Allies Smash Small Convoy

Three Ships Sunk And One Destroyer Fired Aground

By DANIEL DE LUCE
Associated Press Staff Writer

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, June 3. Striking at the heart of Italy's sea communications, daring British and Greek destroyers attacked an enemy convoy off Capo Startivento at the toe of the Italian boot Tuesday night and ripped it to shreds without themselves suffering either casualties or damage.

In defiance of the big guns of the Italian fleet, the straight-shooting Allied warships wiped out two Axis merchant vessels and an esocrting torpedo boat and sent an enemy destroyer aground burning fiercely. One Greek destroyer participated in the attack.

Naval Supremacy

Smashing of the Italian coastal convoy, coming on the heels of two heavy bombardments of Pantelleria island by British warships, indicated that the Allies have gained naval supremacy in Italy's southern waters to match their domination of the air over the Mediterranean. In raids on Pantelleria and the southwest coast of Sardinia yesterday American air forces from North Africa did not lose a single plane.

Cap Spartivento, where the enemy convoy was ambushed, stands at the southern approach to the Strait of Messina, the narrow passageway between Sicilly and the Italian mainland through which all shipping between the Itilian east and west coasts must thread its way.

Particulars of the one-sided engagement remain to be told. A communique from the headquarters of General Dwight D. Eisenhower disclosed only the extent of the enemy's loss and the remarkable fact that the victory was achieved without the loss of a ship or injury to an Allied crewman.

One of the sunken Axis merchant ships, the communique said, blew up after being set afire by guns of the Allied destroyers.

Chinese Smash On Near Ichang

Jap Plane Losses Fixed At 14 To 1

By SPENCER MOOSA
Associated Press Staff Writer

CHUNGKING, June 3. — Supported by an American-Chinese air force which dominated the central China skies and was shooting Japanese planes down at the rate of 14 to 1, the Chinese armies swept tonight to the south bank of the Yangtze and were separated only by that great river from the main Japanese base of Ichang in Hupeh province.

Farther down the river, other Chinese troops were declared to have trapped 4,000 of the Japanese invaders — 3,000 of whom were officially declared already to have fallen as casualties.

Jap Base Surrounded

In yet another drive in the counter-offensive now throwing the Japanese back all along the upper Yangtze front, Chinese columns crossed into Hupeh from Hunan province, said the high command, and surrounded the Japanese position of Jungan, some 70 miles southeast of Ichang.

The main drive on Ichang, which had advanced 32 miles within less than a week, earlier had overrun and reoccupied the towns of Changyang and Chinkiang, respectively 12 and 35 miles south of that base.

So complete was American-Chinese mastery aloft that in two days Allied pilots had destroyed a minimum of 28 Japanese planes, and probably 36, against two Allied planes lost. American bombers got 20 Japanese planes in a single action.

This air support, the most effective ever given the Chinese armies, was carried on to cut up the retreating invader. On the road from Changyang, Chinese dispatches estimated that Allied planes alone had killed more than 1,500 enemy troops struggling on the ground.

First Time In Heavy Fire

The enemy's behavior under this lethal fire convinced Allied airmen that this was his first real experience of heavy assault from the air.

Japanese communications to Ichang were in imminent danger; the city itself appeared directly threatened.

As dispatches from the front pictured unbroken Chinese successes in this greatest victory of six years of war in the China theater, the spokesman announced that 100,000 Japanese troops had been turned back in the battle and that of this number 30,000 had fallen as casualties.

He declared the Japanese campaign had utterly collapsed—the first "annihilating blow" having been delivered in what now is being called the Chinese "battle of Stalingrad" about the town of Shihpei west of Ichang where the enemy, under orders to resist to the end, had been unable to maneuver with his tanks and big guns and suffered a bloody defeat, which led to his collapse.

Chinese triumphs far to the east and north were announced also.

More Lend-Lease Funds Approved

WASHINGTON, June 3. (AP)—Told that important negotiations with Russia hung on prompt action, the Senate today amended and returned to the House a $6,273,629,000 lend-lease appropriation bill which would bring direct appropriations for that purpose to nearly $25,000,000,000.

Acting majority leader Hill (Ala) interrupted debate on a federal job confirmation bill to call up the lend-lease measure.

"Lend-lease Administrator E. R. Stettinius, Jr., has advised me it is most urgent that this bill be passed today if possible," Hill said. "He advises that certain arrangements of the highest importance with Russia cannot be made until it is passed."

Listens To Debate

A brisk breeze from the southwest fanned the blaze up the rear wall of the store, and for several moments fire threatened to sweek the entire block.

Smoke filled all the neighboring buildings, damaging a supply of shoe leather in Stark Boot and Shoe shop, ruining clothes in Seth Bertram's Peerless Cleaners and doing slight damage to supplies in the Chocolate Shop, belonging to Bobbie Simmons. .

Graham Barber shop suffered no loss except for slight smoke stains on the walls, but the side of a garage belonging to C. J. Wagner at 1644 Broadway was burned considerably, and furnishings inside an unoccupied garage were damaged by smoke and water.

No one was injured in the fire, but Glenn Woody, owner of the establishment, told of a narrow escape by Mrs. June Sparks, bookkeeper. Two Score Injured In Celanese Blast

CUMBERLAND, Md., June 3. (AP)—Between 35 and 40 persons were injured, at least five of them seriously, when an explosion virtually wrecked one building of the Celanese Corporation of America's plant today. No deaths were reported.

Ten persons were admitted to the Memorial hospital and eight to the Allegany General hospital, while others were treated at the plant's first aid station.

The city health department dispatched four boxes of blood plasma to Memorial hospital, where the more seriously injured workers were taken.

Officials at the plant were not available, and there was no immediate explanation of the cause of the explosion.

The blast occurred in the cellulose acetate building of the plant, blowing four huge holes in the roof of the structure.

One of the workers not seriously injured said the inside of the building was a shambles.

Large-sized steaks, police said, had been cut away.

QUOTAS WOULD BE OUT

WASHINGTON, June 3. (AP)—The House passed and sent to the Senate today legislation permitting the replanting of corn or cotton without regard to marketing quotas on land on which similar crops have been destroyed or damaged by flood this year. The legislation was approved by Chester C. Davis, head of the War Food administration.

Flames Destroy Tire Store Here

Fire swept through the building at Broadway and Avenue Q, occupied by Woody Tire company, Thursday afternoon, destroying about half the building and causing an estimated $15,000 damage to the Woody store.

Damage done to the building, which belongs to Walter P. Jennings, was estimated at $3,000, and slight damage was done to adjoining business establishments. Damage was largely covered by insurance.

The fire started at 3:10 o'clock when vulcanizing cement was spilled on the floor and became ignited from the fire in the vulcanizing mold. Oles O. Ketchersid, who poured the cement, said he had gone outside the building to wash the cement from his hands and heard someone shout "Fire."

Large Area Threatened

A brisk breeze from the southwest fanned the blaze up the rear wall of the store, and for several moments fire threatened to sweek the entire block.

Smoke filled all the neighboring buildings, damaging a supply of shoe leather in Stark Boot and Shoe shop, ruining clothes in Seth Bertram's Peerless Cleaners and doing slight damage to supplies in the Chocolate Shop, belonging to Bobbie Simmons. .

Japs' Black Dragon Threatens Death To FDR, Other Leaders

NEW YORK, June 3. (AP)—The Tokyo radio today quoted the Japanese Black Dragon society as demanding that President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, and other United Nations leaders "surrender unconditionally to Japan" or else "succumb under divine punishment within a fatefully short time," the Federal Communication commission said.

This broadcast, beamed to Latin America, followed by two days a Tokyo radio domestic broadcast which told the Japanese people that a major industrial reorganization was needed in Japan because "the war situation is extremely grave."

The Black Dragon society, an ultra-nationalist terroristic organization blamed for the assassination of a number of moderate Japanese politicians in the last 20 years, was said by the Tokyo radio to have called for the "unconditional surrender" of United Nations' leaders in a "disconcerting ultimatum" appearing in Japanese newspapers last Sunday.

Man Shot To Death Resisting Arrest

DALLAS, June 3. (AP) — Elrod Raymond Watson, 39, was shot to death today in front of his garage while resisting arrest by City Detective T. N. Bedell, Detective Inspector Will Fritz said.

Fritz said Watson was wanted on a warrant from Nashville, Tenn., charging theft of an automobile.

The inspector also said that Franklin Pannell, 22, who was in the automobile with Watson, also is wanted in Nashville on a warrant charging automobile theft.

Fritz declared that Chief of Police Elkin Lewis of Nashville had told him that he was leaving for Dallas and would take Pannell back to Nashville.

SENATE HEAD DIES

LONDON, June 3 (AP)—A Rome broadcast, recorded by the Associated Press, reported from Budapest today that Count Bartholomew Szechenyi, president of the Hungarian Senate, died. He was 77.

LONDON, Friday, June 4 (AP) The Red Army has sprung a new offensive near Temryuk on the Sea of Azov in an effort "to split German forces" clinging to the swampy Kuban bridgehead, but has not achieved any "lasting success," the Berlin radio said last night.

A Tass report quoted front dispatches as saying that air forces of both sides were making "thousands of flights per day" in accelerated sky fighting over the Caucasus, but there were few Soviet details on the land struggle.

Moscow Still Silent

Moscow's midnight bulletin recorded early today by the Soviet monitor used the week-eld phrase "fighting continued" to describe operations in the Taman peninsula between Novorossisk on the Black Sea coast and Temryuk on the Sea of Azov.

German broadcasts recorded by the Associated Press said the attack on Temryuk, on the German left flank, was launched without any cessation in Red Army attacks on Krimskaya, a point between Temryuk and Novorossisk.

"This is meant to be not only a diversion, but aims to split the German forces."

Breakthrough Admitted

It is in this area that the German radio 24 hours ago acknowledged that "weak remnants" of Soviet forces had broken through to the Sea of Azov in an obvious effort to seize this important point near the Kerch strait across which German supplies are ferried from the Crimea.

One German broadcast said Soviet airmen were repeatedly attacking the few supply roads leading back to the Kerch strait, and also were strafing German cargo boats in the strait.

Striking Bus Drivers Vote Return To Jobs

LONG BEACH, June 3. (AP)—Striking bus drivers of the Lang Transportation Co. returned to work at 2:10 p. m. today, ending a walkout which had tied up this busy defense center's public transit system for three and a half days.

Their action followed a membership meeting of the Amalgamated Street Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes local (AFL) at which the workers voted to resume their jobs pending mediation of their wages and hours dispute by the War Labor board.

LONDON, June 3 (AP)—Almost all the higher personnel of the Nazi party in Duesseldorf were reported today to have been arrested as a result of diversion to the black market of a vast quantity of food intended for Ruhr valley victims of Allied bombing.

FDR Orders Miners Back On Job Monday

Drastic Measures Believed In Store If They Disobey

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, June 3. — President Roosevelt, acting as war-time commander-in-chief, today flatly ordered some 500,000 striking mine workers to return to work Monday — and drastic measures were reported in store in case they disobey.

Backing to the limit the War Labor board which John L. Lewis has defied, Mr. Roosevelt said that when the miners return to their "war duties" the disposition of the dispute "will forthwith proceed, under the jurisdiction of the War Labor board and in accordance with the customary and established procedures governing all cases of this sort."

Doubt They'll Go Back

There was no early conclusive indication of what the miners may do. William Hargest, secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers, district 5, said at Pittsburgh he didn't know but his

WAR INDUSTRY AFFECTED

PITTSBURGH, June 3 (AP) — The three-day-old walkout of the nation's miners is causing a daily tonnage loss of more than 2,000,000 tons, unofficial reports from 18 coal producing states disclosed today, as industrial supplies diminished and curtailment of production appeared probable in the foremost war metal—steel.

The first blast furnace was shut down at Birmingham, Ala., by the Republic Steel corporation, whose officials notified the government the cause was an inadequate coal supply.

Spokesmen for steelmakers in Pittsburgh said that even if coal digging is resumed Monday, production would drop because of the fast-vanishing supplies.

first guess "is that they won't go back" unless ordered to do so through some arrangement of the UMW policy committee. A Kentucky union official, who withheld use of his name, expressed doubt the President's order would have much effect.

Hugh White, vice president of Illinois United Mine Workers said: "I don't believe the order means a thing. It is up to the miners whether they go back to work because there was no general strike order from union headquarters. They quit voluntarily and can go back to work voluntarily if they choose. President Roosevelt's order will not send many of Illinois' 23,000 United Mine Workers members back to work on Monday. The miners are if anything more bitter now than at the time of President Roosevelt's last back-to-work order because negotiations for their new contract have lagged."

No Mention Of Plans

The President made no mention of what he would do if the strike continued—in fact his terse statement did not seem to recognize

Davies Confers With President

WASHINGTON, June 3. (AP)—Joseph E. Davies completed his "second mission to Moscow" today—and set this capital to speculating whether it meant a meeting has been arranged for President Roosevelt, Premier Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill.

The former ambassador to Moscow, returning from a special mission there, arrived in Washington by air at 4:51 p. m. (EWT) and went at once to the White House, where he delivered a reply he brought from Stalin to a confidential letter from Mr. Roosevelt. Then he spent about two hours conferring with the President.

Globe-Circling Trip

Davies had completed a trip of globe-circling length as the President's personal postman. He left here by airplane in mid-May—the exact date of departure was not disclosed—to take the President's communication to Stalin.

Beforehand, Mr. Roosevelt had announced Davies was taking a highly secret letter to Stalin for him, and had warned reporters against speculating over its contents because, he said, they would be wrong.

Nevertheless, speculation persisted with much of its centering about the idea that the communication involved a suggestion for a personal meeting.

Hints Given Of Blows On Japs

Stimson Tells Of Successes On Attu

WASHINGTON, June 3. (AP)—Secretary of War Stimson gave an off-handed indication today of attacks to come on the territory of Japan proper, and the Navy emphasized it shortly afterward with a report of further mopping-up operations on Attu island in the Aleutions and an air attack on the now-isolated Japanese base at Kiska.

Secretary Stimson's comment, limited to the casual, matter-of-fact remark that the virtually completed recapture of Attu puts American forces "in striking distance of Japanese territory," came in his regular press conference.

He would go no further, turning away requests for elaboration with the remark that "it's a pretty long distance" from the regained American position in the western Aleutians to the Japanese bases in the Kuriles, some 800 miles away.

Stimson said the Axis now holds 17,083 American prisoners officially reported through the International Red Cross, with Japan holding 11,307, Germany 3,312 and Italy 2,464. There probably are many others not yet officially reported by name.

The Navy communicue told of more aerial activity in the South Pacific as well as the raid on Kiska and cleaning out of small groups of Japanese on Attu. It said large fires were left burning at Tinputs harbor and Numa Numa harbor on Gougainville and two small ships were attacked, one of them being beached.

Known Dead Now 1,791

Recounting actions of June 1, the communique raised the count of known Japanese dead on Attu to 1,791 and reported that "United States Army troops combined scattered areas and by noon had eliminated minor groups of Japanese troops encountered." The report of Japanese dead still included only those whose bodies had been counted, and the Navy said that uncounted Japanese killed by shells and bombs "were either cremated or buried by the Japanese."

For the first time the Navy reported use of high-speed, two engine ventura medium bombers against Kiska, in company with Mitchell bombers escorted by fighters. Hits were reported on the Japanese main camp area, runway, and gun emplacements.

The South Pacific air action reported took place May 31 (east longitude) when Liberators heavy bombers hit the northeast coast of Bougainville. It was the first attack on Tinputs, in the northern Solomons, 389 miles from Guadalcanal.

Work Or Fight Order Issued In Alabama

MONTGOMERY, Ala., June 3. (AP) — Governor Chauncey Sparks issued a "work or fight" order today, directing the reclassification of all men who have occupational deferment but who are not at work on the jobs for which they were deferred, by 3 p. m. tomorrow.

Sparks said his order which was given to Lt. Col. James T. Johnson, jr., state selective service director, would affect "miners or any other group or individual," and added that once a man loses his occupational deferment it would not be reinstated.

Col. Johnson said the number of men having occupational deferments averaged two to three per cent throughout the state, but he had no definite estimate as to the number who would be affected by the order.

"This is a work or fight order," Sparks said, "but I'm giving all men who have occupational deferments opportunity to get back on their jobs, If they do not by 3 o'clock tomorrow, they will be subject to induction."

New Optimism Sweeps Britain

Hopes Rising For Early End Of War

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, June 3 — New optimism that the next crucial months may speed the Axis downfall was expressed in Britain today as Allied reports represented the Germans working to bolster Balkan defense walls weakened by the dynamite and rifles of guerrillas.

"The end of the war may be much closer than some of us imagine," the Earl of Selborne, minister of economic warfare, told a civic meeting at East Sheen. The war hinges on four issues which may be decided in the next four months, he said, and "if we do well in all of them" the war may end rapidly.

Issues Pointed Out

The issues, he continued, were the battle of the Atlantic, the "impending German attack in Russia," the Allied invasion of the continent and the Allied bombing offensive now underway.

At the same time a warning to the French to be careful of invasion rumors was broadcast by the BBC.

A speaker identified only as a high British officer advised the French that rumors of Allied landings "might deliberately be spread by the Germ[illegible] the hope that the element[illegible] ance would be disclosed.

List Sent To Balkans

"Axis concern with another sector of its defense appeared in the Tass Russian) report that Field Marshal Gen. Siegmund Wilhelm List, Nazi lightning war expert, had been transferred from Russia to the Balkans.

The report said he was joining Heinrich Himmler, German police chief, and Marshal Erwin Rommel, former commander of the African Army.

Marshal List knows the area well, having led the invasion of Yugoslavia, Greece and Crete in the spring of 1941.

Bitter Fight By Jews Recounted

STOCKHOLM, June 3 (AP) — Desperate Jews, defending themselves at barricades in a pitched battle that lasted three weeks, killed 300 Germans and wounded more than 2,000 when German elite troops sought to liquidate the Warsaw Ghetto recently, a secret Polish radio station heard here said tonight.

The station, radio SWIT, said the action began April 12 when the Germans marched on the 35,000 Jews still left of the original 400,000 crowded in the walled Ghetto.

The Jews fought at the barricades until April 24. Then street and house fighting began as the Germans pressed in with the aid of artillery, machineguns, flamethrowers and even light bombing planes, the broadcast said.

Buildings Blown To Bits

Blocks of buildings were blown sky high by mines. Sections of the Ghetto were set afire.

But even after water, gas and electricity were shut off the Jews continued to defend themselves.

Two thousand Jews fell in the street fighting and 3,000 were killed by the fires, the report said. The Germans, finally winning out, deported 14,000 to the east.

It was the same station that on April 21 broadcast:

"The last 35,000 Jews in the Ghetto at Warsaw have been condemned to execution. Warsaw again is echoing to musketry volleys.

"The people are murdered. Women and children defend themselves with their naked arms.

"Save us . . ."

The station then suddenly went dead.

More Jews Arrive

Its broadcast heard tonight said that during the fighting three train loads of Jews arrived in Galacia from Bulgaria, where anti-

THOUGHTS FOR WARTIME

"Now I beseech you, brethren, by the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye all speak the same things, and that there be no divisions among you; but that ye be perfectly joined together in the same mind and in the same judgment." — By the Apostle Paul, in First Corinthians Chapter 1, verse 10.

Battle Of Midway, Turning Point In Pacific, Stands As Showdown In Japs' Ambitious Effort At Invasion

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following story was written by the Associated Press war correspondent who covered, from the decks of a participating cruiser, the blazing action at Midway island, which President Roosevelt has termed the most important engagement of the Pacific war).

By WENDELL WEBB
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, June 3 — It was one year ago tonight, in misty darkness of the mid-Pacific 3,000 miles away, that the grim remnants of the U. S. Pacific fleet faced the mightiest threat the Japanese ever threw in war.

The battle of Midway was on and the showdown was at hand.

That now, 12 months later, an attempted invasion of America's west coast still is nothing more than conjectural is a monument to those who died.

Enemy battleships, carriers, cruisers, destroyers, submarines, transports—nearly 100 of them — were heading steadily toward Midway island northwest of Pearl Harbor on June 3, 1942.

It was far too great a force to conclude that tiny Midway was the sole goal. It was a force three times the size of ours. It was no secret to anyone on our ships what was happening. The enemy was making a supreme bid to make the now-dead Admiral Yamamota's dream come true—to dictate peace in the White House.

The enemy failed—thanks to a heroic few—and there came true the prayerful hopes expressed weeks before aboard the same cruiser I still was on—"If the Japs will come in force, with the help of God and luck we'll strip their major power for the rest of the Pacific war."

There is little doubt that Midway was a prime reason why Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, on April 27 of this year, could say that air raids on the American mainland were "a remote possibility rather than a danger."

Detective Tells Of Dempsey Case Raid

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., June 3. —A private detective testified today that he, Jack Dempsey and two other detectives raided Mrs. Jack Dempsey's Los Angeles apartment and found her in bed and Benny Woodall, named as a co-respondent, running from the room.

Ned H. Peterson, the detective from Los Angeles, told the Supreme court referee in Dempsey's divorce action against his wife, the former songstress Hannah Williams, that when first seen by the raiders before midnight last Nov. 22, Woodall was barefoot, had on trousers and an undershirt and was trying "to put on what looked like a lady's red coat."

The former heavyweight champion has charged his wife with misconduct with former lightweight champion Lew Jenkins and with Woodall, Jenkins' former trainer. Mrs. Dempsey has filed a counter-suit but her allegations have not been made public. Adultery is the only ground for divorce in New York state.

As the hearing started its fourth day, Mrs. Dempsey's attorney tossed a barrage of legal objections to placing into the record a deposition from Mrs. Lyda Hallen, manager of a Los Angeles apartment house, but the deposition was read.

Mrs. Hallen said Mrs. Dempsey, another woman, Woodall and his sister, Mrs. Jackie Griffin, were together and intoxicated in Mrs. Griffin's apartment sometime in November, 1942.

Describing the raid on Mrs. Dempsey's apartment, Peterson said Woodall ran into the living room where Dempsey was, and when he (Peterson) went into the bedroom, Mrs. Dempsey questioned: "What's this all about?"

Peterson said he replied "you'll find out" and then he said he heard Dempsey call "Woodall is on my back."

"Dempsey threw Woodall over his back and onto the couch and Woodall started kicking and throwing his feet and arms around. I pushed Dempsey away and told him not to hit him (Woodall)."

Dempsey, the former world's heavyweight boxing champion and now a lieutenant commander in the Coast Guard, went into the bedroom, with the other detectives, Peterson said, adding that when Woodall asked him "what's goin on—I was sleeping."

Related Peterson:

"Then we came into the bedroom and Benny Woodall sat on the bed and then Mrs. Dempsey said 'oh my darling Benny, what have they done to you?'"

"What did Mr. Dempsey say," asked Arthur F. Driscoll, Dempsey's attorney.

"He said—and I'm quoting him —'You rat. You've broken up my home once before. I found you together. I'm through. You keep her. You look after her.'"

While Peterson was on the stand, Woodall, a slight, blond man sat in the front row of spectators' seats fidgeting, blushing and alternately smiling and looking solemn.

Dempsey, dressed in summer white uniform, gulped three glasses of water.

Mrs. Dempsey, who physicians testified was suffering from a nervous condition, was not in court.

Officer Ratings Offered Seabees

A nation-wide campaign to enlist more Seabees for Uncle Sam's Navy construction battalions has been announced by the Lubbock recruiting station, and once again in the Navy is offering petty officer ratings to men qualified for this duty.

Virtually all types of outdoor construction workers are seriously needed, according to information received by the Navy station here, and men between the ages of 18 and 50 who have had much or limited experience in many lines of work are invited to visit the recruiting station for full particulars, Lieut. (j.g.) W. D. Murray, officer in charge, said.

Many Trades Involved

Cooks, stewards, carpenters, carpenters' helpers, lubrication and grease-job men, mechanics and assistant mechanics, plumbers, pipefitters and assistants in these trades are urgently requested to "get the details" about how to enlist in the Navy with a rating "to start with."

A new plan of voluntary induction is open to men between the ages of 18 and 38 and those who qualify definitely are assured of assignment to the Seabees, where their civilian occupations will be put to greatest use in vital war service. Application must be made, however, before the volunteer receives his notice to be inducted into the armed forces.

Under the voluntary induction plan, applicants are enlisted as apprentice seamen and then assigned the petty officer rating for which they are qualified. Men over 38 are eligible for the Seabees through direct voluntary enlistment, and may also qualify for petty officer ratings.

Applicants who successfully pass the physical examination given at the Navy recruiting station in Lubbock (and many physical standards have been lowered) will be sent to Dallas, at government expense, for interviews with construction officers, who determine the rating for which the man is qualified. Men who previously were rejected for minor physical disabilities may ask for a "re-check" to determine their fitness now. The Army Engineers also offer opportunities for experienced men.

Italy Is Disowning Aerial War Advocate

NEW YORK, June 3. (AP)—As part of a drive to lessen the Allied aerial bombardment of Italy., the press of that country is hastily disowning the late General Giulio Douhet, pioneer champion of total aerial warfare, the Office of War information reports.

"It is absurd and dishonest to make a whole nation responsible for these (Douhet's) theories," protested an article said to have appeared last Friday in the newspaper Regime Fascista, published in Cremona.

The paper asserted that Douhet's theories of crushing a nation through air power alone had been kept hidden in the Italian archives and that his ideas "were never put into effect by Italy."

Declaration Of Food Aims Is Recommended

HOT SPRINGS, Va., June 3. (AP) —An official summary of results of the United Nations food conference said today "one of the most important recommendations is that the governments represented should declare to their own people and to one another their intention to secure more and better food for the people.

"Various measures which might be taken for this purpose were discussed. These included education, special provision for particular classes of the population, and the improvement of the quality of food available."

"Buy A War Bond TODAY"

Increased Bond Buying Urged

NEWARK, N. J., June 3. (AP) — The budget of the average American family is due for an overhauling by the end of this year, when Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau says each family should be investing one-fourth of its income in war savings bonds if it is to carry its share of the war's financial burden.

At the same time, a withholding tax of 20 per cent on salaries probably will be imposed, but the increased purchases of war bonds by individuals "is not too much to expect," he said yesterday at a press conference.

To Apply Above Exemptions

The withholding tax, he pointed out, would be applied to income over and above exemptions and would in many cases be only a few per cent of the total income. For example, a man with a wife and two children would be allowed the exemption of $1,248 for a couple and $312 for each child; if his salary were $2,400, the withholding tax would apply only to the remainder and would be less than 4½ per cent of the $2,400.

The withholding tax is to become effective July 1 if President Roosevelt approves legislation imposing it which now is before him.

Expects "Resistance"

Launching a nationwide streamlining of the war bond sales campaign machinery, Morgenthau said the Treasury expects "a little resistance" in bond sales when the withholding tax became effective, but that it felt this would melt away when the situation were better understood.

Bond sales to the general public were far in excess of those of the first World war, he asserted, with investors constantly setting new records.

Texas Will Produce Fourth Of Synthetic

AUSTIN, June 3. (AP) — Texas will produce approximately one-fourth of the nation's goal of 800,000 tons of synthetic rubber, Gov. Coke R. Stevenson asserted today.

The governor returned from Houston where he conferred with Rubber Director William Jeffers and other federal officials who inspected rubber production facilities in the Gulf coast area.

Stevenson said Jeffers reported the synthetic program was on schedule and the objective of 800,000 tons annually would be attained.

On the inspection tour also was Ralph M. Davies, deputy petroleum administrator for war; Robert P. Patterson, undersecretary of war, and James V. Forrestal, underseretary of the Navy.

The governor reported Davies said his agency was still contending for a crude oil price increase which the PAW felt was necessary to maintain independent operators and to encourage exploration.

Dallas Burglar Goes On Sit-Down Strike

DALLAS, June 3 (U.P.) — The strike bug has bitten a Dallas negro.

Suspected in the burglary of at least 30 homes here in recent weeks, the negro agreed to lead officers to the scenes of his crimes.

After the fourth one, however, he went on a sit-down strike, saying he was tired and needed a rest.

"It's powerful hard work trying to remember all the houses I've entered," he said. "And besides, I'm sure afraid you going to send me to the pen for some of the things I've already told you."

Musso's Navy Not In Mare Nostrum

By GLENN BABB
Associated Press War Analyst

The Italian Navy, which Mussolini declined to risk in an attempt to rescue the Axis armies of North Africa, still is playing it safe. Having abandoned the waters off Tunisia long before the land battle was over, it appears now to be under orders to quit also the Mediterranean narrows, leaving to the British even the seas which wash the foot of the Italian boot.

GLENN BABB

Admiral Cunningham's ships appear to have established a dominance in those waters which matches the American-British command of the skies. They apparently are able to bombard Pantelleria, outermost of Italy's island outposts, at will and with little risk of damage. Two heavy shellings this week brought only light reaction from the shore, none from the sea. Wednesday the British fleet darted in close to the Italian mainland to smash a convoy off Capo Spartivento. This indicates that British surface forces are able to deny use of the Messina channel, through which ships must pass from one Italian coast to the other.

Comparison Cited

A comparable situation would be one in which an enemy surface fleet, daring the United States Navy and air forces to do their worst, was able to shell our Caribbean bases with inpunity and prevent ship movements from the Gulf of Mexico to the Atlantic between Florida and Cuba.

Such is the seeming helplessness of the Navy which Il Duce used to boast would make the Mediterranean Italy's mare nostrum as it was in the days of Rome's real power.

This continued inactivity raises the question of what ultimate mission may be reserved for Il Duce's fleet. Roundabout French-Spanish reports published in London say the Italian Navy is "prepared to steam into battle at an hour's notice." But this is not convincing.

There is reason to doubt whether Mussolini will hazard his Navy —perhaps three or four sound battleships and a handful of light cruisers—until the very moment, when no further withdrawal is possible. Allied landings on Pantelleria, Sicily, Sardinia, even the southern mainland may not be sufficient to bring it into combat.

Nothing would suit the Allies' purposes better than for the Italians to come out and fight. A naval battle that would settle definitely the command of the mid-mediterranean would give the United Nations far-reaching strategical advantages.

The Italian fleet, even while it skulks in its northern bases, has far more value than a fleet at the bottom of the sea. As long as it exists the British and their allies must maintain still larger forces in Italian waters.

Of course there may be reasons other than strategical considerations for the self effactment of the Italian sea forces. Many of the best ships have taken punishment since 1940 and how many are fit for action is a question.

Death Rate Is High From Home Accidents

AUSTIN, June 3. (U.P.)—Accidents in the home cause more deaths than diphtheria, scarlet fever, whooping cough and measles combined, Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, said here today.

Cox named slippery floors, cellar steps without handrails, toys left on stairways and unanchored rugs on polished floors as frequent causes of accidents at home.

Homes with children were warned to have protective gates at the tops of stairs, medicine closets inaccessible to children and storage places for firearms and edged tools.

Care to guard against accidents, Cox said, is especially needed in times when doctors are overworked and find it difficult to respond to emergency calls.

City Officials Off On Inspection Tour

The health departments, city laboratories, and operations of health and sanitary rules in a number of Texas cities will be inspected by a group of three Lubbock city officials who left Thursday morning for a several-days' trip for that purpose.

In the party are Gerald Jarvis, director of the city laboratory, Glynn T. Hudgens, special city and county health officer, and Sam McMillin, an inspector of food establishments. Their itinerary is to include Wichita Falls, Fort Worth, Dallas, Waco, Austin and perhaps other points.

The trip is being made with the approval of the city commission in an effort to continue the improvement of those services in Lubbock. They plan to return the latter part of next week.

Guy Weeks was elected first vice president; Lois H. Vestal, second vice president; M. C. Ledbetter, third vice president; Rev. J. W. Watson, Lion tamer; Truman Doss, tailtwister; H. A. Finch, secretary; L. W. Barrett, one-year director; Hume Russell and Clyde C. Reynolds, two-year directors.

All officers and the three new directors will be installed July 7.

Black-Eyed Pea Crop Finding No Buyers

EDINBURG, June 3. (AP)—A 3,000-acre blackeyed pea crop which Hidalgo county farmers planted as a war crop and for which the government has posted support prices of $5.75 per 100 pounds of dried peas is likely to go to waste, the county U. S. department of agriculture war board said this week.

The board said there was no buyer in the area who will take the beans at that price and that few buyers would take them at any price. It informed B. F. Vance, chairman of the state war board, of the plight of the pea growers.

Study Chosen Over Vacation

Numerous students and former students of Lubbock High school are choosing study in preference to summer vacations.

Summer school enrollment at Senior High school continued to increase Thursday, reaching a total of 232, said R. W. Matthews, acting superintendent. Highest previous summer enrollment was approximately 160. A second addition to the summer school faculty was necessary. Miss Glennys Honey became the third full-time English teacher for the summer term.

Enrollment in Junior High school was 28 and that in the elementary classes, 72, making a total of 332 thus far in the public schools.

Enrollment Continues

Enrollment will continue today and Saturday. Last opportunity to enroll in any of the schools, unless a student wishes to enroll without credit in Senior High school, will be offered Monday morning, prior to opening of the day's classes.

A total of 103 of the 245 students who completed their work at Senior High school in May chose to enter college immediately. That number asked that transcripts be sent to Texas Technological college so they might enter summer school.

Matthews attributed the increased interest in summer school by the students and former students to the fact many will enter military service or work in industry and are taking the opportunity to further their education as rapidly as possible.

AUSTIN, June 3. Morton Seniors Spend Day Here

Morton high school sent a delegation of 41 teachers and members of the graduating class to Lubbock Thursday or a sightseeing tour and all-day outing.

Most of those in the party are members of this year's graduating class. Mrs. J. B. Nicewarner, wife of the superintendent and a member of the faculty, was in charge of the group.

A visit to South Plains Army Air field and a number of industrial plants this morning was followed by lunch in Lubbock hotel. A visit to Lubbock Army Air field was on the afternoon schedule. The visitors were greeted by staff members of the chamber of commerce who assisted in arranging their itinerary.

Mrs. Ewing Weaver was sponsor; others in the group included Mrs. Dan Roberts, class mother; Mrs. J. A. Holloman, class mother; and Nath Croskett, bus driver; and the following class members:

Butter Price To Be Cut 5 Cents A Pound

DALLAS, June 3. (U.P.)—As a result of the butter subsidy plan, maximum prices for sales of butter by creameries, primary distributors and jobbers will be reduced five cents a pound, the Office of Price administration announced today.

The cut will be effective June 4 for creameries and June 6 for jobbers and primary distributors.

Retail price reductions will be put into effect June 10. Price reductions at the retail level must be 5 cents at least and in many cases will be 6 cents, OPA said.

In cities and areas where community maximum prices cover butter the new prices will be announced on this basis. In other areas the new prices will be set under an amendment to maximum price regulation No. 268.

Boy Runs Away 11 Times In 16 Days

LOS ANGELES, June 3. (AP)—Eight-year-old David Newton is back home today after his eleventh disappearance in the last 16 days, only this time his journey had a new variation—he took his sister with him.

Police of nearby Compton found David and 6-year-old Jacquelyn seeing the sights late last night. Reporting his last disappearance David's mother, Mrs. Eleanor Newton, told the officers she tried tying him up, without avail. Then she put girl's clothes on him.

That was effective for a time, but yesterday David found a pair of old trousers while his mother was asleep.

The Woman's Angle

SURVEY interviews with 600 Americans showed 59.2 per cent of the families queried owned automobiles, but only 5.9 per cent had stored them for the duration. However 65.3 per cent of those interviewed thought their present tires would last only a year longer.

Of Lubbock's many auto drivers, how many do you know who have boarded their cars up until victory? We know of one such car; it's owner being Lt. Aubrey McCarty who is in the Air Force stationed in Caracas.

RIGHT AT THAT!

A TYPOGRAPHICAL error in a wire story out of Austin Thursday had the word "for" appear as "fog" in this sentence about plans for next season's Congress of Parents and Teacher programs: "Responsibility of parents for increase in juvenile delinquency will be stressed in the activities."

Judging from the leeway certain Lubbock parents give their children where discipline is concerned, we'd say there is a "fog increase" in their responsibility toward the increase of juvenile delinquincy.

WORTHY GIFTS

WHATEVER else Leslie Howard's films may have contributed to the motion picture industry, this able actor has given us four benefits that other more romantic appearing and better actors have lacked. We refer to his enunciation which showed the beauty, the power, the simplicity and the purity of English expression.

After seeing and hearing Mr. Howard the writer felt that if she could arrange a study course with him surely difficulties with grammar and syntax would disappear. Scholars such as Leslie Howard help one realize that English may be made the most beautiful language.

PET PEEVES

STRAIGHT from the men on the "eating line" in factories, economists have picked up some "don'ts" worth remembering: Don't skimp on butter in sandwiches—spread generously, clear to the edge, and you prevent filling from soaking into the bread. . . . Don't put wet lettuce into a sandwich—wrap separately in a piece of wax paper. . . . Don't cut sandwiches in two, unless requested, and they'll stay more moist. And when you do cut the sandwiches, cut diagonally and they'll be easier to eat.

Speaking of preparing lunches, it's suggested a "work center" saves time and steps. Advantages Of Being Marine Are Set Up

The present conflict confronts the Marine Corps with the most severe challenge in its history, and in order to meet that challenge fighting men are needed at the front. But there are essential duties that must be performed by Americans in uniform here, duties that volunteers for the Marine Corpes Women's Reserve can fulfill.

Advantages of being a Marine have been set forth:

Pay and allowances are the same as officers' and men's; $250 allowance for officers and $200 for enlisted personnel has been set aside for uniforms; food and living accommodations are provided by the Marine Corps the same as to men; complete medical, hospital and dental care are free for the duration of your enlistment; life insurance is offered at the same low rates as to men; free mail privileges, discounts on transportation, theaters, many hotels, clubs, etc., the same benefits from USO, Red Cross and other similar organizations are provided the same as for men; because the Marine Corps is a small, compact, carefully chosen unit, your special capabilities can be quickly recognized and applied; the Marines are famous for their thorough training in many fields. This and the prestige of belonging to the Corps will be invaluable to women when the war is over.

Soap And Water Treatment Is Necessary In Care Of Grooming Accessories

By BETTY CLARKE
Associated Press Beauty Editor

Dear Working Girls:

Bedainty, gils, and you've made a big step in the direction of your good-looks goal. By that I don't mean you haven't a chance unless you're the petite type. Daintiness is something any gal—big or small—can have.

Little lapses of grooming loom large in the eyes of others. Especially in a busy office, where you come in close contact with everyone. Long curling lashes, a willowy figure or big blue eyes cannot overcome untidy fingernals, grimy hands, frowsy hair, questionable shadows on the neck or (heaven forbid) the slightest b.o. It makes you shudder, I know, to think of the last but there's usually one in every office. She may be lovely to see at a distance, but at close quarters her charm vanishes.

The truly dainty girl makes it a rule never to wear underthings or stockings of doubtful cleanliness. If your supply doesn't warrant daily changes, swish them through soapsuds before bedtime each night. By morning they'll be fresh and dry again.

Grooming accessories such as powder puffs, brushes and combs should get the soap and water treatment before they lose their freshness. Grimy brushes and combs undo all the good work of shampooing. Wash them between shampoos in mild suds, rinse them thoroughly and then hang them to dry by a string. This prevents the bristles from loosening or bending.

There's no excuse for a soiled powderpuff. It's a sure sign of carelessness. And, worse than that, it harms the skin by rubbing in the dirt. If you can't be bothered washing them frequently, you'd better use a fresh wad of cotton every day.

KEEP 'EM CLEAN: Wash comb and brush frequently.

Suggest Exercises For Five-By-Five

By BETTY CLARKE
Associated Press Beauty Editor

Dear Housewives: If you're one of those women who prefer candy, gooey sundaes and fancy pastries to good wholesome food, then you're a tummy pamperer.

All winter long the tummy pamperers have fun. They eat all the time. But the first days of Spring find them scurrying around trying to be as thin as peppermint sticks.

Some of you may have small living quarters. An ordinary exercise would find you with one leg over a bed and the other wrapped around a chest of drawers—so we've dug up a "two by four" exercise suggested by Anne Delafield which you can do in the smallest possible space.

First, sit on the floor cross-legged, pulling your tummy in as far as you can and then leaning forward from the waist — raise your arms in front of your ears.

Next, try to keep your head still as you push your arms back and up, stretching the stomach muscles. Repeat this exercise twenty times, then relax.

If you really try, you can stretch your tummy away.

City Schools Feel Heavy Hand Of War

The public school system is feeling the effects of war time economies and manpower shortages, the same as private business, R. W. Matthews, acting superintendent of Lubbock city schools, told Kiwanians at their Thursday luncheon, Lubbock hotel.

Matthews shared the speaking program with H. D. Bearden, who later told of the work being done by the war industries training school, of which he is supervisor at Senior High school.

Roy L. Hooten, as program chairman, presented the speakers.

All Share In Program

Every school in the city has shared in the war program, Matthews said, giving figures to show especially what the senior high school has done. Of the 225 teachers on the payroll one year ago, he said, 28 men and 52 women have resigned to enter other work or have been given leaves of absence to enter the armed services. Nineteen of the men have donned uniforms and the other 9 have entered other kinds of work.

Of th 52 women who have left the services of the city schools in a year's time, Matthews said 25 have entered other work besides school teaching, mostly now in the employ of the OPA; 27 went with their husbands when they left for training camps, and only two of the 52 left Lubbock to teach school elsewhere.

Many Men Gone

The acting superintendent said one year ago there were 26 men teachers in Senior and Junior high schools and 5 in the elementary schools. Now, there are only 16 left in the employ of the two high schools and none in the elementary schools. "Another year, and we won't have any men at all," he said, "unless it be some of the very old."

In spite of the handicaps brought about by these war-time conditions, Matthews said the high school has added aeronautics, a mechanical course, and inaugurated a victory corps with military drill, in which 25 girls and boys are participating. K. N. Clapp is directing this drill work for the school.

Salvage Campaigns

In one day last October, high school pupils delivered and sold 412,335 pounds of scrap metal, and similarly, in the second scrap drive in March an additional 180,595 pounds. For this 592,995 pounds of salvaged metals the pupils received $2,191, which was added to the student fund and most of it invested in war bonds and stamps. From the principal's office in the high school building, Matthews said pupils had sold $9,500 worth of bonds and stamps, and city schools together had sold a total of $36,388 worth.

Bearden gave a description of the work being done in his department, and said more than 1,000 persons have been given initial training for aircraft sheet metal work, welding, and other trades, which enabled nearly all of them to go directly in to war industry plants and accept good paying jobs.

D. P. Williams, Roy Shahan and Roy J. Porter will be carry-over club directors, it was announced through Lyle Deffebach, retiring club president.

Details Received On New U. S. Mail Plan

Postmaster Amos Howard has received information from the postofice department pertaining to the new plan for speeding mail delivery to the larger cities of the nation.

Cities like Houston, Dallas, Ft. Worth, and others throughout the country have been given a branch number. A letter addressed to someone in Los Angeles, for instance, must carry the number 37 after the city and state, else the address is incomplete.

Residents in the areas affected by the ruling have been advised and the number also must be placed on the return address card of all mail sent from whatever number area is made applicable for the area.

The new system is expected to speed up the separation of mail for distribution ,and permit more rapid handling of mail by inexperienced postal clerks. Rapid increase in the volume of mail and the loss of 30,000 postal employes has compelled the department to adopt the plan, it is explained.

War Plants Are Given Data On Program

NEW ORLEANS, June 3 (AP)—Small plant operators and manufacturers were told here today that their best opportunity to obtain government contracts or loans was through the district offices of the Smaller War Plants corporation.

Carl E. Bolte of Washington, director of the industrial service division, told a clinic attended by small operators that the corporation was being decentralized and that small operators should contact the regional office corps.

Guy L. Wolley of Dallas, regional SWPC loan agent, advised the clinic that approximately $1,500,000 in loans already had been approved in this region comprising Louisiana, Texas and Oklahoma.

Kimble; and the 30th flying training wing, Jackson Army Air base, Jackson, Mississippi, Brigadier General John F. McBlain.

S. Smith; and the 34th flying training wing, San Angelo Army air field, San Angelo, Texas, Brigadier General Isaiah Davies.

T. L. Leach, associate professor of agricultural education, and L. M. Hargrove, critic vocational agriculture at Wolfforth, left Thursday morning with Billy Keith, state future farmer officer of this area, to attend an officers' training school in Area 11 at Balmorhea. Saturday they will go to San Angelo to join the state executive committee meeting of the Future Farmers of America, which is being held in lieu of the annual FFA convention, which has been cancelled because of travel difficulties. Sunday morning W. A. King, area supervisor of war production training, and O. T. Ryan, assistant teacher trainer, and Marion Baumgardner of Wellington are to leave for the San Angelo meeting. Baumgardner, who is the highest rated applicant for the lone star farmer degree, is a nominee for state office from Area 1. His aplication with 56 others from this area will be submitted along with five applications for the American farmer degree.

Mrs. T. R. Taggard, who has been employed part-time as a typing teacher at Tech during the long term, left Thursday for Albuquerque, N. M., where she and her small daughter, Virginia, will spend the summer months with her husband's parents. Mrs. Taggard is the daughter of Dr. Harry L. Kent, administrative assistant to the president.

Induction Halts Due To Strikes

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 3. (AP) —Robertson county's local draft board No. 1 asserted today it would "induct no more men" into the armed forces "until the government takes some action to settle this question of strikes."

The board's decision was contained in a letter to Governor Prentice Cooper which declared that if the contemplated action did not meet with the governor's approval "you may accept this as our resignation and proceed to appoint our successors."

Its announced decision to withhold inductions, the letter continued, "applies to the remaining calls for this month."

RECLASSIFICATION OF STRIKERS AUTHORIZED

NASHVILLE, June 3. (AP)—Gov. Prentice Cooper today authorized the reclassification by local draft boards of all Tennessee miners now away from work and directed that the boards proceed to reclassify those within the required age limits for induction into the armed forces.

Under this directive occupational deferment previously granted miners, as essential workers would be removed.

Cooper declared that Tennessee was the first state to take such action and reiterated a previous statement that state guardsmen would be used if necessary to protect miners who want to return to their work in the state's soft coal pits.

Liberty Ship Launched By Houston Housewife

HOUSTON, June 3. (AP)—Houston's typical housewife, Mrs. Clarence T. Vickers, broke a bottle of champagne today on the bow of the liberty ship, the SS Benjamin Milam, in a launching ceremony at the Houston shipbuilding company.

Representing women who keep the "home front," Mrs. Vickers was selected from the thousands of other Houston housewives by a special civic committee last week.

Another housewife, Mrs. F. H. Ferrell, Houston, was matron of honor. Mrs. Ferrell has five sons, three of whom are in the armed forces.

Women employes in the five companies are now working 10 hours daily under a 30-day exemption, Reed said.

Four deaf mute students received certificates.

The class joined more than 5,000 other persons in Denton county who have received Red Cross certificates since Pearl Harbor.

Fox Turns Out To Be Friend To Farmer

ATHENS, June 3 (AP)—At least one farmer in this area finds a fox a friend.

Rube Sheptrine of Larue reported he saw signs on his tomato plants where worms had been at work, but he could find no forms.

Tracks showed that a fox had gone up every row in the patch, just after the plants had been pruned. Sheptrine decided the fox had eaten all of the pests.

SIMPLE RITES SET

NORTH BAY, Ont., June 3. (AP) —A simple funeral service will be held in Toronto Saturday for Dr. Allan R. Dafoe, Dr. William Dafoe of Toronto, his brother said today. It was not known whether the Dionne quintuplets would attend the funeral services.

Foundation Gets Bulk Of Estate

DETROIT, June 3. (AP) — Edsel Bryant Ford, only son of Henry Ford, left the major portion of his stock holdings in the Ford Motor company to a foundation for educational and charitable purposes, and thus the total of inheritance, transfer and other taxes to be assessed against the estate will be reduced to about $12,000,000.

That figure was the estimate of attorneys today as they filed for probate the will on the late president of thte Ford Motor Co. who died last week. Chief beneficiary from the estate, which the attorneys said would inventory about $200,000,000, is the Ford Foundation, incorporated in January, 1936, for the purpose of receiving and administering funds for "scientific, educational and charitable purposes, all for the public welfare."

Such Gifts Exempt

Gifts to organizations of that type, the attorneys explained, are tax exempt. Earlier conjectures that overlooked the foundation had placed the possible taxes as high as $200,000,000 and brought the suggestion also that stock in the Ford company might have to be sold to meet them.

Other beneficiaries are Mrs. Elenor Clay Ford, the widow, and four children — Henry Ford II, Benson Ford, Mrs. Walter Buhl Ford II and William Clay Ford — to whom is bequethed in equal shares that portion of the Ford Motor Co. stock not conveyed to the Ford foundation.

Four Trusts Executed

With the filing of the will it was disclosed also that on November 4, 1935, Edsel Ford had executed four trusts, one for each of the four children, to remain operative until the beneficiary becomes 25 years old. Henry Ford II is the only one of the four who has reached that age. He will receive the bequest directly. The other bequests will go into the trusts, with Mrs. Edsel Ford as special administratrix.

In addition to his Ford Motor company stock, Edsel Ford also owned a majority of the stock of the Manufacturers National bank of Detroit. The bank stock as well as the family estate in suburban Grosse Pointe Shores, a mansion at Seal Harbor, Me., the White Hart inn in New Hampshire, a residence in Florida and several other pieces of property are bequeathed to the widow.

Tech Men Named As U. S. Butter Graders

Mart G. Pederson, professor of dairy manufactures at Texas Technological college, and L. G. Harmon, assistant professor, have been appointed official butter graders of the U. S. Department of Agriculture under the War Agricultural Emergency act, according to announcement by Prof. Kenneth M. Renner, head of the department of dairy manufactures.

Renner said that 50 per cent all butter now manufactured by creameries is to be set aside for government use and must therefore be inspected by official graders.

The department of dairy manufactures at Tech has been recognized by the government as qualified to do official grading of butter for the government.

Lubbock and the South Plains area, Renner pointed out, produces approximately 40 per cent of the creamery butter manufactured in Texas.

He further pointed out that since the Tech dairy manufactures department is in a position to cooperate with the government and the local creameries, inspection of butter may now be secured immediately, thus saving time and money.

One Is Killed When Bomber Hits Roof

HILL FIELD, Utah, June 3. (AP) —Wendell Ray Powell, 17, St. Anthony, Idaho, was killed and 20 other civilian workers in a huge hangar were injured when a two-engined medium bomber crashed into the roof.

Hill field officials said the plane was piloted by Capt. W. M. Bell, assigned to a west coast army air base.

Double In Synthetic Rubber Demand Seen

NEW YORK, June 3. (AP)—A post-war demand for 2,000,000 tons of natural and synthetic rubber a year, twice the prewar total, was predicted today by John L. Collyer, president of the B. F. Goodrich Co.

That is the long-term prospect, he said in an address for delivery before the New York state Chamber of Commerce.

Davies' Landing Not Recognized

SEATTLE, June 3. (AP)—Joseph E. Davies, President Roosevelt's emissary returning from Russia, landed unannounced and unrecognized at Boeing field early Tuesday, it was disclosed today.

The former ambassador's plane taxied to the end of the field and stood there.

"I was wondering why they were so snooty," Schuyler M Gardner, 21-year-old control tower operator, recalled today, "when the pilot asked me over the air if there had been any transportation provided. He didn't say who they were.

"'Nobody around here this time of night,' I told him. He said he thought there should be some cars to meet them. I told him there just weren't, but I might come down and help them out."

Used Old Sedan

Gardner drove his old sedan alongside the plane, and piled luggage inthe front seat with the pilot.

"There were a couple of tired-looking older men along, so I told them they could sit in back. I made three trips, in all, taking baggage and everything downtown."

Not until dawn disclosed "Mission to Moscow" in English and Russian lettering on the nose of the plane did Gardner sense the identity of his distinguished passengers—Davies and Dr. Arthur F. Chace, traveling companion.

"Now I guess I'll rope off that back seat; save it to show posterity," Gardner said.

AUSTIN WOMAN BURIED

AUSTIN, June 3. (AP)—Funeral rites were held today for Mrs. James P. Hart, sr., 97, widow of a former Austin city commissioner and one time district clerk. A native of New York, Mrs. Hart, who died yesterday, had resided in Austin since 1848.

Air Power Is Big Factor In Russia

By LOUIS F. KEEMLE
United Press War Analyst

Air power appears likely to be an important factor in the war on the Russian front this summer, at the same time it is being exerted by the Allies in preparation for the decisive blow against Hitler in western Europe and the Mediterranean.

The weakening Luftwaffe may be confronted with a triple task beyond its powers. The British-American assault by day and night on industry and communications in the occupied countries and Germany proper is a primary strain which greatly limits the fighting strength which Germany can exert in southern Europe and against Russia.

Italy May Be Left

It is conceivable that the aerial defense of Italy and its guardian islands may be left mainly to the Italians. But if the Allies move into Italy and extend their bomber bases to within easy striking range of eastern and central Germany, Germany may be forced to weaken still further her strength in the west and in Russia to meet the threat.

The Russians have been testing German aerial strength on the long eastern front for more than a month now and appear highly encouraged by the result. Greatly strengthened, the Red air force has been hammering German communications and supply centers behind the lines. In taking the initiative, the Russians have forced the German air force into defensive action, putting a strain on it even before the Nazis were ready for their main summer offensive.

High Losses In Russia

Russian figures, which are the only ones available, show a surprisingly high ratio of German losses. When and if the Germans start a major offensive, they undoubtedly will throw in a large reserve which has not been seriously depleted by the scattered actions so far.

It is doubtful, however, in view of the pressure elsewhere, that the Germans will be able to gain air supremacy over the Russian front this summer.

GENERATING CAPACITY

NEW YORK, June 4 (AP)—Under the drive for more electric power reserves for the war, the nation's generating capacity has been increased 6,500,000 kilowatts since June, 1940, to about 47,500,000 kilowatts and should reach 50,000,000 by the end of this year, W. C. Kellog, president of the Edison Electric institute, told members today.

Valley Sets New High In Revenue

McALLEN, June 3 (AP)—Revenue from farming operations in the richest season in its history has poured $31,839,000 in cash income into the Rio Grande valley during the first four months of 1943, and April income set a new all-time record of $9,381,000 for a single month.

The figures were made public in data compiled by the Bureau of Business Research at the University of Texas.

The valley ranks as the second highest district in the state in farm income for 1943 through April, the report showed. Only the Amarillo district of the Panhandle, with total income of $37,504,000, mostly from livestock sales, topped the valley.

CITRUS SEASON PRODUCTS $45,000,000 IN REVENUE

WESLACO, June 3 (AP) — The greatest citrus season in the history of the Rio Grande valley came to a close May 31 after producing an estimated $45,000,000 in revenue for growers and resulting in the production of an estimated 40,000 cars of fruit.

It is estimated that a beech tree consumes about 80 quarts of water daily.

Many Areas Suffer Losses From Winds

South Plains farmers have suffered losses in many communities of the South Plains area during the last several days because of high winds and soil erosion, although the latter was kept to a minimum by freshly plowed and planted fields, following recent rains.

Cotton and other tender vegetation was badly burned by the high winds and driving sand which swept the entire western part of the state Wednesday. Virtually all cotton is planted, and most of it is up, but there will be considerable re-planting to do.

In fields where seed had been planted but not yet up, there will be another re-planting job because the wind has driven what surface moisture there was entirely away. June 20 is about the deadline for replanting cotton in West Texas, so there are several days yet remaining in which a crop is possible.

In Hockley and Cochran counties it is reported here today damage from the several days of strong winds is much heavier than it is around Lubbock. A tour of the western part of Lubbock county during Wednesday afternoon, when the wind was at its highest, revealed considerable damage in the making. Farmers were busy everywhere trying to stir the soil, either by harrowing the listed beds, or in other ways sought to retard the moving soil by providing freshly plowed dirt.

Negroes Refuse To Work Under Whites

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 3. (AP)—Approximately 2,500 negro employes at one of eight production units of the St. Louis Ordnance plant struck today, refusing to work under white foremen, Julian Kirk, public relations director for the United States Cartridge company, said.

White foremen have supervised work in the unit since its formation in July, 1942, but negro employes were selected this month for training as supervisors to replace them, Kirk explained.

FIRE DESTROYS THEATER

GRAND PRAIRIE, June 3. (AP)—Firement apparently extinguished a fire which threatened the Texas theater here yesterday, but after they left the blaze broke out again and destroyed the structure as high winds foiled combat efforts. Damage was estimated at $15,000.

The military term platoon originated in the 18th century.

Chicagoans Deflate Brooklyn Dodgers

Cards Gain Full Game On Bums

CHICAGO, June 3. (AP) — The Brooklyn Dodgers, all puffed up about winning the final game of their St. Louis series, bustled into the Windy City today and promptly had the wind taken out of them by the last place Chicago Cubs.

The Bruins bagged an easy 8-1 victory, which, coupled with the Cardinals' 8-2 conquest of the Phillies, reduced the Dodgers' National league lead to a scant half-game.

Old Lon Warneke, beaten three times this spring without a single victory, smothered Brooklyn's superbas on six hits and had them shutout till the eighth, by which time Chicago had the game cinched.

Nicholson Homers

His teammates, making a total of 13 hits, gave him two runs in the first inning when Ed Head walked the first two batters and both scored as Phil Cavaretta singled and Bill Nicholson hit a long fly.

In the third Eddie Stanky walked and Nicholson hit his fifth home run in six games. Head then gave way to Les Webber, who was tapped for two more runs in the sixth when Lou Novikoff singled with the bases loaded.

Kirby Higbe came to the mound in the eighth and gave up the two final runs, the last being Dom Dallessandro's steal of home to add to Brooklyn's humiliation.

The series has four more games to go.

Mabry Puts Up Tough Battle Against Grant In State Net Tourney

SAN ANTONIO, June 3. (AP)—Rod de Llano of Laredo, a youngster who has been playing his heart out in boys' singles and doubles, junior singles and doubles and men's singles in the state tennis tournament here this week, hung up two victories today but on the same day was eliminated in the other three divisions of play.

De Llano, seeded No. 1 in boys' singles, defeated his doubles partner, Bost, seeded No. 2, in straight sets 6-0, 6-3, for the crown. De Llano and Bost later defeated Bobby Martin and Herbert Karren, both of San Antonio, in the doubles final, 6-2, 6-1.

Byran (Bitsy) Grant, former national clay court champion and seeded No. 1 here, moved nearer the men's singles final Thursday when he turned back Clarence Mabray of Alice, 6-4, 6-4, in the third round. Mabray made a fight of it all the way, with his service the outsanding feature of his game. He knotted the count at 4-4 in the first set, and in the second he led Grant in games 4-3, at one point, Grant, however, was too accurate with his shots and he consistently ran his opponent.

George Ball, of El Paso, seeded No. 1, disposed of Lt. Tom Gordon, 6-0, 6-1, in the lower bracket, John Hickman, San Antonio, No. 3, won over Ed Ray of Taft, 6-1, 6-0, and George Dulling, San Antonio, No. 4, defeated Jim Daniel 6-2, 6-3 in the other top men's match.

Junior doubles moved into the final round today with Ed Ray and Bernard Bartzen, the latter of San Angelo, Slated to meet Chick Harris and Sylvan Wolfson, both of Corpus Christi.

De Llano's second loss was to Ray in the third round of junior singles, 9-7, 6-4, and his other defeat was handed him in men's singles by Harold Folks of San Antonio, 6-3, 6-1.

Ethel Norton, San Antonio, seeded No. 1 in women's singles, defeated Bobby Keith, Dallas, 6-2, 6-8, 6-3, to move into the third round against Margaret Eby of Houston, No. 3. Shelby Frizzell, Austin, seeded 2, defeated Mrs. Janet Langham of San Antonio 5-7, 6-4, 6-1, and Margaret Eby, No. 3, defeated Lou Smith, El Paso, 6-3, 7-5.

Men's doubles got under way today with the top team, Grant and Carl Kamrath, getting a bye. No. 2 team, Ball and Dulling also had a bye.

GAME POSTPONED

EUGENE, Ore., June 3. (AP) — The intersectional football game between the Universities of Oregon and Texas, scheduled for Portland next September, has been postponed for the duration.

AIMS — AND HITS — This dark-eyed, determined youngster is Stan Musial, slugging outfielder of the St. Louis Cardinals who is now riding a 20-game hitting streak. Musial's current average is .345, second high in the league. Lower picture shows Musial he cracked out a double in the series against Brooklyn this week.

Ferris Says Haegg Will Run In National AAU 'Or Else'

NEW YORK, June 3. (AP)—Gunder Haegg probably doesn't know it, but he's started an argument with the Amateur Athletic union—an argument that may or may not be straightened out when he sets foot on land next week at New Orleans after nearly a month aboard a tanker.

The Swedish runner, holder of seven world records at distances from 1,500 to 5,000 meters, has sent word back to Stockholm via a correspondent accompanying him that he'll not be able to shake his sea legs until July 1. That means he'll miss the National AAU championships at Randalls island, June 19-20.

But the Amateur Athletic union has other ideas. Dan Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the organization, said today in effect that Haegg will run in the national championships or else — meaning that that Swedish fireman would face suspension if he declines to compete.

Special meets also have been arranged for Haegg in Chicago, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Boston, Pittsburgh, Cleveland and Washington, but the dates are tentative, depending on how long Haegg needs to get in proper condition. Ferris pointed out that the national is the only meet in which Haegg is entered definitely.

MAHNKEN CHOSEN

PRINCETON, N. J., June 3. (AP) —Appointment of Harry A. Mahnken as head football coach of Princeton university was announced today.

Mahnken, who has been coach of Princeton's 150-pound grid teams since 1937 succeeds Elton E. (Tad) Wieman, who now is civilian head of the physical conditioning program of the Army specialized training program in Washington.

Bronx Bombers Defeat Browns

NEW YORK, June 3. (AP)—Manager Joe McCarthy shook up the batting order of his New York Yankees today and though the changes scarcely could be said to have put the bomb back in the bombers, they did win.

The margin of their 2-1 triumph over the St. Louis Browns, however, was a gift run in the ninth inning after two were out.

Charley Keller received credit for a double when Rightfielder Mike Chartak misjudged his fly and he moved to third on an infield out. This caused Bob Muncrief, the Browns' pitcher, to load the bases with two intentional walks and gave him a bad habit. For, after fanning Nick Etten for the second out, he lost his control entirely and served four consecutive wide pitches to Bill Johnson to walk in the winning run.

New Batting Style Puts Babe Dahlgren At Head Of Parade

CHICAGO, June 3. (U.P.)—Babe Dahlgreen found a cure for "home run insanity" and as a result he's the national league's leading hitter.

Dahlgreen, first baseman of the rejuvenated Philadelphia Phillies, ended a most profitable series against the Chicago Cubs yesterday by banging out three hits in five trips to the plate to bring his batting mark for 35 games to .378. Babe has been particularly hot during the current road trip, making 18 hits in his 38 trips to the plate.

What transformed the genial Babe, whose best batting mark in seven previous years in the majors was .267, into a great hitter? Dahlgreen readily supplies the answer.

"I finally overcame my home run craziness," he said frankly. "You know I spent three years with the New York Yankees and the Yanks of those years were power clubs. I knew that if I wanted to fit in and become accepted as part of the machine that I had to be a long-ball hitter too. The result was that I got into the habit of swinging from my heels on practically ever pitch. I continued to do it after I left the Yankees too. I never was meant to be that kind of a hitter. So I changed this year and made up my mind merely to try and meet the ball. The plan has worked swell for me."

The matter of a sore arm, oddly enough, also figures prominently in Rahlgreen's great hitting performance.

"I started the season at shortstop," he explains, "and the position calls for an entirely different type of throw than I was accustomed to at first base. From deep short you have to throw overhanded frequently. A first baseman throws under-handed or side-arm most of the time. The result was that my arm became sore near the shoulder and I couldn't swing a bat real hard for a while. So again I determined to merely meet the ball.."

This is Dahlgreen's last season of baseball for the war's duration. He's Army-bound, but is hopeful he'll be able to finish the campaign before being called for military duty.

If Dahlgreen could take the National league batting crown into service with him it would compensate for some of the "kicking around" he's taken in the past five seasons during which he saw service with six major league clubs.

Baptists, Tech Faculty Take B&P Loop Games

The heated battle for second place in the local B&P league softball race continued last night as Tech Faculty and the Baptists, competitors for the runner-up spot to date, both came through with victories.

The profs registered a 10-7 verdict over the LAAF sub-depot in a game marred with fielding miscues, while the Baptists scored a 5-0 shutout, their third of the season, over the Federals.

The two victories left Tech Faculty with a six-one won and lost record, against a five-two mark for the Baptists.

Hurling the shutout for the Baptists were L. H. Barley and Lehman's Branch. The two moundsmen gave up only four scattered singles, while their mates collected nine hits off Wynne of the losers. Winston Bumpass, with two for three, and Lt. Winston Lewis, with a double for two trips, were leading hitters.

L. G. Harmong and Floyd Williams combined their efforts on the mound to give Tech Faculty its decision over the LAAF ten, while Johnson was the losing pitcher.

Service Nines Resume Rivalry This Weekend

The baseball series involving South Plains and Lubbock Army Air fields again takes the sports spotlight in Lubbock this weekend with the two service clubs tangling Saturday and Sunday afternoons at Hubber field.

Each game is scheduled to start at 2:30 o'clock, with admission charges of 25 cents for officers and civilians and 10 cents for children. All enlisted men will be admitted free.

Three times before the two teams have met, with South Plains taking the decision on each occasion, twice by lop-sided scores and the other time by a scant one-run margin.

Lt. Nathan B. Eubank, athletic officer at SPAAF, has chosen Flight Officer Doug Turk, formerly with Birmingham of the Southern association, to start Saturday's game against T/Sgt. W. G. Hardwick, Sgt. Sam West's starting selection for LAAF.

In Sunday afternoon's encounter, S/Sgt. Guy Anderson of SPAAF is slated to oppose Cadet Pete Christy of the Fliers.

St. Louis Signs Jim Conzelman

ST. LOUIS, June 3 (AP) — The last-place Browns got some help today—in the front office—with the signing of affable Jimmy Conzelman as assistant to President Donald L. Barnes and public relations director of the American league club.

In making this venture into baseball, Conzelman resigned as vice-president and coach of the Chicago Cardinals of the National Professional Football league. He will take up his functions here June 10.

Barnes said he and vice-president William O. DeWitt believed that "Conzelman's background in athletics and business and his national reputation in the field of public relations would make an excellent addition to the Browns' organization."

Conzelman at a press conference was a bit vague about his duties but suggested his sports contacts would prove valuable in helping the Browns line up young players.

There was only passing mention that Conzelman would be assistant to the president and public relations director of Barnes' American Investment Company of Illinois, which operates several small loan agencies.

CASE HISTORY No. 379. Lady age 59 who had trouble in the small of her back, severe constipation, had to diet, hemrrhoids, nervousness, dizzyness from stooping, cramps in legs, did not have an appetite, and was losing weight. As a last resort she came to a chiropractor. In a few months time after her first adjustment all symptoms had improved and she felt like a different person. She was so pleased and relieved with the adjustment, and so determined to keep the bones from pressing on any nerves, that she comes regularly for her check-ups.

CASE HISTORY No. 1144. Lady age 28 who had nervous spasms, indigestion, drawing and pulling of muscles. After her adjustment she became so much better that she has been coming regularly for fear that the bones would again get displaced and she might have the same sickness.

HOW TO SECURE CHIROPRACTIC BENEFITS. Persons who are clearly suffering from some ailment or whose bodies are in some part functioning below normal good health, and also those who have become conscious of soreness in the region of the spine, should immediately seek a competent Chiropractor and request an examination. It is equally important for well people to protect their present good health. Just as most reasonably careful persons now visit their dentist at regular intervals, it is easier and less painful for the denist to fill a small cavity than a large one and certainly it is much better than extracting the tooth. Likewise it is much easier to restore to normal position a vertebra which has been displaced only a short time, and it takes less time to remove the cause of the trouble.

CHICKENS-TURKEYS, Star Sulphurous Compound—given in drinking water or feed destroys the intestinal germs and worms that cause most all diseases as they enter the fowl in feed, preventing most all diseases. Also rids them of blood-sucking lice, mites, fleas, blue bugs and red bugs that kill many of your chicks. Cost very little to use. Money back if not satisfied. Mark Halsey, Drug Stores.

Western Prolfics

Most popular cotton in West Texas because its earliness and prolific fruiting has made more dollars per acre.

Has thin rind bolls that open early and its lightweight burs make high gin turn outs from snapped cotton.

Not a long staple cotton but its ⅞ to 15-16 staple has made $5 to $10 per bale more than cotton from Georgia seed.

Stays in the boll better than most cottons which is an advantage that saves lots of cotton if hands are scarce.

On R. D. Holmes land in 1942 Western Prolific planted 13 days after Hybreed opened at some time and made more cotton per acre.

These seed have been Kemgas delinted and graded and then dusted with Ceresan to protect the seedlings from disease germs in the soil.

HALF & HALF PEDIGREED SEED FROM SEED FARM NEAR VERNON, CERESAN TREATED, GERMINATION 94%
This is the thin rind, light burr, high linting, early strain of Half & Half kept pure by a prominent seed grower who commenced working with Half & Half when its originators switched to Hybred.
An average of 1,800 pounds of snapped cotton made 500 pound bales. It is not unusual to get a strict middling 500-pound bale from 1,500 pounds of snaps.
This is short cotton 13/16 and ⅞ inch staple but it went in the Government loan at better prices than staple cotton because it made higher grades.
Recleaned and graded fuzzy seed in new bushel cotton bags at $6.80 per bag.
Kemgas treated-tested seed at $11 per 100 pounds.
Mail check and we ship freight prepaid to your railroad station and you save time and tires. We allow freight if you call for seed.

Heavier Farm Fund Favored In Senate

WASHINGTON, June 3 (AP) — A Senate appropriations subcommittee approved an $800,000,000 farm bill today, sweeping aside a number of cuts made in the House and restoring funds for continuance of the Farm Security administration.

Increases included an additional $100,000,000 for soil and conservation, to which the House had allocated only $300,000,000. The subcommittee's figure still is $50,008,000 below the $450,000,000 available this year.

Subject To Review

The action, subject to review Saturday by the full committee, would pave the way for the annual struggle between Senate and House over finances to operate the department of agriculture's numerous farm programs. Sponsors hoped to bring the measure to the House floor Monday.

The subcommittee voted the FSA $29,607,000 for administration and approved authority for it to borrow $97,500,000 for rural rehabilitation loans and $30,000,000 for farm purchase loans under the Bankhead-Jones act.

The bill carried none of these items as it left the House.

The House committee had recommended $12,000,000 for rural rehabilitation administration by the FCA, only $40,000,000 for new loans and $30,000,000 for tenant purchases of farms.

Other Increases Asked

Other increases recommended by the Senate committee included:

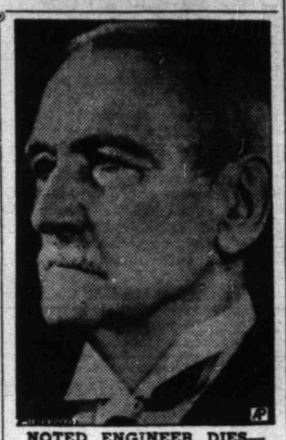

From $3,500,000 to $7,818,000 in administration funds for the Federal Crop Insurance Corp., to allow it to continue to write insurance on cotton and wheat under three-year contracts. The House sum was proposed to liquidate the corporation.

From $6,257,000 to $12,217,000 for the forest service to fight fire hazards on state and private, as well as national forests.

Russell said increases were made in the items for agricultural research that would be reflected in a printed report to be available later in the week.

The only decrease was a reduction from $170,000,000 to $147,000,000 for parity payments on basic farm crops, and this was recommended by the administration on the basis of reduced needs due to rising farm prices.

FAVORITES IN HIGH GROUND

NEW YORK, June 3 (AP)—Strength of motors and a modest come-back in the recently stumbling rails and steels gave today's stock market a selectively higher appearance although many leaders elsewhere failed to make progress. There were a number of new 1 to 3-year highs recorded by favorites.

The Associated Press 60-stock average managed to emerge with a net advance of .1 of a point at 52.1. Of 901 issues traded, 435 were up, 237 down and 229 unchanged. Dealings, slow most of the time, picked up in rallying periods. Transfers totaled 1,178,580 shares compared with 1,310,490 Wednesday.

Stocks at peaks for 1943 or longer included General Motors, Chrysler, Yellow Truck, Montgomery Ward, Woolworth, Deere, American Telephone, American Can, South Porto Rico Sugar, American Distilling, Morris and Essex and International Railways of Central American common and preferred.

In front were Union Pacific, N. Y. Central, Great Northern, Southern Pacific, Texas Co., Cuban-American Sugar, U. S. Rubber, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, International Harvester and Oliver Farm.

On the offside were Anaconda, Kennecott, Westinghouse, General Electric, Du Pont, North American, Boeing, Douglas Aircraft and U. S. Gypsum.

Among curb gainers were Cuban Atlantic Sugar, Lake Shore, Arkansas Natural Gas "A," American Cynamid "B," Sunray Oil and Pittsburgh Plate Glass. Cities Service slipped, as did American Gas and Humble Oil.

Two Bodies Found In Wreckage Of Plane

CLEBURNE, June 3 (AP)—Sheriff Oran Smith of Johnson county tonight reported the finding of the wreckage of an Army training plane and at least two bodies six miles north of here near Nolan creek.

Authorities of the Blackland Flying field at Waco were notified and they were reported to be en route to the scene.

A resident of the community reported hearing a crash about midnight Monday but his investigation was futile.

Two Cleburne youths, Rudolph Myers and Kenneth Campbell, found a gasoline tank in the creek while they were fishing. After a search of the area they found the wreckage of the plane strewn over a wide area.

Deputy sheriffs and members of the Texas State guard at Cleburne were guarding the scene until the arrival of authorities.

Leaving to go to work on the 3 p. m. shift—he had been the only coal digger to report since the walkout started on Tuesday—he said:

Chinese Victory

mei, in Hupeh province 295 miles to the east of Ichang, fell to Chinese arms, and in the sector some 300 miles north of Ichang the Chinese forces of Shansi province were declared to have broken Japanese attacks west of the Taiheng mountains. And to be driving the invaders before them toward Linchwan in a counter-attack.

A communique from headquarters of the 14th U. S. Air force told of 10 powerful blows struck against enemy supply lines, communications and troops on May 30 and 31 in the whole of the Lake Tungting-Yangtze area.

These were the main results of these power assaults:

Ichang left alight with burning oil storage tanks in four attacks—one of them by Liberators—which destroyed enemy troop trucks and sprayed enemy artillery batteries with fragmentation bombs.

Four Boats Knocked Out

Four Japanese river boats knocked out, two set afire and two others in all probability sunk.

Twenty-eight Japanese planes certainly destroyed—five of them on the ground and a batch of 23 in a single raid on Ichang in what was officially called "a brilliant demonstration of aerial gunnery" from American bombers — and eight more in all probability.

Of the 23 definitely shot down in flames over Ichang, Chinese fighter pilots got three and American bombers no less than 20.

"Two planes are missing and several others sustained damage in these operations," said the American command in summing up. "All other aircraft returned safely to their bases."

(He said the action was taken when the Jews revolted against inhuman treatment and killed 60 German officers and men.)

Tire Store Fire

lost in the fire, including approximately 120 pre-war tires for passenger vehicles, among which were several white side-wall tires, 75 truck tires, a ton and a half of camel-back rubber used for retreading purposes, 100 recapped tires, 100 used tires, all his vulcanizing and retreading equipment and 35 cases of motor oil.

A customer of the store who was present when the fire broke out said no fire extinguishers were available, but Fire Chief W. E. Twitty expressed doubt if they could have been used on the cement, which he said was almost as combustible as gasoline.

Firemen from both the central station and station No. 2 battled the fire from about 3:15 till 4:30 o'clock, as the flames spread to the roof of the building and threatened to destroy the entire row, leaping into treetops and reaching out for the roof of Wagner's garage and residence.

Escaped High Wind

Chief Twitty remarked that, had the fire occurred Wednesday, when the wind was much higher, it might have swept the entire north end of the city. "We couldn't have laid hose fast enough to keep ahead of it," he remarked.

Firemen thought themselves lucky to have brought the fire under control as soon as they did.

Having already answered two other fire calls, they had just arrived back at the station when the fourth alarm for the day was turned in. They ran to Sunray Courts, 3308 Avenue H, at 5:10 o'clock when a small fire was started from a wire short. The proprietor of the courts said children had been playing with the wire, trying to make the sparks fly. Damage was negligible.

While answering this call, firemen passed a car pulling a trailer with a horse in it, and the horse became frightened and jumped completely out of the trailer. The animal was not injured.

Anti-Freeze For Oil

On top of all the damage done to the Woody store, a negro employe poured anti-freeze into the crankcase of Woody's car instead of in the radiator, and all the oil had to be drained from the engine. Woody had instructed him to put the fluid into the radiator, but in the excitement the negro became confused and thought it was motor oil.

Robert Rogers, a driver for City Cab company, had gone across the street to Clark's Drug store to phone the cab station when firemen arrived, and hose was spread around his automobile until he could not move it. He was marooned there for more than an hour.

In addition to the four fire calls Thursday, Firemen had answered three calls Wednesday. No damage was done Wednesday except to a feed stack that burned at Earhart's Feed Mill on North College avenue, and slight damage to the side-boards of a city truck when its load of trash caught fire.

The first call Thursday came at mid morning when trash caught fire in the rear of a fruit stand at 1614 Main street. Damage was negligible. At 2:10 o'clock Thursday afternoon a greese jet caught fire, but little damage was done. At 3:10 o'clock the Woody fire was reported, and at 5:10 came the call from Sunray Courts. The rush followed a period of relative inactivity.

TEXAS SOLDIER DIES

OGDEN, UTAH, June 3. (AP) — Staff Sgt. Albert Aguirre, 23, of El Paso, died today of injuries received Sunday when he was struck by a motor car on the highway south of here, Hill field public relations officers announced today.

Miners Ordered Back To Work

even a possibility that the order could be ignored.

Responsible sources said he was ready to resort to use of troops, the draft laws and other measures if necessary.

Moreover, it was stated on high authority that the government is considering seriously the question of whether men who have struck would be entitled to any retroactive pay increase which might eventually be agreed upon.

No decision has been reached on this point, but it may be referred to Attorney General Biddle for a ruling. Government officials are inclined to the view that miners who struck may have cancelled the promise of a retroactive feature in any new contract.

The miners' contract expired on April 1, and if a retroactive increase were denied it would mean the loss of considerable money to the men.

Officials Decline Comment

Early tonight the United Mine Workers policy committee adjourned a prolonged session without any action on the strike and union officials flatly declined to comment on the President's back-to-work order.

Lewis attended the session except for a short interval during which he left the hotel for an undisclosed purpose. Reporters informed him of the Presidents order but he said "no comment."

As the meeting ended, an official UMW spokesman said 'we won't have any statement. Nothing at all tonight."

The President's order, issued late in the day, apparently ushered in the long-awaited showdown with Lewis, who as president of the United Mine Workers, has refused to recognize the War Labor board's jurisdiction and has called it "malignantly" prejudiced,

Mr. Roosevelt's statement said: "Most of the nation's coal mines are closed because of a general strike which has taken place in defiance of the government of the United States. I have instructed the secretary of the interior, who has possession of the mines for the government, to proceed to reopen the mines.

"The secretary of the interior will continue to operate the mines under the terms and conditions of work which obtained under the old contract which was extended by order of the War Labor board plus those new terms and conditions which have been approved by the board and which were announced in the board's order of May 25th.

"As President and commander in chief I order and direct the miners who are not now at work in the mines to return to their work on Monday June 7, 1943. I must remind the miners that they are working for the government on essential war work and it is their duty no less than that of their sons and brothers in the armed forces to fulfill their war duties.

"Just as soon as the miners return to work, the disposition of the dispute between the miners and the operators will forthwith proceed, under the jurisdiction of the War Labor board and in accordance with the customary and established procedure governing all cases of this sort."

MORE

The President was reported ready to back up his order by—

1. Reclassification under the selective service act of those miners who disobey.

2. A rigid enforcement of all laws governing aliens. Many thousands of the miners are aliens.

3. Widespread use of troops, if necessary.

May Release Service Men

This was represented as the President's program by trustworthy sources not permitting identification by name. They also said former miners now in the armed service would be released for work in the mines if this became advisable.

The chief executive was represented as having decided there could be no compromise with John L. Lewis, leader of the 500,000 striking miners, so long as the work stoppage, with all its inherent peril to the nation's war-making capacity, persisted.

His advisers were said to be convinced that the strike can be broken, and to feel that it would be better to forego two weeks or so of coal production than to give ground to Lewis.

In this decision, they backed up the War Labor board which referred the strike to Mr. Roosevelt yesterday with the declaration that to continue negotiations between the mine owners and Lewis while a strike existed would "nullify the no strike agreement upon which the country depends for an uninterrupted flow of war goods and would shatter the basis upon which our wartime labor policy exists."

Many Believed Ready To Work

How many miners might voluntarily respond to a request from the President for a resumption of work was a question on which there was widespread speculation. Some of his advisers were described as believing the majority would, if assured protection from pickets.

However, reports from Pennsylvania mine fields indicated there were many who, on the basis of their present attitude, would not. Inquiries by reporters to individuals brought expressions, in many cases, that the miners would not go back this time without a contract.

The draft law already has been invoked against idle miners in one state. Gov. Prentice Cooper of Tennessee announced he had authorized local draft boards to reclassify as available for active service those miners of fighting age who are not at work.

Pressure On Lewis

Strong pressure on Lewis to call off the strike was seen by some members of Congress in the pending anti-strike legislation.

By a vote of 133 to 37, the House refused today to kill the Smith-Connally bill which it is debating and may bring to a vote tomorrow.

During the debate, Rep. Whittington (D-Miss) accused Lewis of hating President Roosevelt "with such vehemence" that "his patriotism has been destroyed."

"In a contest between labor and government, I stand for government," Whittington shouted.

Lewis also was criticized in the Senate by Senator Wagner (D-NY), author of the national labor relations act and recognized as one of organized labor's staunchest supporters among the national legislators.

Called Blasphemy of Labor

Though he did not call Lewis' name, Wagner said a labor leader had uttered "a cruel blasphemy of the most sacred rights of free labor" in citing the national labor relations act in justification of a "most irresponsible and disastrous" work stoppage.

Lewis had declared yesterday that the War Labor board's order for a cessation of collective bargaining in the coal case until the strike ended was "a malicious, interfering, and illegal" action in conflict with the Wagner act.

During the day, President Roosevelt met with the AFL-CIO labor war board, composed of William Green, president of the AFL; Philip Murray, president of the CIO; Julius Emspak, secretary-treasurer of the CIO Electrical Workers union; R. J. Thomas, president of the CIO Automotive Workers union, and George Meany, AFL secretary.

Bad Weather Hampers Pacific Air Activity

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, Friday, June 4. (AP) — Two Japanese planes were downed and another damaged in air activity yesterday which was limited to minor engagements because of adverse weather, the high command announced.

One went down as four enemy fighters unsuccessfully sought to intercept two Allied-four-engined bombers which raided the harbor of Lautem on Timor.

The other, a float plane, was downed and still another float plane damaged out of six which tried to intercept heavy Allied bombers over Dobo, on the Aroe islands, 500 miles north of Darwin. The big bombers had stopped to attack enemy installations at Dobo on the trip home from a raid on Babo, in the MacCluer Gulf of Dutch New Guinea.

The area of Jacquinot Bay, on the southeast coast of New Britain, was bombed by a single Allied raider.

On New Guinea, the region of Madang was bombed and strafed by medium units.

Kelly Field Soldier Drowns At Dallas

DALLAS, June 3 (AP) — Sgt. Jack L. Parker, 22, stationed at Kelly Field, drowned in Lake Dallas today while on an outing with his bride of six months and his mother, Mrs. Gladys Johnson.

Sgt. Parker noticed that the boat in which his mother sat was drifting from shore, dived into the lake and began swimming toward it. Before he could reach the craft, he sank, apparently victim of cramps.

London Paper Says 30 U-Boats Sunk In May

LONDON, June 3. (AP) — The Daily Mail said in a front page story that more than 30 Axis submarines were sunk in the Atlantic during May by sea and air attacks.

It said the total was confirmed by a detailed check of all reports and figures available in London and Washington.

Several Injured In MKT Train Collision

NOCONA, Texas, June 3. (AP)—More than 18 persons were injured, none seriously, when one Missouri-Kansas-Texas passenger train rammed another waiting on a siding today.

V. F. Carter, brakeman, of Denison, was thrown from the engine of an eastbound train and seriously injured as it crashed into the other train. Approximately 15 civilians were treated for minor injuries and some soldiers were hurt.

Carter and Hugo Walker, porter of Austin, were taken to Wichita Falls for treatment.

French Unity Plan Is Formerly Sealed

ALGIERS, June 3. (AP) — A "French committee of national liberation" headed jointly by Generals Charles De Gaulle and Henri Giraud was established formally today to "pursue the war at the side of the Allies until total victory over all enemy powers," including Japan.

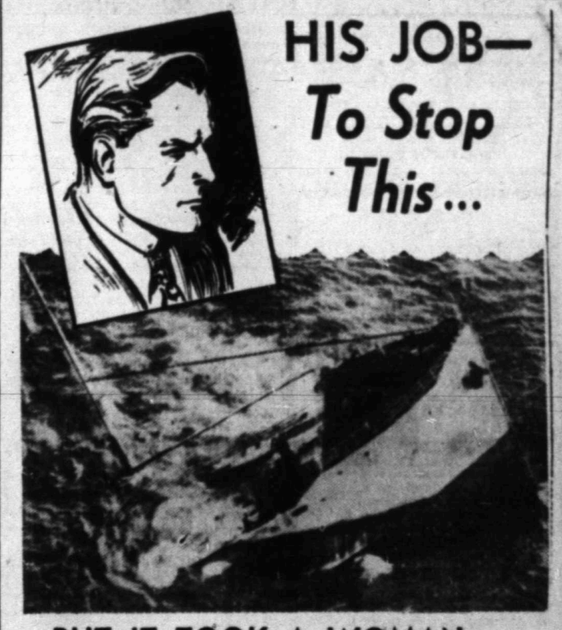

Formation of this strong central authority to oppose Pierre Laval's Axis-committed regime and to rally the French masses awaiting an Allied invasion of Europe came after almost seven months' patient effort to bring the two French groups under a single banner.

Signs of tension began disappearing here immediately, replaced by a new spirit of conciliation in all official quarters. Enthusiastic demonstrations occurred as the news spread.

HULL IS PLEASED

WASHINGTON, June 3 (AP) — Secretary of State Cordell Hull expressed his pleasure today at congressional extension of the trade agreements program, saying that it showed "a splendid manifestation of national unity in favor of practical international collaboration."

Food Conference Is Ended Thursday

By H. O. THOMPSON
United Press Staff Writer

HOT SPRINGS, Va., June 3. — The United Nations food conference—first effort of the Allied powers toward a better post-war world—ended today after adoption of a program designed to provide more and better nourishment for all mankind.

The final plenary session was held in the Empire room of the Homestead hotel where delegates from 44 nations have worked foor 17 days to produce a blueprint for a future world which they believe will eliminate much of the hunger and suffering of the past.

To Set Up Commission

The principal work of the conference was an agreement to carry on its work through an interim commission to be established in Washington before July 15 and after that through permanent organizations which will work toward the goal of "freedom from want of food."

The delegates gathered for their final general session after being invited by President Roosevelt to meet him at the White House at 5 p. m. next Monday. The President at that time is expected to convey his personal congratulations for an auspicious beginning on United Nations collaboration during the immediate post war period and for the days to follow.

Jones Extends Invitation

Mr. Roosevelt's invitation was extended last night at a dinner given by Judge Marvin Jones, president of the conference, in honor of the delegates.

Jones, summing up the work of the conference in a closing speech today before the plenary session, declared that mankind in the future will have "not only the will but the means for freedom from want."

By winning security from hunger for all men we shall win security for free men from the rise and aggressions of tyrants," Jones said.

Shall Make Men Free

"By winning freedom from want we shall make all men strong enough to be free."

Jones said that "what we have found" at Hot Springs is "of profound and lasting significance for the entire world."

"What we have found is this:

"First—compelling confirmation of a united purpose to make effective the pledge of the Atlantic charter and of the mutual aid agreements for a peace 'that will afford an assurance that all men in all lands may live out their lives in freedom from fear and want.'

Unity In Strength

"Second — overwhelming evidence that we have in unity the strength to make our purpose effective in peace as we are making it effective in war.

"Third—A convincing and inspiring demonstration that we can work together in practice-in the hard every-day effort that will step by step translate our hopes—and the hopes of all mankind into reality."

The dinner was a brilliant three-wine affair, with the delegates seated at a horseshoe table in the dining room of the homestead hotel, scene of the conference. Speech making was held to a minimum.

Jones proposed a toast to the United Nations and Herve Alphand, head of the French delegation, brought prolonged cheers when he responded with a toast to "the man to whom the world owes the first United Nations conference —Franklin Delano Roosevelt."

The food conference was convened May 18 in an atmosphere of some uncertainty because it was the first effort to bring the same Allied unity to peace problems that is being devoted to winning the war.

In the 17 days of comparative isolation in this beautiful mountain resort, the representatives of 44 nations have lost whatever reserve they may have had at the start. The end found them a congenial, hard working group of men who were able to subordinate national considerations to the common good.

The conference evolved a global plan of action to raise the standards of living throughout the world and suggested the type of machinery with which to carry it out.

An interim commission is to be established in Washington before July 15 to bridge the gap between the closing of this conference and creation of a permanent United Nations food and agriculture office.

The Floyd County Hesperian says "good bulls of the milking types are getting more plentiful in the country now, and it's a good thing, too."

Oil Company Executives Getting Taste Of Army Life At Engineers Training Center

By FRED SCHERFF
United Press Staff Writer

FT. BELVOIR, Va., June 3—Seventy-two executives of oil companies, here for a 26-hour taste of Army life, were getting just what they came for today.

Dressed in green cotton fatigue overalls and floppy hats, the visitors piled out of their quarters before sunup. Last night they participated in a three-hour "night problem" with the sixth battalion and crawled into their barracks bunks a little before midnight.

March n Formation

After breakfast this morning they watched the construction and testing of an anti-tank road block. Another problem on the day's training schedule was the erection of a steel bridge.

Divided into six squads, the businessmen marched in formation about Ft. Belvoir—a training ground for Army engineers—under the watchful eyes of drill sergeants.

Yesterday a sergeant lined up the group at a railroad platform and shouted: "right, turn." The resultant confusion was almost too much for the sergeant.

'Go This Way'

"No, no! Go this way," he shouted and pointed at a group of trucks. They went.

Later on, the same sergeant eyed his platoon, nodded approvingly, and said:

"Not doing so bad now, men, not so bad. I've had men who didn't do so good after six weeks."

See Orientation Movie

After seeing an "orientation" movie entitled "Kill Or Be Killed" the men lined up in front of a company messhall and, in due time, were fed along with the men.

"Hey rookies," one soldier said, "want to trade places?"

Following the approval procedure for handling recruits, the train of the visiting oil men was put on a siding near a supply warehouse.

Non-commissioned officers from the shipping and receiving department swarmed aboard the train, hustled the men into the warehouse where, without seeming even to look at them, supply clerks fitted them into their work clothes and hats.

After being put back onto the train, the oil men were hauled to the post headquarters where they were greeted by Ft. Belvoir's commandant, Brig. Gen. E. H. Marks.

"Gentlemen," he said, "this is a young man's war. We've prepared a tough schedule for you, and all of us, including myself, are not as young as we once were. So, if you don't like any of our plans just drop out."

Heavy Rush Shown At City Swimming Pool

Reports at the city hall reveal the biggest early season rush in history has greeted the opening of the municipal swimming pool in Mackenzie park.

Opening day attendance totaled 760, of whom 179 were adults and 581 were admitted on the 11-cent tickets available to those under 18 years of age. Pool receipts the first day approximated $181, of which $55 was merchandise sales. The crowd also was large Wednesday, although the sandstorm cut down the attendance.

Complete personnel at the pool was announced as being: Russell Wimberly, physical education instructor at Junior High school, manager; Billy Wright, assistant; and Tom Pirtle, J. D. Milner, Howard Lanford and Leslie Morrisset, lifeguards.

The manager announced that the annual learn-to-swim classes and life saving instructions are planned during the summer. Dates have not been set.

He reminded also that the pool is open from 8:30 a. m. until 10 p. m. on week days and from 1 until 9:30 p. m. on Sundays. Prices for use of the pool are 25 cents for adults and 11 cents for minors under 18 years of age. Both prices include tax. Swim suits are available for 20 cents and towels for five cents.

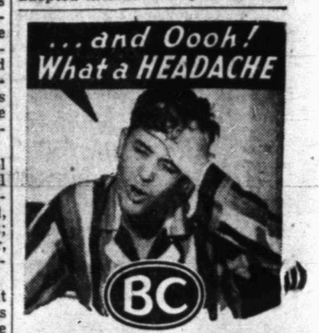

Improved Liquor Price Ceilings Are Sought

WASHINGTON, June 3 (AP) — Skyrocketing liquor prices prompted the Office of Price Administration today to seek an improved program of price control.

OPA called on all owners of brands of distilled spirits to file by July 9 complete data on prices, and to describe the method by which they established their ceilings.

The distress call "S O S" was adopted internationally in 1906.

No Excitement Shown Here In Meat Buying

Mrs. Housewife was going about her meat buying in orderly fashion Thursday, unexcited concerning the impending raise in point values of scarce beef cuts, checks with representative markets in the city indicated.

Eight markets reported meat buying was normal during the day, following OPA's announcement that point values of the scarce beef cuts would be raised, while those of numerous items of lamb, veal and variety meats in less demand would be lowered. The changed point values will become effective Sunday.

"So far it hasn't had any effect at all," said one store official, speaking for three markets. Customers had not been commenting on the changes, he said.

Other statements were similar. Several market operators said meat buying was more normal in May than during April, many customers letting some of their stamps expire.

War Bond Purchases At SPAAF Increase

Civilian and military personnel at South Plains Army Air field boosted war bond purchases on the pay allotment plan almost 40 per cent during May, it was announced Thursday.

Total bond sales for the months were $38,158.05, allotments being the highest since the establishment of the field.

Pay allotments for the month were $26,283.05 as compared to $16,816.55 for the month previous. Cash purchases of $11,875 made up the difference. Both civilian workers and military personnel increased allotments with the latter taking a definite lead. All cash purchases reported on the field were by military personnel, several large bonds being bought by officers. However, the cash purchases do not include those which civilian workers may have made in Lubbock.

Two Performances Of USO Show Planned

The entertainment-spiced USO shoow, "Bubblin' Over," will be presented twice tonight at South Plains Army Air field.

Tonight at 6:30 o'clock and 8:15 o'clock in the post recreation hall, the musical comedy will be presented with a cast of 11 topnotch entertainers.

Among the featured performers are Rosalind Gordon, pretty 20-year-old tap dancing sensation, the comedy team of Ross and Bennett, Howard Nichols, a unique hoop juggler, "Senator" Murphy, a comedian, and the Madelyn Wallace Girls, a chorus of six who feature dance routines in tap, acrobatic and ballet numbers.

Licenses Available For Non-Residents

AUSTIN, June 3. (AP)—Non-resident hairdressers will be granted Texas licenses for the duration of the emergency under a bill passed at the general session of the legislature.

Dorothy Hallman, secretary to the board of cosmetology, said resident applicants are required to meet all state regulations and pay an original license fee of $10. They must pass an examination if they do not have a license from a state which reciprocates with Texas.

Points And Pointers

(Official news of rationing, nutrition and other war programs affecting the home and kitchen, prepared by the regional Office of War Information.)

SIGN HERE, PLEASE

DON'T forget to sign your application for Ration Book 3 before you mail it in. If you will type or print names and addresses on the form, it will be easier for the volunteers who have the task of copying them on the ration books for mailing back to you.

LOOSE STAMPS NO GOOD

Don't tear ration stamps out of your book before you go to the store. Don't send loose stamps with the children. It is illegal for the store to accept any loose stamps except where shoes are bought by mail. If you have some red or blue stamps that have expired, destroy them.

IT'S IMPORTANT

If some members of your family eat one meal away from home, and you don't prepare it for them to take, you'd better find out what they're eating. Most away-from-home eating gets into a habit-rut, so it will be about the same day after day.

Unless you are satisfied they're getting one or two of the basic seven food groups away from home every day, better put them all into breakfast and dinner. You can get off to a good start with a breakfast of grapefruit or orange or tomato juice (Group II), milk or cocoa made with milk (Group III), cereal or toasted enriched bread (Group VI) with butter or fortified margarine (Group VII). If the family eats eggs for breakfast, you've caught group V too . . . otherwise you'll want to put in meat, fish, eggs or peanut butter or dried beans or peas when planning that other meal.

Now for Meal Two all you need to worry about is Group I (green and yellow vegetables, either one) and Group III (potatoes and other vegetables or fruits, not just potatoes).

Not so bad, is it? If your family won't drink milk: sauces, puddings or soups made with milk do the trick, or cheese can be substituted. But it's every group, every day, remember, for the radiant health that gets us gallantly through these times.

GO FOR GREEN

Get the parsley habit for brighter meals, brighter eyes. If you cut it up with the scissors into your salads, onto your potatoes, the family will like the looks and reap the benefits of this vitamin-rich eye-catcher. Vitamin A helps eyes and skin stay lively and lovely. Vitamin C keeps teeth and bones hardy.

BRUSHING DOES IT

A GOOD stiff brush applied to vegetables is better than a paring knife. Scrub them under water when you first bring those carrots, beets and turnips into your kitchen. Then pop them into the refrigerator if they have to wait for mealtime. Cook without scraping or peeling for less drudgery, prettier hands . . . and more vitamins and minerals.

TIME SAVER

Too busy this year for the usual spring window washing? You'll hardly believe how effective is this quick way to wash the hard-to-reach outside of the panes. Close and lock windows tightly. Put the nozzle on the house, turn water on full and let go a good hard spray against the windows, right through the screens. You'll be surprised.

RATIONS FOR FURLOUGHS

IF YOU'VE a man coming home on furlough, you can now get ration stamps to feed him those home-prepared meals he's longing for.

A serviceman on as much as a three-day leave or furlough is provided with the completed application form before he leaves camp, at the same time he received leave papers. He and his officer sign the application and your man writes in the person designated to get the food certificates. So that if he doesn't want to use his precious furlough time going to the ration board you as the food provider may take or send the application to your local ration board any time within 15 days after his leave ends.

You may obtain for his use, for each three days he will be eating at home, 8 points for processed foods, 8 points for meat and fats, ¼ pound of coffee and ¼ pound of sugar.

If he's home for seven days' meals, you get twice the above rations and on the seventh day you share your own with him.

DON'T BE GREEDY

If you've already applied to the local ration board for your full 25-pound allotment of canning sugar and received your purchase certificates, OPA asks that you refrain from using Stamps 15 and 16 in War Ration Book No. 1. These stamps now are valid for 5 pounds apiece of canning sugar.

CANNERS TAKE NOTICE

Fruits and vegetables which are the least bit stale, bruised or overripe are unfit for canning because they attract mold, yeasts and bacteria. Even though such products may not invariably spoil, they are sure to be poor in color, flavor, texture and food value.

Speed in canning is important. Vegetables should be canned as fast as possible after gathering, and should be gathered at the most perfect stage for cooking. Corn and lima beans particularly resent being left to stand for several hours in the kitchen or time wasted between steps in preparing, packing and processing.

When canning beets, which you want to keep their beautiful red color, be particularly careful not to break the skin, tap roots or stems close to the beet before pre-cooking.

SOUP'S A TREAT

THERE'S nothing to dress up a cold summer meal so easily as a small serving of hot soup beforehand. Cream of tomato is splendid for vitamins and milk content, point value is low. Or make it yourself from dried peas or beans (soaked overnight, simmered, mashed, milk added) and get the protein value that's sometimes scarce in light summer dinners. Scrape onion juice on top at the last minute before serving and sprinkle with finely cut parsley.

You Should Put Up 42.5 Jars This Year . . .

Can You Can? Sure You Can!

Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, June 3—You're gyping your family unless every member has 42.5 jars of home-canned foods on the shelves this year, Mrs. America.

Home-canning of home-grown food is the only legal way to evade rationing restrictions. The government is egging you on to do it. Home canning equipment is deemed no less important than guns by WPB, and they're busting galluses right and left to give it to you.

In 1941, U. S. housewives used 16,000,000 gross of jar closures (rubber rings and combination rings and tops), indicating a home pack of 17.3 cans for each of the 133,000,000 Americans. The jar closure total jumped to 22,000,000 gross in 1942, as prudent housewives began to hedge against possible food shortages. That represented 24 cans for each of the 130,000,000 citizens not in the armed services last year.

This year, the Department of Agriculture estimates there will be a demand for 36,000,000 gross of closures, indicating a pack of 42.5 jars for the 122,000,000 Americans not in service.

This unprecedented demand for home canning equipment dumped a whopping problem in the ap of WPB production chiefs. Glass for jars was easily solved, because glass is plentiful, but metal for jar caps and rubber for sealing rings are critical war items.

Common screw-type caps normally use zinc, and NO zinc could be spared from munitions manufacture. No new screw-tops will be made this year.

They took sample surveys, and found that there are about 11,000,000 gross of used but usable screw-type caps now on hand in U. S. households.

That meant they had to find production capacity for 25,000,000 gross more jar closures. Here's the way they worked it out:

Last year 800,000 gross of glass-top jars (with the top held down firmly on the seal ring by a metal leverage bar) were manufactured. This year, WPB schedules call for 4,000,000 gross of glass-tops.

Glass is available for many millions more, but machine tools to make the metal-bar leverage dinguses are the bottle-neck. Four million glass-tops is the outside limit.

That left 21,000,000 gross to go.

The new "flow-on" jar closure, which has a thin metal top, a thermoplastic rubber seal and a metal band closure, is going to come close to filling the gap.

WPB originally scheduled a production of 15,000,000 gross of flow-ons. The industry estimated it could turn out 17,000,000 gross if given a green light on priorities.

Now there's hope that it can be kicked up to 19,000,000 gross. That's still 2,000,000 gross shy of the hoped-for goal of 36,000,000 gross, but it's still enough to give every hungry person in the country 40 jars of home-canned food, and there's a possibility that they can hit a 36,000,000-gross peak.

Don't worry that rubber seal rings won't be up to standard quality this year. The government boys are plenty worried about the food situation. They couldn't take a chance on spoilage of 5,184,000,000 jars of precious edibles. Specifications call for standard quality rubber in jar rings, even if part of it must come from our critical hoard of crude rubber.

So stop worrying about home canning equipment. It's scheduled and it'll be ready. Start worrying about filling the jars. Remember, you can't make a stew out of ration stamps.

CAN DO!—Uncle Sam promises plenty of home canning equipment this year. Some can fans save glass coffee jars, as above, seal them with new "flow-on" lids.

The British Government pays the natives of Tirah, India, 240,000 rupees a year to avoid banditry.

Tips For Washing Clothes Given

Laundries are having a good deal of trouble handling the increased load of wartime. If you decide to do your own, or part of it, a few tips may be helpful.

First, sort clothes carefully and don't sort them on the floor where they will pick up more dirt. All garments but hosiery should be mended before washing. Stains should be removed before a piece is put into hot water which may set the stain.

Soak badly soiled handkerchiefs in cold salt water for at least 15 minutes and then wash them with a small plunger before putting them in with the rest of the clothes. As to soaking other clothes, use cool or lukewarm water, instead of hot. Some kinds of dirt come out better in cool water than hot. Don't soak very dirty clothes in the same water as slightly soiled ones. Brushing a little soap into very badly soiled spots while clothes are soaking is a help. Anything but white or colorfast cottons or linens you soak at your own risk, too.

Another tip, if you're new at this: wipe off the clothesline before you hang clean clothes on it.

By careful tending of soil Chinese farmers make a square mile support 3,800 people.

Salmon Is Good Meat Substitute

The salmon supply looks good, according to reports from the fisheries to the government. When meat is short in your market, you will find canned salmon an excellent summer dish. It is high in Vitamins A and D, so important for skin, bone and teeth health, also brings you the phosphorous and iron needed for healthy red blood and strong, cheat-the-dentist teeth.

Plain salmon, served with big chunks of lemon, is many times more delicious if served very cold. Keep a can in the refrigerator for a couple of days in advance. After the lemon juice (generously, please) mayonnaise is good, too. Don't let the salmon warm up while you're whisking out the major bones.

When mixing salmon salad, plenty of lemon juice, with a little pickle juice, makes the salmon, celery or chard stem, and hard boiled eggs much tastier.

If you want to use salmon as the hot dish or your meal, you've plenty of choices. Creamed, of course, or in croquettes or salmon loaf. But try it also just heated and served with lemon juice and a tart tomato or chili sauce, with crunchy French bread or hot rolls and a crisp salad. There's a community price ceiling on canned salmon and the point value is low.

Synthetic Rubber Program Praised

HOUSTON, June 3 (AP)— With Texas and Louisiana plants contributing between 40 and 45 percent of the nation's synthetic rubber production, we will be able to forget rubber as a problem by the autumn of 1944, Rubber Director W. M. Jeffers said here.

Jeffers was in Houston along with other high-ranking government officials on an inspection tour of synthetic rubber plants, shipyard and aviation gasoline refineries.

The rubber czar said he expected all synthetic rubber plants to be in production in late October and at rated capacity by the first of the year.

Others In Party

Other top government officials in the inspection party were Under Secretary of War James P. Patterson, Under Secretary of Navy James V. Forestal, and deputy Petroleum Administrator Ralph K. Davies.

The inspection tour for most of the party ended in Houston. However, Jeffers said he would go from Houston to Borger where he will inspect the Phillips Petroleum company's rubber plant and would continue to Los Angeles to visit rubber plants on the west coast. Traveling with Jeffers will be Col. Bradley Dewey, deputy rubber director, and Frank Creedon, assistant rubber director.

Patterson, at a press conference, said there was a complete spirit of cooperation between himself and Jeffers.

Programs Tied Together

The undersecretary of war said the inspection trip made him appreciate more clearly how the synthetic rubber and aviation gasoline programs were tied together, in connection with refining operations.

"One hand washes the other," Patterson said, and then added with a smile, "but not if both hands are dirty in the beginning, of course."

However, Patterson said there still is a shortage of aviation gasoline because of increased Army demands in 1943-44.

"It is going to be a great task to keep up with the requirements of aviation gasoline," he said, "but I am confident it can be done."

Deputy Petroleum Administrator Davies also praised the oil industry for its pre-Pearl Harbor research in the 100 octane aviation gasoline production.

"About 50 percent of the present aviation gasoline production is being turned out by converted plants which were made ready for producing high octane gasoline with a few changes," Davies said.

Texas Oil Situation

Questioned at the press conference concerning Railroad Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson's plea for greater production of crude oil in Texas, Davies said he did not see any reason at this time to increase oil in storage.

"The amount of crude inventories is dependent upon transportation," Davies said. "Our inventories is dependent upon transportation," Davies said. "Our inventories now are comparable to normal times and we are moving all the oil possible."

The deputy petroleum administrator said he saw possibilities of a crude oil shortage within a year unless new discoveries are made and also depending upon war demands.

He said if there was to be a greater oil production now it would have to come from existing wells.

Discussing the oil price situation, Davies only comment was that the PAW has recommended to the Office of Price administration that price ceilings be lifted 35 cents per barrel. He explained that PAW had no authority to increase the price of oil.

Wildcat Stimulation

Until a price increase is granted to stimulate wildcat oil drilling, Davies said the PAW was aiding this problem by making materials available for additional drilling.

"The PAW has requested that 4500 wildcat tests be drilled in 1943 but so far the results are disappointing," he said.

The visitors were welcomed to Texas by Governor Coke Stevenson at a dinner.

Patterson told the diners that Texas has an unbeatable spirit and he was glad to have Texas on his side.

He said there are about 7,000,000 men in the Army at present and that about 1,000,000 were overseas. Of the 7,000,000, about 2,000,000 men are in the air service.

He also stated that the production of planes total more than 10,000 per month compared with 7,000 a few months ago. This also compares with about 500 planes produced monthly a few years ago. Most of the plane production today is tactical types of aircraft.

"The output of aircrews will keep abreast of the plane production," he said.

Navy Proud Of Texans

Under Secretary of the Navy Forrestal praised Texans for their part in naval history. He said the Navy was proud of the support given it by Texas and Texans.

Jeffers said the inspection trip had been extremely important in the war effort. He said he was glad to have become more acquainted with Patterson and Forrestal and said they were doing a great job.

"When all plants are in production, the annual output of synthetic rubber will be between 800,000 and 850,000 tons," he said. "More than 40 per cent of this amount will come from Texas and Louisiana."

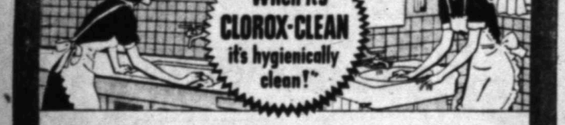

He said there was very little being imported from Brazil.

Davies said there is no shortage in the crude supply for producing synthetic rubber or aviation gasoline.

"We will make these products if nothing else," he said.

Texans Prominent In Island Forays

AN AMERICAN AIR BASE IN AFRICA, June 3. (AP)—Texans figured prominently in the Allied air attack on the Italian sea-plane base on Stangnone island off the western tip of Sicily.

Warhawks destroyed and damaged a considerable number of enemy seaplanes at anchor, a headquarters announcement said, as the planes streaked into the base at deck level.

Second Lt. Rayburn D. Lancaster of Stephenville, left two seaplanes burning and said, "strafing them was like running the low hurdles in a track meet."

Takeoff Frustrated

One seaplane attempted to take off, but was destroyed by First Lt. Herbert W. Andridge, jr., of Pittsford, Mich., and First Lt. Frank J. Collins of Breckenridge, Tex.

Collins, who shot down three Me-109's in previous raids, said: "Besides that one moving there were three more stationary and we hit every one of them. I don't mind getting up with the chickens if every mission turns out to be a party like this one."

Among other outstanding performances of the raid were these:

Lt. Charles R. Steffler of Houston, strafed two seaplanes and left one burning with the other badly damaged, and Lt. James H. Jones of Dublin, strafed one seaplane and left it burning.

Schooner Set Afire

Jones also strafed buildings in the town and strafed and set on fire a two-masted schooner, a sailing vessel and a small barge.

On the other side of the world, a Texan was in a Flying Fortress that fought 16 Japanese Zeros for 35 minutes, knocked out five for certain and probably one other, then returned to its New Guinea base with gas streaming from punctured tanks, the hydraulic system shot out and the brake system inoperative. The Fortress, named "Spawn of Hell" bore 31 cannon holes and uncounted machine gun holes.

Staff Sgt. Charles Williams of Milford, Ellis county, Texas has this experience to tell:

'After the pilot made a full circle, I cocked the guns for battle and sure enough there coming toward me were three fighters in echelon. I let go a burst into the lead ship and he wheeled off. My tracers were just below the next plane, but I caught the lower ship off the flight dead on the cockpit. He pulled up in a sharp climb and crashed into a third plane, sending both of them down into the sea."

Williams said that matched the hunters' story of getting two ducks with one bullet.

Change Is Made In Fort Worth Commands

FORT WORTH, June 3 (U.P.) — The second change in command in military installations in Fort Worth within two days was announced today with word that Maj. William L. Brown, who has has been in charge of the quartermaster market center, has been transferred to Bostono, Mass., to assume a similar post there.

Capt. R. E. Mernaugh, now stationed at Spokane, Wash., will succeed Major Brown.

Yesterday, a change in commands was concluded at Fort Worth Army Air field.

That New Federal Tax Bill

WHILE much confusion continues relative to effects of the new income tax legislation, certain facts are glaringly apparent.

These facts add up to the same thing: That income taxes for American taxpayers, individually and collectively, will be heavier under the new law than under the measure it supplants. Millions of names will be added to the tax rolls. Most, if not all, of those who, in theory, are to have some of their past taxes "forgiven" will discover before the end of the year that the government has taken back all that has been "forgiven," plus a good deal more.

Even the Treasury estimates that the measure will boost revenues this year more than three billion dollars. Many competent authorities say the increase will be substantially larger than Treasury estimates.

But, accepting the Treasury figure, the increase will amount to an average of $23 for every man, woman and child in the nation. For the average head of a family of 4½ members — the average for the nation — this increase will amount to more than $100 for the year. These figures do not refer to total tax. They refer to INCREASES above the levels set in the old law. Obviously, actual figures will vary with individuals. Some will pay more and others less than the average. But nearly all, if not all, will pay more income taxes under this new measure.

It remains to be seen how American taxpayers will re-act to this sort of business. If they can be persuaded that America's fighting forces might benefit in any way from the increases, then there will be no complaints worthy of attention. Few people will give thought to dollars while American boys are giving their lives, if there is so much as a chance that the dollars might ease the job of winning the war.

But if many people are persuaded that these tax increases were a resort to provide more money for non-war projects and for irresponsible officials and agencies to throw around with recklessness, then the political repercussions are sure to be violent in next year's elections.

"Only A Country Doctor"

INNUMERABLE people throughout the world will feel a sense of personal loss because of the death Wednesday of Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, the Canadian physician who brought the Dionne quintuplets into the world nine years ago, and then watched over them during the critical early stages of their lives. Few men ever enjoyed a more unalloyed world-wide admiration.

Many a sermon is to be found in the career of this man. If ever there was a typical "country doctor," it was Doctor Dafoe. Probably he never gave thought to the possibility that he might become a world figure. Probably he was completely satisfied to be one of the "little men" of the world who goes along doing the best he can in his small way.

Then the quintuplets were born. They became a focal point of world attention. No one held any real hope that all would survive. But they did survive, and the one man and the only man who can be given credit for that fact was quiet little Doctor Dafoe. He typified the universally loved and respected "country doctor" at his unselfish, uncomplaining best. He demonstrated once more that the difference between the "little people" and the "big pople" of the world often is a mere question of opportunity.

But Doctor Dafoe did more than take care of the quintuplets. He demonstrated that the difference between life and death for babies often is a matter of care. Practices, knowledge and discoveries from which the Dionne babies benefitted have been used with benefit for millions of other babies throughout the world. Babies of the world for all time to come have a better chance of survival because of Doctor Dafoe and his work.

The world is the loser because he has passed on. But mankind of the present and of prosperity is the beneficiary because such a man as Doctor Dafoe lived among us.

COMMUNITY SING
CHAPTER XI

Back in the office of the Courier next day, Penny checked hurriedly on proofs of the literature she had prepared for her Friday night meeting. Circulars, posters for store windows, the newspaper ad —all were in readiness.

No one would suspect, from the innocent wording, the real intent of the mass meeting. "Community Sing" and "Concert" were the big headlines. The men in the mill had been given double notice by Penny's friends there.

The weatherman proved cooperative when Friday evening arrived. The auditorium was filled.

The Kirktown Glee Club took its place on the stage. Rafters echoed to the lusty lilt of their voices. Men predominated in the audience, and their voices lifted in song as the concert proceeded.

Quietly, before the last refrain died down, Lou MacDonald, Jim Vickers, and Penny seated themselves in their appointed positions on the stage. With cheers for the glee club still ringing, MacDonald stepped forward.

"Friends," MacDonald started, "my story is not pleasant, but it must be told. It affects every one of you." He told the audience, simply and truthfully, of the tragic cases that came regularly to the attention of the Humane Society. He laid the blame squarely on Castro's machinations. There was no mirth in the sober faces uplifted to him.

"The power to remedy this condition," MacDonald told them, "lies in your hands. Campaign for clean government in Kirktown. Pick men who have backbone and courage. Put them in charge of your city government. You'll never be sorry." Heads noded affirmatively. A whisper rose—He's right."

When Jim stepped to the speakers' platform, a spontaneous cheer attested to his popularity. The men admired his courage and respected his judgment.

"Fellows," Jim said simply. "Not long ago there was a tragic bridge accident here. You or some member of your family was saved from death only by the will of Providence. A crooked city administration was responsible for the death of two of our best friends. I call it plain, cold-blooded murder." Eloquently Jim recited the many factual instances of graft and favoritism and crookedness.

"Castro can't silence the truth. He can't silence men who are sick and tired of dirty politics and gamblers nad murderers. Whose town is this? Does it belong to you who sweat and toil each day to give your kids a better future and a decent home to live in? Or does it belong to Castro and his yellow-livered gang of parasites?" Effectively, he pledged the paper's leadership in a campaign for clean government. His audience applauded with enthusiasm.

Now Penny stood before the sea of faces, displaying no sign of the nervousness she felt.

"I haven't known you very long, but I feel I know you very well," Penny began. "There isn't a coward in the crowd! You have power! You're strong! Let's show Castro he can't run Kirktown! Tonight—together—let's chase him

There were shouted affirmatives. Men jumped from their seats, ready for action.

"Wait! Just a moment!" Penny shouted. "No one wants to start any violence. We are all interested only in peaceful means with which to remedy conditions in Kirktown. The sheriff is here tonight. He has named Bud Walsh and several of your men as deputies. Let's go as an army of citizens—not as a mob. You won't need to start a fight. When Castro sees you, he'll know he has had enough."

Bud Walsh was already organizing the eager crowd. They were flooding through the wide-open doors in orderly fashion. Their march ot Castro's hangout had begun.

Jim was white with anxiety. "What have you done, Penny?" he worried. "The Castro gang won't give up its easy pickings without a fight. Someone is sure to get hurt."

"Perhaps this will change your mind." Penny handed him the red-lettered warning to leave Kirktown, "It's up to you to make up your mind, Jim. Either Castro goes or I go. Both of us can't stay here."

Grimly Jim said, "Come on!" With long strides he reached the head of the column of marching men. Bud Walsh had naturally fallen into leadership. Penny was right. The men were as orderly as a disciplined army—and no less tough!

"All I want is five minutes alone with Castro," Jim told Bud.

"You'll have your five minutes," Bud promised. As they approached Central avenue, Bud halted his column.

"Quiet, men," he ordered. "We want to surprise Castro. No one has had a chance to tip him off. We'll all wait while I send a couple of scouts ahead." The men liked this game. "Like the old covered wagon days, looking for Indians," someone whispered.

"Let's go," Bud shouted when his scouts signaled him. They pushed through two swinging doors into a back room. There, in a room filled with slot machines, gaming tables and gambling devices, sat Castro and a prize grop of city officials. The surprised mayor of Kirktown opened his mouth in a moronic stare. An unlighted cigar dropped from the lips of the safety director. Castro swung around, a vicious revolver in his hand.

"Shoot—if you dare," Jim invited through set teeth. Castro hesitated. He studied the silent crowd. Bud Walsh had a gun. So did at least a dozen others. Castro glanced quickly at the badges they displayed. He dropped his weapon.

"Bud," said Jim, "round up the rest of Castro's gang. You know where to find them." Bud signaled, and several of his men walked quietly out.

The crowd cleared a space for the returning men who had rounded up other members of Castro's gang. "Take a good look at this prize collection of apes," Bud Walsh invited. "This is the last time you'll see such specimens in Kirktown. They're going to be so rare that there will be a reward for their capture, even in slightly damaged condition, within the city limits."

Bud turned to the mobsters. "You guys have just two hours to get packed and beat it," he warned. "We mean business and we're plenty tough. If you can't understand our nice treatment, we'll have to teach you a lesson." A good movie director would have found a note of comedy in the way guns, marked cards, extra aces, and a special collection of crooked dice were piled on the cement floor, awaiting destruction. "Start moving," said Bud, twirling his gun menacingly. There was relief in the faces of the gangsters as they left. They had expected much worse treatment.

"I've waited for this for a long time," Jim said softly.

The fight which followed, Bud Walsh always said, was the toughest, noisiest, bloodiest battle that had ever raged in Kirktown. Jim had asked for five minutes—actually, Bud stood guard outside the doors for an hour.

Castro tried in every way he could imagine to kill Jim. He bit, he kicked, he kneed, he gouged, he punched, he butted. He swung heavy chairs at Jim's head. He narrowly missed Jim with the jagged edge of a table leg. Jim met each furious attack, each vicious thrust, calmly, alertly. In his own heart there was murder.

Desperate, Castro drew a murder-bladed knife from a hidden recess in his trousers. He lunged viciously. Jim felt no pain, but he knew from the red on Castro's weapon that the dagger had found its mark on his shoulder. Cautiously, he circled out of Castro's reach.

The room's unshaded light singled out the gangster's knife. Swiftly, painfully, Jim lifted a broken chair and shattered the bulb. Automatically, he lunged forward as darkness shrouded the room. He twisted the knife out of Castro's hand. Then he lifted Castro to his feet.

For weeks, Jim would show the scars of his battle. For months after the scars were gone, he would look back happily to the day when the Castro gang left Kirktown forever.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S various attempts to placate powerful voting groups convince the leading politicos of both parties that he is running for re-election. His aides have set out deliberately to win back or to hold the numerically strong elements which have been responsible for his three triumphs.

His principal support in the past came from the jobless on WPA and PWA, farmers, workers, liberals, small businessmen and the great city machines as represented by Bosses Frank Hague and Ed Kelly. The erstwhile unemployed may not be so sympathetic in 1944 because most of them are on payrolls and undoubtedly feel under no obligation to Washington. Many of them have moved from home and in certain contests a check-up suggests that they have not bothered to register. Their attitude worries Harry Hopkins and David K. Nfles, who are managing FDR's campaign from their White House offices.

The agriculturalists are definitely off the reservation, according to 1940 and 1942 returns and private polls. Dopesters think it extremely doubtful whether Mr. Roosevelt will carry any of the agrarian states. The "little fellows" in trade, irked by price fixing, rationing and shortages, will probably rally to the GOP ticket with sizable majorities. Left-wing oracles are critical of the administration but they will tag along in preference to following a conservative opponent.

The two blocs on which New Deal planners count most hopefully are organized labor and the ballot-delivering machines in New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois and New Jersey. With their backing and even a fair split among other units, the Chief Executive's advisers estimate that he can triumph comfortably That is why FDR opposes a consolidated union movement dominated by such antis as John L. Lewis and William L. Hutcheson, and why he has treated the municipal bosses so generously.

BALLOTS: The most distinguished casualty in the program to woo rural voters will be Henry A. Wallace, who was chosen as FDR's 1940 running mate because of his supposed appeal to the growers. It is virtually certain that he will be dropped from the ticket and perhaps given a diplomatic post, possibly in Mexico City.

Prospective candidates for the No. 2 place are Speaker Sam Rayburn, Food Administrator Chester C. Davis and Marvin Jones of Texas. Although Jones headed the House Committee on Agriculture when it rushed through the original AAA plan, he is recognized as a solid citizen and has many friends in the agrarian bloc.

Davis's lack of sympathy with the New Deal's general farm policy was demonstrated when he served in the Department of Agriculture. He is responsible for the ousting of such radicals as Rexford Guy Tugwell and Jerome Frank. As a former member of the Federal Reserve board and now on leave from his position as president of a St. Louis bank, he could be ballyhooed as a financier as well as a man from the great open spaces.

Rayburn has not been closely identified with barnyard problems, but he is extremely popular and has a personality expected to make a hit with the electorate beyond the Mississippi and south of the Mason-Dixon.

The name of the vice presidential nominee will be particularly important next year because it is almost certain that Mr. Roosevelt will not conduct an active contest. He will take the stand that, as Commander in Chief of the Army and Navy, "he cannot spare the time." In fact, emphasis on his military role will be banked on to bring in the ballots.

CRITICS: The government's almost complete control of industry, agriculture, finance and business in general, including corner stores, through its determination of coupon values and prices, has already had a premonitory effect on the leaders of the nation. It has provided an illuminating preview of the conditions which will exist if the trend toward regimentation continues after the war.

Prominent spokesmen, with only a few exceptions, are afraid to voice their complaints openly. Time and again they have declined to appear before Congressional committees or other forums where their views would be publicized. The heads of one of the country's greatest industries had to be dragooned before a Senate body that was anxious to expose grievances which they had expressed privately.

With Washington agencies buying the products of almost every corporation these days, manufacturers, farmers and bankers are at the mercy of officials here. And some report specific instances in which critics were made to suffer because of their boldness in speaking out or even questioning a decision behind closed doors.

SPECTRUM: The New Deal has run out of colors as well as alphabetical symbols in the vast expansion of federal controls. When Joel Dean, an OPA official, explained a new plan for fuel rationing to groups of oil dealers a few days ago, they asked him whether the new coupon book would have differently tinted tickets for gasoline and kerosene.

"No," replied the man from Washington, "they will be the same for both commodities. At OPA we have used up all the colors in the spectrum."

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

NATURE this year has shown a frowning countenance to farmers, shattering their dreams of bumper crops. But, according to heads of national retail associations, Uncle Sam has further aggravated the food problem by gross mismanagement.

The OPA snarled the rationing arrangement and dislocated our normal selling system. In addition, federal purchases such as those made by Army, Navy, Lend-Lease, etc., have been hit-or-miss affairs with scarcely any effort to stabilize prices or follow a fixed pattern in buying. These fumbles are among the prime reasons for the creation of the Office of War Mobilization.

Republicans in Congress also goaded the President into action. After experiencing months of disorder on the home front. GOP representatives quietly set up a Food Study committee because they believed that the New Deal had not developed a sane policy for handling the whole provision question. They also thought that it would be impossible to get any White House-controlled, regularly constituted group on the Hill to undertake a thorough investigation.

The minority party could easily have thrown partisan rocks at the various misfits and unorthodox cluttering OPA, Department of Agriculture and Food administration who have bungled their jobs. Instead it originated a constructive blueprint for establishing our entire food program on a sound foundation with the Jenkins bill as a necessary first stone.

The finding of a cure for the ills of distribution and rationing was shrewdly left to Christian A. Herter of Boston, chairman of the subcommittee dealing with this currently critical subject. Although a newcomer to Congress, he was formerly speaker of the Massachusetts House of Representatives where Republicans and Democrats are so evenly divided that no legislation is ever enacted unless both elements cooperate for the common good. Already he has secured bipartisan support.

CEILINGS: Justice Byrnes may accept the suggestions embodied in the Jenkins measure. But if he rejects its proposals, or delays decision too long, the GOP is likely to press for passage over his head. In a nutshell the plan places entire control of food in a single responsible agency instead of leaving it scattered in a dozen departments as now.

Its administrator would manage the procurement of all edibles by various federal agencies, Lend-Lease and foreign governments, and oversee the export and import of everything for the dining table.

Side Glances --- By Galbraith

"I'm always getting them mixed up, General — is it a Panzer movement and pincer division, or vice versa?"

Here And There In Texas

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff Writer

THE Forty-eighth legislature, following custom, paid scant attention to platform planks drafted by the state Democratic party, but it did grapple with the problem of economy in state government.

The Texas law-makers adjourned without acting on the party plank demanding that alleged wholesale spending of unrestricted sums of money in Texas primary elections be stopped.

They did achieve results on economy in government, possibly because the demands for it came not only from the party but from all other interested quarters. The result should be a notable reduction in state spending during the next two years.

Much Talk — Little Done

Other platform planks received perfunctory attention, but the tangible results were few. There was much talk about the states' rights but little was done.

The platform plank calling for no stoppages in war production was answered with a pact between the executive department of the government and labor union repreesntatives. Some observers felt that introduction of the Manford labor union regulation bill possibly was a prime factor in the formal signing of a pact between Gov. Coke R. Stevenson and CIO, AFL and Railroad Brotherhood representatives. This pact reinforced a verbal agreement against work stoppage.

SO FAR as election reforms were concerned, the one major bill relating to campaign spending breathed its last sigh on the Senate calendar. From the Senate committee that approved it, it had reluctant support. It never got to the House.

This bill, by Sen. Karl Lovelady of Meridian, was looked upon by many senators as too drastic. It provided for absolute state control of spending, with the state receiving and disbursing funds for all candidate in statewide races. It set up a system of control which opponents of the bill claimed would have made the governor a dictator of elections.

Radio Time Question

It was most specific in regard to the reporting of funds spent for radio time, adding to the current statute which makes it mandatory for candidates to itemize how they spent their money for newspaper advertising, hiring of halls, printing, etc. This section was directly in line with recommendations from the Democratic convention which heatedly discussed the matter at Austin in September.

Developments in campaign technique were responsible for the attention given to the reporting of expenditures for radio time. It was recalled that some recent candidates for major offices — Wilbert Lee O'Daniel, for instance — accused of spending, or having spent for them, large sums for radio time—have not reported it because the law makes no specific mention of radio ex penditures.

OPPONENTS of the Lovelady bill brought up the question of remote radio spending. How, they asked, could a candidate with headquarters in Dallas know when some friend bought 15 minutes of radio time in his behalf at Beaumont or Amarillo? The majority of the Senate did not like this section any more than it cared for the section providing that funds be received and disbursed through a state auditor of elections, or through the secretary of state.

Another statewide primary will be held before another legislature convenes, and presumably the practices complained of by the party will continue.

One Got By

One election statute revisi did finally get by both hou and the governor, but it was one the party did not call for.

This was a bill by Speaker Price Daniel which aimed at halting the practice of state officials running for other offices on state time without resigning their original offices. In recent years, numerous members of such bodies as the Railroad commission and Highway commission have been candidates for governor. This has given them a strong political position, because in any event they have been certain of retaining their original jobs.

A sub-committee named by the state Democratic executive committee is now attempting to make certain corrections in conflicts which appear in the election statutes, and it appears certain the party again will take cognizance of the legislature's failure to alter the laws. How much effect any future recommendations might have on the legislature will remain a question until the next session.

A PAIR of fencing swords proved no match for two city policemen, so a 28-year-old Fort Worth man was jailed with a head cut and bruised eye.

Radio Patrolman J. D. Leath and C. M. Maclin were called to an address to arrest a drunken man. The foils, which officers are not accustomed to encountering, held them at bay some time before they succeeded in subduing the fencer.

The battle ended with all three participants going to City-County hospital for treatment of minor injuries. Patrolman Maclin was bit on the left arm and suffered arm and hand bruises. Officer Leath sustained a shoulder bruise.

Rankin Says Hawaii 'Gobbled Up' By Five Big Corporations

WASHINGTON, June 3 (AP) — Representative Rankin (D-Miss) told the House today that Hawaii has been "gobbled up" by five big corporations.

He contended that Japanese in Hawaii have been "coddled" and that the five corporations, which he did not identify, employed Japanese laborers, and virtually excluded white men from owning land.

Rankin said if he had his way "we would put Hawaii back on an American program and establish a military government that would make it impossible for Japanese traitors to wreck our Navy, sabotage our Army or destroy our public work in the future."

Rankin spoke after Delegate Farmington of Hawaii told the House that records of the Bureau of Internal revenue showed the territory has consistently paid more taxes into the federal treasury each year than 17 states, including Mississippi.

Polish Resistance To Be Honored By New U.S. Postage Stamp

WASHINGTON, June 3 (AP)—A new postage stamp commemorating Poland's resistance to the Nazis will go on sale June 22 in Chicago and Washington as the first in a series of 71 honoring the peoples of occupied countries in Europe.

It is estimated that if present immigration restrictions continue, the foreign-born population of the U. S. will fall to about 2,000,000 in 1980.

I feel like A NEW MAN since I discovered this amazing way to NEW STRENGTH!

1—Promote the flow of vital digestive juices in the stomach

2—Energize your body with RICH, RED BLOOD!

THESE two important steps may help you overcome the discomforts or embarrassment of sour stomach, jerky nerves, loss of appetite, underweight, digestive complaints, weakness!

A person who is operating on only a 70 to 75% healthy blood volume or a stomach digestive capacity of only 50 to 60% normal is severely handicapped.

So with ample stomach digestive juices PLUS rich, red-blood you should enjoy that sense of well being which denotes physical fitness . . . mental alertness!

If you are subject to poor digestion or suspect deficient red-blood as the cause of your trouble, yet have no organic complication or focal infection, SSS Tonic may be just what you need as it is especially designed to promote the flow of vital digestive juices in the stomach and to build-up blood strength when deficient.

Build Sturdy Health so that the Doctors may better serve our Fighting Forces

Thousands and thousands of users have testified to the benefits SSS Tonic has brought to them and scientific research shows that it gets results—that's why so many say "SSS Tonic builds sturdy health—makes you feel like yourself again." At drug stores in 10 and 20 oz. sizes. ©S.S.S.Co.
