Fickle Flowers Face Freeze

Or Budding Blossoms Bopped by Brisked Breeze—however, you say it, this almond in the yard of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Preston, 610 E. 15th, seems a little premature in light of Saturday's norther. Unseasonally warm weather last week was more than this harbinger could stand—and spring just "busted" out all over. The tree grew from a seedling and always has fudged a little on the seasons, says Mrs. Preston, who is shown admiring the profusion of pale pink flowers. (Photo by Keith McMillin).

Fuller Denies Vice Slaying

By REX THOMAS and LEROY SIMMS

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 5 (AP)—Albert Fuller climaxed his murder defense today with a firm denial that he killed A. L. Patterson, but he got crossed up three times on major points in his testimony.

The defense rested its case after the former chief deputy sheriff at Phenix City ended a stay of 4½ hours on the stand, but announced it would call the state's star witness for further cross-examination Monday.

Chief Prosecutor Cecil Deason then began presentation of rebuttal testimony aimed at counteracting the stories of Fuller and six other witnesses who said the defendant was in the county jail at the time the anti-vice crusading Patterson was slain last June 18.

Fuller's testimony included these seeming contradictions: that he worked for Patterson in the vice foe's successful campaign for attorney general of Alabama last spring but didn't vote for him.

That he suffered from a severe leg injury and couldn't run from the murder scene as prosecution witnesses said he did, but that he ran out of the jail when he heard about the shooting and ran across the street when he arrived at the murder scene.

Then he didn't remember being sentenced to seven years in prison for bribery several weeks ago but did remember parts of the trial, especially that he didn't have a lawyer until just after he was called into court.

Fuller was one of the defendants convicted in the vice cleanup trials which followed Patterson's death. He was charged with taking payoff money to let a bawdy house operate unmolested.

When Deason asked about that today the husky, 35-year-old defendant said he didn't remember being tried.

But as Deason continued to question him, Fuller said he remembered parts of the trial "vagely" and that he did testify on his own behalf that he hadn't taken a bribe.

Then in response to another question he changed the bribe statement, explaining, "that's what I was told."

8 More Enter Soap Box Derby

Eight more boys got on the dotted line Saturday as entries in the second annual Soap Box Derby.

The field is now nearing the 50 mark, Lloyd Wooten of Tidwell Chevrolet Company pointed out. Actually, there are 46 entries.

Wooten was anticipating another surge this weekend when more entries will be invited from boys between the ages of 11 and 15. One or both parents of the boy registering must accompany him.

Latest to get in on the fun were: Harold Scott, 1604 Vines; Jerry Dunlap, 1417 Tucson; Tommy Ross, 1603 Sycamore; Johnny Crocker, 1707 Benton; Ronnie Holmes, 2106 S. Monticello; Rufus Roland, 107 W. 21st; Robert David Spradling, 1709 State; Richard Aulds, 1202 Sycamore.

Boys entering the contest will be given a set of wheels and axles. They must then design and build their racers by themselves and within certain expense limitations.

The race, sponsored jointly by the Herald, Lions and Tidwell Chevrolet, will be held on July 4. The city commission has given permission for use of the City Park as a site.

Carney Mum On Any Plans To Abandon Matsus

By SPENCER MOOSA

TAIPEI, Formosa, Sunday, March 6 (AP)—The chief of U.S. Naval Operations was en route to Washington today after high level U.S.-Nationalist military talks, determined to speed up urgent shipments for Formosa.

Adm. Robert B. Carney was noncommittal when newsmen asked him prior to yesterday's departure whether the Nationalists might have to evacuate Quemoy and the Matsus, their last island outposts off the shores of Red China. There has been speculation that at least the Matsus, guarding the approaches to the port of Foochow, may have to be given up.

To questions whether the military discussions had involved this eventuality, Adm. Carney said his problem was just to carry out any decisions made by President Eisenhower.

But he did say the conferees had "tackled the realities of the situation in the Formosa area."

"Shipments already programmed should be speeded up," he said, "and I intend to see that they are."

In answer to another question, Adm. Carney expressed his private view that there were no unfriendly submarines, either Red Chinese or Russian, in the Formosa area. The Nationalist air force recently claimed it sank a Communist submarine, of unidentified nationality, and damaged another.

Adm. Carney said "I have no particular comment" to a question whether U.S. fliers would make "hot pursuit" of any Red planes which might attack them.

"They have instructions to take care of themselves," he said.

There were brief air raid alarms yesterday in different parts of Formosa when Nationalist planes were mistaken for hostile ones. There was a one-minute alarm at Hsinchu and one of more than two minutes at Taichung.

Peiping broadcasts said the Nationalists have displayed panicky signs recently since evacuations restricted their offshore island holdings.

Ex-Land Official On $60,000 Bail

By BO BYERS

AUSTIN, March 5 (AP)—Additional indictments against Bascom Giles, former land commissioner, were predicted today by Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd after Giles was charged with conspiracy to commit theft in a veterans land program deal.

Giles, father of the program to benefit Texas veterans, was accused by the state of conspiracy to commit theft of $83,500 in connection with a Dimmit County sale to 12 veterans.

The attorney general in San Antonio to work with the Bexar County Grand Jury on veterans land matters, issued a statement through his office.

"Texas grand juries are not through with Giles," Shepperd said. "There will be othere indictments against him."

He said the initial indictment, by a Travis County Grand Jury, was "the climax of months of investigation and work."

Shepperd, in his capacity as attorney general, is a member of the three-man Veterans Land Board. Its other members presently are Gov. Allan Shivers and Land Commissioner J. Earl Rudder of Brady. Rudder was appointed by Shivers following Giles' recent resignation.

Arrested as he left a downtown conference with his attorney, the husky, 54-year-old Giles made bond of $60,000 after remaining in custody of Sheriff T. O. Lang at the Travis County Courthouse an hour and a half.

The bond, posted by his son, Rogan B. Giles, and attorney C. C. Small Sr., was reduced from $100,000 after Small protested to Dist. Judge J. Harris Gardner that it was "exorbitant in a case of this nature."

Giles—grim at times but smiling and affable at others during his stay in the sheriff's office—denied knowledge of what it was all about.

"I don't know anything," he told reporters. "I don't know any more than you do. They just asked me to come up here."

Indicted jointly with Giles was B. R. Sheffield, Brady land dealer. The two men are former business associates.

Giles seemed shocked when reporters mentioned this fact.

"Indicted jointly with me?" Giles exclaimed as if he couldn't believe it.

Then he read the indictment returned against him by the Travis County Grand Jury in 53rd District Court.

"I wonder what they base that on. It's unknown to me," he said.

The joint indictment charges that Giles and Sheffield unlawfully conspired on or about Dec. 16, 1953, and entered into a positive agreement "to unlawfully and fraudulently take $83,500 in lawful money of the State of Texas from the possession of the said State of Texas" without the state's consent.

The land deal in connection with which the two men were indicted was in Dimmitt County in South Texas.

Also indicted on a charge of theft of $83,500 from the state as the seller of some 400 acres to 12 veterans in that deal was L. V. Ruffin, Brady land dealer. Date of the sale was Feb. 17, 1954, two months after the alleged conspiracy between Giles and Sheffield.

Ruffin, who was indicted by the Travis County Grand Jury on 19 veteran land fraud counts, was arrested in Brady today and posted $40,000 bond.

Sheffield had not yet been arrested this morning, and his exact whereabouts was not known.

Giles' attorney said he understood the penalty on conviction of the charge against Giles and Sheffield is a two to five year sentence.

Giles resigned as land commissioner Jan. 1, about six weeks after investigation of the 100 million dollar veterans land program became public knowledge.

One of Texas' best known public officials after serving eight consecutive two-year terms beginning Jan. 1, 1939, Giles declined to qualify for his ninth term.

Giles is the first public official to be indicted in connection with the land scandal.

Ten others, including Sheffield and Ruffin, have been indicted. The exact number of indictments against Sheffield is not yet known.

Public School Week To Open

Monday brings the beginning of Public School Week in Big Spring.

While there may be some special displays of work in the lower grades, there will be no special activities. The emphasis will be on visitation. Supt. W. C. Blankenship once more urged patrons to visit their schools.

"Every day's schedule this week will be a perfectly normal one," he said. "You will see the classes as they function normally. If parents would like conferences with teachers of their children, I am sure that teachers will be happy to arrange them.

"Go to any school, any class, any time Monday through Thursday and make yourself at home. The schools belong to you and we want you to see them under regular conditions of operation. We would like very much for parents to register so we may have a record of visits for the week."

Schools will be closed Friday when teachers go to the annual West Texas Teachers Association meeting in Lubbock.

Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

Well, it was a nice spring while it lasted. Temperatures skidded about 20 degrees during Saturday on the strength of a north wind that was more persistent than punishing. All week the weather has been lazy like. No wonder some foliage and blossoms have been putting out bravely.

Howard County 4-H feeders came in for some national publicity with a series of pictures in Life Magazine in the past week's issue. In addition to getting a glimpse of how the 4-H van serves as a transport and a home for young exhibitors, readers also learned a bit about the members' extraordinary record over the years.

For a starter, the manufacturers exhibit which ended Saturday must be accounted a definite success. Hundreds viewed the displays, and most were pleasantly surprised at the great variety of products turned out here. Better still, exhibitors were talking in terms of a bigger show next year.

Cotton producers in this area last week came up with some formulae which they hope to get congress to enact as the basis of acreage allotment relief following severe drought. The big hazzard there is that most congressmen don't realize how dry it has been out this way.

Frank Grandstaff, who tapped out a cantata by the name of "Big Spring" while in solitary confinement, had a short sojurn in the bastile. He was picked up on an extradition warrant charging parole violation, but he was freed under $1,000 bond on a habeas corpus proceednig. Grandstaff said he had served all his time, hence had no obligation to report to a parole officer.

Oil developments were in the steady class. Perhaps most noteworthy was location of the Wilbanks & Rutter No. 1 Milhollon four miles east of Stanton. Randell No. 1 Munn completed as a Strawn discovery in northeastern Sterling.

Bowling was the order of the week. Webb AFB entertained the Southwestern tournament for Air Force personnel. Saturday, Cosden's 12th annual sweepstakes was in full swing downtown.

County commissioners, in a 3-1 decision, snuffed out the revaluation proposal for county purposes. They said no more revenues were needed just now and that they didn't feel there were any particular inequities in assessments.

* * *

Ynez Yanez, veteran manager of the Tigers baseball team, will be missed by more than sports fan.

Cold Front Puts End To 'Summer'

By The Associated Press

A moderate cold front swept two-thirds of the way across Texas Saturday and sharply lowered the summer-like temperatures that had prevailed ahead of it earlier in the day.

The cold wave hit the Panhandle early in the day and brought minor snow flurries and brief freezing drizzle in some areas.

Saturday night the front extended from south of Texarkana to Lufkin, San Antonio, San Angelo and then southwest of El Paso.

The U.S. Weather Bureau at Dallas said that much of the extremely cold air that earlier had been expected to ride the front into the state had been drawn to the east of Texas by a low pressure area.

Temperatures behind the front at 7:30 p.m. ranged from 31 degrees at Dalhart to a warm 78 at San Antonio, just ahead of the front. Other temperatures at that hour included: Childress 38, Amarillo 35, Wichita Falls 44, Lubbock 39, San Angelo 47, Austin 60, Waco 58, Dallas 50, Tyler 63, Lufkin 73 and Texarkana 66.

Ahead of the front, Houston had 70 degrees and Beaumont 76 at 7:30 p.m.

The day's high temperatures ranged from 92 at Laredo and Presidio to 34 at Dalhart. Other maximum readings for the day included: Amarillo 36, Lubbock 51, El Paso 76.

PAHOA, Hawaii, March 5 (AP)—A volcano expert today recommended the evacuation of this city, one of the largest on the island of Hawaii, as spectacular lava rivers inched toward the ocean from prolonged eruptions.

No Settlement Is Sighted In School Fuss At Irving

IRVING, Tex., March 5 (AP)—There was a lot of talk—from both sides—on how to end a school board-teacher row that has parents and students split and lined up behind each faction.

But today there was no clear sign that any settlement to the five-day old fuss was in sight.

The schools have been operating with newly hired teachers and those backing the school board said everything was normal.

Supporters of teachers who objected to what they said were "intolerable" conditions said everything wasn't normal.

The walkout five days ago came over the earlier firing of the school superintendent, Dr. John L. Beard.

The school board said it fired Beard because he wouldn't cooperate.

Beard said politics of last summer's gubernatorial campaign was the reason he was sacked.

Some 100 teachers and other school personnel walked out because they said the firing of Beard and refusal of the board to hold a public hearing on the matter "climaxed" a list of "intolerable" conditions under which they worked.

A spokesman for the school board said tonight that 65 new teachers had been hired and other vacancies would be filled by Monday morning. "We are on the road to recovery," he said.

Four Incumbents File For Places On C-City Council

COLORADO CITY — Four of Colorado City's councilmen had filed for reelection Friday night, according to Roy Dozier, city manager, with the fourth expected to file before closing time Saturday at midnight.

The four councilmen, whose terms expire in April are Mayor R. B. Baker, Lawrence Ruddick, O. L. Simpson, and L. J. Taylor.

The election was set for April 5 at the last meeting of the council.

Supper Series To Be Resumed

Big Spring and Gay Hill men will get together Tuesday evening in a resumption of the Neighborhood Supper series.

In the pattern practiced before World War II, Tuesday's affair will see Gay Hill as the site of the session but with Big Spring men having the Gay Hill residents as their guests.

Jim Fryar, chairman of the intercity relation committee, said that he anticipated a large turnout.

Program for the evening will be furnished by Mrs. Elaine Boyd and some of her pupils. In addition, the Howard County Junior College male quartet, composed of Dennis Phillips, Dell Phillips, R. B. Hall and James Smith.

Master of ceremonies will be Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church.

Tickets should be secured at the Chamber of Commerce office, each person going from here to acquire two tickets—one for himself and one for his guest. At Gay Hill those attending will pair off so that there will be one member of the community and one visitor from Big Spring together.

Fryar said there would be ample transportation, and he suggested that those who want rides be at the Chamber offices in the Permian Building not later than 6:45 p.m. Tuesday. There will be no speaking at the meeting.

Wisconsin Officers Not Expected For Grandstaff Hearing

Law enforcement officials from Wisconsin probably will not be in Big Spring for the habeas corpus hearing slated March 25 for Frank Grandstaff, said Sheriff Jess Slaughter.

Slaughter was in telephone conversation with an official of the Wisconsin Attorney General's office Saturday. The official stated that all the information which his office had was contained in the extradition papers sent here.

Grandstaff has stated that he will "fight down to the wire" to avoid extradition to Wisconsin, where he is wanted on a parole violation charge.

Grandstaff, 53, is the man who wrote the Big Spring Cantata while in prison.

DEADLINE PASSES

Ward Hall Enters Commission Race

Ward Hall, local businessman and residential developer, threw his hat in the ring Saturday as a candidate in the April 5 City Commission election.

His announcement followed that of the two incumbents, Mayor G. W. Dabney and Commissioner Willard Sullivan.

The three were the only candidates to file with the city clerk prior to the Saturday midnight deadline. Two places are to be filled on the commission during the coming election.

Hall, who said he had been urged to run by friends, filed as a candidate about noon Saturday. He stated that if elected he would work in the interest of the people for the prosperity of the city.

"I am not a politician, and I have no particular platform," he said.

Hall, who has been in business here since 1929, is co-owner of the Westex Wrecking Company, 1608 E. 3rd, and developer of the Hall Addition in east Big Spring.

He is married to the former Nell Davis, who as Mrs. Hall worked for about 19 years in the county clerk's office, and they own their home at 1600 Runnels. They have a daughter, Linda.

Hall came to Big Spring to work in the oil fields during the boom years, but he soon took a job with the State Highway Department in this area. He was state inspector when both Highway 80 and Highway 87 were under development here.

After several years with the Highway Department, he started operation of Hall Wrecking Company, at the same site as Westex. This venture was discontinued when he went into the service, however.

He served as an aircraft maintenance man at the old Big Spring Bombardier School between 1942 and 1945 and was discharged a sergeant.

After discharge he and Ben McCullough established the Estex Wrecking Company, and he later sold out to McCullough. Last week, however, he and Leon Cole purchased the business back.

Hall also had an interest in Pruitt Concrete Company here between 1952 and 1954. Development of the Hall Addition got under way last year, and houses are now being constructed.

Top 'Personality Babies' Will Be Chosen, With $370 Cash Offered

Top personality baby for 1955? There'll be one selected, in a photo contest to start next week, with The Herald and Barr Photocenter as sponsors.

A total of $370 in cash prizes will be offered.

The winning personality baby receives $100 in cash. First, second and third place winners in each of three age groups will receive cash awards of $50, $25 and $15 each.

Pictures of every baby entering the contest will appear in a special Baby Annual section of The Herald on April 24, as a feature of National Baby Week.

The contest is open to all white babies. Only stipulation is that photos for the contest judging must be made at Barr Photocenter, 311 Runnels, during times specified.

Taking of pictures will start Monday, March 14, and will follow this schedule according to age groups:

Babies from three months through 18 months — pictures made Monday, March 14, through Saturday, March 19.

Babies from 19 months through 3 years — pictures made Monday March 21, through Saturday, March 26.

Children from 4 through 5 years — pictures made Monday, March 28, through Saturday, April 2.

Parents will be given a choice of prints from which to select the picture for Herald publication, and will be required to pick this print within a week after pictures are made.

There will be an entry fee of $1.50 per child. This is to defray special production costs in connection with the publication of the Baby Annual in The Herald. There is no other obligation of any kind. There is a simple registration form for name, address, and age of child.

Judging for the cash awards will be done by an out-of-town board of professional photographers and newspaper editors, with the group seeing the children's photos by number only. Their decision will be final.

Parents are advised to plan ahead of time to take children to Barr Photocenter during the days specified for certain ages. No advance reservations will be accepted, and pictures will be made in order of appearance.

It is expected that hundreds of babies' photos will be made for the Baby Annual, and it is certain that judges will be confronted with a well-nigh impossible task

DO IT YOURSELF — Provincial Breakfront Real Addition To Home

By BILL BAKER

Today I want to tell you about something special — a handsome provincial breakfront. I think you'll agree that it is the most beautiful piece of furniture that has ever been offered on a do-it-yourself basis.

I've made the provincial breakfront design available in my new pattern number 141. I'll tell you more about how you'll be able to build a copy for yourself, but first I'd like to tell you something about the piece itself.

The breakfront is very massive—almost six feet tall. At the floor it measures 48 inches by 19 inches.

Two large storage areas are found in the lower part of the cabinet, behind double doors. Above these are two deep drawers. Then there is a step-back which adds a useful shelf. The breakfront is 31 inches high at this level.

Here's your chance to get a copy of Bill Baker's provincial breakfront pattern — the most sensational design we've yet offered in this series. To get your copy send your name and address (clearly printed), together with one dollar and fifty cents ($1.50) in check, cash or money order, to Bill Baker, Big Spring Herald, P. O. Box 1111, Los Angeles 53, California. Be sure to ask for pattern number 141.

Two additional drawers and three wide shelves form the upper part of the cabinet, offering more storage and display space than you could wish for.

If your home is of Early American or provincial design, this breakfront will naturally fit right in. And even if your place is strictly modern you'll be able to find a spot for this piece because it forms an ideal accent item for the otherwise plain room.

Decorative Piece

You'll be proud to move this provincial breakfront into your home. The handsome piece is Bill Baker's new do-it-yourself design. And it's easy to build, too.

I told you that you'd be able to build a copy of this breakfront — and you will. It is really easy to build, and you'll be able to add it to your home for a small fraction of the cost it would take to purchase one in a custom furniture shop.

In the pattern package you'll find an easy-to-follow instruction sheet which will be your guide. A full material list is also included.

The thing that makes the design easy to build is the exact-size paper pattern pieces that form the most important part of the package. With these you'll be able to tack, trace, cut and assemble with no chance of error.

Only basic shop tools will be needed. A coping saw will see you through the curved sections, or you can have this phase of the job done at the lumberyard.

And when the breakfront is finished, move it into your home. In the dining room, living room or hall — no matter where you place it — you'll find that it brings a note of charm to your home.

St. Augustine, Fla. was founded in 1565.

Research Part Of Answer To State Hospital Overload

AUSTIN, March 5 (AP)—The state's six mental hospitals were 57 per cent overcrowded as of June 30, 1954, and the condition is expected to worsen, the Texas Research League said today.

Relief lies primarily in more effective training and use of hospital personnel and in research, rather than in building more "human warehouses" for purely custodial care of the patients, the league said.

It also asked repeal of outmoded laws which hamper efforts to move curable or cured patients more rapidly. Several efforts to remedy these laws are pending in the Legislature.

The league is a privately-financed organization that makes studies of state agencies at their request. It made a detailed survey of the hospital system.

The six mental hospitals have 14,552 patients and a total rated bed capacity of 8,865, the league said. Experience indicates that there may be as many as 21,000 patients by 1960 and 27,000 by 1970.

New Politician

NEW DELHI, India, March 5 (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru's daughter, Mrs. Indira Gandhi, entered politics this week as a member of the governing Congress party's executive committee. The party's president, U. N. Debar, nominated her for membership.

Cannon Drops Opposition To Supercarrier

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP)—Rep. Cannon (D-Mo) today withdrew his opposition to construction of a fifth supercarrier and announced he will support President Eisenhower's military budget without change.

The chairman of the House Appropriations Committee said that "we must have complete unanimity" and show "our allies and our enemies that we are perfecting every possible weapon."

Cannon made it clear he still believes supercarriers are too vulnerable to atomic attack to be worth the money. But his announcement apparently took the steam out of a prospective fight over the Navy's requests for 197 million dollars to build a fifth, 60,000-ton carrier like the recently launched Forrestal. He is the most influential of several congressional critics.

The House Armed Services Committee, once scheduled to hold full-scale hearings on the feasibility of the supercarriers as the result of Cannon's reported opposition, now will consider the Navy's 1¼ billion shipbuilding program in a one-day hearing Monday.

The measure, for the year ending in mid-1956, provides for construction of 34 new warships and modernization of another 28. Included are three atom-powered submarines and the new supercarrier, which the Navy proposes to christen the USS Congress.

Cannon was instrumental in getting funds eliminated for a super-carrier a few years ago, but later Congress voted them.

Beer Tax Hearing Set For Monday

AUSTIN, March 5 (AP)—No public hearing has been set for Monday on Rep. Jerry Sadler's bill taxing "combustible condensates."

The Associated Press erroneously reported last week that the bill had been set for hearing at 2:30 p.m. Monday March 7. The Monday hearing is on Sadler's bill to tax beer $3.30 per barrel.

Wayland College Lectures Slated

PLAINVIEW — Wayland College will have Dr. Culbert G. Rutenber, Philadelphia, Pa., patiosopher and author as its second annual guest lecturer for the Willson Lectures on Applied Christianity, March 14-18, according to President A. Hope Owen.

Dr. Rutenber is professor of philosophy of religion at Eastern Baptist Theological Seminary and is internationally known as a lecturer to youth groups.

A list of places where he has lectured or preached to young people reads like a college handbook because it includes colleges from the East Coast to the West Coast. # A-Data Exchange Still Is Forbidden

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP)—Top U.S. officials believe a greater exchange of atomic information with Britain would be profitable to both countries. But they are a long way from swapping secrets about how to manufacture hydrogen bombs or other weapons.

Informants said today that if trading of hydrogen bomb information is what the British are aiming for now they are heading for disappointment. However, they also said that realistic British officials are undoubtedly too familiar with the U.S. attitude to be really optimistic about the chances for such a swap.

The fact is that the United States, Britain and Canada have been slowly rebuilding a solid but limited cooperation on atomic matters since the low point of several years ago, when one of Britain's top atomic scientists, Klaus Fuchs, proved to be a spy for Russia and another, Dr. Bruno Pontecorvo, disappeared behind the Iron Curtain.

In keeping with this cooperation, a British military team has been invited here to witness test explosions of atomic weapons at the Nevada proving rounds. A Canadian team of army, navy and air force atomic experts also will attend the firings, which are known as military evaluation tests.

The U.S. government is also considering inviting observers from other countries to see Nevada weapons tests. Eventually it is expected that teams from all the NATO Allies will come here. Italy, Belgium and France may be among those also receiving invitations.

For about a year the United States has been giving Britain information on the effects of atomic weapons. Such information is useful, for example, in studying civilian defense problems.

In addition, under a new law passed last year negotiations have been in progress on an agreement under which the British and Canadians would receive information about the use of atomic weapons. For example, they may be told the size of various types of weapons, the tactical purposes which they would serve in war and the means of delivery.

But the law still flatly forbids disclosure of any information on the manufacture of atomic weapons or their number.

List Of Defense Contracts Asked

By ED CREAGH

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP)—The Senate's stock market investigators asked the Pentagon today for a list of 100 companies which had big defense contracts in 1954.

Chairman Fulbright (D-Ark) said the purpose is to help his Senate Banking Committee determine what effect defense spending may be having on the 18-month-old bull market in corporation stocks.

Fulbright and other committee members have suggested in the public hearings which began last Thursday that the government may be subsidizing the price boom to some extent through defense payments to some pace-setting corporations.

Their idea is that the awarding of big contracts to a company may make its stock more attractive to investors, thus causing its price to rise and perhaps contributing to the general market upswing.

The committee asked the Defense Department for the total value of military contracts awarded to General Motors and a number of aircraft, electronics, shipbuilding and other firms doing defense work.

Cambodia, Potential Red Buffer, Starts To Unravel

By JOHN RODERICK

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia, March 5 (AP)—The little Buddhist kingdom of Cambodia, which the United States hopes to build up as a buffer state against further spread of Asiatic communism, is undergoing its most critical period since the end of World War II.

Secretary of State Dulles had said only five days ago that of the three countries of Indochina, Cambodia seemed the most stable and the best bet to stand off the Red threat.

There was everything in the country's favor—its Buddhist religion which finds communism unpalatable, its relative prosperity and its young King Norodom Sihanouk, one of the most enlightened monarchs in Asia.

Dulles noted the United States, France and Cambodia were discussing aid and training for the royal army of about 40,000 men to make it tougher and more mobile.

Little more than 48 hours after Dulles' visit, King Sihanouk abdicated. The stable structure Dulles had seen tumbled.

The stunned and bewildered country now is virtually leaderless. Sihanouk's 59-year-old father, Prince Suramarit, who has ascended the throne, lacks experience in affairs of state. In addition, he is suffering from diabetes.

The government headed by Premier Leng Ngeth is a weak one named only a few weeks ago as an interim body pending result of the scheduled April 17 elections. The nation's ablest men, former Premier Pen Nouth, Sam Sary and Kim Tit, are on the sidelines mending their political fences.

(A French News Agency dispatch from Saigon said Premier Ngeth handed in his resignation Saturday but was asked to form a new government.)

Without its younger ruler, the fabric of Cambodian political life has been revealed as of poor quality and likely to unravel in shreds at the slightest wear and tear.

The U. S. death rate in 1954 has been estimated at 9.2 per 1,000 people.

'Open Up Town,' Give It To Young Folks Is Advice

To the Editor:

See by the paper that Joe Pickle has gone off the handle again with "WHO CAN DO BETTER THAN WE?" The Answer to Your Question Is Simple.

Any group of people with more brains than the people have who live in Big Spring could do a better job than what is being done right now. The reason Big Spring is being run by local people is due to the fact that you won't give an outsider an equal chance to compete with the best jobs in this city.

There is only one way to find out who have the most brains, put an outsider from any large size city in charge of any department handled by a local braintruster and I am positive you would see an improvement in a matter of months much less than years. It took Big Spring politicians eight years to get a small size road built, and it is a half-baked job if ever there was one pulled over the eyes of the tax payers.

No one migrates from Big Spring to seek adventure; they move out because you have a dead town with dead heads running it. Put the two together and you have the right reason why people get out. Take the re-enlistment record at Webb Air Force Base and you will get an eye full of why men go elsewhere to enlist. Don't be blind, Joe, take a look at the cars loaded with men from the base going to Midland, San Angelo and other nearby towns and then look and see how many stay here in Big Spring. How can you hold young men in a one horse town when it only has one bowling alley and nothing else for entertainment that young people are use to.

You are so right when you stated, about being a good idea to get out of the young peoples' way and let them do some thinking for the town. The average business man in this town has old ideas when it comes to pleasure, unless you mean hitting the booze bottle or chasing other men's wives or the wives chasing someone else's husband.

If you want people to remain here, wake the place up and the Chamber of Commerce in particular. Why don't you have a junior C. of C. and give the young men an opportunity to show what they can do. This will prove to the old braintrusters that youth also has brains. In the end the old dumb thinkers could meet in the Settles Hotel every week or so and have fun doing the things they could not do at home.

Give Big Spring to the young people, if you want them to stay here and open up the town if you want the base to spend their money here. Keep the cops off the enlisted man's neck and he may learn to appreciate the place.

Sincerely yours,
JOSEPH DYER

McMurry Sets Lecture Series

ABILENE — Methodist ministers and other friends of McMurry College in Abilene and throughout the Northwest Texas and New Mexico Methodist Conferences have been invited to attend the 10th annual Willson Lectures on Christian life service, to be delivered March 8-11 on the McMurry campus.

Speakers for the lectures will be Dr. Edwin Lewis of Mendham, N. J., noted theological professor; and Dr. Kenneth W. Copeland, pastor of the Travis Park Methodist Church of San Antonio.

Dr. Harold G. Cooke, McMurry president, said that each of the lecturers will give six major addresses during the four-day meeting.

Theme for Dr. Copeland's lectures will be "Unshaken Foundations in a Shaking World." Dr. Lewis will base his messages on the theme, "Faith of Our Sons."

Dr. Lewis, a native of England, was for 35 years a professor of theology and philosophy of religion at Drew Theological Seminary. He retired from Drew in 1951, and has since taught at the Temple School of Theology in Philadelphia.

Dr. Copeland, whose church in San Antonio has 4,600 members to rank as one of the 10 largest Methodist congregations in the nation, has delivered religious lectures at the University of Texas, Southwestern University, Southern Methodist University, Oklahoma A&M College, Texas A&M, and other colleges.

J. M. Willson, Floydada businessman, established and endowed the Willson Lectures at McMurry College in 1946.

Tuberculosis Cases Appear On Decline

AUSTIN, March 5 (AP)—There were 3,704 new cases of tuberculosis reported in Texas in 1954—the smallest annual figure in 10 years, the State Health Department said today.

The disease still represents an important communicable disease problem, the department said. It quoted the State Hospital Board as saying there are no longer "long waiting lists" for entrance to state tuberculosis hospitals.

'Local Bills' For Midland Submitted

AUSTIN — Rep. Louis Anderson of Midland this week introduced two bills of local application in Midland County.

One would authorize the district attorney in the special district court there to hire, with the approval of the county commission, a special investigator. His salary would be paid by the county.

The other would be statewide in application but actually is presented to cover a specific situation in his home district. It would prepare the legal groundwork for the leasing of Midland County Hospital to the county, which could float bonds and enlarge the plant.

Says Check Other Sections Of City

To the Editor:

Some white people think that the Northside is the worst part of town. They don't stop to think that the South, West and East are a little worse. Only they don't see it on that side.

Here on the Northside we can't even go out on the street cause there is always some white men ready to follow you and ask for a date. Some of them will even knock on doors and ask if we know where they could find a date—and just think of it, some of them are even married.

And about the VD diseases, they think it all comes from the Northside. Well, you are wrong. If you want to know just go to the hospitals and ask the doctors which race goes more for VD, the Latins or the Anglos, and you'll find out if I'm wrong.

Showdown Day Near On State Money Problem

AUSTIN, March 5 (AP)—Showdown Day on exactly how much more money will be needed to run Texas' government the next two years, and who will have to dig it up, is just around the corner.

Finishing touches are being put on House and Senate versions of the major spending bills, and their introduction may come this week.

Hearings on major tax bills begin Monday as the state's general revenue fund sags deep into the red, underscoring the current and future fiscal crisis.

The general fund—the one from which most state workers' salaries are paid—had a current deficit of more than three million dollars today, although it is expected to bounce back somewhat later this spring when tax collections step up. But Gov. Shivers has warned the Legislature that this big all-purpose money pool is in danger of disappearing.

Lawmakers in weekend recess also were mulling over a warning from Rep. Max Smith, of San Marcos, chairman of the key House Appropriations Committee and an administration spokesman, that they face the gloomy prospect of a bigger-than-expected tax bill. Gov. Shivers said 135 million dollars will be needed in new money.

House and Senate Finance Committees are faced with so many demands for state services that seem vital that it is going to take "a lot" of new money just to fill those essential needs, Smith told the House.

Meanwhile, Gov. Shivers says he is not worried about the Legislature getting its major jobs done within the 120 days limit of the 54th session.

The major jobs are: Financing essential state services and deciding how the money will be divided up, working out a better system of water-saving laws, insurance reform, tighter veterans land administration. Included in the spending category are such questions as how much will be spent for state hospital improvements, how much will be spent on junior and senior colleges, how much will be spent on highway improvements.

The halfway mark of the session comes next week, March 11.

At that time, there will be a slowdown in the number of bills introduced and a step-up in floor consideration. Strict rules under which the Senate has been operating have forbidden debate on controversial issues during the first 60 days. After then, the door is wide open and fast action is expected.

Borden Reeder Wins Honors

GAIL (SC) — Borden Reeder, Gail FFA student, was named outstanding showman of the Borden County Livestock Show yesterday.

He was the top money winner, showing the grand champion lamb, a Shropshire, and the reserve champion, a finewool. He also showed the reserve champion swine female.

Reeder was given his title by Jack Burkhalter, Mitchell County agent and judge of the show.

Grand champion barrow was a Duroc shown by Jerry Staggs of the 4-H Club. The reserve champ, a heavyweight Hampshire, was shown by James Telchiks, also of the 4-H Club.

Borden Gray Jr., a 4-H member, showed the grand champion and reserve champion calves, and he was awarded the showmanship trophy in the cattle division.

Other showmanship awards went to Glen Kingston, FFA and 4-H member who participated in the swine show, and Chuck Lewis, FFA member who entered the sheep show. Lewis had the first place crossbred lamb.

Norman Ledbetter showed the champion dairy cow, and Shorty Farmer had the reserve champ. Both boys are members of the FFA and 4-H. It was Ledbetter's swine female which edged Reeder's for the grand champion.

Winning places in the pen of five fine wool lambs were Steve Dennis, first; Lonnie Doyle, second; and Joel Dennis, third.

Clinton Ritter, herdsman at Texas Tech and judge, said quality of animals were unusually high and that many would do well in larger shows. There was no sale. A bake show was held by 4-H girls and Future Homemakers.

Annual SA Advisory Board Meeting Set For Monday

Dan Eddy, civilian public relations man for the Salvation Army in Texas, will address the annual advisory board dinner meeting here Monday evening.

Recipient of the 1954 Jaycee award as the outstanding young man in Dallas, Eddy is no stranger in Big Spring. He helped organize and promote one of the community-wide fund raising campaigns in Big Spring immediately after the war.

Dallas-born, he has confined most of his efforts to his native state. The special award he got last year recognized him for extraordinary contributions to the entire field of charitable organizations.

He heads up 117 service units, where actual posts are not established, serving 223 counties in Texas. In all, Eddy has had a hand in directing something like 500 Salvation Army fund campaigns. He also has taken part in many disaster and other timely projects.

Named to receive honorary degrees at the state meeting in Galveston were Mrs. Dorothy Crockett, Odessa senior high, and Mrs. Grace Mullen, Aspermont, instructors, and Mrs. Dave Posey, Rotan, Monday's meeting also will bring other special guests, Maj. and Mrs. L. W. Canning, under whom the Salvation Army work in Big Spring was reestablished approximately 20 years ago. Maj. and Mrs. Canning, who retired from service here, now reside in Houston but are to be here on a visit with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Canning.

Dr. W. A. Hunt, president of the board, will preside at the meeting. There will be a special presentation, and Lt. Robert and Elaine Hall, in charge of the work at the Dora Roberts Citadel, also will be on the program. Guests will be present from San Angelo and other posts. OFFICERS ELECTED

Area FHA Meeting Attracts 1,000 Girls From 65 Chapters

Future Homemakers, more than 1,100 strong, crowded their annual meeting into busy sessions Saturday, naming Jeffery Kelley, Big Lake, as next president.

They also designated Cynthia Hall, Sonora, retiring president, as the state officer from Area II, and selected her along with Janet Rush, Odessa, current vice president, to represent the area on the state executive council.

There were approximately 1,000 girls from 65 chapters and 60 communities from El Paso to Aspermont, from San Angelo to the Rio Grande. There were more than 100 sponsors and parents. Only four chapters were without representation.

Selection of the next meeting place in March of 1956 will be made by the advisory committee in its May 7 meeting.

Other officers named to begin service on June 1 were Frances Reagan, Big Spring, vice president; Suzy Garibaldi, Odessa, recording secretary; Lucia Melendez, El Paso (Jefferson), corresponding secretary; Martha Roper, New Home, treasurer; Lanny Posey, Rotan, public relations; Wanda Williams, Sterling City, historian; Joan Grosbeeck, El Paso (El Paso Hi), parliamentarian; Deanna Ward, Wilson, song leader.

Named to receive honorary degrees at the state meeting in Galveston were Mrs. Dorothy Crockett, Odessa senior high, and Mrs. Grace Mullen, Aspermont, instructors, and Mrs. Dave Posey, Rotan, chapter mother.

There was a surprisingly large turnout Friday evening for the house of delegates, an estimated 170 being on hand. Similarly, around 500 others took in a talent show handled by Sandy Landau, Big Spring. Chapters from Big Spring (senior and junior high), Roscoe, Midland, Ysleta, Marfa, Gail, Garden City, Snyder, Sonora, Plains, Odessa, Stanton, El Paso, Wilson, Sweetwater, Jayton, Seagraves, presented numbers.

With Cynthia Hall presiding, Saturday morning's session was opened with the invocation, "The Lord's Prayer," led by Anita Allen, Ysleta. Patsy Holder, Kermit, conducted the roll call. Greetings came from W. C. Blankenship, superintendent of Big Spring schools, and Bud Hale, Lamesa, state vice president of the Future Fathers of America. Noranne Allen, El Paso, responded, and Nancy Everett, O'Donnell, introduced guests. Janet Rush, Odessa, reported on the national meeting at Daytona Beach.

Two morning highlights were a review of Louise Baker's "Snips and Snails," by Mrs. Clyde Angel, and an address on "Stepping Stones to Happy Homes" by Dr. P. D. O'Brien, First Baptist pastor. He developed the theme of the meeting, the words being mounted in cutout letters the width of the stage.

Following the afternoon style show, Mrs. Grace Mullen, Aspermont, announced FHA degrees of achievement. Sue Boykin, Big Spring sang, and the Reagan County chapter, under sponsorship of Mrs. Jo Alice Poehler, gave the parliamentary procedure demonstration. Beverley Garner and the Texas Tech Home Economics Club group developed the idea of careers in homemaking. Patsy Holder's quick resume of the house of delegates activities preceded and introduction of the honorary members by Martha English of Sweetwater. Miss Hall, leading a ritual of roses, then installed the new officers, turning the gavel over to Jeffery Kelley.

Mrs. Elizabeth F. Smith, Big Spring, area supervisor for home and family life education, urged prompt registration for the state parley. She also gave warm acknowledgement to Nancy Annen, Roberta Wiley and Edna McGregor, local homemaking teachers, for arrangements. Members of the Big Spring chapters served as ushers and guides. Members flocked here in two dozen school and commercial buses and a fleet of private cars.

AT STYLE SHOW

Girls' Dress Creations Approved By Spectators

By ANNE LeFEVER

Against a backdrop of white grillwork entwined with vines and red roses, Future Homemakers of America paraded their dress creations to an appreciative audience Saturday afternoon.

Models entered through an archway, and the first on was Frances Holmes, who displayed her dress of coral cotton with fitted bodice and full skirt. She then acted as commentator for the style show.

Girls who had made lounging and play wear were the first models. Some showed original creations, which brought "ohs" and "ahs" from their audience. A goucho suit of black and white cotton was especially well-received.

Cottons in plain and print made up the next group of styles in casual and street dresses. Corduroy and rayon cotton were used for fabrics in weskits and sheaths.

Next in the show came the date dresses, with fitted bodices, full skirts held out with crinolines and fresh touches of white at collars and cuffs or at the neckline.

An all-season frock of navy, made of tulle, 35 yards of it, in fact, could be changed from a winter formal to one for spring wear by the addition of tiny white flowers on the very full skirt. A diagonal band of the flowers across the shoulder is removable.

Another original was the formal of taffeta and nylon net in a copper shade. A fitted bodice was attached to a very full skirt, worn over hoops and ending in a dust ruffle. For the evening dresses, fabrics were cottons, satin, net, in cotton and nylon, and tulle. Lengths varied from ballerina to floor-length.

Chapters participating in the style show were from Austin, Bowie, El Paso and Jefferson, all of El Paso; Van Horn and Ysleta.

No One Hurt In 6 Car Mishaps

Police reported six minor automobile mishaps here Friday and Saturday, and apparently none of the participants were injured.

Most unusual of Friday's four mishaps was the one which occurred in City Park about 11:20 p.m. Edgar Phillips Shivers, Webb AFB, was driving a car which struck a curb and broke the rear axle.

Two wrecker service companies were contacted before the car could be pulled away.

At 5:25 p.m. in the 700 block of Goliad, cars driven by D. R. Thomas, 500 Eleventh Place, and Billie Cain Carr, Albuquerque, were in collision. Melvin E. Mexson, 108 Mobile, and Evie Holloman Eastham, 1015 Nolan, were drivers whose cars collided at Ninth and Lancaster about 3:55 p.m.

The other Friday accident occurred at 1:55 p.m. at the intersection of Fourth and Gregg. Drivers were R. V. Foresyth, who was operating a city pickup, and Henry Clay Christy 1101 E. 3rd.

Saturday's first accident came at 3:10 p.m. in the 400 block of Runnels. Cars operated by Melvin Arthur Brown, 705 E. 14th, and Jimmy Ray West, Webb, were in collision.

The other Saturday collision was at Sixth and Gregg Streets about 6 p.m. Drivers involved were Emmet Richardson, 1002 E. 12th, and Luther M. Gidding, Chickasha, Okla.

System Of Security Firing Is Revised

By JACK ADAMS

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP)—The Eisenhower administration revised the controversial system of security firings today. It said its aim is to assure "fair and impartial treatment" of suspected federal workers.

The new rules, which did not go as far as many critics demanded were drafted by Atty. Gen. Brownell and aides. President Eisenhower directed that they be put into effect.

Aimed at uniform procedure throughout the executive branch, the rules provide among other things:

Charges should be "specific enough to be meaningful to employes." There have been complaints that in some cases charges were so general that the accused could not draft a defense.

Various agencies should take steps to "avoid conflicting evaluations." This was aimed at the case of Wolf Ladejinsky, tabbed a security risk by one agency and cleared by two others.

The new regulations provide that hereafter when an agency head decides to take adverse action against an employe previously cleared in another agency, he should first consult with the head of the other agency.

The security program revisions carry forward the long standing practice of concealing, in many cases, the identity of secret accusers in security investigations. But they provide that "every effort should be made to produce witnesses at security board hearings in behalf of the government so that such witnesses may be confronted and cross-examined by the employe so long as the production of such witnesses would not jeopardize the national security."

In place of the procedures independently followed by various departments and agencies heretofore, the new uniform course of action provides that:

1. A statement of charges, drawn as specifically as possible consistent with national security, be presented the employe when he is suspended. The charges should be "specific enough to be meaningful to the employe."

2. "Meticulous care" be taken in suspensions, which should be preceded by a personal interview with the employe after consultation with the agency's general counsel to establish the sufficiency of grounds for suspension.

3. A legal officer should be present at security board hearings to assure proper procedure and to advise the employe on his legal rights if he does not have private counsel.

4. The agency head should periodically review the list of persons available from that agency for service on hearing boards "in order to assure the high caliber" of such boards. In the Eisenhower security program, the employe is given a hearing before fellow government employes supplied by another department or agency.

5. "Whenever an agency head proposes to make an adverse security evaluation with respect to a person who has been cleared previously in another agency, he should consult promptly with the head of the other agency to make certain that all relevant information has been given consideration and that the security standards have been properly applied.

6. "Even though the statute does not provide subpoena power for witnesses, every effort should be made to produce witnesses to testify in behalf of the government so that such witnesses may be confronted and cross-examined by the employe, so long as the production of such witnesses would not jeopardize the national security."

Oil Fire Victim Still Critical At Colorado City

COLORADO CITY—Robert Cook, 30, Winters, was holding his own here Saturday night, but his physician at the Root Memorial Hospital described his condition as still extremely critical.

Cook was one of 12 burned when an oil line broke during treatment of an oil well fire 30 miles southeast of here Wednesday. Cecil Bentley, Silver, died Thursday night of burns. More than 80 per cent of Cook's skin surface was burned.

Other victims still hospitalized include Lem Nations, 31, Abilene, Joe Tillman, 58, Abilene, and William Waddell, 33, Winters. Waddell, severely burned across the back, is no longer thought to be in serious condition.

Hub Caps Stolen

Mrs. George W. Robertson, 1611 State, told police that two hub caps were stolen from her Oldsmobile Friday.

These Future Homemakers of America turned out en masse Saturday for the Area II meeting. They were a nice group and so orderly that you would scarcely believe that more than a thousand of them were our guests.

Those loud moans from southeast Big Spring may have been coming from Capt. and Mrs. A. C. Adcock. Together, they had worked out a solution to the Herald's cashword puzzle but neither turned it in. Then Friday, when no one had won the $100, they compared the solution with theirs—they were the same!

Along with many, many people out at Webb AFB, we regret losing Col. William A. Jones, who had been commander of the Pilot Training Group. Col. Jones has been assigned to Turkey. He excelled both as a gentleman and an officer.

Jess Talkin'

by Jess Blair

When the underground water trickled down into the ground several eons ago, this immediate area was by-passed. At least the big pools have always been found elsewhere. Now, however, the little wells in Howard County are coming in steadily. There are eleven small ones around Lomax, most of which have been drilled since last summer.

Tommy Newman, who lives near the Lomax store, has two small ones which will average about 200 gallons per minute. He plans to use sprinkler systems and figures on irrigating about 40 or 50 acres of cotton.

His brother Ralph has the largest one thus far. It is a 360 gallon well which was put down last July. He didn't start watering until the middle of the month and cotton was already burning, but he made over a bale to the acre.

Tommy says most of the irrigation farmers plan to use fertilizer in order to make the highest possible yield on the small acreage they can water. He says the water out there is in a tight formation and that pumping the wells too heavily lowers the water table temporarily. He thinks by pumping his wells at about three-fourths capacity, he can make the season without giving them a rest.

A new problem is confronting the irrigation farmers in the Courtney community west of Stanton. It is leaf spot, and was so bad last summer that several fields suffered a 50 per cent loss.

Melton Glendening who farms southwest of Tarzan says it also cut down on his yield. So far it has been found mostly on fields which were irrigated with sprinkler systems.

"We don't have any where we watered down the row," he said. "It seems that once it gets started on the cotton leaves, the water drips from the leaves onto the bolls and contaminates them. We found a lot of bolls with the top side withered and the underside normal."

Glendening thinks the 1517C cotton grown in that area is more susceptible than the shorter staple half-and-half. He said some of the farmers growing the short staple cotton didn't have any leaf spot, although they operated sprinklers.

W. N. Orson, manager of the Tarzan Marketnig Association, says the Texas Experiment Station at Ysleta has developed a new cotton called 1517BR which has resisted leaf spot on the station fields. He is trying to get some of the seed to furnish farmers of Martin County who want to try it.

F. Springer of Tarzan says he has a new kind of grass on his place. It came up last year from an unknown source and spread over part of his pasture. The grass got several inches high and furnished good grazing, even though rainfall was below normal. He thniks perhaps the seed blew in from somewhere as he was not feeding any hay or imported roughage which could have started it. Whatever it is, he wishes some more would start growing, as the native grass is about gone.

G. Tunnell who lives in Stanton but has two farms in the Valley View community thinks it is a good time to get back into the cattle business. He went out of it completely a couple of years ago but now has 30 head he is feeding out.

"In dryland farming I believe the fellow who raises some livestock will come out better than one who grows nothing but cotton," he said. "Putting feed into a cow will bring a bigger price than selling it."

Tunnell is the man who had a flowing well on his land in Sulphur Draw a year or so ago. However, it flowed only 20 or 30 gallons per minute and went dry in a short time. Because of the underground formation, well drillers didn't think acidizing would help it.

A few weeks ago a drilling contractor approached Tunnell and said he could get him a flowing well of sulphur water at 500 feet depth. He said that while it would be unfit for household use, it could be used for irrigation. This man thinks there is a lot of sulphur water in these areas which would be suitable for irrigation.

Tunnell says he plans to investigate the idea further. The first cost would be expensive, but if water flowed or even stood high in the wells, pumping expense might not be any more costly than that of the shallower wells around Tarzan and Stanton.

Man Arrested Here On Odessa Warrant

John Kelley Rhodes of Odessa was apprehended here Friday afternoon as a result of a warrant issued in Odessa alleging felony swindle.

2 Highway Mishaps Listed, None Hurt

Two minor automobile accidents within the area were reported by the Texas Highway Patrol Saturday.

James Robert Chaney of Big Spring, carrying a load of cattle and driving a pickup, turned over at 8:30 a.m. Saturday about 2.4 miles east of Big Spring but Chaney was not injured. The cattle escaped unhurt.

At 1:30 p.m. Saturday, Richard Neal Wilson of Houston turned over four miles out on the Andrews Highway while at the wheel of a truck but he did not suffer injury.

Wilson told patrolmen the accident occurred when his vehicle struck some sand on the shoulder of the road.

B&PW To Sponsor Passion Play Here

The Business & Professional Women of Big Spring will sponsor the showing of the Oberammergau Passion Play here April 13.

The technicolor production, showing scenes around Oberammergau as well as the famous Passion Play itself, will be projected at the City Auditorium. Plans call for a matinee at 4:30 p.m., and there will be continuous showing.

The play actually was filmed in the United States from the original script but uses English dialogue.

Products Exhibit Said Big Success

Big Spring's first manufacturer's exhibit, which drew an estimated 1,500 people, closed last night after a successful three-day stand.

Manufacturers who sponsored displays at the exhibit expressed happiness with the turnout, and Chamber officials said they were well pleased with the results.

The possibility of the exhibit becoming an annual affair was voiced again by Chamber Manager J. H. Greene.

The exhibit was sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce to familiarize the Big Spring people with local manufacturing concerns. Manager Greene pointed out that the exhibitors presented some of the best displays ever to be seen in this area.

There were 16 different displays in the show building, at Fourth and Gregg, and variety show acts were almost continuous.

Sixteen people were presented prizes each evening of the exhibit, ranging from hand bags, hams, and chair covers to cash amounts. The entertainment consisted of local quartets, orchestras, ensembles, and single acts.

The concerns sponsoring displays were Coca-Cola, Cosden Petroleum, Big Spring Glass, Big Spring Mattress, Christensen Boot Shop, Jordan Printing, Cabot Carbon, Phillips Tire, Neel Transfer, Hall Shade and Awning, R. & M. Iron Works, Cactus Paint, Clyde McMahon, Mead's Bakery, Pederson Battery, and United Concrete Pipe Company.

Among the prize winners were Mrs. Lollie Ward, Roy Reeder, R. C. Fitzgerald, Frank Burcham, O. O. Hill, Mrs. John Ray, Virginia Davenport, Elias Bustamente, Dickie DeLeon, Ben Johnson Sr., Donna Johnson, John Cooper, Robert Berry, Curtis Beaird, J. W. Brigance, W. H. Wharton, Marjorie Graham, W. H. Kink, Larry Coker, Maria Elena Sosa, J. D. Barron.

Also, J. E. Wasson, Mrs. J. W. Clark, Jackie Coleman, Oma Buchanan, Wayne Wright, Charles Morris, Mrs. S. L. Lockhart, Mrs. John B. Hardie, Cliff Proffitt, W. C. Garner, Mrs. Doris McClendon, Ken Welch, Donald Lovelady, Eugene Clark, Mrs. Rad Ware, Patsy Jones, and Rad Ware.

NOISY MARTIN AND FURRY FRIEND
. . . Let nature take its course

Farmer Raises Rabbits To Fill Out Cotton Income

By JESS BLAIR

Not many farmers would think of rabbits as a companion to cotton. But R. L. (Noisy) Martin who lives north of Sand Springs has found the two go together very profitably. He raises cotton and feed on his 80-acre farm, but the steady week-after-week income is derived from his New Zealand White rabbits.

He keeps around 600 of these big bunnies, and at present is selling from 65 to 70 weekly to Big Spring grocery stores. He says he could sell a lot more if he had them. They are butchered and cleaned in his kitchen and delivered to the stores as whole carcasses. There they are cut up and put into cartons.

Martin keeps the rabbits in both wood and metal hutches. They are protected from rain and intense sunshine by a flat-top aluminum roof which covers the entire area of hutches.

He got into the rabbit business in 1950. Here is the way he tells it:

"I knew that 80 acres wasn't enough to make a living on anymore, so I had to figure out something besides row crops. Cattle and sheep were out of the picture because they required too much ground. I had always liked to fool with rabbits, so I decided to try my hand at raising them commercially."

Martin bought five does and a buck and began building hutches. He had to build pretty fast, because no animal is more prolific than a rabbit.

Maybe it wasn't quite that simple, because rabbits do require constant care and attention. First, the premises must be kept clean and sanitary at all times.

"There is no animal any cleaner than a rabbit," Martin said. "If the water gets dirty, they will almost starve before they drink it. If the feed gets wet or soured, they won't touch it."

Martin spends about an hour and a half a day tending to the rabbits, besides the extra time required to butcher and dress out the week's supply for the market. He feeds and waters them in the morning, cleaning out hutches and watering pans. Then in the afternoon after his field work is over, he waters them again and checks on each one of the hutches.

He feeds nothing but a factory-mixed rabbit pellet. "You get into trouble trying to feed farm grains or vegetables," he said. "The special pellets have everything in them the rabbit requires."

The does will have five or six litters a year if unrestrained, and each litter will number from seven to 12 baby bunnies. Some rabbit breeders hold the does to about four litters a year if they are selling breeding stock. Martin puts no restrictions on them, because the only handicap in rapid breeding is that it shortens the life of the doe. He usually keeps his best does two and a half years, but has kept a few longer than that.

Many people have tried to raise rabbits and failed. Here is Martin's answer to that: "Most of them go out of the business during hot weather. Rabbits are cold weather animals and can't stand heat. Your losses are heavy during summer unless the animals are kept cool and comfortable. I have a flat aluminum shed over the hutches, and there are a lot of nail holes in it. During the hot part of the day I set the yard sprinkler to where water falls continually on the roof. Some of it leaks through the nail holes, and the wind gives a sort of air-conditioned temperature."

Raising rabbits calls for constant attention; it is no job to turn over to a hired hand. If the good feeding and cleanliness are provided, there are practically no losses from disease, and every bunny ends up as a breeder or in someone's oven.

He sells the rabbits at eight weeks of age when they weigh around four pounds. He butchers twice a week and Mrs. Martin helps clean and dress them. Womanlike, she won't kill one and doesn't watch while he does it.

"She gets attached to them," Martin smiled. "But it doesn't bother me because there is no money in just keeping them."

In the last few months he has tried crossing his New Zealand White with the Californians. The Californian is also a white rabbit but has a black nose, ears and feet. He says the cross is resulting in bigger rabbits and heavier carcasses.

And what of the people who eat rabbits? "Most people buy rabbit meat regularly once they try it," he said. "The stores are selling the rabbits in cartons for about 79 cents a pound. This is cheaper than some meats because the rabbit is all white meat and all the pieces are good eating. It has a high protein content and is as healthful as any meat you can buy. Furthermore it can be cooked in a variety of ways — friend, roasted, in stew or even rabbit pie.

In addition to selling his rabbits for eating, Martin is also getting calls for breeding stock from several places. Recently he sold breeding animals to rabbit fanciers in Brownfield and Brady.

"I intend to keep on raising rabbits," Martin said. "I enjoy the work, the market is good, and the money sure comes in handy —especially to this dry land farmer who has made only one crop in the last four years.

"If it hadn't been for these rabbits, we would have starved off this little farm two or three years ago.

Stock Gains Greatest In Four Months During Week

By RADER WINGET

NEW YORK, March 5 (AP)—Stocks resumed their bull market drive ahead this week after a brief sell-off and pushed up to new peak levels.

There were no fireworks in trading, but the average gain was the greatest in four months.

The market started a recovery from last week with the opening gong Monday and kept right on pushing ahead—sometimes mildly and sometimes strongly, but always forward.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced $3.70 on the week, the widest gain since last November. The average closed at $162.60, highest level in its history.

The rise was strong in major divisions like steels, railroads, motors and oils.

Everyone here was well aware that Senator Fulbright (D-Ark) was conducting a study of the stock market through the Senate Banking Committee. If the market itself was influenced by the hearings, there was no visible indication to which brokers could or would point.

General business news was considered highly favorable for a rise in the stock market. The National Assn. of Purchasing Agents reported order backlogs high. The steel industry cited a rush of business. Leaders in the automobile industry forecast new records of production and sales.

The five most active issues this week on the American Stock Exchange were Webb & Knapp up ¾ on 894,300 shares; General Stores unchanged at 1¾; Nooferrous Metal Products up 1-16 at ⅞; Brazilian Traction up 1⅛ at 9⅝, and Fargo Oils up 7-16 at 2⅝.

The five most active issues this week on the New York Stock Exchange were Graham Paige up ⅝ at 3⅛ on 242,500 shares; Pennsylvania Railroad up 1 at 22⅞; General Motors up 4⅛ at 98; Baldwin-Lima-Hamilton up ¾ at 16½, and Textron up 3 at 10⅞.

Texas Business Down Slightly In January

AUSTIN, March 5 (AP)—Texas business sagged slightly in January after ending 1954 with a strong upswing, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research said today.

The business activity index declined 1 per cent from the December high of 159, reflecting drops in retail sales from the December peak and in building permits.

Bureau Director John R. Stockton said there was no reason to believe, however, that the declines represent anything more than an erratic fluctuation in building and retail activities.

New Servicemen's Center Is Turned Over To Airmen

Big Spring presented its new Servicemen's Center to the military people Friday night.

Brief ceremonies at the new location, 113 East Second Street, marked formal opening of a facility that may serve as downtown lounge and leisure-hour gathering place for Webb Airmen.

With 2,500 square feet of floor space, it is considerably larger than the former Center, has a large lounge area that can be used as reception room and for dancing, a room for ping pong, another for billiards, and another for reading and card games.

Mayor G. W. Dabney tendered a key to the building Friday evening to Col. C. M. Young, WAFB commander, who accepted for the military with word of appreciation for Big Spring's hospitality. Douglas Orme presided over the brief program, which included numbers by the Big Spring High School band.

A small crowd was on hand for the formalities, but later the stream of visitors through the Center gained appreciably in size. Guests were served coffee and cookies by local club women.

During the visiting hours, organ music was played by Mr. Champ Rainwater, Kenda McGibbon and Darlene Agee. Joyce Howard sang songs, and numbers were given by the HCJC quartet. Bill Bodner appeared in an impersonation number, and little girls from the Farrar school appeared in dance routines.

The Center will operate five nights a week, with Thursdays designated for use by colored people. It will be closed on Mondays and Tuesdays.

Removal Of Four Words Would Close Securities Act Loophole

AUSTIN — Four little words in the present Texas Securities Act are largely responsible for the favorable climate in which promotional stock ventures flourish in Texas.

These four words, "by a trust company," provide the loophole through which huge promotional transactions have slipped by a law specifically designed "to prevent the sale of worthless securities."

The loophole is found in Section 3 (o) of the present Securities Act, which lists transactions that are exempt from the act. Included are those "by a trust company."

Plugging this loophole by omitting the four words, "by a trust company," is one of the most significant changes proposed in Senate Bill 149 and its House companion, House Bill 163.

The "trust company" exemption is being exploited by Texas promoters in this manner:

First, the promoter gets an idea. He needs money, so he decides to form a corporation to raise the necessary capital.

He sells subscriptions in his proposed company. Subscriptions are contracts to buy shares when the corporation is formed. Assume he sells subscriptions or shares of stock for $1 each.

He puts together a certain amount of money, say $300,000, half of it paid in and the total amount fully subscribed.

Then he goes to Austin to get a charter from the Secretary of State.

Our promoter gets a charter as a trust company, or in the parlance of the promotional world, "a 1303 (b) company." (Most trust companies are chartered under article 1303-b.)

With the money he has raised, he can now form a second company to conduct oil exploration, mineral exploration, or any number of lawful activities. The No. 2 company would be owned by No. 1 company. Or No. 1 company might merely buy stocks in other companies.

The stage has now been set with the proper legal trappings for the boys on the ground floor to clean up.

The directors of company No. 1 — the trust company — meet and decide to sell more stock in their company. Assume they offer another 300,000 shares, not at $1 a share as in the first sale but at $10 a share.

Were company No. 1 not a "trust company" and therefore exempt from the Securities Act, this offering at $10 a share would have to have the approval of the Securities Division of the Secretary of State in Austin.

There it probably would have been disapproved, on the grounds that the arbitrary 10-fold increase in price is "unfair, unjust, and inequitable." But because it's a trust company, its stock sales are beyond the scope of state regulation.

This is the basic pattern of Texas promotions which are not bona fide new business ventures but get-rich-quick schemes for promoters. The pattern is subject to infinite variation, but ultimately it comes back to the exemption which "trust companies" enjoy in the sale of their stocks.

Fruit Prospects Said Good For East Texas

DALLAS, March 5 (AP)—East Texas has very good prospects for a good peach and plum crop, C. B. Senter, agricultural agent for the Texas and Pacific Railway Co., says.

In a survey made for the railroad and its customers, Senter said East Texas has had over 900 hours of temperature below 45 degrees this winter, which gives practically all varieties the necessary rest period.

He said below freezing temperatures did very little damage to young tomato plants in hot beds in East Texas.

The Texas citrus crop, the report states, is turning out less than indicated earlier. Production of oranges is expected to be two million boxes and grapefruit 3,200,000 boxes.

GOOD FOR FOUR WEEKS

Ground Hog May Have To Cut Long Range Weather Forecast

By GLENN COOTES

The ground hog saw his shadow on the second of February and set up the prediction that we were in for six more weeks of winter.

The forecast was pretty accurate for the first four weeks, but the last two weeks before March 16 may prove his undoing.

The first four days of March had real summer days with mild and warm temperatures. Three days had high readings of 84 degrees and the nights were also warm.

But cooler temperatures were on the way Saturday night. The cool winds began blowing into the city Saturday morning.

After his prediction, the first four weeks were real winter days. Nineteen nights had temperatures of 32 degrees or below, and five had temperatures in the 30's. Only three nights had temperatures warmer than the 30's and they were all in the 40's.

The days were a little warmer. One day had a high reading in the 30's, four days were in the 40's, seven days were in the 50's, nine days were in the 60's, six days were in the 70's, and one day had a high temperature of 80 degrees.

The last killing frost in Big Spring has been about March 30 over the last 40 years. Yet, 22 of the last 40 years here have had killing frosts after March 30.

The latest frost on record was in 1920. The temperature dipped to 32 degrees on April 26 of that year. The coldest temperature on record after March 30 was in 1936.

A low reading was recorded on April 6 of 22 degrees.

January and February of this year have been much colder than in the previous two years. However, January was a little warmer than the 39-year average for the area.

The 39 years in Big Spring had an average mean temperature of 41 degrees, an average high reading of 56 degrees, and an average low reading of 28.

The average mean temperature in January this year was 42 degrees. The average high reading was 55 and the average low was 30. The lowest temperature for the month was Jan. 10 when the thermometer dipped to 18 degrees.

Three times during the month, the 1st, 2nd, and 30th, the temperature reached 72 degrees. This was the highest reading in the month.

In 1954, the mean average temperature in January was 46, the average high reading was 60, and the average low was 31.

The high reading for January, 1954, was 79 on the 8th and 24th. The low reading of 15 degrees was on the 10th.

In 1953, the January average mean temperature was 50, the average high reading was 67, and the average low reading was 33. Highest reading during the month was 85 on the 26th and the lowest was 18 degrees on the 16th.

February of this year had an average mean temperature of 45 degrees, a maximum temperature average of 61, and a minimum average of 29. The high reading of the month, 80, was recorded on the 28th.

Low readings of 12 degrees on the 10th and 11th were the coldest days of the winter.

The mean average temperature of February, 1954, was 52 degrees. The average high temperature was 69 and the average low temperature was 35.

The highest reading for the month was 85 recorded on the 26th. Low readings of 26 occurred on the 11th and 12th.

In 1953, almost identical to this year, the mean average temperature for February was 45, the high average was 61, and the low average was 30 degrees.

Highest reading of the month was recorded on the 27th and low temperatures of 14 occurred on the 21st and 22nd.

January has had the colder averages but February has had the lowest extremes. This year and 1953 had its coldest readings in February and in 1953, February had colder averages.

Expelled Priest Hopes To Return To Red Capital

By ANNE MARIE SNELLMAN

HELSINKI, Finland, March 5 (AP)—The Rev. Georges Bissonnette told reporters tonight the order expelling him from the Soviet Union came out of a clear sky and he had no idea what was behind it. He said he would like to go back to Moscow some day.

The Roman Catholic priest, only American clergyman in the Soviet capital, was told last Wednesday to get out of the Soviet Union by midnight tonight. He arrived in Helsinki by plane this afternoon.

"The sudden expulsion came after I had my visa renewed last January," he said in a chat with reporters at his hotel. "The visa was always granted for a period of six months at a time. I was never told why the visa was revoked.

"I had stayed in Moscow for two years and one month, when out of a clear sky the expulsion order came. My work was interesting and I got along very well with my parishioners. They were of many nationalities, mostly Americans, French, Italians, British, Czechs and Indonesians, both diplomats and employes of the various embassies and legations in Moscow.

"For a church I was granted the use of a house owned by the Russian state. I was happy with my work out there. I was the only Catholic priest in Moscow. I should like to return.

"I often attended the services of the Orthodox Church (Russian) and acquired rather intimate knowledge of religious life in Moscow, despite the fact that no official relations are maintained between the Roman Catholic Church and the Orthodox Church of Russia.

"The Russians have a deeply rooted sense of religion and are faithful churchgoers. There is also a noticeable increase in church attendance and religious interest. It comes in waves—it is difficult to say what causes it."

He said the Russians were not familiar with the garb of a priest and added with a smile that when he appeared on the street "most people I me tthought I belonged to the Navy."

To Hear Graham

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP)—The White House said today President and Mrs. Eisenhower will attend 11 a.m. services tomorrow at National Presbyterion Church. Evangelist Billy Graham will preach the sermon.

Dulles, Carney To End Far East Tour

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP)—The United States chief diplomat and a member of the strategy-making Joint Chiefs of Staff were headed back from the Far East today to report on their surveys of the hot-cold war there.

The forthcoming arrival of Secretary of State Dulles and of Adm. Robert Carney coincided with speculation that the Reds may keep any major military moves in the troubled China Coast area in abeyance for several weeks. However, harassment and probing of Chinese Nationalist island positions may continue.

Dulles was due in Washington tomorrow. He returns from a long journey which took him to the Southeast Asian Treaty Organization conference at Bangkok, to meetings with officials of the anti-Communist states of Indonesia and to a conference with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek at Taipei.

He will report immediately to President Eisenhower, then make a nationwide broadcast on Tuesday night. Eisenhower has said that by the time Dulles returns he "certainly will have at least some new ideas or variations of ideas to put into our calculations."

Carney is chief of Naval Operations and thus a member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. The Navy is the "executive agent" for the Pentagon in matters concerning the Formosa area.

The admiral, scheduled to reach home during the week, has been holding sessions in Formosa with Nationalist and American military officials. He said yesterday that his primary mission was to consider problems which might arise if action was needed to support the U. S.-Nationalist mutual defense treaty. This provides for American defense of Formosa, the Pescadores and "related" areas which have never been firmly defined.

Political and psychological maneuvering by the Communists led to speculation that comparative quiet might prevail in the Formosan area for the next month or six weeks.

Tourist Traffic In Texas Increasing

AUSTIN, March 5 (AP) — Tourists in ever increasing numbers came to Texas and spent more than 409 million dollars in 1954, the State Highway Department said today.

A total of 8,673,860 visitors toured Texas in 1954, a million more than the year before, the department's tourist industry report showed.

As in 1953 California sent the largest contingent of look-seers—1,396,401 persons in 337,112 vehicles. Approximately 208,000 of the travellers were from Mexico, Canada and other foreign countries.

Most visitors to Texas like what they see. Sixty-three per cent had returned after previous visits.

The average tourist stayed in Texas 5.5 days and spent an average of $7.80 per day. The 409 million dollars spent in Texas by tourists last year was increase of 15 per cent over the 1953 tourist tab.

Backbone For A Unique Lodge

Most of the steel work for the big lodge of the Big Spring Hunting & Fishing Club is now in place. The huge beams with 70-foot spans are individually supported. There will be more than 8,500 square feet in the structure located on the lake just south of the city on U. S. 87. (Keith McMillin Photo).

Framework Up On Club House For Cosden Employe Group

Steel skelton for the Big Spring Hunting and Fishing Club lodge south of Big Spring is largely in place.

Before long framing for openings will be installed and masonry work begun. When complete, the structure will be one of the largest of its kind in this area as well as one of the most unique.

Douglas Orme, president of the club which is incorporated by Cosden Petroleum employes, said that opening sometime in the late spring was anticipated.

The building will have 8,500 square feet under roof and wall. It will contain a spacious lounge with big fireplace; a kitchen; apartment for manager and wife; check room; game room; large foyer; auxiliary and storage rooms; restrooms; and a ballroom 50x84 feet.

This will be the largest ballroom in the immediate vicinity and will provide a space which might be suitable for seating upwards of 600 people at a banquet.

Cliff Nichols, whose Metal Engineering has done the job for Louis Gene Thompson, said that approximately 85 tons of steel have gone into the 11 specially designed H beams, the bracing, outlookers, etc. More than 400 pounds of welding rods have been required to weld the steel framing into one piece. Each of the beams is individually supported, leaving the masonry to be non-weight bearing. Doors and windows will be steel framed, and interiror doors will be glass sliding affairs.

Floor will be concrete slab with overlaid hardwood or paving tile.

The exterior finish will be a brick tile, smooth on one side and scored on the other.

Walkways, a patio and barbecue pits will surround the structure along with extensive paved parking areas.

The lodge is located on the north bank of the Cosden (T&P) Lake, immediately south of the Veterans Administration Hospital on U. S. 87.

It is designed for recreational purposes of Cosden employes and their families, for social events, meetings and other group affairs. Under certain circumstances, it may be utilized for community events.

The outlookers, swung on 14-foot radii, provide natural light from the top and contribute to the unusual appearance of the structure. The roof is exposed metal decking welded to the pearling and to be given a protective tar and gravel covering.

Showdown Battle Shaping Over New Gas Legislation

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON, March 3 (AP)—President Eisenhower's special Cabinet committee on energy supplies has cleared the way for another showdown battle on federal control of natural gas production.

There is indication the battle will be just as bitter as in 1950 when the Kerr bill squeezed through both Houses and met with a Presidential veto.

The Cabinet Committee on Energy Supplies and Resources Policy recommended there be no federal control over production, gathering, processing or sale of natural gas prior to its entry into an interstate transmission line.

Legislation spelling out such a federal policy has been a major objective of the oil and gas industry since the Supreme Court last June held that the Federal Power Commission has authority to control the price of gas in the field.

A proposal similar to the Kerr bill was introduced in the House several weeks ago but congressional leaders frankly expressed hope the Cabinet committee could report before the gas battle got under way.

Membership of Congress has changed so sharply the Kerr bill vote cannot be taken as indication of possible outcome of the 1955 fight.

The Senate approved the Kerr bill, 44-38, on March 29, 1950. Only 27 Senators who recorded votes in favor of the bill and 25 of those who opposed it are still in Washington.

After an early 181-131 vote, the House gave final approval, 176-174, on March 31, 1950. Only 109 proponents and 96 opponents still are in Congress.

Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark), who authored the House version of the Kerr bill in 1950, this week introduced a bill apparently designed to carry out the recommendations of the Cabinet committee.

Harris' new proposal is very similar to the Kerr plan except in one major respect.

A late amendment to the Kerr bill authorized the Federal Power Commission to conduct a continuing study on whether gas prices or supplies were being affected by lack of competition among producers. Under the amendment, FPC would have had authority only to report its findings to the President and Congress.

The new Harris bill is a bit stronger when it comes to gas prices in the field.

The bill would authorize FPC to reject rate increases sought by interstate transmission lines should the commission find that the proposed rate hikes result from unreasonable increases in field gas wholesale prices.

Opposition already has developed toward the new phase of the Harris bill, although most oilmen were very pleased with the cabinet committee's report.

There was indication the oil and gas industry will continue its fight for a simple amendment to the Natural Gas Act of 1938, an amendment which would exempt producers and gatherers from FPC control.

Mitchell Pair To Complete

Blue Danube Oil Company will treat two of its projects in the Westbrook field of Mitchell County with fracture fluid this weekend.

Preparations are being made to fracture the Nos. 1-C and 1-D Bird, both of which are about 10 miles west of Colorado City and two miles northwest of Westbrook.

The No. 1-D Bird, 330 from north and west lines, southwest quarter, northwest quarter, 34-28-1n, T&P survey, has total depth of 3,046 feet. The No. 1-C Bird, 330 from north and west lines of northeast quarter of same section, is bottomed at 3,080.

Blue Danube No. 2-B Bird, in the same section, has been spudded by Turner Drilling Company. Surface casing was set at 150 feet, and operator is drilling ahead. Location is 330 from south and east lines, southwest quarter, northwest quarter of section.

Executives School Has Local Men

Two Big Spring men are among the limited membership of 24 men chosen to participate in the University of Texas initial executive development program starting today.

Going from here are Dan M. Krausse, assistant to the president of Cosden Petroleum Corporation, and Bernie Couglin, is vice president and manager of Westex Oil Company. Selections were made from nominations of men in the top level of management.

Sessions will be at the Bar-K Guest Ranch, on Lake Travis 32 miles northwest of Austin, and will continue over a five week's period. After orientation at 6 p.m. this evening, classes will begin Monday morning. The agenda calls for class sessions until 4:30 p.m. with at least another four hours set aside for related study and special assignments.

Except for a few times when the course will take them into Austin, participants will be at it hammer and tong until the session is completed.

There will be considerable study on marketing and management, labor relations, control and audits, management attitudes and human relationships, organization, etc. Among the many noted lecturers will be Merlyn Pitzele, labor editor for Business Week and a labor advisor to President Eisenhower.

Rotary Rigs Near 500 Mark In Basin On Latest Report

A total of 497 rotary rigs were operating in the Permian Basin on Feb. 25, a survey conducted by Reed Roller Bit Company showed.

This is a slight increase over the Feb. 10 count and is almost on an even keel with the number of rigs in operation at this time last year, when the count was 508.

Andrews County has 83 rigs turning, and Lea County, New Mexico, supported 76. Other counties with 20 or more rigs included Midland, Coke, Gaines, Ector, and Scurry.

Most of the area counties, with the exception of Howard, picked up a few rigs. Howard's total slipped from 16 to 12 between the two surveys.

Borden went up from eight to 10, Dawson's number increased from three to five, Glasscock rigs shot from three to five, Mitchell's count rose from four to seven, Scurry raised from 15 to 20, and Sterling jumped from three to five.

The survey, with the previous counts in parentheses, was as follows:

Andrews, 83 (75); Borden, 10 (8); Cochran, 3 (4); Coke, 28 (31); Chaves, 13 (13); Crane, 15 (19); Crockett, 5 (5); Dawson, 5 (3); Ector, 24 (24); Dickens, 2 (1); Eddy, 4 (9); Floyd, 0 (1); Gaines, 25 (32); Garza, 16 (10); Glasscock, 5 (3); Howard, 12 (16); Hockley, 3 (3); Irion, 1 (1); Jeff Davis, 1 (1); Kent, 6 (5); Lamb 1 (1); Lea, 76 (68); Loving, 0 (1); Lynn, 1 (0). # Magnolia Planning 215-Mile Pipeline

Magnolia Pipe Line Company will add 215 miles of new 12, 14 and 16-inch pipe to its present crude oil system from West Texas to Corsicana, according to an announcement made Saturday by L. H. True, company president.

This new project will give Magnolia two complete lines from the Permian Basin area to Corsicana, central terminal of Magnolia's pipe line operations.

The pipe will be laid at various points along the company's 335-mile pipe line span from Midland to Corsicana and will increase the capacity of this part of Magnolia Pipe Line Company's system to 162,000 barrels per day.

The company's pipe line in West Texas gathers large volumes of crude oil from the vast Permian Basin area in West Texas and eastern New Mexico. From there the crude moves through main line facilities to Corsicana and from there oil is sent to eastern refineries or is pumped to Beaumont where Magnolia's largest refinery is located.

Coupled with the pipe line construction project are plans for enlarging pumping equipment at six of Magnolia's main line pump stations between Midland and Corsicana. This project will also necessitate a new pumping station near Groveton, Texas, midway between Corsicana and Beaumont, to take care of the increased crude volume of oil from West Texas.

Spraberry Well In Glasscock Finals For 166 Barrels

Humble Oil and Refining Company completed its No. 2 Ivy Huegler in the Spraberry Trend Area of Glasscock County for a 24-hour potential of 116.77 barrels of oil.

The project, located some 20 miles southwest of Garden City, flowed through a 32-64th-inch choke, and recovery was four per cent water. Gravity measured 38.1 degrees, and the gas-oil ratio was 1,137-1. Tubing pressure was 160 pounds.

Elevation is 2,711 feet, total depth is 7,810 feet, and pay top is 7,664. The 5½-inch casing was bottomed at 7,794 feet and perforations were shot between 7,664 and 7,764 feet.

The new well is 1,027 from south and 1,023.5 from west lines, section 33, block 36, tsp. 4-south, T&P survey.

Four Howard County Projects Completing, One Due To Begin

Four projects in Howard County's Snyder field were nearing completion this weekend. A core was under way on a Moore field project, and rig was being moved to a wildcat site near Big Spring.

Tidwell and Cowper No. 1 J. F. Sellers, prospector three miles northwest of Big Spring, was where the rig was being moved.

The project will be drilled by Newsom Brothers Drilling Company, and spudding operations are to start Thursday. Drillsite is 330 from south and west lines, north 40 acres of northeast quarter, 23-33-1n, T&P survey.

The core was being cut at Duncan and Moore No. 4 Brindley, venture some six miles southwest of Big Spring.

Reports are that the core started at 3,140 feet Saturday evening. The project has drillsite of 1,654 from south and 990 from east lines, 18-33-1s, T&P survey.

Oil string was set at 2,620 feet this weekend at Mid-Continent No. 6-B L. C. Denman, a Snyder field try near the south end of the East Howard pool. Operator drilled to 2,685 feet with cable tools. Location of the project is 330 from south and west lines, 16-30-1s, T&P survey.

Lipkin and Devine No. 4 Snyder, seven miles south of Coahoma in the Snyder field, set pipe at 2,555 feet, and cable tools are being moved in for completion. Location is 330 from south and west lines, southeast quarter, 20-30-1s, T&P survey.

Cable tools are also being moved in for completion of Cosden Petroleum Corporation's No. 1-27 Susie B. Snyder, in the same area of the Snyder field production.

The seven-inch casing has been set at 2,795 feet at the project, it was announced. Drillsite is 330 from north and 988 from east lines, southeast quarter, 27-30-1s, T&P survey.

Bond Oil Corporation reached total depth of 2,905 feet at its No. 1 TXL, and pumping preparations are now being made. Some 20,000 gallons of fracture fluid has been used, and reaction has been good.

It was reported that Turner Drilling Company, firm that sank the hole for Bond, is now moving off rig. Location is 330 from south and east lines, 17-30-1s, T&P survey, about five miles southeast of Coahoma.

Spudding operations will begin this week at Lipkin and Devine No. 5 Susie B. Snyder, another Snyder field project to be drilled by C. D. Turner. Location is 990 from north and 330 from east lines, southeast quarter, 20-30-1s, T&P survey, seven miles south of Coahoma.

In the Howard-Glasscock field, Cosden No. 5-C Roberts will move in rotary this week. Location is 330 from south and west lines, north half, southeast quarter, 128-29-W&NW survey.

Drilling will begin during the latter part of this month at Newsom Brothers No. 3 W. E. Simmons, a northwest offset to the Clark and Daniels well. Location is 990 from south and 1,649 from west lines, 12-34-1n, T&P survey.

Martin Venture Spuds Saturday

Depth of 260 feet was reached on spudding operations Saturday at Wilbanks and Rutter's No. 1 J. E. Milhollon, wildcat in Martin County some four miles east of Stanton.

Long Drilling Company is in charge of the drilling operations, which will continue just as soon as surface casing is set.

The wildcat prospector is slated for a test of the San Andres formation around 4,000 feet deep. It is about a half mile from Highway 80, drillsite being 660 from south and east lines, 16-35-1s, T&P survey.

Another Wilbanks and Rutter project, the No. 1 Hill in Upton County, is nearly ready for a completion attempt in the Spraberry. Casing has been set at 7,874 feet, and operator is to drill plug for tests.

Lifting Gas Curbs May Hasten Drilling

DALLAS — A quick revival of interest in natural gas exploration and development in the Southwest will follow congressional action along the lines of the Flemming Commission report, Harry W. Bass, president Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association, predicted Saturday.

Bass, whose association represents both large and small producers of natural gas, said of the report:

"The recommendations of the Flemming Commission against federal jurisdiction over production, gathering, processing, or sale of natural gas prior to its entry into an interstate transmission line is reassuring to the independent producer of natural gas and consumers who are hopeful for continued adequate supplies. Both groups can now look with increased hope for early Congressional action.

"The Commission's study leaves no doubt that the national interest, so far as this important fuel is concerned, was jeopardized by the Phillips case decision. These findings by a high-level administration study group coupled with the interest expressed recently by Speaker Sam Rayburn should remove the issue from the realm of partisan politics. The gas consumers of the United States should not be deprived of assured gas supplies by further delay. If Congress follows through now with corrective legislation, we will see a quick revival of interest in natural gas development here in the Southwest."

Justiceburg Pool Gets Another Well

Curtis R. Inman has completed his No. 1 W. V. Roy, as a new producer in the recently opened North Justiceburg field of East Garza County.

On the potential test the well pumped 71 barrels of 36 gravity oil, plus 50 per cent water. The drillsite is 330 feet from south and west lines of section 118, block 5, H&GN survey, abstract 954. It is four and one-half miles northeast of Justiceburg.

Total depth is 2,421 feet. The 5½-inch casing is cemented on bottom. That pipe is perforated at 2,393-2,408 feet. The perforated section had been fractured with 10,000 gallons of sand oil and treated with 500 gallons of acid.

Sadler Proposes Refiners' Tax On All Combustibles In Texas

AUSTIN (AP)—Rep. Jerry Sadler, snuff-dipping lawmaker from the Piney Woods, is urging the Legislature to adopt a bill which he says would take Texas out of the "sucker class" in taxation.

The country-talking East Texan, former candidate for governor and former member of the Railroad Commission, has the refining industry on the point of a high-octane explosion over his tax proposal.

The fight will start popping at a public hearing on the bill Monday at 2:30 p.m. before the House committee on Revenue and Taxation.

It will make a renewal of the long-running battle between the oil and gas industry and lawmakers who think the oil people ought to pay more of the cost of Texas government. The industry thinks it's paying enough—even too much.

Sadler's bill seeks to tax all "combustible condensates" produced in Texas at one cent per gallon at the refinery. He claims the tax would make out-of-state motorists pay a whopping 96 to 120 million dollars a year for Texas roads and public schools.

"Combustible" condensates include such oil products as gasoline, kerosene, and naphtha.

"Texas has always been a sucker among the states in regards to taxation," says Sadler. "We send other states our refined gasoline for them to tax; some states have as much as six cents a gallon tax on Texas gasoline."

If Sadler's bill were passed, Texas motorists would get a three cent a gallon reduction in state tax on gasoline.

But out-of-state auto drivers might have to pay more for their gas.

Sixty per cent of all the flammable liquids produced in Texas are consumed outside this state, Sadler said. Industry spokesmen set the figure at nearer 75 per cent.

Since manufacturers normally pass on to the consumer all such taxes on their products, this could mean a minimum yearly income to Texans of $96 million from out-of-state consumers.

Another possibility would be for refiners to attempt to pass the tax back to crude oil producers by trying to buy for less. Industry spokesmen did not think the refiners could absorb the proposed tax.

Andrew Housley, vice president of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Assn., said the tax would eventually drive refining out of Texas, and would reflect in other industries as an unfriendly atmosphere for manufacturing.

Sadler's bill is the latest in a series of attempts by the Legislature to tax natural resources. The money would be used for roads and schools.

One year ago the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that a Texas natural gas pipeline tax was unconstitutional. Texas had voted the tax in 1951, and collected over 31 million dollars on it before the high court struck it down. The money—26 million dollars of it—was refunded to the pipeline companies.

Sadler described his bill as levying an occupation tax. It could not possibly be declared unconstitutional, he said.

Sterling Prospects Making Progress

Cosden Petroleum Corporation officials announced Saturday that depth of 750 feet had been reached at the No. 1-23 R. W. Foster, Parochial Bade project in Sterling County.

Operations are by cable tools, and the 13⅜th-inch casing was set at 270 feet. Projected drilling depth is 2,400 feet, where a sample of the Clear Fork will be taken.

Another Sterling project, Walker No. 1 T. H. Humble, has spudded in the Crandell-1450 field. It is a farm-out job from the Texas Company and will drill to 2,000 feet or pay at a lesser depth.

Lava Stream Nears Ocean

PAHOA, Hawai, March 5 (AP)—Spectacular 1,000-foot-high molten lava fountains poured red-glowing liquid rock today into a sea of lava inching closer to the ocean.

The crackling, molten lava already has consumed at least nine homes and caused an estimated two million dollars damage in five days of violent volcanic eruptions in the sparsely settled Puna district on the easternmost tip of this largest island in the Hawaii group.

The main lava flow, which veered south of the abandoned village of Kapoho Friday, was expected to reach the sea sometime today.

Dr. Gordon A. MacDonald, Hawaii volcanologist, said this was the "most active volcanic flow I have ever seen" and estimated last night it would reach the sea before dawn. But the huge boiling mass, after crossing Kapoho Road, began spreading out and piling up.

The lava stream was like a huge octopus. It wold shoot out steaming tentacles and these eventually would join, blanketing the area with lava.

One tentacle kept moving southeast in the direction of Pohoiki, a settlement of about six houses on the ocean. It is about three miles from Kapoho. It was in no immediate danger but police were sent to the village, previously evacuated, to make certain no one had returned.

Deserted Kapoho was nearly surrounded by lava. MacDonald held out hope that no outbursts would occur inside the village itself which lies on the rift which has been erupting westward of the city.

The scientist said that so long as the lava fountain at Puu Ki—source of Wednesday's fresh outbreak—remains active, there was little danger that the rift line would reach Kapoho.

He said the Puu Ki fountain, spouting as high as 1,000 feet, relieves the underground pressure and lessens the chance of a fountain erupting east along the rift line.

Area History Told In Marcy Story

In his day, Randolph B. Marcy was the best known explorer of the Southwest. Yet too many people of this region are utterly unfamiliar with this resolute, meticulous, lucid and far-sighted man.

"Beyond the Cross Timbers" (University of Oklahoma Press—$4) by W. Eugene Hollon should go far to correct this condition. Big Spring people, who are indebted to Capt. Marcy for having been the first person to record a visit to the water hole which gave the town its name, will be especially interested. There is but passing mention of his stop at Big Spring on Oct. 3, 1849, while on a return trip from Santa Fe to Fort Smith via Dona Anna. Apparently, the intrepid explorer never came to the "big spring" again, but he did roam over most of West Texas from the Panhandle to the Colorado, exclusive of the then impenetrable sea of grass, the Llano Estacado.

Passages from "Beyond the Cross Timbers," frequently employing the exact language of the prolific but precise Marcy, are packed with sheer drama. You suffer with the party as rubberized water bags go bad and leave members to wretch over gyp creeks and springs. You almost wince with pain as Capt. Marcy leads a heroic rescue mission from Fort Bridger in Wyoming to Fort Massachusetts in northern New Mexico in the dead of winter. His party was reduced to eating mules and using the green hides for shoes, to crawling on hands and knees to break a path through the snow. . .yet only one man was lost, and from slipping past guards to gorge himself when relief supplies came.

Capt. Marcy spent many years in Texas, including time in the lower Rio Grande Valley. He had a brief part in the Mexican War but was recalled to do recruiting. In general he had a pretty low appraisal of the area, although he did predict that it offered the best route for a railroad to the Pacific and once predicted that part of West Texas would be a cattleman's paradise.

He explored out the headwaters of the Red River and followed to the upper reaches of the Clear and Salt Forks of the Brazos. He located and established perhaps half a dozen forts, sold Comanches on the idea of a reservation which he picked in Northwest Texas, was first inspector general of the Utah department, and first chief of staff in the U.S. Army (under Gen. George B. "Little Napoleon") McClellan, his father-in-law.

Throughout the story there is the thread of the privations of Army life, of separation from his wife, Mary, and of her anxieties, as well as their solicitous attitude toward their eldest daughter, Ellen. They seemed worse than mediers when they pouted and threatened until her love affair was broken off with A. P. Hill (later one of the South's most brilliant generals).

Despite his robust role on the frontier, Capt. Marcy was frequently plagued by illness. Perhaps it was this or some unexplained personality quirk which interfered and virtually blocked hic career in the face of great popularity.

"Although he played a prominent role in the Civil War as General McClellan's chief of staff, Marcy is primarily remembered as an explorer, map maker, and chronicler of the West," observed the author. "From 1849 to 1858 he was engaged in five major exploring expeditions throughout the Southwest and the Rocky Mountain areas. His detailed maps, particularly of present Oklahoma, western Texas and New Mexico, were in most instances the first accurate charts of a previously unexplored region. And his march across the mountains from Fort Bridger, Wyoming, to Fort Massachusetts, New Mexico, during the winter of 1857-58, will stand as one of the most daring feats ever recorded."

This is a splendid summation of the well-written and documented story which every student of history of our area should read and have for his own.

"THE 5th AMENDMENT TODAY" by Erwin N. Griswold, Harvard University Press, 82 pp., $2

This little volume contains three lectures by the Dean of the Harvard Law School and each one is a defense of the celebrated "Fifth Amendment" to the Constitution; in particular, that phrase which provides that no man ". . .shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself . . ."

Griswold calls this amendment a good friend to "we, the people" and rightly so. For this clause is a basic protection against arbitrary arrest and "Inquisitional" questioning which might force a person into accusing himself of some crime.

Griswold points out that a government agency can call in anyone for questioning. With a skillful interogator, even the most innocent person can be made to appear guilty, or at least, less than frank. But a person called to answer questions can refuse to do so by using the Fifth Amendment.

This will require that the agency formally accuse him so that he can plan a defense and bring all the other Constitutional privileges into play.

To correct the misuse of power in Congress, Griswold makes a very good suggestion in this book. Stop these "one man sub-committees," where persons are questioned against their will.

Griswold has contributed a very worthwhile volume to the field of civil liberties. But it is up to the Congress to set it's house straight. Griswold has shown the way in this book.

Pep Martin Acquires Card-Chain Infielder

Jack C. Poppell, a second-year limited service second baseman, has been signed to a baseball contract by the Big Spring Cosden Cops.

A native of Augusta, Ga., Poppell was with Albany in the Georgia-Florida League last year, where he hit .256. His contract at that time belonged to the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Cards gave up on him only because he was too small. They keep players under contract only those they reason will go to the big leagues and Poppell's size is against him.

At the same time, Mercer Harris, Cardinal scout, recommended him strongly to Pepper Martin of the Cops. He said Poppell is one of the best 'glove men' in the minor leagues.

Though his batting average was not imposing, Poppell was named to the Georgia-Florida all-star team and was named the most popular player on the Albany team.

In 1953, Poppell hit .265 for Hazelhurst-Baxley of the Georgia State League. In 501 times at bat, he struck out only 30 times.

Afield he made only 24 errors and wound up with a fielding average of .962. He took part in 68 double plays that year.

The Hazelhurst-Baxley team won the pennant and the playoffs in 1953.

Acquisition of Poppell could solve a problem that has long troubled Martin and may enable the manager to return to the outfield or to third base the coming season. Pepper tried several players at the keystone sack last year, without success.

Martin announced Saturday morning that Luis Caballero, infielder-outfielder, has signed his contract.

Cabby, who got a substantial raise over last year, had been holding out for more money.

The Cuban Negro was one of the most popular players on the team last season. In the season's final game, he played every position on the field.

In line with a special offer being made to persons who subscribed for season ducats only to have them returned when the drive failed, the Big Spring ball club is offering 1955 game tickets as a reduced rate for a limited time.

Martin said fans can now purchase tickets individually or by block at 50 cents each for the next week or two, at least.

That means that tickets are selling for 24 cents less than they ordinarily cost during the regular season.

Persons who purchased the season tickets now have the option of getting their money back or exchanging them for 40 tickets. Under such an arrangement, the ducats will cost only 50 cents each.

When the season ticket drive began, several fans expressed a preference for the bloc of tickets, rather than an identification card, pointing out that they probably wouldn't be present for the entire 69-game schedule but would prefer to use the tickets while taking friends.

Martin revealed he had four or five choice boxes available inside third base and numerous $50 boxes outside both first and third base.

The Cop owner said he also had an estimated 100 feet in fence signs he still must sell before the season gets under way.

Girls Oppose Tors Tuesday

Though Lamesa will be favored, the Big Spring High School Steerettes are set to make their season's most aggressive showing in a girls' district volley ball game here at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night.

Coach Arah Phillips said her girls are much improved over their early season form and she is optimistic over the team's chances to upset the highly-touted Lamesa team.

By any measuring rod, the Steerettes haven't had a bad season in games played to date. In 12 starts, they've emerged victorious nine times.

Only last week, the local fans rallied to take consolation laurels in their own tournament and being soundly beaten in their opening game.

at Pampa next weekend. tna

The Steerettes will enter a tournament at Pampa next weekend. They play their next home game March 15, at which time they host Odessa.

Both the A. and B teams will compete in the Pampa Tourney.

Geigel's SW Title To Be Risked Here

The Southwest State Junior Heavyweight wrestling championship goes up for grabs at the Howard County Fair building Tuesday night when titlist Bob Giegel of Sioux City, Iowa, takes on Angelo Poffo of Columbus.

Both grapplers are well known here, although Giegel hasn't appeared in the local arena in the past four or five weeks.

There's little love lost between either one of the principals and the customers but everyone who has seen him wrestle respects Giegel's ability.

He's strong. He's durable. And he's sly as a fox. He acts the part of the big buffoon much of the time but he's no body's fool.

Oftentimes, when he appears to be having a rough time in the ring, he's playing 'possum and he'll rally so quickly and surprisingly his opponent won't know what has hit him.

Giegel rarely leaves the ring with the cheers of the crowd ringing in his ears but he departs in command of his senses and it's a rare occasion when he hasn't had his hand raised in victory.

Poffo is a Tarzan-type of athlete, complete with long, black hair, but the comparison ends there. He's a true meanie and is probably thinking up ways and means now of making life miserable for Giegel.

The match is down for 90 minutes, or who ever wins the first two falls.

BOB GIEGEL
Reigning Champ

In the best of three falls semi-final, scheduled with a time limit of 45 minutes, Mark Lewin, a newcomer to the local arena, tries Boris Kameroff.

Tony Morelli and George Lopez square off in the 15-minute preliminary, which will be decided in one fall.

The show gets started at 8:15 p.m. There will be no advance in prices, Promoter George Dunn has announced.

NBA Bantamweight Title Bout Carded

By CHRIS EDMONDS

SAN FRANCISCO, March 5 (AP)—The business of who is the bantamweight boxing champion of the world, at least as far as the National Boxing Assn. is concerned, will be decided Wednesday night at the Cow Palace.

Just to prove his group is serious, NBA president Anthony Petronella of Providence, R.I., will be on hand to present a championship belt to the winner of a 12-round bout between Raul (Raton) Macias of Mexico and Chamrern Songkitrat of Thailand.

The fact the California Athletic Commission is looking down its collective noses at the affair hasn't deterred the NBA one bit. Neither had word that Gov. Goodwin J. Knight is thinking about a possible probe of boxing as the result of remarks by Commission Chairman Anthony Entenza that he has detected a "semblance of gansterism" within the ranks of puglism.

The International Boxing Club and San Franciscan Bennie Ford, co-promoters of the bout, have been hampered only slightly by the double ruckus. They're unable to advertise the bout locally as being for the championship, but still are talking about an 8,000 crowd and a $35,000 gross gate.

The hassle developed a week ago. The California Commission, apparently prompted by Entenza, voted against permitting a 15-round title bout. Songkitrat, said the commission, was not a worthy contender for the title the NBA took away from Robert Cohen of France last December. The commission voiced no opposition to Macias, whom the NBA rated as No. 1 contender.

Moments affer the commission's refusal to sanction the 15-round bout was announced in Los Angeles, 400 miles away, Ford applied for and was given the permission to match the men at 12 rounds. He could not, however, declare the winner the world champion, said the commission.

"What the NBA does, though, is all right with me," shrugged Ford. "If they want to give the winner a championship belt, who am I to interfere?"

Macias, an early 7-5 favorite, has a record of 11 straight victories since turning professional in April 1953. The 20-year-old son of a shoemaker, he has been a main event fighter his entire pro career. He never has fought outside a Mexico City ring, however. He earned his top contender's ranking with a convincing triumph over Nate Brooks of Cleveland last September.

CLOVIS PIONEERS WILL STAY IN WT-NM LEAGUE

LUBBOCK, Tex., March 5 (AP)—Clovis definitely will field a team in the West Texas - New Mexico Baseball League this year, Club President Eddie Jones said today.

Jones handed League President Hal Sayles $1,800 to complete the $2,300 deposit each club must make with the league.

Jones said 1,011 season tickets had been sold as of last night. He said it was hoped a total of 1,600 such tickets could be sold before the season started next month.

Other matters for the league directors to decide at their meeting today were described as routine.

Lubbock, Pampa, Abilene, Amarillo, El Paso, and Plainview, Tex., are members of the Class B league, along with Albuquerque, and Clovis, N.M.

League President Hal Sayles said prospects for the Class B league's 1955 season were considerably improved over last year.

Sayles said advance ticket sales totaled about 475,000, almost as many as the entire attendance last year. He said attendance this season should approach the million mark.

Meeting in closed session, the directors discussed a $4,600 monthly salary limit for each team. Rosters are limited to 15 players, with six veterans, six limited service players, and three rookie or national defense service players on each team. National defense service classifications are given for a year to players just out of military service, regardless of their previous experience.

Sayles said tougher disciplinary policy would be observed this year, and called for an end to lengthy arguments between players and such "semiproism" as smoking on the field.

The directors resolved that teams charged with violations of the player limit will be subject to fines levied by the National Assn. of Professional Baseball Clubs and would bear the expense of league investigations if found guilty of violations.

If charges leveled by another team prove unfounded, the accusing team will bear the cost of the investigation, Sayles announced.

Date of the league all-star game, to be played at Plainview, was set at July 20. Players for the South team will come from Abilene, El Paso, Lubbock and Plainview. The North team will draw its players from Albuquerque, Amarillo, Clovis and Pampa.

Work On School Gym To Begin Coming Week

Arlie Suggs of the Suggs Construction Company of Big Spring said Saturday his concern would probably start construction of the Garden City High School gymnasium the coming week.

Suggs was awarded the contract with a bid of $143,861. The Big Spring firm had made an original bid of $197,304 after a $100,000 bond had been approved by the voters. Revisions were then made in the plans.

The gym, which will replace a wooden structure used for years by the Bearcats, will be located directly across the street east of the Garden City School.

The contract calls for completion of the structure in seven months, or 210 days. That means it will be in use by next season, barring unforeseen complications.

Suggs was one of 10 bidders for the general construction job.

The revisions made included changes in the heating system, the ceiling and ceramic tile.

The building will include four dressing rooms, complete with five showers in each room, and an office.

The gymnasium will seat an estimated 600 persons.

Yearlings Win Over Lamesa

LAMESA, March 5 (SC) —Anna Smith's Big Spring Junior High School Yearlings turned in two convincing volley ball wins over Lamesa teams here Friday.

The Big Spring Ninth Grade A team trounced the Lamesa B squad, 51-21.

The Yearling B sextet prevailed, 51-21, over the Lamesa C team.

In the feature game, Barbara Porch scored 14 points for Big Spring. Carol Porch and Nita Farquhar each had eight, Rita Rogers 11, Virginia Johnson five, Barbara Coffee and Linda Glenn two each and Arlinda Grifford one.

In the B team game, Edith Freeman scored 20 points, Carol Self had ten, Eleanor Price and Punkie Boyd nine each, Jean Johnson four and Peggy Isaacs two.

The Ninth Grade regulars have won five of seven games, most of them against high school teams. They have outscored the opposition, 295-171.

The Yearlings return to action at Forsan Monday, meeting the Forsan senior girls. Three games are on tap, with the Seventh Graders facing Forsan grade school at 6:30 p.m.

Turner's Elevens Won Four Titles

SWEETWATER, March 5 (SC)—Elwood Turner, named head football coach at Sweetwater High School the past week, was one of 35 applicants for the position.

Turner comes here from Albany, where his teams won four district champions in his eight years at the helm.

In his tenure at Albany, Turner's club won 59 games while losing 19 and playing two ties.

Last year, Albany went to the Class A finals before losing to Deer Park.

Albany won its district titles in 1950, 1951, and 1953 and 1954.

In the only two seasons did his Albany clubs have losing seasons.

A native of Tulia, Turner attended ACC and TCU. He played fullback in college.

Turner's starting salary will be $6,000 yearly.

Jayhawks Leave For Nat'l Juco Tournament Today

Still full of hope despite their two losses in the state tournament the past week, the Howard County Junior College Jayhawks climb aboard their big, red bus this morning for Hutchinson, Kansas, where Wednesday morning they open play in the National Junior College Tournament.

Coach Harold Davis, ten members of the squad and attendants will make the trip north. They will travel all the way to Hutchinson without stopping overnight.

In Hutchinson, they have reservations at the American Legion Hotel.

The Hawks will be one of 16 teams competing for the National crown. Moberly, Mo., is the defending champion but it was not certain Saturday that team would be back.

The Hawks' first round foe will be the champion of the Moberly region, No. 16. Schools in that region, in addition to Moberly, include St. Paul of Concordia, Mo.; Southwest Baptist of Bolliver, Mo.; Wentworth Military Academy, Lexington, Mo.; Jefferson City JC, Jefferson City; Joplin JC, Joplin; and St. Joseph's of St. Joseph's.

Moberly decisioned Snow, Utah, in last year's finals, 48-46.

HCJC carries a 29-5 won-lost record to Kansas. Two of their losses came in the recent state tournament, when Lon Morris and Texarkana defeated them.

Tyler and Hannibal-LaGrange, Mo., who open against each other, are top-seeded in the meet. Tyler, with a 96.5-point game scoring average, is the highest scoring team in the country. Tyler recently beat Lon Morris ten points to win the trip to the Nationals.

Hannibal-LaGrange rank third in scoring among the jaycees, with a 91.7 average.

HCJC and the Region 16 champ meet at 2 p.m. Wednesday.

All teams had not been determined Saturday morning but Boise, Idaho; and Arkansas City, Kansas, are among those which had been assured places in the meet.

The tournament continues through Saturday night.

HCJC will be making its second trip to Hutchinson. Its great 1952-53 team moved into the semi-finals before losing to Ark City, 103-76.

HCJC won the right to compete in the state meet by vanquishing Connors State of Okla., 69-68, in the finals of the recent Region V Tournament at Amarillo.

Bob Bluhm Is Low In Odessa Meet

ODESSA, March 5 (SC) — Bobby Bluhm of Big Spring won medal honors in a five-school golf tournament staged at the Odessa Country Club here Saturday morning.

Bobby fired a four-over-par 76 to finish four strokes in front of his nearest competitor, Holcomb of Odessa. The score was considered good, because high winds prevailed.

Bluhm had a 36 going out and came in with a 40.

The Big Spring foursome finished third in the team competition, with an aggregate score of 342.

Tied for first were Odessa and Lubbock. Each had a total score of 338.

Fourth was Midland, with 362; and fifth Levelland, with 371.

Bobby McCarthy and Charles Clark, both of Big Spring, posted 86's. McCarty had a 44-42 while Clark came in with a 41-45.

Roland McKenzie, Big Spring registered a 45-50—90.

Stormy Edwards and Charles Long also made the trip from Big Spring but merely played for practice. Edwards had a nine-hole score of 40. Long had a 43 for the same distance.

The Steers are tentatively scheduled to play in a similar tournament at Lubbock Friday.

Dan Lewis, Steer coach, said a junior team was also being organized in Big Spring and an estimated 10 youths had reported for practice. Among the more promising junior linksters are Whitney Reynolds, Bennie Edwards and Charles Morris.

BORDER OLYMPICS KICK OFF TRACK CAMPAIGN

LAREDO, Tex., March 5 (AP)—The Border Olympics next weekend kicks off the nation's outdoor track season for colleges and universities and already 60 schools have entered in four divisions.

Favored to repeat as university champion is Texas.

North Texas won the college division last year, South San Antonio the junior college division and Abilene the high school.

Meet Director Albert Ochoa said he expected 14 more entries before the meet opens Friday.

At least four Olympics records will be in danger, with the University of Texas' fine sprint team again leading an attack on the 440-yard relay mark, set last year by the Steers, and three Oklahoma A&M distance runners, Bill Heard, Norwegian Frederick Eckhoff, and Swede Sture Landquist after new marks in 880-yard, two-mile, and mile runs, respectively.

Already entered are:

Universities: Texas U., Texas A&M, Oklahoma A&M, Southern Methodist, Houston U., Baylor and Texas Christian, with Texas Tech, Rice and Louisiana State still to be heard from.

Colleges: Southwest Texas State, Abilene Christian, Howard Payne, University of Corpus Christi, McMurry, and Texas A&I.

Junior colleges: South San Antonio, Concordia (Austin), Victoria, Del Mar (Corpus Christi), Monterrey Tech, Arlington State and Pan American (Edinburg).

High schools: Abilene, W. B. Ray (Corpus Christi), Roy Miller (Corpus Christi), Robert E. Lee (Baytown), Ball, Bracketville, Hebbronville, Poth, San Diego, Tivy (Kerrville), Lyford, Martin (Laredo), Mount Pleasant, Freer, Edinburg, Del Rio, Cotulla, Uvalde, Nixon, Three Rivers, Mercedes, North Side Rural (San Antonio), Clarksville, South San Antonio, Falfurrias, and Schertz-Cibolo.

Also, Harlingen, Clarksville, Premont, Mirando City, Kingsville, Terrell, Benavides, Alice, Divine, Pettus, and Kenedy.

Dick Foerster of the University of Texas, who set a new record in the 880-yard run last year, and Bill Heard of Oklahoma A&M, whose record Foerster broke last year, will clash in that event this year, will clash in that event this year.

The University of Texas relay team, which this season probably will have Dean Smith, Alvin Frieden, Jerry Prewitt and Bobby Whilden, will be trying to lower the sprint relay mark toward the 40.0 dream goal.

Meet Director Albert Ochoa said he expected 14 more entries before the meet opens Friday.

The Texas A&M track team of Col. Frank G. Anderson is again strong in the field events, but weak in the running events.

Santee To Run At Houston

HOUSTON, March 5 (AP)—Wes Santee and Fred Dwyer renew their mile run duel here Tuesday night, this time in the first outdoor track and field meet of the year.

The 33 athletes named to the U. S. Pan-American squad meet a group of track and field all-stars from Southwest colleges and universities.

It will be the final competitive warmup for the Mexico City Pan-American games of March 12-26.

The mile race will be a continuation of a close Eastern indoors duel that reached its peak last month with the Wanamaker Mile in New York City. Gunner Nielsen of Denmark won with ease as Santee and Dwyer staged a wrestling match some 60 yards down the track.

Both Dwyer and Santee came back to win impressive victories. Dwyer won the Baxter mile. Santee won the National AAU indoor mile with a 4:07.9 record.

Dwyer arrived here Thursday with Armed Forces members of the Pan-American team. Santee is to arrive tomorrow or Monday.

While working out yesterday, Dwyer recalled that he has met Santee twice outdoors and lost each time.

Santee holds the U.S. mile record of 4:00.6.

Leo Johnson, track coach at Illinois, is to arrive Monday to take charge of the Pan-American group. Rice Coach Emmett Brunson will direct the all-stars.

Washing Clothes The Modern Way

at 206 Main
By E. R. Moren

Use of the automatic washer to clean clothes is a good example of how the use of machines makes life easier for the individual. Washday drudgery has been reduced to a simple matter of loading the machine and setting the dial. The modern 1955 Automatic machines such as the "Wizard" from your Western Auto Associate Store washes, rinses, and spins-dry with smooth fluid-drive operation. Special features incorporated in the "Wizard" deluxe automatic washer consist of items like the exclusive "Flo-Matic" balance which automatically adjusts to out-of-balance wash loads for smoother spinning operations. The "Wizard" will wash a big nine pound load completely in only 33 minutes, or washing time may be manually lengthened or shortened as desired. Incorporated in the washer is a supersmooth four-vane agitator which oscillates a full 212 degrees for livelier, more complete washing.

Four thorough-cleansing rinses which consist of a deep overflow rinse plus three spin rinses flush dirty water and scum out over top of wash tub, not down through already clean clothes. This "Wizard" automatic washer is equipped with a lifetime lubricated Westinghouse motor. The whole washer is guaranteed for one year and the Transmission is guaranteed for five full years.

Whether you want a Deluxe Automatic Washer at $259.95, a cheaper economy model automatic for $189.95 or a conventional washer for only $99.95, we invite you in to your Western Auto Associate Store at 206 Main Street to inspect the "Wizard" washing machine line. Each was designed to do a particular job and we are sure that you will enjoy doing your washing with a "Wizard." Adv.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

From all indications, most of the area's independent softball will be played in Coahoma the coming season . . . Plans are in the making for a six-team circuit there . . . Colorado City would enter a team, along with Coahoma . . . The remainder of the clubs would come from Big Spring and Webb Air Base . . . Coahoma will have a new field, completely equipped for night play . . . Softball facilities are none too good here . . . The University of Texas alumni in Breckenridge, no doubt, exerted strong pressure in getting Henry Ballard named the head football coach there . . . Ballard is a Texas ex . . . That's the same organization which tried to politic the Texas Interscholastic League into keeping Breck in Class AAA . . . Tommy McAdams, Big Spring's stellar quarterback last season, has designs on attending TCU, where he would play both baseball and football . . . Tommy is one of the greatest baseball players ever to wear Big Spring flannels . . . Senior colleges throughout the area are having their scouts camp on the doorsteps of the two Tyler JC cage aces, Milton Williams of Big Sandy and Russell Boone of Sweeney . . . Williams tossed in 38 points in Tyler's recent victory over Lon Morris in the Regional finals that qualified the Apaches for the National Juco Tournament . . . Though the circuit doesn't even have an eighth team for sure, Prexy Hal Sayles of the WT-NM League predicts that the wheel may attract better than 1,000,000 fans this year . . . That would be more than 25 per cent better than the league has ever done before and would represent more than 50 per cent gain over last year . . . Perhaps they're going to install pari-mutuel machines in every park . . . Of the 27 Jesuit colleges and universities in America, only seven now field football teams . . . They are Boston College, Holy Cross, Scranton, John Carroll, Marquette, Detroit and Xavier.

Barnabe Running A Bowling Alley

If a Teen-Age Baseball League park becomes a reality here, it will be immediately west of the present Little League plant in the northeast section of town . . . Speedy Moffett, the Snyder High School baseball coach, must reason the only way to develop ball players is to subject them to battle conditions as often as he can . . . He's booking something like 30 games for the Tigers (compared to 22 for Odessa and 14 for Big Spring) . . . Joe Harris of Terrell, one of East Texas' most talked-about basketball players, is a brother to the University of Oklahoma football quarterback, Jimmy Harris . . . The National Football League decided to change its semaphore for 'roughing or piling on' (from a military salute) when a small boy complained in writing that at his school and in his Scout troop the right hand brought smartly to the head means respect to the flag . . . Bowie High School wasn't represented in the State Basketball Tournament this weekend but the absence is due to be only temporary . . . The school has a 6-feet-8½ junior-to-be who'll become eligible next year and some insist he is better than Temple Tucker, who led Bowie to three straight state championships . . . Skippy Browning, who went from the University of Texas to Olympic diving fame, is now a lieutenant, junior grade, in the U.S. Navy and is stationed at Corpus Christi . . . Charley Barnabe, who bossed the Big Spring WT-NM League entry in 1938, now operates a bowling alley at James Connally Air Force Base near Waco . . . One of his star pitchers that year, Jodie Marek, is still railroading out of Temple . . . Amarillo High School, where Joe Kerbel has replaced Bill Defee as head coach, plays three toughies in non-conference football games next season — Capital Hill of Oklahoma City, Paschall of Fort Worth and Wichita Falls.

Hogan The Best, Says Paul Runyan

Reese (Goose) Tatum was a cotton picker before he discovered he could make more money playing basketball for Abe Saperstein . . . If Jerry Barron of Big Spring can overcome a weakness for anticipating the signal, he can become one of the finest backs in District 1-AAA football next fall . . . He's a boy who will operate at 100 per cent capacity every minute he's on the field . . . John Hargis, the former University of Texas cage great, says Neil Swisher, the Victoria schoolboy, is good enough right now to make the UT varsity . . . In event football teams in this area are needing games next fall to fill out their schedule, Mangum, Fox and Tecumseh — all in Oklahoma — are still seeking games . . . There's something about Mickey Mantle, the Yankee outfielder, that reminds me of Billy Maxwell, the touring golfer from Big Spring . . . Metz LaFollette, who coached the Seminole team that competed in the state basketball tournament this weekend, is the same fellow who was purchased by the Big Spring Broncs from Lubbock in 1953 but gave up baseball to concentrate on coaching . . . Paul Runyan, who used to be quite a golfer, picks Ben Hogan as the greatest linkster of all time in the February issue of Professional Golfer . . . Behind Hogan, Runyan ranks Bobby Jones, Walter Hagen, Sammy Snead, Byron Nelson and Gene Sarazen in that order . . . Runyan knows a lot more about it than I ever will but my idea of the champion of champions is Nelson . . . Ever have a yen to travel 100 miles an hour? . . . You can try it at Daytona Beach, Fla., by plunking down $12 and taking out across the measured mile course on the beach . . . You'll even be timed by electrical equipment, in the bargain . . . And if you average more than 100 MPH, you become eligible for membership in the Century Club and get an appropriately-engraved card.

LaSalle Seeks 2nd NCAA Cage Title

By HUGH FULLERTON Jr.

NEW YORK, March 5 (AP)—LaSalle's Explorers and Terrific Tom Gola will launch an effort Tuesday to become the third basketball team ever to win the National Collegiate Championship two years in succession and the third player to capture the tournament's Most Valuable Player award twice.

The beginning of LaSalle's bid to retain the NCAA title it won at Kansas City last March is a high spot of a week in which three post-season basketball tournaments, national in scope, get under way.

The 32-college NAIA (small college) Tournament opens Monday and ends Saturday in Kansas City. The National Collegiate Tournament, embracing 14 conference representatives and 10 teams chosen at large, begins Tuesday with first-round games in four locations. The four regional tournaments will be held Friday and Saturday, March 11-12, at Evanston, Ill.; Philadelphia, Manhattan, Kan.; and Corvallis, Ore. First-round games in the 12-team National Invitation Tournament will be played Saturday afternoon and night in Madison Square Garden.

Finals of both the NCAA and NIT tournaments are scheduled for Saturday, March 19.

Since the NCAA tournament was inaugurated in 1939, only Oklahoma A&M in 1945-46 and Kentucky in 1948-49 have been able to repeat as champions. And only the Aggies' Bob Kurland and Kentucky's Alex Groza in the same years have been repeaters for the MVP award.

Gola, an agile 6-7 youngster who has been deluged with superlatives all through his college career, actually will be seeking his third Most Valuable award. When LaSalle played in the invitation tournament in 1952, Gola and his teammate, Norm Grekin, tied for the honor.

LaSalle will begin its title drive in a tripleheader in New York Tuesday against the winner of tonight's Southern Conference Tournament finale between George Washington and West Virginia.

Villanova's opponent for the same program was determined last night when Duke reached the finals of the Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament against North Carolina State. Since State is ineligible for the tourney, Duke automatically became the conference representative. The third game matches Canisius and Williams.

Several other conference races in which the winner automatically qualifies for the NCAA Tournament were to be settled Saturday and there was a possibility some winners will not be known until Monday. One NIT entry also hinged on the outcome of the Missouri Valley Conference race: the winner will go to the NCAA and the runner-up to the NIT.

The other first-round pairings for the NCAA were:

At Lexington, Ky. — Miami (Ohio) vs. Marquette and Penn State vs. Memphis State; at Oklahoma City—Bradley vs. Oklahoma City University; at San Francisco —Idaho State vs. Seattle and San Francisco vs. Border Conference champion.

The Ivy League, Big Ten, Southeastern, Missouri Valley and Pacific Coast Conference champions, all drew first-round byes along with Southern Methodist, the Southwest Conference winner, Utah of the Skyline Conference and Colorado of the Big Seven.

First-round games in the NIT Saturday will be Manhattan vs. Louisville, Niagara vs. Lafayette, Seton Hall vs. St. Francis (Pa.) and Connecticut vs. St. Louis or Tulsa. The four seeded teams, Duquesne, Dayton, Holy Cross and Cincinnati, will play the winners the following Monday and Tuesday.

Aggies Win, 7-0

COLLEGE STATION, March 5 (AP)—Lefty Joe Hardgrove of Fort Worth gave up only four hits and struck out 13 batters today while pitching Texas A&M to a 7-0 shutout over the University of Houston.

Face Midland Tuesday

Victors over Andrews in their baseball opener last week, the Big Spring High School Steers (above) challenge Midland in Midland in a non-conference joust Tuesday afternoon. The Longhorns have shown much promise in their drills to date and have benefitted from some spendid weather. The Steers play their next home game here Saturday, at which time they tangle with Snyder in a double header.

Seminole Wins AA Cage Title

AUSTIN, March 5 (AP)— Giant A. C. Black sank a field goal with 17 seconds to go tonight to bring Crozier Tech of Dallas the Class AAAA Texas schoolboy basketball championship with a 59-57 victory over Waco.

Magnificent Neil Swisher, a whirling dervish with a basketball, led Victoria's Stingarees to their first state schoolboy championship tonight, bringing the South Texans a 60-51 victory over Beaumont French in the Class AAA finals.

Fourteen times during the Crozier-Waco game the score was tied and Reagan Chaney of the Tigers had deadlocked it for the last time just a minute and fifteen seconds before the end.

Charley Pack, the great Waco guard, got the ball and circled like a cat stalking its prey as he watched the clock. He was going to wait until time was almost out then take one shot, putting all hopes on that one throw.

He tried to whirl through the fighting Techs and up bobbed the great Black to block the shot. Cleo Haddox, mighty little Tech guard, got the ball and sped down the court as the second hands on the clock raced toward zero. He threw to the lumbering Black who had followed him down the court. Black pitched a jump shot from just inside the keyhole. It went through and Crozier Tech had won its second state championship in seven years.

It was a bitter pill for Waco's Tigers. Twelve times they have been in the state tournament and never yet have they been able to win the title.

Black, the all-state center, was on the injury list this week and there was great concern at Tech that he wouldn't be able to play at full stride. But there was nothing wrong with the 6-foot-9 pivot man tonight. He scored 28 points and gathered in the rebounds like he was picking cotton.

Lanky Ed Young sank a free throw with only 25 seconds to go to give Seminole's Indians a 50-49 victory over San Marcos and their first state championship.

The boys from the Plains country had to fight off repeated challenges of the hard-finishing Rattlers in order to win the Class AA title. With 58 seconds left Bobby Caruthers put San Marcos ahead 49-48 with two free throws. But Leland Caffey cashed in with a free throw to tie the score.

Then came Young's clincher as the packed gymnasium watched in hushed silence.

It was a great ball game, close all the way.

Seminole led 9-8 at the end of the first period and 28-22 at the half. At the three-quarter mark, the Indians were only two points to the good after San Marcos had caught them a half minute earlier on Charley Williams' free throw.

Bu the Indians pulled ahead again on free throws by Young and a jump shot field goal by Johnny Speer, high-point man for Seminole and of the game with 17.

But it became a ding-dong battle down to the last gun.

Young made 14 points and Dell Ottmers led San Marcos with 13.

Buna's battling Cougars finished like a cyclone under the guidance of John Ed Hargroves to beat Dickinson 58-54 for the Class A championship.

Beaumont fought from behnid to a 62-52 victory over Pampa to win third place in the Class AAAA division.

The game was a rousing struggle with the score being tied four times and with Pampa leading through two quarters 30-29. But Beaumont, paced by the brilliant Erwin Turner and Wayne Wedgeworth shot into the lead early in the third quarter and held it the rest of the way.

Pampa was the defending Class AAAA champion but lost to Waco last night, 67-61. Beaumont was nosed out by Dallas Crozier Tech 58-56 in the opening round.

Wedgeworth and Turner tied for high point honors of the game with 18 apiece. Ken Hinkle, speedy Pampa guard, was next with 17.

Kilgore's Bulldogs followed their great scorer, Buddy Humphrey, to a 69-52 victory over Plainview to win third place in the Class AAA division.

Humphrey made 31 points to bring his total for the tournament (two games) to 59. Yesterday he tied the all-time record for free throws in a single game with 12 against Victoria, to whom Kilgore lost in the opening round, 80-68.

Kilgore led all the way after the first two minutes and at one time held a 25-point bulge.

Bovina edged Medina 67-62 for third place in Class B.

Hargroves sank two free throws to put Buna ahead with only 28 seconds left. He then intercepted a desperate Dickinson pass and flipped to Delman Rogers for the layup that iced the victory just before the final gun fired.

Hargroves was the keyman in the entire stretch run which saw Buna smash back from what appeared to be certain defeat and ride to victory on the accurate shooting of John Rice, Rogers, Jerry Smith and Hargroves. The latter shot Buna ahead with only 40 seconds left but he fouled trying for a rebound and Leon Thomas tied the score at 54-54 with two free throws.

But Clint Wolston fouled out for Dickinson and Hargroves sank the two free throws that meant victory.

Rogers was the leading scorer for Buna's well-balanced team with 15 points. Wayne Williams, bespectacled leader of the Gators, topped Dickinson with 20.

Buna trailed at the half, 34-24, and was behind at the three-quarter mark, 48-41. But the Cougars were toughest down the stretch.

Avoca beat Big Sandy at its own game — ball control — to win the Class B championship for the first time. The score was 47-41.

The Mustangs thus finished the season with the best record in the state—43 victories against only one defeat.

Avoca jumped to a 9-0 lead in the first few minutes. Big Sandy caught fire and pulled up with Avoca trailing by one point as the first half ended, due to the clutch shooting of the Indian boys, Joe Thomas and Oscar Williams.

But the Mustangs soon took over in the third period and once led by as much as 13 points.

Big Sandy was held to only two points the entire third period by the pressing defense and ball control methods of Avoca. At one time the Mustangs held the ball for three minutes with Big Sandy doing everything it could—including fouling—in their efforts to get it.

Avoca was not stalling, however. It was merely holding the ball until it could get a good shot at the basket.

Big Sandy, in the state tournament for the sixth time and winner of the state title once, in 1952, made a ball game of it in the final period. Twice they got within five points of Avoca on the accurate shooting of Thomas and Williams.

LeFluer Named To All-Stars

BEAUMONT, March 5 (AP)—Eleven all-state players were included today in the 28-man squad that will represent the South in the annual all-star football game of the Texas Coaching School at San Antonio Aug. 5.

The squad, using the T formation, will be coached by George Sauer of Baylor. The North squad, to be announced later, will be piloted by Darrell Royal of Mississippi State.

The South squad, picked by, the Texas Coaches Association Committee, headed by Darelly Tully of Galveston, follows:

Ends—David Harrison, San Antonio Edison; Larry Roach, Victoria; William Wilemon, Waxahachie; Buddy Dial, Magnolia, and Fred Hahn, Ingleside.

Tackles — Tom Gray, Highland Park; A. A. Crews, Nederland; Robert Fleming, Mason, and Rob Spain, Pasadena.

Guards — Gerland Lambert, McAllen; Charles Caffrey, Temple; Winston LaFleur, Port Neches, and Charles Horton, Waco.

Centers — Bruce Hendrickson, Port Arthur, and Pat Kerns, Killeen.

Backs — Vince Matthews, Houston Austin; Carl Trepagnier, Texas City; Jimmy Carpenter, Deer Park; Bill Baker, Beeville; Barry Robinson, Meridian; G. F. # Cougar Quartet Ties Mark In 440-Yard Sprint Relay

AUSTIN, March 5 (AP)—The world record for the 440-yard relay was tied today by the University of Houston in a tri-angular meet here between the University of Texas, Texas A&M, and Houston.

Despite the mark made by the Cougar relay team of Doyle Jones, Danny Boone, Jerry Beck, and Larry McBride, Texas won the meet with 85 1-3 points, Texas A&M came in second with 59 2-3. Houston placed last with 24 points.

The record, timed at 40.5, will not be recognized by the International Amateur Athletic Association because of the lack of sufficient timers and teams participating.

Two Southwest Conference marks were bettered, although they will not go down on the conference record books.

The Longhorn's Dick Foerster finished the 880-yard run in 1:50.8, topping the Southwest Conference mark of 1:52.1 set by Texas's Tom Rogers in 1954.

Even the Texas sprint relay team, which came in second to Houston's winners, finished at 40.7, battering the conference record of 41.1 set by the Longhorns in 1951 and 1954.

AT BATON ROUGE

Billy Two Behind; Furgol Leader

By W. B. RAGSDALE JR.

BATON ROUGE, March 5 (AP)—Marty Furgol, lanky power hitter from Lemont, Ill., held an uneasy one-stroke lead today after the third round of the $12,500 Baton Rouge Open Golf Tournament with a 54-hole total of 205.

Furgol shot a one-under par 71 today to go 11 strokes under par for the three rounds.

Handsome Jimmy Clark of Laguna Beach, Calif., roared into contention with a seven-under-par 65 for a 206 total. Clark's round was the best of the day over the 6,450-yard Baton Rouge Country Club course.

Jerry Barber, pint-sized precision artist from Los Angeles who shared the lead with Furgol at the start of today's round, had a par 72 today after two 67 rounds and tied Clark with a 206 total.

One stroke back with 207 were Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex., and Bo Wininger, Oklahoma City.

Wininger shot a 67, while Maxwell came in with a 68.

Cary Middlecoff of Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., and Art Doering of Inwood, N.Y., were next with 208. Both had 68.

Johnny Pott, young Louisiana State University golfer, fired a 70 for a 209 total to lead the amateurs. Professional Art Wall of Pocono Manor, Pa., also posted a three-day score of 209.

Leo Biagetti of Sandusky, Ohio; Walter Romans of Baltimore and Paul McGuire of Wichita, Kan., were bunched at 210.

St. Vincent Wins Arcadia Feature

ARCADIA, Calif., March 5 (AP)—English-bred St. Vincent, in a rousing duel down the stretch with game little Determine and Gigantic, swept to victory today in the $115,900 San Juan Capistrano Handicap.

Racing before 58,000 fans, largest at Santa Anita park in two years, the 4-year-old chestnut colt, the betting favorite, flashed under the wire by a half-length in the long, hard run over the Camino Real grass course.

The time for the mile and almost three quarters was 2.46 4-5, a new track record for the grind.

Andrew Crevolin's Determine, carrying high weight of 126 pounds, fought it out in a thrilling finish to take second place, and just back in third was Joe W. Brown's Gigantic.

St. Vincent, striking for his second major stakes victory of the waning season here, is owned by George Gardiner and the Alberta Ranches of Canada, and was ridden by the veteran of the saddle, Johnny Longden.

Steeplejack Beats Death Three Times

BRADFORD, England, March 5 (AP) — Billy Harrison, 18-year-old steeplejack, cheated death three times today.

He was working on a 75-foot factory chimney. Falling stonework smashed his scaffolding and sent him hurtling down from the top.

He landed in a water tank 40 feet below and was stunned.

But he didn't drown. The same stonework had plunged through the bottom of the tank, and the water drained away.

The stone hurtled on and fractured a six-inch gas main. The gas swirled up into the tank.

Firemen pulled Harrison to safety just in time. One said: "The tank reeked of gas. A few minutes more and it would have been too late."

Local Team Wins YMCA Tournament

Big Spring easily won a three-team YMCA volley-ball tournament here Saturday, defeating Midland and Abilene in straight games. Each series went two games.

Lubbock, fourth team entered in the meet, did not put in an appearance and the Big Spring B team replaced it. The local reserves lost to Midland, two games to one.

Spooner Looks To Advantage In Workout

VERO BEACH, Fla., March 5 (AP)—Karl Spooner, late 1954 season Brooklyn pitching sensation, took the mound for the first time since his winter cartilage operation today and gave a highly impressive exhibition.

"My knee still feels a little weak" said the 23-year-old southpaw who struck out 27 men for a record while hurling two shutouts last September. "But it doesn't bother my pitching. I feel great on the mound. I am now running on the knee every day and every day it gets stronger."

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 5 (AP)—Casey Stengel today called this year's squad the "best conditioned of my seven years as manager of the Yankees." The manager then named New York's pitchers for the opening exhibition game against the St. Louis Cardinals Thursday.

"Whitey Ford is in the best shape I've ever seen him and he'll open," Stengel said. "Bob Turley follows and Tom Morgan works the last three innings."

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 5 (AP)—Rookie outfielder Bill Virdon has what St. Louis Cardinal Manager Eddie Stanky calls a "pleasing fault"—he's too fast.

Virdon has been inclined to "over-field" ground balls. "He charges them daringly, but a bit too much," Stanky says.

He gets the ball away quickly, but so quickly he sometimes sacrifices accuracy. So the Cards are giving him polish. The International League's Most Valuable Player last year, Virdon is given a chance to make the outfield. That could cause the shift of Stan Musial to first base.

SARASOTA, Fla., March 5 (AP)—After displaying mid-season form in pitching batting practice, 6-7 Frank Sullivan was named today to take a turn on the mound in the first of the two Boston Red Sox intra-squad games Monday and Tuesday.

PHOENIX, March 5 (AP)—The New York Giants engaged in their first intra - squad game today and it wound up in a 1-1 tie between the Freddy Fitzsimmonses and the Herman Frankses.

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 5 (AP)—Grandy Hamner says he will pay strict attention to baseball this year with no "popping off."

The stormy petrel of the Phillies says he has put the button on his lip and probably won't give even the time of day to inquiring people.

"I'm not saying a word from now," declared the shortstop who has had more than his share of involvements as a big leaguer, including the case of the private eye who trailed him. He let fly last season, asserting that the front office treated the players like babies.

Odessa Pro-Am Is Slated For June

ODESSA, March 5 (SC) — Odessa's seventh annual $7,500 pro-am golf tournament will be staged June 2-5 this year, it has been announced.

In the past, the tournament has always been scheduled for late August or early September.

Get Extra Protection Against Blowouts and Punctures at Regular Tire and Tube Prices

WITH NEW

Firestone DELUXE CHAMPION TUBELESS TIRES

So Revolutionary . . . So Far Advanced, That Auto Manufacturers Adopted It As Standard Equipment on New 1955 Cars

New Safety-Tensioned Gum-Dipped* Cord Body Makes Firestone Tires Safer . . . Stronger . . . Last Much Longer

This new multi-million dollar unit combines the famous Firestone Gum-Dipping process with Safety-Tensioning, a new process which takes the stretch out of tire cords. The result is greater blowout protection and longer tire life.

BLOWOUT PROTECTION

No tube to pinch or explode! Inside this tire there's a Safety-Liner which holds air and reinforces the tire in the event it should be injured . . . instead of a blowout you get a slow leak.

PUNCTURE PROTECTION

If a nail should penetrate this tire, the Safety-Liner hugs it and slows air loss . . . enables you to drive for miles to the nearest service station.

Gives You All These Extras, Too

SKID PROTECTION

Newly designed silent tread has more angles and skid-protecting edges than ever before . . . 70% more skid-resisters than ordinary tires.

GREATER COMFORT

New resilient tread compounds and flexible tread design absorb road shock. Elimination of the inner tube also provides a softer ride.

QUIETER RUNNING

No hum or whine because tread elements overlap to prevent rhythmic vibration; Safety-Grip Tread won't squeal even on sharpest turns.

LONGER MILEAGE

Slave Labor 'Expert' To Head Soviet Atom Plants

By TOM WHITNEY

NEW YORK, March 5 (AP)—The Kremlin picked a new man this week to drive Soviet atom plants. He turns out to be a top expert on use of slave labor in Siberia.

It could be the Soviet leaders are unhappy about the output of their nuclear weapon factories. Maybe that's why this week they named a onetime deputy of executed Police Chief Lavrenty Beria, Avrami Pavlovich Zavenyagin, to boss them.

Intelligence analysts in all Western capitals—particularly in Washington—are breaking their heads over the puzzle of why Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev and Premier Nikolai Bulganin found it necessary to make this highly important change at a time when Moscow broadcasts almost daily boast that the U.S.S.R. is out in front in the H-bomb sweepstakes.

It could be only one more complicated maneuver in Kremlin factional politics — intended by Khrushchev and Bulganin to end any influence ex-Premier Georgi Malenkov had in the atomic field. It also could mean the former atom boss, Vyacheslav Malyshev, failed to get into high gear on H-bomb production.

The official announcement from Moscow March 1 merely said Zavenyagin was named a deputy premier of the U.S.S.R. and "minister of the medium machinery industry," replacing Malyshev.

But American students of Soviet affairs identify the Soviet "ministry of the medium machinery industry" as a cover designation for the Russian equivalent of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission. This ministry was formed the night Lavrenty Beria was arrested. It apparently took over functions of the highly secret "first administration of the council of ministers" which under Beria had charge of secret weapons output and controlled uranium production in East Germany.

Zavenyagin has a combination of experience which gave him unique qualifications for the atomic task. He is well versed in science and engineering. He spent seven years at the Moscow Academy of Mining in the late 20s. He also has had extensive experience as an industrial executive. He was a member of a commission in the early 30s to draft instructions for industrial and electrical construction under the first five-year plan. In May 1931 he was named deputy chief of the main administration of the Soviet metallurgical industry. This was a responsible post for one so young—he was born in 1901. Its equivalent nowadays in Russia would carry the title of deputy minister for the steel industry.

A Russian emigre source says Zavenyagin made a visit to the United States in 1930 in connection with negotiations with an American company for construction work at the Magnitogorsk steel plant. He was named director of this plant in 1933 and stayed with it till 1937. Much of the credit for completion of the project has been given him.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

From time to time a reader sends me a picture painted with water colors or drawn with crayons. One of these has come from Sandra Goodman, a water color of her pet bird. Although she does not tell me her age, I would guess that she is 11 years old. Am I right, Sandra? She says:

"I enclose a picture which I made of our pet parakeet. We call her Dickey Bird.

"Dicky Bird is very playful. She runs on the floor, after my brother, Georgie. She rings the bell in her cage. She whistles a lot, but won't talk. We taught her to whistle a Certain Way. She kisses people on the lips."

Thank you, Sandra, for your letter. A parakeet can be interesting whether or not it knows the art of speaking. I know a 14-year-old boy, Rickey Matthies, who has a parakeet which never talks but which can perform various tricks.

One thing in the letter which I have quoted troubles me. It is the statement that Dickey Bird "kisses people on the lips." From other letters which readers have sent me, it seems plain that many persons kiss their birds.

A parakeet is so appealing that one might ask, "Who would miss a little kiss?"

To me, however, it seems safer for people to keep their lips away from the bills of parakeets, as well as from the tongues of dogs.

During the first quarter of the present century, the good-sized birds known as parrots were common cage birds. Then came a wave of parrot fever. Many parrots died, and, in addition, some of their owners fell sick. Deaths of people were reported from this cause, and parrots lost favor as pets.

Parakeets are small relatives of the old-time cage parrots. It would seem a shame if people suffered from a sickness spread by these pleasant little birds.

Gains Impressive On Business Front

By WALTER BREEDE JR.

NEW YORK, March 5 (AP) — Things were definitely on the upbeat this week in key areas of the nation's business.

Here's where you could spot the most impressive gains:

Consumer spending at retail, four to six per cent higher than a year ago.

Automobile production, significantly higher than the week before and just below the all-time peak.

Contracts awarded for heavy construction jobs, 58 per cent ahead of the year-ago rate.

Production and refining of crude oil—highest ever recorded.

Brisk demand for unfinished steel indicated a renewal of inventory building by major steel consumers.

Output of the nation's steel mills hit 90 per cent of capacity for the second week in a row. Prices of iron ore moved up.

With practically all the important business indicators pointing higher, the big question was: How long would it last?

Attention focused on two main props—auto output and home building.

It was obvious that auto production—roaring along at a rate of nearly nine million cars a year—would eventually slacken. Harlow H. Curtice, president of General Motors, upped an earlier forecast and predicted the industry would build and sell 7½ million cars in the United States this year. Some called his figures overly optimistic.

The home building boom, with its huge payroll and its tremendous consumption of materials, came in for close scrutiny in the March letter of the National City Bank of New York.

The bank pointed out that new homes built in the three years ended last April—roughly 3,300,000—outnumbered new families formed in that period by about 3-2. It also warned that funds available for investment in mortgages are no longer as plentiful as they were a few months back.

As of now, said the bank, demand for housing is being sustained by such factors as the desire of many families for larger homes, and migration of city people to the suburbs—trends which are highly vulnerable to economic change.

The week also saw renewed preoccupation with the spending habits of Mr. and Mrs. Consumer. January, the month right after Christmas, is usually a time when consumer spending shows a marked decline. And a key yardstick for consumer spending is installment credit, reflecting the volume of merchandise purchased on the cuff.

In January this year, the Federal Reserve Board reported, installment credit showed a "much less than normal" decline of only 31 million dollars. The January dip last year was 351 million. At month's end, total instalment credit outstanding was 22½ billion dollars. That was only about one per cent below the all-time high of December 1954.

Area Youths Win Awards At Angelo, Amarillo Shows

Area youths set new records and picked up several prizes in livestock shows this week.

Howard County won first place in the "group of five," shows at the San Angelo Fat Stock Show. The prize of $75 went to the 4-H Club fund.

Four Howard County steers placed in the show and two lambs. The lambs belonged to Jesse Overton and placed 21st and 22nd in the club division.

The steer of Patricia Iden placed 2nd, Joyce Robinson's placed 5th and 10th, Jerry Iden's placed 11th, and Wanda Boatler's placed 22nd.

Howard County youths did not show at the Amarillo Fat Stock Show.

But Billy Bridgeford's white face entry set a new record price at the show. Humble Oil and Refining Co. bid $4 a pound for the Colorado City boy's calf. The company paid $4.268 for the animal which bested the old record set in 1949.

Howard County youths will leave Big Spring for the show at Odessa Monday.

WINGS OVER BIG SPRING

Airport Manager Spots Flying Saucers; Plane Crash Lands

Those little men from Mars are buzzing around Big Spring again. More "flying saucers" have been spotted in this area.

Accustomed to spotting objects in flight through years of experience, Barney Edens, manager of Hamilton Field, said at last he has seen a flying saucer.

He isn't too eager to talk about the saucers and he said a person just had to see one himself to believe they are there. But he is convinced he saw three last weekend flying over Big Spring.

The objects were diamond shaped, Edens explained, a little wider than they were long. They had no lights on them but appeared to reflect the light from the city. They may have had a soft glow, Edens added, but he didn't keep them in sight long enough to find out.

The saucers were flying southwest when Edens saw them and were flying in a tight "V" formation. He couldn't tell how large they were because he didn't know their height.

"But," he said, "if they were the same size as a jet fighter plane, then they were about 3,000 feet up and traveling from 800 to 1,000 miles per hour."

Jack Conley has been working on his aircraft this week. He tuned up the engine of the Luscombe and replaced the spark plugs.

Harvey Hooser, a member of the Big 4 Flying Club, has all his papers preparatory to beginning flying instructions. He has had instruction before and hopes to complete the requirements for a license in short order.

Hooser is part owner of a Luscombe.

The airport committee of the Chamber of Commerce met Friday morning to discuss the possibilities of a new airport here. They have been charged by the Board of Directors to make a detailed study of Big Spring's aviation needs.

The Chamber might support a bond issue to finance a new airport after seeing the report of this committee. The Board has voted in favor of circulating a petition requesting a bond issue for an airport, but they decided to wait for further study by the committee.

A two-place Piper, which belongs to the Air Scouts of Midland, landed here last week. The plane has a tricycle landing gear which makes it easier for the Scouts in learning to land.

Squadron 41 in Midland has 16 boys and is on a par with the Sea Scouts and Explorer Scouts here. The boys learn to fly and maintain the aircraft.

The Air Scouts earned all the money necessary to purchase the plane and they maintain it themselves by doing odd jobs. The Squadron is sponsored by the Optimist Club of Midland.

The short northeast-southwest runway at Hamilton was the cause of another accident Tuesday, according to Edens.

Wind direction was such that the short runway had to be used Tuesday and a Piper Super Cruiser dropped out for a hard landing. The pilot was trying to make a slow approach to the runway.

Considerable damage was done to the undercarriage of the aircraft and the propeller.

The previous accident occurred about a month ago, Edens said, and it can also be attributed to short runways. A Bellanca aircraft, owned by Cole and Curry of Abilene, was unable to stop on the short 1,600 feet strip.

The pilot ran through a fence on the southeast end of the field resulting in about $200 damage.

The plane damaged Tuesday is owned by R. B. Daniels of Dallas.

Cosden Petroleum Corp.'s planes were busy this week.

The "Dove" carried R. L. Tollett and Marvin M. Miller to Fort Worth and back Tuesday. On Thursday, it carried Mr. and Mrs. Tollett to El Paso and returned Saturday morning.

Bill Edwards and J. T. Wilkinson were pilots on the Fort Worth junket and Edwards and Jack Gully operated the craft to El Paso.

Wilkinson completed his tests last week for solo flight in the single engine Bonanza. He piloted R. M. Johnson to Houston Thursday. On the return flight to Big Spring, they stopped at College Station and picked up E. B. McCormick

There were quite a few flights through Big Spring last week, manager Edens said.

The Gaddis Mining Co. stopped here to refuel in a Super Cub. The flight was out of Grand Junction, Colo., on a uranium prospecting tour.

A Bonanza belongnig to the American Home Realty Co. and one belonging to O'Neal Drilling Co. made re-fueling stops here during the week, Edens said. The O'Neal aircraft was from Fort Worth and the other was from Dallas.

A Navion enroute to Midland from Dallas was forced to land here for fuel Thursday, Edens said. Strong head winds used more gas than the pilot had anticipated. The craft was owned by Riley Twin Aircraft Sales and the pilot was Hank Reichelt.

A Cessna 120 enroute to Fort Worth also stopped here for fuel during the week. It was owned by S. C. Shipps.

Canadians Increase

OTTAWA, March 5 (AP)—Canada's population totaled 15,439,000 Jan. 1, the Bureau of Statistics estimated. This is a rise of 2.7 per cent from 15,035,000 on the corresponding date last year.

It's Girl Scout Week

LAYING TRAIL — is practiced by Sallie Hammond above left, Lana Lewis, with compass, and Donna Gazaway. Scouts learn that rocks piled in threes mean "danger," and they learn to give directions with rocks and sticks or limbs of trees and shrubs. Clumps of grass, tied in special ways, can also be used to convey a message to one wise in the ways of scouting. Mrs. James Dunn is leader of Troop Five, of which these girls are members.

INTERNATIONAL FRIENDSHIP — will be the subject of the skit to be given by these scouts from Troop 17. This day is observed on Thursday, and taking part will be, pictured above left to right, Barbara Maynard, Carolyn Thompson and Joan Bratcher. Rex Browning is leader of the troop.

CITIZENSHIP — is the phase of training to be observed Tuesday. Sylvia Cole, with book, in photo at right, is conducting a business meeting, with Cora Sue Turner, with hand up, making a nomination. Cherie Ann Sabbato, daughter of the troop leader, Mrs. Frank Sabbato, is the other member in the meeting. The girls are in Troop Eight.

How Many Mistakes?

Mrs. Stella Hayworth, who is in charge of the bookkeeping and transit departments at the First National Bank, shows a few of the most important things a business woman should NOT do. Can you list them all?

Feminine Touch

One of the best ways to "get along with the boss," according to Elizabeth Gregg MacGibbon in the newly revised edition of her book, "Manners in Business," is to make him comfortable. Mrs. Billie Smith places a home-like touch on the cleared-off desk of her employer, Cecil Guthrie.

Looking Ahead

Joyce Francis, left, and Norma Blount follow Mrs. MacGibbon's advice by gaining new skills and perfecting old ones as steps to advancement in the business world. Joyce works in the stenographic pool at Cosden and Norma does office work at Reagan Insurance Agency, but in addition both are students at Howard County Junior College. The college offers both day and night business classes.

SECRETARIES ADVISED

Office Is No Place For Beauty Contests

By MARGIE STEWART

If you're a secretary who has dreams of being a beauty queen, better put those dreams away from 9 to 5.

Business executives like their secretaries and office girls to be neat and attractive, but they prefer efficiency to at-the-desk beauty repairs, according to Elizabeth Gregg MacGibbon in her revised edition of "Manners in Business," a guide for the office girl.

So confine your beauty preparations to your home and, at the noon hour, to the office powder room.

Mrs. MacGibbon should know what she is talking about, too. Before pioneering the idea of manners in business, she rose to an executive position with an advertising agency. She has interviewed thousand of workers in offices and stores across the country and has received a deluge of requests through the years from department stores to talk to their personnel.

"The less jewelry the better" is almost a rule. Bold costume jewelry and long dangling earrings often give the just-right touch to an after-hours ensemble, but business executives unanimously say "no" to their appropriateness in the office, Mrs. MacGibbon says.

A wrist watch is about the only piece of jewelry everyone agrees on, she continues, though some clips, modified use of beads and button earrings are appropriate.

Transparent blouses, low cut or bare backed dresses — even in hot weather — and the "naked look" in shoes are also definitely out, she says.

What about smoking? Mrs. MacGibbon advises working girls to check on the rules of the business instead of just doing what everyone else does.

Getting along with the boss, Mrs. MacGibbon says, may sometimes even involve running errands for his wife during the noon hour or typing manuscripts for a "Mrs. Employer" who has literary ambitions but can't type.

These odd jobs may be unfair to the poor secretary but there's not much she can do about them. The worst thing to do is to complain to the employer, she warns.

A girl who dusts the boss's desk in the morning, has his pen filled and pencils sharpened will rate tops with the man who likes to work in a clean and orderly desk.

But there's also the executive whose desk is a pile of papers. What's more, he likes it that way, and woe be to the secretary who dares to disturb it.

One of the surest ways to get ahead in business, according to the author, is to extend your knowledge of your work through outside classes.

Personality will get the job and often help you advance, she concludes, but the personality girl will never keep her job for very long, much less get anywhere, unless she can produce, too.

Undercover Story New This Spring

By DOROTHY ROE

A lot of girls who go shopping for a new Easter outfit are going to find that some changes in underpinning are necessary to do justice to the new alphabetical silhouettes as launched by Paris and adapted by American designers.

The tight-fitting, long-torso lines of the new spring dresses and suits don't look their best when the line is broken by midriff bulges. Although there has been much discussion of the relaxed silhouette, you'll find that most of the new things must fit smoothly and snugly through the middle in order to look as they were meant to look.

There are several ways to reshape the long-suffering body to conform to the new lines, to wit: high-rising girdle extending several inches above the waistline, worn with bandeau bra; all-in-one corselet; basque length boned strapless bra.

For dresses with skirt fullness starting at the hipline, one of the favorite silhouettes for spring, the long boned bra is proving the most popular underpinning, since it holds the midriff firmly smooth, is designed to lift the bust slightly and give a longer line through the torso.

For sheath dresses the all-in-one corselet is the answer, since control must extend below the hipline for the desired effect.

So be prepared—when you go Easter shopping this spring, expect to start from the skin out.

Mrs. Floyd McGary, 804 San Antonio, is spending the weekend in San Antonio with her husband, who is in Lackland Air Force Base.

Spring Hats Have Accent In The Back

More hat is the word for spring, as milliners present toppers to complement the new long, lean silhouette of dresses and suits.

Many of the new hats seen at the recent millinery industry show in New York feature back interest, with hats covering the back of the head much more than in recent seasons. Other hats accent brims, many turned down all the way round, to achieve the droopy effect suggested by the skinny clothes of spring.

The sailor is important again this spring, looking new worn back of the hairline. Many of the new hats are worn either level or tilted slightly forward.

As usual, there are plenty of flower hats for Easter paraders, but the flowers are given new treatments. One designer stitches the petals flat all over his hats, giving an effect of a print and sometimes adding a feather band.

Packable hats are high in importance, permitting women to pack half a dozen hats flat in a suitcase.

You'll be seeing the dome silhouette, the cloche and many versions of the beret—but always with a more hat look this spring.

Gay Accessories

Italian designers are making news with original treatments of shoes and gloves, seen at the recent accessories showings in Rome. Renowned as the home of some of the world's most skilled shoe and glovemakers, Italy is attracting many buyers from American shops, not only for its high-fashion dresses and costumes, but for accessories as well.

Well Shod Newlyweds

NIAGARAFALLS, N. Y. (AP)—Capt. Horatio A. Collins, who retired recently as chief of the park police at this honeymoon capital, says he can spot newlyweds every time. "The soles of their shoes give them away," he says. "They're always new."

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Advocates Exercise To Take Off Those Inches

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — When I took Cleo Moore to visit the paraplegic ward at the veteran's hospital, the men took one look at her full-blown figure, gave out with a loud wolf whistle and shouted, "Who's Marilyn Monroe?"

On the way back to Hollywood, Cleo admitted that she was flattered, but that at one time her generous proportions were a source of real unhappiness to her.

"I matured at an early age and it made me very self-conscious to be wearing a bra in a classroom full of lanky, flat-chested school girls. It left me with a shyness that was hard to overcome.

"A few years later, my kid sister had the same problem and I was able to help her from my experience. I advised her to wear loose-fitting jackets and blouses, and generally the kind of clothes that would not call attention to her voluptuousness."

"Most women wouldn't consider that a problem," I said, thinking of all the letters I receive from unhappy women who spend hours every day doing breast developing exercises. I was surprised to learn that Cleo had an exercise routine of her own.

"I work with dumbbells every day to keep my bust high and firm. It takes just a few minutes every morning to keep your figure looking just the way you want it," she said.

"I think the secret of a healthy and beautiful body lies in diet and circulation. This means stressing high-protein foods and sticking to a short but effective exercise routine once a day to keep you limber.

"When I need to reduce," she continued, "I ride my electric bicycle. It's not so much a matter of pounds with me as inches. The first place I put on weight is in my hips and this machine is especially good for riding off those inches. Both the seat and handle bars move and in no time at all you get a real workout," Cleo said with enthusiasm.

"This electric bicycle is wonderful for releasing tension and by stimulating the circulation, it helps you to sleep better. I think it's great for anyone who works behind a desk all day, or a counter."

I couldn't help but agree that this was the painless way to get rid of those extra inches, but I questioned the expense involved.

"Do you think this bicycle is something the average working girl can afford?" I asked Cleo, who is currently being seen in "Women's Prison" for Columbia Pictures.

"Well," she replied, "it depends on how important it is to you to trim down your figure and keep in condition. I know that these machines are available on the installment plan. It might be just a matter of budgeting for a while to make the payments.

"I'm convinced that a half-hour of exercise a day is what keeps the doctor away," Cleo said firmly.

"Keeping yourself attractive isn't just for actresses. No matter what kind of job you have, or even if you're a housewife, you owe it to someone, as well as to yourself, to keep up a good appearance," Cleo explained.

"Looks and personality are so closely tied together that it can't help but make you more interesting and charming, knowing that you are attractive and look your very best.

"I remember just before I left the South to come to Hollywood, our family doctor gave me some darn good advice. 'Remember that being well-loved is better than being rich or famous, but this doesn't mean you can't be both,' he told me.

"Keeping that in mind helped me get a contract with one of the big studios," Cleo admitted.

"I had made a picture called 'Bait' for Hugo Haas which Columbia was releasing and they sent me to New York to help plug it. My schedule was so tight I hardly had time to eat. I used to gulp sandwiches in taxis between appointments as I dashed from TV show to a guest spot on a disc jockey show. When it was all over, though, the head of the publicity department was so appreciative of my cooperation and the way I handled myself, he urged the studio to put me under contract.

"I was afraid the studio would decide I needed to be changed — make me cut my hair, I especially wanted to keep it long. With everyone wearing short hair, I thought this would give me a certain amount of individuality.

"Fortunately, all they did was lighten my hair," she added. "I didn't mind the bleaching because it doesn't harm the hair if it is done right. I found that it is using too much ammonia that makes the hair shaft brittle."

Cleo's hair is truly her crowning glory. It is bright, lustrous and silky-looking.

"I have a fetish about clean hair," she told me. "I wash it every other day. It doesn't dry out from this frequent washing because I always massage some apricot oil into my hair and scalp when it is still wet. I learned this trick from my grandmother. And I also use apricot oil for removing make-up because it lubricates my skin."

Apricot oil, I found, is a good beauty preparation. It is inexpensive and can be purchased at almost any drug store.

CLEO'S SECRETS CAN BE YOURS

Now, for the first time, Cleo Moore's own secret routine to keep her figure in shape is available for you. In leaflet M-53, "Cleo Moore's Secret Exercises," you'll learn how to keep the bustline high and firm. A special routine for the waist and thighs is also included. You'll be on the way toward a more beautiful body when you order your copy of Cleo's secrets. And you'll get one by sending only 5 cents AND a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, Hollywood Beauty, in care of the Big Spring Herald,. Remember to ask for M-53.

Cleo Moore, one of Hollywood's newest stars, stresses the importance of health, diet and exercise for beauty. Cleo stars in "Woman's prison" for Columbia Pictures.

Texas Heritage Talk Is Club Program

The spirit of confidence displayed by Texans is part of their heritage, according to Shine Philips who gave a Texas Day talk for members of the Woman's Forum who met in the home of Mrs. Omar Jones Friday afternoon.

Retelling the tales of early day Texas that had been told to him by his grandfather who fought at the battle of San Jacinto, Philips related the incidents leading up to the battle. He also pointed out that the army of Texans was a great mixture of people, many of whom were not "lily-whites" and who came to fight with Sam Houston's Army upon the payment of land.

Philips pointed out that Texas joined the Confederacy as a separate unit and joined the United States also as a separate unit that could separate itself from the union by popular vote. "This air of independence has become a part of the general attitude of Texans and some people are just repulsed by it," said Philips.

Members were reminded that the next meeting will be a "salad luncheon" at the home of Mrs. C. M. Boles and each member will bring a bowl of her favorite salad and some other recipe for exchange. The meeting will take place at 1:30 o'clock and officers for the coming two years will be elected.

"Recollection Creek" by Fred Gipson will be reviewed by Mrs. John Priddy Sr. of Stanton on March 9 at the Howard County Junior College little auditorium at 3 o'clock. This is the third review of the Wednesday Review club program which is sponsored by The Woman's Forum.

Mrs. Charles Tompkins, president, will attend the district meeting in Monahans March 16, 17, 18 as a delegate from this organization.

Mrs. Cliff Fowler likened trophies won in athletic events to trophies of lives won to Christ. Mrs. Wayne Monroney also spoke. The pastor and his family were presented a gift during the fellowship hour. Sixty attended.

Study Club Sees 'Magic Suitcase'

FORSAN—Mrs. G. C. Broughton, a member of the Desk and Derrick Club in Big Spring, showed petroleum products from her "Magic Suitcase" at the Forsan Study Club Texas Day program Thursday.

The meeting was in the school music room. Members answered roll call with "Tall Tales of Texas."

The table centerpiece following the program theme was a large map of Texas centered with a cluster of the six flags that have flown over the state. The map was encircled with silhouettes of all the Texas governors since 1836. It was placed on a reflector covered with Spanish moss.

Mrs. C. B. Long presided at a business meeting and Mrs. C. V. Wash gave a nominating committee report. Mrs. Guy Stephenson was welcomed as a new member. Twenty-five attended.

Proper Diet Should Include Some Fats

CHICAGO (AP)—Nutrition research has proved that fat is an essential for proper diet, according to meat experts.

It has a definite place in the maintenance of good health and well-being for people of all ages. Studies show that fat contributes to many of the delicate and complicated internal workings of the human body.

Children need fat for growth, energy and replacement and repair of tissues. During adult life, eating foods too low in fat for too long may lead to poor health.

How Do You Like To Go Up In A Swing?

Robert Louis Stevenson's poem was never better illustrated than when Mr. and Mrs. Herman Bauer take time out from a busy day to swing Paula and Billy. Bullet, the family dog and namesake of the dog belonging to Roy Rogers, waited around to get into the picture, but finally give up. He decided that a nap in his cool house was much more fun than having a picture made.

Finishing Touch For Many Dishes Is In The Sauce

In France they say "la sauce vaut mieux que le poisson."

Good cooks in the Unites States should answer with "oui, oui," for what the Frenchmen mean is "the sauce is better than the fish." And, indeed, the expert cook does put at least as much, if not more emphasis on the sauce as on the dish itself.

The American homemaker would do well to take this tip from French cooking. With distinctive sauce, a dish that might otherwise be merely nutritious and wholesome becomes very appetizing, too. And tempting sauce can make a delicious meal out of less expensive seafoods, not-so-choice cuts of meat, and leftover foods.

Not only can sauces make not so tasty foods good, they can make the finest foods even better. Ice cream and other frozen desserts, delicious by themselves, are particularly inviting when served with a delectable topping. Filet mignon is delightful alone, but cover it with a Bernaise sauce and the steak is a royal dish.

White sauce is a universal favorite for vegetables, fish, or chicken. It can be varied in hundreds of ways by the addition of different ingredients and seasonings.

Cheese is the extra flavor to many tempting sauces. Although we are most familiar with those that call for American or cheddar cheese, there are as many cheese sauce possibilities as there are varieties of cheese. This one made with Swiss cheese is excellent for hot cooked vegetables or served on toast with bacon.

SWISS CHEESE SAUCE

3 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
¾ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon ground pepper
1-16 teaspoon ground cayenne pepper
¾ cup finely chopped Swiss cheese
2 teaspoons fresh lemon juice

Melt margarine in a saucepan. Blend in flour. Stir in milk. Cook until medium thickness. Add seasonings and Swiss cheese. Mix well and cook over low heat until cheese is almost melted. Stir in lemon juice. Serve over hot cooked vegetables or on toast with crisp bacon. Makes 1¾ cups.

WATERCRESS FISH SAUCE

½ cup softened margarine or butter
1½ tablespoons minced watercress or parsley
1-16 teaspoon salt
1-16 teaspoon ground black pepper
2 teaspoons fresh lemon juice

Cream margarine with watercress, salt, black pepper, and lemon juice. Place on a sheet of waxed paper and shape into a one-inch roll. Wrap and chill until ready to serve. Just before serving, slice one-fourth-inch thick and place on hot broiled fish steak. Store any that is left in the refrigerator for future use. Makes one roll five inches long. This also may be used on hot cooked vegetables.

Blue In Garden Is Like Bass In Song

If floral colors were rated in accordance to their popularity, red would lead all others, followed in order by pink, yellow, orange and blue. But without blue flowers to bring out the brilliance of all the others, a flower bed or border will be like a musical composition without a bass part.

Blue does something for every other color it is near, and all the other colors in turn do something for blue. When you discover this effect you will always miss blue when it is absent.

True blue is the rarest of floral colors. It will pay to know what flowers provide the precious blue tones, and try to use them, at least sparingly, in every planting you make.

Asters have deep blue purple both light and dark. Delphiniums and larkspur have blue varieties, including some which blossom all summer.

One of the easiest to grow is alyssum violet queen. Fragrant as the white sweet alyssum, it's a deep purple, with small white eye. It grows quickly from seed and can be sheared like white alyssum to control straggly growth and stimulate late flowers.

A new variety that spreads close to the ground is alyssum royal carpet, which often covers a 10-inch circle with one plant.

For-get-me-nots are blessed with a poetic name which is always an asset to a flower. While it officially is applied to the myosotis, a spring flower which likes a moist, somewhat shady place, flowers of the same type are borne by the anchusa, and the cynoglosum, or Chinese for-get-me-nots. The latter thrives in hot summer weather and dry soil, where the myosotis would never survive.

One of the true blue flowers is the bachelor's button. This is usually sown directly in the garden where it germinates quickly and grows fast. It bears all summer if occasionally cut back. Dwarf varieties are excellent for the border.

Other blue flowers are the fragrant heliotrope, Heavenly blue morning glory, nierembergia, pansy, petunia, annual phlox, salvia farinacea, scabiosa, phlox, verbena, all easily grown from seed.

Newcomers Like These Wide Open Spaces!

Coming from the wintry weather of Kansas to the near-summer weatherof this section can be quite a shock to one's body as well as the wardrobe. So it is with the family of Herman Bauer, 600 Steakley, at least.

He has been here since January, but Mrs. Bauer, six-year-old Billy and Paula Marie, who is three, have just arrived. "We are about to smother," Mrs. Bauer lamented, "and our summer clothes are not even where we can get to them to unpack them!"

In spite of the unexpected heat, the children are enchanted with their new home, as they can play outdoors so much of the time. The feeling of "so much room all around us" is enjoyed by their parents, too. In fact, Mrs. Bauer is just hoping that Woolworth will just forget to move them to any other location.

Mr. Bauer is a collector of rare stamps and coins, and he does "a little woodworking" when he has a place to set up his shop. He also enjoys hunting and fishing, but he's beginning to think that his fishing is going to suffer for want of a place to wet a hook.

Collecting has almost been forced on his wife. She has numerous salt and pepper shakers that friends have sent her from the various states. They "are cute," according to Mrs. Bauer, but she'd never go in for collections on her own, she thinks.

Originally from Nebraska, they lived in Elodardo, Kan., before being sent here. With all the compliments about the climate, sandstorms weren't mentioned. Like people with a black sheep in the family, the thought came up that "maybe they won't be so bad this year!"

Knott P-TA Hears Bennett Brooke

KNOTT—Bennett Brooke spoke on Scouting at the P-TA meeting Thursday night and asked for delegates to attend the "Together Dinner" next Thursday at the Big Spring High School cafeteria.

Coach Bill Bolin gave a report on the Traffic Safety meeting held at Big Spring High School. Fourth and sixth grades tied for room count. About 60 attended.

Adjust Oven Rack

When you are baking a cake, adjust the oven rack so the cake will be as near the center of the oven as possible. If you are baking a layer cake, arrange the two pans diagonally on the same shelf with equal amounts of space between each pan and the oven walls to allow the hot air to circulate freely.

Mix drained canned whole kernel corn with a moist bread stuffing for roast chicken. Good flavor change!

Ideal Weight

Body build is important in determining ideal weight, nutritionists say. It is necessary to take bone structure, as well as height, into consideration.

MARILOU STAGGS

In the Spring a young man's fancy turns to almost anything except six weeks tests. Yet, that's what we've all had to contend with this week—regardless of the epidemic of laziness and "fever" that Spring brings upon us.

Amid the grip of tests; extra-curricular activities poked its head in view a couple of times. A poster party was held in the cafeteria Thursday night under the direction of Sue Barnes. The student council has been sponsoring these parties for the purpose of making bill boards, signs, and posters for their campaign for president of the TASC. These posters will be displayed at the state convention coming up March 24-25-26 in Denton. Everyone who has any artistic ability at all is invited to come to these poster parties.

If you saw several kids at school Tuesday with refreshed faces of relief as if they'd had a great weight lifted from their shoulders—well, they had. It was only the yearbook staff members relieved with their last shipment off to the publishing company. No more lay-out worries or deadlines for Ginger Hatch and her staff. By the way, perhaps you aren't acquainted with the kids that record your school year in picture form—let's just review the staff.

Editor Ginger Hatch is assisted by co-associate editors Janice Nalley and Nancy Smith, Sports editors Lefty Reynolds and Jerry Barron, Senior Editor Barbara Lewter, Club Section Editor Shirley Ward, photographers Gary Tidwell and John Westbrook, and Art Editor Peggy Hogan. Staff assistants are made up of juniors. The El Rodeo will be back around the middle of April or the first of May.

About 50 members of the "Y" organizations went to the annual Spring Conference again this year all fired up with another candidate for office. In Midland this year the local clubs are running Benny Compton for first vice president of the area. The conference is always a big highlight in the year which includes all realms of Hi-Y purposes and aims.

Another event which dropped Friday's attendance was the tennis girls trip to the Midland tournament. These young ladies are now sporting snazzy warm-up suits carrying the school colors. Slammers such as Dixie Faulkner, Bettie Anderson and Clara Freeman are promising a big boom in tennis for Big Spring High.

Hardin-Simmons University was host to a YWA house party this weekend to several hundred young women over the state. The Young Women's Auxiliary is a Baptist missionary organization and its members are eagerly taking some advance study this weekend as well as lots of fun. Some girls going are: Virginia Carpenter, Sharon and Kathy McRee, Maxine Stocks, Patsy Reeves, Mojie Henson, Pat Rudd, and Jackie Franklin.

Not everybody drained Big Spring over the weekend however, as a thousand girls swarmed our fair city Friday night and Saturday. It was the area convention of the FHA girls. With Big Spring girls as hostesses and guides and the co-operation of the 65 towns represented, the meeting went off smoothly and was enjoyed by everyone. (Especially the boys that hung around the vicinity of the school all day.)

If anyone around BSHS gives up smoking it probably will be the result of a film shown in assembly Friday morning. Mr. Robert Weaver who was previously here on a narcotics program, enlightened us on the relation of smoking to lung cancer. His film seemed to incite many students as it was the main stem of conversations all day long.

Shirley Thomas and Don Gregory are representing the local D. E. Club at the state convention in Fort Worth this weekend. They both will participate on the program of the conference which lasts two days.

A note to all parents: You are especially invited to come and visit school this next week during National Education Week. You will be admitted into the assembly Tuesday morning free of charge. You're quite welcome to come see us and as far as that goes—you'll be welcome at any school in town. We'd like to see some of you interested parents this week.

Blonde Marilou Staggs is our next Senior-of-the-Week. Marilou was runner-up for Tournament Volleyball Queen in our recent tournament and her outstanding ability in this field has placed her on three All-Tournament teams. She has played volleyball for Big Spring five years. Marilou was a duchess in the Homecoming court and senior nominee for Ranch Queen. She is a member of Tri-Hi-Y, Rainbows, the Majors Club, and the Shorthand Club. West Texas State College in Canyon is her goal of next year where she will be an education major.

Bridal Tea Honors Mrs. Ralph Brooks

The home of Mrs. Dorothy Ragan was the scene Thursday evening of a bridal tea, honoring Mrs. Ralph Brooks, recent bride. Mrs. Brooks, the formr Lynette Blum, will leave April 1 for Hahn, Germany, where she will join her husband.

Other hostesses for the tea were Mrs. J. D. Jones, Mrs. Cecil McDonald, Mrs. John Stewart, Mrs. Walker Bailey, Mrs. George O'Brien, Mrs. Lex Samson, Mrs. Jack Roden, Mrs. A. C. LaCroix and Mrs. Oscar Nabors.

Mrs. Ragan greeted guests and presented the honoree, her mother, Mrs. Joe Blum, and the mother of the bridegroom, Mrs. George Brooks. Mrs. Ray Todd was at the registry table, which featured a blue long-stemmed carnation.

The chosen colors of Mrs. Brooks were used throughout the decorations, with a tea table arrangement of blue and white candytuft. The cloth was of cutwork.

Mrs. Robert Ragan presided at the silver service, and Janice Brooks, sister of the bridegroom, served the cake which was frosted in white topped with a blue flower. Mary Beth White of Stanton assisted with the serving. About 55 attended the tea.

Mrs. Brooks wore a white polished cotton, in combination with blue all-over embroidery. Her pumps were in a matching shade of blue. Her corsage was a white gardenia.

Mrs. John Priddy Of Stanton To Give Review Here

With a story that is both sad and comic and, at times, rowdy, Mrs. John Priddy of Stanton will review "Recollection Creek" Wednesday afternoon in the auditorium at Howard County Junior College.

The review of the latest book by Fred Gipson is one of the four presentations of The Review Club for this year. Admission will be by season ticket, or tickets may be bought at the door.

This is the second appearance of Mrs. Priddy for the club, as she reviewed "The Curve and The Tusk" by Stuart Cloete in May of last year. She is well-known in literary and club circles in this section.

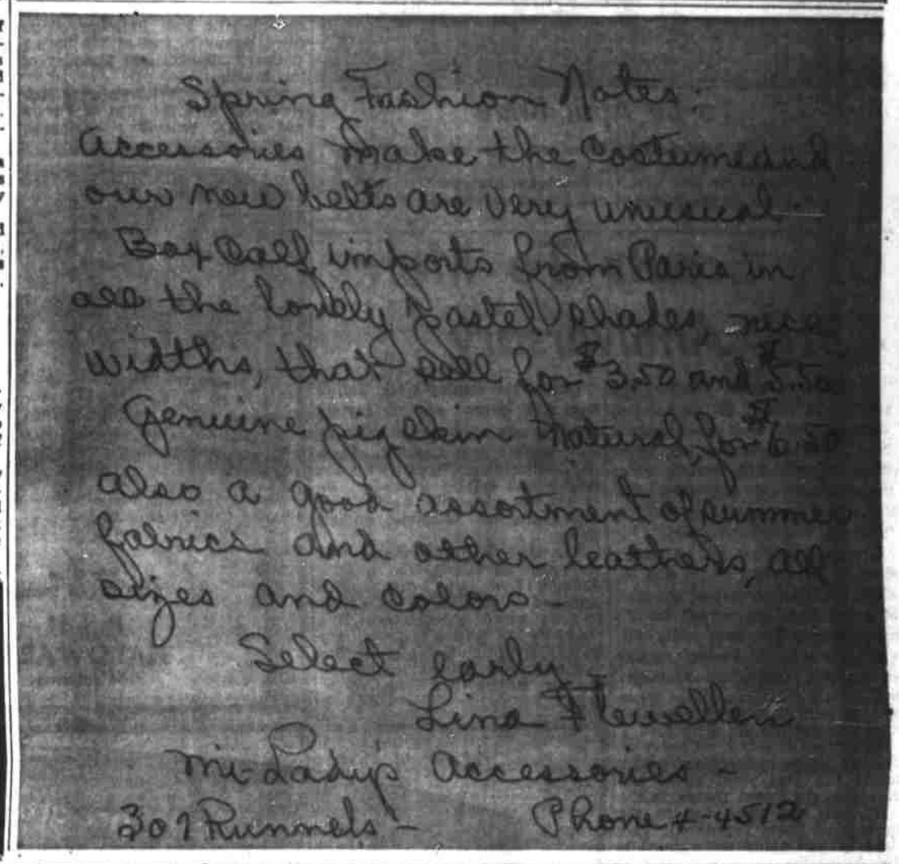

"Recollection Creek" tells the story of one year in the life of nine-year-old Hopper Creech and of all the wonderful things he saw during that time. Filled with high spirits and good humor, it is a delightful tale from the pen of the author of "Hound-dog Man" and "The Home Place."

Delicious Sunday brunch: browned pork sausage links with glazed apple rings, hot corn bread and coffee. Serve orange or tomato juice and cereal first, if desired.

To Be April Bride

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Gordon, 1202 Michael, are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, JoAnn, to Larry R. Shortes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Shortes of Stanton. The wedding will take place in the home of the bride's parents at 8 p.m. on April 7.

Girl Scouts To Mark 43rd Anniversary

Today, Girl Scout Sunday, the scouts will attend church services in uniform with their adult leaders. This is the beginning of Girl Scout Week, March 6-12, during which they will celebrate their 43rd birthday. The theme of this year is "Believe, Belong and Build."

Troops are financed locally through the United Fund, and 335 girls, or 14½ per cent of the girls of scout age, are served by the organization. To help with this work, there are 75 adults, working as leaders, committee members and council members. Betty Wickman is field director for a wide area surrounding Big Spring.

Under her direction, 48 hours of training have been given adults during the past year. There are 25 active registered troops in the city, and two more are in the process of being registered. Five days of day camp were given to 108 girls this past year, and 21 girls attended a total of 37 weeks at the established camp near Sweetwater, Camp Boothe Oaks.

This established camp comprises 40 acres of wooded land, with a dininghall of 30x65 feet and a hall and the pool have been purchased with proceeds from the cookie sales held each year by the girls in this area. This has been accomplished in the last three years. The sale this year will be from March 12-19.

During the coming week, activities will center around certain training on each day. Monday will feature homemaking; Tuesday, citizenship; Wednesday, health and safety; Thursday, international friendship; Friday, arts and crafts and Saturday, outdoor living.

The Girl Scout movement was started in Savannah, Ga., by Mrs. Juliette Low, who organized a group of 12 girls into what was to become world organization. This year, in her memory, scouts are transforming her birthplace in Savannah into a national center for the two million Girl Scouts of today.

Big Spring Student Is Honored At Tech

LUBBOCK—Twenty-six outstanding students are to be honored in the "Texas Tech Salutes" section of La Ventana, Tech yearbook.

The 26 were chosen by a special committee of the student council. Selection was made on the basis of "scholarship, leadership and campus activities," according to Linda Hudson, yearbook editor.

Pictures of the group will appear on a special page in La Ventana, Miss Hudson said.

Among the honorees will be Roy Smith of Big Spring, chairman of Tech's "Varsity Show." Smith, a senior, is studying architecture. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Smith, Sterling City Route.

A package of cake mix will make a pudding if it is steamed. Add orange rind (grated) to the batter, fill well-greased custard cups about two-thirds full and tie a couple of thicknesses of waxed paper over the top of each cup. Steam the individual puddings about 30 minutes and serve with an orange sauce.

YOUTHFUL AND FLATTERING

Sophisticated Frock Is Right For Short Women

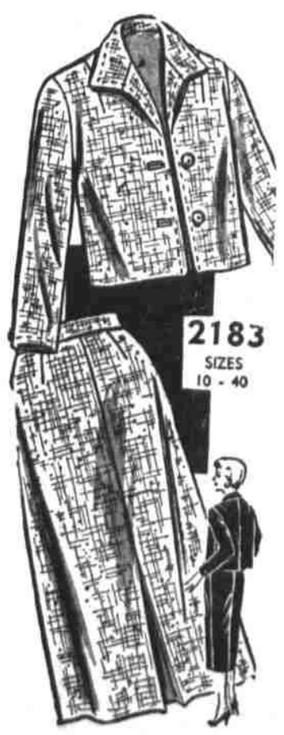

Herbert Sondheim's philosophy of design is simple and direct: make clothes that are youthful and figure flattering, comfortable to wear, and with just the right amount of sophistication for his worldly following.

This dress, as good for a size 20 as for a 12, features a V-neck, a very gratifying cut for it tends to lengthen one's neck and make one appear taller. The darted midriff is topped with a slip-stitched band of ribbon in front, leaving the back smooth and uncluttered.

A step-in model with a back zipper closing, it has a new and easy underarm manipulation joined in front to the bodice side panels. Choose plain or printed silks, faille, shantung or wool crepe using pique, linen, faille, or satin for the neckline and sleeve banding. Fancy buttons are suggested for the cuffs.

This pattern is cut to DESIGNER MEASUREMENTS, not Standard Pattern Measurements. Size 12, bust 35, waist 25, hips 36 in.; size 14, bust 36½, waist 26½, hips 37½ in.; size 16, bust 38, waist 28, hips 39 in.; size 18, bust 40, waist 30, hips 41 in.; size 20, bust 42, waist 32, hips 43 in.

Size 12 requires 3⅝ yards of 39-inch material for dress and ½ yard o f39-inch material for contrast. To order Pattern No. 1211, address SPADEA SYNDICATE, INC., P. O. Box 535, G. P. O., Dept. B-5, New York 1, N. Y. State size. Send $1.00. Airmail handling 25 cents extra. American Designer Pattern Booklet No. 11 available for 25 cents. Make check or money order payable to SPADEA SYNDICATE, INC., and add 4 cents for handling.

Casual Boxy Suit

It's easy, smart, and a wonderful way to usher in the spring, with the single front pleat in the trim skirt, and the brief, boxy lines of the jacket.

No. 2183 is cut in sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 36, 38, 40. Size 16: Style shown, 2¼ yds. 54-in.

Judgment In Arson Case Is Affirmed

COLORADO CITY—The Court of Criminal Appeals at Austin refused to reverse the judgment of the trial court at Lamesa, which sentenced John Sharp Rogers, Colorado City hotelman, to two years in the state penitentiary on a charge of arson, according to District Attorney Eldon Mahon of Colorado City.

Rogers was charged with arson following the burning of the Gosnel Hotel in Colorado City on June 16, 1951. He was tried in Colorado City in October of 1951. This trial resulted in a hung jury. A later trial at Big Spring resulted in a sentence of two years, but this was reversed because of jury misconduct.

Rogers' attorneys have fifteen days to file a motion for a rehearing to present new evidence, according to Mahon. Mahon said that he had received notice of the decision of the appeals court Friday.

Westbrook Man Has Heart Attack

C. T. Harris was carried to Malone and Hogan Hospital Friday with a heart attack.

Attendants said he rested well Friday night and was feeling better Saturday morning. Harris lives at Route 1, Westbrook.

Want creamy-white mashed potatoes? Peel the spuds before boiling. And remember not to flood the potatoes with water during the boiling process—use just enough to cover them.

Save lemon halves after you have squeezed the juice from them: wrap in waxed paper and store in the refrigerator. Fill the halves with chutney and serve with a curry of chicken, lamb or beef. If you want to be extra-fancy, notch the edge of the lemon halves before filling with the chutney.

It's Harrowing To Eat With Amy Vanderbilt

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

It's a harrowing experience to eat luncheon publicly with an etiquette expert.

Not that Amy Vanderbilt, a friend from the days before she was a recognized and recognizable authority, nagged me about drinking out of my saucer or spooning my soup south instead of north. It was the other people, at the nearby tables.

The meal, featuring a magnificent cheese souffle, might just as well have been cardboard for the pleasure it gave me. I absorbed every forkful under the close scrutiny of the surrounding diners, who apparently were waiting eagerly to find out if Amy personally committed any blunders, and I must say the temptation to curl an elegant pinkie away from the cup, slurp liquids, talk with a full mouth and otherwise satisfy the audience, was almost irresistible.

Amy, however, is accustomed to this fierce scrutiny although she's not entirely reconciled to her responsibilities.

"I've noticed that when I go to a party where there are people I don't know well, things sort of get tense when I enter," she remarked, breaking off a bite-sized portion of pop-over and buttering it deftly. "People seem to get self-conscious. So I make extra efforts to be easy and casual."

Three-In-One Can Be Made Very Easily

By DOROTHY ROE

When the calendar points to March, young seamstreses everywhere begin to think about new spring outfits.

This year many girls are bypassing the traditional spring suit in favor of a warm-weather version of their pet winter outfit. The jumper ensemble is more popular now than ever, particularly in a version that can be worn three ways.

A jumper and shirt-dress combination will do triple duty clear through the summer. Made from a standard pattern, a favorite style teams a flattering button-down-the-front princess jumper with a simple and versatile shirt-dress.

Local sewing center experts suggest making the jumper of dark solid color linen, the dress in a light-ground cotton print in a coordinating color.

The jumper requires 4¾ yards of 35-inch linen, the dress 4¼ yards of the same width fabric.

Worn together, the two make a striking redingote ensemble. But each can go its own way separately for school or dates.

When selecting your pattern, look for one that is precision cut for junior figures, with perforations in the pattern pieces to make it easy to transfer pattern markings to the fabric with chalk.

Since the jumper buttons all the way down the front, you'll find the buttonhole attachment of your sewing machine a timesaver in making buttonholes.

CAMPUS CHATTER

By FRANCES WALKER

A number of things took place at HCJC this last week, but thoughts were still centered on one main attraction: the Jayhawks. The Hawks returned from A&M Friday with the title "Fourth in the State," but fans are quite positive that they're still the best in the state.

Jim Knotts was named to the first All Tourney Team. It might be noted that Jim has won that honor in every tourney he has played in, and was Most Valuable Player in two of the. Ray Crooks made the second team, and Paschall Wickard and Arlen White were given honorable mention.

Some of the Jayhawkers who journeyed to College Station for the tourney were Bob Patterson, Henry Hicks, Martha Winans, Mary Ellen Hayes, Frances Walker, and Connie Crow.

The Hawks leave today for the National Tournament in Hutchinson, Kan. A number of fans have made plans to make the trip also.

The Choir is busily preparing for their two-week tour which begins next week. They presented a short program for the Park Hill P-TA Tuesday night.

Dee Phillips, choir soloist, sang for a Kiwanis Club group in Midland last week.

A definite rehearsal schedule has been made up for the play "Annie Get Your Gun," and the work on it is under way.

The faculty met this week to discuss probably the most important event of the year: Senior Day. It will be held on April 1 and will be better even than Senior Days in the past. All high school seniors should be looking forward to this occasion as many prized and scholarships will be awarded.

A movie concerning cancer was shown to the student body in an assembly Thursday.

Field trips to Safeway and Piggly Wiggly were made recently by the Vegetable Gardening class. They are now studying vegetable handling and marketing.

Mr. James B. Frazier, geology instructor, gave a talk to the Rotary Club this week on "Uranium and Howard County."

Miss Arah Phillips presented HCJC a number of shrubs in behalf of the Girl Scouts this week. The Landscaping Class had earlier aided the scouts in landscaping their hut.

That's about all the news for this week. But everyone remember to be rootin' for the Jayhawks. Good luck wishes by phone or telegram certainly mean a lot to the boys. There will be only two Texas teams in the National Tourney and ours is one of them. Let's show them that everyone in Howard County is proud of them and wants to see them take Nationals.

Elks To Open New Quarters

It may have been an "ill wind" for the Crawford Hotel when the coffee shop burned last year, but to the Elks Lodge, it was a good one. Because of the fire, the lodge was able to get the coffee shop location for additional space for the organization.

Formal opening will consist of open house to be held in the new quarters from 2 to 5 p.m. today and from 7 until 9:30 p.m. Monday. Refreshments will be served and there will be flowers for the ladies.

Redecorating and modernistic blond furniture have turned the original shop into a spacious club room with comfortable divans and chairs. Lamps in modern design cast a soft glow over coffee tables topped with formica, and mirrors reflect the coral and apple green predominating in the color scheme. Draperies of the same shade of green hang in the windows.

Green, tufted leather upholsters the door from this room into the cocktail room, which has been formed with partitions set up in the open space of the old coffee shop. Tables for four are placed around the room, and comfortable, leather-upholstered stools line the bar.

Behind this, bands of red, gray, mauve and strips of chromium blend with the tufted red upholstery and red draperies. On the three other walls, a bamboo design with vines is used in the paper.

In the space once occupied by the coffee shop kitchen is the game room, done in shades of coral, sand, chartreuse and red. The lodge hopes at some time to make kitchen facilities in a small room leading off from this one. Across the hall is the ladies lounge and a small powder room. Here the colors are yellow and gray.

The original quarters of the group will now be used for lodge meetings, as before, with Family Night suppers served here, and family game parties and dances being given in the room. Chartreuse and red add color here, and on the wall are the charters of the lodge and the pictures of the four past exalted rulers.

These are Carl Cross, now living in Nevada; Bob Evans, now of El Paso; Glen Gale and Bill Ragsdale. An elk head, given to the lodge by Dr. P. W. Malone, hangs on the north wall, as does another in the club room.

Also in the club room is a mural, "Our Absent Brothers," which was presented to the local organization in 1953 by E. S. Merritt. He now lives in the Elks National Home in Bedford, Va. Underneath this is the memorial plaque bearing the names of J. F. George, K. C. Lockhart, R. M. Cockran and T. P. Harrison.

Hanging in this room is a picture of the Elks Home for Crippled Children, showing the spacious grounds and low rambling home. It is across the street from the Warm Springs Home in Gonzales.

Decorating the west wall are plaques won in competition with 1,900 other lodges at the Grand Lodge Conventions. These were won on merits in participation, charities, youth activities and community responsibility.

Plans are under way for a dance to be given on March 19. This is to celebrate the fifth birthday of the local group, which was organized on March 17, 1950.

In New Lodge Rooms

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Ryan and Mr. and Mrs. Bart Wilkerson relax in the lounge area (left photo) of the Elks' new quarters in the Crawford Hotel. At the right, another group of Elks take time out for coffee in the dining area, adjacent to the coffee bar. The Elks have taken over the space formerly occupied by the Crawford Coffee Shop. Redecoration has been completed and open house will be held today and Monday.

VA Hospital Due 10,000th Patient Soon

The 10,000th patient will be admitted to the VA Hospital here in the next few weeks, according to I. G. Sims, manager. Sims said only a few more patients are needed to put the hospital over the ten thousand mark.

VA Service pins will be presented to employes of the hospital at a Bingo Party, March 11. Employes with 10 years and 20 years service in the Veteran's Administration will be presented with the service pins.

The Bingo Party is being sponsored by the National Federation of Federal Employes and will be held in the patient's dining room. It has been scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

Dr. Maurice M. Scurry will visit the hospital March 24 and give a lecture on "cardiac arrhythmias and electrocardiagraphic aspects." Scurry is connected with the Southwestern Medical School.

All doctors in the area are invited to attend the meeting, Dr. J. H. Friedlander of the hospital said. It will be given in the VA recreation hall at 1 p.m.

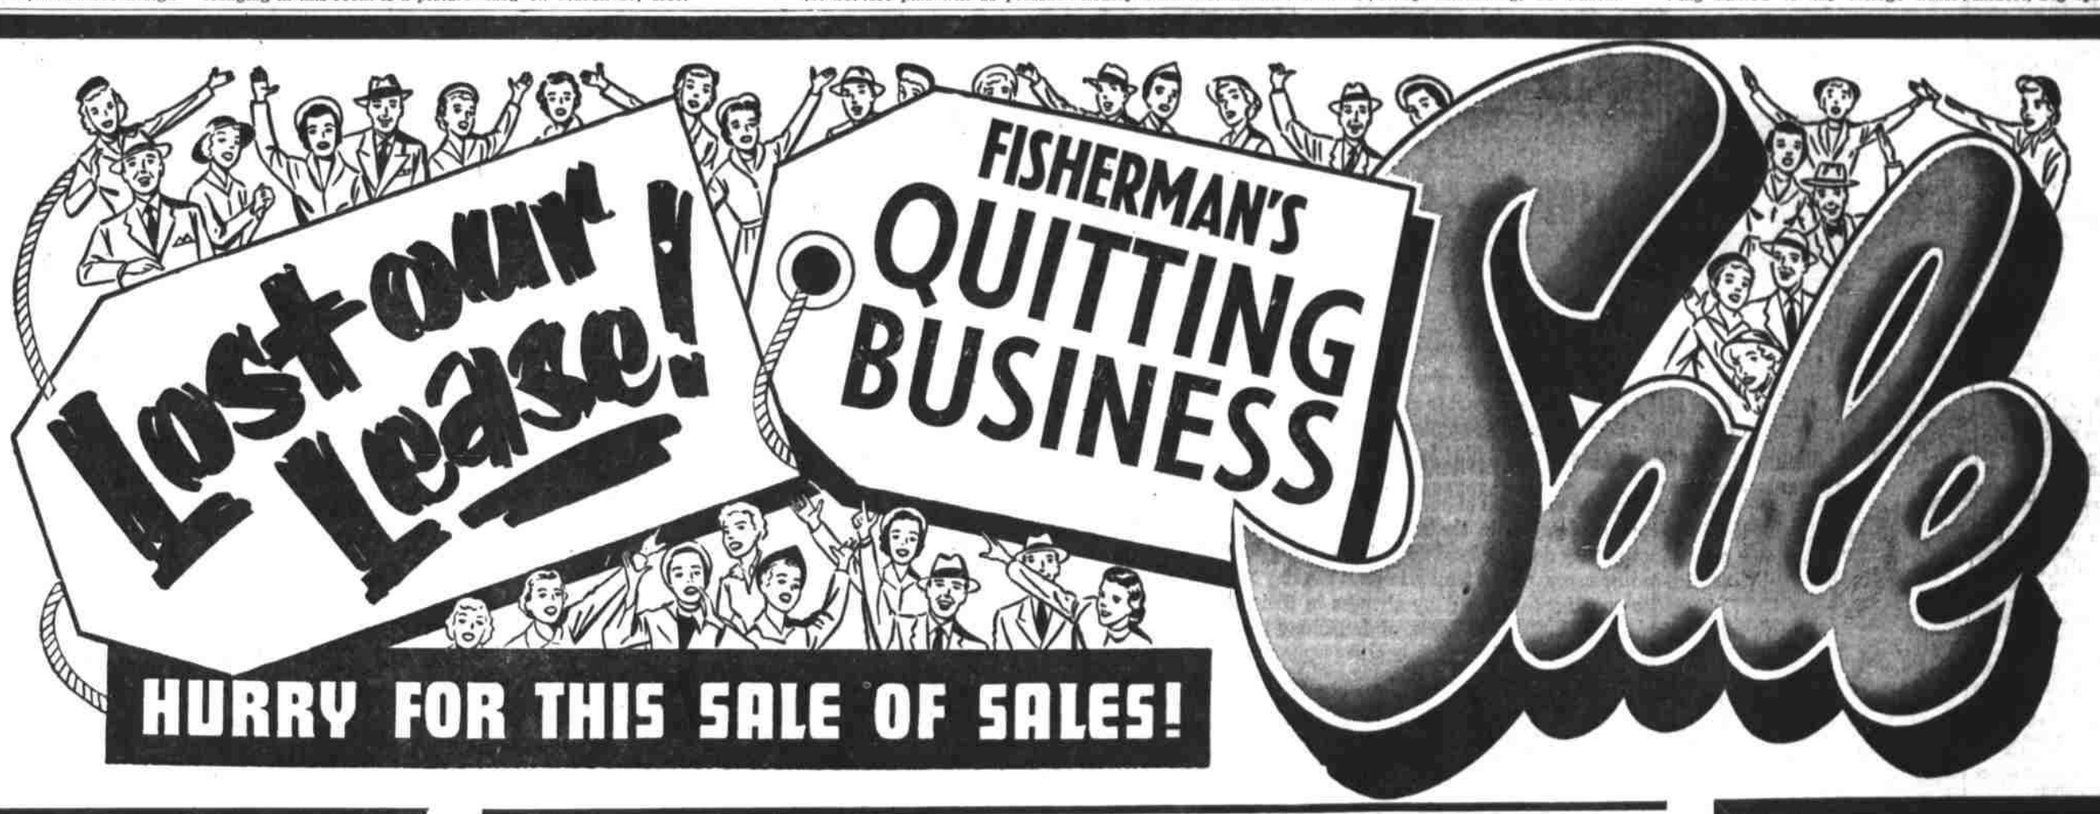

General practitioners and interns should find the lecture especially interesting, he added.

HCJC Exes Rank High At Tech

LUBBOCK—Four former students from Howard County Junior College ranked in the top 50 per cent of their classes at Texas Tech for the fall semester, with one being named to the college honor roll, according to Registrar W. P. Clement.

Edward Milling, Lubbock, made the College Honor Roll achieving a 2.76 grade point average out of a possible 3.00.

Others named were Charles Girdner, Big Spring, 1.71; Dallas Woods, Lubbock, 2.81; and Robert Zilbert, Big Spring, 1.50.

Yanks Prove Good Partners For Britons

By ALVIN STEINKOPF

LONDON, Feb. 19 (AP) — Most Britons who stop to think about it are glad that the Yanks are still here.

About 68,000 Americans are scattered about the English countryside under the Western defense setup.

They are chiefly airmen, but there is a brigade of soldiers and the Navy maintains an important headquarters in London. About 21,000 wives and children are with them.

Inevitably there have been frictions, and occasionally walls are chalked with the taunt:

"Yanks go home"

But most social and political leaders agree that, over-all, the sojourn of the Yanks has been good for Anglo-American relations. The generosity of the friendly GI and his readiness to pitch in when trouble strikes have promoted the idea that in a difficult world the Americans are good partners.

The occasional taunt is offset a thousand times by expressions of appreciation for things that Americans have done purely aside from their normal military functions.

"U.S. to the rescue" was the caption of an editorial in the London Star when the Royal National Lifeboat Institution awarded its Silver Medal for gallantry to Air Force Capt. Curtis E. Parkins of Royalton, Minn. Parkins flew his helicopter into an English Channel storm to rescue the only man saved when a lightship overturned recently on a sandbar.

The Star recalled that a bright heroine in British memory is Lt. Abbie Sweetwine of Coca, Fla., a Negro nurse in the Air Force. She worked to the point of collapse, saving lives and attending the injured, in a train crash at Harrow in October, 1952, which killed 112.

"Most impressive of all," said The Star, "was the truly wonderful record of the American soldiers and airmen in the great east coast floods two years ago."

The floods produced a special hero, Cpl. Reis L. Leming of Toppenish, Wash., who made three trips into flood waters at Hunstanton, pushing a boat ahead of him and saving 27 lives, mostly women and children.

Queen Elizabeth awarded Leming the George Medal for bravery. He was the first non-British hero to get the medal in peace time.

When a transatlantic British Overseas Airways Corporation plane was smashed and burned at Prestwick on Christmas Eve, the American Air Force was on the scene with its ultramodern rescue equipment in a matter of minutes. Only later did the British appreciate that in this and other disasters no one asked the force to come.

It is in countless little and unspectacular contacts that American servicemen demonstrate the neighborliness which gains friends for themselves and their country. Their concern for the welfare of the aged and of children has made a particularly deep impression. In the files of all the bases are thousands of letters of gratitude.

"I pray you will stay with us for a long time," wrote an old woman who got a big bundle of clothing and food from a couple of airmen who thought she needed some help.

"England thanks you," said the Queen Mother Elizabeth to Americans at Mildenhall who collected 3,000 pounds of clothing for flood sufferers.

The airmen got a special kick out of a thank you letter from a very old man who addressed it to "The Royal Air Force of the United States."

"But I suppose the greatest influence in cementing Anglo-American relations is the impressive number of marriages of servicemen to British girls," said an officer at the Air Force headquarters at South Ruislip.

"We seem to have leveled off at about 200 a month."

Hall And Cole New Owners Of Westex Wrecking Company

Change in ownership of the Westex Wrecking Co. has been announced.

The new owners are Ward Hall and Leon Cole. They jointly purchased the interest of Ben McCullough who has owned the concern outright since 1951. Prior to that time, Hall and McCullough were associated in the business. They started the wrecking company in the early 1930's and the partnership was interupted by war service for Hall in 1941.

Cole has been associated with Westex since 1948. He was employed by Big Spring Motor as a salesman and mechanic prior to taking a position at the wrecking concern.

Hall stated he will be an active partner at Westex as well as continuing in the residential development business.

Center Offers Tool Of Friendliness

The opening of the new and larger Servicemen's Center on Second Street is a step toward broadening hospitality for airmen stationed at Webb Air Force Base — but it is only a step.

Even now, with more and better facilities than before, the Center is not all that it should be or can be. The project urgently needs the combined interests of many individuals and organizations to continue its efforts to measure up to the needs of our airmen for a downtown center.

Too long we have merely acquiesced in the idea that airmen should be provided avenues of cordial contact with the community. The demand is altogether more positive than that, and the opening of the new Center offers a point of emphasis to put some real force and purpose behind the desire. This shouldn't be so difficult, for there is no project which offers so many specific opportunities.

For instance:

Organizations are needed to play hostess at the Center. Some few people unfortunately have the vague apprehension that military men are somehow ogres in uniform. What a foolish and baseless notion! The overwhelming majority of servicemen is just like the boy who left your hearthstone to serve somewhere across the nation or the world. Only a minute percentage, and it is probably less than in civilian life, take refuge in the anonymity of a uniform or the sanctity of distance from home.

In Webb AFB people — both officers and enlisted personnel — you will find an exceptionally fine family.

Many have stepped right into places of responsibility in various community organizations and institutions. These people, generally speaking, have no intense problem so far as the community is concerned.

But those who are perhaps less of the extrovert, who may be reticent to step out and meet people, who may be single and homesick, who may have time hanging heavy on their hands or who may long for something wholesome to do and for occasional companionship — these are the persons who can be served at the Center.

There are literally dozens of organizatoins in Big Spring which could make contributions of furniture, books, records, recreational equipment — even money — to help lend more utility to the Center.

Who will be the first to step up and volunteer to give the Center — and thus the airmen — a helping hand? Perhaps many others would follow.

And we venture as there is more and more participation, there will be a greater spontaneity of community hospitality and friendliness toward airmen.

Have you ever been away from home and in uniform — or have you had sons or brothers who have? Then talk to your club, your lodge, your church about helping the Center.

Government Should Take Experienced Men

The appointment of George C. McConnaughey as Chairman of the Federal communications Commission is being held up before the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce because he is experienced in the field. The question that is being raised is whether a citizen having gained practical experience by working in a particular industry over a prolonged period can function independently of his former associations in a government post. If the government cannot dip into private enterprise for competent men, it must limit itself to the clerk type of mind or to lawyers who prefer the security of government jobs to the risks of private practice.

It is a serious problem for our government and one with which the Hoover Commission deals in its report on personnel. How is our government to get men of managerial experience to take positions in the administration if it is to be held against them that they have had an experience elsewhere than in the federal government? For instance, Sen. John Bricker, when he was governor of the state of Ohio, appointed George McConnaughey as chairman of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio. Subsequently McConnaughey was retained by a number of telephone companies in Ohio. The main objection to his appointment to the FCC post are these associations. The following colloquy is to the point:

"Sen. Pastore. Now, how did you come to be engaged by the telephone company in representing them before the commission on a utility rate increase?

"Mr. McConnaughey. I think they employed me because apparently they thought I had some ability. I know that must be true. I wouldn't have been employed otherwise."

It was brought out on the hearings on McConnaughey's confirmation that telephone companies had retained him after he ceased to be chairman of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio and that therefore he ought not now to be head of the FCC. If this argument holds for him and others, the government is precluded from recruiting able and experienced men to serve in public positions about which they know something.

The argument goes back to those funny stories during the war when ribbon salesmen were put into agencies that dealt with steel, while steel experts were appointed to purchase cosmetics for Wacs. How true these stories were, as a general practice, will never be known, but business men did discover that they often dealt with so-called government experts who knew nothing about their business.

The outstanding experts in commercial radio, television, electronics and similar matters will be found in those companies which deal with these commodities. Gen. David Sarnoff of RCA, for instance, has served our government in many capacities and to the country's advantage. He is one of the most expert in his field. Is he to be precluded from advising the FCC because his company has business before it? If so, must the FCC be limited to the clerk type of mind, the so-called career official who has had no direct experience with the problems he deals with, or to young lawyers who find government service a stepping-stone to jobs in private industry?

The Hoover Commission advocates establishing a special category of non-career experts in government, who will move in and out of government service. This, of course, does not apply to such posts as the Chairmanship of the FCC except in principle; that is, that the country can be best served by men who know. The advantage of the acceptance of such a principle is obvious in the career of Charles E. Wilson as Secretary of Defense. He has done an outstanding job, despite the fact that the company with which he was formerly connected and of which he was the president at the moment of his appointment does an enormous business with his department of the government. No one today thinks of Wilson in terms of his former relationship with General Motors.

The assumption must not hold that men cannot divorce themselves from private interests once they enter government service; otherwise it is impossible to recruit the most competent men for government employment. Rather it is to be assumed that once a citizen is so recruited, he devotes himself to that job with the same efficiency and singleness of purpose that gave him a favorable reputation in private enterprise. This is a question not of one man's appointment but of general policy.

Industry Shows Big Increase In Per-Worker Output

Call it technology, productivity, efficiency, automation, know-how, or anything you like. It's here. Industrial production is up 5 per cent from a year ago. But the number of workers in manufacturing establishments is down 4 per cent (see chart).

This is American capitalism in fulfillment. This is the improvement that industry has been striving for ever since the end of the war—increased output per worker through modern layout of plants, installation of new machinery, and a better trained work force.

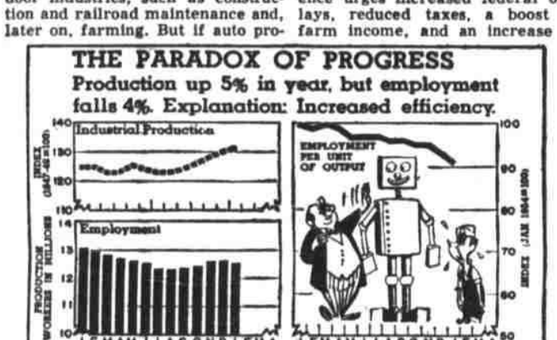

You can see how widespread it is—from lumber to metals to textiles — in this table, which shows year-to-year changes in production and employment:

| Industry | Per Cent Change Jan. 1954 to Jan. '55 Production | Employment |
|---|---|---|
| Lumber and Wood Products | x17%* | x 6%* |
| Stone, Clay, Glass | x 7 | 0 |
| Primary Metals | x11 | ~ 4 |
| Electrical Machinery | x12 | ~ 5 |
| Machinery (exc. electrical) | ~7 | --10 |
| Transportation (y)Equipment | x 9 | ~ 6 |
| Textile Prod. | x13* | ~ 3* |
| Paper & Prod. | x 8* | 0* |
| Chemicals | x 6* | ~ 2* |
| Oil & Coal Prod. | x 9 | ~ 5 |
| Rubber Prod. | x15* | 0* |
| Leather & Prod. | x 7* | x 1* |
| Total | x 5% | ~ 4% |

*Dec. 1953 to Dec. 1954
(y)Auto, Aircraft, Railroad and Ship

This is a continuation — a reassertion — of the trend that was interrupted by the depression and the war. It is reassurance that our children will some day talk about the forty-hour week as we of this generation talk of the 10-hour day, 6-day week — largely on the hearsay of fathers and grandfathers. That's the history of technological progress in the United States. But it isn't always smooth.

At the moment, all looks well. Automobile production schedules for March are as torrid as for February. Employment will rise some more — especially in the outdoor industries, such as construction and railroad maintenance and, later on, farming. But if auto production slackens, either because of slow sales or a strike, unemployment will increase with the compounded force of technology behind it.

In that case, the Democrats would have a ready-made campaign issue in '56. That is foreshadowed by the vote in the House in favor of the $20 per person tax reduction. For political reasons, the Democrats want credit for next year's tax cut — if one comes. But they also have an economic case.

Leon Keyserling, chairman of President Truman's Council of Economic Advisers, made it in supporting the tax cut. He argues that purchasing power must be increased to generate a greater demand for goods which, in turn, will create more jobs. Keyserling argues for an ever-expanding, no-slack economy.

In a recent report of an organization called The Conference on Economic Progress, in which he is a leading spirit, Keyserling declared: "The recent and widely publicized business upturn . . . has not yet given satisfactory signs of endurance." The conference urges increased federal outlays, reduced taxes, a boost in farm income, and an increase in the minimum wage.

The administration's position is that the recovery has fanned out from a broad base. Heavy machinery orders have picked up. For example, Gwilym Price, president fof Westinghouse Electric, has announced that the company has booked as many orders for power generating equipment in the first two months of 1955 as in all of '54. Machine tool orders spurted in January to the highest level since October, 1953. And construction contract awards, heavy and residential, are well above a year ago. Business men are expressing confidence by investing.

In the meantime, weekly earnings in manufacturing are $74, up from $71 a year ago — because of increases in hourly pay from $1.80 to $1.84, and in hours worked from 39.4 to 40.2. So, even though 4 per cent fewer production workers are drawing pay than a year ago, those that are on payrolls are getting more.

As a result, the accumulated penalties associated with technological progress have been light. But the penalties are latent. They worry union leaders. They are back of the United Auto Workers' demand for a guaranteed annual wage. In a country such as ours, business has to keep expanding just for employment to stand still. The economic issue that separates the Democrats and Republicans is how much government is required to keep business expanding. The Democrats prefer more. The Republicans, less.

And so long as unemployment is as low as it is, around 3,300,000, and production is still rising, the Republicans have the better case.

Bible Words for Today

ROMANS 8:28—"We know that in everything God works for good with those who love Him, who are called according to his purpose." (RSV)

Christian faith finds great encouragement and strength in the assurance that God works continuously for good in all things. This affirms that our universe has spiritual goals. God initiates good and supports all efforts to achieve the good. He brings evil to account and judgment.

However, God cannot secure the good He purposes without the voluntary cooperation of man. One of God's chief purposes is to have men become co-workers with him in achieving good. He must work with and through men who believe in the good and who are fully committed to working for the good. All the resources of God and His universe are upholding those who commit themselves with all their strength and abilities to secure good for all men.

Men of love and good will can have what their faith expects when they become co-workers with God in achieving His purposes. Co-workers with God must employ the methods and processes of God's love.

These Special Weeks Could Match Better

It has to recur from time to time. Mention of the "Special Week" fixation, that is.

Just got to looking through the advance calendar for March, which newspapermen are supposed to do, so they can be prepared for the break when it comes. Some statistician has figured that there are at least 312 special weeks designated in one way or another, which would give us at least six per week for the common, or garden, variety of year. Just looked like March, though, has more than its share, and probably will match May and October for this sort of distinction.

Some of these weeks are in good cause, for the motive of directing public attention to what an organization is doing. I am not going to raise my eyebrows at these weeks, for sure. A great many of them are dedicated to the noble end of selling more of a certain type of product, and who are we to try to put the brakes on good old American sales promotion?

I thought, however, that some of the designations could have been coordinated a little bit better. For instance, here we are, all eyes open, going into National Peanut Week and National Save Your Vision Week all at the same time. I would have thought we could have saved the Peanuts until National Circus Week, and had National Carrot Week along with the vision saving. Wouldn't this be more practical?

Then, we are going to have National Rice Week shortly, and what do you think coincides with it? National Linen Week, no less. You would think that Chinese Handicraft Week should have gone along with the rice, and that National O'Flannigan - O'Riarty - O'Hallihan Week would be dated to accompany the linen.

Then, there's going to be a National Play Ball Week, and right along with it National Dried Fruits Week. This may have some connection, like throwing tomatoes at the umpire, but I believe more people would have caught the fancy of making it National Pop Bottle Week to accompany baseball.

Also dovetailing will be National Boys Club Week and National Wildlife Week. I take it that this doesn't mean that all little boys are part of the wildlife, but we had better be careful in this dual observance.

There will be a National Tobacco Distribution Week, and I was under the impression that tobacco already was about as widely distributed as you can get it; unless there's a new angle to celebrate the week with a chewin' and spittin' contest, wherein, the juices of the fine old week certainly would be better distributed. We can draw off lines at the courthouse square.

We newspaper people are into it, too, with a National Want Ad Week, and there is a National Television Servicemen's Week. I suppose the idea is to place a want ad to find a TV service man. Both will testify stoutly that they can do the job to your satisfaction.

But to top off the whole month, we are going to run into, on March 27, National Laugh Week. We are going to look pretty silly, going around guffawing all week, when some of us can't even pay the rent, but even then I guess the joke is on the landlord. Or maybe on the guys who dream up the special weeks.

Let's get ready to participate in these things, shall we? Hee-hee-hee! Ha-Ha-Ha! Ho-Ho-Ho-! Haw-Haw-Haw!

To Be A Champion Of Positive Thinking

According to a recent issue of Sports Illustrated, "to raise a 400-pound barbell over your head, it is necessary to think it up there. It helps to have . . . muscle . . . but the muscle becomes superfluous if the thought is missing."

The article then goes on to describe the weight lifting success of Norbert Schemansky, world's champion lifter, who says that, if you think right, you scarcely feel the weight. And Tommy Koyo, a Japanese-American with a record almost as spectacular, describes his success: "I try to have a positive attitude, I try to think of myself as lifting it."

In tennis, too, positive thinking wins championships. Billy Talbert, captain of the team which this year brought back the Davis Cup to the United States for the first time in five years, credits "a positive approach" as the main factor in the American victory.

And a famous track star, Dr. Roger Bannister, applied these lessons from sports to real life in a recent radio talk when he said: "Sooner or later in sport we run up against decisions which are too big for us to manage. In real life we dodge them. We can play hide-and-seek with reality . . . In sport we cannot. It shakes our roots with its confusing pattern of success and failure . . . Quick decisions are needed. As a result, sport leads to the most remarkable self-discovery of our limitations as well as our abilities. It was sport that . . . made it easier for me to think about the parallel stress that faces us in real life."

These men became champions because they applied the power of positive thinking to the problems they faced in sports. And, as Roger Bannister points out, they have also learned that the same equalities that bring success in sports can be applied to any life situation to bring a successful result.

For many years, I have been teaching the techniques of positive thinking. These techniques may be summarized briefly so that you can use them to become a champion of sport or, more important for most of us, to become a champion in real life:

1. Formulate and stamp your mind indelibly with a picture of yourself as succeeding. You can do it and you will do it.

2. When a negative thought about what you are trying to do comes to you, cancel it out with a positive thought.

3. Minimize your obstacles. Take a positive approach to them so that they will melt away. Don't try to dodge them.

4. Believe in yourself and try to be yourself. Don't envy or imitate other people. You've got what it takes.

5. Learn to understand yourself so that you may improve yourself. Outside counselling may help you if you find this difficult.

6. Practice positive affirmation. The Bible says: "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me." Affirm this every day of your life.

7. When you have done all these things, put yourself in God's hands. Pray that you may receive from Him all the power your need.

Do these things, make them your way of life, and you too can become a champion of positive thinking.

Knowland Presses Crusade For Stand In Asia

WASHINGTON—Nearly six weeks have passed since President Eisenhower sent his Formosa resolution to Congress and in that interval there has been only one public discussion on policy from the executive side of the government. That was the speech by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles before the Foreign Policy Association in New York in which he left in a still-doubtful status America's intentions with respect to the offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu.

This apparently is a deliberate part of American policy—to leave the question of American intervention unsettled so that secret negotiation for a cease-fire could go with the offshore islands as a bargaining factor. But, while the Administration has kept silent, those who believe the United States must hold Quemoy and Matsu, regardless of the cost in terms of American military intervention, have been taking their case to the public.

Foremost among them is Senator William Knowland of California. Knowland has spoken in more than 15 states, and he says that he has found the country far ahead of Washington in the determination to prevent any further retreat in the Formosa area.

Through the years Knowland has shown a tireless dedication to the cause of Chiang Kai-shek and the Chinese Nationalists. Having private resources, he speaks without fee not only to Republican groups but to national conventions of large organizations.

In recent weeks he has made himself a sort of Paul Revere for Quemoy and Matsu, missing no opportunity to declare that America must intervene with sea and air power to help the Nationalists if a major attack is launched by the Reds on the offshore islands.

Against the background of the Administration's silence Knowland's crusade—it is hardly less than that—may well have had the effect of fixing the American position. He has contributed certainly more than any one individual to the conviction that this country has a moral obligation to stand by Chiang Kai-shek.

Whether the American position has been so frozen that any negotiation with the Chinese Communists is now impossible is the larger question being asked by America's allies in Western Europe. Premier U Nu of Burma has said that he was authorized by Chou En-lai, Communist China's Foreign Minister, to propose that an unofficial United States mission discuss with the Reds the status of the 11 imprisoned American fliers and other reasons for existing tensions. The Burmese Premier said he conveyed this proposal to Dulles when the latter visited Rangoon.

If it is a bona fide offer, the Administration's position will be put to a severe test. Outright rejection would lead the neutralist and uncommitted countries of Asia to conclude that the United States did not want to enter negotiations looking to the end of prevailing tensions. Red China would thereby have proved, for propaganda purposes at any rate, her peaceful intentions. On the other hand, those who feel as strongly as Knowland does about any diminution of Chiang's position would be deeply suspicious of any American mission, official or unofficial, that sat down with Chou En-lai and the Communists.

In one respect both the Knowland forces and those in the Administration who believe the door should be left open for bargaining are in agreement. They accept the American intelligence estimate that Communist military strength is so weak that their repeated boast they will take Formosa this year is empty propaganda. They lack sufficient sea and air power to overcome the might of the American Seventh Fleet in the 100 miles of water between the mainland and Chiang's island retreat.

This intelligence estimate is in a sense the unknown in a situation full of peril and suspense. It must be based in considerable part on conjecture. The tendency in the past almost always has been to underrate the strength of a potential enemy.

As for Knowland, he is going right on talking. In his earnest, dogged fashion he says to each audience that we have backed up as far as we dare and that we must stand and fight if the Communists make a warlike move. His is the voice that is heard and in the showdown it may be the voice that sets American policy.

What Is A Lutheran? (Part I Of Article VIII)

This is another of a series of informative articles on the role of religion in today's world, written for The Herald by leading authorities of the various faiths and denominations. Later articles will discuss other faiths.

By O. ELSON RUFF
Editor of the Lutheran Church Publication House

How did Lutheranism originate?

On Oct. 31, 1517, there was only one Protestant — Martin Luther. A few years later, there were millions. The violent explosion known as the reformation split the church of the 16th century into a number of segments, of which the Lutheran Church is one.

Luther had been a Roman Catholic priest who loved the church and had no intention of separating from it. But he ventured to protest in 1517 against the church's sales of certificates, called indulgences, which were said to reduce the time a soul must stay in purgatory. Luther had learned from Scripture that full forgiveness of sin is promised through faith in the merciful God revealed in Christ.

This central idea led Luther to criticize many Roman Catholic teachings and practices. Soon the break was beyond repair.

What are the basic tenets of the Lutheran creed?

Lutherans don't claim any doctrines different from the common Christian faith described in the New Testament and first summarized in the Apostles' Creed. We are created by God, but we employ the freedom given us by God to disobey our Creator. The result is continual tragedy in human life. But God does not abandon us in our tragedy. He shares it with us.

In Christ, He reveals Himself as the Saviour God, suffering punishment and death so we may share with Him in the resurrection from death.

Through faith in Christ, a new life begins in us. It is nourished by God's gifts through His Word and sacraments. The Word is recorded in the Bible, but the Word itself is a living, active thing through which the Holy Spirit stirs us to growth in understanding and obedience to God's will.

What distinguishes Lutherans from other Protestant groups?

You don't hear Lutherans say, "It doesn't matter what you believe just so you live right." Lutherans think that a way of living is a by-product of a way of believing.

Since Lutheranism developed from Luther's intense experience of salvation through faith, it has been marked by concern for faith as the essential part of religion. So Lutherans, more than most of the other Protestants, emphasize doctrine. They insist on unusually thorough education of their pastors and require young people to engage in a long period of study of the Lutheran Catechism before being admitted to full church membership.

Lutherans do not stress prohibitions or blue laws. They think of the Christian life as a grateful response to a loving Father rather than as obedience to a stern Monarch. Such life should achieve a high ethical level without emphasis on rules and regulations. In this, Lutheranism is sharply different from some other forms of Protestantism.

Since Luther had been an ardent Roman Catholic before his excommunication, he was less drastic than some later reformers in abandoning Catholic forms of worship. These are retained among Lutherans in a simplified form, and in the language of the people instead of in Latin.

Lutherans observe the festivals and seasons of the historic church year. In their churches, they have the altar, cross, candles, vestments and other equipment of worship which most other Protestants discarded as "too Catholic." Lutherans believe that these forms of liturgy are not required, but are valuable because of their beauty and because, through them, we share in the experiences of the family of Christian worshipers of all the ages.

Lutheran music is world-famous, especially the compositions of Johann Sebastian Bach.

Do Lutherans worship Martin Luther?

Luther had faults. He was of a violent temperament and sometimes scalded his opponents with intemperate abuse. When driven into a corner, in the turbulent events of his career, he made several unfortunate compromises which nobody defends today.

Luther asked his followers not to call themselves "Lutherans." The name was given to them by their opponents as a mark of contempt. They called themselves "Evangelicals"—believers in the gospel.

Yet Lutherans deeply respect Martin Luther as one of the greatest teachers and liberators of the church. His ideas still stimulate fresh thinking. Every year, Lutheran scholars write many books exploring his thoughts. But nobody worships him.

Do Lutherans worship any saints?

Every Christian is a saint. In the Apostles' Creed, the church is called "the communion of saints." A saint is not a perfect person but one who, by God's grace, is progressing toward holiness.

Every Christian is also a sinner until the day he dies, even such great Christians as Peter and Paul.

Lutherans worship God alone. They do not pray to the Virgin Mary or to anyone but God.

What is the Lutheran concept of sin?

Sin is the word describing the situation of all people as disobedient to God. Sin is not specific wrongdoing (this is the result of sin), but the basic condition of our personality. It is our nature to try to make ourselves the center of our lives.

Sin means trying to pretend that we are God. It is refusal to accept the restriction on our freedom which is the inescapable consequence of the fact that we are created beings and that the only reason for our existence is doing the will of our Creator. This is portrayed in the old story of Adam and Eve in the garden, who were not satisfied to accept the one limitation placed on them—that they must not eat the fruit of a certain tree.

How do Lutherans believe mortals are saved?

We can no more escape by our own efforts from our condition as sinners than we could swim to shore if we fell off a ship in mid-Atlantic. Our only hope is to be rescued. Salvation is a gift from God. The only thing we can do about it is to want it. Even this desire comes from God.

In other words, when we recognize our fatal human weakness, and are thoroughly dissatisfied with it, we are prepared to let God come to us with His gift of faith.

This was Luther's situation during his long "dark night of the soul," when, as a monk, he was trying to do all the things that were supposed to result in salvation. He discovered, when he got through trying to save himself, that the merciful and loving God was waiting to save him through faith in Christ. If people could be saved by obeying laws or fulfilling ritual requirements, they would be saving themselves. Lutherans believe that only God can save us.

How do Lutheran sacraments differ from Roman Catholic sacraments?

Luther came to the conviction that the complete sacrifice for man's sin had already been made in our Lord's crucifixion. So the Roman teaching of the mass as a sacrifice no longer had meaning for Luther.

The Lord's Supper, in Lutheran teaching, is an encounter of the believer with the living Lord, Who is truly present in the Holy Communion to forgive sins and renew the spiritual life of believers. But no physical change takes place in the bread and wine of the Communion.

This teaching was perhaps the most radical part of the Reformation. It attacked the whole Roman Catholic idea of the church as a treasury of merit stored up through saying masses, and of the priesthood as divinely ordained to celebrate the sacrifice of the mass. In the "priesthood of all believers," of which Luther often spoke, each Christian directly encounters God and receives His saving grace.

Lutherans believe that, in Baptism, a person is born into the Kingdom of God and becomes an heir of salvation. It is the beginning of the life of faith in which each day our human nature "is to be drowned and destroyed by daily sorrow and repentance, together with all sins and evil lusts, that the new man should daily come forth and rise, that shall live in the presence of God in righteousness and purity forever." ("The Small Catechism," by Martin Luther.)

The remaining five of the seven sacraments of the Roman Catholic Church were discarded by Luther, and by all Protestants since his day, as not true sacraments because they were not established by Christ.

Confirmation, marriage and ordination of the clergy are rites of the church to which no unique promise of divine grace is attached. Penance is not necessary because God promises complete forgiveness to all who ask for it in faith. There is not guilt "left over" which penance can erase or for which one must make amends in purgatory. Anointing of the sick with oil, with prayers for their recovery, is good Christian therapy, but not a Scriptural requirement.

Ice Fishermen Create A Town Of Their Own

By JIM KLOBUCHAR

GLENWOOD, Minn., March 5 (AP) —For three months of the year a frozen city of shacks sits in dumpy elegance out in the bay here, looking like something dreamed up by an ice-bound Ancient mariner.

Nobody runs to the constable when somebody chisels footwide holes in the town's main street, or sets up housekeeping in the town square.

In Crappietown this is not lawlessness. The town is wide open to anyone dedicated to the idea that fishing can be fun and comfortable in weather 15 below.

Crappietown is a plywood conglomeration of fishing houses that rove, at the whims of their owners and the fish, over the two-foot-thick ice cover of eight-mile-long Lake Minnewaska in western Minnesota. It gets its name from the unlovely panfish which is its main industry.

The townspeople, including the mayor, a liar's license inspector and two "policemen," are largely weekend and nighttime immigrants from Glenwood, a cozy community of 2,600 on the lakeshore. But there are recruits from scores of nearby villages and some cities as far away as 100 miles.

The unique thing about Crappietown is the notion that no home, not even one perched in the middle of a lake and built of flimsy slats, is worth living in or fishing from unless it's comfortable.

Normally, the fish house is an outdoor man's model of crude simplicity. All it needs is four walls, a roof, maybe a stove and a couple of holes in the floor to fish from.

In Crappietown this is considered barbarian. The more meticulous wouldn't be caught on a lake without one or more easy chairs, cooking utensils and a card table.

Some have radios and many keep a cot. George Bogie, a retired police chief, fishes from a 10 by 15-foot mansion that has a couch, two cots fashioned from stuffed living room furniture, a linoleum rug, a kitchen cabinet and a card table.

His is one of some 700 fishing shacks that make up Crappietown, a village of unclearly defined corporate limits whose boundaries depend on where the fish happen to be biting.

Moving a fish house is a simple matter. All here are built on runners and have hauling devices which are hooked to cars or tow trucks for moving.

Barring the stiffest kind of gale, the houses are adequately pinned down by snow-banking around the runners. The system is almost hazard-proof, but not quite.

Knute Eide, proud mayor of Crappietown for 14 years and practically the town's founding father, recalls a day several years ago when an outlying suburb blew away early in the winter.

Twelve houses broke loose from a thin snow cover in a brisk wind and skimmed for miles over the ice sheet, looking like a fleet of derelict schooners. One of them stopped 50 feet in front of open water—with two aghast fishermen inside.

There's even more to Chevrolet styling than meets the eye!

This is beauty with a bonus . . . for Chevrolet styling is designed to add safety and comfort while you drive, and to return greater value when you trade.

Truly modern lines are shaped by usefulness. You can see what we mean in the deep crystal curve of Chevrolet's Sweep-Sight windshield . . . a dramatic style note, certainly, but one that stems from the need for wider, safer vision. Or take high-set taillights—they add to the impressive length of line . . . but they are up there where they can be seen for safety's sake, and as convenient guides in parking. So, too, with the jutting peaks over the headlights.

The smart louvers across the hood aren't just decoration . . . they mark the intake for the High-Level ventilation system for cleaner, fresher air. And the whole shape of the body—its lowness, the dipped belt line—is merely a reflection of a lowered center of gravity.

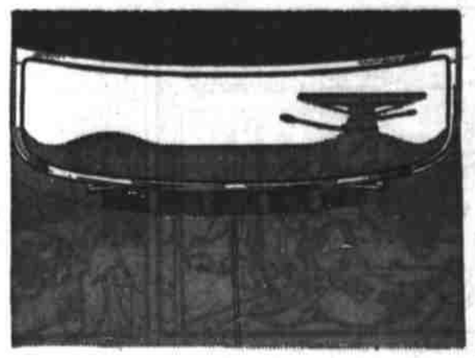

This is truly functional styling that serves you better every mile, and preserves its value against the distant day when you trade. This is Body by Fisher—another Chevrolet exclusive in the low-price field. Come in and let us demonstrate that this new Chevrolet is just as exciting to drive as to look at!

Solution of Yesterday's puzzle

Invaders From Mars In 'War Of Worlds'

Earth is invaded by Martians in the Technicolor film, "The War of the Worlds," showing Tuesday and Wednesday at the Lyric.

The invaders are forced to leave their native planet Mars because of lowering temperatures and diminishing oxygen. These weird creatures, considered "monsters" by Earthmen, invade our planet because of its fertile land, plentiful oxygen, and ample warmth. Landing on our planet, they turn loose their advanced scientific weapons on a helpless populace.

The U. S. Army brings all its latest weapons into the battle, even the atom bomb, but the Martians are invincible to anything the Earthmen can hurl at them. Earth is saved by a little known ally that is with us all the time.

The picture was filmed by George Pal who also produced the pictures "Destination Moon" and "When Worlds Collide." This one was taken from a novel written by H. G. Wells. The story was also used by Orson Wells in his broadcast of the "Invading Martians" in the 1930's.

Gene Barry and Ann Robinson are the stars of the picture. Barry is a scientist who witnesses the first arrival of the invaders and predicts their invincibility to the Army. He also manages to come in close contact with the aliens and escape unscathed.

Before they are vanquished, the invaders use disintegrating rays, heat forces, and force shields to destroy many American landmarks. The City of Los Angeles comes in for quite a bit of destruction.

Doris Day And Frank Sinatra In Musicomedy

The musical "Young at Heart," starring Doris Day and Frank Sinatra, plays today and Monday at the Ritz.

The WarnerColor film features three sisters, (Doris Day, Dorothy Malone, and Elizabeth Fraser), and a maiden aunt, (Ethel Barrymore), who room and board a famous composer, (Gig Young), while he works on his latest musical.

The musically inclined girls fall for the handsome composer and Doris Day is all set to marry him when un unknown composer-arranger-singer steps into her life, (Frank Sinatra). On her wedding day, Doris changes her mind and elopes to another city with Sinatra.

Their hardships in getting started in married life sets the theme for the picture.

Both stars, Doris Day and Frank Sinatra, came up in the entertainment world as singers, but recently have starred in more dramatic roles. Sinatra won his Academy Award without singing a note in "From Here to Eternity."

Doris Day has been high on the "Downbeat" annual poll for over five years as one of the best female singers.

There are nine top-notch songs in this picture, including "Young at Heart," "Someone to Watch Over Me," Hold Me in Your Arms," and "You my Love."

This film is the first to co-star Doris Day and Frank Sinatra and clearly indicates that they can act as well as sing.

Drama Of Africa Offered At State

Ivory smuggling on an outlaw coast of darkest Africa is the scene of "West of Zanzibar" starting today and playing through Tuesday at the State.

Filmed in Technicolor, the picture has exciting close-ups of stampeding elephant herds and attacks by crocodiles. Anthony Steel, a National Park Warden, trys to prevent the peaceful tribes from becoming involved with ivory smugglers on the coast.

With the help of his wife, played by Sheila Sim, the warden battles the smugglers and urges the natives to return to the fertile lands in Africa's interior.

One scene in the picture shows native fishermen catching turtles with their own special method. They tie their "line" around a "sucker fish" and turn it loose in the water. The fish will then swim around until it finds a giant turtle and fasten itself to it. The native then pulls in the catch.

'Battle Cry' Shows At Ritz End Of Week

The film version of Leon Uris' best selling novel, "Battle Cry," will play Friday and Saturday at the Ritz.

Starring Van Heflin and Aldo Ray, the film is a story of what happens to the average fellow who enlists in the Marines, from the day of his enlistment until the battles are all over. Four recruits, (Tab Hunter, John Lupton, Perry Lopez, and Aldo Ray), are followed through the Marine Corps "boot camp" and on into battle in the picture.

Van Heflin, as their senior officer, and James Whitmore, as their sergeant, lead them into the first Marine assault on Saipan. Feminine counterparts for the Leathernecks are Mona Freeman, Anne Francis, Dorothy Malone, and Nancy Olson.

This film is based on a novel which most accurately describes the life and death of the boys who wear the Marine greens; and of the women who wait for them. The book has sold over one million copies in the paperback edition alone.

Offers Measure To Take Care Of Cost Of Primary Voting

AUSTIN — County officials got a 4-year term of office in the constitutional amendments election last fall. But they still will have to pay for primaries to be held every two years, under terms of a bill introduced Thursday by Rep. W. R. Chambers of May.

"This just takes care of something we didn't think of in voting the 4-year terms," Chambers said.

His proposal would assess every office, even the 4-year ones, for its share of holding a primary every two years. He says there are not enough 2-year offices left to finance primaries in any but the big, wealthy counties of Texas.

"If we don't have some law like this, our primary system will collapse."

Mickey Spillane Yarn At Terrace

"The Long Wait" starring Anthony Quinn plays tonight and Monday at the Terrace Drive-in. Taken from a Mickey Spillane novel of the same name, the film has rough and tumble action and four pretty co-stars.

Peggy Castle, Shawn Smith, Mary Ellen Kay, and Dolores Donlon play the girls which make the picture more interesting for Quinn. He portrays a young man suffering from amnesia who flinds that he is wanted by the police for murder and a $250,000 bank robbery.

He trys to unravel the charges against himself with the aid and hindrance of the girls, who all profess to love him.

'Cinerama Holiday' Continues Dallas Run Through March

"This Is Cinerama," the fantastic new development in motion picture projection, has caught the fancy of the Southwestern public so, that it is to be held over for four more weeks at the Melba Theatre in Dallas.

It was originally scheduled to close March 10, but demand for tickets has caused the run to be extended through March 31.

Now in its ninth month at the Melba, "This Is Cinerama" has broken all Southwest theatrical records, and is still playing to large crowds. Extension of the run, the management announced, means that mail orders will be accepted through March 31 and will be filled in order of receipt.

Meantime, the second Cinerama production, "Cinerama Holiday," awaits the conclusion of the first run to make its appearance.

The Melba is one of only 13 Cinerama theatres in the United States, and is the only such installation in the Southwest.

There are enough autos in the United States to carry every person in the country with all the rear seats empty.

Edwin Booth's Career Is Depicted In Ritz Picture

The life of America's foremost actor, Edwin Booth, is portrayed in "Prince of Players" at the Ritz Tuesday through Thursday. Richard Burton ("The Robe") plays the great actor and Maggie McNamara ("The Moon is Blue") plays his wife who helps him to escape the alcoholism which claimed his thespian father, Junius Brutus Booth.

Thrust into his father's shoes during a tour when his father was unable to play Shakespeare's "Richard III," Edwin first gave evidence of his acting genius. But then, he began to drink in the manner of his father. A lucky marriage lifted him out of this quandary.

His next setback was the murder of the President, Abraham Lincoln, by John Wilkes Booth, Edwin's brother. His acting ability came to his rescue this time.

Other stars in the film are John Derek, Raymond Massey, and Charles Bickford. The film is in CinemaScope with Stereophonic Sound.

OSCAR BIDDERS IN JET FILM

"The High and the Mighty" starring John Wayne and Claire Trevor has had several Academy Award nominations. ## Indian Drama Told In Film 'Apache'

"Apache" is the story of a young Indian brave who resists the efforts of the U. S. Army to dispossess him from his hunting grounds. Captured by the Army and shipped in a train from the west to Florida, Massai (played by Burt Lancaster) escapes his captors and returns on foot to his people.

Scottish Tale Of 'Rob Roy' Plays At Lyric

The scene of "Rob Roy" is the borderlands of England and Scotland in the 18th Century. The Scotch were trying to put the Stuart line of Kings back on the throne of England because they were more benevolent to their Scottish cousins.

Led by a Scottish chieftain, Rob Roy McGregor, the armies of Scotland waged a series of border wars with the English. Cast of the Walt Disney Technicolor film includes the officers and men of the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders. Rob Roy is played by Richard Todd and Glynis Johns supplies the feminine interest as his sweetheart Helen Mary.

Showing with "Rob Roy" today and Monday at the Lyric is a 25 minute cartoon feature, "Pecos Bill." Also, a Walt Disney picture, the cartoon stars Roy Rogers, Trigger, and the Sons of the Pioneers.

Alan Ladd Starred In 'Drum Beat'

Alan Ladd quells the war-like Indians in "Drum Beat" Thursday and Friday at the Jet. Indian Fighter Ladd travels to California to negotiate a peace treaty with a renegade band of savages.

He is aided in his work by friendly Indians and especially an Indian girl played by Marisa Pavan. Audrey Dalton is the girl back home who comes out to the wild west to help Ladd get things under control so they can be married.

The film is in CinemaScope and WarnerColor.

How to Save on Your Income Tax

I was just thinking...

. . . I stood on one side of a chasm and she on the other. There was no bridge. I tried to build one.

"How are you . . . really?"

"Fine," said my friend. Her eyes were tired and her face was thin.

"And your family?"

"We're well," she said. Even across the chasm I could see the lie.

I love her. I have missed her. I remember sometimes the happy days we had together. I remember nights on the porch steps when there was no bridge, when we shared the joys and the tears friends share together.

Now we are adults, and we have destroyed our bridges and created our chasms. We do not cross them any longer. So there was nothing left to say. And no way to say it if there had been.

It is that way for everyone, I guess. It has happened to me with the boy who took me riding when the Autumn leaves fell on our faces and the world was no larger than the two of us.

Since then I have seen him across the chasm, but what we shared had separated like petals from a flower and each of us, saving the petals, could not remember the blossom.

Or would not.

I met two friends the other day.

"How wonderful to see you again," I said. "How are you?"

"Just fine," they smiled. "And you?"

"Oh, so much has happened," I began. "I wish . . ."

And they said. "We must get together for a long talk . . ."

And all around me were the cold winds of the canyon and then they were gone.

It was not my fault. It was not theirs. Perhaps I cry for the lost dream and deny the found reality, but it seems to me that the earth is a path we walk with those we love. If the paths must part from time to time, must they meet always on opposite sides of the chasm?

The world is a lonely place sometimes.

VISIT A POLIO WARD, MOTHER URGES

Most people contribute — some willingly, some grudgingly — to the March of Dimes, but few realize what an awful thing polio is. If only they could spend a few hours in a polio ward! They would see the tireless efforts and sacrifices of doctors, nurses, nuns, therapists, and volunteer workers. They could watch them fighting to save lives and restore stricken muscles.

I have been visiting a polio ward for nine weeks now. My son has polio. I have been holding on to him, desperately at first, resignedly next, and now hopefully. I have looked into the suffering face of a mother whose little daughter was completely, hopelessly paralyzed. I have seen a father and seven little children who lost their mother to polio.

If only people realized how terrible polio is and that it can strike anyone, they would eagerly join the fight against it.—Mrs. Charles Childers, Springfield, Ill.

No Poor People, Just Poor Imaginations

Why, in this land of beauty and abundance, must a comparatively small salary be the signal for low-level, unplanned, careless living? In many little ways we can live better—live like the rich folk all Americans really are. For example, a fresh coat of paint for the house is so uplifting, so easily applied, and so reasonably priced that anyone can afford it.

And it really costs very little to dress well in this land. It just takes interest and planning. Colors that suit the individual and styles and fabrics suited to the places one goes are very important. A course in dietetics and a carefully planned food budget make for better health and will save you money, too.

In America one can live like a millionaire on $3,000 a year! We do. We have a comfortable, convenient cottage on two lovely lots. We drive a moderately priced car, wear good clothes, and eat the best of food. Our few good pieces of furniture are easily cared for, and the house always looks neat because it is uncrowded. We also enjoy good music and books at little or no expense.

There are no poor people in America — only impoverished imaginations. — Mrs. A. B. C., Beckley, W. Va.

Disk Jockeys and Taste in Music

Discerning disk jockeys could do wonders to educate radio listeners to a better appreciation of good music if permitted to do so. But many radio stations, too avid for any kind of listening support, apparently are hampering them with record-selection restrictions based on popularity ratings.

Thousands like myself perhaps have never protested unless aroused to anger when a high-class musical program is discontinued because of support not expressed to its sponsors. Could the failure of these listeners to express their opinions be the reason disk jockeys play such travesties on harmony when so many fine records are available?

I sometimes stay up late just to listen to one discerning California disk jockey play records—his own personal selections, I suspect. Not all are classical. Many are popular but truly musical, not just noise. Orchids to the really selective disk jockeys who are permitted to indulge good taste, unhampered.—Mabel B. Dudrey, Provo, Utah.

Are All Americans Wealthy?

Last Spring I met a couple from Germany who had been in this country only six weeks. The wife's parents had lost their home and everything they owned during the war, and the husband's parents were both killed.

I took them for a walk in my neighborhood, and they were both enthralled with the beauty of the homes—homes I had always considered just average. In broken English, the husband asked me if all the people were rich. My humble reply was, "No, they are only ordinary working people."

That encounter was a real eye-opener to me. Since then I no longer take for granted the wonderful way of life we Americans are privileged to enjoy. — Mrs. Harry Nicklin, Trenton, N. J.

Our Teachers Need Action!

I am of the opinion that the public is being misinformed about the pitiful pay teachers receive. For example, many civic leaders rant and rave about the woeful plight of the poor teacher; yet those same leaders are not willing for themselves or their businesses to pay the slightly higher taxes that would assure teachers a reasonable standard of living.

If parents want teaching to be a respected profession, its status will have to be lifted out of the wavering path between that of public servant and labor-union member. — J. F. Barnett, Port Arthur, Tex.

Seeing America in Three Dimensions

IMAGINE YOURSELF a Swiss couple, married two years, saving for a trip to America. One day your phone rings and a friend tells you, "A Hollywood producer is here looking for a young couple to tour the U. S. for a movie."

You wouldn't waste a second, would you? Neither did Fred and Beatrice Troller of Zurich. Competing with 24 other candidates, the handsome pair paraded before a movie camera and were chosen for leading roles in "Cinerama Holiday," Louis de Rochemont's second 3-D production.

Within a few weeks, the Trollers arrived by plane in St. Louis and headed west on a motor scooter under the eyes of the Cinerama camera. They played slot machines in Las Vegas, Nev., listened to American folk songs on the San Francisco waterfront; visited Apache Indians in the Arizona Rockies. They heard hot jazz as it's played only where it was born—in New Orleans. They took part in New England husking bees and drove through countryside made famous in 1776.

On the last leg of their journey, they went from Washington, D. C., to New York and saw themselves on the screen in "Cinerama Holiday."

How to SAVE on Your Income Tax

There are many legitimate deductions taxpayers often overlook; an expert tells how you can cash in

S. Jay Lasser, a New York Certified Public Accountant, is the author of many articles and books on taxation. The most recent is "The 1955 Income Tax Guide," a Fawcett Book which sells for 75 cents.

With the "Ides of March" upon us, Americans are starting their annual matching of wits with the Treasury Department. But this year's bout will be different: you have until April 15 to file the return, and the new tax law contains many changes that may mean money in your pocket.

We all know that paying income taxes is unavoidable, but many of us fail to keep our taxes to a minimum by taking honest advantage of legitimate allowances. The new law, the first major change in our tax legislation in years, includes 40 important revisions that can spell savings.

You have an opportunity to save in practically every phase of your daily activity. Even planning for retirement can result in tax savings. Here are some of the more common provisions which you should know about:

MEDICAL EXPENSES

You may now deduct medical and dental expenses which exceed three percent of your adjusted gross income. Under the old law, these expenses had to exceed five percent of your income to be deductible. In addition, the maximum amounts you may now deduct are $5,000 on an individual return, $10,000 on a head-of-household return, and $10,000 on a joint return.

CHARITABLE CONTRIBUTIONS

Under the old law, your charitable contributions were limited to 20 percent of your adjusted gross income. The new law gives you an additional 10 percent if the contribution is made to a church, educational organization, or exempt hospital.

CHILD AND DEPENDENT-CARE EXPENSES

Working mothers and widowers can now deduct up to $600 a year for expenses they pay others to care for their children or other dependents who cannot support themselves. You are allowed to deduct these expenses, however, only if they enabled you to hold a job, or to seek one.

DIVIDENDS

The first $50 of dividend income received by you from domestic corporations is not taxed. Your spouse also is entitled to this $50 allowance. You also get a credit against your tax equal to four percent of the total amount of dividends you received after July 31, 1954. By transferring some shares of stock to your wife and children, your family can enjoy more tax-free dividends.

RETIREMENT INCOME

The new law enables citizens living on retirement pay to save as much as $240 on their income tax. If you are under 65, your retirement income is income from pensions and annuities received under a public retirement system. If you are 65 or over, retirement income is broadened to include income from private retirement systems as well as public, plus rents and dividends.

SICK-PAY EXCLUSION

If your employer continues to pay your wages while you are absent from work due to injury or sickness, such payments are not taxable up to $100 a week. This exclusion does not apply, however, to the first week of absence due to sickness, unless you were hospitalized for at least one day.

DEPENDENTS

Requirements have been eased so that you may now claim your child as a dependent, regardless of how much he earns, if he is under 19 or a student. You may now claim a non-relative as a dependent if he lives in your home and you support him. And where several persons contribute toward the support of an individual but none contributes more than half, one may be designated to take the entire $600 exemption. In the past, no one would have been entitled to the deduction. Also, if your dependent is ill and you pay his

| How to Use the Dependency Table | Person Who Can Qualify | TEST I $600 Gross Income | TEST II Alternative | TEST III Support | TEST IV Citizenship and Resident | TEST V Joint Return | LIST Name of Dependent |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Example: John Brown furnished more than one-half support to his unmarried son Peter, aged 21, who attended college for 8 months in 1954 and who earned $750 during 1954 for part time jobs. | YES Son | NO Earned more than $600. Use alternative Test II | YES Attended school for more than 5 months | YES More than one-half support | YES | YES Single—cannot file joint return | Peter Brown |
| John Brown furnished more than one-half support to his married daughter Ann, aged 23, whose income was $700 and who filed a joint return with her husband. | YES Daughter | NO Earned more than $600. Use alternative Test II | NO Did not attend school and was more than 19 | Does not matter. Cannot qualify | | | |
| John Brown furnished more than one-half support to his married daughter Ruth, age 18, whose income was $400 and who filed a joint return with her husband. | YES Daughter | YES Earned less than $600 | No need to use this test | YES More than one-half support | YES | NO Files joint return with husband | |
| John Brown furnished $150 for mother's support. Brother furnished $750. Mother is widow and earned $100 baby sitting which she used towards her own support. Her total cost of support and maintenance $1,000. | YES Mother | YES Earned less than $600 | Not applicable | NO Brother furnished 50% | Does not matter. Cannot qualify | | |

Don't Overlook These Allowances

So far we've been discussing the more common deductions that are identified by name on the tax returns. But many taxpayers are too generous with Uncle Sam because they overlook certain legitimate allowances that are not listed on the returns. Be sure not to overlook:

1. Depreciation and operating expense of car used solely or partly for business.
2. Depreciation and operating expense of home used solely or partly for business.
3. Cost of license plates and driver's license.
4. Travel expenses incurred on business trips for which you are not reimbursed.
5. Work clothes, uniforms, and equipment necessary to your employment.
6. Union dues.
7. Fees paid to employment agencies.
8. Investment expenses.
9. Taxes on gasoline, sales, etc.
10. Interest charges on articles purchased on the installment plan.

Studying the new tax provisions carefully may prove well worth your while. Remember that while the tall man in the high hat expects every taxpayer to do his duty, Uncle Sam doesn't want a penny he's not entitled to.

OF A MOTOR IN YOUR KITCHEN

Tantalizing aromas permeate the air as entrées, magnificent cakes, breads, and desserts materialize with a flick of the wrist. Your mixer makes possible these enticing Family Weekly masterpieces for every meal. And the chores of whipping, creaming, and beating are reduced to a minimum.

Divinity

BASE RECIPE

Lightly butter a baking sheet. Set out a candy thermometer.

Heat in a 2-qt. saucepan over medium heat, stirring only until mixture begins to boil

2 cups sugar
½ cup water
½ cup white corn sirup
¼ teaspoon salt

Cover and cook 5 min. (This helps to dissolve any crystals that may have formed on sides of pan.) Remove cover and hang the candy thermometer on pan so that bulb does not touch side or bottom and is covered with mixture, not just foam. Boil mixture without stirring. Cook mixture over medium heat until temperature of mixture reaches 252°F, the hard ball stage (a small amount of mixture forms a ball which is pliable yet hard enough to hold its shape in very cold water). Remove from heat while testing. During cooking, wash any crystals from sides of pan with a pastry brush dipped in water; move candy thermometer to one side and wash down crystals that may have formed on sides of pan under the thermometer.

Shortly before sirup reaches 252°F, beat on high speed in the large mixer bowl until stiff peaks are formed

3 egg whites

When temperature of the sirup reaches 252°F, remove candy thermometer. Immediately pour hot sirup in a fine stream onto the stiffly beaten egg whites, beating constantly and using high speed. When mixture begins to lose its gloss, turn off motor and lift beaters. In the early stage, the mass flows down from the beaters in a continuous ribbon. Continue beating until mixture no longer flows but holds its shape (about 35 min.).

At this point, quickly blend in

Drop by teaspoonfuls onto the baking sheet. Cool thoroughly.

Store in a cool place in a tightly covered container.

About 48 pieces Divinity

Seafoam Divinity

Follow Base Recipe. Decrease sugar to ¾ cup and blend in 1¼ cups firmly packed brown sugar. Blend in with the vanilla extract 1 cup finely chopped nuts.

Chocolate Divinity

Melt over simmering water and set aside to cool 2 sq. (2 oz.) unsweetened chocolate. Follow Base Recipe. Blend in the cooled chocolate with the vanilla extract.

It's loads of fun to make tricky Divinity and many other dainties with your mixer.

Lovely Ambrosia Cake—the epitome of beauty, the superlative in flavor. Accompany with elegant and colorful spumone ice cream.

Ambrosia Cake

Blow the bugles, sound the trumpets—festivities come to a dramatic climax with exquisitely decorated Ambrosia Cake.

For Cake—Set out three 11 x 7 x 1½-in. cake pans.

Measure and pour into the large mixer bowl

1 cup (7 to 8) egg whites

Allow egg whites to stand at room temperature at least 1 hr. before beating. This will help to insure greater volume.

Put into a small bowl

4 egg yolks

Reserve remaining 3 or 4 egg yolks for use in other food preparation.

2½ cups sifted cake flour
1 cup sugar
1 tablespoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt

Make a well in center of dry ingredients and add in order

½ cup cooking (salad) oil
The 4 egg yolks
⅓ cup orange juice
2 tablespoons grated orange peel (grated through colored part only; white is bitter)

Using medium speed, beat until smooth. (Remove mixer head from stand and use, or use hand mixer.)

Using clean beaters, beat the egg whites on high speed until frothy. Beat in

Add gradually, beating well after each addition

½ cup sugar

Beat until rounded peaks are formed and meringue (egg white-sugar mixture) does not slide when bowl is partially inverted.

Slowly pour egg yolk mixture over entire surface of meringue. Gently fold egg yolk mixture and meringue together until just blended. Do not stir. Carefully pour batter into pans.

Bake at 350°F 30 to 35 min., or until cake surface springs back when touched lightly. Invert each layer between two cooling racks so top of layer does not touch any surface. Let cake layers hang in pans until completely cool.

Loosen sides with spatula and gently remove cake from pans.

To Complete Cake—While cake is baking, prepare and chill

Pineapple Cream Filling
Chocolate Cream Filling

Place each cake layer on an 11½x8-in. oval platter, and trim cake to fit the platter. Save all leftover pieces cut from cake.

Spread bottom layer of cake with Pineapple Cream Filling. Top with second layer and spread with Chocolate Cream Filling. Top with third layer. Cover with waxed paper and chill in refrigerator.

Meanwhile, from leftover pieces of cake make a square, diamond, or heart shape for top of cake. (See color photo.)

Prepare

Butter Frosting

Remove cake from refrigerator. Spread frosting on sides and top of cake.

To decorate, force frosting through pastry bag and No. 27 star decorating tube. Garnish as in photo with

16 to 20 servings

Note: If desired, a double recipe of one of the fillings may be used instead of two different fillings.

Pineapple Cream Filling

BASE RECIPE

This filling does not require the use of a mixer, but perfectly sets off the flavor of Ambrosia Cake.

Set out

2 cups milk

Scald (just until a thin film appears) 1½ cups of the milk in top of a double boiler over simmering water. Reserve remaining ½ cup milk

Meanwhile, sift together into a medium-size saucepan

½ cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
⅛ teaspoon salt

Blend in the reserved milk. Gradually add the scalded milk to the cornstarch mixture, stirring constantly. Bring rapidly to boiling over direct heat, stirring gently and constantly; cook 3 min. Remove from heat.

Wash the double boiler top to remove scum; pour milk mixture into it and place over simmering water. Cover and cook about 12 min., stirring three or four times. Vigorously stir about 3 tablespoons hot cornstarch mixture into

Immediately blend into mixture in the double boiler top. Cook over simmering water 3 to 5 min. Stir slowly to keep mixture cooking evenly. Remove from heat. Cover and cool slightly.

Blend in

1½ cups (No. 2 can, drained) crushed pineapple
1 teaspoon vanilla extract

Place in refrigerator to chill.

About 3 cups filling

Chocolate Cream Filling

Follow Base Recipe. Add 1½ sq. (1½ oz.) unsweetened chocolate to the 1½ cups milk and heat until chocolate is melted and milk is scalded. Beat until smooth. Increase sugar to ⅔ cup. Omit pineapple.

Butter Frosting

Put into the large mixer bowl and cream on medium-high speed until butter is softened

⅔ cup butter
1½ teaspoons vanilla extract
¼ teaspoon almond extract

Add gradually, creaming until fluffy after each addition

6 cups (about 1¾ lbs.) sifted confectioners' sugar

Add and continue beating on medium-high speed until smooth

1 egg white

Blend in gradually, a tablespoon at a time, until of proper consistency for spreading

3 to 6 tablespoons cream

Enough to frost sides and top of one Ambrosia Cake

WRECK OF THE PACIFIC EXPRESS

BY KEITH HARRIS

Almost 80 years ago, a terrible train disaster in a snowstorm near Ashtabula, Ohio, shocked the nation.

FEW RAILROAD DISASTERS combined more elements of horror than the one at Ashtabula, Ohio, the night of December 29, 1876. Throughout the preceding day a blinding snowstorm had slowed trains, and the luxurious westbound "Pacific Express" of the Michigan Southern & Lake Shore Railroad, due at Ashtabula at 5:30 p. m., was running late.

When it reached the bridge spanning the Ashtabula River, nothing could be seen even 50 feet ahead. Drawn by two locomotives, the 11-car train approached the bridge, slowly forcing its way through the heavy snow. Passengers were playing cards, dozing in their seats, or enjoying a last smoke before retiring. Ladies in the sleeping coach were preparing for bed.

As the first locomotive, the Socrates, reached the far side of the span, its engineer suddenly heard a sharp crack and looked back to see the sister-locomotive, the Columbia, sinking out of sight. The center of the bridge had collapsed! Reacting instantly, the engineer threw the throttle open and sent the Socrates safely over the abutment. But the Columbia was less fortunate. As it was pulled forward, it struck the abutment. For a moment it clung to the Socrates, held by a coupling rod; but as that broke, it fell with the 11 cars to the ice-covered river below.

The wrecked cars were strewn among the iron beams and columns of the broken bridge. Then the stove-heated coaches caught fire. Ice, water, and snow; debris from the shattered train; bodies of men, women, and children were mingled in wild horror.

Lucky indeed were the passengers who were killed outright. Less fortunate were those who lay, injured and helpless, watching the rapid approach of the flames.

Though an immediate alarm had been sounded in Ashtabula, help was slow in coming because of the storm. Would-be rescuers of trapped passengers were driven back by the fire. If survivors escaped the flames, the river threatened to engulf them; if they escaped the water, they were still at the mercy of the storm.

When firemen arrived from Ashtabula, the injured were slowly coming up the river bank. They were taken to the village and placed on couches and beds of the few hotels, on store counters, and on the floors of homes and saloons. All Ashtabula became a huge hospital in which doctors and surgeons worked frantically.

For a time the wreck was left unguarded, and looters stole anything—watches, jewelry, shawls, satchels. Next morning, nothing remained but a charred mass of car trucks, brake-rods, twisted rails, and bent bridge iron.

As news of the disaster sped by telegraph from coast to coast, a sense of shock gripped the nation. On the distant hilltops of New England, in the green valleys of California, in great cities and tiny hamlets everywhere, all else was temporarily forgotten in a wave of sympathy for the victims of one of America's worst railroad disasters.

Dear Miss Barrows:

My hobby is sewing. I belong to the Navajo 4-H Club of Poquoson, York County, Va. I have been in club work three years. When I first joined the 4-H Club I didn't know how to sew a stitch, but now I have made 22 garments and won 54 ribbons in all projects, which include sewing, electricity, safety, health, home improvements, and cooking. But I still like sewing best. If anyone has the chance to join the 4-H Club it is a good opportunity to learn many things.

Sincerely,

Dear Miss Barrows:

In my cousin's Wolf Scout book I read how to print pictures you take. My uncle helped me and we went to a photo shop to get the printing papers, a red bulb, and some powder for the solution. Then he made a printer from a piece of glass and a cardboard box. He also got a book which gave us more instructions and we went to work!

After a few tries we finally discovered how to make prints from old negatives and also how to develop a roll of film. We certainly had fun and we surprised my aunt and my mother and the neighbors with pictures I could take and then show to them a short time later.

With homemade equipment it is not expensive and it's an interesting hobby. I even sold some pictures I took of our neighbor's children and spent the money to buy more printing papers. I am a Cub Scout and in fifth grade.

Fun with Folding

Here is something for a March party. All you need is some green paper, paint or ink, and some clover. Take a square of the green paper and fold on the dotted lines in figure 1. Turn the paper over and fold on line ab and then fold the corners a and b inward to form figure 2. Fold on the horizontal line and then on the oblong lines forming figure 3. Now fold the triangular flap down, turn the square over and repeat figures 2 and 3. When you have done this hold the edge of the openings on the fold of the triangular flaps and pull so that the whole thing opens out as in figure 4. Now fold the points at c into the bottom of the basket on the dotted lines. Paint the name of the person on one side, make a hole on the point and insert a sprig of clover, and you are ready to put the candy or nuts into the basket.

About 1 cup dressing

Tart Cream-Cheese Dressing

Follow Base Recipe. Substitute ½ cup buttermilk for jelly and ½ to 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce for lemon juice and peel. Serve with egg, meat, or fish salads.

Baked Filled Potatoes

Fluffy filled potatoes mingle the optimum in food value to become delightful main dish fare. To complete a superb picture plate, serve a medley fruit salad mold and crunchy carrot sticks accented with a ripe or green olive.

BASE RECIPE

Wash and scrub with a vegetable brush
- 6 medium-size potatoes

Dry potatoes with absorbent paper. Rub potatoes well with about
- 1 tablespoon fat

Place potatoes on rack in oven and bake at 425°F 45 to 60 min., or until potatoes are soft when pressed with the fingers (protected by paper napkin or potholder). Remove potatoes from oven. To make each potato more mealy, gently roll potatoes back and forth on flat working surface. Cut large potatoes into halves lengthwise. Or cut a thin lengthwise slice from each smaller potato. With a spoon, scoop out inside without breaking skin. Using a hand mixer, mash potatoes thoroughly on low speed. Increase speed to high and whip in until the potatoes are fluffy

Beat in any one of the following combinations on high speed
- ⅓ to ½ cup minced or deviled ham (reduce salt in recipe)
- 3 tablespoons minced parsley

or
- ⅓ cup (about 1½ oz.) grated Cheddar cheese (2 tablespoons may be reserved for topping)
- 6 to 10 pimiento-stuffed olives, finely chopped

or
- ½ cup (3 oz.) flaked and boned crab meat (bony tissue removed)
- 1 tablespoon minced onion

Pile mixture lightly into potato skins, leaving surfaces uneven. If desired, top with
- ⅓ cup crushed buttered corn flakes or crumbs

Return potatoes to oven for 8 to 10 min., or until thoroughly heated.

3 servings

Baked Shrimp-Filled Potatoes

Follow Base Recipe. Drain, rinse, devein, and finely chop contents of 2 cans (5 oz.) small shrimp. Reserve several whole shrimp for garnish. Add chopped shrimp, (about 3 oz.) grated Cheddar cheese and the chopped parsley to whipped potato mixture. Instead of the suggested combinations, beat thoroughly on high speed. Pile whipped potato mixture lightly into shells, reserving some for topping. Using pastry bag and a No. 7 star tube, force reserved whipped potato mixture onto filled potato shells to decorate. Omit buttered corn flakes or crumbs. Garnish with reserved shrimp.

Baked Filled Sweet Potatoes

Follow Base Recipe. Use sweet potatoes. When whipping potatoes, substitute ¼ cup orange juice for milk. Omit pepper and paprika. Add with salt 1 teaspoon grated orange peel (grated through colored part only; white is bitter), 2 tablespoons brown sugar, and ½ teaspoon cinnamon. Pile mixture lightly into skins and bake as in Base Recipe.

Quick Coffee Cakes

BASE RECIPE

For a special treat serve with cups of hot coffee.

Grease bottoms only of 12 2½-in. muffin pan wells.

For Topping—Blend together using medium speed, in a small bowl, and set aside
- ¾ cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 2 teaspoons cinnamon
- 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted

For Coffee Cakes—Melt and set aside to cool
- ¼ cup shortening

Sift together into the large mixer bowl and set aside
- 2½ cups sifted flour
- 1 tablespoon baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt

Using clean beaters, beat in the small mixer bowl, high speed until thick and lemon colored
- 2 eggs

Using medium speed, blend into eggs the melted shortening and
- ½ cup sugar
- ½ cup firmly packed brown sugar
- ½ cup milk
- ½ cup double-strength coffee beverage

Make a well in center of dry ingredients and add liquid mixture all at one time. Beat on low speed, just until dry ingredients are moistened. (Scrape sides of bowl with spatula.) Spoon out (cutting batter against side of bowl) enough batter at one time to fill each muffin well half full. Spoon topping mixture over batter in wells.

Bake at 375°F 20 to 25 min.

Run spatula around inside edge of each muffin well and gently lift out coffee cake. If serving is delayed, keep cakes warm by loosening them and tipping slightly in the pan wells. Cover with a clean towel. Keep in a warm place.

1½ doz. coffee cakes

Festive Coffee Cakes

Follow Base Recipe for coffee cakes. Substitute for topping a mixture of ½ cup sugar, 4 teaspoons cinnamon, ½ cup (about 2 oz.) chopped nuts, and ½ cup chopped candied fruit.

Fresh Mushroom Soufflé

An attraction for a colorful and flavorful buffet—light, delicate mushroom soufflé with scrumptious supporting cast of juicy broiled tomatoes, crisp tossed salad, and hot crusty rolls.

Put out a 1½-qt. casserole; do not grease.

Drain and set aside
- 3 oz. sharp Cheddar cheese (about 1 cup, grated)

Wipe with a clean, damp cloth; cut off tips of stems, and slice lengthwise through caps and stems
- ½ lb. mushrooms

Set aside
- ½ cup minced onion

Sauté mushrooms and onion in
- ¼ cup butter or margarine

in a saucepan over low heat

Blend in
- ¼ cup flour
- ¼ teaspoon dry mustard
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon paprika
- Few grains pepper

Heat until mixture bubbles; remove from heat. Add gradually, stirring constantly
- 1 cup milk

Return to low and bring rapidly to boiling, stirring constantly; cook 1 to 2 min. longer. Cool some slightly.

While sauce is cooling, start to 4 separate eggs
- 4 egg yolks

Add the mushrooms and onion. Cook slowly, occasionally stirring and turning with a fork or spoon, until mushrooms are tender. With a slotted spoon, remove onion and mushrooms to a small bowl. Set aside.

Add cheese all at one time to cooled sauce. Mix, using low speed, until cheese is melted. (If not using hand mixer, remove mixer head from stand and use.)

Beat egg yolks in the small mixer bowl with clean beaters until thick and lemon colored.

Slowly pour sauce into egg yolks while beating on medium speed; continue to beat until well blended. Blend the onion and mushrooms into the sauce mixture.

Using clean beaters, beat on high speed in the large mixer bowl until rounded peaks are formed
- 6 egg whites

Gently spread the egg yolk mixture over the beaten egg whites. Carefully fold together until just blended. Turn mixture into casserole. Place the tip of a spatula 1 in. deep in casserole 1 to 1½ in. from edge and line around mixture. (This part of the mixture will form a "wall" when baked.)

Bake at 325°F about 50 min., or until a silver knife comes out clean when inserted halfway between center and edge of the soufflé.

HATFULS OF CHARM FOR EASTER

by Allyn Rice

THIS IS A vintage Spring for Easter bonnets. Never have they been gayer or more lavish with feminine flattery. And fashion's new elongated silhouette draws special attention to these most important of all new hats—to their delightfully realistic flowers and vibrant colors in silks, velvets, or straws. Although the taller look calls for larger hats with dramatic lines, designers have also created tiny bonnets for the smaller woman. They are cupped to frame her face, widened over the temples to give a pretty, wide-eyed look, or fashioned to sit far back on her head like a decorative chignon. The flowering of these exciting hats forecasts a memorable Spring.

BEAUTY by Nan Cabot

How to Have Prettier Eyebrows

It's a simple matter of proper and regular use of tweezers, combined with artful penciling.

THE WOMAN who knows the easy, correct way to tweeze her eyebrows possesses a priceless beauty secret. For well-groomed brows, poised gracefully above the eyes, do flattering things for the "mirrors of the soul."

Fortunately, everyone is born with the type of eyebrows that suits her best, so the first thing to remember is to preserve the natural brow lines. Once you start tampering with them, your brows are apt to seem out of focus with other facial features. Just clean away the straggling hairs that blur the natural arches, and eliminate the frown effect by removing any stray hairs that bridge the nose, making sure not to tweeze in too far. (To determine the perfect point for brows to begin, draw an imaginary line from the outer edge of your nostril straight up to the brow.)

In addition to good, strong tweezers with solid tips that grip firmly, you'll need cold cream and a well-lighted mirror. Before plucking the brows, apply a soft cloth wrung out in hot water, and then work a little cold cream into the skin around the eyes. For best results and least discomfort, use quick, firm movements of your tweezers, pulling out hairs in the direction of growth. Never remove hairs at right angles! While tweezing, keep the skin taut by holding it in a little fold with your free hand. And don't be discouraged if your tweezing technique is awkward and slow at first. A little practice will make it perfect, and then a two-minute weekly plucking session should do the trick easily.

When the tweezing is finished, bathe the skin with a mild astringent or weak solution of warm water and boric acid. Or you may prefer to dampen it with diluted peroxide of hydrogen, which acts as an antiseptic and bleaches out any fine hairs that have eluded the tweezers.

Now the actual shape of the brows can be improved with fast feather strokes of an eyebrow pencil that blends with your natural coloring: light brown for redheads and blondes, dark brown for brownettes, and blackish-brown for real brunettes. For an alert, younger look, lift the arches and thicken the lines of your brows. If your eyes are not too deep-set, try straight, thickish brows that strike dramatic notes. Or if you would emulate high-fashion models, pencil your brows to pointed lines. But however you modify the shape, remember to keep the highest points of the arches directly above the pupils of the eyes.

Along with regular tweezing and penciling, brush your eyebrows regularly with a clean mascara brush. This disciplines the brows and gives them a healthy gloss. By incorporating these rules for eyebrow care into your good-grooming routine, you'll be helping yourself to the clean, wide-eyed look that's such an important part of beauty.

Table and clock centerpiece were rescued from a secondhand shop. Clock ($6) was mounted on cigar box painted black. Original feet (attached to corners of box) and paper-lace doily (covering base) were painted gold. The table ($15) lost its scarred finish after a rubdown with varnish remover; strong lye-soap solution removed oil stains. Light yellow paint was worked into sanded surface to seal the pores, and waxing followed. Inset photograph shows the table before it was reconditioned.

Renew It Yourself

by Ruth W. Lee

NEXT TIME you pass that musty secondhand junk shop in your neighborhood, stop in and browse around. You'll probably see things you ordinarily wouldn't look at twice. But remember that many "discards" are just a good idea and a new finishing job away from becoming decorator showpieces.

Illustrated are only a few ways that old objects can be put to handsome new uses. They're good examples of this decorating principle: Imagination and ingenuity add value and character to the humblest things, no matter what their original cost. Oftentimes secondhand shops can lead to first-class decorating.

Below: Clock in junk-shop condition. It was dismantled and figure used as separate accessory. Above: Food container and kerosene stove before "big change."

Gold paint highlights clock and adds decorative look to figurine. Food container (50 cents) and stove ($1) were scrubbed before conversion to flower holders. Tobacco tin inside stove holds water. Container top is cigarette box.

Uncle Sam's Valuable Blunders

Now and then, the Government Printing Office misprints a stamp—and thousands of philatelists go wild trying to buy up the errors!

by K. C. Jerome

A COLLECTOR OF antiques might not give two cents for a Copeland cup with a broken ear. And however long its pedigree, the worth of a Boston terrier would drop sharply if it had three black feet and one white.

But where postage stamps are concerned, things are different. The nation's 100,000 stamp collectors go wild at sight of an imperfect stamp—because the imperfection may increase its value a thousandfold!

The Government Printing Office produces millions of stamps a year and practically every one comes out the way it should. Trained government inspectors are charged with seeing that misprints are destroyed before they get into circulation, but occasionally freaks slip by.

This occurred not long ago in Charleston, S. C., where a stamp dealer bought a sheet of the $1 black-and-purple stamps which bear Woodrow Wilson's face. Soon after leaving the post office, he discovered the stamps had been printed by mistake on watermarked paper. Realizing he had discovered a potentially valuable error, the dealer set off on a 3,400-mile expedition through the South and managed to find 601 of the improperly-printed stamps.

These 601 specimens now represent the cream of the more than 300,000,000 normal copies of the stamp issued since 1938. Some of the errors first discovered in Charleston already have sold to collectors for $150 each!

There are several kinds of errors possible in printing postage stamps. Once in a while, Uncle Sam forgets to punch out the little perforations which separate stamps. Sometimes he prints stamps upside down or in the wrong color. And as with the Wilson stamp, printers occasionally feed the wrong paper into the presses.

Another time this error occurred was in 1895, when stamps bearing the image of James Garfield and William Sherman were printed on paper watermarked with the initials of the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

The result? Well, today the correctly printed Sherman stamp is worth $1, but collectors pay $250 for a copy of the error. A normal specimen of the Garfield issue is worth 35 cents, but the watermarked variety is valued at $100!

The U. S. began making mistakes as soon as it began making stamps. In 1847, a ten-cent stamp bearing the face of George Washington was issued. A perfect copy is worth $80 today, but one showing the "Father of His Country" with an apparent harelip may fetch twice as much.

You can buy a perfect copy of a dull-red three-cent stamp issued in 1851 for just 40 cents, but the same stamp accidentally printed in orange-brown is worth $35. That same year the Government printed both sides of some 12-cent stamps. Today one of these blunders is worth $2,500 to a collector, while a "perfect" specimen brings $22.

We again printed both sides of some one-cent stamps in 1861. These freaks are worth $1,500 each, compared with $1.50 for the regular variety. And we did the same thing with a few 24-centers in 1863. You'll pay $2,000 for one of these errors today, as against $6.50 for a normal copy.

In 1869, Uncle Sam began making another sort of mistake—printing the centers of postage stamps upside down. Some 15-cent stamps showing the landing of Columbus stood the great explorer on his ears. A specimen of this error is valued at $10,000 in today's market, whereas a normal copy might bring $25.

A slight change in color makes some four-cent stamps issued in 1893 worth $1,000 instead of $3. A normal pair of 1914 one-cent stamps is worth a nickel, while a pair lacking perforations lists at $200.

The U. S. issued its first air-mail stamp in 1918—and blundered by printing some of the biplanes upside down. Today a normal specimen is worth $3; the error, $4,000.

The printing office had to make another forced landing 20 years later when another air-mail issue began coming off the presses haywire. But stamp collectors were delighted at Uncle Sam's slip-up. A normal pair of these is now worth 22 cents. A pair that lacks perforations will bring the lucky collector $1,250—a bonus value of 568,000 percent!

John M. Browning looks over one of his early machine guns. Inset shows how he appeared when 18 years old.

JOHN BROWNING:

Father of Modern Firearms

by Jerry Klein

Seventy-five years ago, a man of peace patented the first of his many weapons that were put to use in war.

HE WAS a soft-spoken man of peace. Yet his handiwork barked defiance at freedom's enemies.

He perhaps "killed more people than any other individual since time began." Yet he had "little interest in the instruments of war."

Such a living paradox was John Moses Browning, father of the Browning machine gun, the Browning automatic rifle, the hammerless repeating shotgun, and numerous other weapons for war and peace.

It was just 75 years ago that Browning received the first of his 200 patents. It was for a lever-action, single-shot rifle which became world-known as the '79 Model Winchester. Young Browning, then 24 years old and a real marksman, had made the breech-loader in his father's gunsmith shop in Ogden, Utah.

At 14, John began to follow in his father's footsteps and whittled his first gun. And before he was 20, Browning made a handsome hunting rifle out of scrap he found in his father's shop.

"Well done," said the elder Browning. "That's a better gun than any I'll ever make."

When his father died, young Browning decided to mass-produce his lever-action rifle. He vowed to build an inventory of 600 before offering any for sale—a feat which required three years of constant work. But then the Winchester Repeating Arms Co. bought all 600—plus the patent and manufacturing rights.

Winchester didn't recognize Browning as a true master of the art when they asked him to design a .22 repeater and rejected the plans he submitted as unworkable.

Undeterred, Browning made the .22 by hand from his original drawings and delivered it to Winchester with this simple note:

"This is the gun I showed in my plans. You said it wouldn't work, but it seems to shoot pretty fair to me."

As a matter of fact, the Model '90 Winchester became the favorite of four decades of sportsmen.

Designing guns was a most unscientific process for Browning. Models of precise engineering, his weapons were the result of simple observation followed by rough and repeated experimentation. In making a new one, for instance, he would ask his workers to make him a piece of iron "this long and this wide"—drawing a blueprint in the air with his fingers.

While hunting one morning in 1892, Browning noticed how the marsh grass bent low in the wake of a speeding bullet. Obviously, a powerful stream of gas followed the bullet as it left the gun muzzle.

Why let this gas escape? Browning asked himself. Why not harness its energy and put it to work?

Back in Ogden, Browning drilled a tiny hole beneath the barrel of a gun, which allowed the escaping gas to be trapped and then utilized to drive a rod which reloaded the weapon. What time and effort this saved the hunter who so often was busy cocking and reloading while his prey fled into the brush!

But the benefits of the gas mechanism were not to be confined to sportsmen or to the ways of peace. Trouble was brewing down in Cuba and soon the new principle was applied to machine guns, replacing the old hand-cranks. Firing ten shots a second, the Browning machine gun helped the United States win the Spanish-American War.

The Marines used it with telling effect to put down the Boxer Rebellion. And by the time of World War I, Browning saw with sad eyes how more and more of his work was destined for military use.

A .45 semi-automatic pistol Browning perfected in 1905 eventually became the Colt Model 1911 which is still the standard side-arm of our armed forces. When American machine-gun companies marched into France in 1917, they were armed with an improved, water-cooled version of his recoil-operated machine gun.

Browning adapted the machine gun to fighter planes, synchronizing it so it fired between the propeller blades. And his automatic rifle became the famous B.A.R. of both World Wars.

But even when World I was over, Browning was unable to devote himself once more to making guns for sport. The shy and peaceful Mormon said. "There will come another war, and America must be prepared to defend itself."

Some of his final efforts led to improved machine guns, antiaircraft guns, the 37-mm. cannon and the .303 on the famous British Spitfire pursuit plane. Even the G.I.'s Garand rifle used the same gas-operating system Browning devised before the turn of the century.

It has been truly said that in World War II the Ogden inventor "walked beside every soldier who carried a gun and flew with every fighter pilot."

Browning died in 1926 while in Belgium to see the first production of a new shotgun with double triggers and automatic ejectors. His last days were once again occupied by happy thoughts of the hunter trudging over the fields with a dog and a gun—the sportsman, not the killer.

And today the Browning Arms Co. of Ogden, Utah, still makes shotguns designed for the ways of peace by the father of modern firearms.

Are You Making the Most of Middle Age?

by Charles and Jean Komaiko

The cynic who once said, "A woman is as old as she looks; a man is old when he stops looking," was wrong on both counts. Today we believe that chronological age tells but half the story, and that a person is as young as he feels. Feeling young and having fun in middle years doesn't just happen—we have to plan for it.

This quiz is for Family Weekly readers over 45. Answer "Yes" or "No" to the following questions to see how you're adjusting to the "dangerous years." If you match the answers given below, you pass with flying colors. If you miss more than two, you're probably dreaming too much of the Charleston you did at 20!

STRANGE PROPHECIES BY A WOMAN

MARGUERITE CARTER

THIS WAS WRITTEN FOR THE SKEPTICS—The dramatic fulfillment of a Bible prophecy written 2000 years ago that the Jews someday would reestablish Palestine was the most outstanding fulfillment of ancient prophecy that this generation has ever seen. IT WOULD HAVE RATED TOP NEWSPAPER HEADLINES IF OUR EYES HAD NOT BEEN FOCUSED ON WAR AND POLITICS!

Marguerite Carter is a serious student and amazing in her accuracy in the predictions of world events. In 1941 in a Dallas newspaper she said: "Adolph Hitler will never conquer Russia in its entirety . . . He may defeat the bulk of the red armies and capture the principal cities, but Russia is too large to be completely subjugated." That was Russia's darkest hour. It came true!

In 1950 Miss Carter said: "We are now making deals with Russia for which we will be sorry."

In 1951 she told newspaper men, "Senator Robert Taft won't be president . . ." And again in 1943 she warned: "We will have to sit down to the peace table and talk terms. Only very shrewd maneuvering will keep Russia from being the completely dominant power in Europe."

NOW MISS CARTER SAYS: "This is a time of small wars. Russia will someday fight a two-front war. It will not start here in this part of the world, as everyone expects, but in Jerusalem! This will be the beginning of the end for communism! New fields of work are ahead for almost everyone—even those who remain in current positions are likely to do something new! There will be electrical changes and moves in home life. Quiet, steady, unpublicized but effective advancement to unbelievable influence, will be the future role of the United States!"

Four of the world's greatest conquerors—Alexander the Great, Julius Caesar, Genghis Khan, and Napoleon I—devoutly believed in the influences of the stars upon the world. Court astrologers warned Alexander when he reached the walls of Babylon "to flee from the city . . ." He did, for he believed their warning—then later returned to meet his death!

Learned men, from scientists to men of all religious faiths, have been believers in planetary influences. It was foretold that someday Giovanni would become a pope. He became Pope Leo X and a believer in the stars. Pope Julius II set his coronation date by astrology. Embedded in the floor of one of the oldest churches in Rome, in the square at the entrance to St. Peter's cathedral, and on the face of the clock tower in Venice are beautiful zodiacs. These Miss Carter photographed during her study abroad. Against ridicule she has studied lonely hours, keeping records that universities may use.

TEST MISS CARTER'S ACCURACY FOR THE GREATEST HELP YOU HAVE EVER KNOWN. Of one thing you may be sure, she is sincere and to be trusted. Send for your forecast with special notations for the twelve-month period ahead. Make this year—your year! Send your complete birthday—month, date, and year, the hour of birth (if known) and place—with a remittance of $2.00 for your forecast and for MISS CARTER'S SPECIAL NOTATIONS SHOWING OUTSTANDING INDICATIONS, an additional $1.00. Allow three weeks for careful, proper attention. Address: Marguerite Carter, 809 Jackson Building, Indianapolis 25, Indiana.
