Reds Counter-Attack Under Protection Of U. S. Made Bombers

By Richard McMurray
Associated Press War Editor.
Soviet soldiers smashing at the northern end of the blazing 220-mile front in Southern Russia were reported Sunday to have advanced and captured a number of "populated places" while the South Germany's million men pressed against stubborn Russian resistance in a drive toward Rostov and Stalingrad.

The midnight Russian communique said the Red Army overcame stiff resistance by the Germans to score advances in various sectors of the Voronezh front, where the Russians have claimed their troops seized the initiative from the Germans and are counter-attacking.

In the sharpening naval warfare in the Baltic, the Russians said their ships had sunk an 8,000-ton enemy transport.

Yield Little Ground
The midnight communique, reporting that fighting still is under way to the South of Millerovo, lower end of the long front running down from Voronezh, indicated that the Soviet forces had yielded little if any ground Saturday.

They were withstanding terrific pressure from the all-out German drive toward Rostov and Stalingrad, toward cities of the Caucasus oil fields and the Russians were forcing the Germans to pay a huge price in lives and machines.

The Germans claimed they had reached the lower Don "on a broad front" east of the Donets, indicating their tanks and men were threatening to outflank Rostov, 65 miles to the West at the mouth of the Don. Drive German across Don.

At the Northern extremity of the 220-mile front where the first fury of battle broke in all its intensity, the Russians were counter-attacking strongly before Voronezh, driving the Germans before them into and back across the Don.

The rising tempo of the Russian counter-attack in the North and its mounting success suggested that Marshal Timoshenko might be starting a counter-attack against the extended German flanks to relieve the intense pressure in the South.

American Planes Used
Bolstering the swaying Russian lines were American-made Boston bombers which flew into the battle in South Russia for the first time.

The Russians were delivering blow after blow upon the oncoming Germans heading South from Millerovo on the Moscow-Rostov railway, but there was no tendency to minimize the fact that Marshal Von Bock was throwing enormous forces into the battle to seize swiftly the last Red communications in the South and split the Caucasus from the rest of vast Russia. The Russians placed the front 100 miles from Rostov and 175 miles from Stalingrad.

Stubborn Resistance

The Red Army was making stubborn stands in the waist-high wheatfields but dropping back before superior numbers of men and

Phillips Extends Maljamar Pool Of Lea Farther East

By Frank Gardner
Oil Editor.

HOBBES, N. M.—Phillips Petroleum Company has extended the Maljamar pool of Western Lea County three-quarters of a mile east with its No. 1 Lea-Mex, out-post well in the center of the southwest quarter of the southwest quarter of section 19-17S-33E.

On a 24-hour test the extension well swabbed and flowed 121 barrels of oil through 2-inch tubing set at 4,312 feet, with packer at 3,966 feet. The well topped pay at 4,266 feet, drilled to 4,316 feet in line and was shot with 400 quarts of nitro from 4,247 feet to total depth.

Johnny Cockburn has staked location for three tests in section 25-17S-32E, which adjoins the Phillips wellsite to the southwest. His No. 4-B Miller is in the center of the southeast of the northwest of the section. No. 5-B Miller is in the center of the northwest of the northeast, and No. 6-B Miller is in the center of the southwest of the northeast quarter.

Albert Flaherty Will Be Buried In Tulsa Monday

Funeral services for Albert H. Flaherty, 55, were held in Midland Saturday afternoon, and his body was sent overland to be placed in the family mausoleum in Tulsa, Oklahoma, where a service will be held Monday afternoon. Flaherty died in Midland late Friday, after a long illness.

Services in Midland were conducted by the Rev. Carl Clement, at the Ellis Funeral Home.

Flaherty is survived by his widow, and by a son, Allen Flaherty of Midland, and by two brothers, June Flaherty of Idaho, and George Flaherty of California.

Flaherty, a native of Harrison County, West Virginia, was known throughout the midcontinent oil fields as an oil well drilling contractor. He came to the Permian Basin in the early days, and had drilled throughout the basin area.

A very resourceful and friendly man, he had become well and widely known throughout the West, in Texas and New Mexico. At the time of his death he had producing properties in Lea County, New Mexico where he was associated with Haymon Krupp of El Paso. Associating with him in all of his enterprises was his son Allen Flaherty, of Midland.

Central Pecos Wildcat Logs Oil Showing, May Uncover New Reserves

By Frank Gardner
Oil Editor.

L. C. McKean No. 1 Phillips J. L. Nutt, wildcat test in Central Pecos County, Saturday indicated possibility of production when it encountered a fair showing of oil from 2,347-55 feet. The well suspended drilling at 2,371 feet in line, where it filled 200 feet with oil and 400 feet with water in 16 hours. Water probably is of upper-hole origin. The McKean prospect is in section 16, block 125, T. & S. L. survey. It now is shut down for orders.

Phillips Petroleum Company No. 1 Ada C. Price, proposed Ordovician test 29 miles southeast of Fort Stockton in Pecos, is drilling at 390 feet in line.

Thirteen miles north by northwest of Fort Stockton, Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1 Alan Robertson, also an Ordovician project, is drilling at 2,380 feet in anhydrite.

In the Big Lake Ellenburger pool of Reagan County Big Lake Oil Company No. 20-C University halted drilling at 8,660 feet in dolomite and is preparing to core. It entered the Ellenburger, lower Ordovician, at 2,535 feet.

309 Jap Ships Are Destroyed

By The Associated Press

At least 309 Japanese vessels in all categories have been destroyed by air and sea forces of the United Nations since the 12,000-ton passenger liner Terukuni Maru struck a mine off the English Coast in November, 1939, an Associated Press compilation of official announcements disclosed Saturday.

A total of 232 Japanese Naval vessels are included in the tabulation, as well as 77 merchant ships.

Scrap Metal For War Needs To Be Collected Here

Midland County residents have been asked to throw all their scrap metal, iron and steel especially, into the fight for freedom, and Monday is the first day of a concerted drive in Midland to gather this scrap.

R. E. Kinsey of Midland has been named chairman of the drive which is being organized throughout the area.

"An crisis exists in our war production program," said Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the War Production Board, "and this can be solved only by the patriotic cooperation of the American people."

"We are faced with a serious shortage of steel scrap and other vital materials. Ordinary junk which is lying in the barnyards, in garages on ranches and farms, in basements, attics, and in and about stores, must be gathered and turned into war production."

Gather The Scrap

Half of the metal necessary in new production can be used material, or junk, and with mines and mills producing the other half, it is up to the citizens to gather the scrap.

Chinese Army Drives Japs Out Of Wenchow

CHUNGKING (AP)—The Japanese have been blasted out of Wenchow after holding that Southern Chekiang Province seaport less than a week and additional setbacks have been inflicted upon the enemy on three other active fronts, the Chinese announced Saturday night.

The official Central News Agency said the Japanese were retreating Southward from Wenchow toward Julian, 13 miles away, and that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's forces were re-entering the city which thus becomes one of two of the larger seaports still in Chinese hands.

A threat to the other major port, Foochow, further South in Fukien Province, was averted last week when the Japanese were driven from a nearby island.

WAR BULLETINS

MOSCOW. (AP).—Soviet troops were reported officially Sunday to be still battling the Germans in the Voronezh area and South of Millerovo, at opposite ends of the long Don River front.

BERLIN. (From German Broadcasts.) (AP).—German tanks and motorized infantry have reached the lower Don River East of Rostov on a broad front in a continuing Southward thrust, the German high command reported Saturday.

BERLIN (From German Broadcast) (AP) — A few civilian casualties were caused in Western Germany Saturday when a few British planes dropped bombs at random, competent German quarters said Saturday night. Two of the raiders were reported shot down

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexico is now "perfectly prepared to defend her territory although not yet ready for offensive warfare," General Salvador Sanchez, chief of the army general staff, said after inspecting latest war material deliveries from the United States.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy reported Saturday a coast guard pilot, overloading his plane far beyond its recognized capacity, recently rescued 21 Norwegian seamen adrift in the Gulf of Mexico after their ship had been torpedoed.

Three Candidates For U. S. Senator Disagree On Issue

By The Associated Press

Texas' wartime senatorial campaign, competing with overseas news of battles and domestic war distractions for the public's interest, goes into its final critical week with all three candidates hotly disputing "what is the issue?"

Candidates listed from top to bottom of the long ballot which the Democratic voters will mark next Saturday—including local as well as state contenders—were speaking to smaller crowds than in the past, but for the most part to vociferously partisan audiences.

In the senatorial race, the incumbent W. Lee O'Daniel continued during the past week to emphasize his contention that the war is not an issue since it is not a question on which Texas or the nation are divided. His opponents, James V. Allred and Dan Moody, as emphatically insisted the war and O'Daniel's record and a senator on war questions, was the chief issue. O'Daniel contends that possible loss of our form of government is the issue, rather than the war.

Campaign Is Bitter

The senatorial campaign had gotten down to the bare knuckles stage, with all three berating each other unsparingly, and replying with fervor or ridicule. The people who gathered to hear them appeared to be enjoying the scrap. But what the electorate really thinks, after the shouting has died away, will only be known after the votes are tallied.

All the gubernatorial candidates planned to step up their political activities during the last week of the drive for votes. The same was true for the big fields of contenders for railroad commissioner and lieutenant governor and for numerous other state offices.

The senatorial show overshadowed regional congressional races. Eleven of Texas' 21 representatives in the lower house had no opposition, and the efforts to unseat the remaining 10 were being met for

Eighteen Officers Receive Promotions

Eighteen promotions of officers, including five captains to majors, were announced at Midland Army Flying School Saturday.

Wearing new gold leaves of majors are Roscoe C. Crawford, Jr., Alfred V. Walton, Harold T. Babb, William M. Hendrix and Donald K. Bennett.

Promotions to first lieutenant included Harold Eugene Dyer, Harry E. Goff, Derward B. Harper, Roscoe D. Foster, Wilford K. Day, James E. Bishop, Gaylord N. Brockett, Charles W. Brown, Frederick D. Collinge, Robert C. French, John F. Hart, Chester A. Coltharpe, Jr., and Thomas W. Hoppenspringer.

May Start Drive Across Channel

LONDON. (AP). — The seriousness of the German advance in the Don Basin may prompt the U. S. and Britain to drive across the English Channel soon to open a second front, but the tremendous shipping and training problems confronting the Allies made it unlikely that such a drive would be an all-out invasion.

Such an attack would differ appreciably from the grand war-winning operations for which American British and Canadian armies are training, said military experts who will not be quoted by name.

But whatever the scale of attack, the Allied armies approaching France or the low countries would confront veteran German generals, stout coastal defenses, numerous airdromes for planes which could be dispatched from the Russian front and most important of all—an army operating on short interior lines of communications.

The cooperation required between pilot and bombardier will be stressed by Lieutenant Price, who is a graduate of the University of California at Los Angeles. He received his primary pilot training at Santa Maria, Calif., and completed his basic and advanced training at Randolph and Kelly Fields.

The navigator and pilot speakers will arrive by plane from San Antonio.

The importance of 100 per cent cooperation between all their members of bombardment crews is emphasized by the fact that the bombardier can expect an average of only 36 seconds over his target, the announcement pointed out. Thus, (Continued on page six)

Big U. S. Ships Are In Battle To Save Egypt

By Edward Kennedy

CAIRO, Egypt. (AP).—Disclosure of new hard-hitting raids on the Axis supply ports of Tobruk and Bomba by United States Army Air Forces under command of Maj. Gen. Lewis H. Brereton marked the rising power of air warfare over the Western Desert Saturday.

On the ground, British Imperial and Axis land forces battled back and forth in bitter, but inconclusive conflict for possession of the barren ridges west of El Alamein and about 75 miles west of Alexandria.

* General Brereton, whose assumption of command over the American Air Forces in the Middle East was made known only Saturday, said that in 36 days of operations the American Liberator and Flying Fortress bombers—both large super-charged four-engined types—had conducted 21 missions and lost only three planes in combat.

Rev. McPherson To Enter U. S. Armed Forces As Chaplain

The first Midland minister to enter the United States Armed Forces, the Rev. Fred McPherson, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, will report July 31 at Spadra, Calif., for service as a chaplain. He will have the rank of first lieutenant and will report to the state narcotic hospital for duty with the Fifty-Seventh Medical Battalion.

Blast Axis Ships

In the newest of these assignments they set fire to an Axis tanker and scored direct hits on a large motorship at Tobruk Friday night, added to the fires which the RAF already had set raging around the harbor, and reached on farther West into Libya to pound small ships in the Gulf of Bomba, where the Italians once had a seaplane base.

"They put up a damned good show," said the British in praise of the American airmen, who are concentrating primarily on the shipping Nazi Marshal Erwin Rommel must have to maintain his threat against the valley of the Nile.

Rommel Uses More Air Power

The British noted that Rommel was using air power on an increased scale and was using more Italian planes than ever before. For the first time in several weeks Axis planes operated Friday over British lands grounds in the Burg El Arab region some 40 miles West of Alexandria, behind the land battle lines.

(Informed British sources in London said this use of Italian planes indicated Rommel was having to bring them in from Sicily and the western Mediterranean to aid his outnumbered Nazi Air Force.)

The British, in turn, made ever greater use of Royal Navy planes against Axis land forces. The Navy fliers fiercely attacked Axis concentrations Thursday night between the coastal road and the shore west of the British positions.

Destroy Gasoline

Other Naval aircraft destroyed thousands of gallons of gasoline at Axis-held Matruh.

The RAF itself concentrated chiefly in the southern sector of the front, and a British communique said violent explosions and fires were touched off among Axis transport vehicles and tanks. Five Axis planes were listed as shot down. The British lost seven but saved two of the pilots.

On the ground, Australians and some South Africans moved from their Tel El Eisa position southward to gain a second parallel ridge Friday, but an Axis counter-attack forced them to withdraw from some of their gains later in the day. The British positions on the main ridge of Tel El Eisa remained intact.

British Repulse Attack

In the central sector of the 40-mile line the Germans mounted an attack of their own with truck-borne infantry, but British Indians astride the ridge of Ruweisat repulsed them with losses.

As far as was known here, there was little armored fighting Friday. It was disclosed, however, that in the course of a hot tank battle in the central sector Thursday 23 Axis tanks, mainly German, were knocked out. The British subsequently blew up 21 of these.

British Bombers Blast Axis Tanks

WITH THE BRITISH NAVAL AIR SERVICE IN EGYPT (AP)—British naval dive-bombers attacking the Axis' foremost desert sea base at Matruh Saturday turned the jetties into sheets of flames which could be seen for 20 miles and planted heavy explosives in the heart of a concentration of 1,500 Axis tanks and vehicles.

"Those oil drums on the docks exploded like firecrackers," one pilot said.

"We got several direct hits right in the heart of the massed transport where tanks burst into flames," said another who dive-bombed the inland concentration.

Army Bandsmen Will Be Guests Of Guard At Sunday Barbecue

Midland Army Flying School bandsmen will be guests of Texas Defense Guardsmen of Midland Sunday at a barbecue at Cloverdale Park, starting at 1 o'clock. The band has aided the guard and other organizations of the city in various programs.

Guardsmen will assemble at their usual meeting place not later than 12:45 Sunday noon, and will go from there to the park. Lieutenant Henry C. Hannafor, in command, announced.

Several recruits have joined the Guard during the month, and they especially are urged to attend the barbecue. Among the most recent to join are Sidney B. Fowler, John V. Norman, and Robert L. Ivy, Sergeant W. D. McCarroll, company clerk, said.

CHAPLAIN MCPHERSON

Lieut. McPherson will present his resignation as pastor to his congregation Sunday.

The Calvary Baptist Church was organized by Rev. McPherson less than two years ago, on December 1, 1940. On December 7 of that year he moved to Midland, resigning his pastorate of the Stanton Baptist Church to accept ministerial duties here.

Church Has Grown Steadily

The church has shown steady growth. The original membership of 70 has increased to approximately 200. More than 200 are enrolled in the Sunday school which had an average attendance of 151 in June.

A first unit of the church and a parsonage have been constructed at a cost of six or seven thousand dollars.

Reared at Loraine, Rev. McPherson has spent practically all his life in West Texas. He holds a B. A. degree from Hardin-Simmons University at Abilene and a Th. M. (Master of Theology) degree from the Southwest Baptist Seminary at Fort Worth. He held full-time pastorates at Jayton and Stanton before moving here.

Mrs. McPherson and the couple's seven-year-old son, David, plan to join the chaplain at his post as soon as possible. They will leave this week to visit relatives at Austin.

Psalms 20:1.

Well, Well, Well!

An outrageous picture of conditions surrounding Army training camps in Texas is being pictured by a candidate for the Democratic nomination to the state's major office as he goes about the Lone Star State seeking votes.

Crying that he wants to clean up cities in Army camp areas, he says he wants to prevent vice and "disgraceful scenes."

He made the address on Midland's courthouse lawn, but at that time he talked in generalities. Word now comes to us that he is mentioning Midland and several other cities as communities which needed cleaning up.

The mention of Midland first was heard after the candidate completed his tour of West Texas and travelled to another section of the state.

Certainly, there have been no "disgraceful scenes" involving soldiers in Midland, the home of the Army's largest Bombardier College. None have been reported and if there had been any suspicions, rumors long ago would have gone the rounds. In fact, there haven't even been any wild rumors.

The candidate implies that soldiers training in Texas are the sort who would engage in "disgraceful scenes" and that Texans who reside near Army posts would permit vice and law violations in their own cities.

Such violent and reckless charges shouldn't be forgiven even in the heat of a campaign. Our nation is at war and the ridiculous charges are an affront to every citizen concerned with the welfare of the thousands of young men training in Texas.

If the charges were true, Midland and other Texas cities would have betrayed the confidence of the Army and of the people of the nation.

An FBI executive who recently visited Midland had only praise for law enforcement work here to keep down vice and drunkenness. Should local officers fail to control vice, the May Act, a federal control measure, can be invoked and federal officers sent in to handle the situation.

The FBI agent's statement came as the result of reports compiled by FBI men who have been here in line with their duties.

Midland has worked constantly at the vice problem in an intelligent way, and citizens here know that if such reports, as are being spread by the politician, were true the FBI would take the job away from local officers.

Unpardonable Stupidity

Even the connoisseur in bureaucratic stupidity finds its difficult to comprehend these customs officials who insisted that Canadian troops, rushing westward to help us repel the Japanese threat to Dutch Harbor and Alaska, must pay duty on spare uniforms and military equipment before they could cross the border.

The Japs seized two of the Aleutian islands, which they have held for a month and whence they have moved on to a third. But that didn't faze the treasury representatives. They stood by their guns and asked Washington for a ruling.

Lawyers juggled ponderous tomes and checked cross references. Sure enough, they found, Canadian troops can't come into the U. S. to help us against blitzkriegering Japs unless they pay duty.

The State Department was asked to assist. The Japs were coming, but the revenue law was well drawn. It had no loopholes.

Fortunately Secretary Hull of the State Department was around. With tongue in cheek, we have no doubt, Hull gravely dictated a two-page memorandum explaining that the Canadian soldiers were distinguished visitors and, as such, were entitled to waiver of duties.

The situation was saved. But what stupidity—what gross bureaucratic ineptitude!

No wonder the heroes of Bataan, Singapore and Burma, when they land on our shores, protest that:

"This is a bloody war and the people at home don't seem to know it."

No wonder Lieut. William M. Bower, who helped to bomb Tokyo, took off his gloves when he addressed Cleveland Kiwanians who had been worrying whether to enjoy a half-day picnic or an all-day boat ride.

The boys at the front aren't having picnics, said he. He wants to go back to the fighting front, where the men realize that wars aren't won with boatrides, vacations from the production lines, battles over parity prices, 70-mile an hour joy-riding on irreplaceable rubber tires, attempts to collect duties from soldiers coming to our assistance in time of peril.

"Hell," says a wounded officer from the Far East, "we haven't begun to win the war yet, and we're talking about how we will set down the peace terms."

"We've got to get down in the mud and fight like hell, and believe me, we've got to do it pretty soon."

And cut out the boondoggling.

It's funny how a happy-go-lucky man will go out on the golf course and drive himself mad.

The average gentleman's clothing bill is said to be $450 per year. What does that make most of us?

Good News For The Axis

Three Jap Zeros, One Bomber To His Credit, Jimmy Egan Now Resting While In Australia

Many Midland people, especially his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Anderson of 1209 West Texas, got a thrill over the radio Saturday when Lieutenant James Egan (just Jimmy Egan to a host of friends here) spoke from some place in Australia to the American public.

Lieutenant Egan lived in Midland for a year and a half. He left here late in 1938 for his home in Hill City, South Dakota, and a few weeks later enlisted in the Army Flying Forces. He got his commission a few months later, and was assigned as an instructor in a California school. On December 7 he went aboard a ship at San Francisco, en route for assignment in the Philippines. After the Jap attack, the sailing was stopped. Soon, however, the family had a letter from him in Australia.

Fought in New Guinea
For the last four months Lieutenant Egan has been on active combat duty at Port Moresby, New Guinea, and has been officially credited with three Jap fighters and one large bomber. He ran out of gas after a long running fight recently and landed in the Australian bush country. For three days and nights he wandered in the rough area before finding any inhabitants. He was sheltered by them for a while and then taken to an Army post. He was then ordered to take a rest and sent to one of the Australian cities, from which he spoke Saturday.

Lieutenant Egan is the nephew of Mrs. Anderson. She heard from him frequently until his assignment to New Guinea, after which there had been no word until his return to Australia. He was employed here by Amerasia Petroleum Corporation, of which Anderson is district superintendent. Joe Erickson of Midland is a cousin of Egan.

Army Trains Them Tough

CAMP EDWARDS, Mass. (U.P.)—America's soldiers are going to be in top-notch shape before they meet the enemy. Here's the way the army is conditioning them here:

The soldier grabs his rifle and 30-pound pack and marches to the 1,542-foot obstacle course. In 3 1-2 minutes he must:

Take off with a yell, mount an eight-foot wall, slide down a 10-foot pole, leap a flaming trench, weave through a series of pickets, crawl through a water main, climb a 10-foot rope, clamber over a five-foot fence, swing by rope across a seven-foot ditch, mount a 12-foot ladder and descend on the other side, charge over a four-foot breastwork, walk a 20-foot catwalk some 12 inches wide and seven feet over the ground, swing hand-over-hand along a 15-foot horizontal ladder, slither under a fence, climb another and cross the finish line at a sprint.

Cattle Sales In Midland Are High

Beef cattle had fine play at the Texas Cattle Sales barns during the past week, with the Thursday auctions especially good. Tab Marchant bought one cow, weighing 1330, paying $126.35 for her, and sold one bull for beef at $125.60, while Bob Hill purchased two steers for $213.75. These prices indicate the price at which good beef is going, with demand pushed up by needs of the armed forces.

Marchant, Marcus Gist and the Scharbauer Cattle Company topped volume sold by individuals, but the selling group was large, including Bill Bigby, A. R. Bowman, J. C. Bradley, L. Brunson, W. T. Bryant, C. W. Calhoun, J. E. Cassidy, Jim Cooper, Charlie Cox, John Crowley, and

Pioneer Ranchman And Capitalist Dies

CORPUS CHRISTI (A.P.)—Funeral services will be held here Sunday for W. W. Jones, pioneer ranchman and capitalist of South Texas who died Friday night at the age of 85. Although his holdings reached into many fields, Jones was first of all a cattleman and was one of the most picturesque characters in this part of the state.

Midland Accident Record Last Six Months One Of Best In The Nation

Midland has had no fatal traffic accidents during 1942 and none occurred on a main highway within the county. The only fatality occurred on a lateral road where the driver was killed when his car overturned. This gives both city and county one of the best records in the nation, Chief of Police Lon H. Tyson said Saturday, as he expressed appreciation for the splendid cooperation shown by residents in observing traffic regulations.

Two people have suffered serious injury, but both recovered. Other accidents were of a minor nature.

The splendid record was setup despite the fact that traffic lights were out of order in the city for several weeks.

Property Damage Small Property damage likewise has been small, running less than $2,000 it is estimated, and a record was set up in that respect as well as in injuries and deaths.

"In thanking the folks for this wonderful record," said Tyson, "let me caution that there are two causes for most accidents within city limits: left-hand turns, and backing out into the street. When persons are careful in these two respects they will have few collisions."

Bicyclists Are Warned Bicyclists likewise are warned by Tyson, for the greatly increased use of bicycles by persons who have ridden little brings on a big problem for any city. Riders are asked to take nothing for granted, to avoid "guessing" what the car driver will do, and to keep in mind that collisions the cyclist is very apt to come off a "poor second."

"Let us keep up our vigilance and our care, and save ourselves and our neighbors from suffering injuries or property losses in avoidable accidents," is Chief Tyson's plea.

Regional, Army Laboratories To Be Maintained In New Health Center

A branch state laboratory to serve thirteen nearby counties will be set up in Midland as soon as the new health center is completed, county health authorities said Saturday. The laboratory will be in addition to other services performed at the center.

Work on the $46,000 structure is progressing ahead of schedule by about 30 days, and it is now thought that it will be ready for occupancy about August 30. County Judge E. H. Barron said it is hoped to formally open the building about September 1, with appropriate ceremonies.

Has Auditorium Primarily a health center, the new building will give the city an adequate auditorium for various kinds of programs. When the building was first planned, city and county authorities appealed to state authorities to allow enlargement of the small meeting room into an auditorium adequate to seat general community meetings. After several weeks of negotiations, the city and county assumed the additional expense and the enlargement was construction.

Good Location When the enlarged auditorium was allowed, the site was changed, and the building is well located in a central part of the city, at the corner of Missouri and Colorado streets. Entrance to the clinic section opens on Colorado street, and the auditorium opens on Missouri street.

The health center is one of several being erected in the state, and is the largest contemplated for West Texas. It will house the general activities program of the State Health Department, under which the Midland County Health Unit operates. The city also cooperates in the enterprise, but it is governed through the county as a state unit.

To House Laboratories The Midland Army Flying School will likewise maintain a laboratory in the building for the duration of the war.

Building of the health center was first considered less than a year ago, and with the coming of the war, the extension of the general health program, and to meet increased needs for health protection which followed the rapid growth of the city, the state selected Midland as a site.

Members of the Midland health board are Dr. L. Waldo Leggett, Judge Barron, George A. Heath, P. F. Bridgewater, Dr. L. B. Pemberton, Mrs. Addison Young, Mrs. J. Howard Hodge, Mrs. L. C. Thomas, Mrs. Dewey Jordan, and Captain George D. McCormick, who is on leave as city purchasing agent. S. E. Burnett, sanitarian, is in charge of the office. At the present time

Collins Will Attend Executives Institute

Bill Collins, chamber of commerce manager, will leave Sunday for Dallas where he will attend the tenth annual session of the Southwestern Institute for commercial and trade organization executives, next week.

More than 200 chamber of commerce and trade association executives from 14 states have enrolled.

A new and important feature of the 1942 institute will be the five-day war clinic conducted by C. J. Crampton of Houston. Sixteen technical experts will discuss war activities, post-war planning, and related subjects.

Courses in chamber of commerce management and operation will be conducted by a staff of more than 30 instructors.

Compared to the British inch, the American inch is two millionths of an inch too long; which is the least Americans have ever stretched anything.

there is no physician on the staff, as Dr. W. S. Brumage left recently for duty with the Army.

Midland Quickly Meets WTCC Goal

In an unpublished campaign conducted during the last 10 days, Midland's 1942 quota of 50 memberships in the West Texas Chamber of Commerce was reached and the fees have been forwarded to the regional organization's headquarters in Abilene. M. C. Ulmer, vice-president of WTCC, said. Ulmer headed the drive. He also is Midland's director in the regional chamber of commerce.

Ulmer said business and professional men of Midland were most responsive in joining and in continuing their fees, and expressed appreciation to those who assisted in subscribing the Midland quota.

John Hill Goes To Work With Baroid

John Hill of Midland has been employed by the Baroid Well Logging service, and will be sent to field service training in this region, then to the Gulf coastal fields, and into mid-continent and California territories, A. N. Griffith, Baroid manager, said Saturday.

Hill, son of Mrs. Ronald K. DeFord, was an honor graduate at Texas Tech, in June, completing a high record in the geological department. The Baroid company has arranged to give him a typical experience to round out the technical training with actual field work.

West Texas Geologists Discuss How Best To Employ Geologists In War-Time Programs

West Texas Geological Society members agreed Friday night, in a meeting here, that an effort should be made to get someone with a geological outlook into the war councils of the nation, so geologists may be assigned to best advantage in the armed service. That there are definite fields in the armed service where geologists might be used to good advantage in keeping with their technical training, was agreed by the group, which felt it a matter of economic soundness to so place geologists.

Fields Of Service Aerial photographs, soil formation study in relation to certain construction needs, some types of engineering, terrain survey, were pointed out as possible fields where geologists might best be placed.

Ronald K. DeFord, chairman of the group, read several letters from offices of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists, telling of the progress of discussions with war department authorities for clarifying the status of geologists in the war program.

A possibility of holding of refresher courses for members of the group, where mathematics and other related subjects might be reviewed, was discussed and ordered reported on at subsequent meetings.

Letters from Bill Allen, now in the service, and formerly a geologist in Midland, were read by John Hill.

New Officers Elected E. A. Ray, of Tidewater, was elected vice president of the organization, to succeed Walter Moxey; and W. M. Osborn was elected secretary-treasurer to succeed W. Lloyd Haseltine.

Haseltine, with Magnolia, has been moved to Wichita Falls as district geologist; and Moxey will leave soon to go to Amarillo headquarters of Stanolind.

Even Slugs Can't Beat The Pinball Machines

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — Ethics aside, even slugs apparently aren't the golden answer to beating pinball machines.

Take it from Wilfred W. Childers, 22, who received a year's federal prison sentence for possession of counterfeit coins, "not even crime can make pinball machines pay."

He testified that even by investing nothing but slugs, profit was impossible.

"Over a period of time I found that about 100 nickels in and 12 nickels out is how it goes," Childers testified in describing what he termed "honest machines."

Too much money may go to a man's head; but it generally goes to a woman's back.

Even in big cities, we notice that every little movement has a candidate all its own.

MURDER IN FERRY COMMAND

BOMBER TO MONTREAL

CHAPTER X

CLYDE DAWSON was repairing the ravages of his stormy session with the spy ring in the Turkish bath of his Chicago hotel when, at about 8 o'clock that night, a telephone call was plugged into the steam room. It was the chief agent of the F. B. I.

"Something of special interest for you, Dawson," he said. "Your good-looking girl friend boarded a Canadian Colonial Airways plane at LaGuardia Field in New York 20 minutes ago. Our Manhattan office wants to know if they'll have the plane radioed back . . . it will be over American soil for about an hour more—it's the regular evening plane for Montreal."

"No, let her go . . . I've a sudden hunch and want her to have a little more rope. My commitments to your Manhattan office—damn smart co-operation. One more favor, old man, the War Supplies Office must have a Traffic Routing Department. Would you use your authority to find out if the man in charge last night was, by chance, asked for any travel information by Carole Fiske?"

"We're one jump ahead of you there—I was about to tell you that we have received a report on the very subject. It was a lucky guess—she actually did call up about 10:30 last night and asked about flying schedules . . ."

"Where to?"

"This will tickle you—she asked for the best route to Newfoundland via Halifax . . ."

"It fits," Dawson murmured. From the Turkish bath he phoned directly to the Ferry Command headquarters in Montreal and had them locate the Air Marshal. Half an hour later Dawson was on his way to an airport just outside the Chicago limits. There was an Army Air Force officer waiting for him at the gate.

"I'm instructed to take you directly to the field, Mr. Dawson," he said crisply. "There's a twin-engine bomber being held for you on Ferry Command instructions."

"Drop that gun!" he snarled to her ear. It was the Montreal agent and Dawson had completely forgotten about him. Of course the agent had picked up the bit of side-drama outside the waiting

When they reached the side of the waiting TCA plane, Carole Fiske slowed her pace and gave an almost imperceptible gesture with her head for Dawson to mount the movable stairway first. "Emily Post wouldn't approve," grinned Dawson.

On the second step he stopped suddenly as from the corner of his eye he caught a quick movement—a man had slipped up silently behind the girl and pinned her arms.

Dodgers Split Bill With Cards

ST. LOUIS (P) — The Brooklyn Dodgers downed the St. Louis Cardinals, 4-3, in the second game of a doubleheader Saturday to gain an even split after the Cards had won the opener, 7-4. Southpaw Max Macon made his first start as a Dodger pitcher in the nightcap and gained credit for the win, although the Cards knocked him out in the seventh when they scored all their runs.

Speed Up Campaigns

Coke Stevenson, who has been campaigning mostly through local connections for re-election, will take to the ti three times in the final week, while Hal Collins of Mineral Wells and Gene S. Porter of Belton will continue their statewide stump tours. Alex M. Ferguson of Howe, Charles Lavergne Somerville of Dallas, and Hope Wheeler of Arlington, in the governor's race, also planned to speed up their campaigns.

Collins, who has been speaking from the same platform with O'Daniel, will accompany the senatorial party next week over a wide section of the state, beginning at Athens and Tyler Monday, and winding up the campaign at Victoria Friday.

Allred begins his week Monday at New Braunfels and San Antonio and during the week appears in night rallies at Fort Worth, Austin and Houston, winding up his campaign at Dallas.

Moody opens the week at Houston Monday, and closes at Austin Friday. He has addresses in Galveston, Beaumont, Port Arthur, San Antonio and Fort Worth.

Red Rolfe Knocks Home Run To Give Yankees 7-6 Win

NEW YORK (P) — Robert (Red) Rolfe, whose return to action has highlighted the New York Yankees' latest winning streak, broke up a battle of home runs Saturday by smashing the ball into the right field seats with two out in the tenth inning to trip the Chicago White Sox, 7-6.

It was Rolfe's fourth homer in six days and it gave the World Champions their seventh straight triumph and their 38th success in 49 home games. With the second place Boston Red Sox kept idle by the weather, the Yankees stretched their American League lead to eight games.

The Yanks had a 6-1 lead at the end of eight innings but the White Sox suddenly broke loose in the top half of the ninth against Marv Bruer, who had pitched three-hit shutout ball for six frames and had given up only one run on Luke Appling's homer in the seventh.

machines. The Germans were prodigal in their expenditures of reserves and materiel, gambling heavily on subduing the great breadbasket and coal region and severing the vital Persian Gulf supply line before winter comes again.

Only 90 good fighting days remain. If the Russian Army continues to retreat skillfully and thus remain in being, Hitler might yet find as Napoleon did that he had won a battle but lost a war.

The British minister of production, Oliver Lyttelton, pointed this up. If Hitler failed to crush the Russian Army, he said, the German army was "committed to a second paralyzing winter which may well prove to be its last."

Reds Want Action

The Russians, battling for their lives, were more interested in action than words, however. The Associated Press correspondent in Moscow, Eddy Gilmore, wrote that the question on every Russian tongue was this:

"When will there be a second front?"

London military experts thought at least a small-scale invasion across the English Channel might come soon should the Russians begin to crumble. An all-out, war-winning thrust might come later if the Russians were still in their slugging by the time the tremendous problems of shipping, supply and air support on a Western front were solved.

Giants Whip Starr And Reds 3 To 1

CINCINNATI (P) — The New York Giants whipped Ray Starr and the Philadelphia Reds, 3-1, Saturday, behind the five-hit pitching of Bill Lohmar, who scattered the blows over as many innings. Johnny Mize pounded his sixteenth home run for the Giants and Ray Lamann hit a four-bagger for Cincinnati's only score.

Occupation Wins Arlington Event

CHICAGO (P) — Occupation, a fast breaking strong finishing volt owned by John March, Chicago contractor, won the $62,900 Arlington Futurity impressively Saturday in the fastest time this stake ever has been run—1:10 2-5.

Occupation, breaking from the extreme outside post position in a field of 14, quickly took full command and won by five lengths. The winner was ridden by Jockey Leslie Balaski. Pickett, entry of John Hay Whitney of New York, was second, four lengths ahead of the Joseph E. Widener's Glance About. Warren Wright's Careless was fourth.

The triumphant Occupation, scoring his fourth victory in six starts, all in Chicago, blasted the former six furlong record for the event of 1:11 1-5.

97th Materiel Team Beats 489th Squad 10 To 6 At MAFS

The 97th Materiel softballers played "money ball" in the clinches Friday night to mop up the 489th School Squadron ten, 10-6, in a MAFS league game.

Germany, converted to pitcher from outfielder, tossed the win. He struck out four and walked one. Nickle and Duke of 97th hit home runs. It was Nickle's fourth of the season.

Duke's double in the seventh frame drove in three runs and put the game on ice for his club. Shivak pitched for the 489th and was loose, allowing seven base on balls.

Millard, ace slugger of the 97th, hit safely in his twenty-second game.

North Central Lea wildcat seven miles west of Tatum, is drilling in soft lime at 5,150 feet. The well had indicated production from oily lime topped at 4,935 feet but while bottomed at 5,017 feet, swabbed salty water which could not be lowered from 400 feet. It is in the center of the southwest of the northwest of section 18-12s-35e.

E. Orcutt No. 1 F. E. Kepple, Eddy County wildcat six miles northwest of the Artesia field, encountered sulphur water at 905 feet in lime and is shut down for orders at 602 feet in anhydrite and lime. It is in section 19-17s-27e.

In the Barber pool of Eddy, Neil H. Willis No. 4-A State, section 17-20s-30e, was completed at 1,539 feet in lime for natural output of 10 barrels of oil per hour, on pump. It topped pay at 1,484 feet.

Square Lake Pool
Barney Cockburn No. 4 George Eitz, in Eddy's Square Lake pool, responded to two 200-quart shots by flowing at barrels a day through an open 2-inch tubing swung at 2,965 feet. It entered the pay zone at 2,965 feet and reached a total depth of 3,403 feet in lime. The well is in section 35-16s-30e.

SPORTS--BOMBER

Lou Zamperini, the international track star who became a bombardier cadet is one swell fellow. Zamp is unaffected by fame. He tells an interesting story about all things, getting beat (something very unusual for the record mile-runner).

"A Texan did it!" laughingly says Lou. "It was in the 1939 AAU meet. Glenn Cunningham, Bob Deckard, Don Lash, and myself were fighting it out among ourselves and everybody was watching Glenn. Bingo! That Rideout twin zoomed out in front and clipped us all." Zamperini was referring to one of the famous Blaine and Wayne Rideouts of North Texas State. "Don't remember which one beat me, never could tell those guys apart," commented Lou.

Zamperini wishes Joe Louis could have been along with the American Olympic team on its trip to Berlin in 1936 "to take care of" Max Schmeling, the German heavyweight.

Does Zamperini, the ex-Southern California flyer, have a scrapbook? Does he? Well, it is one of the largest in the world — weighs 165 pounds, is nine inches thick, took three years to make, and cost $2,300.

A new medical officer, who reported to MAFS is First Lt. John W. Sabo, Jr., of Pueblo, Colo., and don't be surprised if he wants to talk baseball while yanking your molars. Because Lieutenant Sabo was all-conference second baseman at Denver University for a couple of years.

Athletic directors Keen and Winter are glad for a building at the air school which has been converted into a gymnasium. It will be used in the cadet conditioning program. In it will be facilities for boxing, wrestling, volleyball, gymnastics and other sports which keep the bombardiers on the beam physically. New softball and volleyball courts for the bomb droppers have been built. There are plans for jumping pits and other track facilities. Keen and Winter really have tanned lately with several classes to direct daily under the "warm" Texas sun. They swing right into the athletic program with their proteges.

Say, what about the buck privates, privates first class, corporals and sergeants? They need exercise and sports recreation also and athletic officer Lt. George W. Smith will see that they get it. Much new athletic equipment has been received at MAFS and Lieutenant Smith is directing its usage where it will do the most good. Also a boxing program with a corps of assistants to direct it has been started by the A.O. Two rings will be used. One already is completed and another on the way. Gloves are available.

BOMBIGHTS — Ouch! Midland Army Flying School is losing its ace softball pitcher, Pete Halford, who is going to a San Angelo bombing school. Art Dula, the boxes, is at MAFS. A typical "tough sarge." The Yankee manager of the 97th Materiel Squadron softball team is not prejudiced. He has four Tennessee boys on the team. . . . Wishes he had more. . . . But is upset that the Tennessee boys salute every time they see a Tennessee license plate on a car. . . . Millard of the 97th has hit safely in 22 straight softball games. . . . Russ Brown, special service officer, wonders what would be the result if Minnesota's greatest football team had played Alabama's greatest. . . . Sir, it would have been one heck of a collision. . . . Power, power, power versus power, power, and razzle-dazzle. . . .

James Young Tells Bombardiers How To Attack Jap Cities

He came to Midland Friday and spent the day with the Midland Army Flying School bombardiers. He gave them most practical and most up-to-date information, and he fired them with enthusiasm for the wiping out of Tokyo, and other Japanese cities.

And well he might. For James R. Young, 18 years a newspaper publisher and international correspondent in Tokyo, was arrested and thrown into a solitary cell on January 21, 1940, and kept in confinement until along in April, because he wrote some articles about true conditions in the Japanese armies in China.

Arrested with him were two English friends, both news correspondents, and both of whom were "allowed" to meet death. "Just because they were Englishmen," said Young.

Publisher of The Japanese Advertiser, with a circulation of 7,000 among English-speaking people of Tokyo, and of 1,400,000 among Japanese of the city and empire, Young went through all sorts of gauges and abuse for years. Finally he was forced to leave, and the government took over the publication and has continued it.

Tells What To Do

"Bomb Tokyo at 11 a. m., while the war cabinet is meeting or bomb it at 4 p. m., as the city is practically cut off from water by low tides," Young told the bombardiers. "Drop phosphorus and soda capsules, to get the fires started. Sow them down thick over the city, just like you were planting grass, and the city will go up in flames." His eyes snap as he talks; he would like to see that done. He would like to be there and watch the burning.

logical place to bomb," says Young, "for it would make the entire war party lose face, and such as were not killed would kill themselves. However, that would not change the government to a better government. Another set of thieves and thugs would follow those who now hold office. There is no way out except to wipe out such a great portion of Japan that the people will come to realize that they are vulnerable. Now they think that no nation can hurt them, that they are invincible. They have never been invaded; and what has happened to their armies in other lands has never been told them. They have heard little of any setback.

"The bombing of Tokyo was the first startling evidence of possible defeat that the nation ever knew. When we really get started on wholesale bombings, the people will go mad, there will be revolution and riot. But, the fundamental character of the nation is such that even revolution cannot change them from what they are."

Young shrugs his shoulders over his prison experiences. He slept on a stone floor, in a temperature of about 40 degrees, with no covers; there was no single piece of furniture, no heat. He never got to talk to anyone, except at the daily quiz before a military group; he had no

Four Couples Repeat Marriage Vows In Ceremonies At Midland Army Flying School Post Chapel

"Kidnap Breakfast" At Schlosser Home Given By Three

Pajamas were the popular and proper attire when Mary Frances Carter, Wanda Jean Girdley and Elsie Schlosser entertained a group of the junior social crowd with a "kidnap breakfast" at the home of Elsie's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schlosser, 1714 W. Holloway, Saturday morning at 7:30 o'clock. Girls who decided they wanted to appear at the party in more conventional costumes than they were wearing when they "kidnapers" appeared were forced to pay five cents for each garment they donned.

At the Schlosser home the breakfast table, presided over by Mrs. Schlosser, was bright with Mexican pottery in gay colors. A two-course breakfast was served.

Afterward the girls went swimming.

Guests were: Suzanne LaForce, Otella Flynn, Marcelle McClure, Belva Jo Knight, Janice Pope, Elaine Hedrick, Margaret Mims, Helen Looman of Borger, and Virginia Stoltz.

Flagstaff Officers Visit Here Saturday

Sheriff Perry Francis, brother of D. W. Francis of Midland, and Chief of Police Jim Wright, both of Flagstaff, Arizona, spent Friday night in Midland as guests of Sheriff Ed Darnell, and Saturday morning with D. W. Francis.

The officers were en route home from Brownwood, where they received a prisoner wanted in Flagstaff.

Mrs. Williams Is Hostess For In-Honor Tea

Mrs. Coleman Williams, 2305 W. Holloway, entertained Friday afternoon from 4 o'clock until 6 with a tea complimenting her sister, Miss Helen Looman, who is visiting here from Borger.

Assisting the hostess in the houseparty were Belva Jo Knight, Mrs. J. H. Forde, Mrs. B. W. Engle, Mrs. H. E. Fahr and Mrs. John B. Mills. All had corsages of summer flowers.

Cornucopia vases filled with roses and gladiolas decorated the tea table where Mrs. Mills poured for guests.

The invitation list included the following girls beside the honoree: Charlotte Kimsey, Nancy LaForce, Emily Lamar, Frances Ellen Link, Jo Ann Pector, Sue Shepard, Eula Anne Tolbert, Margaret Ann West, Jo Ann Blair, Mary Frances Carter, Fay Doris Douglas, Bobbie Jean Gibbins, Glenna Graham, Elaine Hedrick, Janice Pope, Virginia Stoltz, Martha Preston, Jacqueline Theis, Ella Virginia Dadds of Brady, Otella Flynn.

Suzanne LaForce, Bobby Wood, Muriel McHargue, Marilyn Sidwell, Katherine Hanks, Patsy Warren, Wanda Jean Girdley, Patsy Collins, Kathryn Francis, Fay Dublin, Mary Floyd, Lou Nell Hudman, Joyce Strong, Pauline Wingo, Colleen Oates, Norma Jean Stice, Alberta Smith, Billie Walker, LaVonne Weaver, Jean Schottlander, Margaret Mims, Elsie Schlosser, Ann Vannaman, Isobel Morehouse, Sarah Louise Brewer, and Benny Re Heathington of Decatur.

Now hats have to stay on by themselves. Nowadays, too, a great many women don't feel right in a pompadour, and they have either smoothed, flattened or cropped off their curls. They want a headpiece that is a hat to protect as well as adorn their crowns. Besides, those slim-slim dresses and suits very often need a shape that makes a mark at the top of the woman's full length silhouette.

Beige, gray and brown are the prophetic new fall colors—soft colors to flatter a face and go with the rest of a wartime wardrobe. Dye shortages are not expected to affect the range of colors in clothes generally at the beginning of this

Gloria Fredregill Honors Her Cousin

Honoring her cousin, Maylene Walker of Abilene, who is visiting here, Gloria Fredregill was hostess for a tea at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Fredregill, 806 S. Pecos, Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Fredregill poured for guests. Present were: The honoree, Otella Mae Osburn, Jane Butler, Phoebe Lewis, Betty Jo Greene, Janice Knickerbocker, Mickey McDonald, Norma Jean Stockebrand of Fort Scott, Kansas, the hostess and her mother.

CAPTAIN ARRIVES
Captain William O. Clark has reported for duty at the Midland Army Flying School. He came here from an officers' school in Florida and is assigned to the special service office.

Three Basic Shapes Are Leaders In Women's Smart Fall Hat Parade

Bonnets, Berets And Cloches Are Preview Hits

By MARGUERITE YOUNG
NEA Staff Writer
New York.—New fall hats will show at least three different shapes. There'll be cloches, those little bell-shaped hats that really cover the head and may or may not have a brim....berets, the round flat caps such as American children and French and Spanish men wear year in and year out....and bonnets in which you can always find a suggestion of a sunbonnet or a baby's cap however imaginatively the designer modifies the classic form.

These outstanding silhouette trends were set by a display of millinery fashion inspiration originals created by the topflight, Lili Dache John Fredericks, Sally Victor.

Other shapes appeared, notably toques, those little round hats with no projecting brim. But the predominating styles were those bonnets, cloches, berets.

One guess is enough. American women's pre-war hats, those curious bits of something to show off a pompadour, had to be held on by the war-gobbled rubber needed for elastic bands.

Now hats have to stay on by themselves. Nowadays, too, a great many women don't feel right in a pompadour, and they have either smoothed, flattened or cropped off

Three basic fall millinery fashion inspirations shapes and two important colors are shown here and a wide beret is pictured above. Color is spectacular Ming orange. At left is a bonnet with high crown. It's made of a stitched wool and is the evergreen color of fir trees. An interesting version of bell-shaped cloch hat, right, combines the outstanding colors, being green felt with Ming orange suede bow. Designers, Lilly Dache, John Fredericks, and Sally Victor combined to produce these originals which set the silhouette trends for 1942-1943.

Most striking new berets are very wide. For instance, a Ming orange wool crepe one with a beautifully pleated brim set on a head-fitting band. The clothes are astonishingly tall—as are all new hat crowns. Height is the distinction maker of the prettiest berets too, and though most of these have a medium brim, if any, some of the handsomest are huge—for instance, a gray unfinished felt flatterer with a drooping brim that frames the face like flower petals.

Other members of the board are Clinton Lackey, recreation and finance chairman; Charles L. Klapproth, case chairman; Dr. J. M. Devereaux, health chairman; Mrs. Cooper Hyde, service chairman; Mrs. B. A. Ray, education chairman; and Mrs. J. H. Chapple.

Aim of the welfare board is to assist in cases of homeless, handicapped and neglected children who come under direction of the court because of environment or conduct. The local board is administered by the county, with assistance from the Child Welfare Division of the State Department of Public Welfare.

Dorothy Butler Is Hostess To Party At Home

Dorothy Butler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Butler, 935 N. Baird, was hostess to a group of junior high graduates and about five out-of-town visitors with a party at her home, Friday night from 8:30 o'clock until 10:30.

The guests danced on the porches and played games. Cold drinks and cookies were served. About 30 were present.

"This Is The Army"
Is Berlin's new Show

NEW YORK — Irving Berlin has written 14 Broadway musical shows. He has composed 800 songs. Some of these songs have been tremendous hits and others have fared less well. He has been in a war and he has been hungry and he has banged a piano in low waterfront dives. Naturally his emotions have wandered from high exultation to the lower registers of doubt and confused despair.

The other night the most ballyhooed show of his career opened. It was "This Is The Army," put on by Uncle Sam for the benefit of Army Emergency Relief.

Lieut. Stanley On Duty At Wolters

Lieut. A. W. Stanley, Jr., has reported for duty at Camp Wolters, Mineral Wells, after completing his course at the Infantry Officers' Candidate School at Fort Benning, Ga.

Lieut. Stanley was reared in Midland and graduated from Midland High School in 1934. He joined Company H, 141st Infantry, 36th Division, Texas National Guard the day it mobilized for Federal service, Nov. 25, 1940, and had been a sergeant since Feb. 19, 1941.

The young officer is the grandson of Mrs. B. F. Stanley, 301 N. Big Spring, and of J. C. Roberts, 211 W. California, commissioner of Precinct 1, Midland.

War Brings Largest Crop Of Marriages

WASHINGTON (AP)—War has brought America its biggest crop of marriages.

The Census Bureau estimated that last year there were 1,679,000 weddings, which averaged 12.6 for every 1,000 population — 7.3 per cent higher than 1940 and 22.1 per cent higher than 1939.

The previous record was 12 marriages per 1,000 population in 1920, following the return of the dough-

Hangar Is Soldiers' Paradise With Good Music, Pretty Girls

The "Keep 'em Flying" enlisted men of Midland Army Flying School had their day—Saturday night—at the big dance at the Army Airways hangar.

The soldiers had a real look at West Texas girls who came by the hundreds in response to General Davies' invitations—"The Commanding General of Midland Army Flying School requests your presence at an informal dance honoring the soldiers of this station."

They came from Midland, Odessa and Big Spring, and intermediate points—Saturday girls, and brunettes, and redheads. Some were tall and some short, some little and some statuesque—but all were ready to swing into the rhythm of the hottest tunes or the sweetest melodies that the Hell from Heaven Swingsters coaxed from their instruments.

Drum and lessons and even kitchen police detail were forgotten for the night—there were music and a good dance floor and pretty girls to lead through the newest dance steps. The "Keep 'em Flying" boys were riding high.

For days the dance band had been practicing its newest numbers—the musicians had their new music stands, too, with the Air Corps insignia—for days the soldiers had been working on the big hangar ballroom, preparing the floor for dancing, and decorating the big hall with emblems and insignia of the service.

Yes, the General's dance was something to write home about and something to talk over in barracks for weeks to come.

MAFS Glee Club Is Special Feature At Big Army Dance Here

The Midland Army Flying School Glee Club made its first public appearance Saturday night, singing numbers as a special feature at the enlisted men's dance.

Soldiers-singers active in organization of the club include: William F. Latella, Donald McQueen, Harold Klier, Errett McCracken, Harvey G. Miller, Lloyd Leiby, Dean Holden, Scott D. Meirs, Herbert C. Suckling, Louis Schaefer, Edmund B. Tule, Walter Kassis, Hays Dougherty, Irving Grossman, Israel Reisman, Philip Loring, Philip Casper, Art Cole, Herbert Stielau, William McCannoughy, Wilbur Whyde, Archie Putnam, Lloyd Wolmershauser, Clarence Brady, Philip Schivertseger, E. C. Parker, Raymond Gamman, and Al Enlow.

Lt. Carl Wilson, director of the glee club, assisted by Captain White.

Corp. Don Gillette is pianist-organist.

Enrollment 260 At R.A. Camp At Big Spring

Enrollment at the R. A. Camp held from Monday afternoon to Friday afternoon at Big Spring last week totaled 260, including 23 boys from First Baptist Church, Midland, and 11 from Calvary Baptist Church.

The Rev. Fred McPherson went with the boys from Calvary Baptist Church and Mrs. S. L. Alexander, Mrs. J. M. White and Mrs. R. O. Collins with those from First Church.

Included in the latter group were: R. O. Collins, Joe Byron Bass, M. L. Alexander, Leroy Hall, Frank Good, Kenneth Good, Bethel Eiland, James Bryan, Burl Timmons, Frank Merritt, Lloyd Dunagan, Tony Dunagan, Bernie Jennings, Robert Sutton, Charles Sutton, Jimmy Rhodes, Alfred Reeves, Robert Cole, Billy Crites, Ralph Wayne Arnett, Bobby Rountree, James Elledge, and Roland O'Donnell.

Mrs. Chas. Culpepper and daughter, Mary, missionaries from China, were missionary lecturers. Mrs. R. L. Mathis of Dallas taught a course and the Rev. Vernon Yearby of Eagle Lake was in charge of recreation.

Fifty-two conversions were reported.

Absentee Votes Gain, As Soldiers Voting

Absentee votes made a good gain Saturday, bringing the total to 82, compared to 108 on the same date two years ago, the county clerk's records show.

Fifty-five persons have come by the office to vote, and 27 ballots have been mailed.

Several of the absentee votes have come from Midland men in the service, with the average for those who might be away on account of vacations cut sharply from what it was in past years, said Mrs. Susie Noble, county clerk.

Vancouver Island Set For Emergency

VICTORIA, B. C. — A civilian automobile reserve of nearly 500 vehicles and power boat squadrons of some 400 craft stand ready for any emergency on Vancouver Island, whether it be a sudden troop movement or the evacuation of civilians.

Harold Husband, of Victoria, recently appointed by Transit Controller George S. Gray to survey and organize all emergency transport facilities on the island, has indexed every motor vehicle on the records of provincial police. His staff has arranged to fit drivers into an emergency plan and organized a civilian sea force of ferries, tugs, barges and smaller power boats.

The island has been zoned and district controllers for the emergency service appointed in some cases. Car owners have equipped their vans and trucks with removable seats so the vehicles could be transformed into evacuee carriers at a moment's notice.

All Moved Out, But New Firms Are Moving In

LORTON, Neb. (P) — Things are looking up in Lorton, population 74. A new grocery store has opened on Main Street. The opening was the first bright spot in the year, which saw Main Street establishments dwindle to a hardware store, the postoffice, an elevator and a filling station. First the bank closed because Cashier Steffens wanted to retire. Everyone got his money and the stockholders made a profit. Then Conrad Sherstad died and his garage was closed. Next, Bertha Leach died and her general store closed, leaving the townspeople no place to buy groceries. The county bought the lumber yard and Jake Paben moved his tavern to another town.

Hugh Story, Of Ohio Oil Staff, In Navy

Hugh Story, Jr., scout with the Ohio Oil Company Midland for the last two years, has just been accepted in the Navy, and is en route to San Diego. He enlisted at Dallas. Mrs. Story, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Childers of San Angelo, will move to that city August 1 to live with her parents for the duration of the war.

LOUISIANA LAW BANS SUNDAY GASOLINE SALES

NEW ORLEANS (P) — Beginning probably the last week in July, there will be no sales of gasoline in Louisiana on Sunday except to a few classes of motor-vehicle users, under a law enacted by the Legislature and signed by Governor Sam Jones.

Robert Fine, president of the Service Station Association of Louisiana, said this move against Sunday joy-riding was directed at staving off gas-rationing in Louisiana.

COTTON batik makes the new, brief-as-possible, bathing suit, left, with draped bra top and sarong skirt which ties over still-briefer trunks. The outstanding midsummer color theme—black and white—distinguishes the white coat-black costume, center. This short coat is wartime double-duty style—it goes to the beach and also dancing or shopping very fashionably. Brigrance designed another multi-use ensemble. It's the scroll printed cotton suit, right, with contrasting quilted bolero jacket and matching full-length skirt tailored for street wear as well as for play.

State Candidate And Party Here Saturday

R. B. Rawlins, Monahans, candidate for the state legislature, C. H. Smith, assistant cashier of the Monahans State Bank, and J. Conrad Dunagan of that city, were Midland visitors Saturday, en route home from a tour of the area in the interest of Rawlins' candidacy.

During the past week they have been in the western tier of counties, Presidio, Jeff Davis, Pecos and Reeves, and were in Martin County Saturday. The party will work in another sector of the district this week.

Midland Merchants To City Markets

Staff members of several Midland stores are leaving for market this weekend.

Mrs. Ruth Ramsel, Mrs. Lenton Brunson, and J. B. Hoskins of Dunlap's, will leave Sunday for Fort Worth and Dallas.

Also leaving Sunday will be Mrs. H. N. Phillips and T. R. Wilson of Wilson Dry Goods. They will attend the Fort Worth and Dallas markets.

Salvage Fats For Firing Line Use

"Out of the frying pan into the firing line." That's the motto for all patriotic American women to emblazon—at least metaphorically—on the walls of their kitchen for the duration.

For our country is calling for the salvage of some 500 million pounds of fats and greases ordinarily thrown out from frying pans, roasting pans and broilers into the garbage pail, and it intends to send those fats straight to the fighting fronts.

Naturally they won't be sent in the condition they're in when they are poured into the grease salvage cans which from now on must stand on the back of every kitchen stove in the country. Fat yields glycerine. And it's as glycerine that these fats will find their way into the firing line, both in medications for wounded fighters and as an important part of certain explosives.

These fats are the drippings left in the pan when the menu calls for roast beef, roast lamb, roast ham or roast poultry—the succulent melting from broiled steak, lamb chops, veal and bacon; the lard or vegetable shortening in which the doughnuts and french fries and other deep fat cookings are done.

The container must be scrubbed well before it is used. Foreign matter lessens the value of the fat.

The can should be kept in the refrigerator or some other cool place so that the fat will not grow rancid. Rancid fat contains less glycerine. And as soon as a pound or more has been collected it should be taken to a meat dealer who has been instructed to pay for the fat and start it on its way to the firing line.

Red Cross Notes

July 28 and 29 Mrs. Fred Wilcox and Mrs. A. N. Hendrickson will attend the U. S. Army surgical dressings regional institute at Big Spring. After completing the course the two will return to Midland and as soon as feasible will arrange to instruct others in this work. Experienced surgical dressings workers from various chapters are cooperating in this program, giving their time to conduct these chapter institutes.

Attention, all those have Red Cross knitting out since March—Yes, there are a few who have been careless and just put their knitting aside and as a result our chapter is getting a black mark for not being prompt with our quota. If you have knitting out will you please make a special effort to finish the garment and turn it in? We have been asked to have this knitting in by Aug. 15th. Remember it is not doing a soldier or sailor one bit of good tucked away in some box or drawer or knitting bag even though we are having very warm weather here—the boys in the service are needing these garments and will appreciate your thinking of them a little more seriously.

Members of the new Women's Army Auxiliary Corps will be accorded the same services of the American Red Cross as the men of the Army and Navy. Benefits of the Red Cross will be extended to the WAAACs under an agreement which has been reached with the military authorities, even though the Corps is essentially a civilian organization.

United States citizens and nationals of Central and South American countries interned in Belgium and France are now receiving American Red Cross food packages, and large quantities of Red Cross food packages and other relief supplies for American prisoners of war held by Japan were in the cargo of the S. S. Gripsholm which sailed from New York on June 18 with Japanese diplomats being returned to their homeland.

Playing Both Ends Against The Middle

GIG HARBOR, Wash. (P) — Fire Chief Dick Thurston ordered his volunteer fire department out for a few practice runs after the showing it made when the movie theatre started to burn. The firemen rushed to the fire scene. The driver of the truck pulled a guard post in front of the fire hydrant and the boys couldn't hitch up the hose immediately. A fireman grabbed one end of the hose and unrolled it down the street to the hydrant on the next corner. Meanwhile, the crew freed the first hydrant and connected the hose. Turning on the water, they discovered both ends of the hose were connected to the water system. The pressure became so great a special wrench was needed to free one end of the hose. Meantime, a civilian put out the small fire.

Irish Wit Of American In Ireland Sent To Sergeant Verdoorn, Midland Flying School

A newspaper clipping just received by Sergeant William Verdoorn, of the 83rd Base Headquarters and Air Base Squadron at Midland Army Flying School, in a letter from a friend now stationed overseas indicates that Johnny Doughboy apparently has found time in Ireland to attend to his correspondence and has by no means lost his sense of humor.

The clipping, from an Irish newspaper, contains an open letter to Adolf Hitler, written by an American, technical sergeant. The open letter reads as follows:

The Letter To Hitler
Dear Adolf: Perhaps I am violating all rules of etiquette in writing to someone to whom I haven't been introduced formally. But then, you've never been a very great stickler for the proper rules of conduct yourself.

Please don't think, though, that I'm just a nosy Yankee. I'm only an ordinary American soldier who sometimes gets a little curious about things in Germany.

You see, Herr Schickelgruber, we Americans are a very curious people. We're all just dying to see this inside of Germany.

We're planning a little jaunt over your way, as a matter of fact. We want to know what makes you tick. And if we're a little rough in the way we go about it, please excuse us.

We're Not So Superior
We're not the super-race you people are, and we just stumble about in our awkward little way. But we'll be there. You won't mind, will you, Adolf? There are lots of things I would like to know.

For instance, is it true that you don't give the Nazi salute any more, because people just think you're trying to show how deep the snow was in Russia?

When we get over your way we'll bring along a little present, as all visitors should. You'll like our bread and water diet.

Now we don't want to be sponging off you, so we'd like to have you make a little trip to visit us when we come back. They tell me you used to be a housepainter.

Can Get You a Job
Now, I'm not sure we could fix you up with that sort of a job.

For one thing we're a little short of lead for paint making. We're saving the lead for you, you see, and we don't want to be stingy. But we'll keep you busy. And rock-breaking is good clean exercise.

We also can fix it up so you'll have plenty of time to write a book. Along the lines of "The scDine and Fall of the Roman Empire," perhaps.

There's another thing the puzzles me, Herr Schickelgruber. As I may have mentioned, we're not overly bright in America. We can't seem to understand how you can produce a perfect strain by mixing Germans, Italians and Japanese. To me now, that sounds a lot like seeing newsreels of a man who is trying to produce a thoroughbred now a para-trooper in your army.

First It's A Chair ... Then It's A Table

dog by mixing a polecat, a Timber Rat and a malaria germ.

On second thought, though, maybe that's what you are doing.

Oh, Yes, We Remember

I've never met one of your soldiers in person. But I remember me now, that sounds a lot like seeing newsreels of a man who is trying to produce a thoroughbred now a para-trooper in your army.

I saw him get blitzkrieged twice. Once by a fellow named Maxie Baer and once by a fellow named Joe Louis (both non-Aryans, too).

You've sure raised Cain with our Army. Not with your fairy tales over the radio. We know you don't expect us to believe them. But it used to be that corporals in our Army would dream at nights about working their way through the ranks and some day being the big shot of the whole she-bang. But you started as a corporal and look what happened.

Matter of fact, they almost rather be sergeants (a fate worse than death) than go as far as you did.

Mail Delivery Is Extended For 50 Blocks In City

Free city delivery will be extended more than 50 blocks within the next two or three days, Postmaster Allen Tolbert announced Saturday. An additional carrier will be added to the staff and the routes are being rearranged, so it will be about three days before the additional deliveries will be complete.

Residents on the streets listed below are requested to advise the postoffice at once as to whether or not they wish free mail delivery. Application for the delivery must be made at the postoffice, said Tolbert.

New Area Served
The new sectors to be served include: A continuation on West Kentucky Street to M Street; on M Street from Kentucky northward to College; on M Street from

You see, they know they can't expect the type of divine guidance you get, because they don't have nightmares.

I don't want to take up too much of your time, but I wish you'd answer some of these questions for me. Just send your answer by the next fellow who comes this way.

There certainly must be plenty of men you know who would like to join Rudolph Hess. But don't try to come yourself. This is hardly a healthy climate for your type.

Sincerely,
Tech. Sgt. G. K. Hodenfield

NO PIE IN CAMPAIGN
CHILDRESS, Tex. (U.P.)—Political candidates in Childress county won't eat pie this year in their campaigns. Pie suppers, long an established part of a county campaign, because of the tire shortage have been ruled out, along with all other entertainment features which might be in conflict with wartime measures.

Indiana to Illinois; and, west on Illinois to M Street; and in the Ridglea Addition, on Ridglea Drive to Chib Drive; and on Club Drive to intersection of Crest Drive, where delivery now stops.

There will be one delivery a day on the newly extended route, and that will be in the afternoon.

City delivery began in Midland October 1, 1940, after months of negotiations. About a year ago an addition was made to the area served.

STORK FOOLS SERGEANT

SANTA ANA, Cal. (U.P.)—Technical Sergeant John Weber exhausted a three-day leave of absence while waiting for the stork to report at the San Jose hospital, where his wife was confined. He returned to his post, only to receive a telephone call upon arrival that the overdue stork had arrived with a six-pound bundle. He was granted a new leave.

MAFS--Prop Wash

With memories of cooler days and fervent hopes of more to come, MAFS's personnel took off their ties this week with the realization that they are really getting into the heat of things. Despite the heat the field is still humming with activity with new cadets starting actual flight training and the old class settling down to the last week of anxiety before graduation.

Now to the news of the squadrons:

852 Ordnance
Excitement ran high in the bomb storage dump last week when the men there tried to determine what kind of animal they had discovered among the racks of bombs.

"It looks like a snake a little," offered Tech. Sgt. Pete Archerda, "But what snake has four legs? Or to alligators get this far inland?" After several hours of debate, during which time the "animal" glowered at them in a most belligerent manner, it was finally decided it was a species of lizard known as Water Dog. When last seen Sgt. Pete was removing it to his barracks. He plans to send it home.

At long last, word has been received from Sgt. Norman Ringstrom, who left this squadron to Officers Candidate School. Sgt. Ringstrom related he was thoroughly intrigued with the new routine of life, even though there was a great deal to do.

"The women here are really swell," his letter to Sgt. Frank Schoberts stated, "But I've still preference to those at home!" For his reason to go home on a furlough, Sgt. Melvin Wexell could only say, "I've got to see dem beautiful Bums play again." He left for Brooklyn.

Corp. George W. Terrell is now in Burlington, N. C., to visit his family and Ray Cioke left a short while back for Brussels, Illinois, not Belgium.

Two members of the company, Corp. Thelston Stafford and Pvt. Leo Huebel, were granted five and ten days leave respectively due to illness in their families.

While on the subject of furloughs, word has been received that Tech. Sgt. Richard Ike made it to North Dakota with a minimum of flats and the baling wire held out, too.

Not content with cactus all over the area we felt something was lacking and have erected a new company base relief-work structure in front of the orderly room which prominently displays the word "Ordnance." The structure is the fruit of the combined labors of Corp. Frank Beltran, Staff Sgt. George Fiksdall, Pfc. Forrest Bowman, Pfc. Chris King, Pfc. Leo Meskauskas and Pvt. Joe Scanlon. When finished the Ordnance emblem, a huge flaming bomb, will decorate the center with 852 across the base.

Some guys just don't know when they are well off. We looked at Pvt. James Mavrogeorge with something akin to astonishment when he asked to be transferred from day room orderly to the bomb loading dump. That's like leaving a life of leisure to dig ditches, but Tech. Sgt. Lester K. Stout claims Jim is doing his share of labor and likes it.

What is it that Pvt. Jim Hall has that makes sweet old ladies of 22 or so send him scented packages--all the way from Wyoming? What was in it Jim--soap?

Wonder what the medical officer thought during physical inspection the other day when a half dozen of the fellows showed up smelling like they had fallen in a barrel of cheap perfume? The truth of the matter is that a group of pranksters poured large quantities of aftershave lotion down their backs while they were sleeping.

"TORTILLA FLAT"

It takes one rascal to subdue another in this scene from "Tortilla Flat," M-G-M's film version of the noted John Steinbeck novel, now playing at the Yucca Theatre today, Monday and Tuesday. Here Spencer Tracy, as Pilon, is convincing Allen Jenkins, playing Portagee Joe, that if there is any stealing to be done on the Flat, he'll do it himself!

And incidentally, Sgt. Vernon Blisset got that knot on his head and the matching shiner during the celebration of his birthday and the ensuing fight over a box of candy from his folks. His only comment was, "The piece I got was swell."

Our strong softball team downed two field teams during the week's play, compiling 23 tallies against the opponents' six. The 498th School Squadron dropped a game to a 16-3 count and the powerful 490th was left behind with a score of 7-3. The softball trophy, needless to say, is still safely in our hands.

493rd School Squadron
Perhaps the most active indoor sport of the week was guessing who was going where on the "split-up." When the lists were finally posted, some faces fell, some shone with joy while others retained their status quo. There's nothing as thrilling or exciting to a group of soldiers as the contemplation of a "split-up."

Rumors fly thick and fast. They always appear to come from a very authentic source. More likely than not the so-called "authentic source" is just a soldier with a knowing look and a lot of misinformation.

"Who's going to make first sergeant?" "How many tech sergeants are going to that field?" "Is Capt. X going to be the new C. O.?" These are but a few of the typical queries that make the rounds.

The reason for all this conjecture is a sound one: each man in 493rd is trying his utmost to raise his rating and thus get ahead in his new profession. This is a healthy sign. It shows our men are on their toes!

Coincidence Dept.: Sgt. John Utz and Sgt. "Nick" Nicholson pointed the Army the same time and were sent to the same field. They won their first stripes together, both made corporal the same day and then rose to buck sergeant pursuant to the same order. Now they are both working on the same ship. This is getting monotonous.

We salute Lt. Fred E. Christian, who last week received his commission as first lieutenant, thus discharging his master sergeant's stripes. Congrats are also in order to Pfc's Allason, Bolin and Sheehan, who are the first of their class to receive a rating. A good deal, men!

Items: Pvt. Frank Briggs is still pining for that girl back home whose initials are "HELEN." Pvt. Dell Thurston is a swell audience if you have a funny story to tell. Pvt. "Tex" Leyman constantly sings "Home on the Range" where he now spends his days. Pvt. A. R. Hays still walks with a Texas drawl. Sgt. Robicheaux and Pfc. Middleton are raising mustaches on their respective upper lips to cut down shaving time.

Weather Forecast: Far and warmer with scattered soldiers. High winds and diminishing hot air. 497th School Squadron.

First Lieut. Jack Moore took over as C. O. this week, succeeding Capt. James F. Hall who will command a new squadron. Capt. Harry F. Wheeler of Haddonfield, N. J., arrived this week at MAFS, to take over new duties. Capt. Clarence E. Bissell became Officers' Mess officer.

Promotions this week brought a

Pfc stripe to Pvs. Lee J. Gallagher, Frank J. Newborn, Will J. Riddick, Irving Langford, and Raymond Grover.

Sgt. Max Morris has left for glider pilot training.

97th Service Squadron

In behalf of the men of the 97th Service Squadron, we would express our sincere best wishes and to speak a word of farewell to our former Squadron Commander, Capt. Allen M. Floyd.

We speak for the group, when we say, Captain Floyd will continue to hold a place of respect in our minds. He is a man well qualified to hold the responsible position that he now occupies, and it is through his straight forward man-to-man method of dealing with those under his command that made him one of the most likeable commanders at MAFS.

To the captain, we would like to say, certainly enjoyed working under him, and though at times he may have seemed rather firm, we realize that he was rightly so.

At this time, we also wish to bid farewell to First Sergeant Wendell Jones, who has the respect and friendship of every one of us.

Although the squadron was somewhat "split-up" during the week, we are continuing to play ball with the same tea mintact although the biggest majority of our players are now members of the 83rd. We found it necessary to do this to keep the summer Post League in operation.

Monday night, the 97th clinched the first leg of the 82nd Air Service Group championship by virtue of a 19 to 18 victory over Headquarters and Headquarters Sqdn. A sixth and seventh run rally which netted eleven runs in the two innings was responsible for the one run victory.

Batting stars of the game for the 97th were Manager Nickle getting a triple and three singles and scoring five runs, Millard banging out two home runs, one with the bases crammed in the second inning and another in the sixth with two on.

Wednesday night, the 97th had the misfortune of losing a ten inning game, 5 to 4, to the great pitcher Pete Halford and the 497th School Squadron team. The 97th threw a scare into the School Sqdn. by out-hitting them nine to four and threatening to win the game in the last of the seventh and again in the last of the tenth. Fine plays at the plate were responsible for holding the game intact and winning another one for Halford.

Batting stars for the 97th were Lydon, Millard and Ott. Lydon collected a double and a single in four trips to the plate. Millard hit his sixth homer of the season with Lydon on base in the fourth inning and Ott banged out his fourth homer of the season in the last of the tenth.

Friday night, the 97th won their fourth game in the last five starts, to keep in the thick of the fight for the Summer Post League championship, trimming the 498th School Squadron team to the tune of 10 to 6.

Batting stars in the game for the 97th were Nickle, hitting his fourth homer of the season and a single in four trips to the plate; Millard, Duke and Germany each had two, for three. Duke drove in the last

Three Kermit Coaches Are In Armed Forces

KERMIT — Three coaches of the Kermit school system recently have resigned to enter the service.

Elvin "Buck" Howell, Junior High coach, left last Spring and has finished his training course at Norfolk. He now is stationed at San Diego as chief petty officer in the Naval Physical Education Department.

J. R. Kimbriel, head basketball and assistant football coach is in training at Annapolis for physical education instructor in Naval aviation. He has been commissioned lieutenant junior grade, and will be sent to Chapel Hill, N. C.

A. E. Kotrola, head football coach at Kermit High, is at Norfolk, training a chief petty officer in the Naval Physical Education Department.

three runs of the game with a ringing double in the seventh inning. 862nd School Squadron

A new organization, the 862nd School Squadron is "launched" and proudly salutes her Uncle Sam, standing ready in service and for duty.

Major Bennett and Captain McCormick are at the helm with sturdy Sergeant Hedgepeth as first mate. Her duty rosters and morning reports are yet unscarred and her name and honor bright.

Men of the 862nd pledged uncompromising loyalty and faith to the flag, country, commanding officers and to each other. VICTORY is the aim.

To feed an army of 3 1-2 million men, 20 million pounds of food must daily be purchased, shipped, tabulated and issued.

Great Artist Painting British Battles At Sea

CAIRO (P)—Art lovers in future years will have a chance to see how the British Navy won its victories in the Mediterranean. Lieut. Commander Rowland Langmaid, first official artist assigned to any British fleet in this war, has been given the task of putting outstanding battles on canvas.

Langmaid, giving up a job as naval censor in Alexandria, says he intends to put down in black and white for photo reproduction and possible exhibition in galleries every major naval engagement. He has completed some paintings of night action in the battle of Cape Matapan and now is depicting the recent rout of a heavy Italian squadron during Malta convoy operations by cruisers commanded by Rear Admiral Philip Vian.

Langmaid is 44. He studied at the Royal Academy in London and the Royal College of Art in South Kensington. His work has been exhibited at the Royal Academy and also in Philadelphia galleries.
