Help West Texas And Texas Tech

Cast Your Vote For Amendment No. 2!

THE EARLY-DAY settlers of our country believed that "taxation without representation is unjust."

They believed it so firmly that they broke with the mother country, risked their all in an armed revolution with all odds against them, and laid the foundation stone of what has become the greatest nation on earth.

Americans still believe that "taxation without representation is unjust." So it must follow that taxation without fair representation is unjust. And that is what we, of this section of Texas, have had for 25 long years: taxation without fair representation, hence a most unjust state government.

In order to bring about at least a semblance of fair representation, it will not be necessary for us to enter into any armed conflict. But it will be necessary for us to enter into a battle of ballots. The battle is today. The battleground is the ballot.

Amendment No. 2 on the ballot calls for the creation of a board to change legislative districts—both House and Senate—any time a federal census shows the need of such redistricting as provided in the State Constitution. That amendment should be approved not only by every fair-minded citizen of Texas, but, especially, by every voter in this section of our state.

THERE has been no legislative redistricting in Texas since 1923, despite the fact that each succeeding federal census has shown the need.

Legislatures have refused to act from motives purely selfish. There is no ground for believing that future Legislatures will act unless forced to act by the passage of Amendment No. 2. But if Amendment No. 2 is passed today, the first Legislature meeting after completion of the 1950 census will be forced to act, or leave the action to the board which Amendment No. 2 will create.

Northwest Texas does not have half as much legislative representation as its population calls for. It never will have, unless Amendment No. 2 is approved today, or, in years to come, something similar is voted by the people. Until a change is made—and a change can be made by voting for Amendment No. 2—the older sections of the state will continue to have the bulk of legislative representation and the newer sections will suffer continued discrimination.

West Texas voters, regardless of any lack of interest they may have in all the rest of today's ballot, should go to the polls for the express purpose of voting FOR Amendment No. 2. Passage of Amendment No. 2 means a gain of about three representatives and two senators for Northwest Texas—five more legislators to help look after our interests and those of Texas Tech.

VOTE TODAY! Vote FOR Amendment No. 2!

Weather To Co-Operate As Voters Trek To Polls Today

LUBBOCK and South Plains voters were promised good weather today by the weatherman as they go to their respective polling places.

The U. S. Weather bureau station north of Lubbock reports that the forecast for Lubbock and vicinity calls for mostly fair and warmer today, with a low early this morning of 35 to 38 degrees, and a high of 65 to 70 degrees.

Meanwhile, weekend hail and rains caused widespread damage to cotton crops in Dawson county, according to reports from Lamesa, but rains boosted prospects in the Panhandle-South Plains wheat-growing section.

Damage Reported Heavy

Wheat formers over the North Plains and part of the South Plains Monday were seeing visions of another bumper wheat crop after general rains fell Sunday afternoon and night, and again Monday morning in some places.

Cotton farmers were less jubilant, for wet fields meant delay in gathering their crops, in addition to damaging fields of cotton.

Unofficial reports Monday listed as much as six inches of rain accompanied by hail in the southwest part of Dawson county, near Patricia. Widespread damage to cotton crops from the hail and high winds was reported. It was estimated that up to 20,000 acres of cotton in that part of Dawson county was almost totally destroyed. The cotton was mostly of the late variety, and damage was placed at $20 per acre. Other estimates of numbers of acres damaged were considerably lower.

The rainfall which began on the South Plains early Sunday afternoon was followed by a drop in temperatures a few hours later as

Contracts For Museum Signed

Contracts amounting to $230,635 for the completion of the Texas Technetogical college museum were signed Monday night by Dr. Clifford B. Jones, who was authorized as chairman of the building committee at Monday's meeting of the museum board of directors.

"Work on the structure is scheduled to begin immediately and although the contracts allow 365 consecutive days for completion, we hope to occupy the building by Sept. 1," Dr. W. C. Holden, professor and head of the department of history and anthropology, said.

Three Contracts Signed

The two story building will provide 18,200 square feet of floor space for display use and an additional 8,000 feet in the attic for storage. This space, some of which will be used for temporary classrooms and offices, is in addition to that already in use, which will be the basement of the new building, Dr. Holden said.

The college board of directors appropriated $185,000 toward the work, and the West Texas Museum association is furnishing $42,000 and assuming the deficit

Voters Decide Torrid Texas Races Today

(By The Associated Press)

TEXAS voters who have listened to months of political persuasion have their say today in the general election.

They will name 23 presidential electors, a governor, a junior United States senator, 21 representatives to Congress and hundreds of other state, district and local officials.

They will decide whether or not to make eight changes in the state constitution.

Ticket-Splitting Expected

Widespread ticket-splitting was expected. The Republicans hoped to make hay of Democratic controversies by electing Jack Porter to the U. S. Senate over Lyndon B. Johnson, and putting Texas in the Tom Dewey rather than the Harry S. Truman presidential elector column. They didn't have much hope in most state races.

The Republicans have been instructing Texans how to divide their vote. They had election supervisors named in many precincts to make certain such split ballots are counted.

The Coke Stevenson-Johnson feud for the Democratic senatorial nomination spilled over into the general election campaign.

Stevenson Backs Porter

Stevenson backed Porter, claiming Johnson was not the legal Democratic nominee on the basis of alleged fraud in the ballot counting where the 10th district congressman led him by 87 votes. The former governor told other Democrats they had no legal or moral obligation to vote for Johnson.

Johnson fought back with a charge that Stevenson had made any full recount of the runoff primary ballots impossible by failing to bring a contest in state courts. Johnson said a complete recount would have given him a more substantial lead the in the final Democratic primary.

There were the usual predictions of victory by all parties on election eve.

Absentee Voting Heavy

Winding up the Democratic campaign, Rep. Sam Rayburn in a noon radio speech said the Republican campaign was not based on issues, but had degenerated into a smear campaign against Johnson.

Johnson's last word in a radio speech urged voters to be on guard

Murder Of U. S. Citizen Probed

VIENNA, Nov. 1 (INS)—American authorities learned tonight of the theory that robbery was the motive for the rifle-butt murder of an American Marshall plan official in the Soviet zone of Austria early Sunday.

But they were unable to complete their investigation of the slaying because the Russians refused to permit them to question an Austrian girl eyewitness who accused four Russian soldiers of the crime.

Police called the murder "the most brutal we have investigated."

The victim, Irving Ross, 38, was found dead in his automobile in the Soviet-controlled Inzersdorff suburb of Vienna.

U. S. Scientists Asked To Help Solve Mystery Of 'Death Smog'

By TROY GORDON
INS Staff Correspondent

DONORA, Pa. Nov. 1. — Local and state health inspectors, unable to explain the "death smog" which killed 19 persons in Donora, appealed to the U. S. Public Health service tonight for help in solving the mystery.

A fog still hung over Donora tonight but, thanks to many hours of rain that began last night, it was free of the toxic smoke that took so many lives Saturday and sent scores of others to hospitals.

Donora health officials and Pennsylvania state inspectors have been making tests for two days of what one doctor called Donora's strange "murder in the air." But they have come to no agreement on just what happened, as a result of which the call went out to federal health experts.

The U. S. Public Health service was asked to send scientists to Donora to aid in the study. At the same time, a preliminary report of the local investigation, promised for tonight, was withheld.

Rescuers Remove Bodies Of Four From Plane Wreckage

(Special To The Avalanche)

MATADOR, Nov. 1.—The bodies of four persons was removed from the scattered wreckage of an all-metal Cessna 195 airplane 25 miles southeast of Matador Monday after searchers had found the craft after a search which got underway last Friday.

All four persons, all residents of Oklahoma City, perished instantly when the plane apparently crashed and exploded into a sand mound during a heavy rainstorm. It was believed the plane crashed about 10:25 a. m. last Thursday morning, a short time after it asked weather information in the Lubbock vicinity while flying near Wichita Falls. The plane was on a flight from Oklahoma City to Denver City.

Victims Are Identified

The dead, identified by an employe of the Denver Refining and Producing company, were: R. G. Rapp, multi-millionaire president of the firm; L. S. Tunks, company production superintendent; Mrs. Tunks, and Ben Parr, the plane's pilot. All were from Oklahoma City.

The plane, which had been the object of a widespread air-land search over West Texas since Friday, was discovered about 9:30 a. m. by Russell Hofsess, pilot for Cities Service Oil company. Soon afterwards ground rescue teams made their way over sandy, shinnery-covered hills to the scene of the crash, the first arriving at about 11 a. m.

Dug Wide Crater

Douglas Meador, publisher of The Matador Tribune and Mayor of Matador, was among those travelling to the wreckage, which was in the Red Lake pasture of Matador ranch, in the northeast corner of Dickens county. He said the plane, which apparently was going north when it crashed, literally exploded from the impact.

Parts of it were scattered over an area at least 150 yards in diameter, and the largest undamaged piece was a three-foot section of the tail, upon which the plane's CAA number—which facilitated early identification—was found.

Meador said one engine of the plane had dug a hole about 20 feet in diameter and four feet in depth in the sandy knoll where it crashed. The bodies of all four occupants were blasted apart, he said, and rescuers had to pick them up piece by piece. Articles of cloth: , including even shoes, were ripped apart by the force of the crash., he added. The wreckage covered eight to ten acres.

Two watches found in the tangled wreckage indicated that the accident occurred at about 10:2 o'clock Thursday morning, as both had stopped at that hour.

MULDROW, Okla., Nov. 1.—Eleven Air Force fliers—four officers and seven enlisted men—died in the crash of a twin-engine transport plane on the outskirts of this east Oklahoma town today.

The plane, flying low in a driving rainstorm, broke into three pieces aloft and plunged into a rain-covered cornfield about 11 a. m.

At Fort Smith, Ark., 20 miles east of here, Army sources at Camp Chaffee said four officers and seven enlisted men were aboard the plane and all 11 bodies had been recovered and removed to Fort Smith.

Names Withheld

Names of the victims were withheld pending notification of next of kin by Sheppard field. The only clue to identity of the victims was a B-4 bag found in the wreckage bearing the name "Capt. E. Mostyn."

Sheppard field reported the C-47, as the Army designates the familiar DC-3, left Wichita Falls on a routine cross-country administrative flight at 9:45 a. m., with 11 men aboard.

It was estimated by witnesses that the ship was flying at an altitude of 300 to 400 feet, under a low cloud blanket, when it suddenly disintegrated. They said bodies and plane sections flew in different directions.

Witness Tells Of Crash

A graphic description was given by Tom Morgan, who said he was standing in front of a store here.

"I looked up," he related, "and saw the plane and while I was looking at it, it blew up. It looked like pieces flew all over. I saw three big pieces. I saw men fall. I saw one parachute start opening and then fold up. I saw no other parachutes open at all."

Another witness was Robert Lee Smith, Van Buren, Ark. He said he was driving along the highway and was looking at the plane when he heard a roar.

"Then the plane just blew apart into three big pieces," he told newsmen. "I saw the tail piece float off in one direction

Hot Fight Indicated For Senate Control

Truman Makes Last-Minute Appeal For Backing; Dewey Urges Large Turnout

(By The Associated Press)

PRESIDENT Truman, departing sharply from election-eve tradition, got in a last personal bid for votes Monday night as the candidates made their usual get-out-the-vote broadcasts.

Political observers said a record or near-record vote was expected to be cast in the national, state and local contests.

Gov. Dewey hewed closer to custom. He stressed anew his "united America" theme and touched on some of the other points he has stressed in his campaign, but did it in language that dovetailed with a plea to "vote, regardless of how you vote."

The Democratic and Republican presidential candidates made last-night addresses by radio as the millions of American voters made ready to tap today the shoulder of the man they want for president.

Truman Makes Plea

Truman, from his home town of Independence, Mo., declared that Democratic victory "is our best assurance against going back to the dark days of 1932." He urged:

"Go to the polls tomorrow and vote your convictions—your hopes—and your faith—your faith in the future of a nation that under God can lead to freedom and peace."

The President declared his belief that "the Democratic party is the party of the people." He asserted the question is whether "you want government for the people or government for the privileged few."

"Envy Of The Earth"

"I believe in particular," he went on, "that the industrial workers, the farmers and the small businessmen of this country can best protect themselves against reaction and inflation through the Democratic party."

Dewey, from New York, said the principal issue is whether America "is going to be a strong, united nation."

The Republican nominee went on:

"Every one of us, as a citizen of the United States, will be the envy of the earth as we freely choose the kind of government we want."

Dewey Stresses Unity Theme

Still stressing his "unity" theme, the New York governor said that after the votes are counted "we will close ranks to go forward, shoulder to shoulder, remembering that, whether we are Democrats or Republicans on election day, we are good Americans every day."

He went on to say that "we" will find a road to peace, and meet the great, inspiring task of making America the land of promise and hope that it surely can be."

County Vote Total May Reach 10,000

IT'S General Election day.

Which means that the electorate may vote for its favorite candidates — whatever the party — all the way from president down to public weigher.

HOW TO VOTE

(1) Be sure to scratch all except ONE candidate for each office.

(2) In voting, DO NOT scratch, check, or in any way mark the name of a candidate FOR WHOM you are voting.

(3) In voting a straight party ticket, you are permitted to make a large X covering each party separately for which you do NOT witsh to vote, or scratch out each candidate individually.

(4) In voting the split ticket, scratch names of all candidates you do NOT wish to vote for in their separate columns — remembering at all times to leave UNTOUCHED any candidate's name FOR WHOM you are voting.

You also will find on your ballot, the eight proposed amendments to the Texas State Constitution.

For example: If you are in favor of Amendment 2, (RE-DISTRICTING) strike out the whole amendment prefaced by the word "AGAINST," leaving untouched the whole amendment prefaced by the word "FOR". The League of Women Voters of Texas urges your support of this Amendment 2. Cast all amendment votes in the same manner by scratching out the sections "for" or "against", as you see fit.

DO NOT FORGET:

(1) If you make an error on your ballot — you may return it to an election judge, and receive another. The law clearly states that you may request a third replacement.

(2) The election judges want to assist you. If you are in doubt concerning any feature of the voting procedure, do not risk having your ballot tossed out — ask for advice.

The polls will open at 8 a. m. in 26 election places in Lubbock county, close at 7 p. m.

A last minute change put voting place of precinct 7-A, northwestern Lubbock, at the Arnett-Benson Baptist church, officials said. The church is located across the street north of Chapel Presbyterian church, which has been used in previous elections.

General election voting in Lubbock county usually is light. Estimates for this year, however, run to as high as 7,500 to 10,000. Slightly more than 10,400 votes were cast in the 1944 general elections.

County Auditor Joe Boyd said 25,750 ballots had been printed.

More than 23,000 could vote in Lubbock county, based on poll taxes and estimated exemptions, J. B. Johnston, county tax assessor-collector, said.

The voters are urged to go early to the polls. The 2½-by-1⅛-foot ballots, listing columns for Dem-

Naval Maneuvers To Be Held In Arctic

BOSTON, Nov. 1. (AP)—A huge naval task force is churning north to test its postwar strength in the frigid waters of the Artic.

A hundred ships manned by 36,000 men, 543 aircraft and 17 submarines will engage in mock battle to attempt to answer a few questions about the possible course of naval warfare in the future.

Commanding the surface vessels, according to reports received here today, is Admiral William H. P. Blandy, commander in chief of the Atlantic fleet.

Out to waylay and "destroy" this fleet are the 17 subs, commanded by Rear Admiral James Fife, Jr. This undersea force will test its latest anti-detection devices against the Navy's newest, secret anti-submarine methods.

European Nations Are Anxiously Awaiting Results Of U. S. Election

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

The power and the responsibility of the American people in world affairs never has been pointed up quite so sharply as by the "freezing" of United Nations activity pending today's presidential election.

Despite the absence of any important issue between Republicans and Democrats on international affairs, the world sits back and waits. And this despite the fact that the campaign has played no visible role in the U. S. Declaration to the UN. There George Marshall, who expects to get out as secretary of state regardless, and John Foster Dulles, who is expected to get the job in case of a widely-predicted Dewey victory, have worked together with every outward sign of full cooperation.

Want Positive Statement

Dulles and Senator Arthur Vandenberg have been the key Republicans for several years in implementing America's bi-partisan foreign policy.

Yet the very absence of foreign policy debate in the campaign has served to heighten Europe's desire for a positive statement from Dewey if he is elected.

Some of the nations are worried about specific points. One of them is how much influence can be exerted by the isolationists in Congress. Another is what political victory will do to the extreme advocates of economy who fought ERP appropriations last summer.

Britain and France will be watching to see if the election serves to heighten the official American tendency to look askance at their socialization programs.

France's socialization program is not a complete success, and is costing the government more than it can afford while it relies heavily on the U. S.

Want "Softer" Policy

Scandinavia's Socialist government is more independent of American help.

But all of them are watching closely to see whether the Republicans, in event of victory, will consider the vote as a mandate for greater conservatism.

Worry about this is balanced by concern that a Democratic victory might be taken as an endorsement of an even tougher policy toward Russia. Europe is supporting the present firm policy with some misgivings. They are willing to take a lot of pushing around before adopting a stand they think might lead to war. They consider the firm policy the outstanding thing about the present administration, and go along at least in part because it involves the economic help which they cannot do without.

But whatever the result at America's polling places today, Europe will be hoping that the winner will place no extreme interpretations upon it.

Underground Concrete Pipe For Irrigation Is Planned

Laying of what is believed to be the first system of underground concrete irrigation pipe in this area is to be started Wednesday morning on the Walter Graves farm near Littlefield, it was announced here yesterday.

The project was announced through the Ferguson Implement company at Littlefield, contractors for the job, and construction will be under supervision of a Dallas representative of the manufacturing company.

The 12-inch pipe is to be laid about two feet under the surface, allowing unbroken cultivation over it, with gate valves installed at intervals for release of water, the announcement said.

Officials of various agencies interested in soil and water conservation are expected to attend the event, and the invitation to attend was extended to anyone interested.

Guard Troops Leave East Tennessee Town

LOUDON, Tenn., Nov. 1. (AP)—National guardsmen withdrew from this middle east Tennessee town yesterday after their commander reported that "the situation is under control."

The troops came here Saturday on orders of Gov. Jim McCord when Sheriff Henry McDonald and Mayor E. E. Watkins reported tension was too high for safety.

The tension and threatened mob violence grew out of the automobile death Oct. 23 of Knoxville hillybilly singer Ray Brewster.

Sheriff McDonald and a deputy, Clifford Hughes, are charged with responsibility in Brewster's death. They are free under $5,000 bond pending a grand jury hearing.

199 Texas Oil Wells Reported Completed During Past Week

AUSTIN, Nov. 1. (AP)—Texas oil well completions numbered 199 last week to boost the year's total to 6,308, the Railroad commission reported today.

The year's total is 1,540 ahead of the total for the comparable period a year ago.

There were 19 gas well completions during the week to bring the year's total to 592, slightly ahead of last year's 524.

The wildcat oil wells and one wildcat gas well were reported drilled during the week.

Total average daily crude allowable as of Oct. 30 was reported at 2,722,964 barrels, 3,979 barrels ahead of a week previous.

CHINESE PLANES BOMB MUKDEN

Communist Forces Complete Occupation Manchurian City

By HAROLD K. MILKS
Associated Press Staff Writer

NANKING, Nov. 1 —Communist armies completed the occupation of Mukden at 3 p. m. today (1 a. m. CST).

One hour later Chinese government planes bombed that teeming Manchurian metropolis.

This news came from an authoritative source.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek acknowledged unspecified "reverses" in Manchuria but vowed to fight on and said North China was not yet directly menaced.

U. S. Consul In City

The Chinese government still had not admitted Mukden's loss, but its radio contact had been cut since Sunday evening, and a spokesman acknowledged that available information was "very confusing."

The U. S. consulate maintained its normal brief radio contacts Monday.

There was no word about casualties or damage from the bombing, but numerous bombs fell.

Several exploded within two blocks of the U. S. consulate, occupied by Consul General Angus Ward, his wife, a staff of nine Americans, and two American-born children of a Japanese mechanic.

Twenty-two British and 30-odd French, including their consuls, also still are in Mukden.

Gunfire Is Heard

Immediately after entering the city the Communist "northeastern people's peace committee" issued a proclamation urging the public to remain calm and promising an era of peace and prosperity.

After having lain silent all Sunday and Sunday night, Mukden heard artillery and small-arms fire from the suburbs Monday morning.

This was interpreted to mean that some government units must have put up at least a token resistance. The firing died out during afternoon.

Discipline among nationalists troops was reported to have deteriorated rapidly. The roads swarmed with refugees fleeing the city of 2,000,000 population. But comparatively few had a chance to get out.

The last government officials left Friday and the last air force planes Saturday.

Cruiser Guards Port

Pro-government dispatches admitted the Communists held the surrounding countryside. The Communists themselves claimed also to have cut the road-wide escape corridor south to the port of Yingkow, 115 miles distant.

(In Peiping some government pilots, who declined to be named complained that on their last flight soldiers forced them at machine gun point to take out army people, leaving some air force personnel stranded.)

Yingkow evidently remained in government hands. The cruiser Chungking was reported on guard there with her six-inch guns. This largest ship in the Chinese navy is the former British cruiser Aurora of World War II fame.

There was no suggestion, however, that any large force from Mukden had broken away for a Yingkow "Dunkerque."

The government also held the port of Hulutao and some surrounding territory, but the Communists controlled the remainder of vast Manchuria.

U. S. Speeds Military Aid To Communist Battered Chinese

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1. (INS) The State department disclosed today that the U. S. government is rushing military aid to the Communist-battered forces of Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek in wartorn China.

A department spokesman said that efforts are being made to ship to China this month military supplies which normally would not move until December.

Chinese Given Funds

The spokesman also reported that almost all of the $125,000,000 authorized by Congress for Chinese military aid has been turned over to the hard-pressed nationalist government.

Another U. S. treasury payment of $5,000,000 today brought the total now in Chinese hands to $110,000,000, leaving a scant $13,000,000 at a time when Chiang's troops have been forced to withdraw from north east China in the face of Communist onslaughts.

U. S. military officials are openly worried over the loss of Mukden, capital of Manchuria, by Chiang's forces to Red troops.

In a move to lend all possible assistance under the law, the Army and Navy plan to move critically-needed supplies to China on government vessels. Thus the west coast shipping strike and any other delaying factors which might crop up in civilian handling of the goods will be bypassed.

It is uncertain just how much U. S. military aid has actually been shipped to China under the $125,000,000 congressional arms aid program which drew strong opposition from administration forces.

Jewish authorities have offered to pay dollars for canned meat from Eire.

Woman's Death Is Probed Here

An "inconclusive" investigation was made here into the Monday afternoon death of a 28-year-old Mexican woman, Margarita Rodriguez.

The woman died at 116 Ave. K, at the residence of her parents, before an ambulance could arrive to take her to a hospital.

Her death, two physicians indicated, probably resulted from a "delayed" embolism, or blood clot.

Claimed She Was Beaten

She had said upon arriving here 16 days ago with her three children—about two to eight years old—that her husband in Old Mexico had beaten her severely.

Physicians said, however, that an autopsy would not establish whether the embolism was caused by the alleged beating.

Assistant District Attorney E. G. Pharr, who with Sheriff Grady Harrist investigated the death, said that the husband had written the woman since she returned here and enclosed a money order in connection with a request that she return to him.

Alberto Tobio, 54, of Lampasas, another Mexican, died unexpectedly two miles north of Monroe late Sunday, officials said they had been informed. He was an itinerant farm laborer, and had gone to a physician only a few hours before his death to get medicine. He had been ill over a long period.

CHINESE PLANES BOMB MUKDEN

Communist Forces Complete Occupation Manchurian City

By HAROLD K. MILKS
Associated Press Staff Writer

NANKING, Nov. 1 —Communist armies completed the occupation of Mukden at 3 p. m. today (1 a. m. CST).

One hour later Chinese government planes bombed that teeming Manchurian metropolis.

This news came from an authoritative source.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek acknowledged unspecified "reverses" in Manchuria but vowed to fight on and said North China was not yet directly menaced.

U. S. Consul In City

The Chinese government still had not admitted Mukden's loss, but its radio contact had been cut since Sunday evening, and a spokesman acknowledged that available information was "very confusing."

The U. S. consulate maintained its normal brief radio contacts Monday.

There was no word about casualties or damage from the bombing, but numerous bombs fell.

Several exploded within two blocks of the U. S. consulate, occupied by Consul General Angus Ward, his wife, a staff of nine Americans, and two American-born children of a Japanese mechanic.

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

WE could think of no greater wish for the day than that every qualified voter in the United States would go to the polls, armed with faith, courage, energy and common sense.

In the past few months statesmen, writers and preachers have vied with one another in declaring that this is a time of unprecedented confusion. Through the newspapers, over the radio and in the pulpit we have been told of the confusion of the government, the unreasoned strife and conflict with labor, the chaos of economics, the uncertainties of education and the international crack-up which is just around the corner.

We think if it had not been for two sensible, sane, encouraging lectures we heard that were given by Dr. D. M. Wiggins; one on the challenge of education and the hope of civilization before the City Federation, and the other, "We Build Our Future," before the Lubbock Business and Professional Women's club, we might have run screaming down the halls.

During the war we indulged in an absurd faith that victory would bring economic prosperity, international peace, brotherhood among the races, political purity in government and personal morality. When these results were not realized, we were plunged into a sea of pessimism. And in the backwash of that sea rolled a great wave of confusion, an exaggeration of the conflicting ideologies of life, a persistant setting of pro against con, and an unwillingness that either should prevail.

From conversations with friends and acquaintances concerning the election today and from reading current articles, we believe there are those who glory in indecision; who had rather profess a hopeless confusion than to find refuge from straight, logical thinking.

NOW we do not profess to be a great thinker and we admit there is confusion politically today and our parties do not seem clear as to their own convictions and certainties. But if there is more confusion today than previously, it is due to our thinking and not to contemporary circumstances. We should look to history to read through the terrible conditions that prevailed in other times. We overlook the frustrations and alarms and defeats which are buried in the agonies of the ages. We cannot see beyond the hungerings, the conflicts, the disappointments of today's world. We want change and we want it immediately.

Today we are in a storm as sweeping and as strong as the wind that blew through Lubbock's streets Monday. But if armed with our ballot we use understanding and thought, we can ultimately outride this storm and sail into smooth waters. But one person cannot do it and if you refuse to do your part then you have no cause to complain. If Americans set their minds to it, we can step out of the shadows of uncertainties and walk into the sunshine again.

THE PHEASANT

LUBBOCK hunters are returning from South Dakota and once again pheasant dinners are being given; undoubtedly the most colorful of meals and featuring our best eating bird.

The gaily plummaged bird landed in our country from China less than seventy years ago. The man responsible for their coming was Judge Owen N. Denny, who had been a United States consul general in Shanghai. He had enjoyed the bird there and made up his mind he wasn't going to miss it when he returned to the United States. Figuring the climate of his native Oregon was not so different from Shanghai and that pheasants should thrive there, he imported 28 birds. He was quite right. Nine years later when the first hunting season on ringnecks was declared in Oregon, 50,000 were shot on opening day. Consider, again, that last season, more than 8,000,000 were bagged.

Fort Bliss' 100th Anniversary Will Be Celebrated At El Paso

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1. (AP)—Military progress during the past century will be emphasized in a celebration Nov. 5-7 marking the 100th anniversary of Fort Bliss at El Paso.

Plans for the three-day centennial celebration, announced today by the Army department, disclosed that both Secretary Kenneth Royall and Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chief of staff, will participate.

Royall will speak from Washington in a network radio program but Gen. and Mrs. Bradley will be in El Paso Nov. 6.

Order To Be Presented

Contrast in the speed of communications now and a century ago will be shown when enlarged copies of the original Army order establishing Fort Bliss will be flown from Washington to El Paso for the celebration opening.

Arriving at Biggs Air Force base, the order will be flown by helicopter to San Jacinto plaza in El Paso for presentation to Mayor Dan R. Ponder at the exact site of the first post of El Paso.

Royall's talk Sunday night, Nov. 7, will signal the start of a spectacular fireworks display on La Noria mesa overlooking El Paso, on the network—(NBC-10:30 p. m. CST) program which will close the centennial.

The focal point of the celebration will be the log and adobe restoration of the original fort and compound which housed the first soldiers at the frontier outpost.

The nucleus today of a vast anti-aircraft artillery and guided missiles center, Fort Bliss was officially designated in 1854 by its present name in honor of William Wallace Smith Bliss, who was chief of staff to Gen. Zachary Taylor in the Mexican war.

Fort Bliss was the site of Gen. Pershing's border operations prior to the first world war, and it later became one of the world's foremost cavalry installations.

In its first years, the post served to provide protection for pioneers en route to California.

Gov. Foglio Miramontes of the neighboring Mexican state of Chihuahua will head the officials who will come across the border to join in the celebration.

R. L. Stevens of the Leesburg fire department said the department was not called to fight the blaze but was summoned to recover two of the children's bodies.

Also burned in the fire were Mr. and Mrs. Hardy and Linda's father, Harry Ogden, of Floral City.

Georgia Man Sues, Claims Coded Bill Cost Him Wife

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 1 (INS) — A Georgia man sued a Delaware jewelry company for $25,000 today because he was dunned for a four dollar bill—in code.

The federal court suit filed by Milford Freeman, of LaGrange, Ga., charged that the postcard allegedly mailed by the jewelry company caused his wife to leave him.

Freeman's suit said that he received a postcard, bearing a Birmingham, Ala., postmark. Freeman contended that the message was worded in a roundabout way possibly because it is illegal to send notice of an unpaid bill on a postcard.

Freeman said his wife saw the postcard and read these words:

"Dear Milford, I will be in LaGrange next week. Call me at 5693. Love. Mary."

The Georgian said his wife left him. What's more, he continued, she refuses to believe his explanations that the card was merely a reminder that a representative of the company would be in LaGrange to collect the bill.

Barber Shop Poll Shows Presidential Race Will Be Close

By HARMON W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—It's going to be a close shave, according to Harry Rich and his political barber poll.

Close, that is, only on the popular vote.

Harry figures it like this: Truman 47.8 per cent of the popular vote; Dewey 48.7 per cent.

But in the matter of electoral vote, Harry (Rich) says that's another story: Dewey 337 electoral votes; Truman 129; Wallace none; Thurmond 38.

Rich, who runs a barber shop here, had the help of more than 1,000 other barber shops throughout the country in polling the men who get a shave and a trim once in a fortnight.

Harry, who conducted the poll as a hobby and at his own expense, admits there probably were duplications. And his total for electoral votes discounts Virginia, West Virginia, and Minnesota—which, in his book, are so close they amount to ties.

In the last three presidential elections Harry has been just about as accurate as the professional polisters.

Harry's poll shows that Mr. Truman is running ahead in his home state of Missouri with 53 per cent of the popular vote against 45 per cent for Dewey and two for Henry Wallace.

Tight Races Seen

The barber's findings show that Mr. Truman and Dewey are even-steven in Minnesota with 49 per cent each—with the other two per cent going to Wallace.

West Virginia is a photo finish in Harry the barber's book with 48.5 per cent each for the other Harry and Tom and three for Hank. Virginia is so close Harry the barber won't stick his neck out—45 for Truman and 46 for Dewey, one for Wallace and eight for J. Strom Thurmond.

Little Rhode Island, with four electorial votes, gives Truman 52, Dewey 46 and Wallace two for the popular vote percentage, according to the barber poll.

Harry Rich is proud of his poll, and maybe he has a right to be. He's worked hard. He turned up red-eyed Saturday to inform me he had worked all night getting the final results for me. With the help of his wife and a hired secretary, he counted several hundred thousand barber shop ballots. They won't decide anything, although Harry may be right in his calculations.

But come Wednesday, Harry Rich will be back there behind his chair,—talking 1952 and politics again.

Passenger Is Killed When Steamer And Tanker Collide

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 1. (AP)—The captain of a coastwise steamer today was credited with saving the lives of all but one of his 59 passengers when his ship crashed into a fully-loaded oil tanker in heavy fog off Old Point Comfort early yesterday.

But Capt. E. H. Eaton, whose frantic maneuvering of the "District of Columbia" kept her from smashing straight into the tanker and setting her 106,000 barrels of gasoline afire, sobbed that "now I've got this woman's blood on my hands."

The dead woman, who was crushed in her stateroom when the vessels collided, was identified as Miss Marian E. McWhorter, 24, of Atlanta, Ga.

Three others were injured. They were listed as Lindwood Sartorius, 43, of Washington, D. C.; Nelson H. Walton, 40, Arlington, Va.; and Earl F. Duke, 41, Norfolk. They were reported in "fair" condition today at a hospital here.

The tanker Georgia was anchored off Old Point Comfort when the crash occurred.

GOP Candidate Expected To Get 49.5 Per Cent Of Total

Final Survey Indicates Dewey To Win Heavy Electoral Vote

By DR. GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute Of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 1—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York will win the presidential election with a substantial majority of electoral votes, final figures compiled by the American Institute of Public Opinion show.

Final figures showing the division of the national popular vote of the four leading parties follow:

Dewey	49.5 per cent
Truman	44.5 per cent
Wallace	4.0 per cent
Thurmond	2.0 per cent

These standings, based on balloting which extended up to Friday do not include the popular vote for Norman Thomas and other minor party candidates. The combined vote of these candidates will be less than one per cent of the national vote.

Wallace To Get 4 Per Cent

Henry A. Wallace will poll about four per cent of the total vote. Even taking the Progressive party's most optimistic estimate of voting turnout, the total Wallace strength will run below 3,500,000 votes and is likely to be nearer 2,000,000. He will not carry a single state.

Gov. J. Strom Thurmond, States' Rights nominee, will poll about two per cent of the national vote. His chief support is concentrated in the Deep South.

Gov. Dewey holds a substantial lead in 20 states and Pres. Truman in nine states. There are 15 "battleground" states where neither Truman nor Dewey holds a marked lead. The advantage of the leading candidate in some of these states is so slight that the position of the candidates in the actual voting could easily be reversed.

A state-by-state summary of these 44 states follows:

States Where Dewey Has Substantial Lead

State	Dewey	Truman	Wallace
California	52	43	5
Connecticut	52	44	4
Illinois	54	46	x
Indiana	54	44	2
Iowa	54	43	3

X—Not on ballot.

In the four remaining states, confusing ballot situations will confront voters: In Alabama, the names of neither Truman not his electors are printed on the ballot; in Louisiana, the traditional Democratic ballot symbol has been given to the States' Rights tickets; in South Carolina, there is no secret ballot; and in Mississippi, two sets of Republican and two sets of Democratic electors are listed on the ballot.

Consequently the institute's figures for these four states are not to be regarded as forecasts of the vote. If the circumstances were normal, the figures below should represent, with a high degree of accuracy, the actual outcome of the vote in these four states:

State	Dewey	Truman	Wallace	Thurmond
Alabama	28	x	2	70
Louisiana	./	39	2	32
Mississippi	9	15	1	75
S. Carolina	9	38	xx	53

X—Not on the ballot.
XX—Less than one per cent.

The probable turnout in tomorrow's election has aroused much speculation, particularly as to whether it will be greater or smaller than 1940. The 1940 total of 49,901,835 was the largest number of votes cast in any American election.

Would Be Low Turnout

Tomorrow's turnout would only have to run to some 50,000,000 to be hailed as setting a new record for number of votes cast. While it would indeed be the largest vote in our history, in proportion to population it would actually be a very low turnout.

A vote of 50,000,000 would represent only 54 per cent of the total number of citizens 21 years of age or more. The ratio would be only 57 per cent if the turnout were 53,000,000.

Rate Of Voting Lower

This would compare unfavorably with 1940, when 63 per cent of the adult citizens voted. Even to equal the 1940 voting rate, tomorrow's turnout would have to be in the neighborhood of 58,000,000 because of the great increase in population in the past eight years.

The rate of voting in 1940 was, in itself, low when compared to earlier decades. In the year 1900, when only men voted, the total votes cast in the presidential election constituted 75 per cent of the potential voting population.

May Be Low Proportion

Readers studying election returns Tuesday night and Wednesday should, therefore, keep in mind that a turnout which exceeds 1940 may in reality represent a low proportion of the greatly increased electorate.

The following table shows the number of votes cast in the last four presidential elections. It will be noted that the total vote dropped in 1944, a war year.

1932	39,750,162
1936	45,648,090
1940	49,901,835
1944	47,974,868*

*Includes armed forces.

This year marks the second election in recent history when the traditional Democratic pattern in the South has been broken up.

In 1928 when Herbert Hoover and Alfred E. Smith were the opposing candidates, the Democrats lost seven of the 13 Southern states. Hoover carried Florida, Kentucky, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia. This year the Democratic threat in the South comes from the States' Rights candidate, Governor J. Strom Thurmond, with today's poll showing him well in the lead in at least three states.

Minor Parties Weak

Besides Truman, Dewey, Wallace and Thurmond there are seven other candidates running for President this year, as follows:

Norman Thomas, Socialist Party; Edward A. Teichert, Socialist Labor Party; Claude A. Watson, Prohibition Party; John G. Scott, Greenback Party; Gerald L. K. Smith, Christian Nationalist Party; Farrell Dobbs, Socialist Workers Party; and John Maxwell, Vegetarian Party.

These candidates are not on the ballot in all states. Some in fact have qualified in oly a handful of states. Altogether, these candidates will likely poll less than one per cent of the popular vote, as previously indicated.

G. O. P. Comeback In Mid-West

The Republican Party, underdog for so many years, made its comeback since 1936 largely in the middle western section of the country that lies between Ohio and the Rocky Mountains.

Of the 1,056 counties in this region the Republicans carried only 121 in the smashing Republican defeat of 1932 which ushered in the New Deal. In every subsequent presidential election the G. O. P. gained counties in the Mid-West area until in 1944 it carried 818. Elsewhere the G. O. P. gains were comparatively small.

In fact, in New England the Republicans actually carried fewer counties in 1944 than they did in 1932.

Popular Lead Comparisons

Governor Dewey's popular vote percentage in today's final poll runs lower than the percentage of the winner in elections in the past 20 years.

In the Republican victory of 1928 Mr. Hoover polled 59 per cent of the major party vote. Mr. Roosevelt's victories, 1932-1944 ranged between 54 and 62½ per cent.

The record follows:

	Winner	*Pop. Vote	Electoral Vote
1928	Hoover	59%	444
1932	FDR	59	472
1936	FDR	62½	523
1940	FDR	55	449
1944	FDR	54	432

*Per cent of major party vote.

Opportunities Seen For Tech Textile Industry Graduates

Rapid development of the textile industry in Texas is offering graduates in textile studies opportunities for internships in the industry right here in Texas, Miss Ellen Wright, instructor in clothing and textiles at Texas Technological college, reports.

A survey on potentialities for internship in Texas revealed that there were immediate openings both in industry and commerce, in six cities, for 34 graduates, all of which would give the college graduate a chance for advancement to a junior executive position.

Salary scales are determined by sex, type of work and designs accepted, Miss Wright said, adding that some firms pay as high as $25 for each design accepted, and that it is possible for a graduate to be earning $10,000 in only two years.

The second survey by Miss Wright will be made with the express purpose of discovering exactly what industry wants in a college graduate thus enabling Tech to arrange a better and more suitable textile program.

House Group Charges Vote Irregularities In New York District Of Rep. Marcantonio

By DARRELL GARWOOD
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1 — A House committee today charged vote irregularities in the New York City district of Rep. Marcantonio, American-Laborite.

Another congressional committee was accused of trying to influence the New Mexico senatorial election.

The two election eve controversies involve, respectively, the House Committee on Campaign Expenditures and the House Committee on Executive Departments, both Republican-controlled.

To Set Up Procedure

H. Ralph Burton, chief counsel for the campaign expenditures group, said there is evidence that a large number of Puerto Ricans who have not established residence were registered to vote in Marcantonio's district. Burton said he spoke on behalf of the committee.

Meanwhile, Chairman Jenner (R-Ind.), announced that his Senate subcommittee on elections will meet next Monday to set up procedure for dealing with contested Senate elections.

The subcommittee has sent investigators to Oklahoma, West Virginia and Texas to probe charges growing out of senatorial campaigns.

Johnson, Kerr Affected

The new Senate is expected to deny Lyndon Johnson of Texas and former Gov. Robert Kerr of Oklahoma their upper chamber seats, if they are elected, pending complete investigation of alleged election fraud.

This action could prevent the Democrats from taking control of the Senate even if they should win a one or two-vote majority in the elections.

Burton said committee investigators are in New York and that the probe has "reached a stage of revealing what appears to be fradulent registrations."

The charge that an attempt is being made to influence the New Mexico senatorial election was made by former Agriculture Secretary Clinton Anderson, the Democratic candidate for the upper chamber.

Anderson Denies Charges

Anderson, opposing Republican candidate J. Patrick Hurley in one of the key races which will decide control of the Senate, said complaints have been brought which do not involve violation of the law.

Complaints made by a subcommittee charge violation of the Hatch act in the use of Interior department and other government employes to support Anderson.

Reps. Manasco (D-Ala.), and Wilson (D-Tex.), backed up Anderson's portest. As minority members of the Executive Department's committee, they issued a joint statement that the probe in New Mexico had never been authorized by the full committee.

Concerning Marcantonio's district, Burton said there is evidence of general irregularities as well as of mistaken registration on the part of Puerto Ricans. Burton said:

Residential Rule Cited

"Our investigators have been working several weeks, and there are numerous Manhattan registrations in the names of persons who just don't exist, or don't check out in some other way."

All Puerto Ricans as natives of a U. S. possession are citizens of the United States. Burton said that in recent months there has been a large influx of them in the 18 district.

Many of them are unaware, Burton said, that citizenship alone does not entitle them to vote. He said a year's residence in New York State is necessary to register.

In New York, Rep. Marcantonio charged that the investigation is "a cheap, last-minute pre-election" maneuver. He declared if there are any fradulently-registered persons in his district, they are not his supporters.

Departmental Feud Expected To Flare Following Election

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1. (U.P.)—The betting today was that the government's own "cold war" — between the Commerce and Agriculture departments — will warm up after the election, no matter who wins.

The two departments are feuding over food exports for Europe.

Officials in both agencies said it's nothing personal between Commerce Secretary Charles Sawyer and Charles F. Brannan, secretary of agriculture. The two secretaries are simply trying to do their jobs, according to their aides.

Export Issue Burns

Brannan, looking out for the farmer's interest, believes that record American crops can support a record export program.

But Sawyer, with an eye on the possible harmful effects of excessive exports, thinks now is the time to let Europe know that American aid was designated only to meet an emergency need. Better crops abroad should make it possible for this country to reduce its exports, he feels.

This basic dispute between the Agricufture and Commerce departments has been pushed to the background during the election campaigning, through the interest in harmony.

With the election out of the way, it is expected that both secretaries will resume their efforts to have their stands prevail. The issue probably will have to be resolved by the President's food cabinet.

Judge Refuses Access To Papers In Contest

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1. (INS)—Federal District Judge James W. Morris refused today to open all the papers of the late Mrs. Eleanor Patterson for her daughter's inspection.

The daughter, Mrs. Felicia Gyzicka of New York, is seeking to break the will in which Mrs. Patterson left the Washington Times-Herald to seven of its executives.

At the first hearing today, counsel for Mrs. Gyzicka charged that some of Mrs. Patterson's letters and other documents have been destroyed by unnamed persons.

The counsel, Attorney William A. Roberts, asked permission to inspect the remaining papers, which fill more than 100 boxes and cartons.

Judge Morris said he could not furnish blanket access to all the papers, but indicated he would allow Mrs. Gyzicka's counsel to inspect individual papers if specific requests were made.

The judge set Dec. 6 as a tentative date for a jury trial in the case. Mrs. Gyzicka's who was left a $25,000 annual income and some property, charged that her mother was of unsound mind when she willed the newspaper to its executives.

CALVERT TESTIFIES AT HEARING

Demo Leader Admits Expulsion Of Anti-Truman Groups Unwise

FORT WORTH, Nov. 1 (AP)—Robert W. Calvert of Hillsboro, former Democratic state chairman, conceded today the state convention acted unwisely in expelling regularly-constituted delegations from Tarrant, Harris and Dallas counties which were predominantly anti-Truman.

He made the statement while testifying in 67th district court in an injunction suit, brought by conservative Democrats, which seeks to erase actions of the Loyalist-controlled convention.

Calvert Testifies

Tullis Johnson, attorney for the conservatives asked:

"Were Tarrant county's 125 delegates treated fairly? Let's get down to brass tacks."

"I don't think the procedure followed was the course of wisdom," Calvert responded.

"It wasn't fair, was it?" Johnson pressed.

"I was inclined to favor a hearing and let individual delegates remain if they pledged support to the party's nominees."

Regularly-constituted delegations from Tarrant and Dallas counties left the convention, which was held here on Sept. 14, after the Harris county delegation was unseated by a convention vote. Rump delegations replaced the three groups.

Conroe Woman Appears

Mrs. Seth W. Dorbandt, Conroe, who was a member of the credentials subcommittee which voted to admit the regularly-constituted delegations to the temporary roll of the convention, said Calvert told the group the contested delegations might not be allowed to vote in the temporary organization of the convention and that there would not be time enough to do anything about it if the decision was illegal.

With Mrs. Dorbandt's testimony, Calvert again participated in the hearing, this time as an attorney. He asked:

"When I was invited to sit with the subcommittee, were there not some who did not want to put the contested delegations on the temporary roll?"

Claims Agreement Made

"That's the reason you were called into the meeting," she replied.

"I urged the subcommittee to vote approval of placing them on the temporary roll," Calvert said.

"But," Johnson interjected, "did he tell you he would make an agreement Tuesday morning to nullify that action?"

Johnson contended that Calvert agreed at 9:30 a. m. on the morning of the convention to recognize Byron Skelton, Temple, for an amendment to the credential committee's report which would unseat the anti-Truman delegations.

R. A. Steuart, an attorney who was one of the Tarrant county delegates, said Calvert told him on the eve of the convention: "You were one of the fellows that was over at Dallas in 1944 (in the midst of the Texas Regular insurrection) and regardless of the law we are going to do the same thing to you that you did to us in 1944."

Before Steuart could be cross-examined, Judge Walter Morris recessed the hearing until 9 a.m. Tuesday to permit the jurist to attend a funeral.

Military Group Controls Peru

LIMA, Peru, Nov. 1. (AP)—A group of young military men took over the operation of Peru's government today after a three-day bloodless revolution.

Gen. Manuel Odria officially assumed office as provisional president yesterday. One of his first acts was to read a decree officially deposing Jose Luis Bustamante, the middle-of-the-road president who is now an exile in Argentina.

Bustamante served three years of his six-year term. He tried to chart a middle way between forces of the left and right. The left-wing Apra party was blamed for the unsuccessful revolt at Callao early last month.

Gen. Odria severely criticized Bustamante for alleged appeasement of left forces. His ministry will carry on until there is a general election.

The rebellion started in Arequipa in South Peru Tuesday and spread to Lima on its third day. Bustamante was forced to leave the country Friday night under pressure of the Lima garrison which swung to the side of Odria.

Bustamante refused to resign, claiming he had been elected by the people for a six-year term.

Odria has promised to convoke a workers' congress aimed at improving conditions of the working class. He was minister of the interior in a previous Peru government.

For the most part, Odria's new cabinet is made up of young men who are newcomers on Peru's political scene.

The Egyptian Government is considering building a DDT factory.

11 Romanians Plead Guilty To Plotting

BUCHAREST, Romania, Nov. 1. (AP)—Eleven Romanians pleaded guilty yesterday to charges of plotting with American and British representatives to overthrow the Romanian government.

The defendants threw themselves on the mercy of the court. A verdict will be handed down Tuesday. Conviction of high treason, with which they are charged, carried an automatic penalty of life imprisonment at hard labor.

A twelfth defendant, Max Ausnit, a Romanian industrialist now in New York, is being tried in absentia.

One defendant, Dr. George Bontila, said "I plead guilty, but I have been encouraged by Anglo-American imperialistic circles."

U. S., Britain Blamed

Another, Ion Bujoiu, a former minister of commerce, said his contact with members of foreign missions had not in his opinion infringed on Romanian law.

"But in all our conversations," he added, "I was given to understand that a movement such as I had planned would receive outside encouragement."

The defense sought to place most of the blame on U. S. and British diplomats for allegedly encouraging the accused men.

The other defendants are: Alexander Popp, industrial director; Nicolai Petrescu, teacher; Dimitrue Gheorghiu; George Manu, university professor; Admiral Horia Macalaru; Nicolai Martineanu, university professor; Nicolai Thioreanu, lawyer; Alexander Bals, engineer, and Eugene Teodorescu, lawyer.

Lockney Leads 3-A Title Race; Post And Levelland Top 4-A Loop

Steers Need Two Games For Title

Lockney's undefeated Longhorns won their six straight victory Friday and their fifth in District 3-A conference play to remain on top of the heap and to advance within two games of a championship.

The Longhorns had plenty of trouble in dropping the Floydada Whirlwinds 15-12, but they apparently passed their biggest stumbling block on the way to a title. They play weak Matador this week and wind up their season on Armistice Day against Paducah.

The Whirlwind defeat dropped that team into a third place tie with Crosbyton, which beat Matador 20-0. Spur's Bulldogs, idle last week, retained a chance for a tie for the championship and held onto second place.

Abernathy advanced to fifth place with a 14-0 victory over Ralls, the Jackrabbits dropping from fifth to a tie for sixth with Paducah, idle last week. Matador remains in the cellar without a victory in four games.

Lockney was helped to its victory by a safety early in the first period, when a Floydada back was thrown behind the goal. That initial two-pointer eventually settled the game. Bob Bishop, Bill Jeter and Randall Handley led the Whirlwind attack, while Tackle Delbert Shearer, Jimmy McGowen and Calvin Pyle spearheaded the Lockney assault.

Abernathy moved up in the standings on a victory scored Thursday night. It was the second Antelope victory of the year in conference play and, while the Abernathy team isn't in the running for a title, moved them higher in the standings. They should finish no worse than fifth.

Crosbyton Keeps Place

In another Thursday night game, the Crosbyton Chiefs kept their second place hopes alive with a 20-0 victory over the cellar-dwelling Matador Matadors. The Chiefs held control of the game throughout.

Paducah and Spur were idle last week but both get back into action Friday. Abernathy plays at Spur and Paducah plays at Ralls. Lockney plays at Matador, while Crosbyton and Floydada rest a week.

SPRINGLAKE GAINS THIRD PLACE

Dimmitt, Hale Center Battle For Top Spot In District 3-B

The bitter battle for top honors in District 3-B conference football showed no signs of abating this past week when both Dimmitt and Hale Center, the two top teams, each won games. They each now have five victories without defeat.

Dimmitt had no trouble at all in running over a powerless Anton Bulldog eleven 40-6, while Hale Center squeezed by a strong Springlake team on extra points, 20-19.

Friona's Chiefs climbed into a fourth place tie with idle Olton by trimming a hapless Whitharral eleven 47-0 and Petersburg's Golden Buffaloes made their sixth place standing stronger by trouncing Amherst's Bulldogs 34-19. The Amherst and Anton defeats left them tied for seventh and Whitharral continued in the basement.

Rice Leads Dimmitt

Dimmitt, as usual, was led by Quarterback Lonnie Rice, a boy who is making an indelible impression on football fans this year. Rice tossed 30 yards for the first touchdown and continued to pace the victors, who really had their machine in scoring gear. Billy Glasscock, who has been Anton's mainstay all year, scored the lone touchdown for the losers late in the game on a 50-yard pass play.

Petersburg won its second game in two years and its second of the season in convincing fashion, the victory setting off a general celebration in the town. Vernon Burrow blocked a punt to set up the first Buff score and from that point on, the offensive weapons of both teams went into action. Jimmy Eaves led the way for Petersburg, while Jack Carpenter and Billy Joe Wright paced the losing Bulldogs.

Friona had little trouble in subduing a Whitharral eleven that could not match it in any respect. Wayne Bainum, Richard London and Tommy Lacewell raced up and down the field to spearhead the Chiefs' attack and score all their touchdowns.

Owls Almost Loose

Hale Center's Owls, undefeated in conference battles, almost came a cropper at Springlake, where the underdog home team rose up to take a 19-13 lead going into the fourth quarter. But the Owls had Eldon Davis, an elusive back who galloped 50 yards for their first score, plunged two yards to give them a 13-6 lead at the half and returned in the fourth quarter to climax a drive with a four-yard plunge for the final tally. And Jerry Johnson's pass to Jimmy Stokes handed the Owls their fifth conference win.

This week Anton plays Olton at home, Friona goes to Dimmitt, Hale Center travels to Whitharral and Petersburg invades Springlake. Amherst has a non-conference game with Farwell, there.

Raiders To Meet Miners Saturday

The cry going around the Texas Tech campus this week is "Stop Wendt," as the Red Raider football team gets ready to play host to Fred Wendt and the Texas Mines eleven Saturday.

Wendt is one of the leaders in the nation of total offense and has piled up most of his yardage on long runs. Only last week, when Hardin-Simmons and the Miners played a 27-27 tie was Wendt stopped and even then the Cowboys couldn't do the job entirely.

But Coach Dell Morgan, off scouting reports from his assistant coaches, as well as his knowledge of Coach Jack Curtice, is working toward a defense designed to stop the big fullback. Wendt is one of the top runners in the nation, even though he weighs only 175 pounds, light for a fullback.

Bowden Good Passer

Wendt isn't the whole offense of the Miners, however. They also have Pug Gabrel and Fred Rosas as additional threats and Jim Bowden is one of the top passers.

The Miner line will be one of the biggest Tech has faced all year, with Guard Ernest Keily, All-Conference last year, back again to lead the forward wall. Keily weighs 215 pounds, just slightly over the Miner averages of 206 in the line.

Yesterday the Techsans went about their task of getting ready for the Miner invasion by having a delayed, light drill. Players were told to come out later than usual, but to have a short, snappy drill.

Blocking Stressed

They did, spending about an hour on the field getting limbered up, going through a short offensive session and hashing over mistakes in the Rice game. The offensive session, consisted of dummy scrimmage, with emphasis on blocking assignments.

The Raiders came through their bruising battle against Rice in good shape, physically. Not a player was injured and Guard Milburn Haydon, idle since the Texas Aggie game, will be ready to go against the Miners on a more sustained basis.

Longhorns Suffer Only Three Injuries From SMU Tussle

AUSTIN, Nov. 1 (AP) — The Texas Longhorns face more of a mental problem than a physical one for their game with the Baylor Bears in Waco Saturday.

Only three injuries dot the Texas roster with Guard Danny Wolfe the only casualty of the SMU game last week. Wolfe suffered a slight shoulder separation and will probably miss the Baylor game.

End Ray Stone and Reserve Back Jimmy Lowrey are still on the cripple list, but Stone will have the cast taken off his injured ankle this week. He broke a small bone in it two weeks ago.

Monahans Will Test Seminole

Most of the favorites in Districts 4-A and 5-A came through with triumphs in loop play last weekend, although the stock of the Levelland Lobos took a sharp drop as a result of the 14-6 loss to Post in a non-conference encounter.

The Lobos, defending regional champions, had been rated as the probably 4-A winner and a strong threat in the first Class A race to a state championship. But now, although Levelland has practically clinched the north half 4-A crown, the Lobos will be the underdogs in any return battle with Post in the playoff for the district title.

O'Donnell's Eagles replaced the Slaton Tigers as the runner-up team in the south half of 4-A, with a 26-19 triumph over the Slaton crew. Post is far out in front in the loop, with a record of three conference wins.

Monahans Rolls On

Monahans topped another hurdle in the road to the 5-A championship, downing stubborn Kermit, 19-0. The district crown will probably be determined Friday night at Monahans when the Lobos tangle with the undefeated Seminole Indians.

Other loop leaders are apparently in little danger this weekend, since Post plays host to the Lubbock Cowhands and Levelland clashes with the Muleshoe Yellow Jackets.

K. Carter To Meet Roscoe Wilson Squad

Championship of the Lubbock elementary school touch football league will be determined at 7 o'clock tonight at Chapman field when the K. Carter eleven tangles with the Roscoe Wilson representatives.

The K. Carter team, north half winner, is undefeated and untied this season, while the Roscoe Wilson crew—also undefeated and untied—took the south half crown. The playoff battle will decide the final championship.

No admission will be charged for the game, officials announced.

Arizona Wildcats Will Meet Lobos Saturday

TUCSON, Ariz., Nov. 1. (Special)—A traveling squad of approximately 37 University of Arizona football players is scheduled to leave here Friday for Albuquerque, N. M., where the Wildcats meet New Mexico university on Zimmerman Field Saturday, Nov. 6, at the Lobos' homecoming celebration.

The game, kickoff for which is at 2 p. m., is the Wildcats' second and final day contest of the 1948 season. The Cats' game with Michigan State College at East Lansing also was in the afternoon.

The game in Albuquerque will be the eighth contest in which football teams of Arizona and New Mexico have battled for possession of Kit Carson, ancient Springfield rifle which has become one of the Southwest's traditional gridiron trophies.

The rifle trophy tradition was established in 1938 by athletic directors J. F. McKale and Roy Johnson of New Mexico. New Mexico won the trophy in the initial year, and in the two successive years. Arizona brought the rifle home in 1941 and has retained it since. Name of the winning team is burned on the wooden rifle stock each year.

ROOSEVELT CAGERS WIN

Roosevelt High School's basketball team turned in a 35-32 victory over an embryo squad from Lubbock High school last night at the Roosevelt gym. The Lubbock squad still lacks several players now out for football. The Roosevelt B squad also beat the Lubbock B squad.

Washington Redskins Sign Steve Bagarus For Season

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1. (INS) — The Washington Redskins, second-place team in the National Professional Football league's eastern division, anounced today the signing of Steve Bagarus, their 1945-46 backfield star.

Bagarus, who went to the Los Angeles Rams in 1947, broke his leg in the second game of the season and has not played this year.

The former Notre Dame ace, whose pass interception in 1940 beat the Army, 7-0, arrived in Washington by plane today and signed within a few hours.

Coaches Relate Incidents From Weekend Games

Tech's Chances Of Membership In SWC Discussed By McMillan

The matter of Texas Tech gaining entrance into the Southwest Conference at the Dec. 5 meeting is a delicate question, William G. McMillan, Lubbock contractor and sportsman, told members of the Quarterback Club last night in the main ballroom of the Hilton hotel.

McMillan's talk climaxed an evening in which Coach C. R. "Pat" Pattison of Lubbock High school, Coach Dell Morgan of Tech and Coach Damon Hill of Dunbar relat. incidents from their games, tackles from the high school and Tech were introduced and the winner of last week's predictions announced.

Winner of the football predictions was Cecil Tate, who was presented with two tickets to the Tech-Mines game. Tate also announced that a friend had bet him two more tickets that he would not win the predictions.

Coach Pattison told the club that he was as proud of his boys Friday as if they had won the game. The Westerners were beaten 14-6 by an Amarillo Golden Sandje eleven that was picked by at least three touchdowns. The Lubbock mentor said that one or two breaks had gone against them, as well as the Westerners making some mistakes, but that on the whole the squad had played a great game.

Coach Morgan declared that if Tech had gotten any one of four breaks, they would have had not worse than a tie against Rice and quite possibly a victory. He said that he would have to have it proved to him by movies that there was pass interference on the play that set up Rice's second touchdown. He also added that he was proud of his boys and the way they played, but almost sorry that they had to come home to play their next two games.

Coach Morgan said that the idea of students booing any team that was trying so hard, or any one player, made him so mad he couldn't see straight. He pointed out that every time Ernest Hawkins came out of the game, the coaches and squad had to assure him that they were 100 per cent behind him.

"And they are," Coach Morgan stated flatly. "He stuck with me when things were thin and I'm not about to quit him now. Neither are his teammates, many of whom have asked what they could do about the students' action. He has more guts than any single one student sitting in the stands booing him. And I can tell you this right now; he's going to keep right on playing."

His statement was met with long applause by the club members.

Panthers Meet Abilene

Coach Hill announced that the Panthers had beaten Amarillo 19-0 and would play Abilene, "which is pretty mean" Friday night at Chapman field. QB club members were urged to attend the game.

McMillan told the club about the difficulties involved in securing admission for Tech to the SWC and urged them to assist by speaking favorably of the institution and others that came here to play. He also warned them not to be surprised if Tech did not gain admission on Dec. 5.

The former Texas A&M athlete and present Tech booster said that it was true that both Oklahoma and Hardin-Simmons had made application to the conference. "Our problem, and it is a delicate one, is to convince the committee of the need for Tech in the conference. It is a case of selling and a different sale at that. When the conference meets, there is a possibility that they will vote first on whether to expand or not."

Must Convince Committee

"Our task is to convince the committee so thoroughly that their main task is to vote Tech in that they will not bring up the expansion question first."

McMillan concluded his talk with the statement that if the committee approved Tech's entrance, the local college probably would be on probation in 1949 and would become "a full member of the best conference in the United States" in 1950.

CATS HAVE WON FIVE LOOP GAMES

Idalou's Wildcats Continue To Pace District 4-B Conference

No one has figured out a way to stop the Idalou Wildcats from winning and, as a result, they continue to lead the District 4-B conference with an undefeated record, winning five games within the loop.

The Wildcats made the Ropesville Eagles their latest victims on Friday, taking an easy 33-6 victory to preserve their clean mark in the conference. New Deal, which was idle and which earlier suffered a 7-0 defeat at the hands of the Wildcats, is the only team in threatening position.

The only other loop game last week saw Whiteface climb into third place with a 13-0 victory over Frenship. Coach L. E. Salser's crippled team rose up to win the game that counted, but the Antelopes won't enjoy third place long, meeting Idalou this week.

Smooth Combination

Leon Jarrett and Donald Seale, aided by Alvin Joiner, had little trouble in roping Ropesville's Eagles. The three backs, aided by a fine line, scored all the Wildcat touchdowns and kept control of the game all the way.

The Whiteface game was something else. Daniel Gilbert and John Plunkett scored the two touchdowns that clinched the game against Frenship, but it was the work of Red Riddle that was outstanding. Riddle, who was converted into a backfield man from his line position when three starting backs were injured and unable to play, dominated the offensive and defensive work of the victors. He sparked the club to its second victory and without him it might have been a different story.

See Action Friday

New Deal, Meadow and Cooper all were idle last week, but return to action Friday. Meadow meets Ropes away from home, Cooper turns an open date into a meeting with Tahoka and New Deal travels to Frenship. Idalou attempts to get over the final hurdle by playing Whiteface at home.

El Campo Boasts Long Win Streak

EL CAMPO, No. 1 (AP) — The longest football winning streak in Texas is boasted by the El Campo high school Rice Birds.

Last week the Birds beat Lamar consolidated 27-0 to bring their string to an even 30.

It was on a brisk September day in 1946—the opening game of the season—that El Campo lost to Freeport. Since then they haven't dropped a test, rolling to one regional Class A championship and sharing another. Lockhart battled El Campo to a scoreless tie in the regional finals called off at the last half because of freezing weather.

Glenn Lippman, now at Texas A. and M., led the team last season with 290 points. El Campo lost Lippman, Elo Nahovitza, Jaro Netardaus and Chester Sugarek, the big four in its offense. But the Rice Birds have rolled on. They have flattened seven opponents this season to date, piling up 181 points to 12 for the opposition.

The Rice Birds don't expect much competition until they play for the regional title. They expect their foe to be New Braunfels, which has rolled up 385 points to 13 for the opposition thus far.

Notre Dame Cops Top Spot In Poll

NEW YORK, Nov. 1, (AP)—Notre Dame was elected No. 1 football team in the nation today in the weekly Associated Press poll of sports writers, barely nosing out Michigan by a margin of three points.

Although the Irish drew only 56 of the 208 first-place ballots to 68 for Michigan, they moved into first place with the help of second and third place votes.

The points, figured on the basis of 10 for first, nine for second and so on down to one for tenth, gave Notre Dame 1,762 to 1,759 for Michigan. Last week the Wolverines were first by a comfortable 275-point margin.

N. C. Retains Third

North Carolina's powerful Tar Heels, who were first on 36 ballots, polled 1,458 points to easily retain third place. Army, rapidly gaining support, advanced a peg to fourth place, displacing California which finished fifth.

Georgia Tech and Pennsylvania clung to last week's positions, respectively sixth and seventh but Southern Methodist hopped from 11th to eighth in the outstanding gain of the week. The Mustangs were followed by Missouri and Northwestern in that order with Nevada, last week's tenth-place team, sliding to 11th position.

There were few changes in the top 20. Baylor unbeaten but once tied, dropped out and Wake Forest moved in.

Saturday's schedule does not pair any of the first ten clubs but it includes an important clash of seventh-place Penn and 14th-place Penn State at Philadelphia. This may well be the game of the day.

Tigers Name Harry Leibold As Manager Of Toledo Club

DETROIT, Nov. 1, (INS)—The Detroit Tigers today named Harry Leibold manager of the Toledo baseball club in the American Association.

Leibold managed the rival Louisville Colonels to a last-place finish in the Association this year.

Tiger general manager Billy Evans announced Leibold's appointment. The Tigers purchased Toledo a year ago, but will operate the club for the first time in 1949.

The new Toledo boss has spent the last 14 years as a manager in the Boston Red Sox farm system, never finishing out of the first division until the 1948 season. He won one pennant and three playoffs during five years with the Colonels.

Sports Study

By Earl Scudday

We understand that several changes in Interscholastic league regulations on athletics are now being considered, including the lifting of the eight-semester rule and a change in the age-date setup. As we understand it, many of the league officials now favor doing away with the much-criticized eight semester restriction, but favor clamping down tighter on the age limits by moving the "deadline" from May 1 to Sept. 1.

* * *

We asked Coach Pat Pattison, the Lubbock Westerner head mentor, of his opinion on the issues Monday afternoon. Pattison said that he, personally, would favor lifting the eight-semester restriction. He said that he did not especially care about the May 1-Sept. 1 question, since relatively few of the boys would be aided or hurt by the change. Pattison also reported that he is opposed to the proposal to allow all Interscholastic league grid teams to continue football practice until the date of the final playoff game in December. Boosters of the plan say that such a procedure would reduce the "advantage" of teams which get into the playoffs and thereby give their players more experience.

Coach Pattison pointed out that such a plan would be of little aid to most teams. The boys, who are just winding up a hard, long season, would be in no mood to go through a lengthy "training" session and many of them would be in poor physical condition to start such a grind. Then, too, next season is so far away that most boys would have little incentive to work hard and no real objective to work for.

* * *

The old spring training issue is up again, although there seems little possibility that the present ban will be lifted. It is our opinion, as well as the opinion of many school officials that we have interviewed, that the restriction on spring training has been of great help to baseball and track. And there is little evidence that the lack of spring training is dropping the quality of schoolboy football. It is true that play this year is below the average level, but that is a result of the eight-semester rule. There are just too many young boys playing their first year in high school competition. Odessa, as an example, has been forced to use several boys just up from junior high as regulars this year. Naturally, the Bronchos are not in a class with their previous teams, which featured a number of boys who were two and three year lettermen. The Bronchos greatest back, Byron (Santone) Townsend, played a full three years in Class AA competition. Under the present set-up a gridder is lucky to get in two full years before the age limit or the semester limit puts him on the ineligible list.

* * *

The school officials over the state generally favored the eight-semester rule to eliminate the "hold-overs" who, the officials claimed, developed into problems in the school organization. Right or wrong, it is unlikely that they have changed their opinions.

TIL Council Urges Changes In Rules

AUSTIN, Nov. 1. (AP)—The Interscholastic league's advisory council today recommended clarification of the league's battle-scarred amateur rule.

The council also called for a reconsideration of the ban on spring football training and authorized a committee to study girls athletics.

The action was announced by league director Rodney J. Kidd following a two-day session here of the council. Its powers are strictly advisory. Recommendations go before the league's executive committee for further consideration.

The amateur rule changes were recommended on report of the special amateur rule committee headed by R. B. Norman, principal of the Amarillo highschool.

Changes Submitted

The report called for the state executive committee to submit to a vote of member schools rule changes that would:

1. More clearly define the terms "athletic sport or game" by adding to the list of sports already recognized by the Interscholastic league such additional recognized professional sports in which Texas highschool pupils are likely to participate.

2. Provide for announcement one year in advance that other sports which in the judgement of the state executive committee have become professional be added to the list of recognized professional sports.

3. Provide that participation in sports not included in announced categories shall not constitute a violation of the amateur rule.

4. Provide that a pupil who allows use of his name for the promotion of any item, plan or service shall be in violation of this rule.

5. Provide that the penalty for a violation of the amateur rule shall be for one year only from date of violation.

Berry Takes Lead In Ball-Carrying

DALLAS, Nov. 1 (AP) — Lindy Berry, Texas Christian's durable quarterback, has taken over the lead in Southwest Conference ball-carrying, edging three yards ahead of Clyde Scott of Arkansas.

Scott, however, has played one less game than Berry.

The TCU star has rolled up 550 yards on 127 carries in seven games. Scott has gained 547 in 74 runs in six. Last week Berry made 91 yards against Baylor while Scott got 47 against Texas A. and M.

In third place is Bobby Lantrip of Rice, who has gained 454 yards in 97 carries.

Berry also is still the leading all-around offensive player. He has gained 1035 yards in 215 plays—550 yards in rushing and 485 in passing. Scott is second with 475 yards in 92 plays.

Johnson Top Passer

In passing Gil Johnson of Southern Methodist holds the lead. Johnson has connected on 44 throws in 66 for 654 yards. Paul Campbell of Texas is second with 39 out of 98 for 624 yards.

Doak Walker of Southern Methodist, while ranking ninth in passing, has been the most effective next to Johnson. He has passed for five touchdowns, Johnson seven. And speaking of averages, Walker has completed 13 out of 20 for 157 yards.

Walker against Texas punted for the sensational average of 46 yards, bringing his season mark to 40.2 and putting him more than four yards ahead of the next man in the Conference, Huey Keeney of Rice, who has averaged 36.1. Gordon Long of Arkansas is third with 36.0.

In punt returns it's George Sims of Baylor, who has hurried 12 kicks back 303 yards for a 25.2 average. Long is second with 147 yards on seven and Walker is third with 119 on six.

Walker Leads Receivers

Walker is top pass-receiver with 248 yards and three touchdowns on 10 receptions. Morris Balley of Texas Christian has caught the most—21—but has gained only 221 yards. Ross Pritchard of Arkansas is third with 216 yards on 14 catches with four touchdowns.

Texas leads in team offense with 2,250 yards in seven games. Southern Methodist has rolled up 1991 in six, thus a higher average than Texas.

Pattison Praises Lubbock Spirit, Hustle

Westerner Team Studies Errors Made Against Amarillo Sandies

Coach Pat Pattison gave the battered Lubbock Westerner gridders a well-earned vacation Monday afternoon, holding only a short "chalk talk" before giving the squad the rest of the day off.

Pattison, in the blackboard discussion, pointed out some of the mistakes the Westerners made against the Amarillo Sandies last week, and praised the spirit and hustle that the Hub city schoolboys showed against their heavily-favored opponents.

The head mentor also pointed out to the boys that the "season is not finished just because we lost to Amarillo." Pattison told the boys that he expects them to show just as much spirit and determination against their last three foes—Pampa, Plainview and Brownfield—as they have against Amarillo, Odessa or any of their earlier opponents.

Pampa To Be Rough

End Coach Fred Taylor, who has scouted the strong Pampa eleven, also gave the Westerners some information on the Harvester team that they will face Saturday afternoon at Pampa. "Their line is big and rough and they have plenty of speed in the backfield," Taylor emphasized. He pointed out that the Harvesters are undefeated in District 1-AA competition, holding wins over Plainview and Brownfield, and are rated as the strongest threat to Amarillo's Golden Sandies.

Pattison indicated that the squad will return to rough work this afternoon at the Chapman field gridiron, with the Westerner offense to receive special attention. The practice will be closed to all observers, officials reported, and no one will be permitted on the field or in the stands.

Most of the squad members are expected to be able to participate in the drill today, although several players are still hampered by injuries. Fullback Malcolm Young re-injured his leg in the Amarillo setto, and Tackle Billy Brazell is still hampered by a knee injury. Blocking back Norman Bantz has not fully recovered from a sprained ankle that kept him out of the Amarillo game, but he is expected to be in top condition for the Pampa encounter.

COACH SAYS THREE IS ENOUGH

Change In Rules Suggested To Stop Unlimited Substitutions

NEW YORK, Nov. 1. (INS)—Jimmy Phelan, veteran coach of the Los Angeles Dons, suggested today a change in the football rules to prevent unlimited substitution.

Phelan told a gathering of football coaches and sports writers that he favors a limit of three substitutions when the clock is stopped.

"As the rule works now," said Phelan, "we don't know where we are half the time. Players are streaming in and out of the game in batches.

"Once the boys are in a huddle substitutions should be barred. These substitutions slow down the game and neither the fans nor the coaches know what is going on."

Favors New Clock

Phelan also favors a 25-second clock on the scoreboard which would indicate to players and fans alike just how much time has been spent in a huddle.

"As it is now," he explained, "the boys in the huddle often exceed the 25-second rule and are accordingly penalized.

"The rules are pretty good as they stand as a whole. But something really should be done about this wholesale substitution of players which gives a strong team, three or four strong in depth, a tremendous advantage over a team which has perhaps a good first team but is not very strong in depth.

"For my part I would allow wholesale substitutions, if we must have them, only at the end of a period."

Lou Little, Columbia university coach, agreed with Phelan that unlimited substitutions detract from the game although he would not go as far as Phelan in limiting them.

Heath To Turn Pro At End Of Season

RENO, Nev. Nov. 1. (INS)—The University of Nevada's sensational passer Stan Heath declared in Reno today that he would turn professional at the end of the 1948 football season.

Heath broke the national collegiate record for yardage gained on passes Saturday when his mark moved up to 1,645 yards, 188 more than the prior record.

And there are still three games left on the Nevada schedule.

Heath, who is married, did not say what team he would join, but it is known that he has had attractive offers from the country's top professional ball clubs.

The quarterback said he "has to make some money and that now is the time to do it."

Record Total Seen As Nation's Voters Name Leaders Today

to choose between the hard fighting Truman and the confident Dewey.

To the winner they are entrusting eager hopes for four years of good times at home and peace in a fretful world.

Last Appeals Made

At stake too, are control of the Senate and key governorships that may guide political trends for 1950 and 1952.

The heavy political cannonading died away on election eve to a few stray shots. All the candidates got in last minute speeches, more with the idea of spurring their followers to get out and vote than in hopes of making any last minute converts.

Dewey said the issue is whether America "is going to be a strong, united nation." President Truman said a Democratic victory "is our best insurance against going back to the dark days of 1932."

For President Truman, the Democratic nominee, the campaign was a "crusade" for four more years in his own right to the chair in the White House he took over from the late Franklin D. Roosevelt.

For Dewey, Republican challenger and a front-runner in most pre-election forecasts, it was an attempt to end a 16-year Democratic regime. And it was an attempt at a comeback for the GOP's loser in 1944—the first time the Republicans have tried again with a defeated candidate.

Each, in advance, proclaimed himself the winner.

And each tapered off his campaign with radio broadcasts intended to turn out the vote. Dewey was billed at 8 p. m. (CST); the President an hour and a half later.

Record Vote Seen

Mr. Truman spent yesterday seeing old friends at his Independence, Mo., home and attending Masonic Shrine ceremonies in Kansas City.

He arranged to vote in the memorial hall at Independence this morning (10 a. m. CST), go to bed early and wait until tomorrow for the election verdict. But there was no reason he couldn't have a radio beside the bed and a telephone handy.

Dewey drove from his Pawling, N. Y., farm to New York City yesterday. He votes in Manhattan because he keeps his legal residence there in the Roosevelt hotel. And it is there the New York governor will keep tab on the returns.

Political omens pointed toward a record total of more than 51,000,000 votes, if the weatherman co-operated.

Local Issues Hot

He said it would be clear, sunny and not too cold most places. But he advised some sections to be on the lookout for rain and showers.

The record vote so far was just under 50,000,000 in 1940.

In some states, Senate and gubernatorial races and local issues took on about as much interest as the presidential scrap.

Kansas, for instance, was deciding whether to keep or discard a 68-year-old dry law. Massachusetts had a hot fight over a birth control issue. Veterans bonuses or other benefits were on the ballots in a dozen states.

And Democratic or Republican control of the Senate hinged on results in eleven vital states—Colorado, Illinois, Iowa, Kentucky, Minnesota, Montana, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Tennessee, West Virginia and Wyoming.

South Is Restless

Republicans now have a 51 to 45 edge in the Senate. And they admittedly have been worried about losing it. A 48 to 48 tie is not at all impossible.

Thirty-two senators were being elected today, along with 32 governors and 432 house members. Maine picked a Republican senator, governor and three congressmen last September.

And regardless of who becomes the next president, there were definite prospects the Senate line-up would be so close politically as to deny him any safe margin of voting strength on legislative proposals.

Neither in congressional contests nor the presidential battle could the Democrats count as they once did on solid backing from the South.

States' Rights Democrats talked of rolling up 100 electoral votes for Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina. They said they had hopes of keeping either Mr. Truman or Governor Dewey from chalking up the 266 required to clinch the presidency.

Minor Candidates Active

That would mean the House would pick the next chief executive under an arrangement that would give a single vote to each state.

The chances of that happening were remote.

But Thurmond kept on firing political pot-shots to the end. States' Righters picked his as their presidential nominee after splitting from the regular party over such civil rights issues as anti-lynching, anti-poll tax and anti-discrimination proposals.

Other minor party candidates went through a final flurry of election eve oratory.

Socialist Norman Thomas jumped from Brooklyn to Princeton, N. J., and back again.

Progressive Henry A. Wallace spun through New York City's Bronx in advance of a windup radio speech at 9 p. m., (CST). And the vote he picks up in New York could well be the factor that snatches 47 electoral votes from Mr. Truman and hands them to Dewey.

Hopefuls Travel Far

But just as he predicted the poll takers would be red-faced tomorrow, so did Mr. Truman mark up New York state as in the bag for the Democrats as he made his final campaign appearance there last week.

For Mr. Truman, last night's broadcast was speech 272 in a campaign that covered 22,000 miles. For Dewey, it was address number 171 at the end of 16,000 miles.

And throughout the campaign it has been slugger against boxer.

Mr. Truman tossed his hardest punches straight at Dewey and at Congress. He sought to blame the Republicans for high prices and the housing shortage. He said they had dealt blows to labor, the farmer and the West. He suggested that Dewey's election might bring a dictator to the White House and end hopes for world peace.

Dewey kept pleading for the people to elect a Republican administration he said would end bungling at home and abroad and bring about unity, efficiency and peace.

Today, some 136,000 polling places opened up for the voters to make their choice.

FLIERS STILL SEEKING MARK

DALLAS, Nov. 1. (AP)—Endurance fliers Bert Simons and Pred Vinmont, in addition to piloting their plane, will be installing a directional gyro in during the next day or two. The gyro is an instrument used for navigation, and installation is a job which usually is done on the ground. The instrument was flown to the Gregg county airport above which the fliers are spending their 13th day aloft.

against "misinformation, half-truths, twisted facts and clever phrases." He said "an office gained by misrepresentation and deceit would be too great a price for me to pay; for what profiteth a man if he gains the world and loses his own soul."

The weather promised to be clear and moderate over most of the state on election day. Absentee voting in many areas indicated a heavy turnout. This was variously forecast at anywhere from a million to a million and a quarter. There was a voting potential of 2,250,333—the greatest in history.

Texas Demos Split

Major bids for Texas' presidential elector vote came from the States' Rights party and the Progressives as well as from Democrats and Republicans.

States' Righters who refused to tag along with the Republicans put the name of Gov. J. Strom Thurmond on the ballot for president. They were dissatisfied with both Democratic and Republican views on state and civil rights.

Texas Democrats were further split, with a left wing faction breaking away to Henry Wallace on the Progressive party ticket.

Both Republicans and Progressives have a slate of state candidates. The States' Righters and Progressives have no candidate for senator. The Prohibition party's candidate for senator is the Rev. Sam Morris.

Four Seek Governorship

Nine of the Democratic congressional candidates have no opposition. They are, by districts: 1, Wright Patman; 4, Rayburn; 7, Tom Pickett; 9, Clark W. Thompson; 10, Homer Thornberry; 13, Ed Gossett; 15, Lloyd M. Bentsen, jr.; 17, Omar Burleson; 21, O. C. Fisher.

There are four candidates for governor: Beauford H. Jester, Democrat; Alvin H. Lane, Republican; Gerald Overholt, Prohibition; Herman Wright, Progressive.

Of top interest among the proposed constitutional changes are those seeking to guarantee legislative redistricting; abolishing the property tax for state purposes; authorizing a retirement system for judges.

Voters Face Big Task

In some counties—among them Dallas, Harris, Lubbock, Nueces, Bexar, Howard, Cameron, Hidalgo, and Jefferson—Republicans had slates of candidates for one or more minor county offices.

If the Republican candidate for governor polls as many as 200,000 votes state laws require that the Republicans hold primaries in the next election, year. They nominated by conventions this year.

The voters face a big job, not only in deciding the issues, but in coping with the oversize 15 by 23-inch ballot—the biggest in history. It threatened to tax the capacity of ballot boxes.

Polls open at 7 a. m. in counties of more than 150,000 population and at 8 a. m. in smaller counties. They close at 7 p. m. uniformly.

Scout Troop At Wolfforth Is Given Award For Handicraft

WOLFFORTH, Nov. 1 (Special)—Members of Boy Scout troop 76 of Wolfforth were awarded a first place, best-all-around trophy at the Baptist church here tonight by Gene Quest, of Lubbock, district commissioner of the Plainsman Scout district.

The trophy was won by the Wolfforth troop for their prize-winning handicrafts exhibit at the Panhandle-South Plains fair in September.

Special guests at tonight's meeting were parents of troop members and members of the newly-organized Cub pack 76 of Wolfforth.

Highlight of the evening was a court of honor, at which seven life star scout badges were presented to troop members.

Fred Whitmire, assistant district commissioner of the Plainsman district, presented the troop a $10 check for their prize-winning fair exhibit, after which the trophy was presented.

The troop in turn presented Quest a wastepaper basket, showing their handicraft, with his name on it.

Following the presentation, Fred Worsham, scoutmaster of the troop, and troop members, were hosts at a weiner roast.

Religious Emphasis Week Opens At Tech

Rev. Joseph J. Copeland, in the first of four Religious emphasis week addresses on the Texas Tech college campus, said Monday night that "the world is a group of sovereign nations motivated by a spirit of good."

Rev. Copeland, who speaks each night at 7:30 o'clock through Thursday night in Texas Tech recreation hall, is pastor of the Oak and Bolivar Street Presbyterian church of Denton. The series of addresses are sponsored by the student religious council, and although primarily for students of the college, are open to the public.

"If civilization is to survive," the pastor continued, "it is up to the present generation to replace force which is the way of the world, with love, which is the way of Jesus."

Rev. Copeland has as his general theme, "Jesus' Way Our Way." His Monday night talk applied this theme to the world. Tonight, he will apply the theme to a vocation, Wednesday night to relationship with fellow men, and Thursday night to personal living.

A 7:30 o'clock morning watch service will be held this morning as a part of the religious emphasis week program. All churches and faiths in the city have been asked to cooperate in the service.

'Death Smog' Mystery

Pittsburgh, brought hope there would be no more deaths.

A number of the several hundred persons affected by the strange concentration of smoke and fog remained in critical condition, however, and are under close observation.

In addition, Dr. I. Hope Alexander, of the Pittsburgh board of health, warned that an outbreak of pneumonia might develop among persons who had been exposed to the smog.

Death toll from the smog that hung over Donora for three days and began felling residents on Saturday was placed at 19 after authorities determined that a 20th supposed victim actually had died of other causes.

"Murder In The Air"

The "murder in the air" description of the poisonous air, pushed down on Donora, and kept there at a high pressure area in the atmosphere, was given by Dr. William Rongaus, a member of the Donora board of health.

"There's nothing else you can call it," he said. "There's something in the air here that isn't found elsewhere — whether its smoke from the zinc mills or anything else."

All those who died were elderly persons and Coroner L. C. Gray described their deaths as due to "cardiac asthma." Autopsies on two victims showed no indication of toxic cases.

Young persons also were affected, however, though none critically. Dr. Rongaus said he treated persons "young and strong who never had any symptoms of asthma."

Present Building Inadequate

The present home of Tech's extensive and valuable archeological collections was built in 1936, and consists of a small and entirely inadequate underground scar on Tech's otherwise quite presentable campus. Aside from the ordinary in the museum is the world's only collection of artifacts concerning the Clear Fork culture, which dates back to the age of elephants and camels in this section of the country. This collection contains some 15,000 items, all of which were gathered through the research of Dr. Cyrus N. Ray, of Abilene.

Another among the outstanding holdings of the museum is the most complete collection in this section of the implements and tools of the Yaqui Indians, who inhabited the area which now surrounds Sonora, Mexico.

Law enforcement authorities Monday were investigating two burglaries and numerous thefts, and they had co-operated Monday morning in surrounding a local tourist court and questioning a man and woman concerning an armed robbery near Colorado City Sunday night.

Officials said $65 was reported from a child's savings bank at the 2008 East Ave. D residence of Cliff Hereford, a negro.

James Cannon of Abernathy said his bike, valued at $60, was stolen here.

Not even the city of Lubbock was exempt: a stop sign was stolen from Fifteenth and Ave. X, police said.

The run to the tourist camp resulted from a police radio car's sighting a "suspicious car" at 7:49 a. m. It carried a license number that had been the subject of radio traffic back and forth between Lubbock and Austin last week, officials said.

Investigation into two armed assaults, one near Colorado City and the other near Hobbs Friday night, was linked with the efforts here, officials said.

He was to appear before a grand jury on a charge of cattle theft, Dickens officials said.

Bond of $400 was set for Ramon Salazar, 26, who pleaded innocent to a charge of theft over $5, the sheriff's office reported.

Charges Are Filed Following Fatal Accident Near Lamesa

LAMESA, Nov. 1. (Special) — A 23-year-old Latin-American, Jose Gregorio Paredes of San Ignacio, was struck and killed by an automobile about 10:30 p. m. Sunday while walking along the Lamesa-Lubbock highway about six miles north of Lamesa.

Alice Ross, 29, of 3113 Thirty-sixth street, Lubbock, and Floyd Johnson, of 1918 Eighteenth street, Lubbock, were charged today with assault with a motor vehicle, and bond of $3,000 was set for each, the Dawson county sheriff's office said.

The woman had posted bond, the sheriff's office here indicated this evening, but the man had not had his bond approved shortly before midnight tonight.

Investigators of the accident said the woman was driving the car which struck Paredes only a few feet from the intersection at which he would probably have turned off the highway to go to the farm of B. B. Bratcher, where he was employed as a cotton picker.

Authorities said the two drove to Lubbock, where they notified police of the accident. Both were returned to Lamesa early this morning by state highway patrolmen.

Moose are this continent's largest game animal. Because their diet sometimes consists of hardwood shrubs and twigs, the Algonquins called them "wood eaters."

Glen W. Teal Injured In Fall, Still In Serious Condition

Glen W. Teal, 27 of 1714 Twenty-eighth, remained unconscious and in serious condition in West Texas hospital last night as a result of a severe head injury suffered late Sunday afternoon when a horse he was riding slipped and fell on wet pavement at the intersection of Levelland highway and Slide road.

Teal, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Teal of the same address, was described by an attending physician Monday as doing as well as could be expected, considering the severeness of the brain injury.

At the time of the accident, young Teal was riding a bay pony to Lubbock from a farm south of Smyer which he had operated before moving to the city recently.

Two young boys whose names were not available were reported to have seen the accident occur. A motorist on the highway found Teal lying unconscious in the center of the pavement a few moments later, and he was immediately taken to the hospital.

Identification was made at the hospital by markings on his clothing, and relatives were notified.

Four Found Dead In Crashed Plane

wreckage, acted on a tip from an unidentified cowboy. He then joined the ground searchers, who traveled several miles over bad roads and a long distance afoot before reaching the isolated spot.

J. M. Park, farmer who lives four miles from the crash scene, said he recalled hearing an explosion about 10 a. m. last Thursday and said a heavy rain was falling at the time.

Travelling with Meador to the wreckage were Howard Traweek, Motley county attorney; Harold Jones, Roaring Springs druggist; and J. M. Park, a Motley county farmer who served as guide for the group.

Approximately a dozen other persons were at the scene of the crash when his party arrived at noon today, Meador said. They had been able to reach the site by automobile, as Sunday evening rains had hardened the region's sandy surface.

The remains, after an inquest had been conducted at the site of the crash, were taken to a Matador funeral home. They were to be sent to Oklahoma City late tonight or early Tuesday morning.

Planes from eight Oklahoma and Texas cities had participated in the search for the missing craft, with Army Air Force and Civil Air patrol planes assuming a major role. The Air Force Air Rescue Service had flown in several planes and equipment to Lubbock and Wichita Falls to aid in the search.

Debris was scattered over an area of one and one-half miles, about one-quarter of a mile from the Muldrow business district.

Four mutilated bodies were near the forward section, north of town. The tail and main fuselage section fell on the slope of Turnham hill, one-fourth mile to the west. The seven other bodies were found in this area. One had been driven into the ground by the force of the fall.

Wing sections were found one-half mile southeast of the forward section.

Joe Powell, Muldrow, said some of the wreckage fell within 50 yards of where he was driving a truck along a road.

Military police from Camp Chaffee, near Fort Smith, Ark., 12 miles east of here, arrived about 30 minutes after the crash.

$85,000 Water, Sewer Bond Issue Approved At Matador

MATADOR, Nov. 1 (Special)—Matador voters today approved a proposed $85,000 revenue bond program for expansion and improvement of the city's water works and purchase of a sewer system.

The proposal included the purchase of the Matador plant of the Southwestern Sewer company, built here 20 years ago, and a program of improvement of the water works. Although the two proposals were voted together, separate tabulation of the vote shows 111 for the sewer purchase proposal, with six opposed; and 110 for the water works improvement proposal, with 7 opposed. Total vote was 117.

Of the total $85,000 in bonds, $40,000 are ear-marked for the purchase of the sewer system, while the remaining $45,000 will be used for the water works program. The revenue bonds will not affect taxes since they will be obtained by the net revenues of the water and sewer systems.

HUNTSVILLE, Nov. 1. — Tentative approval was given today by the state prison board to legislative proposals designed to completely overhaul and modernize the prison system.

The 51st legislature in January will be asked to give quick approval to two emergency bills which would set into motion the $4,196,075 Ellis reorganization plan and establish a new financial program for the system.

Board members are confident their detailed plans eventually will lead to placing the far flung system on a self-sustaining basis and produce one of the finest physical plants in the country.

Book To Increase Morale

Board members also took firm steps designed to increase morale of inmates, curtail violations of prison regulations, and penalize troublemakers.

Nearly a dozen bills will be placed before the legislature but emphasis will be given to the Ellis plan and a proposal to permit prison produced products to be sold at a profit.

The modernization program, presented to the board last February by General Manager O. B. Ellis shortly after he assumed direction of the system, calls for these appropriations:

Individual cell blocks, industrial shops, hospitals and other structures, $2,700,210.

Laundries, bath houses, housing facilities, $636,132.

Farm buildings, silos, milk houses, pasteurizing equipment, $222,708.

Farm equipment, $337,025.

Livestock, $300,000.

Financial Plan Proposed

On financial matters, the legislature will be asked:

1. To permit the system to sell all its products at a price not to exceed 90 per cent of prevailing open market prices.

2. To appropriate all income from such sales for purchase of supplies, materials and equipment for operation and maintenance of the system's various industries.

Prison products at present may be sold only at actual cost and all income goes into the state's general fund.

The legislative proposals were presented to the board by French Robertson, Abilene, chairman of the group's strategy committee, and Judge Elmer Lincoln, Texarkana, legal committee chairman.

Before final drafts are presented to the board January 3, the proposals will be placed before Governor Beauford Jester and Attorney General Price Daniel for study and approval.

The legislature also is involved in the board's efforts to reduce inmate troublemaking to a minimum but the board itself took immediate action.

Ellis was directed to hold inmates responsible for deliberate damages caused to state property and to press for immediate trial and sentence of prisoners who commit felonies.

The board left it clear they wanted an inmate who murders another inmate to go on trial for the crime with the least possible delay.

The legislature will be asked to make escapes, attempted escapes and prisoner possession of narcotics or drugs felony crimes.

Employment Rights Of Men In Armed Services Explained

Persons inducted into the armed forces of the United States after June 24, 1948, the effective date of the Selective Service Act of 1948, may extend their periods of active duty after serving 21 months and still exercise their reemployment rights upon discharge, according to a statement by Robert K. Salyers, director of the Bureau of Veterans' Reemployment Rights.

Although induction into the armed forces constitutes a first enlistment, the act provides for an enlistment of not more than three years, enabling an inductee who has served his 21 months, to reenlist for a maximum of 15 months without loss of his reemployment rights, provided there is no break in the continuity of his service.

Veterans who have problems regarding reemployment rights should contact J. M. Hall, county service officer and reemployment rights committeeman for the Lubbock area, at the American Legion hall. Relevant information may also be obtained by contacting the Texas State Employment Service.

Clare Boothe Luce Loses $35,000 In Jewels To Thief

NEW YORK, Nov. 1. (INS) —Police announced today the theft of $35,000 worth of jewels from the Waldorf-Astoria hotel suite of playwright Clare Boothe Luce and her publisher husband, Henry Luce.

The theft apparently occurred late last night or early this morning at a time when Mr. and Mrs. Luce may have been in the apartment.

Among the items listed as taken was a diamond ring valued at $25,000. Also missing are a set of earrings, a wrist watch and a gold compact.

Police said a watchman making his rounds found the door to the Luce suite slightly ajar at 2 a. m. He pulled it shut and the latch snapped. The lock apparently had not been forced.

At 6 a. m. the Luce maid found the door similarly open. Knowing the Luces had not left, she became alarmed and told them.

Search revealed the jewelry was missing.

Police said on neither occasion had the lock been tampered with. Presumably it had been opened with a key or cleverly picked.

Forty Per Cent Of Plains Cotton Crop Is Harvested

Editorials Comics Classified Advertising Section 2

"Serve the Day on the South Plains"

LUBBOCK MORNING AVALANCHE

Lubbock, Texas, Tuesday, November 2, 1948

Worker Demand Drops In Area

Harvest of this area's cotton crop, estimated at slightly more than 600,000 bales in fourteen major producing counties, was approximately 40 per cent complete, and calls for pullers dropped sharply over the area as a whole, it is shown in the weekend progress report of the Texas Employment commission.

The demand for harvest hands in the 14 counties which produce the greater part of the cotton on the South Plains, aggregated 9,255 on the weekend, compared with more than 14,000 a week earlier. Only one county, Lubbock, showed an increase in demand.

Not All Crop Open

Harvest completion ranged from an estimated 55 per cent in Lynn and Garza counties to 25 per cent in Bailey (Muleshoe), and, indicating that the crop is still fruiting, especially on irrigated land, only 77½ per cent—average the area over—of the crop was open and ready for harvest.

Percentage of the crop estimated open ranged from 45 per cent in Floyd, to 95 per cent in Lamb (Littlefield).

Unofficial ginnings figures compiled by the TEC showed a total of 232,350 bales ginned in the 14 counties up to last Wednesday, and in only two counties, Floyd and Hale, had gins been busy around the clock. Gins in other counties had operated from seven to 20 hours of the day.

The TEC estimated there will be 613,000 bales ginned in the 14 counties.

Rains Slow Harvest

Rains over the greater part of the area slowed down harvest, and it was probable that high winds that accompanied the weekend rainstorms might do some damage to open cotton, but no rains of widespread consequence were reported yesterday.

Light frosts, reported in some parts of the area, were not classified as killing frosts, but would be of some benefit in defoliation and in checking plant growth.

A cross section picture of the crop, and harvest conditions, is shown in a tabulation of the employment agency reports, as follows:

Dawson Farmers Attend Barbecue

LAMESA, Nov. 1 (Special)—Dawson County Farm Bureau tonight celebrated conclusion of week long membership drive with barbecue at Dawson county fair grounds. More than 1,000 persons attended the event.

Following the barbecue several hundred farm bureau members and guests met in the district courtroom for a business session. Bureau president Sam Allen presided.

Mahon Is Speaker

Lamesa Mayor Sam Richardson introduced Cong. Geo. Mahon, who was principal speaker. Mahon said:

"It is up to agriculture to organize and foster its ideals as did industry and labor and to stay abreast of the times."

Mahon pointed out that as a farm owner he was no "Johnny-come-lately" to farming, and that he sought to keep in touch with problems of agriculture at all times.

Defending the foreign aid program, Mahon told the group that the Marshall plan was actually an "American aid program."

The only mention he made of politics was to take note that "tomorrow is election day. It is unthinkable that farmers, especially in the midwest, will scratch the Democratic ticket."

New Directors Named

C. H. Devaney, district director of the Texas Farm Bureau, spoke briefly.

Allen reported that the Dawson county farm group, which was organized in May, had added at least 284 new members during the membership drive. He estimated that final tabulation might show total membership to be over 500. Other officers of the organization are Fred Rainey, first vice president; F. T. King, second vice president; and Ray Anderson, secretary.

Three new directors were named at the meeting to bring the total membership of the board to 22. The additions are Carson Echols, Patricia, Jesse Gillespie, Harmony, and George Hardesty, Mt. Olive.

Six delegates to attend the state Farm Bureau convention at San Antonio Nov. 8-9-10 were also

Research At Tech To Be Resumed

Research on sorghum grains and flour made from grains produced in the South Plains area is being resumed by the foods and nutrition department at Texas Technological college for the first time since 1942.

The new experiment will try Shallu, which produces a fine grain white flour, and Martin Maize, producer of a coarser, darker flour. The experiments are designed specifically to determine allowable proportions of sorghum grain flour substitute for wheat to obtain comparable results.

In addition to visible results, a biological assay will be conducted on the grains to determine nutritive properties, Mrs. Johnnie Michie, professor of foods and nutrition, said. A colony of approximately 125 white rats are to be used in this part of the experiment. Extension of grain sorghum experiments started in 1942 was prompted by revived interest in utilizing for human consumption such an abundantly grown crop as sorghums in this area. First experiments were done in use of flours from maize in hot breads.

Better Products Seen

Indications are that it will be possible to make finer textured and more acceptable products from the flour of Shallu, because of its better milling properties, Mrs. Michie said.

The tests have been made possible through the co-operation of Mr. R. E. Karper, agronomist in charge of sorghum investigations by Texas Experiment station, who has made available sufficient amounts of the grains. The department of milling industry at Kansas State college, Manhattan, Kans., is turning the grains into acceptable flour types.

Assisting Mrs. Michie in the tests at Tech are Miss Faye Hattox, instructor, Dr. Mina Lamb, associate professor of foods and nutrition, and a number of graduate assistants. Results of the experiments will be announced next summer, but research will be continued two years to substantiate findings.

Dr. Arthur J. Hall, Baylor Faculty Member, Is Claimed

WACO, Nov. 1 (AP)—Dr. Arthur Jackson Hall, a member of the Baylor university faculty for 34 years, died today.

Funeral services will be held here tomorrow.

Dr. Hall was chairman of the department of education of phychology and philosophy. He was president of Coker college, Harsville, S. C., before coming to Baylor.

His wife survives.

INSPECTING FOR CLEANLINESS—City Milk Inspector G. Glen Hunter inspects the intricate parts of a milking machine on a dairy farm operated by Earl Collins and George Wilson southeast of Lubbock. City Milk Inspector Insures Sanitary Supply For Lubbock

By BILL CLARK
Avalanche Staff Writer

Nearly 3,000,000 gallons of milk pours into Lubbock for processing annually, and the job of inspecting this flood of milk has developed into an operation that requires extensive travelling and hundreds of inspections monthly by city milk inspector Glen Hunter.

The job of insuring that Lubbock families get sanitary milk on their doorstep or in the retail stores takes Hunter to the dairy farms where it is produced.

125 Dairy Farms

The Lubbock "milkshed" is rather extensive, its bounds lying near Hale Center on the north, Tahoka on the south, Olton on the northwest, and Hobbs, Texas, on the east and Portales, N. M., on the west, Hunter explained. Approximately 125 dairy farms operate within the milkshed and sell their milk in Lubbock.

The tremendous growth of the milk processing industry and consumption of milk in Lubbock is evidenced by the fact that sales of milk in Lubbock have more than tripled in less than 10 years. In 1939 a total of 2,180 gallons of milk of all types were sold in Lubbock.

Travels Many Miles

So Hunter's inspections sometimes carry him hundreds of miles. One day recently he left Lubbock shortly after 7 a. m. and inspected 25 dairies in a 12-hour working day, traveling 346 miles to do so.

Occasionally trips carry him as far as dairies at Springtown, virtually on the doorstep of Fort Worth, which supplies some milk to Lubbock.

Of the 7,850 gallons of milk that come into Lubbock's five milk pasteurizing plants daily, a large portion—about 5,000 gallons a week—comes from Portales, N. M. Because the Portales dairies are inspected by El Paso milk inspectors, it is not necessary for Lubbock inspectors to go there, Hunter explained.

Inspects Ohio Milk

Once every three months Hunter makes inspections of dairies near Decatur and Rome, in Wise county, which supply 7,000 gallons of milk weekly to Lubbock.

The most distant source of supply for Lubbock is New Bremen, Ohio, wrom which a tank truck resembling a gasoline truck comes every week with 3,500 gallons of milk.

Hunter is on hand to inspect this milk on arrival. Leaving New Bremen at a temperautre of 35 degrees, the milk arrives in its thermos-lined tank at 45 degrees.

Hunter's inspections include a physical inspection of each plant

South's Political Ranks Face Split

ATLANTA, Nov. 1. (INS)— The south's traditional political solidarity appears threatened with destruction tonight on the eve of the general election.

A record vote is in prospect throughout the region. For the first time in two decades, the Democratic party faces a contest below the Mason-Dixon line.

Alabama Democrats waged a desperate final struggle to hold the established party on the saddle in their state.

Three Party Battle Looms

Republicans, Democrats and States' Rights Democrats engaged in eleventh hour duels for control of North Carolina, Florida and Tennessee.

Observers indicated, meanwhile, that Dixie's political ranks will be split even wider than in 1928 when Republican Herbert Hoover carried five southern states.

The States' Rights Democrat leaders expressed confidence that they will obtain at least 100 electoral ballots as a result of the popular vote tomorrow. Hoover got 66 from the south.

Political observers as well as participants predicted in many instances that the new split in Democratic ranks may be the forerunner of a two-party system for the South.

Close Contests Seen

Nearly 450,000 persons are expected to go to the Florida polls. Claude Pepper (D-Fla.) predicted the state is safely Democratic, but state GOP chairman C. C. Spades, of St. Augustine, said that Gov. Dewey will win at least 44 per cent of the popular vote.

Virginia's total vote will exceed 375,000, according to state officials. Democrats, Republicans and States' Righters all claim they will triumph in the Dominion state. Observers appeared ready to give Gov. Dewey the pre-election nod.

More than 400,000 Georgians planned to vote tomorrow. Political leaders expect the closets general election the state has ever witnessed.

Spokesmen for the three leading parties admit that the Georgia race may be so close that no candidate receives a majority. In that case, the general assembly must select the winner.

Political analysis indicated that Mr. Truman seemed certain of carrying only Texas without difficulty.

District Assembly Of Rotary Clubs In Area Held In City

A district assembly of Rotary clubs in this area, District 127 of Rotary International, was held Monday night at Hilton hotel.

The dinner meeting, which began at 7 o'clock, featured an address by Dr. Ira E. Woods of Littlefield, district governor, who was here on an official visit. Boards of directors and chairmen of committees, from clubs throughout the district were present.

County Farm Bureau To Meet Wednesday

Annual membership meeting of the Lubbock County Farm Bureau is to be held at the courthouse here Wednesday afternoon, starting at 2 o'clock, it was announced yesterday by Glen T. Hackney, president.

Officers for the year are to be elected, and delegates to the state convention at San Antonio Nov. 8, 9, and 10 are to be chosen, along with discussion and preparation of resolutions to be presented to the state meeting.

Hackney said several resolutions probably will be formulated, dealing with the regulation of water in this area, tax on farm-use gasoline, acreage allotments and support prices, and other matters of interest to agriculture.

Dulles Says Changes In Policy Unlikely

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 1 (INS) — John Foster Dulles, Republican foreign affairs adviser, said today there would not be "any great changes" in United States foreign policy in the event that Thomas E. Dewey is elected President tomorrow.

Dulles, regarded as a likely Dewey choice for secretary of state, flew to Stockholm in a private plane from Paris where he is an American UN delegate.

He cancelled a scheduled visit to Oslo and is due to return to Paris tomorrow.

for cleanliness and sanitation. On a typical inspection trip he is likely to peer closely into milking machines and containers, and make recommendations as to cleaning up a milking barn or the premises.

Laboratory Tests Made

Laboratory tests of milk sold are made regularly. One sample is taken from each dairy monthly for bacteriological analysis in the city laboratory.

Samples are picked up from delivery trucks periodically and these are tested for purity and bacteria count.

Hunter has acquired broad experience in his job, having been in the post for 11 years. He formerly operated a dairy farm in East Texas with his father, and he holds a degree from the dairy department of Texas Technological college, having been graduated in 1934.

Recently W. L. Gardner, a Texas Tech graduate of 1947, has joined the health department staff as assistant milk inspector.

Hunter is particularly proud of a certificate awarded to the City of Lubbock last year. It reads as follows:

"The Standard Milk Ordinance honor roll certifies that Lubbock has attained a rating of 97.9 per cent on retail raw milk and 92.6 per cent on pasteurized milk under the United States Public Health Service rating system as shown by the annual rating survey of the Texas State Department of Health." The rating was the highest in Texas.

ODDS NOT CHANGE

Dewey Still 1-15 Choice In Betting

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 1 (INS)— St. Louis oddsmaker James J. Carroll said today that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey is still a 1 to 15 choice to win the national election tomorrow.

President Truman continues to be an 8 to 1 underdog. These odds on the presidential race have not changed since Carroll's first announcement.

Carroll makes Dewey a 1 to 6 choice to carry his home state of New York while Truman is 4 to 1.

The oddsmaker placed Missouri in the almost-sure-for-Truman column, quoting the President as a 1 to 4 favorite and Dewey at 3 to 1.

Hartley Defends Labor Legislation

DETROIT, Nov. 1 (INS) — Rep. Fred Hartley, Jr., (R) N. J., declared today the Taft-Hartley labor act is the best law the 80th Congress could have enacted in the field of labor-management relations.

Approximately 50 pickets, some of them bearing Progressive party banners, picketed the Book-Cadillac hotel where Hartley spoke before the Detroit Economic club.

The co-author of the famed labor bill derided the attempts of labor organizations to purge backers of the measure from Congress. He stated that such campaigns are a waste of money. Hartley also added:

"Even if the complexion of the Congress is changed to that of the three groups that preceeded the 80th Congress there would still be a two to one majority favoring the bill in its present form."

Hartley said recommendations to the 81st Congress for improving the bill would include:

1. Making a federal offense any efforts to interfere with any worker attempting to go to a job or to threaten such a worker.

2. Giving workers the right to sue any union for lost wages incurred when he is prohibited from working.

3. Definition of mass picketing and restriction of pickets to employes in the plant where the dispute occurs.

Biggs Field B-29s To Leave For Britain

FORT WORTH, Nov. 1 (AP)— Keeping up its shuttle training for B-29's crews from American bases to European bases, 8th Air Force headquarters announced today that the first squadron of the 97th wing at Biggs Field, El Paso, was scheduled to leave at midnight for England.

Other squadrons of the wing led by Col. George L. Robinson will leave at 24-hour intervals until the transfer of the entire wing to the big base at Marham, north of London, has been completed.

Lt. Col. Paul Blair of Joliet, Ill., commanded the first squadron away, which is due Nov. 4 at Marham.

The operations plan called for part of the wing to take the southern great circle course from Biggs to Kindley AF Base, Bermuda, thence to Marham, and the others to go by way of Keflovik, Iceland, to England. Planes in the latter flight are those which have been taking part in "operation combine" at Elgin AF Base, Fla., and will leave from Andrew AF Base, near Washington, D. C.

Although the 8th Air Force announcement did not specify, terming the trip a "routine training operation," it was expected that the 97th would remain in England possibly 90 days, as previous B-29 units have done.

The 1st air support unit based at Carswell Air Force base will provide the cargo airlift for the 97th from Biggs to Westover AF Base, Mass., thence supply and maintenance cargo will be handled by military air transport service to England.

Landis Discusses Tech-Rice Game At Jaycee Luncheon

A discussion of Saturday's Tech-Rice football game by DeWitt (Judge) Landis highlighted Monday's weekly luncheon of the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce at the Hilton hotel.

Approximately 60 members and seven guests attended the luncheon, at which Doyle Justice, county chairman of the redistricting committee, urged support of Amendment No. 2 in Tuesday's general election. An impromptu singing duet by C. A. Rodgers and Harold Chapman, and a discussion by Gordon Sanders on the recent reorganization of the Tahoka Junior Chamber of Commerce rounded out the program.

Guests present were G. C. Davis, L. E. Crites, Bill Cook, Troy Price, Leonard Condin, Joe Cardwell and C. W. Denison. Bill Anderson, a new member, was also introduced.

Producer Hit In Gaines Wildcat

Assurance of a prolific producer at Shell Oil Company, Inc., No. 1 Hawkins, south-central Gaines county wildcat, came when the well made 147 barrels of oil during a one-hour drillstem test of a 50-foot section in the Devonian at 10,328-378 feet.

The well had previously made 59 barrels of oil in one hour from the interval at 10,278-328 feet.

Indications It Will Flow

The wildcat did not flow on either test. However, it has shown sufficient gas while the drill pipe was being pulled on both investigations to indicate that it would flow when put on production.

Gravity of the oil recovered from the test at 12,328-378 feet was 33 degrees, while the petroleum from the zone at 10,278-328 feet tested 30 degrees.

Operator had drilled down to 10,428 feet, and was to run a drillstem test at 10,378-428 feet, early Sunday morning.

This important new discovery is about 15 miles south and west of the town of Seminole, two and one half miles southwest of the Robertson field, where the production is from the lower Permian, above 7,500 feet, and it is 1,983 feet from north and 665 feet from east lines of section 8, block A-23, psl survey. It was originally started to dig to 12,500 feet to explore into the Ellenburger.

It had previously shown for possible production from the Clear Fark-Permian in the horizon at 7,103-7,240 feet.

'Aunt Celia' Shaw, 102, Is Claimed At Johnsville Home

STEPHENVILLE, Nov. 1 (AP)—Mrs. Jimmie Shaw, who was 102 years old last April, will be buried at the Johnsville community cemetery near here tomorrow afternoon.

She was better known as "Aunt Celia" Shaw. She died yesterday at the home of a daughter, Mrs. John Bunch, in Johnsville.

Last April aunt Celia walked 150 yards to the picnic tables where more than 100 relatives and friends gathered to celebrate her 102nd birthday anniversary.

Funeral services will be held in the Johnsville Church of Christ. She had been a member of the church 67 of the 70 years she had resided in Erath county.

She came here with her husband from her native Alabama. Her husband and five children are dead. Three other children survive. These are Mrs. Bunch, Tom Shaw, Johnsville, and Manon Shaw, Phoenix, Ariz.

Other survivors include 17 grandchildren, 24 great grandchildren, 16 great great grandchildren and two great great great grandchildren.

Mary Nolan, Former Ziegfeld Dancer, Dies In Obscurity

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 1. (U.P.) — Mary Nolan, the hard-luck girl who danced for Florenz Ziegfeld and rose to silent screen stardom, died yesterday in obscurity.

The tiny blonde, who became the toast of Broadway as Imogene (Bubbles) Wilson, died in a modest bungalow court, apparently of a chronic gall bladder ailment. She was 42.

She was found by a roomer at the home belonging to her sister, Mrs. Mabel Randau. Dr. Leo Gelfand pronounced her dead but declined to sign a death certificate because he was not familiar with her condition.

He said he treated her several weeks ago when she was hospitalized with a gall bladder ailment. An autopsy was ordered.

Gelfand said he gave Miss Nolan a sedative when she complained of abdominal pains and left an additional supply of sedatives to take if the pain continued.

Earlier this year, Miss Nolan was found close to starvation in a rented room. She had just completed her memoirs, "Yesterday's Girl."

Vote Appeal Made By County GOP Leader

An appeal to vote today was issued Monday to all Republicans "and to Democrats who are interested in having the two-party system in Texas" by Mrs. Wright Kerr, county Republican chairman.

Mrs. Kerr, in urging voters to support the Republican nominees, pointed out that the strength of the Republican convention in Texas by law is determined solely and entirely by the number of votes cast for the Republican candidate for governor. In other words, the number of votes cast for Dewey and Warren for president and vice-president has no effect on the county convention strength.

In supporting Alvin H. Lane for governor on the Republican ticket Mrs. Kerr cited him as an "ideal candidate," a native Texan, an overseas veteran and not a professional politician. He is a Dallas lawyer.

Mr. Kerr said the Republican county convention will station "supervisors" at each polling place in Lubbock. The assignments announced were: Mrs. M. D. Temple, precinct 6; Mrs. Hayes Sieber, 4; Mrs. Ann T. Aston, 5; Mrs. R. G. Porter, 2; Mrs. J. A. Mullins, 7; Mrs. George J. Young, 5-A; Graham Brotherson, 1; Mrs. S. C. Stone, 5-B; Mrs. Mack Hyatt, 6-A; and W. G. Dingus, 3.

SUSPECT IS ARRESTED

CLEBURNE, Nov. 1. (AP)—Edgar Williams, 39, charged with embezzling about $43,000 from the Citizens Banking company at Joshua, surrendered here today to Sheriff Houston Walling. Williams declined to make a statement when questioned by Attorney John A. James, Jr. He was released on $2,500 bond.

DEMOS FACE TOUGH FIGHT TO GAIN EDGE IN VOTE

Heated Contests In Six States May Decide Party In Control Of Senate; New Mexico Is Key State

By ARTHUR F. HERMANN
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—The big question mark in tomorrow's national elections—extent of Republican control of the 81st Congress—depends on the outcome of closely contested Senate races in six states.

The outlook on the eve of balloting is for a House of Representatives with a Republican majority of from 25 to 55 seats.

The complexion of the Senate is in doubt. The best probability is a 49 to 47 GOP majority, but a 50 to 46 division or a 48 to 48 tie is possible.

GOPs Lead In Old Setup

In event of a tie, the GOP will retain control of the Senate organization and hold a majority on legislation because of the tie-breaking vote of vice-president-to-be Earl Warren. The present Senate division is 51 Republicans and 45 Democrats.

A Dewey-Warren landslide could carry in many doubtful GOP senate and house aspirants, making both houses predominantly Republican and erasing the present narrow Senate division.

The six states to watch are: Minnesota, New Mexico, Tennessee, Texas, West Virginia and Wyoming.

Republicans appear certain to retain Senate control by at least a 48-48 tie. Democrats must win all six to achieve a tie.

Survey Is Made

An International News Service survey in the six states shows the following situation:

Minnesota: Early victory claims of Democratic aspirant Hubert Humphrey have been replaced with independent judgment that incumbent Republican Joseph A. Ball has a 50-50 chance to win.

New Mexico: Best information points to a neck-and-neck horse race between former Truman Agriculture Secretary Anderson and Patrick J. Hurley in the traditionally Democratic state.

Tennessee: Democrat Estes Kefauver appears a heavy favorite. Republicans continue to claim the seat for Jack Porter.

Close Races Seen

West Virginia: Despite Democratic claims that former Senator Matthew Neely will win easily, some of the state's best forecasters says its Republican incumbent Chapman Revercomb by a whisker.

Wyoming: Edward V. Robertson, incumbent Republican riding on Dewey's popularity, is a slight favorite, although Lester C. Hunt, the state's Democratic governor, has never been beaten.

In other states where earlier canvassing showed toss-up Senate races, Republican incumbent George Wilson of Iowa now appears safe over Democrat Guy Gillette; John Sherman Cooper appears a Republican victor in Kentucky over Virgil Chapman; in Montana Republican Tom J. Davis is favored to unseat Democrat James Murray; and Oklahoma now seems safe for Democrat Robert S. Kerr against Republican Ross Rizley.

Other States Also Hot

Continued Republican control of the House is certain. Even the Democrats have made no claims to upsetting the GOP majority.

Of the 432 house seats at stake in tomorrow's elections, a maximum net Democratic gain of 17 appears possible. This would leave the GOP with a working majority of 25.

On the other hand, if the Republicans achieved most optimistic returns, their 59 majority would be reduced by only four seats to 55. Under these conditions the GOP would gain six seats while the Democrats gained eight for a net Republican loss of two.

The Democrats appeared likely to make a net gain of two seats in both Ohio and Michigan and one each in Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Colorado and Illinois, for a net gain of at least eight.

In addition, the Democrats may gain another 11 seats by picking up one more in each of these states: Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Utah, West Virginia, California, Connecticut, Indiana, Kentucky, Minnesota, Missouri and New York, for a maximum gain of 19. The New York gain would be at the expense of the American Labor Party.

The Republicans appeared likely to pick up two to six seats, one each in Virginia and Maryland, and perhaps another in Virginia, two in New Mexico and one in North Carolina.

New Zealand has a campaign against military conscription in peacetime.

Rita Hayworth And Indian Prince Fly To Mexico City

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 1. (AP)—Rita Hayworth and Aly Khan, whose names have been linked romantically since last summer, flew into Mexico today and the fabulously wealth Indian prince immediately disappeared.

The auburn-haired screen star told a reporter who intercepted her outside the door of her room that she could tell him nothing about her plans.

Her secretary, however, said reports that the two would be married in Mexico are "ridiculous."

"Neither one of them are free to marry, you know," she said.

Miss Hayworth's divorce from Orson Welles does not become final until Nov. 10. Aly Khan, son of the wealthy Aga Khan of India, has a wife there.

The secretary said Miss Hayworth's next picture will not be ready for 10 days or two weeks. "She had nothing to do and she likes Mexico, so she decided to come here for a short stay," the secretary, Shisia Haran, said.

Miss Hayworth and the Indian prince arrived by air from Los Angeles this morning.

Albert T. Clifton, Waco Industrialist, Is Claimed

WACO, Nov. 1. (AP)—Industrialist Albert T. Clifton, 69, chairman of the board, president, vice-president or director of 21 corporations, died here yesterday.

Clifton was associated with the Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroad or its subsidiary, the Texas Central, for 38 years.

Born in Waco, he operated cotton mills at West and Hillsboro and was the first president of the Texas Cotton palace, an agricultural exposition.

Redistricting Plan Approval Foreseen

LUFKIN, Nov. 1. (AP)—John Ben Sheppard predicted here today that Texans would approve overwhelmingly automatic redistricting as proposed by a constitutional amendment two on tomorrow's general election ballot.

Sheppard, a Gladewater attorney, is state chairman of the Texas Committee for Redistricting. He is a past president of the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce and was in Lufkin to speak at the Rotary club luncheon.

"More than 1,000 prominent Texans from all parties and all parts of the state have joined the redistricting committee in its fight to replace our present outmoded system of apportionment," Sheppard said. "From the great interest shown and the fine work of these volunteers I feel sure that amendment two will prove to be one of the most popular amendments ever placed before the voters of Texas and will be approved by a heavy vote."

Sheppard said that Texas has not been redistricted in 27 years and in that time many sections of the state have grown tremendously in population without receiving any additional representation in the state legislature.

The Mississippi River actually flows uphill, since its mouth is farther from the center of the earth than its source is.

RESPONSIBLE PEOPLE who value their good name; who realize the cultural and civic advancements made by their families should be preserved for the benefit of succeeding generations.

The Family
is the all-important unit in American life. 30,000,000 families make America a Great Nation. The influence of your family name should be retained forever.

DEVOUT PEOPLE
—who, being faithful to their religious convictions, desire to irrevocably record in granite an indication of these convictions in order that the influence of their name and faith may be extended for an eon of time.

THOUGHTFUL PEOPLE who proudly acknowledge their inheritance of a good name from their forebears . . . who do not want their ideals and principles to be forgotten.

A name is everything. Think of a name and you think of a character. Preserve the name and you continue the influence of that character.

INTELLIGENT PEOPLE
—who know that a family memorial is a great inheritance. It is unimpeachable evidence to all men for all time that their families lived productive lives of significant worth.

A constant inspiration for tomorrows from the helpful associations of yesterdays.

PATTERN FOR ALL

American Elections

THIS peculiarly is an appropriate time for meditation upon the fact that the American people are so wholly unrestricted in holding elections. Not many people on earth can exercise this right.

Only President Truman and Governor Dewey among the Presidential candidates are conceded a chance of election. Campaigns by them and in their behalf have been the most vigorous in decades. Charges have been bitter. But nearly all Americans are satisfied, completely, that the election of either will place in office a man whose chief desire and purpose will be to serve his nation and his people as best he can. The opposition to neither has given consideration to any fear that he represented a danger to basic freedom.

The identity of some of the other Presidential nominees emphasizes the existence of the Democratic processes which are necessary to an election like that of today. One of the candidates, Henry Wallace, is, wittingly or unwittingly, the front for Communistic and other weird doctrines which would destroy the freedoms enjoyed by Americans. Yet the name of Henry Wallace appears on the ballots in most states, including Texas. Anyone so desiring may vote for him wholly without fear of penalty. For that matter, the voter who chooses can write in the name of Joe Stalin, or of Satan himself, without risk of a subsequent prison sentence.

Indeed, the election exemplifies the unchallenged American privilege to exercise a right which all people should enjoy — but which few do. Just how any American could—as many will—fail to exercise this right by voting today is impossible of logical, or justifiable, explanation.

An Honest Man!

THE HONESTY with which Dr. Paul Mueller, of Sweden, received the announcement the other day of the 1948 Nobel prize in medicine going to him calls for a round of applause. The award was based on his discovery, the announcement said, of the strong insect-killing powers of DDT.

He acknowledged frankly that his research sought a drug that would protect certain plants against insect damage. Much to his surprise, he said, he came up with something useful in fighting human diseases.

His experience was not particularly unusual. Many important discoveries have resulted more from chance than design. The discovery of penecillin, for example, was due largely to accident. Likewise, it has not been unusual that scientific research in one direction has produced something entirely different in nature and effects than was sought and expected.

The fact that Doctor Mueller's efforts produced something he did not expect does not lessen the value of his discovery, nor the merit upon which the Nobel award was made to him. But his complete honesty as to his "accident" will add warmth to the cheers resulting from his selection for this high honor.

After arguing with one of them, many a man wonders why they refer to women as the weaker sex.

A humbug causes more discomfort than any other kind of insect.

Tryst

(THE STORY: Dying in the Indian desert, British secret agent Hilary Shenstone feels a desperate need to get back to England and to Nuns Farthing, his family home. He doesn't know the house has been let and that dreamy, 17-year-old Sabrina, whom he has never met, has adopted his old room and eagerly awaits his return. Hilary does return to England and to Nuns Farthing—after death. When he sees Sabrina, he realizes she is the girl he would have loved if he had lived. Hilary's room is locked after George, his brother, brings word of his death. Sabrina broods until Mrs. Piljon, the housekeeper, unlocks the room again for her. Sabrina knows then that Hilary has come home. But Aunt Effie, beginning to feel a strangeness in the house, is upset when she finds out that Sabrina is once more using the room. She persuades Sabrina's father that they must move from the house and that Sabrina should be sent to a school in Switzerland.)

XXVI

SABRINA went down to breakfast the next morning in a very cautious state of mind, expecting to hear more about the lights in Hilary's room. But Father was behind the "Times," as usual, and Aunt Effie seemed quite normal, remarking as she left the table that she had letters to write.

Sabrina went out into the garden to cut fresh flowers for Hilary's vases, and collected Muffin on her way upstairs. When she set him down inside the door he went at once to the window seat, jumped up on the sun-warmed cushions, rolled over to have his stomach rubbed, and began to purr loudly.

She watched him a moment, amused. His passion for Hilary's society endeared him to her. She envied him too, in his complete familiarity with the invisible presence which roused in herself no fear of strangeness.

"You can tell your friend Hilary to be more careful about these lights," she addressed Muffin severely, as she spread down yesterday's newspaper to lay the faded flowers on, and began to collect the vases to be changed. "Aunt Effie's mind was just settling down again, and now he's gone and got her unsettled."

"I'm sorry about last night," said Hilary, very contrite. "But I always did like lots of light."

Sabrina returned from the bathroom with a vase full of fresh water in each hand. She placed them on the desk and began to fill one with roses and one with tall delphiniums which raised their pale blue spires well above her shining head.

"Have you any idea how pleasant it is for me to see you come into this room with your arms full of flowers?" he remarked irrelevantly.

SHE was wrapping up the faded flowers neatly in the newspapers to take away downstairs. She put the newly filled vases back in their places, and took a dust-cloth out of the desk drawer.

"I must say he's a very tidy person to keep house for," she remarked. "No cigaret ash scattered about, no laundry to send away, no—"

She stood still, looking down at the seat of the armchair under the reading-light. A book lay there—a book she had never taken off the shelf. And the loose silk cushion was crumpled down into the corner against the arm.

"Wrong again," said Hilary uneasily. "I'm getting careless. I meant to put it back."

Behave sensibly, Sabrina, she told herself, he can see you. Behave as though it was not unusual of him to leave things lying about. Be tactful, Sabrina.

Almost automatically she reached for the cushion and plumped it and set it back in place. Then, more slowly, she picked up the book he had been reading. It was black, with its title in gold letters —"True Ghost Stories."

"We haven't read this one, Muffin," she remarked very casually, and only her eyes betrayed her, large and brightly blue, with languid lids. "I wonder if it's any good."

"Well, I didn't find it very helpful," Hilary admitted, adoring her gameness. "I was hoping to learn something about the technique. The trouble is, they all take their haunting so seriously. It's too bad I haven't got some chains to rattle!"

She searched the shelves briefly and returned the book to the empty space it had left, then went on with her dusting, silent and very thoughtful.

THE misplaced and forgotten book was the third tangible evidence of his actual presence in the room, without counting Muffin's behavior. And each time the same suffocating excitement pervaded her, which contained no element of fear. Each time too he seemed almost to emerge a little from invisibility.

The days went by uneventfully, and she kept house for him. No dust collected on the polished surfaces of his mahogany, and the cushions were always shaken up and set by the ears at the proper housemaid's angle. He found that if he persistently left the same book off the shelf she would read it. Or sometimes she had already read it, and would tell Muffin what she thought about it. Most of her conversation with Muffin included Hilary as well.

And Hilary, watching her, knew that he was in love with this little earthling, as surely and as deeply as though he had come back whole in his man's body and found her living here in his home—a love so strong and inevitable that even death had not robbed them of each other. A mistake had been made somewhere and one bullet got astray to drop him in the desert. Then reparation was swiftly made, too, as far as it could go. He had returned to Nuns Farthing, and slowly the distance between them was narrowing, by her instinctive trust and faith in him, by his increasing comprehension of himself as he now was.

Looking At Life -- By Erich Brandeis

WHAT a horrible dream I had last night!

I don't remember the beginning, but it seems that suddenly I found myself in an enormous factory where all the national advertising is manufactured.

You never heard so much noise in all your life. You never saw such bedlam.

BRANDEIS

Vacuum cleaners, refrigerators, automobiles, houses, washing machines, television sets were flying through the air. Screeching announcers were rushing madly through the aisles, throwing ten, twenty, fifty thousand dollar bills all over the place.

Arlene Francis stood at one end of an aisle yelling piercingly "What's my name" and throwing electric light bulbs at the passers-by.

In that place of confusion I was sort of lying on a couch. Arthur Godfrey was standing over me trying to cram graham crackers down my sputtering throat, while Jeanette Davis, his blonde singer, was rubbing me with some kind of glass wax and rubbing it off again. Both of them, at the same time, were blowing cigaret smoke into my eyes, pouring hot tea over me and getting my hair all messed up with noodle soup that came out of an envelope.

The scene changed.

Two thousand, four hundred sixty-seven doctors, all dressed in white coats, little goatees and mirrors with holes in them strapped to their foreheads, were surrounding my couch, all looking very serious and shaking their heads.

It seems that they had been trying to find my G-zone for the last two hours but had not succeeded, in spite of the fact that more people smoke Giraffes than ever before.

More and more they looked, because another crowd of men, a rough-looking crowd, was approaching threateningly. These were the men, holding enormous tobacco leaves in their hands—all pointed at me— me—with whom a competitive brand of cigarets was first again. Here they came, slowly, frighteningly, chanting slowly and terribly monotonously "X F L N B." Nobody seemed to know what it meant and nobody seemed to care.

WOULD this horrible thing ever end?

What was this?

Another parade. What were they? Clothes dummies? Chorus boys? Robots?

Along they came, each dressed to perfection, each holding a glass in his hand, each with a sickening smirk on his face.

What was that in those glasses?

Then I heard "We have switched," they sang and went into a cute little dance. I looked at them again. I know. They had switched

HST FACES SHOWDOWN

Dewey Landslide Seen

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Although unique factors and personalities make today's presidential election the wackiest in many years, a study of all national and local polls available, a personal checkup and a careful comparison with recent years' results seem to substantiate these general observations:

President Truman may receive a maximum of 126 electoral votes, or his total may fall as low as 70, to make him one of the worst defeated nominees of a major party in modern times. He would rank just above Alf Landon, who showed up with only Maine and Vermont in 1936.

The Thurmond-Wright States Rights ticket seems sure of a minimum of 44 electoral ballots, but these anti-Truman Democrats might roll up 74.

Their total depends entirely on whether the voters in several Southern states prefer to register their protest against the man in the White House by plumping for the South Carolina-Mississippi combination, or by crossing the political line into the Dewey camp.

The New York Governor's political credits in the electoral college can strike a low of 331 or hit a high of 417. The necessary number for victory are 266.

VOTE: The Republicans will maintain virtually their present majority in the House. They should retain organizational, although not legislative, control of the Senate by the phantom margin of one, two or three seats.

The total vote should pass 50,000,000 for the first time in American history. The weather and what side of the bed the voter gets out of on the morning of November 2, rather than the issues or personalities, will determine the size of the turnout.

Lest we forget him, Henry A. Wallace will not carry a single state.

He will be lucky if he polls more than 3,000,000 votes.

Norman Thomas, the extremely able and personable Socialist nominee, will make a better showing than in any year since 1932, when he surprised himself by turning up with almost 900,000 supporters.

SIGNIFICANCE: President Truman's top total of 126 is reached by giving him the margin in thirteen states. It is of the utmost political significance that he is conceded a chance to carry only three commonwealths outside the unsolid South and the dubious border states. Here are the thirteen commonwealths:

Rhode Island, Minnesota, Montana, Texas, Oklahoma, Kentucky, Tennessee, New Mexico, Arizona, North Carolina, Missouri, Georgia, Florida.

It is possible, however, that he may lose Minnesota, Missouri, Florida, Georgia and North Carolina.

Subtracting their 56 votes from his total of 126 would leave him with the 70 minimum.

SHOWING: Governor J. Strom Thurmond's seemingly solid-rock support will come from four states for the simple reason that President Truman's name will not appear on the ballot, or will not be acknowledged as the regular Democratic nominee.

These states, which are South Carolina, Alabama, Louisiana and Mississippi, have an electoral total of 38.

But it is understood that two Florida electors and four in Tennessee will not cast their ballots for Mr. Truman, no matter how he fares in their states. They have that right. Their defection would bring the rebels' figure to 44.

There is some belief that the T-W ticket may carry Georgia, Florida and North Carolina. If they should crash through in those eastern commonwealths, their maximum would be 74, or more than Mr. Truman's possible minimum of 70.

Their showing will be more than mathematically or electorally important.

If they develop strength in the electoral institution and in the popular vote, they may be encouraged to continue their efforts to remake the Democratic Party nearer their hearts' desire. If not, they may disband after their brief and abortive insurrection.

HOPES: President Truman bases his last-minute hopes on several flimsy factors.

He has been cheered by the crowds which turned out to see him. But no nominee in recent years, not even Franklin D. Roosevelt, has such turnouts as Alfred E. Smith. Yet the pied piper crowds did not vote for him.

He hopes that he will benefit from the presence of Republican-sponsored proposals for medical dissemination of birth control information in Massachusetts, and from proposed enactment of state Taft-Hartley Acts in several other commonwealths. He also banks on labor and the popularity of Congressional candidates in many areas to carry him across the goal line.

MIRACLE: Since this is a wacky election, he may have reason for this confidence, although nobody around him regards it as more than whistling in a White House graveyard. But even if these local issues and personalities promote votes for him, it would require another miracle of bells, mirrors and votes to enable him to win the following states:

Massachusetts, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Illinois, California.

These states, together with the 99 tally which Governor Dewey obtained in the war year of 1944 against such a master campaigner as F.D.R., have a total of 274 electoral votes, or eight more than any man needs to assure himself of free rent at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue for four or eight years—possibly more.

CHANCES: W.B.M. of Huron, S. D., suggests several major changes in the tenure of high government officials, and in the size of Congress, which are peculiarly appropriate at this time.

He proposes that the presidential term be lengthened to eight years with no reelection, but with a further provision that ex-Presidents become voting Senators-at-large; that Representatives be given a four-year term and Senators an eight-year tenure.

Finally, he thinks that each state should have only one Representative for each 1,000,000 people. Under the present reapportionment system, there is supposed to be one for each 500,000, although it does not always work out that way.

SCHEME: Many of these proposals have been advanced, formally or informally, from time to time. A longer term for Representatives might make for better legislation, as the present two-year period does not give a new member much time to learn his job before he has to begin to think about reelection.

The suggestion that ex-Presidents become members of the Senate has been mentioned as a substitute for the pensioning plan. As a rule, however, it has been proposed that he should not possess the right to vote. He should be a sort of advisory statesman.

I doubt if any scheme for reducing the membership would ever prevail. Few members would support a constitutional amendment that would wipe out their jobs.

Believe It Or Not -- By Robert Ripley

The PLAINSMAN Says:

That Girl on Broadway says the amount of time it takes a person to grow old depends to some extent upon the way he goes about it.

A loose tongue seems always to be running wild.

ONCE more, general election day is upon us.

Every eligible voter, everywhere in the U. S. should have numerous, sound reasons for going to the polls, but, here in West Texas, citizens have an "extra-special" reason for casting a ballot.

That reason is the inclusion of Amendment No. 2 on the general election ballot of November 2.

To the people of this section —and of the several other areas of Texas long discriminated against in the matter of representation in the Legislature— it is more important that Amendment 2 be approved than the selection of the President of the United States.

The Constitution of the State of Texas plainly requires legislative re-districting in this state after each and every federal census, providing the census shows a sufficient shift in the population to require re-districting.

The various legislatures of Texas have flouted the Constitution ever since, in 1923, the then Gov. Pat Neff forced the Legislature to act in accordance with the Constitution by calling a special legislative session to get that job done.

Not since 1923—a quarter century ago—has any governor had the sense of fairness and responsibility to emulate the action of Governor Neff. And, of course, the members of the legislature have refused to act because, to do so, would eliminate the jobs of some of them and alter the districts of nearly all of them.

* * *

AMENDMENT NO. 2 on this year's ballot is not a perfect solution to the problem. There are parts of it which nobody likes —those who want fair play in re-districting as well as those who do not.

But it is a step in the right direction.

It is a step in the right direction because it provides for automatic redistricting by a board appointed for that purpose, IF any legislature of the future refuses to act as required by the Constitution.

Best thing that can be said about Amendment No. 2 is that its passage will result in some sort of redistricting. It is better than nothing—and "nothing" is what we have been getting, and will continue to get, if the matter is left in the hands of future legislatures.

Northwest Texas is not the only section of this state which has been discriminated against for all these years by selfish legislators.

The Rio Grande Valley similarly has been mistreated. So has the section around Corpus Christi. So has a part of the booming Gulf Coast.

Meanwhile, old, static, or diminishing areas of Texas have continued to enjoy representation in numbers which they do not deserve and which they cannot defend under the Constitution of the State of Texas.

That isn't right—and even those who have refused to live up to the oaths of their offices know it isn't right.

TO help right a quarter-century old wrong, the people of Texas should vote for Amendment No. 2.

Especially those of us who have squirmed for so long under the lash of discrimination should go to the polls and vote for Amendment No. 2. If we want relief in the matter of legislative representation, the way to help get that relief is to go vote—and vote for Amendment No. 2.

Passage of Amendment No. 2 should result in two more state senators from Northwest Texas and from three to five more state representatives.

That means we should have in Austin from five to seven more legislative votes: five to seven more representatives and senators working for our best interests.

We think—we believe you think—that's worth going after and the only way to go after it is for all of our eligible voters to cast a ballot for Amendment No. 2.

A big vote out of Northwest Texas, from Corpus Christi and the Valley will be necessary to carry Amendment No. 2.

Let's get out that big vote in Northwest Texas! Let's show our willingness to do for ourselves what we've been crying so long for someone else to do for us!

A father and mother were visiting their daughter, swathed with bandages in a hospital bed. She'd been in an automobile wreck.

"I know, now," the daughter said, "that Richard is no gentleman. Why he doesn't even know enough to precede a lady through the windshield!"

* * *

JESSE REDWINE, of P. O. Box 107, Shallowater, sent this in: "If what President Truman says about Governor Dewey is true, and if what Governor Dewey says about President Truman is true, then neither is worthy of being elected to the presidency!"

Move to the head of the class, Mister Redwine. Both have done such a good job of convincing us that the other is a so-and-so, we're voting for Gov. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina!

An extravagant statement very often results in a man's feeling cheap.

WE ARE quite certain that our New Mexico neighbors are fully capable of making their own political decisions without any outside assistance—"outside" in this instance referring both to this column, and that in adjoining space under the byline of Droop Pearson.

But since the courtesy of this page was given over to Mr. Pearson the other day so he could state his opinion of Gen. Pat Hurley, Republican senatorial candidate in New Mexico, we think it no more than right that a few truths be spread out here to counteract, locally, the nasty attack made on General Hurley by the Washington colyumer.

It so happens that we are personally acquainted with both Clint Anderson, the Democratic senatorial candidate, and with General Hurley, too. We think so highly of both we're glad we don't have to choose between them on this voting day.

Pearson was out in New Mexico a week or so ago and while there dashed off a piece to the effect that some of the war decorations given General Hurley are subject for question. That's probably so, because all generals get decorations from time to time that do not necessarily mean anything much. But in characteristic style, Pearson didn't say anything about such decorations as a whole. As he always does when he wishes to take a crack at someone he doesn't like, he hammered out his phrases so the uninitiated might think that Pat Hurley wasn't a soldier and that, if he wore a uniform, he did so in perfect safety.

WELL the truth is that General Hurley was shot at—and himself shot at the enemy—in France in World War I.

The further truth is that he risked his neck countless times in World War II, in the Pacific and elsewhere, flying routes as an American officer in and over fighting areas.

He had less than 12 hours, incidentally, to leave civilian life and go flying off to the war zones upon the call of Gen. Ike Eisenhower who, incidentally, didn't find it necessary to call on Mr Pearson for any help in winning the war.

Pat Hurley, whom we knew as a boy and later as a young man, is a first class citizen, a first class soldier and a first class patriot.

If Mr. Pearon says he isn't, well, everyone knows that the Pearson veracity has been publicly challenged by two presidents and numerous other people in and out of public life and who are generally considered to be pretty honorable citizens.

Looking At Life

from lemonade to limeade!

A crash, a voice sounding like a grater.

Jimmy Durante was rushing by at top speed with Victor Moore trying to follow him. They were looking for the lost chord and absolutely sure that they would find it in the nearest Texawl drug store.

Then came the horrible climax. Telephones started to ring. Drums, tympanies, flutes, bassos, pianos, gongs, automobile horns. "Stop the Music" someone yelled—and I woke up.

And there, by my bed, stood my wife, with a plain glass of faucet water in her hand.

I said a silent prayer of thanks for the one product that was not yet advertised.

MARKET STAGES RALLY

NEW YORK, Nov. 1. (AP)—The stock market put on a pre-election rally of its own today.

The advance, despite a last-minute touch of selling, was the largest in more than a week. Final prices showed gains of fractions to more than a point, with many issues under the day's widest mark-ups.

Market optimism over outcome of the elections Tuesday was thoroughly tempered with caution. Price movements during the day were erratic, as key issues frequently paused or wobbled downward for a while.

Wall Street expects a Republican victory. The last-hour pressure was interpreted as a significant indication that many traders had considerable doubt over how large the Republican majority might be.

"An underlying firmness to the price structure, nevertheless, was regarded as confirmation by the financial district of its belief that Dewey is headed for the White House. The main concern seems to be the question of Republican control of the Senate.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced .5 of one point to 70.6, a shade under the three-month high established Oct. 22.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Nov. 1 (AP) — Cotton futures moved slightly lower in early dealings today under pressure of hedge selling. When offerings dried up, the market steadied on trade orders and short covering, prior to the election holiday. Active producer selling was attributed to the fact that movement of the crop cotton is currently at its peak. There was some commission house liquidation. Buying was stimulated by prospects of a more active export demand in the current quarter.

Grain

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Nov. 1 (AP) — Corn overcame the weight of heavy cash arrivals to move upward on the board of trade today. A good demand developed for the outpouring of cash grain and prices ruled steady in the spot market. That encouraged buying of futures.

Soybeans, oats, rye and lard also tended upward most of the day. Wheat was inclined to lag, being depressed by receipts of good moisture in the winter wheat belt.

Wheat closed unchanged to ¼ higher, December $2.27⅛-¾, corn was ½-¾ higher, December $1.37⅝-½, oats were ⅝-¾ higher, December 78-78⅛.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Nov. 1 (AP) — Wheat No. 1 hard, 2.40½-43½.
Oats No. 2 white 97½-98⅛.
Corn No. 2 white 1.70-80.
Sorghums No. 2 yellow milo, per 100 lbs. 2.55-60.
