DECISION DUE

'What's Ben Gonna Do?'

AUSTIN (AP) — "What's Ben gonna do?"

Hardly a conversation in the Capitol ends without that question.

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes promised newsmen Nov. 3 that he would declare his political plans "before Thanksgiving." That's Thursday.

He went to Houston Friday to confer with his political backers, including former Gov. John Connally. One associate said Barnes wanted to talk to "the money people," important in any statewide race.

At least two people are keenly interested in Barnes' decision.

One is Gov. Preston Smith, whom Barnes says he could beat. Smith says he could beat Barnes.

The other is Sen. Ralph Hall of Rockwall, who will run for lieutenant governor next year if Barnes does not seek re-election.

Sources close to Barnes say he decided some time back not to run against Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex.

Barnes called newsmen to his office Nov. 3 and laid out two polls taken during October that showed him leading both Smith and Yarborough.

He said he had "spent more time" considering an "easier race" against Smith than running against Yarborough, a proven tough campaigner.

"If I had to speculate right now I would say he will run for re-election," a source close to Barnes said Friday afternoon.

One source said big campaign contributors, who funneled millions of dollars into last year's six candidate Democratic primary and Smith's hard fought race against Republican Paul Eggers, are not eager for another expensive race for governor next year.

Martha Threatens

MIAMI (AP) — Tropical Storm Martha blew into a hurricane Saturday and threatened three Central American countries with damaging blows.

The National Hurricane Center at Miami said Martha — packing a center wind wallop of 85 miles per hour — posed a threat to sections of Panama, Costa Rica and Nicaragua.

Martha is the 13th tropical storm of 1969, the first year with that many storms since 1953 when there were 14.

The hurricane season — the period of the year when most hurricanes form — runs from June 1 to Nov. 30, although hurricanes have been recorded in every month of the year except April.

"In the southwest Caribbean, it's unusual to have one this late in the season," forecaster Neil Frank said Saturday. "The latest I can find that we had a storm develop in that region was in 1953. We had a storm form in almost this same position on Nov. 15. So this makes Martha latest ever there in the fall season."

Cotton farmers no longer have to debate about whether to use defoliants in order to expedite harvest of the crop. Two successive hard freezes killed leaves and should throw the harvest into high gear by mid-week. Gins likely will be flooded with cotton for the next three weeks, perhaps up to near Christmas. The low last week was 24 degrees, but temperatures were below freezing for around 12 hours.

Good news came in the confirmation of an oil discovery in northwest Coahoma at the end of the week. Nearburg No. 1 Birkhead completed for 296 barrels of 44-gravity oil and a gas-oil ratio of 1,685-1. Production is coming from an upper Pennsylvanian reef formation, and there is no similar production within some 15 miles. Another discovery of local interest is one which makes Nell Brown our first woman oil producer. Her No. 1 Carter completed as a lower San Andres discovery in north Central Glasscock County for 76 barrels of 35-gravity oil and no water.

Desperate Fugitives Caught, Hostages OK

(AP WIREPHOTO)

FUGITIVES AFTER CAPTURE — Three fugitives, sought since they broke out of Galveston County jail early Friday, were captured by police near Flatonia, Tex., Saturday. Shown in the Fayette County Sheriff's office at LaGrange shortly after their capture are William "Butch" Ainsworth, 25, standing, and Ronnie Roper, 19, seated, and seated at right is Bruce Harris, 25. Five broke jail, one was captured earlier and one was found dead.

One Of Escapees Accidentally Shot

FLATONIA, Tex. (AP) — State police and sheriffs deputies, directed by a helicopter, chased through woods Saturday and captured three jail prisoners who had fled with hostages through south Texas. Three hostages—two women and a 12-year-old boy—were freed.

One of five prisoners in the jailbreak at Galveston Friday gave himself up the same day and another was found shot to death. A deputy sheriff who had been taken hostage was shot and wounded and left for dead, but there were no injuries during the final arrest.

Authorities gave this account:

One of the prisoners feigned sickness Friday morning and others overpowered a jailer who opened the cell door to investigate. The escapees armed themselves and took Galveston County Deputy Sheriff Bob Williamson hostage as he arrived for work at the jail.

After taking another hostage, civilian Edward Mueller who happened into the area, the five drove in Williamson's car to nearby Texas City. There one of the fugitives, George Earl Howard, 26, was held at gunpoint as the group approached the home of his parents. Howard broke away and ran to the house where his mother called police and said he would surrender.

That left at large William "Butch" Ainsworth, 25, and Ronnie Roper, 19, both accused of killing a youth with a baseball bat and awaiting trial; Bruce Harris, 25, under death sentence in the 1967 knife slaying of his foster mother, and Joseph McMahon, 18, charged with burglary.

McMahon was later found shot to death beside a road.

The fugitives then holed up in the home of Mrs. Irene Alexander, 35, a Texas City beauty parlor operator, apparently selecting her house at random. She and her son Tommy were taken as hostages. They then drove the Alexander car to the Robert Nicholls residence in Dickinson. They took Mrs. Nicholls, 38, away with them, but left Nicholls and Mueller tied up there.

About midnight Friday or early Saturday, Williamson said, he and McMahon were shot and dumped beside a road. The officer, shot in the back and creased on the head by a bullet, walked a mile and caught a ride to Richmond, Tex. He led officers to McMahon's body.

After the capture, police quoted Harris as saying McMahon was shot accidentally.

"We checked his pulse and heart," Harris told police. "He must have died instantly, so we dumped him out."

He said Williamson had sought to rise to his knees—presumably from the bottom of the car—as if he were trying to make a break. One of the men said, "No you don't," and shot him, Harris said.

The fugitives kept Mrs. Nicholls, Mrs. Alexander and Tommy as hostages.

A deputy sheriff spotted their abandoned car near Flatonia and the helicopter pilot saw a woman by a creek waving to him. Then he saw the fugutives who signaled they wished to surrender.

When the fugitives met the officers in the woods, each held a hostage in front of him apparently to forestall any gunfire.

Mrs. Alexander said the jailbreakers hoped to hide out in the woods all day and then find another car and drive at night.

MONDAY AFTERNOON SPLASHDOWN PLANNED

Explorers Tell Of Treasures

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Plummeting homeward with a priceless collection of lunar treasures, America's moon explorers said Saturday they didn't bring back all they wanted.

"Because we didn't have enough time," Apollo 12 Commander Charles "Pete" Conrad Jr. told Mission Control, "we just weren't able to take all the pictures we wanted or do all the things."

For the second time during a lazy day in space, Conrad and crewmates Richard F. Gordon and Alan L. Bean answered questions about moon geology and their two moonwalks. It was an early beginning for the post-mission briefing, which usually waits until astronauts are safely home.

"The only thing that kept us from getting more detail was we had to keep pressing on," Conrad said.

"I think we got a sample of almost everything that was there," Bean said. "But, like Pete says, it's going to be interesting to see how many different things we did actually get. I think our trained geologists would have a whole lot of trouble doing field geology on the moon."

Before going to bed at 5:05 p.m. EST, the space trio received some football scores and news of their families.

"Pete," Mission Control said, "Jane says Christopher got a bike for his birthday and within an hour after he got it, it had a small accident. He didn't have any problems, but the bike is a little worse for wear."

Told that their three wives were impatient for splashdown Monday afternoon, Conrad said, "Tell the skipper to put that ship right on the target, because Dick Gordon will be driving."

Weather in the recovery area was forecast to be wet but satisfactory. A fleet headed by the USS Hornet is waiting for Apollo 12's searing re-entry and splashdown at 3:58 p.m. EST.

At the request of the spacemen, Mission Control said they could spend the night without their radio headsets or biomedical sensors. The sensors report heart and respiration rates.

The only business on Saturday's relaxed schedule was an early morning course correction. After the astronauts briefly fired Yankee Clipper's rocket engine, Mission Control reported the change would make splashdown one minute later than originally scheduled.

Then they ate breakfast, tidied up the spacecraft and answered the first set of questions from moon geologists, eager to fill in missing details from the moonwalks.

"Could you give a little more elaborate description of the ground pattern of ridges and grooves?" asked capsule communicator Ed Gibson.

"I think we noticed radial streaks almost everywhere," Conrad recalled.

"We were seeing them frequently," Bean agreed. "They weren't very isolated, but they were all over. But it's hard to remember about some of these things."

Conrad and Bean said they recall the color of the lunar surface changing between their two moonwalks—possibly because of the angle of the sun.

Apollo 12 brings a treasure chest of scientific information about the lunar surface and the moon's origin.

Unlike the moon rocks returned by Apollo 11, the rocks Conrad and Bean picked up are what geologists call "documented samples." Each rock was photographed in detail before it was picked up so geologists can determine exactly how it was resting on the moon.

From this, they will infer much about lunar geology.

Scurry County Voters Give Big Endorsement To College

Scurry County voters Saturday gave heavy endorsement to a proposal to create a junior college at Snyder.

At a late hour Saturday, with only one small box in a rural precinct still to be counted, the tally stood at 2,448 votes for the junior college, and only 225 votes against it.

In two side issues, voters named seven trustees for a junior college board of trustees and approved a $3¼ million bond issue to finance college facilities.

Elected to serve on the board, with the number of votes they received, were: Edwin Parks, 2,046; W. A. (Bill) Jones, 1,507; Robert H. Hargrove, 2,202; R. C. Patton, 2,020; M. L. Broman, 1,842; L. A. Patterson, 1,534; and William H. Wilson, 1,879. Others who received votes, were Arthur Lee Pieper, 1,162; Don Sealy, 1,473; C. A. Daugherty, 1,341; and one write-in, Wayne Monroney, 95.

The proposition for the maintenance tax, for a maximum rate of 35 cents per $100 valuation, passed with 2,147 for and 314 against.

Proposition No. 4 on the ballots, the 3¼ million dollar bond issue for college facilities, passed with 2,181 votes for, and 276 against.

The election marked Scurry County's fifth attempt to get authority from state boards to vote on a junior college proposal, and the first time that approval has been forthcoming. The county made applications for such a proposal first in 1957, and then again in 1963, 1965, and 1966, and all were rejected in Austin.

S. Viet, Pentagon Differ Over Massacre Claims

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnam's Defense Ministry and the Pentagon appeared to disagree Saturday over whether U.S. troops massacred civilians in a remote village in March a year ago.

After an investigation ordered by President Nguyen Van Thieu, a Defense Ministry communique said reports that 527 civilians were massacred "were completely "inaccurate" and actually about 20 civilians were killed in a battle for the village.

The U.S. Army in Washington has charged a U.S. Army lieutenant with premeditated murder and a sergeant with assault to commit murder in the alleged slaying of 100 civilians in the village. Then it disclosed Friday an additional 24 soldiers and ex-soldiers were under investigation.

A South Vietnamese spokesman was asked how he could explain this apparent discrepancy in the Vietnamese and U.S. versions. He replied: "I have no idea."

A U.S. military spokesman commented: "I don't know that there is any discrepancy."

The spokesman said it would be inappropriate for the U.S. Command to comment and any statements would have to come from Washington.

The South Vietnamese communique was based on an investigation by Lt. Gen. Hoang Xuan Lam, commander of the area that includes the village of My Lai in the Quang Ngai area of the far north, where the incident allegedly occurred March 16, 1968.

"More than a year ago," said the communique, "in March 1968, an operation was launched by the Americal Division's Task Force Barker in the area of My Lai hamlet, Son My village, Son Tinh district, Quang Ngai Province, with the aim of destroying an important Communist force in that area.

"When Task Force Barker moved into that area, they met strong resistance from the enemy . . . The result of the contact was 125 enemy killed and at the same time about 20 civilians living in the hamlet were killed by tactical air strikes and artillery while the fight was going on.

"Reports from newspapers and foreign news agency recently saying that 527 civilians were killed were completely inaccurate."

The 527 figure came from villagers, who told newsmen the Americans entered the village, herded the people from their homes, and killed them with rifles and machine guns.

Col. Ton That Khien, chief of Quang Ngai Province, told reporters last week he conducted his own investigation and did not believe the villagers were telling the truth. He said he could find none who saw any massacre and believed civilian casualties were caused by the battle. He said the village also was dominated by the Viet Cong.

On the fighting fronts, the sector of the Bu Prang and Duc Lap Special Forces camp in the southern highlands was quiet Saturday after three weeks of fierce fightings.

Israeli Jets Hit Arab Base

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli jets hit an Arab guerrilla camp in northern Jordan Saturday while Egyptian and Israeli gunners battled along the Suez Canal in a duel touched off by an Egyptian commando raid, the Israeli military command reported.

The planes fired machine guns and rockets at the stronghold opposite the Beit Yosef settlement in the Beisan Valley, 13 miles south of the Sea of Galilee, a spokesman said. A Jordanian military communique said Jordanian antiaircraft was in action during the seven-minute air attack.

The Egyptian commandos crossed onto the east bank of the Suez Canal, ambushed the Israeli patrol and set off a three-hour artillery battle, the Israelis said. Three Egyptian commandos were reported killed and three Israelis wounded.

Draft Call Slashed, Lottery Is Pledged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird has slashed the January draft call to 12,500 men—about one-third of the original quota—and pledged immediate action to install the new random lottery system.

In announcing this Saturday, Laird said also the Army plans to cut back its basic-training structure by shutting down three basic combat training centers and disbanding 100 training companies.

The Pentagon 3rd graf 8. To clarify training centers—not bases—will be shut down.

The Pentagon chief credited "the progress of Vietnamization"—that is, the progressive withdrawal of U. S. troops from the war and their replacement by South Vietnamese forces—with clearing the way for substantial reduction in draft calls and elimination of inequities and uncertainties.

The drastic draft-call reduction from the projected January quota of 35,000 men is the second such action by the Nixon administration.

Earlier, President Nixon canceled November and December draft calls totalling 50,000 men and stretched out October's 29,000-man quota over the last three months of this year. Thus the November-December-January planned calls have been reduced by 72,500 men.

Laird's statement came three days after the Senate completed congressional action on a bill permitting Nixon to put into effect the new random draft lottery system, replacing the present requirement to draft the oldest first.

After a transitional year, only 19-year-olds will be vulnerable for induction. During the first year all qualified men between 19 and 26 will be subject to the draft lottery.

Laird said Nixon soon will sign the draft bill "which will eliminate major inequities and uncertainties in the draft."

He said he will "take immediate action to implement the new legislation so that the men to be drafted in January 1970 will be brought into service under the new random-selection procedure."

FIRST IN WEST TEXAS; FIRST TO USE VOLUNTEERS

New Program At Rehab Center

By MARILYN NEVELS

A daring new program, the first of its kind to help children with learning disabilities, is in progress at Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center. In this program, the trainers needed to rehabilitate these children are volunteers with no previous experience in learning disabilities.

Rehabilitation center audiologist and speech therapist, Mrs. Ann Mary Campbell, and center director, Jim Thompson, are directing the program. Mrs. Campbell is in charge of training and supervising the volunteer trainers.

Seven volunteers from Wesley United Methodist Church began a study program in early October and have just completed 24 hours of classroom studies. They will continue informal study as long as they serve as trainers at the center. They will begin remedial training of nine children Monday.

Volunteer trainers are Mrs. Caleb Hildebrand, wife of the pastor of Wesley United Methodist Church, Mrs. Jerry Allen, Mrs. W. B. Morris, Mrs. E. A. Guinn, Mrs. Dewain Cox, Mrs. R. T. Merrill and Mrs. Larry Crow.

"As far as we know," Mrs. Campbell said, "volunteers have never been used as trainers." This unique idea was undertaken to fill the need for learning disability remediation when therapists and funds for such costly specialists were not available. It is estimated by Thompson that 28 per cent of all school age children in Big Spring have some kind of learning disability. These children are destined to fall behind in their studies and become lifelong failures if their disabilities are not discovered and corrected.

With volunteer trainers, children with disabilities can receive 1½ hours of remedial training every weekday. Cost will be $15 a week as opposed to the $15 each daily session that remedial training would cost without use of volunteers.

The volunteers have received an intensive course in neurology, audiology, language, motor development and visual processes. Most of the classes were taught by Mrs. Campbell with guest lectures from Dr. Harold Smith, president of the center, and Dolly Wilkins, elementary school counselor. Dr. Smith, who teaches a small private visual remediation clinic, was primary impetus for the learning disability remediation program.

The seven women volunteers had no special qualifications for remedial work other than their willingness to work, personalities and responsible temperament. They range in backgrounds from high school graduates to one college graduate in special education and one registered nurse. All the women, except one, have children and one woman has a child with a learning disability.

The field of learning disabilities is a new one.

"As recently as two years ago, relatively little was known about learning disabilities," Mrs. Campbell said. Lack of study material was overcome by Mrs. Campbell by borrowing books from the state library in Austin and by using journals on learning disabilities donated by Dr. Smith. "This is such a new field of study, there just isn't much material; we must discover as we go along," she said. A great deal of the children's training curriculum is based on "From Potential Through Perception" by Nita Nunn. "Equipment for retraining these children cannot be bought, we must have it built," Mrs. Campbell said.

Before being accepted for remedial training, children undergo intensive testing by a diagnostic team. Such diagnosis was not available anywhere in the area except in Abilene, until a diagnostic team was set up at Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center. "Small learning disabilities are so nebulous and difficult to track down that we must use the team approach," Mrs. Campbell explained.

The diagnostic team gives the child psychological, visual, motor, auditory and speech tests as well as compiling a complete case history. The child's family doctor is issued a lengthy neurological exam to give his patient.

Approximately 75 per cent of the children seen at the center are learning disability candidates, according to the center director. The schools of Big Spring offer special education classes to fourth through sixth graders, but there is no remediation for children outside of those grades. Furthermore it is important to catch learning disabilities at an early age.

In addition special education is aimed more at retarded children, whereas children with learning disabilities are generally of above average intelligence. According to Mrs. Campbell, the Rehabilitation Center is the only place in the area where remediation in learning disability is offered. Abilene has a diagnostic clinic, but no remediation. With the volunteer trainers the center can offer needed remediation.

"If the program is very successful, we will train more volunteers," Mrs. Campbel' said. "My only fear is that we will have too many children applying for treatment and won't be able to care for all of them."

VOLUNTEER trainers for the Learning Disability Program meet for their final lecture. They have had four hours of training a week plus homework to be prepared to teach nine children beginning Monday. Seated from left are Mrs. Paul Campbell, Center audiologist; Mrs. Jerry Allen; Mrs. Caleb Hildebrand; Mrs. Larry Crow; Jim Thompson, center director; Mrs. E. A. Guinn; Mrs. R. T. Merrell; and Mrs. W. R. Morris.

Coordinator Predicts Success Against Learning Disabilities

Remedial training for nine children with learning disabilities will begin Monday at Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center; the first such program to be offered in West Texas to help children with learning disabilities, and the first known to use volunteer trainers for the children.

"Children with learning disabilities are usually very intelligent," stressed Mrs. Mary Ann Campbell, who is in charge of the program. The degree of a child's disability may differ greatly; he may have trouble developing dominant use of one hand, have trouble balancing, or be completely unable to read.

Symptoms of learning disabilities include: either hyperactivity or extreme slowness; difficulty with arithmetic and abstractions; difficulty reading, reading or speaking backwards, writing backwards or upside-down; inpulsiveness; desire to touch and handle objects; short attention span and very easily distracted; either very highstrung or totally impassive; borderline or abnormal E.E.G. brain wave test.

Often children with learning disabilities have poor coordination, slow development in motor activities, slow speech, or speech defects. Learning disabilities are more common in boys than girls. These children have problems in perception which takes in all areas of the senses.

"We will concentrate in three major areas, motor perception, visual perception and auditory which includes body and space awareness," Mrs. Campbell explained.

"The perception activities are designed to complement and overlap one another," Mrs. Campbell continued. "In motor activity we will have the children go up and down stairs. Then in auditory activity we will have the child go up a step when he hears a high note played on the organ and go down a step when he hears a low note."

In remedial training the child is taken back in the learning process to the point where he missed out. "If the child perceives incorrectly," Mrs. Campbell said, "he learns incorrectly."

The remediation program is beginning with seven boys and two girls. Two trainers and one Center staff member will conduct each session. Instruction will be in perceptual motor activities, auditory motor activities, ocular motor activities, body and space awareness activities and language skills. The children will be divided into three groups, each group spending 30 minutes in three training stations. Stations one and two will be primarily motor training, done in the large conference room. Station three wil' be the IAC suite for language therapy.

"We won't let the child fail; we'll start with an easy task and build from there," Mrs. Campbell said. "We will build the child's strengths and if necessary bypass his weaknesses. If a child has a learning difficulty due to a weak ear, we will strengthen his good ear," she added. "Verbal instruction is most important," she emphasized. "There will be lots of listening games, doing things, like stopping and starting and stepping on boxes of varied heights.

"The child will learn through all his senses. In teaching the alphabet, all the senses will be used," Mrs. Campbell said. The child will feel the shape of an "A". He will draw an "A". He will walk in the "A" shape. I'll bake cookies and he will eat the letter "A"," emphasized Mrs. Campbell.

In learning left and right, the child will lie on the floor and when he moves his left arm he will feel the sensation of that arm moving across the floor. His sensation of left will be increased and reinforced. In space perception and body awareness, children will learn their sizes by walking through two posts with a crossbar. They will learn when they are too tall to pass under the bar or too wide to pass between the poles. In space perception, they will use steps and stepping-stone-style boxes of varied

They also will use a balancing board to improve coordination. Some children can move sideways to the right, but cannot move sideways to the left. They will learn correct motor coordination while playing in the conference from walking barefooted on the balancing board and feeling their way along tape on the wood floor. In the future music, rhythm instruments and swimming in the pool will be used to aid the children.

"I'm very excited about the program and am confident that it will be a success," Mrs. Campbell said. "In the future I hope our program will serve as a model for other communities."

Retail Sales Show Drop In October

AUSTIN (AP) — Retail sales turned in a "lackluster" performance in Texas last month, a University of Texas business analyst said Saturday.

"A decisive cooling off has developed in consumer spending," said Constance Cooledge, statistical assistant with the university Bureau of Business Research.

Miss Cooledge said that when adjusted for normal seasonal changes, retail sales dropped 7 per cent in October, with durable goods off 19 per cent.

Sales were up 4 per cent over October 1968. For the January-October period, sales increased 5 per cent over 1968.

Texas' retail sales picture was bleaker than that for the nation as a whole, she said. Nationally, total sales made no change in October, and durable goods sales fell by only 2 per cent.

Nondurable goods, such as food and clothing, performed better than durables. In Texas, seasonally adjusted nondurable goods sales dropped 1 per cent. Compared with last October, nondurables were up 5 per cent, and for January-October they also rose 5 per cent.

Amont categories of durable goods that undershot expectations, furniture and household appliance sales fell 10 per cent, compared with a normal seasonal gain of 15 per cent. Automotive stores reported their sales increased 9 per cent, instead of their normal 44 per cent in October.

Honored Vet To Address Scouts

A Medal of Honor recipient will be the speaker for the annual banquet of the Lone Star Boy Scout district here Feb. 4.

He is Maj. Merlyn H. Dethlefsen, United States Air Force, who received the nation's highest honor March 10, 1967 from then President Johnson. His was the third Medal of Honor to be awarded for combat in Vietnam to a member of the Air Force. He currently is assigned to Vance AFB, Okla.

The dinner affair, set for Howard County Junior College at 7:30 p.m. will serve as a recognition affair as well as the occasion for installing Jack Powell as district chairman succeeding Col. Chandler B. Estes. Tickets ($1.50) may be had by calling Wade Choate. The program is being arranged by a committee headed by Jimmy Ray Smith.

Three Injured In Two Mishaps

Three people received minor injuries as a result of two separate traffic accidents Friday.

Rex D. Carpenter, 1405 Benton, was taken to Webb AFB hospital where he was treated and released following an accident at FM 700 and Westover Road, involving his motorcycle and a car driven by Thomas L. Cannon, 2204 Grace.

Doris L. Jaeger and Bruce M. Jaeger were treated and released from the base hospital following injuries they received in a three-car collision at Fourth and Douglas. A car driven by Malcolm M. Green, 2105 Johnson, collided with the car occupied by the Jaegers, causing their vehicle to collide with one driven by A. C. Jones, 1807 Settles.

Thanksgiving Service At First Christian Thursday

The community Thanksgiving service will be held this year at First Christian Church, 911 Goliad Street, at 10 a.m. Thursday and will feature ministers from six different congregations. Musical presentations will be under the direction of musicians from two different churches as well as the choral director from the high school, Kenny Sheppard.

The offering at the Thanksgiving service will go to the Howard County Minister's Fellowship to help with several community projects, including sponsoring the Bible class in the high school.

The Rev. Robert F. Polk, First Baptist, will present the call to worship and the invocation; The Rev. John R. Beard, First Christian, will welcome guests to his church; the Rev. James E. Uselton, Kentwood Methodist, will lead the responsive reading; the Rev. R. L. Parramore, Bethel Baptist, will offer a prayer of Thanksgiving; Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, First Presbyterian, will lead the prayer of dedication; the Rev. James A. Puckett will give the Thanksgiving sermon; and Rev. Beard will word the benediction.

The high school Girls' Ensemble will present two special musical selections and the Rev. Connell Taylor, First Baptist, will lead the congregational singing. Mrs. Bob Simpson, First Christian, will be organist.

Accident Board Award Upheld By District Jury

A jury in 118th District Court returned a verdict Saturday upholding an award made in 1965 by the Industrial Accident Board to Joel M. Hope for an injury he sustained to his back while working for Southern Ice and Cold Storage Co., Big Spring.

Texas General Indemnity Co., insurer of the ice company for workman's compensation, was appealing the decision of the accident board on the claim that the award of $9 a week for 300 consecutive weeks was too much.

The jury began hearing the case Wednesday and returned its verdict upholding the accident board's award at 6:04 p.m. Friday.

ACCIDENTS

Tenth and Gregg; Patricia Ann Peters, 517 Scott Drive, and Paul E. Procaccini, 1425 E. 6th; 4:52 p.m. Friday.

209 NW 2nd: Mary D. Bustamente, 408 NW 11th, and Jose G. Arguello, 1106 N. Lancaster; 5:03 p.m. Friday.

THE WEEK

chemical sales rose 196 per cent in the last year and accounted for half of Petrofina earnings. Most of that comes from the Cosden output here.

• • •

S.Sgt. Larry Oaks came back home from Vietnam last Thursday in a flag-draped casket, accompanied by a buddy in arms. Saturday, after rites in his church at Ackerly, he was laid to honored rest with a military salute. He was killed in action on Veterans Day.

The area vocational banquet here Tuesday turned into something of a salute to Joe B. Neely, a former coach, coordinator and district supervisor for the Texas Education Agency here a decade ago. Neely, who is to become the No. 2 man in the state occupational and technical training setup. No one was more pleased (and impressed) than Neely was with the Big Spring achievement as an area vocational school.

One of the surer signs of Christmas is the schedule of events announced by the Salvation Army. This year it is delaying start of the kettle collections until Dec. 12, and two Webb AFB groups have volunteered to man all the kettles the first two days to set a good pattern. Other organizations are urged to volunteer for similar service so that the shorter period will mean no less money — for too many families are depending on it for their Christmas cheer.

Seventy-four volunteers at Big Spring State Hospital were honored last week for their services. They received awards for 100, or 500 or more than 1,000 hours service to the hospital patients. Mrs. Theo Ferguson, Midland, one of those whose fidelity over the years is an inspiration to others, has accumulated 6,808 hours. Mrs. Hope Leyva, a hospital employe who comes back to donate time to the patients, had 4,198 hours of volunteer service.

• • •

How about showing that Thanksgiving Day is more than time off from the job by attending the community Thanksgiving services at 10 a.m. in the First Christian Church? Is that asking too much?

• • •

The Optimist Clubs have joined in an attempt to promote safety during the Christmas season. They put Mrs. Don Myers to the test with her driving and found her to be the most courteous driver of the week. It earned her a welcomed $25. The club has other such awards coming, plus some for a slogan and for spotting jaywalkers.

• • •

Werner Torkanowsky, who brought the New Orleans Philharmonic orchestra here last week to open the season for the Big Spring Concert Association, stirred more excitement among the patrons than any conductor in many years. A craftsman with great feeling, he already has come far and undoubtedly will go much further.

• • •

It's too early yet to tell, but there is at least some bit of ground for hope that Kenneth Chandler, the plucky Garden City lad who got his neck broken in a football game, may make reasonable recovery. Kenneth came through surgery in good condition at Lubbock, and the nerve may have been bruised rather than broken. At any rate, he was experiencing some feeling, whereas he was at first paralyzed from his neck down.

• • •

Basketball crowded football off the stage, and Big Spring High rewarded fans with its first victory and evened its record at 1-1. Then HCJC won a couple of games before stumbling at the Levelland tournament.

HONORED BY OPTIMISTS — Four boys (from left), Curtis Condray, Glenn Carlton, Gregg Brooks, and Barry Canning, received plaques Thursday at a luncheon at the Downtown Tea Room from Optimists who commended them on living up to their responsibilities to home, school, and community.

Junior High Boys Win Optimist Club Honors

Four junior high school boys received trophies for Youth Appreciation Week, Nov. 10-16, during a joint meeting of local Optimist Clubs Wednesday noon at the Downtown Tea Room. The boys were honored for outstanding contributions to their community in meeting their responsibilities at home, school and in the community.

Those awarded were Gregg Brooks, seventh grade; Curtis Condray, eighth grade; both at Runnels; Barry Canning, seventh grade, and Glenn Carlton, eighth grade, both at Goliad.

Gregg Brooks is the son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Ralph L. Brooks, 1722 Yale. Col. Brooks is serving in Vietnam. Gregg is a straight-A student and a member of Boy Scout Troop No. 5, plays basketball and was on an all-star football team. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Blum.

Curtis Condray is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Condray, 1517 Tucson. He is a member of the National Junior Honor Society, student council and Wesley United Methodist Church. He also maintains a straight-A average.

Barry Canning is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Canning, 2704 Apache. He maintains an A-average, is a member of the YMCA, and the student council. He attends the First Christian Church.

Glenn Carlton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Carlton, 2605 Carol. He is a member of the National Junior Honor Society with a 93 average. He is an office assistant at Goliad and is a member of the Boy Scouts and YMCA. He attends the First Baptist Church.

The four boys were the second group to be awarded trophies. Six senior high school boys received trophies the previous Wednesday during a breakfast meeting of the Morning Optimist Club and the Hi-Noon Optimist Club. Chairman of the Youth Appreciation Week activity was Bob Taylor.

DEATHS

T. M. Lawson, Monday Rites

Thurman M. Lawson, 53, was ruled dead of self-inflicted gunshot wounds by Justice of the Peace Jess Slaughter after police officers found him in his room at the Settles Hotel early Saturday morning.

Officer Joe Kropp reported that he entered the room at 2:50 a.m. Saturday and found Mr. Lawson slumped on a couth and a .22 caliber revolver lying on the floor nearby. The victim was shot once in the chest.

Hotel clerk Dessie Tippie called police after Lawson's wife had called the hotel saying that his phone receiver was off the hook and asked if the clerk would see if anything was wrong.

Gordon Hatch, in a room across from Lawson's room, told investigating officers that he was awakened by what sounded like gun shots at approximately 11:45 p.m. Friday.

Funeral for Thurman Mitchell (Bud) Lawson will be held Monday at 11 a.m. at the First United Methodist Church, with the Rev. Leo Gee officiating. Interment will follow in Trinity Memorial Park, under the direction of River-Welch Funeral Home.

Mr. Lawson was born April 21, 1916, in Abilene, and had lived in Big Spring since 1939. He married Joean Blissard Dec. 2, 1939, and had been a conductor for the Texas & Pacific Railway Co. for a number of years. He was a member of the First United Methodist Church, the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, and the B.P.O.E.

Surviving are his wife, 2002 Alabama Street; two daughters, Mrs. Gary Brown, St. Louis, Mo., Mrs. Jackie Touchstone, Big Spring; three sisters, Mrs. Harold Parks, Big Spring, Mrs. J. L. Duncan, Pyote, Mrs. Aubrey Fox, Austin; and three grandchildren.

Mrs. Annie Watts, Pioneer Here

Mrs. Annie Watts, 58, died Saturday at 7 a.m. in a local hospital, following a long illness. She had been a Howard County resident all her life.

She was born April 16, 1911, in Howard County, and married M. L. Watts Oct. 13, 1933, in Colorado City. They made their home at 601 S. 2nd, Coahoma.

Funeral will be held at 3 p.m. Monday in the Coahoma Church of Christ, with Ralph Beistle officiating, under the direction of River-Welch Funeral Home. Interment will be in Coahoma Cemetery.

Survivors include her husband, M. L. Watts; two sons, Lynnwood Watts and Jimmy Watts, both of Midland; one daughter, Mrs. Beverley Todd, Canadian; one sister, Mrs. Jack Roberts, Midway; three brothers, Hiram Reid and Earl Reid, both of Big Spring, Howard Reid, Coahoma; and seven grandchildren.

MRS. WANDA DAYLONG

Mrs. Daylong Dies In California

Funeral services are set for 2 p.m. Wednesday at Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home for a former Big Spring resident, Mrs. Wanda Daylong, 39, who died Friday in Pittsburgh, Calif. Interment will follow at Colorado City Cemetery.

Mrs. Daylong was the daughter of Mrs. Paul Whirley, 501 Young, and the late Mr. Whirley. She had been a diabetic for several years.

Born Jan. 4, 1930, in Colorado City, Mrs. Daylong was married Sept. 2, 1947, to J. P. Daylong, also a former resident of Big Spring. They had been living in California for the past 15 years. Mrs. Daylong was a member of the Baptist church.

Surviving Mrs. Daylong are her husband; two daughters, Mrs. Ray Cleaver, Pittsburgh, Calif., Susan Daylong, of the home; one brother, Ray Whirley, Crane; one sister, Mrs. Milton McMorries, Tarzan; her mother; a grandmother, Mrs. M. J. Whirley, Westbrook; and one grandson.

Roy Wilkerson, Relations Here

Mr. and Mrs. Olen Wilkerson and A. C. Wilkerson have returned from Decatur where they attended the last rites Monday for their brother, Roy Wilkerson, 78, who died Nov. 15 in Austin.

Roy Wilkerson was born May 17, 1891, in Tarrant County and resided the past several years in Austin. He formerly lived in Big Spring and worked for Planters Gin.

Surviving are eight brothers, H.B., S.B., O.H. and Alvin Wilkerson, all of Fort Worth, Joe Allen Wilkerson, Napa, Calif., Orville Wilkerson, Oceanside, Calif., and Olen and A. C. Wilkerson, Big Spring; three sisters, Mrs. Ola Wooten, Hillsboro, Mrs. Beth Newsom, Spring Branch, Mrs. Elaine Cape, Steelville, Mo.

Rites Held For Mrs. T. J. Finley

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Mrs. Thomas J. Finley, 87, Loraine, died shortly before noon Friday in the Roland Nursing Home in Loraine, after a long illness.

Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. Sunday from the Kiker and Son Chapel, with Archie Scarborough, pastor of an Abilene Church of Christ and Joe Marshall, minister of the Loraine Church of Christ officiating. Burial was in the Loraine Cemetery.

Mrs. Finley was born in New Boston June 30, 1882, but had lived in Loraine since 1906. She was a member of the Lightfoot Street Church of Christ in Loraine. Her husband died in 1954.

She is survived by three step sons, Lester Finley, Loraine, Estes Finley, Abilene and H. O. Finley, Fort Worth; five step daughters, Mrs. E. R. Butts, San Angelo, Mrs. J. W. Key, Snyder, Mrs. Ray Ritchey, Big Spring, Mrs. Bob Collier, Brady, and Mrs. Ethel Langohr, San Angelo.

Jimmie Mason, Service Monday

Jimmie Lee Mason, 65, died Friday in a Lubbock hospital, and funeral services have been set for 10 a.m. Monday in Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel with the Rev. Robert Polk, First Baptist Church, officiating. Interment will follow in Trinity Memorial Park.

Mr. Mason was born Oct. 12, 1904, in Baird, and had been living in Big Spring since 1905. He was a driver for Eagle Transport Co. and was a member of the First Baptist Church.

Surviving Mr. Mason are his wife, Collie Jo Mason, 1509 E. 5th Street; two sons, John Preston Mason, Los Angeles, Calif., and Jimmie L. Mason Jr., Lubbock; one daughter, Mrs. Linda Mills, Baton Rouge, La.; two sisters, Mrs. George Hill, Big Rodeo, Calif.; eight grandchildren; one aunt, Mrs. R. J. Barton, Big Spring.

Thanksgiving Rites

The Rev. Harlan Birdwell, pastor, will conduct a Thanksgiving service of Holy Communion Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. at St. Mary's Episcopal Church, 1005 Goliad. There will be no service Thursday in cooperation with the community service already planned for 10 a.m. at the First Christian Church. Rev. Birdwell invites the public to the Wednesday service.

Snyder Winner In FFA Event

Snyder High School was among six winning teams from 36 schools that participated in the Future Farmers of America Area II Leadership Contest held at Big Spring High School Saturday. The four boys from Snyder took the banner in the FFA Quiz category from five other teams.

There were six leadership contests with seven teams entered in each, the teams entered were the winners from their district contests. Including the quiz, the contests were Junior Chapter Conducting, won by Brownfield; Senior Chapter Conducting, Anson; Junior Farm Skills, Bronte; Senior Farm Skills, Brownfield; and Radio Broadcasting, Meadow.

Serving on the winning Snyder team were Terry Gray sophomore at Snyder High School, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Gray; Bob Bavousette, freshman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Scott M. Bavousette; David Sims, freshman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sims; and Chris Covey, freshman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Covey.

Winners from the area contest will go on to the state contest Dec. 13 at Sam Houston State University, Huntsville.

Lodge Officials On Fund Campaign

Several IOOF and Rebekah state officials visited Big Spring Friday as part of a chartered flight across the state to promote a fund-raising campaign to remodel a home for the aged in Ennis. Those visiting for the afternoon were Claude Morris, Waco, grandmaster; and his wife, Mrs. Nettie Morris, past president of the Texas Rebekah Assembly; and Byron Welch, Houston, IOOF district fund raising chairman, and his wife. The dignitaries arrived at Howard County Airport at 1 p.m. and left for Dallas at 5:30.

Several local Rebekahs and lodge officials were on hand to welcome the state leaders, including Garland Land, deputy grand master, District 117; Mrs. LaVerne Rogers, District II deputy president; Mrs. Grady Beck, vice grand of Lodge 153; Mrs. Homer Petty, chairman of the building fund, Lodge 153; and Mrs. Earl Wilson, chairman of the building fund for Lodge 284.

The proposed plan to remodel the home in Ennis calls for $750,000 to be used in a two-phase program to replace the old structures. The first phase includes construction of three new wings with 57 bedrooms and a central building containing a dining room, living room, library, gift shop, hobby shop, and offices.

The second phase calls for future construction of three nursing care wings and two more bedroom wings as well as replacement of the chapel which was built about 20 years ago.

The home for the aged had its origin in 1905 at Corsicana when a special building was erected on the grounds of the Widows and Orphans Home, established in 1885.

About 20 years after that, the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs of Ennis offered the Grand Lodge a 107-acre tract on which to build a new home for the aged. The main building was erected there in 1927 at a cost of $150,000, to accommodate about 80 residents. There was no provision for hospital or nursing care, and half the rooms were accessable only by stairways.

At present, physical plant facilities at the home consist of five masonry buildings, four frame buildings, and four metal sheds.

A hospital wing was added in 1954 and contained 18 small single-bed patient rooms. A new nursing wing contains 18 bedrooms for double occupancy, making moderate nursing care available on a 24-hour basis for 36 residents. This is scheduled to remain as part of the facilities in Ennis.

Work on the new construction will begin when 75 per cent of the total $750,000 needed is pledged or received. Personal solicitation by informed volunteers is the method being used to raise the money.

Petrofina Reports Boost By Cosden's Sales Growth

NEW YORK — American Petrofina, Inc.'s, sales of petrochemicals and plastics through its wholly owned subsidiary, Cosden Oil & Chemical Company, increased 136 per cent over the past five years, R. I. Galland, president told the New York Oil Analysts Group Thursday. He added that such sales now account for more than half of American Petrofina, Inc.'s net income.

Galland predicted that 1969 will be American Petrofina's most successful year and "will establish a new platform of revenues and earnings from which to build."

In the first nine months of 1969, American Petrofina, Inc., reported a 39 per cent gain in earnings on a 13 per cent increase in gross revenue.

Galland's prediction was based upon four points: (1) new facilities added in 1968 and in 1969 and the new polystyrene plant to be completed in the second quarter of 1970; (2) increased sales of petrochemicals and plastics and further increases in the sales of refined products; (3) improved operating techniques and cost reductions; and (4) continued tax savings during the next few years because of the exploration programs carried on by an affiliate.

For operating purposes, there are two wholly owned subsidiaries, said Galland, namely American Petrofina Company of Texas, which handles exploration, production, refining, transportation and marketing of conventional refined Fina-branded products and Cosden Oil & Chemical Company, which handles manufacturing and marketing of petrochemicals and plastics, largely under the Cosden brand.

New facilities added recently included expansion in 1969 of the Big Spring, Tex., refinery from 34,000 to 56,000 barrels per day; in Carville, La., on the Mississippi River a 500-million-pound-per-year styrene monomer facility, in which the company owns a 50 per cent interest, was placed on stream in mid-1968, at Calumet City, Ill., near Chicago, the company purchased in November, 1968, facilities for the manufacturing of formaldehyde and polyethylene emulsions; and construction of a new polymer plant at the Calumet City facility which will be completed in the second quarter of 1970.

New Method Of Teaching Reading Is Like Decoding

By TERRY HOPKINS

Developers of a new reading program being used in three classes at Bauer Elementary School claim that at the end of one year, students will have a reading vocabulary of 4,000 words, compared with a usual 400-word span in other reading programs.

The method seems hardly new when one sees that the primary concept is using the alphabet, but Science Research Associates developed the program as a decoding system, using no letter sounds at all. Other reading programs in the local school system are based on phonetics.

Mrs. Arvie Peterson, who has been with the program since its inception last year, said they have passed the traditional alphabet approach to reading, gone through the phonetic approach, and are now teaching two first-grade classes and one second-grade, how to read by decoding.

"The children are taught a few words to recognize by sight, and then other words of a similar word pattern are taught," Mrs. Peterson said. "When they know one word, like 'Can,' they can recognize many words with the same word pattern, differing in just the first letter."

Children in the new reading classes sit in small groups in front of the blackboard and recite the words written in word pattern columns on the board.

The teacher says, "If C-A-N is can then T-A-N is . . . " and the children respond, "Tan."

"It's very difficult to explain," Mrs. Peterson said, "but if you think of it as only so many conbinations before coming up with the correct one, it makes sense. The children are really decoding the words, trying all combinations until they find the right one."

Instruction goes on rapidly with no time for boredom, for if the students do not decode a word immediately, the teacher goes on to other words they do know, and comes back at random to the new word.

Mrs. Elizabeth Schattel, who also began teaching the program last year, said the approach works especially well with second-language students.

"Better than the phonetic approach," she said, "for so often we try to teach sounds in one language that they don't even have in their first language." She termed it an inductive way of learning by discovering.

Mrs. Mary Arnold Hefley, elementary reading coordinator for the Big Spring schools, said the SRA program was designed to get students off to a good start, to have them meet success right away, and therefore be encouraged to continue.

"Many programs leave children behind right at the first," she said, "and then they start a syndrome of failure and are never encouraged to continue and succeed." She said the program definitely works well for the child who must have success to be inspired to go on.

Mrs. Hefley added that the program is a comprehensive one, and teaches critical reading as well as word recognition, and that it uses many teaching aids such as an overhead projector, charts, pictures, and giant laminated letters.

The program is not on the state-adopted list for financing text books, but the designers of the program, furnish all the materials in return for evaluation reports from the teachers.

"And our teachers are exceptionally good," Mrs. Hefley said. "The representatives from SRA have told us one of the reasons the program is so successful here is because of the way our teachers have taken hold with a positive approach to making it work."

The program was introduced at Bauer in two first - grade classes last year and is being continued in one second-grade class by Mrs. Agnes Mitchell. Principal at Bauer, Harlon Huibregtse, said he plans to continue the program with the original class as they go into the third grade next year.

LEARNING TO READ BY DECODING is a new program at Bauer Elementary School and these students use the latest in learning aids equipment to perform their task. The earphones are connected to a tape recorder which repets word patterns and the students recite the words and spelling as they listen. On the left (front to back) are Robert Pruitt, Rosanna Mendoza and Margie Arsiaga. On the right are Michelle Ivery, Jesse Martinez and their first-grade teacher, Mrs. Arvie Peterson.

Stockholders Of Industry Foundation Okay Merger

Stockholders of the Big Spring Industrial Foundation Inc. approved changes in its by-laws, at a meeting Friday in the Chamber of Commerce offices, as another step in the effort to combine industrial resources.

Nineteen stockholders were present in person for the meeting, while 31 signed proxy votes and two turned in unsigned cards; forty is a quorum. The vote was unanimous for the changes.

The stockholders voted to cut the number of the foundation's directors from 15 to five, and made a $10 share equal to one vote. Previously it had been $100 to one vote.

A nominating committee, composed of Wendal Parks, present president of the foundation, and Marvin Miller and Lowell Jones, both past presidents, submitted a list of 10 nominees for the five board positions. Their names will be released later.

At the meeting also, Parks announced receiving a $1,523 check for the foundation's first, four-month royalty on its oil well east of Big Spring.

Letters have been sent to members of the Industrial Fund, informing them of the proposed merger of the fund with the Foundation and requesting objections, if any. So far no one has made an objection, according to Tom Eastland, chamber manager. He said the letters also released the four trustees from their obligations in the fund, but that no money has been transferred from the fund to the foundation.

Eastland added the next step will be changing the chamber's by-laws so the foundation's directors can be a part of the chamber's board.

The combining of the chamber's industrial effort was one of the suggestions given the President's Special Task Force on Priorities.

CALL POLICE, IF CONTACTED
Residents Warned Of Costly Magazines

Big Springers were warned at week's end about high pressure salesmanship being practiced here in connection with a magazine sales program.

Chief of Police Jay Banks said residents are called and told they have won a free subscription to a magazine, and asked if a salesman can visit the home. Told yes, the salesman arrives and attempts to get a signature on a contract that will involve the resident in costly payments for the magazine.

He urged any resident who gets such a call to notify the police at once, who will handle the matter. The "free gift," he said, adds up to several hundred dollars, if the resident signs the contact and pays what it stipulates.

Food Prices Due To Climb Higher

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite some seasonal declines in food prices since mid-year peaks, there is some evidence that the escalator may speed up again over the next few months.

The main qualifying factor seems to be whether the Nixon administration's efforts to coo' inflation will be sufficiently felt along the food-production pipeline from the farmer to the housewife.

But for now, according to a series of reports issued by the Agriculture Department during the past 10 days, farm prices for some major raw products may rise further through early 1970 at least.

Taken chronologically, the reports included:

Livestock and Meat—Total red meat output may be up "a little" in 1970 after a slight dip this year. Supplies of fed beef, the favorite of consumers, are expected to increase, but pork output is less than a year ago and may continue this way until next July or thereabouts.

Despite more cattle expected for market through winter and next spring, prices to producers probably will continue near the present levels.

Hog prices now are substantially higher than last year and are expected to remain steady or go higher at least until spring.

National Food Situation—Further increases in retail food prices are likely through mid-1970, but the rate of increase is expected to be less than this year's five per cent rise from 1968.

Marketing and Transportation—Farmers this year are expected to receive 41 cents of each consumer food dollar, up two cents from 1968 and the most in more than a decade.

A select list of "market basket" food this year cost $1,174 on an annual basis, compared with $1,118 in 1968 and $983 a decade ago, the report said.

"Strong consumer demand may continue to buoy retail food prices in the first half of 1970," the report added.

News Stories Hurt Most In Captivity

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A former U.S. prisoner of war in North Vietnam says his Communist captors hit him with rocks, threatened him with knives, slapped him and tied ropes around his right arm which was shattered when his plane was shot down.

But worse than that, said Navy Lt. Robert Frishman, were barrages of ugly newspaper stories from the United States and the periods of isolation.

Frishman, 28, of nearby Santee, spent 21 months in captivity before his release last August with two other prisoners. He still appears gaunt from loss of 50 pounds.

"The Communists gave us news of America all right," Frishman said Friday in an interview with Robert Dietrich of the San Diego Evening Tribune. "We got the news of the Chicago riots and the Robert Kennedy and Martin Luther King assassinations.

"You can look at today's American newspapers and ask yourself, 'What would the Communists want to hear?' and that's what we heard.

"The actual physical thing isn't so bad," Frishman said. "I was struck with rocks and had knives jabbed at me and I was slapped around and tied up with ropes on my bad arm.

"They use American newspapers and magazines. They extract only the bad things, things that give the commies support and encouragement. They say, 'Look how it is in America—we can outlast them like we did the French.' "

His Navy attack aircraft was shot down near Hanoi on his 128th combat mission.

After his release he was given initial medical treatment and was debriefed in Washington. He is at the San Diego Naval Hospital for an operation expected to restore use of his arm.

LUCIEN LEINFELDER

Piano Concert At HCJC Set Monday

Lucien Leinfelder, former piano instructor at the University of Missouri and presently member of the Southern Methodist University faculty, will present a piano concert for the HCJC Assembly Program Monday at 9:45 a.m. in the college auditorium.

The program will include an "Organ Prelude in G Minor" by Bach-Siloti; "Alborado del Gracioso" by Ravel; "L'isle Joyeuse" by Debussy; "Sonata B Flat Minor," "Funeral March" and "Polonaise in A Flat Major" by Chopin.

Following graduation from SMU, Leinfelder was awarded a scholarship to study for two years with Mme. Rosina Lhevinne at the Juilliard School of Music, followed by being the sole student of Jorge Bolet. In 1967, he presented his debut recital in New York City which brought acclaim from the New York Times. In the spring of 1968, he toured many European cities and was rewarded by standing ovations from his audiences and excellent reviews in the London Times, Amsterdam Telgraaf and Le Journal de Geneve. He has toured with the Dallas Symphony Occhestra and is planning his second European tour in the spring of 1970.

Apart from his music, Leinfelder is a painter of great ability, and his avocation is the designing and building of folding screens.

The public is invited to attend the concert. There is no admission charge.

Santa, Yule Lights After Thanksgiving

Colored Christmas lights, decorations, Santa Claus and his helpers will begin to appear in Big Spring shopping centers as soon as Thanksgiving turkeys and "horns of plenty" disappear. Christmas decorations begin going up at Highland Shopping Center this week and lights will be turned on Friday.

Shortly after the shopping centers are decked out for the holidays, the downtown area will be decorated with 45 brand new lighted Christmas trees to be hung from utility poles throughout the center of town. Santa's annual visit to Big Spring will be Dec. 1 to learn what toys children here are requesting.

Santa will arrive at the train depot at 4 p.m. and be driven in a pickup to the Howard County Courthouse, where he will visit with children until 6 p.m. Santa will be escorted by police and a parade of the Steer Band. ABC members will be Santa's helpers and give candy and balloons to children.

Santa Claus will also be hearing Christmas requests earlier at Highland Shopping Center. He will be at the Mall Friday morning and all day Saturday, according to Norman Krisle, center representative. The Mall will be decorated with reindeer, red bells and lights encircling the posts and an 18-foot tall imp will be sitting in the Mall. Parking lot light poles will be decorated with lighted Christmas trees and candles.

College Park Shopping Center will have Christmas bells and lights decorating the parking lot light poles.

Along Gregg Street the stores will have colored light displays, window decorations and lighted season's greetings signs. Newsom's will place a Christmas tree in the back parking lot.

Eleventh Place stores will feature window decorations with the holiday atmosphere carried out indoors.

H-SU Gets Gift For Prexy Home

ABILENE — A Dallas couple, Mr. and Mrs. Van Calvin Ellis, made a surprise $100,000 gift Friday to Hardin-Simmons University and designated that the funds be used to construct a new home for President and Mrs. Elwin L. Skiles.

The Ellises made another $100,000 gift to the school at the May, 1966, commencement exercises. The H-SU theater is named in their honor as "The Van Ellis Theater."

Ellis and his wife, the former Lou Morton, are prominent Dallas residents and active in civic, religious and social life of that city. Both have served as executives in the Morton Food Inc. Mrs. Ellis is a Dallas native and is a graduate of Southern Methodist University. The couple and their four children are active members of the Park Cities Baptist Church.

Historic Letter Signed By Lee

EMPORIA, Va. (AP) — A yellowed letter turned up amid some other obscure documents recently in the Greensville County clerk's office turned out to be of more than average historical significance.

Mrs. E. E. Eanes, who discovered the letter in a cataloging operation, said it was from the headquarters of the Army of Northern Virginia and sought to requisition "12 able-bodied male free Negroes . . . to work on the fortifications of this department."

Dated March 13, 1863, it was signed: Gen. Robert E. Lee.

LARRY D. LEE

Officer Lee Wins Honors

Larry D. Lee has been named Lawman of the Month by the Big Spring Optimist Club on the recommendation of Police Chief Jay Banks.

The citation commended Lee for his devotion to duty, spirit of cooperation, and consideration toward city residents.

Lee, a former Marine marksmanship instructor, came to Big Spring in 1966 from the Clute, Tex., police department. He and his wife, Billy, reside at 6 April Street.

Lee holds the basic certificate as a Texas police officer and has attended courses in police technology and law at Sam Houston State College, Texas A&M, and Howard County Junior College.

Ocie Donald Jackson Jr., Gail, is among the 50 awarded scholarships by the Texas Interscholastic League Scholarship Foundation. He earned a third place in the regional science contest this spring, also a third in district ready writing, and a 5th in number sense in 1969. He played football, basketball, ran track, played in the band, and was on the student council.

Thanksgiving Recess Announced

Thanksgiving recess at Howard County Junior College begins at noon Wednesday, Nov. 26, according to Ben F. Johnson, academic dean. The dormitories close at 2 p.m.

Classes will resume at 8 a.m. Monday, Dec. 1.

IRS Forms Changed, But Alas, They Still Cost

The Internal Revenue Service has again revised the individual tax return form 1040. To replace the standard 1040 and 1040A, the IRS will send to each of the nation's 77 million taxpayers a packet containing the new forms which it claims will simplify the chore of figuring individual taxes.

According to the IRS, the old short form 1040A was becoming obsolete because of the increasing complexity of the taxpayers' status. Last year 18 million individuals used the short form which was first issued in 1954 to allow persons in lower tax brackets to file a simple non-itemized return. In 1970 the IRS estimates that 30 million taxpayers will be able to file returns using only the first or "basic" page of the new packet which is similar in concept to the old short form, but somewhat more flexible. Another 20 million people are expected to file using only the basic page and one additional page of the packet.

ADD-A-PAGE

The forms are designed so that every taxpayer regardless of his tax bracket will complete the basic sheet. Additional pages are completed as individual circumstances dictate. This "add-a-page" feature allows more room for itemizing deductions and listing income sources.

Each packet contains two copies of the basic page and two copies of each schedule for listing deductions and income.

Schedule A is for itemizing deductions; Schedule B for dividend and interest income; Schedule D for listing property sales and exchanges; Schedule E for supplemental and miscellaneous income, Schedule R for retirement income; and Schedule T is for computation of taxes.

OTHER HELPS

The package has an index facing the basic page and fairly thorough instructions on how to complete the return. As in 1968 most of the packages will be printed in red and blue ink to point out the most common trouble areas. Tax tables are included in the packet which simplify for the average taxpayer the problem of computing both the standard income tax and the tax surcharge which is still in effect.

Despite the considerable effort the IRS has gone to to simplify the onerous duty of figuring taxes, the taxpayer who is not a year-around accountant will discover that he is again faced with the annual problem of wading through the ambiguities of taxation and, also, will again have to pay.

The IRS says that most packets should arrive by mail the first week in January. Farmers will receive their forms a month earlier due to their earlier filing date.

Gun Laws Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has approved a bill providing mandatory prison terms for crimes committed with guns and the House has approved a compromise making rifle and shotgun ammunition easier to obtain.

Voice vote passage of the prison term bill Wednesday came after Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield invoked the memory of a Fishtail, Mont., Marine who was shot to death in a Washington restaurant.

"The availability of guns, their easy access by those who are incompetent, by the criminal, the addict, the alcoholic and the lawless, was brought home to me in a very tragic way," the Montana Democrat said.

The House, meanwhile, stripped from the gun control act of 1968 the requirement for sellers of rifle and shotgun ammunition to record the name, age and address of buyers. Dealers still must record purchases of .22 ammunition and handgun ammunition.

The 334 to 47 House vote was on a Senate-House conference committee report on a bill dealing with investments abroad to which opponents of the record keeping provision had attached a rider repealing it.

The report now must go to the Senate. The Senate bill now goes to the House.

The prison term measure would require sentences ranging from one to 10 years for first offenders and from two to 25 years for repeaters convicted of any criminal act involving a firearm.

Cap Rock Again Sponsors Trip

All-expense-paid trips to the nation's capital city again will be awarded to winners of an oratorical contest sponsored by Cap Rock Electric Cooperative.

The contest is open to any boy or girl at least 16 years of age prior to Sept. 1, 1970. Winners will join winners of similar contests, sponsored by other electric cooperatives across Texas, on the sixth annual Texas Electric Cooperatives Government-in-Action Youth Tour to Washington, D.C. All expenses of the 12-day trip, beginning June 12, will be paid by Cap Rock Electric Cooperative.

Each entrant will be required to give a five to eight minute talk on the subject, "A Youth Looks at His Community." Each entrant will also be required to answer one or more questions asked by the judges.

The oratorical contest will be judged on the basis of knowledge of subject (40 per cent); speaking ability (30 per cent); poise (10 per cent); personality (10 per cent); and appearance (10 per cent).

Interested young people may obtain an official entry blank from their school or the offices of Cap Rock Electric Cooperative, Box 158, Stanton. Entry forms must be received by Cap Rock Electric not later than Dec. 19.

As participants in the Government-in-Action Youth Tour, local contest winners will travel by chartered bus to Washington, D.C., where they will spend four days visiting places of historical interest and seeing the nation's government in action.

On Wednesday, June 17, the Texas group will meet more than 1,000 students from other states for Rural Youth Day activities. This eventful day will end with a chartered cruise down the Potomac River, which will include entertainment and refreshments.

Also included on the 12-day agenda will be visits to the following: George Washington's Mount Vernon home, Arlington National Cemetery, the U.S. House and Senate, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Smithsonian Institute, Lincoln Memorial and other places of interest.

Spring Class Schedules Ready

Schedule of spring semester classes at Howard County Junior College are available at the Registrar's Office, according to Ben Johnson, academic dean. Anyone planning to attend HCJC next semester should pick up a schedule and plan courses for the session.

Registration for the 1970 spring semester will begin Tuesday, Jan. 13 at 8 a.m.-12 noon for sophomore students; 1-4 p.m. for freshmen students; and 6-9 p.m. for evening students. The registration will continue through Wednesday with the first day of classes Thursday, Jan. 15.

Registrar L. L. Lewis advises anyone who plans to attend HCJC for the first time to come by as soon as possible and make application for admission.

RUGGED COUNTRY — The 42-inch main supply line of the Colorado River Municipal Water District is encountering some rough country in its crossing of Red Draw, near Lake E. V. Spence in Coke County. This section indicated the roller-coaster type terrain, which drops 115 feet in a distance of 490 feet. Some of the pipe is on a 50 per cent grade.

TEMPORARY DAM — A temporary dam is being pushed across the Colorado River just below the Lake E. V. Spence pump station. The structure, 17 feet high and containing 35,000 cubic yards of earth, will impound river flow as well as water pumped over it from the lake in order to reach the main pumps.

District Nears Completion Of Temporary Dam, Pipeline

Events are moving rapidly toward activation of the Colorado River Municipal Water District's new supply system by Jan. 1.

Construction of a temporary dam across the Colorado River, just below the Robert Lee pump station, is due to be completed early this week. Meanwhile, order has been placed for a high velocity, low-head pump to boost water from the river into a 10,000 foot canal so that it will be behind the temporary dam. O. H. Ivie, general manager of CRMWD, explained that the lift is being effected because Lake E. V. Spence has not yet impounded sufficient water to submerge the main pumps. The target is to begin this operation by the middle of December.

The dam across the river is about 17 feet above the present level of the river, will impound water at least 12 feet deep, and contains some 35,000 cubic yards of earth. The pump will be put downstream, where it can pump from the lake and discharge into the canal, which will resemble an irrigation ditch.

Although H. B. Zachry Company is engaged in crossing at Red Draw some of the most rugged country in the experience of seasoned pipeliners, prospects are excellent that the contractor will complete laying the remaining six miles of 42-inch supply line to the pump station by the end of the first week in December. About two miles of the job is in country that resembles a tobaggan slide, but the remaining four will be relatively smooth sailing.

One pump has been set at the Big Spring station, and others are now en route from the factory for delivery to the Lake Spence, Spade, Moss Creek and Martin County stations. While some few pumps may not be delivered until late January, the essential ones will be on hand to deliver up to 17,000,000 gallons a day by Jan. 1, said Ivie.

On behalf of CRMWD, Ivie made the final inspection Friday on the Robert Lee dam and its works and accepted them from the contractor, Clement Bros.

More Non-Commercial Television Is Proposed

By The Associated Press

Continuing debate among newsmen and government officials over Vice President Spiro Agnew's criticism of the news media has produced a proposal for increased noncommercial television.

Fred W. Friendly, a former president of CBS news, said Friday that increased noncommercial television may provide a partial remedy to some of the problems Agnew mentioned. At the same time, Friendly rejected some of Agnew's criticism.

NBC newscaster David Brinkley said during a panel discussion Friday at the Sidwell Friends School in Washington, D.C., that he thinks Agnew's criticisms will have no effect on television news coverage.

"We've been thinking about these problems quite a lot longer than Spiro Agnew has," he said. "I've been thinking about it for 30 years and I haven't got the answers. If Agnew has the answers, I'd like to hear them."

Federal Communications Commissioner Nicholas Johnson, also speaking at the panel discussion, said he saw signs television news programs have been affected already by Agnew's criticism.

He said the networks had avoided broadcasting comment on Agnew's speeches and even the comments of network presidents replying to Agnew were not broadcast. He also noted that the networks provided no live coverage of last Saturday's peace rally in Washington.

MUTE SYMBOL OF AMERICA

Flag Waving Is Reaction To All Of The Protests

NEW YORK (AP) — From its lofty isolation on a windless moon to an endless, earthly vigil over a thousand city halls, the American flag is getting around nowadays.

On car bumpers, car windows, car aerials, car doors.

In stores, in homes, in churches, in halls.

It's there, almost everywhere, a mute symbol of America . . . and some highly contradictory ideas.

"I consider the flag as sacred as the sacraments of my church," says an Elks lodge official. "Anyone who would destroy it is stupid."

"The flag," counters a black poverty worker, "never did anything for anybody. Try to find one in the black ghetto.' '

Sacred, suspected and a little over-simplified. It all adds up to that perplexing expression called patriotism.

Patriotism?

For some, it is supporting the government in the face of criticism, and for others it's criticizing the government to speed reforms.

Historically, a patriot was that person who loved his country and promoted and defended its interests. And historically, as now, almost anyone could qualify as long as national interest remained a matter of personal persuasion.

Who, then, is a patriot?

The next best question, with more available answers, is how and why are Americans patriotic.

"I've always gone back to the fundamental that action brings reaction," says Frank Wetzel, a director of the U.S. Flag Foundation in New York.

"There's a new feeling of patriotism today because people are tired of protests. They're starting to collect their ideas and take a stand."

Patriotism in the past two years has been a highly visual expression. And it has been something of a phenomenon.

Readers Digest, in a spectacularly successful campaign started last February, distributed more than 18 million flag decals to its subscribers, then was flooded with requests for 32 million more.

Most of the additional decals went to large corporations, including Gulf Oil Co., which is handing out more than 20 million of the flag stickers as a service station promotion.

Another popular decal—an Elks' sticker bearing the slogan "Our Flag—Love It or Leave" —was first distributed through local lodges a year ago and has topped one million in circulation.

Since most of the decals were distributed at no cost and without request, it is difficult to measure public response to the flag campaigns. But it is overwhelming if it is anything like the demand for cloth flags.

New York's Annin Flag Co., one of the country's oldest and largest flag manufacturers, has had its orders doubled in the last year.

"The demand is incredible, especially for flags that you attach to car aerials," said a spokesman. "I suppose it's all part of the new conservative trend in the country—a reaction to all the protests."

Then there is Barbara Crane, a Clinton, N.Y., mother who has decals on her car, plus an aerial flag, and who organized a counterprotest to protest the anti-Vietnam war protest.

"If anyone complains about me being a flag-waver," she said, "I'll punch him in the nose."

Liz To Make Debut On TV

NEW YORK (AP) — Elizabeth Taylor will make her dramatic debut on television in a one-hour, original dramatic special to be broadcast by NBC during the 1970-71 season.

The producers said Miss Taylor's fee—reputed to be $240,000, the highest ever offered for a single television performance—will go to the Combined Theatrical Charities toward the rebuilding of Denville Hall, a home for retired actors and actresses in England.

Moose Dropped In Self Defense

PARIS, Tex. (AP) — Three Lamar County hunters are home from Alberta, Canada, with a huge bull moose and a hair-raising story.

Charles and Paul Hostetler and Johnny Owen were hunting on horseback when the big moose charged them. All three opened fire in self defense, finally dropping the moose.

The animal's rack measured a near-record 56 inches and he weighed 1,200 pounds.

Proceeding With Plans For Chapel At Hospital

Executive committee of the All-Faith Chapel Inc. of Big Spring State Hospital voted this past week to authorize architects to proceed on final preliminary plans for a religious center on the campus.

The firm of Gary & Hohertz was instructed to have this phase of planning completed by Dec. 4. With approval at that time, a decision must be made to proceed further with the project.

Leaders in the program to establish the chapel are confident that gifts will continue to permit a final step toward construction, although the fund is far from its requirement.

OVER $72,000

The fund now stands at $72,631.12, according to a report from Jack Y. Smith, treasurer, and small gifts continue to come in regularly. The All-Faith Chapel Inc., organization seeks $200,000 to complete the structure, provide all accessories and furnishings.

Gifts have ranged all the way from a $32,000 donation from the late R. L. Tollett and $20,000 from the Dora Roberts Foundation to $30 from an aged woman in a neighboring city who accumulated $30 in small coins.

OTHER SOURCES

Frank Hayford, Midland, chairman of the fund, said additional contacts are being made with foundations and major sources of income, and that there is hope that the total can be advanced soon.

Gifts for the All-Faith Chapel are tax-deductible, and may be sent to All-Faith Chapel Inc. Big Spring State Hospital, Box 231, Big Spring.

Some changes in preliminary designing were agreed upon by the executive committee and the State Hospital coordinating staff. The over-all structure, while modern in design, retains the traditional church concept of a high vaulted ceiling. At the end of the peaked structure are rectangular wings containing chaplain's offices, meeting rooms, educational and counselling areas and a lounge.

NEED

The architects' plans call for "warm woods and brick" in the building design. The high, gabled roof of wood shingles will blend with the long, low, brick-constructed wings. Stained glass windows along the chapel structure add to the religious atmosphere.

There has long been a need for a religious center at the State Hospital, according to Chaplain Lee Butler, who said "much more than 50 per cent of the patients at the hospital have emotional problems stemming from religious or moral conflicts. The mentally ill person is frequently and severely worry-bound. He tends to exaggerate normal daily tensions. These tensions build until they get way out of hand.

"I try to confront patients with practical everyday situations," he said. "I present them with the fact that they must make a choice and take advantage of hospital help and spiritual help.

THE TOTAL PERSON

"The chapel is needed to meet the needs of the total person," the chaplain said.

The State Hospital is home for the patients, the average length of stay for a patient is 140 days. "The wards are very crowded," the chaplain said, "there is no place where the patient can visit in privacy with his family. The religious center is planned with a large living room-type lounge in one of the wings for patients to visit with their families. Also, the families may attend the worship services in the chapel with patients."

SECURITY

Dr. Preston Harrison, hospital superintendent, expressed the need for a distinct place of worship. "Our culture is such that we demand a sanctuary for worship. This is even more true of the emotionally disturbed. Worship to them must be in the security and familiarity of a church."

The wings of the chapel will contain a library, study, and seminar rooms to conduct programs educating community clergymen and other professionals involved in counselling work.

SEMINARS

Chaplain Butler is presently conducting an educational program for 23 ministers. They meet every Thursday, all day, for eight to 10 weeks. They have group therapy sessions to become acquainted with each other and themselves; they are instructed by Dr. James Kreimeyer, clinical director, in the history of psychiatry, treatments and diagnoses; they counsel with patients in their county units and participate in unit activities that day; then they write reports of five interviews with patients to present during a seminar. Staff members from every department in the hospital take part in the seminars at one time or another. The group of ministers critique the interviews and search for the needs of each patient, particularly his religious needs, explained Chaplain Butler. He continued: "In this way it is hoped by hospital staff and contributors to the All-Faith Chapel fund that the religious center will contribute greatly to better mental health, both for those in the hospital and those in communities served by the hospital."

SOME REPAIRED — Firemen have repaired a few toys during the first week of their annual Christmas campaign, but they need more now, according to A. D. Meador, fire marshal. He said they have repaired everything they can. From left to right are Preston Daniels, Pinky Chapman, Lane Clawson, Ronald Robey and Larry Williams.

Firemen Report Slow Start For Annual Toy Campaign

The firemen's toy repair campaign to be given to needy children at Christmas time, has been slow the first week, but some toys have been repaired.

"We have fixed a few bicycles, tricycles, and scooters," said A. D. Meador, fire marshal. "Actually, we have fixed everything we can. Now we need some more toys and parts so we can do more, and we need them now, when we have the time to work on them."

The department has been answering two or three calls a day to pick up toys, Meador added, and these have helped; however, some of the toys or parts picked up have been unrepairable.

Seven-Eleven Stores are again helping in the drive this year by putting out boxes where toys can be dropped.

"We have had a few toys come in so far," said Tom Passmore, head of the stores' campaign, "but it has been slow in getting started. We are soon going to put up signs in the window, and we hope these will make more people aware of the need for toys. We want to encourage people to turn their toys in now, when firemen will have time to repair them."

If people wait too late to turn in toys, Meador said, then firemen may not be able to repair all of them by Christmas.

Firemen have conducted their toy-repair campaign for the last 40 years. They repair the toys, then give them to the Salvation Army, which distributes them to needy children. They also spend from $1,200-500 from the Christmas Cheer Fund each year to buy parts for repairs.

Toys can be dropped off at any fire station or any 7-11 store. If a person calls 267-6083 and leaves his address, the department will come by and pick up any donations.

Toys belonging to children who have outgrown them, and those needing only paint or minor repairs, are ideal donation items.

Appeals For Visit With Prisoners

NEW YORK (AP) — A Dallas millionaire today appealed to the North Vietnamese government to allow a delegation of private American citizens to visit North Vietnam to determine the status of American prisoners.

The 39-year old Texas businessman, Ross Perot, made the proposal at Kennedy Airport where he said goodby to two American wives leaving for Paris in a second effort to get information about their Air Force husbands who are either prisoners of war or missing in action.

Howard Has New Deep Discovery

Howard County had another deep wildcat discovery Saturday with filing for completion of Eugene E. Nearburg of Dallas No. 1 Birkhead.

This venture, three miles northwest of Coahoma, had blown out several weeks ago during drilling and before operators started carrying the well tight.

The wildcat flowed 296 barrels of 44-gravity oil per day with no water and reported a gas-oil ratio of 1,685-1. Choke and pressures were not listed, nor was the total depth cited. The zone tested was from 8,513-22 feet in an upper Pennsylvanian reef formation.

Location is 660 feet from the south and 1,980 from the east lines of section 14-31-1N, T&P, which puts it nine miles northeast of Big Spring, four miles northeast of the Big Spring (Fusselman) field, and three miles west of the Coahoma NE (Clearfork - Fusselman - Ellenburger) field.

Austral Oil Co. Inc. of Houston No. 1 J. E. Mabee has been recompleted as the third Dean-Wolfcamp producer and a south offset to the Mabee (multipay) area of Martin County, 14½ miles southwest of Tarzan.

It pumped 33 barrels of 37.2-gravity oil and 14 barrels of water in 24 hours through perforations at 9,472-9,840 feet with a gas-oil ratio of 473-1 after an injection of 2,000 gallons of acid and 80,000 gallons of refined oil mixed with 160,000 pounds of sand.

It is 467 feet from south and east lines of the northwest quarter of section 19, block 39, T-2-N, G&MMB&A survey.

It was dually completed from the Fusselman and as a Ellenburger discovery in the Rueben field in September, 1963.

Jake L. Hamon No. 2 J. S. Scott, a wildcat entry in northwest Martin County, bottomed at 12,015 feet, has been plugged and abandoned. It was 990 from the south and 2,117.78 from the west lines labor 5, league 262, Borden CSL, 17 miles northwest of Tarzan.

College To Stage Drama

A Christmas program is being planned by the HCJC Drama Department for presentation Dec. 5-6 at the HCJC Auditorim. Dan Shockey, director, said the program will feature Anton Chekov's one-act comedy, "The Marriage Proposal."

The play is a farce about a nervous man who tries to propose to a young woman, but becomes involved in numerous quarrels with her. Shockey said it combines a humorous situation with character studies.

Also on the program will be theatre-readings of "A Christmas Carol" by Charles Dickens and O. Henry's "Gift of the Magi." Shockey explained that this type of presentation is based primarily on oral interpretation of the story by a group of readers and makes an interesting program.

Curtain time for the program is 8 p.m. Admission price is 75 cents for adults and 50 cents for students. HCJC students will be admitted free with their activity cards.

The theatre-readings will also be presented Dec. 10 at the Big Spring State Hospital; Dec. 9 at the Kentwood PTA meeting; and Dec. 18 on "HCJC Presents," on KWAB-TV.

Huge Cat Bagged In Webb County

LAREDO, Tex. (AP) — One of the biggest mountain lions killed in Webb County in 10 years was bagged Thursday by a San Antonio man.

"The cat came out of the brush about 150 yards from where I was, and he just stared at me," the hunter, Frank Penak said.

FOR RELATIVES

Photos Of Former Mayors Are Available

The framed photographs of eight former mayors of Big Spring are available to any relatives of the men who might want to pick them up, according to Roy Anderson, assistant city manager.

"The framed photographs are 10 by 14 inches," he said, "and have been gathering dust at city hall since the city commission several years ago had taken them from the walls during a remodeling program. Many of the photographs have been picked up by relatives."

Those remaining include George D. Lee, the first mayor of Big Spring, from 1907-1910. The other photos, and the terms of the mayors, include L. T. Deats, 1910-14; James T. Brooks, 1914-17; O. T. Lacey, 1917-20; W. R. Purser, 1920-24; R. D. Matthews, 1927-29; C. W. Cunningham, 1929-30; and R. V. Jones, 1938-40.

Persons interested in picking up the pictures may contact Anderson at city hall.

Democratic Registration Is Aimed At 'Everybody'

The "Operation: Everybody!" voter quota for Howard County has been set by the Texas Democratic party at 14,455, according to County Chairman Cecil V. Riordan.

"That figure represents 65 per cent of our estimated voting population," Riordan said. "The state goal is to have 4,250,000 Texans registered between now and the end of the registration period on Jan. 31, 1970."

"Operation: Everybody!" is a project of the State Democratic Executive committee and is headed by Mrs. James A. McMullen III, Fort Worth, and with Mrs. Carol Vance, Houston, as vice chairman.

"Voter registration is free, but everyone must register in order to vote in the 1970 elections," Riordan reminded. Application forms are at the county tax assessor's office in the courthouse.

"Howard County will be competing with other counties of similar size for statewide recognition in doing a good job," Riordan said.

Gold, silver and bronze plaques will be awarded to the counties which exceed their quotas by the highest margins. All counties which meet their quotas will receive special certificates of merit.

Riordan said that he has registration applications at his office and offered to assist in any way to get people qualified to vote. An extensive drive will be undertaken after Jan. 1 to carry the appeal to every potential voter in the county, he said.

Cap Rock Co-Op Sets Yule Party

STANTON (SC) — The annual Christmas party for Cap Rock Electric Cooperative employes and their families and for directors and their families is set for 7 p.m. Dec. 12 in the Willie Wired Hand room.

Besides the usual Christmas dinner, there will be entertainment by H. Dan Johnston, Lubbock, master magician.

Cotton Moves, County Gins Are Humming

Cotton harvesting was under way in all areas of Howard County last week with the crop averaging about one-half bale to the acre, County Agent Paul Gross said in his weekly crop report Friday.

Many of the county's gins are already operating around the clock, Gross said, and last week's killing frost should aid the harvest by stripping the leaves from any plants not yet defoliated.

A survey of county gins shows that of the nine contacted the Farmer's Co-op Gin No. 2 of Knott had ginned 3,200 bales since it received its first bale Sept. 1 and 1,033 for the week ending Saturday night. The Paymaster Gin of Ackerly reported 3,000 bales since Sept. 20 and 1,060 for the week. Farmer's Co-op Gin No. 1 of Knott had a total of 1,687 for the year and 341 for the week. The Planters Gin of Big Spring had a total of 1,478 bales and a total for the week of 619. The Lomax Gin Co. totaled 1,074 for the season and 485 for last week. The Co-op Gin and Supply Co. of Big Spring has ginned 813 bales since Sept. 29 and last week ginned 350. Planters in Knott ginned 411 for the week for a total of 800 for the harvest. Since Oct. 29 the Guitar Gin of Big Spring has 737 bales and 158 for the week. Acuff Gin of Coahoma produced 158 bales for the week for a total of 136 bales since Sept. 24. Guitar Gin Co. of Coahoma had a total of 118 bales since Oct. 2.

No Trustee Meet

There will be no meeting this week of the Big Spring School Board of Trustees due to the upcoming Thanksgiving holiday. Supt. S. M. Anderson made the announcement Friday saying that many board members are planning to be out of town.

Michigan Stuns Buckeyes By 24 To 12 Verdict

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — The Michigan Wolverines pulled one of the upsets of the decade, stunning No. 1 ranked Ohio State by taking a 12-point half time lead and holding on to beat the Buckeyes 24-12 Saturday and clinch a Rose Bowl trip.

The victory in a game which saw all the scoring come in the first half, snapped Ohio State's winning streak at 22 games and most likely will drop the Bucks from the top spot.

Michigan, meanwhile, captured a share of the Big Ten title with Ohio State and won the Rose Bowl bid without the necessity of a vote by conference athletic directors.

A crowd of 103,588, largest ever to watch a football game in Michigan, saw the Wolverines take a surprising 7-6 first quarter lead on a three-yard touchdown run by fullback Garvie Craw and an extra point kick by Frank Tias. It was the first time this season the Buckeyes had ever trailed.

An inspired Michigan defense continually held powerful Ohio State, forcing the Bucks to punt. It was a stunning 60-yard punt return by Barry Pierson that set up Michigan's third touchdown and gave the Wolves a little breathing room.

Pierson ran Mike Sensibaugh's punt to the OSU two and three plays later quarterback Don Moorhead went over from the two.

Ohio State drew first blood, scoring on a one-yard plunge by fullback Jim Otis at 7:22 of the first quarter.

The Buckeyes came back after Craw's first TD, with quarterback Rex Kern firing a 22-yard touchdown pass to Jan White. Stan White's extra point kick was good but the Bucks elected to take a Michigan penalty and try for a two-point conversion. But the hard rushing Michigan defense tackled Kern before he could get a pass off.

Moorhead mixed his plays well, utilizing the running of sophomore tailback Billy Taylor and the fine pass catching of tight end Jim Mandich to full advantage.

Taylor set up Michigan's second touchdown with a 28-yard burst to the OSU five. Two plays later Craw dove over the goal line from the one.

Tim Killian added a 25-yard field goal in the second quarter. The Wolverine defense took over in the second half, successfully stopping the off tackle bursts of Otis and the option running of Kern.

Pierson intercepted three passes and Tom Curtis two after OSU got desperate and found it had to take to the air.

Curtis returned a Kern pass 26 yards late in the second quarter to give him 431 yards in 24 interceptions during his three-year career. That passed the old National Collegiate Athletic Association record of 410-yards set by Michigan State's Lynn Chadnois in the '40s.

Ron Maceijowski took over for Kern in the fourth quarter but when the Buckeyes appeared headed for a touchdown with two minutes left roverback Tom Darden intercepted a pass on the Michigan 25 to squelch that threat.

Both teams finished the season with 6-1 conference records. OSU ended up 8-1 over-all, while the Wolverines finished 8-2.

Thousands of fans mobbed the artificially surfaced Michigan Stadium after the game, tearing down one of the bright yellow goal posts to the frantic cheering of supporters.

Choruses of "hail to the victors," Michigan's fabled fight song, filled the joyous stadium, with apparently only the dejected Ohio State fans filing out of the stands.

Benvenuti Keeps World Boxing Crown

ROME (AP) — Nino Benvenuti, bleeding freely from a cut over the bridge of his nose, unleashed a savage left hook and knocked out Luis Rodriguez in the 11th round Saturday night to retain his world middleweight championship.

The hook slammed against the right side of Rodriguez' head and dropped the Cuban-born resident of Miami, Fla., flat on his back. It was evident from the moment Rodriguez hit the canvas that he would not beat the count.

Until the lightning hook things were going badly for the Italian despite the scream of encouragement from his countrymen in the sold-out Palazzo Dello Sport.

Horned Frogs Edge Rice On 4th Quarter TD Pass

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Quick - armed Steve Judy whipped a 34-yard touchdown pass to slippery Linzy Cole with less than four minutes to play Saturday to give Texas Christian a 21-17 victory over Rice and a possible share of third place in the Southwest Conference.

Linzy caught the pass at the Owl 20 and slipped a tackle by Rice safety Jack Faubion to zoom into the end zone with 3:22 remaining. TCU was trailing 17-14 at the time.

The victory gave TCU a 4-3 SWC record and 4-6 for the season. Rice is 1-5 and 2-7.

Only Texas Tech, which is 4-2 and must play Arkansas Thanksgiving Day has a chance of grabbing the third place spot in the standings outright.

Sophomore Mike Spruill of Rice was the goat for the luckless Owls, although he scored on touchdown runs of 64 and 4 yards. But it was his fumble on the TCU 4-yard line deep in the final quarter that set up TCU's 96-yard touchdown drive with a strong 37-mile-an-hour wind at tis back.

Gregg Webb pounced on Spruill's fumble to set the winning drive in motion.

Big Norman Bulaich gouged out 6, 15, 5, and 11 yards before Judy caught the Owls napping with the bomb to Cole.

Rice held a 17-7 halftime lead on a Spruill's dashes and a 26-yard field goal by Tim Davis.

Bulaich had galloped nine yards for TCU's only first half score.

The Horned Frogs scored 14 points in the final period before a slim Amon Carter turnout of 19,786, which had earlier booed when TCU failed on a fourth and one situation.

Marty Whelan rambled three yards for a touchdown with 13:02 to play.

Then Spruill's boner on a fourth and one situation after he had already made the first down killed the Owls.

Spruill carried 24 times for 130 yards, but Whelan of TCU had 132 on 14 carries. Bulaich ground out 130 yards on 26 tries.

Judy hit 16 of 22 passes for 226 yards. The Owls could net only 36 yards passing in the entire game.

Mustangs Narrowly Defeat Upset-Minded Baylor Bears

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Southern Methodist's mini-tailback Daryl Doggett rushed over 100 yards for the fourth time this season and Dicky Lesser kicked a 52-yard field goal to lead the Mustangs to a 12-6 Southwest Conference football victory over the eager but bumbling Baylor Bears Saturday afternoon.

The aroused Bears took a 3-0 lead on their second possession when Terry Cozby booted a 52-yard field goal. The kick, only three yards short of the SWC record, marked the first time this season that Baylor, 0-9 for the year, had scored in the first quarter.

But the Mustangs, who claim the unofficial "church school" championship of the SWC with the victory, capitalized on two Baylor errors to close out their season with a 3-7 record.

Doggett, who broke the Bears' back with crunching line plunges finished the game with 151 yards rushing on 31 carries to regain the SWC rushing lead with 809 yards for the season.

SMU defensive halfback Pat Curry intercepted the first of two Baylor aerials to set up the Mustangs' go ahead touchdown in the second quarter. Curry intercepted another pass and recovered a fumble in the second half.

The Ponies moved 90 yards in nine plays after Curry's first interception with SMU quarterback Chuck Hixson carrying over from the five. The key play of the drive was a 40-yard pass from Hixson to flanker Sam Holden.

Later in the second quarter, Baylor tailback Derek Davis fumbled and Pony defensive tackle Dwight Houghton recovered at the SMU 29 to set up SMU's winning margin—Lesser's 52-yarder.

Baylor got its final points with three seconds left in the first half when Cozby kicked a 21-yard field goal. The Mustangs got the only points of the second half when Baylor quarterback Laney Cook was tackled in the end zone for a safety.

Baylor had a chance to win late in the fourth quarter when it marched from its own 43 to the SMU 18 on the passing of Bear quarterback Steve Stuart.

The drive ended there on a fourth and eight situation when Mustang defender Mike Jordan batted down a Stuart pass attempt.

Hixson, the nation's leading passer, had trouble with crosswind in the first quarter but still finished with 18 completions in 36 attempts for a 153 yards and two established SWC passing records.

Hixson's 830 attempts bettered the record of 821 and with 5,416 total yards he raised the old standard of 5,379 yards. Both of the old records were held by Texas A&M's Edd Hargett.

HCJC Queens Qualify For State Volleyball Action

The Howard County Junior College women's volleyball team finished second in the Women's College District Volleyball Tournament hosted by HCJC Friday and Saturday.

As a result of taking the runners-up slot, the HCJC team advances to the state collegiate volleyball championships in Corpus Christi December 5-6. It will be the third straight year that the local girls have qualified for the state tourney. Last year they advanced to the quarter finals before suffering elimination.

Favored Sul Ross won the district tourney by topping HCJC 15-10, 12-15 and 15-6 in the finals late Saturday afternoon. Texas Tech finished third with Odessa Junior College fourth and West Texas State drawing the consolation prize.

Other teams competing in the tourney were Wayland, Tarleton State and Hardin-Simmons.

The Queens, boasting a 17-6 seasonal slate, registered five victories and three defeats in the district tournament. Sul Ross, which went into the tourney undefeated, absorbed two defeats. One of those losses came at the hands of HCJC in the finals.

"We played the best we have all year," HCJC coach Wanda Ferguson said after the tournament. "We figured we could finish second. Our only obstacle appeared to be Texas Tech."

HCJC met the Red Raiders in the semi-finals Saturday morning. The Queens took Tech in three games, 15-9, 6-15 and 15-6.

In first round action Friday, HCJC crushed West Texas State 15-5, 16-14.

Miss Ferguson was reluctant to single out any one HCJC player for particular contributions. Instead she lauded the team effort of the girls. Among those girls meriting the coach's praise were: Christi Price, Kathy McKnight, Paula McMillan, Linda Halfmann, Connie Trevino and Barbara Futrell.

Royal Quips On Buck Upset

WACO, Tex. (AP) — The happiest man in Baylor Stadium Saturday afternoon had to be University of Texas head football coach Darrel Royal, and the reason was obvious.

The public address system had just announced that Michigan had upset No. 1-ranked Ohio State, 24-12, leaving No. 2-ranked Texas—idle this week—the probable successor to the number one ranking.

"I'm nervous as a cat over the possibility that we could wind up No. 1 in the nation," said the elated Royal who had an unbeaten national champion team at Texas in 1963.

"But when I start thinking about it realistically, I know we have three more games to go and the 'big shootout' is still ahead too.

"Naturally I'm thrilled that if we win our next three games we have a chance to be the national champions," Royal said. "This did not exist before the Michigan victory."

Vols Score Win

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Ninth-ranked Tennessee cashed in big defensive plays Saturday and gained a share of the Southeastern Conference football lead with a 31-26 victory over stubborn Kentucky.

The Vols, who face Florida in the Gator Bowl Dec. 27, were unable to do much offensively against a fierce Kentucky defense led by end Dick Palmer and tackle David Roller.

Missouri Rips Kansas, 69-21

LAWRENCE Kan. (AP) — Terry McMillan drilled four touchdown passes and scored twice himself Saturday, pacing Missouri's awesome offense to a record-cracking 69-21 victory over injury-weakened Kansas.

The triumph gave the Tigers a tie for the Big Eight football championship and sent them to the Orange Bowl with a 9-1 season record.

Missouri will meet Penn State New Year's night in Miami.

Both Missouri and Nebraska finished 6-1 in the Big Eight.

McMillan teamed with Mel Gray and Jon Staggers to finish his regular season collegiate career in a brilliant display.

Jayhawks Win 3rd Place In South Plains Tourney

LEVELLAND — The Howard County Junior College Jayhawks rebounded from a semi-final defeat to Cisco Friday night to grab third place in the South Plains basketball tournament here Saturday night.

The Jayhawks, the defending tourney champions, toppled Odessa Junior College, 75-59, to take third place honors. Glen Fletcher, who turned in a 13-point performance against Odessa, was selected to the tourney all-star team.

Both HCJC and the Odessa quintet were admittedly flat after extending themselves in crucial defeats Friday night. Odessa absorbed a narrow two-point loss to South Plains while the Jayhawks were bounced, 79-70, by Cisco.

Howard County at one time enjoyed an 18-point lead over Odessa and owned a 34-26 intermission bulge. Rebounding and consistency at the free throw line turned the trick for the locals. The Hawks dominated the boards and chalked up 17 points on charity tosses while Odessa could total only seven points in the latter category.

George Tilley, Danny Clendenin, Fletcher and Jerry Phillips paced the Hawks offensively against Odessa with all four scoring in double figures. Tilley took scoring honors with 15 points, followed by Clendenin's 14 and Fletcher's and Phillips' 13.

HCJC opened tourney play Friday night against Schreiner Institute and rolled to a 94-84 victory. The three games in Levelland brought the Jayhawk record to 3-1 on the season.

SUL ROSS IS DUE MONDAY

When the HCJC Hawks make their next home appearance here Monday evening, they will face an opponent other than that listed on the program.

The opposing team will be the Sul Ross College B squad instead of Fort Worth Christian. The Fort Worth school athletic officials said there had been a mixup and they did not know HCJC was on their schedule.

The game is set for 7:30 p.m.

Park Hill Grabs 2nd Gra-Y Crown

Park Hill - Marcy defeated College Heights, 22-20, to take the 1969 Gra-Y football championship for the second year in a row on Blankenship Field here Saturday morning.

The victory ran Park Hill-Marcy's unbeaten winning streak to 16 consecutive games as it finished 8-0 again this year. College Heights, which entered the game with a 6-0-1 standard, culminated its season with a highly respectable 6-1-1 slate.

Cooper Goes To Regional With 17-0 Don Conquest

AMARILLO — District 3-4A representative, Abilene Cooper advanced one step closer towards its quest for the state championship with a 17-0 football victory over Amarillo Palo Duro here Saturday afternoon.

The top-ranked Cougars and the Dons played a gruelling defensive battle capitalized by fumbles and thwarted scoring opportunities in every period during their bi-district clash.

The Cougars took a narrow 3-0 lead at the half, then cashed in on alert defensive plays to salt away the victory in the second half.

John Villareal broke a scoreless deadlock with 4:14 left in the first half when he booted a 14-yard field goal. The edge enlarged with four minutes left in the third quarter when Roy Longacre bulled his way one yard for his first of two touchdowns. Villareal booted the conversion kick for a 10-0 Cougar lead.

The score was set up by Gary Choate, who literally stole the ball from a Don back at the Palo Duro 40-yard-line. Choate raced to the 18 before being tackled.

Richard Mildren then threw to Hobby Stevens at the Don six-yard-line where pass interference was called against the Amarillo team. The Cougars, stifled on other occasions when they reached the Don goal line, pushed it across this time on Longacre's ram.

Abilene Cooper added another touchdown with 6:47 left in the final stanza when Longacre charged three yards for a touchdown. Villareal was again true to form with the conversion kick.

Terry Springer set up this score when he recovered a Don fumble at the Palo Duro 11-yard-line.

Cooper, now 10-0 for the season, takes its unblemished record against El Paso Coronado in regional play. The Coronado team topped El Paso Bowie, 29-16, Friday evening for the right to meet Abilene in the regional tilt.

Score by quarters:

Abilene	0	3	7	7	—17

Forsan Ends '69 Season With 34-8 Grid Victory

FORSAN — The Forsan Buffaloes invaded Loraine Friday evening and left gridiron devastation in their path to end the current season with a 34-8 victory. This left the Buffs with an impressive 7-3 season record and a 3-2 record in District 7-B play.

Forsan	STATISTICS	Loraine
15	First Downs	9
196	Yds. Rushing	152
115	Yds. Passing	19
2 of 5	Passes Completed	2 of 3
2	Fumbles Lost	2
4 for 30	Penalties	0
1 for 23	Punts, Avg.	5 for 15

The teams sparred through a scoreless first quarter before Jeff Williams, Forsan quarterback, connected with a 50-yard pass to his left end, Darrow Cobb, who took it in for the TD. Doyle Whetsel kicked the extra point for a 7-0 lead, which was added quickly when Whetsel slashed over left tackle and raced 63 yards to score. The PAT fizzled, leaving Forsan with a 13-0 lead at intermission.

The Buffs threatened to turn it into a rout when Leon Hobbs took a handoff on the kickoff from Williams, who had faked a return up the wedge. Hobbs scampered up the right side for a 70-yard TD, making it 20-0.

Loraine, however, began grinding out yardage and drove 44 yards to the Forsan six, from there Jerry Graham, quarterback, hit left halfback Mike Walker with a TD pass. Graham tossed to Jerry Renfro for two extra points, making it 20-8.

Williams padded the lead in the fourth when he worked an option perfectly on the roll out and went all the way from 37 yards out. He passed to Dee Highley for two points, making it 28-8. The final score came on a bit of dipsy-doodle.

Dan Cobb took the ball from Williams on an end around play, then tossed it about 35 yards to Bobby Davis, left halfback, who carried it another 30 yards to score. The try for extra points failed.

Three Buffaloes were defensive standouts, getting 15 tackles each. Bob Davis, linebacker, had 11 unassisted ones in his list. Daryl Hagen, rover, and Steve Chrane, tackle, earned their helmet star with their 15 tackles.

Brownwood Spanks Hirschi, 35 To 0

BROWNWOOD — The Brownwood Lions secured the district 4-AAA title with a decisive 35-0 football victory over Wichita Falls Hirschi here Friday night.

The victory propelled the Lions into a bi-district playoff game with rugged Lubbock Estacado, the district 3-AAA champion.

Record Four Steers Named All-District

Four Big Spring players, a record for the Steers, are included on the 1969 District 3-AAAA all-star football platoons chosen earlier this week by coaches and sports writers.

The four are tackle Roy Anderson, guard Randy Morgan and center Dave Thomas, all on the offensive unit; and linebacker Jimmy Farris.

Seven of the nine schools landed boys on the elite groups. Only Midland High and Midland Lee missed out.

Champion Abilene Cooper and runner-up Odessa Permian, as expected, dominated the platoons.

Cooper landed six boys on the two groups, including Hobby Stevens, who made it both ways.

Six of Permian's hands were included and three of those — Jerry Blaschke, James Bond and Charles Billingsley were two-way selections.

San Angelo placed three and Odessa Ector and Abilene High one each.

Billingsley was selected as the outstanding back in the league, beating out Richard Mildren, Cooper, for the honor. Billingsley received seven votes, Mildren six. Mark Green, Odessa, also picked up a vote.

The top lineman was adjudged to be Permian's James Bond, who wound up with seven votes. Thomas Williams, San Angelo, had four votes and Big Spring's Roy Anderson had three in the MVP balloting.

Coach of the Year was adjudged to be Merrill Green, Cooper, and he received unanimous support.

No player received a unanimous vote but Odessa's Mark Green, who rated both teams, came close, as did Williams and Billingsley. Each lacked one vote of being universal picks.

Thomas received the most support among the Steers selected.

JIMMY FARRIS

Gary Hinds, Big Spring, was the only Steer to rate Honorable Mention. He lost out to Cooper's Mildren for the first string job.

Only two were holdovers from last year's team, Mildren and Williams. Williams was named to both the offensive and defensive teams last year. This year, he rated the defensive club only.

Mildren was included on the defensive team last year. This year, he made it on offense.

Farris lacked only one vote of being named to the first team offensive club as an end.

Robert Dennis, Big Spring, gained the Honorable Mention as a defensive tackle after having been nominated for both the tackle and guard spots.

Garden City's Bearkats Upset Klondike, 32-14

GARDEN CITY — The Garden City Bearkats ended the season here Friday with a brilliant upset victory over Klondike, 32-14.

The Bearkats jumped to a two touchdown lead, then fell behind when Jimmy Etheridge broke away for a 67 yard run on the first play from scrimmage in the second half.

Steven Hirt returned the favor when he took a Klondike punt a few minutes later and did some fancy footwork in going all the way. After that it was all Garden City, although Hirt had to turn the tide with an interception on the one in the last quarter.

The Bearkats outrushed Klondike 252 to 180 but fell behind on the passing. They held a 13-11 first-down advantage.

QUICK TDs

Garden City took the opening kickoff on its own 26 and promptly punched 54 yards for the score, the last six coming on a six-yard pass from Hirt to Floyd Schwartz. A pass failed to yield extra points. Taking over on their 30, the Bearkats began another drive of 50 yards with Pat Halfmann lugging it the last five yards. Again the try for extra points failed.

GARDEN CITY	STATISTICS	KLONDIKE
13	First downs	11
252	Yards rushing	180

2	Passes Interc. By	1
2	Fumbles lost	2

Klondike got back into the ball game with a rugged defense, which held the Bearkats on the Garden City 36 on downs. A pass from Etheridge to Van Stephens was good for 26 yards, and with one second showing on the clock, Etheridge hit Stephens with an 18-yard scoring pass. The same combination added two extra points, giving Garden City a 12-8 lead at the half.

Etheridge swept end for 67 yards to open the second half but missed the PAT, holding Klondike to a 14-12 lead. At this point Hirt made his scoring punt return, and Schwartz added two points on a dive play.

Not content with this lead, Hirt intercepted an Etheridge pass on his own one-yard line in the fourth quarter, then picked up 20 yards on a roll out. Schwartz took the ball on a sweep the next play and went 60 yards for a TD. The try for the extra point was unsuccessful. Wjth only a minute showing on the clock, Earl Jansa pounced on a fumble on the Klondike 25. Hirt carried it in for the last four yards. The point try was no good.

Garden City finished with a 5-5 season record, and was 2-4 in district 3-B play.

Reagan County Punches Marfa

ALPINE — Powerful Reagan County Owls hurtled the first obstacle on their intensive campaign for the state class AA title by drubbing Marfa, 27-7, here Friday night in a bi-district football tilt.

The victory advances the Owls to the quarterfinals against Haskell, which earned its bi-district championship with a penetration victory over Eastland.

Reagan County punched out 282 yards on the ground while en route to 21 first downs. The Shorthorns, meanwhile, were held to a meager 41 yards rushing and four first downs by the rugged Owl defense.

Larry Settle tallied the first Owl score early in the first quarter on a one-yard ram. Larry Nunnally then kicked his first of three successful PAT boots.

Stanton Drops Tahoka For First Roundball Win

STANTON — The small but scrappy Stanton Buffaloes opened its 1969-70 basketball season with a 53-45 roundball victory over the Tahoka Bulldogs here Friday night.

The Buffs, led by ex-footballers Lindsey Jones, Allen Gregston, Johnny McMeans and Ricky Mims, avenged a football loss to the Bulldogs with the basketball triumph on its home court.

Stubborn Tahoka, employing a tight 1-2-2 zone defense, forced the Buffs to shoot from the outside. The Bulldogs led by three points, 17-14, at the end of the first period but slowly fell behind in ensuing periods as the Buffs began to find the marks.

Stanton held a scant one-point lead at intermission, 31-30, then raised its third quarter advantage to 42-36. It outscored Tahoka, 11 to 8 in the final period.

Stanton's Lindsey Jones shared scoring honors with Tahoka's Mitchell Thurman. The two netted 13 points apiece. Both Gregston and Tahoka's Tim Walker meshed 12 points.

Stanton's rebounding prowess offset Tahoka's free-throw line advantage and provided the key to the Buff victory. Tahoka had a 80 per cent efficiency at foul line while Stanton registered a mere 46 percentage of charity tosses.

The Buffs, who finished behind Crane for the district 5-AA basketball title last year, takes on another independent foe Tuesday when Stanton travels to Iraan.

In other games played here Friday night, the Buffalo female roundball team emerged victorious over Tahoka's feminine edition, 43-41. The Buff "B" team suffered an opening defeat, losing 47-37 to the Bulldog juniors.

Doris Howard led the Buffalo females to victory with a 24-point outburst. She was followed by Sandy Chandler with 18 points.

Danny Wilson and George Dean paced the Stanton "B" team offensively, potting nine points each.

Grid Star Has Spine Surgery

GARDEN CITY — Reports from Lubbock Saturday were that Kenneth Chandler, 16, who sustained a broken neck in a football game here a week ago, had come through surgery in good condition at Methodist Hospital. It is too early for a diagnosis, but one encouraging development was that he is experiencing feeling in his arms and legs. The spinal nerve did not appear to be broken. Kenneth is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chandler, St. Lawrence.

Bi-District Game Draws 1,527 Here

The Seagraves-Roscoe bi-district game here Friday drew a paid attendance of 1,527, of which 968 were adults and 559 students, for a gate of $2,495.

Out of this came $187.13 off the top as the Interscholastic League's share, and $228.70 expenses for five officials. This left each team with $1,039.58 as its share.

Nationwide Polls Yield Heisman Winner Tuesday

NEW YORK (AP) — Winner of the Heisman Trophy, college football's Oscar, will be announced Tuesday and the belief is that the bronze statuette will go to either Oklahoma's hard-running Steve Owens or passer Mike Phipps of Purdue.

But don't bet on it.

Surprises are no rarity in this nationwide poll to determine the outstanding player of the year. Seldom has the competition been more wide open.

Besides Owens and Phipps, leading candidates include Archie Manning of Mississippi, Rex Kern of Ohio State, Lynn Dickey of Kansas State, Dennis Dummit of UCLA, Jim Plunkett of Stanford and John Reaves of Florida.

All of them are quarterbacks or halfbacks. Traditionally, the trophy has gone to one of the glamor performers. A 50-pound trophy depicting a man with a ball under his left arm and his right arm in a stiff-arm position might look funny in a tackle's show case.

The announcement is scheduled shortly after noon Tuesday at the Downtown Athletic Club here. The club sponsors the poll of about 1,300 sports writers and broadcasters across the country. The award was started in 1935.

The most prestigious of post-season awards, the trophy is named for the late John W. Heisman, a long time coach credited with originating the spin play and direct snap from center.

There are guidelines in the 34-year-old competition that would point a finger of favoritism toward Owens and Phipps.

The award usually goes to a senior—only four juniors have won it, the last Roger Staubach of Navy in 1963. Owens and Phipps are both seniors. Their chief rivals are juniors, and Florida's sensational Reaves is a sophomore. No soph ever won.

Backfield men are preferred. Only two non-backs—end Larry Kelley of Yale in 1963 and end Leon Hart of Notre Dame in 1949—ever crash the select list. There's never been a linebacker, lineman or purely defensive man to win the trophy.

This rules out such defensive stalwarts as the mammoth Mike McCoy of Notre Dame and Mike Reid of Penn State.

Midwesterners, because of voting strength determined by the number and size of schools, have been dominant. Owens and Phipps are from the Midwest, although Oklahoma is on the fringe of the Southwest.

ROUTS ROSCOE, 52-8

Seagraves Wins Bi-District

By ED MOSER

The wicked, grueling ground attack of Seagraves High School eclipsed the century mark for the third time this season as the highly touted Eagle football team opened state Class A playoff action here Friday night on an impressive note.

The District 5-A champion streamrolled the District 6-A representative, Roscoe Plowboys, 52-8, extending their unbeaten winning streak to eleven straight games in the process.

The Eagles, looking every bit the state's top rated Class A grid team they are, now carry the 5-A banner into regional play. Their next opponent will be Sonora, the same team which KO'd Coahoma's state title hopes last year.

Roscoe, the upstart that dumped Rotan for the 6-A title last week, culminates its season at 9-1-1.

The purple-suited Plowboys came to Memorial Stadium with desire and determination. They were unmindful of Seagraves' record, its size or its favorite's role. For one quarter it looked as if Roscoe might have the potential to defeat Seagraves, a feat even mighty Coahoma failed to do.

THE ONLY SNAG

The only snag in the plan was that Seagraves was as good as its press clippings. The Eagles were as big and as tough as reported. Moreover, all that muscle was in top shape and ready to go 48 minutes against even the scrappiest opponent.

Additionally, Seagraves disregarded the Roscoe script and took matters into its own hands. Once the tide shifted — and it took less than 24 minutes to do — Seagraves moved the ball at will.

The Eagles put points on the scoreboard in every quarter, but did the most damage in the third quarter as they buried Roscoe behind a touchdown parade that was reminiscent of the Eagle routs of O'Donnell, Wink and Plains, the weaker sisters in 5-A.

Quarterback Eddie Knight directed the Eagle offensive attack which wowed the 3,000 frozen onlookers. However, his supporting cast of fullback Donnie Hoover and halfbacks Ricky Fields and Kent Crutcher were equally important. The foursome collaborated for 21 Eagle first downs and 416 yards rushing.

Seagraves		Roscoe
21	First Downs	12
416	Yards Rushing	67
35	Yards Passing	64
3 of 8	Passes Completed	9 of 24
3	Passes Interc. By	1
3	Fumbles Lost	3
7 for 65	Total Yards Penalties	5 for 45
5 for 53	Punts Average	8 for 25

Although the entire quartet got into the scoring act, it was Hoover who crossed the goal line most frequently as he tallied three touchdowns.

The rugged Seagraves defensive unit, once it adapted to the Plowboy passing attack, slammed the door on Roscoe's point-producing antics. Roscoe registered 12 first downs, 67 yards rushing and 64 yards passing, but 10, 52 and 43 of those figures came in the first half when the Plowboys were still partially mystifying Seagraves.

OPEN WITH VIM

The Eagles opened with a flourish, marching 65 yards in nine plays for a quick touchdown on their first series of the game. Knight ran the final 24 yards on a sweep of left end. Hoover blasted over for a two-point conversion and an early 8-0 Seagraves lead.

Roscoe surpisingly came right back to knot the score three minutes later. It marched 60 yards in eight plays with quarterback Tommy Townsend starting the drive with an 11 yard pass. The slick Plowboy field marshal culminated the drive also as he personally carried the football over the goal line from a half yard out for the lone Roscoe TD of the evening. He followed the TD with a two-point conversion toss to Johnny Santiago.

Seagraves ultimately went ahead for good on its second series. Fields capped an 80-yard march by slipping along the left sideline for 18 yards and a TD. Knight passed to Dennis Payne for the second of five Seagraves successful two-point conversions. It gave the Eagles a 16-8 margin.

Before the first quarter was completed, Richard Mendola had recovered a Roscoe fumble at the Plowboy 33-yard-line. The Eagles went about cashing in on the first break of the game, but the score did not come until 28 seconds had elapsed in the second quarter.

THIRD TALLY

Hoover accounted for the TD, the only score of the second stanza, on a one-yard run. Fields registered the two-point PAT.

The teams traded punts until the half ended. Seagraves went to the locker room with a 24-8 advantage. Despite rolling up 200 yards rushing in the first half and boasting of a 16-point lead, Townsend's passing kept giving indications of quickly pulling Roscoe close at the first opportunity.

More touchdowns were needed and Townsend had to be stopped to insure victory in the second half for Seagraves. Both were quickly remedied in the third period as the Eagles racked up 22 points and effectively and abruptly silenced both the Plowboy running and passing game.

Crutcher did not waste time getting the additional points. On Seagraves first play from scrimmage in the second half, Crutcher raced 47 yards for a 30-8 Eagle advantage.

Hoover hit paydirt twice before the period was over with 14 and three yards runs. Knight passed to Kim Shaver for two points following Hoover's first TD of the stanza and Fields ran across the two-point conversion after Hoover's next tally. The offensive rout was suddenly in first gear and smoking.

Meanwhile, Townsend found his receivers well-covered as the Eagle defense set about righting matters in the second half. Townsend reverted to his running backs to prevent a fast-developing Eagle runaway, but the Seagraves defense killed that threat before it could even start. The Eagle linemen and secondary backs forced Roscoe fumbles and dropped the Plowboy backs for critical losses.

RESERVES PLAY

At the three quarter mark the score stood at 46-8 and the game, for all practical purposes, was over. Seagraves' coach, A. D. Shaver, substituted freely during the final stanza which was capitalized by more fumbles, a flurry of penalties and frequent interceptions by both sides.

Seagraves cashed in on one such interception for its final tally of the contest. Wendell Wood picked off a Townsend pass at the Roscoe 25 midway through the fourth quarter. The substitute back returned the interception for the TD.

The lopsided victory kept Seagraves' impressive statistics intact. The unbeaten Eagles have averaged more than 40 points per game and have yielded less than 10 points to their opponents. Their point-a-minute backs also kept their rushing totals and scoring figures at enviable positions with the touchdown surge.

Uncovered in the game could be another lethal weapon — sophomore punter Mike Cayce. He took over the punting chores when Robin Taylor was injured in the second quarter and boomed two punts 60 yards or more while cementing a 53-yard average.

The towering punts forced Roscoe to operate at an immediate disadvantage and could mean the difference between victory and defeat should the Sonora game turn out to be as close as anticipated.

Score by quarters:

Seagraves	16	8	22	6—52
Roscoe	8	0	0	0— 8

Chiefs Entertain Raiders In First AFL Showdown

By The Associated Press

Oakland's Daryle Lamonica pits his heavy artillery against Len Dawson and the Kansas City mini-brutes Sunday in the first big battle of the American Football League's War of the West.

The Chiefs, riding a seven-game winning streak, leading Oakland by one-half length in pro football's tightest division race and playing at home, are slight favorites to take the first of two late-season showdowns between the Western powers. They meet again at Oakland in a Dec. 13 regular season wind-up.

Lamonica, who has thrown 27 touchdown passes—19 of them to wide receivers Fred Biletnikoff and Warren Wells—for the 8-1-1 Raiders, should provide a maximum test for Kansas City's league-leading defensive unit.

When the clubs last met, in the 1968 Western Division title playoff, the Oakland quarterback fired five scoring passes—three to Biletnikoff, two to Wells—in a 41-6 romp over the stunned Chiefs.

Chiefs' signal caller Dawson is no slouch either, however. the crafty veteran bombed New York's Eastern Division leaders with 23 completions for 285 yards and three TDs last Sunday as the Chiefs brought their season mark to 9-1 with a 34-16 triumph.

And a trio of 5-foot-9 ball-carriers—Mike Garrett, Robert Holmes and Warren McVea—give Kansas City the best running attack in the league.

The Jets, leading second place Houston by two games in the East, entertain Cincinnati Sunday while the Oilers are at Miami, Buffalo at Boston and Denver at San Diego in other AFL Games.

The Chiefs and Raiders collide for the 20th time, with Kansas City holding a 10-9 edge in the series. They appear to be no farther apart this season, but Cincinnati coach Paul Brown, whose young Bengals have upset both, gives a slim edge to the Chiefs.

"They are the strongest team physically, because they've healed themselves at cornerback and tackle on defense," Brown said.

Curley Culp, a former NCAA wrestling champ, has moved in at defensive tackle to balance a Kansas City front four that has dropped opposing quarterbacks 42 times—tops in the league. Rookie Jim Marsalis has been the new standout at corner back in the secondary, which leads in interceptions with 28.

Marsalis and Emmitt Thomas will be working the corners against Biletnikoff, the league's No. 1 pass-catcher with 44 receptions, 11 of them for touchdowns, and Wells, averaging almost 26 yards per catch on 34 receptions with eight scores.

The Oakland front four, led by towering Ben Davidson and Ike Lassiter, will be out to nail Dawson, a 60 percent passer despite a damaged knee, and to put the wraps on Garrett, Holmes and swing man McVea, who ranks 11th, 12th, and 14th respectively, in the league rushing derby.

Garrett also is the Chiefs' top pass catcher with 36 receptions, six more than Otis Taylor, who came off the injury list last Sunday to grab seven for 96 yards and three touchdowns against the Jets.

Los Angeles-Dallas Tilt Highlights NFL Action

By The Associated Press

The Los Angeles Rams, unbeaten in nine starts, get a close-up look at the Dallas Cowboys Sunday in a game that could be a preview of the National Football League championship game on Jan. 4.

The Rams (9-0), can tie Green Bay's record start in 1962 and take another step toward the first perfect record since the 1942 Chicago Bears if they can hogtie the Cowboys (8-1). Dallas' only defeat was a 42-10 shocker in Cleveland, Nov. 2. A sellout crowd of over 76,000 will watch at the Los Angeles Coliseum.

Minnesota (8-1), another hot club with a winning steak of eight, will be at home to Pittsburgh (1-8) which has dropped eight in a row since beating Detroit on opening day. The Vikings lead the Central Division by two games and second-place Detroit is their Thanksgiving Day opponent.

Detroit (6-3) visits Green Bay (5-4) for the 73rd renewal of their bitter feud. The Lions need a fourth straight victory to stay within range of Minnesota and the Packers, three games back with five to go, are in a desperate position.

BROWNS FACE GIANTS

Cleveland (6-2-1), three games in front of St. Louis in the Century Division can apply the final knockout to the New York Giants (3-6), losers of five in succession after their early season success. The game will be played at Cleveland.

The Atlanta Falcons (3-6) come off their highest point production ever, a 48-31 victory over Chicago, and visit Washington (4-3-2) where the Redskins are more concerned about saving second place in the Capitol Division from Philadelphia than in catching the runaway Cowboys.

St. Louis (3-5-1), still hoping to get close enough to Cleveland to make their Dec. 14 meeting important, will be at home to Philadelphia (3-5-1) which gave Los Angeles a rough afternoon last week, before bowing 23-17.

Baltimore (5-4) will start Earl Morrall, instead of John Unitas at quarterback at Chicago (1-8) where coach Jim Dooley has been re-evaluating the Bears' offense, defense and coaching staff.

San Francisco (2-6-1) visits New Orleans (2-7) for the first time in a game between two of last Sunday's upset winners. The 49ers knocked off Baltimore and the Saints edged the Giants.

The big game in the American Football League is Oakland (8-1-1) at Kansas City (9-1) for the Western Division lead. Other games are Cincinnati (4-5-1) at New York (7-3), Houston (4-4-2) at Miami (2-7-1), Denver (4-5-1) at San Diego (4-6) and Buffalo (3-7) at Boston (2-8).

DEFENSE STRUGGLE

Eddie Meador's defensive heroics, plus a first-down run on a fake field goal helped the Rams turn last Sunday's game around in Philadelphia when they were trailing 10-0 in the third quarter. Los Angeles may have been looking ahead to Dallas, a team it defeated 24-17 in an exhibition game Aug. 8. The Cowboys and Rams have dumped the passer, 38 times each so it will be up to the pass blockers to dig in to save Roman Gabriel and Craig Morton disaster.

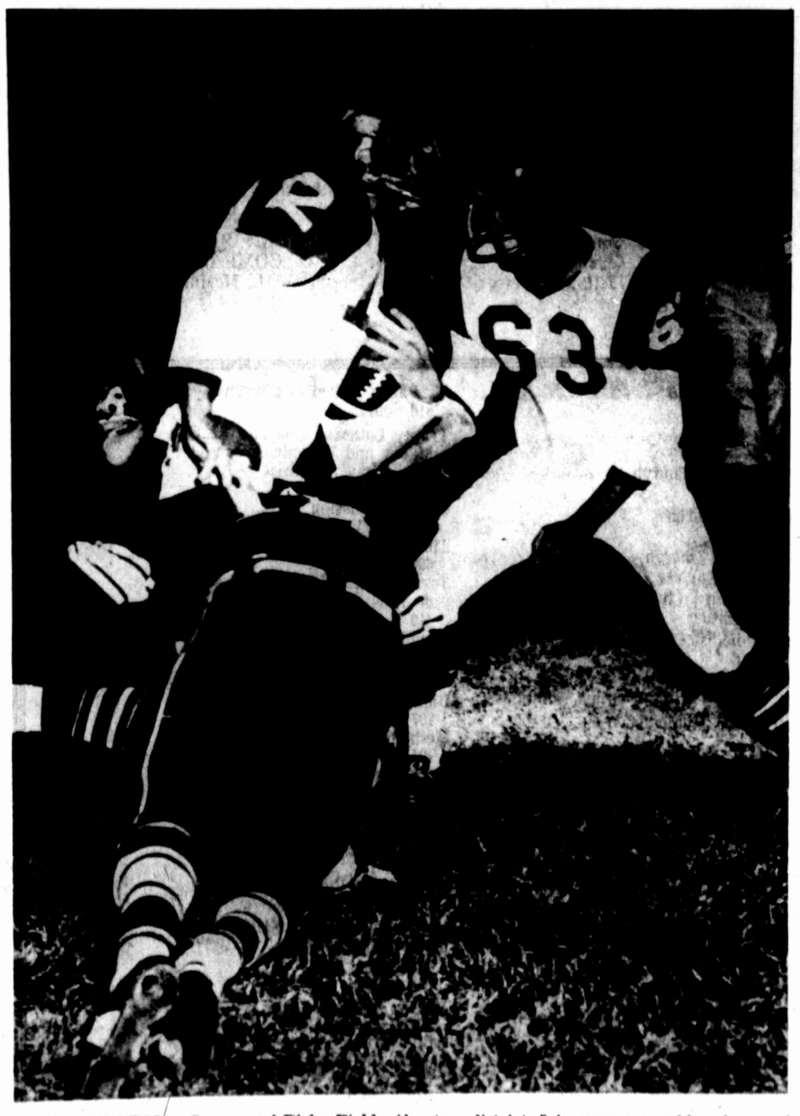
Joe Kapp gave way to Gary Cuozzo during the Vikings' game with Green Bay last week—but Kapp is due to be back at the controls against the Steelers. The Vikings lead the league in scoring with 267 points and have given up the fewest, 89.

The Detroit-Green Bay game used to be a regular Turkey Day feature but now the Lions change opponents. Even Bill Munson, who suffered a broken right hand in the first meeting, Oct. 12, won by the Packers, 28-17, may be back but Greg Landry will start as the Lions' quarterback against Bart Starr in a must game for both clubs.

The Browns have beaten the Giants in eight of their last nine meetings and New York is down after losing its fifth straight, a 25-24 game to New Orleans. Cleveland rolled it up last year, 45-10.

SKINS-FALCONS

Atlanta dumped the Bears' passer six times last week enroute to its third victory. The Redskins' Sonny Jurgensen had a great day with 24 of 35 for 388 yards and four touchdowns in a losing effort against Dallas a week ago.



PONY EXPRESS — Seagraves' Ricky Fields, the top district 5-A scorer, rambles for a sizable pickup against Roscoe before the Plowboys' Mike Ratliff tackles him. Eagle Robby Welcher (No 63) tries to clear the way for Fields.

Sports Clinic Scheduled At Junior College Monday

Invitations have been sent to over 250 public school and college physical education teachers to attend the first Region 18 Life Time Sports Clinic, Monday at Howard County Junior College. This clinic will feature in-depth training in badminton and archery and will begin at 8:30 a.m. in the gym and continue until 4 p.m.

"We are hoping each physical education instructor will take advantage of this clinic, and we have the best leaders in the area for the sessions," said Miss Anna Smith, director of Women's Physical Education at HCJC and secretary-treasurer of the Advisory Council on Life Time Sports.

In charge of the badminton course will be Mrs. Dean Lanier, PE teacher at Alamo Junior High School, Midland. Mrs. Lanier has her degree from Texas Christian University and attended a Life Time Sports Clinic in Waco in 1967 where she took training in badminton under Miss Margaret Varner, National Badminton player and official. This past summer she attended a badminton workshop at Texas Woman's University under the supervision of Dr. Virginia Hicks.

Airman 1. C. Marty Wooster, presently stationed at Webb Air Force Base, will conduct the archery course. A graduate of Temple University in Philadelphia, Wooster has taught archery at the Webb Youth Center and is currently managing the base bowling alley. He is also a qualified fencing instructor.

Participants in the clinic are required to wear gym clothes and tennis shoes. Facilities for changing are available at the gym.

"The object of this clinic is to instruct the teacher in the latest and most efficient methods of teaching badminton and archery," Miss Smith said. Anyone wishing to attend the clinic may do so by contacting Miss Smith at HCJC. There is a small registration fee.

We Gather Together

We all went to church this morning. Later, as I carved the turkey, Mary and I began to reminisce about our first Thanksgiving in our own home.

It was the year Joe was a baby. Always before, we'd gone home to our families. We set a festive table and pretended not to be lonely.

"And were you?" asked Jane.

"Did you pray before you ate?" asked Ruthie.

"Of course, they prayed," said Joe importantly. After all, he'd been there! "That's what Thanksgiving is all about!"

Mary and I smiled at each other, remembering how we'd nearly forgotten. We'd bowed our heads together, baby son at our side. Suddenly, the real meaning of Thanksgiving swept over us, and we gave thanks for the blessings of the hour.

How grateful we are for the teachings of our church, which through the years has helped us interpret the source of all goodness!

Texas Cagers Picked To Win Conference Basketball Title

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — The fifth annual Lubbock Avalanche-Journal pre-season basketball poll has put the bee on the University of Texas.

A board of Southwest Conference basketball writers picked the Longhorns by a slim margin over Baylor, last year's runner-up.

Texas polled 74 points, including six first place votes. Baylor got 70 points and four first place nods.

Texas forward Lynn Howden was predicted as Sophomore of the Year and Southern Methodist forward Gene Phillips was selected as Player of the Year. Texas' Leon Black was forecast at Coach of the Year.

Phillips, Howden, Baylor's Tommy Bowman, Texas' Wayne Doyal and Texas A&M's Steve Niles and Mike Heitmann were picked on the All SWC team.

Other point totals included A&M 53, Rice 50, Arkansas 41, SMU 8½, Texas Tech 27½, and Texas Christian 14.

Writers voting in the poll included Louis Cox of the Dallas Times Herald, Roy Edwards, Dallas Morning News; Dick Moore, Fort Worth Star-Telegram; Hollis Biddle, Waco News Tribune; George Breazeale, Austin American; Joe McLaughlin and Charles Carder, Houston Chronicle; Bruce Spinks, Houston Post, Don Henry, Lubbock Avalanche-Journal and Orville Henry, Arkansas Gazette.

The poll has a good track record, picking three out of the last four winners, including last year's champ Texas A&M.

Estacado Ruins Tiger Title Bid

LUBBOCK — Lubbock Estacado earned the right to meet Brownwood for the bi-district title with a 28-3 inter-zone victory over Snyder here Friday night.

The victory gave the powerful Matadors the district 3-AAA title. Brownwood, Estacado's bi-district opponent, is the 4-AAA champion.

The Tigers' lone score against the gritty Matador defense came in the first quarter when quarterback Lee McNair booted a 26-yard field goal.

The 3-0 lead stuck throughout the first quarter. Estacado went on top with 10 points in the second stanza, added 13 in the third round and rambled home with 15 additional points in the final quarter.

The devastating Estacado ground game totaled 398 yards with tailback Larry Miller leading the surge. Miller, scoring 18 points in the contest, broke the Estacado single-man scoring record with 149 points for the season.

Even the defense got into the scoring derby as the Matadors' David Moody and Roger Felton tackled the Tigers' Stewart Sims in the end zone for a safety late in the fourth period.

Bronte Wallops Bearcats, 70-14

BRONTE — The Bronte Longhorns culminated its regular season here Friday night with a convincing 70-14 district 7-B football victory over the Hawley Bearcats.

Bronte, erupting for 31 points in the first quarter, held a decisive 43-0 halftime bulge and added 21 and six points in second half action.

The victory brought the Longhorns' slate to a 9-1 mark. Luckless Hawley dropped to 2-9.

Forsan Junior Hi Wins Two Games

FORSAN — The Forsan Junior High boys made it four straight as they won their first district game Thursday evening, over-powering Coahoma Junior High, 41-17.

Joe Moreno, who repeatedly stole the ball and drove in for layups, paced the Forsan boys with 17 points.

Earlier, the Forsan team had defeated Big Spring Goliad, 48-35.

In the girls game, Brenda Cowley poured 25 points through the hoop to give her team a 26-23 victory over Coahoma.

Both the boys and the girls teams will meet the Garden City junior high contingents at 6 p.m. Monday at Garden City.

The district game box scores:

BOYS

FORSAN — Soles 4-2-10, Daughtery 2-0-4, Johnson 3-0-6, Moreno 8-1-17, Davis 0-1-1, Walls 1-1-3. Totals 18-5-41.

COAHOMA — Grant 3-0-6, Padron 1-1-3, Shafer 1-0-2, Wood 2-1-5, Coates 0-1-1. Totals 7-3-17.

GIRLS

FORSAN — Cowley 8-9-25, Chrane 0-1-1. Totals 8-10-26.

COAHOMA — King 0-1-1, Griffin 3-1-7, Beal 6-3-15. Totals 9-5-23.

Sonora Blanks 7-A's Van Horn

CRANE — The Sonora Broncos, the defending Class A football titlist, opened defense of their crown with a smashing 35-0 blanking of Van Horn in a bi-district playoff here Friday night.

The victory advances the potent Broncos to regional play against Seagraves next weekend while the defeat culminated Van Horn's season at 7-4.

After playing to a scoreless tie in the first period, Sonora erupted for 14 points in the second stanza on a five yard run by Rick Steet and a David Wuest-to-Erasmo Lumbreras six-yard pass. Wuest booted both conversion attempts.

The two teams played to another scoreless battle in the third quarter. Sonora again mounted an attack in the final stanza which netted the Broncos 21 insurance points.

The rugged Bronco defense limited the Eagles, District 7-A representative, to seven first downs, 76 yards rushing and 51 yards passing.

SUDDEN STOP — Jim Wright (40), Notre Dame linebacker, upsets Jim DeOrio, Air Force fullback, as DeOrio returns a kickoff in the second quarter. The Irish won the game 13-6.

ACC Whips Angelo State

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — Quarterback Jim Lindsey hit 21 of 33 passes Saturday for 188 yards and two touchdowns to lead Abilene Christian to a 51-19 win over Angelo State.

Lindsey teamed up with receiver Ronnie Vinson on 13 of the tosses.

ACC scored first when defensive back Don Cobb picked off an Angelo State pass and carried it back 32 yards for a score.

The winners were never headed.

Irish Slips By Air Force, 13-6; Now Heads For Cotton Bowl

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Cotton Bowl-bound Notre Dame got the second-half shakes and was hard pressed to defeat scrappy Air Force 13 to 6 Saturday giving the eighth ranked Fighting Irish a closing 8-1-1 football record.

The Irish, a 21-point favorite, scored the game's only touchdown on Denny Allan's 39-yard run with the game less than two minutes old and then struggled to preserve a 13-3 halftime lead build on Scott Hempel's two field goals.

Despite a dual between two fine passers, Notre Dame's Joe Theismann and Al. Force's Gary Baxter, all the other scoring came on field goals also including a pair of three-pointers by Falcon Dennis Leuthauser.

The Irish, playing without four injured starters, coughed up the ball twice in the third quarter on fumbled punts and bobbled away a pass which led to Leuthauser's 37-yard field goal, trimming Notre Dame's lead to 13-6 early in the fourth quarter.

Notre Dame, now headed for a Cotton Bowl showdown against No. 2 Texas or No. 3 Arkansas, thus completed a sweep this season against all three military academies. The Irish built a 13-0 lead on Allan's explosive 39-yard run and Hempel's field goals of 22 and 25 yards before Air Force broke the ice with 3:20 left in the first half on Leuthauser's 28-yard field goal.

Leuthauser now is the Falcon's all-time career scorer with 142 points. The old Air Force record was 138 points by Mike Quinlan from 1958 through 1960.

Notre Dame took the opening kickoff from their 33 to score in six plays, with Allan popping loose on an off-tackle slant for his 39-yard touchdown run.

Hempel's two second-quarter field goals were set up by two long Irish drives which held the ball a total of 11 minutes. Notre Dame went 75 yards in a 19-play march capped by Hempel's 22-yarder for a 10-0 Irish lead.

Fires An Ace In Tourney

Charles Brantley topped C. G. Griffin by a stroke, and Tommy Jackson took the A flight by two in a Sweepstakes Golf tournament over the Big Spring Country Club course Friday.

The big noise, however, was Bill McClendon, who scored a hole in one during the medal play. This put him in a tie for second in the A flight.

McClendon slapped a five iron shot dead to the pin on the 165-yard No. 7 hole. Jack Cook, Jack Wallace, Lester Morton, Dick Pfieffer and Tom South were in his party.

Brantley played the course in 69, while Griffin finished with a 70.

In the A flight, Jackson had a 69, followed by McClendon and Lester Morton, each of whom posted a 71.

B flight honors went to Alton Underwood with a 76, trailed by J. R. Farmer and Dick Pfeiffer, each with a 79.

The C flight title went to Blondy Chrane with an 82, followed by Bill McRee with an 85.

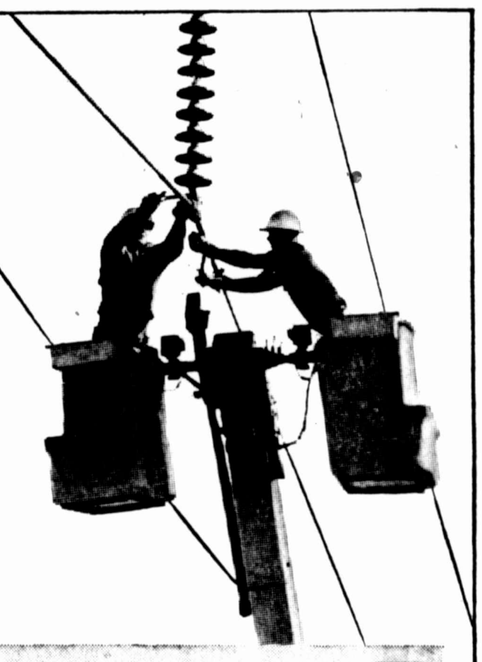
LAYAWAY FOR CHRISTMAS

Building Ahead to Make Your Electrical Future Secure



Good electric service. You have a right to expect it. It's our job to see that you get it...now and in the future.

Keeping ahead of the growing electric power uses in the areas we serve is a job that demands carefully scheduled construction of new power facilities costing many millions of dollars.

TWO NEW GENERATING FACILITIES UNDER CONSTRUCTION

Right now, steel is going up for two big power generating units. One is a 375,000 kilowatt addition to the company's Eagle Mountain generating station in Fort Worth. Work on this new unit is scheduled for completion in time to meet summer peak loads in 1971.

The other is a 1,150,000 kilowatt generating station being constructed jointly by Texas Electric Service Company, Dallas Power & Light Company and Texas Power & Light Company in Freestone County. This new plant will burn lignite from nearby deposits for boiler fuel.

UNIT TO BE ADDED TO PERMIAN BASIN PLANT

Another project, recently announced, involves construction of an additional generating unit with a capacity in excess of 500,000 kilowatts at the company's Permian Basin power plant near Monahans.

SYSTEM GENERATING CAPABILITY INCREASED BY 20 TIMES

These new projects continue a program of system development that since 1948 has increased the net generating capability of the system by 20 times. During this period, 21 new generating units have been added, the latest being a 375,000 kilowatt unit which went into service at the Graham power plant early in 1969.

PLENTY OF POWER FOR ALL NEEDS

As a result of this program of constantly planning and building ahead, Texas Electric Service Company has kept the power supply available to its customers well ahead of expanding requirements. Even during the extreme heat of the past summer, when peak demand for electric service reached an all-time high, there was plenty of power for every need, plus a substantial reserve.

TRANSMISSION LINE SYSTEM STRENGTHENED

Development of the company's transmission system has kept pace with the increase in generating capability. A strong network of high voltage transmission lines delivers electric power where and when it is needed in the area served by the company. And strong interconnections with the systems of other companies in Texas make possible the exchange of large blocks of power in any emergency situation.

PLANNING AND CONSTRUCTION PROGRAMS TO CONTINUE

As the area we serve continues to grow, and as the use of electricity increases, Texas Electric Service Company will continue to plan and build ahead to make your electrical future secure. When you want electricity for any purpose, now or in the years to come, we'll be ready to serve you.

TEXAS ELECTRIC SERVICE COMPANY

LOSE 10 LBS. IN 10 DAYS ON NEW GRAPEFRUIT DIET

This is the amazing new Grapefruit Diet that everyone is talking about. Word of its success has spread throughout the U.S. and Canada. This new Grapefruit Diet is not a diet in the sense you are made uncomfortable. Just the opposite. You are comfortable while you use this system. There are no exercises, no hunger pains. You follow the simple system, eat all you want, even formerly forbidden foods, and the weight comes off. If followed exactly you should lose 10 lbs. the first 10 days, plus 1½ lbs. every two days thereafter until your weight is down to normal. A copy of this new and startlingly successful diet plan can be obtained by sending $2.00 to Weight Off, Dept. 406, 1712 Carson St., Raleigh, N.C. 27608.

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITY SPARE TIME INCOME EARN $550.00 OR MORE EXTRA INCOME PER MO.

Wave Of Violence Strikes Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — A wave of violence striking Dallas County during the weekend left seven murdered in what a veteran officer called the worst such outbreak in memory.

The sequence was this:

Early Friday, the body of Clinton Booker Smith, a cab driver, was found brutally mutilated. He had been robbed.

A few hours later, the body of C. H. Heath, 70, owner of a finance company, was found. He had been shot several times and an estimated $1,000 he was carrying was missing.

A blazing gunfight at a small grocery during a holdup Friday afternoon left one robber dead and the storekeeper wounded. A second robber fled. Killed was LeRoy Hughes, 28, and wounded was Walter T. McKinnon, 26.

A salesman was shot down on a busy highway in Irving Friday night for no known reason. He was Fred D. Eustace, 58, of Waco. Officers said Eustace was believed driving along a service road when another car pulled alongside. The two autos stopped, one man stepped from his car and shot Eustace four times with a small caliber pistol.

One man turned up at a hospital early Saturday but died, and officers went to the scene where he was shot and found another body, that of Modesto Jimenez, 33. The man taken to the hospital was Louis Soriano, 30. Witnesses said a dispute broke out at a party in the early morning hours.

Shortly after 4 a.m. Saturday one man was shot and killed and another critically wounded when police went to investigate a report at an apartment house. A woman called to say she had discovered blood on the floors and halls.

Officers J. G. Ross and M. T. Hutchison went to the apartments and found an apartment door had been forced. Ross said he entered and saw a man later identified as Billy Joe New, attacking a 57-year-old woman. Ross fired as New raced for a window. His body was found outside the apartment house.

Hutchinson, the backup officer, raced for the front of the building and ran into Daniel K. Parchman, 27, a former Dallas policeman, and said he shot as Parchman apparently reached for his back pocket. The wounded Parchman, officers said, apparently was an innocent bystander. He lives in the building.

Two other Dallas shootings during the weekend were nonfatal.

Late Friday night, James Weldon Akins, about 27, was shot as he forced his way into a trailer home, seemingly thinking it was his own.

Marie Barlow, 50, an attendant at a dry cleaner's, was wounded in what was believed a robbery by three persons. All bills were removed from the cash register.

Lose 10 lbs. in 10 days on Grapefruit Diet

HOLLYWOOD, CALIF. (Special) — This is the revolutionary grapefruit diet that everyone is suddenly talking about. Thousands of copies have been passed from hand to hand in factories, plants and offices throughout the U.S.

Because this diet really works. We have testimonials reporting on its success. If you follow it exactly, you should lose 10 pounds in 10 days. No weight loss in the first four days but you will suddenly drop 5 pounds on the 5th day. Thereafter lose one pound a day until the 10th day. Then you will lose 1½ pounds every two days until you get down to your proper weight. Best of all, there will be no hunger pangs. Revised and enlarged, this diet lets you stuff yourself with formerly "forbidden" foods, such as steaks trimmed with fat, roast or fried chicken, gravies, mayonnaise, lobster swimming in butter, bacon fats, sausages and scrambled eggs and still lose weight. The secret behind this "quick weight loss" diet is simple. Fat does not form fat. And the grapefruit juice in this diet acts as a catalyst (the "trigger"), to start the fat burning process. You stuff yourself on the permitted food listed in the diet plan, and still lose unsightly fat and excess body fluids. A copy of this startling successful diet can be obtained by sending $2 to

Citrus Diet Plan

L.A. Calif. 90016

Money-back guarantee. If after trying the diet you have not lost 7 pounds in the first seven days, another 6 pounds in the next 7 days, and 1½ pounds every two days thereafter, simply return the diet plan and your $2 will be refunded promptly and without argument. Tear out this message as a reminder. Decide now to regain the trim, attractive figure of your youth.

"We Thank Thee"

By JO BRIGHT

Thanksgiving Day — at one time unique to the United States — is now almost universally observed, but perhaps nowhere as zestfully as in its land of origin where it ranks as the great annual family festival. The day is often observed with religious services in the churches, but always as an occasion for family reunion.

The custom had its beginning with the Pilgrim Fathers who held the earliest harvest thanksgiving at Plymouth, immediately after their first harvest in 1621. It was repeated often during that and the ensuing century. During the Revolutionary War, the Continental Congress appointed days of thanksgiving each year, and in 1784, for the return of peace — as did President James Madison in 1815.

Washington appointed such a day in 1789 after the adoption of the Constitution, and in 1795 for the "general benefits and welfare of the nation." It was in 1789 that the Episcopal Church formally recognized the civil government's authority to appoint such a feast, and in 1888, the Roman Catholic Church also decided to honor a festival which had long been observed.

The day is fixed by proclamation of the president and the governors of states, and since 1863, the presidents have always issued proclamations appointing the last Thursday in November as Thanksgiving Day.

In the beginning, the Pilgrims gave thanks for the mercies of the closing year— for food, shelter and life itself. As the colonies strengthened and men conquered forests and deserts to the west, the bountiful tables were laid as people prayed for peace.

Today, as man moves beyond the earth, families are reunited to give thanks for a thousand blessings. For some, the circle is incomplete — and there is still a prayer for peace.

PHOTOS BY LYNNA KAY WEAVER

MRS. CLYDE E. THOMAS JR. is practically having a chef's holiday this Thanksgiving, for guests will probably number no more than 35. In the past, as many as 70 relatives and friends have brought their bounty and joined the Thomases for the holiday dinner. Traditionally, the table will be covered with white linen, and dinnerware features a Currier and Ives winter scene in white and browns. Silver shines in the flatware, goblets and candleholders which flank a basket of antiqued fruit. The swirled candles are bronze, and adding to their light is a crystal chandelier.

MRS. ODELL WOMACK, above, prepares an informal table in the den for a Thanksgiving brunch which will be shared by the Womacks, their son, Brent, and other members of the family. For the Early American setting, Mrs. Womack lays the round table with a white-fringed dark green cloth and green napkins. Against the green is gold flatware and white goblets. With the gardener's sure touch, Mrs. Womack has created a centerpiece which symbolizes the season. On a polished mahogany base, she placed a mahogany compote arranged with white mums and faded out to white bleached wheat. Lines of the slanting crescent arrangement are carried out with wine-brown barberry, red grapes and green limes. Bronze "Praying Hands", placed on the base, point up to represent reverence and thankfulness.

MRS. MORRIS ROBERTSON, below, will have twelve family members for dinner Thursday, as well as a group of Vietnam veterans from the Veterans Administration Hospital. The Robertsons' son, Sgt. Ricky Robertson, is now serving at Da Nang, but will be with his family in spirit. Mrs. Robertson will serve a delicious dinner, including turkey and ham, at a Spanish pecan dining table laid with a gold cloth. The brown "Spanish Flair" dinnerware is used with gold flatware and amber glasses. The centerpiece, created by Q. T. Coates, is an oval wicker basket arranged with green candles, pine clusters and antiqued apples, pears and pomegranates.

BIG SPRING, TEXAS, SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 23, 1969

NEW TO BIG SPRING — The newcomers at 4024 Vicky are Mrs. Chris Brusuealas holding son, David, and daughters, Phyllis and Brenda, with Brusuealas.

Chris Brusuealases Find New Challenges

By MARILYN NEVELS

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Brusuealas, who recently came here from Pasadena near Houston, find the climate and friendliness of a smaller town a pleasant change. They moved into their new home at 4024 Vicky, Oct. 4, with their two girls and infant son. Their son, David is three-months-old.

The girls, Phyllis, 7, and Brenda, 5, are attending the Immaculate Heart of Mary School and making many new friends. They even have a new pet. After having several dogs, they have adopted a fuzzy, gray-striped kitten, named Tiger.

Brusuealas is a senior design draftsman at Datamate. Formerly he was a project leader at Philco in Pasadena. He finds his position at Datamate an interesting challenge as the company is a pioneering one. Brusuealas said that he is interested in watching Datamate grow and establish its own procedures from the most modern methods available.

Brusuealas' home town is Tularosa, N.M. He graduated from Tularosa High School and attended Highlands University, Las Vegas, N.M. Then he took future studies at the Kansas City Art Institute, Kansas City, Mo. He served as an Army medic at Fort Hood.

"We had our first child there, then Brenda at Tularosa and David at Pasadena," Mrs. Brusuealas said. "We're going to have to quit moving."

Mr. and Mrs. Brusuealas share several common interests in travelling, theater, art, popular music and dancing. Brusuealas likes to do oil painting and pencil sketching. "I like action scenes, football, wild animals, such as deer and birds," said Brusuealas. He also enjoys painting landscapes. He target shoots and hunts small game and deer. He also plans to collect guns and enjoys making gun stocks as a hobby. He follows all sports on television and said that he may have to change his loyalty from the Houston Oilers to the Dallas Cowboys now that he is in West Texas. In Pasadena, he also was a member of the Knights of Columbus.

Mrs. Brusuealas has recently taken on a job selling cosmetics at home in her spare time. For pleasure, she enjoys making feather flower arrangements and painting ceramics. Until recently she has had little spare time since her daughters came down with the mumps. Now that Brenda and Phyllis have recovered and David seems perfectly healthy, the Brusuealases plan to get to know Big Spring better. Mrs. Brusuealas is also from New Mexico, Alamogordo, and much perfers the climate here to that of Houston.

Lask weekend the family drove to the City Park, one of their first outings. "We were very impressed with how nice the park is and with the outdoor theater," Brusuealas said. They find the countryside and climate here a welcome change. "And the people are very friendly."

Baby Shower Held For Mrs. Pete Stone

Mrs. Pete Stone was honored Thursday evening with a baby shower in the home of Mrs. Don Yates, 1909 Mittel. The Stones' new son is named Alan Forest.

Cohostesses with Mrs. Yates were Mrs. Robert Knutson, Mrs. Robert Rogers, Mrs. Howard Chancellor, Mrs. William Bokelman, Mrs. Richard Pachall and Mrs. James Stubbendieck.

Mrs. Stone was presented a corsage made with a baby rattler and blue ribbons. The hostess gift was a stroller.

Guests were served refreshments from a polished table accented with an arrangement of blue and white carnations and a white cake appropriately inscribed in blue.

C. A. Odom Talks On Commissary

Charles A. Odom, commissary officer at Webb Air Force Base, was guest speaker Thursday evening for the British Wives Club in the home of Mrs. Thomas Bare, 155-B Fairchild. Odom explained commissary procedure and answered questions concerning commissary items and prices.

Mrs. Donald Thelan presided as an informal coffee was planned for 10:30 a.m., Dec. 4, in the home of Mrs. Bryan Matthews, 182-B Fairchild. In December the club will sponsor a Christmas party for their children and a group of underprivileged children.

Make Decorations For Thanksgiving

Mrs. Joseph Saint presided when members of the Ladies Home League of the Salvation Army made plans to have a Thanksgiving dinner Thursday at the Citadel. The group made log flower containers for the table decorations. On Wednesday evening, the Girl Guards and Sunbeams were shown a film, "Beyond LSD," by Lt. Joseph Saint.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:

For things — such as medical and dental checkups — that should be taken care of annually and that most of us have a tendency to put off:

Try taking care of all of them in the same month (perhaps your birth month).

Helps avoid both forgetting and procrastinating. . . . Teresa Michael

• • •

An excellent idea, Teresa. Thanks for the reminder as well as the suggestion. . . . Heloise

• • •

Dear Heloise:

As a former den mother I have an answer for the mother who wanted to know how to make papier-mache puppet heads.

This is my method:

1. Blow up a balloon to desired size and tie.
2. Dip strips of newspaper into liquid laundry starch.
3. Cover balloon with strips several layers thick.
4. When dry (it takes a while), paint and decorate as you wish.

I have used this method successfully with cub scouts and nursery school children. It's quite easy. The balloon can be left in place or the tied bump can be cut off. . . . Mrs. D.J.F.

• • •

LETTER OF PRAISE

Dear Heloise:

I am an engineer who specializes in salad-making as a hobby. It's really amazing how many good ideas I glean from your "girls" . . .

My favorite Heloise suggestion was one that an unsung heroine sent in a couple of years ago:

It concerned putting paper towels in the bottom of the vegetable bin of the refrigerator to prevent the formation of mold, and attendant early spoilage, of salad makings.

This one idea has saved me untold tons of spoilage, let alone the multi-loss of my temper when I went to make a quick dinner salad only to find the vegetables unusable.

The girl who suggested the paper towels should be awarded a medal, and enshrined in the Hall of Fame- . . . Jay Kloer

• • •

Amen! . . . Heloise

• • •

Dear Heloise:

My mother sews professionally and often uses tracing paper for markings. Sometimes these marks will show through on certain fabrics.

One morning she needed hair spray before opening shop and ran by the grocery store. The grocer was using hair spray to remove indelible ink from the can tops . . . so you know what she was thinking about

She hurried back to her shop to try it on tracing paper marks. It works! We tried it on several types of fabric with no bad effects (other than slightly stiff). But the marks all rubbed out. . . . Miss J.M.

• • •

Dear Heloise:

I was searching for my fine chain necklace and when I finally found it, it was in a complete mess.

After removing all the knots, I got one of my plastic bobbins from the sewing machine and wound the chain around that.

No more knots and the bobbin takes up very little space in my jewelry box. . . . Vicki

• • •

Dear Heloise:

My hint is for people who make stuffed toys or sew clothes for small dolls.

I was turning a cloth dog that I had made and was trying to use my scissors. This didn't prove very successful at all so I thought of using a stick like we use in caramel apples.

Made it so much easier to get the tail and foot pushed out just right.

Since then I have also tucked a tongue depressor into my sewing box. This has been very helpful also.

By using these sticks there is nothing sharp and no danger of spoiling seams or cutting the material . . . Catherine Taylor

B Of LF&E Elects New Officer Slate

The Ladies Society to the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen met Wednesday in the IOOF Hall to elect officers.

Those elected were Mrs. W. W. Marlin, president; Mrs. C. L. Kirkland, vice president; Mrs. J. L. Millican, past president; Mrs. Tip Anderson Sr., secretary; Mrs. W. N. Wood, treasurer; Mrs. E. A. Williams, collector; Mrs. Kirkland, delegate; Mrs. C. B. Sullivan, alternate delegate; Mrs. M. E. Anderson, chaplain; Mrs. L. A. Griffith, warden; Mrs. J. E. Craven, conductress; Mrs. A. W. Moody, musician; Mrs. Clayton Coats and Mrs. Walter Schattel, trustees; Mrs. D. C. Pyle, flag bearer; Mrs. P. L. Bradford, inner guard; Mrs. J. F. Skalicky, outer guard; and Mrs. Frank Wilson, publicity.

Lodge members will serve refreshments at the Veterans Administration Hospital Nov. 28, when Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Anderson will be hostesses.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Millican, Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Wood.

The next meeting will be Dec. 17 with Mrs. Marlin and Mrs. Coates as hostesses.

BETROTHED — Mr. and Mrs. Francisco Carreno of Flower Grove are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Delia, to David Lemon, son of Mrs. Daniel Lemon of Lenorah and the late Mr. Lemon. The couple will be married Dec. 19 at St. James Catholic Church in Stanton.

Two Speakers Trace History Of Modern American Art, Music

Mrs. Sam Anderson and Mrs. Ben Johnson gave the program, "The History of Modern American Art and Music," at Thursday's meeting of the 1905 Hyperion Club in the home of Mrs. J. C. Pickle, 415 Hillside Drive. Mrs. Johnson was cohostess.

"Early American artists were influenced by the European artists, Matisse and Picasso," said Mrs. Anderson, "but after World War I, a group of European refugees, calling themselves the Fauves (wild animals), established an art colony in America. Their methods were so unconventional that they shocked the cultural art centers throughout the land.

"Actually, it proved to be a good influence, as it encouraged American artists to abandon conventional methods and experiment with more daring and creative methods. One of the first new movements to result from this could be called the abstract or expressionist school. Among the artists was a man called Toky, who had studied in Shanghai, and whose teachings imparted a definite Oriental trend to the work of his pupils. Others among the school were de Kooening, Gottlieb and E. C. Pollack."

Mrs. Anderson emphasized that art is no longer factual or a reproduction, but rather appeals to the emotions as a mood or to the eye. It often is a "mirror of the mood" of the artist.

"Modern art is often flat and intentionally clumsy," said Mrs. Anderson. "It has movement and mood but little or no central interest."

Mrs. Ben Johnson spoke on "The History of Modern Music" for the second half of the program.

"Many authorities say that the United States' only contribution to music is jazz," said Mrs. Johnson. "Jazz, developed in New Orleans in the early 1900's, is a blending of African rhythms and the conservatory training of the Creoles.

"Two of its forms are spirituals, or hymns, and gospels, which are religious songs recounting passages from the scriptures. Not all songs with blue in the title have the two basis blues harmonic construction required in true jazz."

Mrs. Johnson played records which illustrated the evolution of jazz from New Orleans Dixieland origin, through ragtime, boogie-woogie, blues, bop, swing and "soul." She closed with a record entitled, "Switched on Bach," which is an example of the music which is predicted will predominate in the 21st century because it is capable of reproducing any sound audible to the human ear.

The program was introduced by Mrs. Rogers Hefley, and Mrs. Horace Reagan presided during a brief business session.

Mrs. J. Langford Is Dinner Hostess

The Mothers' of Twins Club held a Thanksgiving dinner Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Joe Langford, 1605 Sycamore. The quartet tables were laid with white cloths and centered with miniature turkeys and small floral arrangements. The next meeting will be a Christmas party for the twins in the home of Mrs. Kenneth Morrow, 1506 E. 17th. Any mother of twins is invited to attend and bring her children.

FOCUS ON FAMILY LIVING

Turkey Takes The Spotlight At Most Thanksgiving Tables

By CATHERINE CRAWFORD
County HD Agent

Turkey takes the spotlight at most Thanksgiving dinners.

This has been the traditional bird since the Colonists had their first feast in America in 1621, called by Gov. Bradford for the Plymouth Colony. However, the origin of these holidays actually dates back to ancient times. Kings and other leaders often called for thanksgiving feasts after harvests, battles and fortunate events.

Following the first American Thanksgiving, these days were set aside by various governors of colonies and states. Later the President issued proclamations designating different dates each year. In 1863 President Lincoln established the last Thursday in November as the traditional day.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's Consumer and Marketing Service reports plentiful supplies of turkeys for our 1969 Thanksgiving on Nov. 27 — and for the rest of the month, too.

LESS TIME

To reduce the time required to cook a large bird, try this method for preparing turkey this year. Butter-roasted turkey with foil allows for a high roasting temperature. Rinse thawed turkey with cold water, then pat dry. If the bird is to be stuffed, fill the neck, then fasten neck skin to back with skewer. Stuff cavity lightly. Push drumsticks under band of skin at the tail, or tie them to the tail. Brush skin with melted butter.

Place turkey in center of foil strip, 12 inches longer than bird. Splice two sheets of foil with a double fold pressed flat, if one width is not enough.

Bring ends of foil together over the breast of the turkey and fasten tightly. Bring sides of foil up high enough to prevent drippings from escaping into pan. (Large turkeys may have as much as three pints of drippings.) Package should not be airtight.

Place foil-wrapped turkey, breast up, in bottom of shallow pan, not on a rack. Place in preheated 450 degree F. oven and cook to within 30 to 40 minutes of the total time, as shown below. Carefully open foil and fold away from bird to edges of pan. Insert meat thermometer, if one is to be used, in center of inside thigh muscle or thickest part of breast muscle at this time. Continue cooking until done. Thermometer should reach approximately 185 degrees F. and the thickest part of the drumsticks feels very soft when pressed between protected fingers.

Total cooking time by the above method is about 2¼ to 2½ hours for a 7 to 9 pound bird, 2¾ to 3 hours for 10-13 pounder, 3 to 3¼ hours for 14-17 pounder, 3¼ to 3½ hours for 18-21 pounder and 3½ to 3¾ hours for turkeys weighing 22 to 24 pounds.

WILD TURKEYS

Wild turkeys provide an opportunity for the hunter to provide meat for the table at this time of the year. Taken during the prescribed hunting season, they offer excellent treats when properly dressed and prepared.

Most hunters agree that dry plucking rather than skinning conserves flavor and moisture in turkeys. All game birds should be dressed as soon as possible following the kill. Aging at a temperature just above freezing for 24 to 48 hours generally removes some of the gamey flavor if you feel that it detracts from the eating pleasure.

Wild turkeys vary in weight from an average of 14 pounds for the male and an average of 8 pounds for the female. When roasting wild turkey, allow ¾ to 1 cup stuffing per pound of ready-to-cook meat.

ROASTED WILD TURKEY

1 turkey, 8 to 10 lbs., ready-to-cook
Salt and pepper
8 cups partially dry bread cubes (white or cornbread)
¾ cup finely chopped celery
½ cup chopped nuts, if desired
2 to 3 tsps. sage
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
1½ cups chopped onion
¼ cup butter or margarine
½ cup water

Sprinkle turkey inside and out with salt and pepper. Combine bread, celery, nuts and seasonings. Cook onion in butter or margarine until tender, but not brown; pour over bread mixture. Add the water and toss lightly. Spoon stuffing lightly into body cavity. Put remaining dressing in a greased casserole. Cover and bake in oven with turkey during last 30 minutes of roasting time.

Truss bird by folding neck skin over and skewer it to the back. Twist wing tips and bring onto back. Insert skewers through skin across cavity opening; lace with cord to close. Tie drumsticks together or tie to the tail.

Cover the breast with bacon slices and cheesecloth soaked in melted bacon fat.

Place turkey, breast up, on rack on roasting pan. Roast at 325 degrees F. 20 to 25 minutes per pound or until tender, basting frequently with bacon fat and drippings in pan. Remove cheesecloth, skewers and string. Serves 8 to 10.

For a small family, a three-pound broiler can be prepared with dressing to make a delicious main dish for Thanksgiving dinner. Prepare a loose foil wrap as indicated for the turkey. Stuff, if desired. Bake the chicken for one hour at 375 degrees. Open foil wrap and let the bird be allowed to brown. Check for doneness by feeling of the thickest part of the drumstick with protected fingers. It should feel very soft when it is done. Cream of chicken soup diluted to a gravy consistency substitutes very nicely for regular giblet gravy.

ROCK CORNISH HENS WITH WILD RICE STUFFING

Water
1½ cups chicken stock
3 tbsps. butter or margarine
1½ cups chopped celery
½ cup chopped onion
1 tsp. seasoned salt
¼ cup chicken broth or water
6 Rock Cornish hens
¼ cup melted butter or margarine
1 tsp. seasoned salt

Wash the wild rice well; place in a bowl and add the water to cover. Let the rice soak for two hours. Drain the rice; place in a two-quart saucepan. Add the chicken stock and one tablespoon butter or margarine. Bring to a boil, reduce heat, cover and simmer gently for about 30 minutes or until the rice is tender. Meanwhile melt the remaining two tablespoons butter or margarine.

Add the chopped celery and onion and saute until crisp-tender. Add the vegetables, seasoned salt, and broth or water to the cooked rice, mixing lightly to combine. Wash and dry the Cornish hens thoroughly.

Stuff each hen lightly with about one-half cup of rice stuffing; then truss. Blend the melted butter or margarine and seasoned salt. Brush each hen with the seasoned butter. Roast at 350 degrees for one to one and one-half hours. Serves six.

TO MARRY — Mr. and Mrs. Valentin Torres Sr. of Garden City are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Violanda, to Airman 1.C. Evilan Mercado of Beale Air Force Base, Calif. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Enrique Mercado of Waukegan, Ill. The ceremony will be performed Jan. 31 in the First Baptist Church at Garden City. Miss Torres is a senior at West Texas State University.

Genealogical Society Will Study LBJ Papers During Conference

A discussion of the personal and historical papers of former President Lyndon B. Johnson will be one of the highlights of the ninth genealogical conference of the Texas State Genealogical Society in San Antonio Nov. 27-29.

Dr. Joe B. Franz, director of the Texas Historical Association, will present the discussion. Dr. Franz heads the University of Texas oral history project which is taping interviews with hundreds of persons who have participated in President Johnson's career in public service. The tapes will be placed in the LBJ Library on the University of Texas campus in Austin.

The genealogical conference, with a theme of personal and historical papers, will be held in San Antonio's St. Anthony Hotel.

Other speakers:

Dr. Dorman H. Winfrey, director and librarian of the Texas State Library, discussing the Mirabeau Bonaparte Lamar papers.

John Insley Coddington, fellow of the American Society of Genealogists, speaking on Royal and Noble Families. Coddington is a former editor of the National Genealogical Society Quarterly.

Paul F. Royal, general secretary of the Genealogical Society in Salt Lake City, speaking on the 1969 World Conference on Records and Genealogy.

Anyone interested in attending the conference may do so by contacting Mrs. Edna Perry Deckler, president of the Texas State Genealogical Society, at 2528 University Drive, Fort Worth. The Texas State Genealogical Society is a non-profit educational institution founded in 1960.

MRS. ROBERT T. DEMING

MRS. FRANK MOORE

Webb Women Are Nominated For 'Military Wife Of Year'

A church organist and a volunteer-minded mother are the two Webb AFB women nominated for the Air Training Command "Military Wife of the Year" award.

The women, Mrs. Robert Deming and Mrs. Frank Moore, were selected to represent the base by the Officers Wives Club and the Noncommissioned Officers Wives Club, respectively.

Mrs. Deming is the wife of Lt. Col. Robert Deming, former wing chaplain who is now stationed in Bangkok, Thailand. Mrs. Moore is the wife of S.M. Sgt. Frank Moore, a jet engine shop superintendent in the 3560th Field Maintenance Squadron.

Both women were chosen on the basis of their contributions and service to base and community projects. The command nominee will be selected in December by a board headed by Mrs. Sam Maddux Jr., wife of the ATC commander. The command winner will compete for Air Force selection. Mrs. John D. Ryan, wife of the Air Force chief of staff, will choose the Air Force representative. An international panel of women selected by the General Federation of Women's Clubs will choose the 1970 "Military Wife of the Year" from the service nominees.

Mrs. Deming, who served as a chaplain's assistant while a member of the U.S. Marine Women's Reserves between 1942 and 1945, is still active in religious affairs today. She is an organist for the First Presbyterian Church and advisor to the Women of the Chapel at Webb. Mrs. Deming brought the St. Anne's Guild and the Protestant Women of the Chapel together, forming the WOC, in an effort to promote more interfaith understanding and service.

Throughout the years, the mother of five children has been equally active in religious promotion. She served as chairman for the local World Day of Prayer for two years and has spoken to many church groups on religious matters while stationed with her husband overseas.

Mrs. Deming has attended the Missionary Training College in Nyack, N.Y., and holds a bachelor of sacred music degree from Westminster Choir College, Princeton, N.J.

In the community, Mrs. Deming assists the therapist at Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, works with discussion groups at the Veterans Administration Hospital and is vice president of the Oasis Garden Club.

Mrs. Moore lists volunteer work in Head Start and at the dental clinic and base thrift shop as areas in which she devotes her free time.

She has participated in Family Services work, assisted in a base-wide clothing drive for underprivileged and handicapped children in the local area and helped in a similar drive for elderly residents at Big Spring State Hospital.

Mrs. Moore listed her work with the Head Start program as her most important project. About 80 per cent of the area Head Start children come from Latin American families whose primary language is Spanish. They are being taught English before entering public schools.

Mrs. Moore is active in the Parent-Teacher Association; presently Parent and Family Life Education chairman at her school and representative to the PTA city council.

Athletically inclined, Mrs. Moore is vice president of the Big Spring Bowling Association. She is a qualified American Junior Bowling Congress instructor and participates in ladies softball and volleyball on base.

In the NCO Wives Club, Mrs. Moore holds the position of secretary. At other times, she was vice president and welfare chairman. She is the mother of three children.

Counselor Discloses Childrens' Problems

Mrs. Arthur Schmidt, an elementary school counselor, discussed "How Is Your Emotional Health?" at Thursday's meeting of the College Heights Parent-Teacher Association. Mrs. Charlie Shanks introduced the speaker.

"My job is a preventive one in which I try to catch problems early," said Mrs. Schmidt. She works with children both individually and in groups to help solve problems of hyper-active children, under-achievers (in need of special education) or minimal brain injured children. She announced a new program will start Monday, designed to help children having problems in mathematics or reading.

The speaker stressed that she works in conjunction with parents and teachers, citing the need for parents to understand their child's problem and "not to push the panic button." She said parents should talk the problem over with someone qualified to help, while not blaming the child or themselves.

Mrs. Schmidt emphasized that parents should show love for each other and the children in the home. She advised talking softly to the child and respecting his privacy while expecting him to respect theirs. She warned against prescribing a punishment, while not carrying through with it, and emphasized not arguing with a child.

"Help your child to learn the greatest lesson of all—love," concluded Mrs. Schmidt.

Mrs. Charles Beil gave the Big Spring PTA City Council report, announcing that volunteers are needed for Head Start.

It was announced that profit from the Halloween carnival was $650. Mrs. J. E. Swindell, president, reported on the state PTA convention held last week in San Antonio where the theme was "Confrontation with Realities." She said the Texas PTA presents 15 $400 scholarships to teachers each year. Mrs. Swindell distributed pamphlets, "Facing the Challenge" and "If the Shoe Fits."

Mrs. Elvis McCrary will send PTA membership cards to parents this week. Room count was won by Mrs. Stanley Adamson's third grade.

A project committee was appointed, including Mrs. J. A. Beam, Mrs. Beil and Mrs. Cleve Butler. J. A. Beam, principal, announced school will be dismissed at 2:45 p.m., Wednesday, for the Thanksgiving holidays.

The next meeting will be Dec. 10, when a musical program will be presented by the sixth grade.

TOPS Club Plans To Make Banner

Plans were discussed to make a banner for International Recognition Day slated in May, 1970, at Houston during Thursday's meeting of the TOPS Plate Pushers. The group met in the Pioneer Gas Flame Room. Mrs. K. C. Webb presided, and Mrs. Frank Russell received the bowl of fruit. A bake sale will be held Wednesday at both Safeway Stores. The next meeting will be Dec. 4 in the Flame Room.

Reports Are Given At Council Meeting

The Council of Big Spring Garden Clubs met Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Guy Cook, 1006 E. 21st. Mrs. Luke Fortenberry, flower show chairman, reported on the recent flower show and expressed appreciation for the work done by the members. Bill Sneed announced that some bulbs are left over from the show, and will be on sale at Jay Cunningham's Feed Store. The next meeting will be Jan. 28 in the home of Mrs. Tom Ivey, Silver Heels.

La Gallina Club Championship

La Gallina club championship games were held Friday at Big Spring Country Club. Five tables played the Howell movement with Mrs. Paul Meek and Mrs. Ken Perry placing first.

Mrs. Bill Dearing and Mrs. Norman Picquet tied for second and third places with Mrs. Daryle Hohertz and Mrs. R. G. Sinder, and fourth place went to Mrs. Bill Johnson and Mrs. Granville Hahn.

The next games will be held at 10 a.m., Dec. 5, at the club.

Sew Handwork

Handwork comprised the entertainment at Friday's meeting of the Eager Beaver Sewing Club in the home of Mrs. R. I. Findley, 1810 Owens. Plans were made for a couple's Christmas party at 7:30 p.m., Dec. 12, in the home of Mrs. J. E. Freeman, 2100 Johnson.

'Quotable Quotes'

By The Associated Press

Some quotable quotes from women during the week:

"I saw the gun and I said, 'You're not supposed to have that.' "— Charlene Delmonico, 23-year-old stewardess on the Trans World Airlines jetliner hijacked from California to Rome.

"Consumers of all ages and income levels are being harassed by high prices, inadequate servicing, defective products and a myriad of other grievances, real or fancied."—Mary Gardiner Jones, the only woman on the Federal Trade Commission, at a meeting of Mayor Yorty's consumer protection committee in Los Angeles.

"I think women are well-suited to be producers. After all, the job takes what we have inherently: patience, organization, and a capacity for understanding people."—Carolyn Raskin, producer of Frank Sinatra's television special, in an interview.

"It hurts me personally when we are obliged to turn a victimized consumer away, because we simply lack the power to obtain justice for him."—Bess Myerson Grant, consumer affairs commissioner of New York, in an interview.

"I lived as a black for six months and all my white friends say, 'Oh, you're so brave.' But no one is telling the black woman she's brave and she lives with it all the time."—Grace Halsell, a white woman who changed her skin to black by sunbathing and a pigment drug, quit a White House job and lived as a Negro in Harlem and Mississippi.

With the weather being like it has been for the past week I get the feeling I know exactly how a baked Alaska must feel . . . cold in the middle and warm outside. These frosty mornings and warm afternoons are certainly on the opposite sides of the thermometer.

I'm looking forward to more visits and longer ones with MRS. PETE WARREN who made her home in Colorado City until recently. She remembers along with me the old C. M. ADAMS home that was a really elegant house in its day . . . and she, too, grieved when it was demolished several years ago. Ah, progress!

Two of the four daughters of the HORACE BEENES are here to see their parents. MRS. TOM ALEXANDER (Joyce) and ANN SUMPTER, Shaw AFB, S.C., arrived here Friday evening and MRS. JOHN ZIOBER (Janelle) and her JANE ANN came Saturday from Morgan City, La.

A busy baker is MRS. J. M. BRADLEY. She, along with other of her sorority members, busied themselves during the latter part of the week preparing for the Saturday bake sale . . . But Mrs. Bradley never got to the sale with any of her baked goods . . . she sold them all before they left her kitchen. This is something of a second happening as she baked 32 loaves of dill bread for a band bake sale and sold them all before the day of the sale. Which makes those of us who like to buy for a good cause but hate to get 'mix' cakes, take heart. Regardless of what some say, there's nothing like 'home cooking'.

Women Journalists Will Receive Awards

COLUMBIA, Mo. — Five judges who helped launch the first J. C. Penney-University of Missouri Journalism Awards competition for women's page excellence in 1960 will return to rate entries in this year's contest, Dean Earl F. English of the Missouri School of Journalism announced today.

To celebrate the award program's first decade, Dean English said these experts will judge the 1969 entries:

INEZ ROBB, columnist for United Feature Syndicate and distinguished newspaperwoman, who recently retired;

MARGOT SHERMAN, senior vice president of McCann-Erickson, Inc., New York City;

J. BARRY MULLANEY, veteran newspaper executive and former assistant to the publisher of the Cleveland Plain Dealer;

MRS. DOROTHY ROE LEWIS, for 20 years women's editor of the Associated Press and a women's columnist for the New York News-Chicago Tribune Syndicate; and

DR. MARGARET W. MANGEL, director of the School of Home Economics at Missouri U., and permanent competition judge.

"We are very pleased that we can assemble these judges again," Dean English said, "and benefit from their evaluation of the many improvements in women's news coverage since the awards program began."

Judging photo entries this year will be:

RICH CLARKSON, chief of photography, Topeka Capital-Journal and longtime leader in the National Press Photographers Assn.;

SCOTT DINE, color photography expert with the St. Louis Post-Dispatch "Sunday" magazine;

ROY INMAN, director of photography for the Kansas City Star's new "STAR" magazine; and

PROF. CLIFF EDOM, director of Missouri U.'s photo journalism sequence and co-director of the "Pictures of the Year" competition, which is sponsored by World Book Encyclopedia Science Service, Inc., the NPPA and the Missouri School of Journalism.

Awards of nearly $11,500 will go to daily and weekly newspapers again this year for best women's pages, fashion writing, reporting-writing excellence and women's page photography.

Awards include $1,000, $500 and $250 for the three women's page winners in each of four circulation classes; $1,500 each to single winners in the fashion and reporting-writing categories; $500 to the national "Women's Page Photographer of the Year"; and awards of $150 first, $75 second and $50 third in three photo classes.

The 1969 award winners, to be announced Christmas Day, will be honored at a five-day workshop and banquet next March. The workshop is open to all newspaper women's editors and writers, and sessions cover makeup, story ideas, critiques, news-writing and photography.

The newspaper awards honor James Cash Penney, 94, founder of the department store chain and a native of Hamilton, Mo. They were started in 1960 through a Penney Company grant to the University. A second program rewarding women's interest journalism in the nation's magazines, with annual awards totaling $7,000, was created in 1967 by another Penney grant. Director of the Penney-Missouri Awards Programs is Paul L. Myhre, associate professor of journalism.

'Be Grateful' Says Speaker

Mrs. Paul Kionka, vice president of The Woman's Forum, introduced the program, "The Art of Living Through Gratitude," at Thursday's meeting in the home of Mrs. Clyde Johnston, 2011 Johnson. Mrs. W. H. Bain was cohostess.

Mrs. Kionka read a Thanksgiving poem and prayer. Mrs. Lonnie Coker spoke on "Grateful Hearts."

"Everyday, we take for granted our nation, our blessings and our five senses," said Mrs. Coker. She quoted Helen Keller when she said, "The greatest tragedy is to have eyes and not see." Mrs. Coker advised the members to take a personal inventory "to see the gifts God has bestowed upon you."

Mrs. Charles Sweeney, fine arts chairman, asked the question, "What Is Fine Arts?". She answered by saying that it is the product of those people who are concerned with creating beautiful arts that appeal to the esthetic senses.

"People expect to enjoy a poem, a painting or a symphony for its own sake, not merely as a means to something else," said Mrs. Sweeney.

Mrs. W. N. Norred, president, distributed pamphlets from the General Federation of Women's Clubs, and members signed a resolution on "Morality—Mass Media."

The forum Christmas party will be a luncheon Dec. 19 at Cosden Country Club. The members will assist with a Christmas party Dec. 16 at Big Spring State Hospital.

Mrs. Cornelia D. Gary Honored At Gift Shower

Mrs. Cornelia D. Gary was the honoree at "prospective grandmother's" gift shower held Thursday in the home of Mrs. R. Byron Orand, 700 Birdwell Lane. Mrs. Gary's daughter is Mrs. Charles Dunagan of Pasadena, Tex. ,who was unable to attend.

Cohostesses were Mrs. Wayne Bonner, Mrs. L. R. Calvert and Mrs. Bill Gage.

Honored guests were Mrs. W. R. Douglass, Mrs. C. E. Lytle and Miss Connie Gary.

The honoree was presented a pink ribbon corsage centered with antique spectacles. Refreshments were served from a polished table, and the centerpiece, which was also the hostess gift, was a nursery chair arranged with ivy and pink and blue pompon mums. Mrs. Bonner presided at the silver service.

Judaism Defined As 'Religious Civilization'

"By birth, marriage or adoption in faith, the Jews are all members of a single family that traces its genealogy back 4,000 years to Abraham," said A. J. Prager when he spoke on Judaism at Monday's meeting of Cactus Chapter, American Business Women's Association. The group met in Coker's Restaurant.

"Judaism is a religious civilization that has survived after enduring the most ruthless and long-continued persecution ever visited on any people," continued Prager.

"The Jewish home is a sanctuary. Family love is an integral part of the Jewish cultural pattern. There is normally only minimal emotional conflict between husband and wife and parents and children. Jewish families are child-centered, and their children are raised with a deep-rooted set of traditional values and directions.

"There are four classifications of Jewish people, the orthodox, conservative, reform and the re-constructionists. All Jews have a vision of the future, when all human beings shall regard each other as brothers and acknowledge God as their creator and Father."

The Thanksgiving theme was carried out with tables laid with white cloths, and the head table was centered with fall flowers flanked by miniature turkeys.

Mrs. Charles Hans presided and initiated two new members, Mrs. John Ray and Mrs. Rodney Allison. Four guests, Mrs. Don Green, Mrs. Keith Swim, Mrs. Elizabeth Trantham and Mrs. Floyd Young, were welcomed.

Favors were presented to each member from the ABWA national convention held recently in Detroit, Mich.

The vocational talk was given by Mrs. D. G. Harris, who works for Jack Lewis Buick and Cadillac.

Bride-Elect Honored At Gift Party

Miss Lariece Root, bride-elect of Dana Craven, was complimented with a gift shower Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Bill Swindell, 1000 E. 20th.

Cohostesses were Mrs. Paul Beasley, Mrs. Floyd Williams, Mrs. Cleve Butler, Mrs. James Fuller, Mrs. Elbert Long, Mrs. Tom Dimpfl, Mrs. Frank Goodman, Mrs. Jack Shaffer, Mrs. Curtis Vaughn, Mrs. Ruth Hampton and Miss Arlene Hartin.

The honoree was presented a blue carnation corsage. Her mother, Mrs. Bill Griffin, and her fiance's mother, Mrs. Claude Craven, were given white carnation corsages.

The refreshment table was laid with a white lace cloth over blue and centered with an arrangement of mixed royal blue flowers. Crystal and silver appointments completed the setting.

The couple plans to marry Dec. 13 at Trinity Baptist Church, with the father of the bridegroom, the Rev. Claude Craven, officiating.

Installation Slated For Club Officers

New officers of the Elbow Home Demonstration Club will be installed at the HD Council party Dec. 9 in the First United Methodist Church. The announcement was made at Thursday's Thanksgiving luncheon in the home of Mrs. K. R. Duffer.

The hostess gave the devotion. Plans were made to attend the program, "Sewing New Fabrics," to be held Dec. 5 in Snyder. The Christmas party was slated at 1:30 p.m., Dec. 16, in the home of Mrs. Denver Yates. Mrs. Lewis Soles won the attendance prize.

Five guests, Mrs. William Burch and Mrs. Randall Reid, both of Coahoma; Mrs. Jack Mundell, Mrs. John Ratliff and Mrs. Delaine Crawford, were welcomed.

WEBB WINDSOCK

By MRS. JOHN MACKE

One of the nicest things about writing the "Windsock" is that it gives an opportunity to meet some fascinating people. Mrs. Glenn Shaffer, wife of the Operations Officer for 3561st PTS is one of these people, filled with vitality and a joy of life that is downright infectious. It is well that she seems to enjoy doing things, because as Special Activities chairman of the Officers Wives Club, she has more than enough for one person to handle.

It is the aim of the Special Activities chairman to help students' wives keep occupied during the absences of their husbands. This is why they have available to them classes in knitting, bridge, even horseback riding, all under her aegis. And guess who was the instigator of the weekly Bingo games at the Officers Club? Correct! She happens to love the game.

Mrs. Shaffer has been called Webb's "unofficial hostess" — with good reason. A part of her duties, which she thoroughly enjoys, is the giving of three parties every year. She was escort adviser for the Deb Ball with great success: one of the couples is planning a December wedding. Last summer's pool party and barbecue was her doing.

Mrs. Shaffer's formula for the timing of entertainments is a practical one: "When things begin to look pretty dull, I decide to have a party." The only one that is really traditional is the Christmas Ball, which has her in full gear right now, together with other committee members, Mr. W. D. R. Lund, Mrs. Charles Sprietsma, Mrs. James W. Jacobs, and Mrs. Billy Walker. This is the high point of Webb's social calendar and demands very special planning.

A formal occasion such as this one, which will be held Dec. 6 at the Officers Open Mess calls for a menu of hors d'oeuvres, floral and candle arrangements, decorations, and — oh yes — two guards at the entrance. Mrs. Shaffer is spared the engaging of a band, since this is the club's domain. However, all these other responsibilities, along with publicity, are hers.

Some of the decorations must be taken from storage, dusted and rejuvenated. Others must be designed and made. The main decoration for the ballroom promises to be both spectacular and tasteful, incorporating a huge wreath with drapings of red felt and gold tassels. The tree in the Fireside Room will be decorated in Spanish style, with large red paper roses — fireproof, of course. After hours of tedious work, it was proved that the first batch of roses was flammable. So new materials had to be found and the whole thing done over again.

This, by the way, is another of her responsibilities in connection with the ball. She must see to it that everything is in accordance with fire regulations.

Whew, what a job! Are you getting worn out just reading this? There's more. Mrs. Glenn Shaffer is also a den mother.

Credit Club Has Exams Thursday

Big Spring Credit Women-International met Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. George Weeks, 1305 Eleventh Place, to take examinations after completing the study book, "Steps of Progress."

Mrs. W. E. Moren presided, and Mrs. C. W. Mahoney distributed the new study manuals, "Harmony in the Key of C."

The club Christmas party was slated at 7:30 p.m., Dec. 15, in the home of Mrs. C. R. Rhoads, 800 Lancaster. Gifts will be exchanged, and the social committee will serve as hostesses.

Refreshments were served at quartet tables covered with white cutwork cloths and centered with fall flowers.

1948 Hyperions Hear 'Trends In Literature'

"Trends in Contemporary Literature" was presented by Mrs. O. T. Brewster at Thursday's meeting of the 1948 Hyperion Club in the home of Mrs. M. M. Edwards with Mrs. Harvy Williamson as cohostess. The speaker was introduced by Mrs. R. W. Whipkey.

"The scene is a park, desolate, barren, littered," said Mrs. Brewster. "There are two tramps and one tree in the park. The tramps, Vladimir and Estragon, are rejects from society, as are the scattered pieces of garbage. Vladimir and Estragon are waiting — waiting for Godot, whose name suggests "God." The tramps are capable of only the beginnings of desires, actions, dreams. They are incapable of living or of ending life: they are asleep, but they know not that they sleep.

"They simply wait, because they think that Godot has a farm somewhere, where they will be warm, dry and well-fed.

"Such is the image of man given to us by Samuel Beckett in "Waiting for Godot." Similar images are drawn for us by other playwrights, novelists and poets of our age. Our times have been labeled, or branded, 'lost,' 'absurd,' 'alienated by authors, preachers, politician — and Hippies. T. S. Elliott calls us 'The Hollow Men.' "

At this point, Mrs. Brewster quoted Elliott's words concerning man in this age.

"These are some of the views of the contemporary scenes" continued Mrs. Brewster, "but they are only a part of a montage of vivid scenes and arrested gestures of which the long history of the stage, novels and poetry are composed. The subject matter in the montage is diverse, the scenes vary, and they move rapidly one upon the other. The language is sometimes exalted and dignified, at others it is obscene and degrading, but it draws the image of man.

"Each age, each culture paints its own image. In its own particular arrangement of light, space, time, situation, character, an age reveals its own basic sense of the universe and man's position in it. The plays, novels, the short stories, the paintings, the music ,and the dance represent the hopes, fears, loves and values of the world and man.

"Modern American literature is a part of that montage of scenes and gestures. It follows directly in the path of literature of the Western World. As the source of Greek drama was Greek religion, we find that our drama, too, is religious. As the literature of the Greeks, the Middle Ages and the Renaissance told of man's search for a better life, so the literature of the twentieth century also searches for a better life. As the literature of all ages has confronted man with his limitations, so does the literature of today.

"Man occupies a place in the center of the stage — man, unsupported by any visable metaphysical order, thwarted by society, at odds with external nature and his own being, he continues to act and to try to tear from the world those things without which he feels he cannot live as a human being: his freedom, his dignity, his reality, his identity.

"Although lost, absurd, alienated, tattered, beaten and alone, Man remains in the center of the stage — he has not left the stage to darkness."

During the business session which followed Mrs. Brewster's program, the club agreed to donate $1 per member to the Christmas Cheer Fund.

The next meeting will be Dec. 18 in the home of Mrs. Robert Stripling, where the program will be given by the Big Spring Music Study Club.

Shampoo, Brush Shine Into Hair

A silky luster is important to the success of any hairstyle. First, proper shampooing is a must and you should be sure to use the right kind of shampoo for your type of hair. For example, use gentle non-irritating baby shampoo for delicate hair or for hair that must be washed often. Then daily brushing is necessary to distribute oils and any added dressings and to guard against dulling buildup from sprays.

Go Smartly Casual In Cardigan Suit

Go smartly casual in this easy-to-make two-piece, mating your favorite cardigan to a slim skirt. No. 3379 comes in sizes 10 to 20. Size 14 (bust 34) takes 2⅜ yards of 54-inch fabric.

A LOVELIER YOU

Take Special Care Of Skin In Winter

By MARY SUE MILLER

Wherever you plan to spend the winter season, the weather will affect your skin. Cold weather, icy wind, penetrating damp, high altitudes, dry climates, tropical sun, manmade heat . . . You name it, effects are the same. Drying!

Of course, the drying process is accelerated in mature skin by inclement conditions. But damage to every type could be mimimized with a proper care routine. Like this one:

● Never go outdoors or spend long hours in heated rooms without wearing a moisturized foundation, either a tinted or colorless one. For dry skins foundations should be creamy as well as "wet": under-make-up moisturizers are useful in cases of extreme dryness.

● At bedtime thoroughly clean your face with cosmetic remover followed by soap-and-water or a facial shampoo. Then apply a corrective treatment suited to your skin's condition. Formulas vary to meet one's individual needs. The range includes hormones and placental extracts, animal and vegetable oils, herb and fruit distillations, vitamins, humectants, antiseptic medications and acid balancers. Choose wisely and weather will hold fewer terrors for your complexion.

Club Sponsors Therapy Project

Members of the Oasis Garden Club Wednesday assisted 28 special education students at Moss Elementary School with a therapy project. The children made apple pomanders for their mothers as Christmas gifts. Garden club members working on the project were Mrs. J. D. Leonard, Mrs. C. O. Hitt, Mrs. Boone Horne and Mrs. Alton Marwitz.

Philathea Class Gives To Church, Needy Family

The Philathea Sunday school class of First United Methodist Church met in the fellowship hall for a dinner and business meeting Thursday with Mrs. V. H. Flewellen giving the invocation.

Mrs. B. M. Keese spoke on "Gratitude," and read a psalm.

Mrs. C. R. Moad recognized members having birthdays in November by reading their zodiac signs and a poem, "Birthdays."

The class donated food for a Thanksgiving basket to be delivered to a needy family, then contributed $100 for carpet at the church.

Hostesses were Mrs. Hugh Duncan, Mrs. Keese, Mrs. Floyd R. Martin, Mrs. W. U. O'Neal, Mrs. Merle Hodnett, Mrs. G. T. Hall, Mrs. E. G. Cass and Mrs. R. D. McMillan.

Mrs. J. L. Terry Is Club Hostess

Mrs. J. L. Terry was hostess Friday for a meeting of the Rook Club at Coker's Restaurant. Three tables were in play, with 11 members and one guest, Mrs. George Hall, in attendance. Mrs. C. E. Shive and Mrs. W. D. McDonald tied for high score. A salad plate and dessert were served. The club's Christmas party will be held Dec. 19 at the McDonald home, 1605 Eleventh Place.

Newcomer Club Plays Bridge

Mrs. Joe A. Austin and Mrs. William Archibald tied for first place in bridge games held Wednesday by the Newcomers Club in Pioneer Gas Flame Room. Mrs. John Turner won bridge-o. Mrs. Carmen McMahan was a guest. The next meeting will be at 1 a.m., Dec. 2 at La Posada Restaurant for a luncheon and installation of officers.

Short Skirts Require Lean, Lovely Legs

Skirts show no signs of becoming longer, which means that concentrated leg care will have to continue. It's a matter for reflection that for as long as skirts remain up, the eyes of the average male observer will inevitably go down.

To be lovely to look at, legs need to be lean and shapely, smooth and silky, well groomed from every angle. Daily exercise will not only firm the muscles of your legs, but will also help your posture. Try this "scissors" cut: Place your hands behind your head and raise your legs. Hold them for a minute in the air and then swing them from side to side several times before relaxing.

Another good leg exercise is cycling in the air. Lie on the floor, supporting your hips on high with your hands. Then "cycle" vigorously in the air for at least five minutes.

Although massage cannot turn heavy legs into slim legs, it does tone and firm flabby muscles. Pour a little moist oil into the palms of your hands. Now, starting with one hand on either side of the ankle, stroke the oil firmly over the knee. Lift the hands and start again at the ankles. Repeat several times on each leg.

Keep the skin on the legs free from fuzz with regular depilation and encourage a fine texture by rubbing a mixture of tropical moist oil and coarse table salt firmly over the skin before taking a bath. Massage night cream into the skin afterwards, stroking it in lavishly with both hands from the ankles upward.

J. W. Overtons In Fort Worth

FORSAN (SC) — Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Overton will be in Fort Worth until Tuesday visiting Rev. and Mrs. Mac Robinson and daughters.

G. L. Monroney has been a patient at Cowper Hospital in Big Spring.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Cardwell spent the week in Abilene with her sister, Mrs. Mabry Heilecher.

Keegan H. Yeaden of Fresno, Calif., is a guest in the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Kubecka.

Class Meets For Holiday Dinner

The Golden Age Sunday school class of Berea Baptist Church held a Thanksgiving supper Friday evening at the church with husbands of class members as guests.

The invocation was by the Rev. Bill O'Dell and the devotion, "Crowns of Righteousness," was presented by Mrs. O'Dell. The closing prayer was by Mrs. Berry Watson.

Music and group singing composed the entertainment.

Film Shows Cause Of Many Birth Defects

Mrs. H. H. Stephens, executive secretary of the National Foundation (March Of Dimes) showed a film on Birth Defects at Thursday's meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary in the Legion Hut.

The film illustrated that lack of pre-natal care is responsible for most birth defects. It showed that during the first three months of pregnancy, a prospective mother should not take medication, including aspirin, nasal drops or tranquilizers, without a doctor's prescription.

The film dealt with the dangers of using LSD as one of the new and modern threats to an unborn baby's welfare. It noted that German measles contacted by the mother of an unborn infant is a chief cause of birth defects, but soon a vaccine will be available to prevent this danger. A vaccine is already on the market for mothers with RH blood factors.

The auxiliary gave the first donation to the March of Dimes, which will officially begin in January.

Mrs. Zelda Rea, hospital representative, said a teenage volunteer is needed to serve as her deputy at the Veterans Administration Hospital, and another person is needed to teach leather tooling at the hospital.

The auxiliary will donate money to the gift shop at the Veterans Administration Hospital, which is slated to open Dec. 7.

A Christmas dinner will be prepared for an auxiliary member in appreciation of her work for the organization.

Growing Industry Brings Dozen New Families Here

By TERRY HOPKINS

Gamco Industries, on the Big Spring scene since George McAlister began making his mathematical chalk boards in 1955, has, in the past few months, moved several persons into town for its subsidiary, Datamate Computer Systems, and another, more recently acquired company, Perceptual Development Laboratories.

Perceptual Development Laboratories was moved here this summer lock, stock, and barrel, as the saying goes, from St. Louis. The company is now fully owned by Gamco, and is operating from 305 Benton Street, waiting the completion of new facilities behind the Gamco Building on the Snyder Highway. When the new building is completed, Datamate will move into it, and PDL will take over Datamate quarters.

PDL manufactures the Percepto Scope, which is a multi-function motion picture projector operating at 19 different speeds to control student visual learning. Programs used with the projector, which is programmed within film strips to stop for teacher comments, are reading improvement, typing improvement, and word power. The projector is not meant to replace the teacher, in fact, it can't be operated without one.

Director of soft ware, which includes photographing new programs, is Wayne Rock, who explained that the projector innovation provides the interest of motion pictures, the humor of animation, and the instructional ability of film strips.

Rock moved here Aug. 1 with his wife and daughter, Lana, 17, to 4007 Wasson Street. Their son Barry, 19, lives in St. Louis. Rock is in charge of animation sequences in educational training films and maintains inventory for all complete package programs to be shipped to customers pertaining to classroom instructions.

Mrs. Ernestine Rennaux has been with PDL for 14 years as an assembler. She arrived in Big Spring Aug. 1 with her three children; Carol, 19, Stanley, 17, and Janet, 14, and they all live at 2412 Alabama. Mrs. Rennaux is involved specifically in assembly work on 16 mm training projectors.

Production manager in manufacturing, who has been with PDL since 1955, is Ken Sherwood. He, too, moved here from St. Louis with the company and arrived with his wife, Virginia, Sept. 22. They live at 2309 Roberts and have two sons; Robert, 20, a student at Missouri University at Rolla; and Charles, 18, a student at Missouri University at Columbia.

Bill Miller is a machine operator with PDL and he moved his family here in August, bringing their mobile home with them. He and his wife, Jeannette, have an 8-year-old son, Michael. Miller said his wife decided she liked Big Spring when she looked out over the city from Scenic Mountain.

Paul Sharpe is the marketing director for PDL, and although he came to Big Spring in August, his family still lives in St. Louis.

"We still have a house there to sell," Sharpe said, and added that he is living in temporary quarters for the present. His wife is Corinne and they have two married daughters; Mrs. Earl Mosher, St. Louis; and Mrs. James Rosborough, New Buffalo, Mich.

Sharp's job is to find markets for his company's educational products. He said most of those products are used in some manner of teaching.

Another Gamco subsidiary, Datamate Computer System, Inc., has also moved several new key personnel into Big Spring recently.

Datamate manufactures the Datamate 16, a high-performance compact digital computer designed for real-time applications requiring powerful input-output capability.

W. R. Key is general manager of the Datamate Corp., and he came to Big Spring in April from Lockheed Electra, Houston.

"We just love Big Spring," he said, and added that his wife, Vivian, sounds like a regular commercial for the town when she tells friends and relatives about her new home here in Silver Heels. The Keys have two daughters; Sherry, 17, who is a senior at Forsan High School; and Cathy, 10, also a student in Forsan.

Key said he took up the challenge of managing a new, small computer company, for the great opportunity the small computer business has to offer.

"It's practically a pioneer business," he said, "with all kinds of challenges."

Holmes D. McLendon Jr. is the director of marketing for Datamate, and his move to Big Spring in September, from Palos Verdes Estates, Calif., was the 1th move in 16 years of married life. He is living with his wife, Marianna, and two daughters; Susan, 5 and Nancy, 8, at 2601 Rebecca Drive.

"We're glad to be in Big Spring," he said, "the schools are better, and there's good family orientation here. I like the friendly people."

McLendon said he took the job with Datamate for the challenge it presents.

"Computers are a NOW thing," he said, "and what we're doing here in the way of small computers has tremendous potential."

Gary McKee, production manager of Datamate, had much the same thing to say about the challenge of a new computer company.

"There's a lot of opportunity here because we have a good product," he said, and added that he came to Datamate because it seemed his background was compatible with the firm's needs.

McKee moved to 615 Highland Drive with his wife, Pat, and three boys; Gary Lee Jr., 11, Gregg, 9, and Geoffrey, 8, about the first of September from Richardson, Tex. The family is originally from Indiana.

Edward Hawley is a senior engineer technician specializing in printed circuit board designs. He came with his wife, Virginia, from Plano, where he worked for Texas Instruments Co. A five-year-old daughter, Brenda Ann, lives with the Hawleys in their mobile home at Hillside Mobile Home Park.

Another new technician at Datamate, William Jackson, came to Big Spring in August from Naper, Calif. He, too, came for the challenge, and his job will be to service the computers in the field when they are delivered. He and his wife, Linda, are from New York, but they have lived in Florida, Georgia, Virginia, and Massachusetts, as well as California, and now Texas.

"We like Big Spring," he said. "It's a friendly town." Mr. and Mrs. Jackson have two daughters; Valerie, 7, and Veronica, 2. They are living at 1200 Douglas Street.

William Scott is manager of peripheral equipment for Datamate, and he came to Big Spring in July from Houston where he had been for four years with Philco-Ford. His wife, Pat, is working as a secretary at Cosden Oil and Chemical Co., and they have a four-year-old son, Billy. The Scotts, originally from Florida, are living at the Crestwood Mobile Home Court.

Scott explained that his job is to specify peripherals which attach to the Datamate 16 computer. He said peripherals are ways of communicating with the program, a type of programing.

A senior technician who came to Datamate in July from Riverton, Wyo., is Franklin Davidson, who said the small computer company is a good thing, and he likes being a part of it. He and his wife, Patricia, are living at 2401 Alabama, and they have four children; Candace, 9, Nick, 7, Brad, 5, and Wesley, 1.

A Devotion For Today . . .

Who hath ears to hear, let him hear. (Matthew 13:9)

PRAYER: Lord God, open our ears, we pray, that we may hear Your words. Help us to have wisdom and insight that we may understand Your words and obey Your will. In Jesus' name. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Never A Better Time

It has been suggested, with more than ordinary encouragement, that a logical starting point toward more effective administration of public affairs would be the consolidation of tax assessing and collecting functions of at least three major agencies. These are Howard County (which handles the assignment already for the State of Texas, Howard County Junior College, and the Forsan Independent County Line School District), the City of Big Spring, and the Big Spring Independent School District. Other agencies might also be interested.

There are several convincing reasons for an attempt to bring this about. One is the obvious reason of economy through the elimination of duplication in equipment, supplies, and personnel; through convenience to the public by having all tax matters handled at one spot; and by uniformity of system, identical tax bases, etc. to lessen confusion.

There also are several reasons why now seems to be the opportune time for action. One is the matter of key personnel. Two of the potential agencies have situations with not too many years separating the directors from retirement. Another reason is a development of the past week — the announcement that the special valuator for the county, school and city is resigning effective Jan. 1. A third and equally compelling reason is that of equipment. It is no secret that the city's electronic bookkeeping system, little more than a year old, is not adequate to the multiple tasks assigned to it and that therefore there must be some action soon toward enlarging or replacing it. At least one of the other agencies is getting on marginal ground as to capacity of its equipment.

Naturally, there are many formidable problems which must be faced and solved if a combination is to be effected. Not the least of them is legal. We suspect that there are statuatory requirements which make a county tax collector-assessor imperative, while other agencies will have more leeway in the delegation of this function. Tradition and location also may argue for the county to become the umbrella for the consolidated operation, although there should be no preconceived conclusions as to this.

Another problem would be the decision to acquire adequate electronic equipment which would not only be adequate to meet present and immediately foreseeable needs, but which also would be sophisticated and big enough to handle growth and to perform a variety of services from making of statements to instant research of rolls and issuance of certificates. This can be done, however, either through contract with those who provide such services, or by acquisition of the equipment.

A final problem is that of resistance to change. This may as well be anticipated, for status quo possesses great eloquence. A close ally to this is apathy by the public. A Chamber of Commerce task force has suggested this consolidation as a worthy public service goal; the county has expressed more than passing interest; several city officials have privately expressed keen interest.

There will never be a better time than now to see what the possibilities are. If people are serious about breaking some ground, the time to begin is while the soil is warm and receptive.

NOW IT'S A HOUSEHOLD WORD

Around The Rim

What Happened To That Second Table?

While thinking about the forthcoming Thanksgiving holiday and recalling Thanksgivings of the past, I stumbled upon a great sociological truth as to why the younger generation, and not their parents, is in charge these days.

The emergence of the independence — nay, the dominance — of offspring took place when the practice of making the kids wait for the second table on festive days was abandoned. They found out, as they became literally the guests of honor at family gatherings, that the old bit about children being seen and not heard had faded away. They took charge.

ONE OF THE customs of keeping kids in their place occurred on the holidays, when everybody understood, even the kids, that they were to stay out of the way until the grown-ups had finished their feast.

They weren't even permitted to sample the delicious dishes being prepared (some of these two or three days ahead of time). No matter how tempting the aroma of the baking turkey and dressing, the younguns were ordered to get out of the kitchen and out from underfoot, without getting a bite. And they knew a switch was handy if they tried to sneak a thumb into the pies that were cooling out on the back porch.

THIS CONSIGNMENT to the outside was brought on, in part I suppose, because there just wasn't enough room at the table, or enough chairs (plates, either, for that matter) to accommodate the whole tribe at once.

For the whole tribe would congregate for Thanksgiving dinner. Assorted uncles and aunts who seemed to be very hungry, and very likely the preacher and his clan.

THE GROWN FOLKS, at the appointed time, gathered 'round the groaning board, heard the thanks to Providence worded, and then started passing those big platters and bowls.

The kids, regardless of the amount of wheedling, were strictly ordered to "stay outdoors and play until you're called." Those daring enough to peek into the dining room window to witness the consumption of the best parts of the turkey could only suffer the more.

IT SEEMED forever before the oldsters had had their fill, plates were washed for use again, and the younger ones called in. To tell the truth, there was enough food left, and the kids didn't go hungry. But they really didn't go first class. I think I was close to manhood before I knew there was a chance at any part of turkey besides its leg. And I had taken it for granted that all gravy was cold.

NO MORE, this sort of thing. The younger generation is now seated at its own special table, is appropriately decorated as any other. These guests are served first, believe it or not, getting choice of the bird as well as all the other dishes. When they have thus been cared for, the dishes are then passed over to the adults' table.

No wonder the kids have taken over. We've spoiled them by not making them wait until the second table.

No Early Easing Of Tight Money Situation

By DON BATTLE
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Government spokesmen in the past week dashed any hopes for an early easing of monetary restraints.

While all emphasized that inflation could be slowed through a continuation of such restraints as record high interest rates, few gave a timetable.

The more pessimistic of the views came from J. Dewey Daane, a Federal Reserve Board member, who expressed doubt that a "tolerable" level of inflation can be reached even "by the end of next year."

Speaking in London, Daane said: "Getting the rate of price increase down to tolerable, acceptable limits will take time."

"I doubt that we can achieve this by the end of next year," he added, "but, hopefully, we shall make appreciable progress and achieve our goal of price stability sometime soon thereafter."

UNCERTAINTY

"The uncertainty regarding the surtax extension, investment credit repeal and impact of tax reform raises the possibility of a sizable deficit in this fiscal year," he added.

Budget Bureau Director Robert P. Mayo said Thursday that failure to extend the surtax and repeal the investment credit "would eliminate two-thirds of a vitally needed budget surplus, even if the President's $19.9 billion expenditure goal were met.

"We are, therefore, facing a real challenge to fiscal restraint at a time when it is so sorely needed, if we are to bring inflation under control," he said.

Meanwhile, additional signs that the economy is cooling were seen last week in Commerce Department reports that private housing starts during October fell to their lowest point this year, and pretax corporate profits in the third quarter took the sharpest drop in over two years.

HIGHER INTERESTS

Despite these signs of a slowing rate of economic growth, economist Pierre A. Rinfret forecasts continued expanding conditions in the U.S. economy next year and said the prime interest rate will jump from the current record level of 8½ per cent to 9½ or 10 per cent by July 1.

The prime rate is the minimum interest that banks charge their most credit worthy customers for loans, and serves as a barometer for consumer interest rates.

In other economic developments last week, this country enjoyed a victory concerning stabilization of the dollar. The free-market price of gold in London and Zurich hit all-time lows last Wednesday, indicating a renewed confidence in the value of the dollar and other paper currencies.

Also on the economic front was Interstate Commerce Commission action last week that permitted a temporary general 6 per cent railroad-rate increase, which became effective Tuesday. The federal agency, however, said it would study the higher rates and reserved the right to reject them ultimately.

LIVING COSTS UP

The railroads estimated the increase would mean an additional $600 million a year to help meet rising expenses.

On Friday, the Labor Department reported the consumer price index of food, housing, clothing, transportation, medical care and recreation costs rose four-tenths of one per cent to 129.8 in October.

The index, which is based on 1957-59 prices, showed it cost $12.98 last month for every $10 worth of typical family living expenses 10 years ago.

The October rise was slightly less than the average monthly increase for this year which is running at an annual rate of about 5.9 per cent.

SIGNS BOTH DIRECTIONS

- Pressures make uncertain elimination of tax surcharge
- Economists predict prime interest rate to hit 10 pct.
- October housing starts down, pre-tax corporate profits off
- Dollar gains confidence as gold prices sink to new low
- Cost of living up .4 pct. or annual rate 5.9 pct.

Car Collision

NAPIER, South Africa (AP) — Two cars collided in the main street of this small Western Cape Province town. The two drivers got out, walked up to each other — and kissed. Mrs. C. van Dyk later explained she recognized her father-in-law, Hendrik van Dyk, immediately after the accident. It just seemed natural they should greet each other before inspecting the damage — which wasn't serious, anyway.

Hoover's Worst Inspection

WASHINGTON — It is generally known that the FBI had many undercover agents dressed as students and hippies during last week's mobilization march in Washington. What isn't known is the difficulty the FBI had in making their agents look authentic.

On Friday morning 100 FBI undercover men all wearing war-surplus apparel, dungarees and ponchos gathered in the Justice Department courtyard to be inspected by J. Edgar Hoover.

THEY WERE all lined up at attention when Hoover arrived.

"Slouch, dammit!" Hoover yelled at them. "You'll never pass as protesters if you keep your shoulders back and your stomachs in."

Hoover stopped in front of one agent. "Fitzpatrick, what are you doing with your shoes shined?"

"I always keep my shoes shined. It's the first thing I learned in FBI school."

"Well, dirty them up."

THE FBI director continued down the line. "McAlister, what are you doing with an American Flag in your buttonhole?"

"I want them to know where I stand, sir."

"They're not supposed to know where you stand. You're an undercover agent. Now give me the Flag, and put on this peace button."

"Do I have to, sir?"

"Give it to me and . . . wait a minute, McAlister. Did you take a bath this morning?"

"I took a shower, sir."

HOOVER WAS enraged. "You had specific orders not to bathe for three days."

"That's all right for you to say, sir, but I was beginning to have body odor."

"That was the idea, McAlister. You were supposed to have body odor so you wouldn't be suspect."

Hoover said to his assistant, "This is one of the worst inspections I've ever attended."

"The men mean well, Mr. Hoover."

HOOVER SUDDENLY stopped in front of an agent.

"Your hair!"

"What's the matter, sir? Isn't it short enough?"

"You have a crew cut. Who told you to have a crew cut?"

"I've always had a crew cut, just as department regulations require."

"Get this man a wig and sideburns."

"Please, sir. Don't make me wear sideburns. My mother would never forgive me."

"Give him 10 demerits," Hoover said as he walked away.

HE STARTED up the second rank and stopped in front of a man who was wearing a trench coat.

"What are you doing in that trench coat?" Hoover shouted.

"I don't want my dungarees to get dirty, sir."

"Take off that trench coat and start rolling in the yard until your dungarees are filthy," Hoover said.

The next man Hoover stopped in front of was carrying a football banner which read "Love America or Leave It." Hoover grabbed the banner. "No, Holliston. No patriotic banners."

Tears welled in Holliston's eyes. "No one would have seen it."

Hoover stomped out of the courtyard and said to his assistant, "This is too much. You inspect the rest of them. I'm going to the race track."

A New Japan Has Emerged

WASHINGTON — The conscience of the American people and the conscience of the Japanese people might well be invoked to examine the deep-seated feeling that still continues in both countries. It is due, in the first instance, to the wanton attack on our naval vessels at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, by the Japanese navy, and, in the second instance, to the dropping of an atom bomb on Hiroshima and on Nagasaki by our air forces four years later, with the loss of tens of thousands of civilian lives.

OUTWARDLY, Prime Minister Eisaku Sato of Japan, who is conferring here this week with President Nixon, is concerned about the return of Okinawa, one of the islands which his country for many decades has considered to be its territory. But the demand that the United States give up this island — which is used as an important military base and also as a place to store nuclear weapons in order to respond to a possible attack by Red China — has raised a controversy which is a mere symbol of the underlying antagonism toward this country now prevalent in Japan. Demonstration after demonstration against the United States has occurred in Japan.

With the all-important meeting this week in Helsinki, Finland, between the United States and the Soviet Union in an effort to limit the manufacture of nuclear weapons — if not to destroy existing stockpiles altogether — this is an appropriate time for peoples to register their feelings on the subject.

WHEN THE .two bombs were dropped on Japan in August, 1945, this writer one week later in a magazine editorial deplored the use of atomic weapons, particularly on unarmed civilians — against whom attacks had for generations been prohibited by international law.

The American people were shocked when many American sailors and soldiers were killed at Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7, 1941. As the war progressed, there seemed to be less and less concern about how it was fought, just so long as America showed its might. A high-ranking officer of the United States Army, when asked by this correspondent after the war was over why a second atom bomb had been dropped, declared that this was due to a fear that the Japanese would not surrender unless they were sure more bombs would be used.

TWENTY-FOUR years ago it was impossible to foresee the ill effects of the use of atomic weapons. The subsequent manufacture by other nations came much quicker than expected. Only four years later the Soviet Union exploded its first atomic bomb.

But hasn't the world advanced in the last quarter century? Aren't people more aware than ever that nuclear weapons can mean mutual suicide? This correspondent wrote in August 1961:

"The memory of Pearl Harbor and of Hiroshima and Nagasaki remains today a festering sore in the relations of the Japanese and American peoples. It would be a wonderful thing if somehow we could proclaim a mutual apology, a mutual regret, and a mutual pledge of a new era in our relations.

"FOR ON Jan. 9, 1942, a month after the attack on Pearl Harbor — which was made without warning and before any notification was received of even a break in diplomatic relations — this writer said:

"It would be a grave mistake to assume that all the Japanese people are guilty of the treachery which gave us our Pearl Harbor tragedy . . . Defeat in the long-range sense is inevitable. Out of the debris must come a new Japan, a Japan ready to take her place with a responsible government in the family of nations. Our strategy in fighting Japanese militarism must now condemn all the Japanese people. We must constantly hold out hope for a new Japan after the militarists are rendered powerless to disturb again the peace of the world.'

"THE MILITARISTS are gone today in the new Japan, but another sinister force is working now toward the breakdown of Japan's new democracy. It is the crafty hand of the Communists as they seek to push Japan into unfriendly relations with the United States through student riots and other demonstrations that play on emotions inflamed by the dropping of the atom bombs. They are more skillful than the militarists of yesterday in concealing their identity, but their objectives are no less dangerous.

"A mutual apology as between the peoples of America and of Japan is important in rebuilding Japanese-American relations."

A new Japan has truly emerged and is bound to be helpful to us in deterring a big war in the Far East.

Billy Graham

I become very frightened when asked to pray in public. Would it be right to read a written prayer instead? P.D.

There is no essential sin in reading a prayer. That should not be such a serious problem. The more serious problem is that of insincerity in praying whether the prayer is written or unwritten. Many persons who have facility in speaking can pray without a written prayer but are utterly without sincerity in their prayer. Do you think that the same God who is able to answer prayer is able to detect such lack of sincerity? I know it is embarrassing to fumble for words before a gathered crowd, and a written note might help. The particular danger in such praying is that just because it is written, there is the constant danger of merely reading words. Make sure that your prayer is deeply sincere, the paper upon which it may be written is incidental. The Bible says that, "A double minded man is unstable in all his ways, let not that man think that he shall have anything of the Lord."

The Problems At Helsinki

HELSINKI — In the hopeful view the very start of the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) is enough to put something of a brake on the arms race. As the Americans repeatedly say, it is impossible in an open society to deploy new weapons in secret.

This gets down to the profound differences between the two systems. It could hardly have been better illustrated than in the Yellow Room of Helsinki's official banqueting hall where the opening ceremony was held.

RANGED IN the rear were the specialists and experts who came with the Soviet delegation. They were unmistakably type cast — the closed faces a mirror of a closed and secret society. No reporter has as yet been able to get a complete list of these specialists.

The contrast with the American specialists and experts at the other end of the room was marked. They were younger, easier in manner, obviously less constrained in the presence of their principals. They are the men and women who have worked over the years at disarmament and arms control in Washington and Geneva. They are equipped for what may be over a long, long pull a negotiation bringing finally a measure of agreement on means for controlling the as yet completely uncontrolled race in weapons of total destruction.

THE BELIEF among the Americans is that the Russians are prepared for serious talks. They have come with their top specialists in electronics and missilery. They know the incredibly complex technology of modern weaponry and presumably they are ready to underwrite with their highly specialized background the proposals made by their principals.

They have been heard to say on the periphery of the conference that finding a foothold, a starting point, is the baffling problem. Where to begin? The accumulation is so great, the diversity of the nuclear arsenal so extraordinary that the men around the conference table must first find their way on the uncharted paths.

ARE THE intermediate range missiles positioned on both sides of the curtain in Europe to be subject to agreed limitation? And what about tactical nuclear weapons that NATO plans to incorporate in the initial defense of the West from a Russian invasion?

This is only to suggest the almost-impenetrable thicket these men — assuming on both sides complete sincerity — confront at the outset. If the talks can throw a little light on this thicket — and how from year to year, almost from month to month, it grows — that will in itself be a service.

IN PAST conferences a serious handicap has been the necessity of the Soviet delegate to refer even small points back to Moscow before any response was possible. The negotiating writ of Gerard C. Smith, head of the American delegation, is so narrowly drawn that he seems likely to face the same necessity.

That may not be a handicap for the start in Helsinki. If the two sides can agree not so much on a formal agenda as on the nature of the substantive discussion to begin early in 1970, Smith can return to Washington and with this route map in hand forge a firm negotiating position.

THE GUIDING HAND, it is quite clear, is that of President Nixon. His will be the final determination, his the responsibility for bringing all the elements involved in America's security into line if the decision is to take such calculated risks as an agreed moratorium halting the further development of the multi-warhead missile. His will be the blame if the talks in the end come to nothing, his the credit if they succeed.

Lymphoma, Disease Of The Lymph Glands

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would you explain what lymphoma (disease of the lymph glands) is? My sister had two lymphomas removed from the groin region and has to undergo a series of radiation treatments. Does this mean the disease is cancer? Is it curable?—L.C.

The lymph glands are our first line of defense in combating infection, filtering out dead germs and debris picked up by the white cells of the blood.

An acute infection (a boil or whatever) can result in tenderness and sometimes swelling of the lymph glands in the region affected. There are groups of lymph glands in the neck, armpits, groins and elewhere. But after the infection has been subuded, the lymph glands return to normal. (Sometimes it takes time for swelling to subside.)

Lymphoma is also a swelling of the lymph glands or nodes, but of a more serious nature. The exact cause is not known, just as we do not know the exact cause of any type of mailgnancy, but is is thought that one of the so-called tumor viruses may be responsible in this case.

The primary treatment is removal of such lymph nodes; in addition, radiation treatment arrests or retards the disease.

Treating lymphoma as soon as possible is, of course, the important goal. Enlargement of the lymph lodes, generally in older persons, is the first sign. They are usually painless, and indeed there may be few if any general symptoms other than the swelling.

If the affected glands are close to the surface, the swelling may become evident fairly early, and the areas I mentioned, groin, armpits, and neck, are the areas where the glands lie close to the surface.

I repeat: the earlier treatment starts, the better the outlook. So when swelling of such areas occurs, and there is the faintest suspicion that it may be lymphoma, the node should be removed for biopsy (microscopic examination) to see whether further surgery and radiation are in order.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Over a year ago I broke my wrist, and it has never healed so I can use it 100 per cent. I can do many things, but in the morning it is very stiff.

Last week it was recommended that I buy a small whirlpool bath. After using it four times a day I find that my wrist is becoming more stiff during the day. Should I continue using it?—Mrs. N.S.

A whirlpool is a recognized method of treatment. The heat relaxes, and the swirling of the water is a gentle muscle stimulant.

My thought would be to give it a further trial before deciding. Active muscle massage in addition to the whirlpool should help.

Dr. Lightfoot Entertains With Magical Assembly

By SHARA DEE HAMBRICK

An assembly was held during first period Thursday for the whole school. A magician show was the entertainment for this assembly. Dr. Lightfoot, who is from Odessa, presented this program.

School was dismissed Thursday afternoon at 2 p.m. All teachers attended the Small Schools Teachers Association meeting that was to be held at Gail.

The Junior Conducting Team placed second at the district contest that was held at Stanton Tuesday. This team consists of Rendy Feaster, Randy Cheatham, Kenneth Schulke, Ricky Hughes, David Barnes, Kerry Lewallen, Keith Nichols, Billy Reed, and Bobby Wigginton.

The Sands Mustangs' football team wound up their season with a 1-8-1 record. The Mustangs forfeited their game with New Home that was scheduled to be played Friday night.

The boys' and girls' basketball teams will meet Westbrook in a contest that will be staged in the Mustangs' gymnasium. This will be the boys' first engagement of the year. The girls' have a 5-0 record so far in the season.

The boys coming out for basketball this year are as follows: Kelly Gaskins, Robert Herren, Bruce Nichols, Benny Green, Felix Robles, Johnny Peugh, Steve Herm, Eddie Newcomer, Marcy Robles, Paul Hopper, Alex Calvio, Bobby Beall, Steve Herren, Randy Clemens, Reggie Hambrick, Kenneth Schulke, Randy Cheatham, Billy Reed, Keith Nichols, Kerry Lewallen, David Barnes, and Ricky Hughes. Managers are Larry Don Shaw, Freddie Green, and Bobby Wiggington. They are coached by Mrs. James Blake.

The Lineman of the Week goes to Kelly Gaskins for the Wilson game. Kelly, a member of the senior class, came up with 14 tackles during this game. Reggie Hambrick was presented with the Back of the Week award. The 145-pound sophomore used effective blocking and he also came up with a total of 14 tackles on defense.

FORSAN

Journalism Class Posts First Forsan Stampede

By PATSY REED

The Journalism class published their first paper for this year. The "Forsan Stampede" went on sale to the students this Friday at a dime a copy.

An all school assembly was held Monday morning, first period, in order that the program, "The Musicial Grays," could be presented. This talented couple presented many different musical aspects that could be obtained from one object.

Mr. John Carroll met with the senior class, Tuesday morning to get the sale of birthday calenders underway. Each senior is to sell at least ten calendars by the time we get out for the Thanksgiving holidays, or be prepared to pay $1.25 for each calendar he has not sold. A calendar may be purchased from a senior at the price of $2.05.

The Junior Class is selling bumper stickers for a dollar and decals for fifty cents.

The Thespian Society held their first meeting during lunch, Tuesday, to discuss plans and membership. This semesters' chairman is Billy McDonald; assistant chairman is Jacky Willis; secretary, Wanda Lopez; and treasurer, Jackie Condron.

The constitution was read and requirements for membership were stated. Dues were set at 50 cents a semester.

Picture retakes were made Friday. Pictures were taken of the basketball girls, pep squad, cheerleaders, class favorites, all school favorites' nominees. Spanish Club, Homecoming Queens and nominees, Mr. Buffalo, Miss Buffalo Gal, Football Sweetheart, Band Sweetheat and individual retakes.

The Buffalo Queens lost their third game for the season to Wylie, Tuesday night. They travel to Klondike this Tuesday. The boys begin their season in basketball with their game being with Klondike.

The Buffaloes played their last football game against Loraine. Recognized as back of the week was Bobby Davis and lineman was Darrow Cobb.

During last Friday's pep rally speeches were given by the senior boys. The seniors sang the school song, a tradition that has been with Forsan a long time.

Failure notices were mailed out this past week. The student got one if his grades were either failing or in danger of doing so.

The band went to marching contest in Odessa Saturday.

FLOWER GROVE

F. G. Busily Prepares For Harvest Festival

By JACKIE CAVE

With the Harvest Festival being held this week there have been several trips to area towns to gather prizes. The whole school has been busy with the Harvest Festival preparations.

Coach Kitto and his family have moved into their new home located on campus.

The Tuesday basketball games with Ira will be played in Ira, instead of previously scheduled in Flower Grove.

A Beta Club was organized last week with eight members. Officers are: Beth Holcomb, president; Virginia Pribyla, vice president; Bonnie Hill, secretary; and Nancy Seely, treasurer.

The other members include: Lydia Carreno, Janice Haggard, Rita Prbyla, and Danny Howard. Mrs. Jewel Flemins is their sponsor.

The FFA Chapter sweetheart, Debra Huse, accompanied by Bonnie Hill, traveled with the chapter to the Stanton area meeting.

Coach Karl Kitto and several basketball girls traveled to Klondike to scout the Klondike-Sundown, girls basketball game. Rita Pribyla, Judy Simmons, Beth Holcomb, Nancy Seely, Judy Cave, Virginia Pribyla, and Jackie Cave accompanied Coach Kitto.

School was dismissed at 2:30 on Thursday so the teachers could attend an in-service program at Gail.

BSHS Grad In NTSU Band

DENTON — Dale Martin Pless of Big Spring is among 162 students performing with the North Texas State University Marching Band this fall.

Members of the band perform at football games, enter competition and make guest appearances in and out-of-state each year.

The marching band, directed by Maurice McAdow of the NTSU music faculty, trades its marching shoes for music stands at the end of football season and is transformed into the NTSU Concert Band.

Pless, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn M. Pless, 609 Elgin, plays the drums. He is a junior music major.

Cagers Play Second Tilt

By DARLA EARNEST

The junior high boys and girls played their second non-district game Thursday night with Sands again. The girls came out unlucky and were defeated 28-23. The high scorer for that game was Brenda Cowley making 15 points for Forsan and Leah Roman for Sands making 15 points. The boys won over the Ponies again by the score turning out to be 32-27. High scorers in this game was Gary Daughtery making 11 points for Forsan and for Sands was Scotty Blake making the total of nine points. The teams played again Monday night.

The boys played Goliad Junior High and won with the score 48-27, Landon Soles was the high scorer with 15 points. The girls played their High School "B" team and lost 25-32. Brenda Cowley was the high scorer making 20 points.

A new student at Forsan Junior High is Denise Pipkin who is in the seventh grade. Denise came to Forsan from Lubbock.

The basketball teams, boys and girls played their first district game last Thursday, at 5:30 with Coahoma. This game was played at Forsan. Walls were plastered with signs to promote spirit for the teams.

Student Council members turned in money they made by selling pens. The pens may still be purchased from any eighth grader or Student Council member.

Forsan Junior High and High School turn out for the Thanksgiving holidays Wednesday, at 2:30. School will resume at regular time Monday.

RUNNELS

Magazines Go Successfully

By CARRIE WHEELER

This past two weeks Runnels has been having their annual magazine sale, that ended Friday. The eighth grade gave $738.32, and the seventh grade gave $734.44, which was just under the eighth grade total.

The high homerooms for both seventh and eighth grades were Mr. Sampy Wall's, seventh grade, and Mrs. Marjorie Talmadge, eighth grade. Each teacher received $10.00 and the homeroom received an ice cream party.

The band went to marching contest Saturday at Barrett Stadium in Odessa. The songs they played were Swing March, Windmills of Your Mind, and Everything's Coming Up Roses.

The seventh grade science classes have received new aquariums according to Miss Glenda Arnold and Mrs. Roberta Wiley.

Runnels has received two new teachers. They are Mrs. Linda Bryant and Mr. Ronald Sweatt. Mrs. Bryant teaches eighth grade math and Mr. Sweatt teaches eighth grade science.

School will be letting out this Wednesday for the Thanksgiving holiday, and will convene again Monday morning.

GARDEN CITY

Heart For Hurt Football Player

By BEVERLY HARTLEY

Garden City School has been busy this last week to do all they can for Kenneth Chandler who received a serious neck injury on Nov. 14, at the Garden City vs. Wellman football game.

All the clubs and classes in the high school have contributed to the Kenneth Chandler Fund which was started Monday. Tuesday night the fund was increased from a cake auction which was held during halftime of the basketball ball game. Also, the door money and concession money was donated to the fund.

Wednesday, the fund was enormously enlarged when student volunteers went from door to door to St. Lawrence and Garden City residents, asking for a contribution to the worthy cause.

Boys basketball opens up against Loraine as they join the girl cagers for the first time, this year, in Garden City.

The party following the final football game, against Klondike, was given by the junior class.

A Thanksgiving Tea was given to the entire faculty of Garden City High School Turkey and pumpkin pie were prepared and served by one of Mrs. Bergstrom's homemaking classes.

STANTON

Stanton Shines In FFA Meet

By LYN HERZOG

The district meeting of the Future Farmers of America was held in Stanton Tuesday. Stanton boys won four out of six first place awards in the all-day contests. They placed first in junior and senior farm skills, FFA quiz, and senior chapter conducting. Sandra Chandler, FFA sweetheart, represented Stanton in the FFA sweetheart contest.

A meeting of the National Honor Society was held Wednesday. Mr. Al Smith, school counselor, talked to the group about the possibility of nominating two graduating seniors to compete in this region for a $1,000 awards scholarship. A business meeting was held, following Mr. Smith's talk. David Workman presided, and Cindy Avery, secretary, called the roll. Dues were set at $1 per year and several money making projects were discussed. Mr. William Harrell, sponsor, brought up the subject of having a National Honor Society-Math Club banquet.

At the final pep rally, for the Stanton-Big Lake football game, the football sweetheart and pep squad hero were announced. The football boys elected Teresa Louder, sophomore cheerleader, as this year's football sweetheart. Roy Kelly, a junior, was elected by the pep squad as their hero.

The Stanton Chapter of the Future Teachers of America, attended the district convention held in Andrews Nov. 15. Sponsor Mr. Robert Waddell, made the trip with the group. FTA members are working hard to earn enough points to be able to attend the state meeting, to be held in February.

Leinfelder Recital Unfolds Monday

By PHILIP STEPHENS

What's a Lucien Leinflder?

A Lucien Leinfelder is an SMU faculty instructor bringing splendid New York critic's reviews and experience from a European concert tour to the HCJC auditorium, this Monday, at activity period, 9:45 to give a piano recital.

The great success of his 1967 New York debut recital encouraged him to undertake a European tour in early 1968, and he was rewarded by standing ovations from his audiences.

Dorm residents will have a chance to stretch their tummies again at the annual Thanksgiving dinner given by Saga Food Service, in the cafeteria. The menu will be posted in the SUB.

No "HCJC PRESENTS" is scheduled over Thanksgiving. The program will resume once again with a Dec. 4 program featuring the foreign language department of HCJC.

Although Dec. 5 was previously announced date of the Christmas Formal, it has been re-scheduled for Saturday, Dec. 13.

The Women's Dorm Council has selected Sherry Cozart as president; Kathy McKnight as vice president; and Patsy Lampkin as devotional chairman.

GOLIAD

Intramural Basketball Takes Sport Spotlight

By JILL RHYMES

The third period girls P. E. intramural basketball team won the championship following heated playoffs. Captain of the team was Ruth Knight. Awards will be presented to the members of the team on Awards Day.

The Goliad band attended a Interscholastic League contest Saturday. It was held in Odessa at Barrett Stadium.

On Friday the band elected the Outstanding Marching Bandsman. Nominated were DeLynnda McMillian, Barbara Pierce, Kathy Mills, Terri Sledge, Catherine Allen, Vicki Robertson, Sandra Floyd, and Teresa Tomlin. The winner will be announced at an Optimist Club Banquet next week and presented an award at that time.

At the Thanksgiving assembly next Wednesday, the Advanced Choir, together with the combined seventh, and girls choir will sing. Each choir will present three numbers.

The basketball team began workouts last week. There are two seventh grade teams, the Longhorns coached by Mr. Griffin and the Eagles coached by Mr. Schofield. The Mavericks are coached by Mr. Neel.

Annual sales will end Tuesday at four o'clock. The yearbooks will have an additional eight page section this year to which the students are looking forward.

On Friday the Student Council sponsored a party in the crepe paper decorated gym. Games and dancing occupied the evening.

The National Junior Honor Society met Friday during the eighth grade advisory period. It was decided that the Honor Society members will sell basketball pins during the season. Members of the program committee appointed at the meeting were Ronnie Hise, Glenn Carlton, Mavis Ray, Michael Jones and Bennett Robb.

Wednesday during fourth period the Student Council sponsored a paid assembly in the gym. "The Musical Grays" were the feature of the assembly. They entertained the students with samples of music and art.

School will be dismissed Wednesday at 2:45 for the Thanksgiving holidays. Students will return to the classroom Monday morning.

New students this week are Reginald Jones and Olga Correa, eighth grade, and Becky Billingsley, seventh grade.

'Christmas Tree' Stars Holden In 50th Feature

"The Christmas Tree," a film by Terence Young, starring William Holden, Virna Lisi and Bourvil, will open today at the Ritz theatre.

"The Christmas Tree" is the story of the growth of love and understanding between a father, played by Holden, and a son, played by 11-year-old Brook Fuller, during a period of great personal crisis. The action takes place in Paris, on the island of Corsica and in the chateau region of France.

It is the fiftieth feature film of Holden's star-studded career which dates back to "Golden Boy" in 1939.

Director Young had to overcome a major casting probelm before the filming in France of his motion picture.

"THE CHRISTMAS TREE"
Pet wolves help tell story

Young needed two wolves. To obtain the wolves which were central to the plot of his screenplay and had not been seen in France in decades, he had to import six animals from Alaska and trainers from Hollywood.

In "The Christmas Tree," the wolves are deeply involved in the story of a young boy, Pascal (Brook Fuller) and his father, Laurent (William Holden) who spend a summer of great personal crisis in the chateau country of France.

Everyone connected with the filming was concerned that Brook Fuller might be afraid of the wolves. Had this occurred, it would have been a major production crisis because many of the key scenes involved the boy, Pascal, and the wolves. Brook, with the characteristic directness of a child, solved the problem; he made immediate friends with the animals.

During location shooting of exterior scenes at the Chateau Toulane, in the mountains overlooking Nice, the wolves were left in the custody of an elderly caretaker for a weekend when cast and crews, including the animal trainers, were given the weekend off. On Monday, when filming was to be resumed, the wolves remained outside in their compound the refused to eat. One trainer was almost bitten when he tried to approach the animals.

Young discovered that during the weekend, people from the nearby village, reverting to the fears of their ancestors, had thrown stones at the animals — destroying their trust in the human animal. For two days, it was impossible for anyone to approach them.

When Brook Fuller heard about the wolves, ignoring all warnings, he entered the wolves' cages carrying meat. Speaking softly, he approached the animals. The wolves watched in defensive silence but finally accepted the meat from young Fuller, to the amazement of the trainers. Shooting was resumed.

Film Inspired By Folk Ballad Coming Here

Songs have inspired whole movies (from "Words and Music" to "Rock Around the Clock") and movies have inspired songs (from "Now, Voyager" to "You Only Live Twice"). Arthur Penn's new picture is a first; a movie inspired by a folk ballad interrupted by a 15-minute monologue.

The song is "Alice's Restaurant Massacree," and it is the creation of Arlo Guthrie. Guthrie caused a sensation at the Newport Folk Festival two years ago with the catchy title number which he sang at the beginning and the end (the meanwhile strumming the tune on his guitar) of a conversation in which he described some of his true-life experiences. In particular he recounted the amusingly bizarre story of his arrest for littering in Stockbridge, Mass., one Thanksgiving Day and the equally droll tale of his examination for the draft in New York City.

Penn and Venable Herndon, co-author of the screenplay, have incorporated these incidents into a rambling script describing other presumably real advantures of Guthrie, who plays himself in film. It is mostly a matter of episodes with a variety of "characters," including Alice and her husband, Ray, and the many hippies whom the latter two give shelter in a church they have bought and coverted into a kind of commune for their peripatetic friends.

It is essentially a "biography" of its hero, and the episodes in his life are strung together by narration, which he speaks himself, and by songs he wrote himself and sings. He is quite ordinary looking — the sort of person who gets passed by in the street without a second glance, or would be if it weren't for his long flowing hair which he keeps somewhat in check by a large black hat he constantly wears. Looks he may lack, but personality he has to spare, which is fortunate.

Nor does he dominate it to the exclusion of several other interesting characters — especially Alice and her spouse.

Pat Quinn and James Broderick play the roles with an instinct for the right emotional nuance and the telling gesture. Under the direction of Penn they establish one of the truest and most endearing relationships between a man and woman ever put on the screen.

It opens Wednesday at the Cinema.

'Sweet Charity' To Open Wednesday At The R-70

Widely acclaimed as the big smash movie hit of the year, the lavish musical "Sweet Charity," comes Wednesday to th R-70 Theatre for a popular price engagement direct from its roadshow showings. The Technicolor and Panavision production stars Shirley MacLaine and co-stars Ricardo Montalban, Sammy Davis Jr., John McMartin, Chita Rivera, Paula Kelly and Stubby Kaye

Based on an original screenplay by Federico Fellini, Tullio Pinelli and Enno Flaino, which in turn was made into a Broadway musical hit with a book by Neil Simon and music by Cy Coleman and lyrics by Dorothy Fields, it has been brought to the screen with the same Fosse directing and choreographing.

"Sweet Charity" is the story of Miss MacLaine who as Charity Hope Valentine, a New York taxi-dancer, illustrates her character by wearing a heart tattooed in red on her left arm. Her adventures and misadventures as she gives her love wholeheartedly to one underserving man after another is the frame for the story in which 13 musical numbers are presented. It is Miss MacLaine's first role in a musical since "Can Can." Nominated for an Academy Award in 1958 for "Some Came Running;" in 1961 for "The Apartment;" and in 1964 for "Irma La Douce," many reviewers have called her a "superstar" and stated that she has surpassed her previous performances in the current role. Of the 275 scenes in the picture, Miss MacLaine is involved in 237.

A veteran of 26 years in the motion picture industry, Montalban made his film debut as a Latin lover in "Fiesta." In "Sweet Charity," he plays a Latin movie idol who picks up Charity after he has had a fight with his fiancee. He loved his role for, as he says, "I'm satirizing the Latin lover more than I am portraying him."

Davis marks his return to movie musicals as the soulful, turned-on underground religious leader in the show-stopping number "Rhythm Of Life." Fifty-two dancers perform with him in the precision dance as lights and music blare a powerful beat.

Lancaster, Kerr In 'Gypsy Moths'

Highlighted by the breath-taking thrills of free-fall maneuvers performed by three barn-storming skidivers and filmed high above the Kansas plains, "The Gypsy Moths" brings one of the year's most exciting new movie attractions to the Ritz screen this week.

The picture's cast is headed by Burt Lancaster and Deborah Kerr, who previously scored together in the memorable "From Here to Eternity," and co-stars Gene Hackman, Scott Wilson, William Windom, Sheree North and 19-year-old Bonnie Bedelia.

BURT LANCASTER

"The Gypsy Moths" tells the story of three sky-divers of divergent ages and temperaments — Mike Rettig (Burt Lancaster), Joe Browdy (Gene Hackman) and Malcolm Webson (Scott Wilson) — who are bound together by the risks of their hazardous profession. Their barnstorming exhibition tour brings them to the small town of Bridgeville, Kan., where Webson, the youngest member of the trio, was born and raised by an aunt and uncle following the death of his parents.

Webson telephones Elizabeth and V. John Brandon (Deborah Kerr, William Windom), his relatives, and the three sky-divers are given a cordial invitation to be the Brandons' house guests during their brief stay in Bridgeville. From that moment, the plot develops with the speed of a free drop from 7,000 feet. For beneath the apparent placid surface of average, everyday men and women lie smouldering inner conflicts of pent-up emotions and passions.

Before "The Gypsy Moths" reaches its asorbing climax, three compelling relationships have been established, the first between Rettig and Elizabeth Brandon; the second between Webson and Annie Burke (Bonnie Bedelia), an attractive college girl who rooms with the Brandons; the third between Browdy and a topless dancer in a cheap beer joint (Sheree North). And the loves, hates, hopes and fears of each character are exposed with all the shock of touching an exposed raw nerve.

Three Kansas locations formed the "Bridgeville" of "The Gypsy Moths." The Nelson Air Field, 20 miles outside Wichita, became the Bridgeville Airport, setting for the daring parachute exhibition. Deborah

TODAY AND MONDAY

—CARROLL RIGHTER

SUNDAY

GENERAL TENDENCIES: This is your best day in recent weeks to benefit through your knowledge of current conditions. You can find highly interesting answers today. Get out in the world of action. Make and keep appointments. Correspond. And be inventive.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) If you show understanding for the problems of others, you gain their good will now. Do that important shopping, communicating, making out statements, etc. Keep an eye on your bank balance.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Get busy with the practical matters of living and have greater security in the days ahead. If you listen carefully to an adviser, you get the information you need. Then proceed cleverly.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Be friendly with others and impress them with your good mind and understanding. Get together with persons who can help you in some way with daily duties. Avoid those who only waste your time.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Get those personal affairs handled early and then be in a romantic mood. Stop procrastinating on those duties that higher-ups expect of you. Be careful not to get into any arguments with others.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Be as social as you can today since you need to be with people you like for diversion. Begin this week properly by going after your aims positively. Live your best philosophy of life.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You have some plan worked out with kin and can now get the support of some bigwig to make it a success. Get into the world of activity and show your finest abilities. Do not get conned by anyone.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You have excellent ideas which can help you to advance and become a person of true wisdom, regardless of what your position is now. Gather the information you need from every available source. Keep busy.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Begin the new week properly by handling your own affairs precisely and thoroughly. Gain the respect of others. Use that fine magnetism you possess and you gain your aims with maximum speed and ease.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) If you find out what partners want you to do, and then you follow through, you cement better relations in the future. Delve into something of a cultural nature tonight. Avoid nervousness, think wisely.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Be sure you carry through with what bigwigs expect of you cleverly and thus gain their approval. Make good use of current situations, even if they don't appear to be favorable. Be wise.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Go to the right places and be with the right people in order to gain your aims, whether personal or business. A day for true expansion. You are thinking clearly and intelligently.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Do those things that will bring you more affection and togetherness from kin. Relax in your own home later on in the day. Have fun and entertain some close friends.

MONDAY

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) You have so many wonderful new ideas that you should start on the most practical first and then make others practical also by slight changes. Find the right philosophy of life. Make it work in both business and personal life.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Follow your hunches and show fairness to others and you find that this becomes a very happy day leading to even better days ahead. Be more willing to share with others. Loyalty to friends is very important.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Show gratitude for loyalty which associates have shown you and they become even more so in the future. Don't argue with others because they do not hold the same views to your own. Be fair.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You have every opportunity to be of assistance to others on this day of freedom for you. Use your finest talents. Take the health treatments making you a more vital and charming person.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Find the friends you like and be happy, as well as helpful to one who is in trouble. Generosity could be quite a virtue today. Avoid those who think they know it all, since they are quite boring.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Get into that outside work that will make your relations with others and family much better in the future. Study well how you can improve foundational security. Lend a helping hand to the right person.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Dwell on the spiritual side of life today and get yourself more in tune with the ethical. This will help you to have more success in the future. Try to get out for recreation in the afternoon and take your mate with you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You have to look within yourself for the source of abundance you want so much and need so that you can do more good with it. Spend more time studying those plans an associate has given you. Then he won't be so critical.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Think over how to deal more successfully with an associate today and then put your plans in operation tomorrow. Learn to cooperate more. Don't be so eager to gain only your objectives.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Give some serious thought to those worries you have and they are soon cleared up. Handle routine chores in a clever new way. Then they become a pleasure instead of a bore.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You are an affectionate and friendly person, so take the time to find out what good friends are doing today. Entertain those to whom you owe favors. Accept that dinner invitation, also.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) You have an opportunity to visit with a new contact who can be very helpful to you in the future, so forget that comfortable rocking chair. See what it is that kin expect of you. Be happy.

Poll Flatters S. I. Hayakawa

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — S.I. Hayakawa, president of San Francisco State College, says he is flattered by a poll showing him as the strongest Democratic contender in a race next year against Sen. George Murphy.

But he adds: "At present, I am far more concerned with the administration of San Francisco State College than with politics."

Hospitals And Base Ready For Big Thanksgiving Day

Thanksgiving will be a time for reunion with friends and family for many of the patients at the VA Hospital and Big Spring State Hospital. At Webb AFB 600 Air Force personnel, and their guests, are expected to have a Thanksgiving feast at the Airmen's Dining Hall.

The traditional dinner at Webb will be 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. with turkey and ham and all the trimmings, including mincemeat and pumpkin pies.

Religious services will be held in Webb Chapel, the Catholic mass set for 9 a.m., and Protestant services at 11 a.m.

At Big Spring State Hospital about 125 patients will be going home on furlough, or spending the day with volunteers' families. The State Hospital's special dinner will include roast turkey and pumpkin pie with whipped cream. A Thanksgiving service will be conducted by Chaplain Lee Butler in the auditorium.

VA Hospital patients will celebrate Thanksgiving with a traditional turkey dinner, including cranberry salad, baked ham, candied sweet potatoes Southern dressing and pumpkin chiffon pie. The dining room will be festively decorated by the Order of the Eastern Star with cornucopias, miniature turkeys and other traditional items. The Kentwood Brownie Troop will provide tray favors for the patients. Entertainment for the patients will be provided by the Lubbock Veterans of Foreign Wars.

A number of veterans will be able to spend Thanksgiving holiday with their families. Four Vietnam veterans have been invited to spend the day with the Morris Robertson family, 2806 Clanton, who have a son serving in Vietnam.

The Thanksgiving religious service will be included in the prior Sunday's service, so veterans may attend the Thanksgiving Day unified service at the First Christian Church at 10 a.m.

BALDWIN, Fla. (AP) — An explosion sounded, the instructor hurtled into space Thursday night and Navy Lt. (j.g.) J. F. Hayes was left alone in the dark sky to land the jet plane he was learning to fly.

Hayes and his instructor, Lt. Cmdr. K. A. McMillen, were on a night training mission over northeast Florida when explosive charges ripped off the TA4F's canopy and fired McMillen's ejection seat skyward.

Hayes, after a regrouping of emotions, landed the craft safely at Jacksonville.

McMillen parachuted to earth, strolled to a farm house near Baldwin and summoned highway patrol trooper for an auto ride back to the base.

The Navy said the cause of the misfiring ejector seat would be investigated.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is a young neighbor I'll call Mary. She's a very polite and quiet thing, but not too bright. Mary says I remind her of her mother she "never knew" because she was orphaned as a small child. She is expecting a baby, and I feel sorry for her, so I make her welcome and try to be good company for her, but I keep wishing she would go home so I could get my work done.

There are other neighbors all around us, most of whom are nearer to Mary's age, but Mary comes only to me. Is there some nice way I can tell her not to come so often and stay so long? BUSY HOUSEWIFE

DEAR BUSY: Probably not. Be glad that you are the one who is able to bring comfort to one who so desperately needs it. There are worse things in life than being kept from one's work, you know. Namely, finding yourself neither wanted, needed, or contributing to the happiness of another. Continue to extend your kindness, and make Mary welcome. When her baby comes, she won't have so much free time.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for a little more than a year and a problem came up which has me completely baffled.

Last night my husband told me that I had to make a choice between HIM and my girl friend. Abby, Jenny has been my best friend all through school. She stood up for me at my wedding, and I stood up for her at hers. We are as close as sisters, and I can't see ending our friendship just because my husband doesn't like her.

He refuses to give me any reasons why he doesn't like her. He just says it's a choice between HIM or Jenny!

Knowing that my husband didn't especially care for Jenny, I've never asked him to socialize with Jenny and her husband in the evenings. I see Jenny only during the day time when my husband is at work.

So what is your advice? Don't tell me to try to talk to him. I have, and he walks out of the room. BAFFLED

DEAR BAFFLED: I don't know how old your husband is, but he has a lot of growing up to do. Tell him that unless he gives you a better reason for insisting that you end your friendship with Jenny, you intend to continue the friendship. And if he would terminate your marriage on such flimsy grounds, either he is looking for an excuse to do so, or something is wrong with him.

PRESENTS

The Super Stars

THE 1970 COMEBACK OF THE BIG COMPACTS

Estée Lauder introduces the Super Stars—the biggest compact news of the year. A complete about-face from the mini-compacts of the moment, the Super Stars are really super in size, truly superb in execution. Three big, bold, but individual fashion statements, they're three lavish examples of the once-upon-a-time, but not-to-be-forgotten glamour of the 30's.

THE HEIRLOOM

From this new super size Collection of three, we show THE HEIRLOOM—a magnificent silver-colored treasure that's a full four inches in diameter. It's a compact extravaganza with the hand-crafted look of baroque, the contemporary appeal of the 70's. 12.50

THE SUPER STARS are the 30's revisited. The era of ultra-glamour revived. Reminiscent of yesterday—but so very much today.
