France And Britain Speed Up Drive For Air Supremacy

Big Production Schedules Are Being Mapped

New Men And New Money Are Thrown Into Campaign; Big Loan In France Subscribed

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, May 17—New men and new money have quickened the pace of the French-British military alliance's drive for European air mastery.

New men have taken control of Britain's air forces. New money for guns and planes has poured from the pockets of thousands of Frenchmen.

Expansion Geared Up

British air armament expansion has been geared up to the goal of nearly 3,500 first line planes by 1940. France hopes to have 2,800 by that time.

In this way the democratic entente hopes to match phenomenal German plane production which members of parliament have estimated will give Adolf Hitler upwards of 6,000 planes in another year.

Weir Out Of Council

Lord Weir, unofficial advisor on aircraft to the British government since 1935, today followed Viscount Swinton, resigned air secretary, out of Britain's buffeted air council.

Sir Kingsley Wood, the "five-foot live wire" who stepped into Lord Swinton's shoes yesterday, started slashing through official red tape to put plane-making in Britain on a real producing basis.

Loan Is Closed

The French government closed its $140,000,000 national defense loan, oversubscribed on one day.

Britain will concentrate on badly-needed long range bombers. Paradoxically, the present government foresees the day when lessening of European tension may lead to abolition of these lethal machines. But it feels Britain must first be strong enough to make her voice heard and understood in every capital.

NOT HURT SERIOUSLY

HOUSTON, May 17. (AP)—L. G. Thomas, 32, a painter, lost his grip today and plunged from the fourth floor of a downtown building to the pavement of an alley below. At the hospital physicians said he was not hurt seriously.

War Games Are Called Success

By DEVON FRANCIS
Associated Press Aviation Editor

NEW YORK, May 17.—Five days of mock warfare on the most elaborate scale ever undertaken by the general headquarters air force were concluded today, and gray-thatched Frank M. Andrews, its commanding general, announced that the only casualty was a bent propeller.

For 24 hours a day combat planes, which would be called into service instanter if invasion threatened the United States, flew on "missions" from 18 airdromes scattered over six states along the North Atlantic seaboard.

Brought From Wide Area

They had been concentrated here from the far west, the middle west and the south to cope with a theoretical enemy, a coalition of Asiatic and European powers bent on "invading" this continent.

The enemy did invade it, but to the question of who won the war, the umpires put their tongues in

Chief Dunn proclaimed to all: "While I am in the saddle I rule or I resign."

U.S. Embarks Upon Big Naval Policy

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 17. — The United States formally embarked on its formidable "big navy" policy today when President Roosevelt signed into law the $1,090,656,000 fleet expansion bill.

The measure authorizes warship, auxiliary vessel and airplane construction over a 10-year period. Congress enacted it in response to President Roosevelt's advice that "our national defense is . . . inadequate for national security."

Others Being Built

The new ships and planes will be in addition to others now building or already completed under the 1934 Vinson-Trammell act.

The new expansion act is merely authorizing legislation. Specific appropriations are required to put it into effect.

The navy has recommended to President Roosevelt a request to congress for an initial appropriation of about $12,000,000.

Quick Action Favored

Admiral William D. Leahy, chief of operations, said the high command favored commencing without delay two of the cruisers, several Authorities said that an early check indicated no lives had been lost. Most of the injured were negroes.

Residences Are Smashed

The tornado cut a path 100 yards wide through the plantation village of Hillhouse and then zig-zagged across northern Bolivar county, smashing residences and cabins on the Dixie and Tallyho plantations.

Hurt By Flying Timbers

The home of the Partees was levelled. Mrs. Partee and Miss Partee fled. They were injured by flying timbers.

Fine Of $100 Is Assessed Lubbock Man In Court For Parking Ordinance Violation

THE parking meter situation Tuesday again became tense.

A charge in corporation court against Jim Johnson, Lubbock barber, was tried before a jury Tuesday afternoon and Johnson was found guilty of infraction of the ordinance and given the maximum penalty of a fine of $100.

Several days ago the case had resulted in a mistrial when a jury failed to agree.

Notice of appeal was filed and Johnson, was asked to make bond. When a bond posted in the first case was presented to city authorities, Johnson was asked to make a new bond.

Habeas corpus proceedings filed by W. D. Girand, jr., in county court followed and at a hearing before Judge J. J. Dillard, who once ruled the parking meter ordinance unconstitutional, Johnson was ordered released.

Judge Dillard ordered Johnson's release on grounds that he had ruled the ordinance invalid and that the conviction was of no weight. City author-

Confidence For Investors Now Being Sought

Private Power Industry Ready To Give Cooperation If The Government Will Also Act

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 17. — The private power industry, Philip H. Gadsden said today, is ready to give "full cooperation" in expanding plants and creating jobs if the government will restore confidence to utility investors.

Gadsden, who is chairman of the committee of utility executives, testified before the senate appropriations committee in opposition to provisions of the administration's $3,154,000,000 relief and public works bill which, he said, would mean government duplication of private power facilities.

Provision Is Criticized

Gadsden particularly criticized a provision under which, he said, municipalities could lease government-built power plants, repaying 55 per cent of their cost over a 25-year period. He said this provision would be "tantamount to a federal invitation to public agencies to exceed their legal debt limits."

Prior to Gadsden's testimony, Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) offered a substitute for the administration relief bill. Scrapping the "pump priming" features of the administration measure, Vandenberg would allocate $2,160,000,000 for relief during the entire fiscal year, compared with $1,250,000,000 for the first seven months of the year, as provided in the administration measure. Other items in the Vandenberg bill would bring its total to $2,410,000,000.

Under it states would administer relief funds and would be required to put up at least 25 per cent of relief expenditures.

Swirling Flood Hits Refugio

(By The Associated Press)

REFUGIO, May 17.—The Mission river was falling steadily tonight but flood conditions persisted in the southern residential section of this city. One death was attributed to flood-waters.

Nell Johnson, 15, was drowned late today when she stepped into deep water while on the way with her brother-in-law, Johnnie Johnson, an oil company employe, to an oil well submerged in flood-waters three miles from the city.

Houses Under Water

All but two houses in the southern section of the city were under water and the city sewage disposal plant and several residences were submerged in the southwestern portion.

Five hundred feet of highway 44 south of Refugio was out and traffic had been halted.

The Mission river was falling about a foot an hour after it had reached its greatest height in 50 years after a 7-inch rain last night.

On highway 202 west to Beeville, a bridge was out at Medio creek.

Johnson, who also stepped into the deep water, managed to cling to a flood wall and make his way to safety. A searching party found the body of the girl shortly afterward.

Hunt For Lost Plane Delayed By Dense Fog

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, May 17 — Nine persons were believed dead in the fog-shrouded wreckage of a big transport plane somewhere in the Sierra Madre mountains 50 miles or less from Los Angeles.

Five hundred men pressed the search for the big airliner today but dense fog balked them almost at every turn. Aerial search was utterly useless.

Unreported Since Monday

The plane, a new Lockheed Electra, unreported since 2 p. m., yesterday was on the first leg of a delivery flight to St. Paul, Minn., where it was to have been placed in transport service by Northwest Airlines may have crashed against a mountain peak before reaching Daggett, where it was to pick up the radio beam and proceed on to Las Vegas.

The area in which the plane was last reported was the scene of two transport crashes that killed 18 persons, within a 16-day period only 14 months ago.

Children Were Aboard

Among passengers on the missing plane were the two small children of Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Salisbury of St. Paul. Salisbury, an engineer for NWA had brought his family here while he oversaw final construction work on the transport. The children were Richard, 3 years, and Judith 2 1-2 months.

Bill Increasing War Pensions Gets Approval

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 17 — The senate passed and sent to the White House today a bill increasing pensions of certain aged and disabled veterans of the Spanish war, the Philippine insurrection and the China relief expedition.

The bill provides for pensions of $60 a month for veterans 65 years old, or older, who served 90 days, or were discharged for disability before 90 days service.

Range From $20 To $60

Present pensions for disabled veterans range from $20 to $60 a month, depending on the degree of disability. Pensions based on age range from $30 a month at 62 years to $60 at 75 years.

The measure also would increase from $72 to $100 a month the pensions to veterans whose condition necessitates an attendant.

About 26,000 veterans will be affected, pension officials estimated. The cost of the additions was estimated at $5,738,200 a year.

Parole System Draws Attack

(By The Associated Press)

KANSAS CITY, May 17.—J. Edgar Hoover, director of the federal bureau of investigation, sharply indicted the nation's parole system tonight as heavily responsible for an annual crime cost of $120 to every man, woman and child.

"Some are often too jealous of the life of the killer and not thoughtful enough of the life that has been ended," Hoover told the General Federation of Women's clubs in demanding a rigid parole system based on "the protection of the public."

Something Is Wrong

"It would seem obvious that there must be something wrong with correctional measures when we see the same faces so many times in the marching armies of the underworld," Hoover said.

"Of the 520,153 persons whose case histories were studied in the federal bureau of investigation during the past year following the receipt of their fingerprint records, 149,091 possessed previous criminal histories, totaling 356,675 previous convictions. Of the 13,602 desperate, confirmed criminals listed in the public enemy file of the federal bureau of investigation, 30 per cent have been the recipients of clemency not only once but, in many

Oil Industry Has New Robot Which Drills Well Two Miles Deep By Pushing Button

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

TULSA, May 17.—The oil industry has a new robot which digs wells two miles deep, automatically, with three push buttons.

About the size of an automobile, the new machine was shown at the International Petroleum exposition here today. Its job is to hold and operate the mile or more of drill pipe, weighing up to 75 tons, that bores a well.

It does not displace any of the human crew, but does what no man has done in drilling a well. It gets rid of the effects of oil well jitters.

These jitters are a bouncing movement of the huge length of drilling pipe. They are known in oil parlance as the "bouncing bit."

There are two explanations. One is that pipe a mile long and rotating, bends at times in rhythmic waves. The other is that the bit slips over rocks in

Governor Earle And Jones Are Far In Front

Gifford Pinchot Concedes His Defeat; Puddler Jim Davis Leads For GOP Nomination

(By The Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA, May 18. (Wednesday) — Candidates bearing the endorsement of John L. Lewis and the CIO fell steadily behind early today as returns from yesterday's primary voting piled up for the rival Democratic Pennsylvania primary slate backed by the state committee.

Meanwhile, 72-year-old Gifford Pinchot, whose fight for the Republican gubernatorial nomination also was a feature of the sensational primary campaign, conceded defeat by Judge Arthur H. James.

Takes Lead From Start

Taking the lead from the start, Governor George H. Earle, Democratic state committee-endorsed candidate for the U. S. senate nomination, ran up a big margin over Mayor S. Davis Wilson of Philadelphia.

Earle's running-mate, Charles Alvin Jones of Pittsburgh, though showing less strength on early returns than did the governor, held his lead over Thomas Kennedy for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Split Over Selection

CIO Leader Lewis and U. S. Senator Joseph F. Guffey backed Kennedy and Mayor Wilson against the Democratic state committee's ticket after a split between Guffey and the committee over the committee's slating of Jones for governor.

Only the day before yesterday's balloting, national Democratic party chairman James A. Farley urged Pennsylvania Democrats to unite, in the interests of harmony in the November general election, on Earle for senator and Kennedy for governor.

Reports Are Received

Returns from scattered sections, but principally from the big Philadelphia voting territory, gave:

Democratic senator:

Earle 259,619; Wilson 83,939 in 2323 of the state's 8,075 precincts.

Democratic governor:

Jones 205,305; Kennedy 142,046

Texan Upholds Stronger Navy

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, May 17.—America must be prepared to defend herself against "international outlaws and land-grabbing dictators," U. S. Senator Tom Connally said here tonight in a speech prepared for delivery before the Sons of the American Revolution.

Connally, president of the Texas society of Sons of the American Revolution, said "in the true interest of peace and for the security of our people to live under free institutions and the processes of democracy, we must have a naval force capable of destroying an enemy before he lands on our soil. The building by the United States of an adequate navy involves no threat of aggression."

Is Not Going Fascist

The senator declared "the United States is not going fascist. The United States is not going communistic."

Turning from defenses to internal affairs, Connally said "while the United States has been subjected to great stress, while at times it seemed that the tasks were too gigantic for the government and the people to master, they are being mastered and we are now standing on firmer ground. We can see the light ahead. We see approaching the symbols of restoration and recovery."

Connally reviewed the history of the American Democratic movement, pointing out that the revolution was "a protest against economic tyranny at well as political tyranny."

OH, THOSE CALORIES

JUST as we were delighted in thinking over the declaration made by the National Dairy council that ice cream was lower in caloric content than other summer desserts, an interested reader called our hand on our addition. Tuesday morning in this column there were figures to the extent that raspberry sherbet contains 255 calories, gelation 218 and ice cream 200, which would tend to bring joy to the heavyweight's heart because who wants sherbet when she can have ice cream?

The reader, who looked up statistics in a calory book, suggests that the average dish of ice cream contains 239 calories, sherbet 107, gelatin 130 and ice 130. Which sounds right, when you think that an ice is mainly fruit juice and a little sugar and ice cream contains milk, eggs and sugar.

Will somebody come to the rescue? If we can find dietitians who add the way we do we'll stick to the ice cream.

There's a Good Reason You're Constipated!

When there's something wrong with you, the first rule is: get at the cause. If you are constipated, don't fiddle around with make-shift remedies. Find out what's giving you the trouble!

Chances are it's simple if you eat only what most people do: meat, bread, potatoes. It's likely you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It's a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a bowel movement.

If that fits you, your ticket is a crisp crunchy breakfast cereal—Kellogg's All-Bran. It contains the "bulk" you need plus the great intestinal tonic, vitamin B₁.

Twenty-Five Attend

Twenty-five women attended a luncheon meeting of the 1933 Study club in the Chimayo room of the Hilton hotel with Mrs. G. H. Ater, president, in charge. Mrs. Henry Turner was program leader.

Miniature maps of Texas with scenes of bluebonnets, painted by Mrs. W. S. McDonald and her daughter, Lois Jane, were plate favors. A bowl of pink and blue larkspur and slender burning tapers centered the T-shaped table and two pots of hydrangeas were placed at the end.

Officers for next year were introduced and the following program was presented:

Vocal solo, "Texas" (Waghorne), Mrs. Lottie Hilton, accompanied by Mrs. David S. Martin; piano solo, "Echoes of Colorado" (Davies), Mrs. Martin; readings from Texas poets, Mrs. Sam J. McFarland, guest speaker; three Texas novelists, Miss Margaret Turner, guest speaker; group singing of Texas songs, with Mrs. T. E. Hendrick at the piano.

Dance Is Given

Kappa Gamma sorority entertained with an annual spring dance Monday night at the Hilton hotel, naming as honor guests twelve new members.

The Hilton hotel ballroom, where the dance was given, resembled a jungle setting with gray, brown and green moss draped about the room and a grass hut, miniature monkeys and parrots and paper cannibals and palm trees adding interest to the scene.

Present Floor Show

Pupils from the Sproule School of the Dance presented a floor show. Numbers included a ballet dance by Joeann Bailey and tap dances and songs by Joan and Barbara Hale with Lyndell White at the piano.

Ned Bradley's orchestra played. There were about 200 guests.

Miss Bonnie K. Dysart retired as chairman of the International Relations group of the American Association of University Women Monday after a two-year office and Mrs. R. A. Studhalter was introduced as incoming chairman, Monday night.

The group met at the home of Mrs. R. E. McDonald, 2517 Nineteenth street, with Mesdames H. D. Woods and William Dingus and Miss Lucille Robinson as assistant hostesses.

Dr. M. E. Ogdon, associate professor of government at Texas Technological college, spoke on "British Foreign Policy."

Refreshments were served to twenty.

Mrs. Talmadge Sparkman of Littlefield, who was Miss Winona Pardue before her marriage, was honored with a gift shower at a meeting of the First Baptist Blanche Rose Walker circle Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. W. F. Fry, 2621 Twenty-first street. Mesdames Creek Brown and S. A. Beard were assistant hostesses.

Preceding the social hour, Mrs. Fry taught a lesson from "The Re-Birth of a Nation" and devotional was led by Mrs. G. W. Scott.

A bowl of red and white carnations centered the refreshment table in the dining room where guests were served after a table of gifts was presented to Mrs. Talmadge.

Attending were Mesdames C. Murphrey, J. D. Stoneham, G. V. Pardue, Scott, C. L. Goodnight, Sam A. Bailey, C. P. Herring, H. A. Watson, R. V. Sandlin, R. H. Ewing, W. R. Kelly, J. W. Kerr, U. V. Miss Queenelle Sawyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Sawyer of Brownfield, was among the 132 women students honored by Texas Technological college Tuesday evening. A junior arts and science student, she is secretary-elect of the college student council, president-elect of Ko Shari social club, member of the Forum honorary society, and she has a B plus scholastic average.

Shower Given For June Bride-Elect

Fifty-five guests called at the new home of Mrs. Allie M. Dyer, 2020 Seventeenth street, from 4 until 5:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon to compliment Miss Charlotte Ratliff who will be married here June 7 to Russell F. Redding of LaGrange, Ga. The hostess was assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Troy Dale, in entertaining.

Miss Ratliff and her mother, Mrs. John L. Ratliff, and Mesdames Dyer and Dale stood in the receiving line. Others in the house party were Mesdames George Langford, Jimmie Wilson, F. R. Friend, Jeanne Winn, Ed McKeever and Miss Zella Riegel. Members of the house party wore pansy corsages. The honoree wore a twin print dress with royal blue and white accessories.

The refreshment table was topped with glass over yellow, white and red flowers. Mrs. McKeever poured punch. Lighted white tapers in three-pronged candelabra burned on either side of the dining room entrance. Mesdames Wilson and Friend assisted in serving.

The occasion was a Wedgewood china and sterling silver shower. The gifts, having arrived at the house earlier in the day, were opened by the bride-elect in the presence of the house party before the guests arrived. The gifts were displayed in a room where bowls of sweet peas, pansies and other cut flowers were decorations. Mrs. Winn presided in the room.

Pink and blue flowers decorated a pink bedroom where guests registered. Miss Riegel presided at the bride's book. The living room was decorated with vari-colored verbenas in crystal bowls and hydrangeas.

No Mason And Dixon Line To Divide Blues And Grays At Big Gettysburg Reunion

GETTYSBURG, Pa., May 17. (AP)—There will be no "Mason and Dixon line" to divide the blues and grays at their final reunion on the battlefield of Gettysburg.

"There will be no embarrassing moments for any veteran," proclaimed Chairman John S. Rice of the anniversary commission today.

Rice explained his statement was prompted by queries from several hundreds of veterans—northern and southern — about "equalization and treatment of veterans."

Approximately 2,500 veterans are expected to attend the 75th anniversary of the Civil war battle, June 29 to July 4.

An anatomy class of the University of Washington was drafted to help preserve the skeleton of Tusko, an elephant whose bones and hide weighed three tons.

MONTGOMERY WARD

Final Review Of Year For ROTC Engineering Unit At Tech Set For Today

Slaton Youth To Receive Award

The final review of the year of the Reserve Officers Training corps engineering unit at Texas Technological college will be conducted at 5:15 o'clock this afternoon in the area east of the main engineering building, and awards for the year will be presented.

The public is invited, said Lt. Herrol J. Skidmore, assistant professor of military science and tactics.

Slaton Youth Highest

James W. Turnbow, cadet first lieutenant from Slaton, received the highest student honor in the unit and will receive the saber presented by the Reserve Officers association to the outstanding military student of the advanced class. Winner of the award was determined upon basis of scholastic grade in military work, and in other college work, appearance, rank in the unit, attendance, interest shown, and proficiency.

Carroll L. Claitor, cadet corporal from Petersburg, will receive the medal presented by the military department for the greatest advancement along military lines by a first year military student.

Brownfield Youth Awarded

K. Lanse Turner, cadet private from Brownfield, has been named winner of the medal presented by the military department to the student excelling in rifle marksmanship.

Dean O. V. Adams of the engineering division will present those awards.

The following cadets have been designated honor military students for the school year 1937-38:

Second year basic course students—William Noel Bryant, Wheeler; Robert L. Jackson, Clinton S. Walker, Lubbock; Ross W. Dowdy, Sterley; Truman Nowell, Athens; and Turnbow.

First year basic course students—Howard C. Allen, Lubbock; Byron J. Bennett, Loraine; John R. Brooks, Tulia; Claitor; Norman C. Foote, Longview; Jess M. Love, Brownwood; Lee Perry, jr., Abilene; Wayne Rash, Sunray; William R. Selby, Arlington, Va.

"Those students have made "A" scholastic average or higher this year. They are to be congratulated for their diligence and application in their military work," said Lt. Skidmore.

The band, in uniform, will play at the review. The approximately 112 members of the R. O. T. C. unit will parade.

Increase In Water Pumpage For April Reported Here

In city water pumpage, an increase of more than 30,000,000 gallons, or more than 50 per cent, was disclosed in reports for April as compared with the same month only one year ago, D. D. Martin, city auditor, said Tuesday.

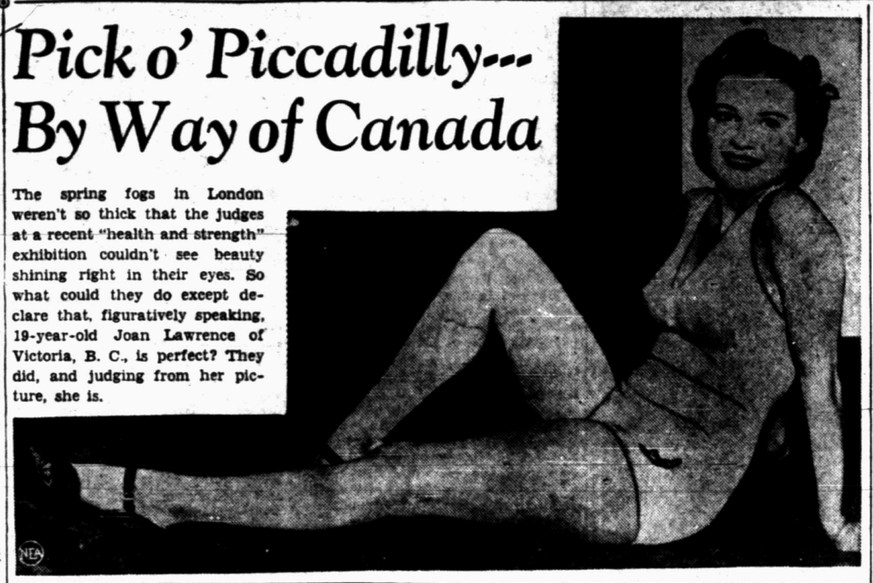

While a portion of the gain may be attributed to the fact that weather conditions last April called for the use of more water than in April, 1937, most of the gain was due to the increased number of users, he believes.

Reports show that total pumpage for the past month was 88,291,000 gallons, comparing with 57,855,000 gallons in April, 1937. The increase is 30,436,000 gallons.

Significant also was the fact that the maximum for any one day was 4,094,000, which is just a little more than 500,000 gallons short of the peak for any one day during the worst of heat waves in the summer of 1937. The figures, in Martin's opinion, indicate the virtual certainty that daily peaks in the summer will be well above 5,000,000.

However, pumpage from four new water wells, according to city officials, insures a supply well in excess of demand.

Pick o' Piccadilly--- By Way of Canada

The spring fogs in London weren't so thick that the judges at a recent "health and strength" exhibition couldn't see beauty shining right in their eyes. So what could they do except declare that, figuratively speaking, 19-year-old Joan Lawrence of Victoria, B. C., is perfect? They did, and judging from her picture, she is.

History Undergoes Great Transformation At The Hands Of Studes At Texas Tech

The Spanish Armada was a "dance somewhat like the rhumba, which originated during the time of Queen Elizabeth."

History has undergone a considerable transformation at the hands of several freshmen students of Texas Technological college.

The Joke Backfires

Perhaps the students thought their papers would not be graded. One wrote:

"Twinkle, twinkle, little star
How I wonder if these are Ever read."

The paper was read, at the expense of the student's grade.

These answers were found in freshman history examination papers:

"Mohammedanism is an island in the Mediterranean sea on which a monastery was built."

"The Boston tea party was the first social gathering of the women of Boston at which tea was served, and the custom of serving tea has come down to the present day."

"The Pilgrim fathers settled at Plymouth Rock because the winters were very cold, and the rock was big enough to give protection from the icy north wind."

"Martin Luther started drinking a lot in order to forget his troubles, which was mostly a sickly, nagging wife. After a while he found he was having headaches all the time from so much indulgence. He couldn't sleep much, and he saw visions from so much drinking and whoopee."

The Navigation Laws

"The Navigation laws were passed to forbid the people raising certain crops and when they did raise them, they had to see all the returns navigate to the government."

"When Louis XIV invaded Holland, the Dutch cut the dikes and serfdom flooded the country, driving the Frenchmen out."

The Diet of Worms was referred to as the "Feast of Worms."

The "City of God" was described as a magnificent and beautiful city located at Constantinople and "a place where there is no sin, sorrow, no sickness, where those who have behaved properly will rest in peace."

One student apparently only wanted to fill up space, thinking his paper would not be read. He wrote, "There was a big fat woman sitting right in front of me at the artist course last night, and if there hadn't been arms to prevent it, she would have spread over two seats. But to make matters worse, she had on one of those half-pint hats with a ten-gallon brim, so I couldn't see the stage much less the dancers. I paid a perfectly good dollar for that activity ticket, and I wanted to see the performance. There ought to be a law against fat women and big hats, especially in theaters."

Others predicted weather conditions and one wrote "Happy Easter egg to you, in case you happen to see this."

The grade "F" often surprises the student who has written "fillers," saying "Aw, they never read them, anyway."

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Senior Day Is Set Thursday

School's out! At least the "drudgery" of attending classes is over for Senior High school's 252 seniors, who will be graduated Monday night.

Thursday morning the senior flag will be raised on the school flag pole officially to open Senior day. The flag, which is old rose and silver, class colors, will fly all day. From the flag raising the seniors will go to Buffola Springs for an all-day outing.

Checking out for seniors began Monday afternoon and was completed Tuesday afternoon. Seniors received all their grades Monday afternoon and Tuesday morning. Tuesday afternoon they were given credit cards after they had been checked to make sure they had enough credits to be graduated. Each senior was given two tickets for the commencement sermon and graduation exercises.

At 8 o'clock Sunday students will meet at the Senior High auditorium to practice for the Sunday afternoon and Monday night services. Each student is supposed to get his cap and gown Friday and Saturday.

Other students will continue in regular classroom work until Thursday afternoon when their examinations will begin. All examinations will be completed by Friday at noon and the afternoon will be spent in checking out books, turning in locker keys, and getting final arrangement made. No classes will be held Friday afternoon, but students will report at 1 o'clock to get their checking done.

Letters From Lubbock School Children To Go To All Corners Of World By Airmail

Lubbock school children yesterday joined in the air mail test pick up, with more than 300 letters from five schools being sent the chamber of commerce for mailing.

Letters came from Central Ward, George M. Hunt, K. Carter, Junior high school and Dupre. Largest number came from the Junior High school.

The English class of Mrs. Neuel Bryan, of the junior school, sent in 94 letters.

Letters were addressed to all sections of the country and some to foreign lands. One boy wrote to Paris, addressing his letter to the school system there. Another wrote asking purchase price of an article.

Shirley Temple, the child movie star, will receive at least two letters. Alice Faye, another cinema star, is to receive a letter.

Fairbanks, Alaska, is the address on one envelope; Sapbourg, Norway, another, while Captain Frank Hawks at Battle Creek, Mich. is to be favored with a letter from a fan. The superintendent of schools of New York City is to receive a letter also.

While some of the letters were of a rather humorous trend, the writers for the most part were serious in their intentions. One wrote that this was the first air mail to go from Lubbock and he would appreciate the return of the envelope and the letter.

More letters are expected to be sent the chamber of commerce office Wednesday, it was said. Writers paid for the stamps, but the chamber of commerce is providing envelopes.

BUILDING DESTROYED

CLOVIS, N. M., May 17. (AP)—Fire of undetermined origin destroyed a grain storage building of the Roberts Seed Co., at Farwell, Texas, 10 miles east of here early today. Loss was estimated at $16,000. M. C. Roberts, owner, said the loss was covered by insurance.

A lease for 20,881 years is held on a farm in the old parish of Kirkhill, Scotland, and is without parallel.

Besides easing functional pains of menstruation, Cardui aids in building up the whole system by helping women to get more strength from their food.

Johnston Asks Senate Place

WASHINGTON, May 17. (AP)—The decision of Gov. Olin D. Johnston of South Carolina to run for senator furnished new evidence today that the Roosevelt administration is trying actively to send to congress more southern supporters of the president's policies.

The 41-year-old Johnston, an avowed "New Dealer," announced on the White House steps that he would oppose renomination of the senate's Democratic dean, Ellison D. Smith, a frequent critic of administration legislation.

Long-Time Member

Smith, who is 72, has been in the senate since March 4, 1909, and heads the important agriculture committee.

Of the governor's announcement, Smith said only:

"I think the people of South Carolina will make all the comment that's necessary."

Mr. Roosevelt himself gave no public indication of support for Johnston, but it was on the president's invitation that the governor visited the White House yesterday.

Shortly before their conference, Mr. Roosevelt had luncheon with Gov. E. D. Rivers of Georgia, also an administration backer.

Speculation Aroused

The meeting quickly gave rise to speculation that he would enter the democratic senatorial race against Senator Walter F. George, who has not agreed with all the president's policies.

The south is not the only region in which the administration is coming to the aid of the president's followers. Mr. Roosevelt has expressed his admiration for Senators Barkley of Kentucky, Duffy of Wisconsin, and McAdoo of California, all of whom are seeking renomination.

Borger Soloist Cops First In Contests

Joedene Propst of Borger, tenor soloist and a Donald Duck imitator, captured first honors in the amateur contests sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars at the Senior High school auditorium Tuesday night. The auditorium, with a seating capacity of approximately 1,500, was nearly filled.

Propst was awarded first prize of $35.

Other winners were: T. E. Landreth of San Angelo, top spinner, second prize of $20; Amos Caldwell of Sweetwater, concert pianist, third prize of $10; and Bert Elliott, student of Texas Technological college, singer of popular songs, fourth prize of $5.

The program lasted two and a half hours. Masters of ceremonies were Babe Kennedy and Joe Scott.

New Robot

the side of the well.

The human oil well digger sees this bouncing on a dial. But the dial needle swings to and fro over a range of ten tons and vibrates so fast the operator cannot see clearly the exact weight on bottom.

The new robot has no such trouble. He has no eyes but "feels" the true weight of bit on bottom through a little hydraulic piston.

The three push buttons press down, lift up and stay steady. The "press" button makes the robot increase the weight on the bit at the bottom of the well. The "lift" button makes him draw the drilling pipe up.

The "steady" button causes him to hold the pressure of the bit automatically unchanging, through jitters and through the varying degrees of hardness in rocks.

W. A. Loomis, designing engineer, of the Oil Company Specialties company, Coffeyville, Kas., who has worked on oil rigs with the sweat rolling down his face for many a year, sits in an easy chair at the exposition, with the three push buttons on a board the size of a small envelope in one hand.

With one finger on the buttons he shows how easy it is to operate the robot.

A man can put one hand on this robot and with the strength of his arm lift the tons of drill pipe in the well. Oil men scarcely believe their eyes, Mr. Loomis said, when they see this stunt.

The lifting part of the robot is a screw jack. In working it is motor driven.

This robot in tests has drilled wells down to 8,000 feet, and been subjected to the handling of 36 different crews.

Lost Plane

was at the controls and Fred Whittemore of St. Paul, the co-pilot.

To Accept Delivery

Whittemore, vice-president and operations manager for NWA, was to have accepted delivery of the plane at Las Vegas and taken the controls for the remainder of the flight to St. Paul.

Shortly before the takeoff Pilot Willey conferred with Pilot L. D. Carlson of the Western Air Express, telling him he planned to fly to Las Vegas by way of Mint canyon. It was in that area that today's search was concentrated, but the hunt was extended into Soledad, Boquet and San Francisquito canyons.

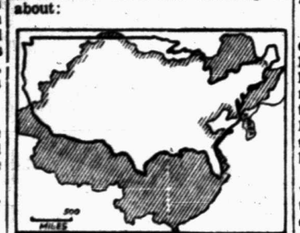

EX-CONVICT IS HELD

NEW YORK, May 17. (AP)—A scar-faced ex-convict, arrested because detectives thought he resembled an artist's conception of the kidnaper of 10-year-old Charles Matteon of Tacoma, Wash., was questioned at length here tonight.

Six Maps Tell All That's Behind The Far Eastern War

(By Associated Press Feature Service)

Japan drives deeper into China—and the maze of Oriental names becomes more confusing. But don't give up just because what you thought was a Chinese province turns out to be a Japanese general. Here is all you need to know to understand what the shooting is about:

1 China would be a pretty big country to try to conquer all in one piece. This map shows how it compares in size with the United States. Statistics: Greater China, 4,314,156 square miles; the United States, 2,973,776 square miles.

2. Three large sections, however, don't belong to China Proper. Russia controls Sinkiang and Mongolia; Japan already has taken Manchoukuo, North China and an area around Shanghai; Tibet is more of less independent.

3. Tibet and the Sovietized areas are not much good, anyway—mostly mountains and desert. Soil and climatic conditions, this map shows, restrict farming mainly to China Proper and the Japanese-controlled areas.

4. Known mineral resources, too, are all in the eastern third of China—considerable coal, some iron and most of the world's antimony and tungsten. If there are minerals in the north and west, nobody has found them.

5. The result, naturally, is that most of the people live in China Proper and in the Japanese-controlled areas. A section of the eastern coastal plain supports nearly a tenth of the world's population, while the western part of China is about as thickly settled as Utah.

6. The location of China's farm land, minerals, people and rivers adds up to this: Chinese trade—the thing Japan is after—flows through a few key cities of the coastal plain: Peiping, Shanghai, Hankow, Canton. Whoever holds these holds China.

their cheeks and grinned. Evidently nobody won, but daily communiques described terrific losses by the hostile "black" forces.

More Planes Necessary

A final communique, embodying the findings of the eight officers who acted as umpires, advanced the belief that more long range planes were necessary to proper air defense of the nation and that a great communication network to transmit warning signals be established against the possibility of air raids.

General Andrews commented that the games, in which almost 300 airplanes participated, had provided a practical trial of the country's state of readiness and training.

Colonel W. G. Kilner suggested a warning net 150 miles deep in every direction from any military objective of an enemy nation to give pursuit airplanes time to intercept raiders.

Dupree Speaks To Graduates

SLATON, May 17. (Special) — George W. Dupree, Lubbock attorney, was the principal speaker here tonight at commencement exercises for 40 members of the graduating class of Slaton Senior High school.

David Lemon, superintendent of the school, was master of ceremonies.

Program For Affair

After an invocation by Rev. J. O. Quattlebaum, pastor of the First Methodist church, Lucille Savell delivered the salutatory. Musical numbers were: piano solo by Milton Kessel, a senior; vocal solo by Elizabeth Baldwin, a senior; piano solo by Gilbert Willhite; piano solo by Wayne Catching.

Kathryn Whitehead delivered the valedictory. E. R. Legg, president of the board of trustees, presented diplomas and Joe Webb, principal of the high school, presented other awards.

"Frontier" Is Subject

"Frontier" was the subject discussed by Dupree. He pointed out that boys and girls of today have as broad a frontier as did their forefathers. He stressed the importance of persons thinking for themselves, the appreciation of beauty, and the ability to meet competition.

"The world needs peace," he said, "and more people who live, act, and teach peace."

Former Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti, independent Democratic gubernatorial candidate and chief charge-maker of a Democratic fight that knew no quarter, ran a poor third to Jones and Kennedy.

Confusion In Voting

Heavy voting at a late hour contributed to confusion that led to some delay in counting in big districts after a day that brought out charges of irregularities in Philadelphia.

Long before poll-closing time, at 8 p. m., Eastern standard time, as balmy weather encouraged a heavy turn-out among the 4,000,000 eligible voters, there were accusations of irregularities—particularly among Republicans in Philadelphia.

Victor Blanc, representing Margiotti, said nearly 14,000 in Philadelphia who changed their registration from Republican to Democrat to vote for Margiotti were refused ballots.

Election officials, he charged, "couldn't find" their registration cards.

Aside from being a test of power for Lewis and his Committee for Industrial Organization, the primary also marked a battle between the C.I.O. and the American Federation of Labor, whose Pennsylvania units urged defeat of C.I.O.-endorsed candidates.

Demo Hopes For Harmony In Pennsylvania Are Raised

WASHINGTON, May 17. (AP) — The early elimination of former Governor Gifford Pinchot from the Republican primary race in Pennsylvania raised administration hopes of Democratic harmony in the keystone state in November, even before the final outcome on the Democratic side of the picture was known deminitely.

Fears in administration quarters of a bolt by the labor followers of Lieutenant Gov. Thomas Kennedy to Pinchot, had the latter been nominated, and Kennedy defeated, are generally believed to have prompted intervention by national Democratic Chairman Farley in the Pennsylvania party primaries.

With Pinchot out of the picture, the chance for success of administration post-primary efforts to patch up a conflict within Democratic ranks are believed by most observers to have brightened, regardless of whether Kennedy or Charles A. Jones, state organization candidate, is the Democratic gubernatorial nominee.

auxiliaries and "some" of the 950 airplanes the measure authorizes.

Battleships were not included in Leahy's first request, because the navy has two already on the ways, congress has provided for a start on two others and Mr. Roosevelt asked for the beginning of the fifth and sixth in a deficiency appropriation request sent to congress April 28.

The expansion act authorizes 46 warships and 26 auxiliary vessels, aside from the 950 planes.

Specifically, in fighting ships, it contemplates three battleships, two 20,000-ton aircraft carriers, nine cruisers, 23 destroyers and nine submarines.

The battleships may be of 45,000 tons, larger than any ever built, if the president determines that the interests of national defense so require.

The bayou was out of its banks from Addicks to Katy, being a half mile or more wide in many places. Water was from a few inches to two feet deep over farms in the area after a rain that measured 6.25 inches here and 9.5 inches at Katy.

Jap Infantrymen Move Into Position To Storm Walls Of Battered Suchow

Heavy Artillery Smashing City

SHANGHAI, May 18. (Wednesday) (AP) — Japanese infantrymen moved into position today to storm the walls of shell-battered Suchow, heart of newly-unified China's resistance to invasion.

Two columns of Japanese infantry were reported only five miles west and south of the strategic railway junction, ready to advance as soon as artillery fire reached its defenses.

Walls Are Hammered

From mountains to the southwest, big guns hammered walls of the besieged city which was the base of the Chinese army of 400,000 defending the vital east central front.

Casualties among Chinese troops were believed heavy.

Japanese declared their air bombs, shells and tanks were pounding Chinese into a state of "pitiful confusion." Japanese warplanes were said to be machine-gunning Chinese retreating in complete disorder.

Quick Fall Predicted

Japanese commanders predicted fall of Suchow within 24 hours.

From Chinese quarters, however, came assertions that the situation at Suchow was serious, but not critical, with Chinese taking positions against what were termed "raiding expeditions" against the Lunghai railroad west of Suchow.

Fall of Suchow, junction of the Tientsin-Pukow and the east-west Lunghai railways, would give Japanese control of the Tientsin-Pukow for its full length, from conquered Tientsin to the north of Pukow, across the Yangtze river from Nanking.

Would Link Forces

It would link Japan's North China conquest with the conquered Shanghai-Nanking Yangtze river area and force Chinese armies to the west, where guerilla and communist troops have their strongholds.

Japanese expressed the hope that capture of Suchow would crush at one blow the huge Chinese army which handed Japan its first major defeat in modern times at Taierhchwang April 6.

One reason you hear CLEARLY...

Whether you're talking across the street or to San Francisco, it doesn't "just happen" that you hear clearly and easily over the telephone. One reason you can do it: Western Electric telephones, precision manufactured for the entire Bell System, are the same all over the country. You might say they're "tuned" to each other, somewhat like radios to a broadcasting station.

If telephones and equipment weren't uniform, voices might not be clear. It would be vastly more difficult for us to give you the good service at low cost that you have come to expect.

Forfeit To Hobbs Tuesday Night Leaves Lubbock Half Game Behind Spudders

Miller's Strong Protest Halts Game In 5th

(Special To The Avalanche)

HOBBS, N. M., May 17.—Belligerent protest of Manager Hack Miller over an alleged balk in the fifth inning of the Hobbs-Lubbock game tonight led Umpire "Iron" Andrews to forfeit the contest to Hobbs.

Miller was pitching at the time with the Boosters leading 15 to 5. Andrews called a balk on the big Hubber pilot and when he refused to accept the decision Hobbs was given the game.

Charley Bryan started on the hill for Lubbock but was driven to the showers in less than an inning. Five runs were marked up on Bryan and Clovis Bridwell, his successor, in the first frame.

The Boosters continued to belt Bridwell and Miller took over pitching duties. Hogan was the starting Hobbs hurler but was relieved by Grover Miller in the first half of the fifth.

Charley Rey and Frank Hargroves each pounded a home run. Hargroves' roundtripper came in the fifth with one on before the game was called.

Boyd Watkins and Joe Gedzius had hit two-baggers for Lubbock.

Midland Holds Wink In Check To Keep Title Chase Close

MIDLAND, May 17. (Special)—Midland kept the race for leadership in the West Texas-New Mexico league close tonight by knocking over Wink for the second successive night, 9 to 8.

Arkie Byrd's double in the ninth with two on base shoved over the tying and winning runs.

Wink had taken the lead in the fifth inning with a three-run uprising and added two more in the seventh. Midland's three markers in the eighth put them on the Spudders' heels and Ferguson yielded the winning run in the final frame.

Frankie Nelson started for Midland but gave way to Tommie Warren who finished and received credit for the victory. Ferguson went the route for Wink.

Austin Hi Girl Smashes Two Swim Marks

TEMPLE, May 17. (AP)—Jane Dillard, Austin high school girl, tonight bettered both the 100-yard and 100-meter American women's breaststroke swimming records for the short course.

Her time for the 100-yard event was a minute and 14 and eight-tenths of a second and for the 100 meter a minute and twenty-three and two-tenths seconds.

Her mark for the 50-yards was not officially timed but was unofficially caught at 33.6 seconds, the record attempt made in the Temple YMCA pool.

Miss Dillard was brought here by Tex Robertson, University of Texas swimming coach. Each event was timed by three separate watches. Application was made immediately to the AAU for recognition of the records.

The 100-yard record is 1:18.5 set by Katherine Rawls of Miami Beach, C. C., in 1937. The 100-meter mark is 1:28.8 by Agnes Geraghty of New York, set in 1936.

Jimmy Foxx Thinks Red Sox Will Hold Onto American Loop Lead; Age Is No Drawback

CHICAGO, May 17. (AP) — Jimmy Foxx thinks the Boston Red Sox can be compared to a bottle of good wine—getting better with age and improving in "wallop."

FOXX

The Red Sox, on whom Owner Thomas Yawkey has spent some $3,000,000 or so trying to win a pennant, have been labeled the "Gold Platers," "Richsox," "Moneybags" etc., and on this subject Foxx will just grin and say it's all right with him. But should anyone suggest that the Red Sox oldsters, Mr. Foxx included, may crack when the going gets harder, Jimmy will furnish an argument.

"We have an old ball club, as ages for players go," he conceded. "With Bob Grove pitching, our regular lineup would average about 29 to 30 years age. But while a lot of people think that this might be a liability, I think it's going to be an asset in our case.

"We've won eight straight games (the Red Sox lead the American league) and I think the experience of the veterans in the lineup is going to keep the club clicking for a long time. A team made up of younger players is more easily thrown out of stride than is a more seasoned club."

Wolcott May Be Successor To Jesse Owens

By FELIX R. McKNIGHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

HOUSTON, May 17. — Cotton-topped Freddie Wolcott looks like the man they've been paging since dusky Jesse Owens quit the amateurs.

Blond as the former Ohio State star was chocolate, the Rice institute hurdler is a sensation track coaches believe will improve before the 1940 Olympic games roll around at Tokyo, Japan.

Has Two More Meets

Only four years of track experience belong to the 22-year-old son of West Texas prairies, hurdling never having entered his mind until his senior year at Snyder, Texas, high school. Yet, the smooth stride of his long legs in both 120-yard high and 220-yard low hurdles is the talk of the American track world.

Two more 1938 appearances are on his calendar, the National Collegiate Athletic association meet at Minneapolis June 17 and 18, and the National A.A.U. at Buffalo, N. Y., July 2 and 3.

Leaves Off Other Events

Nervous little Emmett Brunson, the Rice coach who fidgets from one corner of the stadium to the other while his Rice Owls are competing, has definitely decided to enter Wolcott only in the hurdle events of the two big meets.

True it is that Wolcott has stepped the 100-yard dash twice in 9.5 this season and is the anchor man on a great Rice sprint relay team that shattered the Drake relays mark, but Brunson believes a bit of specializing in the timber events will give the tow-headed youngster a shot at some American and world records.

Has Broken 5 Records

Through eleven meets to date, Wolcott has smashed five records. He bettered the Texas, Drake and Kansas relays high hurdles marks and came along in the Southwest conference meet last week to hang up new times in the high and low hurdles.

A tail wind aided him on his 13.9 seconds trip over the high sticks at the Texas relays, keeping him from filing a claim for the American record—now at 14 seconds—but his other feats were under ordinary conditions. He did 14 seconds flat in a triangular meet with the University of Texas and Texas A. and M. and went to 15 seconds in one meet only because of the slow track.

No More Jumping

The Southwest conference meet was the spot chosen to unveil Wolcott as a broad jumper, but the experiment failed. He leaped around 23 feet, considerably under the championship requirements, and had to desert the jumping pits twice to compete in running events. He'll not be bothered with jumping any more, said Brunson.

Veteran track coach Clyde Littlefield of the University of Texas, whose Steers had won six consecutive titles, tags Wolcott as one of the southwest's finest products of all times. He should—Wolcott scored the 16 1-4 points that ended his Texans' reign.

Cherry Hills Sheds Its Old Dress For National Open

By LOOON KELLY
Associated Press Sports Writer

DENVER, May 16—They're giving Cherry Hills the working over of its life for the 42nd National open golf tournament June 9-11.

This pretty course just south of Denver, a delight to the eye of the scenery lover, is taking on a villainous aspect in the eyes of the men who golf.

Cunning and guile have been woven into the creek-creased layout with the fairways narrowed nearly in half, new traps built and old ones deepened, and tees shifted strategically.

The committee hasn't had to do anything about the greens to make them tougher. These are already as small as you will find on any championship course in the U. S.

It's Unrecognizable

When Champion Ralph Guldahl comes out to defend his title in the first National ever held in the west, he'll find a Cherry Hills course tougher than it has been at any time since its opening in 1924.

That's a promise from both freckled Harold Long, club professional since 1929, and Henry Hughes, the youthful grounds superintendent.

Long says 283, five under par, will win the 1938 championship. That's two strokes higher than Guldahl scored at Oakland Hills last year.

"Even the boys who have played this course before will hardly know it," Long says. "Just as an example, look how they've shifted the tees on No. 3 and No. 18. On No. 3 that gives you a knotty dogleg. On No. 18 the boys had better aim for a fade or their tees shots are going to hit that lake.

"We're letting the grass grow in the rough as high as the U. S. G. A. wants it. There'll be brand new traps on two, six and ten. The course will be longer than it's ever been, 6,888 yards."

Water Hazards Abound

Hughes, no slouch as a golfer himself, thinks the tiny greens will bother eastern players especially.

"There's hardly a green on the place where you can get a 50-foot putt with the pin in a normal position," he says.

There are water hazards of some sort on 12 of the 18 holes. Little Dry creek—it's hardly likely to be dry in early June—winds through the course. This is the same stream which gold was found 80 years ago.

Spreading Sand In ew Trap On Cherry Hills' No. 2

Workmen Riprapping Bank On Island Green Of No. 17

Some of the Saturday afternoon players already are complaining the course is too hard on their friendly oursomes.

"We wouldn't dare leave the course this tough all the time," one Cherry Hills official remarked. "We lose all our members."

Tremaine Takes On Davis Here In Main Bout

TONIGHT'S CARD

The curtain raiser — Buss Reynolds, Cincinnati, vs. Pasha Bairam Bey, Turkey. One fall or 20 minutes.

The semi-final — Carl Von Bromberg, Germany, vs. Bob Cummings, San Francisco. One fall or 30 minutes.

The main event — Andy Tremaine, Tucson, vs. Dilly Davis, Houston. Two out of three falls or 2-hour time limit.

Place and time—The Auditorium, 8:30 o'clock.

Andy Tremaine was "ready" last week and he gave Bob Cummings something to ponder over with a two-fall victory in the main, thereby heartlessly humbling the guy who had, a week earlier, upset George Hartay.

Tremaine and Cummings come back tonight, the Tucson Thunderbolt to carry on in the main event, the California Cowboy to work on the semi-final. Both events should prove interesting, because the opposition in each is of rather high calibre.

Tremaine No Sissy

In Dilly Davis, the red-headed Houston horror, Tremaine will find one of the toughest of the bad boys among the newcomers. Fans are already looking forward to the return of such gents as Sailor Kirby Watkins, Sailor Moran and the like, and of what they'll do to the upstart from Houston.

Tremaine, whose ears are growing nobbier and his conscience less exacting, may be the person to give the Dilly a dose of bad medicine. Andy can be quite rough when he makes up his mind, although he is generally regarded as somewhat of a gentleman. But he is no panty-waist when up against a villain.

Davis is somewhat of a Sailor Moran. In fact, he possesses qualities familiar with all the ruffians. He has learned to use the ropes to considerable advantage, both on offense and defense, and he gets by with a lot of unfair tactics regarding the ropes. He is stubborn and hard to hurt, and he has no heart whatsoever.

Cummings, Reynolds Favored

Carl von Bromberg, the German making his second appearance here, probably will get it in the neck at the hands of Bob Cummings, who will be on the comeback. This is the semi-final, and Bromberg may come up with something new.

Buzz Reynolds, the flashy son of Ohio who has been popular here for two nights, should encounter little trouble with the praying Turk, Pasha Bairam Bey. The Bey just can't wrestle, although he makes a lot of noise and gesticulations.

Federal Oil Control Proposals Run Into Storm Of Opposition At Hearing

June Order Is Being Studied

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, May 17.—Federal oil control proposals, virtually forgotten the last three years, were revived today at the monthly Texas proration hearing but ran into a storm of opposition.

John C. Schroder of Longview, president of the East Texas Independent Petroleum association, urged federal proration for one to three years to correct "inequalities" in production allowances to the various oil states.

Inequalities Are Cited

Wells in the East Texas field, Schroder said, are allowed only 14 barrels a day while some of like character in south Louisiana are permitted 800 barrels daily.

F. W. Fischer of Tyler, oil man and former candidate for governor, replied that "Schroder, in my opinion, doesn't represent two per cent of the views of East Texas producers."

"The producers with whom I have come in contact," he continued, "are 100 per cent behind the railroad commission."

Federal Control Opposed

Marion Church of Dallas, spokesman for the Independent Petroleum association of Texas, told the commission that organization was "violently opposed to any form of federal control and wants to congratulate the commissioners for their fight against such control."

Chairman C. V. Terrell and Ernest O. Thompson, constituting a majority of the commission, did not indicate what type of June proration order they would draft. Most persons remained of the opinion the statewide Sunday shutdown would be continued but the Saturday closings either would be lifted or modified.

Commissioner Lon A. Smith, who opposed the Saturday shutdowns did not attend.

Cheering Note Given

A cheering note was the report of V. E. Cottingham, the commission's chief engineer, that average bottomhole pressure in the East Texas field declined only 2.11 pounds per square inch during the 30-day period ended May 8. The drop for the two preceding months was 3.82 and 4.98 pounds.

On the gloomy side was information that national business conditions still were bad, gasoline, gas oil and fuel oil stocks much higher than a year ago and drilling almost as intensive as at the same time in 1937.

Banks Of U. S. In Fine Shape

FORT WORTH, May 17. (AP) — The banking structure of the United States is in the strongest position in history, President J. E. Woods of Temple, declared in his annual address at the opening of the fifty-fourth convention of the Texas Bankers association here today.

More than 600 delegates and visitors were registered for the three-day meeting.

"The banks of the country are in a secure position to withstand an attack of the greatest severity," Woods declared, adding that their extreme liquidity makes them well-nigh impregnable.

Offer No Apologies

Confidence in the banks cannot be shaken, and the banks offer no apologies for their present very liquid condition, he said.

"But no amount of bombast and ballyhoo is going to sweep the safe and conservative banker off his feet and cause him to repeat the mistakes of 1927-28," he declared.

The recession in Texas, because of its favored position, is more threatened than real, Woods declared, pointing out that "we are blessed with a variety of resources. The year just closed brought us prolific yields from the soil. Livestock conditions have been favorable. Our leadership in the production of oil, gas, sulphur and other natural resources continues unchallenged."

How To String Along With Spaghetti

1—The wind-up, says Nino Martini, of opera and screen, is the basis of spaghetti delivery. With spaghetti on fork and fork against spoon, twist clockwise. If you twist counter-clockwise you're in for a spattering.

2—This is the fascist table salute, better known as the overhead approach. It assures plate clearance. That anticipatory shaping of the mouth isn't necessary, but it's a nice way to show the host you can hardly wait.

3—If the first two moves have been executed properly, says Martini, the third will be easy. Lower the arm, lean forward, and do a Joe E. Brown. This is the spaghetti eater's zero hour, because . . .

4—In a flash, he must not only be over the top, but under the bottom of those spaghetti-laden tines, in the same split second, executing a short thrust to just the front and center of the tonsils.

5—Now for the twist-off. It demands nonchalance. This is acquired by a head-up imitation of an ostrich: fix the eyes on space, pretend no one sees you, twist the fork gently, and suck in.

6—Success deserves a smile and success here is obvious. Whatever is left on the fork is the start of the next bite—for, as every good Italian knows, spaghetti-gobbling is just one darn string after another.

Water In Which Even A Duck Would Sink Is Being Shown At Petroleum Session

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

TULSA, May 17.—Water in which a duck would sink was exhibited at the International Petroleum exposition here today. This water is used in oil wells and is chemically treated to make it extra "wet."

The liquid becomes so moist, it was explained, that it would penetrate a duck's feathers all the way to the skin and render the bird too heavy to float.

Mixed With Acid

The water is mixed with acid and pumped into oil wells to increase production. Because of its extreme wetness the water penetrates deeply into the stony formations which trap oil within their pores. Many of these oil holdings pores are too small to be seen except under a microscope.

The acid mixed with the water opens the rocky pores and makes new drainage channels to oil reservoirs. This "moist moisture" is one of the developments in acidizing oil wells. The acidizing is confined to limestone wells, but these wells furnish about 20 per cent of America's petroleum.

Adds To Production

Acid is used after oil ceases its natural flow. To date the process has added about 450 per cent to the production of limestone wells.

The wetter water which would sink a duck was exhibited by the Halliburton company of Duncan, Okla. C. P. Parsons of this company said when this water was first tried in some low grade steel pumps it spurted in minute streams through pores, or invisible imperfections, in the metal.

A new acidizing process which in tests has increased oil production by as much as threefold over the former acid methods was announced at the exposition today by the Dowell company, a subsidiary of the Dow Chemical company, of Midland, Mich.

Action Is Slowed

The action of the acid in dissolving limestone is slowed down about 80 per cent by adding an "inhibition" chemical. This gives time to penetrate much further into the limestone, the announcement stated. In all wells tested the oil output has been increased above the records of the old acid processes.

Wells given the retarded acid have continued to produce for longer periods. The oil in most wells comes from an area not more than one thousand feet around the hole.

Women Jurors Being Forced To Sacrifice Chic To The Demands Of Their Duty

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., May 17. (AP)—Women jurors must sacrifice chic to the demands of duty in the courtroom of Justice Abram Zoller.

Justice Zoller decreed that women sit bareheaded to keep their minds on the case instead of on their neighbor's hat.

"The ladies are doing fine work in our courts," he added tactfully, "but I feel that floppy hats and Paris creations should play no part in the performance of their duties."

Relief Orders Are Demanded

CLEVELAND, May 17. (AP) — Shabbily-dressed "reliefers" sat doggedly hour after hour today in Cleveland's city council chamber, applauding exhortations for restoration of full food orders, and reading newspapers.

Approximately 150, a tenth of them women, continued an organized demonstration called last night by the Workers Alliance, an organization of unemployed and WPA workers.

Policemen On Guard

No attempt was made to disperse the group but several policemen kept watch.

The group made plans to send a delegation to confer with a legislative committee which came here from Columbus to determine if $17,000,000 asked by Ohio cities for 1938 relief needs actually is needed. Cleveland has met its immediate needs with stop-gap appropriations from other municipal funds.

Two Named In Narcotic Sale

NEW YORK, May 17. (AP)—Joe Passarello of Galveston, Tex., today as a witness for the government in the trial of 18 persons accused of conspiracy and sale of narcotics, identified Alphonso Attardi and Joe Massa of Galveston as participants with him in the sale of five ounces of narcotics.

Passarello and Massa have pleaded guilty to the charges.

Under cross examination by defense counsel, he said:

"I took five ounces over to the apartment of . . . a woman in Galveston and she gave me $150. Joe Massa gave me the stuff and Alphonso Attardi told me where to deliver it."

Under Obligation

Passarello testified he delivered the narcotics because he was under obligation to Attardi for a $50 loan. He said he gave Attardi the $150 he received for the narcotics.

After he was arrested last year, Passarello said, he told Attardi what had happened.

"Did he help you?" the defense asked.

"No," replied Passarello.

He denied that was the reason for his testimony today, saying "I want to tell the truth."

Seventeen preachers discoursed continuously for six days before a throng of 30,000 persons at a large camp meeting in Kentucky in 1801. It was the largest camp meeting in American history.

United States Moves To Obtain Oil Pools Off California Coast In Event Of War

WASHINGTON, May 17. (AP)—The house judiciary committee approved legislation today to permit United States acquisition for national defense purposes of oil reserves off the California coast between low water and the three-mile limit.

Navy and interior department officials told the committee in hearings three months ago the oil land, now being operated in many cases by private companies, was worth $1,000,000,000.

Charles Edison, acting navy secretary, and Secretary of the Interior Ickes urged the committee to approve the bill.

Could File Suit

The legislation, approved in different form in the senate, would authorize Attorney General Cummings to file suit in California courts to permit the government to take possession of the submerged lands notwithstanding the fact that about 80 oil companies are now operating on them.

Originally the bill would have applied to oil land off the Pacific, Atlantic and Gulf coasts. Representative Hobbs (D-Ala.) said the committee decided to limit the legislation to California because "that is where the shoe pinches the worst."

Representative Gearhart (R-Calif.) said the bill was amended after Texas, Alabama and other states protested against it applying to them.

Three Needles Are Removed From The Body Of Woman

BENKLEMAN, Neb., May 17. (AP)—Mrs. Walter B. Reynolds hopes there are no more needles embedded in her body.

She fell on a carpet sweeper bag Christmas and since then doctors have taken one needle from her arm, another from her side and a third from her abdomen.

The month long search for the third needle culminated yesterday in a delacate operation.

Fear Of Blindness Leads Man To Take Own Life Tuesday

SAN ANTONIO, May 17. (AP)—Fear of blindness led Ramon Montemayor, 81-year-old grocer, to take his life with a bullet from a pistol early today.

A Real Monument To Texas

PASSING of the 50th "birthday" of the Texas state capitol building at Austin is an occasion which should remind Texans that theirs is an edifice of which they justly may be proud both from the architectural and traditional standpoint.

There are some who say today that it was the costliest public building ever erected on the American continent, and in support of their statement may point to the fact that it was bought with more than 3,000,000 acres of the public domain. True, if the present value of that land is the gauge, cost of the building was fantastic.

But, when the deal was made, much of the land literally could not be given away. Texas had the resources, but not the people to develop them. Those who accepted the land in exchange for building the capitol speeded the development. What the value of the settlers brought to Texas for that development is beyond computation.

Then, from the traditional viewpoint, the vision of the men who planned our capitol should be a source of pride. Population of the state when the building was planned was considerably less than 2,000,000. Yet they knew the potentialities for development, and insisted upon an edifice which was second only in size and architectural beauty, as judged in those days, to the national capitol in Washington. They caused the erection of a structure 528 feet in length, 290 feet in width and 311 feet in height from the grade line to the top of the statue on the dome.

By modern architectural standards, its building style is definitely of the past. But it still possesses an imposing majesty and enough of beauty to inspire the awe of those who behold it.

Our Laws Are Funny Things

ONE of the great American privileges is for the citizen to make fun of himself and his government. Of course, if someone not a citizen chooses to join in the ridicule, the American is disinclined to see the joke. But as long as the American merely is poking fun at himself, it is his right to enjoy his fun in peace even if he has to whip the pants off someone to prove it.

Thus, a favorite butt of his ridicule is the mass of antiquated, impossible laws which have accumlated on the statute books of various of our units of government. And, admittedly, some of those laws are so funny that the humor can be appreciated even by those without a sense of humor.

It appears, however, that the writing of the ridiculous into laws is not confined to the United States, as witness these disclosures in a recent survey: Hungarian customs officials have been forbidden to shave off their mustaches; a German police measure bans swing music as a public menace; a Chinese statute makes it unlawful to leap off a certain lofty cliff; the British house of commons has proposed that shirt-tails on shirts for export to China be shortened; and it is said to be true that one of the most moth-eaten of jokes has its counterpart in a Central American country with a law providing that certain types of offenders shall be given a fair trial, and then shot.

Law-makers of the United States—considering the youth of the nation, still may be in a class by themselves when it comes to appearing ridiculous, but there is a measure of consolation in the fact that they are not entirely without company.

A new count shows Russia with more submarines than any other power. Let this be a warning to Russians on polar floes, who think they aren't overheard.

In considering the revenue bill, the august Senate covered 244 pages in 22 minutes. It seems a waste of time, as the solons could have waited for the reviews.

CAST OF CHARACTERS

JACKIE DUNN — heroine; she wanted to fly.

ROGER BRECKNER — hero; he wanted to test the stratosphere.

BERYL MELROSE—wealthy widow; she wanted Roger.

EVELYN LA FARGE — Jackie's mother; she wanted a son-in-law.

Yesterday: Roger persuades Jackie ironically, to take his pin. Then word comes that the weather has cleared for his flight.

CHAPTER XII

Roger and Beryl took off so early that next morning that Jackie did not go out to the field. Roger did not intend to make time, going west. He would be flying low, so that with his super-charged motor it would be impossible to open it up. He expected to make the coast in about 12 hours, with a stopover at a halfway point.

Jackie received a wire around noon from Kansas City. "Smooth sailing so far"—it read. "Keep your fingers crossed and stand by stop Beryl enjoying trip stop Both send love."

Jackie wondered why Beryl had sent her love. Of course she was enjoying herself. If Roger had not been so wrapped up in his flying he would have known by this time that Beryl Melrose's love was all for him.

Well, she was welcome to him—after Jackie had the last laugh.

Another wire that same evening informed Jackie that the silver ship had landed at Burbank. The next, she knew, would be the important message. Roger expected to lay over only a day or two before starting his trial flight.

"I'll certainly be glad when this is over," Evelyn said. "You haven't eaten for days and you're getting dark circles. You'll make a sorry-looking bride, if you don't take care, darling!" Evelyn was concerned with little more than her plans for the approaching wedding. She was so pleased it was to be a June wedding, after all. There was nothing so romantic as a June wedding.

She had had several wedding dresses, with their misty long veils, sent out for Jackie's approval and had finally succeeded in persuading her to slip in and out of a few, in spite of Jackie's protests that she had no time for such "goings-on" now.

"I'd like to know when you will have time!" her mother wailed. She never had seen such a child. You would think she was preparing for a funeral, rather than a wedding. "There's so much to do for a big church wedding. And you know Paul is so anxious to go abroad and I've told him I can't make my plans until my little girl is settled first."

"Please, Mother!" Jackie said. She had schooled herself not to listen to half that Evelyn said, but sometimes even half was too much. Let her go a head and plan a big show, there was no stopping her, anyway. Until the time came. When Jackie practically jilted Roger at the altar and told the whole truth about this crazy engagement, that would stop things fast enough.

The important wire arrived a few days later. It was from Beryl—apparently Roger had not had time to send it. It said Roger would take off at 2 a. m. the next morning.

Jackie did not sleep a wink that night. She was up and dressed by 4 o'clock. Roger had arranged, as he had promised, for her to listen in at the radio tower. Of course they could not get in direct contact with him until he got within pick-up range, probably around Cleveland, O. But the newspapers would receive word reporting the plane's progress up until then.

It was lucky for Jackie that there was little traffic on the road to the field at this early hour or she would have been arrested for speeding. As it was it took nearly 50 minutes to make the drive.

She climbed the steep ladder that led to the little glass tower. Mac, the operator on duty, greeted her with a wide grin, motioning her into into the one chair in the compact space, surrounded on three sides by receiving sets, each turned to the frequency of an airliner.

There was something eerie and awe-inspiring about the atmosphere of the tower at this hour just before daybreak. It was shrouded in darkness, save for the faces of the dials. Outside the beacon swept majestically back and forth, lighting its path in the sky. Tiny strings of lights bound the field, with red ones for obstruction lines. The green code beacon blinked on and off like a huge eye.

Over the hook-ups a voice would boom forth suddenly, loud and somewhat distorted, often incoherent when a blare of static interfered. After a while, though one's ears accustomed themselves so that words and call-letters formed.

"Anything yet?" Jackie asked, as Mac swung on his high stool during a few moments' silence. Roger must be on his way by now.

"The Morning Eagle phoned in that he took off at 2 bells to the dot," Mac said. "That would make it 5 o'clock here. Probably won't get anything more until Wichita. You'd better grab off a little sleep for yourself, Jackie."

Jackie shook her head. She knew that would be impossible. She was so keyed up that all her nerves were like taut wires. Day was breaking now in the east, turning the sky into a brilliant spectacle, and miles away Roger was steadily climbing up, up, up into that other world where there was no night, no day, where the stars shone always.

She settled herself for a long wait and she did doze a little. There was very little local activity at the field yet, so that only an occasional message flashed into the tower. Once Mac talked to a pilot who wanted a taxi on hand for a passenger when they landed. Mac said he would attend to it, then kidded a bit, much as one would over one's telephone at home. "That's service for you," he said to Jackie. "Order your cab a hundred miles away in the air!"

"How high do you suppose Roger is now?" Jackie asked. She could not promote an interest in anything else.

She had not much more than asked her question when a boy came up from the teletype room to bring her a message. It was the first direct relay from Roger's ship. It had been sent to the Department of Commerce at Wichita.

"Estimate position 50 miles east"—Jackie read. "Altitude 35 thousand. Everything okay."

"Whew!" Mac let out a long whistle. "That answers your question. He is flying high, isn't he? I expect he'll settle on that altitude for his cruising speed. Let's see," he consulted his watch; "it's 7:43—he's been more than two hours on his way."

"Everything okay," Jackie repeated to herself. Some of her tension lessened. This waiting really was no fun. Not that she had any doubt but that Roger would come through, breaking all records. But waiting was always a sort of slow torture.

She wondered if Beryl were waiting somewhere, standing by, too. She would be listening to the messages now as Roger sent them out. But Jackie would be in at the finish, which counted most. Jackie wondered if Beryl could retain her usual enviable poise through these long hours.

It was another full hour before the boy brought another message. It was much the same as the first. "It will be a couple of hours, I expect," Mac said, "before we can hope to pick up Roger's call letters. Why don't you run along and get yourself some good hot coffee, Jackie? And, if you don't mind, you might bring me back some, too."

Jackie did not care whether she ate or not, though she knew that was silly. She hated to leave the tower for even a short while. She wanted to be on hand for Roger's first message. It was fascinating, too, listening to the different messages that were coming in steadily now since the morning's schedules had begun. She could imagine those other planes circling for their landings, or wanting to take off, as plainly as though she could see them on the field beneath her eyes. But, since there would not be any word from Roger's plane for some time she decided to take Mac's suggestion.

She knew that the next two hours would be the longest, the most difficult, she would ever experience.

It was fortunate for Jackie that she thought that.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

THE grand-slam recovery bid threatens to turn into a grand smash. Belatedly the real financial experts at Washington realize it, and are scheming to repair the damage before its gets any advertising outside inner circles.

The details of the blunder are highly complicated and technical. But what the master-minders did was to unfreeze gold and boost bank reserves all at once instead of by degrees. The underlying reason was their eagerness to affect public and political psychology by shooting the works in a big five-billion dollar way. The unfortunate result may be to create an unstable and unprofitable market for the sale of future government securities. By cashing in immediately, they threw away machinery for manipulating the market later. It's like trying to make an impression by paying all your bills at once instead of saving something for a rainier day.

Nobody will talk, but it is understood that inside specialists and outside advisers were not consulted. They would have argued against it. But their dribble-dribble method of pushing out money (and credit) wouldn't have read so sensationally in the headlines.

DILEMMA: The remedy lies behind a seemingly simple bill hastily cooked up by Secretary Morgenthau's private "brain trust" at the Treasury. They had to scrap a 20-year-old decree governing the public debt to slide out of their dilemma.

It created no stir when quietly introduced by Ways and Means Chairman Doughton and accommodatingly okayed by his committee next day as a mere technical revision. Actually it permits the Treasury to issue any kind of security it pleases. Under present law the public debt maximum is set at 45 billions, with 25 in long term and 20 in short. But it so happens that only $1,500,000,000 in long-time stuff can be sold before hitting the ceiling, while there remains a kitty of about $6,000,000,000 in the other account.

It isn't known yet which kind of security will be most affected under the recovery drive slip. But if it handicaps short-time paper, Mr. Morgenthau would be slightly embarrassed. He would have only a small amount left of the long-term commodity, and it looks as if he'll have to use the whole batch to meet Uncle Sam's creditors before long.

SPECTACLE: The operation of the neutrality act—or its inoperation—reveals it as just another of those good intentions that also pave the lobbies of Congress. Author Nye is displeased with it, but the pressure groups which forced its enactment won't stand for repealing it or wrapping it in mothballs.

It has, worst of all, plunged the handling of critical foreign policies into ward politics of the most emotional sort. To lift the embargo on the two Spanish factions, for instance, would anger powerful voting groups in many northern cities. So it won't be done. But not many Chinese or Japanese vote in the United States, so there is comparatively negligible demand for application of the law to the far Eastern war. Therefore it isn't invoked, through the possibility of American involvement in war there is great.

Should labor grow more internationally minded, both the A. F. of L. and C. I. O. would insist that the law be adjusted or readjusted so as to benefit nations which also favor the "forgotten man." In short, a noble and practical move to dig our national head in the international sand makes us look just about as foolish as the ostrich.

BOSSMAN: Adolph A. Berle, Jr., the boy prodigy, appears to be the mystery man not only of the State Department but also of stormy New York politics. He's a problem child to the diplomats and the politicos.

Some months ago Mayor LaGuardia of New York was grooming him as the American Labor Party's candidate for Governor of New York. It looked then as if either National Chairman Farley or Senator Wagner would run for the Albany post, and the Mayor felt sore at them for opposing him in the 1937 Mayoralty battle. Berle was to have been a disturber, to pick up enough votes to defeat either Washingtonian. Then, though no Democrat, the La-Guardia henchman was suddenly named Assistant Secretary of State.

Now Mr. LaGuardia denies that he contemplates a Berle uprising. Question: Did President Roosevelt pull the young man out of New York politics to get rid of a dangerous threat, or was it negotiated by the President and the Mayor? The most likely answer is that, with Herbert Lehman posing to run again, Mr. Roosevelt, Mr. LaGuardia and Mr. Berle did not care to cross swords with the popular governor. That Lehman man has got them all scared.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

THE United States Chamber of Commerce has pulled many boners in its time, but few to equal the adoption of a resolution at its recent convention calling for outright repeal of the Wagner Labor Relations Act.

A number of union leaders, especially in the A. F. of L., have been working sincerely behind the scenes for a reapprochement between industry and labor. They feel as strongly as many business men about the need to curb government "meddling" with private enterprise. They are eager to stimulate industrial recovery and reemployment, and they figure the best way to do this is to reach an understanding with employers that would freeze the government out of the picture. Quite a few business chiefs agree with this idea.

To show their good faith, influential labor circles (including top-flight C. I. O. officials) were privately preparing to accept amendments to the Wagner Act that would have given employers a better break. But the C. of C. demand knocks this plan out cold. Labor can hardly be expected to stand for a proposal to scrap its "Magna Charta" completely and any concessions under the circumstances would give an impression of weakness that the unions cannot afford.

PRACTICAL: A strange situation has developed among Pennsylvania Republicans. Many G.O.P.-ers who dislike Gifford Pinchot are supporting him in the primaries because they rate his chances of November victory much better than those of his opponent Judge James. He should pick up a heavy vote from labor elements who are sore at the Democratic state organization.

NECESSARY: An outstanding Republican leader contends in private conversation that a million American men and women shape public sentiment and determine economic trends in this country (which might be called a G.O.P. variant of the "60 family" theme). He argues further that restoration of genuine confidence to this small percentage of the population would speedily lead to another boom.

Keen New York observers concede that this may be so, but insist that a boom on that basis would quickly and inevitably lead to yet another bust. They take the position that fundamental economic readjustments are necessary to a sound foundation for recovery.

Among such adjustments is cited the writing off of huge masses of unrecoverable debt. Obsolescent railroads are an outstanding example.

DESTROYS: Informed New Yorkers get word that the flimsy tie that has theoretically bound Japan to Germany and Italy is on the point of snapping.

Hitler and Mussolini are understood to have indicated their displeasure at the idea of Japanese domination over the major part of China. They fear this would hurt their trade with the Orient. They now take the attitude that their alliance with Japan was merely anti-Soviet—not pro-Japanese.

Japan knew already that her European pals—especially Germany—have been supplying China with munitions that have helped prolong the war. This latest development in effect destroys any semblance of accord among the aggressor nations.

Slowly but surely, it is dawning on the Japanese taxpayers that they are the heaviest losers in the undeclared but consistently victorious war on China.

Texas Topics---By Howard Marshall

AUSTIN, May 17. (AP)—A basis for "scoring" political candidates has been suggested.

Gov. James V. Allred says the three most important factors in a candidate's campaign usually are personality, platform and organization.

"And of these," he remarked, "the first and third are more important. I don't know that they ought to be, but, as a practical thing they are."

Applicants Rejected

Between 2.5 and 3 per cent of the applicants for motor vehicle drivers licenses are rejected, the public safety department reports.

Not all of those rejected remain in that category, however. Many correct the faults which led to rejection and are licensed.

The chief reason for failure to obtain a license is inability to read traffic signs, which may be due to illiteracy or poor eyesight. A person denied a license because of inability to read may study a department booklet on signs and take another examination.

About 2,500,000 licenses have been issued.

To Seek His Old Seat

A strong advocate of legalized betting on horse racing, former Rep. Pat Dwyer of San Antonio, says he will seek his old seat in the house.

He favors settling the issue by local option, that is, by allowing counties, or even smaller areas, to have race tracks with legalized wagering if a majority of the voters want it.

Two years ago Dwyer ran for the senate but was defeated by Franklin D. Spears, another representative. He had served several terms.

If Dwyer runs it will be for the place of Rep. W. B. Carssow, the legislature's "flying" member. Carssow, who is retiring, holds a pilot's license.

Usual Investigation

One of the most unusual legislative investigations ever held at Austin was the recent one by the house eleemosynary committee into policies of T. M. Scott, superintendent of the state school for deaf.

Because some of the witnesses were deaf and most of the large audience was, an interpreter skilled in sign language was employed to serve both committee and spectators.

Standing at the head of the interpreter's table, in the hall of the house of representatives, he rapidly translated all questions and answers, and, most observers probably would say, was the center of the show.

One of the charges brought by Scott's critics was that the school did not teach pupils to be more proficient in the sign language but concentrated on teaching lip reading and development of voice.

Scott replied methods used at the Austin institution were used by the sign language when they were received and the policy was to teach them to take their places in a world most of which did not use the sign language.

To Announce Again

A report got about in Austin that Senator T. J. Holbrook of Galveston, dean of the upper legislative chamber, would not seek reelection.

An inquiry brought the reply he had announced for another term. If re-elected, Holbrook will have served in nine successive legislatures.

Not Entirely Gone

THE sandstorms which whipped across all Texas in recent years may not be entirely gone, says J. E. McDonald, commissioner of agriculture, but the chances of recurrence, at least so far as they originated in Texas, have been greatly lessened.

Tying down the soil in West Texas by cover crops, protection of grass, terracing, contour plowing and other practices adopted by farmers in affected areas as a result of experience with drouth and sandstorms have, McDonald said, provided much insurance against repetition of soil destruction at such a serious rate.

"There is not as much intelligent farming as there should be," McDonald said, "but there is a lot more than in the past."

G. A. Jerry Sadler, candidate for the railroad commission, is using a four-piece string band to draw campaign crowds. The players call themselves "Sadler's Stringers."

Riding with the sound car, they go into a town ahead of the candidate and by the time Sadler arrives the music has drawn an audience.

The musicians usually play about 20 minutes while Sadler speaks 19. In this way he is able to make from eight to 15 speeches daily.

The players are Longview friends of Sadler, cut for the fun and the travel.

Several Plays To Be Given At Central Ward School

Plays to be presented Thursday at Central Ward school to culminate activities of art students in construction of furniture and stage fixtures include "Jack and the Bean Stalk," "Hansel and Gretel," and "Rumpelstiltskin" and a series of citizenship skits.

Students have used lumber from a casket crate to complete a marionette theater to be used in class.

Miss Opal Sloan is teaching the art course.

Lubbock, Texas,
May 17, 1938.

The Editor Lubbock Avalanche,

Dear Sir:

I was present, as an interested witness and as an acquaintance of the victims, when a number of Tech students were arraigned and fined for having shown a willingness to accept a ride while they were outside an inconvenient and quite limited zone. No charge could be made against the police; they were following instructions politely and very efficiently.

The members of the city commission deserve and shall have our support in any and all equitable attempts to prevent traffic accidents —But, since it is their ardent wish that "the law be enforced," then let them begin by requiring strict observance of the speed limit, which is twenty miles per hour. That law, so long as it is a law, has all the sanctity possessed by any ordinance ever passed by any commission.

After having been a member of it for three and one-half years, I sincerely believe that ninety-five per cent of Tech's student body will voluntarily and constantly observe any reasonable requirement placed upon them; the remainder merely suffers from thoughtlessness, (heredity is a potent factor you know,) and, if that very small number should occasionally become boisterous, then "where the offence is let the great axe fall"—possibly they have been so unfortunate as to observe their elders at a Convention.

May Minerva help them!

J. PAUL HILL, '38.

Mrs. Carres Praises Gly-Cas For Restoring Her To Good Health; Stomach, Bowels Easily Regulated

"After taking only one box of Gly-Cas I have been given results that are more than I could ask," said Mrs. Luisa M. Carres, 411 Hidalgo St., Laredo, Texas. "For four years I have suffered with attacks of indigestion after each meal so severe that at times I though I could never stand them. My system had become clogged by constipation and improper kidney action, and soon my entire body was afflicted with rheumatism until my arms and legs ached almost constantly. I was compelled to edure severe headaches and dizzy spells. Finally I was convinced that I should give tnis new Gly-Cas a trial as it had been the means of so many sufferers regaining their health."

MRS. LUISA M. CARRES

"Gly-Cas gave me the health which I had been made to believe was impossible," continued Mrs. Carres. "My stomach and bowels were regulated almost at once, indigestion was eliminated from the very start, and my kidneys began functioning properly. Those awful rheumatic pains in my legs and arms have entirely disappeared, I enjoy my meals, can sleep the entire night through and am never bothered with night risings. I cannot express how thankful I am that I was convinced of the true merit of Gly-Cas and gave it the opportunity to give me such a complete change of health."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway, this city, and by the leading druggists in surrounding towns.

TARZAN UNDER FIRE No. 9 By Edgar Rice Burroughs

Tarzan was surprised when he saw the soldiers alert and menacing. Captain d'Albert addressed him sharply. "You have been reported as an agitator who stirs discontent among the tribesmen. You must leave the district at once, or I will deal harshly with you!"

The ape-man suspected that the vengeful lies of Abdul Keb were behind this unjust expulsion, but he offered no denial or explanation. It was simpler merely to go on his way. At that moment, to Captain d'Albert astonishment, Dick and Doc strolled up.

Who were these white boys, clothed and armed like savages? And who was this extraordinary man they followed? Perhaps he was some renegade white who had reverted to savagery. He might be even a dangerous criminal, preying on the simple jungle folk.

Had he kidnaped these boys, and did he hold them in his power by terrorizing them? The man must be taken into custody, the officer decided, until the matter could be investigated. Captain d'Albert frowned, and barked suddenly: "You are under arrest!"

LUBBOCK AUCTION AND COMMISSION CO. SALE EVERY TUESDAY AND FRIDAY, BEGINNING AT 10:00 A. M.

Traders have come to know that they get the best prices that the market permits for their cattle when they bring them to us to sell.

We have endeavored to transact our business in a straightforward manner, and it is not surprising that our volume of business is ever increasing.

We try to treat all customers honorably and alike—doing as we would be done by, and this means that once a patron of this establishment, you are always a patron. We believe that our auction sale is a distinct feature of the country, and materially assists in making this section more progressive and more attractive from a commercial and agricultural standpoint. Help us to continue to build up our reputation as such an asset by bringing us more cattle to sell, so we can keep the buyers constantly coming to us for their cattle requirements.

RECOVERIES ARE MADE

NEW YORK, May 17. (AP)—Selling dried up in today's stock market and, while buying support was timid, leading issues managed to emerge from a sluggish session with recoveries of fractions to a point or so.

Early demand for aircrafts was a mildly bolstering influence, and, toward the latter part of the proceedings, selected steels, utilities, mail orders, coppers and specialties edged forward.

Although the Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up .3 of a point at 40.1, moderate declines were plentiful at the close. Transfers amounted to 416,060 shares against 359,920 the day before.

The market apparently found no great inspiration in developments at Washington or on the business front.

Reports the steel industry would maintain present prices and wages for the third quarter—U. S. Steel was expected to make an announcement on this soon—propped stocks in this category.

Rails and utilities were lower in the bond department, but a few industrials tilted forward.

Among stock gainers were Curtiss-Wright "A" at 20's, Boeing 25's, U. S. Steel 44⅝, Bethlehem 46's, North American 20⅞, American Telephone 130⅜, Sears Roebuck 57¼, Anaconda 27⅜, Homestake Mining 69, Westinghouse 77⅞, Du Pont 101⅛, Union Carbide 66½, Chrysler 43.

Unchanged to off a point were General Motors at 30, U. S. Rubber Preferred 68, Woolworth 43⅞, J. I. Case 76½, Texas Corp. 37, Kennecott 33¼, American Can 88⅛ and Great Northern 16⅛.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, May 17. (AP) — Cotton made an attempt to rally today in response to unfavorable crop reports but encountered profit-taking in late trading and final prices were steady, 1 to 2 points net higher.

Buying came from the trade and covering by shorts. Contracts were scarce until late dealings when early buyers realized, or switched from near to distant months. July closed at 8.75, Oct. at 8.83, Dec. at 8.85, Jan. at 8.86, and March at 8.93. Spot cotton was quiet and sales totaled only 206 bales. Middling closed unchanged at 8.77.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, May 17. (AP)—Cotton ruled steady today in quiet trading. Scattered buying and unfavorable weather in the western belt were steadying influences. October advanced from 8.66@8.74 and closed at 8.70, with final quotations 1 to 4 points net higher.

The market opened unchanged to 3 points higher. Limited foreign selling was absorbed by light trade price fixing, and the market soon advanced to net gains of 5 to 8 points. Hedge selling believed to be for Brazilian account became more of a factor in the late market.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, May 17. (AP)—The average price of middling cotton today at ten southern spot markets was 8.67 cents a pound, average for the past thirty market days 8.78 cents a pound.

Plan To Build Huge Station Is Believed To Be Shelved

WASHINGTON, May 17. (AP) — House naval committee members expressed belief today they had shelved for this session legislation to authorize construction of a government radio station designed to offset fascist and communist broadcasts to Central and South America.

The committee suspended hearings on the bill pending receipt of a report from a special interdepartmental committee assigned to study the project and some members predicted that would kill the measure.

Representative Maverick (D-Tex), asserting "Hitler and Mussolini have been poking their noses into South America," told the committee the United States must take "an absolutely strong stand to keep them out."

Girl Refuses To Marry Him And Man Takes Own Life

SAN ANTONIO, May 17. (AP)—Failing in his attempts to persuade Miss Sybil Keller to marry him, Willard H. Bless, 22-year-old commission company employe, kissed her and then shot himself to death in a parked automobile shortly before midnight, according to Miss Keller. She told police she had refused his pleas to marry him.

Miss Keller drove back to town with the fatally wounded man. Two notes were found in the car.

A verdict of suicide was returned this afternoon by Justice of the Peace Raymond Gerhardt.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, May 17. (AP)—Eclipsing again and again 64-year bottom price records, wheat tumbled 1⅝ cents a bushel here today and 2¼ cents at Winnipeg.

Increased likelihood of bumper yields both in the United States and Canada did much to pull values down. Widespread beneficial rains fell, southwest and northwest alike, and the forecast indicated further heavy downpours.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were ⅞ to 1⅝ cents lower compared with yesterday's finish, May 78⅝@78⅞, July 73⅞@76, corn ⅛ to ½ down, May 57⅛@57¼, July 58¼@58⅜, oats ½ off to ⅛ up, rye unchanged to 1¼ decline, and provisions varying from 5 cents setback to 10 cents advance.

Lubbock Delegation Will Be On Hand For Testimony

When a Texas committee presents a brief in support of the contention that a proposed cotton laboratory be located in Texas, Lubbock will be well represented, the chamber of commerce said Tuesday.

M. E. Heard, head professor of textile engineering at Texas Technological college, is a member of the committee who has had an important part in the preparation of the Texas brief and will be a member of the delegation to Washington.

Others from the cotton laboratory committee of the chamber of commerce also will go, but uncertainty was expressed as to who they will be.

Meanwhile, the position of the chamber of commerce in connection with the proposed laboratory was clarified. The first endeavor for every Texas group, it was explained, is to attempt to secure the cotton laboratory for Texas, the world's greatest cotton producing area. That, in itself, will be no easy task, officials here added, because other producing areas of the south are fighting relentlessly for the laboratory.

If and when Texas should be selected for the laboratory, the explanation continued, then will be the time for Lubbock and Texas Technological college to be urged as the site for the laboratory or for one of its important branches.

Age Limit For Junior Members In Women's Clubs Set At 30

KANSAS CITY, May 17. (AP) — The General Federation of Women's clubs will operate for the next three years with the age limit for junior club members at 30 instead of 35—but independent juniors had their own ideas.

Mrs. Roberta Campbell Lawson, of Tulsa, the outgoing president, said the 2,000,000-member organization had no other recourse than to abide by last week's action despite protests of many juniors they were absent at the time.

Bill To Prohibit Disguising Of Horse Favorably Reported

BATON ROUGE, La., May 17. (AP) — The senate agriculture committee today reported favorably a bill by its chairman, Senator W. S. Gilbert of Wisner, to prohibit dyeing a horse's hair, fixing his teeth, painting his nose or otherwise disguising his age to enhaunce his value.

Announced Gilbert:

"And the bill is going to pass in a breeze too. Why, it's the most important measure this legislative session has seen."

Low Bids For Ships Offered

WASHINGTON, May 17. (AP) — The Sun Shipbuilding and Dry-Dock company of Chester, Pa., was the apparent low bidder today on contracts for building four steel cargo vessels designed to be the fastest ships of their class in American foreign trade.

The ships will be expected to make 16.5 knots per hour.

The Bethlehem Shipbuilding company of New York was low, however, on a contract for constructing all four vessels on a "fixed sum" basis. The American export lines of New York would operate the ships.

Prices Announced

On a fixed sum basis, the Sun company bid $2,750,000 for construction of a single vessel, and $2,630,000 each for construction of four ships. On the basis of a price to be adjusted to fluctuations in labor and material cost, The Sun company bid $2,650,000 for building a single ship, and $2,530,000 for each of four vessels.

Bethlehem bid only on a fixed sum basis, proposing to construct the ships at Quincy, Mass. The Bethlehem bid on a single ship was $2,893,000, and on each of four vessels, $2,559,000.

Prepared By Company

The designs were prepared by the steamship company and approved by the maritime commission which opened the bids today in connection with its ship subsidy program. Each ship would be 475 feet long and have a displacement of 14,450 tons. The cruising radius would be 15,000 miles.

The new vessels would form part of the 'steamship companies' program under an operating subsidy agreement which provides for building ten new ships as replacements in the next five years.

The merchant marine act allows the commission to award the shipping company money to make up the difference between the cost of building a ship in the United States and building abroad.

Ninth Annual Cleanup Drive Officially Ends Last Night

Carl Slaton, Lubbock mayor, delivered a 15-minute address over station KFYO Tuesday night to close officially the city's ninth annual cleanup-paintup campaign. The drive has been termed the most successful of the nine. However, much work remains in tabulating and analyzing the work in making final reports.

It will be several months before Lubbock learns whether it has won for the ninth consecutive time the trophy offered by the National Cleanup-Paintup campaign to "the cleanest city in Texas."

Two of the belated announcements of the campaign were that Mrs. Leonard Cole's room was the winner of the $2.50 prize at Guadalupe school for its record in the campaign and that D. F. Concha, pupil there, had written an essay judged to be the best descriptive of activities.

Rewards Totaling $1,200 Are Offered For Missing Girl

BRADFORD, Pa., May 17. (AP) — Rewards totaling $1,200 were offered today for "information resulting in the solution of the disappearance" of four-year-old Marjory West, after state motor Police Commissioner P. W. Foote said he believed the child had been abducted or struck by a car.

Marjory has not been seen since she wandered away from a family picnic nine days ago to pick flowers in the thick northern Pennsylvania forest.

In 1820 there were only 100 dentists in the United States.

Pete, The Perambulating Pup

A tumble from a third-story window, resulting in a broken back and paralysis of his hind quarters, slowed up Pete, a Welsh terrier belonging to Mrs. Tony Curro of San Francisco, but Pete isn't licked by a long shot. Using the two-wheeled contraption shown here, which cradles his paralyzed parts, Pete gets around ably with little Martha Currow, 4, and now and then even launches a good old-fashioned cat chase.

He's Accustomed To Water But Sandstorm Is Something Else

Royse W. Robbins has become accustomed to water in the two years he has been enlisted with the United States navy but he ran into the first sandstorm he had seen in that length of time when he arrived in Amarillo Monday en route to Lubbock to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Robbins of 520 Seventeenth street.

Robbins is a third class radio man on the U. S. S. Pennsylvania, flagship of the United States fleet. He has gone on the ship twice when it went from San Pedro, Calif., on war games to the Hawaiian islands. He enlisted in 1935 as an apprentice seaman. He was on the ship when it ran into a storm 11 days from San Pedro late in April.

La Branconne, Belgium's national song, was originally sung in 1830 during the revolution against the Dutch.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 25c. Stubbornly refuse anything else. —Adv.

Models Are Chosen For Cotton Event

Approximately 40 models had been selected and further arrangements were being made Tuesday for the annual cotton carnival sponsored by Texas Technological college chapter of Phi Psi, national textile fraternity, to be held at 8 o'clock Friday night in Senior High school auditorium.

Seven Lubbock county schools will be represented by models. They are Frenship, Roosevelt, New Deal, Shallowater, Idalou, Cooper and Lubbock.

Approximately 65 or 70 models will be chosen before Friday night, said Kendall Onsott, Lubbock student who has charge of selection of models. The young women, representing Lubbock firms, will walk across cotton bales, modeling various types of cotton clothing. The throne of King and Queen Cotton will be mounted behind the bales. J. Weldon McCarty, Lubbock, is directing arrangements for the program and decorations.

C. A. Rodgers orchestra will play and arrangements are being made for entertainment by students from Sproule, Stevens, Larrymore and Hollywood dancing schools. M. E. Heard, head professor of textile engineering, will serve as master of ceremonies, and Dean A. H. Leidigh of the agricultural division will present the opening address.

Admission price will be 25 cents.

MOTION OVERRULED

AUSTIN, May 17. (AP)—District Judge James P. Hart today overruled a defense motion to quash the indictments and ordered selection of a jury to begin in the trial of Miss Edgar Ellen Wilson, official of the state department of education, charged with extortion and misapplication of public funds.

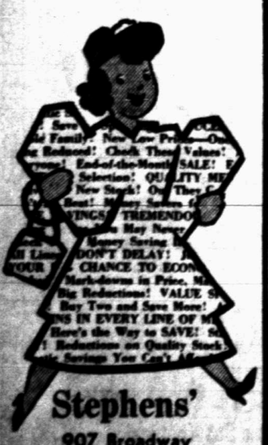

Shillings are in constant demand in England. There are 1,090,000 coin gas meters in greater London alone, and these may hold as many as 30 shillings each before they are emptied once every two months.
