitzbergen, July 4. (UP)—Soviet Aviator Babushkin, lost for four days, returned to the Russian ice breaker Maligin this morning, according to a message received tonight from the Maligin.

Babushkin reported that after he left the Maligin to search for the crew of the dirigible Italia he encountered a heavy fog and was forced to land in open water.

He and his two companions fought a terrific battle with the ice to prevent the airplane being crushed.

Ice Prevents Rescue

VIRGO BAY, Spitzbergen, July 4. (UP)—Pack-ice barriers today prevented rescue of Capt. Einaar-Paal Lundborg and five men of the dirigible Italia's crew by the Russian ice ships Krassin and Maligin, which had arrived almost within sight of the marooned men.

The Krassin, approaching Cape Leigh from the northwest, and the Maligin, coming from the southwest caught in the ice and were unable to advance.

Lundborg and his companions had drifted on a melting ice floe to a position approximately 19 miles east of Foyn island.

Swedish airplanes undertook futile reconnoitering flights.

The Maligin had bene drifting steadily in a southwestern direction near Hope island.

The Krassin reported encountering enormous ice blocks through which it was impossible to penetrate.

Four Swedish airplanes, a Moth, a Fokker, and two hydroplanes, were ready today to attempt to rescue Lundborg and the Italians.

Lundborg sent a wireless message to his wife upon the occasion of her birthday:

"Best greetings and au revoir until shortly."

The Krassin was reported attempting to proceed west and north toward Seven islands, then eastward. The weather was windy and foggy.

$2,500,000 Donated In Memory of Aviatrix

LONDON, July 4. (US)—A magnificient donation of $2,500,000 to the national exchequer has been made by Lord and Lady Inchcape in memory of their daughter, the Hon. Elsie Mackay, who perished in her attempt to fly across the Atlantic. Chancellor of the Exchequer Churchill quietly made the announcement today in the house of commons, where it came as a great surprise, though it caused little comment.

Jimmy Follows Crowd To Beach in Heat

LOS ANGELES, July 4. (US)—Just to show how utterly democratic he really is, Mayor Jimmy Walker didn't do a thing today but what thousands of Los Angeles citizens did.

He spent the day at the beach! He didn't go there early, though. Mayor Walker doesn't get up early, usually, and right now when he's resting from a strenuous time at Houston and a trip across the continent, he's getting up even later than that.

American Prevented From Entering Russia to See Mother May Protest

NEW YORK, July 4. (US)—After a trip of 7000 miles Gregory Kalenin of Morristown, N. J., today revealed that soviet authorities had refused to permit him to cross the Russian border to visit his aged mother.

Kalenin arrived on the Leviathan with his wife, Germaine, and their eight-year-old son, George. Indignant at the incivility shown him, Kalenin said that he is going to protest to Washington.

He said that he was born in Russia but had come to this country and is a naturalized citizen. He had not seen his aged mother in 20 years and, he said, with proper passports and letters, took his wife and son to Riga in Latavia.

Here he said he was halted by soviet agents who "scoffed" at his American passports. He said that the American consulate informed him that because of "reprisals against Americans his passports would not be recognized." Appeals to Moscow and Washington, he said, failed. Kalenin declared that he would "never leave the United States again."

Lake Crowd Scatters as Giant Box Of Holiday Fireworks Explodes

The fireworks "went up" at Lake Wichita Wednesday night in more ways than one, according to those enjoying the evening at the pavilion.

The man setting off the fireworks was lighting one of the giant rockets. One did not go off on time, and he approached it nervously. He hesitated, holding his torch behind him.

Then things and fireworks, began to happen. The crowds in the pavilion scattered. One woman lost her purse. Several fainted. The crowds evaported.

In some manner, a light from the torch is said by merrymakers to have ignited the big box of fireworks after the fashion of the funny paper cartoons. The crowd took it in good humor, for the excitement was said to have more than compensated for the loss of the artificial thrill the box of rockets and Roman candles would have produced.

Accidents And Heat Kill Many

university student, were drowned in the DesPlaines river when a canoe capsized. Two others managed to swim to safety.

Youths Drown

Raymond Edwards, 21, and Austin Holt, 18, lost their lives when a swift current in the Fox river, swept their canoe over a dam near Elgin, Ill.

A heavy thundershower early today in Chicago promised relief from the heat but a warm sun increased the humidity and brought added suffering to those who could not attend outings.

Every Chicago beach was crowded to capacity and highways leading to resorts in Wisconsin, Michigan and Indiana were jammed with automobiles taking families and parties away from the heat of the city. Public golf links and country clubs furnished recreation for thousands of others, while nearby picnic grounds, it was estimated, were visited by 40,000 persons during the day.

Four Denver Deaths

DENVER, Colo., July 4. (UP)—An automobile truck carrying 11 school children on a holiday picnic in the mountains west of Denver plunged from a road in Deer creek canyon late today. One boy, Joe Finnell, 15, was killed, two were seriously injured and the other children were cut and bruised.

The accident brought the holiday death toll in this section to four.

William Robinson, 19, was drowned in the North St. Vrain river while on a picnic with his grandparents.

Mrs. Rose Thornton, 35, wife of a Denver financier, died as the result of an automobile accident while returning from a mountain trip and Mrs. C. H. Hinds, 35, wife of an Odell, Neb., banker, succumbed to injuries after her car had gone in a ditch near Beatrice, Neb.

Eleven persons were injured in other automobile mishaps throughout Colorado.

Heat Prostration

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 4. (UP) One death due to heat prostration was the only fatality in Kansas City on a Fourth of July that was spent at the beaches or at home in an effort to keep cool.

At Beaumont, Texas, Casper Alexander, airplane pilot, was killed and a student aviator, Fred O. Mitchell, dangerously injured, when their plane crashed at the Beaumont municipal airfield.

The day's casualties in Kansas City, as listed by the hospitals, included: One heat prostration, six injured in auto accidents, two of these probably fatally, and five treated for injuries due to fireworks.

Aged Man Victim

George Wells, 60, was the only death due to the heat today. With his death, the toll of the present heat wave was brought to three in Kansas City.

The entire southwest sweltered in intense heat that kept thermometers in the upper 90's. Temperature readings around and above the 100 mark were recorded at several Texas points. There is slight possibility of relief tonight through light thundershowers. Otherwise it will be partly cloudy and continued warm tonight and Thursday.

With the continuation of the heat, the fourth day of the present wave, Kansas farmers spent a busy Fourth in the fields, cutting the wheat. The harvest was in full swing today and 200 cars of grain moved into Kansas City today.

Deaths on Coast

SAN FRANCISCO, July 4. (UP) Holiday tragedies cost seven lives on the Pacific coast.

Mrs. A. L. Yoakley and her daughter, Pauline, 5, were drowned when their automobile plunged into a river at Reedsport, Ore.

Robert Richards, golf club employe, was killed when struck by an automobile at Portland, Ore.

At Seattle, Wash., Amortee O'Brien, 20, a school teacher, committed suicide because of holiday lonesomeness.

Mrs Dolores Rodriguez was killed in an automobile accident at Pomona, Cal.

Two sailors from the U. S. S. West Virginia, H. D. Cook and H. E. Hale, were drowned when their launch collided with a tanker at San Pedro.

Limited Crashes

SAN FRANCISCO, July 4. (UP) Filled with holiday travelers, the Southern Pacific's Shore Line limited crashed into a freight train at the Bay Shore yards, south of here today. The engineer and fireman were reported to be dying and a score of passengers were injured.

New England's Toll

BOSTON, July 4. (UP)—Bathing accidents took a toll of six lives in New England today, while two persons were killed in motorcycle accidents.

Casualties from "night before" celebrations early today included the stabbing of three persons in a melee at Lowell, Mass., while several persons received injuries in motor accidents.

At Nuttings Lake, Billerica, Mass., Miss Helen Lucas, 16, of Chelsea, Mass., lost her life by drowning, carrying James Riley of Cambridge, who attempted to save her, to death with her.

Bernard Erman, 17, of Roxbury, was drowned at Sharon, Mass., while James Carter, 25-year-old junior at University of New Hampshire, lost his life in the college pond.

Three Air Victims

JOLIET, Ill., July 4. (AP)—Three were killed today when a wing crumpled on a commercial plane as it looped the loop at a 1500-foot altitude. The dead are Bernard Harms, licensed pilot; John W. Parks, 33, and John Blessing, 14.

Thousands See Crash

WHITING, Ind., July 4. (US)—While thousands of persons watched the stunting of an airplane at the municipal picnic today, the plane crashed into a telephone pole and was demolished. Herbert Johnson, 27, the pilot, was perhaps fatally injured. None of the crowd was hurt.

Society Woman Burned

LOS ANGELES HARBOR, July 4. (US)—Mrs. Robinson Carr Locke, 22, prominent in society, was seriously burned today in a gasoline explosion aboard her husband's yacht in Los Angeles harbor. Joseph Rosburg, a mechanic, was also injured. They were rushed to a hospital at San Pedro.

Mrs. Locke before her marriage was Miss Eleana Verana, daughter of the Italian consul at Providence, Rhode Island.

Moody Opens His Campaign

two years ago, again endeavoring to take hold of our government," he said.

"That force held it by proxy then, and it runs and seeks to hold it by proxy now. All of the flatteries and arts of the demagogue, all of the frauds of the quack, and all the snares and deceit of the political mountebank are being presented to the people of Texas in the hope that Jim Ferguson may again run riot in the highest office of the land. This the people should know that they may leave him in the depths to which his demerit has taken him."

Improvements in the functioning of the highway commission in Texas, and the efforts to build more durable highways, were outlined at length. During the last 18 months, he said, the department has placed under construction 396 miles of concrete road; 319 miles of bituminous hard surfaced roads; 756 miles of grading and drainage structures; 64 miles of graveled highways; and 1,056.7 miles of asphalt highway. Construction work involving $19,930,145.24 has been inaugurated, he said, adding that "more of all-weather highway have been built in the last 18 months than in any like period in the history of the state."

The public school system, has likewise been better supported during the last administration, the governor pointed out, reviewing that "the children of Texas received last year, and will receive next year, a $15 per capita apportionment, which the school authorities have long asked, but never before received. This means," he said, "a million and a half more for the public schools this year and next."

"Institutions of higher learning," he continued, "have been better supported than before, and the best opportunities possible have been given the young people of Texas to receive college and university training. Where buildings and new equipment were needed as the demands of higher education have increased, they were furnished." The governor reviewed the recent text book law requiring that the state purchase text books at a wholesale price.

Launching into the business end of the government, Gov. Moody pointed out that in all probability the ad valorem tax rate would be reduced next year, as it was reduced during the last two years, to a point far below the rates which prevailed in the last administration.

"If it is lower," he said, "the state ad valorem rate for the two years of this administration will be from 10 to 15 cents below that of the previous administration. I feel confident that the state ad valorem tax rate for this two years will be the lowest rate the state has had under any administration since that of Gov. Campbell, which terminated in 1910."

Gov. Moody spoke of the improvements in the matter of handling appropriations, and after outlining the reawakening of the life of the prison system dwelt with the subject of law enforcement and the machinery of the judiciary.

"The enforcement of the law," he said, "has been substantially improved. In January, 1927, there were approximately 3,000 inmates in the state penitentiary, and yesterday's report shows the prison population to be 4,800. I will admit that a good deal of this increase is due to the fact that I have not been pardoning people wholesale and at random, but at the same time the per cent of convictions has become greater. The refusal to recklessly and wantonly pardon criminals from the penitentiary has stimulated the activity of the sheriffs and prosecuting attorneys throughout the sttae. The population of the prison system has been greater, and yet the cost of operation has been less."

That a better and more comprehensive system of bank examination has been inaugurated is pointed out, the governor said, by the fact that only three banks in the state system have failed and been placed in liquidation since the present banking commissioner took office.

G. O. P. Plans Gigantic New York Campaign

NEW YORK, July 4. (US)—The most intensive campaign the Republican party ever has waged in this state on a presidential year is being planned by Republican leaders in the hope of preventing the state's electoral vote from going to Governor Smith.

These campaign plans, it was learned today, call for the importation into this state for speech making purposes of all of the best orators in the Republican national organization. The array which will be poured into the state for spellbinding purposes will include United States senators of both liberal and conservative shades of opinion, and probably cabinet members.

"Alone, defenseless in the face of the attorney's terrible charges, it seemed her hurt, crushed heart could bear no more. Was this the reward of true and loyal love? Were self-sacrifice and devotion only a hollow mockery?" (From "The No-Account Girl," August True Story Magazine).

They called her a soulless "gold-digger" but—

Do you remember the sensational breach of promise suit instigated a few years ago by a humble flower-girl against her young millionaire lover and his wealthy mother?

Certainly no girl, cringing in piteous terror under the lash of cross-examination, ever strove more desperately to answer the ugly charges hurled at her by a grim and merciless opposing counsel.

"Gold-digger! Blackmailer!" her persecutor shouted, "A woman without a shred of honor! A shameless creature who makes a mock of marriage—who loves nothing but money and the luxury money can buy!"

Money! They thought she wanted money! As if money could ever buy back the priceless happiness that had been snatched from her by trickery!

But when, in a voice broken by sobs, she told her pitiful story—the story of her poor little romance that now was dead—men hardened to sorrow wiped their eyes furtively—women in the courtroom wept aloud.

Then came that sudden and dramatic conclusion. An unexpected witness appeared and in ten word hurled into the tense silence of the crowded court-room a veritable bombshell.

Most people, stunned by the unexpected outcome of the trial, dismissed the matter as finished when the principals in the tragedy vanished from the public eye. Even today few suspect the true history of events behind that tremendous drama of intrigue, suffering and deathless love.

But now, the entire story has been told by the girl who was the central figure in that amazing drama. Told in words that will bring tears to your eyes—tears of joy, of sorrow, of sympathy. Don't miss this throbbing narrative from life, "The No-Account Girl," in August True Story Magazine.

Straight-from-the-Heart Stories of Life

How many stories lie hidden in the heart of men and women—stories that ordinarily they do not tell! What a sensation they might create if they were to reveal the secrets they guard so jealously.

But sometimes, in their desire to help others, men and women find courage to disclose their experiences, hiding only their identities under fictitious names. These stories, told straight from the heart, fascinate, thrill, inspire, as mere fiction can never do. Sometimes these revelations startle with their frankness, but they never fail to carry a helpful message.

Each month True Story Magazine prints from 14 to 16 of these absorbing true-life narratives—faithful records of struggle, self-sacrifice, defeat and triumph that fairly throb with the dramatic power of reality. August True Story is a splendid example. Your newsdealer has it. Get your copy today.

SPUDDERS END LONG ROAD TREK BY DIVIDING WITH PANTHERS

WITCHES MAKE NINE MISPLAYS

Timely Hitting and Steengrafe Cop Nightcap

FORT WORTH, Texas, July 4.—The Wichita Falls Spudders concluded a highly successful road trek here today and left for home by bus tonight, closely trailing the Houston Buffs. While the Spudders were dividing a holiday bill with the Cats the Buffs won a pair and went back into the lead, but the margin of the champions is only by one game and the Galloways open a long home stand tomorrow.

The Cats won the opener today, 8 to 1 and the Spudders took the final, 8 to 3. As may be deduced by the scores, both pastimes were one-sided. Jimmy Walkup pitched brilliantly in the first game while the Cats pounded Payne and Kiefer for 10 hits. Worse than that was atrocious fielding by the Spudders, who made five infield errors.

Lamb and Kiefer each hit twice, both of Lyman's drives going for doubles. Roetz smacked a homer in the first inning for the Spudders' only run.

The nightcap was a reptition of the opener, except that the shoe, or shoes, were on the other foot, or feet. Milt Steengrafe pitched effectively and although yielding nine blows to eight by his comrades, kept the knocks scattered. Too, the Spudders hammered old man Joe Pate for five runs in the first inning and with that lead it was just a breeze for Milton.

Spudders Make Nine Errors

The Spudders contributed four errors in this seven-inning contest, completing about the worst defensive exhibition seen here by one club in a day's play for quite a spell.

Lamb again shared batting honors, this time with Doc Smith. Lyman and the former Cat catcher each maced two blows of the Spudders' eight.

Roetz' homer over the left field wall in the first inning of the opener gave the Spudders a lead until the second, when Shinners doubled to left and scored on Bonowitz' single to center and Richardson's forceout of Bonowitz.

Three hits and three errors helped the Cats tally six in the third. Roetz booted Walkup's grounder. Payne tossed out Moore. Swenson fumbled Ramage's grounder. Roetz dropped Turgeon's toss on Riley's grounder, Walkup scoring. Shinners singled, scoring Ramage. Kibbie skied to Lamb. Bonowitz singled, Riley scoring. Richardson and Cobb walked, Shinners scoring. Walkup doubled past third, Bonowitz and Richardson tallying. Kiefer relieved Payne and Joe hurled well, allowing only one run, that in the eighth.

Cobb singled and was forced by Walkup. Moore singled and Ramage doubled, Walkup scoring.

Spuds Score Five in First

The Panthers treated Joe pretty tough with loose support in the start of the nightcap and the Spuds scored five runs. Roetz walked. Turgeon bunted and Pate threw wild. Fitzgerald bunted and again Pate threw wild, to third, filling the bases. Lamb beat out a bounder to third, Roetz scoring. Jenkins walked, Turgeon scoring. Swenson grounded to Kibbie, Fitzgerald scoring. Stanton popped to Kibbie. Smith's grounder rolled through Kibbie, Lamb and Jenkins scoring.

Fort Worth scored one in its half on doubles by Riley and Shinners.

The Spudders tallied in the second. Roetz singled but was out trying to score on Turgeon's double. Lamb's single scored Turgeon.

The Cats tallied in the fourth, Shinners and Kibbie singled and Roetz fumbled Bonowitz' grounder, filling the bases. Lamb muffed Richardson's fly, Shinners scoring.

Wichita Falls tallied two in the fifth. Jenkins singled, stole second and went to third on Swenson's infield hit. Jenkins was out on Stanton's bunt. Smith doubled, scoring Swenson and Stanton.

Atz' men scored the final run of the hectic p. m. in the seventh. Bischoff was safe on Swenson's wild throw. Cobb batted for Goff and forced Bischoff. Moore singled, Cobb going to second. Ramage forced Moore. Riley doubled, Cobb scoring.

BRITISH GOLFERS WIN

FLUSHING, N. Y., July 4. (UP)—Archie Compston and Aubrey Boomer, British professionals, defeated Johnny Farrell, open golf champion of the United States, and Gene Sarazen, one up, in an 18-hole exhibition foursome here today.

A woman injured by falling debris during repairs to a dry goods store sued for a sum which was exorbitant.

The merchant's heavy expenses for litigation over a period of many months, plus damages, were entirely covered by insurance.

Further, the case was handled from start to finish by "Hartford," saving the assured time and annoyance.

SPUDS RETURN TO OWN FIELD

Galloways Home Today For 16-Day Stand

Our Spudders are home today. Completing a road trek that opened June 19 and extended into the start of the second half, the Wichita Falls athletes return to their own bailiwick today, in the thick of the fight for the second half championship.

The Spuds are to pastime 16 days, with 17 games scheduled on this stand. Shreveport Sports are here for four days starting today, including a double header Sunday. The Sports are followed by the Dallas Steers, July 9 and 10; Houston, July 11 and 12; Beaumont, July 13, 14 and 15; San Antonio, July 16, 17 and 18, and Waco, July 19 and 20.

Today's game will mark the first appearance here in Spudder regalia of three gentlemen who formerly wore livery of hostile clubs, and who now are doing their bit, as they used to say, to help along the cause of our nine. They are Jim Galloway, who assumed the management of the club on its first day on the trek which ended yesterday; Bill Shores, pitcher, who pastimed so well for Waco last season and is with the Spudders on option through the kindness of Mr. Cornelius McGillicuddy, better known in the baseball blue book as Connie Mack, and Doc Smith, the catcher acquired from Fort Worth in the deal that sent Joe Cobb to the Cats.

Just to remind the patrons, if reminder is needed after their long absence, from Athletic park, the week-day games start at 4 o'clock and the Sunday contests are called at 3.

Ritt's Riticisms

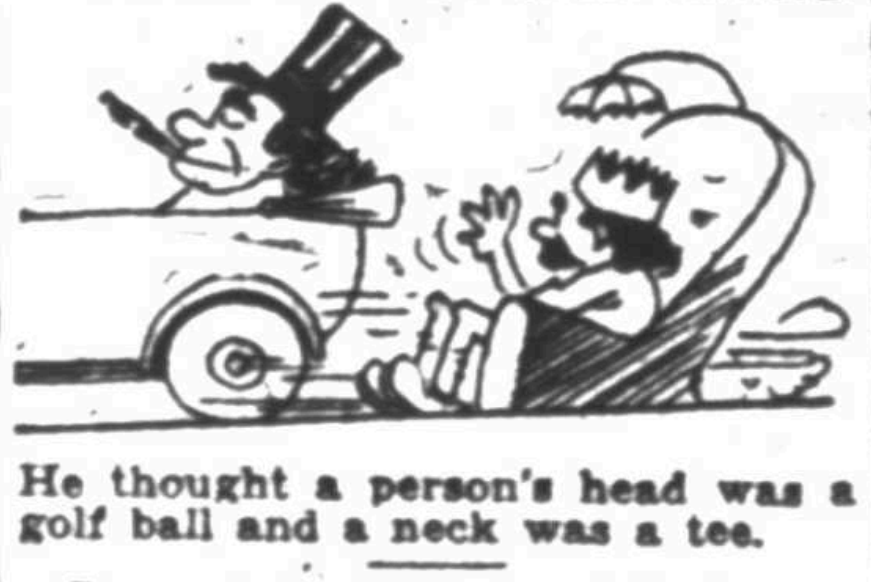
By BILL RITT

The greatest golfer in history was a fellow named Samson. He won the national open 5000 years ago.

Samson had one great illusion.



He thought a person's head was a golf ball and a neck was a tee.

Sam used only one club, but it was effective. It consisted of the lower bridge work of an ex-mule.

Between tournaments Samson kept in practice by winning a war or two for his country. The king always kept Samson completely mobilized and his mashie-niblick was subject to draft.

But the king was afraid that some day Samson might forget which side he was on and mistake his majesty's crown for a divot.

However, Samson was more proud of his beard than his golf score. He made good money doubling for cornfields in the movies.

Samson's wife got stylish one day and gave him a bob. It threw him off his game so that in the next match he sliced a three-inch putt and retired.

SCHALK QUITS AS SOX PILOT

Lena Blackburne Is Named Temporary Manager

CHICAGO, July 4. (AP)—Ray Schalk today joined the procession of those who have tried to manage the Chicago White Sox, and gave up the task.

Before today's double header with the St. Louis Browns, "Cracker" advised Charles Comiskey, the club president, that he was through. Schalk explained that the team was being built around young men, and for the good of the organization he believed another manager should be named.

Optimistic Hopes Fade

Lena Blackburne, veteran infielder, an assistant coach under Schalk, temporarily was named manager.

Schalk succeeded Eddie Collins as manager of the Chicago Americans last year. His team finished the season in fifth place. When the Sox went south to train last winter the south side fans were optimistic that the team would be in the race this year. Until a few days ago it was in the cellar. Now it is seventh.

With Sox Since 1912

After returning to the ranks Schalk went out to catch young Ed Walsh, son of the veteran White Sox pitcher, in his major league debut. Schalk was for years a battery mate of the youth's father. Young Ed was a graduate from Notre Dame last month.

Schalk, the oldest American league catcher in point of service, has been with the Sox since 1912. He came to Chicago from Milwaukee of the American association. All his major league experience has been with the south side team. Schalk first played baseball around Litchfield, his home, in the Central Illinois coal field.

Mat Title At Stake Monday

Match Here to Determine Junior Middle Crown

Two champions on one card—Something that has never been offered before to Wichita Falls wrestling and boxing fans will be presented Monday night at Spudder park by Alec Ross.

Gus Kellio, who won the junior middleweight wrestling title in Madison Square garden, will meet Joe Parelli, "the rough and tough boy" in a finish match under New York commission rules with the junior middleweight title at stake. Kellio has met and trimmed Jack Reynolds, Billy Hallas, Waino Ketonen, Johnny Carlin and Yaqui Joe. He won one bout from Parelli and in another the police officials of Indianapolis stopped the match after the two mat "artists" had grappled for four hours without a fall.

Private Walker, light heavyweight champion of the United States army, will hook up in a boxing match with Dempsey Moore, who recently turned professional after a successful "campaign" as an amateur. The bout will go 10 rounds.

As a preliminary, K. O. Shorty will take on Kid Tidwell for six rounds.

9440 SEE STEERS DIVIDE

DALLAS, July 4. (AP)—After dropping the opener, 3 to 2, in a battle that marked Blankenship's second defeat since donning a Dallas uniform, the Steers came back to win for Robertson, 4 to 0, in the nightcap and got an even break in the twin bill with Shreveport. The attendance, 9440, was the largest at the local lot since opening day of the first half season.

Inability of the Steers to hit Dickerman in the pinches while the visitors put on two rallying innings cost the first game.

Robertson turned in his second good game since joining the Mavs and registered his first victory in the nightcap, holding the Sports to four scattered raps. Score:

LACOSTE VICTOR OVER TILDEN IN FIVE SETS AT WIMBLEDON

RENE'S ATTACK BAFFLES BILL

American Weakens After Early Lead

ROBERT C. DOWSON

WIMBLEDON, England, July 4. (UP)—America's Independence day was featured by the defeat of America's greatest tennis played on the famous Center court at Wimbledon this afternoon, William T. Tilden II of Philadelphia, captain of the United States Davis cup team, losing to Rene La Coste, swarthy little Frenchman, in a five-set semi-final match.

"Big Bill," although he nearly carried off the match in three sets, lacked the stamina to stick with his stocky opponent, who ran him ragged in the final set. The score was 2-6, 6-4, 2-6, 6-4, 6-3.

To make up for Tilden's defeat, Helen Wills of California swept through her semi-final match with Elizabeth Ryan, formerly of the same state, winning 6-1, 6-1, and qualifying to meet Senorita D'Alvarez of Spain in the finals.

Morgan 6-5 Choice For Tonight's Bout

By ED FRAYNE

NEW YORK, July 4. (US)—With odds of 6 to 5 prevailing in his favor, Tod Morgan, junior lightweight champion, is scheduled to defend his title against Eddie "Cannonball" Martin, former bantamweight champion, at Ebbets field tomorrow night. The bout is billed for 15 rounds.

The match is a return engagement between the pair, Morgan having been awarded the decision in their first bout at Madison Square garden. It was the general opinion among boxing men that the verdict should have gone to Martin.

It's an old, old story in the boxing game. Some like fighters. Some like boxers. The majority give too little credit to the men who take the chances, the fighters, and too much to the men who rely almost entirely on defensive tactics, the boxers.

The best proof of that is the fact that promoters rarely match one good boxer with another good boxer. The customers want action, and the jab and grab boys do not give it to them.

Martin believes he was robbed the last time, and he intends to set a terrific pace tomorrow night. It doesn't seem possible that he can go faster or be rougher than he was the last time. At times, he even pushed Referee Magnolia out of the way when the official tried to break Morgan from clinches.

Martin will have the advantage of a home town rooting section tomorrow night. That means something these days. If you don't think so, harken back to Godfrey and Risko. Martin is a Brooklyn boy, and the townsfolk will probably try to whoop him home a winner.

PARDONS UNPOPULAR WITH THIS GOVERNOR

DENVER.—Governor "Billy" Adams has made pardons in Colorado very unpopular since his inauguration more than a year ago. Despite terrific pressure he steered the ship of state to the close of his first year at the helm without granting a single pardon to penitentiary prisoners.

Prior to attaining the state's higher office, Governor Adams served 40 years in the state legislature, from a district in the southwestern part of the state, where he still has vast ranch properties.

Olympic Candidate

JACKSON SHOLZ

Jackson V. Scholz, the dashing young journalist, who is all primed for his third Olympiad. Scholz is the Olympic 200-meter champion, and he still looks good enough to successfully defend that honor at Amsterdam.

DAILY DOPE

By LARRY DAILEY

MR. J. ALVIN GARDNER and Spudders at home today, 4 o'clock; peanuts and pop; R. S. V. P. It is hoped and expected that there will be no regrets sent by those invited to attend the second half housewarming of the Spudders today. Those invited includes Mr. and Mrs. and Miss Fann. Indications are that it will be quite a party, and in the words of the country editor, that a good time will be had by all.

THE ENTHUSIASTS of baseball in this community didn't lose interest in the doings of the Spudders the first half and they were particularly wrought up over the four straight won by the homelings from the Buffs. But the cry was "wait till the second half." Well, the second half is here. The Spudders are in the pennant fight. Make no mistake about that. There's new incentive now for the patrons of that superb sportsman, J. Alvin Gardner, to attend the ball games out at the orchard. A winning nine and a club owner that will provide that winning nine must be accorded wholehearted support.

Now is the time for all good fans to come to the aid of their ball club.

THE RESIGNATION of Ray Schalk as manager of the Chicago White Sox was not unexpected. Whether "Cracker" voluntarily quit the duties as chief of the down at the heel hose or whether he gave up the post under pressure is beside the issue. Schalk was marked for failure as manager of the Sox from the time he assumed that post when Eddie Collins was shelved. And that statement is made with no reflection on Schalk's ability as a leader.

No man will be successful as manager of the White Sox under the conditions now prevailing. A few weeks ago it was brought out by a Chicago newspaper that Schalk was a mere figurehead—that the real management of the White Sox lay in the business office—which means, in other words, Harry Grabiner. Charles A. Comiskey, once the beloved "Old Roman" of the game, now a rather pitiable figure, has surrounded himself with counselors who however good their intentions, have done much to bring about the decline of the White Sox. A baseball club to be successful on the field, must be directed on the field. When the business office mixes with the playing end of the game, there can be only one result—a decline of the manager's authority and a consequent disrupting of team morale.

SCHALK MAY NOT possess the qualifications essential to success as a team leader. But he did not have a fair trial at Chicago. It is reiterated that no man can succeed as manager of the White Sox under prevailing conditions. Until a leader who demands and receives absolute authority over his players takes the helm of baseball affairs out at Chicago's south side, the loyal fans who have followed that team from the days of Fielder Jones' Hitless Wonders, through the glory and tragedy of that mighty but discredited organization which included the infamous "black sox," and even now in this period of constant disappointment, must bear their cross while the north side enthusiasts rejoice in the liberality of Bill Wrigley and possession of his ironhanded manager.

M'CARTY AND HAYNES MEET

District Net Singles And Doubles Finals Today

Clifton Haynes and Tom McCarty will meet today for the tennis championship of the Wichita Falls district. This was decided yesterday when semi-final matches were played on public courts here. Haynes defeated B. B. Toone in a brilliant and desperately fought semi-final match 9-7, 6-4. McCarty was not so hard pressed to win, vanquishing Charles Cook 6-1, 6-3.

McCarty and Haynes also will engage in the doubles finals today, and again they are to be on opposite sides of the net. Haynes is paired with Cook, that team beating Toone and Cheek, again in a match that extended Clifton and his partner, 6-4, 7-5. McCarty and Beck were forced to three sets before eliminating Gideon and Woodson, 6-1, 1-6, 6-2.

Two victories were scored in women's doubles, Miss Jewell Williams defeating Miss Vivian Smith, 6-2, 6-0, and Miss Evelyn Pederson beating Miss Mary K. Gould, 6-4, 6-8. Miss Thelma Matthews and Mrs. Shattuck also are in semi-finals of women's singles.

Miss Pederson and Tom McCarty defeated Mrs. Shattuck and Dixon, 6-2, 5-7, 6-2 and Miss Williams and D. H. Hyler disposed of Miss Vivian Smith and Jack Jameson, 6-3, 6-4, in mixed doubles. Miss Thelma Matthews and Ralph Anderson and Miss Peggy Walker and Preston Beck also survive in mixed doubles.

Favorite Jokes of Famous People

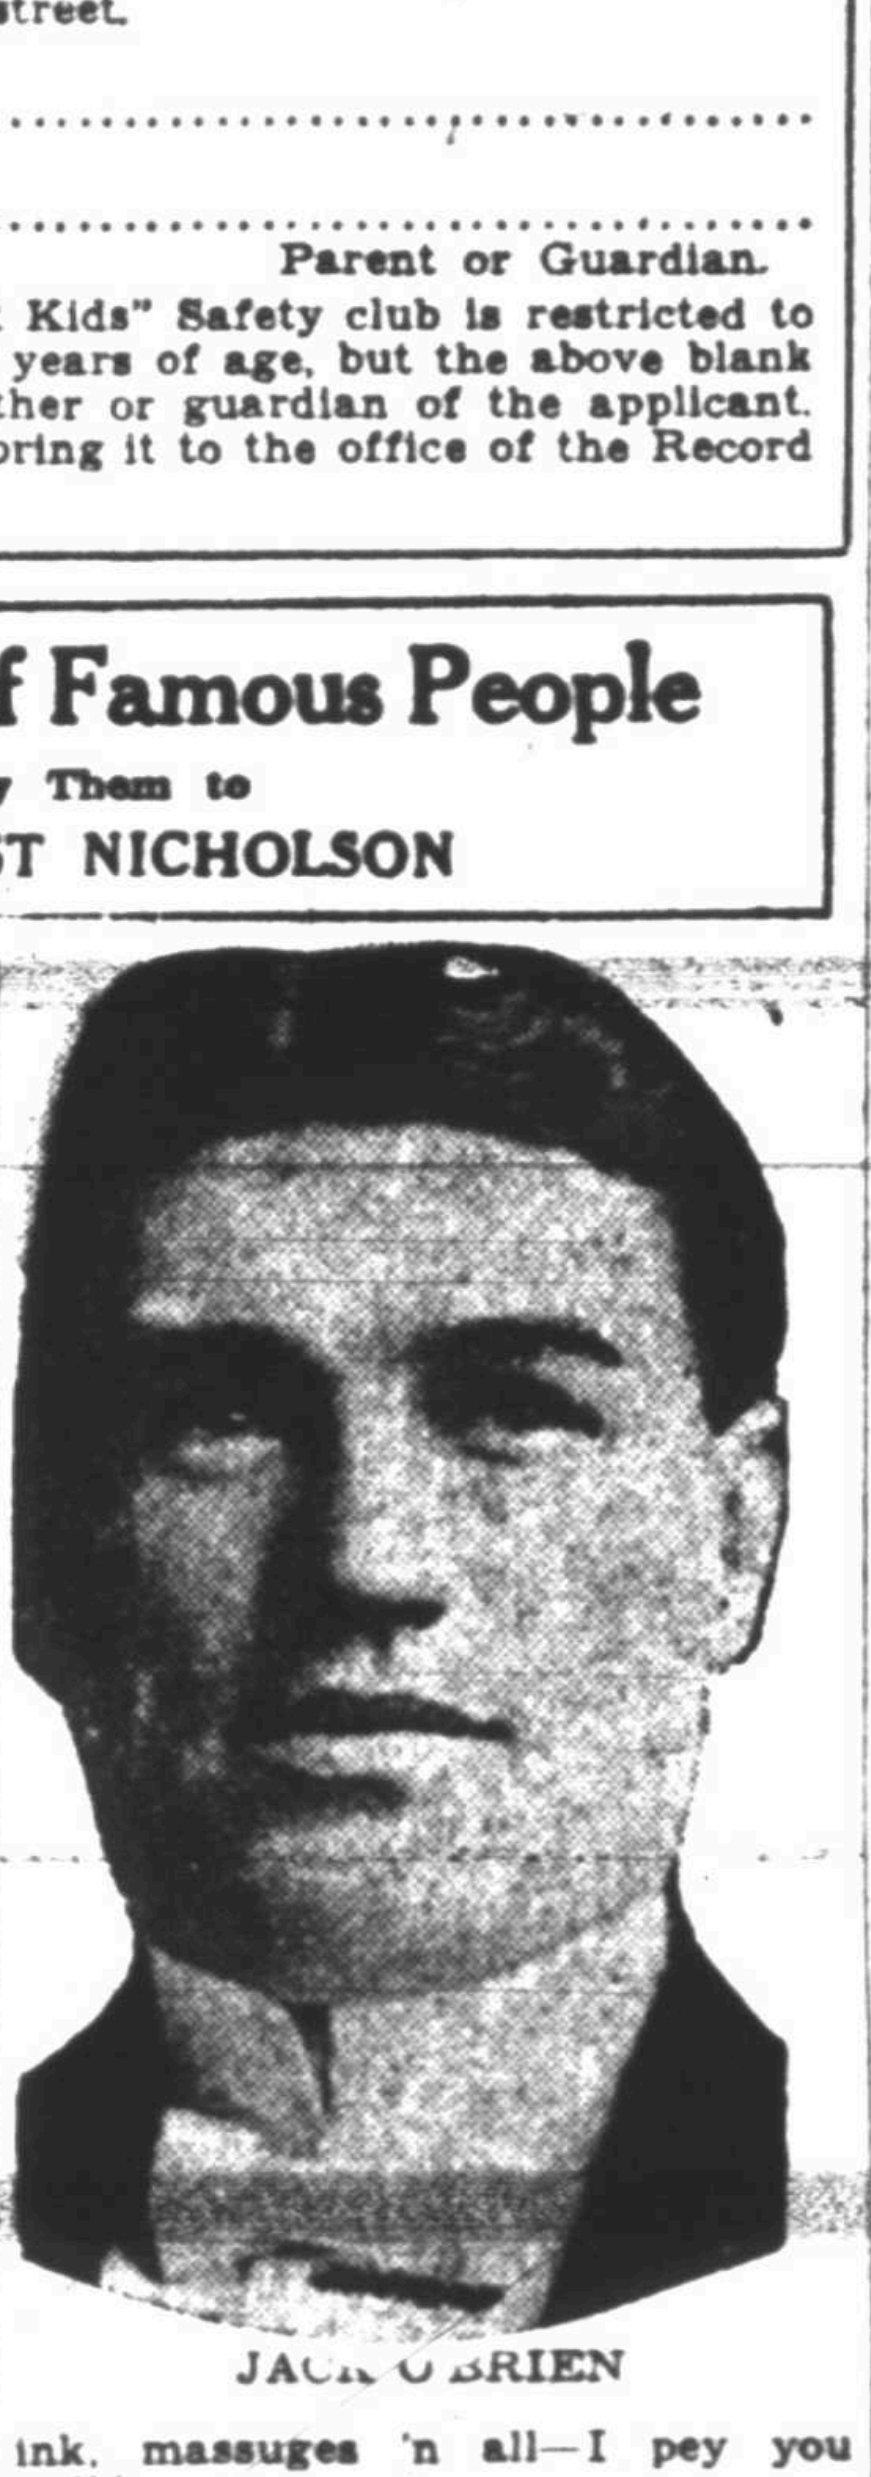
As Told by Them to
FRANK ERNEST NICHOLSON

By PHILADELPHIA JACK O'BRIEN



JACK O'BRIEN

Philadelphia Jack O'Brien is, perhaps, the most picturesque character in prize-mauling history. On December 20, 1905, he became the world's light heavyweight champion knuckle merchant. He participated in 227 ear-scrambling contests, and retired undefeated in 1913.

O'Brien's real name is Joseph Francis Anthony Hagan. He is the eldest of 12 children. At an early age he flunkied for a fighter named Joe O'Brien. When the fighter became antiquated Jack took his employer's name, stepped into his traces, and his cauliflower career was launched.

At about this time a crime-dealer by the self-styled name of "Gentleman Jack" O'Brien was cutting throats and robbing widows here and there, so Jack added the name of his native city, Philadelphia, to the front of his moniker.

Among other accomplishments, he has written a book on boxing, which has just been published, and he is the proprietor of a famous New York gymnasium for weight-reducing.

"I got a real laugh up here in my gymnasium the other day," the big glove-and-sock man told me when I mentioned favorite jokes. "A button manufacturer of huge proportions came to see me.

"'Meester O'Brien,' he said, 'I vant det you shudd tikk frum me some veight. I vhunt det I shudd haff a poifect thoity-sigx figger. Munny dun't minn nuttings—I haff shust suld out from my button bizness for a mill'on dollahs. Next veek I go to Yurrop—I vuhnt det I shudd be sleem ven I git to Paris!'

"'But,' I said, 'you must be 80 or 90 pounds overweight. That's tou much to take off in a week's time.'

"'Vell, meybee you cud double oop on the treatments, hey? Or triple oop?'

"'Of course we could do that,' I replied. 'But, man, that would be a terrific strain and exertion—I wouldn't want to put a customer through such an ordeal.'

"'Exertions dun't minn nuttings, Meester O'Brien. I must be sleem. Suppose we start out from tomorrow. You giff me the entire woiks every day for a week—all day long—everything—swevts, runnik, boxink, massuges 'n all—I pey you well.'

"So," Mr. O'Brien went on, "he came up the next morning, and we carried out his imperative orders, against our usual methods. We ran him on the track until he said 'Enough.' We put him through the calisthenics until he was limp. He rode in the reducycle cabinet until he was weary. We applied the electrical abdominal and hip reducer for one-half hour instead of 10 minutes. He was still insistent; but when we put him in the electrical cabinet he could hardly hold his up his head. An assistant later gave him our boxing drill for several rounds, resting him as much as possible.

Late in the afternoon I found him exhausted, puffing and groaning. 'Well, how are you coming along?' I inquired.

"'Oy, dunt' esk,' he replied, weakly. Then, 'Tal me, Meester O'Brien, do you haff a correspondence class I cud join?'"

Philadelphia Jack O'Brien

HEALTH and DIET ADVICE

By DR. FRANK McCOY
Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

Questions in regard to health and diet will be answered by Mr. McCoy who can be addressed in care of this paper.

Soups Are Wholesome

Liquid foods with a meal sometimes interfere with digestion. This is particularly true of starchy soups. Starch is the one food that requires a thorough mastication to make it digestible, and it is almost impossible to learn to chew liquids, or to hold them in the mouth for a sufficient period to enable the ptyalin, or digestive element of the saliva, to prepare liquid starches for the digestion of the stomach and intestine.

In preparing soups, one should remember that the most wholesome kinds are made from non-starchy vegetables, and that food combinations must be observed in soups as well as in the meals. It is curious that sometimes even those who understand food combinations will make a mixture like rice or vermicelli-tomato soup, and then wonder why they are not improving as rapidly as they expect.

Wholesome soups are best served rather thick so that it is possible to chew them. Potatoes, brown rice, barley, or peas may be used in combination with such vegetables as string beans, spinach, celery or parsley. It is better to boil the potatoes in their skins to obtain the valuable mineral elements which are near the outside. They can then be mashed and seasoned.

One should never use any acid with a meal in which one of these starchy soups is used. This means that tomatoes, peaches, oranges, berries, etc., are taboo for the time being.

Meat soups are quite wholesome when only one kind of meat is combined with some of the non-starchy vegetables, as I have suggested with the starchy soups. It is permissible, however, to combine tomatoes with the meat soup, but all starches must positively be excluded if you wish to avoid fermentation.

The meat does not add a large amount of nourishment to the soup, but it does add to the flavor, and is not harmful. A good plan is to use the same kind of meat as that served at the meal. The meat may be ground up and left right in the soup, in which case a soup might serve as a whole meal by itself.

An excellent non-starchy soup may be used to advantage with any kind of a meal, even with those who have weak digestive organs. By cooking well and squeezing the vegetables through a colander or sieve and adding warm cream when ready to serve, one can make a most palatable dish from any of these vegetables: spinach, celery, string beans, carrots, parsnips, or asparagus. If tomatoes are used for this soup, it is well to remember that no crackers or other starchy food should be added to the same meal.

A wholesome raw soup can be served in hot weather, perpared by grinding tomatoes, parsley, spinach and celery through a meat chopper. A small amount of salt may be added. This is really a liquid salad, and may be served as such. This soup tastes better than it sounds.

If you wish to avoid digestive disturbances, never use flour to thicken soups, and it is also better to avoid garlic and onions because of their gas-forming tendencies. By avoiding the pitfalls of dietetically wrong combinations, you can make soups into very wholesome, appetizing additions to your meals.

Questions and Answers

Question: Reader writes: "Your articles are most interesting and educational—we certainly think them full of good suggestions and common sense. Will you kindly state what is meant by the following: 'A colon bordering on diverticulosis.' (1) What are some of the causes of colitis? (2) Should one suffering from colitis be on a diet? (3) Do you think colonic irrigations are very helpful?"

Answer: This simply means that pockets are forming in the colon in which food lodges, where it decomposes and putrefies more readily. (1) Wrong food, too much food, bad combinations, and everything which can produce constipation. (2) Diet is the only cure, and no special "queer" foods are necessary. Just follow the diet recommended in my weekly menus. (3) The daily enema is perhaps the best single treatment that can be given for colitis. In severe cases, two or three enemas daily should be used, and at least one enema taken daily over a period of several weeks. They are always helpful and can be no more harmful than washing the face, as long as you use only plain water.

Question: Seventeen writes: "I have had pimples for about a year. My weight is about right, but I drink cream to get a little heavier. Could too much cream, butter, or tomatoes be the cause?"

Answer: Certain kinds of pimples are no doubt caused by the use of too much oil and fat. Try a diet free from butter, milk, and cream, and the fat of meat, and see if your skin trouble does not clear up.

Question: W. H. asks: "What causes a child to grind its teeth in its sleep?"

Answer: The common cause is from indigestion, but sometimes stomach or intestinal worms are responsible.

Negro Wanted in Many Cities Held in Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, Texas, July 3. (INS)—Henry Pool, negro, said to be wanted by officers at Houston, Dallas, Los Angeles, and other west coast cities on charges of robbery and burglary, was arrested here today. The negro was identified here by Crockett Henry as the man who several weeks ago robbed him of $240.

Tex Guinan Only Lady Who Claims Padlock Necklace

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER
Copyright by Universal Service

NEW YORK, July 4.—Government padlock dragoons just slapped official plasters on 20 New York night clubs.

Tex Guinan is the only lady in any world who has a lavalliere of padlocks.

Among famous clubs which were hermetically sealed by the law's wrong arm were the Golden Flea Bag and the Insomnia Gardens.

When asked whether or not she believed in the eighteenth amendment, Tex replied:
"I am not superstitious."

The technical names for New York night clubs are flea bags, drums and traps. When you fine the proprietor of a drum $1000 for selling a drink he still makes $11 on the transaction.

But when you charge the boys for having alcohol in their possession, you are wrong. You might accuse them of selling carbolic juice without having a druggist's diploma or selling turpentine without belonging to the house painters' union. But there is no alcohol in the elixir of the goofs.

We would not care to be a prohibition volunteer in New York. Before you make an arrest you must buy liquor. In order to make sure it's liquor you must drink it. After you drink it you are not sure of anything.

One padlock, more or less, means little or zero to Tex. It's just a birthday present out of season.

And raiding a drum in summer time merely saves the proprietors the trouble of announcing they will be closed during June, July and August.

Raids are now part of the entertainment in night clubs. The raid is usually the fifth act in the program. First, a soprano, second, a dance, third, a blues singer, fourth, a trombone solo, and then the raiders burst in to stage an act that is amusing, but no novelty.

First Link of Paving On Lee Highway Completed

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, July 4.—Paving work on highway No. 28, between Oklaunion and Red river, was completed Tuesday afternoon, marking completion of the first paving on Lee highway in Texas. The road will not be open to traffic for four weeks yet. Plans for the paving of the highway west from Vernon to the Foard county line have been definitely shaped, and this program will be started in the near future, as soon as state and federal aid is granted.

Bonds have been voted in Wilbarger, Foard, Cottle, Motley and Hale counties to pave and hard surface highway No. 28.

Austin Educator Will Head Training School

AUSTIN, July 4.—T. A. Gullett, principal of Austin high school, has been virtually decided upon by members of the board of control to succeed Dr. C. E. King, deceased, as superintendent of the state juvenile training school at Gatesville. Election of the new superintendent will take place Wednesday morning.

KREMER MAY FOLLOW SHAVER

Westerner Slated for Committee Chairman

AUSTIN, Texas, July 4.—Texas Democrats who attended the national convention in Houston foresee the selection of Bruce Kremer of Butte, Mont., as the chairman of the Democratic national committee, to succeed Clem Shaver, and to assist in Gov. Alfred E. Smith's campaign this year.

Mr. Kremer took a leading part in the convention as a staunch Smith man. He is from the West, from which it was confidently predicted the new national chairman will be chosen.

The selection will be made by the national committee, probably during its meeting in New York within a few days, when its members confer with Governor Smith. It is known the party nominee's wishes will be considered in the selection of a westerner.

Mr. Kremer presided as chairman of the national convention credentials committee. The committee seated all pro-Smith delegations against whom contests were directed; but it avoided any disturbing conflicts in this ticklish business. Mr. Kremer's diplomatic and able course in presiding over the convention was in keeping with the Smith purpose of preserving harmony and avoiding the appearance of flattening out the opposition. Mr. Kremer, long a prominent figure in Democratic national councils, is known personally to perhaps more of the convention leaders and delegates than any other individual outside the present national officers and former national officers or party nominees.

He is reputed to be the ablest presiding officer in the whole convention. His state is located so that he will be strategically "right" for the high command of the national committee.

Senator Walter C. Woodward of Coleman, Texas, member on the credentials committee, was much impressed with the westerner's methods and diplomatic work in preserving harmony in the committee, and in according full courtesy to all the contesting would-be delegates.

Serum Rushed by Plane Fails to Save Ranchman

LUBBOCK, Texas, July 4.—Lieut. I. M. Palmer and physicians of the West Texas hospital fought a losing battle with time Sunday afternoon and Glenn Williamson, ranchman of Hockley county, died about 10 p. m., of gas bacillus infection caused by a compound fracture of the left thigh following a fall from a windmill Friday.

Gas gangrene serum that was rushed to Lubbock by airplane with Lieut. Palmer pilot, left Dallas about 2:30 and arrived about six o'clock despite a cross wind. The serum was immediately administered but it was too late to take effect before the patient died.

Funeral services were held here Monday with Rev. W. R. White officiating.

Williamson is survived by his widow, of Levelland; his mother, Mrs. S. Williamson, of Afton; two brothers, G. M. Williamson, Ranal, N. M., and C. C. Williamson, Sudan; and a sister, Mrs. Ed Pushell, Servilletto, N. M.

Texans Invited to Road Congress in Mexico

DOOMED MAN

Scarface Al Capone Is Marked for Death By Enemies

CHICAGO, July 4. (US)—A sentence of death—from which there is no appeal—has been pronounced upon "Scarface Al" Capone, chief of the underworld kings.

It is the sentence pronounced by gangland itself, fearful lest Capone become all powerful.

This was the news brought to blase Chicago today by way of the grapevine telegraph, its source undetermined, but which has never erred in its news.

$1,000,000 Increase in Vernon Bank Deposits

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, July 4.—Bank deposits in Vernon are more than $1,000,000 greater than they were a year ago, figures issued from the seven banks of the county in response to the calls issued for report of condition of state and national banks at the close of business June 30, reveal. A total of $5,497,760.69 was on deposit, approximately $1,282,000 more than was reported at the same period last year.

This is the greatest total ever reported in response to a June call in this county.

Wichita Firm to Build New Vernon School

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, July 4.—Construction of a new $60,000 ward school is expected to be started here in the near future, as bonds voted several weeks ago for that purpose have been received by the Vernon commission. Mayor H. D. Hockersmith is in Austin now making final arrangements in the sale of the bonds, and he is expected to return Friday, and construction will probably start immediately. Contract for the construction of the building has been let by the board of education to Reid and Costley of Wichita Falls.

STORM SWEEPS LINCOLN, NEB.

Two Injured in Violent Wind Disturbance

LINCOLN, Neb., July 4. (AP)—Two persons were reported injured and thousands of dollars worth of damage was done by a wind storm here last night.

The storm, accompanied by rain and electrical display, was general throughout central Nebraska, although varied in intensity.

At College View, a suburb, C. B. Morey, postmaster, was bruised and cut when the roof of his house collapsed. Chester Foster, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Foster, who were camping in a College View park, was hurt when a tree was blown on their tent. The boy was pinned beneath the branches and it took nearly an hour to extricate him. His injuries consisted of bruises, cuts and other minor injuries.

The kitchen at Union college at College View was wrecked and the south hall of the college was damaged to the extent of $1,000 when a large chimney fell. Hundreds of panes also were broken in the greenhouse of a floral company.

Considerable damage was done to roofs and windows throughout Lincoln. Many trees were broken and uprooted and wire service was disrupted.

Skeleton of Cat to Be Added to Collection

DENTON, Texas, July 4. (AP)—The skeleton of a cat, recently prepared and mounted by an instructor in the department of biology, will be added to the collection planned by instructors in biology at the College of Industrial Arts. The collection so far includes skeletons of a rat, dog, cat, bird, monkey, and a turtle. Members of the department are at present working on the skeleton of a horse.

Treasury Bonds Offered Today in Exchange for Liberty Loan Bonds

DALLAS, Texas, July 4.—The treasury of the United States, through the Federal Reserve banks, today announced an offering of treasury bonds of 1940-43 dated and bearing interest from July 16, 1928, at a rate of 3⅜ per cent, maturing June 15, 1943 and callable on four months' notice in whole or in part on and after June 15, 1940.

The offering will be a combined offering for cash and in exchange for outstanding third Liberty Loan bonds. The amount of the cash offering will be $250,000,000 or thereabouts. The books for cash subscriptions will open on July 5, 1928, and may close without notice a few days thereafter.

Cash subscriptions are invited as of August 1, 1928, at par and accrued interest. In other words, payment on allotted cash subscriptions should not be made until Aug. 1, 1928, and should include not only the par amount of the bonds allotted, but also the accrued interest thereon from July 16, 1928 to Aug. 1, 1928. The treasury will not make delivery on the new bonds on allotted cash subscriptions until Aug. 1. The amount of the exchange offering will be limited by the amount of the third four and one-quarters tendered and accepted. Exchange subscriptions are invited at par interest on any third four and one-quarter surrendered and accepted on allotted exchange. Subscriptions will be paid in full to Sept. 15, 1928. Accordingly, at the time of delivery of the new treasury bonds, the Federal Reserve banks will pay to the subscriber or his authorized agent the interest from March 15, 1928, to Sept. 15, 1928, on the third four and one-quarters surrendered in exchange. Delivery of the new bonds on exchange will be made on or after July 16, 1928, on acceptance of the third four and one-quarters tendered in exchange.

The exchange offering will be kept open for a limited period, probably until July 31, but the secretary of the treasury reserves the right to close the exchange offering as well as the cash offering at any time without notice. Attention is invited to the fact that the third Liberty Loan bonds mature Sept. 15, 1928, and that interest thereon will cease on that date. If the amount of exchange subscriptions received by the treasury is such that the allotted subscriptions to the combined offering aggregate $800,000,000 or thereabouts there will be no further offering of long term bonds in connection with the maturity of the thirds.

$10,000 LOSS IN SIX FIRES

Lumber Company Damage Placed at $7000

Damage estimated at $10,000 was caused by six fires in Wichita Falls during July 4.

The residence of Jim Thompson, 704 Fourth street, and the vacant building of the W. M. Moore Lumber company was damaged about $7,000 by a fire which broke out at 9:40 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Damage to the building of the lumber company and water damage to furniture belonging to L. R. Neal, who lived in an apartment at the lumber yard, was estimated at $5,000 while the residence of Mr. Thompson was damaged about $1,500.

Studio Blaze

A smouldering fire in the Ellis studio, owned by Mrs. Merrell Ellis of 909 Seventh street, completely destroyed chemicals, drying frames, films and supplies in the finishing room of the studio about 9:15 o'clock Wednesday. Mrs. Ellis declared that she could not estimate the damage. The studio is at 727½ Indiana avenue, above the vacant building occupied by the J. C. Penney company prior to completion of their new building. Other parts of the studio and other offices in the building were not damaged.

The residence of Tom Crowe, 1611 Cole street, was partially destroyed by fire about 8:30 o'clock Wednesday night. The fire started in the bath room of the dwelling, according to firemen and spread over the back of the house, the fire and water damage was estimated at $1,000.

When fire broke out in the garage of J. A. Staley, 2201 Avondale about 8 o'clock, only slight damage was done before the fire was out.

Other calls were at 1522 Keeler street at 6 o'clock, and at 1100 Lamar avenue at 5:30 o'clock. No damage was reported at either of these points.

Work Continues on Dallas Tabernacle For Fundamentalists

DALLAS, July 4. (AP)—Despite a court edict issued yesterday ordering work to cease on construction of a fundamentalist Baptist tabernacle here, a crew of men still were at work on the structure today.

"Yes, it is true that they are working on the church building today," said Mrs. Earl Anderson, wife of the pastor of the church. "The work is going ahead in face of the injunction and I am ready to go to jail if necessary. I have had my clothes packed for several days anticipating that they might try to put us in jail for building a place in which to worship."

Officials at the sheriff's office said there was nothing they could do to stop the work. Judge Towne Young's court, in which the injunction was issued, was in recess today.

Legislature May Aid in Enforcing 'True Name' Law

AUSTIN, July 4.—Enforcement of the Texas "true name" law is but a fiction in many counties, according to complaints reaching state officials.

No adequate measures for enforcement of the law have been provided, compliance having been left to individual interpretation of the law, and the statute omitting any means of checking up on firms operating under it.

The "true name" law forbids any individual or non-corporate group operating under any name other than the full name of all persons associated in an enterprise, except when sworn statements have been filed with the county clerk "of every county in which said individual or association" does business or intends to do business.

While many partnerships and many individuals using company names file these certificates in the county in which they are located, it has been found the law has been generally ignored by them as to counties in which they do business.

Enforcement of the law is in the hands of the county attorneys.

Some measure of state supervision over it is likely to be proposed at the next session of the legislature, particularly requiring the filing of reports showing all counties in which a non-corporate firm has qualified to do business, it was said.

12,000 Attend Fourth Fete at Brownfield

Special to The Record News.

BROWNFIELD, Texas, July 4.—A crowd of more than 12,000 people attended the Fourth of July celebration sponsored by the American Legion and the Chamber of Commerce here today. Features offered included carnival attractions, horse races, baseball, and a rodeo. At a speaking held later in the day Marvin Jones, his opponent, J. Ross Bell, and Pink Parrish, candidate for state senator, were heard.

Wife, Refused Money, Seriously Shoots Mate

TULSA, Okla., July 4. (UP)—When her husband, who came home intoxicated, refused her money so she could leave Tulsa, Mrs. Louise Gamet, 50, shot and seriously wounded her husband, Fred Gamet.

Deaths

MISS CALTHA ANN WARREN

The body of Miss Caltha Ann Warren, 27, of the Chenault-Wheat apartments, who died at a local hospital Wednesday morning at 4 o'clock, was forwarded by the Merkle Undertaking company to Honey Grove, Texas at 3:35 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Warren was in the employ of W. B. McClurkan and company here.

G. E. MORRIS

G. E. Morris, 51, 302 Front street, died at a local hospital at 11 o'clock Tuesday night. The body was forwarded to Weatherford, Texas, by the Hines mortuary at 7 a. m. Wednesday. He is survived by one son, E. A. Morris of Wichita Falls.

W. G. DAVIS

W. G. Davis, 74, died at a local hospital at 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. He is survived by one son, J. R. Davis of Dallas.

The body is being held at the Hines mortuary pending the arrival of Mr. Davis' son.

Temperature Here Misses Record But "Fools" Many

Though the temperature went on an apparent rampage and led a number of people to expect a new high record, Wednesday's heat fell three degrees of the maximum temperature of 108 of a few days ago. But every one of those 105 degrees Wednesday were felt, owing to the anemic south breeze which was felt.

The period of most intense heat was felt early in the afternoon after a cool morning, the lowest temperature of which was 79 degrees. By 5 o'clock in the afternoon the temperature had lowered to 102 degrees.

Today { At the Theaters

MISSION: Tom Mix in "The Horseman of the Plains," with Sally Blain and Tony, the wonder horse. Serial.

MAJESTIC: Ramon Novarro in "A Certain Young Man." Krazy Kat cartoon. Christie comedy. Paramount news.

STRAND: (Vitaphone features): "Ham and Eggs at the Front." Two vitaphone shorts. Pathe news.

OLYMPIC: "Short Living" with Madge Bellamy. Comedy.

GARDEN: "Douglas Fairbanks as the Guacho" with Douglas Fairbanks.

GEM: "Heroes of the Night." Western. Comedy.

Stiff necks will rule in Wichita Falls for a day or so, due no doubt to the dedication of Kell field, the Wichita Falls municipal airport Wednesday. Therefore, the stiff-necked gentry are rather set apart on an honorable plane of life—they are aviation enthusiasts.

The opening the Mission theater enjoyed Wednesday was fitting to a theater which is being given a new lease on life. Tom Mix went over great, and his pony, Tony, was as good as ever. The kids liked the special matinee in the morning and the whole day was a success.

If the society editor had written the account of the Moore lumber yard fire, it might have read like this: "The W. M. Moore company was host Wednesday noon to a large, but informal, assemblage at the storage warehouse. It was a brilliant affair. The younger set even said it was the hottest of the season as houses several hundred feet away suffered disarranged makeups. The expense was higher than usual, and it was rumored to be as much as $8,000. Fire Chief McClure was in charge of the activities and his men gave several daring exhibitions which pleased the crowds immensely."

Lionel Barrymore, one of THE Barrymores, is seen in the screen version of "The Lion and the Mouse" opening Friday at the Strand. He is a superb actor, and should give a most dramatic interpretation of his role in this famous old play. May McAvoy, Alec Francis and William Collier also have prominent parts in the show. It's a talkie, and is said to have more dialogue than either "Tenderloin" or "The Jazz Singer."

The talkies have been mighty popular at the Strand. While there have been only the two features in which there is talking, there have been a number of vitaphone features with music only. "Ham and Eggs at the Front" is one of these and it went over like a million dollars.

Rene Adoree, Marceline Day and Carmel Myers all three are starred in "A Certain Young Man," which is now playing at the Majestic theater. It is seldom that three stars of their magnitude are seen in a single play, especially when in support of a fourth, Ramon Novarro.

Tolstoi's great novel, "The Cossack's," starring John Gilbert, is due at the Majestic theater Sunday. It's a hero story for hero lovers.

May McAvoy and William Collier in "The Lion and the Mouse", vitaphone feature, coming to the Strand Friday.

College Boys Leave Home to Circle Globe

RAYMONDVILLE, Texas, July 4. (AP)—Lawrence Brenner, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Brenner of Raymondville, and Harry Douthit, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Douthit, also of Raymondville, have started on a hike that may take them around the world. The boys left here for San Francisco, walking and with only a little money, as they expect to earn their way.

At San Francisco they expect to get jobs on a liner crossing the Pacific for China, and from there may go on east, circumnavigating the globe. Both boys have been attending college, and, seized with wanderlust, decided they would see the world.

BEG YOUR PARDON

The Record News of July 3 published in its court records a suit styled Mrs. Vena Whittaker vs. Alvin Whiteaker.

Through an error in transferring of the suit to the docket of the district court, the suit was labeled "divorce."

The suit, however, is not a divorce suit Mrs. Whitteaker advises, but is a suit for injunction to restrain payment by a bank of certain funds.

New Hospital Ward To Relieve Jails

AUSTIN, July 4.—Texas jails will again be emptied of insane patients, held because of overcrowding of asylums, when the insane hospital ward building, for which contract was awarded by the board of control Monday has been completed. This fireproof building at the Wichita Falls insane hospital, will house 224 patients at normal capacity, or nearly 300 under present crowded conditions. Women patients will be moved from other institutions, to make room for men patients, particularly at the Terrell hospital, where destruction by fire of a three-story dormitory reduced by one-fourth the asylum's housing capacity.

The contract for the new building was awarded to J. E. Morgan of El Paso, on the lowest bid, at $98,735. Contract for wiring was given Hudgens Electric company of Wichita Falls at approximately $27,000, and heating and plumbing to C. E. Wallace of Stamford, at $12,000, both being lowest bidders.

Road Department Buys $700,000 in Equipment

AUSTIN, July 4.—Early next week the state board of control will buy for the highway department approximately $700,000 worth of equipment, including tractors, graders, trucks, slip-on bodies, asphalt spreaders and other machinery for road construction. Bids have been opened and are now in the hands of Highway Engineer Gibb Gilchrist for recommendations.

Over three million dollars of contracts are now pending in the board of control, including the highway department purchases.

PRYOR READY TO MAKE BOND

Sheriff Delays Serving Warrant On Constable

No attempt to serve a warrant issued against Ed Pryor, Electra constable, following his indictment Tuesday by the Wichita county grand jury on charges of burglary had been made Wednesday night, according to Sheriff W. G. Bralley.

Pryor notified the sheriff's department that he was in Childress awaiting service on the warrant, and that he would be prepared to make a bond of $1500 upon service.

The indictment against Pryor also charges Tom Shook, former chief of police at Electra, with burglary and places his bond at $1500. Shook is in the county jail where he was confined immediately following the capture by Sheriff W. G. Bralley of Henry Shumate, also included in the burglary indictment, a day after he had escaped the county jail. Shumate was in bed with Pryor at the time of his recapture, officers said.

The warrant against Pryor probably will be served Thursday, according to Sheriff Bralley.

Bellevue Vaudeville To Feature Old-Time Music

Old time fiddling will hold the center of the stage at the Bellevue park free band and vaudeville concert Thursday night, according to announcements made Wednesday by C. C. Bunnenberg, superintendent of parks.

J. E. Tucker was announced to head the old time fiddlers, and Mr. Bunnenberg said there would be others.

There will be a surprise number on the program which will not be announced prior to the time the program starts.

The program includes a concert by the Camp Fire girls band, selections by Wilson Gray's jazz orchestra, Mrs. A. Y. Ayers and Claude Gold playing a guitar duet, Miss Eleanor Pitman and her mother, Mrs. J. S. Pitman in vocal instrumental music, and vocal selections by Miss Wilma V. Engle accompanied by her mother.

Lions Do Big Business At Park On Fourth

The Lions club of Wichita Falls has taken over the soft drink concession at Scotland park in accordance with the provisions of a contract recently entered into with the city.

The Lions did a rushing business on July 4, according to Charlie Bunnenberg, superintendent of parks. "Our contract calls for a real service to the people of Wichita Falls in this park concession," Mr. Bunnenberg said. One of the provisions in the original specifications on which the bids were made was that pop would sell at five cents and no more. The Lions club is one of the best organizations we could have given the contract to, for that club has the good of the park at heart."

Six-Foot Alligator Presented City Zoo

W. E. Wilson, candidate for the office of county attorney, has presented the Lions club municipal zoo in Scotland park with a hard looking, six foot alligator, according to an announcement made Wednesday by C. C. Bunnenberg, superintendent of parks.

The animal was sent here from the swamps of Lake Charles, La.

Parnell Assails Love and Miller In Statement; Will Support Nominee

J. D. Parnell, former state senator from the 23rd senatorial district and resident of Wichita Falls, will conduct an intensive campaign during the month of July in the interest of his candidacy for lieutenant governor of Texas.

In a statement issued here Wednesday he said that there was a unique situation in the lieutenant governors' race, in that he had two opponents who were violating democratic principles. He said that Barry Miller of Dallas is asking for a third term to an office that is purely honorary, and Tom Love of Dallas says that he will not support the nominee of the party. "One would perpetuate himself in office and the other have the voters nominate him in a Democratic primary and then seek to destroy the party by bolting and voting the opposition ticket" Mr. Parnell said. "If they were the only candidates in the race for this office the voters would be in an embarassing position.

Supports Ticket

"I have never scratched a democratic ticket in my life, and have never asked to be elected for a third term. I will vote the democratic ticket from top to bottom this year and hope we are successful from the presidential candidate on down.

"Prohibition is here to stay and no president can change it without the consent of congress. If Al Smith is elected he will have many questions to engage his attention besides the liquor problem. Woodrow Wilson opposed the Volstead act, but his outstanding ability as as executive made him one of the greatest men the world has ever known.

"Mr. Love held an appointive position under the Wilson administration and no doubt had some authority in that position. Perhaps if he were assured some power of position should Al Smith be elected it would serve as a balm for his troubled conscience and cause his approval of the entire democratic ticket.

"Any citizen has the right to cast his lot with any political party put forward, but he has no right to try to ride two political horses at the same time with one saddle. Mr. Love can affiliate with any party he desires, but I doubt if he can dictate the nominee of either party strictly according to his own choosing.

"I voted for Earle B. Mayfield at the general election in November 1922. Although I vigorously opposed the Ku Klux Klan, I had obligated myself to support the nominee and I voted the Democratic ticket straight through.

Prohibition Stand

"As a member of the 36th legislature I cast my vote for the ratification of the 18th amendment. I have voted consistently for prohibition all my life and the greatest disappointment I have had is the utter disregard of the Republican party to enforce or make an honest effort to enforce the Volstead act. I had rather have an honest 'wet' who will enforce the laws as long as they are upon the statutes, than have a dishonest 'pro' who laughs at the law and makes no effort to enforce it.

"Mr. Love is not entitled to suffrage at the hands of the voters of the Democratic party and Mr. Miller has no right to ask for a third term! I will cast my vote for every nominee of the Democratic party in the general election and promise never to ask for election to a third term."

Wreck Victims Reported Slightly Improved at Hospitals Here

Miss Margaret Perryman of Montague, nurse, and Leonard Smith of Wills Point, cook, both employes of the Wichita Falls State hospital, who were injured when Miss Kate Hogeland and G. W. Denson, nurse and assistant supervisor at the hospital, respectively, were killed in an automobile accident on the Lake Wichita road Monday noon, were reported to be in a slightly improved condition Wednesday.

Miss Perryman, taken to the Wichita General hospital, still was in a critical condition, attendants reported.

But little change had been noted in Mr. Smith's condition at the Wichita Falls Clinic hospital, where he has been at the point of death since the accident.

Miss Perryman's mother of Montague and other relatives, are in Wichita Falls.

Burk Enjoys Quiet 'Fourth'

Special to The Record News.

BURKBURNETT, July 4.—The national holiday was observed in this city today by the closing of all business houses except the drug stores and a few others.

Many of the oil workers were given at least a half day off, and the city streets and many homes were deserted for pleasure trips and outings. It was known as the quietest day of the year in Burkburnett.

The only community celebration was a flag raising ceremony put on at 8 o'clock this morning by the Boy Scouts of this city and their scoutmasters. Fifty boys took part and stood at salute as Officer Carl Coules raised the flag on the city hall staff while the bugle call of the colors was sounded.

Another general celebration was a large picnic given by the Gulf Oil company and their local employes near Iowa Park.
