Members of Current Literature Club Had Unusual Display of Antiques During the Recent Celebration

Burkburnett was fortunate in having a unique and unusual display of antique articles and rare old photographs, during its 50th anniversary celebration.

The display was secured and arranged by members of the Cur rent Literature club under the direction and efforts of Mrs. C. M. Archer. In connection with the display the club sold homemade cake, coffee, and confections.

Many pictures of the Boomtime period and earlier were viewed and amired by a steady stream of homefolks and visitors, who were here for the anniversary.

In addition to the many old photos, which ranged from enlarged framed photos to snap shots there were old articles of wearing apparel, pieces of antique furniture, rare china, glassware, linens, old guns and many keepsakes, all reminiscent ofthe early days.

An unusual large collection of all pictures of people, buildings and scenes of Wichita County was loaned to the club by the Times Publishing Company of Wichita Falls, for display and created a great deal of interest and favorabl comments.

Proceeds which amounted to approximately $70. from the sale of refreshments by the club will be used toward the purchase of a loud speaker at the Town Hall.

Mrs. Archer and her committee; Mrs. D. H. Smith and Mrs. F. G. Jeffers together with the Current Literature club president, Mrs. Ralph W White, wishes to thank each and everyone who so generously contributed in making this undertaking the success it was.

Lodge Opened At Burkburnett

The Burkburnett Masonic Lodge held formal dedication of the new Masonic Temple on Second Street Saturday with W. T. Zimmerman, Worshipful Master, in charge.

A formal program opened, with George C. Moffett, state senator, and past grand master of Texas lodges as principal speaker.

Masonary is a system of morality, a silent force for good and a teacher, Moffett said.

Masonary has never encouraged law breaking or sheltered a criminal. The fraternity has not attempted to force anyone to believe its principles. It has not condemned anyone for religious belief, has never set class against class and teaches recognition of manhood.

Senator Moffett said the Burkburnett Masonic lodge was chartered in 1910. He dedicated the new lodge as representative of the Texas Masons Grand Lodge "to the cause of Freemasonry and also to the cause of virtue and universal benevolence."

Sen. Moffett laid the cornerstone at the dedicatory program He pointed out that masons have been builders since ancient days

The Masonic fraternity emphasizes permanence he said. Eastern star members took part in the ceremonies.

Invitations were mailed to all members of the Burkburnett lodge, past and present, and to lodges in neighboring cities.

Refreshments were served by ladies of the Eastern Star following dedication ceremonies.

Open house was observed at the new Lodge Hall from 1 to 5 p. m.

Plans for the new home were drawn some four years ago and a building fund was started. The first dirt was turned at ceremonies held in March, 1955, and completion was made late in December, 1956. No debt of any nature was incurred during construction though many hours of labor and material were given by members.

Recently a refrigerated air conditioning unit of five ton capacity has been installed and will be operated in conjuction with the present heating system.

Eventually a kitchen and a large banquet room will be added and possibly a Masonic library. These are plans for future projects.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Harms of Dallas spent the weekend here in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Harms.

Thanks to All Who Helped

RODEO WAS FINANCIAL SUCCESS

Just how would you go about thanking dozens of faithful workers who helped stage another successful rodeo and celebration? To enumerate all who contributed their efforts would practically impossible. Many worked silently behind the scenes, doing an important job, but seeking no publicity or recognition.

To produce a show of the scope of the Boom Town Celebration requires untold hours of meeting, planning and working. Some of the committees began their work more than two months ago. Still others did not have to meet more than once previous to the show for their duties were well defined and performed only during the show.

To those working in the limelight, and to those who worked behind the scenes, THANKS A HUNDRED TIMES for a job well done. Every tiny effort in behalf of the celebration is appreciated by those who shouldered the responsibility of seeing the job through to a successful conclusion. If you helped in any measure, rest assured that your efforts are appreciated by the whole citizenry.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

MOOSELAKE, MINN., STAR-GAZETTE: "As early as 1653 there appeared this sign on a businessman's door: 'I have laide aside business, and gone a fishing,' which proves they were smart in those days, too."

WINSLOW, ARIZ., MAMIL: "Home accidents in America cause one death every 18 minutes, one non-fatal injury every 13 seconds. Among the nation's 17,000,000 children under six years of age, accidents cause more deaths than disease."

QUINCY, MASS., PATRIOT LEADER: "Americans snicker when the Russian Government repudiates all payments in its saving bonds but their own government has not repaid its bond holders in terms of the purchasing power since World War II. No one who buys a U. S. Saving Bond has to worry about getting his money back plus interest. There is no element of risk involved here. He should, however, take into consideration the factor of inflation—something that continues to penalize thrift."

CARLSBAD, N. M. CURRENT-ARGUS: "Many responsible congressmen have been saying, 'The reason we spend so much is that the people demand it. These congressmen are right, says the New Mexico Taxpayers Association, which claims: 'Too many Americans shout "economy" with one voice and yell "gimme" with another,."

WEST POINT, MISS., TIMES LEADER: "The United States will participate officially in a trade fair behind the Iron Curtain for the first time this summer, at the Poznan Fair in Poland. The exhibit is designed simply to show the people of Poland what typical Americans wear and what they pay for their clothes, but the revelation may explode a chain reaction of dissatisfication when these people starved for consumer goods weigh their lot with Communism and ours under private enterprise."

THE PROPOSED 23rd AMENDMENT

A proposed 23rd amendment to the Constitution of the United States, known as the Gwinn amendment, consists of one clear sentence: "The government of the United States shall not engage in any business, professional, commercial, financial or industrial enterprise except as specified in the Constitution."

The possibilities within that simple statement of principle are literally enormous.

The government has billions upon billions of dollars invested in business enterprises of many kinds, all of which are performing functions that can and should be handled by private enterprise. These socialized businesses could be sold, and the money used to reduce the national debt, or to cut taxes, or both.

But that is only the beginning. Government business enterprises are tax free, in an age in which private business corporations pay up to 52 percent of all their profits in federal taxes alone On top of that, it is common for government business enterprises to operate at a loss, which means that they must be subsidized by all the taxpayers. Once they were sold to private enterprise, the subsidies would end and they would become major taxpayers. The gain to the nation over the years would run into tens of billions.

One big reason for the government's financial plight today is that it has gone far beyond Constitutional provisions, and into fields where it does not belong and where its presence is wasteful and destructive. This is not just a matter of economics—super government is the greatest enemy of human freedom that exists. The proposed amendment would give us the kind of government envisaged by the founders.

RIGHT DIRECTION

"Washington Report," a publication of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, has something of value to say about pending bills which would raise postal rates.

Most of the feudin' and fussin', the Reports point out, has been over proposed increases in first, second and third class mail rates. But another, relatively obscure provision," would pave the way for long over due increases in fourth class or parcel post rates, as recommended by the Second Hoover Commission." This provision would require that post office payment into the retirement fund for employees be considered as costs, and be reflected in the establishments of rates. That is certainly as reasonable a stipulation as anyone could ask —for these payments are as much an operating cost as the gasoline the mail trucks use or any other expense.

At the same time, the provision, desirable as it is, would not require other indirect costs — space provided in government buildings, depreciation and maintenance items, and payments on accounts of injuries to employes — to be considered in establishing the rate. This caused the Report to say: "Until and unless these expenses are included as 'costs' for rate-making purposes, the parcel post system will continue to be a government subsidized activity in direct competition with the Railway Express Agency and other common carriers." The proposed provision is a step in the right direction, but additional steps are needed.

THEY WOULD READ YOUR AD TOO, IF IT APPEARED HERE

Pressure, Invitation to Disaster

..."Jump that light — pass that car — beat that train —" That's the crash inviting rhythm of the road for the speed minded driver.

Capt. K. B. Hallmark, Jr., Commanding Officer of the Wichita Falls District of the Tex as Highway Patrol says: "Very often there's no reason for his hurry. He's just conditioned to getting ahead of the other guy.

As a result, his driving is uneven, characterized by such accident inviting practices as lane hopping, improper passing and disregard of traffic laws.

Not a flattering picture, is it? and yet its a picture of many drivers on our road today. Yes even of you and me upon occasion."

Hallmark says, "If we're honest with ourselves most of us will admit that now and then we get caught up in the tempo of the times. The nervous hurry-for hurry sake seems to get into our blood. There's so much pres sure, so much tension.

If we happen to be driving when we're in one of these moods, the chances are we'll set our speed by the inner rhythm of hurry. That's deadly dangerous, that's why enforcement officials are concentrating on it harder than ever this year all over the nation.

There is only one safe way to set speed. That is by driving at a speed that is safe for the conditions prevailing at the time. conditions of roads, traffic, the weather, the driver's mental and physical state, and the mechanical fitness of his car.

Hallmark says: "This is a fact we should remember every time we step into our cars. On those occasions when we're driven by pressure, we should deliberately take time to calm down before starting the engine, try to relax and get ourselves in a sensible state of mind for our driving job.

If we fail in our efforts to unwind we should take the key out of the ignition and settle for some other means of transportation."

Unless we use our head first, we might make the next trip feet first.

If on a cloud you're eager to Ride, Step on the Gas, it's Suicide.

ROTARY CLUB
Meets Each Tuesday Noon

Dr. R. R. Robinson, President presided at the Rotary club meeting on June 18, 1957 at the Town Hall.

Joseph A. Janeke, introduced George W. Anderson, Jr., executive Vice President of the North Texas Oil and Gas Association of Wichita Falls.

Mr. Anderson explained the purpose of the North Texas Oil and Gas Association and gave a very informative talk on the independent oil producers in the North Texas area. Which was a subject of vital concern to Burkburnett and the surrounding area. He explained some of the misconceptions about the oil industry, and why the independents and domestic producers of oil could not close down their operations at the present time, or in the near future, due to foreign imports of oil and then be expected to again produce in case of a national emergency, and why the foreign imports of oil would not be dependable during a national emergency.

During the meeting gifts were presented to the club sweetheart and the ladies who have prepared the wonderful meals for the club during this past year.

Twenty-nine were in attendance. Dr. Bill McClarty was a guest of his father, George McClarty, Mrs. Joe Janeke, guest of her husband, Atty. Joe Janeke and six visiting Rotarians from Wichita Falls.

Burkburnett Has Its Share of Blood Donors Who Have Given One Gallon of Blood to Red Cross Blood Bank

Burkburnett citizens have been very generous to the needs of the Wichita County Red Cross Blood Bank. A great many have given blood over the years so that the life-giving fluid would be available to meet all emergencies. Dozens have given two or three quarts each. Shown here are those who have gained membership in the Gallon Club—one gallon or more. This list was furnished by the County office. We hope that no one was omitted who should be recognized.

Farm Suggestions

Your rangeland needs a rest. Perennial grasses are slow to recover, and heavy grazing can hurt more now than during the drouth. A deferred grazing system with proper use of supplement pastures is essential for maximum range recovery.

Chances are your pastures currently have considerably more weeds than grasses, says B. T. Haws, county agent. An abundance of weeds is always expected after a drouth, he says, but properly – managed desirable plants will crowd them out.

From a range recovery standpoint, this is a poor time for restocking. Breeding back in to the livestock business is a lot cheaper and safer than buying.

Don't base stocking plans on spring growth, he warns, or it may cost plenty this fall and winter.

Keep livestosck number in balance with expected feed for the coming year. A plentiful grass supply is your cheapest, safest bet for livestock profits.

See your county agent for local management tips. Ask him for a copy of the "Range Management versus Drouth" circular.

News From The County Agent and

Summer months may mean that you will be restocking your food freezer with plentiful fruits vegetables and other foods.

You may need to freshen the inside of your freezer, and make sure there are no off-odors before adding more packages.

Here are some suggestions offered by extension home management specialists for freshning the freezer:

First, try washing interior surface of the freezer with plenty of soap and water. Then go over them with a cloth wrung from clear water, Wipe dry. If this does not dispel the odor, wash the freezer with soda water, using 1 teaspoon baking soda to each quart of warm water. If odor persists try vinegar, using about one-half cup to two quarts of water, or try household ammonia in the same proportions.

If none of these suggestions prove effective, don't give up. Try using heat to remove the odor. To do this, place a toster or small electric heater inside the freezer. Then use an electric fan a couple of hours to blow the air out.

Activated charcoal, put into the warm freezer, will absorb odors released by the heat. This can be secured at a drug store. or a commercial, wick-type air freshner can be put into the warm freezer for the same purpose.

After the odor has been removed, again wash the inside surfaces of the freezer with soda water. Activated charcoal left in for a while will pick up any left over odor.

To control powdery mildew on shrubs and flowers you may use one of several chemicals. A good grade of dusting sulphur, a mixture of sulphur-lead arsenate (Massey dust,) a sulphur-copper dust or a sulphur-ferban dust are all very effective. Ferbam is very effective for rust. Spray or dust at weekly intervals during rainy periods.

For horn flies on dairy cattle use a 0.5% Methoxychlor as a spray. One application will usually give protection for 3 weeks

A carefully planned and conducted mowing or chemical program is the only efficient answer to the pasture weed problem. B. T. Haws, county agent, advises mowing when the worst weeds start blooming since they are most easily damaged at this stage and are prevented from producing a seed crop. Local county agents can supply details on mowing and chemical weed control programs.

Fleas are exceptionally bad this year around homes and barns. Fleas since the immture stages are spent in the soil, often become a unisance in garages and on the lawn around the home. These places should be treated with a 2 1-2% malathion spray or 4 percent malathion dust. Dogs should be dusted thoroughly with 4 percent malathion dust or dipped in 0.5 per cent malathion water solution.

Chiggers, ofen called red bugs are bad on home lawns. Apply dusts or sprays of chlordane, toxaphene or lindane to grass and ground litter where chiggers are present. An emulsion spray usually gives the best results. Follow manufacturer's labels for mixing sprays.

Make safety your constant companion in the "catch-up" drive on the farm.

Growers have been anxious this year about the effect of the recent rains on pollination and fruit setting. It now appears that pollination was not affected adversely and there was a good crop set. Casebearers damage has been from moderate to severe and widespread. Rain has interferred with spraying for control in Wichita County.

Mural On A Quonset

Desiring some outward expression of the deep sentiment Conroe Erickson felt for his occupation as a dealer in hay and feed roughage, he obtained the services of a talented young high-school student, Frank Nicholson, to paint the above mural on the end-wall of his Quonset.

Erickson's Quonset, 32' x 36', is only one of a variety of steel farm buildings manufactured by Stran-Steel Corporation, a unit of National Steel Corporation. He gets more than usual use out of his versatile structure. Besides employment as storage for trucks, hay, straw and roughage, it doubles in brass as a recreation-hall for Erickson's five children, complete with basketball facilities.

He says he chose his steel Quonset because of its durable construction, attractiveness and fire-resistance.

These Forty Years!

Forty years ago, in June of 1917, the Humble Company received its charter from the State of Texas.

The Company was formed through a merger of the properties of a number of independent oil operators. Its founding brought together a remarkable group of men who occupy an important place in the annals of the oil industry:

R. S. Sterling and his brother, F. P. Sterling, the principal organizers of Humble Oil Company from which the present company acquired its name; W. S. Farish and R. L. Blaffer composing Blaffer and Farish; H. C. Wiess with assets from Paraffine and Reliance Oil Companies; Walter W. Fondren and C. B. Goddard, producers; and L. A. Carlton and E. E. Townes as lawyers.

All of these men contributed greatly in adopting the principles, in shaping the policies, and in laying out procedures that have guided the Company's progress through these forty years. Their influence will survive as long as the Company continues.

They possessed courage and business judgment. They established high standards of performance. They built a strong organization of competent men and women.

The Company, as it stands today, is a tribute to the leadership, the vision, and the work of its founders.

But it is doubtful that these men, with all their foresight, visualized the changes that have occurred in the oil industry since 1917, or the size and complexity of Humble's present operations, or the extent of the Company's contributions through the years to the progress of our society.

To all who have made those contributions possible—employees, customers, shareholders and the people of the states in which the Company operates—Humble extends its thanks.

State Highway Department has just issued a brand new map telling how to find your way over the state's 100,000 miles of roads. It includes 20 full color pictures and a warm welcome to the "land of hospitality." Available free from the department.

State Parks Board, housekeepers for 49 state parks, plans many new camping swimming and picnicking facilities. It got a generous appropriation from the Legislature, said the Board.

Texas Game and Fish Commission has help and advice for the one in every four Texans who hunts or fishes. Its numerous publications give guidance rang ing from where the fish are biting to what to do for snake bite.

YEAR'S WATER SUPPLY —

Without another drop of rain Texas' 35 major reservoirs now have enough water stored to last a year.

Heavy spring rains poured 6 million acre feet of water into the reservoirs filling them to 92 percent capacity, reports the State Board of Water Engineers.

Storage is about twice that of a year ago.

FLOOD SURVEY SOUGHT —

But the unprecedented rains brought problems. State Water Board wants money to make an emergency survey of what the floods did with a view to learning how to prevent future destruction.

Both the Board and Gov. Price Daniel requested an appropriation for this from the last Legislature. But it didn't go through so now the Board has asked donations from the state five water districts and river authorities.

It wants several thousand dollars from each totaling $17,000

New Insurance Commission —

A district judge, a federal Justice Department attorney and a former commission member will take over reins of the reorganized Board of Insurance July 1st.

As chairman for the new board Gov. Price Daniel appointed District Judge Penn J. Jackson of Cleburne. Serving on the bench since 1944, Judge Jackson is former president of the State Bar of Texas judicial section.

Other new members will be David B. Irons of Ft. Worth, former assistant attorney general under Daniel, now with the Justice Department in Washington. Joe P. Gibbs of Seguin, retired board member who returned last spring at the governor's request, fills out the new board.

An acting commissioner of insurance is to be named by the board to serve until September 1st when legislation for a permanent commisioner takes effect. He will receive $20,000 a year, and be charged with administration of the department.

Present board members John Osorio and Mark Wentz will con tinue to serve until the new appointees take office.

GOODBYE TO CHIPS —

Texas gambling has got to go, says Atty. Gen. Will Wilson, An all out effort to shut down the multi-million dollar empire in Galveston was called just the beginning.

Wilson and Department of Public Safety Director Homer Garrison, Jr., cooperated in planning a massive raid on Galveston's illegal establishments. But the gamblers got word, closed up and cleared out ahead of the raid.

Wilson's staff followed up by filing padlock suits, boxes full of them, to try to prevent the places from re-opening.

Wilson and Garrison said they would follow the same pattern in other areas. First, local officials will be called on to suppress gambling and state cooperation offered. But, said Wilson "if local officials fail to do this job, we will do it from the state level."

Gov. Daniel gave his full backing to the crackdown, hailed it as the beginning of a new era in law enforcement."

MORE SCIENCE FOR TEENS —

More study, with emphasis on science, will be required of future high school graduates.

New standards set up by the State Board of Education direct that:

1. Graduates complete 16 units of study, rather than present 15, including two years of laboratory science.
2. Physical education cannot be counted in compiling units.
3. Not more than one class period of the day may be used for competitive athletics.

New rules will take effect dur ing the 1958-59 school year, but are to be applied to ninth graders next fall.

Champion Better Government Bills

Rep. John Lee of Kermit and Sen. Preston Smith of Lubbock, left to right above, were among the first of many Texas legislators to introduce one of the "Better Government" Bills sponsored by the Texas Press Association. TPA has prepared 15 Bills for legislative action. Each bill is designed to correct evils that exist in present Texas laws. "Had the TPA bills been in effect there would have been no veterans land or Duval County scandals," said Senator Smith. "Loopholes in present laws have made possible the scandalous events of the past few years, wherein public monies have been mis-appropriated," stated Representative Lee. The two Legislators are urging the public to back them in their determination to effect passage of the TPA Legislation. Lee's bill is HB-38. Smith's bill is SB-55. Both bills are known as The Mandatory Publication Act. They do not create any new publication requirements. But they do call for removal from office of any public official who refuses to publish financial reports called for under existing laws.

From the Office of Senator Lyndon B. Johnson

Senator Lyndon B. Johnson said Sunday he is urging the Army Engineers to survey every river in Texas and recommend steps that would prevent a repetition of the current flood damage.

"I have had a major ambition since I have been in Congress," Sen. Johnson said. "It is to live for the day when every river in Texas is controlled against flood damage insofar as we have the knowledge and the intelligence to control it."

Sen. Johnson spoke over his weekly radio broadcast in which he answers questions sent to him by Texans. He said the current flood damage has driven home the lesson of "too little and too late."

Dams already constructed, he pointed out, have saved Texans millions of dollars in property and many lives.

In passing the first four appropriation bills to be considered by both the House and Senate, Congress saved the taxpayers nearly half a billion dollars, he said. He explained that this amount was sliced from the Presidential requests "and we have just barely started."

Sen. Johnson also said that the decision to shift to a loan program in foreign aid offers a method of helping other nations "without imposing a perpetual burden on our taxpayers."

He said that the record on foreign loans since the end of World War II reveals that other nations have met their payments on time almost without exception. He said that Congress would be reluctant to vote gifts but will give reasonable consideration to sound loan proposals.

Eastern Star Had Impressive Service For Installation

Mrs. Pauline Morine was installed as worthy matron of the Eastern Star, Burkburnett Chapter No. 655 Friday evening, June 7th during elaborate and impresive open installation services held at the Masonic Hall. For the occasion the hall was decorated by Nellie B. Richards in the pink, gold and white colors chosen by the worthy matron. The archway leading to the East was formed by an array of pink roses. The chosen colors were also noted in other appointments throughout the hall.

The words denoting Mrs. Morine's theme, Faith and Friendship, were spelled out in white on a pink background banner which was suspended above the archway.

George Benton, retiring worthy patron, called the meeting to order. Ethel Wofford, retiring worthy matron, welcomed the visitors and introduced Jessie Jones, past matron, as the installing officer. She was escorted to the East by O. R. Magee; her assistant, Bessie Scruggs, installing marshal, escorted by I. C. Evans; Elsie Crosley, installing chaplain, escorted by J. H. Ferguson; Lillie Tyler, installing organist, escorted by G. G. Tyler; J. H. Ferguson escorted by Neva Zimmerman for the obligation.

Mrs. Pauline Morine was installed as worthy matron and escorted to the East where she was given grand honors.

Other officers installed were Robert Morine, worthy patron; Edith Eidson, associate matron; Jerome Renfro, associate patron; Mabel Johnson, secretary; Jessie Jones, treasurer; Lillie Tyler, conductress; Nell Renfro, associate conductress; Connie Stegall, chaplain; Nellie B. Richards, marshal; Gladys Carswell, organist; Betty Hasten, Adah; Barbara O'Mary, Ruth; Wanda Roberts, Esther; Dorothy Glover, Martha; Mary Davis, Electa; George Benton, Sentinel.

She introduced her family, Robert Morine, her husband and worthy patron, their two sons and also her mother and father.

Mrs. Morine then presented the retiring worthy matron and worthy patron with jewels from the chapter. Other presentations were also made.

A program dedicated to the worthy matron was presented by her officers. She was also honored with a song by Joyce and Edna Eidson.

After the benediction by J. H. Ferguson, the officers gave a retiring drill leading the guests to the dining room where refreshments were served by Mesdames Ruby Harris, Ruth McBride, Opal Matthews, Thelma Fowler and Lilla Turpin.

Arabian Costumes

Unlike the man in the gray flannel suit, the typical Saudi Arabian male still wears a picturesque and eminently practical wardrobe which seems as timeless as the ancient sands in this desert peninsula.

Since most of Saudi Arabia's 3,500,000 people are nomadic bedouins, roaming the desert in a continual search for water and forage for their animals, their way of life demands a type of apparel suitable for hot days, cool nights and the sudden sand storms which strike without warning.

The basic article of clothing is a loose-fitting, neck-to-ankle robe known as the thobe, which looks like an old-fashioned night shirt. During cool weather and the months of the sand storms, the bedouins add a camel's hair cloak called an abas. This bright-colored garment is sleeveless with slits on each side for the arms.

On their heads the Saudi Arabians wear four-foot square cotton cloths called ghutras held in place by a black rope-like hoop known as the agal. The ghutra is often made of brightly-colored cotton and is worn in a triangle with two points falling over the shoulders and the third down the back. When a sand storm strikes, it is easy to wrap the ends around the nose and mouth for protection.

The style of the camel leather sandals has been borrowed by the fashion leaders in the Western world for "casual" shoes.

Forum Study Club Reviews Last Year's Activities

At the close of the club year, the Forum Study Club reviews activities of the year, and support made to various funds and organizations.

Contributions made: Tuberculosis Association, $5.00; Red Cross, $5.00; Polio Fund, $5.00; Cancer Fund, $5.00; donation to fund for purchase of fire truck, $10.00; donation to fund for Civil Defense Siren, $10.00; federation sponsored projects, $10; 100 percent subscription to the Texas Club Woman, $20.00; and fee to Extension Loan Library, $10.00.

The yearly projects of the club were the sponsorship of a lunch ticket for the entire school year for a needy chill, and the purchase of two drinking fountains for the city park, which will soon be installed by the city.

Baskets of food were presented to needy families at Thanksgiving and Christmas time. Five dollars went with each basket for the purchase of meat. Toys were donated by the club to be given to the younger colored children of the city at Christmas. At this time, gift items were collected and sent to the Wichita State Hospital.

The Forum Study Club was hostess club for the sponsorship of the T-B X-ray drive held in Burkburnett last fall. The club was responsible for the decoration of the Town Hall for the Federation Banquet. Guest Day last year was a dinner held in Wichita Falls at which mothers and special friends were honored guests. As in the past, the club had a float entry in the annual Boom Town Rodeo Parade.

Throughout the year several socials were held with husbands of club members as guests. The Wichita County Diamond Jubilee found club member, Mrs. Beverly Preston, as a candidate for Miss Diamond Jubilee. She placed fifth in the contest.

the Snapshot Guild

Be Sure You Have "Beginner's Luck"

Today we were thinking about all the new camera owners who've just joined our "happy breed." Excitement, challenge, adventure, discovery—these and a myriad of other pleasurable sensations await anyone using a camera. And never is this truer than in those first days when the proud new picture taker realizes it's a shutter-finger that holds the world by a string.

Of course, to be sure of getting the best possible pictures, you new camera owners would do well to arm yourselves with certain very basic information. Contrary to the proverb, here's a case where "a little learning" is not "a dangerous thing" at all.

The tips we have in mind are very simple ones—and you'll see that the advice they offer is the kind even veteran snapshooters often need to be reminded about.

First of all, read through the instruction booklet that was tucked into the box along with your new camera, to give you all the information you need about how the camera works. A quick reading—and you'll spare yourself wasted time and needless disappointment later on. For only when you know what your particular camera is designed to do and what its own individual limitations are can you expect the best kind of results from its use.

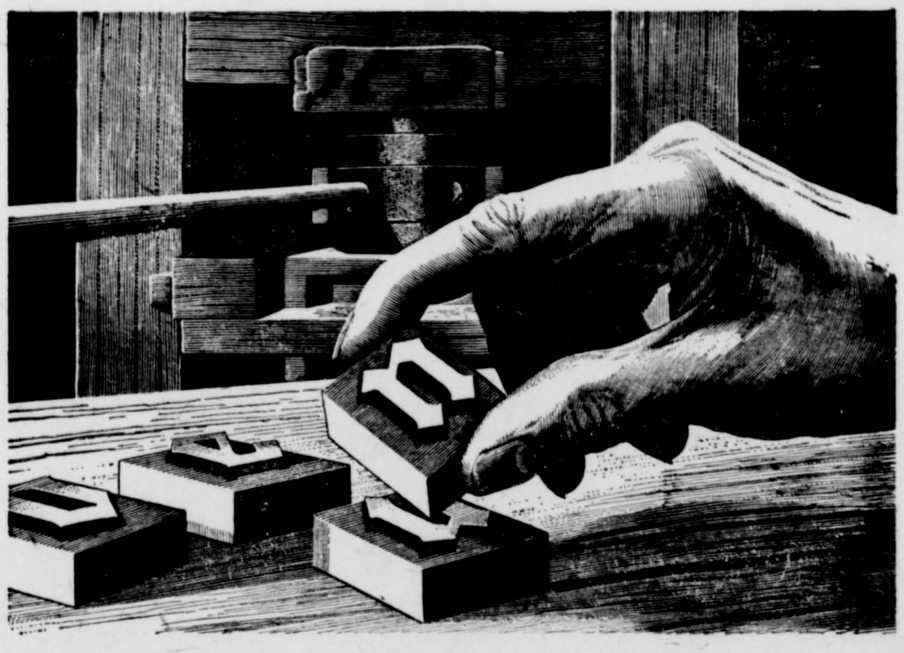

If any of this information isn't absolutely clear to you, or if you're still not sure about how any part of your camera works, don't hesitate to ask your photo dealer about it. He'll be happy to help you—and you'll be far happier than if your own "experimental technique" caused damage to the mechanism.

Second on the list of "must" reading is the information printed right on the package of every roll of film you buy. Read it carefully before you load your camera for action. That way, you'll be able to determine exactly what you have to do under the prevailing conditions of light and atmosphere.

Though most cameras are constructed to take a lot of abuse, they are precision instruments and deserve as much consideration as you'd give a good watch. Plan to keep your camera away from heat and dust as much as possible when not in use. Avoid a "hot spot" such as the glove compartment of your car, or a "dust-catcher" like the back-window ledge. Instead, just keep it on the seat beside you while in transit.

SPARKS FOR MINDS

ALMOST five centuries ago, Gutenberg's invention of movable type started a revolution. It has been going on ever since.

For five times five centuries—and eons before—a few men were the privileged rulers—by accident of birth or of circumstance. The people were subjects, supporting those thus kept in authority.

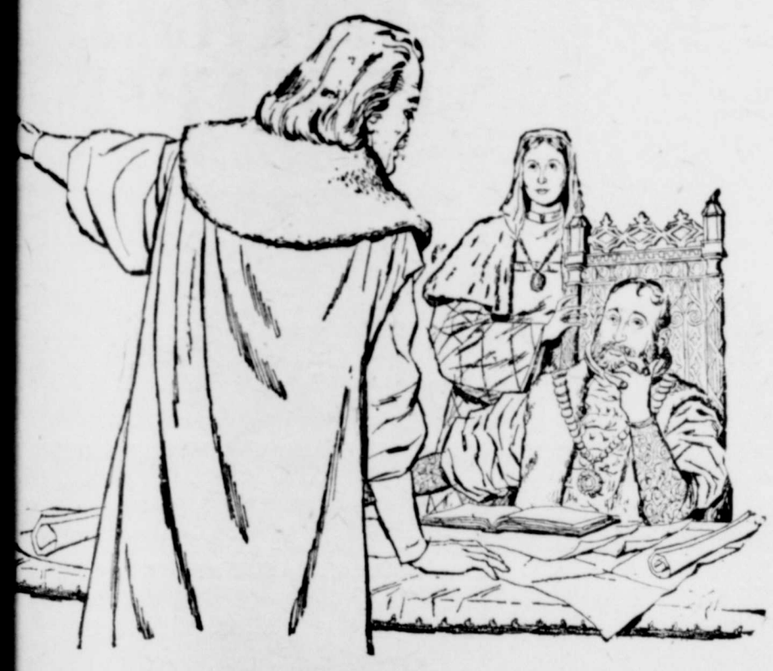

However, movable type, by cutting the cost of printing, began the process of making knowledge more widely available. People's understanding then grew. Sparks of hope were awakened in the minds of men...When it became apparent to entrenched authority that permitting wide dissemination of information and ideas might in time destroy their sinecures, censorship was exercised.

In a search for greater freedom, men of many races and creeds crossed the ocean to establish homes on this continent. They and their children founded here a nation dedicated to a new principle: government by the people, and for the people. And knowing that liberty could be overthrown only by subduing freedom of speech and the press, they provided further that this basic freedom should never be abridged.

That system of government created an opportunity for all men to advance, limited only by their efforts. In but a few generations it won for this people a higher standard of living and of human welfare than had ever before been dreamed possible.

America's freedom of the press has proved to the world that the patriotic instinct of an informed plain people can be relied on to govern wisely and well.

He owed his success to a red-haired woman

A tall, shabbily dressed man stood before the Court and told a fantastic dream for discovery and riches. The King listened—was unimpressed. But red-haired Queen Isabella asked to hear more and came to believe in those ambitious dreams of Christopher Columbus. She even, according to legend, pawned her jewels to finance his voyage.

This much is certain. Columbus would never have succeeded without the faith, determination and practical assistance of a great and courageous woman.

The same is true today. Many a man owes his success to a woman's essential help And so often it's the wife who gets the family started in a savings program through U. S. Series E Savings Bonds

Wives know that U. S. Savings Bonds are the safe and sure way to save. Any principal invested in Bonds is safe—not subject to market fluctuation. All returns are sure—an average 3% interest, compounded semiannually when held to maturity (9 years and 8 months).

Humble Oil Co. 40th Birthday

The Schulz Oil Company was producing 150 barrels of oil daily on the Schulz-Serrien lease in Wichita County when it was pooled with other producing properties in 1917 to form Humble Oil and Refining Company.

Included in the merger was a four inch pipe from the lease to the railroad loading rack at Iowa Park nine miles away.

From that beginning in North Texas has evolved the Humble Pipe line company system embracing 5700 miles of trunk lines and 3500 miles of gathering lines ,more than enough to pierce the earth from pole to pole.

Forty years ago this month, in Houston, Humble Oil and Refining Company came into corporate existence, the pooled properties and experience of a group of pioneer Texas oilmen who believed in themselves, each other and the future.

Although June is the companys official anniversary, the story of Humble begins months earlier Without a charter or a single signature, the company began its operation on March 1, 1917, under a gentlemen's agreement among the principals. For three months and three weeks, until the charter was received on June 21st, oral promises and individual integrity perserved a merger that involved $8 million in properties and a net daily production of some 8800 barrels of oil.

In a way, Humble Oil and Refining Company dates from Spindletop, for it was there that most of the men who later organized Humble met and became friends.

Thorough cleaning and correct spray treatment will protect carpets and rugs from clothes moth and carpet beetles, according to Thelma Wirges, county home demonstration agent

Regular care with the vacuum cleaner is the first step. It prevents dust, lint and hair from accumulating and offering extra food for the pests. It also can remove the insects themselves and their eggs. These usually feed under heavy furniture where it is difficult to clean. Rotate rugs and carpets occasionally to make sure all areas are exposed to regular cleaning, light and air.

TRAVEL TIPS

June's here. Summer is in the air. Now's the time for fishing trips, honeymoons, week end jaunts, and full-fledged vacations.

Summer also is the time when Long Distance service can come in extra handy.

Just a call or two to relatives or friends, to the hotel or fishing lodge, and all the details of your vacation are quickly worked out.

Traveling by car, you make the most of each day's driving conditions by calling ahead for reservations. And you can change your time table as you go along.

Long Distance helps in arranging those spur-of-the-moment week end jaunts, too. A couple of calls, a few hours notice, and you're on your way.

And when you do take off, cross-country or just for the week end, let the "worriers" at home know you're okay—by Long Distance. Wherever you go, you're never far from a phone.

WATCH OUT FOR KIDS

In the telephone business we pay a lot of attention to safety and safety training.

Every year at this time there's a special reminder for telephone drivers: "School's out. Watch out for kids."

I repeat the reminder here because it's so important, and because it seems to apply equally to everyone who drives.

Telephone drivers are anxious to join with all of you in doing everything possible to make this an extra safe summer.

Maybe the best way to do that is to use a heavy foot on the brake and a light one on the gas pedal, especially near playgrounds and in residential areas. You have our pledge to drive safely—this summer, and all year long.

PROGRESS REPORT — DIAL SERVICE

Despite the handicap of delay caused by unusually bad weather for construction, definite progress is being made on the completion of Burkburnett's new dial office building. Workers are now busy completing the finishing work on the interior of the new building.

Upon completion of the interior finishing work, Western Electric installers will begin the job this week of installing the intricate and tailor made dial equipment in the new building. In the meantime, other necessary work in connection with the dial conversion is being done on schedule for the actual cutover to dial service.

Watch this column for more news soon on Burkburnett's new dial telephone system.

News From The HD Agent

The latest method for canning vegetables is a one step cold-pak method, according to Thelma Wirges, County Home Demonstration agent.

Directions are simple. As an example, take snap beans. Begin by washing pint and quart jars in hot soapy water and rinse well. It is not necessary to sterlize jars since the pressure canner must be used in canning all non-acid vegetables.

Use only fresh, young tender beans. The beans should just be beginning to form in the pod. Wash thoroughly, trim ends and cut into 1 inch pieces. Thus far there is nothing different from the old method of canning snap beans. Now you'll note that the fill is different.

Pack raw beans tightly into clean jars to 1-2 inch of top. Cover with boiling water, again leaving 1-2 inch space at the top of the jar. Add 1-2 teaspoon salt to pints and 1 teaspoon to quarts.

Close jar with two piece lid and place it in the pressure canner. Exhaus canner for 10 minutes, close petcock and process at 10 pounds pressure, pint jars just 20 minutes, quart jars 25 minutes. Remove canner from heat, let presure return to zero and remove the jars.

This new one step method can also be used for canning fresh lima beans, carrots, cream style corn, whole kernal corn, black-eyed peas and summer squash.

For further information check with your local home demonstration agent, 305 Federal Bldg., you may also wish to ask for a copy of B-194, "Home Canning Fruits and Vegetables."

Use frozen bread when you must make sandwiches several hours ahead of time, suggests your county home demonstration agent. It is easier to spread than fresh bread. The chill from the frozen slices will keep the filling fresh. Even lettuce keeps crisps for several hours. When slices thaw, they have the characteristics of fresh bread.

Busy homemakers find the pressure sauce pan is a real time saver. Thelma Wirges, county home demonstration agent, says careful selection will help you find the design best suited to your needs.

Use the pressure pan for such foods as less tender meats, starch vegetables, dried foods and others which cook well in water or steam at higher temperatures.

The pressure pan, a new bulletin, gives reliable information on the selections, use and care of your pressure sauce pan. Get a copy of the new bulletin from your county home demonstration agent's office, 305 Federal Bldg, Wichita Falls.

Mrs. J. D. Kennery, foods and nutrition demonstrator for the Cooper Home Demonstration club has, as one of her goals to select a new pressure pan. She is finding this publication a help You might also like to use it.

Recently we published a poem written by Hollie Boman about his little grandson. The parents are S-Sgt. and Mrs. Cletis Carrington. The Sgt. is stationed at Sheppard Air Force Base. Mr. Boman is employed by an oil company at Lucedale, Mississippi.
