Tip Given To Rid County Of Corn Borer Menace Which Now Prevails

After several reports about the corn in Collingsworth County being affected by borers, specimens were secured and sent to A. and M. College for inspection. They report this insect to be southwestern corn borer. The damage that is being done by these insects is that they bore into the stalk and weaken the stalk, causing it to break down at a later date. They do not seem to bore into the ears of the corn but it reduces the yield and lowers the vitality of the stalk.

Fall plowing is generally recommended in territories infested with these borers. The insects have

Thieves Foiled

Nitro Glycerine Explosion Of Safe Nets Only Trouble For Thieves

Thieves who early Wednesday morning, July 4, entered the Ritz theatre in hopes of securing several hundreds of dollars in bank night funds, were in for a real surprise.

The thieves bored holes through the safe door near the knob, along the sides and over the top. Nitroglycerine was then poured through the holes, which were then stopped with soap. When the safe was tapped, a real explosion followed. The knob was blown away from the safe and pieces of the soap penetrated through the leaves on a calendar; other pieces of soap made dents in the cement wall, so hard was the impact.

As the lid hurled back, however, the intruders were met with the surprise of their life—for they were just getting started. They were confronted with another com-

West Texas Utilities Employee Recovering From Painful Injuries

Oren Starkey, West Texas Utilities employee, was today recovering from severe injuries received Tuesday morning when two bull dogs attacked him at the J. D. Hill farm, one fourth mile northwest of here.

Mr. Starkey, accompanied by Fred Allen, salesman, visited the Hill residence Tuesday morning to make electrical repairs and when no one answered at the front door, he went to the back door and knocked. Just as he knocked he saw a large bulldog coming at him from in front. He braced himself to kick the dog and just as he started to kick, another bulldog attacked him from the rear.

Starkey made a run for the car, which was near the front of the house, but about half way there the dogs both caught him by the leg and threw him down. Allen, (Continued on Page Ten)

Hog Contracts Still Under Fire

For the benefit of all producers in Collingsworth County having made Corn-Hog contracts, John Stovall, county agent, made the following report: "Collingsworth County is in a crop reporting district of twenty-nine counties. At the present time twenty-three of these counties have their corn-hog contracts complete and in the State office. There are six counties that are not complete and until these six counties finish their contracts and get them in to the State office, no county in the crop reporting district can receive their corn and hog allotment. Everything possible is being done to speed up the work of these counties and there is hopes that Collingsworth County will receive their allotment with the others in this district in the near future."

New Rate To Be Lowest Here In Twelve Years

Tax Bill Reduction Of 14 Per Cent Saves Taxpayers $9,100

Fourteen Cents

Rate Was Set At 80 Cents On Dollar In 1922; $1 In Recent Years

Setting the lowest tax rate since 1922, the Commissioners Court Monday acted on the suggestion of the auditor, setting the tax rate at 86 cents on $100, according to the announcement of County Judge Luther Gribble today.

Based On Expenses

"Under the law this county budget must be prepared in July of each year and the Commissioner's Court had up for consideration of the matter of setting a tax levy sufficient to care for the expenditures for the coming year," Judge Gribble said. "A. N. Cornelius, county auditor, met with the court Monday and recommended that the rate be cut from $1.00 on the $100 valuation to 86 cents on the $100 valuation based upon the expenditures of county funds, during last year and the first six months of this year."

"The court passed the order unanimously, fixing the rate at 86 cents, to be distributed as follows: 30 cents for roads and bridges, which is the maximum allowed under the law; 25 cents for general funds purposes, five cents for jury fund; seven cents for road bonds (1916 issue); two and one-half cents for court house and jail fund and 16 1-2 cents for court house bonds."

Health Officers Advise Camping Vacation Trips

Brown Says Too Many Person Overdo Physical Exercise On Trips

AUSTIN, Texas.—"It perhaps would be better for many thousands of vacationing adults, were it possible to extend the same type of rational supervision to them as their children receive in the so-called recreational camps. Judged by the results of the fortnight's outing, a greater number of persons do not receive physical benefit from their stay but are even worse off on that score upon their return than when they went away," states Dr. John W. Brown, State Health Officer.

"Most certainly the mental stimulation of 'going places and doing things' out of the usual run is in itself of value. Merely to get out of the rut, visit a new locality or revisit an old one, where new faces and friends are to be found, is of decided advantage.

"On the other hand it is not reasonable to become so enthusiastic concerning the well-earned freedom from the daily routine as to permit oneself to get out of bounds. While it is perfectly natural to want to crowd as much pleasant activity as is possible into the two weeks' change, it most decidedly does not pay to do this at the expense of one's health and vitality, yet this is precisely what many foolish people do. It is therefore slight wonder that many men and women who have left for a vacation with that 'tired feeling' come back home even more that way.

"While these facts are not furnished to take the joy out of the annual sojourn, it might be well for adults to figure a little physical benefit on the proposition rather than to specialize on fun and devitalizing allurements. The body, as well as the mind, needs consideration. The wise vacationist will see that it gets it."

The Story of the Bible Told in Pictures

Noah's Ark.—From the time of the murder of Abel to the time of Noah the Bible devotes considerable space to the genealogical records of the descendants of Adam. One of these descendants, Jubal, was the first musician; and another, Tubal-Cain, was the first worker in brass and iron. Adam lived nine hundred and thirty years, and Methuselah reached the record age of nine hundred and sixty-nine years. But old as these patriarchs were they failed to learn wisdom with their years, and "the wickedness of man was great in the earth." Gen. 6: 6, we are told, "And it repented the Lord that He had made man on the earth, and it grieved Him at His heart." Determined to wipe out the whole race and make a fresh start, God chose Noah, his wife and their three sons, Shem, Ham and Japheth, for survival. Noah was instructed to build an ark to hold his family, together with male and female representatives of each species, and provisions for them all. In this picture Merian portrays the completed ark, with the animals entering it, while Noah prays for divine guidance.

YOUR BLOW-OUT.. TOMORROW?

PLAY SAFE WITH GOLDEN PLY TIRES!

Let us put this life-saving tire on your car...
amazing invention prevents great cause of blow-outs

EVERY YEAR thousands are killed or injured when blow-outs throw cars out of control. Today, unless you are protected, the danger from blow-outs is greater than ever before. High-powered motors, whirlwind revolutions of smaller modern wheels, cause terrific heat inside the tires. Rubber and fabric tend to separate. A tiny heat-blister forms, grows... bigger... BIGGER... until BANG! A blow-out. You can't steer. You can't stop. Only luck decides where you land.

Don't let your life depend on luck. An amazing new invention now gives you blow-out protection. The Life-Saver Golden Ply, found only in the new Goodrich Silvertown, resists internal heat. Binds tire carcass and tread virtually into a single unit, inseparable even under tests far more punishing than ordinary driving conditions. Thus, heat-blisters don't form. Blow-outs are prevented by overcoming their great, unseen cause.

TIRES LAST MONTHS LONGER

With destructive internal heat controlled, tire mileage jumps. Racing daredevils tested the Golden Ply at breakneck speeds. Gave it everything they had. Not one blow-out. Similar tires without this feature failed at one-third the distance the Golden Ply Silvertowns were run. And what's more the Golden Ply Silvertowns kept right on eating up the miles.

NO EXTRA COST TO YOU

The new Goodrich Safety Silvertown with the Life-Saver Golden Ply costs no more than other standard tires! Come in and let us show you how little it costs to put this protection on your car, before you have a dangerous blow-out.

Announce New Advancements In Tire Manufacture

New Goodyear Has Five Major Improvements In Wear And Traction

Improvements in design and construction of a brand new automobile tire built to meet the demands of faster automobile operation, are announced by Goodyear.

The new tire, known as the G-3, offers these four new features which mark it as an unusual advancement in tire development, according to W. E. Hall, local Goodyear dealer.

Sixteen percent more diamond tread blocks for added safety and traction, 43 percent longer non-skid tread wear, 50 percent slower "heel and toe" wear; wider, flatter tread with greater road contact surface are important factors which make this new tire more adapted to strenuous modern driving demands, Mr. Hall indicated.

"Goodyear engineers tested many new tread designs on granite grit abrasives on day and night test car runs found the newly designed G-3 tire far outperformed over all designs," continued Mr. Hall.

"In fact, some of these tires have been tested out on cars in this very territory," he added, "because the company wanted to find out through every possible test what the tires would do in all localities. Everywhere the results were so conclusive and gratifying that Goodyear started in on the production of these tires and we are now ready to supply everyone's needs."

An Official, Convincing Test That Should Guide Your Oil Purchases

... New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil conclusively points the way to definite motor protection and economical consumption, under AAA certification ...

HERE is a statement about oil that for the first time gives you understandable and acceptable facts—and proves them. Claimed values, no matter how well known the product is, do not lubricate your motor. Only the form and structure of the oil itself can do that.

New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil has these features: Two to four times the film strength, much greater lubricating ability under crankcase dilution, increased penetrative oiliness, the "Hidden Quart" that stays up in your motor and never drains away. Last, but not least, the minimum of carbon deposit and sludge formation.

Conoco engineers knew what this new oil could do—and dared to put it to test under the unbiased, official supervision of the Contest Board, American Automobile Association—500 miles a day average, 50 miles an hour speed, until the motors were wrecked. It was a trial of the rate of the consumption of oil and of motor protection. On the fourth day, Oil No. 4 dried up and the motor screamed its death cry, having gone 1,713.2 miles. About an hour later, Oil No. 6, at 1,764.4 miles wrecked its motor, and a little over 50 miles farther, the motor of Oil No. 5 cracked up—three well-known oils had marked up their best record.

On the fifth day, Oil No. 1, completing 2,266.8 miles, went out, leaving the test a duel between the two remaining contestants.

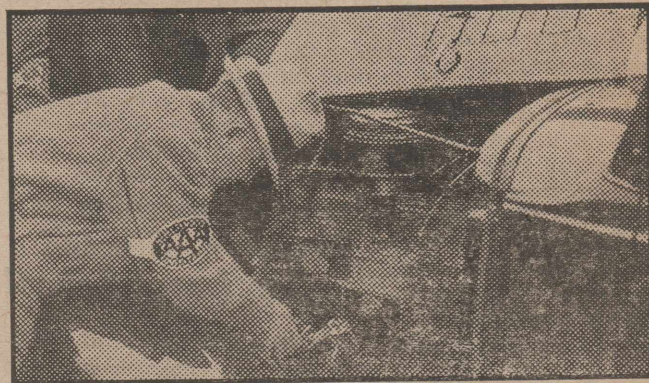

Five quarts of each brand of oil of the same S. A. E. grade from measures checked by the Bureau of Weights and Measures, State of Indiana, were carefully put in the cars by AAA officials.

A day and another day passed. On the eighth day, Oil No. 3 ruined the motor it had safeguarded for 3,318.8 miles. The last rival, though worthy, was out.

Then a lone car, representing Oil No. 2, which was New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil, swung around and around at 50 miles an hour, day after day, until, when a connecting rod went out, it had completed nearly 5,000 miles—exactly 4,729 miles! And this on a total of just five quarts of oil—showing two and one-fifth times the average mileage of all other five oils and 42.5% or 1,410.2 miles better than its nearest and best competitor.

Surely, you need no better proof than this. Certainly, whether you drive a 1934 model or one of previous years, you are interested in this proof of remarkably low consumption and greater motor protection. Drive into any Red Triangle Station, fill with New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil. Reduce your repair bills. Get the economy in both miles and dollars from this known winner.

The official sealing of crankcases after fill of five quarts was put in. No addition of oil was permitted in this "destruction" test.

All Federal Aid Work Trucks To Have NRA Labels

AUSTIN, July 12.—After July 13, no truck operating for hire without NRA insignia plates will be allowed to work upon any project upon which Federal funds are being spent, according to Col. H. E. Stewart, chairman of the Texas trucking code authority. "This will include much of the road construction, public building renovations and other public works projects under way," he said.

The names of over 400 truck operators who have not registered under the code have been certified to the NRA Compliance Office at San Antonio, according to Mr. Stewart.

"Almost 2000 registrations have been made in Texas," he continued, "but of course there are always some laggards who stay out until the last minute. July 13 is the last day on which anyone operating a truck for hire can operate legally without the NRA plate, but the Code Authority will continue to accept registrations from those who can show reasons for not having registered. Anyone who should register and who has not done so by that date will be subject to the full penalties of the Recovery Act, and each day is a separate offense under the code."

Full information on registration may be had from the headquarters of the code authority in the Littlefield Building at Austin.

was relieved by R. Morgan who also weakened under the intense heat: and the game was finished with Bill Morgan pitching. Neeley caught his usual game, and McLearn stopped one of the Daddy Banks liners that was a pip. Seeds was in usual form and Horton played short-stop and right field as usual. Morris had a little difficulty with the heat but the kid is in there. Brisbin, Wilson and Brooks played good baseball and Wilson played a whale-of-a-game. The Gassers are in triple tie for second place. Altus will be our guest. Altus defeated Childress 12 to 2. The fans expect this to be a real game.

OUR QUEER LANGUAGE

In a plea for greater consistency, a spelling reformer has called attention to a few of the many vagaries displayed in English spelling and pronunciation.

The sound of long "a," for example, is represented in many different ways, as in lady, ai in rain, eign in reign, ay in pay, ei in veil, ey in they, eye in obey, ea in great, a in goal, au in gauge, ag in champagne, aig in campaign, aigh in straight and ai in wait.

Other sounds were represented by an almost equal variety of spellings. Words pronounced alike have different meanings, such as right-rite-write-wright, to-two-too, oh-owe, and many others. Words spelled alike may mean entirely different things, such as row, bow, lead, saw, and so on.

These peculiarities have to do merely with orthography. When the other innumerable inconsistencies of the language are considered, the wonder is that everyone ever learns to speak and write English correctly. As a matter of fact, hardly anyone ever does.

CANADA'S ANNIVERSARY

This month celebrations will be held to commemorate the 400th anniversary of Canada's discovery by the French navigator, Jacques Cartier, in 1534, especially in the vicinity of his first landing place on the Gaspé peninsula, where a huge stone cross will be erected.

With two ships he commanded under a commission from Francis I of France, Cartier set sail from his native seaport, St. Malo, on April 20, 1534, to explore the region beyond the New Foundland fishing grounds, which were already well known. Touching the eastern coast of that great island, he sailed northward to the Straits of Belle Isle, through which he passed to discover the mainland of Canada, which he claimed for France, although he believed it to be a part of Asia.

The next year he explored the St. Lawrence as far as the Indian village of Hochelaga, near the present site of Montreal. After many hardships, and with his crew weakened with scurvy, a disease then unknown in Europe, he returned to France in May, 1536, and the idea of colonizing the new land was temporarily abandoned.

In 1541, however, Cartier returned to Canada with five ships, and established a settlement and fort called Charlesbourg, near the present site of Quebec. But the Indians, whose chief he had carried away on his former voyage, harassed the colonists so much that he abandoned the place and took them back to France the next year. Whether he ever returned to Canada again is not definitely known, and the date of his death is uncertain.

While Cartier did not found a permanent colony, his explorations blazed the way for the building of a great dominion—but under another flag.

TOO MUCH THEORY

Approving the idea that our system of education, even professional education, is encumbered with superfluous theory and non-essentials, an eminent English engineer, C. B. Gordon-Sale, expressed doubt concerning the value of such an amount of higher mathematics as must be mastered by young engineers.

He declares many of the involved theories, embodying yards of calculations, are out of place and liable to warp the mental outlook to such an extent that it takes years of experience to again attain a reasonable view of engineering problems.

He further asserts that he has never had to use much that he learned during his technical training, but that he constantly needed knowledge of cost estimating and other practical matters not taught in school, but which had to be picked up through corrected mistakes.

Referring to the plea that higher mathematics and an accompanying host of algebraic symbols are necessary for the formation of logical modes of thought, Mr. Gordon-Sale thinks the idea does not work out, because he believes that "cramming" is bad for anyone, and adds:

"The amount of matter that one has to get through is so great that there is no time for basic principles; the sole aim of college days is to get the numerical problems right."

Mr. Gordon-Sale merely expresses what good many thoughtful persons, including educators, have suspected for quite a while. And the fault he points out is by no means confined to engineering courses.

SOME BOY GENERALS

The unveiling of a monument to General Galusha Pennypacker in Philadelphia on June 1, the 92nd anniversary of his birth, recalled the fact that he was the youngest officer of either side to reach the rank of brigadier-general during the Civil War, he having attained it when only 22 years old.

He enlisted at the age of 18, was a major at 19, a colonel at 22 and a brigadier-general the same year, having been promoted for exceptional gallantry in battle. He received wounds at Fort Fisher from which he suffered during the remainder of his life, but he lived until 1916.

Among the young generals of the Confederacy were John H. Kelly of Alabama, Thomas M. Logan of South Carolina and Felix Robinson of Texas, all of whom became brigadier-generals while in their early twenties, and Joseph Wheeler, who was made a major-general at 26.

During the Revolution the rank of major-general was conferred on Lafayette by the Continental Congress when he was only 19, but this was not an earned honor, it being conferred because of Lafayette's supposed influence in connection with France's aid to America.

It is doubtful that such high rank will be given youthful officers in the future, because the exactions of modern warfare are such that no one, however brilliant, can fit himself for high command without many years of preparation.

OUR PAST

By C. C. BISHOP

The earliest instance of a clash between Americans and the Spaniards on Texas soil, preceded the Louisiana Purchase by three years. In 1800 Philip Nolan invaded Texas with a force of twenty men on a mission, the character of which has never been satisfactorily explained.

This party was like the usual group—it had its deserters and by him the Spanish authorities were informed of Nolan's whereabouts and plans.

The deserter's statement to the Mexicans was that Nolan's purpose was to build a fort in Northeast Texas to serve as a base for the conquering of the province at some later date, and they acted upon that information.

Nolan came as far into Texas as what is now known as Tarrant and Dallas counties and after capturing about three hundred wild horses, he returned to the territory around where Waco is now located.

In the meantime the Spanish authorities sent out a force of one hundred men in search of Nolan's party.

On March 21, 1801, the Spaniards came upon Nolan's camp, which was situated near the point where the city of Waco now stands and battle ensued. Nolan was killed and the members of his party captured.

Three Americans escaped shortly after the battle, and the remainder of the group, consisting of eight Americans, one Mexican and one Louisiana creole, were taken to Nacogdoches.

From there they were sent to San Antonio in irons, and later were moved to San Louis Potosi, Mexico. After spending sixteen months in prison they were moved again and in 1804 were given a trial and their release ordered.

This was objected to by the commanding officer of the internal provinces and the matter was referred to the King of Spain.

Finally, in 1807, the decision came from Spain that one man of each five should be executed, the choice to be made by lot, and that the others should serve ten years at hard labor.

Many historians have stated that method used in selecting the one to die was by drawing beans and the one receiving a black bean should die, but this is not correct by the best records.

The system was that the men should throw dice or "shoot craps" and the one making the low score was to be hanged.

One of the men died during the time waiting for the king's orders, and a friendly Alcalde (Judge) decided that the execution of one would satisfy the decree.

The score keeper's card for this dice game was as follows:

Luciano Garcia	3 & 4-7
Joseph Reed	5 & 6-11
David Fero	5 & 3-8
Ephraim Blackburn	3 & 1-4
Solomon Cooley	6 & 5-11
Jonah Walters	6 & 1-7
Charles King	4 & 3-7
Ellis Bean	4 & 1-5
William Danley	5 & 2-7

ON TEXAS FARMS

By W. H. DARROW

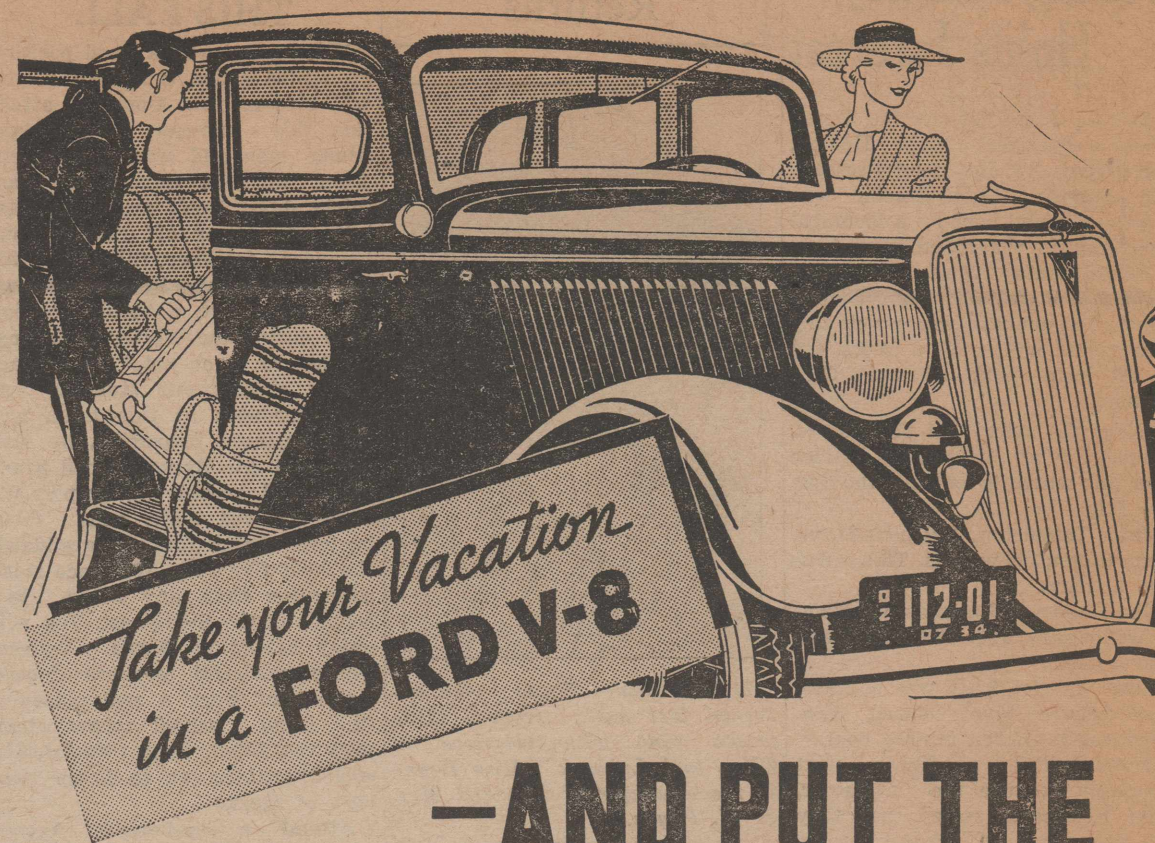

Extension Service Agent

Six or more trench silos are to be dug in Waller county this year because Roy Chapman fed 392 head of cattle for market last season using for roughage 120 tons of seeded ribbon cane buried in a trench 120 feet long according to A. & M. College plans.

If you have extra good tomatoes it will be cheaper to save seed from your own crop than to buy it next spring, says J. F. Rosborough, extension horticulturist. Cut the best specimens in half, place in a barrel half full of water, and when the pulp separates, sours and comes to the top, skim off the pulp and scoop out the seed from the bottom of the barrel. Rinse and dry in the shade. Store in tight containers. One bushel of tomatoes will furnish enough seed for one acre.

Experiments in the culture of wild dewberries have proven profitable to Mrs. J. A. Turner, Barker Home Demonstration Club member in Harris county. She planted one row of wild dewberries in her garden last year, and gathered enough in early season to can six gallons. She is putting out two more rows.

Frank Jacobs of Newcastle, Me., whose dog is an expert roller skater, made a special set of two-wheeled skates for the animal.

—AND PUT THE SAVINGS IN YOUR POCKET

LOW first cost is only one of the savings you make when you buy a Ford V-8.

This new V-8 is more economical to operate than any other Ford car ever built.

It saves you money on gas. On oil. It seldom requires valve grinding. And you can practically forget about carbon removal. Further, in that distant day when parts may need replacement, Ford parts cost from 23% to 54% less than parts for any other car.

Take your vacation on the road this year—and let what you save on your new Ford V-8 help foot the bills!

ARE YOUR TIRES SAFE?

This bald tire has lost 50% of its non-skid safety. It is a slippery, treacherous companion on any road, in any weather, at any speed. Just when you need its help the most... when some emergency calls for quick braking, or a burst of speed, or a sudden turn... it will betray your confidence and get you into trouble. Every mile you drive on bald tires, you run a DOUBLE risk.

These sharp, clean-cut non-skid cogs make all the difference in the world. They give you double the protection from skidding on wet, slippery pavements that bald tires give. Stopping, starting, climbing, descending, turning, speeding... everything your car does depends on safe, sure-footed tires. Buy U.S. Tires of Tempered Rubber. Tougher, longer lasting—safer.

Insure today with U.S. TIRES with the TEMPERED RUBBER TREAD

No tire built gives greater non-skid safety and sure-footed traction than this famous U.S. Royal. Notice its cogwheel tread design, based on one of the oldest and surest principles in engineering... the COGWHEEL principle. This tread wears MILES longer; the non-skid safety remains long after other tires are bald... because it is built of the toughest tread rubber ever placed on a tire... TEMPERED RUBBER.

Eugene Worley Is Speaker Saturday

Candidate For Representative Favors Cotton Classers In State

Eugene Worley, young candidate for the office of State Representative of the 122nd District, spoke in Wellington Saturday afternoon.

Judge R. H. Templeton, in introducing Worley to the large audience, declared that every voter should, in order to cast an intelligent ballot, be acquainted with the platform and measures advocated by the various candidates for local and State offices.

Worley pointed out that only trained experts could determine the proper grade and staple of the farmer's cotton, and that the average cotton grower is at a disadvantage in securing the highest price for his cotton because he has no way of properly determining the grade and staple.

"The need for expert cotton classers to grade and staple the cotton for the protection of the farmer is great and the cost of this protection should be paid for by increasing the tax on horse-racing," Worley said. He also pointed out that the citrus fruit in the Rio Grande Valley is graded for the growers' and consumer's protection; that cream and sweet milk and various other products are likewise graded and classified.

In discussing the school situation, Worley pointed out that East and South Texas are receiving from the available school fund more than three million dollars annually upon the basis of the 200,000 negro and Mexican children who do not attend school but the State pays for them at the rate of $16 per capita. Worley believes the per capita should be based upon actual attendance and not upon the census basis, because the Panhandle is being discriminated against—paying out taxes to their own detriment and to the benefit of the Eastern and Southern sections of the State. Worley said that many East Texas counties levy no school taxes at all, the State aid from the available school fund being sufficient to educate their children.

Worley plans to attend the balance of the Collingsworth County candidate speakings and other points over the district.

Study Your Bed Room

By ANNIE MAE DONAGHEY
County H. D. Agent

You have seen rooms that are arranged so comfortably that you would just like to stop and enjoy life for an hour or two—so why don't we work for this arrangement in our bed room furnishings.

The primary purpose of the bed room is rest, but by careful arrangement of furnishings this room would be the most individual and livable room in the home.

The room should speak comfort and livableness for itself; for too many times our furniture is just on display because of its priceless value and elaborateness. Simplicity should be the keynote of the arrangement and furnishing of every room and especially the bed room. Every piece of furniture should be simple, in line and have a definite use in the room.

In the arrangement of the furnishings of the bed room, the room as one complete picture must appear balanced with all of the large pieces of furniture flat against the wall, balancing one heavy piece of furniture on one side of the wall with another heavy piece on the other side of the room.

There should be different centers of interest in the bed room aside from the rest and dressing centers. The reading and writing center may be combined if your room is small. This unit will include a comfortable chair, a table or desk with a good reading lamp. Then the thoughtful home maker has arranged stationery, ink stamps, pens and blotters in this center so that you may use them without any moving. Sometimes we get out of the notion of writing and especially when we have to search for paper, ink and stamps, so why not save all of this energy by more careful arrangement of accessories. Then current magazines—vases of flowers, and fruit add a pleasing of friendliness.

Too many times we sympathize with ourselves by saying that I might have a comfortable, attractive livable bedroom too, if I had this or that, but the thing that we are working for is to make the most of what you have before your oil well comes in. Who knows, we may be disappointed in the oil well but we could enjoy our bed room if it is arranged to our interest.

The North Wellington Club ladies studied the arrangement of bed room furnishings during the month of June and several of them have already put this work into use.

Mrs. J. G. Gardner has arranged her furnishings and says that she was glad to make the changes and likes her room much better.

Mrs. Gardner took her library table and is now putting it into use as a writing and reading center. The drawer in the table was used for pictures, but now has all her necessary writing material at hand and a small work box containing scissors, thread, needles and thimble. The top of the table is centered with a reading lamp and Bible which furnishes an interesting variety in heights.

Her picture has been dropped several feet, now playing a part in the writing and reading center since the picture is level on the eye. The cord too, was removed since it destroyed the lines of the picture.

To make her conversational center more cheerful she put a hooked rug over her divan and some flowers in a hanging basket near a chair.

Since her bed room has two windows, it is necessary that she have all of the light and breeze possible. The curtains have been pulled back with high tiebacks, so that she will not break the line of the window sill her curtains add an interesting note of color and do not cut out the light.

Her vanity which was across the corner of the wall now is flat against the wall, and gives the room the appearance of being larger. A chair has also been grouped with the vanity.

Mrs. John Jones has also rearranged her bed room furnishings and accessories. Since her room is small, it was necessary for her to plan her space carefully to make the room look less crowded.

Her machine is being used as a writing center. It is near the window which furnishes good natural lighting. She has used a tall back occasional chair at the writing center which makes the ceiling look higher and gives the room a more dignified appearance. The machine is centered with a colorful vase and a desk set.

Before Mrs. Jones started working on her room her vanity was across the corner and several large photographs were used. Of course we are glad to see her friends pictures in the bed room but she is using a few other accessories on her vanity now.

Since the vanity has been placed flat against the wall her room appears much larger.

Her cedar chest is at the foot of the bed now but it is near a small rocker which furnishes a very good conversational center. The chair is turned slightly in order to give the room a more home like appearance.

Why We Support

Senator Tom Connally

Senator Connally is an aggressive and militant supporter of the Roosevelt Democratic Administration and is a capable and worthy representative in the interest of the people. Among the many measures he has voted for are: Farm relief Act; Home Loan Bank Act, Guaranty of Bank Deposits, Muscle Shoals Act, Cattle Relief Act, together with many others for the benefit of Texas people.

Some of the legislative accomplishments of Senator Tom Connally in his first term in the U. S. Senate.

First Senator to advocate reduction of gold content of the dollar. On April 18, 1933, he introduced the bill providing for revaluation of the dollar, which plan was adopted by Congress in Act approved January 30, 1934.

Author of amendment adopted by the Finance Committee and incorporated in the 1934 Revenue Act placing an excise tax upon foreign animal and vegetable oils and fats. Helped all producers of cottonseed oils and fats.

Co-Author of the Jones-Connally Cattle Relief Act, placing cattle as a basic commodity under the provisions of the Agricultural Adjustment Act and allotting $250,000,000 in benefits to the producers.

Author, in the Senate, of the American Legion bill permitting coinage of memorial half dollars for Texas Centennial.

Author of complete schedule of income tax rates in the Revenue Act of 1932. These rates sought to equalize the tax burden, and increased the rate of tax upon the biggest incomes.

Author of amendment to Tariff Act of 1930, increasing duty upon cattle to protect livestock raisers against competition of cheaply-produced foreign cattle. (2-18-30, Record 4027.)

Author of amendment adopted by Senate Finance Committee in the public works lay appropriating Federal aid road funds, in part, upon a mileage basis. Resulted in Texas' getting $1,500,000 additional road aid.

Proposed at Haskell, Texas, drought conference in 1929, crop production loans and continued activity in behalf of this kind of relief at the next session of Congress. Adopted by Congress in 1930.

Author of amendment adopted by Senate, January 12, 1932, directing Land Bank directors to consider pleas for extensions on the merits of each application and not upon general conditions only.

Author of amendment to Independent Offices Appropriation Bill in 1933 limiting reductions in compensation and pensions to World War veterans (service-connected cases) and to Spanish War veterans and widows to 25 percent. This amendment, which was adopted when Vice President Garner broke the tie and voted for it, proved the basis for the compromise agreement which later reached between the House and Senate, liberalizing compensation to disabled veterans.

Post Office Shows Increased Sales Totaling To $1,886 Past Six Months

Air-Mail Stamps Reduced; Big Part Of Increase Was Stamp Sale

Showing an increase of $1,886.18 for the past six months, the Wellington post office was reported to have recorded a gain approximately 32 1-2 percent on total income over the similar six month period of 1933, according to the announcement of Ernest Jackson, assistant post master, this week.

Mr. Jackson said that the quarter including January, February and March, of 1934, showed the greater increase of the six month period with a total of $3,786.16 as compared with the total of $2,834.41 for the same three months in 1933. This quarter recorded a total increase of $961.75.

The second quarter of 1934, May, June and July recorded total sales of 4,221.59 as compared with $3,279.16 for the same three months of 1933, giving a total increase of $924.43.

The combined income of the entire six months of 1934 was reported to be $8,017.75 while the total for the same six months of 1933 was listed at $6,131.57, giving the total increase of $1,886.18.

The greater part of the increase in this county was said to be due to increased stamp sales, while 3rd class mail was credited with a slight increase.

Announcement was also made that air-mail stamps have been reduced from eight cents on the first ounce to six cents on the first ounce; a rate of six cents will also be applied on additional ounces of air mail.

"Why friends," Small declared, "That suit was filed seven years ago, before this state ever heard of Jimmy Alford. All the institution and prosecution of that suit was by Dan Moody, Lee Bobbit, and Claude Pollard when they were in the attorney general's office. The case had already been

Where ever possible corn and grain sorghum fields should be plowed in the fall and try to destroy their hibernating places through the winter and retard the spread of this insect as much as possible. It is possible to control to some extent by rotating and planting the corn fields to wheat. This would not give the borers a host plant to live in.

port compress would not have to secure exemption tax receipts on that cotton; the compress will attend to the tagging of this cotton. Farmers who have their cotton stored in gins, yards, or at their homes, however, will have to secure tax exemption slips or face the possibility of paying the set tax next fall under the Bankhead Bill.

partment, made of stronger steel and constructed in such a manner that their tools would not penetrate it. Whether someone disturbed them or whether they gave up in despair is not known, but the thieves left the safe and the bank night money.

The manner in which the thieves blew the safe indicates that they were amateurs, Mr. Bonner said, due to the fact that they handled their nitro-glycerine very poorly. Finger print experts failed to trace the thieves through this method and Mr. Bonner said that the intruders wore gloves, due to the fact that plenty of glove-prints were found on the safe and about the room.

G. N. Scruggs, night watchman, said that he heard the explosion about 3:30 o'clock in the morning, but was unable to determine the exact location.

The thieves entered through the rear door of the theatre.

cent reduction.

The new 86 cent tax rate is the lowest this county has had since the year 1922, when the rate was fixed at 80 cents; it was raised to 90 cents in 1923 and $1.00 in 1929.

The total county valuation for taxable purposes will be practically the same as for last year, approximately six and one-half million dollars. Based upon this valuation, the tax bill of Collingsworth County taxpayers is reduced from approximately $65,000 to $55,000, a saving of $9,100.

One of his sensational feats is to hypnotize a woman and place her in some local show window at 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon. She will be removed at 8:45 and carried to the Ritz in an Ellis Funeral Ambulance, where she will be awakened on the stage of the theatre. Much curiosity is being aroused regarding this sleep in the store window, and all who care to view her will be privileged to do so.

"Kirk The Wizard," who has played the larger theatre circuits and "Big Time" vaudeville houses, comes here with the highest praise and endorsement as an entertainer of sensational thrills and hilarious comedy elements. Prices will not be raised for this added attraction. Legion officials and theatre management are expecting a packed house for the one engagement.
