Revitalization plan released

AUSTIN (AP) — The state Department of Agriculture proposed today a $250 million fund as part of an overall plan to revitalize the Texas economy.

A 126-page report report released by the department said the proposed plan would "clearly stimulate growth in rural areas" and would "have a tremendous impact on urban areas through increased job creation and the indirect benefits of expanded economic activity."

The Texas Growth Fund would be created out of 1 percent of each of the following state funds: Texas Employees Retirement System, Teachers Retirement System; Permanent University Fund, and Permanent School Fund.

The growth fund, which would require statewide approval of a constitutional amendment, would be divided into three sections:

— $25 million for high-risk venture capital including agricultural businesses.

— $125 million for "mid-risk," innovative small businesses.

— $100 million for guaranteed investments, such as treasury bills.

"The farm crisis is a tragedy but also an opportunity," the report said. "The opportunity it provides is to forge a revitalized and diversified agricultural system that meshes new ideas and technologies with what has proven to be its most efficient economic unit, the independent farm or ranch."

Medical scanner cleared

Cogdell Hospital will likely receive a permanent CAT scan unit within 60 days, Hospital Administrator Cy Miller told board members Thursday.

Following a discussion with company representative Alan Rubenstein, officials with Mobile Technology Corporation agreed to honor the terms of a lease agreement contract signed by the company and by hospital officials earlier this year.

Difficulties arose this summer when officials with Mobile Technology made changes in the contract already signed. During last month's session, the board requested the company honor the contract's proposal.

As proposed, the 60-month lease includes CAT scan equipment and a building to house it to be provided by the company. The hospital will furnish utilities and a concrete ramp into the building.

The hospital will be required to pay the company only the cost of each scan taken.

The board approved the contract with one change. Mobile Technology will install a unit constructed by General Electric instead of a Phillips T-60 as originally proposed.

In September, the company planned to change the contract to guarantee payment for 25 scans per month to equal some $10,000. Hospital officials refused to accept the proposal.

In other action, board members approved a request to allow retirees to maintain health insurance under the hospital's group plan. Miller made the request to conform to the change already implemented for county employees.

Employees who retire may maintain coverage at their own expense until they are eligible for Medicare benefits.

During the session, Miller presented indigent health care guidelines county commissioners will consider during their regular Monday meeting.

The court's recommendations outline responsibility for preparing applications and filing records. As stated in the guidelines, county welfare personnel will hold the primary responsibility for gathering information and maintaining files on local indigents.

Hospital personnel must file reports on out-of-county indigents and will be responsible for contacting the responsible entity in another county within 72

Entities mull fed fund loss

By VICKI BROWN
SDN Staff Writer

The adjournment of the 99th U.S. Congress last week put an end to federal revenue sharing, a 14-year-old program which last year directed almost $300,000 to the City of Snyder and Scurry County.

Because local officials anticipated the discontinuation of revenue sharing dollars, the loss is not expected to seriously affect city and county coffers this coming budget year.

But the long term effects of the loss were noted.

City Manager John Gayle commented, "Because in the past we have taken all revenue sharing funds — 100 percent — and placed it into capital improvements. I think it's best to compare the loss to that budget rather than to the city's budget as a whole."

In 1985, the city budgeted some $797,365 for capital improvement expenditures. Because of a loss of some revenue sharing dollars in 1986, the figure dropped to about $595,120.

City officials budgeted only an estimated $78,350 for 1987 in anticipation of the program's demise.

According to Gayle, loss of funds means that the city will be unable to "purchase two dump trucks, probably a couple of compactor bodies and a front-in loader for the sanitation department."

"The city may have to go to lease-purchase rather than a straight cash purchase to spread out the cashflow and to maintain the quality of service the (city) council wants to maintain," he said.

Funds were not included in the upcoming budgets of either entity, officials for both note. The city began its new budget year Oct. 1 and the county will begin its new operating year in January.

Begun in 1972 when Nixon was in office, the federal revenue sharing program was renewed by Congress in 1976, 1980 and 1983. This year, however, the bill faced a tough battle.

Originally included in HR 1400, funds for revenue sharing were dropped when House members forced the Appropriations Committee to rewrite the bill to eliminate monies. The measure died by a 209 to 208 vote in committee.

The adjournment of Congress without further action effectively killed the program.

Both the city and county recently received the final quarterly payment of revenue sharing dollars.

For 1986, county officials originally expected to receive some $200,000 with city officials estimating an additional $115,000. Passage of the Gramm-Rudman deficit reduction measure sliced over 37 percent from original revenue sharing figures, however.

During budget reconciliation meetings last November, Congress mandated the cut come from the final quarterly payment due in early October.

With the final payment, the city realized $92,852 while the county received slightly more than anticipated at $229,454.

Since the program's beginning, the county has realized nearly $4 million. The city's 15-year total will reach about $1.5 million.

For both local entities, the money has been used primarily for capital improvements rather than operational expenses. The

4-H awards event Saturday

The annual Scurry County 4-H awards banquet will be Saturday at the Senior Citizens Center beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Medals, awards and certificates--to include the annual Gold Star honor given to the outstanding 4-H boy and girl--will be presented.

Also to be announced at the banquet will be the outstanding junior boy and girl honorees; the "Friends of 4-H" award; and the adult leader awards.

Members of 4-H who have participated in county events plus district and state contests will be recognized also.

The guest speaker will be local 4-Her Janna Tate, who now serves as president of this area's 4-H district. She was recently honored as a member of the Texas 4-H Council at a banquet sponsored by the State Fair of Texas and the Dallas Chamber of Commerce.

Master of ceremonies Saturday will be Kevin Tate, senior 4-H council president. Other members of the council will assist him.

Officers for the council are Audra Bond, vice president; Mande Henry, secretary-treasurer and reporter; Rebel Rainwater, assistant secretary; Shubnum Ilyas and Janet Tankersley, recreation leaders; and Charlie Busby, county program manager.

Both Kevin Tate and Mande Henry will serve as district 4-H council delegates this year.

Members of 4-H, parents and adult leaders are asked to bring a covered dish for the meal. Hosts of the banquet are adult leaders.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "In the good ole days, a drug problem was trying to get a prescription filled on Sunday."

Keeping tabs on our neighbors:

While we're out looking for industry--there is an existing industry that is right under our nose if we'll only recognize it. It's call loyalty--loyalty to local businesses which provide jobs and pay taxes. The more local business, the more local jobs that are available.

Wilma Dillard, one of Snyder's tireless workers, brought us an article out of a weekly newspaper in Oklahoma. It's a classic that we repeat in part:

Once upon a time the Worthwhile Club decided to hold a fundraiser to place a sign at the edge of town to proclaim Countryside, USA as the 'friendliest town in these parts.'

They decided to hold a dinner, play some games and give away some prizes. They decided to mimeograph their tickets instead of going to the local print shop. They asked for and got free publicity from the newspaper and radio.

The food committee found it could buy chicken 10 cents a pound less 45 miles up the road. One of the club members was going there anyway to do some Christmas shopping. While there, she bought the prizes out of town, also.

A local bank provided free napkins, and other other paper products they couldn't get donated by local food establishments were also purchased from a store in a large city.

The wives of local merchants worked on the supper with other club members, so there was no labor costs. The event was a success, raising over $500. Why was the sign never erected?

Some of the town's local businesses went out right after Christmas. Now the Worthwhile Club has decided not to hold its dinner. With all the businesses gone, the club would have to buy too many items. It just wouldn't be profitable, and besides, club membership was down a third.

The story tells us a town is pretty much what you make it. Loyalty and pride seem to be two basic ingredients.

Jury adds first male

A fourth juror was seated Thursday afternoon in 132nd District Court for the capital murder trial of Dorsie Lee Johnson Jr.

The juror selected was the last of six interviewed for the day and is the first man chosen for the panel.

Three women had previously been selected from the 25 individuals interviewed since Monday morning.

Judge Gene Dulaney has elected to release the names of those chosen only after 12 jurors and two alternates are selected.

The individual "voir-dire" resumed shortly after 9 a.m. Friday. Johnson is on trial in connection with the March 23 killing of an Allsups employee.

Ask Us

Q. — Why was the flag at half mast Thursday in front of the Snyder post office?

A. — Federal facilities were directed to lower the flag in observance of the terroristic attack on the Marine base in Lebanon. That attack occurred Oct. 23, 1983.

In Brief

Record deficit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is acknowledging it ran up a record $220 billion deficit for the fiscal year that just ended, but officials say they expect a dramatically better showing next year.

The 1986 deficit fell $10 billion below Reagan administration expectations.

The agency was scheduled to formally announce the 1986 deficit figure early next week.

Local

Break-in here

An afternoon burglary of a west Snyder residence was reported to police Thursday.

The incident was reported at the Ann Davis residence at 2800 Denison Ave.

Detectives say clothing, jewelry, silver serving pieces and flatware were taken.

No value of the missing merchandise was listed.

Davis reported discovering the burglary when she returned home around 4 p.m. Thursday.

Entry to the residence was said gained by forcing open a door of the house.

Chili tonight

A chili supper hosted by the Snyder Band Parents is set from 5:30 until 8 p.m. Friday in the high school cafeteria.

Tickets will be available at the door. Adult tickets are $3.75 and $2.50 for children 12 years of age and under.

Dancers due

Some 200 dancers are expected to be in Snyder Saturday as the Sparkle City Squares host the 15th annual Square and Round Dance Festival at the Scurry County Coliseum.

Dave and Nita Smith of Lubbock will lead a Round Dance workshop at 1:30 p.m.; and Doug Bennett of Garland will direct a Square Dancing workshop at 3 p.m.

At 8 p.m., the Festival Square Dance will begin with the Smiths and Bennett serving as callers.

Accident furor continuing

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — An unattributed paragraph in a small twice-weekly newspaper unleashed worldwide claims that South Africa was responsible for downing a plane carrying President Samora Machel of Mozambique. The article appeared Monday night in the Lowvelder, a newspaper with a circulation of 8,000 in Nelspruit near the crash site in eastern South Africa.

It noted that "rumors were already doing the rounds ... that the surviving pilot, a Russian, alleged that the aircraft was shot down."

The article referred to the survivor, Vladimir Novoselov, as a pilot, but Mozambican officials said he was the flight engineer. The Soviet pilot of the aircraft was one of the 34 people, including Machel, killed in the crash, they said.

Anti-apartheid groups, the Soviet news agency Tass and neighboring black countries quickly picked up on Novoselov's alleged comments as evidence of South African involvement.

His remarks have become a central issue in the debate on why Machel's plane crashed into a South African hillside Sunday night just a few hundred yards from the Mozambican border.

Referring to claims that Pretoria downed the plane, the government-controlled South African Broadcasting Corp. said Wednesday, "The circumstances of the tragedy provide much too valuable a weapon against South Africa for (its enemies) to be put off by the facts.

"In the present near-hysteria in the international climate, this country has become a legitimate target for the most far-fetched accusations."

AIM, Mozambique's national news agency, quoted Angolan Interior Minister Alexandre Rodrigues as saying, "South Africa had a hand in the crash," and suggested it was capable of forcing Machel's plane off course.

The Lowvelder's report was contained in a page-one editorial, which mentioned the rumors of the plane being shot down but also suggested bad weather or pilot error could have been the cause. It did not quote the Soviet survivor directly. Senior reporter Willie Jooste said the rumor was given to the paper by a Johannesburg aviation journalist, who said he got it from security sources.

South African newpapers picked up the angle and displayed it prominently Tuesday morning, without attributing it to the Lowvelder.

Stripped of its qualifiers, the report that the pilot said he was shot down spread worldwide, along with another survivor's comment, confirmed by South African and Mozambican officials, that there was a sound "like a bang or a shot" in the plane before the crash.

Mozambique has not commented on the cause of the crash, beyond saying the plane went down "in circumstances not yet clarified."

Portugal's state-run news agency, ANOP, reported from Maputo on Wednesday that Mozambican authorities have gathered evidence that human error caused the crash. But it said Mozambique was also investigating the survivor's reports of a muffled noise or an explosion.

Playboy magazine with 7-11 workers pictures is ready

DALLAS (AP) — The Women from 7-Eleven will be hitting the newsstands next week, but don't go rushing out to the nearest 7-Eleven to see them.

"The Women of 7-Eleven" will be a special feature of the December issue of Playboy magazine, scheduled to hit the newsstands next Tuesday, officials of the Chicago-based magazine say.

The magazine won't be available at your neighborhood 7-Eleven store. The convenience store's parent corporation, Dallas-based Southland Corp., bowed to pressure from church organizations last April and banned the sale of the magazine and other adult magazines from being sold in the stores.

The corporation has 4,500 corporation-operated stores around the country.

Three months after the ban was announced, Playboy officials announced they were conducting a search for women employees of the convenience store to pose in a special feature called "The Women of 7-Eleven."

The magazine is using photographs of eleven employees out of the about 100 photos they said they received in response to advertisements.

"We did it with a sense of humor," said Playboy Enterprises, Inc., spokesman Elizabeth Norris. "There was no malicious intent at all."

In interviews accompanying the feature, two 7-Eleven employees from Texas stores discussed the magazine ban, the Dallas Times Herald reported today.

"When customers come in, I tell them, 'Sorry, we don't have magazines with beautiful women,'" said Valora Sparks, identified in the magazine as a clerk from Beaumont. "But we do have magazines on guns, war and violence."

Dear Abby

Wife Has No Appetite For Fixing Breakfast and Lunch

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1986 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I am a part-time student and a full-time working woman. My husband commutes to work and must arrive there by 7:45 a.m. My problem: He expects me to prepare his breakfast and pack his lunch every morning. He contends that he can't do it — he doesn't have the time. I have been doing it for the last two years, and he hasn't seemed to appreciate my efforts.

For the last week I have refused to perform the above-mentioned services. I've told him that he must become responsible and take care of his own needs. Since then he has been buying his breakfast at a fast-food restaurant and spending lunch money we do not have.

How should I handle this?

FRUSTRATED

DEAR FRUSTRATED: First, be honest with yourself. Your marriage is in trouble and the least of it is a shortage of money. If you are irritated by his lack of appreciation, say so, instead of punishing him by refusing to prepare his breakfast and pack his lunch "in an effort to make him responsible for his own needs." He's not your son, he's your husband. Get family counseling before your husband is not only eating out — he starts sleeping out.

DEAR ABBY: I've written to you many times saying, "Please help me, Abby!" None of those letters were mailed, but I'm writing to you now because I don't need your help anymore.

I was abused when I was a child, and for 20 years I was afraid of everything — afraid of failure, afraid of men, dating guys, and even calling for a dental appointment!

After a year of counseling, I am not afraid anymore. I can do anything I want to do. I can ask a guy out or go to a job interview with confidence because I know I'm a good person. It's like all my adult life I've been trying to get past a cement wall, and I suddenly broke through and found a whole new world!

I went to visit the father I had hated for so long, and it was like a miracle. I learned that we really loved each other. We just didn't know each other. Now we can laugh and talk!

Life isn't all roses, but thank God last year when I wanted to die, I didn't have the nerve to kill myself.

I'M 22 AND LIFE IS BEAUTIFUL

DEAR TWENTY-TWO: Thanks for putting in a good word for counseling. I recommend it often because until we understand ourselves and change our behavior, we can't help ourselves and change our lives. Counseling is not always a miracle solution for everyone, but it's worth a try.

DEAR ABBY: I am being married soon, and I have a question that no one seems to know the answer to. My best friend's mother says that when the bride comes down the aisle, the guests are not supposed to stand. She says that people originally stood at funerals to show respect for the dead. I would like to know the answer so that my mother will know whether to stand or not.

I would hate for my wedding to be confused with a funeral.

MARRIED OR DEAD?

DEAR MARRIED: In some churches, and in some (but not all) areas, it's traditional for the guests to stand when the bride comes down the aisle. If you want the guests to stand when you come down the aisle, designate a few people to stand, then everyone else will follow suit.

DEAR ABBY: I just received your booklet, "How to Be Popular," and have read it through twice. It is excellent for older people as well as young. I think it should be in every home and high school library. I am not a teen-ager; I am a retired school teacher. Keep up the good work.

MILDRED BARTELL,
ANN ARBOR, MICH.

(To get Abby's booklet, "How to Be Popular: You're Never Too Young or Too Old," send a check or money order for $2.50 and a long, stamped (39 cents), self-addressed envelope to: Dear Abby, Popularity, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.)

Fall back to standard time Sunday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Standard time returns to most of America this weekend, as clocks are turned back one hour.

The change occurs officially at 2 a.m. Sunday, although most people will simply turn their clocks back before retiring Saturday night.

A few will forget, resulting in their arrival at church or other appointments an hour early on Sunday.

Standard time remains in effect until next April 5. That return to daylight-saving time comes three weeks earlier than in the past, a change enacted by Congress this year.

The autumn switch to standard time takes place as the days gradually become shorter and less daylight is available. The change moves an hour of that light to the morning, to help see children safely to school and light the way for farmers and other early risers.

The switch affects Americans everywhere except Hawaii, Arizona and parts of Indiana, which have exempted themselves from the semi-annual time changes.

Lawyer denies charges against Eugene Hasenfus

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — The Nicaraguan attorney representing captured American Eugene Hasenfus denied the government's charges his client either had violated national security or was a terrorist, and questioned the legitimacy of the court handling the case.

"I come before the authorities to deny, reject, and contradict all the concepts of the accusations formulated against my defendant by the minister of justice," attorney Enrique Sotelo Borgen said Thursday in a written statement delivered to the People's Tribunal Court.

He also said the tribunal, composed of a lawyer, truck driver and laborer, does not have the authority to judge Hasenfus because it "lacks impartiality" and was not appointed by the Supreme Court. Hasenfus, reportedly being held in a prison outside Managua, did not attend the hearing.

Hasenfus, 45, of Marinette, Wis., was captured Oct. 6 when the C-123 cargo plane on which he was a crew member was shot down in southern Nicaragua. It carried arms and supplies for the Contras, and the Sandinistas claim the operation was run by the U.S. government. U.S. officials have denied the charge.

Sotelo Borgen said he and Griffin Bell, U.S. attorney general under former President Jimmy Carter, would prepare a defense for the captured American.

Under the tribunal system, the defense and government each has eight days to present written arguments and statements to the tribunal. After that, the tribunal reviews the evidence and issues a verdict. No oral arguments are presented and it was not clear if Hasenfus would appear at any future proceedings.

If convicted, Hasenfus faces up to 30 years in prison. The tribunals were set up in 1983 to try people accused of counter-revolutionary activity. Reports from human rights groups indicate most cases brought before them end in conviction.

During a brief news conference after arriving at Sandino International Airport, Bell said it was "an absolute fact" Hasenfus was on board a plane that contained weapons destined for the U.S.-backed rebels.

But, Bell added, "I have great reason to doubt that he is a terrorist or committed crimes that happened 110 years ago."

"Some of the (government's 12 pages of) charges are about the bad relations between our country and Nicaragua throughout history," said the Atlanta-based attorney. "He couldn't possibly be guilty about some of those things."

"He is an absolute pawn, that is what the trial is about," Bell said.

Cutting communications

By James Jacoby

"Sometimes you can score your own winners only by preventing declarer from scoring his." This is one piece of advice given by H.W. Kelsey in his book "101 Bridge Maxims" (Devyn Press, 151 Thierman Lane, Louisville, KY, 40207).

After North-South reached four spades, West led the queen of hearts. When that held the trick, East following with the two, West came to the conclusion that declarer had a single heart and had based his jump to four spades on a diamond fit and the A-K of clubs. If that were the case, the only way to take a trick with the club queen would be to deprive declarer of his diamond tricks.

So West played a diamond at trick two. Declarer won in dummy and played a spade to his jack. West took the queen and played another diamond. Declarer won the ace and casually played the spade eight from his hand. But West passed that test. He grabbed the ace of spades and played his third diamond. Declarer now had to fall back on the club finesse and was set a trick.

What would happen if the defense continued hearts at the second trick? After ruffing the heart, declarer would simply play trumps from his hand, giving up to the ace and queen. Communication with dummy's diamonds would be maintained, and his club loser would be pitched on a diamond.

IRS sets out to draw up the fine print of the new tax law

WASHINGTON (AP) — Developing and publishing regulations for implementing the new overhaul of the income tax system is likely to be one of the biggest paperwork operations ever for the federal government.

It won't be easy, the Internal Revenue Service admits, but it promises to have a considerable amount of guidance in the hands of taxpayers by Jan. 1, when most of the hundreds of changes in the broadest revision of the federal income tax system in a generation begin taking effect.

"We have been tracking this two years," since the Treasury Department first sent a full-scale overhaul plan to President Reagan, Donald E. Osteen, director of legislation and regulations at the IRS, told reporters Thursday. "Yes, it's going to be difficult but there will be a substantial amount of guidance" available by the end of the year, he said.

Osteen issued a list of 76 provisions whose explanations — regulations, news releases and rulings — will get priority treatment. One of the highest priorities has been assigned a part of the bill that begins repealing the deduction for consumer interest, including education loans and credit cards, on Jan. 1.

Other items assigned high priority, because they affect so many people, include the reduced deduction for medical expenses, scaling down the deduction for Individual Retirement Accounts, and limiting writeoffs for union dues and other miscellaneous expenses.

The IRS issued a plea for advice from businesses, lawyers and accountants on how to implement other, more-complex sections of the new law, most of which affect corporations and upper-income investors.

The agency is anticipating millions of calls later this year and early in 1987 from taxpayers who are not certain about some parts of the new law. Many of those calls will be coming to the same people who, at the same time, will be giving advice on how to fill out returns to be filed early next year.

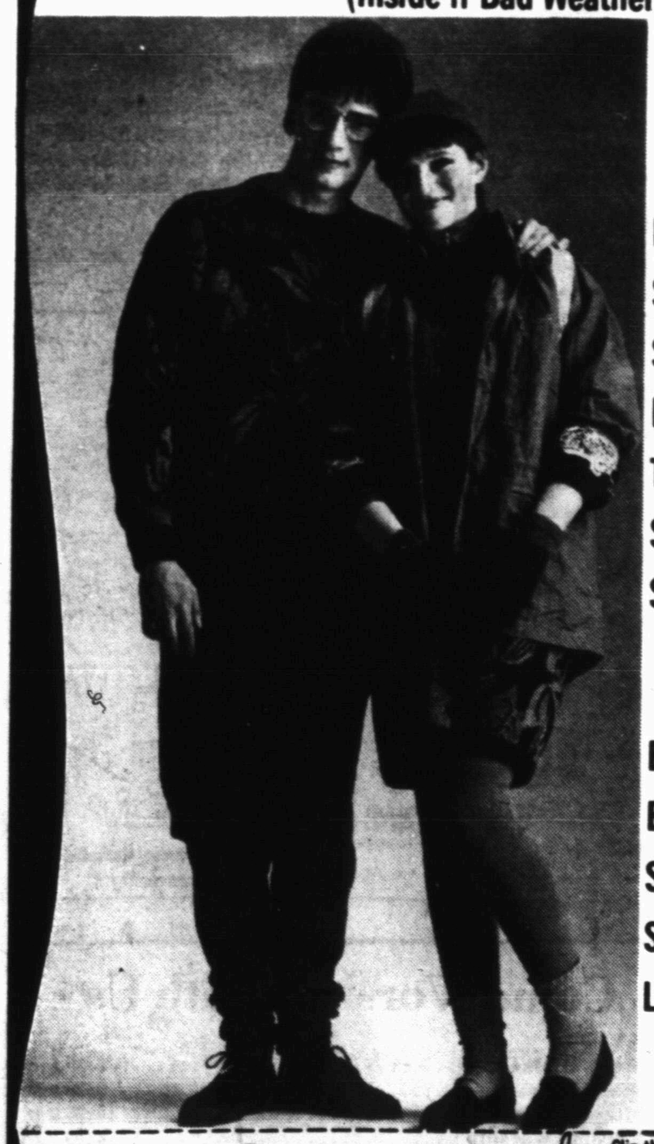

For that reason, the IRS has begun educating key personnel about the new law. They, in turn, will train the taxpayer-service representatives who take calls from the public.

Deadline nears for homeport funding

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy has warned Galveston city officials that they have until Christmas to come up with $8 million to match $30 million in federal funds for construction of a port for five military ships.

But Mayor Jan Coggeshall said Thursday she knew nothing about a December deadline for the cash or its equivalent and that there was no way the city would be able to meet one.

"We're only a community of 61,000 people and we don't have the $8 million to hand over to the Navy," Ms. Coggeshall said from her Galveston office. "We have offered $9.9 million in infrastructure improvements to the Navy."

Chase Untermeyer, assistant secretary of the Navy for manpower and reserves, says the Department of Defense — not the Navy — is the "bad guy" in this situation.

He said Pentagon budgeteers are poring over the Navy's fiscal 1988 funding proposals slated to be sent to the Office of Management and Budget in December. A portion of that budget will go for building new ports around the nation for the Navy's growing fleet of warships.

Galveston's share would be $30 million for a homeport for two guided missile frigates and three minesweepers, contingent on the city's raising $8 million in matching funds or an equivalent value, Untermeyer said.

If the city fails to come up with the money by the time the budget is due, the Department of Defense will likely reallocate the $30 million to other other military projects, Untermeyer said.

"If the city fails to come up with its share, they are going to take that part and remove it and do something else with it," Untermeyer said. "That can disappear at the hands of the DOD budgeteers ... It's not the Navy that's the bad guy here."

Untermeyer said a letter explaining the December deadline is being drafted by the Navy for Galveston and other homeport cities.

He said Congress could reattach Galveston's $30 million to the overall Navy budget for fiscal 1988 during the coming session sometime next year.

"Let's say we're concerned about the Port of Galveston," said Capt. Tim Kelly, who has been monitoring the homeport program for the Navy. "We are proceeding ahead on the assumption that the Galveston situation will work out and we will commence with the program in 1988."

Ms. Coggeshall said the city worked on the project for 25 months, but has been unable to carry on any direct negotiations on the project since the Navy's chief negotiator, Wayne Arny, left in July to join OMB.

Rash of escapes from E. Germany are continuing

BONN, West Germany (AP) — One East German swam the Elbe River and knocked on a West German farmer's door in the middle of the night. Another crashed through several border barriers in a dump truck loaded with gravel.

Escapes across the heavily guarded border with East Germany, where Communist guards have orders to shoot to kill, have practically been an everyday occurrence this month.

Officials say news of recent successful flights and false reports that Communist East German border guards had been ordered not to shoot fleeing civilians may have contributed to the recent rash of escapes.

Twenty-six East Germans have crossed the border in the last 33 days, say West German police.

Officials say reports of summer escapes, including an East German man who rammed through a Berlin border-crossing in a dump truck with his girlfriend and her child, may have inspired some of the autumn efforts.

"Our television is watched very closely in East Germany, and they listen to our radio too," noted Joseph Dolezal, spokesman for the Bonn Intra-German Relations Ministry.

West German media reports last month that East German border guards had stopped shooting at escapees may also have had an influence, although the reports were false, he said.

Officials say 3,200 East Germans have fled to West Germany since Jan. 1, although most take "safe" routes such as slipping away during foreign trips. During the same time period last year, 2,294 East Germans escaped.

After the successful dump truck escape at Berlin's Checkpoint Charlie on Aug. 29, there were at least two unsuccessful attempts by East Germans to ram their cars through barriers at another Berlin border crossing in September.

Aging's effect on bypass surgery

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — One year ago, I had a quadruple heart bypass. If one, two or even three of the bypass arteries become blocked, will the blood supply continue through the remaining artery with little or no effect?

DEAR READER — No, it wouldn't. The heart needs circulation from all of its arteries in order to function normally. You had surgery to bypass arterial obstruction that prevented oxygen from reaching heart muscle. One open artery is not enough to do the job.

Unfortunately, the aging process affects all of us, whether or not we have had bypass surgery. We can do certain things — such as exercise, reduce blood cholesterol and discontinue smoking — to retard the rate of blood-vessel aging.

But the aging process is inexorable, and bypass patients often show progressive narrowing of bypass segments. Therefore, it is important after surgery (as it is before) to change one's lifestyle to moderate risk factors. Successful surgery is far from a guarantee that coronary artery disease can be avoided. The bypass patient is simply given a better quality of life; he must use his remaining time prudently. That means taking good care of himself and using medicine as needed.

Bypasses tend to close with time. Although the aging process cannot be avoided, bypass surgery may give heart patients a second chance to reduce the factors that accelerate coronary artery disease.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I have two infections in my nose: E. coli and klebsiella. Antibiotics and sulfa drugs have not helped. The otorhinolaryngologists cannot help either. What's the next step?

DEAR READER — For antibiotics to be effective against infections, the drugs must be tailored to the bacteria. Your doctor already knows which microorganisms are causing your infection. The next step is to perform sensitivity studies to identify which drugs will knock out the bacteria. Then you can be given a specific antidote and, in theory, the infection should clear up.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I've been trying to get pregnant for a year, with no luck. Could my history of urinary-tract infections by the problem? I'm 20.

DEAR READER — Urinary-tract infections do not commonly affect fertility. However, some venereal diseases — like gonorrhea — can infect both the urinary and reproductive tracts, causing urinary symptoms and sterility. Although this might not be true in your case, see a gynecologist to identify the reason you are having trouble becoming pregnant.

Dr. Gott's new Health Report, WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT NURSING HOMES, offers a step-by-step guide to rating facilities and finding the best care available. For your copy, send $1 and your name and address to P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to mention the title.

Diamond Shamrock, Shell...

Oil companies earnings down

By The Associated Press

Diamond Shamrock reported a third-quarter loss of $97.9 million while Shell Oil Co.'s earnings plunged 64 percent from the same quarter last year because of the continuing oil-price slump, company officials announced.

Houston-based Shell reported on Thursday earnings of $133 million on revenues of $4 billion for the quarter ending Sept. 30, down $232 million from last year, Shell President John F. Bookout said.

"Dramatically lower prices for crude oil and natural gas caused the earnings declines," Bookout said. "Domestic crude oil prices averaged $10.59 per barrel for the quarter, down from $24.33 last year, and $13.74 per barrel for the nine months, down from $24.60."

The nine-month period saw earnings drop $370 million from last year to $628 million on revenues of $12.8 billion, Bookout said. Revenues last year were $5.1 billion for the quarter and $15 billion for the nine-month period.

Oil and gas exploration and production earnings were $25 million in the quarter, down $332 million from the same period in 1985, he said.

Shell Oil does not report per share earnings because there are no publicly held shares, company spokesman Kitty Borah said.

Diamond Shamrock's third-quarter loss amounted to 90 cents per share, compared with earnings of 40 cents a share on income of $52.8 million during the same period in 1985, officials reported Thursday.

Third-quarter sales and operating revenues from continuing operations were $563.3 million, down from $871.2 million in the same quarter a year ago, the Dallas-based company said.

Diamond Shamrock attributed the performance to $90.5 million in writedowns for oil and gas assets and a net gain on the sale of the company's chemical subsidiary.

Excluding the writedowns, third-quarter losses from continuing operations were $77.3 million, or 68 cents a share.

For the first nine months of the year, the company reported a net loss of $73.4 million, or 75 cents a share. Results for the first nine months last year were a loss of $652.5 million, or $5.39 a share.

Your Birthday

Oct. 25, 1986

Objectives that you have always wanted to achieve will be accessible in the year ahead. Be patient, however, because things could go very slowly in the early stages.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) In your involvements with others today, don't feel that you have to be the center of attention. If you come on too strong, you'll be pushed to the fringe of the crowd. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker set instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Try not to let your curiosity get the better of you today. It may cause you to poke your nose into a matter that an acquaintance is anxious to keep secret.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You'll spend wisely today if your purchases are restricted to items you truly need. Where non-essentials are concerned, you may waste money foolishly.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) It could prove to be an exercise in futility today if you try to beat situations where the odds are stacked against you. Let your common sense and sound judgment prevail.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Keep exaggerations to a minimum today. You'll come out second best if you try to beat someone who is an expert at telling whoppers.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) In a joint venture today, your counterpart must have the qualities that you lack. If both are weak in the same areas, you might not achieve what you want.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) In your dealings with your family or in-laws today, whatever you say should be calmly voiced and well thought out. Don't let anger dominate.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Be very careful today not to blame others for mistakes of your own making. Trying to shift the fault to others' shoulders could make a bad situation worse.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) It won't be Lady Luck urging you to take high-caliber risks today. These impulses will be triggered by faulty judgment, so stifle them.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You won't like it when someone bosses you around today. Yet, this is the very thing you might do to others in situations where they can't answer back.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You won't look good in front of your friends today if you say unflattering things about another pal who isn't present to defend himself or herself.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) If it's your responsibility to handle the resources of another today, treat it as a sacred trust. Live up to the faith someone has placed in you.

Police officers arrested

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Mexican federal agents have arrested three Tamaulipas state judicial policemen in connection with an alleged drug smuggling ring that moved drugs across the U.S. border, federal authorities said.

Authorities arrested policemen from the San Fernando and Nuevo Progres offices, both within 100 miles of the border, officials told the Brownsville Herald.

San Fernando is located about 85 miles south of Matamoros, near the U.S. border, and Nuevo Progreso is about 40 miles to the west.

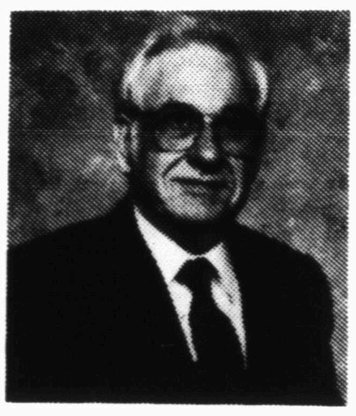

RICK CUA

Rick Cua concert set

Rick Cua will be in concert at 7 p.m. Tuesday at the First Baptist Church. Admission is free.

Cua had first established himself in the realm of secular rock 'n' roll before setting his sights on the contemporary Christian field.

He was a bassist with the Outlaws from 1980-1983.

DELOS V. JOHNSON

Local church sets Gospel meetings

Delos V. Johnson will conduct a Gospel meeting at the Church of Christ at 30th St. and Ave. F Friday through Sunday. Services on Friday and Saturday will be at 7:30 p.m. nightly and Sunday services will be at 10:30 a.m. and 6 p.m.

Johnson has been preaching the Gospel for over 35 years and is presently the minister of the California Lane Church of Christ in Arlington where he has served for the past 20 years.

Youth revival at Union Baptist set Oct. 26-29

Union Baptist Church will have a youth revival this Sunday through Wednesday. The Rev. Mark McMillan, pastor of Ira Baptist Church, will be the evangelist. Bennie Green of Big Spring will be the singer. Everyone is welcome to attend.

Sunday service times will be Sunday School at 10 a.m. and worship service at 11 a.m. Evening services begin at 7:30 p.m. during the week.

A youth fellowship will follow each of the weekday evening services.

A "dinner on the grounds" will follow the 11 a.m. Sunday worship service.

Defendant testifies of sexual advances

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — A teen-ager accused of murdering a retired couple testified he and his wife refused to participate in a sex video with the older couple and that he stabbed them after the man hurt his wife.

Federico Rivera, 19, said he and his wife, Tammi, had agreed to be videotaped in sexually explicit poses, but that he didn't want to trade wives as Keith Nordyke, 56, had suggested.

Rivera said he stabbed Nordyke on March 27 after Nordyke grabbed Tammi Rivera and hurt her.

Rivera testified Thursday he stabbed Jean Nordyke, 53, after the woman attacked him with a stick while Rivera was pounding on her husband.

An eight-man, four-woman jury was scheduled to begin deliberations today. Rivera faces the maximum penalty of death by injection if convicted.

Tammi Rivera, 18, also is charged in the slayings and is scheduled to go on trial next month. Rivera has testified she didn't participate in the slayings.

The Riveras were arrested on April 5 in North Olmstead, Ohio, while trying to use the victims' credit cards. The Nordykes were from Raytown, Mo., but spent the winter months in Harlingen.

Rivera testified Thursday that he and his wife had agreed to be videotaped while having sexual intercourse.

"He really wanted us to make (a film) because he said that me and Tammi would make a good couple because she was blond and I had dark hair," Rivera said.

Nordyke suggested that he and Rivera trade wives and film each other having sexual intercourse, Rivera testified.

"I kept telling him, 'no,' because I didn't want him using my wife," Rivera testified.

Rivera said his wife tried to get away and Nordyke grabbed her and by the time he got to her she was covered with blood. He said he stabbed Nordyke and then Mrs. Nordyke when she attacked Rivera.

Rivera's attorney, Gilberto Rosas, said the slayings were not intentional.

"These people were looking for couples who were swingers," Rosas said about the Nordykes.

The Nordykes' bound bodies were pulled from the Rio Grande east of Brownsville on April 3.

The Riveras took some of the Nordykes belongings and tried to sell them and placed others in a bag and threw them in the river, Rivera testified.

Rivera met the Nordykes in early March when Nordyke videotaped Rivera and some relatives doing a bricklaying job near the Nordyke home.

Lawmakers, fed agency probing Kelly AFB crash

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez says he believes CIA-backed planes are still flying through San Antonio to supply rebel forces in Nicaragua despite two recent crashes and the ensuing controversy.

Gonzalez, D-San Antonio, charged that the crash of a cargo plane at Kelly Air Force Base Oct. 4 and that of another cargo plane in Nicaragua were part of a covert CIA-backed network to supply anti-Sandinista Contra rebels.

Gonzalez said his office has received reports that the supply flights are continuing through his home city despite the crash, which killed three civilian crewmen, and that the cargo includes crates of assault rifles.

"What might have been questionable two weeks ago today is moot because the president has signed the Continuing Resolution, which includes the $100 million to fund the Contras," Gonzalez said Thursday.

The Continuing Resolution funds most federal operations for the 1987 fiscal year.

"There's no question these airlines have been active in this area, and they can deny it, and will deny it," Gonzalez said. "Now they can say 'So what.'"

Meanwhile, investigators at the National Transportation Safety Board said they have no reason to believe there was anything unusual about the plane that crashed at Kelly.

NTSB spokesman Ted Lopatkiewicz said preliminary indications are that an uplock brace may have been responsible for the crash. Such a brace is used inside the cockpit to keep the steering control from moving while a plane is stationary on the ground.

"It's something we're looking at. We found it in the wreckage of the cockpit and we are analyzing it to see if the brace was in contact with the yoke when the plane crashed," Lopatkiewicz said.

Radar data shows the plane reached an altitude of 700 feet and had started turning left when it began rolling toward the ground. Lopatkiewicz said analyses show the engines were working fine and the fuel had no evidence of contamination.

He said that according to computer records, six of the nearly 10,000 incidents investigated by the board since 1982 have been caused by equipment malfunctions similar to a faulty uplock brace.

The NTSB has said nothing has been found so far to indicate the plane was carrying anything other than its listed cargo, which included explosives used in fighter plane ejection seat systems.

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, a member of the Senate Select Intelligence Committee, said that shortly after the crash at Kelly, he asked both the CIA and the Air Force to respond to charges of a covert arms pipeline to the Contras.

INTO THE OPEN – Snyder seventh grade running back Michael Torres breaks into the open during Thursday's ballgame here with Big Spring. The Cats fell behind 28-0 in the first half and could not catch up, though they scored two touchdowns for a 28-14 final. The junior high teams will play again next Thursday in Sweetwater. (SDN Staff Photo)

Young Cats compete; 8th B-squad defeated

BIG SPRING -- Snyder's eighth grade B-team suffered its first loss of the season here Thursday night but the A-squad was victorious.

At home in Snyder, the 7th B-team fought Big Spring to a scoreless tie while the A-team lost, 28-14.

Randy Watkins threw a pass to Cory Fisher for the only Snyder touchdown in the eighth grade B-team game, which the Cats lost 34-6.

Snyder B-team is now 5-1 on the season.

The A-squad tripped Big Spring 12-8. Charles Martin intercepted a pass and ran it back 70 yards for one Snyder TD. Shelby Bufkin tallied the other Cat touchdown on a 40-yard run.

The Cats made two goal line stands in the second half to preserve the victory. Defensive standouts included Bufkin, Martin, Terry Snyder, Terry Stephens, Ronnie Pruitt, Ryan Byrd, David Thamez and Richard Hernandez.

"We are jubilant over the performance because this is really the first time we actually tackled and blocked aggressively for the whole game," said Coach Roger Goodwin.

The A-squad is now 3-3 for the season.

In Snyder, Leddy Lewis scored two second-half touchdown for the seventh grade A-team, which trailed 28-0 at halftime. Lewis scored one on a blocked punt and the other on a 70-yard run.

The seventh and eighth grade teams are scheduled to play again on Oct. 30 in Sweetwater. Game times are 4 and 5:30 p.m. for the seventh graders and 4 and 7 p.m. for the eighth graders.

Irate Cougars welcome Hogs

by The Associated Press

Arkansas got its wish to play in the Astrodome but just how mad did the Razorbacks make the Houston Cougars on homecoming?

Arkansas will get an answer Saturday night.

The Razorbacks, who need a victory Saturday to stay within striking distance of Texas A&M in the Southwest Conference football title chase, called out the rule books on Houston. The game was originally scheduled for the Astrodome. It was moved Oct. 4 to 22,000-seat Robertson Stadium on the Cougars' campus because of a possible World Series conflict. However, the Houston Astros lost the National League championship series to the New York Mets.

Arkansas demanded to go back to the Astrodome, citing a rule that says a game may not be moved from its original site without a vote of conference members. SWC athletic directors voted on Arkansas' side and an appeal by Houston failed.

The Hogs were 10-point favorites over Houston in the 7 p.m. homecoming game.

Arkansas has won its last four games to earn a 7-5 series advantage over the Cougars. The Razorbacks, who are 3-2 in the Astrodome, have won their last two trips to Houston.

In other SWC games, 10th-ranked Texas A&M is a 30-point favorite over Rice in a 2 p.m. game at College Station, Baylor is a 13-point pick over Texas Christian in a noon (Raycom TV) game, and Southern Methodist is a 5-point favorite over Texas in a 1 p.m. meeting in Austin.

Texas Tech is idle.

Arkansas is 5-1 and 2-1 in SWC play. Texas A&M and SMU are the only unbeaten teams left in the SWC chase and the Mustangs are ineligible for the champion-

Hope to contain Chief air game...

Tigers face Lake View here tonight

Back in the late 1970s, a football game featuring the Snyder Tigers and Lake View Chiefs would almost certainly wind up naming the District 3-3A playoff representative. That doesn't hold true in 1986, where both teams are battling in 2-4A, and trying to salvage somewhat disappointing seasons.

None of that takes much of the flavor away from tonight's 8 o'clock contest at Tiger Stadium, however. The game shapes up as an exciting one.

Snyder goes into the game with a 1-5 season record after defeating Andrews 28-13 last week. Lake View is 3-4 in 1986; 1-4 in district play.

After opening with wins over Del Rio and Lubbock High, Lake View's Chiefs have lost four of their past five outings. Snyder Coach Dennis Tomlin believe's the downfall of the San Angelo team can easily be traced.

"They lost four starters to injury after that second game but they are back to playing good again," said Coach Tomlin. "It makes a difference when you have that many starters out."

Possibly the key player returning is Randy Young. At 6-0, 170, Young was a two-way all-2-4A selection last season at safety and running back. Boasting 4.7 speed, he rushed for 715 yards and eight touchdowns and caught 14 passes for another 213 steps a year ago.

While Young is a capable rusher and receiver, injuries have forced the Chiefs to go to an air game this season. The squad is averaging 209 yards an outing, with almost 115 of it coming from the air.

The offensive leader is quarterback Eric Dumas, who has completed 43 passes in 109 attempts for 785 yards and seven touchdowns.

The quarterback has plenty of targets, including flankers Brent Sparks and Lance Coe, who both have eight receptions - Sparks for 236 yards and three touchdowns. Split end Hector Silva has snared five passes, as has Mitch McAda, while Stoney Lindsey has pulled down four.

"They've been spreading it around a little, and even though Young is back, they'll probably keep doing that. You have to cover their backs out of the backfield. I feel the best pass defense is the pass rush," said Tomlin.

"You can't just let him (Dumas) sit back there and throw. He is a lot like the Pecos quarterback (Bobby Ray Smith). He'll run all over the field and then throw the ball," said the coach.

"We've got to contain their quarterback," echoed defensive coordinator Kevin Wiseman. "Lake View uses more formations than most teams we've seen. They use a lot of play-action stuff. We've got to recognize the formations and stay with our receivers. We'll also try to put some pressure on him (Dumas)."

Lake View has a good rushing backfield, too.

"Gonzales (Eddie) is quick, and with Young back there, their rushing improves quickly. One of the reasons they don't have a top running back in the statistics is because they spread it around a lot. They do have good talent back there," stressed Tomlin.

Kenneth Fay leads the Chiefs with 302 yards on 62 carries. Gonzales has 226 on 75.

The best way to combat Lake View's offense, said Tomlin, is to keep it off the field.

"We need to take the ball and keep it. We need to march down the field, use the clock, and score. Defensively, we can't give up the cheap pass."

Snyder will alternate quarterbacks again this Friday night, with senior Brad Gartman listed as the starter. Roland Romo is expected to come in in the second and fourth periods.

"It worked well against Andrews and we're going to keep with it again this week," noted the coach.

Romo, in his first action of the season save a few plays late in the Monahans game, hit 3 of 3 passes for 73 yards against Andrews. Gartman is 16 of 52 on the season for 236 yards.

Snyder's offensive line will try to make holes in the Chief defense for a bevy of running backs, including sophomore Michael Riggins, whose 447 yards on 69 carries leads the team. Riggins' 6.5 average yards per carry ranks in a tie for second in the conference with Monahans' Dana Amos.

The Ragin' Tigers have four other backs who have 75 or more yards this season.

In the only personnel change, John Pena will spell Earl Ware at the left defensive halfback spot.

Lake View and Snyder have been playing off and on since 1950 when the Tigers posted a 34-7 victory in their first meeting. The teams have battled 33 times and Snyder holds the series lead 18 wins to 11.

Turnovers hurt Snyder JV in 22-16 loss to Lake View

SAN ANGELO -- Snyder junior varsity was defeated by San Angelo Lake View here Thursday, 22-16.

Pete Madrid scored first for Snyder in the opening quarter on an eight-yard pitch play following a lengthy drive. Lee Fletcher hit Lewis Wesley on an option play for the two-point conversion.

Lake View then drove 76 yards, scoring on a short run, and also tallied the conversion to tie the game at 8-8 before halftime.

After a Snyder fumble at the Lake View 31, the young Chiefs marched 69 yards for a go-ahead score in the second half. Again the run for two was successful.

Later, the Tigers drove from their 28 to the Chief 42. On a third down and four play from there, Madrid took a pitch and passed to Wesley for the touchdown. Snyder tied the game when Fletcher found Kevin Dollins on a bootleg play to tie the score at 16-all.

The Chiefs went ahead to stay on a 60-yard bomb three plays later, however. The run for two failed.

Snyder again drove from its 31 to the Lake View 33 before being stopped by a fumble.

"We had 271 yards total offense even though we played 10 minute quarters instead of the usual 12. So our offense really moved the ball well," said Coach Rick Howell. "There were two deciding factors. We turned the ball over with three fumbles and we tackled poorly. We hit hard but failed to wrap up their good backs. It was a hard hitting game by both sides.

"Give Lake View credit, especially their backs, for giving a second and third effort. We are disappointed but we'll bounce back against Sweetwater."

Snyder falls to 4-3 on the season and will host Sweetwater next Thursday at 7 p.m.

Area squads set for grid action

AREA -- Hermleigh Booster Club is sponsoring a pancake supper from 6 to 9 this evening in the school cafeteria.

Tickets are $3 for adults and $1.50 for children age 12 and under.

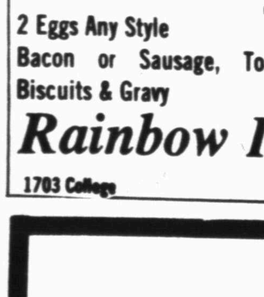

Hermleigh's Cardinals are idle tonight, but play McCaulley in McCaulley Saturday at 7:30 p.m.

In other area games, Ira is at Jayton tonight and Borden County celebrates its homecoming by entertaining Grady.

Jayton, state six-man champions for the past two years, has never lost a six-man football game.

Snyder freshmen top visiting Glenn, 22-18

Snyder came from behind to defeat San Angelo Glenn in a freshman football game played here Thursday, 22-18.

San Angelo took a 12-0 halftime lead on a 55-yard pass and a one-yard run.

Snyder got motivated in the third quarter when Randy Morris broke free for 15 yards and a touchdown. The run-for-two failed.

The Cats later took the lead on a 55-yard touchdown run by Charles Guynes and a follow-up two-point conversion by Tracy Braziel.

Glenn went back in front on a 20-yard run in the fourth quarter. The conversion attempt was unsuccessful.

Snyder rallied again, scoring the winning touchdown on a 45-yard run from Jayson Presley. Braziel again ran over the conversion.

Glenn had 255 yards rushing and was one-of-five passing for 55 yards and two interceptions. The Rockets had 15 first downs and 10 yards in penalties.

Snyder managed 329 yards rushing and 25 passing. Morris was one-of-six for 10 yards passing and Braziel was one-of-two for 15 yards and one interception. Snyder had 11 first downs and 30 yards in penalties.

Braziel led the rushing game with 113 yards on 19 carries. Others were Guynes, 92 yards on seven carries; Presley, 62 on 10 carries; Morris, 45 on seven tries; Jay Parker, 11 on two carries; and Lee Hamilton, four yards on one carry.

Morris intercepted two passes. Recoving fumbles were Toby Goodwin, Kevin Murdock and Greg Kiker.

"The game was made up of big offensive plays and causing and getting some turnovers and taking advantage of them. We intercepted a pass and recovered two fumbles in the fourth quarter to stop their drives," said Coach Larry Scott. "We could have quit at halftime or when they went back ahead in the fourth, but we stayed after them."

The Cats are now 5-1 on the season and will entertain Sweetwater next Thursday at 6 p.m.

NTSU high after win over Frogs

DENTON, Texas (AP) - North Texas State University football players are suffering from a rare problem in athletics, namely how to put a big win behind them.

Last Saturday the Mean Green upset Texas Christian University, 24-20, in a rare victory over a major college in the larger, more powerful Southwest Conference.

Now Coach Corky Nelson and team leaders are trying to bring the football squad and its fans back to earth for the next game.

Understandably, the coach enjoys the enthusiasm but Nelson worries his team may not be concentrating on this Saturday's game against Lamar.

Lamar is a Southland Conference opponent and a game that will effect North Texas' standing in the Southland Conference.

It is one of three conference games North Texas State must win to ensure at least a tie for the title and a possible trip to the Division 1-AA playoffs.

Quarterback Bron Beal and linebacker Lance White have been passing the word to teammates.

"After the TCU game, Lance White, myself and some of the other team leaders got the whole team together," said Beal, a sophomore from Lewisville. "We made the very point you asked about. We said, 'Hey, let's enjoy this for a day and then let's get ready for something more important, the game with Lamar."

But the team didn't write off the win over TCU just because it didn't improve the Mean Green's 1-1 conference record.

"Most of all, beating TCU gave us confidence," said White, a senior from Garland. "It did a lot for our coming together. You know if you have the character to go out and beat a 1-A division school like that, then you should be able to tackle schools in your own division."

If the team can get past Lamar, Nelson said there will be plenty of time for celebrating before the team makes a Nov. 1 trip to Las Vegas, Nev., to play Nevada-Las Vegas.

"We want to go get Lamar and then we can have fun on the trip to Las Vegas," Nelson said. "That one, like the Frogs, won't matter in our conference (standings)."

Team ropers fare well at Texas Tech Rodeo

LUBBOCK – Western Texas College team ropers got off to a good start at the Texas Tech University Intercollegiate Rodeo here Thursday night.

Chuck Smith and Robert Fifer clocked a 6.1 to hold down first place while Jeff Gilbert and Todd Small timed a 7.3 for second.

"Those are real good times, especially, the 6.1. I really think both of them will make it back to the short-round," said Coach Bob Doty.

Western competitors didn't have much success past the team roping, however. Smith clocked a 15.5 and Small took a no-time in the calf roping. Jo Ditt Danley had no-times in the breakaway roping and goat tying.

No Western Texas team members were out Thursday night.

The rodeo continues with performances at 8 nightly Friday and Saturday, and at 1:30 p.m. Sunday at the South Plains Fair Grounds Pavillon.

New York back in the red after Sox claim 4-2 victory

BOSTON (AP) - The Boston Red Sox beat the New York Mets, not themselves.

They put a history of Fenway failures behind them Thursday night and, when a classic Red Sox collapse seemed all too possible, instead moved within one victory of their first World Series championship since 1918.

"I guess we got the home-court advantage off our backs," Dave Henderson said after pitcher Bruce Hurst helped Boston avert a three-game sweep at its own ballpark by winning 4-2.

Now, leading the Series 3-2, the Red Sox hope Roger Clemens, who started the year with a perfect record, can put a perfect ending on the 1986 season. Clemens, the winningest pitcher in the majors, will have five days' rest when he starts Game 6 Saturday night in New York against Bob Ojeda, working with just three days off.

A situation so scary to the Red Sox just one day ago suddenly has the Mets preparing for the worst.

Hurst, like Clemens, got an extra day's rest because Boston Manager John McNamara pushed back his rotation. The move seemed shaky when longshot Al Nipper lost Game 4, but Hurst made it look wise.

"Mac called a little team meeting. He said we had our backs to the wall and that he had taken some criticism for his pitching decision, but he said he felt we were where he wanted us to be," Hurst said.

"I felt stronger, but I didn't really feel like I was at my best tonight."

True, he did not pitch as well as he did in winning Game 1, when he shut out New York for eight innings on four hits. This time, he gave up 10 hits before ending the game by striking out Red Sox nemesis Lenny Dykstra with a runner on base - thus becoming the first Boston left-hander to win a Series game at Fenway since Babe Ruth in 1918.

But if Hurst was not at his best, Dwight Gooden was far worse.

Gooden, working on three days' rest for the first time this season, pitched poorly for the second time in the Series and got his second loss.

"It is very disappointing. I have to prepare for the 1987 season," said Gooden, knocked out in the fifth inning after allowing nine hits and four runs. One of those runs, however, was unearned as the Mets' fielders again did not come to his defense.

Gooden said he felt strong but, despite being one of the hardest throwers in the game, relied more than ever on off-speed pitches - 25 of his first 37 by one count.

"It wasn't really vintage Doc out there," Mets Manager Davey Johnson said.

Boston finished with 12 hits, two by Marty Barrett. That gave him 20 in the combined playoffs and Series, the most ever.

The defeat saddled Gooden with an 0-3 record in the postseason, including a loss and a no-decision in the National League playoffs.

"He was throwing out of character," said Boston's Bill Buckner. "He must have thrown 50 percent breaking balls."

The Mets, with Gooden on the mound, felt supremely confident of knocking off Boston for the third straight night.

But it was New York that got knocked out. Henderson's liner was misplayed into a one-out triple in the second, and Spike Owen followed with a sacrifice fly that put the home team ahead for the first time in this Series.

"The race is the same as it was before the season started," said Arkansas Coach Ken Hatfield. "Texas A&M is still the team to beat. Their victory over Baylor was a big one.

"They are a complete team. Everyone else still has a say in the race but someone will have to knock A&M off to give the rest of us a shot."

Hatfield isn't taking the aroused Cougars lightly.

"Houston is playing extremely well on defense," Hatfield says. "They have come on strong. They had Baylor down 13-3. They held A&M without an offensive touchdown."

Embattled Texas Coach Fred Akers holds a 6-3 advantage over SMU.

"Fire Fred" signs were in evidence last week as Arkansas beat Texas in Memorial Stadium for the fist time in 20 years.

Texas is 2-3 and 1-1 in the SWC chase. SMU is 5-1 and 4-0.

The last time Texas was 2-3 after five games was in 1966.

Baylor, with two SWC losses, is hoping to finish strong for a bowl bid.

"We have our second loss and that's a virtual KO to our Cotton Bowl chances," said Baylor Coach Grant Teaff. "It's always tough to play TCU on the road at their homecoming."

Economic plan now proposed

The report said expansion of "alternative crops" mentioned in the report has the potential to generate 25,000 direct jobs, 50,000 indirect jobs and $6.1 billion oof additional business for the Texas economy.

Alternative crops are those crops that not widely produced Texas. They include blueberries; wine and grapes; shrimp; oriental vegetables and kenaf, a "cousin" to cotton.

All have potential over the next 10 years, the report said.

Other proposals by the agriculture department include:

— Taxable bonds supported by a $20 million state guarantee and supplemented by private guarantees.

— Loans backed by up to $5 million in state certificates of deposit, with a 1:1 match by local banks.

— $500,000 state seed fund to support reseach that could lead to commercialization of new crops.

— $350,000 grant program to assist new and expanding agricultural-based businesses.

— $225,000 in grants, which would require a 3:1 local match, to help agricultural businesses "operating under early-stage obstacles such as limited resources or lack of business experience."

— Consolidation of the authority to issue agricultural development bonds into a single entity managed by the agriculture department.

— Expansion of the Family Farm and Ranch Security Program of 1979 to provide loan guarantees to buy equipment or establish alternative crops. Additional financing also would allow applicants to defer payments of principal or interest on "long-cycle" crops, such as orchards, vineyards and fish farms.

The proposal would require a state constitutional amendment.

— Expansion of technical assistant services by 50 percent. The department currently is assisting over 40 operations with planned capital investment exceeding $150 million and estimated annual sales of nearly $400 million.

— A $25 million loan-loan guarantee program to increase agricultural exports.

Two wrecks occur

Two minor traffic accidents were reported in Snyder Thursday.

Involved in the first — at 7:53 a.m. in the 3400 Block of College Ave. — were a 1982 Pontiac driven by Lisa Michelle McNew of 2904 Ave. T and a 1982 Datsun driven by David Wayne Morrison of 2700 ½ Ave. V.

The day's second mishap occurred in the 1300 Block of College at 10:47 a.m.

Involved in it were a 1984 Chevrolet driven by Rachael Ann Bass of 307 36th St. and a 1982 Ford driven by S.W. Suther of 2304 Hill Ave.

Sally Pitts is fair winner

Sally Pitts of Scurry County is a winner in competition sponsored by the Creative Arts Department of the State Fair of Texas.

Each year hundreds of persons enter state fair contests on cooking, arts and crafts, hobbies and collections. Winners are displayed in the Creative Arts Building during the fair.

This year's fair, with a theme of "Texas 150," salutes both the Lone Star State sesquicentennial and the 100th anniversary of the first state fair. It continues through Sunday at the fair park in Dallas.

Pitts won a first place in ceramics.

Obituaries

Joe Aguilar

LORAINE–Services will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday at the St. Joseph's Catholic Church for Jose (Joe) Aguilar, 64, who died Tuesday at his home in Amarillo.

A former resident of Mitchell County, he was the brother of Semona Carresalez of Snyder.

Born in Sweetwater, he was a retired maintenance worker for the Mitchell County Hospital.

Survivors include his wife, Barbara Simon Aguilar of Amarillo; a stepson, Robert Smith of Roland, Okla.; two other sisters, Florentina Luvano of Denver and Matilda Peres of Bakersfield, Calif.; six brothers, Juan and Crispin, both of Lamesa; Carlos and Abraham, both of Loraine, Tomas Aguilar and Jessie Rodriquez, both of Colorado City; and one step-grandaughter, Samantha Smith of Roland, Okla.

Federal fund losses mulled

county has utilized funds in road and bridge improvements including sealcoating materials.

The city's share has been used to purchase police cars and other law enforcement equipment, a pumper unit for the fire department and improvements in the jurisdiction's sewer and water systems.

Officials with both the city and county have been anticipating the loss for the past two years.

Federal officials contacted in Washington recalled the history of the revenue sharing program.

Bob Childers, of the public affairs department of the Office of Revenue Sharing, commented, "Nixon saw the program as a way to return power to the states. Grant programs available at the time placed too many restrictions on the use of the money. Through revenue sharing, money was to be given with only a few restrictions."

He said he believed lawmakers looked upon it favorably since it provided "more equitable distribution" of federal funds over grant programs.

"Revenue sharing was popular because the money was spent according to state and local laws rather than mandates by the federal government. And the program cut administrative costs," he said.

"Revenue sharing treats all governments alike," he added. "Each community received money based upon a formula. Of the 39,000 governments that receive revenue sharing funds, over 30,000 receive no other federal assistance."

Mary Green, a Washington-based aide for Rep. Charles Stenholm (D-Stamford), noted that "the administration has tried to get rid of it totally" at other times. With revenue sharing removed, federal officials would try to ease restrictions on current grant programs available to state and local governments. "Ideally that's what would happen. In theory, that's what the administration would like to see happen," she said.

Soliciting causes arrest

Police logged three misdemeanor arrests Thursday including a man and a woman jailed for soliciting without a permit.

Those arrests resulted from a series of calls from west Snyder residents reporting individuals selling magazines door-to-door.

The third arrest Thursday was a local man jailed on a misdemeanor warrant issued out of county court.

Hospital board meets Thursday

hours of an indigent's admittance.

Determination of indigent status will be made by welfare officials. Commissioners will hear appeals.

During Thursday's board meeting, community relations director Kathy Minimier noted that hospital auxiliary members have raised almost $27,900 of the estimated $65,000 necessary for mammography equipment. Officials have targeted early December for the unit to be operational.

Board members also heard a report from Dr. James Howell, medical staff representative, about an accreditation workshop he, Dr. James Burleson and Katherine Hanks attended in Dallas.

The workshop emphasized changes in medical staff standards proposed by the Joint Committee on Accreditation to be implemented next year.

Also during the reading of minutes of the board's Oct. 10 bill paying session, a resolution passed by the board was noted.

It directs hospital personnel to "purchase as many supplies and services locally as prudently possible."

Board members present Thursday were Ralph Price, Dan Cotton, John Jarrell, Rex Robinson and Jack Denman. Leon Autry was absent. Also present was ex-officio board member County Judge Preston Wilson.

United Way dollars don't go away. They stay to benefit:

—Boys Club: Since 1955, the Boys Club has offered "somewhere to go" to boys age 7-18. The club averages 60 youngsters served per day.

—Buffalo Trail Council of Boy Scouts: Snyder Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorer Scouts take advantage of these United Way dollars. Scurry County counted some 350 boys and 100 adult leaders this past year.

—Noah Project: A new United Way agency effective this year. This organization offers a temporary resting place for battered wives and their children. This past year, the center became a temporary home for 31 women and 65 children. Out of shelter help was given to another 49 women and 71 children.

—Snyder Child Day Care Center: The center offers parents in need of work a "daytime home" for their children at costs geared to their income. Often, the center also serves as a refuge for children victimized by abuse or neglect. Some 56 kids are helped daily.

—West Texas Girl Scout Council: Girl Scouting in Scurry County now equals some 26 troops representing 263 girls. They are aided by 75 adult leaders.

—Oil Patch Foster Parents: Some 26 youngsters are now served — each homeless because of circumstances they cannot control. Coming to their aid are 16 county families.

—Red Cross: In addition to its disaster relief, both swimming classes and CPR first aid courses are available locally at no charge. Some 267 individuals took advantage of these this past year.

—Salvation Army: The random and desperate individual is helped by the Salvation Army. In addition, eight local youth were sent to Camp Hoblitzelle this summer.

—West Texas Rehabilitation Center: The Abilene-based center continues to support Scurry County. Estimates for this past year include 876 treatments administered to Scurry County residents.
