

Along The Waterfront

With shrimping at a snail's pace and little activity going on among the commercial houses, there is very little to report from that end. But sports fishermen—in spite of griping about bad weather—have been bringing in good catches.

Take the Winn party, of San Antonio. Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Winn, Jr., M. A. Winn, Sr. and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stapleford (He's the Mission City Pontiac man) were cleaning 9 reds at the yacht basin Tuesday afternoon. The nine reds—Philip Wylie says they are channel bass—weighed close to a hundred pounds total.

In addition, the Winn party had 12 flounder and as many trout. They fished Cedar Bayou waters, using cut mullet for the bigger ones. M. A. Winn, Sr. said the shrimp was fine but just couldn't stay on the hook.

Sports fishermen have been angling with fair success around Mills Wharf. Not every day was a good fishing day, but the past week the sportsmen brought in several good catches.

Captain O'Donnel, Fort Riley, Kansas, and Arthur Shannon, Dallas, caught 77 trout.

On Saturday Raymond H. Ham and Judie Moyer, both of San Antonio, brought in 43 trout.

August Becker and his party from New Braunfels hooked 82 trout on the same day.

The next day Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Bell and Fannie Lewallen, all from Smiley, caught 21 trout and two gaff tops.

Also Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Pate and their son from Madelle, Oklahoma, brought in seven trout.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Knott, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Blumberg, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Blumberg, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hollamon, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Weinert, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Strauss, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Baer, Mr. and Mrs. Max Bergfeld, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Weinert, and Mrs. Joe Smith, all of Seguin, brought in some nice trout and reds Tuesday.

The same day, Mr. R. F. Smith, Gene Joy, and W. H. Smith, Jr., all of Victoria, caught four trout and one drum.

The "Mossie" out of Houston arrived on the 25th for a week or so of fishing. Her captain is J. D. Herron, who pilots her for the Laughlin-Patterson Company of Dallas. The "Mossie" is a 32-foot Robinson Sea-Gull. She has two 92 h.p. Chrysler Marine motors. She has accommodations for six people.

Lt. Dodgen who is in command of the Navy Detachment at the airport, with his brother and cousin, reported a nice catch of trout at Lenoir's landing on Copano Bay Sunday.

Pete Valera of New Orleans, caught a five foot two inch tarpon the other day down the coast just below Rockport. He was on Dennis O'Connor's boat, the "Caska Bell."

Also Dennis O'Connor caught four good sized king fish yesterday, south of whistling buoy.

Mrs. Lottie Moore's party of eight women, who are staying at the Palm Courts, went fishing yesterday morning aboard the "Sonata" and caught some trout and reds. Those in the party were: Mrs. Larry Baker, Mrs. Bill Bettus, Mrs. Frank Martin, Mrs. John Campbell, of Goliad; Mrs. C. E. Baer, Mrs. T. A. Hollamon, of Seguin; and Mrs. Joe R. Smith, of Luling.

Mr. C. R. Bergstrom's party caught 29 trout and some reds and drum.

C.P.L. Reductions Amount to $4,800 Annually

Electric rate reductions recently announced by Central Power and Light Company will save users of electric service in Rockport about $4,800 annually B. T. Hardeman, CPL manager, said this week.

The new rate reduction is the 6th put into effect by the company since 1931. It applies to all residential and commercial customers, to rural users of electricity, and to many industrial users. The new rates are being submitted to the City Council for approval.

The new lower rate becomes effective immediately after the customer's meter is read in July, and applies to all consumption of electricity after that time. When the meter is read again in August, the customer will have used a month's electric service at the new rate and will be billed accordingly.

The amount of the customer's monthly saving as a result of this rate reduction will vary according to his use of electricity and the type of service he requires. In some cases it may be only a few cents a month, in others it will be much more.

Under the old rate, a residential customer in Rockport using 70 kilowatt hours of electricity in a month would receive a bill for $4.30. Under the new rate, his bill for the same amount of electricity would be $3.88. A commercial customer who used 200 kilowatt hours in a month would pay $12.00 under the old rate, as compared with $9.47 under the new rate. A rural customer using 100 kilowatt hours would have a monthly bill of $6.00 under the old rate as compared with $5.38 under the new rate.

In 1931, 100 kilowatt hours of electricity would have cost a residential user in Rockport $6.00. After the new CPL rate goes into effect, the same amount of electricity will cost only $4.78. Although the customer's bill probably has not gone down in this proportion, Hardeman pointed out, he gets more electricity service for his money.

The latest CPL rate reduction is in keeping with the company's long-standing policy of lowering the price of electricity whenever economically possible, Hardeman said. Although the cost of living generally continues to go up, he pointed out, dependable electric service has remained available at low pre-war levels and there has been no shortage of electricity.

"Operating efficiency, increased volume of business and the prospect of greater use of electricity per customer are among the factors which enable us to reduce the price of electric service in these times of rising living costs," Hardeman explained, "despite the fact that some of our costs of doing business have gone up considerably."

"We are doing all we can to help our customers get the greatest possible benefit from their electric service," he said. "This rate reduction will enable them to use more electricity, and apply it to more jobs, at lower cost. New and better appliances have been developed which will add to comfort and convenience in the home. Electric service will continue to increase in importance commercially and industrially as South Texas grows, and an ample supply of electric power at lower cost will speed this development. Reduced rates also may be expected to stimulate rural electrification, which Central Power and Light Company has always

Jackson Sales Co. Purchased By W. L. Patrick

The Jackson Sales Co. was purchased this week from Norvell Jackson by W. L. Patrick, recently released from the army with the rank of major.

Mr. Patrick will retain the same personnel that worked under Jackson's management, and said that he hoped to do as good a job in serving the people of Rockport as his predecessor.

Mr. Patrick spent four years in the U. S. Army and was released as a major. Prior to that he was an engineer with the Texas Highway Department. He did the location survey on the Hug-the-Coast Highway through Aransas County in 1929.

He and his wife, the daughter of Mr. Clark Herring, are now living in Miss Ella Evans' home, where Judge Fox used to live.

The old phone is still in use for daytime calls, and Mr. Patrick says that anyone desiring night service can get him by calling 484.

Mr. Jackson was recently discharged from the U. S. Army after spending three and a half years in the Army Air Forces, twenty-eight months of which were spent in England. He was discharged as a master sergeant.

Mr. Jackson will be associated with his brother, Jim Bert Jackson, in the Jackson Sea Food Company. He was in business here about seven years with the Jackson Sales Company, before he sold it.

Dr. Charles F. Cron Moves Office

Dr. Charles F. Cron recently moved his office from the building next to The Pilot. He is now across the street in the building next to Ballard's Drug Store.

Homer P. Rainey Brings Campaign to Rockport

Hard-hitting Homer P. Rainey, a leading candidate for governor, presented his "fight to unshackle the political, economic and educational life of Texas" in a campaign-for-governor speech on the main street of Rockport Monday afternoon. He was introduced by Supt. of Schools Morgan C. Wheeler.

H lashed at candidates who seek the state's highest office on the demerits of an opponent, and not on their own qualifications.

"This year Texans will not be hood-winked by mud-slinging, back-biting, bickering and other political trickery," Rainey declared. "Upon my training, my background and my experience I offer myself as a candidate for governor."

The educator-politician described Texas "as a sleeping giant" which must be loosed "politically, economically and educationally."

"Texas can not come into its own until we break the shackles of the corporations and their cronies who strangled Texas economically," he said. "Benefits from our great storehouse of natural resources must be turned back to the people; the big profiteers must no longer sap our wealth and line with gold the pockets of Wall Street bankers and other special groups."

"Our school system is a shame and disgrace because the monopolistic groups keep down taxes and other sources of revenues," Rainey said. "This gang is the same gang which kicked Homer Rainey out of the University of Texas because he would not knuckle under and become their tool in a scheme to get control of our educational system."

A former professional baseball player, Rainey declared that he was "fighting a people's battle."

"Will Texas continue to be stifled by the corporations and their playmates, the Texas Regulars? Rainey asked. "Or will you rise up with me and break their stranglehold? Will you help Homer Rainey break their death-hold on the state?"

Rainey proposed the abolishment of the poll tax and the lowering of the vote age to 18. He called for a hike in teachers' salaries to assure "the finest school system in the nation."

"When we stop the powerful groups from draining off our wealth to enrich people in other states, then we in Texas can have a higher standard of living," Rainey said.

He came here from Taft and continued his campaign along the Gulf Coast with another speech at Aransas Pass.

John W. Farrell New Editor of Rockport Pilot

John W. Farrell, ex-serviceman, ex-University of Texas law student, and an ex-secretary to Congressman Lyndon Johnson in Austin and Washington, this week assumed editorship of The Pilot. Farrell is taking the place of John H. Latham, who served notice of his resignation two weeks ago to continue fiction writing.

Farrell served as a sergeant with the U. S. Army for two years, received his discharge at Camp Wolters, Texas, and has been living in Austin since. Mr. and Mrs. Farrell are now at home in Rockport.

Chamber of Commerce To Hold Luncheon at Del Mar Grill

The Chamber of Commerce will hold its regular monthly meeting at Del Mar Grill at 12 noon Wednesday, July 3.

It will start on time and will close at 1 p. m. Any one wishing to attend can call Morgan Wheeler at 251 for reservations. These reservations must be made by Monday.

Ready-to-Wear, Inc. To Open Here Soon

Helen White has announced the early opening of Ready To Wear, Inc., a store catering to the needs of women and tots. The new store, to be located on Austin Street next to the Tourist Grill, will feature a complete department in dresses, coats, suits, underwear and sportswear for women and children.

Renovation of the building is already in progress, and Miss White will announce a definite date for the store's opening via The Pilot's pages.

Ingleside Beats All-Stars In Fast Game

Ingleside's hickory wielders started a fifth inning scoring rally that nosed out the Rockport All-Stars in their Monday night game, after the All-Stars had trailed early in the game for a half lead.

The final count was 4-2 in Ingleside's favor, with Pancho Sparks a casualty when Herb Stewart tried to steal second for Ingleside and spiked him. The game was fairly even, and hard played.

Correction
In the home league, we have a correction to make. Jackson Sea Food is not sponsoring a team. The team listed for Jackson is being sponsored by Hinton Fish & Bait. Roy, in other words, is the man trying to tout this nine into a pennant.

CONSTRUCTION NOTES

The Rockport Fish & Oyster Co. has laid foundations for a sixty foot wing to be added to their plant, Albert Collier said this week. The wing will be a Quonset-type addition. It will be 20 feet wide by 60 feet long.

Collier plans to use the wing for oyster shucking and crab meat processing.

Rice Bros. will erect an experimental concrete-type building this week on Austin Street, just south of The Pilot office. Foundations have already been laid, and Walter Brauer, Jr., said actual construction when the walls started up would take about one 8-hour day. The work will probably be completed Friday.

No comprehensive agenda has been released concerning the new type structure, but the firm will be pioneering a special field and developments should allow a full report on their progress in the near future.

The location that formerly housed Lassiter's Tailor Shop is being renovated for a ladies' ready-to-wear business. Located on Austin Street near the Tourist Grill, it will feature a complete stock of women's clothing. Helen White will be the proprietress.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Jacobson sold a lot just north of the post office to J. A. Hill of Harlingen, who plans to build a Spanish style concrete brick home there. The foundations have already been marked off and construction will begin soon.

Sparks Bros. Grocery will move to their new location diagonally across Austin Street from the old one this weekend. The store will be open for business in their new building Monday, July 1. Alterations have been made to ready it for stock during the past few weeks.

Roe, Steirly Will Have Completely Modern Market

Frozen Vegetables, Meats and Shrimp To Be Featured

The Modern Market, Inc., Aransas County's first frozen food and locker plant, will open here Monday, July 1, under the management of Charles A. Roe, who is co-owner of the business with his father-in-law, A. R. Steirly.

The new plant was designed and installed by Morgan & Cook, a Corpus Christi engineering firm. It has 315 lockers and two large storerooms, and is equipped with a York Ammonia System that will remain below zero forty-eight hours after all electricity has been cut off, ample insurance against meat or vegetable spoilage in case the current is cut off during a storm.

The Modern Market, Inc., will occupy the new Steirly Building on Austin Street, a concrete tile structure 70 feet long by 36 feet wide. One of the large storerooms will be used for meats and the other will be used for vegetables. The owners plan to handle frozen meats of all kinds and to freeze shrimp for the wholesale and retail trade.

Modern Market, Inc. is one of the most up-to-date locker freezing plants in the state, and A. R. Steirly said the firm planned to add a fleet of refrigerated trucks to carry their products to market. It can handle 25,000 pounds of frozen shrimp at present, and Mr. Steirly said a cold storage room would be added on the lot next door to the market for commercial fishermen if business warranted.

The plant is the only one this side of Refugio that can freeze seafood in quantities, but at present they will only handle shrimp. The Refugio plant was built for meat curing, but the Modern Market, Inc. will not investigate this line since its primary interest is in seafood.

The firm will handle frozen vegetables, meats, fish, oysters and shrimp for the retail trade, as well as milk, butter and other dairy products. Refrigerated trucks will eventually carry shrimp to the wholesale northern markets. Mr. Steirly said he emphatically was not interested in air freight, and gave sound argument as to why it could never compete with trucks.

Most of the plant's 315 lockers have been rented. There are a few still open, however, and a hint to the wise should be sufficient should anyone want to butcher a beef and store it against the proposed lifting of ceilings from meats of all kinds.

Mr. Roe will manage the new firm. He has been in the retail marketing business for over ten years, and is well known in Aransas County.

Rockport Veterans Return From Sea Voyage to Greece

George Adolphus and Mike Townsend returned to Rockport this week from a four months voyage on the "S. S. Clark Victory" to Peraeus, Greece, and the islands of Syphrus and Taranta, Italy.

The Victory-type ship took a cargo of mules from Houston to the war-torn area, and struck a mine on the return voyage. The ship was taken to Taranta, Italy, for sailing repairs, and brought back to drydock in Maryland.

Adolphus and Townsend quit the ship in Maryland and flew from Baltimore to Houston. Townsend served with the Merchant Marine during the war. Adolphus is a Navy veteran, and served three and a half years in the Pacific. He wanted to see the Mediterranean area, and so signed on with the crew of the "S. S. Clark Victory."

Neither have definite plans for the future, but George Adolphus said he might return to sea in the near future.

Recruiting Caravan Here Friday & Saturday

Heading a silver and white recruiting service caravan, Major William Lee Curry, Air Corps, veteran combat pilot of 46 missions in the southwest Pacific and wearing the Distinguished Flying Cross and Silver Star will arrive in Rockport at 9:00 a. m. The caravan consists of the latest model sound truck with loud speaker equipment, jeep, touring car, walkie talkie radio, 50 caliber machine gun, a 60 millimeter mortar, bazooka, an Air Force tractor and van, plus an Air Force tractor and 40 foot trailer carrying Air Corps exhibits from Kelly Field, Texas.

In charge of the Air Corps section of the caravan and of all air exhibits which have been provided by Kelly Field will be Lt. Earnest T. Lambert and will be assisted by four enlisted men. Lt. Lambert stated, "While here our men will exhibit an operating link trainer, our high flying and summer clothing outfits and an escape kit, a 6 by 6 complete truck cutaway, showing all moving parts of the engine, chassis drive shaft and gears, a 37 millimeter and a 20 millimeter gun, and show typical Air Corps activities. In this new mechanized age of electronics, jet propulsion and atomic energy the Air Corps especially offers technical training that is attracting men of ambition and ability."

An invitation is cordially extended to everyone, regardless of whether they are interested in enlisting in the Army, to visit and inspect all equipment. Movies will be shown each night and the latest popular music and familiar Army marches will be played over the loudspeaker system. "Take a flight in a link trainer, a jeep ride or talk over the walkie talkie," Major Curry suggested.

Other personnel with the unit from Kelly Field will be: M-Sgt. Floyd Van Winkle; Cpl. Willard W. Martin, Cpl. Jerome B. Brown, and 1st Lt. Ernest T. Lambert.

ELECTRIC RATES REDUCED AGAIN!

NOW I CAN DO
STILL MORE
FOR LESS MONEY!

Who Gets the Reduction?

CPL is putting into effect new, reduced electric rates for its residential, commercial, rural and many power customers. A folder giving the new, low rates will be enclosed with the last bill on the old rate.

When New Rates take Effect?

The new rate becomes effective immediately after the customer's meter is read in July, and applies to all consumption of electricity after that time. When the meter is read again in August, the customer will have used a month's electric service at the new rate and will be billed accordingly.

How Much the Reduction Means!

Amount of the rate reduction for any one customer will vary from less than one percent to 17 percent, depending upon a customer's rate classification and amount of electricity used. For the most part, the reduction will benefit customers who are small or average users of electricity.

Why the Price of Electricity
Can go Down Now!

Like other industries, some of CPL's costs of doing business have risen, but those costs have been offset by the tremendous growth of South Texas, increased use of electric service and greater operating efficiencies. So at a time when other prices are going higher, CPL is glad to offer its customers electricity at a still lower price. It has long been a policy of business-minded CPL to reduce electric rates whenever economically possible, thus enabling customers to enjoy the greatest use of electric service for the least amount of money.

CENTRAL POWER AND LIGHT COMPANY

"THE NEW, LOW RATES will enable you to enjoy even more benefits of an ample, dependable, low-cost electric service. Still greater use of my time and labor, saving electricity on farms and in business, and the home in increased profits and efficiency. And for the home in the electric years ahead, there'll be new types of lighting, electric blankets, television, automatic washers and many other electrical conveniences. Plan to day, to live and work electrically tomorrow!"

GEORGIA GOVERNOR ON BAPTIST HOUR NETWORK JULY 7

Governor Ellis Arnall of Georgia will be heard on the Baptist Hour network Sunday morning, July 7, as announced by The Radio Committee, S.B.C., S. F. Lowe, director, Atlanta, Georgia. As the first speaker in this new series on the general theme, "Faith Is the Victory," his subject will be, "Christian Patriotism for the New Day," according to the Atlanta announcement.

Mr. Lowe states further that Governor Arnall, known for his Christian character, his able leadership in national and state affairs, and his effectiveness as a radio speaker is a deacon and Sunday school teacher in his home church.

Other Baptist Hour speakers announced for July are Dr. R. Paul Caudill of Memphis, Tennessee, Dr. W. Douglas Hudgins of Jackson, Mississippi, and Dr. H. H. Hobbs, of Mobile, Alabama.

The Baptist Hour may be heard in Texas at 7:30 a.m. CST over Radio Station KGNC, Amarillo, KPRC, Houston, WFAA, Dallas, and WOAI, San Antonio. Also over radio station KMBU at 5:30 p.m. CST Sundays.

A good while ago, our friend, Rufus Higgs of the Stephenville Empire-Tribune, got to thinking about "the good old days," with the following result:

Cotton production in the old days was a simple matter of calculation—forty acres was good for fifteen or twenty bales, some times more. Taxes were low, living expenses at a minimum and a good buggy horse would sell for more than $100.

A span of mules sixteen hands high would easily sell for four and five hundred dollars.

Everybody went to church in those days; prayer meeting was an event rather than a formality. A political rally attracted crowds from far and near while an ice cream supper was tops in attendance. School and church picnics would ordinarily bring out one hundred per cent co-operation, while a "badger" fight created a sensation.

The man who worked all Spring and Summer—as they did at the turn of the century—would seek a place for diversion after he laid his crop by. He would either go to see his relatives in East Texas, hunt up a camp meeting where horse feed and tie ropes were supplied, or take off on a fishing trip.

If he had been provided with modern-day attractions such as movies he more than likely would have been far more contented to spend a few hours listening to Clark Gable than he would have driving a spavined team back to Hunt County for a visit with his wife's kinfolks.

Many other comparisons could be drawn, of course. Yet oldsters marvel at the progress that has been made and as well as they like to think of the "good old days" it would be a hard matter to get a single one of them to agree for a return of those halcyon days.

The pioneers are proud of the wonderful improvements that have been recorded within the past two decades.

Mrs. Mildred Predgeon and Justyne McGee of San Antonio, were weekend visitors of Mr. and Mrs. John Hawes.

Francis H. "Chick" Latham, a cadet at Texas A. & M., is visiting in Rockport this week. He is taking engineering at A. & M., and is a former para-rooper with the 11th Airborne Division. He said that he hoped to get some kind of job in Rockport and spend the summer here before returning to school in the fall.

Stewart Wendell Post Sends Cecil V. Gray To State Convention

The Stewart Wendell Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars sent Cecil V. Gray as a delegate to the 25th annual encampment of the Texas Veterans of Foreign Wars, at Fort Worth, Texas, June 19, 20 and 21.

The purpose of the convention was to elect officers for the coming year. The meeting was called to order by the commander, Horace Shelton of Austin, Texas. They listened to the reading of about 39 resolutions brought by the various delegates and then started the election of officers.

Henry Perry of Belton, was elected as Commander. Roger Q. Evans was elected as Senior Vice Commander. Dervin Howell, of Littlefield, was elected Junior Vice Commander. Walter J. Gates, of Galveston, was unanimously re-elected as Quartermaster, a post

135 Locker Plants Built In Texas In Eleven Months

Frozen Food Industry Sees 33% Increase In State During Year

College Station, Texas.—Texas now has 403 frozen food locker plants in operation in comparison with 268 eleven months ago, an increase of 33 per cent in less than a year. A recent survey by the BAE's Texas Division of Agricultural statistics showed that 46 of this number are cooperatives, including 26 REA co-ops. Five of the number are branch plants serviced by central systems.

Roy Snyder, extension meat specialist who also supervises a frozen food locker for the Texas A. and M. College, observes several other trends in the locker business besides a rapid expansion in numbers. For one thing, a large number of locker systems have been installing their own small killing plants or abattoirs.

For the last few years frozen food plants have been in their heyday, and rationing increased the popularity of the family locker, Snyder believes. He predicts that as fresh foods become more plentiful, city people are more likely to drop out as customers, buying custom frozen foods in stores rather than processing their own.

As far as technique is concerned, great changes likely are in store in the processing of frozen food. Enzymes, which affect the ripening of fruits and vegetables have been inactivated in the past by steam or boiling water. In the future, they might be inactivated electronically, and thawing may be done the same way. Flash sterilization also may be a new development in the frozen food field, Snyder believes.

A great deal of research remains to be done on the use of salts and seasonings in sausage and other ground meats, and in determining the best kinds of wrappers and containers for frozen foods. A. and M. research workers are investigating both these problems, Snyder says.

Berries Possible Frozen Food Delicacy

College Station, Texas. — If chosen carefully and prepared correctly frozen strawberries will keep their fresh color and flavor long after cold weather begins. Gwendolyn Jones, specialist in food preservation for the A. and M. College Extension Service suggests several steps for successful freezing of strawberries.

Some varieties of strawberries are more suitable for freezing than others. The varieties recommended for Texas include: Klondike, Ranger, Blakemore, and Missionary.

Use only the best berries of the chosen variety. Discard all green, bruised, and overripe berries when sorting and washing. Wash a few at a time in cold water and drain in a colander. Then cap them and either slice them or leave them whole according to preference.

Strawberries, unlike many berries, have better texture and flavor if sweetened with dry sugar before freezing. Miss Jones recommends one cup of sugar to five to eight cups of berries.

Pack them in moisture-vapor-resistant containers and be sure they are covered with juice. In a carton or bag allow about one-half inch for expansion, in glass or tin cans, one inch.

Once the berries are packed, lose no time getting them into the freezer. When using a home freezer, place the packages against the freezing plates or coils, spreading them out so air can circulate between them. After freezing, store at zero degrees F. or lower.

For full directions on home freezing, ask your county home demonstration agent for a copy of B-130 "Freezing Foods for Home Use," or write to Extension Service, College Station, Texas.

WHY 95 ROCKPORT PEOPLE Are Waiting for Telephones

THE REASON IS that it has not been possible to manufacture and install additional equipment fast enough to keep up with the biggest demand for telephones in Rockport's history—despite the most active construction program we've ever undertaken.

On V-J Day, 60 people in Rockport were on the telephone waiting list—a backlog equal to three years of pre-war growth.

Since then, we have gained 25 telephones in Rockport. We have installed as many telephones since V-J Day as we did in an average year before 1935 and 1940.

Yet today, 95 people here still do not have service. Many of them are people who were waiting on V-J Day.

ONE BIG REASON for this is the vast number of new applications. Many of them are from returning servicemen who, as heads of families, are entitled to preference, as also are people whose service qualifies as essential to the health, welfare, and security of the community. As lines and equipment become available in a central office, all other applications are filled in the order in which they are received.

WE ARE HARD AT WORK on an expansion program to enlarge the telephone system here, to put in the switchboards, the cable, the wire, and all the other things needed to make service available to those who want it. The job is so big that it takes time.

In the meantime, we are doing everything possible to s-t-r-e-t-c-h the telephone system here to serve the maximum number of people. We are limiting new residence connections to party lines . . . we are loading the system beyond the capacity for which it was engineered . . . and are resorting to emergency, temporary measures, wherever possible, to install additional telephone equipment ahead of schedule.

Much as we'd like to, we can't tell most people waiting for service just when it will be possible to connect their telephones.

But of this you can be sure—

WE ARE HARD AT WORK. We are doing everything we can to furnish telephone service—at the earliest possible moment—to all who are waiting. If there is anything we can do to make our progress faster, we shall do it.

encouraged. New opportunities will be created for farmers and ranchers to save labor and cut costs by doing more of their work electrically.

Along with the rate reduction, Hardeman said, the rate schedules are being simplified to eliminate some types of rates. The minimum charge applying to residential customers in Rockport has been revised to include 12 kilowatt hours, instead of the previous 10.

Earlier this year electric rates to municipalities for water pumping, sewer pumping, street lighting and miscellaneous purposes were reduced by CPL. These reductions mean an annual saving of about $640 to the city of Rockport.

Hardeman, who is also CPL manager for Fulton and Lamar, said that electric rate reductions would also be effective in those communities.
