J.J. KINCHELOE

Bad 'break' makes Snyder lad spectator at AJRA finals

By BILL McCLELLAN
SDN Sports Editor

The game of life can be mighty unfair sometimes and the game - or sport - of rodeo is no different.

Ask J.J. Kincheloe.

His parents put over 10,000 miles on the pickup this summer, attending every AJRA sanctioned rodeo they could find - sometimes as many as three a weekend. While mom and dad took care of the driving, J.J. did his part. Overcoming a mid-season slump, he worked his way up to the lead in the 12 and under steer riding.

By time to get ready for the AJRA National Finals Rodeo, 11 year-old J.J. was not only the best steer rider in his age group, he was also fifth in the barrels, sixth in the all-around and 12th in the ribbon roping.

Now though, he's just another spectator.

J.J. had the misfortune to be on the losing end of a one-on-one tangle with a steer while competing in Odessa. He suffered a broken elbow and spent time in the hospital here earlier this week, getting two pins put in his arm.

"It feels bad," he said, not referring to the pain the elbow was giving him, but to the deeper pain of not being able to compete. "It's hard to sit and watch. I enjoy watching, but I want to be out there," the fifth grader said during the Thursday evening performance.

It hasn't been the only injury he's suffered since he began competing just over five years ago - he cracked his wrist once - but it has been the worst. He'll still finish in the top four in the steer riding, which is a lot to be proud of.

Along with that, he can boast of winning the all around at El Paso, Carlsbad, N.M. and Corsicana this season, and taking reserve all around at Abilene. He's picked up three belt buckles for his efforts, giving him a total of 14 altogether. Well, almost 14. You see, J.J. also learned that bad things come in bunches.

"On the way home from (from Odessa) we stopped at McDonald's in Big Spring. Somebody stole my rigging bag with everything in it, including my El Paso buckle and the first buckle I ever won," said the youngster. "There was about 500 dollars worth of goods in that bag."

His first buckle had been won at the fair here in Snyder, when he took Pee Wee all around honors.

This was J.J.'s fourth year to qualify for the finals, and while

AJRA queen told tonight

Local and area cowboys and cowgirls had their day - or night - Thursday at the American Junior Rodeo Association National Finals Rodeo here.

Snyder's Adam Brewster, who bucked off his first bareback a couple of nights ago, came back to post a 68 in the event Thursday. The former national high school champion also scored the evening's best ride in the bull riding, a 69.

Brewster, who graduated from Snyder High School this year, is bound for the rodeo program at Western Texas College.

While Brewster was making his mark in the bucking events, a couple of Gail cowgirls were doing their best in the barrels. Kelly Jo Ogden blitzed the coliseum arena in 14.66 - the fastest time posted at this year's finals - and took first place in the 12 and under division.

Ralynn Key, another Gail native, won Thursday's 13-15 barrel race with a 15.06. She narrowly defeated Rocksprings' Holly Haeber, who posted a 15.07.

But area competitors weren't the only ones who brought oohs and aahs from the crowd. Cory Priest and Lari Dee Guy did their part, too.

Priest, from Lane, Okla., flashed a near-unbelievable 7.93 in the 16-19 age tiedown calf roping event, while Guy, from Abilene, zipped through the girls 13-15 breakaway roping with lightning-quick 2.15.

In a few other standout efforts:

- Jim Smith, Del Rio, timed a 5.86 in the boys 16-19 steer wrestling.

- Don Eddleman, Graham, zipped off a sensational 3.92 in the boys 16-19 ribbon roping.

- Randall Thornton, no hometown listed, scored a 71 in the boys 13-15 bull riding.

-Holly Shafer, Shallowater, timed a solid 8.01 in a slack performance of the girls 16-19 goat tying.

The rodeo continues tonight and Saturday with performances at 8 o'clock. In addition to regular activities this evening, Miss AJRA will be selected. Candidates are Leslie Ward of Snyder, Rebecca Powers of Sonora, Karen Snodgrass of Texico, N.M., Karen Cochran of Aspermont, Angie Almand of Waxahachie and Traci Christenson of Hewitt. The current Miss AJRA is Anita Balch of Sonora.

Stenholm favors balanced budget

U.S. Rep. Charles Stenholm said Friday he blamed both congress and the administration for the recent budget adoption that failed to address the crucial issues of tax revenues and spending reductions.

Stenholm, speaking to about 50 persons Friday morning in the community room of Snyder Savings and Loan, said he voted against the bill "because it was a sham on the American public."

The Stamford congressman said some folks want to blame the president, some want to blame congress but that he tended to point the finger at both.

"We were locked into a debate--no new revenues (taxes) and others who would not freeze spending." Stenholm called the budget, passed last month, "the best we could do."

Stenholm said he voted against the budget because meaningful deficit reductions cannot be achieved until there are spending reductions.

"History won't smile on our generation." He noted that the military portion of the budget passed by the house called for $292 billion while the budget passed has $302 billion.

Stenholm said he is concerned that $1 trillion has been added to the budget deficit in the past five years. He said he is encouraged that people outside the 17th District are beginning to share his concern.

Stenholm cited funds spent on agriculture during the Reagan administration. "This administration has spent $30 million more than Carter, but farmers are in no better shape."

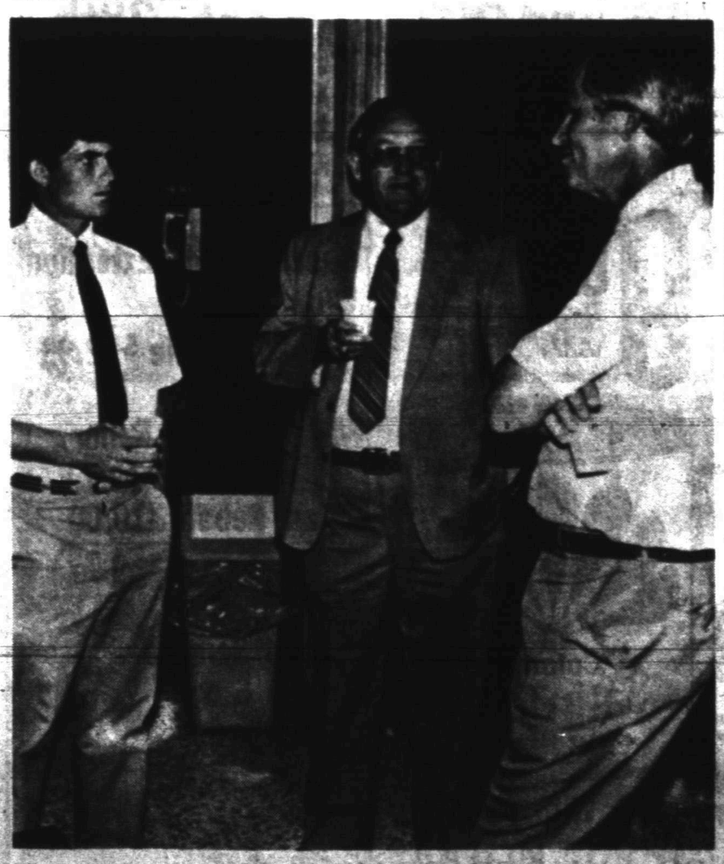

Stenholm said a farm bill would be passed by the House by October and it will include target prices at the same level and a supply management program to control production. "We have to have a more market-oriented farm program," Stenholm said.

Stenholm said he would support tax reform, but suggested that a bill for presidential signature would not be available before early next year.

"There is going to be a tax reform bill passed by the house and senate, but I won't speculate of whether we can get a conference bill that the president will sign.

Stenholm said a tax reform bill

Q.–If taxes are increased by 3 percent, is it a state law that it come before the public for a vote?

A.–No. If the effective tax rate increase is 3 percent or more, the taxing body must conduct a public hearing on the intent to increase the tax rate. If the tax rate increase is eight percent or more, taxpayers could petition for an election to rollback taxes.

In Brief

Failed bank

FARMERS BRANCH, Texas (AP) — The Park West Bank, closed by the Comptroller of the Currency after being crippled by soured energy loans, will reopen Monday under a new charter as the Park West State Bank, the Federal Insurance Deposit Corp. says.

The FDIC declared the 2-year-old suburban Dallas bank insolvent at 3 p.m. Thursday. Two hours later, the agency said its board had approved the transfer of the bank's $11.4 million in insured deposits to the new state bank.

The bank had another $5.5 million not covered by insurance because those accounts exceeded the $100,000 insurance limit, the FDIC said.

In an unusual addition to its statement about the bank closing, the FDIC also criticized the Bureau of Indian Affairs for its selection of banks for its deposits.

Man charged

Snyder police detectives jailed a 71-year-old Snyder man shortly before 4 p.m. Thursday on a charge of indecency with a child.

Jerry William Grimes of 1010 23rd St. was released from custody Thursday afternoon after posting a $1,500 bond in connection with the charge.

The indecency charge alleges that he had improperly touched or fondled a 4-year-old girl.

More charges

Scurry County Sheriff's officers Thursday filed two additional burglary charges against a 31-year-old suspect arrested Monday.

Edward Ray Whitehead of Lake Thomas — in jail since Monday charged with three lake area burglaries and one arson — was charged Thursday with the July 16 burglary of a lake cabin owned by T. B. Hale of Snyder and the Jan. 15 burglary of a cabin owned by L. W. Harris of Big Spring.

Routine questioning of Whitehead led investigators to file the additional charges.

They reported that miscellaneous household items from the Hale cabin — which burned on the night of July 16 — and a chest of drawers and small table from the Harris cabin were recovered Thursday.

Bonds for Whitehead have been set at $5,000 in each case.

Jimmy Carr, in the Vernon Daily Record, noted that in Boston, Mass., children actually get on a waiting list to attend the Emily Post Camp.

It's hard to imagine kids eager to attend a one-week camp devoted entirely to learning good manners. Carr suggested that camp mentality–learning specialized skills in a group setting–is a tool often overlooked.

"The camp mystique is hard to explain. Maybe just the thrill of getting away from home is sufficient reason to endure less-than-desirable facilities, strict regimens and harrassment from counselors. It may just be the prestige involved in being able to say, 'I survived summer camp.'

Carr had some suggestions for teaching other basic skills.

"Camp Wet-A-Huggie: The fun way for toddlers to become toliet trained. Daily classes available on recognizing and responding to nature's call, how to wait with grace until a bathroom is available, and flushing with finesse.

"Camp Neatness Counts: Competition, merit badges and rewards help camp members learn the fine art of keeping one's room clean and tidy. Team sports include bed-making relays, vacuum relays and laundry basket marksmanship.

"Spike Jones Music Appreciation Camp: Campers exposed to a wide variety of musical sounds and styles, and learn to explore the world beyond Prince and Twisted Sister. Those attending will be given instruction on how to listen at less than full volume.

"Camp Sans-A-Bell: Pioneer values are emphasized as camp members spend an entire week without telephones. Activities include special exercises to strengthen arms locked into position from holding a telephone receiver, and elocution lessons in which the youngsters are actually required to speak to someone else face-to-face."

Tail was lost before accident

TOKYO (AP) — American aviation experts today flew by helicopter to a remote mountain ridge where 520 people died in the crash of a Japan Air Lines jumbo jet. New evidence was found that indicated the plane's tail section had disintegrated in flight.

The Americans — from the Federal Aviation Administration, the National Transportation Board and the Boeing Commercial Airplane Co. which built the plane — carried cameras and were dressed in mountain-climbing gear. The group was accompanied by Japanese investigators.

At one point, a Japanese official pointed to an adjoining ridge where a gap in the solid treeline indicated the plane, fighting for altitude, had plowed through before smashing into the steep mountainside on Monday.

It was the worst single-plane crash in air history. Only four people of the 524 abaord the 747 survived. There were six Americans among the 22 foreigns on board.

Japan Broadcasting Corp. reported searchers located a piece of the vertical stabilizer on another mountainside some distance from the crash site, along the path of the stricken Boeing 747SR.

Police in Kanagawa prefecture said a piece of heat insulating board, possibly from the plane, was found at the shore of Sagami Bay, south of Tokyo, where several other chunks of tail section debris were recovered earlier.

The stabilizer and other parts of the plane's tail section were found in the sea, about 90 miles from the crash site.

Japan's largest daily newspaper, the Yomiuru Shimbun, published a grainy photograph taken by an amateur photographer, showing a silhouetted jet flying overhead with most of its tail fin, including the rudder, missing.

If authentic, the picture could provide evidence in determining what caused the crash.

The photographer, Keiichi Yamazaki, said in a telephone interview he was in his garden in Okutama, 40 miles west of Tokyo, at 6:50 p.m. Monday when he noticed the plane "flying very low, with a lot of noise."

It was unusual, he said, because aircraft rarely fly over the area where he lives. "I grabbed my camera and took one shot. Then the plane disappeared," Yamazaki, 43, said.

The jetliner vanished from Tokyo air controllers' radar screens at 7:04 p.m. Yamazaki lives about 30 miles east of the crash site.

JAL spokesman Geoffrey Tudor said the company was aware of the picture but had not obtained a copy of it or the negative. He said JAL officials did not doubt its authenticity.

Japan Transport Ministry officials said Thursday that preliminary evidence indicated that the plane suffered tail section failure shortly after takeoff from Tokyo's Haneda airport during the one-hour flight to Osaka.

They ordered immediate inspection of tail sections on the 69 jumbo jets flown by Japan's four commercial carriers.

City manager resigns amid controversy in Beaumont

BEAUMONT, Texas (AP) — The fire chief of this fiancially troubled city was named interim city manager after the city manager resigned amid controversy surrounding Beaumont's $20 million securities investment loss.

City Manager Karl Nollenberger submitted his resignation letter effective Oct. 1 to City Council and Mayor Bill Neild on Thursday. Nollenberger was not in his office Thursday, a secretary in his office said.

"It is important that the city manager maintain the ability to serve as a facilitator of community issues and problems," Nollenberger said in his letter. "When the city manager becomes the issue, that ability is impaired."

Fire Chief Pete Sheldon will replace Nollenberger, who assumed the post in May 1983, as interim city manager, the City Council decided after a closed-door meeting Thursday afternoon.

On Tuesday night, several hundred people attended a City Council meeting and cheered when speakers called for Nollenberger's resignation.

The demand came after Nollenberger handed council members a proposed 1985-86 budget that includes layoffs for more than 130 city workers.

The $74 million budget plan is about $12 million less than the 1984-85 budget.

The city lost $20 million in March when ESM Government Securities Inc. of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., failed. City officials discovered that the company had never put the investment in Beaumont's name.

Plaque presented to Dr. Ben Brock

Dr. Ben Brock was presented a plaque recognizing his service to the Senior Citizens Center at a meeting of the center's Advisory Council Wednesday.

Dr. Brock has resigned his position as executive vice president at Western Texas College and will be leaving the Advisory Council as well.

The council gave its approval to plans for selling advertisements in the Senior Center's monthly newsletter. The newsletter is mailed to about 1,000 senior citizens and other interested persons, Gloria Shaw, Senior Center director, said, and the advertising would help offset the cost of having the newsletter printed and mailed. The newsletter provides a link with the center for many senior citizens, she pointed out, and a calendar of events in the center is included each month.

The Golden K Kiwanis Club, which meets in the center each Tuesday, has provided funds to purchase a new 100-cup coffee maker for the center, the council was told. The club has donated numerous items in the past.

24-year old killed preparing for storm

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) — A 24-year-old man was killed when he attempted to pull his boat out of the water in preparation for Hurricane Danny, officials say.

Robert Henry Johnson, 24, of Houston was pronounced dead at 7 p.m. Wednesday after being electrocuted when the boat he was pulling out of the water hit a power line, Galveston Medical Examiner Ray Lease said Thursday night.

Witnesses said Johnson was electrocuted when he got out of his truck at Tike Island Village to check on his boat.

Compassion Is the Main Course When Dining With the Disabled

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1985 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I've never written before but now I need your thoughts on a subject that really bothers me. I don't know how to put this delicately, but what is your opinion of people who take persons who are unable to eat normally to high-class restaurants? I mean people who have had strokes, can't eat without drooling and make a terrible mess.

A co-worker told me that he and his wife went to a lovely restaurant for a relaxing evening, only to be seated right next to a family that included a woman who had to be fed. He said there appeared to be more food coming out than going in and it looked like she was vomiting. He said it was revolting, and it spoiled his appetite.

This kind of stuff doesn't bother me because I'm a nurse, but I can understand how some people might not be able to tolerate it.

If people want to take someone out who can't eat normally, out of consideration to the other diners, why don't they request an out-of-the-way table?

SEES BOTH SIDES

DEAR SEES: Most people with special needs do request an out-of-the-way table, but it's not always possible to accommodate them. Those who cannot eat normally desperately need to get out and dine in a lovely restaurant, and their friends and families deserve commendation for taking them. If one happens to encounter a "revolting" sight, he need only turn his head and avoid looking in that direction again. I, too, can see both sides—but my plea is for more compassion and understanding on the part of the "other diners."

DEAR ABBY: I am a 55-year-old male. In my youth, I hitchhiked great distances—even coast to coast. I was given rides by many kind and interesting people. Only in one situation did I have any concern for my personal safety, and that came to nothing.

In recent years I have not picked up hitchhikers, but when my wife passes on (she is terminally ill) I plan to travel extensively by car. Long stretches of highway driving will be lonely, and I would gladly give rides to strangers for companionship if I could substantially reduce the risk of robbery or worse.

Abby, is it safe to pick up hitchhikers? And what measures can a driver take to reduce the risk if he does give someone a ride?

TACOMA READER

DEAR READER: No, it is NOT "safe." For 100 percent protection, pick up nobody. I would offer a would-be hitchhiker the same advice. Sorry, but we're living in crazy times.

DEAR ABBY: To avoid "surprising" a bride with an engagement ring she may not like, I submit the following idea. It was used by my husband many years ago when he went to buy me a wrist watch but didn't have the slightest idea about my taste:

He bought a cheap toy watch, took it to a fine local jeweler and asked him to place it in one of their lovely boxes together with a handwritten certificate stating: "Redeemable for a real watch of your choice with all my love. Happy Birthday!"

It was a romantic (and sensible) solution to a possible problem. The same idea would work for an engagement ring.

Your Birthday

Aug. 17, 1985

An important project that you started, but abandoned, will be revitalized in the year ahead. This time you'll do what's required to make it work.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Financial dealings may not go as well for you as you'd like today. However, you can still make the most from a bum deal. Major changes are ahead for Leos in the coming year. Send for your Astro-Graph predicitions today. Mail $1 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) The solution to a difficult problem can be found today if you look at it from the opposite angle. Be flexible in your thinking.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Don't be hesitant about returning something you bought recently if you find you can get the same merchandise at a better price elsewhere.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov.22) Try to keep life's true values in proper perspective today. Put your stock in love and friendship and not in material things.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Pace your actions carefully today in competitive situations. Time is your ally so don't make your big move prematurely.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Strive to be mindful of the needs and opinions of people with whom you're involved today. If what you propose is for the general good, all will be harmonious.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Let the other person state his terms first if you're making an agreement today. What he has to offer may be better than you'd ask.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 19) If you require a sounding board to bounce your ideas off today, select a person you love and respect instead of one who is unnearing and opinionated.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Try to schedule your more tasty tasks for the afternoon. Early in the day, you could be a trifle careless or even indifferent regarding your work.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Subdue temptations to buy impulsively today. Items or merchandise that look good at first glance might not hold up under closer scrutiny.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Do not make commitments today without first considering their ramifications. You won't be excused from your agreements because of hasty judgments.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) It's best to have someone double-check any important work you perform today. They could spot mistakes that might not be apparent to you.

Quilts in a dairy barn

By BARBARA MAYER
AP Newsfeatures

It's known as The Dairy Barn, and once it was home to a herd of dairy cows. But nowadays any stray cow who happened to turn up would surely feel out of place.

The Dairy Barn of Athens, Ohio, has become a cultural arts center. In what was once a demonstration barn, artists and craftsmen and their patrons come by the thousands to enjoy activities which range from exhibitions of contemporary art to a national competition for jigsaw puzzle aficionados.

It's one more example of the unorthodox ways in which Americans are working to preserve historic structures by dedicating them to new uses.

When the State of Ohio announced in 1977 that it would raze the classic barn structure constructed in 1914, local residents rallied to save it. The barn once housed dairy cattle used in the Athens Mental Health Center's activity therapy program and was a classic example of barn architectue in the southeastern Ohio area.

The community opted to turn it into a cultural arts center and beginning in 1978 the transformation began. First, the 200-by-35-foot building was placed on the National Register of Historic Places and renovations were begun.

Currently over 7,000 square feet of floor space make it the largest exhibition space in the area. Eventually, it is hoped, an amphitheater for performing arts and additional space for offices, classrooms and a shop will be part of the complex.

Since 1978, the organization that administers it has grown from an all-volunteer group totally dependent on grants to a national art center which is 85 percent self-supporting through rentals and admission fees. Volunteers are still important, but the organization is also able to afford a paid staff.

Among programs which draw crowds from all over the country and abroad are "Quilt National," a biennial exhibition of contemporary art quilts, held in July, and the National Jigsaw Puzzle Championships held in August.

Quilt National recently completed its fourth presentation and will be traveling to museums in the Chicago area, Los Angeles, Racine, Wis., and other cities for two years.

The show which was held for the first time in 1979 at The Dairy Barn is credited with being the first important national exhibition of contemporary American pieced quilts, designed as artworks, not as bed coverings. The exhibitions and accompanying catalog helped establish quilting as a contemporary art form, according to crafts authorities.

This year, as usual, there were a number of special workshops taught by quilt artists which attracted quilters not only from this country but also from abroad. Entries to the juried competition (whose prize is exhibition in the show) came from England, Switzerland, France, Australia, West Germany and Japan, as well as from the United States.

The quilt show attracted 5,500 people in four weeks, according to Pamela S. Parker, The Dairy Barn's executive director, who said "45 percent came from Ohio and 55 percent from out of state. Individuals from Japan, Ireland, Switzerland and Argentina visited."

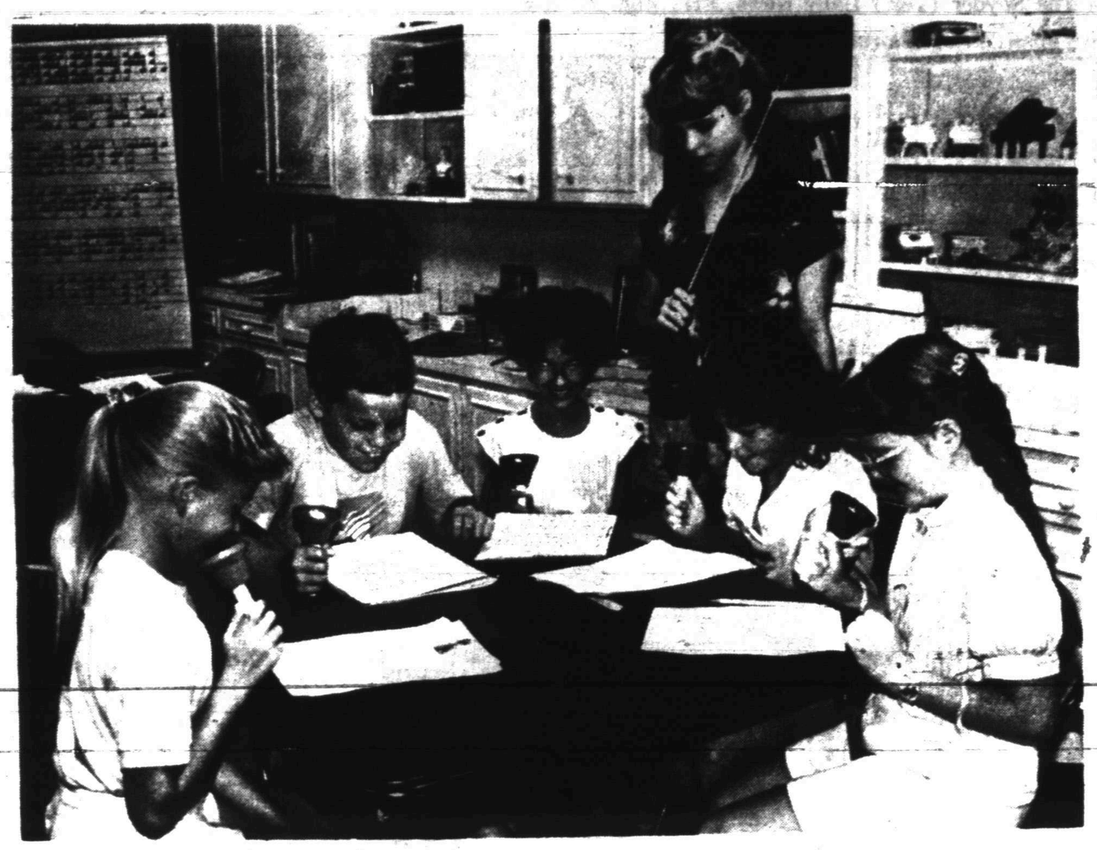

In August, a different type of event takes place. That's when the fourth annual National Jigsaw Puzzle Championships, jointly sponsored by The Dairy Barn and Hallmark, begin.

Approximately 750 people race one another and the clock to see who can put together a puzzle fastest. Winners of the semifinals compete the next day for cash awards ranging from $100 to $1,000.

Another aspect of the same event is an exhibition of prizewinning designs and of antique puzzles.

These events also bring people from many other states and some foreign countries to the southeastern corner of Ohio in the summer. But other events that attract a loyal local following include a Labor Day Weekend craft and folk music festival and a national exhibition of contemporary works in wood from Sept. 20 to Oct. 20.

Individuals interested in obtaining information about the The Dairy Barn's programs can write to the group at P.O. Box 747, Athens, OH 45701.

MUSIC WORKSHOP — Lynn Bethel's music students in grades two through five participated in a music workshop this week. Workshop activities included skill drills, melodic and rhythmic dictation, ensemble work at three pianos, handbells, lunch, music game time and swimming. A similar workshop for grades six through nine is set for Aug. 19 with grades nine through 12 meeting Aug. 26. Working with handbells are (left to right) Carrie West, Kyle Martin, Alicia Kubena of Hermleigh, Kasi Campbell of Fluvanna and Regina McNair. Directing the group is Michelle Holmes of Ira. New products to aid craftsmen available

THE PRODUCT — A cordless portable drill with five settings.

Manufacturer's claim — That this drill has four settings for a variety of jobs ranging from putting screws through metal without stripping them to running moderate-sized fasteners into wood or plastic anchors ... that the fifth setting turns the tool into a regular drill ... that the drill is ideal for assembly work and construction where the operator must move quickly from place to place ... that the drill is powered by an eightcell, 9.6-volt power pack that fits into the handle ... that the power pack can be recharged off the usual 120-volt house current or off a 12-volt auto battery via the cigarette lighter ... and that the tool weighs only 3½ pounds. ——

THE PRODUCT — An antirust compound that converts rust into a bonded material.

Manufacturer's claim — That this bonded material is even stronger than the previously rusted surface ... that it is so dense that it prevents moisture and oxygen from penetrating the metal, thus keeping away any new rust ... that it can be applied with a paint brush or roller ... that its gloss black finish can be left as is or used as a paint primer ... that it does not contain phosphoric acid or lead and is non-toxic ... and that it can be purchased in 8, 16 and 32-ounce sizes, as well as larger industrial sizes. ——

THE PRODUCT — An acrylic latex masonry coating that sheds dirt, resists mildew and stays clean longer than conventional masonry coatings.

Manufacturer's claim — That this new coating provides increased flexibility for improved crack and blister resistance ... that it will fill and cover hairline cracks ... that it is impervious to wind-driven rain and will block moisture ... that it may be applied by brush, roller or airless spray on concrete block, concrete, stucco or most previously painted surfaces ... and that it is available in a wide selection of colors. ——

THE PRODUCT — A cyanocrylate glue in gel form.

Manufacturer's claim — That this glue is extra thick and easy to use ... that it has the same bonding power of regular cyanocrylate glue, plus all the conveniences of a gel ... that it spreads evenly and fills gaps ... that it works well on semiporous materials, plastics, metal, glass, rubber and ceramics ... and that it also bonds wood and soft leather. —— breath that East would not ruff), and everything came up roses. Dummy had the lead at the right time and 10 tricks were made.

Have you seen how the contract could have been defeated? West must lead a heart after taking three diamond tricks. That takes an entry from dummy before declarer discovers the bad trump split. How should West know that South has the club ace? South would hardly jump to three spades without that card.

Creating an extra entry

By James Jacoby

Normally the purpose of taking a finesse is to win a trick. In the play of today's hand, a finesse was taken simply to create an extra entry to dummy. Let's see why the entry was needed.

West cashed three diamond tricks against four spades. Then, on the offchance that East might hold an ace, he led a club. Declarer won the ace and played the ace and king of spades. When West showed out on the second spade, declarer had his work cut out for him. He had to reduce his trump length to that of East by ruffing twice and then be in dummy at trick 12 to force East to ruff in front of declarer's Q-10. Thus the heart finesse was imperative not for the trick, but for the entry.

South played a heart to the jack and ruffed a club, played a heart to the king and ruffed another club. Now back to the heart ace (holding his

Dorsett back in 'Poke camp; he's glad to be working out

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) - After ending his 25-day-old holdout, running back Tony Dorsett says he's going to put away the name-calling and put on his Dallas Cowboys practice gear today for a team workout.

"I'm happy to be back and I never thought I'd say that about training camp," Dorsett said Thursday as he arrived at the National Football League team's training camp. "It's been an ordeal."

After meeting with his attorneys in Los Angeles to go over his new five-year contract, Dorsett met with Cowboys president Tex Schramm for more than an hour, met with the media for 20 minutes and then went to a local hospital to take his camp physical.

Although Dorsett was to practice with the team today, Coach Tom Landry said the running back will not play Saturday night in San Diego and will see his first game action Aug. 26 in Texas Stadium against Chicago.

"I just want to be a part of this team, and I'm extremely happy," he said Thursday. "Through all this, there has been a lot of things said, some that shouldn't have been. Apologies have been made and I owe an apology to the fans of America."

Dorsett was to be paid $450,000, $500,000 and $550,000 the next three seasons. Instead, he'll get $450,000 for each of the next three years and $500,000 a year in a two-year contract extension.

He is to get annuity payments of $300,000 annually from 1993-2012, a total of $6 million. In addition to getting $450,000 between the time he retires and when the annuity payments begin, he has a five-year, $850,000 real estate deal set up by the Cowboys.

Dorsett, a nine-year veteran who has "no bad feelings" towards the Cowboys now, said he decided to come back last weekend after watching the Dallas-Green Bay exhibition game on satellite-fed television.

Dorsett said he is at his playing weight of 185 pounds and ready to play. He added that he is "on a mission now to help this team gain some respect. Last year we lost some and I'm back to help get it back."

Brock appears strong for Rams

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) - Quarterback Dieter Brock is not wasting any time adapting to his new surroundings.

The expatriot of the Canadian Football League is being thrown in as a starter for the Los Angeles Rams this year without the benefit of any experience in the National Football League.

His performance in the Rams' 39-7 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals Thursday night made Brock look like a man well beyond his years with the NFL.

"I thought Dieter Brock had a perfect game at quarterback," said Los Angeles Coach John Robinson. "He looked like he had played in the NFL for 11 or 12 years."

Brock, 34, completed 13 of 24 passes for 165 yards against the Cardinals and moved the Rams up and down the field almost flawlessly. His teammates, however, were not surprised.

"I knew from day one when I saw him that he had an arm," said running back Barry Redden, who scored two touchdowns and ran for 109 yards in the first half of the game.

"I think he can lead us to a Super Bowl."

The Cardinals-Rams game was the only NFL contest played Thursday night.

On Friday, Detroit is at Seattle, while Saturday's games have Indianapolis at Chicago, the New York Jets at Cincinnati, Philadelphia at Cleveland, Pittsburgh at Minnesota, Atlanta at Tampa Bay, Buffalo at Miami, Green Bay at the New York Giants, Houston at New Orleans, New England at Kansas City and Dallas at San Diego.

On Sunday, Washington will be at the Los Angeles Raiders, while Denver travels to San Francisco Monday night.

'Pennant pressure' building; Cards regain share of first

by The Associated Press

Pennant pressure is starting to build in the National League East, a division where you sometimes need to win more than once a day to stay in first place.

The St. Louis Cardinals proved that to the New York Mets Thursday, sweeping a doubleheader from the Pittsburgh Pirates, 3-1 and 4-3, while the Mets could manage only a 10-7 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

The Cardinals regained a share of first place in the NL East as they tied the Mets at 69-43. Ozzie Smith finished the day with a bases-loaded walk in the 12th inning, forcing in the winning run. Smith acknowledged growing pressure in the division.

"In many cases, it's not always good to be in first place unless you can sit out there with a six- to seven-game lead," Smith said. "When you're having to win, it's tough to win every day."

Darrell Porter's two-run single and Kurt Kepshire's eight-inning, five-hit pitching led the Cardinals to victory in the first game.

The Cardinals have won eight of nine - the losses were the Nos. 8 and 9 in a row for Pittsburgh. The Pirates, since a 6-3 triumph July 22 at Los Angeles, have lost 14 straight contests away from home.

In other National League games, Los Angeles rallied past Atlanta 5-4, Cincinnati beat San Diego 5-4, Houston defeated San Francisco 4-1 and Montreal downed Chicago 7-3.

Bill Campbell, 3-2, pitched the final inning for St. Louis and picked up the victory.

Willie McGee singled and scored twice in the nightcap, helped by two of starter Bob Walk's balks. McGee, improving his league-leading batting average to .361, had five hits on the day but suffered a slight ankle sprain in the second game.

Andy Van Slyke hit his ninth homer of the year and Tommy Herr had four hits in the nightcap.

Mets 10, Phillies 7

Though they scored five runs off Dwight Gooden in five innings, the Phillies and their five pitchers could not hold off the Mets. Gooden's no-decision kept his personal 12-game winning streak intact.

Len Dykstra's two-out ground-rule double broke a 7-7 tie in the eighth inning, and the Mets added two more runs in the inning on a three-base error by Von Hayes in left field.

The Mets have won 10 of 11. The Phillies have lost six of eight.

Tom Paciorek, Gary Carter and Rav Knight homered off Philadelphia starter Jerry Koosman in the first inning for a 5-1 lead. Backman started the Mets' first with a walk and Paciorek hit his first homer. One out later, Carter hit his 17th of the year, and, after George Foster walked, Knight hit his fifth.

Dodgers 5, Braves 4

Pinch-hitter Terry Whitfield's two-out, two-run homer in the bottom of the eighth inning gave Los Angeles a seventh straight victory. Fernando Valenzuela, 14-8, also won his seventh straight.

Kicking game could be key asset for SHS

The hitting was sharp and crisp at the Ragin' Tiger football camp this morning, where workouts began with pads for the first time.

Meanwhile, the kicking game - which could prove to be one of the club's strongest areas this season - is getting a special look.

"We have five kicking teams and we emphasize that there is a starting place for everybody," said Coach Dennis Tomlin. "The kicking game is a good place for someone to play who might not get to play as much as he'd like elsewhere."

Snyder brings back punters Mike McWilliams and Ricky Hunter, to the fold this season. Both have looked good in workouts.

"Mike worked out all summer. He's been hitting the ball well. Of course, Ricky is punting well also. We feel real good about our punting. We've got two kids back who punted in varsity games last year," said Tomlin.

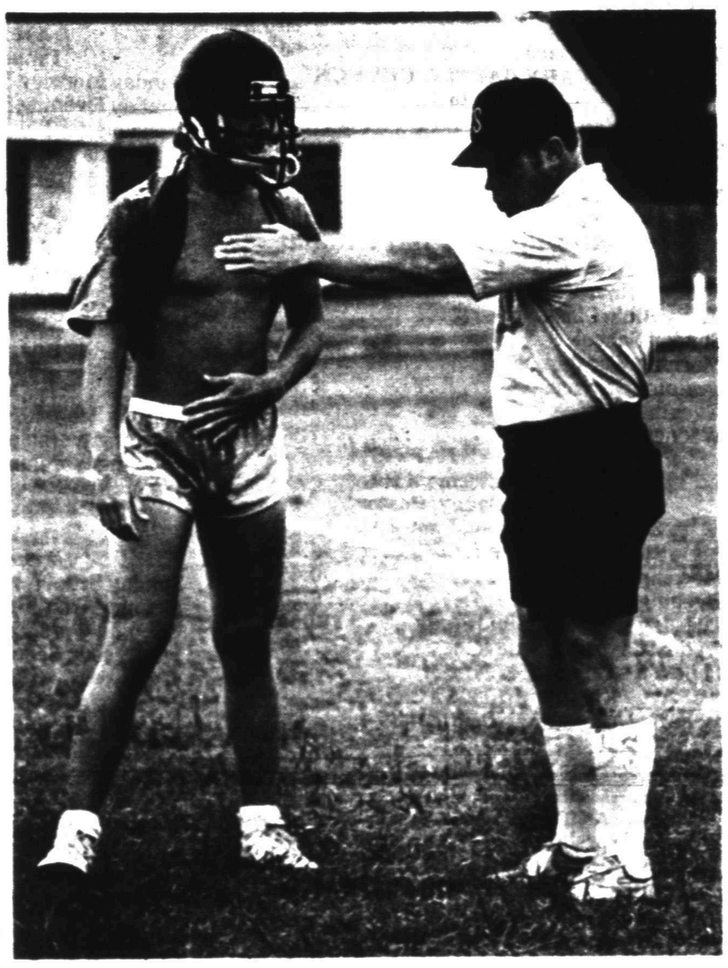

Hunter is also back to do the extra point work, although he is getting a strong challenge from soccer-style kicker Mitch Page, who came up from the junior varsity.

"They've got a tough battle going right now," said Tomlin. "Again, we think we've got a good chance to be strong in that area as well."

Page has the edge right now in kickoffs though Hunter is a good prospect in that regard, too.

As far as the return game goes, "we're trying a lot of kids in that area," Tomlin said. "Right now, we're looking for the right combination. All the kids are catching the ball well."

Return men will likely come from a group made up of Reggie Price, Craig Watkins, Todd Odom, Todd Pollard, Jeff Rose, Patrick Malone and Earl Ware.

LIKE THIS – Coach Levon Webb tells Jake Menix how it wants it done at the Tiger workout camp. Workouts have been sharp this week. The Tigers put on pads this morning and began some hitting drills. In a brief interview, Head Coach Dennis Tomlin focused on the kicking game. See article, this page. (SDN Staff Photo)

New bribery trial three weeks away

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - A state judge said another trial will begin in three weeks on sports bribery charges against John "Hot Rod" Williams, the former Tulane University star accused of fixing two basketball games.

District Judge Alvin Oser granted a mistrial on Thursday after agreeing with defense lawyers that prosecutors used dirty tricks in trying to win a conviction.

"The case is back in its original position again," Oser said after granting the mistrial.

Assistant district attorney Bruce Whittaker said he would appeal the mistrial order. Oser gave him a week to take his plea to the state's 4th Circuit Court of Appeal.

Williams is accused of three counts of conspiring to fix basketball games and two counts of accepting bribes to shave points in games against Southern Mississippi and Memphis State. The counts carry a maximum total penalty of 17 years in jail and $35,000 in fines.

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) - Quarterback Dieter Brock is not wasting any time adapting to his new surroundings.

The expatriot of the Canadian Football League is being thrown in as a starter for the Los Angeles Rams this year without the benefit of any experience in the National Football League.

His performance in the Rams' 39-7 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals Thursday night made Brock look like a man well beyond his years with the NFL.

"I thought Dieter Brock had a perfect game at quarterback," said Los Angeles Coach John Robinson. "He looked like he had played in the NFL for 11 or 12 years."

Brock, 34, completed 13 of 24 passes for 165 yards against the Cardinals and moved the Rams up and down the field almost flawlessly. His teammates, however, were not surprised.

"I knew from day one when I saw him that he had an arm," said running back Barry Redden, who scored two touchdowns and ran for 109 yards in the first half of the game.

"I think he can lead us to a Super Bowl."

The Cardinals-Rams game was the only NFL contest played Thursday night.

On Friday, Detroit is at Seattle, while Saturday's games have Indianapolis at Chicago, the New York Jets at Cincinnati, Philadelphia at Cleveland, Pittsburgh at Minnesota, Atlanta at Tampa Bay, Buffalo at Miami, Green Bay at the New York Giants, Houston at New Orleans, New England at Kansas City and Dallas at San Diego.

On Sunday, Washington will be at the Los Angeles Raiders, while Denver travels to San Francisco Monday night.

'Pennant pressure' building; Cards regain share of first

by The Associated Press

Pennant pressure is starting to build in the National League East, a division where you sometimes need to win more than once a day to stay in first place.

The St. Louis Cardinals proved that to the New York Mets Thursday, sweeping a doubleheader from the Pittsburgh Pirates, 3-1 and 4-3, while the Mets could manage only a 10-7 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

The Cardinals regained a share of first place in the NL East as they tied the Mets at 69-43. Ozzie Smith finished the day with a bases-loaded walk in the 12th inning, forcing in the winning run. Smith acknowledged growing pressure in the division.

"In many cases, it's not always good to be in first place unless you can sit out there with a six- to seven-game lead," Smith said. "When you're having to win, it's tough to win every day."

Darrell Porter's two-run single and Kurt Kepshire's eight-inning, five-hit pitching led the Cardinals to victory in the first game.

The Cardinals have won eight of nine - the losses were the Nos. 8 and 9 in a row for Pittsburgh. The Pirates, since a 6-3 triumph July 22 at Los Angeles, have lost 14 straight contests away from home.

In other National League games, Los Angeles rallied past Atlanta 5-4, Cincinnati beat San Diego 5-4, Houston defeated San Francisco 4-1 and Montreal downed Chicago 7-3.

Bill Campbell, 3-2, pitched the final inning for St. Louis and picked up the victory.

Willie McGee singled and scored twice in the nightcap, helped by two of starter Bob Walk's balks. McGee, improving his league-leading batting average to .361, had five hits on the day but suffered a slight ankle sprain in the second game.

Andy Van Slyke hit his ninth homer of the year and Tommy Herr had four hits in the nightcap.

Mets 10, Phillies 7

Though they scored five runs off Dwight Gooden in five innings, the Phillies and their five pitchers could not hold off the Mets. Gooden's no-decision kept his personal 12-game winning streak intact.

Len Dykstra's two-out ground-rule double broke a 7-7 tie in the eighth inning, and the Mets added two more runs in the inning on a three-base error by Von Hayes in left field.

The Mets have won 10 of 11. The Phillies have lost six of eight.

Tom Paciorek, Gary Carter and Rav Knight homered off Philadelphia starter Jerry Koosman in the first inning for a 5-1 lead. Backman started the Mets' first with a walk and Paciorek hit his first homer. One out later, Carter hit his 17th of the year, and, after George Foster walked, Knight hit his fifth.

Dodgers 5, Braves 4

Pinch-hitter Terry Whitfield's two-out, two-run homer in the bottom of the eighth inning gave Los Angeles a seventh straight victory. Fernando Valenzuela, 14-8, also won his seventh straight.

New bribery trial three weeks away

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - A state judge said another trial will begin in three weeks on sports bribery charges against John "Hot Rod" Williams, the former Tulane University star accused of fixing two basketball games.

District Judge Alvin Oser granted a mistrial on Thursday after agreeing with defense lawyers that prosecutors used dirty tricks in trying to win a conviction.

"The case is back in its original position again," Oser said after granting the mistrial.

Assistant district attorney Bruce Whittaker said he would appeal the mistrial order. Oser gave him a week to take his plea to the state's 4th Circuit Court of Appeal.

Williams is accused of three counts of conspiring to fix basketball games and two counts of accepting bribes to shave points in games against Southern Mississippi and Memphis State. The counts carry a maximum total penalty of 17 years in jail and $35,000 in fines.

Kicking game could be key asset for SHS

The hitting was sharp and crisp at the Ragin' Tiger football camp this morning, where workouts began with pads for the first time.

Meanwhile, the kicking game - which could prove to be one of the club's strongest areas this season - is getting a special look.

"We have five kicking teams and we emphasize that there is a starting place for everybody," said Coach Dennis Tomlin. "The kicking game is a good place for someone to play who might not get to play as much as he'd like elsewhere."

Snyder brings back punters Mike McWilliams and Ricky Hunter, to the fold this season. Both have looked good in workouts.

"Mike worked out all summer. He's been hitting the ball well. Of course, Ricky is punting well also. We feel real good about our punting. We've got two kids back who punted in varsity games last year," said Tomlin.

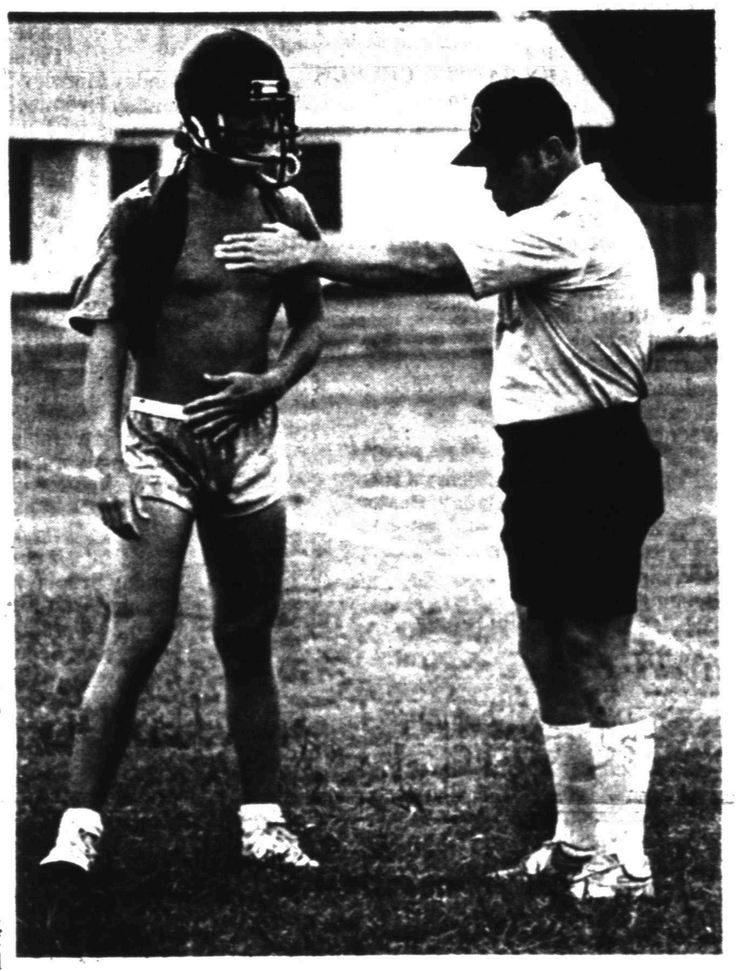

Hunter is also back to do the extra point work, although he is getting a strong challenge from soccer-style kicker Mitch Page, who came up from the junior varsity.

"They've got a tough battle going right now," said Tomlin. "Again, we think we've got a good chance to be strong in that area as well."

Page has the edge right now in kickoffs though Hunter is a good prospect in that regard, too.

As far as the return game goes, "we're trying a lot of kids in that area," Tomlin said. "Right now, we're looking for the right combination. All the kids are catching the ball well."

Return men will likely come from a group made up of Reggie Price, Craig Watkins, Todd Odom, Todd Pollard, Jeff Rose, Patrick Malone and Earl Ware.

Be cautious about radiation

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My doctor has suggested that I take a test that will require me to spend two hours in nuclear medicine. (The test is the thallium treadmill exam.) I am concerned about possible overexposure to radiation. Should I be?

DEAR READER — The thallium treadmill test does, indeed, involve radioactive material, but the amount is small and may well be justified by the important information that it provides. The test will give a reasonably accurate indication about the presence — or absepce — of arteriosclerotic heart disease.

Nonetheless, there may be another manner in which the doctor can learn about your heart. Perhaps a standard treadmill test, without thallium, would be sufficient. Ask him. I advise patients who may understandably concerned about radiation exposure to request that their doctors convince them — with sound logic — if X-ray or radioisotope exams are necessary. I believe that informed consumer-patients need to become involved in decisions like this, and not leave it up to the doctor because he "knows more." It's your body, and you have a right to decide how it is used and tested.

Most doctors are willing to explain why they want special tests. I'm sure yours will, too — if you ask him. On the other hand, if he is one of those "let-me-make-the-decision" types, consider changing to another physician who will be more sympathetic to your concerns. In general, you will receive more satisfactory care from a doctor who works with you and your family as a team.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I have trouble sleeping, really major problems. I have been unable to find a doctor who is willing to do much more than give me sleeping pills. I don't like to take medicine and I think it can be dangerous. Any suggestions?

DEAR READER — There are so many causes of disordered sleep that I could not possily advise you in a column of this length. However, many university hospitals have sleep-disorder labs. These are staffed by specialists who deal only with various forms of insomnia. Rather than staying awake worrying about your lack of sleeping, you might consider contracting a sleep center. Ask your doctor for a referral or get on the phone, during daylight hours, and call a university hospital in your area.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I read that a small amount of sodium fluoride in your drinking water will slow or stop the depletion of calcium from the bones of old people. Is this true?

DEAR READER — Yes. Sodium fluoride taken in drinking water or pill form will strengthen the bones of elderly people. Ordinarily, however, the amount needed is greater than that usually present in municipal water supplies. So, to reduce osteoporosis, patients would have to supplement the fluoride in drinking water. This should not be attempted without the guidance of a physician because fluoride, in excess, can be highly toxic.

'Ben Casey' will oppose extradition

By KIT FRIEDEN
Associated Press Writer

The lawyer for actor Vince Edwards, better known as television doctor "Ben Casey," says the actor is "not into stealing Toyotas" and will fight any attempt to extradite him to Beaumont, Texas, where a warrant was issued for his arrest.

The one-time TV doctor is embroiled in a feud with some real-life doctors over a contract he signed with Medi-Quick Inc., a Beaumont medical clinic company.

Edwards, 57, was arrested at his home in Marina Del Rey Thursday on a Jefferson County, Texas fugitive warrant alleging felony theft of services, according to authorities in Texas and California.

The warrant was the result of his alleged failure to return a 1984 Toyota that was loaned to him by Medi-Quick as part of a promotional contract, according to the Jefferson County Sheriff's Office.

Edwards' lawyer, Peter Knecht of Los Angeles, said the actor was released 12 hours later on his own recognizance after a brief appearance in Los Angeles County Superior Court. Knecht said the Texas officials had asked for a $25,000 bond.

Knecht said the case was continued in Los Angeles County Superior Court until mid-September, but the matter may be resolved before then. He said he thought someone in Texas had "overreacted" to Edwards' inability to return the loaned car by June 28 when it was due.

"Obviously this man is not into stealing Toyotas. This matter should resolve itself," Knecht said Thursday night, adding that "this is the first arrest he's ever suffered."

The lawyer also vowed a fight against any attempts to extradite Edwards to Texas, saying the car was delivered to him by a Los Angeles area dealership even though it is owned by a party in Texas.

He said he also wanted to avoid Texas because "I think Beaumont is a lot smaller town, and in order to acquire this kind of filing (against) a celebrity known on sight reflects there is somebody that did something as a favor."

But Dr. Jim Barbee of Beaumont, whose Medi-Quick Inc. sought the charges against Edwards, sees it another way.

"(When) somebody thinks they're so big they can walk all over people, they need to be corrected," Barbee said Thursday night.

He said he was not familiar with all the details surrounding Edwards' arrest. But he said Edwards was overdue in returning the car loaned to him by Medi-Quick, which operates three family practice clinics in Beaumont and Orange.

Barbee referred other questions to Bob Morris, Medi-Quick administrator who was unavailable because he was flying to Los Angeles "on business," according to Barbee.

Edwards signed a contract with Medi-Quick after making the movie "Sno-Line" in Port Arthur in 1984.

Prosecutors work to dismiss charges

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Henry Lee Lucas' confessions aren't enough to get him convicted of three area slayings, but the self-professed serial killer will remain a suspect, a Lubbock prosecutor says.

District Attorney Jim Bob Darnell said Thursday he will seek to dismiss three murder charges against Lucas because "the only evidence we had to connect him to these murders were his confessions."

His decision came after a five-month investigation by the district attorney's office, Darnell said, but he added the cases would remain open and Lucas would remain a suspect.

Lucas, currently on Texas' death row, confessed to hundreds of murders in several states, but earlier this year recanted most of them.

Last year, he was indicted on capital murder charges in connection with the 1975 slaying of Deborah Sue Williamson, 18, and with the 1976 stabbing death of Elizabeth Ann Price, 44. He also was charged with murder in the 1971 stabbing death of Naomi Miller Martin, 54.

All three women were living in Lubbock.

In Miss Williamsons' case, Darnell said investigators obtained information that Lucas was released from a Michigan prison Aug. 22, 1975, and was in Maryland on Aug. 24, the day before her murder.

"Because of that, it raised serious questions as to whether he had been in Lubbock the night of the killing," Darnell said.

Darnell said Lucas also claimed another man, Ottis Toole, was with him during both the 1975 and 1976 slayings, but he said new evidence strongly suggests he did not meet Toole until 1979.

Darnell said doubts about those two confessions led prosecutors to question the third as well. He said investigators will continue to search for evidence outside the confessions to tie Lucas, or anybody else, to the cases.

"I still feel he could have been involved in one or more of the killings, but don't have sufficient evidence beyond a reasonable doubt to present to a jury," Darnell said. "We're not dismissing him as a suspect."

Darnell said papers were prepared Thursday and would be forwarded to the administrative office of the state district courts. Charges would probably be dismissed later this month by 140th District Judge William R. Shaver, he said.

As to allegations that investigators fed Lucas information that enabled him to give authorities precise descriptions of the victims, Darnell said he has concluded that if it happened it wasn't intentional.

He also said he has found no evidence to suggest that Lucas was shown photographs of the victims before he confessed.

CONSTRUCTION PLANS FINALIZED — Representatives of Amarillo Road — general contractor for the construction of Houston Parkway and the rennovation of Farm Road 1611 from Highway 350 to U.S. Highway 84 — met with Texas Highway Department officials Thursday to finalize plans for the start of construction on both projects. Jim Mattox's plane fills with smoke on night flight

AUSTIN (AP) — Attorney General Jim Mattox says there were some very tense minutes when the cabin of his twin-engine airplane lost air pressure and filled with smoke during a midnight flight to Austin.

"In light of the other airline disasters that have recently taken place, I must admit I uttered a little prayer," he said after the Thursday morning incident. "It was a frightening experience."

An aide said it was the second time this year the cabin of the state-owned, 1967 Beechcraft King Air had filled with smoke.

The incident occurred shortly after midnight as Mattox, an aide and the pilot were returning from Huntsville. Mattox had been there for the scheduled execution of Jay Kelly Pinkerton, who obtained a stay from the U.S. Supreme Court just before midnight.

"Five to seven minutes out of Huntsville, the seal around the doors that ... maintains the pressurization of the cabin went out," Mattox said.

There was "a loud, whistling, air-escaping noise around the doors, plus it makes your ears hurt," he said.

Three to four minutes later, Mattox said, "The cabin within a matter of just a couple of seconds filled up with a very dense smoke, smoke that smelled like it was from an electrical fire. I was sitting about four feet from the pilot, and it was so dense you could just barely see him."

As they readied to make an emergency landing at Bryan, Mattox said, the pilot shut down some electrical systems. The plane began to descend and as it neared the ground, the pilot opened cabin windows, clearing out some of the smoke.

The plane was able to continue to Austin, landing about 12:45 a.m.

"It takes a good while to get an airplane on the ground, and you don't know how long you're going to be able to go without oxygen if that's what it takes," Mattox said.

"My first thought was that we were not going to be able to get the thing on the ground quick enough. I was afraid that the plane was on fire."

Elna Christopher, Mattox's press secretary, said the same plane caught fire this spring while on a flight to San Antonio.

"As we started to land, smoke came out from under the control panel," said Ms. Christopher, who was aboard the plane with Mattox and others of his staff. "It turned out to be a short in the control panel lighting."

Ask The Preacher

"....Is Gambling Wrong?"

By Randall Gray

There is no verse of scripture in the Bible which says, "Gambling is a sin!" But there is no verse which says it's wrong to watch an x-rated movie, either! I think God wants us to figure out some things for ourselves!

Consider two points, if you would, about the nature of gambling.

(1.) Gambling can be dangerous. Both to your financial security and to your mental health. It's a proven fact that gambling can become psychologically addictive, not to mention the obvious potential waste of hard-earned money.

(2.) Gambling is considered "evil". A great many people in our culture consider gambling to be a "vice". Participation in gambling can do enormous damage to your influence for good among friends and neighbors. If you don't care about that, you may be revealing a part of your problem.

So, consider the fact that there are sometimes underlying problems and consequences to some issues. The Bible doesn't always provide "cut and dried", word for word answers to all our questions. God expects that you use your brain, in His service, as well!

Peaceful change called 'not likely'

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Bishop Desmond Tutu lashed out today at President P.W. Botha's long-awaited speech on apartheid, saying the lack of concrete steps to end apartheid made the chance of peaceful change "virtually nil."

Tutu, the black Anglican cleric who won the 1984 Nobel Peace Prize, told reporters that he was considering calling for immediate economic sanctions against the white-minority government.

He charge that Botha, who addressed his National Party late Thursday, was acting like a "hack politician."

"I think the chances of peaceful change are virtually nil. We are on the brink of a catastrophe," Tutu said. "Short of a miracle, short of intervention by the international community, we are for the birds," said Tutu.

"I don't think Mr. Botha is interested in peaceful negotiation. He is aware of his military strength," Tutu said. "He is interested in bludgeoning blacks into submission."

He castigated President Reagan, Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher of Great Britain, and West German Chancellor Helmut Kohl, saying, "They have decided that blacks are dispensable."

In nervous trading, the South African rand hit 38.50 cents, well below the its previous 41.90 low in January. South Africa's mainly white anti-government Blash Sash organization said "the whole country will pay" for Botha's stance.

"The armed struggle continues," said Tom Sebina, information officer for the country's main black guerrilla organzation, the African National Council.

Botha rejected equal voting rights for all races, saying it would be suicidal for the ruling white minority.

He also ended speculation that he might free Nelson Mandela, the jailed black leader of the outlawed ANC. Botha reiterated he would release Mandela only if he denounces violence, which Mandela refuses to do.

The one man, one vote principle for all racial groups "would lead to domination of one over the others, and it would lead to chaos," Botha declared.

"I am not prepared to lead white South Africans and other minority groups on a road to abdication and suicide," he said.

Under the system of racial segregation called apartheid, 5 million whites rule 24 million voteless blacks.

Botha called for consultations with blacks about their future status.

will not be a simplified tax. "There will be winners and losers. We don't need to lose revenue with our present deficit, and when we add revenue, someone has to pay for it."

Stenholm said he is supporting efforts for constitutional amendment to require a balance budget. Stenholm said the efforts are on two fronts. One is to encourage states to pass resolutions calling for such an amendment.

The other is for the congress to have a roll call vote on the issue. He said the senate will pass such an amendment and that the house of representatives will come close to getting a record vote. "Compromise is the name of the game."

Stenholm said he favors an import tax on oil and gas, but he cautioned against the protectionist attitudes calling for tariffs and trade restraints. "The trade deficit is more important."

The congressman said he is concerned about the nation's health care dilemma. "Medicare is broke" He said in three to five years medicare will require a bailout larger than Social Security. Stenholm said he favors a shared-cost of medical treatment. "We don't have the money to continue medicare in its present system."

Stenholm said he voted for the foreign aid bill because of the need to control the influx of Communism in South and Central America.

After leaving Snyder, Stenholm had speaking engagements in Rotan, Hamlin, Stamford and Abilene.

More households are wired

(Source: Cabletelevision Advertising Bureau, Inc.) NEA GRAPHIC

Nearly half of all TV households in the United States have cable television. With its popularity booming, cable TV reached into 44 percent of TV homes in 1984 — up from 23 percent in 1980, and from 3 percent in 1965.

Rapid growth is reported in supply

By The Associated Press

Rapid growth in the nation's basic money supply is making it more difficult for the Federal Reserve Board to respond appropriately to listlessness in the economy, credit market analysts say.

The central bank reported late Thursday that the money supply surged by $5.3 billion in early August, more than twice what analysts had expected.

The increase, which left money growth well ahead of the upper target the Fed has set to permit steady, non-inflationary economic growth, reduced chances that the Fed will relax credit to stimulate the economy, said Raymond Stone, manager for financial economics at Merrill Lynch Capital Markets.

Earlier Thursday, the Fed reported a modest 0.2 percent July increase in output at the nation's factories, mines and utilities, continuing the slow pace of the past year.

The July gain left industrial production just 1.4 percent higher than a year ago. By comparison, production grew 12.2 percent in the 12 months ended in July 1984 as the country pulled out of a steep recession.

Economists say the news so far this month has given little support to the administration's forecasts of more rapid second-half economic growth.

"If the money supply had been growing more moderately, the Fed may have eased. But this fast money growth will preclude that for the immediate future," said Stone.

Others, however, feel that the decline in interest rates to date has set a firm foundation for an economic pickup later this year.

John Albertine, president of the American Business Conference, a coalition of high-growth companies, predicted growth would climb to between 3.5 percent and 4 percent in the last half of the year with the rebound spurred by this year's declines in interest rates.

"The recovery continues to inch along, stubbornly refusing to give in to rumors of a recession," he said.

In other economic news:

—The government reported that Americans took on $6.8 billion more in installment debt than they paid off in June, the year's smallest monthly gain, which analysts said could be an indication that consumers have started to cut back on buying big-ticket items because of a high burden of debt.

—U.S. automakers scheduled the assembly of 112,606 cars this week as annual model changeovers and vacations kept many assembly lines idle at some comopanies, Ward's Automotive Reports said. By comparison, 114,777 cars were built last week and 116,809 in the comparable week a year ago.

—Greyhound Corp. said it planned to streamline its Greyhound lines bus unit, in part by eliminating 1,900 jobs and possibly some routes. Its passenger load has dropped 50 percent from the 1960s, to 34 million passengers a year.

—General Motors Corp. said it would offer 7.7 percent financing on 1.3 million leftover 1985 cars and trucks. The special financing would be available on 24 car lines and six truck lines until Oct. 2. The 1986 model year would be pushed back to start Oct. 3 instead of Sept. 26.

Criminal tresspass is investigated

Snyder police detectives are investigating a misdemeanor criminal tresspass complaint filed early Friday morning.

Elizabeth Espinoza Fenner of 2001 Ave. M called police at 12:30 a.m. Friday and filed the complaint against a man whom she said had not been invited into her residence and refused to leave.

No arrest was made in the case and investigation is continuing.

In other action, city officers jailed two misdemeanor supects Thursday night — one for driving while intoxicated and possession of marijuana in a quantity less than 2 ounces and one for being intoxicated on a premises licensed to sell alcohol.

Pentagon conducts Minuteman studies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Pentagon panels are reviewing the new Midgetman missile, the mobile nuclear weapon designed to follow the MX missile but which has been criticized for its capability and price.

One study by the Air Force was launched several months ago and is to be completed by Oct. 1, said Pentagon sources Thursday who spoke only on condition of anonymity. The study was described as focusing on such things as the missile's range under current design plans.

Another review by the Defense Science Board, meantime, was said to be much broader in scope. It was to be completed early next year, the sources said.

John M. Deutch, provost of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and a member of the Scowcroft commission that originally recommended the Midgetman in 1983, is heading the science board study, the sources said.

The Scowcroft panel was formed by President Reagan to suggest the best means of modernizing the United States' land-based nuclear arsenal. The panel endorsed production of 100 giant, 10-warhead MX missiles, to be followed by the single-warhead Midgetman in the 1990s.

Congress since has cut the MX program in half, citing the weapon's vulnerability to Soviet attack. Lawmakers at the same time embraced the Midgetman, which could be dispersed widely on mobile launchers, while imposing various strictures, including a 30,000-pound weight limit.

The Air Force has begun to question the wisdom of that limit and the cost of making all the missiles mobile and to keep them moving about on government lands.

Last month, the congressional General Accounting Office concluded the Midgetman might be too small to strike some military targets in the Soviet Union.

Mexico condemns attack on embassy

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The government has condemned the attack on the Mexican Embassy in Guatemala City and said it expects detailed information from Guatemala on the circumstances surrounding it.

Two Guatemalan employees of the embassy were killed after a hand grenade thrown into the garden exploded Wednesday morning.

"This attack constitutes a deplorable act and is, in all lights, irresponsible," a statement from the Mexican Foreign Ministry said late Wednesday.

It said Mexico's ambassador to Guatemala, Abraham Talavera, "is in contact with Guatemalan authorities with the object that the origin of the attack be investigated and that a detailed report be presented about the circumstances in which it occurred."

The employees killed were both Guatemalans, working as the embassy's gardener and a messenger.

"The government of Mexico has had arrive, through its embassy in Guatemala, the most heart-felt condolences to the relatives of the two slain Guatemalan nationals," the Foreign Ministry said.

The statement issued here said no other embassy personnel were affected by the blast, and damages to the building were minor.

In Guatemala City, however, Talavera had said the explosion shattered windows and also damaged a ground-floor library and the military attache's office.

The Mexico City newspaper El Universal said in an editorial the attack "deserves the most energetic condemnation, as does any action which wounds right and reason." But the editorial said it was premature to speculate about who threw the grenade.

The Mexican government news agency Notimex quoted unnamed police in Guatemala as saying the grenade was wrapped in rags and thrown from the street into the garden. It exploded when the gardener picked it up, the agency said.

Fire, police and embassy officials in Guatemala City said they had no indication of who was responsible for the attack.

At least 46,000 Guatemalans, most of them Indian peasants, have fled to Mexico since 1980 to escape the violence of a leftist insurgency and an all-out army campaign to eliminate the rebels and their grassroots support.

Guatemalan officials allege that guerrillas take refuge in the Mexican camps. Mexico denies the charge.

Question homeport decision

HOUSTON (AP) — Existing naval ports along the East and West coasts could have accommodated the dozens of warships the Navy has assigned to the Gulf Coast, a General Accounting Office briefing paper says.

The briefing paper, issued in Washington, says it may cost $1 billion to build and outfit new port facilities to take care of the warships to be dispersed in the Gulf of Mexico.

"Existing naval home ports on the East and West coasts have the capacity to accommodate the 30 ships that are to be assigned to the new ports, without any major expansion of port facilities," the paper said.

Assistant Navy Secretary Chase Untermeyer said the GAO briefing paper "does not make any sense at all."

Navy Secretary John F. Lehman Jr. and Defense Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger announced last month that the warships will be scattered among nine Gulf Coast areas, including a battleship, training aircraft carrier, cruiser and destroyer and guided-missile frigates and minesweepers.

The GAO, which is conducting a full audit of the Navy's decision, circulated a preliminary report to the House and Senate committees on armed services and appropriations.

Body is identified

ANSON, Texas (AP) — Pathologists have identified decomposed remains buried in a ditch along a dirt road as that of a 23-year-old Abilene man who has been missing since July.

The victim was identified on Thursday as Adam "Junior" Garcia, said Jones County Sheriff Mike Middleton.

The identification, made through Garcia's dental records which were sent to the Southwest Institute of Forensic Sciences in Dallas, has changed the missing persons investigation into a murder inquiry, said Middleton.

"Based on evidence at the scene, we're looking at it as a homicide," he said on Thursday. "We will be working on this jointly with the Abilene Police Department."

Middleton said Garcia's body was discovered Tuesday evening. He said it appeared the victim had been dead about three weeks.

Garcia was last seen July 1 when he left work at J.D. Moore Transport and Storage in Abilene. Police thought foul play was involved in Garcia's disappearance, and that of a 26-year-old friend, who was last seen June 7.

But the friend was found alive Aug. 3 in Portland, Ore., where he was arrested on a public intoxication charge, police said.

Garcia's body was found buried in a ditch along a dirt road about 12 miles east of Anson, which is about 25 miles north of Abilene and one mile north of U.S. Highway 180.

Middleton said two farmers saw a tennis shoe-covered foot sticking up from the ditch and notified authorities.
